The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 9.20 a.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. A J Canepa GMH OBE in the Chair]

[ACTING CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: P E Martinez Esq in attendance]

PRAYER

Mr Speaker

Order Of The Day

Acting Clerk: (i) Oath Of Allegiance;

CONFIRMATION OF MINUTES

Acting Clerk: (ii) Confirmation of Minutes – the Minutes of the last Meeting of Parliament which was held on 19th and 23rd December 2013.

Mr Speaker: May I sign the minutes as correct? (Members: Aye.)

Mr Speaker signed the Minutes.

Acting Clerk: (iii) Communications from the Chair; (iv) Petitions; (v) Announcements; (vi) Papers to be laid; (vii) Reports of Committees; (viii) Answers to Oral Questions.

Questions for Oral Answer

TRAFFIC, HOUSING AND TECHNICAL SERVICES

Q1/2014

Government rental homes – Arrears of unpaid rents

Acting Clerk: Question 1/2014, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Housing provide updated details of arrears in respect of unpaid rents pertaining to Government rental homes, since the answer provided to Question 780/2013?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the total amount of arrears in respect of unpaid rents as at the end of December 2013, was £4,893,633.26.

Q2-3/2014
Mid-Harbour Estate –
Works to counteract anti-social behaviour

25 Acting Clerk: Question 2/2014, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing confirm if the works ordered for Mid-Harbour Estate as stated in the answer to Questions 774/2013 and 775/2013, have all now been fully completed?

30 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 3.

35 Acting Clerk: Question 3, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Housing provide details of any further actions planned to be undertaken, other than those already mentioned in answer to Question 774/2013 and 775/2013 in order to curtail non-compliance of house rules at Mid-Harbour Estate?

40 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, in respect of CCTV the following works have now been completed: the installation of cameras on the car park level; connection to the main fibre ring; procuring and installation of CCTV signs within the car park level.

In respect of CCTV ongoing works include: the integration of cameras installed within the car park level to the existing Public CCTV System and RGP Control Room at New Mole House; infrastructure works to allow installation of cameras on the podium and promenade levels; integration of podium and promenade level cameras to the existing Public CCTV Systems and RGP Control Room at new Mole House.

50 In respect of the barriers, these have already been installed and will be operational shortly.

It is expected that with the measures being taken, the incidence of anti-social behaviour will be much contained. Once the CCTV system and entry barrier are operational, a decision will need to be taken as to whether further action is necessary. In the meantime, we will continue liaising with the RGP on the issue of anti-social behaviour.

55 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I thank the Minister for that answer.

May I ask him, in the things that are still to be considered – obviously it makes a bit of sense after the barriers and the cameras and so on are fully operational – the question of litter disposal and so on, I hear from some tenants it is starting to be cropping up to be a problem. Can the Minister confirm that he also intends to have that item as one to be reviewed in the future with other considerations?

65 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the Ministry meets with the Tenants' Association on a regular basis. The Tenants' Association also meets with other members of the Department more frequently, so that any concerns that the Tenants' Association may have are addressed by the civil servants present and staff. Anything that I need to know about will also be relayed down the line. So if there are issues with litter, then obviously these issues have no doubt been passed on to the relevant members of my Department then to act upon.

70 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, I am grateful, but then do I take it from that, the Minister is not particularly aware of any specific concern in respect of litter? An accumulation of, I believe, some unwanted household items are now even being simply deposited at the podium. Is he aware or is this something that he just simply wants to take forward and consider?

75 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, as I said, if there are issues, housekeeping issues like sporadic accumulation of litter, these will be addressed directly by the Tenants' Association to the members of staff and they would be responsible to look after those things. If there are issues of a more important nature, then I would be informed and would then tackle them accordingly. So I would expect that the issues of litter accumulation, as you would probably expect would happen after Christmas, when after opening presents there are boxes galore to throw, and that you know is something which I expect would be seen to and 80 addressed accordingly at a given time.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

85 May I as well ask the Minister, he may have given it in his answer and I could have missed it as I was making some notes. In the last session in respect of Question 775, the Minister informed us that some signage had been ordered and so on, it was part of the works needed to make the barrier and the cameras fully operational and so on. In conjunction with that, he had placed an order for signage. Can he confirm at what stage we are with the signage, is it now completed and fully up in the allocated positions?

90 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I am not sure whether the hon. Member is referring to the CCTV signage, because that is an area that I am dealing with and I am aware of, the question of the signage. But if he is not, then I would ask my colleague to deal with the matter.

95 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, it is both. The Minister did say last time it was signage. Part of it was concerned with the CCTV and I think the other part was because of the barriers, there had to be some signage in the – let us call it, underground parking so that people knew which way to come in and out, so it was better and clearly defined.

100 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, with regard to the CCTV, signage was ordered and has been placed in the estate. I gave instructions that the signs which had been placed on the estate in respect of the CCTV should be covered until the system is operational. As my colleague has indicated in his original answer, we are now in the final stages of the CCTV project for that particular estate and that should be operational very, very soon with a signage displaying that CCTV is in fact operational.

105 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, and in respect of the traffic flow and so on. Is the Minister for Housing any the wiser on that one?

110 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I cannot recall a discussion last month on the signage specifically, but I will endeavour to find out. Obviously, there will be... if signage is appropriate, it will be placed, especially with the barriers.

But again, I will have to revert to him on that one.

Q4/2014

Reallocating empty homes – Expenditure on repair works

Acting Clerk: Question 4, the Hon. E J Reyes.

115 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide updated details in respect of all expenditure incurred since the answer to Question 776/2013, in respect of contracts awarded for making empty homes suitable for re-allocation, stating to whom payments were made, how much has been paid, the number of residential homes pertaining to each payment, as well as indicating if the services contracted were for either repair works or cleaning services?

120 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will now hand the hon. Member a schedule containing the information requested.

Answer to Question 4

Contractors	No. of Properties	Cost
A & K GENERAL BUILDERS LTD	1	£16,517.60
CEPRAND LTD	1	£2,000.00

130 ALL SERVICES CONTRACTED WERE FOR REPAIRS
NONE WERE FOR CLEANING

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, may I – something that has struck me here, there are only two companies involved. The second one in the schedule has the name of Ceprand Ltd, I think in the past I have come across the name of Ceprano. Could it be a typographical error or perhaps the Minister is aware that this is a company with a similar name but yet spelled correctly?

135

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I would need to confirm but I think that just by looking at it, I do recall the name Ceprano Ltd too, it could well be a typographical error but I would need to confirm that. I doubt whether there are two companies with such similar names, but I need to check.

140

Hon. E J Reyes: I am content, Mr Speaker, for the Minister to have a chance to set it up and if it does require a correction or whatever, he can inform you and that way the Clerk for the record has it, so that in any future reference we have the correct name of the company written. Thank you.

145

Q4/2014
Government rental homes –
Repair works

Acting Clerk: Question 5, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Housing provide details in respect of rental homes assigned since the answer to Question 777/2013, indicating how many will be repaired by (a) the Housing Works Agency; (b) Sub-contractors and (c) the assigned tenants themselves?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, since the answer given to Question 777/2013, five flats have been assigned.

The repairs are to be undertaken by the following: the Housing Works Agency, nil, zero; sub-contractors, four; the assigned tenants themselves, one.

160

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I see from these figures provided today and comparing them as well to those provided previously to the answer to Question 777/2013, it seems that the Housing Works Agency as such undertake very little repair work and the majority tends to go to sub-contractors. Is this something that is because the Agency does not have the workforce or either the expertise to undertake it, or is it Government policy to contract out rather than give it to the Agency itself?

165

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, one of the things that is the result of the exit package is that the skills mix in some areas is very low and therefore there are jobs that cannot be done, because there are no people in that trade. That is to say that the right to take up the exit package is not constrained by trade or anything else. You could have a situation where everybody who is a carpenter decides to go and everybody who is a painter decides to stay.

170

So there are jobs that are then passed on to sub-contractors and there are three quotes given and the policy, as I think I have explained before, is that of the approved contractor list, all of which are relatively small companies employing maybe between half a dozen and ten people, who then take on one job or one house or whatever. It is given to the lowest bid or if the bids are within a few pounds of each other, to the one that is running out of work, in order to avoid people being laid off.

175

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, thanks for that clarification, but then what is actually happening is that the Housing Works Agency in some areas simply does not have the manpower to carry out the tasks, and it prompts me on to lead, well why aren't...? If there is a shortage of, for example, carpenters, like the Minister for Employment was saying, is the Government going to address that issue so that we are not short of any particular skill?

180

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, the issue that has to be addressed, Mr Speaker, is that the houses should be repaired, which is what the purpose of the Housing Works Agency is. At the end of the day, there is not a reason for the Housing Works Agency to exist, other than to get the houses repaired. What they cannot repair, somebody else does, so the tenant does not suffer and the cost is not higher.

185

So at the end of the day, the mechanics of the Housing Works Agency, as both sides of the House know, is that it is destined to reach sometime in the future a situation where there are only two guys left and when 190 the two go, only one is recruited and then when the one goes, presumably a part-timer is recruited, since it is one coming in for two going out.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, so then, Mr Speaker, it is a question of, is the Minister for Employment confirming that despite there being an identification of a particular shortage of skills in a particular area, that those are simply not going to be replaced because the long-term objective is actually to phase it out? (Laughter and interjections) Yes? I didn't know. I am asking because perhaps I have not understood it clearly. That is why I am asking for clarification, rather than leaving doubt, Mr Speaker.

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the long-term objective has not changed on 9th December 2011. The long-term objective was the inevitable arithmetical consequences that if two people go and one comes in, the time will come when there is nobody left.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Which they agreed. (Interjections)

Hon. J J Bossano: Right. The answer is that what we are doing is making sure that, notwithstanding that inevitable process, the houses still get repaired and that they get repaired at a cost which at the very least, is no higher than what it would have been, had it been done by direct labour.

What we are doing, in fact, is effectively as the Housing Works Agency does less with direct labour, the more is done with sub-contracts for small contractors, and the staff in the Housing Works Agency are involved in that process. That is to say, the people who are involved in the scoping of the work and in the estimating of the work, and in approving the final acceptance of the invoice on the basis that the work has been done, are the people who are initially from the Housing Works Agency, some of whom are seconded, which is the issue, In another of the questions that the hon. Member has asked before and is asking again.

210

So effectively, they are involved in doing the work, but rather than being involved in actually going to the house and doing the repair themselves, a number of them are involved in actually supervising the work being done by somebody else and that is how we are ensuring that, notwithstanding the shrinkage, the tenants still receive the service they expect to receive.

215

Government rental homes – Urgent decanting of tenants

Acting Clerk: Question 6, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide details of how many tenants required urgent decanting from their homes since the answer to Question 778/2013, indicating the reason why, the date when said decanting became necessary, and the date when the tenants were able to return to their home?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, since the answer to Question 778/2013, no further tenants have required urgent decanting.

225

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, the Minister may or may not have the answer because I did not give due notice, but in Question 778/2013, he gave me some information that a tenant who had been decanted on 11th November 2013 had still not returned to the flat because the works were ongoing.

230

Would he happen by chance to have any information whether those works have been completed and he is now able to return? I would appreciate it if he does happen to have it.

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, last month the actual question was regarding, I think it was, tenant number 2 and I can say that that tenant returned to the flat on 20th January this year.

Government residential homes – Allocations and assignments

Acting Clerk: Question 7, the Hon. E J Reyes.

240 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing say how many residential homes have, since the answer to Question 779/2013, been (a) allocated and (b) assigned, showing the room composition of the respective homes?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

245 Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, since the answer to Question 779/2013, 14 flats have been allocated and assigned as follows.

Allocated: 1RKB, zero; 2RKB, three; 3RKB, three; 4RKB, three; 5RKB, zero; 6RKB, zero. A total of nine allocated.

Assigned: 1 RKB, zero; 2RKB, two; 3RKB, 3; 4RKB, 5RKB and 6RKB, zero. A total of five assigned.

Housing Works Agency employees – Numbers retired, transferred and seconded

Acting Clerk: Question 8, the Hon. E J Reyes.

255 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Housing provide updated information, inclusive of details of grades and dates, in respect of any further employees of the Housing Works Agency who have been (a) retired; (b) transferred and (c) seconded either from or into the Housing Works Agency, since the answer to Question 781/2013.

260 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, since the answer to Question 781/2013, no further employees have either been retired, transferred or seconded.

Q9/2014

Housing Works Agency employees – Details of secondments

265 Acting Clerk: Question 9, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to Question W146/2013, can the Minister for Housing inform this House to which Department or Departments the nine Housing Works Agency employees have been seconded and for how long these secondments are expected to last?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the nine Housing Works Agency employees were seconded to Gibraltar General Construction Company and they will remain there as long as their services are required.

Housing Works Agency and Ministry for Housing – Comprehensive review

Acting Clerk: Question 10, the Hon. E J Reyes.

280 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to Question 782/2013, is the Minister for Housing now in a position to furnish this House with any details of the comprehensive review pertaining to the Housing Works Agency and the Ministry for Housing, which he has previously answered, was now being considered by Cabinet?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, in fact further to Questions 886/2012, 331/2013, 616/2013, W147/2013 and 782/2013, the reply still remains the same.

290

SPORTS, CULTURE, HERITAGE AND YOUTH

Q11/2014

Gibraltar National Week fair – Venue

Acting Clerk: Question 11, the Hon. D J Bossino on behalf of the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, Mr Speaker, just to explain for the members of the public, Mr Figueras is on business in the United Kingdom and for that reason has not been able to attend the House today and he has asked me to deal with his oral questions. I think the House staff have been advised accordingly.

Mr Speaker, is the Government considering using the area of Grand Parade as the venue for Gibraltar National Week fair?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, H M Government have not yet taken a decision as to where the Gibraltar National Week fair will take place this year.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, can I ask the Minister, although no final decision has been made in relation to the venue of the National Week fair, can I ask him whether the Grand Parade car park is being considered as one of the options?

Hon. S E Linares: Yes, sir.

Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful. In that context, Mr Speaker, can he advise what issues are being considered by the Government as to whether that particular venue is an appropriate or an inappropriate venue? Can I ask him that?

315

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, because where the venue of last year's is, there is a coach car park now, therefore we are looking at logistics – whether we move the coach car park or whether we leave it there and it is not only the Grand Parade venue. We are also looking at other venues for the future, so the fact that you have asked about, or Mr Figueras has asked about Grand Parade, yes that is one place that we are considering, but we have not taken a decision yet.

320

Medical Priority Dispatch System – Date to go live

Acting Clerk: Question 12, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Civil Contingencies say when the new Medical Priority Dispatch System will go live?

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, proposals have been presented to the Interministerial Committee of Ministers with a view to see how and when the new Medical Priority Dispatch System can go live.

335 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, the Hon. Minister, in the May Parliament, said that it would be going live in July and in his Budget Speech he said that this dispatch system will be one that we will prioritise and implement within the next few months – this was six months ago. So, has the decision not yet been taken of how it will be implemented?

340 Hon. S E Linares: Well, Mr Speaker, as the answer states, proposals have been made, have been presented to the Interministerial Committee, with a view to see how and when. As I understand it, in the questions I answered last time, it was that we were awaiting proposals. I did give a date, but proposals have not been presented. They have now been presented and we are now in the position to see when and how we are going to implement them, and go live as it is stated.

C3 Committee bunker –
Updating and fitting out

Acting Clerk: Question 13, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

350 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Civil Contingencies say what progress has been made in updating and fitting out the C3 Committee bunker as outlined in his Budget statement of 2013?

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, works on the new bunker commenced last week, jointly with that of Convent Place. Facilities required have already been assessed and will incorporate the same advanced technology that will be provided by the mobile control vehicle, thus allowing an effective communication system during emergencies.

360

Command Centre –
Purchase of mobile control vehicle

Acting Clerk: Question 14, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

365 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Civil Contingencies say when the mobile control vehicle, for moving and situating the Command Centre in time of emergency, will be purchased, as outlined in his Budget Speech of 2013?

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the mobile control vehicle was purchased in December 2013 and is expected to be delivered in April 2014. A three-day training package will take place on delivery, attended by selected officers from the City Fire Brigade, Royal Gibraltar Police and Emergency Ambulance Service.

375

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, I know I have not given notice of this question, but does the Minister know or have a round figure for how much it cost?

380 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I think it was about £150,000 but I do not want to be held to that figure. But the ballpark figure is about £150,000.

Q15/2014
City Fire Brigade and Defence Fire Service – Training to co-ordinate

385 Acting Clerk: Question 15 the Hon. Mrs I M Elul-Hammond:

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Civil Contingencies state, since 9th December 2011, how many times the City Fire Brigade has conducted training exercises together with the Defence Fire Service in order to be in a position to co-ordinate for when the need arises?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, all operational Watches from the City Fire Brigade and the Defence Fire and Rescue Service, have been involved on numerous occasions in training and familiarisation visits on high risk areas in the MOD and local jurisdictions. From information immediately available, this has been carried out on 35 occasions.

Upper Rock water hydrants –
Water pressure

400 Acting Clerk: Question 16, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister with responsibility for Civil Contingencies say what has been done in order to address the pressure of the water in the hydrants in the Upper Rock, in order for them to be sufficient to deal with any potential fires there?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, all fire hydrants connected to pressured sea water mains in the Upper Rock are maintained by AquaGib, and are operating correctly and within optimum pressure parameters.

Ship firefighting –
Training for City Fire Brigade

Acting Clerk: Question 17, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

415

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Civil Contingencies state what ship firefighting training has taken place in the last two years, giving details of the exercises conducted?

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the City Fire Brigade has conducted a total of 388 hours ship firefighting training during the past two years. In the year 2012, a total of 144 hours were completed by three Watches locally; in 2013, 244 hours.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Yes, Mr Speaker, could the Minister clarify how many people were involved in these hours? Is it the whole of the City Fire Brigade and the Port personnel or just selected individuals?

Hon. S E Linares: No, Mr Speaker, as I said a total of 144 hours in 2012 were completed by the three Watches – that means the complete three Watches.

430

Additionally, I can give her the information that between 2012 and 2013, eight officers have successfully completed a tactical ship firefighting course at the Fire Service College in Morton-in-the-Marsh, UK. So that is even extra.

Q18/2014
Tercentenary Hall –
Hire cost for private Christmas functions

Acting Clerk: Question 18, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister with responsibility for Sports and Leisure advise how much the rental of the Tercentenary Hall for a private Christmas function is?

440

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, there is no rental fee for the use of the Tercentenary Sports Hall for functions not of a sports nature.

Q19-20/2014
John Mackintosh Hall –
Recruitment of caretaker and night receptionist

Acting Clerk: Question 19, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to Question 768/2013, can the Minister for Culture say when the position of caretaker at the John Mackintosh Hall will be advertised and by when it is expected that this post will be filled?

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I will answer this together with Question 20.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to Question 769/2013, can the Minister for Culture say when the vacancy for a night receptionist at the John Mackintosh Hall will be advertised, and by when it is expected that this post will be filled?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the answer to these questions remain as that of December's Parliament, Questions 768 and 769/2013.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, in the answer to Question 768 and all those prior to that, the Minister said that he was waiting for the item to be included in the agenda of the board of the Mackintosh Hall and so on. Seeing that he is also the chairman of that board, can the Minister confirm if the item is now on the agenda and just waiting for the next meeting?

470

Hon. S E Linares: Yes, sir.

Q21/2014
Cricket and rugby –
Alternative facilities

475

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to Question 771/2013, can the Minister for Sports and Leisure inform this House if he has now identified and agreed upon with the respective Sports Governing Association any alternative facilities to Europa Sports Grounds for the playing, teaching and development of either cricket or rugby?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

480 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, no further development has taken place since my answer in December's Parliament to Question 771/2013.

Q22/2014
Heritage sites –
Works and costs

485 Acting Clerk: Question 22, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Heritage provide details of all works, together with respective costs, undertaken at any Heritage related site since the answer to Question 772/2013, stating by whom these works were carried out?

490 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, further to answer to Question 772/2013, I now hand over to the hon. Member opposite the information requested.

Answer to Question No 22

Further works undertaken at Heritage sites inclusive of costs and works carried out.

a) Site: Jumpers Bastion

Works: Manufacturing, fitting and paint three metal balustrades in compliance with building regulations.

505

Contractor: DGM Gibraltar Ltd.

Total Amount: £ 3,440.00

510

b) Site: St Jago's Arch

Works: Painting of railings and general heritage works

Contractor: SFA Interiors

Total Amount: £1,120.00

c) Site: Montagu Bastion

Works: Repairs to existing double leaf door

530

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I would be grateful if the Minister does happen to have it at hand, for a bit of clarification. On the first site mentioned under (a) Jumpers Bastion, the Minister says that there were works undertaken in manufacturing, fitting and painting three metal balustrades in compliance with building regulations. This is in respect of which building works as such that are happening and are there any other related costs? Because if they are doing something in respect of building regulations, it must be because some building was taking place and this a new item. It was not something that was ongoing from the previous schedule, so I see nothing else in respect of building works being carried out at Jumpers Bastion.

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, if I remember correctly, the fitting of balustrades were to do with unsafe... the access to the whole of the Jumpers Bastion, where the steps go onto the main road. There are 540 balustrades there which are one beside the other, so that people do not run into the road. But on top of that, we are placing gate-type of things so that it is even safer. But it is to do with the painting of those balustrades that go onto the main road.

There are, I think, four exits from what we call the Saluting Battery – the whole of the Saluting Battery.

545 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes Mr Speaker, that does clarify it a bit better, because Jumpers Bastion: I was physically imagining the submerged bastion as such, but the Minister has clarified, this is probably the walkway, the Saluting Battery area there and so on. Yes. So perhaps in the title 'Jumpers Bastion', if he does not mind, we will add alongside with that the Saluting Battery area.

550 Coming to site (b) which is in respect of St Jago's Arch, in a previous answer the Minister has expressed that over £7,000 had been spent in the conservation works to St Jago's Arch and now there is painting and railings of general heritage works. Is this just sort of the topping off the completion, or is this a totally new project?

555 Hon. S E Linares: No Mr Speaker, as he rightly mentioned, this is just adding on to or finishing off the works. So therefore it is as it says there, painting of the railings, because there was scaffolding around and all that, you do not paint the railings until the end, and the invoice was then presented later.

560 Hon. E J Reyes: And hopefully lastly, Mr Speaker, the site (c) which is Montagu Bastion, I view it as a relatively wide area and its repairs to existing double leaf door: whereabouts is this door within the area that we all refer to as Montagu Bastion? Is it an external door, perhaps an internal door – anything that could help to shed information?

565 Hon. S E Linares: Yes, Mr Speaker, I am glad to say that it is where the youth clubs are, as you enter the youth clubs, in the youth centre, on the left where the motorbikes actually park outside, there was an old store which was the Housing Store and there is a little hill. If you see at the top there is a door. (Interjection) Yes, it is just a very small gradient hill, where the motorbikes are outside the youth centre, there is a gate to the youth centre on the right, and then on the left there is a little hill that goes up and there is a door there.

570 Inside that is all Montagu Bastion. There is a vault inside and that was used by the Housing Department, which now I am glad to say that the Heritage has taken over, and the door was in a very sorry state. In fact, I can tell the hon. Member, as an anecdote, I once went in there and we had squatters sleeping inside, so we had to fix the door and I told the squatter that by tomorrow, if he was not out, we would chuck him out!

Hon. E J Reyes: Well, Mr Speaker, I am really glad to hear the Minister saying that he has taken an interest in that area, because yes, all of it, whether it is used by the youth or by Housing or whatever...

575 The Minister there answered, in helping to clarify, he said that it used to be under Housing; it has now been taken over by Heritage. Is he aware, would that be given now passed on to Youth, so that they have a particular extension or like an annexe area there, or does he have in mind a future Heritage project, totally now independent from the Youth section?

580 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, we have not yet decided exactly what we are going to do with that area, but the two suggestions that the hon. Member has made, could probably be two that we can put on the list of things that we can do with it.

585 Hon. E J Reyes: May I just end by saying, Mr Speaker, I will obviously look forward to hearing the Minister once a decision is taken there, but whatever it is, given that he is indicating that he is looking at it and helping to preserve it in Heritage, he can count at least from that point of view on my support in whatever future use it entails, because we do share that common interest. I know a large number of the electorate do as well, in preserving where possible these things, so I congratulate him for that initiative of putting the doors and helping to preserve a site, [inaudible] the thing and please keep me updated so that we work together, rather than at loggerheads in preserving our heritage for the benefit of our children and grandchildren and future generations.

Hon. S E Linares: I will do, Mr Speaker.

Power station and gas storage facility –
Separate construction tenders

Acting Clerk: Question 23, the Hon. J J Netto.

595

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to Oral Question 773/2013, can the Minister with responsibility for Utilities, state why it was deemed necessary to have two separate tenders, one for the construction of the new permanent power station and another one for the gas storage facility?

600

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

605

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, it was considered that there were commercial and technical advantages for not tying together the construction of the power plant and the construction of LNG storage and regasification facilities, as these are different technologies and the market research that was carried out suggested that Gibraltar could obtain a better deal if it was tendered separately, targeting companies that specialise be it in construction of power plants or construction of LNG storage and regasification.

Q24/2014

Power station and gas storage facility –
Dovetailing the construction tenders

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to Oral Question 773/2013, can the Minister with responsibility for Utilities state how the two separate tenders for the new power station and for the gas storage facility will dovetail within their own respective milestones in order to provide overall coherence to the total project?

615

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

620

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the construction of the LNG storage facility is estimated will take considerably less time than the construction of the new power plant. The tender for scopes of work for the new power station advised the tenderers that the client will supply natural gas at the required quantities, temperature and pressure at the boundary of the footprint to the new power station.

625

The precise engineering details of how this will dovetail will be known once we have evaluated the engineering proposals for the new power station tenders. The LNG storage and gas supply tender will include details of engineering requirements to supply the natural gas to the new power station of the successful bidder.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I would be grateful if the Hon. Minister will help me to be able to get an overall picture of the different aspects or facets of this major project, because I have seen reports in the local press that the storage for the gas will now be in the Detached Mole. Is that correct? Could the Minister perhaps confirm that?

Hon. S E Linares: That is the place that we are looking at, but we cannot confirm whether it will be there at this moment in time. We are looking at different options.

Hon. J J Netto: Well, I think that some Members at least who are members of the Development Planning Commission, not from the Government side obviously, nor civil servants, have made a statement to the press in which they actually claim that that is a fact. Perhaps other Members in the Government who are members of the Development Planning Commission may be able to provide the House with a bit more clarification on the matter?

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I am Chairing the Inter-Ministerial Committee on the power station etc. The hon. Member will know that that is now at the stage of having gone to the tender etc. The answer given by the Minister a moment ago is the position, that the Detached Mole is one of the areas being considered. That is the position in fact.

645 Hon. J J Netto: When the Hon. the Chief Minister, indeed the Minister himself for Utilities says it is being considered, can I try to elucidate a bit more information out of that, in the sense of saying when it is being considered? Is it being considered because there are some studies taking place of different alternative locations, and to see the strength and weaknesses of the various locations?

650 Where are we in terms of being able to decide, because eventually the Government will have to decide on a particular place in order to make the overall project come to proper fruition in this place? So have any studies been conducted of various places?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, when you say that something is being considered, what you are saying is that it is not something that you have decided to do but something that you are considering. Therefore we are considering that in the context of what could possibly be the location for such a plant.

655 So I do not think it is appropriate, Mr Speaker, for me to say more at this stage, but the hon. Member knows that this is at the stage of the GEA having gone out to tender.

660 Can I just ask him to wait to see what those announcements are before he pursues this particular issue? When the Government has reached a decision as to where the plant is going to be or has to be, then that will be announced.

Hon. J J Netto: Well, Mr Speaker, can I also ask the Chief Minister whether in considering the place, amongst the places that they are considering, whether at least environmental and health and safety audits are being conducted in order to determine which the ideal place is?

665 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, of course.

Hon. J J Netto: Have those health and safety and environmental audits now finalised and are being discussed and analysed by the Government?

670 Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, some of them are still in process. That is why I am saying to him that this is at the consideration stage and that no final decision has been made. And it is not just the environmental and health and safety issues that are relevant.

675 He will know, like every Gibraltarian, that this place is two and half miles by one mile at its widest point and part of what we all have to do in living in this gem of ours is ensure that we ensure that different industries and different things happen, sometimes as close as possible to each other and sometimes as far as possible from each other. Those are the issues.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, by when does the Government think that they will be in a position to make a decision?

680 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Government is keen to ensure that we can deliver a new power station for Gibraltar as soon as possible, so we would want to make decisions as soon as possible and that is all about when reports are finalised, when tender processes are completed, etc. I am not going to be in a position to give him a clear timeline as to when this particular aspect, this particular ingredient of this new power station solution is going to be finalised.

685 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I am not asking for a clear timeline; all I am saying is whether the Government think that they will be in a position, say three months from now, six months from now, nine months from now, twelve months from now, to have been able to consider all the various documents that they are required to look into the matter and make a decision. That is all I am saying.

Hon. Chief Minister: Well Mr Speaker, that is asking for a timeline and that is exactly what I have said I cannot give.

HEALTH AND THE ENVIRONMENT

Q25/2014

New Mental Health Unit –
Recruitment of staff

695 Acting Clerk: Question 25, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say when the post for the extra staff to man the new Mental Health Unit will be advertised and what the skill mix will be?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the process will start very shortly. The skill mix ratio is in the process of being finalised.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, are there plans to increase the service, once the move from the KGV to the new site takes place, which would require hiring more personnel over and above the present complement, and if so, when will this increase in service take place?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, this exercise is a relocation of an existing service to better facilities. The only challenge that we are facing is the fact that because we are on four floors, we may need a few more people on any particular shift, but we are not revising the service. We are relocating an existing service to a new improved location, so essentially it is the same service in a different site.

710

Q26/2014
Dementia Strategy – Details and publication

Acting Clerk: Question 26, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say when the Government will be publishing its national ‘Dementia Strategy’ for the treatment and care of people with Alzheimer and Dementia and what will the strategy include?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, this continues to be developed.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister say at what stage the development process is at, because in May’s Parliament of last year, the Hon. the Minister for Social Services said, ‘It is envisaged that the plan will be published at the end of the year’?

725

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the fact that we do not have a published strategy as a document does not mean that we do not have a strategy. The important thing with strategies is the strategy, not the document. We are constantly developing and reviewing our strategy for dementia and for the elderly, as the different facilities that will be rolling out during the course of this year will demonstrate.

730

This means that this has to be a dynamic process, and the process is never quite actually finished. We are not prepared at this point to publish it because it is developing, we are looking at new facilities, we are looking at new ways of doing things, and I would rather delay the publication of a strategy for a number of months and have a better strategy at the end of it.

735

But we have a strategy and the improvements that we will see during the course of this year to the care of dementia and the elderly will speak for themselves.

Q27/2014
GHA locally qualified and eligible staff –
Clarification of answer to Q812/2013

Acting Clerk: Question 27, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to Question 812/2013, can the Minister for Health clarify (a) which potential GHA staff applies to ‘staff’, which opens the answer in the first paragraph; (b) what the Hon. Minister means by ‘locally qualified’, quoted in the second paragraph; and (c) what the Hon. Minister means by ‘locally eligible’ quoted in the second paragraph?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

745 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, this question was answered at the time, and the Member opposite had every opportunity to ask for clarification by way of supplementaries and chose not to do so. That I believe is the correct time to ask for such information. It would in my opinion, Mr Speaker, be an unfortunate precedent if we were to get into the habit of asking the supplementaries one or two meetings later.

750 In any case, Mr Speaker, I will clarify, my reply is that the word 'staff' in this context applies generally and means employees. 'Locally qualified or eligible' means in general terms, a Gibraltar resident who has the required qualifications and fulfils the eligibility criteria for the post.

Contract workers in answer to WQ167/2013 –
Nationality

Acting Clerk: Question 28, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

755 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to Written Question 167/2013, can the Minister for Health say what nationality are the 11 contract workers who were offered indefinite employment?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, further to that question, the nationalities of the 11 contract workers who were offered indefinite employment are ten British/Gibraltarian and one Spanish.

Q29/2014
New Born Hearing screening – Commencement

Acting Clerk: Question 29, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

765

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say when the New Born Hearing screening will start?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the GHA is currently looking at issues of training and validation for all staff who will be engaged in the screening process. Once this is in place, the full programme will commence.

775 The first phase is in place. We have recently purchased new equipment which is more sensitive and accurate in picking up any problems. This is initially being used in children who may be high risk such as those with the relevant family history, or in other cases, such as post meningitis – clearly, that is not neonatal.

780 It is difficult to give an exact date for the full roll-out, because we are looking at bringing out a team for training local staff and also looking at placements in the UK and it means scheduling times and dates that are mutually acceptable.

New Prostate Clinic –
Opening

Acting Clerk: Question 30, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say when the new Prostate Clinic will be opening?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, there is already a specific Prostate Clinic held on the first Thursday of every month, with urgent cases seen in-between as needed. The clinic is run by Consultant Surgeon/Urologist Mr Andrew Sene.

New improvements are currently being introduced with the purchase of new equipment donated through the support of the Prostate Cancer Support Group by the Kusuma Trust, such as a flexible cystoscope and a transrectal ultra sound scanner. This follows testing of equipment and a visit by the consultant to a UK centre.

795

This would allow, for example, for parts of the service which are currently undertaken in the Radiology Department, to be relocated to the specialised clinic area.

In addition, the Support Group has been offered use of a room at St Bernard's Hospital to assist with counselling and a new protocol to include Primary Care is being finalised.

We hope to have the whole new system in place during the first part of this year.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, I missed the first part of that answer. Can the Hon. Minister again say, has the new equipment already arrived in Gibraltar?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I did not say that, but I am told that the equipment arrived two days ago and now obviously has to be unpacked, commissioned and training in its use initiated. But it has just arrived in Gibraltar.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, the Hon. Minister mentioned a room being made available for counselling within the hospital for the Prostate Cancer Support Group. Will this room also be opened up to other cancer support groups?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker, perhaps I should add that the Prostate Cancer Group would normally use it on the day of the specialised clinics, so that somebody who may have had bad news would be able to avail themselves of the group's support and counselling. So the arrangements would have to be made as to which group would use it on which day.

New emergency ambulances – Fitting under A&E canopy

Acting Clerk: Question 31, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health advise if there have been any problems with the new emergency ambulances fitting under the canopy outside of the Accident and Emergency department, and if so, what is being done about it?

820

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, both ambulances fit under the canopy outside the Accident and Emergency department.

Sponsored patients mechanism – Review

Acting Clerk: Question 32, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

830 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health state what progress has been made with the complete review of the sponsored patients mechanism, and at what stage is it at in such an endeavour?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

835 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, views and information have been assembled and discussion is ongoing in developing the proposals.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, does the Hon. Minister have a timeframe for the completion of such a review?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker. I think it would be premature to give that. It is a complex issue. There are many different aspects that we are looking at and I would not like to be held to dates. But certainly we will see it during this term.

Primary Care Clinic for children – Relocation to St Bernard's Hospital

845 Acting Clerk: Question 33, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say at what stage the GHA is in relocating the Primary Care Clinic for children to St Bernard's Hospital?

850 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the GHA is currently undertaking a consultation process with key staff groups, to assess the various options in relocating this service.

855 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, with respect, that is exactly the same answer the Hon. Minister gave me last May. Can he explain what has been the delay?

860 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the answer is the same because the answer happens to be the same. We are still in a consultation process. This is a complex issue; you cannot suddenly open a door and in come the patients. This is a complex issue which involves discussions between both general practitioners and paediatricians and we then have to look at the best sites to use. Therefore it is a complex issue and as I said before in relation to the Dementia Strategy, I would rather take a little bit longer and get it right. That is in fact the case in a number of the issues that have been raised today. The situation remains that we are discussing the options.

Repeat prescriptions – Issuing without seeing a GP

865 Acting Clerk: Question 34, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say what the plans are to deal with the issuing of repeat prescriptions without the need to see a GP?

870 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I refer the Member opposite to Questions 869/2012 and 122/2013.

875 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, yes, I am aware of those answers. This is specifically in relation to those on repeat prescriptions who are still required to go to their GP after six months for medication, such as anti-histamine statins and are on these medications for a long term – whether a more expedient system for that category of patients or that category of medication... whether a more expedient system will be put in place.

880 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the Member opposite has answered the question for me; she has said this is for those patients that need to see the GP. If they need to see the GP they need to see the GP. Very often the GP will want to see them after six months.

885 It is possible, now that we have finally introduced, after many years of that not having happened, prescribing by nurse practitioners, that it could be a nurse practitioner who deals with this who would be perfectly qualified to do so.

But it is often the case that the GP actually wants to see the patient after six months, to see how they are reacting to the particular treatment. And if the GP wants to see them, then we cannot jump that one and do it in an administrative manner.

890 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, but my understanding is that a lot of these patients say that it is not necessary for them to go and see their GP, and that they are taking up an appointment slot just to pick up another set of prescriptions. Whether some other process will be considered when they just need another six months' worth of prescriptions and they can obtain it in another manner, rather than taking up a GP's time?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, that is a different set of patients to the one that I have just commented on.

900 If the GP feels that it is not necessary for them to be seen in six months' time, then the GP has the option of offering prescriptions for a longer period. However, having taken the point that the Member opposite has made, which is outside the answer that I have given, I will look and see whether there is a need for that and whether there is a significant number of patients who are just given six months prescriptions and the GP specifically says he does not need to see them. I will look and see whether that is a real problem, and if so, we will tackle it.

905 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister then confirm that the GP does have the option of prescribing for longer periods than six months?

910 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I would not be able to categorically answer that question, so I will not. This is why I offered to look into the situation.

GHA employees on contracts – Eligibility for joining Superannuation Fund

Acting Clerk: Question 35, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

915 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, further to Question 813/2013, can the Minister for Health say whether GHA employees on contracts who have worked for less than four years are eligible to join the Superannuation Fund?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

920 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, at present, the option for these contract workers to join the Superannuation Fund is given when they are offered employment on indefinite terms. Employees have the option to back-date entry into the fund to the date of commencement, if they have not received the gratuity whilst employed on contract terms.

925 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, so can the Hon. Minister confirm then, for instance, doctors who have been on contracts for over four years, are they able to join the Superannuation Fund but they are still on a contract?

930 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the answer is quite specific. It is those who are offered employment on indefinite terms. It does not specify whether it is a doctor or not a doctor, but it is a question that they would have to fulfil whatever criteria are considered would justify them being employed on indefinite terms.

GHA employees –
Increasing nursing assistants

935 Acting Clerk: Question 36, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say if the GHA will be increasing its complement and employing more nursing assistants in the near future?

940 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, if this was operationally necessary.

945 Hon. D J Bossino: Presumably, Mr Speaker, the current position is that it is not considered to be operationally necessary, so therefore the current intention is not to increase the complement. Just for the sake of accuracy, is my interpretation of his answer correct?

950 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, at the moment, there are no current plans to increase the numbers, but if it were operationally necessary for any particular reason, then that is something that would have to be considered.

Q37-45/2014
St Bernard's and KGV Hospitals and Primary Care Centre –
Fire drills, alarms and smoke detectors

Acting Clerk: Question 37, the Hon. J J Netto.

955 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health state if there has been any fire evacuation drill carried out at St Bernard's Hospital in 2012 and 2013?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

960 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 38 to 45.

Acting Clerk: Question 38, the Hon. J J Netto.

965 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health state if there has been any fire evacuation drills at the Mental Hospital at KGV during 2012 and 2013?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

970 Mr Speaker: I think for better procedure, since it is the same questioner and the same Minister who is going to reply, I think that, Mr Clerk, you should call out each, one question after the other.

Acting Clerk: Question 39, the Hon. J J Netto.

975 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health state if there has been any fire evacuation drill at the Primary Care Centre during 2012 and 2013.

Acting Clerk: Question 40, the Hon. J J Netto.

980 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health state if there are fire alarms and smoke detectors installed throughout St Bernard's Hospital?

Acting Clerk: Question 41, the Hon. J J Netto.

985 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health state whether during 2012 and 2013, the fire alarm systems and the smoke detectors installed at St Bernard's Hospital have been tested and certified and if so, by which professional entity and on what dates this has taken place?

Acting Clerk: Question 42, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health state whether there are fire alarms and smoke detectors installed throughout the Primary Care Centre?

Acting Clerk: Question 43, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health state whether during 2012 and 2013, the fire alarm systems and the smoke detectors installed in the Primary Care Centre have been tested and certified and if so, by which professional entity, and on what dates this has taken place?

1000 Acting Clerk: Question 44, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health state whether there are fire alarms and smoke detectors installed throughout the Mental Hospital at KGV?

1005 Acting Clerk: Question 45, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health state whether during 2012 and 2013, the fire alarm systems and the smoke detectors installed throughout the Mental Hospital at KGV have been tested and certified and if so, by which professional entity and on what date this has taken place?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the last fire drills to have been held on GHA premises were as follows: Primary Care Centre, November 2012 – no such drills have been carried out previously; King George V Hospital, 2005, two following an incident in 2004 – there is no record of a previous one; St Bernard's Hospital, 2005 – it was not in that location before then.

Mr Speaker, the lack of such fire drills in the past is a cause for concern to me, as the organisation had found itself with a lack of experience and expertise. I am pleased to say that we are now liaising with the City Fire Brigade in order to update the evacuation and fire drill programme, and fire marshals are currently undergoing training. There will therefore be at least annual drills as from this year. In addition, a full survey on the preparedness of the organisation in fire safety is underway.

1020

In relation to fire alarms and smoke detectors, these are installed throughout the Primary Care Centre, KGV and St Bernard's Hospital. They have been tested as follows...

I have to add it was not in my script, but I note the hon. Member had asked which firm had done this – they have been tested by G4S Fire Security.

They have been tested as follows: St Bernard's Hospital – 30th January 2012; 13th August 2012; 28th February 2013; 13th July 2013.

Primary Care Centre – 30th January 2012; 31st July 2012; 13th April 2013; 12th September 2013.

King George V Hospital – 2nd May 2012; 19th October 2012; 20th May 2013 and 13th January 2014.

1030

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, when the Hon. the Minister for Health stated that there are discussions taking place with the Gibraltar Fire Brigade, can he actually inform the House when such discussion started?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker, but they were certainly ongoing before I got notice of this question, in case that is what he is implying.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, in addition to having a discussion with the Gibraltar Fire Brigade in order to see how the emergency evacuation plan ought to take place, is this a matter which has been discussed 1040 within the Health Authority, given the Health and Safety Committee that exists between the management and the trade union representatives in the past?

1045 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I am not aware. Again I would need notice of that specific detail. I think I have answered the question perfectly well, expressed my concern at the lack of fire preparedness that I inherited, and the steps that I am taking to ensure that that is no longer the case. He has given me a marvellous opportunity to express publicly how little sensitivity there had been to the danger of fire. But those specific questions, I would need notice of.

1050 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, by when will the Minister think he will be in a position in order to have a plan which can be implemented for the purpose of fire evacuation drills, and not only that, in addition to that, also to be able to cascade the information to members of staff ? Because that information needs to be disseminated amongst members of staff and presumably, there needs to be what some people may call fire agents or fire marshals, who will be able to implement whatever the procedure is that eventually takes place.

1055 So can the Minister tell us whether this issue is likely to be in place perhaps within the next three months?

1060 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I wonder whether the hon. Member had a similar conversation with the previous Minister for Health after so many years without any movement whatsoever. But one can only speculate on that.

Mr Speaker, we will be ready very soon indeed.

1065 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I thought I understood, and if obviously I got it wrong, I would be grateful if the Hon. Minister would correct me, but I think he stated that once the procedures are in place, that he would like to be in a position that at least it is to be tested once a year. Was that correct?

1070 Because my understanding, from looking at the information in the UK as far as hospitals are concerned, and this is information which is readily available on the internet, I came across the fact that a lot of hospitals in the UK tend to execute fire drills almost on a weekly basis. I am not suggesting for one minute that that should necessarily be the practice here in Gibraltar, but given the fact that there are... well, the service users of the Health Authority, some of whom have disabilities and some of whom have sensory impairment of different kinds, the Health Authority will have to consider how appropriate will such drills have to be taking place.

1075 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, we will obviously heed the professionals who are advising us. I offered once a year because I think that is the minimum that I would require, but using the premise that they should be held once weekly, then in 16 years of Government by the party opposite, they have missed 2,496 fire drills that they should have had. (Laughter)

1080 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, so despite the Hon. Minister's horror and concern, can he confirm that no fire drills have taken place these last two years then at St Bernard's Hospital, the Primary Care Centre, or the KGV under his watch?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have already answered that question.

1085 Hon. J J Netto: I am trying to find a particular note which I cannot find now, but one of the things that I would like to urge the Minister is that one of the things that managements do take in place when elaborating procedures of this kind, I think it is called something like PEEPS, Personal Emergency... In other words, they are looking at the service users that there is in the Health Authority, and given the nature of those individualised circumstances, they are taking into account for the purpose of when a fire drill has to be executed or even if a fire actually takes place, they know exactly where to go, how to go and perhaps optimise the evacuation procedure as soon as possible.

So can I urge the Minister that they take on board those particular practices in the UK because obviously they are essential given the service users that the Health Authority have?

1095 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Precisely, Mr Speaker, and the hon. Member opposite is really helping me very much this morning. It is precisely because of the complex nature of doing it that if it has not been done for so many years, it takes time to establish it and to carry out these measures properly. That is the exercise on which we are engaged.

1100 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, can I ask the Minister a specific question. He made a reference in answer to Question 41/2014 to the professional entity as the question is posed, which is assisting the Government in relation to this issue and I think he said... is it G4S Fire Security and is that the trading name? Can he give me the company name and with details as to whether it is a local company or it is a UK company providing professional input in relation to this matter?

1105 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: If you bear with me Mr Speaker, I will check and see if that is in my notes, but the testing was carried out by G4S Fire Security. That is the name of the company that I have been given and the actual... Let me just check my papers here – the actual survey and preparedness of the organisation is being done by a fire safety management company called Tenos. I do not have any more details of that.

1110 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I would like those details and I suppose we could write to the Minister after this or maybe he could obtain the details from the civil servants and give it to us whenever he has a moment.

1115 Is he able to answer this question, Mr Speaker: is he aware of the cost of this exercise? Does he have that information with him? I appreciate it is a specific question – we can always ask it at the next sitting.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, those are specific details which were not asked. I answered the question, I think, very thoroughly and in great detail. That information I do not have it.

1120 Mr Speaker: If the Hon. Minister is willing to and able to provide that information, well and good, but it does not arise from any of the eight or nine questions that have been taken together.

Q46-53/2014
Macaques –
Combating illegal feeding and spread of disease

Acting Clerk: Question 46, the Hon. J J Netto.

1125 Hon J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if there has been any discussions between the Department of the Environment and the RGP, in order to establish a working methodology to avoid any illegal enticing or feeding of Macaques, contrary to the Nature Protection Act, or any of its subsidiary legislation, during the course of the last year?

1130 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 47 to 53.

Acting Clerk: Question 47, the Hon. J J Netto.

1135 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if there has been any discussion between the Department of the Environment and the Environmental Agency, in order to establish a working methodology to avoid any illegal enticing or feeding of Macaques contrary to the Nature Protection Act or any of its subsidiary legislation during the course of the last year?

1140 Acting Clerk: Question 48, the Hon. J J Netto.

1145 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if there has been any discussion between the Department of the Environment and the Customs Department, in order to establish a working methodology to avoid any illegal enticing or feeding of Macaques contrary to the Nature Protection Act, or any of its subsidiary legislation during the course of the last year?

Acting Clerk: Question 49, the Hon. J J Netto.

1150 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state, how many individuals have been fined for illegally feeding the Macaques within the Nature Reserve, during 2012 and 2013?

Acting Clerk: Question 50, the Hon. J J Netto.

1155 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state how many individuals have been fined for illegally feeding the Macaques outside the Nature Reserve during 2012 and 2013?

Acting Clerk: Question 51, the Hon. J J Netto.

1160 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state how many Macaques have been culled on a monthly basis since January 2012?

Acting Clerk: Question 52, the Hon. J J Netto.

1165 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state where the Department of the Environment is purchasing the noise makers used in order to frighten the Macaques at the Nature Reserve, who is purchasing the noise makers, whether a licence has been issued for such a purpose, and whether the noise makers purchased comply with our local laws on this matter?

Acting Clerk: Question 53, the Hon. J J Netto.

1170 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if the local population of Macaques are monitored for Hepatitis A disease, and if so, state how many are infected with it, what percentage of the population it represents, and if there is a vaccination programme for Hepatitis A being delivered?

1175 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, in answer to Questions 46 to 48, in order, yes sir, yes sir, and no sir.

1180 In answer to Questions 49 and 50, the same number as have been fined for this since the unauthorised feeding of Macaques was made illegal, about 100 years ago, after they were regularly coming into town. That is, none.

1185 In answer to Question 51, between 1st January 2012 and 31st December 2013, a total of nine Macaques have unfortunately had to be put down for veterinary or behavioural reasons: in 2012, August, three; September, one; November, one; 2013, March, one; September, two; October, one.

The Senior Executive Officer of the Department of the Environment purchases the noise makers from either of two specialist shops in Spain. The Collector of Customs grants an import licence each and every time noise makers are imported. These noise makers comply with local legislation.

1190 In answer to Question 53, a study was undertaken in 2000 by the Macaque Management team which identified certain Hepatitis A antibodies in 80% of the animals sampled. But I very quickly add that this needs to be qualified. Although not a direct consequence of the question, with your leave, Mr Speaker, I think I need to clarify this statistic, in order to avoid unnecessary fears.

1195 Mr Speaker, all the Macaques that tested positive back in 2000, did so for the IgG antibody, which indicates that the animals had been exposed previously to an infection, but were immune from the disease at the time of testing and therefore, and most significantly, were not shedding the virus, and therefore did not pose any risk. No Macaques at all, that is zero percent, tested positive for IgM, which is the infectious antibody, and therefore, I repeat, no Macaques tested would have been shedding the virus, and therefore there was no risk of infection.

1200 In fact, Mr Speaker, it is likely that the infection originated from humans. At that time, the veterinarian decided to vaccinate as many juvenile Macaques as possible, to create what is known as herd immunity. Blood testing after vaccination would be futile, as there is no way to distinguish between an immunised animal and one that had previously contracted the disease.

1205 The risk of humans acquiring the disease is negligible, provided normal precautions when in contact with any animal are taken, such as washing of hands. Hepatitis A can only be transferred by the oro-faecal route – that is, by taking by mouth after contact with faeces – and not by bites or contacts.

1210 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, my first question is in relation to any discussions being held either with the RGP, the Environmental Agency and the Customs Department. I think I understood the answer by the Minister was that yes, there had been some discussion taking place in order to avoid that. Can the Minister perhaps provide Parliament with more information as to the nature of those discussions?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, of course: what I said, Mr Speaker, was yes, Police; yes, Environmental Agency; no, Customs, we have not discussed with Customs.

1215 The nature of the discussions were a way of trying to get more application or enforcement of the laws. The discussions reached the conclusion that the law, as it stood, was a little bit complicated to enforce, and also that clearly the Police have many priorities, so this led to the decision, and there is a Bill before this House, which I think will be taken at the next meeting, in order to introduce fixed penalties and expand the enforcement abilities from the Police to include members of the Department of the Environment and the Environmental Agency, hence the discussions with the Environmental Agency.

1220 So it has been a long process of discussion, in order to better enforce this law, which as I said before, has never, ever in a hundred years, to my knowledge, resulted in any fines, and this is a process that is ongoing in order to improve the way that we manage the issue.

1225 Hon. J J Netto: Yes, Mr Speaker, but in order to try and see where this discussion is actually leading to... The hon. Member said that they are trying to discuss how more effectively they can enforce the law, and, in fact, he mentioned that there is a Bill later to be discussed at a subsequent date. But do I take it from the comments made by the Minister that the Minister is actually looking more specifically for a kind of multi-agency application, of the enforcement of fines, whenever anyone is identified for either illegally enticing, or illegally feeding, and having the co-operation of both the RGP, which unfortunately, as the Minister has said, in the past has not been there, because they have other priorities, 1230 But do I take it that as a result of these discussions, perhaps the RGP maybe able to prioritise and make a contribution in the help to tackle this perennial problem?

1235 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the idea is precisely to have a multi-agency approach to the problem, with the RGP continuing to be involved as the primary law enforcers in Gibraltar, but a multi-agency approach will mean that there will be more people on the ground, to be able to dissuade people from feeding the Macaques.

1240 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, obviously I do not want to necessarily anticipate a discussion which later on is going to be discussed, at a time when the Minister makes his speech in the First Reading of the Bill, so I do not want to necessarily anticipate any discussion there, but I think I heard the Minister saying that there had been no discussion at all with the Customs Department, is that correct?

1245 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, that is what I said, and I am now racking my brains to see whether I have actually mentioned it to a Customs Officer in conversation. No, seriously, Mr Speaker, I do not recall any discussions with the Customs. I do not think this is something that the Customs should be involved in.

1250 Hon. J J Netto: So the Minister believes that there is no reason whatsoever why the Customs Department, in the future, will be able to make a contribution, by way of issuing out fines for illegal feeding of Macaques. Is that what the Minister is saying?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member knows I am very keen to export Macaques, but getting them to jump the border carrying anything that they should not (Laughter) to guarantee interception by Customs Officer is not one of those. I say that obviously in jest.

1255 Mr Speaker, there is no intention at the moment to engage with Customs. I think they have other duties that they need to deal with, and by expanding to the Environment Ministry and the Environmental Agency, I think we will have enough people on the ground, at least to make a good start at this multi-disciplinary approach.

1260 Hon. J J Netto: Well, Mr Speaker, certainly I would leave the issue of Customs there. But I just want to highlight to the Minister, in fact, that there is a reference to Customs in the Bill, so this is why I am asking the question; but leave it there, because obviously we can have the discussion much later on, when the Bill comes, and perhaps he may be able to provide more information as to the reason why Customs are actually included, among the different groups, (Interjection) hence the reason for the question.

1265 But, can I move on, Mr Speaker, with other supplementary questions? In relation to the firecrackers, noise makers, or commonly known as petardos comunes or petardos chinos, the Minister actually said that those are being purchased from two particular places in Spain. Now, can the Minister say whether the noise makers or petardos, whatever they are are called, abide by both the British Standards application and the European Union?

1270 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the information I have, which I have given in the answer, is that they comply with local legislation, If he wants me to look more specifically at any particular legislation which he bears in mind, then I would be happy to take that away. He may be able to write to me, as indeed he often does, and I will certainly look at the information.

1275 Hon. J J Netto: Yes, Mr Speaker, I will certainly take the offer, but my understanding is that they do not. They do not comply with EU Standards. The EU Standards are EU EN14035-15 and, in fact, the firecrackers, the Spanish firecrackers are actually, as I understand, illegal throughout Europe. The fact that Spain still manufactures and sells these particular noisemakers is in contravention of the European 1280 legislation. So my point, if I am correct, is that the noisemakers that the Department of the Environment, or any other employee of the Government, are purchasing in Spain may well be illegal products in Gibraltar, even if they happen to be certified by the Collector of Customs when entering into Gibraltar.

1285 If that is the case, will the Hon. Minister look whether those purchasers are legal products, as far as the European Union is concerned; look into whether they abide by the British Standards, which are different and much higher in quality; and whether the Fire Brigade actually sanctioned the purchase of these particular products in Spain, given that they will probably have a policy in that regard, which says that if one person in Gibraltar wanted to sell these particular firecrackers, or pyrotechnics, they are illegal products under the policies of the Fire Brigade in Gibraltar?

1290 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, of course, I will look at these [inaudible]. In fact, I asked the hon.
Member to write to me with precisely those facts and I would ask him to write to me with that, as it will make it easier for me to look at that.

I think I must comment, without being able to answer that specific point, that there are situations in which, for example, it is illegal to hold a firearm without a licence, but firearms can be used for specific issues. I am not comparing one to the other, but clearly, I will look at that information, and if it is the case that this causes a problem, then obviously we would have to reassess the use of these particular ones.

1295 But as I say, I cannot commit myself, because it may well be that the particular ones that are used do fall within the local legislation which is applicable, because, clearly some of what the hon. Member has told me may or may not be applicable to Gibraltar.

But, certainly I will get the Department of the Environment to look at it immediately we receive the information.

1300 Hon. J J Netto: Moving on, Mr Speaker, to my last set of questions, which dealt with the Barbary Macaques in relation to Hepatitis A. Yes, I do share the comments made by the actual Minister in the sense that this is not something to be worried about in relation to Hepatitis A. But I was not dwelling, if you like, on that itself.

1305 What I was trying to get information from the Minister on, I am not quite sure whether he actually provided that information, is that whether the Macaque who does have Hepatitis A, or all of them, they do have some vaccination themselves. We are looking here at the welfare of the Macaques, as well.

1310 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: What I explained, Mr Speaker, is that with the Macaques that had a positive test, it was a test for the antibody that proved that they had had the disease but had got over it. So they still had the antibodies in the body, but they were no longer – they had the protection, but they no longer had the disease. Then I explained that there was a vaccination of as many juveniles as possible, in order to create what is known as herd immunity, so that the younger ones who would not have been exposed to the disease at the time that the older ones were would then be given immunity by a process of vaccination and that will 1315 have cut it off. They were no longer shedding so they were not subjected any more, and the juveniles were immunised.

So the issue is that that was one incident, which was dealt with at the time, and which we have no reason to think that is a problem at this point in time.

Q54/2014

Wildlife wardens – Extra employees to be taken on

1320 Acting Clerk: Question 54, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if extra personnel are going to be employed in order to discharge the duties of wildlife wardens?

1325 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, this will be determined as part of the Upper Rock Management Plan.

1330 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, in the past, when I raised the issue of the Upper Rock Management Plan, I recall the Minister saying that this will be launched very soon, and that has been at least more than six months now. Can the Minister perhaps tell the House when it will be announced?

1335 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Very soon, Mr Speaker, soon. This is a complex one, once again, and I have the tendency of reading things, and always trying to improve on the last time, and then I think it is ready, but one more time.

This is going to happen very soon. I think we are talking about a few months only.

1340 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can I ask the Minister whether he himself believes that there is a need to have a dedicated group of directly employed people, working as wildlife wardens in the Upper Rock Nature Reserve?

1345 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, what I believe is that we have to have people carrying out the functions of wildlife wardens throughout Gibraltar. That is why we recently published legislation, which appointed the employees of the Department of the Environment, including the new Environmental Protection Officers, to be enabled, under the Acts of the Nature Protection Act, to perform those functions.

1350 So, at this point in time, these ladies and gentlemen are able to do that and have started this work in a small way; an induction and so on will be carried out, so at this point in time, I am not going to commit myself, as to whether or not we would require to employ specific people. The Upper Rock Management Plan will inform that and the experience that we have, we are now undergoing, by giving those powers to people already in employment, I think is the correct way of addressing this, and we are doing this in a staged process.

1355 Hon. J J Netto: Well, Mr Speaker, that is certainly a turnaround from the days when he used to be the General Secretary of GONHS, because he used to chastise – (Interjection) I am sorry can you calm yourself down, and allow me to continue?

Mr Speaker: It is for me to ask hon. Members to calm themselves down. (Laughter) The job of the hon. Member there is to ask supplementary questions.

1360 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have to answer that comment. There is absolutely no turnaround – (Interjections) I am not giving way, Mr Speaker. (Interjections)

Mr Speaker: May I? The Hon. Mr Netto has the floor, if he wishes to ask a supplementary.

1365 Hon. J J Netto: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

1370 As I was saying, certainly a 180-degree turnaround by the former Secretary General of GONHS, when he used to chastise the GSD Government for not having a dedicated group of employed people to be wildlife wardens. Can the Minister tell the House that no extra amount of money will be provided for, to any private company, to undertake the duties of wildlife wardens in the next 12 months?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, first of all, I think that question is not a direct follow-up, and I have already said that we are looking at whether or not we are going to employ wildlife wardens as part of the Management Plan.

1375 But, I have to correct two things that the hon. Member has said, because I think they are very unfair, and I think that he, of all people, knows how unfair they are. Because, Mr Speaker, when I was General Secretary of the Gibraltar Ornithological and Natural History Society, I never chastised any Government, but I worked within the Government, and I may have had conversations with him, as Minister, and with others of his colleagues and Ministers on the issue. But I never chastised anyone: that was not my way of working, as he and all the Members opposite very well know, and I am still that same person, Mr Speaker.
1380 That is a very unfair comment.

1385 But having said that, Mr Speaker, it is not a turn of any nature. I have said that I have empowered the whole staff of the Department of the Environment – 20, 30 people, I do not have the details now – plus two new Environmental Protection Officers to fulfil the duties of wildlife wardens. If the Ministers that I worked to in the past had responded to me when I said ‘we need wardening on the Upper Rock’, and had said, ‘Well look, we are going to have Environmental Enforcement Officers, and I am going to offer the whole of the Environment Department staff’ – which was much smaller than it is now, by the way – ‘and I will empower them to carry out those duties’, then I would have said, ‘Well thank you very much, let us see how it goes.’

1390 The allegations that the hon. Member has made are completely unsubstantiated, and anybody at all who knows me, and the way that I work and have worked, will know that that is the case.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, does the Minister consider that the employment, I think he said, of two Protection Environmental Officers is sufficient for undertaking the duties throughout Gibraltar for wildlife wardens?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I refer to my original answer: this will be determined as part of the Upper Rock Management Plan.

1400 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, this may be a question which he may not have the answer to as yet, but does he have an idea, certainly from the employment perspective, as to which entity would be the employing body of these wildlife wardens? Would it be the GDC, for example, or a Civil Service post to be created? Can he answer that question?

1405 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have already said that it has not even been determined. This is totally hypothetical.

1410 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, does the Minister not envisage, perhaps, the scenario whereby, despite having a situation where they have a multi-agency approach to this particular issue, and yet find that, despite all the willingness in the world, at the end of the day the RGP will not be able to provide the assistance that is required? Because that has been the case in the past, given their other priorities, and perhaps, for relying on other agencies, as in maybe like the Environmental Agency, would be, to use perhaps the Spanish saying, desvestir un santo para vestir a otro santo – meaning an employee of the Environmental Agency having to put aside some aspects of their normal day-to-day work, in order to do this particular work. Hence my reason, and hence my question, whether the Minister thinks there are sufficient people employed to undertake such duties. Can he provide an answer?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, first of all, I have to correct: the hon. Member is getting two questions confused. The Environmental Agency is being empowered to deal with the feeding of Macaques, and they are out in the street, they issue litter tickets, they look after all sorts of issues, so they are already on the ground. So that will not detract them from any other duty, and that is a previous question.
1420

This question is specifically on the question of wildlife wardens, which have not been extended to the same people, but in any case, I repeat my original answer: this will be determined as part of the Upper Rock Management Plan, and no matter how many questions I am going to be asked, I am going to give the same answer, because it is a work in progress. We have to assess it in relation to what we are already doing, and then we will come up with a properly worked out answer.

I have said it several times before today, Mr Speaker, I am not going to be rushed by the Opposition, into launching strategies, into publishing plans, or into giving answers which have not been properly studied. My scientific training has told me that I really have to lay the point, and then I come to the conclusions, and I am not going to be rushed in advance of that. So this will be determined as part of the Upper Rock Management Plan.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, could I ask the Minister, whether he can provide the House with some sort of definition of duties that are likely to emerge, for someone undertaking the function of wildlife wardens?

1435 Mr Speaker: That does not arise at all. I am not allowing that supplementary. (Interjections) Any other supplementary? In that case we will go on to Question 55.

Q55/2014
Sewage treatment plant –
Plans for construction

Acting Clerk: Question 55, the Hon. J J Netto.

1440 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if there are plans in progress for the construction of a sewage treatment plant, and if so, provide Parliament with a statement as to the timeline for operations for the plant to start and the cost to build the plant?

1445 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I can confirm that there are plans in progress for the construction of a sewage treatment plant, and that these are proceeding swiftly.

1450 The Government invited tenders for the design, build, finance and operation of a waste water treatment plant at Europa Point, in the Official Journal of the European Union on 28th June 2013. The tender was also advertised in local media, in line with statutory requirements, and a number of tenders have been received to date.

1455 The Government will commence the tender evaluation process on 24th January, in a couple of days' time. Government intends to award the tender, as soon as possible, once the tender evaluation process is completed. All aspects of the design and construction of the project rests with the tenderers, and therefore the estimated cost of the plant will only be known once a successful tenderer is chosen.

In terms of timescale, the Government envisages that the plant be operational within two years of awarding the contract.

1460 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can I ask for clarification, whether the Minister can say that the period for prospective tenderers, that period has now closed and nobody else can put further bids to the process?

1465 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I believe that the evaluation process will start on 24th, because that is when the tender closes. (Interjections) Mr Speaker, the 24th I believe is tomorrow, so – 1470 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, could I ask the Government, and I am not trying to hold the Government to an exact figure certainly, but a kind of order of cost of what this project might entail? In other words, are we talking about a £50 million project, a £100 million project, a £150 million project, and I am not trying to hold the Government now to... within a couple of million either way.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker, I do not have that information. This is a tender process, and we...

1475 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, could I ask the Minister if he could perhaps tell Parliament, whether the Government is envisaging that the new sewage treatment plant, when it becomes operational, whether this will be connected, in any way to other plants, perhaps the waste treatment plant that the Government is proposing?

1480 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, this is too early a stage to answer that question. We are processing tenders for the waste treatment plant, we are about to process tenders for the sewage plant, and this will then be considered in relation to that, but I do not have that information.

1485 Hon. J J Netto: Well, obviously, Mr Speaker, it is something that I would have to perhaps continue this line of questions on another month.

But could I ask, perhaps, one final question on this particular topic, and could the Minister state whether this particular project to build the sewage treatment plant will be funded, or the intention is to fund either wholly, or partially, either directly, or indirectly, by (a) Credit Finance Company Limited; or (b) from the proceeds of monies deposited in the Gibraltar Savings Bank?

1490 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, with respect to the hon. Gentleman, I believe that question was specifically asked by him at the last Parliament, or in the list that was asked at the last Parliament, of projects to be funded by... in the options put by the hon. Gentleman. The answer then was no, and it remains no.

1495 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q56/2014
Cigarette stubs –
Litter Committee discussions

Acting Clerk: Question 56, the Hon. J J Netto.

1500 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment say if the Litter Committee has discussed the increased amount of cigarette stubs that litter our streets, and whether there are plans to place cigarette bins throughout Gibraltar, supported by an awareness campaign?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

1505 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, cigarette stubs have not been specifically discussed at the Litter Committee meetings.

I will explain: they do not appear in the minutes. There may have been peripheral conversations on it, but they are not something that was specifically discussed at those committee meetings.

1510 The issue has been dealt with internally by the Department of the Environment. Thirty bins with ashtrays have been purchased and will be deployed shortly, to see whether the system actually helps, of course.

1515 Hon. J J Netto: Well, Mr Speaker, that is certainly good news to hear from the Government side, but can I also urge the Minister on the second part of my question, that perhaps the introduction of those extra littler bins should be supported by an awareness campaign as well?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, I think that is a logical step to be taken, on the launch of the new bins.

Q57-59/2014
Detached Mole –
New bunkering arrangement

1520 Acting Clerk: Question 57, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if the new arrangement for bunkering at the Detached Mole is a temporary or permanent measure?

1525 Acting Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 58 and 59.

1530 Acting Clerk: Question 58, the Hon. J J Netto.

1535 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment provide Parliament with an explanation as to the procedure covering the new bunkering arrangement from the Detached Mole, and what protection is in place to safeguard the environment?

Acting Clerk: Question 59, the Hon. J J Netto.

1540 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if, as a result of the new arrangements for bunkering at the Detached Mole, whether local fishermen will be able to continue fishing from that location?

Acting Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

1545 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, before I answer that, I would just like to say that the Hon. Minister for the Port would likely have answered at least some of these questions, as he has been leading on this, but in his absence on Government business outside Gibraltar, I am happy to provide the information.

1550 Bunkering activities in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters are regulated by the Gibraltar Port Authority, under the Bunkering Code of Practice, and the Ship to Ship Code of Practice. Bunkering activities at the Detached Mole are regulated in accordance with these codes of practice, and are subject to the same level of supervision and control as other bunkering activities in BGTW.

Among the measures in place to ensure protection of the environment are limitations on cargo temperatures, and hydrogen sulphide content of cargoes, booming requirements for transfers of persistent 1555 cargoes, GPA inspections for cargo transfers, and unannounced inspections of both the mother ship and the bunker barges involved in these operations.

At the moment this is considered a temporary arrangement.

New procedures have been introduced to ensure the safety of anglers and ships berthed at the Detached Mole, while ensuring that the impact on fishing activities, which will continue, is minimised. These procedures have been agreed with the fishing associations.

1560

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Minister has said that these are temporary measures, or operations that are taking place. Can the Minister perhaps provide Parliament with a more elaborate explanation as to what the more permanent measures will be? I say this, because in the statement issued by the Environmental Safety Group, they argue that this will not in the future be a permanent onshore operation for bunkering.

1565

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, the comment that... clearly this is a statement by a non-Governmental organisation, and the Government is not party to those, or to what may have gone behind arriving at that statement. I am not able to offer more information than the one that I have given: I was asked whether it is temporary or not. I have answered that, and as I explained, my colleague, the Minister responsible for the Port is away on Government business, and did make it known to the Opposition that he was going to be away, and therefore I am not able to offer more information than what I have offered this morning.

1570

Hon. J J Netto: Do I take it that the only thing that has changed, really, is that before, this particular refuelling or bunkering operation was done in the Bay of Gibraltar, and now what we have is a large bunker storage tanker, which will be permanently docked or anchored inside the Bay, on the inside of the Detached Mole?

1575

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, if I may assist. The bunkering operations have not changed; what has changed is the location of the storage. Right. The hon. Gentleman needs to know that bunkering did not occur when this vessel was lying in anchorage, it did not occur between this vessel and the vessels that came to receive bunkers. This vessel was the storage vessel. It transferred bunker supplies to a smaller vessel, and that smaller vessel went out to the vessels that wanted to receive bunkers in Gibraltar.

So the only thing that has changed is the location of the storage vessel. That has now been brought alongside. Now, I think it has been said, in the context, I believe, of an answer to a question put by one of the local newspapers, by the Chronicle, that this was at the instigation of the company, and was part of a process towards moving to a new more permanent solution in respect of storage of bunkers. But the hon. Member's supplementary is about the actual bunkering operation. The bunkering operation has not changed.

Hon. J J Netto: Indeed, Mr Speaker, the fact that the bunkering operation was done outside in the Bay of Gibraltar, now is done inside the Bay of Gibraltar – (Interjections) sorry.

1595

Hon. Chief Minister: If I may, if the hon. Gentleman will allow me to assist him on this. The bunkering operation, the actual bunkering is still happening in the Bay outside of the Port. It is the storage of the bunkers that has come within the Port, not the bunkering operation.

1600

Hon. J J Netto: Well, given that the storage is inside the Bay, at the Detached Mole, given the concerns of the local environmental group here, where they argue that as a result of that new location, which is hypothetically, or hypothetically will be, close or adjacent to where the future gas storage facility for the power station will be, and considering that on the north end we have nuclear submarines being stationed from time to time, has any health and safety and environmental audit been carried out on the potential risk that may emanate from such a decision?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, if I may say so to the hon. Gentleman, that question to a great extent was already answered when he was asking questions of the hon. the Member with responsibility for Utilities, when he was asking about whether the gas storage was the subject of any health and safety audit, etc and he was told that it is presently the subject of such audits. So he knows, I put it to him, as a result of that answer, that such investigations are ongoing.

But he needs to remember, and this is a point that all of us are unfortunately stuck with, we made a huge success of this community, being two and a half miles by one mile: if we had the land mass of others, I cannot imagine how the Gibraltarians would have led the world. Whether the bunkering vessel is storing 1615 bunkers on the Detached Mole, or whether it is in its old location, it is probably within 500 or 600 metres of the nuclear berth, and the residential facilities, etc. So it is all a question of determining what are the best places to put this, as I said to him before in relation to gas.

So, yes, it is. This is the subject, the issues surrounding the gas and where the gas could potentially go are the subject of health and safety investigations. Hazardous operations investigations, I think they are called.

1625 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, the Hon. Chief Minister mentioned the fact that the Hon. the Minister for Utilities did mention that there are indeed health and safety and environmental reports which the Government is considering. However, the Opposition clearly does not have sight of such a report, so can I ask the Government that they provide Parliament with copies of such report, so that at the very least, the Opposition will be in a position to know the issues that have been considered, and be able to ask the relevant questions on this matter in the future?

1630 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I have told the hon. Gentleman, those reports are being prepared. It is not that they are ready; it is that they (Interjection) are being prepared –

Hon. J J Netto: What the Minister for Utilities said before was that they had already been done, and they are currently being discussed in Government. (Interjection)

1635 Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, that I am afraid is not what the hon. Member said. But, look, if the hon. Gentleman's recollection is that, all he needs to do is, when the Hansard is ready, go back and check. But what I am telling him is there are a lot of reports, and the ones that he was asking about, which are those relating to gas, are in the process of being prepared.

1640 Mr Speaker, this will be a big change for our community. We will go from using one particular fuel type, which is diesel, to using a new fuel type, which is gas. People will need to understand whether there are any risks involved in using gas, what those risks are. There is risk involving any internal combustion fuel, any fossil fuel that is burnt, but of course, is there more risk, is there less risk? So, the hon. Gentleman can rest assured that when decisions come to be made about these issues, they will be fully explained, not just to this Parliament, and not just to Members opposite, but to the whole of the community.

1650 Hon. J J Netto: Yes, Mr Speaker, but the reality is that the environment does not work in isolation, and we cannot say we are going to have a report simply for the gas storage on one side of the Detached Mole and then next to that particular location, there will be another function which may require a more holistic one, in terms of risks of concern. Now, can I put it, can I ask the Chief Minister, or the Government, by when they reckon that the health and safety and environmental report will be ready, so that at least the Opposition may have sight of them?

1655 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, (Interjection) before the hon. Gentleman, in respect of his request for sight of the report, to the answer I have just given, and in respect of the timing of those reports, that is exactly the same question, with respect to him, that he asked when he was questioning the hon. Gentleman, and I got up to assist in respect of exactly this matter, and I told him I was not going to give him a timeline.

Let me put it in this context for him: the power station, we have all agreed, is an important issue for Gibraltar. We have said we are committed to delivering it, so it is something that is, obviously, going to happen as soon as possible.

1665 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, in the Environmental Safety Group's statement, they urge the Government to have a rethink on the matter, as far as the location for the storage of – well the large bunker tanker storage facility there, and in fact, they go further to that, they suggest the Government that perhaps an alternative site that should be considered by the Government should be the King's Lines depot there, obviously once sufficient investment is done to infrastructural works to make it fit for purpose. Is the Government considering the suggestion of the Environmental Safety Group?

1670 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Government is not just considering the proposals of the Environmental Safety Group; it is considering a very large number of proposals in relation to this issue, and long before the Environmental Safety Group suggested the King's Lines, the Government, the MOD, and third parties are looking at possibilities, for example, involving King's Lines – something that he might recall I used to urge them to do, when I was in Opposition and dealing with these issues. And not just King's Lines, Mr Speaker, we are considering all sorts of other potential areas for bunkering storage, and not just bunker storage, but fuel storage. And, he will recall, Mr Speaker, that when they were in 1675 Government, I also used to urge them to consider about how to have a strategic reserve for Gibraltar, etc.

So, if he were to think back, he would know that the Government is considering that and much more, for much longer than just the period since the ESG made their statement.

1680 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, given that this new large bunker, storage tanker, is now closer to a built-up area, the west side of Gibraltar, have new procedures been considered or even implemented to avoid nauseating smells, bad smells associated with this particular industry, within the whole of the west side of Gibraltar?

1685 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am afraid the hon. Gentleman is wrong. The ship is not closer now to residential areas than it might have been. The ship was actually very close to residential areas where it used to be, and in the past when they were in Government, we had repeated incidents of noxious smells, and of what... the smell is of sulphur, like rotten eggs.

1690 And what he will know, Mr Speaker, if he bothers to think back to the issues, is that those things relate to the mix of the oil which can give rise to those smells, and the non-use of what is known as capture technology to have those fumes sucked in when the bunkering operations are ongoing. That is why it is important that he remind himself again, as I did a moment ago, that the bunkering operations are not going to change location. They will continue to happen where they used to happen. The only thing that is changed is that the storage, and therefore the replenishment of the smaller, the lighter that takes the bunker out for the bunkering operation, is now happening at the Detached Mole. Happening at the Detached Mole is not 1695 any closer, in my view, than when it used to happen, where the vessel used to be, in respect of those who have homes in the south district in Gibraltar.

1700 But, look, noxious smells are something that will always be a concern, and the Government ensures that there are no noxious smells, using the procedures that have long been put in place in respect of such bunkering operations. Those do not change.

Hon. J J Netto: Right, Mr Speaker, the Hon. Chief Minister, reminds us of what he used to tell us when we were in Government, but, I have to ask him, in terms of the new technologies, of capture of those bad smells, have they been implemented now?

1705 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, look, I do not know whether the position is that they were implemented when they were in Government, or just after we were elected, but – this is what I am saying to him – they have long been implemented. And the movement of the vessel is not relevant to those things, or rather that does not change because of the movement of the vessel. There was a big issue with noxious smells some time ago, and at the time, mix or blend of oils was identified as the problem and recapture technology was one of the issues that was introduced, to ensure that these things did not happen – the way that the bunds are put around the pipes that take the oil from one vessel to another, and look, Mr Speaker, we have not had complaints of noxious smells at the rate at which we used to have them.

1710 I cannot remember, Mr Speaker, whether they deserve the credit for that, or whether we deserve the credit for it, but this is something now in the past.

1715 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: If I may assist, Mr Speaker, as to credit, because the hon. Members opposite like to refer to my past. Whether it happened before or after December 2011, I can certainly take a lot of the credit, because I campaigned in order to resolve this before I was elected a Minister. (Banging on desks)

1720 Mr Speaker: Next question.

EQUALITY, SOCIAL SERVICES AND THE ELDERLY

Q60/2014

Equal Opportunities Commission – Establishing

Acting Clerk: Question 60, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1725 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Equality say, as per the Government's manifesto commitment, when the Equal Opportunities Commission will be established, and how it will be set up?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

1730 Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, it will be set up in this term of office.

Q61-66/2014
Social Services' homes and buildings –
Fire alarm systems and smoke detectors

1735 Acting Clerk: Question 61, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state whether there are fire alarm systems and smoke detectors installed throughout Mount Alvernia?

1740 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 62 to 66.

1745 Acting Clerk: Question 62, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state whether during 2012 and 2013 the fire alarm systems and the smoke detectors installed throughout Mount Alvernia have been tested and certified, and if so, by which professional entity and on what dates this has taken place?

1750

Acting Clerk: Question 63, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state whether there are fire alarm systems and smoke detectors installed throughout the Care Agency Building for Looked After Children?

Acting Clerk: Question 64, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state whether during 2012 and 2013 the fire alarm systems and the smoke detectors installed at the Care Agency Building for Looked After Children have been tested and certified, and if so, by which professional entity and on what dates this has taken place?

1760

Acting Clerk: Question 65, the Hon. J J Netto.

1765 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state whether there are fire alarm systems and smoke detectors installed throughout the premises of Dr Giraldi Home and St Bernadette's Occupational Centre?

Acting Clerk: Question 66, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state whether the fire alarm systems and the smoke detectors at the premises of Dr Giraldi Home and St Bernadette's Occupational Centre have been tested and certified during 2012 and 2013 and if so, by which professional entity and on what dates this has taken place?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, there are fire alarm systems and smoke detectors in Mount Alvernia, Dr Giraldi Home, and St Bernadette's Resource Centre, and smoke detector alarms in the Looked After Children facilities.

No fire alarm system or smoke detectors were installed in Mount Alvernia during 2012 and 2013.

Dr Giraldi Home and St Bernadette's Resource Centre were tested on 28th February 2013 and 25th May 2013 by GibElec.

The Looked After Children facilities have smoke detector alarms which are inspected for quality assurance on a daily basis by managers responsible for the facilities and looking after the children. Repairs, when these are needed, are carried out by the Care Agency maintenance crew, who also inspect alarms on a monthly basis.

1790 Hon. J J Netto: I think I missed, actually, Mr Speaker, the first part of the hon. Lady's answer to the question. Did I understand rightly, she said that there were some premises... I think, she might have said the KGV... I beg your pardon, Mount Alvernia, where there were not any fire alarms or smoke detectors. Have I understood it wrongly, perhaps?

1795 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: No, Mr Speaker, what I said, in answer to the question which asked whether any had been installed in 2012 and 2013, I answered that none had been installed because they were already there. They have not been installed in 2012-13.

Q67-69/2014
Social Services' homes and buildings –
Fire evacuation drills

Acting Clerk: Question 67, the Hon. J J Netto.

1800 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state if there have been any fire evacuation drills at Mount Alvernia during 2012 and 2013?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

1805 Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 68 and 69.

Acting Clerk: Question 68, the Hon. J J Netto.

1810 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state if there have been any fire evacuation drills at Dr Giraldi Home and St Bernadette Occupational Therapy Centre during 2012 and 2013?

Acting Clerk: Question 69, the Hon. J J Netto.

1815 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state if there have been any fire evacuation drills at the Care Agency Home for Looked After Children?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

1820 Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I can confirm that fire drills have been carried out at Mount Alvernia, Dr Giraldi Home, St Bernadette's Resource Centre and the Looked After Children facilities during 2012 and 2013.

1825 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the hon. Lady, perhaps, inform the House as to how often perhaps the fire evacuation drills happen? Is it once a year or perhaps more than once a year?

1830 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, they happen more than once a year. For example, in Mount Alvernia, we had drills, two in July 2012; two in December 2012; one in March 2013; two in April 2013; one in August 2013; and one in September 2013.

1835 Hon. J J Netto: I am grateful for that, Mr Speaker, but can I ask another supplementary question in line to what I asked to his colleague before, given the vulnerability of some of the service users, given their conditions, mobility, perhaps disability, and other complications – not all, indeed, but some of them – does the management have in all these facilities a personal plan designed, taking into account the various needs of those particular individuals for the purpose of executing those fire drills?

1840 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, it is significant that, actually, we do have it now. I just gave an example of the drills that we have had at Mount Alvernia, but if I can say that, at Giraldi Home and St Bernadette's we have had drills in March 2012; June 2012; September 2012; January 2013; August 2013;

1845 and October 2013. Prior to December 2011, Mr Speaker, we can only find a record of one such drill taking place at Dr Giraldo and St Bernadette's (Several Members: Shame, shame!) and that was in 2011. But, in any event in answer to the question, yes there is – in the same way as my colleague answered, yes there is now a strategy going forward in all the homes that we are looking at our requirements in terms of the fire procedures. Of course, fire alarms and fire systems were already in place; fire evacuation drills did take place in some of the facilities – not all of the facilities, but going forward, this is now happening in all of the facilities.

1850 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, given the fact that there have been fire drills, exercises being carried out in various parts of the buildings that pertain to Social Services, when they actually carry out those fire evacuation drills, do they take on board different possible scenarios? For instance, a fire may emerge in the front entrance of a particular building, and therefore the requirement is needed that the evacuation actually takes place through a different route.

1855 I say this because, again, this is part of the research I was doing in relation to the UK, that the actual plans they may have on particular premises differ every single time – or sometimes it differs when they do the actual drills. Of course, that will depend as well on the characteristic of the building. But, what I would like to ask the hon. Lady is whether they have taken into account that there is a need, perhaps, to have different routes of evacuation, depending where the fire location is.

1860 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, this is not information that I have, that I can confirm, but I would imagine that those tasked with ensuring that there are drills taking place will do so responsibly and however necessary. So, the hon. Gentleman can rest assured that going forward, in any event, I will check that this is the case, but I am sure that it is already.

FINANCIAL SERVICES AND GAMING

Q70-75/2014

Gibraltar International Bank – Plans for establishment and running

1865 Acting Clerk: Question 70, the Hon. D J Bossino, on behalf of the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services provide details to this House of progress in the establishment of the Gibraltar International Bank?

1870 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 71 to 75.

1875 Acting Clerk: Question 71, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services say the precise extent to which the Government and/or the Gibraltar Savings Bank will be involved in the establishment and running of the Gibraltar International Bank?

1880 Acting Clerk: Question 72, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services say whether any premises have been identified for use by the Gibraltar International Bank, and if so, which premises and on what terms?

1885 Acting Clerk: Question 73, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services say how the Gibraltar International Bank will be funded and, in particular, whether the Bank will be funded by either of the Gibraltar Savings Bank, Credit Finance Limited, or any other Government agency or company, whether directly or indirectly?

1890 Acting Clerk: Question 74, the Hon. D J Bossino.

1895 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services say how the Government intends that the Gibraltar International Bank will be capitalised?

Acting Clerk: Question 75, the Hon. D A Feetham.

1900 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please say who are the Government's proposed directors and managers of the Gibraltar International Bank, giving their names and professional backgrounds?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

1905 Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, in answer to Question 70, a high level steering group has been established to assist me, in defining the shape, substance and form of the Gibraltar International Bank. The group includes input from the Financial Services Commission, the Finance Centre Department, the Gibraltar Banking Association, and experienced bankers.

1910 In addition, accountancy, banking and legal professionals have been engaged to prepare the licensing application, including a business plan, and other necessary components. The application was submitted to the Financial Services Commission in late December, of last year, and I am confident that an in-principle decision will be received, by us, in due course. These professionals continue to assist us, in all technical aspects of the Bank and its application.

1915 Banking platform providers are being examined, and one particular operator in this field has already been to Gibraltar to familiarise themselves with the relevant systems.

Premises have also been identified and architects engaged.

1920 In answer to Question 71, as has been stated before, Mr Speaker, the specific intention of the Government is to ensure that the Gibraltar International Bank's day-to-day operations are independent of Government. It will be run on commercial lines by an independent management team with significant banking experience.

I am pleased to inform this House that the Government has identified premises for use by the Gibraltar International Bank. A number of options have been considered, including privately owned property.

1925 The premises that have been identified, after discussions with the Banking Committee, are Government owned and the terms of occupation are currently under consideration. An announcement will be made, once these matters have been agreed.

In respect of Question 73, Mr Speaker, no decision has yet been taken as to how the Gibraltar International Bank will be funded.

In answer to Question 74, Mr Speaker, the Gibraltar International Bank will clearly need to be capitalised by its shareholder. No decision has yet been taken as to how this will be achieved.

1930 In answer to Question 75, Government is not yet in a position to disclose the proposed composition of the Executive team, nor indeed of the intended Directors of the Gibraltar International Bank. Although discussions continue with regard to these appointments, no announcement can be made at this moment in time.

1935 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in relation to the answer the Hon. Minister has given in connection with Question 70, he talks about the high level steering group, I think he described it, and of course, we asked about progress, and I am grateful for the full answer he has given, but is he able to tell me now, whether he is in a position to advise this House whether he thinks that the Government will be able to stick to its publicly announced timeline of completion by, I think it is autumn this year. I think it is October this year.

Hon. A J Isola: Yes, Mr Speaker, it is certainly our intention, to meet the very tight and strict timeline that we have set. As you will appreciate, it is not just the property or the platform or the people; there are a whole host of things that require to be prepared and put into place, long before the opening of the branch. But we have set a strict timeline, because that is a necessity that we have.

1945

So the simple answer is, yes, Mr Speaker, we have every intention of sticking to the timeline we have set, and very much hope that we do.

1950 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, did I hear the Hon. Minister correctly, when he said that the business plan had not been completed, in his answer to 70, and that it was in the process of being completed by this high level steering group, as he described it?

Hon. A J Isola: No, Mr Speaker, I said that the business plan had been prepared in consultation with the accounting, legal and banking team that we had engaged, not the Banking Committee, and that has actually been submitted to the Financial Services Commission.

1955 Hon. D A Feetham: But, in that application, the Government has not identified how the Bank is going to be capitalised, and where the money is actually going to be coming from? Because, of course, he has said to this House today that no decision has been made, but anybody that has any experience of applications to the Financial Services Commission in respect of any licensing issues, that is one of the issues that one would expect the application form to contain – how a bank or a company is going to be capitalised. So, has 1960 the Government not made a decision, and that has not formed part of any disclosure that has been provided to the Financial Services Commission? What is the position in relation to it?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, it is really quite simple. The hon. Member has touched on a number of different areas which have different facets to them. As I have said, in answer to a separate question, the Executive team has not yet been appointed. That is relevant to the extent that we wish to engage them in issues like capitalisation. Of course, the business plan has been put forward to the Financial Services Commission, and of course, the shareholder, being the Government, will arrange for its capitalisation, but as the hon. Member will know full well, at the end of the day, the capitalisation of the company is done by a process of consultation with the Regulator, meeting the ICAP requirements, meeting the requirements of the business plan, and then a conclusion is then reached. So the capital will be provided by the shareholder, and the capital will be fixed in consultation with the Executive team, the Financial Services Commission, to ensure that we meet the regulatory requirements that will be set on us, as a regulated entity.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, but with respect, that does not follow the previous answer that he has already provided to this House. You see, one of the questions that Mr Figueras asked was whether this bank was going to be funded out of the proceeds from the Gibraltar Saving Bank or from Credit Finance, and the answer that the hon. Gentleman gave is the Government had not made a decision in relation to that.

Now, I would have thought that before one submits an application to the Financial Services Commission, the Government would have made a decision in relation to that, because that is precisely one of the questions, certainly, that one would expect a regulator to make, because if it is capitalised from monies coming from the Gibraltar Savings Bank, and from Credit Finance, the Government wants this to be an independent run institution, independent of the Government. But I would have thought that if it is being funded from the Gibraltar Savings Bank, or from Credit Finance, that that is information that ought to be before the Financial Services Commission, and it is certainly a decision that the Government ought to have made before making the application.

It seems to me, Mr Speaker, that this is an application that really is being rushed through with the Financial Services Commission – I do not know why, but it appears to be rushed through, without essential information that one would have expected to have been included in an application of this nature, going to a regulator. Can the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services comment on that?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, if we do it quickly, we are rushing it; if we do it slowly we are being lethargic. I do not think we could ever quite keep the Members opposite happy, or indeed, with respect to their obsession with Credit Finance. Anything that we do or suggest, like a jack-in-the-box, up comes Credit Finance. What this Government is doing, in consultation and being advised by serious professionals, including the hon. Member's partner, who submitted the banking application on our behalf, I do not think would agree with him, that it is rushed or done in a haphazard manner.

In fact, entirely the opposite: a huge amount of work has been put into this application by our lawyers, our accountants and our banking experts, in conjunction with a very high-powered Banking Committee that includes the regulator. Now, for the hon. Member to stand up and say that this is being rushed through, ill thought and ill conceived, with the best intentions, in my view, Mr Speaker, is completely ill conceived, to the extent of being irresponsible, on something as serious and important to the community as this bank is.

And it is also worthy of note, Mr Speaker, that the entire community have welcomed this process, and this bank, because they fully understand and recognise the need and the importance of this bank to our community. I say the entire community: I am perhaps misleading the public, because the hon. Members opposite have not. They very cautiously welcomed, as they usually do, anything that is positive or good for the people of Gibraltar.

Mr Speaker, it would be entirely irresponsible for this Government to say how or what the capital is going to be, when it has not yet been agreed with the regulator. If the capital is to be £500,000, or £50 million, I think Government would require to consider how best to capitalise, and where that capital should come from.

The Members opposite should know, there is a European Union Directive which sets a minimum capital, but there will be very few banks that go with a minimum capital. We certainly have no intention of doing it, to ensure that people know, before the Opposition start talking it down, that it is 100% capitalised, properly and effectively, and so, if the Government follows the advice of our legal advisers, our accounting professionals and our banking professionals, I am happy for them to have that discussion with you directly.

Hon. D A Feetham: What a load of nonsense I have to say, Mr Speaker!

I have not said that this is ill conceived or ill thought out. I will reserve my judgement until I hear more from the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services, in relation to how this is going to be structured, where the money is going to be coming from, and exactly what it is going to be used for. That is precisely why we have cautiously welcomed the enterprise.

Indeed, if we had been elected into Government, we would have done something similar, but it would have been truly independent of Government, and would have been capitalised through funds provided by the Government.

Now, with respect to the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services, on the one hand he says, that we are obsessed with Credit Finance, but he himself has said that he is not ruling out that the money to capitalise this bank comes from Credit Finance Company Ltd. He has not ruled it out, so how can we be obsessed by something that he is considering as an option. It is a ridiculous statement for the Minister, with respect, for him to make.

Now, Mr Speaker, can I ask the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services, will this decision in principle, from the Financial Services Commission, wait until the new Chairman or Chairwoman of the Financial Services Commission is in place? As I understand, she is going to be in place in February – March, I mean, he will correct me if I am wrong. But will it wait until... bearing in mind, this is a very important application indeed? Will it wait until then, bearing in mind that it is an important application, and it is also an application that has been filed, lacking some information necessary, at the end of December of last year?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I do not understand how the hon. Member can say to the people of Gibraltar that – Mr Speaker: Now, just a moment. I was going to interrupt the Leader of the Opposition, when he was beginning to debate with you. You are now both of you beginning to debate, and that is the first time this morning that hon. Members are beginning to debate, during Question Time, and I am not having it. You answer the last supplementary that he asked. Right, that is your job, to answer that supplementary, not to debate as to what they would have done, or what they would not have done, or what you would have done. I am not having a debate on this issue, because, I know how things can get out of hand. Alright. Particularly, when members of the hon. and learned profession of barristers are concerned.

So, I am giving a warning, right at the beginning, right, that I am only allowing the Leader of the Opposition to ask supplementaries and you will answer those supplementaries, but you will not have a debate.

Hon. A J Isola: I am grateful, Mr Speaker.

In answering the question, Mr Speaker, the Opposition, the Hon. Leader of the Opposition, has premised his question by suggesting that the application made has been rushed, and is not complete. That is simply not the case. And unless he has seen the banking application that has been made on behalf of the bank, he could not possibly make that judgement. So, I do not understand, on what basis he can possibly stand up here today, and say to the people of Gibraltar that the application has been rushed through, and further, that it is incomplete – because he has not seen it. So, on what basis does he make that question, or make that suggestion? (Interjection) Well yes, my hon. Friend is reminding me that in fact, he is suggesting that his hon. firm has made a haphazard rush to an incomplete application. I have seen it myself, I have read it through myself, Mr Speaker, and it is an excellent application. Which is why the person that is doing it for us was selected, because she is excellent at what she does.

Mr Speaker, with regard to the suggestion, which I find extraordinary, in his question that the application should wait until the new CEO of the Financial Services Commission is in place, is wholly improper. It is improper on the current Chief Executive, it is improper on the forthcoming, the new Chief Executive, and it is improper on anybody else within the Financial Services Commission who is involved in the process of licensing and regulating our financial services sector. Because, what he is implying, is that we are trying to rush it through, with the incumbent, in case the one that is coming in does not like it.

Mr Speaker, the Financial Services Commission, as this Bank will be, is an independent institution, and it dictates its own timescales, by whom, and by when, applications are considered. And in answer to the hon. Member's question, I think it is wholly improper for him to suggest that there is any advantage to be gained by having it heard through this CEO, or the next CEO. They are both professional people, and I trust in their judgement. (Banging on desks)

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I will take my own council as to what is proper and improper and I certainly will not take council from the hon. Gentleman. (Interjection)

Mr Speaker, why is the hon. Gentleman reluctant to provide this House with the information to the question that I asked – not the supplementary but the Question that I asked at 75, who the proposed directors of this particular company are, both executive, and non executive directors, being proposed in the application.

2080 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the simple answer to that is twofold. Firstly we are in the process of identifying the people that we believe, to be best suited to do those jobs, so agreement has not been reached with them, as yet.

2085 And the second aspect of that is that they cannot be appointed until such time as the regulator approves their appointment. As the hon. Member will know, directors and non-executive directors of any credit institution are required to be approved by the regulator, and that has not happened yet. So, as and when we have got through those two hurdles, we will make a statement as to who they are. But, at this moment in time, we are not in a position to do so.

2090 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, you see, every time the hon. Gentleman stands up, and he provides an answer, the alarm bells begin to ring, in relation to my original concern with all this. He says to me, we are in the process of identifying the directors. That is what he has said to me, now. Now, every single banking application that I have seen has always identified the directors, the mind and management of the company that is applying for a licence. He does not know where the money is coming from, because he does not know whether the money is coming from Gibraltar Savings Bank, from Credit Finance or 2095 somewhere else. Well, look, I am afraid that if this is not an application that appears to be rushed and incomplete, because the Government has not made decisions on crucial aspects of this application before submitting the application, well I do not know what is. Does the Government, at the very least, have a shortlist of people that they have identified to the Financial Services Commission, so that the Financial Services Commission can at least say, well look, out of these ten (Interjection) these three are acceptable?

2100 Mr Speaker: Let him answer that question, does the Government have a shortlist?

2105 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the Government is taking the advice from a very senior Banking Committee, comprising of representatives from the Banking Association, from the Financial Services Commission, from the Finance Centre Department and from professional bankers. We have identified individuals, we have not agreed terms, and we have not got regulatory approval. Now, surely it is better for the hon. Member to wait for these appointments to take place, before he jumps up to judge whether alarm bells should or should not be ringing. Because there is plenty of time for him to do that, and these announcements will be made, obviously, many, many months before the Bank opens, in the third quarter of 2110 this year. As indeed will the appointment of the CEO, and the COO, which are crucial to the functioning of the bank.

2115 The Government has told the Opposition and the people of Gibraltar that it will be an independently managed bank, on commercial lines, run by people with enormous banking experience. Why do you not simply await those names and those details to be released, as and when they can be released, and then form a view, rather than jump the gun, and make suggestions of alarm bells, hastiness, and ill preparation, which is what the Member continues to do?

2120 Hon. D A Feetham: But, Mr Speaker, how can the Government feel so confident that it is going to receive an approval in principle by February, when the application is so lacking in critical information? This is what I do not understand. The answer may well help me in a professional capacity as well, because maybe I can go back, and I can do exactly the same, and obtain approvals in principle, in two months, for a bank, a bank. We are not talking about a kiosk on Main Street; we are talking about a bank. An approval in principle, in barely two months, without having identified to the FSC the directors, without having identified to the FSC where the money is actually going to be coming from. (Interjection) I mean, I do not 2130 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I find it staggering that the hon. Member should say what he is saying, because what this Government is doing with this application is precisely what we have been advised to do by our lawyers, (Interjection) his firm, his partner, who tell us that it is absolutely normal when making a banking application, to receive an in-principle consent, subject to a list of conditions, which include the directors, the executives, the premises, the team – absolutely normal. Now, if my hon. and learned Friend has a difficulty with that, I suggest he takes legal advice. Because I have taken legal advice, and I am following exactly the advice that we have received.

2135 Hon. D A Feetham: In terms of the steering group, this high level steering group that the Government has set up, whom from the FSC is sitting in this high level steering group that is helping the Government, and precisely what is the nature of the assistance that the steering group is giving, in relation to this particular bank? (Interjections)

2140 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the Chief Executive Officer of the Financial Services Commission sits on the Banking Committee, and he gives support, as he has an intimate knowledge of banking operations, from a regulatory perspective, and on an operational perspective.

2145 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, but what is the purpose of the steering group? Because we have a situation where the (Interjections) application has already been submitted to the Financial Services Commission. It is not uncommon for the Financial Services Commission, and whoever makes the application form, to be in contact in relation to the application. But what is the steering group precisely for, in relation to the set up of this particular bank, and why does it require somebody from the Financial Services Commission, in this case a high level, the Chief Executive to be on it as – ? (Interjection)

2150 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the Banking Committee was set up to take advice at the highest level from people across the sector, including the regulator. It has been immensely helpful to me in advising me. I have no experience of setting up a bank, I have never done it before. And consequently, the more advice and assistance that I can get in that process, the better the product will be, and that is what everybody wants.

2155 The assistance of the regulator has been as significant as each of the other members of the team. We do not meet with the regulator on the licensing application; that is done entirely by the professionals, who meet with the FSC – not with the CEO, as it happens; the person in charge of banking – on a very regular basis. They met this week and they meet again next week, as they go through the application process. I thought it was entirely appropriate that we should seek assistance and advice from them, because they have enormous experience, not just of one bank, but across the entire banking spectrum in Gibraltar.

2160 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Minister, and I would ask him to clarify, in two answers he has given, in relation to the identification of the directors and managers of the bank, he says that the Government is in the process of identifying, and I think, in answer to a further supplementary, he said that they have indeed been identified. First of all, can he clarify the position? What is in fact the position?

2165 And also, a second supplementary, if I may, Mr Speaker, because it is related: is it the intention, depending on how he answers, as part of the process, to advertise the positions? Is that going to form...? If the answer is you are in the process of identifying, it is possible that as part of that decision-making process, the Government intends to advertise the positions.

2170 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, it is an ongoing process, you speak to different people, you take advice from different people, different names are proposed, discussions then ensue. We have a good idea of who we would like. We need to agree with them, we need to get regulatory approval for them, and it is just an ongoing process. There is not any issue, there is not any difficulty. It is like if you are wishing to appoint certain people, you sound out, you take advice, you then try and agree terms, and then those terms are conditional on regulatory approval.

2175 So it is simply a process that we are going through, and we hope to be able to come back to you, and tell you who we propose that they will be, somewhere along the line. But, it is simply a process we are going through. Whether those specific jobs will be advertised, the answer is no. Whether the remainder of the jobs will be advertised, of course, yes. Outside the senior executives, because the intention is, once they are in place, they will then drive the process. They will then do the interviews, they will have a much better idea of what is needed than I do, or we do.

2180 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, also, in answer to one of the questions, he made a reference to the shareholder. Is he in a position to identify to this House who that shareholder is? Or will that also have to await, as he said earlier, the conclusion of the application, and at some point, we will get another statement from the Government, providing the further details that we have asked in this House already, and this one which I am asking now.

2190 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, at the moment the ultimate shareholder of the company is the Government. In terms of how that evolves, if there is to be any change or not, we do not know, but that is something that is obviously being considered in line with everything else that I have mentioned this morning.

Was there a second question there? No.

2195 Hon. D A Feetham: Is it the Government, or a Government-owned company? Can he be more specific in relation to that? (Interjections) A Government-owned company?

Hon. A J Isola: Ultimately the Government. (Interjections)

2200 Hon. D J Bossino: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has asked specifically, now, who owns the bank, and it is directly the Government, as opposed to... because I think the Hon. the Minister for Employment is suggesting that the Hon. Minister was now answering questions, answering in terms of ultimately the Government. Obviously, it is within the realms of possibility is that in giving that answer 2205 there is interposed between the bank and the Government ultimately, a Government-owned company. Can he explain the structure as it currently stands? Or have I misunderstood...?

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, look, as hon. Members will know, the Government owns many things. It owns some things directly, and it owns some things through companies. When it is applying for the licence, it is applying through the licence with the Government as the shareholder. Now 2210 whether that ownership of those shares is ever going to be put into a corporate vehicle is something which, subject to regulatory approval, may or not happen. It is not an issue which would be surprising, given that, for example, the Government owns buildings, some of them directly, and some of them through companies.
This is just part of the structure of the Government which has been in place for many years, including the time that they were in office, and he will know that there are a number of Government asset-holding 2215 companies. When the shares in this bank crystallise, they may be put in a Government company, but the application is by the Government itself.

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the answer. Now, again, in relation to one of the questions which I posed on Mr Figueras' behalf, which relates to the premises, I think the Hon. the Minister 2220 answered that a number of options were being considered, but they are all Government-owned properties. Is he...? He is nodding, so maybe he can clarify the position – that is what my note says. I assume it was Government-owned property, but if it is not, then I would encourage him to take the opportunity to clarify the position. But, my question was, Mr Speaker, whether he is able to identify in this House which options 2225 are being considered.

Hon. A J Isola: Yes, Mr Speaker, I said in my answer that a number of different options had been considered, including privately owned property, and that premises had been identified, which is Government owned. That is what I said. (Interjections)

2230 Hon. D A Feetham: Effectively, you have considered a number of alternatives, but you have chosen Government-owned premises, and can he identify those Government-owned premises. There surely cannot be any difficulty in doing that?

2235 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the position at the moment, as I said in my answer, is that once we have agreed the terms, and everything is ready and it can be formalised, an announcement will be made, but not at this moment in time.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, but, Mr Speaker, the terms with what – with the Financial Services Commission, because they might not agree these particular premises? Is that what his concern is?

2240 I am just trying to identify the reason for the Hon. Minister's reluctance in providing me with information that I seek, in terms of identifying these premises. If the answer is, well the FSC may not find those premises suitable, and there is a risk of that, then perhaps I could understand. But, having identified the Government-identified premises for this bank, I think it is a perfectly legitimate question for the Opposition to ask, which is well, what are the premises and the venue identified?

2245 Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, the issue is not a Financial Services Commission issue. The issue is that the Government in respect of that property has other responsibilities that it needs to ensure it can deal with, before it is able to finally say okay, we having identified it. We can now confirm that there is no other call on this property, and it can be used for that purpose, and that is the process that, I think, makes 2250 it important for us, not to make an announcement until we are ready to do so.

Because, Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman will allow me to go back to this theme that I have developed today: Gibraltar is two and a half miles by one mile, and in respect of property, there are many calls, by many different parties, for each particular property – in particular, public property – so we are in the process of ensuring that that property can be used for this purpose, both structurally, both in terms of what 2255 other calls there may for it, and what other commitments there are for it, and we will make an announcement as soon as we are ready to do so in this respect.

The hon. Gentlemen seem to be pursuing us on this issue, as if we do not intend to make an announcement. They like to pretend that we want to keep things secret. Well, look, Mr Speaker, at least on 2260 the day that the bank opens, we will be telling people where it is, so that they can turn up to open their accounts. They just need to abide with us a little bit more, so that we are able to make the announcements, in the proper way, when we are able to do so, having dealt with all of Government's obligations, not just regulatory but also as landlord, as owner of property and as an employer of people.

2265 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Chief Minister, keeping anything secret – perish the thought of that! But I can understand the answer, if it is based on this: that there might be calls from somebody in the private sector, because the premises are occupied by someone in the private sector, and identifying those premises might, for example, as an example, lead those private individuals playing hardball with the Government, in a way that perhaps is not in the public interest. But, if there are calls on these premises from, for example, Government Departments or the public service, well I do not understand 2270 why there would be any type of commercial sensitivity, or any other type of sensitivity, in identifying the premises. Can he identify what the problem is in relation to these calls? (Interjection)

Mr Speaker: May I say that hon. Members of the Opposition really do need to listen, very carefully, to the main answers that are provided to questions, because sometimes the information that they are seeking is 2275 already contained in the main answer that has been given, and they may not realise that that is the case. Let me quote the sentence, that I have in the answer here, with respect to the premises.

2280 'The premises have been selected after discussions with the Banking Committee are Government owned and the terms of occupation are currently under discussion.'

That was the answer, that was the main answer that was given. Hon. Members do not seem to... perhaps they were not paying 100% attention, and they missed that point. (Interjections)

2285 Hon. D A Feetham: With respect it has nothing to do with the question I have asked –

Mr Speaker: Let me go back to what I am saying. These matters of... These questions are about a very important issue, and it is clear that hon. Members are going to spend more time in asking supplementaries, that may be the case with a run-of-the-mill question. But I, as Speaker, have a duty to point out to hon. Members that, very often, the answer has already been provided in the main answer, and yet they ask a 2290 supplementary about exactly the same thing, and that is quite unnecessary.

2295 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, and in the last session of Parliament, Mr Speaker tried to give me a lesson about how he was a member of the Public Service Commission, and he had some kind of knowledge which made a question that we asked inappropriate.

Mr Speaker: That is totally irrelevant – nothing to do with what is happening at the moment. My job, as Speaker, is to see that the Rules of this House are implemented. If the hon. Members do not like the way that I am carrying out my duties, they know that they have got recourse to certain steps.

2300 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, I certainly do not like the way that the Hon. Mr Speaker has made interventions last time, has made an intervention now, and implied that somehow I do not know, as Leader of the Opposition, the answer that has been provided by the Hon. Minister. Well...

2305 Mr Speaker: Would the hon. Member sit down! Would the hon. Member sit down! Would the hon. Member sit down!

Hon. D A Feetham: May I, at the very least [inaudible]

2310 Mr Speaker: Will the hon. Member sit down!

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker can shut me up, but I do not think [inaudible] –

Mr Speaker: Will the hon. Member – will the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition sit down!

2315 Look, where answers have been provided to a number of questions on the Agenda, five or six questions have been answered, and it does happen – and I notice it, because I happen to have the text, nobody else has got the text on that side, but I happen to have the text.

2320 At the last meeting, may I remind the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition that I tore out a page of my answers, and I passed it on to the Opposition, because they had missed the answer. I have the full text of the answer, and therefore I am aware whether a question that has now been asked as a supplementary has already been answered or not. I am aware of that, and therefore, because I am aware, I am saying that, perhaps, the hon. Members, in listening, because they do not have the advantage of the text... So what I am saying is, please pay very careful attention, on these matters of vital importance, to the original answers that have been given. What is wrong with that, that I should give such guidance? (Interjection) What is wrong with that? What is unreasonable about that?

Hon. D A Feetham: Because you are suggesting, and with respect to Mr Speaker, it is not the first time – he has intervened in the past, as well, in a manner that we do not believe is fair – he is suggesting that we do not listen to the answers, or that somebody here has not listened to the answer.

2330

I have asked a question: it is not related to the information that the Hon. Mr Speaker has actually just read to me, and it is patently obvious it is not related to what he has just read to me. And therefore, look, the Hon. the Chief Minister was quite prepared to stand up, without Mr Speaker making this a battle between the Opposition and the Chair, he was prepared to answer the question, and that would have been the end of it. But, Mr Speaker has chosen to intervene, as he has chosen to intervene last time, and indeed in previous months as well.

2335

Mr Speaker: Mr Speaker will intervene whenever he deems it necessary, in order to have good order, and if the hon. Member is not satisfied, he can bring a motion of censure against me. That is the recourse that they ultimately have.

2340

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, may I rise a moment, just as Leader of the House, to say one thing. You have an invidious job, as Speaker. Not all of us will always agree with things that you may say about each of us, as is normal in the cut and thrust of debate. But, I think it is important – and I hope I speak for all Members, Mr Speaker – that we always accept your Rulings, and either take issues up with you calmly at the end of sessions, or in the process of sessions where we consider that the business is being interrupted, but that we always do so with the temperance that you ask us to share with each other, that we should also share with you.

2345

And can I just ask all Members, in my capacity as Leader of the House, not as Chief Minister, just that we should reflect on that, before we take matters any further, because I think it is in the interests of our community that everybody sees full respect paid to Mr Speaker in this House when we are debating these issues.

2350

And, Mr Speaker, if you will allow me, I would suggest that given the temperature to which the debate has risen at this moment, that we should simply recess the House now until 3.00 p.m.

2355

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, it is in his prerogative, of course, as Leader of the House, to adjourn the House. I have to say that, we, as an Opposition, have always attempted to conduct ourselves in a way that is temperate.

But at the same time, what the Opposition cannot do is accept or be pushovers in a situation where it believes that it is being unfairly treated. I have always, always, always when I have faced this situation, attempted to do so in a calm, measured way. But what I cannot do is refrain from calling a spade a spade, when I believe that a spade is indeed a spade. That would not be true to myself. It would not be true to my parliamentary colleagues, and I do not think that it does democracy any justice at all.

But perhaps he could just simply answer the supplementary question, and we just move away from this particular topic, because that was the last supplementary question – but it is up to him.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition is accusing me of treating the Opposition unfairly –

2370

Hon. D A Feetham: No. May I say... No, I am not saying that the... and I do not want the public to go away with the impression that I am suggesting that the Hon. the Speaker is inherently treating the Opposition unfairly.

I believe that the Hon. Mr Speaker has been unfair in the comments that he has made today, as indeed he was unfair last time round in the comments that he made about the Public Service Commission.

Now, taking that position, I think that it is incumbent upon me to say we are... that the comment is not unfair. That is not being discourteous, to the Chair, or to anybody else. Indeed, it is just simply calling a spade a spade.

But I am not suggesting, for the record, Mr Speaker, that I believe that Mr Speaker has some kind of, either... you know, a campaign against the Opposition; I am not. But the comments that Mr Speaker has made today, as indeed last time round, are not, in my view, fair to the Opposition.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, this is the point I was trying to make to the hon. Gentleman before. I know that you want to reply to him, but he needs to understand that we sometimes all feel hard done by Mr Speaker's Rulings. It is normal. Anybody who is playing football on a pitch will always feel that sometimes the referee is calling him foul, when actually one feels that one is not being called foul.

2385 During the course of this morning, Mr Speaker has allowed the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition to make some remarks before a question, but has then stopped the Minister before he was able to reply to that. Look, this is the run of play, and what I want the community to know, Mr Speaker, is that we have full confidence in the way that you are discharging your functions, and in the manner in which you are doing so, which we believe to be fair to all Members of this Parliament, because I believe Mr Speaker looks at us each as a Member of this Parliament, and not in which particular grouping we sit.

2390 I do not know whether the Rules allow it, but I think that, given the issues that have been raised, I think it is appropriate for me to move that the House vote confidence in the Speaker, and I assure you of our full support in that respect.

2395 Mr Speaker: By the nature of things, the job of the Speaker involves having to deal with matters that are raised... More time has to be given to matters that are raised by the Opposition than by the Government.

Questions are not asked by the Government; they are asked by the Opposition, and therefore the Speaker has the job of considering these very detailed Rules governing the right to ask questions, and it is with them that either the Speaker, directly or through the Clerk, has to deal.

2400 I consider that I am liberal in the way that I interpret the Rules governing the right to ask questions. Because, for instance, there is a particular Rule that says that a question shall not refer to any debate that has occurred or answer that has been given within the preceding six months. If I, as Speaker, were to implement that Rule strictly, perhaps we would only be dealing with 20 questions today, and not with 120. Because many of them are exactly the same question that was asked at the last meeting. (A Member: Every month.)

2405 At the last meeting, since the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has referred to it, the Hon. Mr Bossino asked the question about the Labour Inspectorate. I have got 12 pages of Hansard here on one question – it must have taken 45 minutes, an hour. That is, I think, an indication of the extent to which I try to give the Opposition every opportunity to do their job.

2410 Today on the Order Paper, exactly the same question appears, from the Hon. Mr Damon Bossino. The only difference is that 'further to Question 799'. No one is going to tell me that in the exchanges that are going to occur, further to when answers are given that there will be no repetition of what went on in the 12 pages. Nevertheless, I mean Parliament is Parliament, and the Speaker wants to see that Parliament get an opportunity, that Members get an opportunity, to do their job.

2415 I just mention that as an indication of the fact that it is very often... liberality has to be given to Members of the Opposition, because they are the ones that are asking the questions. The Government only brings Bills to the House. That is all. So, by the nature of things, the weight of interventions on the part of the Speaker is invariably, given the nature of things, going to have to be with reference to the Opposition, more than the Government. But I do try, very hard, to strike a balance, and I have no compunction about bringing to order any Member of the Government, including the Chief Minister, if I feel that I have to.

2420 (Banging on desks)

Perhaps this might be a convenient time to recess until three o'clock this afternoon because if we do not, and matters carry on further, I may decide to stay at home.

The House recessed at 12.44 p.m. and resumed its sitting at 3.00 p.m.

GOVERNMENT MOTIONS

Suspension of Standing Orders to proceed with Government motion – Debate commenced

Acting Clerk: Suspension of Standing Orders – the Hon. the Chief Minister.

5 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I beg to move, under Standing Order 7(3), to suspend Standing Order 7(1) in order to proceed with a Government motion.

Mr Speaker: I would like to draw the attention of hon. Members to Standing Order 59, Suspension of Standing Orders:

‘Any Standing Order may, with the consent of the Speaker, be suspended on motion of which at least one day’s notice, in writing, exclusive of Saturday’s, Sundays and public holidays, has been given to the Clerk. Provided that, if he is satisfied that the matter is one of urgent necessity, the Speaker may dispense with the requirement that notice shall be given. If the motion be carried the Standing Order or Orders shall be suspended so far as is necessary to carry out the object for which the motion was made. No debate shall be allowed on such motion being made.’

10 I do not wish myself to dispense with the requirement that notice shall be given, and therefore I leave it to hon. Members to decide whether we should dispense with the necessary notice in order to proceed with the Chief Minister’s motion.

15 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the indication that you have given is, I believe, that you do not wish to be the arbiter of whether it should be that notice should not be given, because the motion, as Members will know, concerns you. So in that context, I am grateful that you are going to put it to a vote of Members.

Mr Speaker: That is the case. I naturally do not wish to myself exercise the discretion which the Standing Order gives me, and therefore it is a matter for Parliament to decide.

20 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, with respect to the Hon. the Leader of the House, where is the motion? Can we read the motion? We have not got a motion in front of us here.

25 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am sorry, I thought all hon. Members had been circulated with it. In that case – (Interjection) Ah, it is being photocopied, I see.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, can I invite you to put the motion to the vote, now that I understand hon. Members opposite have it? The introduction of the motion, to the vote – not the motion; the Suspension of Standing Orders?

30 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, we have discussed it here across a few Chairs, I have to say, because we have not had notice of this. It is the first time now, when the Hon. the Leader of the House has stood up.

But I do not think that procedurally this is actually appropriate. What Standing Order 59 says in its second sentence is:

‘Provided that, if he is satisfied that the matter is one of urgent necessity, the Speaker may dispense with the requirement that notice shall be given.’

35 Now, I do not know what the urgency is, in actually considering a motion like this on the hoof, other than... I can understand politically why the Chief Minister wants to do it. But procedurally and as a matter of substance, I do not understand what the urgency is, in order to consider a motion of this nature at this stage, when we have got a number of questions, we have still got the Chief Minister's Question Time and we could all get on with the business of the House.

40 We are certainly not in agreement that there ought to be, effectively, abridgement of notice period for these particular reasons.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I will explain to the hon. Gentleman why this is of urgent necessity and I will explain to him procedurally what is happening. What is happening is that he has called into question your fairness this morning during the course of the last question. Therefore, before we proceed with the rest of the questions, Mr Speaker, I want the Parliament to have an opportunity to express its confidence in you.

45 You have said, Mr Speaker, that because the subject matter is confidence in you, you do not want to be the one making the decision. Therefore, you have offered the Parliament the opportunity of indicating whether it believes that there is an urgent necessity to progress this matter now. That is why you are offering us the opportunity to express our view to you, so you then exercise your discretion in that way.

50 All I am offering the hon. Members is the opportunity to deal with this now, before we continue with questions. I would have thought that this could be dealt with very quickly and very shortly, with all Members of the Parliament then expressing confidence in you before we continue with Question Time.

55 If the hon. Member does not understand the substantive importance of that, the necessity of that for our community, then he was not listening to himself this morning, when he created the spectacle that he created.

Hon. D A Feetham: I am afraid that all I understand is the hon. Gentleman's desire to take political capital and mischaracterising effectively what I said this morning. I did not say that the Hon. the Speaker was unfair towards the Opposition in a systemic way. The day that we have to bring a motion of censure against this Speaker or any other Speaker because we felt that the Speaker was being systemically unfair to the Opposition, we will do so and we will not shy away from doing so.

60 What I said was that in relation to Mr Speaker's intervention this morning, as indeed in relation to an intervention last month as I pointed out, he was being unfair. Indeed, I believe that he was belittling the Opposition in relation to that particular intervention.

65 Now, that does not require a vote of confidence, and the only reason why the Hon. the Chief Minister is bringing this particular motion is in order to take political advantage and political capital, and it really ill befits a Chief Minister and the Leader of the House to take advantage of the situation for his own narrow political ends and doing away with all public interest and, in my view, all decorum and proper parliamentary conduct.

70 I have to say, we are certainly not going to be press-ganged by the Chief Minister and the Leader of the House, into considering this motion as a matter of urgency, because there is nothing urgent about the motion.

75 Mr Speaker: May I suggest to hon. Members that the House should recess for 10 or 15 minutes and give an opportunity to the Chief Minister and the Leader of the Opposition to thrash the matter out.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, of course we will accept that invitation, but I must tell you that the intention of the Government is to proceed with this motion.

80 Mr Speaker: The House will now recess for 10 or 15 minutes.

The House recessed at 3.15 p.m. and resumed its sitting at 3.34 p.m.

85 Suspension of Standing Orders to proceed with Government motion –
Adjournment of House – Debate continued and adjourned

Mr Speaker: I understand that the Chief Minister and the Leader of the Opposition have not been able to come to an agreement to resolve this particular issue. Since the matter concerns me personally, I am not prepared to exercise the discretionary powers which are given to me under the Standing Rules, in order to make it possible for this particular motion to be debated this afternoon.

Therefore, in the absence of my dispensing with the requirement, what Standing Order 59 effectively requires is that a day's notice shall be given and therefore, if it is the decision of the Government, the matter can be taken tomorrow if they so wish.

95 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, in those circumstances, the Government is not content to continue today with Question Time, until this issue has been resolved and the Parliament has had the opportunity of expressing its confidence in you and your ability to discharge your functions as Speaker, without fear of favour of either side.

100 In the circumstances, I therefore move that the House do now adjourn until tomorrow at 9.30 a.m. when the first thing that we will be able to do will be to consider this motion.

Mr Speaker: I now propose the question in the terms of the motion moved by the Chief Minister, namely that the House do now adjourn to 9.30 tomorrow morning.

105 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I rise to speak on the motion to adjourn as I think that I am entitled. The Rules provide for a one-day notice. Tomorrow morning at 9.30 does not constitute a one-day notice.

110 Now, Mr Speaker, can I say that an adjournment as far as the Opposition is concerned is preferable to the Government riding roughshod over the procedures and the dignity of this House, by effectively masquerading a motion on a vote of confidence in the Speaker, in order to make political capital out of the events of this morning.

115 I will also say this: that although Mr Speaker says that because it concerns him, he is not prepared to consider exercising his discretion, the reality of the situation is that Mr Speaker can only exercise his discretion to suspend Standing Orders if the matter is one of urgency. The matter is not one of urgency –

Hon. Chief Minister: It certainly is.

Hon. D A Feetham: And again, the matter is not one of urgency –

120 Hon. Chief Minister: It certainly is.

Hon. D A Feetham: And, in my respectful submission and view, no objective Speaker, objectively exercising his discretion, would come to the conclusion that the matter is urgent so that we have to take it now.

125 What is happening here is that the Government effectively is willing to just simply do away with the political session which is Chief Minister's Question Time, move that until tomorrow, so that he just simply gets his chance to present what is an empty, futile motion of confidence.

130 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, I rise to reply to that intervention as mover of the motion to adjourn the House.

The hon. Gentleman has said repeatedly, earlier and now, that he believes that this is not an urgent matter.

135 You see, it is interesting, Mr Speaker, you have rightly decided, perhaps in your own view, not to become involved in determinations of whether the Rules allow suspension or not, because this involves you. But of course, what the hon. Gentleman tries to make us all forget is that it was he that was also the participant of the events of this morning. It is therefore he who is suggesting now that it is not urgent, as if nothing had happened this morning, out of his own self-serving desire to avoid standing up to this community for what he did this morning, and the effect and import of what he did this morning by impugning your fairness as he did.

140 The Government's position, Mr Speaker, is that this is an urgent matter and that it is a necessary matter before we are able to continue dealing with issues relating to questions.

145 But I was very interested to hear the hon. Gentleman say that he called this Chief Minister's Question Time the political session of the Parliament. Interested, Mr Speaker, because it is something that I introduced when I have become Chief Minister. It appears to be something that he thinks is a valuable thing that should have been done before. So I will take at least that from the hon. Gentleman's speech, that he recognises that in having introduced sessions at a regularity, on a monthly basis on the third Thursday – although this first month, it is on the fourth – at 3.00 p.m., we are in fact, introducing something which is 'the political moment' in our Parliament.

150 But the fact is that this morning during the course of Question Time, fairness was impugned and therefore the Government considers it is appropriate not to progress matters until that issue has been dealt with.

I would have thought, Mr Speaker, that all that was going to happen here this afternoon, instead of the hon. Gentleman trying to hide his shameful behaviour of this morning behind allegations that the Government is somehow trying to create political capital out of something, all that would have happened – which is what I expected when I said this morning that I would be moving this motion – is that we would simply have been able, all of us, to rally round a simple motion of no confidence, which is literally one sentence, support you and agree that we sometimes all might feel hard done by your decisions.

Well, Mr Speaker, it has not been possible to do that, because the hon. Gentleman has decided that he wants to do everything possible to avoid having this motion. He has described this, Mr Speaker, as a motion that he will not be bounced into. I think it is important that people realise what it is that we are talking about. One would not want to be bounced into a 20-line motion dealing with complicated issues of international relations.

This motion, Mr Speaker, is one sentence and I think it is important that the community know that the motion is simply this:

‘This House has full confidence in Mr Speaker, the Hon. Adolfo Canepa, GMH OBE MP.’

That is the motion that the hon. Gentleman will not be bounced into. That is a motion, Mr Speaker, that I would have thought all of us would be able to support, when we are able to consider it, and if that is tomorrow at 9.30, then so be it, if it is not going to be this afternoon.

But the fact is, Mr Speaker, that the events of this morning require urgently and necessitate that this House take this motion. That is the Government’s view, and that is how the Government will proceed. And those, Mr Speaker, who want to continue to make – or attempt to make – politics even of the most basic Rules need to address for themselves whether they understand parliamentary democracy and whether they understand the role of each of us in this place.

Hon. P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, had the – Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, a Point of Order, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker, you reminded us last time that points of order related to the Rules. I moved a motion, somebody spoke on that motion, nobody else appeared to want to speak, I rose to reply and I now move that you put the motion on the adjournment to a vote. (Several Members: Ah!) If the hon. Member wanted to speak earlier, he should have got up.

Mr Speaker: There was a comment this morning in the 1.30 news, that I conduct the affairs of this House as a school master, putting school children in their place. Sometimes one wonders whether precisely it is not a headmaster that is required here to try and knock some sense into hon. Members! Because quite honestly sometimes I despair about what I am up against, in trying to get things done in a manner which raises the esteem in which this House is held and should be held, and which people outside find that they can understand – because sometimes I think the public, notwithstanding the fact that the proceedings of the House are being televised, sometimes the public really do not understand what is going on and why things are going on.

Very often, when it suits hon. Members, there is no problem: even during the Second Reading of a Bill, they get up and they intervene more than once. But of course, if we want to go strictly by the Rules, we are also able to do that and I suppose on the basis of what is good for the goose is good for the gander. I regret personally that that should be the case.

I really am opening my heart to hon. Members. I enjoy this job enormously: I never thought I would have an opportunity to do it. I would like to do it for a while longer, for as long as God gives me good health to do it and for as long as hon. Members wish me to be here. But I think hon. Members, some hon. Members in particular, who may sometimes think that this is a court of law and not the Parliament, they ought to realise that they do not make the work of the Speaker easy at all.

It is not easy to be totally objective in applying the Rules, to appear to be fair and to try to ensure that the perception that people have outside is the correct one. That is not easy. I strive, I even pray about it, because I believe in the power of prayer, but I do not find it easy.

And I also have a strong personality, as hon. Members know, and I do make mistakes and I apologise when I make a mistake, and I hope that that is the end of the matter and that it should not be referred to again.

What I am trying to say is that hon. Members, particularly those who are going to be here for a number of years, must realise that it is not easy to sit in the Speaker’s Chair and that not everybody is going to want to do the job and the time may come when someone will say, ‘I’m throwing in the towel, I’m leaving and that is the end of the matter.’ I am not in that position myself: as I say I enjoy the work enormously, I want 210 to carry on, but I do have to make an appeal that if I make a mistake, I am only human and I am prepared to apologise.

I do make mistakes. Right. It is not easy for me because I have sat on both sides of the House and perhaps I am a more proactive person than other Speakers who have never been Members of the House. And if I do make a mistake in that respect, I apologise unreservedly.

215 But I would like to see hon. Members putting their heads together, trying to make life not too difficult for me and, in the process, enhancing the reputation of this Parliament and the regard in which Parliament should be held.

If I am speaking nonsense, I apologise again. (Banging on desks)

Now, does the Hon. the Chief Minister wish me to proceed and to formally put the motion on the adjournment? Yes.

220 I should remind him then that notice of the suspension of Standing Orders was given at three o'clock this afternoon and therefore, he cannot actually move the suspension of Standing Orders until three o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I understood the 9.30 was sufficient. If it is three o'clock, then three o'clock tomorrow –

Mr Speaker: A day... I do not want to be...

230 Hon. Chief Minister: It does not say 24 hours –

Mr Speaker: It does not say 24 hours, but if –

Hon. Chief Minister: I have no difficulties as proposing that the adjournment be until 3.00 p.m.

235 Mr Speaker: It does not say 24 hours, but if we wish to be pedantic, it has to be 24 hours. If that is challenged... If it is challenged, it has to be 24 hours. If it is not challenged, it can be the first thing in the morning, tomorrow morning at 9.30. It is up to hon. Members.

240 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am quite happy, given the statement of the Leader of the Opposition, I am quite happy to move the adjournment to 3.00 p.m. instead of 9.30.

Mr Speaker: I therefore now put the question, which is that the House should now adjourn to tomorrow morning at 9.30. Those in favour?

245 Hon. Chief Minister: At 3.00 p.m. (Interjections)

Mr Speaker: At 3.00 p.m., sorry. I now put the question –

250 Hon. P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, I believe that that is a different motion, may I now be [Inaudible] (Mr Speaker: Yes.) (Interjections) Thank you.

Mr Speaker, for the avoidance of doubt and although I speak for myself, if the motion to adjourn had gone to the vote on the floor of the House today, I personally would have voted against it and it would have had nothing whatsoever to do with whether I have confidence in Mr Speaker, or whether I do not have confidence in Mr Speaker – on which question I do not hesitate to say, which I believe also to be the position of my friends on the Opposition bench, that I have complete confidence in you.

255 I would have voted against it, because I have not... There is one person who has been in this House longer than I have, and it would be interesting to see whether his memory is different to mine. In the years that I have been in this House, I have never known it for a Chief Minister to try and railroad the procedures of this House to the point that the Opposition discover the existence of a motion, have to ask for it to see it in print, are shown it in print, it is moved by the mover and we are expected to vote on it, all in the space of three and a half minutes! It is an issue, therefore, that I would have voted against, as a matter of principle to preserve the procedural integrity of this House.

260 And then, when the Chief Minister's motion had come to be heard tomorrow or whenever it comes to be heard – tomorrow at three o'clock now it appears – I will certainly intend to be voting in favour of the motion and it has nothing to do with the reasons why I... I just wanted to be clear Mr Speaker, to clearly record in Hansard today, that the need to delay the motion until tomorrow has got nothing to do with my willingness to express confidence in Mr Speaker today – nothing whatsoever.

265 I am obliged to have this opportunity. [Inaudible]

270 Mr Speaker: May I... There is one point I wish to mention. I need – well, I do not need to, but – I want tomorrow at 6.15 to attend a church service. It is a funeral mass at 6.15. I would feel very bad if I was not able to meet that commitment, because it means a lot to me. Therefore, if we are returning tomorrow at 3.00, it may not be easy. It may be difficult to conduct all the business of the House between 3.00 and say 6.00 p.m. It may be difficult.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, first of all, let me reassure you that there is no question of us holding you back from a commitment. We can recess or adjourn if necessary at that time, if we have not dealt with all the business of the House tomorrow, having started at 3.00 to continue to deal with it.

Let me, Mr Speaker, reply to the hon. Gentleman in his intervention.

Mr Speaker, he does not seem to remember anything that happened in the 16 years when he was in power. I am not surprised that he wants to blank it out, but those of us who sat opposite him for a period of that time, or part of that time, will have seen what a House railroaded really looks like. Never, Mr Speaker, has the House had to consider a motion as simple as the one that is going to be asked to consider tomorrow, and this idea that they have had three and a half minutes to consider it really does surprise me.

285

Well, perhaps it should not surprise me from him, Mr Speaker, because given that when he became a backbencher he decided that he was not going to come to all of the meetings of this House and this morning he was not here, he might not have heard me say this morning that I was going to move the motion this afternoon. I have therefore been surprised to hear that hon. Members were surprised that the motion was there – because during the course of the debate this morning, they were told and it is not as if this is a difficult motion to understand and support.

290

But I am very happy, Mr Speaker, to hear that the hon. Gentleman, if he deigns us with his presence – perhaps I should call him the hon. Knight rather than just the hon. Gentleman – if the hon. Knight is going to deign us with his presence tomorrow, I am very pleased to hear that he is going to be voting in favour of the motion, and that in fact, if those of us who are very keen to see Parliament progress with its work had been able to prevail, we might simply have been able to deal with that such positive support of you and of this motion that is important to the Government and to the community, simply being dealt with this afternoon.

295

But, Mr Speaker, for reasons that have now become apparent, hon. Members opposite do not want to simply support confidence in you this afternoon.

300

I shall have more to say, Mr Speaker, about the historic proceedings of this Parliament when issues like this have been raised in the past, tomorrow during the substantive debate on the motion.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker –

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, no. Mr Speaker, I am sorry. On a Point of Order.

Hon. D A Feetham: But this is a –

Hon. Chief Minister: On a Point of Order.

310

We are dealing with an issue which is going to require the Government to adjourn because the Opposition wants to stick to the letter of the Standing Orders. Well, the letter of the Standing Orders say that there has been a motion amended put, I have moved the amendment, somebody has spoken against it – or spoken on it, not necessarily against it. I have then been invited to reply and therefore I think that is the end of the debate, otherwise the Opposition are going to be allowed to make up the Rules as to when they reply or not.

315

Mr Speaker: We have a difficulty. The original motion for the adjournment was for 9.30. That the Chief Minister ‘amended’ to 3.00 p.m. tomorrow. In proposing the motion, I did not myself say, ‘Does any other hon. Member wish to speak on the motion before I call the mover to reply?’ I did not do that. And because I did not do that, I am allowing the Leader of the Opposition to take the floor.

320

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, having heard the difficulties that Mr Speaker has, and my reading of the Rules – and at the end of the day, the Rules are the Rules; the Rules the Rules are there – my reading of the Rules, when it talks about one day’s notice, means 24 hours’ notice. That is what I believe in all fairness that the Rules indicate. Otherwise, we could end up in a situation where we could have an adjournment at 12 o’clock just simply for nine o’clock the next day. I do not think that is the intention.

However, having heard Mr Speaker’s personal difficulties, I have no difficulty with the adjournment to be... for the motion to be taken at 9.00 or 9.30 tomorrow. I say that as an olive branch to the Hon. the Leader of the House.

330 And may I also say this on Mr Speaker's words a few moments ago: everybody makes mistakes – I make mistakes, everybody in this Parliament makes mistakes, but the reality is that I have not at any stage today questioned Mr Speaker's impartiality in a systemic or general way. But one must also be honest and 335 hold to one's views, if I felt that Mr Speaker, mistakenly or otherwise had not treated us fairly in relation to that particular point, and I do not believe that that either questions the integrity of Mr Speaker, nor necessitates a motion of confidence, which the Opposition, as I indicated this morning, would be supporting, but what we cannot do is allow the Hon. the Leader of the House to effectively ignore proper procedure of this House and railroad a motion for the reasons that I have already explained.

Mr Speaker: In the light of what the Leader of the Opposition has said, does the Chief Minister wish to 340 ask one of his colleagues to move an amendment to the motion for the adjournment so that the House adjourns to tomorrow morning at 9.30? Does he wish to do that?

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker. Given the way that the debate has developed this afternoon, I 345 think it is better all round that we simply stick to the Rules, or at least to the stickler's interpretation of the Rules.

I do not believe that a day has to be, in the context of these Rules, 24 hours. But if Members opposite say that that is how they would interpret the Rules, then I am going to allow them to have those 24 hours to ruminate over how they deal with the motion.

350 But nonetheless, Mr Speaker, you must rest assured that I will certainly move an adjournment or a recess at six o'clock to allow Mr Speaker good time to attend his other commitments.

ADJOURNMENT

355 Mr Speaker: I commend to the Select Committee that they have a very close look at the Standing Orders of the House and decide what amendments they want for the future!

Having said that, I now put the motion, which is that this House do now adjourn to tomorrow at 3.00 p.m. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

360 The House will now adjourn to tomorrow at 3.00 p.m.

The House adjourned at 4.00 p.m.

The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 3.00 p.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. A J Canepa GMH OBE in the Chair]

[ACTING CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: Paul E Martinez Esq in attendance]

GOVERNMENT MOTIONS

Standing Orders suspended to proceed with Government motion – Motion carried Acting Clerk: Meeting of Parliament, Friday 24th January, 2014.

Government Motions – the Hon. the Chief Minister.

5 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I beg to move, under Standing Order 7(3), to suspend Standing Order 7(1) in order to proceed with a Government motion.

10 Mr Speaker: I now put the question in the terms of the motion proposed by the Hon. the Chief... no, I think the Chief Minister has to formally... If he looks at the crib, he will see that he should read out the motion.

Hon. Chief Minister: The crib that I have has the vote before the motion, Mr Speaker.

Acting Clerk: No, you should have had this one.

15 Hon. Chief Minister: I have not had it. I am quite happy to do it that way.
Thank you, Mr Speaker. So I should read this motion, Mr Speaker, which is:

‘That this House approve, pursuant to Standing Order 59, the suspension of Standing Order 19 but only to the extent that at least five days, exclusive of Saturdays, Sundays and public holidays, notice is required of the motion notified by the Hon. the Chief Minister on 23rd January 2014, and circulated by the Clerk on 23rd January, 2014.’

20 Mr Speaker: I now put the question in the terms of the motion proposed by the Hon. the Chief Minister. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against?

Vote of confidence in Mr Speaker – Motion carried unanimously

Acting Clerk: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

25 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move the motion standing in my name, which reads as follows:

‘This House has full confidence in Mr Speaker, the Hon. Adolfo Canepa GMH OBE MP.’

Mr Speaker, it is a little bit like groundhog day to have to start again the session of Parliament at 3.00 p.m. with moving those motions, for the reasons that everyone is aware of.

30 I think, Mr Speaker, with all due respect to you, it is fair to say that nobody who has held the position of Speaker in the history of this Parliament has had the experience that you have had before you have taken the Chair. Nobody has ever been better qualified for the post of Speaker than you have been when you have arrived in it.

35 You have presided over a period of change in this Parliament, when the Government has been changing the mechanisms in which Parliament meets and the timing through which Government meets, there are many more meetings for Questions. Therefore you have wanted to change the way that Members of the Parliament behave during the course of Question Time and you have constantly been encouraging people on either side, Members on either side to raise issues in debate on motions, rather than trying to extend Question Time into debate.

40 Yesterday, Mr Speaker, your fairness was called into question by the Leader of the Opposition because you had called his attention to something that had been said during the course of a first answer, and during the course of his intervention the Leader of the Opposition said that he felt that you had been unfair to him yesterday, that you had been unfair to him last month and that you had been unfair before then.

45 Well, Mr Speaker, I do not know whether fairness and unfairness is exactly the best way to raise these issues, but of course in the cut and thrust of debate, those of us who are putting a point might always feel that we are right and we want to put our point across. I consider that putting one's point across vehemently during the course of a debate or even during the course of wanting to put a question or answer a question at Question Time is part of the cut and thrust and the proper cut and thrust of debate, as I am sure all of us in this Chamber believe and I am sure you believed, Mr Speaker, when you were also a Member on one of the sides of this House.

50 Therefore, Mr Speaker, a little bit like football players playing each for their team, when one is called up on one of those occasions when the referee might think that one is committing a foul, players usually feel that that is unfair, that they are not committing a foul, that the foul was the other fellow. But, Mr Speaker, much as in that hypothetical football match the referee's decision is final, well, of course, the Speaker's decision is final in a Parliament. Those are the rules at Westminster and of course they are also the rules here.

55 Standing Order 51 giving you responsibility for order is much in the identical terms to the rule at Westminster, which says:

'The Speaker in Parliament'

– and I am reading ours –

'and the Chairman in any Committee shall be responsible for the observance of the rules of order in the Parliament and Committee respectively and their decision upon any Point of Order shall not be open to appeal and shall not be reviewed by the Parliament except upon a substantive motion made after notice.'

60 Mr Speaker, in the context of your rulings, despite the fact that there is no appeal, you of course allow Members to put their point of view. But, Mr Speaker, to see a repeated questioning of your fairness, I think is not something which is edifying and I do not think that it is good for the workings of this Parliament.

65 That is why yesterday, Mr Speaker, I said during the course of the morning that I felt it was appropriate that whatever parties on either side might think about a particular decision that we should all, all of us, say, 'Well, we have full confidence in the Speaker', even though some of us might have wanted to express a lack of fairness evident in some ruling or another, and that is the purpose of the Government bringing this motion. It is important, Mr Speaker, I think for our community to understand that every Member of this Parliament has full confidence in the Speaker, even though there may have been instances when we might have felt hard done by, by one of your decisions.

70 Mr Speaker, I think as democrats – those who want to play by the rules of the Westminster parliamentary system that we have adopted in this community of ours – our democratic credentials are actually most tested when you are ruling against us and that is when we have to demonstrate that we accept your rulings, whether we agree with them or not and that we have confidence in you as Speaker, whether it is that you are pulling us up on a particular issue or you are not pulling us up on a particular issue or you are pulling up a colleague on a particular issue and if we are seeking to remonstrate with you. We are never suggesting that you are being partisan in any way.

75 Mr Speaker, it is for all of us in this Parliament, whatever post we hold within it, whether one leads the House, whether one leads the Government, whether one leads the Opposition, it is for all of us to understand that in the Parliament, yours is the final word. I am reminded of a parliamentary sketch by Ann Treneman that I read in The Times about a month ago, where she was referring to the relationship between the present Prime Minister of the United Kingdom and the present Speaker of the Westminster Parliament who, according to that particular columnist, apparently do not get on and do not see eye to eye, despite the fact that they are of the same political party. Miss Treneman put it this way, she said,

80 'The most powerful man in the Commons looked at the most powerful man in Britain and they did not like what each of them saw.'

Mr Speaker, I put it to you that this community should understand that in exactly the same way as Mr Speaker was referred to, in respect of the Westminster Parliament, as the most powerful man in Westminster when compared to the Prime Minister, the most powerful man in the United Kingdom, people in this community need to understand that the Speaker of this Parliament is the most powerful person in this Parliament because the Parliament has asked him to take responsibility for its Rules and that he should be their enforcer, that he should be their arbiter, he should be their referee.

Mr Speaker, I do not think there is more to say, other than to ask all Members of the Parliament to confirm their full confidence in your discharging of your functions as Speaker.

Mr Speaker: I now propose the question in the terms of the motion moved by the Hon. the Chief Minister. Does any Member wish to contribute?

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the Opposition will be supporting the motion, but I have to say that on this side of the House, certainly we take the view that this is the most shameful device and political opportunist device that actually does the contrary of what the motion seeks to do, because what it does is actually create the impression with the public at large that somebody in this House has sought to question the confidence or integrity of the Speaker or the House's confidence in him, which no one at any stage did yesterday (A Member: Hear, hear.)

Indeed, to continue the Hon. the Leader of the House's analogy about football matches, the best referees are the ones that go through games not being noticed. What this motion does is actually place the referee at the centre of the game, because all that people are going to be talking about is the referee and not in fact what we ought to be doing, which is getting on with the business of the politics of this community and the running of this community and the holding of the Government to account for the running of the affairs of this community in this Parliament.

Mr Speaker, no one at any stage yesterday sought to question your integrity or sought to question the confidence of the House in Mr Speaker. No one criticised Mr Speaker on the grounds of, as the hon. Gentleman has put it today, partisanship. I have never accused, nor anybody on this side of the House, that the Speaker was partisan; but, of course, I am entitled as Leader of the Opposition, when I feel that the Opposition has not been treated fairly in any particular instance, to say so. I believe it is also my duty to say so and I need to explain to the public so that the public understands what happened yesterday.

The Hon. Minister for Financial Services, Minister Isola had provided information to an original question, saying that the bank would be housed in a Government-owned building. I was not asking in my supplementary about whether the bank would be housed in a Government-owned building. I asked where it is going to be housed – in other words, the location of that Government-owned building – and it is obvious to anybody who heard the debate yesterday that Mr Speaker had misunderstood the nature of the question that I had asked.

Now, in those circumstances I believe that I am perfectly entitled to stand up on behalf of my colleagues and myself and say, 'No, Mr Speaker has got it wrong. That is not the supplementary that I am asking. It has not been answered previously and it is clear to anybody in this House that it was not.' In those circumstances I am entitled and I would be lacking in my duty as Leader of the Opposition if I did not point out that Mr Speaker had got it wrong. I believe that I am entitled to be heard on that.

Mr Speaker, I refer to my speech that I gave on the occasion of the setting up of the Committee on Parliamentary Reform, and I said this in June of last year, and I quote:

'We cannot always collectively get it right'

– I include us and the Chair in that –

'...but there has to be some flexibility in order to allow us to do our job I hope that when a point is taken about the appropriateness of a supplementary, for whatever reasons that we are allowed the floor to explain why we believe it was an appropriate supplementary or why we should be allowed to continue with a particular line of questioning. When we are told "You do not have the floor", we will abide by it but we are entitled to be heard as to where we are going with a particular line of questioning that we think is actually being quite effective.'

That is what I said last time and I stand by every single word, and if it happens again... if in the future Mr Speaker intervenes in circumstances where he has obviously got it wrong, in my view, I think that I have the right to say so. If Mr Speaker rules on a Point of Order, that is the end of the matter and I accept that; but if Mr Speaker is intervening and he has got it wrong, I believe that I have got a right to be heard. That is all I ask for, a right to be heard. A right to express the view as to why Mr Speaker has got it wrong.

And I believe that if the Leader of the Opposition of this community does not get the right to express why Mr Speaker has got it wrong in any particular instance, well, look, I think it does a disservice to democracy. This is the heart of our democracy. I ought to be allowed. There is nothing sinister, nothing wrong in the Leader of the Opposition expressing that view without being told, ‘Sit down, sit down’, or not being allowed to express his views.

140 Mr Speaker, of course one also has to take into account... one focuses on supplementary questions, but of course supplementary questions also arise from the nature of the answers provided by the Government. If the Opposition get evasive answers to questions, the Opposition are perfectly entitled to press the Government to have clear answers to clear questions.

145 May I remind Members of this House that when I asked in July of last year whether the Government had provided indirect financial assistance to the owners of the Sunborn, the answer was no when the Government had indeed, through a Government-owned company run by directors, provided assistance to the owners of the Sunborn. The answer was no. On many occasions on this side of the House we are faced with evasive, shifty answers, in my view, and we ought to have – (Interjection) That ought to be factored into the equation in terms of any leeway that the Opposition is afforded.

150 Mr Speaker yesterday made – and I have to congratulate him – a moving intervention and I feel for Mr Speaker. I know he has a difficult job and he said that he often prays – and perhaps I am paraphrasing him – for the strength to do his job. Look, I do not like to talk about these things, because they are private matters, but I pray every single day. But I pray for the strength... not for any kind of victory. I pray for the strength to be able to do my job fearlessly and to the best of my ability and this is not an easy job to do as Leader of the Opposition.

155 Tony Blair once said that the worst day in Government is always better than the best day in Opposition. The hon. the backbencher, when I took over from him, gave me some very sound advice. He said something that will always stay in my mind, that being Leader of the Opposition is like running a marathon race where you run in all kinds of weather and it is a question of just simply continuing until there is better weather at the end of the race.

160 Look, I have a difficult job, but I have a duty to my parliamentary colleagues. I have a duty to 40%, according to the last by-election, of the electorate, who are supporters of my party in Opposition, to stand up, and if I feel that the Opposition has in a particular instance not been treated fairly, to say so. That does not question the systemic integrity or the confidence of this House or my party in the Speaker or anybody else. But all I ask – and I think that I am entitled to – is to be able to explain why I believe a particular intervention was not right and why I believe that a particular line of questioning is apposite and we ought to be allowed to continue with it. (Banging on desks)

170 Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to speak on the motion?

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Yes, Mr Speaker, I would like to speak on the motion.

175 Mr Speaker, I have full confidence in you. I have the same confidence in you today as I had when I first invited you to be Speaker many years ago, which you had to decline for personal reasons, and the same confidence that I had when I supported, as Leader of the Opposition, your appointment as Speaker by the present House. That confidence does not depend... it does not fluctuate and does not increase or wane depending on whether you give rulings that are fair to the Opposition or unfair to the Opposition, or fair to the Government or unfair to the Government. Confidence – and this is really why I have been motivated to rise as I had not intended to – is something quite different, in my opinion, from the obligation of people in this House to accept the ruling of the Speaker. One has nothing to do with the other.

180 We are obliged to accept the Speaker’s ruling as a matter of the Standing Orders of this House, whether or not we have confidence in the Speaker. To suggest that we should have confidence in the Speaker because we are obliged to effect his rulings is a non sequitur. It is not therefore like the referee in a football match because of course the referee’s decision in a football match is final.

185 How many times have we met on a Monday morning when I was at Number 6 and you came in when Arsenal had lost as a result of a refereeing decision (A Member: Manchester United!) or Manchester United? (Laughter) Of course, the referee’s decision had to be accepted, it did not stop you from being highly critical of the referee. There is all the difference in the... and indeed you may have lacked confidence in that referee. So the next time he referees an Arsenal match, you are not certain whether Arsenal is going to get... what is going to happen?

190 Confidence is different to subscription to the obligation to accept rulings tested this way. If I did not have confidence in you, would I be any less obliged to accept your ruling as final? Answer, no. Your ruling is final, because it is final regardless of confidence, and I think actually, reflecting on the Chief Minister’s opening presentation, it is not appropriate. It is not right to focus this question of confidence in the Speaker and the importance that it should exist on any analogy to do with finality or obligation to accept the finality of rulings. I do not know, because in this House we have always been different to Westminster in terms of these things... I mean, I do not know whether in the House of Commons Members are entitled to banter or do banter... not ‘banter’, it is the wrong word... exchange, have exchanges with the Speaker in making a point or whether the Speaker simply speaks and then nobody else is allowed to engage. You know, with Question Time is the only bit of Parliament that I see, it does not happen of course.

200 But, of course, the Speaker, whatever might be the Rule about whether Members can forcefully put their views to the Speaker, and I do not know what the answer to that is, but even if it were the case that Members are allowed to do that, certainly when the Speaker says, 'Enough. I rule A, B, C', at that point that is it. I understand the parliamentary practice is that if Members then persist, the Speaker stands up in some form of notional final warning... sort of a yellow card in football analogy and thereafter the red card is that 205 you are named, but that is to do with the finality of the ruling, it is not to do with the question of confidence.

The last point that I will make whilst I am on my feet is this, and I heard the incident in the morning on the radio... it is true that I was not in the House. I really do wish the Chief Minister would resist the temptation every time he gets annoyed with me to tell everybody in Gibraltar whether I was in Parliament or not at the time. It seems...

Hon. Chief Minister: It is entirely up to me.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Of course it is entirely up to you, that is why I said, if it were not up to you it would not be a matter of wish on my part. But nevertheless, but nevertheless it has to be said that I consider this motion to be entirely unnecessary. Or is it that the Opposition, and are we now...

Does the confidence, does the Speaker's ability to do his job and to have the respect that he deserves, and which I think he enjoys, now depend and is for all time going to depend on there being an immediate motion of confidence whenever somebody strays across a line in this House which impugns the possibility that the confidence in the Speaker may have been put into question? Well, look, Mr Speaker, the respect and the stature and the standing of the Speaker has to be more robust and more resilient than that or it is nothing. I think that this motion does much more damage to the standing and stature of the Speaker than any good that might come from it. My personal instinct therefore would have been for that reason – having said that I have every confidence in you, Mr Speaker – would have been to abstain on this motion, not thereby showing any degree of ambivalence as to the degree of confidence that I have in you, but simply to signal that I do not think that your standing and status in this Parliament depends on whether this House passes this motion or does not.

But I will vote in favour of the motion, because that is what this parliamentary group has decided that it wishes to do and I do not wish to do anything different. But I want to have it recorded that my personal instinct, and for the reasons that I have explained, would have been to abstain and not to vote in favour. (Banging on desks)
230

Mr Speaker: Before I ask the mover to reply, does any other Member wish to speak on the motion? The Hon. Joseph Bossano.
235

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): I feel I have no choice, Mr Speaker, but to contribute to this debate, having heard how onerous it is to be the Leader of the Opposition. I suppose I have broken all world records in running marathons in all weathers, having done it for 32 years. (Laughter and banging on desks.) I think the hon. Member opposite, if he ever gets into Government, is going to have a very tough time indeed if he thinks that being over there is tough (Laughter)
240

The latest contribution from the hon. backbencher has focused on the semantics of what the issue before us is, and he argues that whether you have confidence or you do not have confidence, you have to accept the rulings of the Speaker, and that is true for as long as the Standing Orders say that that is what happens. So therefore accepting the ruling is no evidence of confidence in the Speaker any more than rejecting the rulings is evidence of lack of confidence. (Interjection)
245

But of course there is something that has changed in the way the discontent with the ruling was expressed yesterday and that has been expressed today by the Leader of the Opposition, something which I think is implicit and has been acknowledged by the contributor who described it as when someone strays across the line. So we can take it that he agrees that the Leader of the Opposition strayed across the line, because if he did not (Laughter) then there is no relevance between whether one is straying across the line or the motion is justified by straying across the line. So having strayed across the line, to what degree did he stray across the line? Well, when he was challenging the ruling of Mr Speaker, which was not really a ruling. It was just advice saying to the hon. Member, 'If you paid more attention to the original answer you would realise that the question that you are asking has already been answered'. Now, it may well be that in making that judgement, Mr Speaker, in fact, was mistaken, as the hon. Member is saying today; but the hon. Member did not stand up yesterday and say, 'Excuse me, sir, but you have got it wrong because you have made a mistake'. What he said was that he was being unfairly treated, and when Mr Speaker said,

260 ‘Well, look, if you think I am not doing my job properly, which is to be fair to both sides of the House, move a motion of no confidence’, and then the Hon. Leader of the Opposition says, ‘Well, I will not move a vote of no confidence in you, Mr Speaker, because it is not systemic. Your bias against me is not systemic.’ That is to say you have done it today and you did it a few meetings back.

265 So what is the difference, because he then went on to say, ‘If it was systemic, I would move a motion of no confidence in you?’ So it is... well, Mr Speaker, the hon. Member was not in here yesterday, he can shake his head, but he can actually either go back and watch it or read it. He said it was not systemic, but if it were, I would have no problem in bringing a motion of no confidence. So therefore what the hon. Member was saying yesterday was that in fact you were not being fair, that is you were not showing the neutrality that you should be showing, but that you did not do this consistently. It was not systemic. It was sporadic, and as long it was sporadic, as long as you treated him well on some occasions and badly on others, he would not bring a motion of no confidence; but if it happened consistently, he would have done it.

270 Well, let me tell him something about what happened to me when I was in the Opposition, because if it had happened to him, he would have had to bring a vote of no confidence in every meeting of the House. (Laughter) The previous Speaker that was here ruled that the Opposition could only put two supplementaries – period. They were not allowed to put any more. As a concession, as Leader of the Opposition, I was allowed three (Laughter) and that none of the supplementaries could refer to anything in the answer – it was limited to something in the question that had not been answered. That ruling was systemic. That is, it was not sporadic. It was permanent. (Interjection)

280 Well, by the definition of the hon. Member of systemic bias, of constrain on his ability to express his mind and to question whether things are being done properly, he would have needed to bring a motion of no confidence in the Speaker in every single meeting of the House. If what he is facing now is a marathon, I would say he would have fallen by the wayside in the first hundred yards of the marathon in that context.

285 I think that perhaps in the heat of the moment he expressed himself in a way which he should not have done and I think that now that he has had the opportunity of reflecting on what he said, he has tried to retract from the position that he adopted yesterday. But there is no doubt in my mind that what he was saying to the Parliament was that the only reason why he was not questioning the neutrality of Mr Speaker, and consequently expressing lack of confidence in him, was because the treatment that was being accorded to the Opposition in the freedom that they have to put questions and supplementaries was not something that happened on every single occasion, that it only happened once or twice, and that to him it had happened on this occasion and on a previous occasion.

290 Indeed, the clearest evidence that that was the essence of the issue and not a question of understanding – (Interjection) – No, Mr Speaker, I will not give way – that that was the understanding of what was going on, was the fact that you yourself pointed out that how could somebody in the Opposition argue that you were not being sufficiently lenient or sufficiently liberal in allowing questions when one single question as to how many Health and Safety inspectors or how many Labour Inspectors there are, took 15 minutes... 15 pages and 45 minutes in order to try and satisfy the curiosity of the Hon. Mr Bossino, whose [inaudible] was as good as me.

300 Therefore it was clearly about the opportunity, the opportunity that is given to the Opposition to ask questions and the reality of it is that on many, many occasions they ask the questions, notwithstanding the fact that in our judgement the answer they have got is the only answer they are going to get, because as any of the Members on the opposite side will remember – if they still remember how they behaved when they were in Government – people in Government have the right to answer questions in the way they choose to answer it, and that is it. In the Opposition you can say you do not like the answer, but what you cannot do is insist that the answer that you get in Opposition is the one you would like to get in order to get the greatest political advantage out of it.

305 Therefore if there was any question that in future in the judgement of the Leader of the Opposition, your behaviour moved from being sporadic to being systemic, then I would hope that the result of this vote of confidence will not lead to the forceful statement made that he would not shy away from bringing a motion of no confidence against you Mr Speaker.

310 On this basis, I am happy to support the motion.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I ask for the indulgence of the Speaker to respond very briefly to some of the points that the hon. Gentleman has made?

315 Mr Speaker: It is not allowed for in the Rules, but I will allow you.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, I am very grateful.

Mr Speaker, I think it is important and I am very grateful to Mr Speaker. I think that it is important that hon. Gentlemen understand the distinction that I am drawing, which I think has been mischaracterised by the hon. the father of the House.

Yesterday, what I was questioning was whether it was fair. Indeed, I was saying it was unfair for the Speaker to characterise my intervention in the way that he characterised it. It is not talking about bias or anything else, and I am entitled to say, Mr Speaker, I do not believe that you are being fair on this occasion. Now, the point that I made yesterday, and I think it was in response to some of the points that were being made from across the floor, or Mr Speaker, was that if I felt that Mr Speaker was being unfair systemically over a long period of time or that he was showing any kind of bias, then I would say so, but that was not the case.

But what I was saying was you are being unfair on this particular occasion, because the question has not been asked previously and has not been answered. I think it is unfair for Mr Speaker to characterise my intervention as not having been careful enough and not having listened to the answers carefully on such an important matter, because I believe, genuinely, that anybody listening to that would think, well, the Opposition is not doing their job properly. The Opposition is asking questions when the answer has been received and the Opposition does not know what it is talking about, and that is unfair. It was unfair because the Opposition... because I had not asked the question before the information had not been provided, and in that kind of situation I am perfectly entitled to say so, that Mr Speaker had not made a ruling. If Mr Speaker had made a ruling on a Point of Order and said, 'This is my ruling', I am bound by it. I sit down and that is the end of the matter, but he did not make a ruling. What he was doing was giving me advice on the basis that was, in my view, on the wrong premise, because I had not received that information and that is the point.

I have said, and the point that I made during the course of my speech is that I have made that point before. It is not questioning the integrity of the Speaker. Nobody has done so. It is not accusing the Speaker of bias. Nobody has done so and it is not a good enough reason to effectively place Mr Speaker at the centre now of this particular process and effectively be making him the item of news and not what we ought to be doing, which is getting on with the business of this House.

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, it is incredible that yesterday we could have dealt with this matter in a moment, but because we wanted to be sticklers following the Rules, we have had to adjourn Parliament for a day to be able to continue. Yet today, the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition says there is absolutely no need for this and that this is just putting you at the centre of the political debate when it is unnecessary.

Well, look, the first thing that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition says when he gets up is that this is a shameful device and a politically opportunistic device being taken by the Government. Mr Speaker, that is – and everybody in Gibraltar who was watching will have seen – a politician wriggling on the end of a hook that he made for himself yesterday with his absolutely shameful behaviour before lunch.

We have heard a lot, Mr Speaker, from both Members opposite who have spoken about how nobody was impugning your integrity and how there is absolutely no need for this vote of confidence. We have heard a lot about how accepting the finality of the Speaker's rulings is nothing to do with confidence in the Speaker. Of course, Mr Speaker, what they are trying to do is to make the general public forget how all those things were conflated by the Leader of the Opposition yesterday.

Let us remind ourselves what exactly it is that the Leader of the Opposition said. I do not think he wants to be reminded, but Hansard... now there, Mr Speaker, there is a useful device, Hansard, because it tells us the truth of what happened yesterday.

Now let us look at the shameful things that the Leader of the Opposition said yesterday. He was not wanting to hear what you were saying to him about listening to first answers, and he said this to you, Mr Speaker, and this is a quote Mr Speaker:

'Well, I certainly do not like the way that the Hon. Mr Speaker has made interventions last time, has made an intervention now, and implied that somehow I do not know, as Leader of the Opposition, the answer that has been provided by the Hon. Minister.'

'I do not like the way that you are talking to me, Mr Speaker...' How dare any Member of a Parliament say to a Speaker, 'I do not like the way you are talking to me, Mr Speaker'? That sort of petulance, that sort of remarkable attempt to pretend that he can be the arbiter of how the final arbiter addresses us all is but a mere indication of what was to come.

After your next intervention, where you were saying:

'What is wrong with that, that I should give you such guidance? (Interjection) What is wrong with that? What is unreasonable about that?'

380 The Hon. Leader of the Opposition says:

‘Because you are suggesting, and with respect Mr Speaker, it is not the first time – he has intervened in the past, as well, in a manner that we’

385 – all of them –

‘we, do not believe is fair...’

And he goes on and says:

390 ‘Mr Speaker has chosen to intervene, as he has chosen to intervene the last time, and indeed in previous months as well’

– systemically.

395 Now, last month, in previous months as well, there is the system that is being implied.
You then say to him later, Mr Speaker:

‘The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition is accusing me of treating the Opposition unfairly –’

400 Well, this is remarkable, Mr Speaker, and it is going to be difficult for people at home to understand. If I just remind the public that I read a sentence where the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition said this:

‘...it is not the first time – you have intervened in the past, as well, in a manner that we do not believe is fair –’

405 He said:

‘...we do not believe is fair –’

You say, Mr Speaker:

410 ‘... the Opposition is accusing me of treating them unfairly –

He says:

415 ‘No, I am not saying that...’

(Laughter)

‘and I do not want the public’

420 – then he realises that people are going to see what a fool he has made of himself –

‘and I do not want the public to go away with the impression that I am suggesting that the Hon. the Speaker is inherently treating the Opposition unfairly.’

425 He has just said a moment ago, Mr Speaker, you are not fair to the Opposition, today, last month, or in previous months, but he has realised what he has done, Mr Speaker, and now he wants to row back, just as he has during the course of this intervention.

He goes on:

430 ‘I believe that the Hon. Mr Speaker has been unfair in the comments that he has made today...’

– remember that in just the sentence before he had said he was not suggesting that you were inherently treating the Opposition unfairly, although you had done it three times previously –

435 ‘I believe that the Hon. Mr Speaker has been unfair in the comments that he has made today, as indeed he was unfair last time round in the comments that he made about the Public Service Commission.’

440 ‘Now, having taken that position, I think it is incumbent upon me to say that we are... that is a comment not unfair. That is not being discourteous to the Chair or to anybody else.’

‘Who do you think you are to talk to me that way, Mr Speaker? You are being unfair to me, but I am not saying that you are being unfair to me. You have done it three times already, Mr Speaker, but I am not

445 saying that you have done it systematically. I am not being discourteous to you, Mr Speaker, by saying, “How dare you speak to me that way, Mr Speaker?” Well, I am just calling a spade a spade. Mr Speaker. I commend this transcript to Mr Cleese and Mr Gillingham, who have now got to come up with a script for their new Monty Python reunion. (Laughter)

450 ‘I am not suggesting, for the record, Mr Speaker, that I believe Mr Speaker has some kind of, either, you know, a campaign against the Opposition – I am not. But the comments that Mr Speaker has made today, as indeed last time round, are not in my view fair to the Opposition.’

455 So he says you have got a campaign by saying that you have done it three times. He impugns fairness. He does not say, ‘I think that you are interpreting this Rule in the wrong way’. It is not Rule 51 in this way or Standing Order 29. No, Mr Speaker, this is fairness and in imputing fairness or unfairness to you, what is being impugned is confidence in you.

460 Well, look Mr Speaker, that is what the Hansard tells us happened yesterday. That is why the Government decided that there was an urgent necessity to raise the issue of confidence and invited all Members to express confidence in you, including the Member who said that you were unfair to him this month, you were unfair to him last month, you were unfair to him before then, but he is not questioning your fairness and that he does not say there is a campaign.

465 Well, Mr Speaker, I think at least what this does is to demonstrate the level of incoherence in the arguments that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition puts, not just in respect of this matter, but in respect of everything else, and we do it by looking at the record of Hansard; but, Mr Speaker, that is a hook that he made for himself and it is there for the whole community to be reminded of.

470 Of course the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has a right to be heard, Mr Speaker, and that is why we are here. I am calling a meeting of this Parliament every month. He has a right to be heard every month. Of course he has the right when you raise an issue of order, if you raise an issue of order, to be heard by you in respect of those issues, although you are the final arbiter and decision maker. Mr Speaker, you have shown yourself to be open to hear each side’s interpretation of a particular Rule before you make a ruling – all Speakers have, Mr Speaker. You have shown yourself prepared to listen to any of us, who might be slightly aggrieved by a ruling you may have made, later in your Chamber to make us understand why you felt it was appropriate to make that.

475 So what is the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition doing getting up and saying today that he will be heard, as if he were having to become a champion of free speech, as if somebody were trying to shut him up? Mr Speaker, we do not only hear him and today, you have allowed him to speak even when the Rules do not allow him to speak. Yesterday, you allowed him to put all the arguments that he wanted. Of course he can be heard, but when in being heard he says things as incoherently as he said them and he questions fairness, then he has to understand what he is doing and how he is impugning confidence.

480 Look, Mr Speaker, but I suppose that in the context of this debate you are having to get used to the sort of thing that I am having to get used to, which is that the Leader of the Opposition repeatedly says things that he is then not prepared to defend. He said about this business of evasive and shifty answers about financial assistance to the Sunborn. He constantly says that, Mr Speaker. I have invited him publicly. If he wants to talk about that issue, to bring a motion, and let us debate what was said and what was not said. I said to him to put up or shut up, but he does not, Mr Speaker. He does not want to have an argument where we look at exactly what was said and when because he knows that he is wrong. He just wants to repeat things that are wrong, over and over again, hoping that by repeating them they might somehow become a reality. He thinks, Mr Speaker, that the politics of repetition is somehow the politics of what becomes reality.

490 But the speech that I have been treated to today, Mr Speaker, by the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition, really made me think that we were not considering what happened yesterday and whether we should have confidence in you. As usual with Mr Feetham, Mr Speaker, it was all about him. It was all about him. It was all about, ‘I will defend my right to be heard’ and ‘I will call a spade a spade’. Well, Mr Speaker, he can bring his bucket and he can bring his spade if he likes and we will hear him call them everything he likes, but what we will not do, Mr Speaker, is think that what happened yesterday did not happen. We will not be persuaded by talk of spades to forget the talk of fairness and unfairness that there was yesterday, and all he was doing, Mr Speaker, was trying to make people forget that boorish behaviour yesterday.

500 The hon. the backbencher may not like the analogy of the referee, and of course it is the right analogy in relation to the finality of your rulings, but this is the player who turns around and remonstrates with the referee and goes into the referee’s face and says, ‘You are unfair to my team’, whilst the match is ongoing, and rightly the referee has the right to show the red or the yellow card, whichever he thinks is appropriate. That sort of remonstrance that all of us who are watching a match believe that players should just not engage in and get on with playing, whether or not they think the foul was properly awarded or not.

505 So there is no need, Mr Speaker, for the hon. the backbencher – although I acknowledge that he is these days unfortunately repeatedly called upon by his party to get on the white charger and bail out the new incumbent from the trouble that he is getting them into (Laughing) – to pretend that somehow we have confused the concepts of the finality of your rulings under Standing Order 51 and confidence in you. There is no confusion, Mr Speaker. There is absolutely no confusion and he will now understand that it was in his absence that the Hon. the new Leader of the Opposition was impugning fairness and therefore confidence and that is why the issue had to be dealt with.

510 I will say this, Mr Speaker, now that I am mentioning his absence, that it is absolutely up to me and to any Member of this House on either side to point out the absence of other Members. Of course it is absolutely right and proper for Members not to be here if they have other business and the House is not dealing with business for which they are responsible – that was always the case. It was the case when I was in Opposition and I might not be here for a reason and he used to repeatedly get up and say, ‘Well, I do not know where Picardo is today (Laughter) but he is not here to earn his keep’. (Laughter, interjections and banging on desks) Well, Mr Speaker, I have to say I will not tire of pointing out to this community that they are paying £25,000 at least for the hon. Member these days to occupy a chair he is not often seen in, unless obviously watching it on television or hearing it on the radio he realises he has got to turn up quick, because the whippersnapper he left in charge of the party is taking it to the dogs. (Laughter)

520 Mr Speaker, it is a real pity, in my view, having made this intervention in reply, that the Opposition have wanted to take this debate to where they have taken it and I have had to reply to these points. The fact is that your fairness having been impugned (Interjection) – Mr Speaker if I may be allowed – your fairness having been impugned, it is for that reason that I got up yesterday as Leader of the House, and I said specifically that I was getting up as Leader of House and not as Chief Minister, to simply ask that all Members express their confidence in you. I expected when I came back after lunch that we would do that in a moment. That I would get up and read the motion expressing confidence in you. I would make little of no speech. We would have all have voted and have got on.

530 The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition says this is a device because you are today the central political feature and we are not talking about the issues that really matter. Well, Mr Speaker, that must be because he wants it to be that way because all that had to happen was that yesterday we could have dealt with this at three o’clock. We could have all voted confidence in you at one minute past three and we could have got on with Chief Minister’s Question Time immediately thereafter. So if things have been delayed, they have been delayed because the Opposition wants to be sticklers with the Rules when they are in their favour, or they believe them to be in their favour, but do not think that it is fair to apply the Rules to them when it might not be in their favour.

535 In that context, Mr Speaker, I have nothing more to say other than we should all support this motion and express our confidence in you. (Banging on desks)

540 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: May I raise a Point of Order, Mr Speaker?

I am not interested in contributing further to the debate on the motion, but rather in the same way that I feel, and I said earlier, that Mr Speaker’s reputation does not turn on expressions of confidence following individual incidents in this House. So I think I am in the happy position that my own reputation, for those who approve of it and for those who do not, in both cases, does not depend on insulting little observations that the Chief Minister may choose from time to time to aim at me; but at the very least he should seek accuracy when he does so.

550 The statement that my presence in this House costs the taxpayer £25,000 is to his knowledge untrue. He must know that if I was not in this House, I would be earning a pension from my Chief Ministerial and parliamentary career which would cost the taxpayer more than the £25,000 that I am earning for being an MP (Interjection) and that as a result of occupying this seat I am not collecting that higher pension. So far from my presence in this House costing the taxpayer £25,000, it is saving the taxpayer the difference between £25,000 and my slightly, albeit slightly higher pension.

555 So I do not mind the Chief Minister taking pot shots at me, but at least he should have the respect for this House and the respect for the community that he is addressing through the GBC microphones, to tell them the truth and not to mislead them.

560 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I wish to respond to that point, because first of all I do not believe that is a Point of Order; it was an issue relating to fact, and as you ruled last time – I think the hon. the backbencher was not here then either, not earning either his salary or his pension – you ruled that points of order were points which relate to the Rules and the interpretation of them, not to facts.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister is quite right, but there is also provision in the Rules, and we could look at the relevant section, when an hon. Member wishes to make a personal statement and that is the way that I interpreted what the Hon. Sir Peter Caruana wished to say. (Laughter and interjections)

565 Right! I now put the question in the terms of the motion proposed by the Hon. the Chief Minister. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

CHIEF MINISTER

Q104/2014

Relocation of GBC – Current stage in process

575 Acting Clerk: Answer to Oral Questions continued. We shall now continue with the Chief Minister's questions.

Question 104, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

580 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can Government say what the plans are for the relocation of GBC to the town area and at what stage they are in this process?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

585 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the Government is progressing the establishment of office and studio space for the Gibraltar Broadcasting Corporation in the town area. Discussions are ongoing with the CEO of GBC about how best to achieve this move, in keeping with the needs of the GBC and the professionals who work within it.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, are the plans still to locate to the Ince's Hall complex?

590 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, because there is discussion ongoing with the CEO of GBC about how the best way to achieve this, I do not want to be drawn further at this stage. An announcement will be made.

Q105/2014

Spanish fishermen – Changes to legislation

Clerk: Question 105 the Hon. D A Feetham.

600 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister state whether Spanish fishermen who are existing members of the Cofradias of Algeciras and La Linea at the date any legislation is enacted will have to apply for a Licence in Gibraltar in order to fish in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters with nets, as opposed to being automatically licenced to fish by virtue of their membership of their respective Cofradias?

605 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the position will be set out in the relevant legislation when it is published.

610 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, what a surprise. I have to say that I am not surprised by the answer because the Government is very reluctant to provide us with an answer to this particular question. I have asked it in the media, not in this House, but can I ask the Government this: has the Government made a decision in relation to the question? I am not asking what the decision is, but has it made a decision in relation to this particular matter?

615 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Government makes decisions every day about many matters. This is one we have made a decision about and he will see what the decision is when the legislation is published.

620 Hon. D A Feetham: But hang on a minute, what you are effectively saying is you have made a decision in relation to this, but you refuse to say to this House whether Spanish fishermen will have to apply for a licence in Gibraltar. That is correct, isn't it?

625 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, what I am telling the House is that the Government makes announcements when it considers it is appropriate to make them, not when the Leader of the Opposition decides that he wants us to make them.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am sorry, but the Hon. the Chief Minister is accountable, as is his Government, to this House and this is a matter of public interest, whether Spanish fishermen will have to apply for a licence in Gibraltar in order to fish with nets.

630 Now can I ask a different question? What does the Chief Minister say that the Government has achieved in the last two years since it tore up the 1999 Agreement to land us in a position where effectively Spanish fishermen... the law has now been changed in order to allow Spanish fishermen to fish in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters? You know I am entitled to draw the inference that the Hon. the Chief Minister's reluctance to provide me with an answer to this particular question is because they are not even going to have to apply for a licence here in Gibraltar in order to fish in our waters.

640 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, he can draw whatever inference he likes. I am accountable to this Parliament and I am accountable to this community. I do not think anybody will think that I am not being accountable, simply because I am saying, when the law is published you will have the answer to that question.

I am not suggesting this is something that is going to be done without the community knowing how it is going to be done. It is going to be done because a law is going to be published for that purpose and the hon. the now backbencher taught us all the lesson of saying that the Government will make an announcement when the Government is ready to make an announcement. That is not to impugn accountability; that is simply not to accept that the agenda and timetable of Government announcements is run by the Leader of the Opposition.

645 Now he wants me to say what has been achieved... something which I think is really to propose a debate by what has been done in the last two years. Well, look, Mr Speaker, I will tell him what has been achieved. We have finally, finally re-established the rule of law that went out of the window in 1999 when the illegal agreement was entered into. I have said so on a number of occasions. If he wants to set himself up for me to tell him that his party was responsible for creating a problem with the rule of law in Gibraltar, I will tell him again.

650 An illegal agreement was entered into that allowed certain people to break the laws of Gibraltar and others were subjected to it. So we have re-established the rule of law. We have re-established the rule of law and that is what has been achieved in the last two years by what we have done. Quite right that we have done it, Mr Speaker, and I am delighted to have been the Head of Government in Gibraltar in order to be able to bring about exactly that re-establishment of the rule of law, exactly as set out in our manifesto we would do.

660 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, I am afraid that is not true, but I do not want to be drawn in relation to a debate about the legality or otherwise of the 1999 Agreement. We have had a debate about this in this House in the past.

665 But you see the 1999 Agreement was torn up by an infelicitous announcement on Facebook by the Hon. the Minister for the Environment, Minister Cortes, in March 2012 – so nearly two years ago – and in those two years we have seen a record number of incursions, not only by Spanish State vessels, but equally as important, Spanish fishermen accompanied by Spanish State vessels, something that had never happened in the past. (Interjection)

670 Why has it taken so long for the Government to make a decision to change the law and still for the Government not to be able to announce whether those same Spanish fishermen are now going to have to apply for a licence to fish in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters? Is it because effectively the Chief Minister wants to delay the day in which the entirety of this community will have found out that despite all his robust statements that he has made about the rule of law and our British Gibraltar Territorial Waters. He is going to be lowering his trousers all the way down to his ankles.

675 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do not think that is a very parliamentary expression to use about lowering trousers all the way down to the ankles. I must tell him, I am not that sort of politician (Laughter) and if I were, Mr Speaker, if I was going to do a U-turn then, because I am slightly better tactically than he is, I would have done it as quickly as possible before the next General Election. I would not be delaying it to do the U-turn and lower the trousers, as he suggests, closer to the General Election. I think the hon.
680 Member thinks that we are all as bad at our jobs as he is.

We have not made an announcement about changing the law. There is absolutely no question of this Government doing a U-turn on anything. He needs to go back and look at what we have been saying from the very beginning and again, Mr Speaker, this business of the politics of repetition, whatever the truth may be in order to make things which may not be true, true. There is no question of the notorious 1999 illegal 685 Fishing Agreement having been torn up on Facebook, but he says it so often, Mr Speaker, that he wants people to believe it.

There was a manifesto commitment saying that the 1999 illegal Fishing Agreement would not be abided by, by this Government, because we do not believe in illegal agreements that break the rule of law. But Mr Feetham gets up in this House, and outside it, Mr Speaker, and repeatedly says the same thing because he 690 wants people through repetition to believe that is the truth: something torn up on Facebook.

Well, Mr Speaker, look it just does not make any sense. You cannot tear things up on Facebook; it is digital. (Laughter) You just write in, 'We are complying with our manifesto commitments and ensuring that the 1999 Fishing Agreement is no longer being adhered to because it is an illegal Agreement, contrary to the rule of law'.
695

Have we had more incursions? Yes. Mr Speaker, were they about fishing? Mr Speaker, even the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition cannot believe that the incursion by States vessels have anything to do with fishing because the hon. the backbencher, when he was Chief Minister, addressed the nation in a ministerial statement and talked about the increasing number of incursions then, and it was all about the SAC declared by Spain and the numbers are going up, and we must all be against it. Have there been more 'incursions' of 700 fishing boats? Well, Mr Speaker, those were never counted as incursions before 2012 because they were allowed.

Nobody went out and counted how many Spanish fishing vessels there were before 2012 because between 1999 and 2012 they were not classed as an incursion. So if there are two Spanish fishing boats here today, they are counted as two people who are here who should not be here, but if there were 10 in 2005, 705 they were not counted as an incursion because they allowed them. This is a case, Mr Speaker, of them behaving like the dog trainer that sees the dog sit down and when the dog is sitting down, they say, 'Sit. You see how he does what I say?' Our seas were full of Spanish fishing boats between 1999 and 2011 and nobody counted them.

Now that we count them he says, perish the thought the number of incursions that we have by Spanish fishing boats and he says that things have got worse. They come with Spanish State vessels. Well, things have not got as bad as Spanish State vessels being beached in Gibraltar with Spanish State actors coming ashore with their handguns drawn – that did not happen in my time. It did not happen in my time. Neither, 710 Mr Speaker, have I been pushed to say, if you are interfered with, 'Oh, Gibraltarian pleasure craft owner, go for your handgun...' sorry, 'your flare gun and discharge it into the air'. A real low point, Mr Speaker, which could have led us into even more dangerous ground.

But, Mr Speaker, his position on the issue of Spain is well known. His position on a number of matters is now becoming clearer and clearer, especially after the meeting yesterday, Mr Speaker. He is against the Bank. He is against my speech at the United Nations and yesterday, Mr Speaker, he was even against you. Who is he for? Daniel Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: That is the most self-serving answer I have heard yet from the Hon. the Leader of the House and the Chief Minister.

I will repeat the point about the 1999 Agreement being torn up on Facebook for as long as the hon. Gentleman repeats that the 1999 Agreement was illegal and ultra vires because he sins from the very same thing that he accuses me of – (Interjection) I have not given way. (Interjection) He sins from the very same thing... Do you now want to be Speaker as well as Chief Minister? (Interjection) He sins from the very same thing that he accuses – (Interjections)
725

Mr Speaker: Will the Leader of the Opposition continue with the preamble to the supplementary question which I am sure he is going to ask shortly.
730

Hon. D A Feetham: Thank you very much, Mr Speaker.

He sins from the very thing that he accuses me of and indeed there are more fishermen fishing in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters now than there were in the past and we see them every single day in the bay, 735 for all his talk about the rule of law.

740 But still, Mr Speaker, he has not answered the supplementary that I asked him. Why has it taken him two years effectively, or just under two years, to introduce the changes to the law to allow Spanish fishermen to fish with nets, but why is it still taking even longer to announce whether those Spanish fishermen will have to apply for a licence in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters? It is not difficult. It is not rocket science. The hon. Gentleman even commissioned an expert report on fishing. An expert report –

Mr Speaker: Why do you not allow the Chief Minister to answer that supplementary question.

745 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am going to talk about making statements in this House or elsewhere when the Government thinks it is ready to do so, without having to have regard to when the Leader of the Opposition wants us to do so, as long as the Leader of the Opposition insists in asking us questions of why we do not do things according to his timetable.

750 But let us look at something which is very apposite. He says it has taken you two years from being elected to making this law, which we have not yet made, to allow fishing with nets, as he interprets the law will be. Well, Mr Speaker, it took them 12 years to do an Agreement, that I call an illegal Agreement and not to change the law to simply reflect in the law what the Agreement provided for. They could have done it immediately. They could have said, Mr Speaker, ‘We have done this Agreement whilst we change the law and will tolerate this breaching of the law by some and enforcement of it against others for a short period whilst we change the law’. They had 12 years to do it and he has the gall to ask me why we have taken two.

755 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, changing the law two years ago may or may not have prevented much of what has transpired later, but it certainly in my view would have prevented much of the uncertainty.

760 Mr Speaker, can I ask him a simple question: did the expert’s report that he commissioned – they now have the report – did the expert report recommend to the Government that the law be changed to allow Spanish fishermen to fish with nets?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, there is one thing that he said before that I have not answered yet which I will answer first. He said there are more fishermen now. Mr Speaker, that is patently nonsense.

765 Hon. D A Feetham: That is not the question I asked.

Hon. Chief Minister: That is patently nonsense because –

770 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker –

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I have said that before I answer his second question I will deal with this point.

775 Mr Speaker: Yes.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, a Point of Order.

780 He is entitled to answer the question that I have asked if he has missed in a speech that he has given in answer to my previous question. If he has missed the point that he should have made last time round, well he ought to have made it in answer to my question (Laughter and interjections)

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am afraid that the hon. Gentleman is not going to be the arbiter of what I say in answer to his questions.

785 Mr Speaker: May I ask the hon. Members really to come to order, avoid the temptation to debate, and let us get on with short supplementary questions, short answers? Let us see if we can make progress on that basis.

Hon. Chief Minister: Thank you very much indeed, Mr Speaker.

790 As I was saying, what I was going to say in relation to what he said before his latest supplementary was this: he said before that there are more fishermen. Well, Mr Speaker, that is patently nonsense. The issue is this, and I am going to explain it to him again in case he has not understood it... I would actually like to think that he has not understood it because otherwise he is being mendacious in the way that he is pretending not to have understood it.

795 There was no count of how many fishermen there were before 2011... before 2012. So for 1999 for 2000, for 2001, for 2002, for 2003, for 2004, for 2005, for 2006, for 2007, for 2008, for 2009, for 2010 and for 2011 there is no figure for him to compare with 2012 and 2013 and what has gone of 2014. So therefore,

Mr Speaker, it is not possible for him to say there are more Spanish fishermen coming now than there were then. So when he makes remarks like that, as you rightly said to him last time, Mr Speaker, he needs to be responsible for his statements.

800 Secondly, did the experts report recommend that we change the law? Mr Speaker, I am afraid I am going to tell him that the expert's report is a public document. He can read it himself and make up his mind.

805 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, yes, I have read it and in the light of the fact that the expert report does not recommend that the law be changed in order to allow Spanish fishermen to fish with nets, why is it that the Government has taken this decision to change the law in order to allow Spanish fishermen to fish with nets? Yes, the decision has been taken. The only issue that remains pending that is not in the public domain is whether Spanish fishermen will have to apply for a licence in Gibraltar or not; not whether they will be allowed to fish in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters.

810 It took nearly a year, I think, for the report, for the full report certainly to be made public, the fishing report to be made public. Now, that does not recommend that the law be changed, on the contrary it actually congratulates the legislation in Gibraltar for its resilience. Why is it that the Government in the light of that ignores the recommendations of its own report and effectively is embarking upon the changing of the law in order to allow Spanish fishermen to fish?

815 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, it appears from his second answer that he asked a question that he knew was related to something that was in the public domain. A report that he had read and he had made up his mind about the answer to the question that he was asking. I thought the rules were very clear. We should not be asking questions about things that are in the public domain and the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition knew that he was.

820 Well, he is making all sorts of assumptions. He has made an assumption as to what the law I have told him is to be published is going to do and how it is going to do it, and he has decided that he knows what it is that that is going to be. Mr Speaker, I must say I am delighted to continue to have this debate with him because this is what this has become. This is a question about the manner of application for licences by members of Cofradias in Spain and we are now at 'What does the report say? Why are you doing it?' etc.
825 Delighted to have the debate. He can put the motion or he can wait and see what the legislation says.

Hon. D A Feetham: But I have to say that he is still not answering – 830 Mr Speaker: I am going to allow the Leader of the Opposition another supplementary, but we have now been dealing with this particular question for well over 20 minutes, which, important as it is, I think it is enough because there are other important questions on the Agenda. I will allow him the most important supplementary question that he feels he should ask and give the opportunity to do so now.

835 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, he now appears to be suggesting in his answers... I mean he is shifting from one side to the other and he now appears to be suggesting or he has indicated to members of the public and I do not know how he is going to get out of it when the legislation is finally published, but we have all understood, even reporters that sit in this Parliament today, that the Government's intention is to allow Spanish fishermen to fish in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters with nets.

840 Is it, or is it not the Government's intention to allow Spanish fishermen to fish in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters with nets – a step backwards from the question that I asked in the Order Paper – because he seems to be placing that in doubt?

845 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the only shifty thing about this afternoon are the questions from the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition. One must be left with the impression that he has a dodgy recollection about everything. The Government has made the statements that it has made in this House and publicly on this issue. He is now asking me to repeat them. I am not going to do so. They are already in the public domain. What we have said we have said, and what we will say, we will say.

Private companies with links to Government – Directorship details

850 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Acting Clerk: Question 106, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the question contains a typographical error. I will read it without the error.

855 Can the Chief Minister name each public servant who is a director of a private company not owned, directly or indirectly, by the Government, but which either has a registered address at a Government office or the benefit of a contract from Government?

860 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, there are none.

Q107/2014

Government-owned companies –
Directorship details

Acting Clerk: Question 107, the Hon. D A Feetham.

865 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister state which individuals are presently directors of companies owned directly or indirectly by Government, providing the names of the companies concerned, the names of the individuals, whether they are civil servants or GDC employees, and if annual remuneration is provided for such directorships, the amounts?

870 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I hand the hon. Member a full list of the directors of the Government-owned companies. No remuneration is provided for such directorships.

875 Mr Speaker: The schedule is four pages long. Could I suggest to the Leader of the Opposition we proceed with the next question and then I will allow him to come back again if he feels a need to ask any supplementary arising from Question 107?

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker.

Q108/2014
Government-owned companies –
Written rules for directors

880 Acting Clerk: Question 108, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister state whether there are any written rules for managing potential conflicts of interest of anyone appointed a director of a company owned, either directly or indirectly, by the Government?

885 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the rules that regulate potential conflicts of interest of directors are set out in law.

890 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, I understand that the rules in relation to directors. There are legal rules in relation to conflict of interest for directors, but are there any specific rules that may relate to civil servants appointed as directors of Government-owned companies? Is there anything, any rules that the Chief Secretary or the Civil Service may have in relation to those conflicts of interest?

895 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, if he is asking me if there is anything which describes the rules for civil servants or is there anything that is provided as a guidance for civil servants as to what the rules in law are, I understand that there is not such a handout and there has not been for the past 20 years.

900 Acting Clerk: Question 109 –

Mr Speaker: Just a moment.
Does the Hon. Leader of the Opposition have any questions arising from the schedule?

905 Hon. D A Feetham: I have not seen it.
You can continue now because Mr Bossino and I will look at it later.

Mr Speaker: Okay, right.
Carry on.

Q109-120/2014
Gibraltar Savings Bank and Credit Finance Company Limited – Investment, loans and employees

910 Acting Clerk: Question 109, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Further to Question 844/2013, can the Chief Minister now confirm whether the developers of the Marriott project or any other entity or person connected with the project has received, or will in the future receive, financial or any other form of assistance from the Government, the Gibraltar Savings Bank or Credit Finance Company Limited?

915 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question Nos. 110 to 120.

920 Acting Clerk: Question 110, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Chief Minister advise whether the developers of the recently announced project to expand and refurbish the Caleta Hotel or any other entity or person connected to the project to include the owner of the hotel has received or will in the future receive, financial or any other form of assistance from the Government, the Gibraltar Savings Bank or Credit Finance Company Limited?

925 Acting Clerk: Question 111, the Hon. D J Bossino.

930 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Chief Minister advise whether La Línea's Ayuntamiento or any entity connected to it has received financial or any other form of assistance from the Government, the Gibraltar Savings Bank or Credit Finance Company Limited or on the authority from any of these entities?

Acting Clerk: Question 112, the Hon. D A Feetham.

935 Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please list all the employees of Credit Finance Company Limited?

Acting Clerk: Question 113, the Hon. D A Feetham.

940 Hon. D A Feetham: Does Credit Finance Company Limited, or the Government on its behalf, hold directors' and officers' insurance to cover its directors for any potential causes of action against them in their capacity as directors?

Acting Clerk: Question 114, the Hon. D A Feetham.

945 Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister state whether in relation to Credit Finance Company Limited there are minutes of board meetings appropriately minuted showing, for example, why decisions were taken and whether they received unanimous support of all the directors?

950 Acting Clerk: Question 115, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister state, what is the rate of return on the money invested by the Gibraltar Savings Bank in Credit Finance Company Limited and when that money has to be repaid?

955 Acting Clerk: Question 116, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister state how much money the Gibraltar Savings Bank has invested in Credit Finance Company Limited together with a breakdown of how much of that sum derives from the proceeds of the Gibraltar Savings Bank debentures?

960 Acting Clerk: Question 117, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please state how much has the Government either directly or indirectly invested in Credit Finance Company Limited and where that money has come from?

965 Acting Clerk: Question 118, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please provide details as of 13th January 2014 of all sums paid by Credit Finance Company Limited to individuals and entities in order to allow them to pay off their debts to the Government in respect of Government arrears, broken down by (a) the amounts of each loan indicating in each case whether these loans were provided to individual, company or partnership (b) the dates such loans were provided and (c) the type of Government arrears each loan was used to pay for?

970 Acting Clerk: Question 119, the Hon. D A Feetham.

975 Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please state, as at 13th January 2014, how much has been paid by Credit Finance Company Limited in respect of commuted pensions of civil servants?

980 Acting Clerk: Question 120, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Other than Government arrears and the commuted pensions to civil servants, can the Chief Minister please state, or please provide up-to-date details of all payments made by Credit Finance Company Limited, in respect of loans or any other kind of financial assistance, broken down by (a) the amount of each payment made, and in each case whether the payment was made to an individual, company or partnership (b) the date of each such payment and (c) their purpose?

985 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

990 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, Government welcomes the fact that the developers of the proposed Caleta Hotel expansion and the proposed Marriott Hotel development are looking to invest in Gibraltar. At this stage the Government is in discussion with both parties as to the terms of what Government support can be provided in respect of each of these projects.

No financial or other assistance has been provided to the La Línea Ayuntamiento.

995 Other than the directors, Credit Finance Company Limited has no employees.

There is no directors' and officers' insurance in respect of Credit Finance Company Limited.

As with all companies in respect of Credit Finance Company Limited, board resolutions and other minutes of board meetings are prepared as and when required and signed by the Chairperson of the board.

1000 Investments in Credit Finance Company Limited by the Gibraltar Savings Bank Fund attract an average return of 5.58% per annum. The maturity dates of redeemable preference shares are matched against corresponding maturity dates of deposits in the bank.

1005 Of the figure of £344 million previously provided in answer to Question 663 of October 2013, there is no distinction made in respect of debentures, save that the redemption rates of the redeemable preference shares broadly match the maturity profile of the deposits in the Gibraltar Savings Bank – whether in respect of debentures or other investment accounts, or with any distinction as to the identity of the depositor or whether it is Government or not.

The Government itself has invested directly £10 million in the Ordinary Share Capital of Credit Finance Company Limited.

1010 The details requested in Question 118 remain the same amount as was paid by individuals, companies or partnerships to Government and which Government provided in answer to Question 758/2013 by letter of 23rd November 2013.

The value of the commutations obtained by Government pensioners from Credit Finance Company Limited, as at 13th January 2014, is £19,890,863.

The total amount of the loan book of Credit Finance Company Limited is £45,431,016.

1015 Hon. D A Feetham: Could the hon. Gentleman repeat the last figure?

Hon. Chief Minister: £45,431,016.

1020 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in relation to my Questions 109 and 110, the Hon. the Chief Minister refers to the Government considering – and I am obviously paraphrasing... I took a quick note – the support that it can provide to the entities presumably that I have cited in the questions. Does that assistance include financial assistance as a possibility and, if it does, is it possible that it can come from the entities I have cited in the questions, i.e. the Government, the Gibraltar Savings Bank or Credit Finance Company Limited?

1025 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, there are a number of different hotel projects and a number of hotels in Gibraltar undergoing, themselves, refurbishment. He will know from, if I can call it his involvement in the industry through family rather than his role in Government, because he was not a part of the previous Administration, but all hotels are constantly talking to the Government about assistance.

1030 There was something called the 'Hotel Assistance Scheme' which was introduced – I do not know whether it was during the tail end of the first GSLP Administration or the early part of the GSD Administration – and all of those things are being discussed, not just with these two hotels, but with others. But we are talking about assistance that would come from the Government and that is why I have answered in respect of the Government.

1035 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, as he well knows... for example, in relation to Question 110, the subject matter of which is the Caleta Hotel Project, figures have been referred to in the local press. I think if he adds the total it is about £45 million, which is a considerable investment, and the applications in relation to that for planning permission etc are proceeding in earnest.

1040 I just wondered whether there was any indication that the Hon. the Chief Minister could give that the Government has decided to provide assistance in relation to that particular... make any contribution towards the financing of that particular project. I would ask the same in relation to the Marriott, but I am not too sure whether a figure has been given in relation to the Marriott Hotel.

1045 But I would say, if he just permits me, that he will recall in the exchange that we had at the last sitting, that he did think that there may have been... I think the question specifically that I posed related to the owners of the Marriott, but then he said it could be possible that the developers of the Marriott may have sought assistance from the Government and he was going to provide me with this information. So that is why I posed Question 109.

1050 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the publication of plans by the Caleta Hotel as to what they are going to apply for or not apply for, when they are going to apply for and what the cost may be is really not something that has been discussed with the Government and the Government saw that in the newspapers as other people saw it. It is a third party private project, which has been properly presented to the Planning Commission; but there are discussions, as I am telling him, constantly with all the hotels.

1055 I am aware that the developers of the Marriott site want to talk to the Government about the Government assisting them in the context of their development of the whole site, not just the hotel site, but that assistance he should not think is funding the project. That is not what we are talking about. There are a lot of things that Governments do, as he will know. A lot of infrastructure that the Government is responsible. A lot of concessions that Governments can give. Some of them obviously have a financial implication. One of the things that he will know from his practice is that one of the things that people ask Government for is import duty waivers and this is a common thing, and development aid or whatever the equivalent may be. All of these things are financial assistance in many ways.

1060 Is the Government going to bankroll the projects? Those issues are not being considered. The Government is not going to bankroll these projects.

1065 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, just by way of clarification, if he may, when he says that the Government, given the fact of the manner that I have drafted the questions in the Order Paper, can he confirm that that includes the other two entities that I have mentioned? In other words, the Gibraltar Savings Bank and Credit Finance Company Limited, given the structure of the funding that – (Interjection)

1070 Exactly – other projects have been at the receiving end of.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the answer I am giving is for the Government, because I can tell him that the Government has neither and the Government will not and I can be very clear about that.

1075 Is Credit Finance financing these projects? Is that what he is asking me? (Interjection) Well, Mr Speaker, he has just asked a supplementary. I do not know whether the Leader of the Opposition feels that he needs to supplement what the Hon. Mr Bossino has said, but I have heard Mr Bossino very clearly and I am going to answer him and I hope as clearly as the question that he has put. His questions always have the benefit of being clear, so I am happy to be clear in my answer.

1080 Will Credit Finance do something in the future with these entities? As I understand it, there is no agreement between Credit Finance and any of these entities. Might there be in the future? I am not going to say that there might not be. I am not going to rule out that Credit Finance may or may not do any of these things in the future, but as I understand it there is no negotiation ongoing that is suggesting that there is going to be a lending.

1085 Hon. D J Bossino: Or indeed that there has been?

Hon. Chief Minister: Or indeed that there has been.

1090 The hon. Gentleman is clear. I will be clear. There has been no lending, as far as I am... there has been no lending.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker.

1095 Mr Speaker, in relation Question 120, which is the last question in the Order Paper, he answered by reference to a total amount, but the question asked this: other than Government arrears and the commuted pensions of civil servants, which we know are two areas the Government is funding via Credit Finance, can the Chief Minister please provide up-to-date details of all payments made by Credit Finance in respect of loans or other kinds of financial assistance broken down by amounts, the date of payment and their purpose? He has not answered that question. Is there any particular reason why he has not answered that question?

1100 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I have answered by giving him the total amount of the loan book and I am not going to have the same debate that we have been having for the past three months – that is what I am going to give him. I know all the reasons why he wants more and he knows all the reasons why I am not going to give him more, but I have given him the up-to-date figure so that he has it.

1105 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, with respect the difference between us, as he described it in Parliament... I think it was two months ago, and indeed he has repeated in the press recently and over those two months, is that all that he has refused to disclose to me is the identity of those receiving loans. But this question does not ask for the identity of those receiving loans, it says amounts, dates of payments and their purpose. In other words, you could have commuted pensions, you could have Government arrears, you 1110 could have a project to help repair an estate etc, etc, etc. That is what this question asks. Is there a reason why the Government does not want to provide that information?

1115 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the difference between him and me is that I stick by what I say and he is shifty about the ground that he is on. He has asked us about the commuted pensions, something he knows we are doing out of Credit Finance. We have given him the figure up to date. He knows exactly what it is.

1120 He has asked us about how much Government arrears have been paid using this mechanism. Mr Speaker, we have told him because, as Government, we receive those amounts and we have that information and we give it to him, as Government, because we are the ones being paid the arrears. So he has got it. He has got the commutation figure. He has got the Government arrears.

1125 What else does Credit Finance do? Is it making other payments? No information provided, because there are no other payments. That is why I am telling him that the amount that is relevant to that part of his question is the amount loaned and given him the total amount of the loan book so he knows how much has been paid in respect of commutations, how much the Government has received in respect of arrears and he knows how much has been loaned. That is the money that has been used.

It is very clear, Mr Speaker, and I have told him before during the course of these debates, if I may say so, with respect, that we are not going to give him more information in relation to the loans. I am not going to give him a breakdown of the amount of loans. I am not going to give him the dates of the loans. I am not going to give him the identity of the loans. I am going to give him the general amount.

1130 The hon. Gentleman likes to compare, rightly, as we all do, the fact that we are shareholders in Gibraltar plc and this is a company owned by Gibraltar plc ultimately because it is owned by the Government. Well, look, if we were all shareholders in Barclays Bank, Barclays would tell us how much it has loaned, not to who and not when and not in what amounts. We would just get a global figure. That is the loan book. That is the figure I have given him.

1135 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, I am reminded that actually Barclays Bank does not use public funds. I mean this is at the end of the day savers' money, or taxpayers' money because the Hon. the Minister for Employment (Interjections) said it was taxpayers' money; indeed, all of it guaranteed by the Government of Gibraltar. But you see I am not asking him for the identity and the answer that he has given me cannot possibly be accurate because what he is saying to me now is the only two areas where Credit Finance has actually provided any type of loan or financial assistance is in respect of Government arrears and commuted pensions and I am giving you the global figure. That is what he has said.

1140 But we know from last time round that actually Credit Finance Company Limited has also lent money – and we know because the chairman of the estate in question actually made it public on Facebook – to a housing estate to allow for the renewal of the housing estate. (Interjection) He does not make himself responsible. He is responsible for the answer that he gives. It cannot possibly be accurate the answer that he is giving me.

1145 Can I please ask him again: apart from arrears and commuted pensions, what else? If the answer is commuted pensions, Government arrears and assistance to certain housing estates, well fine, that is the answer, but that is not the answer that he has given me today.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker I am afraid he – (Interjection)

1155 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, of course –

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am afraid he is wrong. (Interjection) Mr Speaker I am afraid he is wrong and he just does not realise that he is wrong and I am going to have to explain it to him.

1160 Mr Speaker; first of all he is absolutely right, I should not have said Barclays. Barclays did not take the King's shilling. I should have said NatWest or RBS. I should have said Lloyds Bank. I should have said one of the others, right? But, in any event, shareholders in any of the entities do not get to see through to the identity of borrowers, they just get told what the loan book is, and that is what I am giving him today, Mr Speaker. I am giving him the balance sheet. I am telling him what the loan book is.

1165 What he does not realise, Mr Speaker, but I think it is important that he should –he might stop making such a fool of himself when he makes public statements about Credit Finance if he listens – is that the only thing that Credit Finance has paid are the commutations that I have told him about. As Government I have told him the arrears, because we have received them as Government, and it has made loans.

1170 Now, he says he has read on Facebook. Mr Speaker, he keeps coming back to Facebook for fishing and for loans and all the rest of it. He should spend less time on Facebook and more time on Hansard and Erskine May and we might not get into the trouble that we get into in this House. He said he read on Facebook that some housing estate has got some assistance... one thing and the other.

Mr Speaker, I am telling him – and he needs to research his facts more carefully – that Credit Finance Company Limited has only entered into three types of expenditure. The types I have told him: the payment of the commutations, the loans and the arrears agreement loans that he knows we have received as Government. So the funding of those arrears, which is part of the loan book, those are the types of expenditure that Credit Finance has incurred. That is it. That is it. He needs to do a bit more research if he thinks that there is something wrong here because I have given him scrupulously all the information that he wants.

But he wants to do something different, Mr Speaker, and again the facts do not matter to him. He wants to go out and he wants to say that Government is using Credit Finance like a credit card, and this is what he says in one of his many interventions where he confuses the facts and his fantasies. Mr Speaker, he wants to say, and they constantly now ask us about other projects, ‘Have you funded this with Credit Finance? Have you funded that with Credit Finance?’ When they asked us the whole list, I think they went through the manifesto, ‘Have you or will you or might you finance this with Credit Finance?’, we said no to all of it. We said no to all of it.

Therefore, Mr Speaker, the Government is not using Credit Finance as a credit card for its projects. The Government is not doing any of the things that they want to pretend Credit Finance is doing in order to scare the electorate, in order to scare depositors in the Savings Bank. Credit Finance is doing the things I have told him it is doing, in the amounts I have told him it is doing – full stop. Less Facebook; more facts. (Laughter)

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the only person who is looking foolish increasingly is the hon. Gentleman in his answers to my questions. He has answered my question by saying that the only two areas which have received assistance from Credit Finance are in relation to Government arrears and commuted pensions. Now, because I reminded him about the fact that assistance has also been provided to certain housing estates, and indeed, quite unparliamentary I admit, I also commented over his voice, for which I apologise, that of course we know that a loan has been provided to the Sunborn as well.

He then says, ‘Ah, but it is Government arrears, commuted pensions and loans’. Of course it is loans. Of course it is loans. I mean a schoolboy doing law at 16 years will be able to tell you it is loans. I am not interested in whether it is loans. I am interested in what is the purpose of the loans. In other words, I mean in headings he does not even have to be very specific about it. In headings, housing estates, tourism for the Sunborn, commuted pensions and Government arrears, he still refuses to answer and no amount of shifting and turning and making statements that are personalised, and saying, ‘We have answered it. You are wrong and you do not know what you are talking about’, is going to change the fact that the hon. Gentleman simply refuses to answer what are very simple questions in relation to this. All it does is just simply heightens my concern and the concern of the community in relation to the way that the Government is handling it (Two Members: Hear, hear.)

Hon. Chief Minister: No shifting, Mr Speaker. No turning, just hard facts. Hard facts that make it impossible for the hon. Gentleman to spin the yarns that he wants to spin in order to scare members of the public, and that is the problem that he has. He embarked on this crusade in respect of Credit Finance as the thing that would win him the election and he has found actually it has been very prudently dealt with and he cannot even scare himself.

He is asking for purpose of loans. He is asking for identity of loans in other meetings. He is asking for dates. He is asking for amounts. He is getting told none of that detail. He is getting told the total amount of the loan book. The total amount of the loan book, whether it is Sunborn, whether its housing estates, whatever it may be, he is getting the total amount of the loan book... payment of Government arrears etc.

He got a letter, Mr Speaker, from the Government explaining to him how much had been received in respect of arrears, in respect of loans paid by the Sunborn. He knows from his beloved Facebook, Mr Speaker, how much a particular housing estate has said it has received. Mr Speaker, the borrower can do what he likes, and I explained this to him ad nauseam.

Somebody can walk into NatWest Bank and borrow £100. The individual can go out on the street and if perhaps he had the basic understanding that he attributes to a genius 16-year-old studying law because he might have gone off to study law long before he had finished his A-levels, if he had that basic understanding (Interjection and laughter) he would know that the borrower can step out of the bank and say, ‘I have been lent £100’, but the bank can neither confirm nor deny that as the lender.

So he has been told the full facts by the Government as to the loan book of Credit Finance Company Limited. It has paid the commutations. It has got a loan book. Part of the loan book is to repay Government arrears. Other borrowers in respect of that loan book have said that they have borrowed from Credit Finance. Credit Finance will not give the detail. It will not give the detail as to names. It will not give the detail as to purpose. It will not give the detail as to amounts or as to dates. We think that is perfectly proper, but we want the public to know that they have got the full information as to the total amount loaned. That 1235 which they would like the public to think is not being given. Now they find themselves, Mr Speaker, in the difficult situation that having asked the Government about every single manifesto project, whether it would be funded by Credit Finance or not, they have got the clear answer: no, it will not be. And yet, they do not hesitate to try and mislead the public by saying that Government is using Credit Finance like a credit card for its projects, having been told that that is not the case.

Mr Speaker, we could not have been clearer. No shifting. No dissembling, just facts. Hard facts and less Facebook.

1240 Mr Speaker: It seems to me that we are going round in circles in respect of supplementary questions to Question 120. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition is asking three specific supplementaries really and he is getting the same answer from the Chief Minister. He is asking it again and he is getting the same answer. We are really are not making any progress. I do have to draw the attention of Members to that reality. I am prepared to allow him to ask the same supplementary again yet another time, but I think there has to be an end to the matter.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, no, of course.

But, Mr Speaker, I do not agree with the analysis in this sense. I do not agree that he has given me the same answer. He has actually given me three different answers.

1250 He began by saying to me that the reason why he had only provided me with the totality of the loan book was because it only related to Government arrears and commuted pensions. He then gave me another answer, saying, 'and loans', because of course we said, 'Well, what about the Sunborn and the Estates?', and it is only now that he says, 'No, no, no, no it is just that as a matter of policy. We actually are not going to be providing you with the answer to the question'. That is what is happening here.

1255 Now, of course, if he is not going to provide me with the answer to the question, that is fine. But it is not that he has answered the question in exactly the same way, he has answered it differently and that is why he is shifting.

1260 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, with respect, I think that is the Leader of the Opposition having another argument with you and not with me. So I will leave it at that.

Mr Speaker: Do the hon. Members of the Opposition have any supplementaries arising from Questions 109 to 119?

1265 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker.

In relation to Question 115, which is the rate of return on the money invested by the Gibraltar Savings Bank in Credit Finance Company Limited, the answer that the Hon. the Chief Minister gave me was 5.5% and that it has to be repaid when the underlying investments mature – that is how I understood it. Do I take it from that that what he is saying is that it has to be repaid when the Gibraltar Savings Bank debentures mature and that is when the preference shares will then have to be repaid... the money from Credit Finance Company Limited to the Gibraltar Savings Bank?

1275 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the portfolio is not just made up of Gibraltar Savings Bank debentures... they are not just one type, but they are matched against the different types of deposits and that is when they have to be repaid.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, I understand that there are different, for example, types of debentures. One debenture may in fact mature in four years' time, some others may mature in two years' time others may mature in five years' time. I understand that.

1280 What I am asking is, is there matching in relation to those debentures? It cannot be, for example, in relation to money that is on accounts on short-term call because there would not be much point, for example, for the payment of wages. There would not be much point in matching in relation to that when the money is needed every single month. That is what I am asking. Is it in relation to debentures, albeit that they mature at different points in time?

1285 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, that is exactly what I have said. Let us just say that we call them long-term deposits, rather than just debentures.

1290 Hon. D A Feetham: I am grateful for that answer, but a couple of months ago we were asking questions, and in answers... the Hon. the Minister for Employment in that instance was answering. He was saying that the money that was invested in Credit Finance Company Limited – the questions were being asked by the hon. the backbencher – was taxpayers' money. Does he now accept that in the light of the answer that he has given me today that the answer that the Hon. the Minister for Employment gave was not true... was not accurate? I am not saying it was not true, but was not accurate?

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, what is not accurate is what he has quoted because that is not what I said. In fact what I said to him was that it so happens, since they then attach great importance to whether the money that had been invested in shares of Credit Finance was money that had been deposited by the individual savers or deposited by the Government, that it so happens that in terms of the amount of money, there was enough money deposited by the Government to be almost the equivalent of what was there.

1300

But since then they have made an equal criticism, irrespective of whether the money is taxpayers' money, i.e. the Government's money, or individual savers' money. So it seems to me that it is no longer a relevant consideration in their judgment of what is evil or good because they think it is equally evil whether the money comes from the taxpayer and goes into Credit Finance or it comes from savers and going into Credit Finance.

1305

What is clear is that if it were the case that the savers that have got money in short-term deposits with the Savings Bank, which go up to five years, had to be paid immediately, the Government's own deposit is more than sufficient to cover any liability from Credit Finance, so there is no risk.

1310

Hon. D A Feetham: I understand all that.

Hon. J J Bossano: That is good.

Hon. D A Feetham: I understand all that. (Interjection) No, no. I understand you better than you think – (Interjection and laughter) I understand you better than you think. (Laughter) Better than you think.

You see, Mr Speaker, last time round, the hon. the backbencher was asking, "Does he accept that this is savers' money?" and the answer (Interjection and laughter) was that it was taxpayers' money, not savers' money. So I am glad now. Can the Government confirm that what we are talking about that was invested in Credit Finance Company Limited was savers' money?

Hon. J J Bossano: Clearly he does not understand me enough. (Laughter)

Mr Speaker, the Savings Bank, as he will find out in answer to the Question that is addressed to me, has got more money than just savers' money and more money than just taxpayers' money. The share of the total amount that is invested in redeemable preference shares is not identified by the source of the depositor.

What I pointed out to the hon. Members the last time was that if their concern was that the money that was invested should not be money that did not proceed from the Government, then in fact it so happened, although I said there is no correlation, in the sense that I am telling you only the money from the Government will be used and I pointed that out on several occasions in that exchange. I am just saying that it so happens that the two figures are very close.

1330

Indeed, the hon. backbencher, who seems to be playing a big part in our proceedings, notwithstanding that he is on the backbench, asked me whether it included something like the Note Security Fund. I actually pointed out to him that it did not include the Note Security Fund, but I was not saying that the pot of money that the Government has put in the bank is the pot of money that the bank has used to buy shares. What I was saying was the amount of monies happened to be of the same volume and that therefore if it was the case that the Government had at this point in time had to repay all the savers, the money that is invested, not in Credit Finance, is enough to compensate all the savers, given that they seem to think that it was very important that the savers should be protected from investing in Credit Finance.

1335

Since then their public statements now mention the two categories without distinction. So the two categories are without distinction in their mind, then it does not make any difference whether it is one or the other, then they should not be concerned anymore about whether at any point in time the amount of money that the Government has in the Savings Bank is enough to cover it, because as far as they are concerned none of it should be going into Credit Finance.

1340

Mr Speaker: May I say that I am really being very liberal and if I read out one of the Rules of the House, hon. Members will see why.

Rules governing the right to ask questions, Rule 17(v) says:

'(v) a question shall not refer to any debate that has occurred or answer that has been given within the preceding six months;'

For the last ten minutes, the Hon. Mr Bossano has been brought into the fray in respect of answers that he gave within the last month or two.

1350 I am being very liberal. I have allowed it, conscious as I am of the fact that it should not be done. But I really must ask hon. Members to try to stick to the Rules and not to carry on ad infinitum because then I would really have to stop the matter.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker.

1355 In relation to the 5.5% and the maturity dates for the payments, I understand what the hon. Gentleman is saying, that effectively the Gibraltar Savings Bank had enough money to have invested £344 million out of taxpayers' money. I understand that, but of course the point is you cannot use that money to really realistically invest in Credit Finance because that is money that is on short-term call and if you are going to match investment to maturity date, then effectively what you are doing is you are using the money that the bank can retain for three, four or five years, that has been invested in the bank by way of debentures.

1360 I understand all that, but am I right in saying that therefore the money from Credit Finance Company Limited has to be repaid back to, via the redemption of these preference shares, to the Gibraltar Savings Bank at the latest within five years, because I think that is the longest term in any of the debentures from the money in the Gibraltar Savings Bank...? It is the latest in five years' time. Some of it may have to be repaid earlier in three years and some of it after four years.

Hon. J J Bossano: The amount in the Savings Bank is more than the amount in the Credit Finance redeemable shares – he knows that –so therefore it is not the case that the quantities are the same. The portfolio is done in a way that, for example, if 10% of the money that is on deposit is five-year money, that 10% of them are redeemable shares, but the 10% of the redeemable shares are less than the 10% of the deposits.

1370 So what has been done in the structure of the redeemable shares is that there is a parallel distribution of maturities, but not in equal quantities. For example, it also means that as the passage of time brings us clearer to the maturity of the deposit, then equally the passage of time will bring us closer to the maturity of the redeemable shares in the same proportion, but it is in terms of percentages and not in terms of volume of money.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, I understand that, too. Effectively what we are talking about is, say, 80% of the amount that represented the debentures for any particular category, but that is not what I am asking. What I am asking is, as a long stop, bearing in mind that maturities have to be matched with the debentures in the Gibraltar Savings Bank, some of which mature after three years, some of which mature after four years, some of which mature after five years... I do not know. I am not a manager in the Gibraltar Savings Bank so I do not know what the longest maturity date is. The longest maturity date, in other words, when the longest amount of time that Credit Finance has to repay some of this money, not all of it, some of this money, is it five years? How long is it?

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, if 80% of the money in the Savings Bank is five years, then 80% of the redeemable shares will be five years. (Interjection) Well, that is the position, but of course there is also 10-year money. He will know that.

Mr Speaker: We are now returning to Questions 70 to 72, where the composite answer was given by the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming and I am giving an opportunity to Members of the Opposition, in case they were unable to ask any supplementary that they had in mind yesterday before lunch. I am giving them an opportunity to do that.

1395 So we are at answers to Questions 70 to 75, and in reality Question 75.

Government-owned companies –
Directorship details

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, in relation you may recall that there was a question with a very long schedule. May I ask just one supplementary in relation to that?

Mr Speaker: Yes.

Hon. D A Feetham: In the schedule –

Mr Speaker: That was Question 107.

1405 Hon. D A Feetham: Question 107, that is right.

The third page of that schedule, three from the bottom, there is a company called Gibraltar Manchester Property Company Limited. What is that company? Is that a property holding company for a property in Manchester?

1410 Mr Speaker: It is the money which Manchester United is using to buy Mata. (Laughter)

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Withdraw it immediately! (Laughter)

1415 Hon. J J Bossano: It is a property that was bought in Manchester to house a case of a sponsored patient where the term of the treatment would have meant that it made more sense to buy than to rent. It is just one property.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, if Credit Finance were to be used to buy Manchester United, I certainly would not object, I have to say, despite my objections about the use of the money.

1420 Mr Speaker: I would make one proviso. (Laughter) Some money would also have to be provided for Arsène Wenger to buy somebody before the end of the window. (Banging on desks)

1425 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, I would consider that a very risky investment indeed. If they were to buy at least somebody for Liverpool, that are clearly going to play Champions League, it would be much safer than for Manchester United this year.

FINANCIAL SERVICES AND GAMING

Q75/2014 continued Gibraltar International Bank – Plans for establishment and running 1430 Mr Speaker: Question 75 then. Any supplementary that Members were not able to ask yesterday before lunch? If not, we carry on with Question 76.

1435 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, yes, I had a question in relation to the premises and as to why the Government... Is there a particular reason why the Government does not disclose at this stage the location of the premises? I was saying yesterday that I quite understand that there might be some commercial reasons. For example, if there was a private citizen who was housed in a Government property and there might be some negotiations going on or intended negotiations that the Government did not want to alert the fact that this was the property that was going to be used, so that it bumps up the price. I do not know.

1440 But is there a particular reason why the Government refuses to identify the location of this particular premises at which this bank is going to be housed?

1445 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, my position remains as the answer I had given him just before he asked that question, where I told him that the Government had competing claims on its property, not necessarily from third parties, even from within statals and parastatals and therefore the position of the Government was that we would make an announcement as to the property that has been chosen when we are ready to. He constantly wants me to give him answers to things that we are going to do and we are going to say, and he says if I do not give him the answers that I am being secretive and unaccountable.

1450 Mr Speaker, we are going to make a statement as to where the bank is going to be housed. We are going to make all sorts of statements about laws and things in the future. We are just going to make those statements when we are good and ready, for all sorts of reasons, and not when he wants us to.

1455 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, but Mr Speaker, you see what he is effectively doing, it really is undermining the position of this House, the Government's accountability to it, and the ability of the Opposition to hold the Government to account. All he has really said to me, and it amounts to this, is 'No, no, we are not answering your question here in this House', where the Government is incumbent to provide information and to answer questions. 'No, no, we will make the announcement outside this House when it really is convenient to us', that is what he is really saying to me, and I do not think that that is a democratic way to behave in my respectful view.

Now I will ask him a direct question: is it the Cool Blues premises at which this particular bank is going to be housed?

1465 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, he does not understand what he is doing. He is pretending to the public that the Government is somehow failing in its duty of accountability to the Parliament simply because the Government is not ready to make a statement when he wants us to make it. This is very serious and very dangerous. People may actually at some stage listen to what he is saying and ask themselves the question, 'Can I ever trust this man again?' It is bad for democracy (Interjection) if the public cannot at least have some modicum of trust in the Leader of the Opposition. How can he say that we are undermining democracy?

I am telling him that we are going to make an announcement when we are good and ready. I have not told him we are not going to make it here. It is likely we will not. It is likely that when we are good and ready we will make a statement about property, we will make a statement about directors and we will make all sorts of statements about the bank.

1475 Is he for one moment – and I told him this the other day and he does not realise – suggesting that we are going to open up the bank and not tell anybody where it is? Is he now believing that we are able to conjure the magic of Hogwarts so that people do not see where the train is and only Harry Potter can get on it? (Laughter)

1480 We are of course going to make a statement about where the bank is going to go when we have reached a final decision, part of which relates to ensuring that all stakeholders, not third parties, within Government have confirmed that there is no issue with using those premises. When we do that, he will not be left with an argument to say that the Government believes itself to be unaccountable. The statement is coming.

1485 The Opposition of course can ask the Government questions and the Government of course has to answer them, but we do not have to answer them in the way that the Opposition want and we do not have to answer giving information on the date that the Opposition wants and not when we are good and ready.

Q76/2014
Tax blacklists–
Position with France and Italy

Mr Speaker: Question 76.

Acting Clerk: Question 76, the Hon. D A Feetham.

1490 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister state whether France and Italy have taken us off all tax blacklists and are Gibraltar companies therefore able to trade with entities and consumers in territories on a level playing field as with entities in other Member States?

1495 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the phrase 'all tax blacklists' is extremely wide; however, I assume that the question is referring to tax haven blacklists, as tax blacklists in the form, for example, of controlled foreign company legislation are the application of tax measures that are not on a list basis by named country, but rather by criteria that are applied to all countries.

1500 Hence, the position as regards to France is that Gibraltar does not appear on the French tax haven blacklist.

1505 As regards Italy, we expect to be removed from the Italian tax haven blacklist as soon as the Tax Information Exchange Agreement with Italy enters into force. We completed our procedures for entry into force immediately after the TIEA was signed in October of 2012. We have been pressing Italy to complete their procedures.

Notwithstanding the above, Mr Speaker, the Multilateral Convention enters into force for Gibraltar on 1st March of this year. At that point we will have a TIEA with Italy in force and we shall be pressing them to remove us from their tax haven blacklist.

1510 Hon. D A Feetham: Has there been any preliminary contact between Gibraltar? Has there been any contact between Gibraltar and Italy and any assurances from Italy as to removal of Gibraltar from the relevant blacklist once all the matters that the hon. Gentleman has outlined have been completed, or is it a question of completing that and then there will be effectively contact and you will be pursuing it with Italy after that?

1515 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the position is that once the procedures for entry into force of the TIEA are completed the commitment is to remove us from the blacklist. We have completed ours. They have not completed theirs.

The point of the reference to the Multilateral Convention coming into effect on 1st March of this year is that at that time we will have a TIEA with them directly anyway by virtue of the Multilateral Convention.
1520 After that time, I would hope and expect that they would remove us from the blacklist.

We are seeking the support of HMT in respect of this and other blacklists which we are seeking removal from and we have a meeting with them in early February when we will be taking this up again.

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, can I just add to that in respect of the TIEA with Italy, because I signed the TIEA with the Ambassador in London?

I can confirm that I was informed by the Ambassador in London that upon all the procedures being completed and the TIEA coming into effect, Gibraltar would be removed from the blacklist.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Well, Mr Speaker, I think that that is a valuable confirmation, to which I hope the Government will hold them if needs be, but perhaps it will not be necessary to hold them and they will do it.
1530

If I could just ask the Hon. Minister with responsibility for Financial Services about the case of Portugal, which was very much live when I occupied his portfolio. Portugal did have us on a list, the consequences of which were considerable for Gibraltar companies. We had tried for many, many months, not to say a couple of years, and failed and we asked the British Government to assist, I wonder whether in that particular case they have managed to make any progress or not. I think Portugal were saying the right things, but then doing nothing.
1535

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, as the hon. Member has rightly said, the confirmation that we received from them at the time was that once the TIEA came into effect they would remove us from the blacklist and they have not. The situation is exactly the same for other Crown Dependencies, who are in a very similar position and are dealing with the Portuguese authorities to see when they will be removed from the blacklist.
1540

We are doing precisely the same and we are seeking the assistance of Her Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom, and that is on the Agenda for a meeting on 5th February, the same day on which I have a meeting with the Portuguese Ambassador in London to press him on precisely this point. So, yes, we are continuing to work in that direction.

Q92/2014

GDC-

Grade 1 position vacancies

Mr Speaker: Question 92.

1550 Acting Clerk: Question 92, the Hon. D J Bossino:

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment advise this House whether any vacancies have been opened for the Grade 1 position within the GDC and if so, how many of the successful applicants were FJS trainees?
1555

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, no such vacancies have been opened.

Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful for the reply and no bunching up of questions on this occasion, Mr Speaker, which obviously I welcome.

Just one supplementary in relation to that question, can he advise whether any FJS trainees have been employed without a vacancy being opened?

1570 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the vacancies that are in the book are the 21 vacancies that are occupied and none of them have become vacant and been filled. If anybody was a trainee at some point in his life before getting a position in the Government it would only be because they applied in competition with other people, but if the hon. Member is saying, 'Has anybody has gone straight in from one to the other?', then the answer is no.

1575 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member has interpreted my question correctly in the interpretation he has just given to me, and he has answered it. Thank you.

Tax blacklists–
Position with France and Italy

1580 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I just return to the question about the blacklist? It is not to make any political point or anything like that, it is just that I understood the hon. Gentlemen to say that we were not on any kind of French list. I am being informed by telephone...by text, by people who are involved and know of these things, that in fact we are on a tax haven list in France that applies to withholding tax, viz Gibraltar companies. Just for the record, is that correct or is the previous answer the hon. Gentlemen gave to me correct?

1585 Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the previous answer I gave to the hon. Member is entirely correct because I think what he is doing is confusing tax haven blacklist with application by the French Government of different rates of withholding tax to different countries depending on what arrangements they have reached with them. For example, if you do not have a Double Taxation Agreement the level of withholding tax is one. If you are on their tax haven blacklist, the level of 1590 withholding tax is a different one and – (Interjection) Well, the difficulty with that supplementary question is that what we are being told by companies dealing with France is that they seek legal advice as to what the position is and they follow it.

1595 We are not on any list with France, but the application of our tax system may give rise to different rates of withholding tax. In other words, if you do not have a DTA with them, your withholding tax is 50%. If you are on the tax haven blacklist, your withholding tax is 75% and if you are from a jurisdiction where their tax rates differ to a particular criteria with them, then withholding tax would be 33%. The question of whether it applies to Gibraltar or not is one of interpretation and legal advice and I think that is the best I can –

1600 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, this raises, if I may, a very interesting issue of, sort of, for want of a better phrase, indirect blacklists. In other words, if a country like France operates a system whereby if you have a Double Taxation Agreement the rate is a very high one of withholding tax, but if you do have one it is a very low one, and they will not entertain the possibility of a Double Taxation Agreement with you because they regard you as a tax haven, then in effect it is as if they had a tax haven list and you are on it 1605 and this is the practical manifestation of it.

Very often some countries do it outwardly and have lists, and those are the ones that we focus on because we are on a list. Other countries do not have a list. They do it a little bit more subtly and they just adopt administrative mechanisms that in effect treat you as if you were on a tax haven blacklist, but only because they will not deal with you in a certain other way because they regard you as a tax haven.

1610 This raises the much wider issue that the Finance Centre used to raise with me regularly, and I suspect they might have raised with him since he was appointed, about Double Taxation Agreements and whether the Government feels it worthwhile pursuing any. I would have thought that, particularly with a country like France that uses Double Taxation Agreements to the same sort of end as a list, it might be worth seeing if by the same virtue that they will not put us on their tax haven list, which is positive, they might also 1615 therefore be willing to enter into a Double Taxation Agreement and give us the practical benefit, which we do not presently enjoy of not being on their tax haven list, rather than the scatter gun approach of seeking Double Taxation Agreements with all and sundry. Better, if the Government is minded, to do DTAs at all, to limit them to those countries where they have a particular relevance, in terms of immediate reward, to particular sectors that are relevant to our Finance Centre.

1620 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member has raised a whole range of issues, which I do not quite agree take the consequence that he has referred to, but certainly during his time the drive and the push was to exchange Information Agreements, the TIEAs that he succeeded to ensure that we were removed from a 1625 large number of blacklists. Even with that, we still struggle today with countries that committed and agreed to remove us from blacklists once the Exchange of Information Agreements were effective. So, notwithstanding that, that problem still arises today.

1630 As he has identified, there is a second problem where countries appear to now be looking at your tax rates before they determine how they will treat you from a withholding tax perspective, which is indirectly putting you on some sort of list. We have sought to engage the French Government with the DTA to see if these issues can be bypassed, and indeed we are seeking to do the same with a whole list of other countries. As you will appreciate, Gibraltar is a very small country and therefore their priority is not necessarily to engage Gibraltar in signing a DTA now, but it is certainly something that is very much on our agenda and we are seeking to ensure that we do not run into that situation where the tax rates are being compared, in our view, entirely unfairly as the criteria was set many years ago and we have complied in every single respect with it.

1640 Hon Sir P R Caruana: In particular our tax rate is not so different to certain Member States of the European Union, who may not get the same treatment. For example, I do not know what the French attitude is on withholding tax with Ireland or even with Cyprus, but as the Hon. Minister knows, the rates are broadly similar. In other words, if we are being dealt with by France – and we are picking on France because it happens to be the one, but there may be others in similar situations – if we are being treated by France in the same way as they treat Member States of the European Union as a matter of rate of taxation, that is a different matter. But if we are being treated by France, notwithstanding that our rate is not dissimilar from other Member States, because we are not a member state and they are, so in effect what we are saying is they will not quite give us the benefit of the fact that we are no longer a tax haven, then that I think is worth pushing back on.

1645 I am very glad to hear that the Hon. Minister has on his policy agenda the whole business of Double Taxation Agreements, which I think is the way forward.

1650 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the issue of Double Taxation Agreements has been on my agenda for a fair time, my colleague, the Hon. Mr Licudi, before my time was already pursuing those. We are close to actually passing the threshold of getting our first few under the belt and we are seeking a series of further DTAs.

1655 I am conscious of the things that you raised and the matters that you mentioned in respect of fair treatment of different countries irrespective of their size, which is what I think you were referring to by comparing between Gibraltar and Ireland or Luxembourg, for example, and that is something that we are very conscious of. It is one of the items that is on our agenda to discuss with the UK Government at our meeting in early February.

Q93/2014
Registered unemployed–

1660 Mr Speaker: Question 93.

Acting Clerk: Question 93, the Hon. D J Bossino.

1665 Hon. D J Bossino: Further to Question 645/2013, can the Minister for Employment provide the figures for the registered unemployed for the final quarter in 2013?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health and Safety.

1670 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the number of Gibraltarians registered unemployed for the final quarter of 2013 was 381.

Q94/2014
Labour Inspectorate–
Employment details

Acting Clerk: Question 94, the Hon. D J Bossino.

1675 Hon. D J Bossino: Further to Question 799/2013, can the Minister for Employment provide current details to include the number of individuals, their grades and how many of them are FJS trainees, which form part of the Labour Inspectorate?

1680 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

1685 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, further to the answer to Question 799/2013, there is now one additional Labour Inspector with a grade of HEO.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, two further supplementaries.

The first one, he said... in fact it is public knowledge because it has been the subject of a Gazetted notice that there are six graduate employees. Can he confirm that they are still employed in the Labour Inspectorate? I take it that they are from the answer he has given to this precise question.

1690 And, if that is the case, can he advise this House whether he has an indication now as to how long he intends to keep them in that position, because as I understood the position from his replies in the past, is that they will remain in that position for a temporary basis, rather than on a long-term basis?

1695 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, Mr Speaker, I do not know why he understood that because I never said anything about it being temporary. What I said was that they were given the power of a Labour Inspector in order to re-enable them to do the research work that is being done in relation to labour statistics, and there is a research team of six people, who are in fact the ones that have been doing all the skills survey, the checking with the accuracy of those records and all those records are now being updated, and as long as that work is needed, they will be still be done. What I am telling him in this answer is that the Labour Inspectorate consists of the information I gave him in 799, plus one more.

1700 Hon. D J Bossino: That is why I interpreted the temporary nature of their position. In other words, once they finish the task that he has just described, and he has described to me previously in this House, then their appointment as Labour Inspectors, as I understand that is the intention of the Government, will end. Is that a correct interpretation? In other words, once they finish their tasks, that is when they will stop being Labour Inspectors.

1710 Hon. J J Bossano: It is only a correct interpretation in the sense that he assumes that the task is a short term one and it is not. That is, for as long as they are doing labour research, which is assisted by their ability to require information to be provided, then they will continue to have the power to obtain it.

1715 Hon. D J Bossino: I assume that he has a control as to what progress is being made in relation to the task that he has just referred to. Is he now able to tell me when he expects that task to complete? Does he have an indication as to when that will happen?

Hon. J J Bossano: I do not think the hon. Member understands what I am telling him Mr Speaker.

1720 This is not a specific task. It is not the case that there is a defined job with a start date and a finish, and that it is only for one particular part of the work that they do that they were given that part of being Labour Inspector. The group exists to carry out labour research. Labour research means requiring information to be provided and checking the accuracy of information that we hold.

1725 In order to require employers to do that, they have been granted the powers of a Labour Inspector, so that when employers are asked to give information, they cannot refuse it because in fact the people who are asking it are Labour Inspectors. I do not expect that task to finish for as long as there is work for the team to do. If they were to run out of work, which would mean everything would be 100% accurate, then there might not be any need for that work to be done. It is unlikely that that is going to happen in the term of this Government.

Mr Speaker: I can see from the Hansard that I have here with me, that we are now covering exactly the same ground that was covered on 19th December 2013, where the Hon. the Minister gave an explanation as 1730 to the purpose of the research and so on. Almost word for word, the same ground is being covered. I do not mind if the hon. Member has a new supplementary.

Hon. D J Bossino: A new supplementary I indeed have, Mr Speaker.

1735 In relation to the number of posts, the extra Civil Service posts, if you like, that I asked, I think, in the last sitting of the House or perhaps the one before that, I think he said that the intention was to have another three or four. At the moment he has said that there is one HEO. Does he know, and when does he expect the balance, assuming that I recall the answer he gave in the previous House correctly, when does he expect that the balance to be appointed?

1740 Hon. J J Bossano: No, Mr Speaker. I gave him an indication. He said, 'How many more were we going to have?' and I said, 'Probably two or three'. Already, since then, it is only a month and already I have got one. There is nothing magic about the figure of two or three. We will have the people that we need to do the job that needs to be done.

1745 Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, but, Mr Speaker, you see one of the patterns that I am seeing here emerging is that there is a task that he said requires the appointment of graduate employees in the scheme to be appointed Labour Inspectors.

1750 From my perspective, the way I see it, if there were vacancies, I understand there were four public servants, if I can use the widest possible term because I do not know if they were all properly civil servants or if some of them were GDC employees... I think they were all civil servants. There were four which comprised the Labour Inspectorate – you had HEOs and DOs. Most of them... I think one retired, the others have all transferred Department; in fact, I think the one remaining HEO, in respect of which I asked the question, had in fact already transferred when I asked the question. So, in other words, the complement that was there before is no longer there.

1755 What is the intention? Is it the intention that... what I would like to see is for the Labour Inspectorate to be comprised entirely of public servants and then for the graduates and trainees to... and for those public servants who carry out their duties, which are currently being carried out by trainees, and then for the graduates and employees to do something else.

1760 So can I ask the Hon. Minister what his intention is, as the Minister responsible for that particular section of the Department, in relation specifically to Labour Inspectorates and employment in it?

1765 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the original question is further to Question 799, 'Can the hon. Member say what is the current...' and I have told him that the current is the answer he got in Question 799, plus one more. That is the question and all the other supplementaries have nothing to do with that question. The answer is that even in the last supplementary he has got it all wrong.

It is not the case that the trainees are doing the job of the Labour Inspectors that was being done by the Labour Inspectors before the trainees arrived on the scene. The trainees are doing the job that they are doing in doing research which is what they have been engaged to do, and the reason why they are gazetted as a Labour Inspector is so that employers cannot refuse to co-operate in obtaining that information.

1770 I explained it at great length the last time. It has nothing to do with the question that is on the order paper today, and he keeps on thinking that what is happening is not what is happening, even though I have explained it at such length. It is not the case that if tomorrow there were more Labour Inspectors, the Labour Inspectors would be doing what the graduates are doing, because that is never what Labour Inspectors used to do.

Q95/2014
Promotions within Civil Service–
Government's policy

1775 Acting Clerk: Question 95, the Hon. D J Bossino.

1780 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment advise what the Government's policy is in relation to who may apply for promotions within each of the Civil Service to include those posts which are ring-fenced and the Gibraltar Development Corporation?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

1785 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, promotions within the Civil Service are conducted by the advertising of positions internally in the Bulletin of Circulars and selection by the Public Service Commission as has always been the case.

The Civil Service posts that are ring-fenced are initially available to people within the ring-fence and then to the rest of the Civil Service.

1790 In the GDC they are open to candidates from the GDC and the rest of the public sector. For the avoidance of doubt, I would like to point out that the Employment Service is not involved in any way in processing applications for promotion in the public sector.

1795 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, first of all dealing with the ring-fenced Civil Service contingent, he has said that initially they are to be available, the vacant posts, to those within the ring-fenced contingent and then open to other civil servants. I think I have understood his answer correctly. Is he absolutely sure that that is the case?

1800 My understanding is... and I give him another opportunity to state the position clearly or to reconsider his answer. Is he absolutely sure that that is the case, as I understand the position that the vacancies within – and that is the agreement entered into I think by the previous Government, which his Government has now maintained – the agreement is that vacancies within the ring-fenced contingent within the Civil Service is only available to those within who enjoy the ring-fenced status?

1805 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, what he has said is absolutely correct except that there is no difference between what I have given him and what he has just said. I am telling him initially that they are open only to people in the ring-fence; but, of course, the people who do the selecting, who is not me or my Department, may decide that none of the candidates in the ring-fence are capable of doing the job that is vacant. So where do they go for candidates then? Outside the ring-fence? That is the original agreement.

1810 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in relation to the GDC part of my question, can he answer this: is it not the case that in fact the position previously was that vacancies within the Gibraltar Development Corporation were only available to GDC employees? I think his answer is that it is now open to other entities. Obviously, that creates – if what my interpretation of the position was is correct – is a disadvantage. In other words, if there was, for example, a Grade V vacancy made available, if it was only open to GDC employees from the Grade IV contingents, then obviously it would create a better chance for those Grade IVs to be able to obtain that position, whilst if you open it out there would be greater competition.

1815 Can he just confirm to me that my interpretation of the position as it was is correct and that what he has just told this House has been a change in policy?

1820 Hon. J J Bossano: The change in policy that happened on 9th December was that the GDC came back into existence, when it was actually depleted of workers. The previous policy was that there was no GDC. When it was restored, the people who came back from the Civil Service and resumed the previous GDC status were told that they would have the opportunity of applying not just within the GDC, but in all the agencies, authorities and... so clearly it is a two-way traffic.

1825 What you cannot do is say that people in the GDC can apply for vacancies in the Air Terminal Agency, but people in the Air Terminal Agency cannot apply for vacancies in the GDC. What tends to happen as the norm is that it is advertised simultaneously, but in reality and in practice if there are suitable candidates for the position in the entity that has the vacancy, then they tend to be the ones that get picked. That in practice means that effectively if you are a GDC applying, for example, in the Coastguards, then the guy in the Coastguards has got a better chance if there is somebody that is suitable in the eyes of the management. I think one of the things that needs to be taken into consideration in the particular circumstances of the GDC, which is different from the others, is that of course there is, in the case of the GDC, an input from the Department where the vacancy is actually placed.

1835 Hon. D A Feetham: Just arising out of an answer that he has now given or the statement that he has now made, is it the case that everybody that formed part of the GDC who have been transferred to the Civil Service, as well as those who chose to remain, everybody was offered the option of either remaining within the GDC or transferring to the Civil Service?

1840 Hon. J J Bossano: The position is that when we came in there were people who had not signed a piece of paper accepting going into the Civil Service. But the position of the Union on 9th December, on the advice of the backbencher, in writing, was that in fact whether they had signed that piece of paper or not signed that piece of paper, they had all been made ring-fenced civil servants the moment that the Public Service Commission had approved the recommendation of the Government.

1845 Hon. D A Feetham: I understand the previous policy. I am asking about your policy.

Hon. J J Bossano: Yes, I am trying to explain what my policy is. My policy is that I inherited 100 civil servants in the ring-fence and that therefore the option was not those outside in the Civil Service that want to go into the Civil Service may go after the 9th, the only option was for the people, who were in the ring-fence who did not want to stay there, to come back.

1850 The people who had been left out, possibly as an oversight, were not given the option of going into the Civil Service because I assumed that part of the reason why people who were reluctant to go into the ring-fence, were told that they had to go by the Union, was on the premise that there would be no GDC there for them. Given that the GDC was going to be there, I thought it was only fair to give the opportunity to those 1855 who had not gone willingly into the ring-fence to come out of it again. It was a one-way ticket – only out, never in.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I give the Hon. Minister an opportunity to explain this to me.
I understand the information that I am receiving, and he can deny it in this House if he wishes to, is that 1860 one of the incentives provided to those who were within the ring-fenced Civil Service to go back to the revitalised GDC was in fact that the policy in relation to vacancies, i.e. vacancies would only be made available to those within the GDC, would be maintained. Is that correct or is it not?

Hon. J J Bossano: No, that is not correct. What is correct is that what they were told was that they 1865 would have the opportunity of applying for promotions, not just in the GDC and therefore not just in the ring-fence as it were, but also in all the other authorities and so on. Indeed, the ideal eventual development, in my view, is in fact to make the GDC the provider of labour to all the Authorities and Agencies which give people more scope.

1870 It is good from the employer's point of view that you have more choice and it is good from the point of view of the individual that individuals are not in small pockets where the opportunity for promotion may be very limited.

Mr Speaker: Any other supplementary?
Next question.

Q96/2014
Civil Service and GDC–
Current vacancies

1875 Acting Clerk: Question 96, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment provide full details of the vacancies which require to be filled within the Civil Service and the GDC?

1880 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the vacancies currently in the Civil Service are as follows: 1 Marine Surveyor; 2 SNLSA's; 6
1885 AA/Word Processors; 20 AO's; 1 HEO; 5 SEO's; 4 Youth Workers and 1 Law Drafter.

The GDC does not have a fixed complement and therefore vacancies depend on demand from Departments.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in relation to the last bit of his answer where he says that there is no 1890 fixed complement and he has explained that before in this House some time ago, can he advise this House whether there is such a demand? I understand that, for example, within the Gibraltar Tourist Board there are a number of GDC vacancies, if I can put it in those terms, which still require to be filled.

1895 The concern that is reaching me, and certainly that we would have, is that in fact these vacancies, the duties which would have been carried out by those people who would have filled those vacancies, are in fact being carried out by trainees. Can he give some assistance and some information in relation to the points I have just raised?

1900 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the position is that if a particular Department has got a GDC employee seconded to them, for which they pay the GDC, and that person goes, then that job cannot be filled because somebody else can be moved there from somewhere else in another placement or the host Department can decide that they want, instead of a GDC, a civil servant.

There are frequently occasions where – and I think it is a good thing to move in that direction – where Departments are looking at areas where there is a mixture and trying to move in a direction where in a particular facility everybody is either GDC or everybody is Civil Service, and that is the trend.

1905 Where there have been trainees in the past, the trainees are not there on a long-term basis as employees of the Department; if anything, they are there as part of the training of people in the public sector where it is the training company that is paying their salary and therefore they can be removed and sent at any other time to do training somewhere else. There has been, on more than one occasion, and there is again on this occasion a question from the hon. Member as to what it is that this training consists of.

1910 Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, Mr Speaker, he did say that in relation to GDC vacancies it would be subject to demands from Departments. I understand that he in effect is the GDC Chairman and so he is the one who is the mind and soul of that particular Corporation. Can he tell me whether he is on notice of any demands for vacancies to be filled, and in respect of which Departments?

1915 Hon. J J Bossano: I do not have so much leisure time that I can devote some of my time to looking at the demand, but the demands are made from the Department to the staff, primarily to the Secretary, Dr. Coram who is the Secretary of the GDC, and since we have got a feedback from people who sometimes need short-term help because people are away or because there has been disciplinary problems and they have a shortage of staff.

1920 Then there are people who come in. There are people that come into the GDC, not from outside the service, but from within other parts of the service and they come in as Grade 1's and those people are redeployed. There are, just like there is in the Civil Service, people move from Department to Department all the time and this is not something that requires political decisions or policy decisions, because they do not alter the funding provisions that have been approved by Parliament.

1925 The Parliament approves the payment of five bodies, not five individuals with names, faces and ID cards. The five bodies that are there are not necessarily the five bodies all the time; the posts are there. So it is the posts that are funded in the Departments and the GDC effectively acts as if it were a state-owned employment agency that provides staff to the Departments that require it, when they require it, on a permanent basis all the time.

1930 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I think that might be a convenient moment to – (Interjection) Well, if there are supplementaries, I do not want to – (Interjection) Are there?

1935 If the hon. Gentleman gives an indication that – (Interjections) Is there? Yes well, that's right.

Mr Speaker, I think this may be a convenient moment, given you indicated to the House yesterday you had a matter you needed to attend to, for me to ask the House to recess and for us to return at 7.00 p.m.

Mr Speaker: The House will now recess until 7.00 p.m.

The House recessed at 5.55 p.m. and resumed its sitting at 7.00 p.m.

Civil Service and GDC–
Current vacancies

1940 Acting Clerk: Question 97 –

Hon. D J Bossino: No, I have a supplementary on...

1945 Yes, Mr Speaker, in relation to Question 96, which for the benefit of the rest of the Members of Parliament, who may not have been here, it related to the number of vacancies which still require to be filled within the Civil Service and the GDC, in relation to the civil servants, the Hon. the Minister for Employment gave me a list of the vacancies... well, a list of the vacancies. Is he able to tell me when he expects that those vacancies will be made available for application, I suppose, is the way to put it?

Hon. J J Bossano: I can tell him that what I expect is that the steps to fill them will be much quicker than they were before 9th December because they had been there. There are vacancies that have been there

1950 for years. Some of them are arising out of promotions... most of them are arising out of promotions. So normally what happens is that the system cascades down obviously. The fact that you have got five SEO's at a stage where the five SEO's are picked and the applicants have to be an HEO that has been in the post for at least two years. So in all probability the HEO would not come out until the stage of the SEO's has been gone through. So it tends to come down, because then people who are applying have got a wider 1955 choice of things to apply for.

Sometimes people will not apply if it is in a particular Department, even though theoretically HEO's can be drafted anywhere. There tends to be in the Treasury, for example, the work tends to be more specialised than almost anywhere else because it is not just administrative, there is a lot of working with figures and not everybody is comfortable with figures.

1960 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, is the Hon. the Minister able to tell this House if some of those, presumably not those in the higher posts, but the lower posts, for example, he said that there were six AA's and 20 AO's. Would those positions be currently filled by FJS trainees? (Interjection) Yes, the posts. Is he able to give me some information in relation to that?

1965 Hon. J J Bossano: The posts are not filled by trainees. The trainees go in those Departments whether the posts are filled or empty. So it is not a case that these are jobs that are not... there may be somebody doing the work even though the post is empty or there may be somebody working in that area over and above the complement because the complement is full – that is to say there is no relationship between one thing and the other.

Q97/2014
Public sector–
Training details

Acting Clerk: Question 97, the Hon. D J Bossino.

1975 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment provide details of the nature of the training which the trainees are receiving in each of the public sector areas?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

1980 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, there has been no change in the nature of the training in each of the public areas from the answers previously given to Questions 64 and 640/2013.

Q98/2014
Leisure Construction and Maintenance Company Limited–
Details of employees

Acting Clerk: Question 98, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1985 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker sir, can Government provide details in respect of the number of employees who may have been employed since the answer provided to Question 808/2013, by Leisure Construction and Maintenance Company Limited, broken down by grade, age, gender and nationality?

1990 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, there has been no change since the answer to Question 808.

1995 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, may I... I do not know, I put myself in your mercy whether it is compatible with this question or not, but in a previous answer where we were given, in answer to Question 107, the list of companies where the directors were public service employees and so on. I see that this 2000 company does not appear on this list, and yet I had an indication from last time round when we were talking about this same company, the Leisure Construction and Maintenance Company, the Minister for Employment explained that although they had applied for a trade licence, there still had been no specific need to have any employees. In fact the number of employees would be dependent on their obtaining the trade licence or not, which I understand makes sense.

So I do not know if the Minister is aware, upon a successful application of a trade licence, that something happened and why there are still no directors appointed for this company?

2005 Hon. J J Bossano: I am monitoring this from the fact that when the question was originally asked, what the profile record of the company showed was that it had no employees and the Department is on notice from me because I expect to be asked. If anybody gets employed they tell me, and it has not happened.

2010 So the answer is to what the number of employees is since the answer to Question 808, there is only one answer that I can give, that since Question 808 there has been no change. So they have not opened any vacancies and they have not employed anybody to date.

Q99/2014

Employment Office in New Harbours– Fire evacuation drills

Acting Clerk: Question 99, the Hon. J J Netto.

2015 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Employment and Health & Safety state if there has been any fire evacuation drills carried out at the Employment Office in New Harbours in 2012 and 2013?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

2020 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): No, Mr Speaker.

2025 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, will the Minister for Employment at least tell the House whether it is the intention to review this aspect, perhaps in 2014, and whether perhaps under the leadership or the employment of the factory inspectors they will put in place a plan in order to provide this particular training for the staff at the Employment Office?

2030 Hon. J J Bossano: I am told that there has been something like four fire drills in the last 20 years, none of which happened in the time that he was Minister for Employment and there has been no fire. I would not expect that it would require a ministerial decision to hold a fire drill. I expect that if the Head of Department feels there is a need for one he will do one.

2035 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, this is not an issue whether there was any fire drill when I was the Minister for Employment between 1996 and 2000 or whether there was a fire drill when he was the Chief Minister between 1988 and 1996.

2040 What I am trying to say to the hon. Gentleman is that given that he seems to be giving the impression that when it comes to Employment and Health and Safety matters, he is very keen to abide by the best practices that there are, and given that it appears that there have been no fire evacuation drills between 2012 and 2013, could I appeal to him that at least he raises this issue, particularly with the factory inspectors and that they put in place a fire evacuation drill for the benefit of the staff therein?

2045 Hon. J J Bossano: I cannot stop him appealing, so the answer is, yes, he can appeal; but the answer to the appeal is going to be... well look, in this particular meeting of the House Mr Speaker, the hon. Member has decided that he wants every Department in the Government to have fire drills. Just because that is what he has chosen to do this time round, it does not mean that all of a sudden we are going to give this the priority that he did not have as Minister in the four years when he had the choice and which he wants me now to give because he is there and I am here.

2050 Well, look, if it is so important, I would have expected to be told that he was doing it very regularly when he was there. If he felt there was no need to... but, in any event, I do not really think that it requires a policy decision at a political level to have a fire drill or not. I think it is the responsibility of the Head of the Department if he feels that there is a need, or of the union representative if he feels there is a need.

2055 The only reason why we should suddenly concentrate on fire drills in January is not because there is a greater risk when it is raining than when it is dry, but because he has taken it into his head to make that the topic of this meeting of the House and he has asked every Minister in every Department to have fire drills. (Laughter) Tomorrow he may decide that we should all put in air conditioning and therefore we all have to do air conditioning.

The answer is no. He can ask me and he can suggest it. He can put it forward and I will make sure that people know his feelings in the Department.

Q100/2014
Factory inspectors–
Increase in monitoring activities

Acting Clerk: Question 100, the Hon. J J Netto.

2065

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health and Safety explain why the figures for monitoring activities as shown in the Government website by the factory inspectors were three times more in November 2013 than in December 2013?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

2070

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I am informed that the reason why the monitoring activities by the Health and Safety Inspectors were three times more in November 2013 than in December 2013 was because there were less activities to monitor in December than in November.

2075

In construction, for example, there were two site visits in December compared to 12 – that is six times as many in November. There was a similar seasonal pattern in the previous year.

2080

Hon. J J Netto: Yes, Mr Speaker, I am aware that that seems to be the pattern and it is also true to say that there are less activities in the construction industry because a lot of the private sector companies in particular tend to close down during that particular period. But just in the same way as that is true, that the construction industry per se seems to be closing down, that does not mean that there are industry groups that may happen to have even more activity, perhaps in other areas within the labour market.

2085

So I just would like to understand whether an assessment has been done that while it is true in the construction industry there may be further movement that would need to be monitored by the factory inspectors in other industry groups.

Hon. J J Bossano: What I am telling the hon. Member is that this is just like there are cyclical patterns in many other things. In the case of the activities related to work, it seems to me that without being a Health and Safety Inspector it is fairly evident that excessive alcohol is the most likely cause of a danger to Health and Safety in December, but not necessarily in November.

Therefore, the answer is that in December there are less places of work, other than bars that are functioning and in December in every year the activity is less than in November primarily for that reason, and quite apart from the fact of course that the public service itself shuts for a longer period.

Q101/2014
Government debentures and other debt securities–
Value as at 31st December 2013

Acting Clerk: Question 101, the Hon. D A Feetham.

2095

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please state the value of Government debentures or other debt security as at 31st December 2013?

2100

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the value of all Government debentures and other debt securities as at 31st December 2013 was £457.79 million.

2105 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, we have heard two different figures here from this side of the House. Is it £457 million or £477 million?

Hon. J J Bossano: £457.79 million.

Q102/2014

Gibraltar Savings Bank debentures/other debt security –
Value as at 31st December 2013

Acting Clerk: Question 102, the Hon. D A Feetham.

2115 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please provide the value of Gibraltar Savings Bank debentures or other debt security as at 31st December 2013?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

2120 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the value of all Gibraltar Savings Bank deposits as at 31st December 2013 was £840.67 million.

2125 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, the hon. Gentleman has spoken about deposits. I have asked about Gibraltar Savings Bank debentures and other debt securities and I suppose that technically perhaps deposits could at a stretch rank as debt securities, but does he have the figure for Gibraltar Savings Bank debentures, as opposed to other types of deposits with him there?

Hon. J J Bossano: I do not have the figure with me, but I would say it is likely to be of the order of £480 million from what I know of the portfolio distribution.

EDUCATION, TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND JUSTICE

Q77/2014

Prison inmates –
Rehabilitation programme

2130 Acting Clerk: Question 77, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2135 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Justice advise what the rehabilitation programme for prison inmates is, in order for them to reintegrate back into society after serving their sentence?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 78.

Q78/2014

Prison inmates –
Rehabilitation assistance offered

2140 Acting Clerk: Question 78, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2145 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Justice say how many and how often, on a weekly basis, do social workers, educators, care workers, counsellors or psychologists, visit the prison in order to work with the inmates and to help them rehabilitate and/or acquire jobs and/or housing after leaving prison?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

2150 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, rehabilitation of prisoners is a multi-pronged programme that encompasses a wide range of offences and/or behaviours.

From the Prison side, the first and foremost issue is health. For this reason prisoners are subjected to a Medical Reception by the Hospital Officer upon arrival and are subsequently seen on Sick-Parade by the Prison Medical Officer.

2165 The Prison also receives a number of prisoners suffering from psychological and mental disorders, some of which have been long-term sufferers. From the moment they arrive they are seen by the Medical Officer and referred to the Community Mental Welfare Team for continuation of their treatment. This involves a psychologist, psychiatrist and/or the team of support nurses. In addition, these prisoners are risk assessed by the Prison, and if there is a need, they may be housed in the Vulnerable Prisoner Unit to avoid issues, such as bullying, and assist with their monitoring.

2170 Working very closely with these medical professionals is the counsellor, who visits the Prison two or three times a week. He has created an effective base from which he now has a number of prisoners, who he supports with their problems and acts as a link with the Employment Service and/or the Housing Department, depending on the issue.

Another aspect to rehabilitation is the educational classes, light workshop, and vocational training, which will be commencing during the next month.

2175 Educational classes are held for prisoners every week – on average 4½ hours a week. This comprises of Mathematics, English and Spanish. These are very popular and have been very successful, having already resulted in a number of prisoners gaining a qualification. In addition, we also have Archimedes Training Centre, which is imparting lessons to one of our prisoners on business studies.

2180 The Light Workshop is run by a retired Senior Trades Prison Officer, who was taken on as a vocational tutor and imparts lessons to approximately 8 to 10 prisoners a day, from Monday to Friday, on basic carpentry, to build simple objects, such as jewel boxes, cars and boats. These lessons provide a platform, as an alternative to educational classes, for those who want to try out a trade.

2185 Vocational training, which commences next month at the Prison, has arisen from an initiative of the Employment Service to impart training to those serving a sentence in order to assist them in finding employment upon release.

The Employment Service in addition visit prisoners identified by our counsellor as requiring support. They assist prisoners in compiling their CVs and identifying what area they might best be suited for when applying for a job.

2190 The Prison also runs gym and outdoor sports in order to instil positive changes in prisoners.

Gym classes are held three times a day, seven days a week. They are monitored by Sports and Games Officers, who encourage and assist with their programmes. To many, it is the first time that they have participated in this kind of activity and with a number of prisoners the ‘feel good’ effect, along with the positive changes to their bodies sees them continue their training throughout their incarceration and then on to their private lives.

2195 As in schools, we promote sport over drugs. This is also true of outside sports activities, such as football and basketball. Prisoners find – and when I say outside sports activities, I mean within the Prison (Laughter) but outside in the patio, rather than outside the Prison. (Laughter) I thought I would just make that absolutely clear. (A Member: Outdoors.) So it is outdoor activities within the Prison, such as football and basketball. Prisoners find, on occasion for the first time, how they need to be part of a team to succeed.

2200 Voluntary Drug Testing Compact Scheme: in our efforts to encourage prisoners away from drugs, a system of voluntary drug testing was commenced, with a view to reward, for those who have been in Prison for at least four months, negative results with privileges. Those prisoners that sign on to the Voluntary Drug 2205 Testing Compact Scheme will be tested at random. In return they may have a TV, DVD player, Playstation2, at their expense, in their cells, extended visits and Pin-Phone calls. This has had a very positive effect on numerous prisoners, especially those serving a longer sentence, who have come to realise that life without drugs enhances their relationships with their family, and put themselves in a position where they can receive proper help to succeed on the outside.

With regard to Question 78, the visits to the Prison are as follows:

2210 Educators: Prison Tutor, 4 times a week; Archimedes Training Centre, once a week.
Care Workers: These visits are not carried out at regular intervals, but more on a basis of the need to interview prisoners.
Counsellor: two to three visits a week.
Employment Service: once a week.
Psychologist: once a month.
2215 Psychiatrist: three visits a month.
Narcotics Anonymous: once a week.
Community Mental Welfare Team: once a month.
Gibraltar Catholic Prison Ministry: once a week.

2220 A minister of religion of other denominations will attend whenever this is requested by a particular inmate.

Social workers are not generally involved in prison visits. (Banging on desks)

Q79/2014

Potential child victims of sexual abuse/exploitation – Education programmes to combat

Acting Clerk: Question 79, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2225 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Justice and Education explain what the education programmes will be, aimed at enabling the identification and ability to deal with child victims, and potential child victims of sexual abuse, or exploitation, in line with the new EU laws designed to fight online child pornography?

2230 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

2235 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, the Child Victims of Sexual Abuse and Exploitation Regulations 2013 came into operation on 18th December 2013, for the purpose of transposing Directive 2011/92/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council of 13th December 2011 on combating the sexual abuse and sexual exploitation of children and child pornography.

The Gibraltar Area Child Protection Committee has been asked to advise Government on the preventative measures, including education programmes, which are required to be put in place under the Regulations. The Government will consider the recommendations made by the Committee, as soon as it receives them.

Q80/2014

Bayside School – Sixth Form Common Room refurbishment

2240 Acting Clerk: Question 80, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2245 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Education say what has been the delay in opening the newly refurbished Sixth Form Common Room at Bayside School and when it will be opened?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, the Study Room for Years 12 and 13, which is what is commonly referred to as the ‘Sixth Form Common Room’ has 2250 an historical problem with water ingress. There was a need to identify the cause of the problem so that this was addressed at the same time as the internal refurbishment of the room. It appears that the likely cause has now been identified. Works have already started, and both the external and internal works are expected to be finished by next week, after which the Study Room will be available for use.

2255 In the meantime students from Years 12 and 13 have had the use of another study area, which is supervised by a teacher.

Q81/2014
St Joseph's School –
New annex; snagging issues

Acting Clerk: Question 81, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2260 Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Education advise whether any Health and Safety issues or snagging issues have been resolved at the new annex to St Joseph's School and when it will be used for academic teaching?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

2265 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, as stated in Government press release 761/2013, all Health and Safety requirements in relation to the new annex at St Joseph's School were met during construction and the facilities were certified as fit by the relevant authorities. All snagging has now been completed.

2270 There has been a delay in the delivery of equipment and furniture which was ordered for the annex. The furniture and equipment has now been delivered. The full use of the annex will now be determined by the head teachers of both schools.

2275 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, so if the Minister could confirm that it is not being used for teaching at the moment, but the head teachers will soon be deciding when they will be opening the annex?

Hon. G H Licudi: It has been used for some purpose. What I have said is that the full use will be determined by the head teachers.

2280 There are some big classrooms, which have been used for something like movement classes, and that sort of thing, but there was a problem at delivery, not with the order. At delivery there was a problem and the delay in the delivery of the equipment, which is now here, as I have said, and it is clearly a matter for the management of the two schools, who will share these facilities, to decide how and when they use it.

Q82/2014
National Institute for Adult Continuing Education – Establishment of an institute

Acting Clerk: Question 82, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2285 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Education say when the Government will be establishing a National Institute of Adult Continuing Education, as outlined in their manifesto?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

2290 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, as I believe we have stated on previous occasions, the Gibraltar College continues to develop education provision for adults. The establishment of an Institute will be carried out during the course of this parliamentary term.

Q83/2014
Transport to schools –
Increase in fleet of vehicles and drivers

Acting Clerk: Question 83, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2295 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Education say when the Department of Education will be increasing its fleet of vehicles and drivers in order to fulfil its manifesto commitment to provide transport to schools for educational and sporting needs?

2300 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 84.

Q84/2014
Bus driver vacancy–
Update

Acting Clerk: Question 84, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2305 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, further to Question 76/2013 can the Minister for Education update this House on the filling of the bus driver vacancy?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

2310 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, the bus driver vacancy was filled on 1st July 2013. A new 17-seater bus was recently purchased by the Department of Education and has been in operation since September 2013. This bus does not replace, but is in addition to the 22-seater bus which the Department of Education already had.

2315 In addition, the Gibraltar Bus Company works very closely with the Department of Education to ensure that transport is available when it is required. The Government's manifesto commitment was to ensure that provision is made for schools to have transport available for educational and sporting needs. The arrangements currently in place achieve precisely that. The manifesto commitment has therefore been given full effect. (Banging on desks)

Q85/2014
'Homework Support Group' policy –
Update

Acting Clerk: Question 85, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2325 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, further to Question 75/2013, can the Minister for Education advise as to the progress in the 'Homework Support Group' policy and the details of when, where and for which age group these sessions are being held?

2330 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, students across all sectors, who require additional help, are being supported with their extended work, or homework, during the lunch break and after school. These sessions are happening in schools on a weekly basis, as and when needed.

2335 Furthermore, within the secondary sector, additional classes for GCSE and A-level students are systematically happening on a weekly basis in our schools. The Department of Education continues to afford support classes for GCSE and A-level mathematics at the Department on a weekly basis.

2340 Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, how can the parents formally learn of how to enrol their children in these homework support groups, or is this a continuation of relying on the goodwill of teachers, as they always have done, in fact, before this Administration, that they ought to support further some of their students during the lunchtime or slightly or after hours?

2345 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, if any particular parent considers that there is a need for their particular child to have additional support, I would urge them to contact their head teacher in the first place and try and put in place a system for that particular child.

As I have said in the answer, the support for particular children is available, as and when required, either during lunchtime or after school. So I would certainly urge parents to contact the head teachers in the first place and, if need be, they can certainly contact the Department of Education as well.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, these homework support groups, are they run by the teachers from the schools themselves? Do they stay on afterwards or are supply teachers brought in to supervise? How does the system work exactly?

2355

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, the necessary support that I have described is being provided by the teachers from the schools themselves.

Q86/2014
TLR review –
Update

Acting Clerk: Question 86, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2360 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, further to Question 71/2013, can the Minister for Education advise what progress has been made with the TLR review?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

2365 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, the Department of Education is now in possession of the survey results conducted by the GTA/NASUWT and is analysing and considering the data. I would reiterate that this does not necessarily imply that there has been or that there is anything inherently wrong with the present structure.

2370 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Is there any timescale as to when the review will be fully analysed, and a report or an implementation of that of the recommendations in conjunction with the union?

2375 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, as I have said in the answer, the fact that a survey has been conducted by the union and data has been provided by the Government, which the Government is now considering, does not necessarily imply that there is anything inherently wrong, or wrong at all with the system. So it does not necessarily follow that there will be recommendations which will have to be implemented.

The matter is now at a stage that it is being considered by the professionals at the Department and I am currently awaiting a brief following that analysis, so I am not able to say at this stage how long the professionals will take in analysing all the data that they have received.

Q87/2014
Supply teachers from outside Gibraltar –
Recruitment and costs incurred

2380 Acting Clerk: Question 87, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2385 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, since the 47 new teachers were employed, can the Minister for Education say whether any supply teachers from outside of Gibraltar, over and above those already on the 'supply list', have been recruited to cover absences, and if so, how much has this cost the Government so far?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

2390 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, no supply teachers have been recruited from outside Gibraltar, over and above those on the Department of Education's supply list for teachers.

Q88/2014
Safeguarding Children Policy for Schools and the Gibraltar College – Final version

Acting Clerk: Question 88, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2395 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, further to Question 73/2013, is the Minister for Education now in a position to provide this House with a copy of the final version of the Safeguarding Children Policy for Schools and the Gibraltar College?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

2400 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, the Department of Education's document on Safeguarding Children Policy for Schools and the Gibraltar College is almost complete. Once ready, it will be disseminated directly to schools and we intend to post it within the appropriate section of the Government's website.

2405 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, about a year ago the policy was in draft form. Why has it taken so long for it not to be completed?

2410 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, what I would reiterate is that what is awaited is not a policy; it is a document. I have confirmed in my answer that what is almost complete is the document, but certainly schools have the necessary policy on safeguarding children and they implement it.

What has happened is that we have compiled it altogether and put it all in a document, which is now in the final stages of preparation. So that it is in one document, which can be spread evenly across all schools so that they all have the same document from which to work on, and that is what is almost complete and will be made public as soon as it is available.

Q89/2014
Gibraltar College of Further Education –
Plans to relocate

2415 Acting Clerk: Question 89, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Education say what the plans are, if any, for the relocation of the Gibraltar College of Further Education?

2420 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, Government has no plans to relocate the Gibraltar College.

Q90/2014
University of Gibraltar –
Plans for establishment

Acting Clerk: Question 90, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2425 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Education say what the recommendations are and what progress has been made from Dr Daniella Tilbury's Report, on the setting up of a University of Gibraltar?

2430 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, Government continues to work on plans for the establishment of a University of Gibraltar. The establishment of the University is a firm commitment by the Government, which will be achieved within this parliamentary term. Full details of the University will be given, when the plans which Government is working on, have been finalised.

Q91/2014
Autism Spectrum Disorder –
Types of therapies given to children

Acting Clerk: Question 91, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2440 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Education outline the types of therapies given to children within the Autism Spectrum Disorder and other acute special needs, and say whether he is satisfied with the level of frequency and the intensity of therapies they are receiving?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

2445 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, Speech and Language Therapists, Occupational Therapists, Physiotherapists and the Rehabilitation Officer for the Visually Impaired currently support children with Autism Spectrum Disorder and other acute special needs in our schools.

Referrals are made by schools and prioritised by the different therapists.

2450 Decisions on the frequency and intensity of the therapies would be made by the therapists involved, based on the individual needs of the pupils. Pupils might receive the support from more than one therapist.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, the Hon. Minister said that the decisions of frequency and intensity were made by the therapists. I presume this is in conjunction with the teachers.

2455 Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, Mr Speaker, as I indicated, referrals are made by the schools and the schools regularly discuss these matters with the therapists, in relation to the visits and the frequency and support needed by the therapists, but these are professional decisions. These are not decisions either for me, as a politician, or for the management of the Department of Education. These are professional decisions because we are dealing with acute needs of children.

2460 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, has there been any indication from the specialist school certainly to perhaps increase the number of therapists and therapies made available to some of the children there?

2465 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, if I may assist there, because there is a certain overlap between the Education Department and the Health Authority. I have been holding meetings with parents of children to look at how we can improve certain aspects of what really is a bottomless pit. How do you limit what one would like to do for these children?

2470 So it might not directly answer the question, but what I can say is that I am involved with parents, and with therapists, to look at how we are delivering this service and whether there is anything we can do to improve this further.

DEPUTY CHIEF MINISTER

Q103/2014

Provision of flights to Marrakesh –
Financial/other assistance from Government

Acting Clerk: Question 103, the Hon. D J Bossino.

2475 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Aviation advise this House if the recent initiative to provide flights to Casablanca... actually that is a mistake, I meant to Marrakesh, has received or will in the future receive financial or any other form of assistance from the Government, or either directly or indirectly by Credit Finance Company Limited or the proceeds of monies deposited in the Gibraltar Savings Bank? (Interjections and laughter)

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Yes, Mr Speaker, the answer was not going to be there are no flights to Casablanca.

No application for financial assistance has been received by Credit Finance Company Limited for this venture.

Hon. D J Bossino: If the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister could expand his reply in relation to the Government and the other entities I mentioned, in other words the Government and the Gibraltar Savings Bank. I think he only specifically referred to the limited company, as opposed to the other two entities.

Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, there are discussions ongoing in relation to the normal incentives given to all airlines that fly in and out of Gibraltar. Those are the Airline Assistance Scheme, the passenger tax, the landing tax, the ad marketing... the usual incentives.

2495

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, and the provenance of those incentives would be the other two entities I mentioned perhaps – the Government and the Gibraltar Savings Bank?

Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, these issues are handled through Tourism, and my colleague is responsible for the discussions with the airlines.

But in terms of funding, which is, I think, what the question is asking, the financial assistance, there is none, except the usual incentives which are given to airlines.

Questions for Written Answer

Acting Clerk: Answers to Written Questions, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to table the answers to Written Questions W1/2014 to W24/2014 inclusive.

ADJOURNMENT

Acting Clerk: Adjournment.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the House do now adjourn sine die.

I will, because I told him I would, note that the hon. the backbencher is not in the House, even now. I agreed with him when he left that I would point it out when I got back on my feet, but just adjourn the House now sine die until next month.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that this House do now adjourn sine die. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

The House will now adjourn sine die.

The House adjourned at 7.45 p.m.

25

TOURISM, COMMERCIAL AFFAIRS, PUBLIC TRANSPORT AND THE PORT

Q121/2014
London Boat Show –
Attendance and cost

Clerk: Question 121/2014, the Hon. D J Bossino.

30

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Tourism confirm whether the Government has attended the London Boat Show this year and, if so, what the cost was?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

35

Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, the Government has not attended the London Boat Show this year and therefore there has been no cost.

Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful for the reply, Mr Speaker.

40 Can I ask the Minister why the Government has decided not to attend the Boat Show this year? I am sure there is a perfectly valid reason for that, but I would like to know what it is.

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman may remember that in February 2012 he in fact asked me about the Government's attendance at the London Boat Show and whether the Government's 45 policy was to attend. He will recall that at that stage I had received advice that perhaps the popularity of the road show and the positive results that one could expect from them were declining, and in fact the numbers of participants at the London Boat Show have decreased quite significantly since I answered the question.

So in conjunction with the Gibraltar Tourist Board and the Gibraltar Maritime Administration, the consensus view was that it was no longer value for money and that perhaps the money that could have been 50 spent on attending the Boat Show was better targeted elsewhere.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for that and for reminding the House of what he said last year in relation to this particular issue. I know that he had said in the past, whether in budget speeches or in 55 answers to questions that I have posed, that he was going to take – certainly at the beginning when he took office – a view in relation to the shows that the previous GSD Administration had attended as to whether they were indeed value for money.

Clearly, he has taken a view in relation to this particular event. Does he have a decision in relation to the other events or is this the only event in respect of which he has decided not to attend?

60 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman... as he rightly says, I have pointed out in the past that the question of road shows and trade fairs is something that the Government would continually keep under review to see whether they continued to be value for money or not. As he rightly points out, it has now become the consensus view that this particular show is not value for money.

65 Whether we continue to go to other trade fairs, like, for instance, FITUR or World Travel Market, will be decided periodically – that is to say it will be kept continually under review. If we have attended in the past it is because it is still the view that there is still value for money in those trade fairs and something to be gained from it. In fact, we will be attending additional trade fairs this year in respect of conferencing, but I intend to be making an announcement in respect of that in due course.

Q122/2014
Gibraltar Airport – Sale of advertising space

Clerk: Question 122, the Hon. D J Bossino.

75 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister with responsibility for aviation advise which entity or person has been contracted to sell advertising space at Gibraltar Airport?

I have directed the question to the Hon. Dr Joseph Garcia, but I understand that the Hon. Mr Neil Costa will be answering.

80 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, Mr James Ellul has been contracted to sell advertising space at Gibraltar International Airport.

85 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, can he confirm, if I may ask him to do so, that it is Mr Ellul personally who has been contracted and not a corporate entity of which Mr Ellul is a director or indeed a shareholder? Can he confirm that firstly?

And, if I can butt in also with a second question, can he tell us whether the granting of that particular contract was the subject of a tender process or not?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the contract is personally with Mr James Ellul, to answer the first supplementary.

To answer the second supplementary, it was a process of negotiation and discussion and not a tender process.
95

Hon. D J Bossino: Was that process of negotiation and discussion conducted by him and his Ministry; and, if so, can he tell me why it is that Mr Ellul was chosen, as opposed to other potential entities? Can he provide us with that information?

100 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, no, it was not conducted by the office of the Hon. Mr Costa; it was conducted by my office.

This issue related to the fact that Mr Ellul was the only person that the previous Administration had decided not to accommodate in the new arrangements that they entered into in respect of the running of the new air terminal. Essentially they contracted with everybody who had been involved under the previous 105 arrangements for the running of Gibraltar Airport to continue with the running of the new Gibraltar Airport, but not Mr Ellul. Therefore, we considered it was appropriate that this part of the administration of the new airport, which in our view was not adequately already provided for when we were elected, should be negotiated with Mr Ellul.

110 Hon. D J Bossino: But, Mr Speaker, are there not other considerations which should have been at the [inaudible] of play here, like, for example, expertise, whether the individual had the ability to do so, and issues of cost as well? Should the Government not have considered other entities, rather than...

As I understand, from what the Hon. the Chief Minister has just said, what informed the decision of the Government has been in fact that Mr Ellul was out of the picture in relation to decisions taken by the GSD 115 Government and that is something that the GSLP Government wanted to put right. Surely that is not a sound basis on which to have conducted this, Mr Speaker.

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, I put it to him it was an extra-ordinarily sound basis on which to make this appointment because, you see, what the Hon. Mr Bossino is not reflecting is that for the 16
120 years that they were in Administration, Mr Ellul obviously had – and I am going to go through the list of issues that he referred to – the expertise and the ability to do this job because they maintained him in post for 16 years doing that job under the previous arrangements in respect of Gibraltar Airport. They then transferred everybody, who had been involved in the running of the Gibraltar Airport, except Mr Ellul, to the running of the new airport.

125 So unless they singularly failed in 16 years to replace somebody who was doing a job and did not have the necessary expertise or ability, they must have determined that he did. Therefore it was absolutely right that the new incoming Government should look to Mr Ellul, as they had to absolutely everybody else except Mr Ellul, in respect of the running of the old terminal, for the running of the new terminal, that we should in respect of the area of expertise that he was involved in previously, look to him to do the job going 130 forward.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, it is very obvious to me what has happened here, and the Hon. the Chief Minister has an incredible – (Laughter and interjections)

135 The Hon. the Chief Minister, Mr Speaker, has an incredible ability to use the English language to worm his way out of what is clearly a very difficult situation for him. He talks about his ability, Mr Speaker, and it is nothing to do with Mr Ellul. I am talking and concentrating on what the Governments decision has been and –

140 Mr Speaker: Please, will you please ask the question?

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, Mr Speaker.

145 Mr Speaker: Try, if you are going to make a statement before a supplementary, to make it very, very brief because I am not going to allow you to make statements beforehand. I want you to ask short and sharp questions and to the point.

We are not going to debate what happened right at the beginning of this session. We are not going to debate what happened or what did not happen 16 years ago or during the previous 16 years; that is not the purpose of Question Time.

150 Hon. D J Bossino: Which job was Mr Ellul undertaking under the previous Administration, which he says gives him the ability to do, as he says, this job?

This job, Mr Speaker, is to carry out advertising at Gibraltar Airport. So which skills did Mr Ellul have previously, which the Chief Minister thinks enables Mr Ellul to carry out the jobs which he has been contracted for by this Government? A simple question, Mr Speaker.

160 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman really does himself no favours by suggesting that I am trying to use the English language to do anything other than explain to him the things which are obvious. Perhaps he should follow that rule of advocacy in cross-examination of never asking a question unless you know the answer because he has obviously found himself now tied up in knots. I am going to give him the answer to the questions he has just asked, which will make him perhaps reflect on everything he has said.

Mr Ellul was doing exactly the same job before that he is doing now, exactly the same, in charge of advertising at Gibraltar Airport.

165 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I have no intention of cross-examining the hon. Member, I have been accused of doing that by the previous Speaker, and of course he was right. We are not here to cross examine. We are here to elicit information.

Can he tell me what costs the Government is incurring as a result of giving this contract to Mr Ellul?

170 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the remuneration is £80,000. The total revenue collected in his first year to date is £169,400 – (Banging on desks) So already more than exceeding the amount of remuneration.

175 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, can I ask the Hon. the Chief Minister to clarify? Is the contract for Mr Ellul £80,000 on an annual basis? Is that correct?

Hon. Chief Minister: That is correct, Mr Speaker. It is £80,000 a year, and in the first year he has already collected £170,000.

180 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q123/2014
Hospitality industry –
Training and education

185 Clerk: Question 123, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Tourism advise this House whether he has made any progress in relation to training and education in the hospitality industry?

190 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

195 Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, I have made progress and I am currently evaluating a proposal to run a pilot course in this respect later this year. The process is in its final stages of evaluation, so I am not at liberty yet to provide more details. Once I am, then I shall only be too pleased to let the hon. Gentleman and this House, know more.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am sure he has provided this information during the course of reply, but I would ask him to confirm because I did not quite catch it.

200 When does he expect the pilot course to be ready and therefore allow him to make a public statement in relation to that?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, in my original answer I said later this year, but looking at my supplementary information it should be approximately in September of this year.

205 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, is he able to provide any information in relation to the pilot course – for example, one of the points that immediately comes to mind is which stakeholders he is thinking of?

I am assuming the Government is going to be spearheading this, but in conjunction with stakeholders in the private sector – aka the hotels and restaurants. How is that part of the organisation going to be handled? Which stakeholders does he think he is going to be enlisting the support in relation to this particular scheme? Can he provide answers in relation to the points I have just raised?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the proposal that I have before me proposes different skill sets and describes them as from Level 1 to Level 3, so of course the skill set will depend at which tier you would enter.

215 But it is precisely because I am considering a proposal that has been sent to me with the Gibraltar Tourist Board and some private sector operators, I would rather make a statement, an announcement, once we do agree a finalised plan that I am able to then answer questions to the hon. Gentleman in this House.

Indication of Prices and Invoicing Rules 2012 – Enforcement

Clerk: Question 124, the Hon. D J Bossino.

225 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Commercial Affairs state whether he is satisfied that the Indication of Prices and Invoicing Rules 2012 are being adequately enforced?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

230 Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, the Government in consultation with the Department of Consumer Affairs, the Attorney General's Chambers and the Royal Gibraltar Police is currently studying an enforcement plan that has been drawn up to ensure maximum compliance with all pricing display legislation by traders. The Indication of Prices and Invoicing Rules 2012 transposes EU Directive 98/6/EC and deals principally with the display of unit prices.

235 The hon. Member will be aware that the Directive should have been transposed on 18th March 2000, but it was in fact transposed in 2012 and commenced in the early part of last year by this Government in its drive to be compliant with EU Legislation and as a reflection of its commitments to consumer protection.

240 The hon. Member will also be aware that the rules are part of a broader legislative framework on clear and accurate pricing, including the Exhibition of Prices Order (1969) and it makes good sense for the Government to develop an integrated and effective enforcement plan.

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, Mr Speaker, I am grateful for that full reply.

245 Rule 12 refers to a particular feature of statute, I suppose it is a consumer officer who is going to be particularly charged with enforcement of those rules. Can he tell me whether that position has been filled and whether somebody has been identified to discharge the duties of consumer officer?

250 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, as I have hinted to the hon. Gentleman in the original answer, in addition to the Indication of Prices and Invoicing Rules there are also other legislative instruments that need to be accounted for in order to be able to successfully enforce those provisions. There is the Department of Consumer Affairs, and the Department of Consumer Affairs and Legal Counsel and also the RGP and Attorney General's Chambers are considering the entire legislative architecture to see how best such provisions are enforced uniformly and consistently.

255 So they have provided to me a plan, which in fact I have as part of my supplementary information, and they have put to me their recommendations on how best to do this. But because this is an inter-agency approach and I need to confirm my ideal way forward with different parts of the Government, I would rather that he would ask me questions in this House once I make a full and detailed announcement of what the enforcement plan would consist of, and then I would be more than happy to supply him with that information.

260 But, at this point, if I were to tell him what my own thinking is without first discussing it with Crown Counsel, with Legal Counsel, the Department of Consumer Affairs and the RGP, I may be jumping the gun and I would rather not do that.

Hon. D J Bossino: In fact, whilst the Hon. Minister has been giving me the reply, I do on a more careful reading of the particular rule it says:

265 '...a Consumer Officer or such other person as the Government may, from time to time, appoint by notice in The Gazette'

So presumably it is that possible power which you will discharge in order to appoint some other person other than a consumer officer.

270 Can he give me, Mr Speaker, an indication as to when he thinks he will be able to provide me with that further information as to the enforcement plan?

Hon. N F Costa: Well, as circumstances would have it, I probably would have had the meeting this week had it not been for the Parliamentary Session. So I very much expect that we will be in a position to make a detailed announcement within the next two to three months.

Q125/2014
Bus fleet –
Replacement vehicles

Clerk: Question 125, the Hon. S M Figueras.

280

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport say whether the Government has now adjudicated in respect of the tender for the replacement of the bus fleet and provide details of the intended replacement vehicles?

285

290

Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, as the hon. Gentleman will remember, a pre-condition of the tender was that vendors had to submit a bus for testing on our roads. Four tenders were received and out of those four tenders only two were found to fully comply with all procurement specifications; however, after testing these two vehicles, the Tender Board found that none of the buses tested were suitable for Gibraltar.

295

As a result the Tender Board began a direct negotiation procedure. All of the vendors were then re-invited to re-submit tenders. Subsequently, three tenders were received. After testing each of the three vehicles, the Tender Board found that only two of these buses were suitable for Gibraltar.

295

In the light of the above, the Government is now awaiting the Board to make a recommendation to the Treasury Tender Board.

300

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Hon. Minister for the detailed reply.

He referred to some changes that were made to the criteria, in light of the fact that the first batch of vehicles that were tested were found to be unsuitable. Could he, in the first place, explain the reasons why they were found to be unsuitable; and then secondly, what changes were effected – I suspect one will follow from the other – to the requirements of the tender?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the bus submitted for the original tender was in one case unable to negotiate the bend leading from Main Street to Governor's Lane – it is that infamous corner by the Gibraltar Book Store, opposite the Gibraltar Supreme Court – and unfortunately the hybrid bus, which I very much hoped had been able to negotiate the steep hills in Gibraltar, were unable to do so when fully laden, and so they were found to be unsuitable.

310

As a result of that, the Tender Board decided to proceed to the direct negotiation procedure. How the Tender Board proceeds is a matter entirely for them and we do not get involved in that process, Mr Speaker. (Interjection) I certainly do not. (Interjection) I do not know whether they did.

315

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, is the Minister able to confirm, or say indeed, whether of the two buses that have been found suitable and are currently effectively the only two runners left in this particular contest, whether they are alternative... rather they are fuelled, they are hybrid or electric or anything of that description at all?

320

Hon. N F Costa: No, Mr Speaker.

As the hon. Gentleman will expect, given that the hybrid could not cope with the steep hills, then the electric would certainly not even make the first leg of the steep hill, so we are talking about Euro 6 engines.

325

Hon. S M Figueras: Could the Minister just confirm then, and it flows from the information that he has provided to us, that the replacement bus fleet will unfortunately, given the circumstances, not have environmentally friendly engines, in the sense of having alternative energy engines in terms of being hybrid or other sources, but in fact will be the latest technology diesel buses?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, I cannot accept the premise of the supplementary in that the latest technology diesel buses are environmentally friendly and I have certainly read – (Interjection) Sorry? (Interjection) They are, and I have certainly read information that suggests to me that they are as such.

330 As I said, my own particular personal hope was that the hybrid would have been able to have negotiated the very steep hills in Gibraltar. The peculiarities of Gibraltar topography has meant that it has been impossible to be able to service all of the routes. As a result, the Tender Board has advised us that there are only two buses which are suitable for Gibraltar and we are now awaiting their recommendations.

335 Hon. S M Figueras: I am grateful, Mr Speaker.

Just one final supplementary, is the Hon. Minister able to say when he is expecting this final recommendation to be made and therefore – and I will be asking him to speculate, I suppose – say when we can expect to see the start, at least, of the arrival of these buses in Gibraltar?

340 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, as the hon. Gentleman can rightly assume, I press, if not daily, very frequently for the recommendation to be put to the Treasury Board; but, as I have said, I am not in charge of the process. All I can do is press for a recommendation to be put as quickly as possible. No one wants the new fleet in Gibraltar more than I do.

Q126/2014
Urban bicycle rental scheme –
Update

345 Clerk: Question 126, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, Mr Speaker, will the Minister for Transport reconsider the Government's position in respect of an urban bicycle rental scheme as stated in this House as being subject to the findings of the Sustainable Traffic and Transport Plan, and commit to replacing the now, effectively, defunct Gibibikes scheme with a new facility as soon as practicable?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, with respect I do not accept the premise of the question. I have never said that the Government's view of an urban bicycle rental scheme is subject to the findings and recommendations of the STTPP as the questions suggests.

The hon. Gentleman will recall that in answer to his Question 551/2013, I explained to the House that the Government had been left with no option but to commence legal proceedings in the Supreme Court of Gibraltar. As a result, I noted that it would not be appropriate for me to be drawn into a debate across the floor of the House as to the Governments plans.

360

It was in answer to the hon. Gentleman's supplementary question that I added that in any case the Government would imminently receive the recommendations of the STTPP and so would consider an urban bicycle rental scheme in that context.

365

Further, the hon. Gentleman will recall that it was his own Leader, the Hon. Daniel Feetham, who interjected in the House, to note that I should limit myself to saying that the Government is looking for alternatives, should this prove necessary, given that there are currently legal proceedings in the Supreme Court and any debate may prejudice that litigation.

370

As a result, following on from my own answer to his question and the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition's contribution, I can assure the hon. Gentleman that I will make a public announcement in due course on the conclusion of the legal proceedings, including any appeals by either parties on any point.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister explain at what stage these legal proceedings currently are?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, I really have no issue meeting with the hon. Gentleman and once again briefing him in confidence as to the status of the proceedings. I really do not want to be drawn across the floor of the House as to any aspect of a matter that is sub judice because we may then lead into other matters which, as the Hon. Leader of the Opposition noted, may prejudice the litigation, and I tend to agree 380 with him. I think it is best not to progress this matter any further in public, but I am more than happy to meet with him, as I have on previous occasions in the past, to brief him confidentially.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I think that – and he recognises that certainly from this side of the House – we have been fair with the Government and attempted to deal with this in a way that does not prejudice any potential litigation. Having said that, I have to say I do not think that an answer to the 385 supplementary that my hon. Friend has asked, would do that or impact on the litigation. All he is asking is has it got to the disclosure stage, exchange of witness statements, so that he can then make his assessment as to how long this litigation is likely to take. We are lawyers. By providing us with that information we will know, more or less, how long this litigation will take, which is I think, the purpose of the question by my hon. Friend.

Hon. N F Costa: Yes, Mr Speaker, and I do accept that point. The point that I am making though is that if I start to answer supplementary questions on the Court process, we may end up being drawn into matters. But given that the concern is that the hon. Gentleman should have the information so that he may make his own assessment on where the process is at, I am more than happy to provide him with that information, but 395 in private.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, but there is a matter of principle here.
There are matters upon which we will accept to be briefed in confidence where we can see that there is a legitimate concern by the Government of not providing the information publicly, but at the end of the day 400 this is a Parliament and if the information that is sought is proper information and there is no proper reason why there ought to be a briefing in confidence... well, the information ought to be provided across the floor of this House.

Really, the question is very simple: where has the litigation got to? Is it disclosure, for example, because 405 if it is disclosure then we will know? Or has he, for example, been told how long this litigation is likely to last? Is it going to be towards the end of this year? Does he expect... We all know that it is very difficult and that is why, I presume, he has not asked how long will this litigation take. He has asked where has it got to... to what stage has it got?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, once again, I am happy to provide the information to the hon. Gentleman 410 in confidence. The hon. Gentleman tells me that we will not be drawn into any further supplementaries as to the process, but the very first supplementary has already prompted a little debate across the floor of the House.

I can think of many reasons why I would not want to, across the floor of the House, disclose at what 415 stage the proceedings are at, and the hon. Gentleman, being a lawyer, may also wish to reflect on the reasons why he would not want to even detail at what stage of litigation other proceedings may have arrived. As a result, Mr Speaker, given that the matter is very much live before the Supreme Court of Gibraltar, I will not be drawn into discussing the process of the litigation.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the Minister's intervention in this discussion and I 420 do appreciate the points that he raises – clearly, I think all the lawyers in this room certainly do. However the issue here, Mr Speaker, is that the issue of an urban bike rental scheme is one that many in the community are calling for some certainty on, for some information in terms of where it is going to go, because many have come to depend upon it for the short time that it was a viable service available to them.

425 In that vein then, and not pushing the point in relation to the current state of affairs in the legal proceedings, is the Minister able to say whether at any time before the end of this term of office, there is any likelihood whatsoever that Gibraltar will have an effective urban bike rental scheme available to the community?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, does it not occur to the hon. Gentleman that had the Gibibike scheme 430 been a reliable scheme, we would have an urban bike scheme today and we would not be involved in suing the company that provided a scheme that clearly was not fit for purpose? Let him reflect on that before asking me any more questions on why we do not have an urban bike scheme.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, with respect to the Minister, I do not need to reflect any more on this 435 because I reflect on it a lot. The fact that the scheme, as provided to the previous GSD Administration, may have proved for one reason or another to be unsuitable is something that is no longer within control of the Party on this side of the House (A Member: Hear, hear.) and is the responsibility of the Members on the opposite side. (Interjection)

440 Yes. However, what I am seeking from the Minister, Mr Speaker, is a commitment, because he did say in the – and he has confirmed it this morning in the original answer to the question – that it would be contemplated in the context of the findings of the STTP. I am asking the Minister to confirm whether or not it can be expected by the community that there will be an urban bike rental scheme in Gibraltar before the end of this term of office. A simple question.

445 Hon. N F Costa: And the simple answer, Mr Speaker, is that the people of Gibraltar can expect me to pursue diligently the company that has let Gibraltar down.

Q127/2014
Black cabs –
Environmentally friendly engines

Clerk: Question 127, the Hon. S M Figueras.

450 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Traffic say when Gibraltar can expect to see black cabs with environmentally friendly engines in Gibraltar?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

455 Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, the Government is not yet in a position to make a statement on this matter.

Clerk: Question 128 –

460 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, is the Minister able to say whether it is planning to deliver this particular commitment in their manifesto?

Hon. N F Costa: All of them, Mr Speaker. (Laughter)

Q128/2014
Transport Inspectors –
Activities performed

Clerk: Question 128, the Hon. S M Figueras.

465 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport provide details in this House of the activities of the recently appointed Transport Inspectors?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

470 Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, at present the activities that are being carried out by the Transport Inspectors are as follows: controlling the Taxi service at the Gibraltar Airport and at Taxi Ranks; regularly checking the GPS system to monitor and ensure an improved City Service in line with the legislative amendments introduced by H M Government of Gibraltar; checking the conduct of drivers, for example, enforcing the drivers dress code;
475 keeping track of all public service vehicles and their drivers to ensure that all vehicles are roadworthy and that all drivers renew their relevant licences; dealing with all complaints from members of the public and taxi drivers; submitting regular reports and recommendations to the Chief Examiner and to the Transport Commission; maintenance and monitoring of bus and taxi shelters; monitoring guide and tour licences; monitoring cruise shuttle service.

Q130/2014
Leisure Construction and Maintenance Company Limited –
Details of trade licences

480 Clerk: Question 130, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can Government provide details in respect of any trade licences currently held by Leisure Construction and Maintenance Company Limited?

485 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, I think this is the first time that I answer a question to the Hon. Mr Reyes, so I apologise to him that my answer will be so brief.

490 The above company has no trade licence.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I ask this question because not long ago I raised – and the Hon. Steven Linares was one that answered – my question, does this company, which was incorporated in February of last year, have an address of premises within Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority and there being an application for a trade licence, which the Minister and I then exchanged some views and there had to be some modifications.

The Minister for Employment has previously answered that there were no employees as such in the company yet because they were pending to see whether the licence came through and then the need for it.

495 So can the Minister then say,

500 is he aware whether the application has already gone through the Trade Licensing Committee process and was it granted or not? Is he aware of that?

Hon. N F Costa: Yes, Mr Speaker, the Secretary to the Trade Licensing Authority has informed me that the matter is closed. So there is no licence.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Hon. Minister clarify what he means by the matter being closed? Does he know whether an application prospered, was made and was rejected? Was the application withdrawn? Can he give us further and better particulars as to what he means by the matter being closed?

510 Hon. N F Costa: Yes, Mr Speaker, that there is no application pending.

The question was whether a particular company has a trade licence. I asked the Secretary, and she said no. I said, 'Is the application pending?', and she said no.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, but as I understand, my hon. Friend, Mr Reyes, he has been given information in the past about an application having been made. What we are now asking is what has happened to that application? Has that application been withdrawn? How do you get to the stage of no application pending? Is it that the application has been withdrawn or... that is the question.

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, I think, again, like with the sub judice question, I have made... and I know that he laughed when I said that I do not interfere in the tendering process, and I can assure him that I never have, nor will I ever, and similarly with the trade licensing. All that I do insofar as trade licensing is concerned is to make sure the Trade Licensing Authority is properly resourced, has the proper software etc and I do not in any way become involved in the processing of applications.

525 So all I can tell the hon. Gentleman is that given that there exists a veritable and independent arm's length relationship between my Ministry and the Trade Licensing Authority, that is the detail that I have in that there is no application pending before it and that the company, as in answer to the original question, does not have a trade licence.

Hon. D A Feetham: But, Mr Speaker, I quite understand that the hon. Gentleman is not going to get involved in who is... granted well, I would hope that he is not going to get involved in who is granted a trade licence and who is not granted a trade licence. But at the end of the day, this is part of the business for which the Government is responsible. It is a Government-owned company and we are perfectly entitled to ask the question.

535 Having in the past been provided the information that an application was made, all we are asking now is what has happened to that application. Has it been withdrawn? If he requires further notice of the question (Interjections) then we can leave it until next month, but what he cannot say is, 'Well, I do not interfere in the trade licensing process and therefore I am not going to give you the information', because as a matter of principle that is wrong.

540 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, I am afraid that we are going to disagree once again. The original question was a very clear, concise question. Does a particular company have a trade licence? The answer, Mr Speaker, is no, it does not. If they want to ask any particular questions relating to the process, then given that I do not interfere in that particular process, notice should have been given to me and I would have asked.

545 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister confirm whether this company is in fact a Government-owned company or not or is it one of these companies that is benefitting from the supposed business nurture scheme. Because the information that we have from a search that we conducted at Companies House suggests that the registered office of the company is 31 Town Range and the original subscribers of the shares are individuals, whose names I will not mention, but I think that they are employees of a Government-owned company or indeed of the Government. So can he confirm what the status of this company's ownership is?

555 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, it is quite clear that the original question really bore no bearings on what they really wanted to ask. If that is what they wanted to ask, that is what should have appeared on the face of the question. I am not the Company Registrar. I am the Minister responsible for commercial affairs, which includes the trade licensing section. You asked me a question as to whether a particular company has a licence, and I have already said no.

560 If he wanted to know the directorship, the shareholding, whether there are nominal shares or a trust or whatever, he should have asked those questions on the face of the original question. I do not have that information because it did not occur to me to think that I would be asked about the particular structure of a particular company when the question is so far removed – the supplementary – from the original that it beggars belief, certainly in our view, that I should be asked now about the structure of ownership of a company when all I am being asked is whether a particular company has a trade licence.

565 The answer for the fourth time, I believe, is no, it does not.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, this question is a highly relevant question.

570 He is a Minister of the Crown, Mr Speaker. He ought to know, and he can ask in collegiate fashion his other fellow Ministers around him, whether this company... he can ask the Hon. the Minister for Employment I am sure he knows –

Hon. N F Costa: Why do you not ask that question then?

575 Hon. D J Bossino: Well, Mr Speaker, he needs to know now whether this company is a Government-owned company or not, and it is relevant to the question posed –

Hon. N F Costa: No it is not.

580 Hon. D J Bossino: – because he is saying, Mr Speaker, that he does not go behind the Trade Licensing Authority –

Hon. N F Costa: No, I do not.

585 Hon. D J Bossino: So he does not know whether the Trade Licence Authority accepted or rejected the application. But if it is a Government-owned company, right, he ought to know whether the Government decided to withdraw the trade licence application or simply decided not to proceed with it for any other reason. That is why I am asking – and it is a highly pertinent and relevant question and the Minister ought to know it – whether this company is a Government-owned company. Does he know or does he not?

590 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, I do not know, because I have just explained to him in plain English and perhaps he is going to accuse me now of using the English language as a travesty to worm myself out of a supplementary (Laughter) that given the original question which is simply, does this company have a trade licence? Because he is right, I am the Minister of the Crown responsible for the Trade Licensing Authority, so it is perfectly proper that I should be asked the original question of whether a particular company has a trade licence. Being the appropriate authority, it is only right that I should then go to the Secretary and ask if the company does have a licence.

600 But having answered the question with a simple no, if the purport behind the question was clearly not anything to do with whether or not the company had a licence, but rather in their mind whether there is something else that has to be answered pertaining to ownership and ownership structure and directorship and shares, if that is what he was asking, he should have asked the Registrar for Companies to reveal that information in a simple company search. I am not the Registrar for Companies, I am the Minister for Trade Licensing, and they have asked a question. I have answered.

605 He knows full well that the supplementary that he has asked bears no resemblance and no connection whatsoever to whether the Trade Licensing Authority, which is a Statutory Board, independent from the Minister's office, and rightly so, that determines whether or not a company should be granted a licence, has nothing to do with the ownership of that company, and he knows that. If he has appeared before the Trade Licensing Authority, as I have on many occasions, he would know that that is the case. So to ask me the ownership structure of any particular company is mischievous politically and he knows it. (Interjection)

610 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am not going to get involved in the questions of ownership of this company. I have assumed that it is a Government-owned company, because in answer to previous questions in January, I was told that there were no more of these, No. 6, or Town Range companies that were not Government-owned companies. So I leave that to one side.

615 But does he not accept that when you come to this House you have got to be prepared to deal with supplementaries, and this question is a question in the light of –

620 Mr Speaker: Yes, with all due respect, of course Ministers – and this is something that I have said previously – come to this House. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has been a Minister. I have been a Minister for 16 years. Of course you come with material anticipating a line of questioning in supplementaries, but you cannot cover all contingencies, that is impossible, and on certain matters a Minister is very much in the hands of the public servants, the civil servants who provide him with material.

The original question here is:

630 If the answer had been yes, the Government can provide details, we might have heard that the company was dealing, let us say, in watches, pens, cameras, what have you. Those would have been the details that might have been given, but the answer is no, there is no trade licence currently held by this company and therefore that main question has been answered by the hon. Member and there is a limit to what you can determine beforehand... you can know beforehand what is the line of supplementary questioning that is likely to take place and it is impossible, and this will have happened to hon. Members on that side of the House and on this side of the House who may have been Ministers previously. That is the difficulty at Question Time.

635 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, of course I understand what the difficulty is, having been a Government Minister. Had Mr Speaker allowed me to ask the question, Mr Speaker would have seen the point and the question that I was asking, which was that we all come here to this House, and the Government Ministers do, having done their homework as to potential supplementaries. But you see, the problem here is that the hon. Gentleman has asked about whether this particular company has a trade licence because the Hon. the Minister for Employment has said that an application for a trade licence was made in previous answers to questions. In the light of that it is a perfectly reasonable supplementary (Interjection) to ask whether that was withdrawn or not.

645 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I have not said ever that there –

Hon. D A Feetham: He has.

650 Hon. J J Bossano: So he is attributing something to me that I have not said.

Hon. D A Feetham: I apologise to the Hon. the Minister for Employment. It is Minister Linares that had made the point in the past, I apologise.

655 But the point is the same, that having in the past said an application has been made, he obviously asked the question, 'Well, does he have a licence?' The answer is no, and the supplementary is what has happened to that application? (Interjection)

660 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, as a Point of Order, I never said that either. So I do not know where he is getting that. I never said that they made an application. The hon. Member asked me questions about this company and he asked me about the address and the directors, but never on the trade licence.

665 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, yes, as a result of my question, the Minister then, instead of waiting for the next session of Parliament, wrote to me directly and enclosed a copy of the trade licence application. I consider that as a follow-up of what had happened in Parliament.

665 So the Minister is correct in saying he did not answer it as such. (Interjection) Yes, the Minister is correct in saying that he did not answer that part here in Parliament in front of Mr Speaker, but he did, as Mr Speaker well knows is the practice, then write to me and forwarded to me the information in respect of the application for the trade licence.

670 My question is can Government, having honed it down to any particular Minister, because I do not know who was handling that issue. The question was very simple and I accept the answer is no, it does not have a trade licence. I think a logical supplementary, and if he has the answer now or if not he can provide me with the answer either later on during this session or like previously by correspondence saying is it because the application has been withdrawn or is it because it was not approved. That is, I think, basically what we are trying to get at Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: May I ask the Minister, during the recess before this afternoon, to go back to the civil servants who provided him with certain information and to check whether there is more information available and then inform Parliament?

680 Hon. N F Costa: Yes, Mr Speaker, I was in fact going to suggest that I would do exactly that, but I am a little struck by the latest supplementary. If the hon. Gentleman is now telling us that the Hon. Minister forwarded to him a trade licence... a copy of the application, and I am telling them that the matter has been closed and the Secretary to the Trade Licensing Authority has told me that there is no application pending, then it does not take a rocket scientist to deduce that it must have been withdrawn, but having said that –
685 (Interjection) But having said that – (Interjection) Yes, of course –

Mr Speaker: Let's... May I –

690 Hon. N F Costa: If the matter is closed there is no application pending. [Inaudible]

Mr Speaker: Will the Minister –

Hon. N F Costa: Yes, I will, Mr Speaker.

695 Mr Speaker: Please do what I have asked you to do and come back this afternoon. Thank you. We can proceed.

Q131/2014
Underwater hull cleaning of ships –
Use of toxic cocktails

Clerk: Question 131, the Hon. J J Netto.

700 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Port state if there is any diving company operating in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters which undertakes underwater hull cleaning of ships, using toxic cocktails that threaten sensitive marine life?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

705 Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, in answer to the Hon. J J Netto, I can confirm that there is no diving company that carries out underwater hull cleaning within British Gibraltar Territorial Waters that uses toxic cocktails.

710 The underwater hull cleaning conducted in Gibraltar Waters are of a mechanical nature, by means of compressed air which drives wire brushes.

Hon. J J Netto: I am grateful, Mr Speaker, for the Hon. Minister's reply, but this mechanical process which the Minister alludes to, is that done inside the dry docks or outside at sea?

715 Hon. N F Costa: Yes, Mr Speaker, that is a question that I asked of the various officials that I spoke to and it is a process that is conducted in water... in the sea.

Hon. J J Netto: Can the Minister inform Parliament what chemicals are used in that particular process?

720 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, again that is a question I also asked and there are no chemicals used for the underwater hull cleaning of ships. I am assured that no chemicals are used to clean the hull of ships.

As I explained to him, it is a mechanical process which uses compressed air which drives the wire brushes. I am assured that there are no chemicals used in the cleaning.

725 Hon. J J Netto: So I take it that the Minister has asked the question to officials and he can confirm to Parliament that there are no toxic chemicals used in that process.

730 Hon. N F Costa: Yes, Mr Speaker, I can confirm to the hon. Gentleman that after having spoken over the phone to the relevant official in the Ministry for the Environment, she confirmed to me that she is not aware – and obviously the Environment Department would be – that they are not aware of any process in Gibraltar that conducts underwater hull cleaning of ships that uses chemical cocktails. As I have said, it is a mechanical process that uses compressed air. It does not use chemical cocktails.

735 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, obviously I am grateful for that information. I just would probably write to him so that he can actually go back to the officials and give me the sort of guarantee that I am seeking at a later date.

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, I am more than happy to write to the hon. Member opposite – 740 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Enclosing a copy of the Hansard.

Hon. N F Costa: Yes, I was about to say, enclosing a copy of the Hansard. I can assure him that I would not make a statement in this House unless I recalled correctly a conversation I have had with the relevant environmental official. She was adamant that there is no use of chemical... toxic cocktails for underwater hull cleaning.

Q132/2014
Proposed new small boats marina –
Waiting list for berths

745 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Clerk: Question 132, the Hon. D A Feetham.

750 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please state how many people are on the waiting list for berths at the proposed new small boats marina?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

755 Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Yes, Mr Speaker, as of 17th February of this year there are 895 individuals currently registered on the waiting list for berths at the new proposed small boats marina.

760 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, well, first of all congratulations on your promotion.
In relation to the supplementary, 855 on the waiting list, how many of those does the Hon. Minister envisage will actually get berths at the end of the day?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, that was a very mean spirited comment. Given that I am the Minister for the Port and the Dock Controller compiles a list, it made perfect sense to us anyway that I should answer.
Secondly –

765 Chief Minister (Hon F R Picardo): You certainly have a better chance of ever taking the job than he [inaudible] – (Laughter)

Hon. N F Costa: Secondly, as the hon. Gentleman knows, due to our press announcements, the small boats marina will have 700 berths, so 700.

Q133/2014

Proposed new small boats marina berths –
Provision of free water and electricity

770 Clerk: Question 133, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister state whether the Government has received representations for water and electricity to be provided free of charge to the owners of boats that will berth in the proposed new small boats marina and what is Government policy in this respect?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, this lowly mortal rises humbly to say no. There have been no such representations and in line with the position at Cormorant Camber, the other small boat marina in Gibraltar, where water and electricity are available, the policy of the Government is that any such usage must be paid for by the individual users of such. The new small boats marina has in fact incorporated into the design measures to control such usage. Allowing the free usage of commodities, such as water and electricity, can lead to unnecessary wastage.

Q134/2014

Sports injury clinic –
Setting up and running

Clerk: Question 134, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

785

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Sport state when the sports injury clinic outlined in the Government's manifesto will be set up and how it will be run?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

790

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the sports injury clinic is being discussed with health professionals of the GHA, who will be recommending the best way forward on how it should be set up and run. I can assure the hon. Lady that the sports injury clinic, which is a manifesto commitment, will be up and running before the next General Election.

795

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, is the Minister considering for the GHA to refer patients to private practice professionals as an alternative option?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, as stated in the answer to the question originally, we are just in discussions with the GHA professionals as to the way forward, and therefore we have still not had that advice.

800

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: But could the Minister confirm if that is one of the options? Would a GHA-run separate sports injury clinic be set that is run by GHA professionals or will the services be contracted out to private service providers within the community?

805

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker we are looking at all options.

Q135/2014
John Mackintosh Hall –
Vacancy for caretaker

Clerk: Question 135, the Hon. E J Reyes.

810 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to Question 19/2014, is the Minister for Culture now able to say when the position of caretaker at John Mackintosh Hall will be advertised and by when it is expected that this position will be filled?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

815 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 136.

Q136/2014
John Mackintosh Hall –
Vacancy for night receptionist

Clerk: Question 136.

820 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to Question 20/2014, is the Minister for Culture now able to say when the vacancy for night receptionist at John Mackintosh Hall will be advertised, and by when it is expected this position will be filled?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

825 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the answer to these questions remain as that of January's Parliament, Question 19/2014 and 20/2014.

830 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, if I recall from the previous answers we have had to these questions, which I know dates back to the summer of last year, the Minister has been saying all along that it is a matter that had to be included in the Agenda of the Board and so on. In fact even the Speaker prompted to the Minister that as Chairman of the Board he would have to ensure that the matter was there.

Therefore, is the Minister able to enlighten us as to when this matter will be discussed with the Board and by when we will be able to at least estimate when the positions will be filled?

835 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I understand that the next Board meeting is sometime in late March to early April.

Q137/2014
Facilities for cricket and rugby –
Update

Clerk: Question 137, the Hon. E J Reyes.

845 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to Question 21/2014, can the Minister for Sports and Leisure inform this House if he has now identified and agreed upon with the respective Sports Governing Associations any alternative facilities to Europa Sports Grounds for the playing, teaching and development of either cricket or rugby?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

850 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, no, sir.

855 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, does the Minister have in his schedule already at least some date for when he expects to meet with these Associations so that they can discuss the matter, given that cricket, for example, is a game that is played in the summer season and the summer period is fast approaching us?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, there is a question in the Order Paper, which is the next one, or at least there is a question on that specifically.

860 But just to say that I do meet them regularly anyway and we are discussing, like the answer to the previous question, all options, and therefore I do meet up with them. He was in the GBC Awards talking to Mr Ross Brooks from the cricket, who came after to talk to me. I meet them regularly in my office, so that is not an issue. The issue which is subject to this question... the answer is simply no, sir.

Q138/2014
Heritage sites –
Details of works carried out

Clerk: Question 138, the Hon. E J Reyes.

865 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Heritage provide details of all works, together with respective cost, undertaken at any Heritage-related site since the answer to Question 22/2014, stating by whom these works were carried out?

870 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, further to answer to Question 22/2014, I now hand over to the hon. Member opposite, the information requested.

Schedule to Question No. 138/2014

Further works undertaken at Heritage sites inclusive of costs and works carried out.

a) Site: Charles V Wall

Works: Conservation and restoration works.

Contractor: Knightsfield Holdings Ltd.

Total Amount: £ 13,038.27

875 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, perhaps the Minister does have a bit more information, in respect of the answer provided, that the site is Charles V Wall. Given the rather extensive length of Charles V Wall, can the Minister guide me a little bit as to which part of the Charles V Wall we are talking about?

880 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I cannot specifically say which part of it, but I can say that all these works are for the removal of vegetation on the wall. Because this is a historic wall, the works are done with extreme care and the knowledge of what and how to remove this vegetation. It is the removal of loose material and modern accretions. In many cases modern materials, such as cement or rust metal, cause significant damage to the ancient walls. Once again, this work is done with extreme care and knowledge.

885 Close-up conservation surveying of the wall with use of scaffolding is another part which they are doing. This was all in the preparation for the conservation and consolidation process on that sector of the wall, which is currently undergoing and if the hon. Member just passes by, he will see that by Prince Edward's Gate and around that area, where the Housing Department have put some scaffolding, we have taken the opportunity of using that scaffolding or at least the company of using the scaffolding in order to lower the costs so that they can look at the wall.

So on the back of other works, this company is using the materials of the other company in order to again, like I say, lower costs to look at the damage that the vegetation might be doing to the wall.

Hon. E J Reyes: One further little thing, Mr Speaker. The Minister mentioned that in the removal of vegetation and loose materials and so on, they were also taking advantage to perhaps put right... and he mentioned I think that it was rusted iron and cement and so on. Is that something that as a result of inadequate repairs having been carried out in the past, we are now having to modify that? Does he have any information that could enlighten me as to how metal and cement has ended up in walls that obviously at the time of construction originally were not available?

895

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, if I can give him an example of what has been happening with many of our heritage sites, is the indiscriminate use of the wall at the later stage and people actually putting them there and therefore not having the proper regulation of, for example, putting up a box or putting up a washing line or things like that, which people have been doing for many, many years, and therefore not realising where exactly they are putting it. These are the sort of things that the wall itself now has and it has damaged the wall. Therefore, the conservation that is going on now is to remove these things and to properly cement it so that the wall is safeguarded.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Can I reassure the Minister that given the explanations he has carried out, he will always find our support from this side of the House because we are as concerned as he is in maintaining these listed buildings, which is what they are, properly. Perhaps jointly run and divided we can appeal to the general public at large to look after Gibraltar so that we, all Gibraltarians, can be rightly proud of our own heritage.

910

Q139/2014
Europa Sports Ground –
Availability for Gibraltar Cricket Association

Clerk: Question 139, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Sports and Leisure confirm if Europa Sports Ground will continue to be made available to the Gibraltar Cricket Association as in the past, for the summer season of 2014?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Yes, sir, I can confirm that the Europa Sports Ground will continue to be available, as it has been for many years, to the Gibraltar Cricket Association for the summer of 2014.

Hon. E J Reyes: That is very good news indeed, Mr Speaker.

May I ask the Minister – perhaps he does have the information at hand, if not it is a matter we can discuss next month – I know that he answered last year, in preparation for the 2013 season, his Ministry or the Sports Authority made some investments in helping to ensure that the playing surface was as adequate as possible and so on, given that now we know that in 2014 there will luckily be some cricket being played there again, does the Minister have any plans for any modifications or minor repairs in respect so that the pitch is in a good playable condition as possible?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I can assure the hon. Member that the pitch... I have not had any representation either from the Cricket or anybody using that pitch as to the quality of the pitch. The pitch is already in an adequate position in an adequate state. So therefore there is no need at this moment in time to make any investment there.

935

What the hon. Member has asked... and I am happy to say that I have already had conversations with the Gibraltar Cricket Association in order for them to be able to use, like the question states, the Europa Point all the summer. So I am happy to say and I am glad that the hon. Member is happy as well, that cricketers can play cricket in the Europa Sports Ground this year.

HEALTH AND THE ENVIRONMENT

Q140-142/2014

Coach park; No. 6 Convent Place – Works carried out on trees

Clerk: Question 140, the Hon. J J Netto.

940

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if some trees in the former coach park have been cut down or uprooted, specify what type of trees these were? If cut down, could the Hon. Minister state why, and if uprooted, where will such trees be replanted?

945 Also, can the Minister state if this issue has been discussed at the DPC, and if so, state the date and reference number on the Agenda of the DPC meeting?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

950 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 141 and 142.

Clerk: Question 141.

955 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if any palm trees in the vicinity of No. 6 Convent Place have been removed, and if so, state how many, why they have been removed, and where will they be replanted, if at all, and state when was this issue discussed at a meeting of the DPC, and state the reference number on the Agenda?

Clerk: Question 142.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if any of the pepper trees in the back courtyard of No. 6 Convent Place have been removed, and if so state why? Also, if it is intended that they will be replanted, and when was this issue discussed at a meeting of the DPC, and what was the reference number on agenda of the meeting?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

970 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, arising from a request from the Housing Projects Contractor, the Department of the Environment carried out an assessment of the existing trees in the coach park and advised which could be felled, taking into account their position within the footprint of the development and also the state of the tree.

975 The trees removed were Yuccas and Pepper trees, which were in a very poor state and could not be replanted. A Ficus Elastica, otherwise known as a rubber plant, was also removed as this is notorious for growing very large. In addition, a row of small cypresses was also removed. The removal of trees was tabled at the DPC meeting held on 30th January 2014, Item 17 on the Agenda.

The hon. Member should note that the new housing development will include landscaped areas with new trees, many of which will be of better quality and form than the ones removed.

980 Two Phoenix Palms in planters west of No. 6 perished after being infected by the red palm weevil. These were subsequently removed by the MOD who used to maintain these planters adjacent to the Old Guard House. Applications are not usually made to DPC for the removal of dead or badly diseased trees.

985 The Pepper trees in the rear courtyard of No. 6 Convent Place have been removed. These trees were in a poor state for a number of years and had been continually pollarded as there was a concern that they could not bear the weight of the branches. Replanting was not an option due to the state of the trees. The matter was tabled at the subcommittee meeting of the DPC held on 20th January 2014 where it was approved. The subcommittee's decision was reported to the DPC for information purposes at the meeting held on 30th January 2014, Item 22 on the Agenda.

990 It may interest the Member opposite that the request for removal of the Pepper trees had been made in 2011 and the trees had been assessed on 21st September 2011, when the recommendation was made to replace them. If I may add, Mr Speaker, clearly this was requested during the previous Government's time. I was still Director of the Botanic Gardens, but I had broken my ankle four days before, so I was not personally involved in that assessment which recommended the removal.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Minister for the information given to Parliament.

995 In relation to the Pepper trees, I think he has partly answered the question, the issue is that the item to remove the Pepper trees was discussed; I believe he said on 30th January, but was dealt with by the subcommittee.

1000 I also understand, and perhaps he could correct me if I am wrong, that the deliberation of the subcommittee is not something which is minuted; therefore members of the public, who may wish to see the minutes of that particular meeting... I understand the minutes of the whole meeting of the 30th is simply not on the Government website simply because it has to be approved at the next meeting, which is next week, on Tuesday.

1005 But given that the discussion was with the subcommittee for information purposes only, members of the public have not got access as to the reasons why this decision was taken. Obviously we have the answer now, thanks to the Minister in Parliament, but for members of the public, is it not the case that they have not got information, if they wanted to know, why the decisions to remove certain trees in different parts of Gibraltar are taken by the DPC?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the procedure by which certain matters are taken to a subcommittee of the DPC is in order to speed up the process. They are then reported to the open meeting and they can be 1010 picked up and discussed. I believe they are on the Agenda, but I need to confirm that.

I seem to recall that there was a brief discussion at the open meeting, the meeting in public, which referred to the trees. I seem to recall that, and certainly, which may not have been clear from my answer, the intention within the project is that there will be trees placed in those locations. But the subcommittee's meetings are reported too, and there is an opportunity at the public meeting for discussion.

1015 But, as I say, if all the items that go to the subcommittee, which are normally fairly straightforward... I mean a rotten tree is a rotten tree. I do not know whether the hon. Member is asking for evidence that they were rotten, because I have photographs here which I can produce, so much so that on removal of one of the railings by the contractors one of the trees started to fall. So they were in fact dangerous.

Q143/2014
Aerial Farm Housing Project –
Soil testing for contaminated waste material

1020 Clerk: Question 143, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister state if the soil at the Aerial Farm Housing Project has been tested for any contaminated waste material and if so, provide Parliament with the relevant report?

1025 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, yes, there has been testing for contaminated waste material. A copy of the report will be made available electronically.

1030 Let me point out, Mr Speaker, that I believe we were having some difficulty in e-mailing it because of its size. If the hon. Member does not receive it today by e-mail, an electronic copy will be provided, either on disk or pen drive tomorrow. If that fails, then we will print a copy, but it will be made available to him.

Hon. J J Netto: I am grateful, Mr Speaker.

Q144/2014
New ambulances –
Manual handling of patients

Clerk: Question 144, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say what Health and Safety measures are in place on board the new ambulances to avoid the manual handling of patients?

1040

Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, Health and Safety measures to avoid the manual handling of patients on board the new ambulances are the following.

1045 For the Patient Transport Unit: Hi-tech manual handling equipment that has been purchased with the new PTS unit includes Compact 2 Track Chair with track to descend down stairways without lifting the patient making it safer for the patient and crew; the EZ Glide powered chair, which can be a conventional transit chair one moment and then power the patient upstairs or downstairs without any requirement for them to be transferred to another chair; the Ferno EZ Glide powered chair is designed to climb or descend 1050 stairs at the push of a button, a motorised track system carries the load greatly reducing any operator fatigue, with a maximum load of 35 stones or 227 kg.

For the High Dependency Ambulance : High tech manual handling equipment purchased for the new High Dependency Ambulance includes a harrier LT LBS stretcher; powered ambulance trolley with horizontal lift; polyurethane moulded cot sides to provide protection for the patient; directional wheel lock for ease of manoeuvrability; twin ram stability control; soft stop and start; reduction in manual handling injuries —lightweight, easy to design, incorporating ergonomic push/pull handle options, smooth powered lifting action — lift up to 350 kg with a soft start/stop vertical movement; and easy to manoeuvre lightweight trolley using optimum performance low resistance wheels and various operator push/pull handles and push-pole options; simplified high-performance battery management with removable and rechargeable 28 volt battery with up to 77 lifts from one charge, visible battery level indicator and just one hour recharge; for excellent hygiene and infection control, which is IPC compliant, incorporating anti-microbial paint finish, use of Silver Biosafe harness restraints and easy to clean pressure relief mattress for loading and unloading of patients onto the ambulance is carried out by a tail lift, so there is no need for ambulance crew to lift or hold the weight.

Hon. N F Costa: The starship Enterprise. (Banging on Desks)

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am wondering whether there is any need for human beings in all of that. (Laughter)

Q145 and Q152-153/2014
Physiotherapy Department – Staffing; waiting list increase

1070 Clerk: Question 145, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, further to Written Question 168/2013, can the Minister for Health say if the vacant physiotherapy position has been filled?

1075 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Hon. Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 152 and 153.

1080 Clerk: Question 152.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, further to Written Question 5/2014, can the Minister for Health say what the reason or reasons for the long waiting list and long waiting times are for physiotherapy treatment?
1085

Clerk: Question 153.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, further to Written Question 5/2014 can the Minister for Health say how he will be addressing the growing trend and three-fold increase in the last two years of those on the physiotherapy waiting list and the length of time to wait before physiotherapy treatment?
1090

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the reason for the increase in the waiting list has been an unfortunate series of events in relation to staffing. The increase has been in the waiting list for adult chronic muscular related conditions. This is because as these are considered by the professionals to be the least vulnerable of patient groups, any shortfall in other physiotherapy disciplines tend to be filled by redeployment of staff from this area.

1100 During 2013 we lost our three experienced assistants for a variety of reasons within a space of six months, resulting in a build-up of caseload as this work needed to be absorbed by the physiotherapists. In addition, much of their time – the latter’s time – was taken in training up the new staff.

There were also during this period three episodes of significant injury among the staff, varying from three to 16 weeks. A locum was contracted in order to tackle the waiting list and reduce the impact, but a member of staff left so that the locum ended up covering that post instead.

1105 Recruitment has proved difficult despite the best attempts. The post was finally filled on 6th January, 2014. In order to clear the backlog, further locum will be brought in as soon as possible. Fortunately though, through hard work by the Department, the waiting list is now finally reducing, dropping from 384 in October 2013 to 155 on 7th February 2014 – that is two and a half times lower in four months.

1110 I am hopeful that this unfortunate series of events will not be repeated and that the waiting list will soon become stabilised at a much lower level.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, the Hon. Minister mentioned the loss of three experienced physiotherapists and various loss of expertise due to injury. Can the hon. Minister say when these vacancies will be filled? When recruitment will finally take place?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the three posts referred to were for physiotherapy assistants and they have already been filled.

Q146/2014
New Mental Health Act –
Progress on Bill

Clerk: Question 146, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1120 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health give this House a progress report on the drafting of the new Mental Health Act and when it will be ready?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

1125 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, a preliminary draft Bill for a new Mental Health Act is ready and is being scrutinised by the Mental Health Working Group, which consists of mental health professionals and practitioners to ensure that it reflects the Government’s priorities – that is to say that it puts patients first, that it reflects best practice in the field of mental health treatment and that it is feasible to implement.

1130 Given the importance we attach to the process of scrutiny and analysis in this sensitive area, I would not want to rush it; however, I am reasonably confident that a Bill can be introduced into this Parliament by the end of this year.

Q147/2014
GHA neurology services –
Progress report

Clerk: Question 147, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1135 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, as per his Budget Speech, can the Minister for Health give this House a progress report on the review of GHA neurology services and what additional services will be offered under the umbrella of neurological conditions?

1140 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, discussions are at an advanced stage with a major UK hospital and details will be published as soon as these are completed.

1145 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister give an indication of the kind of services increase or improvement in services that the GHA is looking at?

1150 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, we are in discussions at the moment and considering a range of possibilities to improve what we currently offer and perhaps to enhance this, but I am not able to give any more details at this stage.

Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister say if he is looking at increasing the visits of the neurologist, the specialist, or setting up a clinic here, or recruiting a neurology nurse to run a clinic here or occupational therapy? I mean, any sort of indication.

1155 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I do not think it would be correct or fair to give details now. We are very advanced in discussions with a major UK hospital. A number of these issues are still due to be confirmed and I do not want to commit myself at this point in time.

Long-term mental illness –
Extra accommodation for patients

Clerk: Question 148, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1165 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, as per the Government's manifesto, can the Minister for Health say when Government will be developing, 'extra buildings to serve as sheltered accommodation for patients with long-term mental illness' and if those buildings will be on-site by the new mental health facility?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

1170

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, no decision has been taken on this matter.

1175 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, is the Minister suggesting that this manifesto commitment will not be fulfilled?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, no, he is not. The Minister is saying that no decision has been taken on the matter.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, does that mean a decision has not been taken that the buildings will be on site? Are they looking at somewhere else to place this sheltered supervised accommodation?

1185 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Perhaps I should have said no decision has been taken on these matters and then it would have not required this supplementary.

Q149/2014
GHA GPs –
Issuing of prescriptions

Clerk: Question 149, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1190 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say if GHA GPs are able to issue prescriptions for more than six months; and, if so, what is the longest period of time they can do this for?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

1195 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, there is no limit laid upon the GHA GP's ability to issue prescriptions for any length of time, provided this is done in units of 28 days per prescription. However, as a matter of practice, doctors rarely issue more than six months prescriptions at a time in order to be able to reassess their patients periodically. When longer term prescriptions are issued, these are usually for chronic diseases that require very little monitoring.

Q150-151/2014
Colorectal cancer –
Screening

1200 Clerk: Question 150, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health explain why the colorectal cancer screening is only for those aged 60 – 74?

1205 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 151.

1210 Clerk: Question 151.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say who the local consultant surgeon with specialist experience in colorectal cancer is, who will be picking up on the negative tests from the colorectal cancer screening programme?

1215 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the incidents of colorectal cancer in unscreened populations rises sharply from the late fifties and begins to fall after the late seventies. This is observed in the local community as well as in large countries like the UK.

1220 The UK set up its colorectal cancer screening programme in 2006, initially screening people between the ages of 60 and 69, and then from 2009 extended the upper limit to 74 to improve programme effectiveness.

1225 The University of Sheffield reappraised the UK colorectal cancer screening programme in 2011 and found that this is the optimal screening range, yielding a reduction of cancer mortality by 28.5%. Extending the range on either side would not save more lives. However, it should be noted that the GHA also provides regular diagnostic services through which any cancer producing symptoms at other ages, or during the interval between screening dates, can be picked up.

1230 Negative tests will clearly not be followed up by the surgeon. I am assuming the Member opposite means a positive test. In these cases, the consultant surgeon with specialist experience in colorectal cancer is Mr Ezzat Tadros.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for that information. The Minister is alluding to the fact we are reflecting what is being offered in the UK.

1235 My understanding is that other European countries and the USA offer screening for those aged 50 and over, claiming that is when increased risks start. Was the epidemiology of those countries and as to why they offer it from the age of 50 looked at, because when the breast screening programme was introduced in the Gibraltar it was actually offered from the age of 40 – 10 years more than in the UK where it is often from 50? I just wondered whether that perhaps could also have been offered in Gibraltar, in terms of this colorectal screening.

1240 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, indeed, as the Member opposite will know, we have in fact improved on the breast screening programme by reacting to the dynamic nature of this and reacting to more recent research.

1245 My professionals have advised me that this is the proper limit. They will have studied all the different options. They are clearly very, very confident in this sort of thing and we are satisfied that certainly this is the correct way to start. However, we will of course respond to research in what, I repeat, is a dynamic world, the world of medicine, and we will tailor it as necessary if the evidence so suggests in the future.

1250 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Finally, Mr Speaker, will a separate colorectal cancer screening clinic be set up, such as the separate breast cancer clinic and the prostate cancer clinic which will hopefully be set up shortly?

1255 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: This is a different sort of programme to the breast cancer screening, in that the patient does not actually have to attend at the hospital. As the publicity has already described quite graphically, the sample bottles will be sent to people's homes and then they will send it into the lab; therefore there is no need for separate premises.

However, those who have a positive test will be followed up within the medical investigation unit and there has been some restructuring in the layout of that particular floor in order to allow more space to take in the number of suspected cases that may have to be investigated.

Q154-156/2014
GHA management structure –
Update

1260 Clerk: Question 154, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say who have been the three successful applicants for the three new Unit General Manager posts, and who the successful new Medical Director and Director of Nursing are?

1265 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister of Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 155 and 156.

1270 Clerk: Question 155.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health explain on what role the individuals, who were Executive Directors and whose positions have now been made redundant by the new GHA Management Structure will now be, within the GHA?

1275 Clerk: Question 156.

1280 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health explain how the following remaining GHA services will fit under the new GHA Management Structure and how they will operate – these are Human Resources, Engineering & Estates, Corporate and IT Services, and Finance and Procurement?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

1285 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, in keeping with your ruling at the recent meeting of the House, I will not be giving the names.

Those filling former executive posts no longer required, have either left the organisation or been redeployed or reverted to former roles.

1290 The services referred to will continue as at present, except for corporate services, which now forms part of hospital services.

Mr Speaker: May I say to the hon. Lady that the fact that names will not be provided, does not preclude her from asking relevant supplementary questions in respect of the successful applicants.

1295 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, when the Minister says, 'would revert to former roles', does this mean medical health related roles?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: It depends on what the person was doing beforehand.

1300 If the person who has been redeployed was in a clinical role, then that person will be redeployed to a clinical role. If the person was in an administrative role, then that would have been an administrative role that they would be reverting to.

EQUALITY, SOCIAL SERVICES AND THE ELDERLY

Q157-161/2014

Waterport Terraces Day Centre for the Elderly – Details of services offered

Clerk: Question 157, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1305 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say when the Elderly Day Centre at Waterport Terraces opened and what are its opening hours?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

1310 Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 158 to 161.

Clerk: Question 158.

1315 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say how many elderly people the Elderly Day Centre at Waterport Terraces caters for and whether there is a waiting list to join, and if so, of how many?

Clerk: Question 159.

1320 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say what is the admissions criteria for elderly to the Elderly Day Centre at Waterport Terraces, how they are assessed and how those elderly, who are not mobile, are transported to and from the centre and by whom?

1325 Clerk: Question 160.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say what services are offered to the service users at the Elderly Day Centre at Waterport Terraces and what recreational activities do the service users participate in?

1330

Clerk: Question 161.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say which therapists visit the Elderly Day Centre at Waterport Terraces and how often?

1335

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the Waterport Terraces Day Centre for the Elderly opened on 2nd December 2013.

1340 The Centre is currently open from 9.00 a.m. to 3.00 p.m.

The Waterport Terraces Day Centre can cater for a maximum of 25 people a day. Since the beginning of this year we have already been able to extend the service to an additional 18 people.

There is a current waiting list of 28 people. These have already received an initial assessment of their needs and these people are being gradually integrated into the existing groups.

1345 The services are available for people over the age of 60 years, resident in Gibraltar who are eligible to receive Social Care services. The eligibility criteria for the Day Centre is that people must have critical, substantial or moderate care needs.

An initial assessment is carried out by a social worker, who is trained to identify a range of needs to ensure that the applicant meets the criteria to be in receipt of social care services. The Day Centre co-ordinator then carries out an assessment to ascertain the persons specific support and health and safety needs. The person is then offered an introductory day, where further observations and risk assessments are carried out to ensure the person's needs can be met taking into consideration the levels of support required by other clients.

1350 The service users are provided with a venue in which to provide social interaction and stimulation. Breakfast and lunch are provided and transport to the Day Centre is provided if they have mobility issues that prevent them making their own way. People who cannot make their own way to the Centre will be transported by the Care Agency in a Care Agency vehicle.

1360 Because the Day Centre is relatively large and spacious purpose built and for this exclusive use, we are able to provide a wide variety of services, including new services that promote socialising and interaction between the elderly users.

1365 Recreational activities carried out include a range of arts and crafts activities; exercise sessions; reminiscence workshops; discussion groups and newspapers; music, dancing and singing; cooking session; board games; outings in the community; knitting and crochet sessions; bingo. Outside speakers will also give talks on different subjects. This purpose built Day Centre even has a hair salon, which will be available to those who may wish to use it for a nominal fee in the same way as it is in Mount Alvernia.

The Care Agency is in discussions with the GHA as to what additional therapy can be provided. No therapy was previously available in the old Day Centre and these are new services which are being developed on an inter-agency basis.

Continuation of Q130/2014
Leisure Construction and Maintenance Company Limited –
Details of trade licences

Clerk: Question –

1375 Mr Speaker: Before we proceed with the next question, I understand that the Hon. Mr Neil Costa, the Minister for Tourism and Transport has got the answers that I requested that he should try to see whether he could obtain.

1380 Hon. N F Costa: Yes, Mr Speaker, the Secretary to the Trade Licensing Authority has confirmed that the applicant withdrew the application – withdrew.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, can I invite you to recess the House for 10 minutes?

Mr Speaker: The House will now recess for 10 minutes.

The House recessed at 11.10 a.m. and resumed its sitting at 11.23 a.m.

TRAFFIC, HOUSING AND TECHNICAL SERVICES

Q162/2014
Parking for bicycles –
Facilities available

1385 Clerk: Mr Speaker.
We continue with answers to Oral Questions.
Question 162, the Hon. S M Figueras.

1390 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Traffic provide details to this House of all bicycle parking facilities installed in Gibraltar since December 2011?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

1395 Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the answer is none.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister say whether there are any plans for installation at any point in the near future?

1400 Hon. P J Balban: Yes, Mr Speaker.

Hon. S M Figueras: I am grateful, Mr Speaker.
Could the Minister perhaps provide any further details about where these facilities are expected to be installed?

1405 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the provision of bicycle facilities is something which has been addressed as part of the Traffic Plan. One of the sites that has already been earmarked for such provision is the Commonwealth Park.

1410 Hon. S M Figueras: And the provision of facilities anywhere else in Gibraltar, that is all subject to the STTP?

Hon. P J Balban: Yes.

Q163-164/2014
Alternative forms of transport –
Government's policy

Clerk: Question 163, the Hon. S M Figueras.

1415 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Traffic say what measures this Government has taken since it took office to encourage the use of bicycles as an alternative form of transport?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

1420 Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 164/2014.

Clerk: Question 164.

1425 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Traffic say what measures this Government has taken since it took office, to encourage the decreased use of cars?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

1430 Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, it is the Government's policy to encourage a move towards alternative and sustainable forms of transport and the new Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan will look at ways of achieving this.

Walking and cycling are recognised forms of alternative transport and the provision of cycle lanes is something the Government is committed to. To this end, various options are being considered.

1435 There have already been improvements to the public bus network, including new bus routes and an increase in frequency, both of which provide greater options and flexibility to users.

Hon. S M Figueras: So, Mr Speaker, just in summary, the answer to Question 163 is none, and the answer to Question 164 is effectively a couple of bus routes?

1440 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, as I said, everything to do with bicycles is being looked at within the Traffic Plan, inclusive of bicycle lanes, inclusive of provision of bicycle racks. Also, we are looking at ways of removing bicycles being strapped to certain areas, which become unsightly, like wrapped around trees, posts etc. So we will also be looking at that within the Traffic Plan.

1445 As the hon. Member said, at the moment a lot of work has been done to encourage people to use the bus routes, which is one way of actually encouraging people not to use their private modes of transport and use the public service which has improved tremendously in the past months.

1450 Hon. S M Figueras: Would he say, Mr Speaker, that building another multi-storey car park in the vicinity of the city centre, as he announced in reply to my statement earlier this week, is not really encouraging the decreased use of cars in Gibraltar?

1455 Hon. Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Well, Mr Speaker, the issue of the car park is an issue which relates to a wider manifesto commitment and was a response issued in respect of a statement issued by hon. Members complaining that apparently there were not enough parking spaces provided in the centre of town. So they cannot have it both ways, Mr Speaker. Either they are complaining that there are not enough or they are complaining that perhaps there are too many.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, we are raising the concerns of some about the limited number of parking spaces available and that was the response that was received.

1460 I am referring to the Government's environmental filter and the many occasions on which in this House, it has been said by Members opposite, that they are working to decrease the use of cars in Gibraltar. I am saying, Mr Speaker, that so far they have done none of that and much, much more of encouraging it by making as much parking as possible, not least because they have to recover all the parking lost as a result of the works on the Commonwealth Park. (A Member: Exactly.) That is the point I am making, Mr Speaker.

1465 But I have my answer to the questions and I need ask no further supplementaries.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the hon. Gentleman having clarified the position as he has, because he has made stark the fact that they want to run with the hare that wants more parking, and hunt with the hounds that wants less parking so that there is less car use available. Fair enough, they are in Opposition and they decide how to discharge their functions.

Q165/2014

Provision of new road south through New Harbours– Update on progress

1470 Clerk: Question 165, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Traffic say what progress, if any, the Government has made in providing a new road to the south through New Harbours?

1475 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the Government is looking at options in respect of providing a proposed new road to the south. This is being considered as part of the development of the Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, is the construction of the multi-storey car park that they announced as a reply to my statement earlier this week also something that was tied to the STTP, but was conveniently announced in reply to the statement?

1485 Mr Speaker: That question has got nothing to do with the – (Laughter)

Clerk: Question –

1490 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, will the Minister not accept that in relation to the new road to the south, he does not necessarily need to wait for what the conclusions of the plan are, because it is in fact a manifesto commitment, as set out on page 79 of the Government's manifesto. So does he not accept what I have just said?

1495 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, but it does not necessarily follow that it needs to be that road to the south. There are many options that could be considered as to roads to the south and this is what is being considered.

1500 Hon. S M Figueras: But, Mr Speaker, the commitment was a new road through New Harbours to the south district. Is this another similar case to that of the Commonwealth Park and the parking beneath it?

Hon. Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): No, Mr Speaker, it is that hon. Members need to read the manifesto and understand what it says and how it interplays with what they seem to take great enjoyment and laughing about, which is to wholesale plan that will deal with traffic in Gibraltar, which is something we were commending to them when they were in Government, and they never undertook.

1505 The way in which that road through New Harbours is going to be structured and how it is going to best integrate with the other traffic needs of Gibraltar is something that we are waiting for advice on.

We on this side of the House do not pretend to know everything about everything and when we are taking advice and we are paying for it, we are going to wait to get the advice before we make decisions which are consequent on it.

Q166/2014
Official cars –
Current mileage

Clerk: Question 166, the Hon. S M Figueras.

1515 Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Minister for Traffic confirm the level of Government revenue generated thus far by the sale of the recently added person –

Mr Speaker: Question 166.

1520 Hon. S M Figueras: Ah, of course. I am grateful Mr Speaker.
Can the Minister for Traffic provide details to this House of the current mileage of all the recently acquired official cars including, but not limited to, the Chief Minister's official car, the G1, the recently acquired fleet of Mercedes E-Class Hybrids and Toyota Prius vehicles, broken down by vehicle?

1525 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the information requested by the hon. Member is contained in a schedule, which I now hand over to him.

Answer to Question 166 of 2014

Mileage of the recently acquired fleet of Mercedes E-Class Hybrids and Toyota Prius vehicles (inc. Tesla G1):

G1	Tesla	1,911km
G5001	Mercedes-Benz E Class	4,464km
G5002	Mercedes-Benz E Class	1,638km
G5003	Mercedes-Benz E Class	11,540km
G5004	Toyota Prius	1,249km
G5005	Toyota Prius	1,949km
G5006	Mercedes-Benz E Class	1,789km

Q167/2014
Personalised registration numbers –
Revenue generated

1530 Clerk: Question 167, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Traffic confirm the level of Government revenue generated thus far by the sale of the recently added personalised registration numbers for vehicles in Gibraltar?

1535 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

1540 Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the level of Government revenue generated by the sale of the recently added personalised numbers for vehicles in Gibraltar is £9,250 when the question was asked.

Hon. S M Figueras: I know it is not particularised in the question, but is the Minister able to say how many number plates within the new range established recently that consists of?

1545 I note that he said about £9,000 and he may not have the information. I understand that. I am happy to ask at a later session.

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, yes, there have been 32 numbers sold.

Q168/2014
Directive transposition –
Compliance with European law

Clerk: Question 168, the Hon. S M Figueras.

1550 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, further to his answer to Written Question W13/2014, can the Minister for Traffic say whether he considers the effect of the application of Article 4(6)(c) of Directive 2006/126 EC is to render the Government's transposition of the Directive incompatible with European law, and if not, why not?

1555 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, this question calls for an opinion, but I will answer to confirm that the policy of this Government in transposing the Directive has been to consider that the likelihood of significant personal harm increases the lower the age of the rider, and therefore where permitted by the Directive, we maintained the status quo.

1560 The resulting effect is that the stages through which a rider needs to progress are different in Gibraltar to that of other Member States, where they may have opted for different ages based on their own policy or traditions. For example, in Spain, children aged 14 have for many years been allowed to take charge of a moped. However, in the UK children must be 16 to take charge of a moped. In Gibraltar, even before the 1565 Directive, this has historically not been permitted.

Therefore, in light of the above and due to the fact that Article 4(6)(c) as read within the context of the rest of the Article allows Member States to raise or lower the minimum age for issuing a driving licence to drivers of category A1, Government is therefore advised that there is no incompatibility with European law and is satisfied that Gibraltar is fully compliant with the provision of all relevant directives.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I start by urging the Minister to obtain that opinion. I would certainly, and Members on this side of the House would certainly be interested to read that opinion, if obtained.

Would the Minister agree that although there are... the Minister himself has mentioned that it would require an opinion – (Interjections) Has he not said that? Then I have misheard.

Hon. F R Picardo (Chief Minister): The Question asked for an opinion.

Hon. S M Figueras: Oh, I see. Sorry, I have misheard. I take that back and I am grateful for the clarification.

1580 Mr Speaker, I note what the Minister says in relation to how the Directive effectively allows for riders in other European countries to ride motorcycles at the tender age of 14, but is it not the case however though that by virtue of our implementation of that Directive, we effectively have – and I will be corrected if I am wrong, no doubt by the Minister – we are effectively in a situation where 17-year-olds can obtain a learner's licence and then at 18 a full licence at A2, which are motorcycles in some cases up to 500cc.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I think that the question that we have answered, which as we said called for an opinion in our view, but we felt that we would give it in this instance, whilst reserving the right, of course, to rely on the rules that does not require us to give an opinion.

1590 Mr Speaker: Yes, but, with respect, it becomes ultimately a legal advice that is given and therefore it is a different kind of opinion to being asked whether you agree with what somebody else is saying. That is a different matter altogether.

Here, we are dealing with an Article of a Directive. The Minister is not expressing a personal opinion. He will have been given legal advice on the matter.

Hon. Chief Minister: Exactly, Mr Speaker. It is compliance with the obligation to transpose, and that is what the question is about. We are not going to really become involved in a legal debate about this Directive; it is one of many Directives that is transposed into Gibraltar law. We are advised that we are in compliance with the obligation to transpose in keeping with the transpositional leeway given to the Member States and I think that that is as far as we can take it.

1600

If the hon. Gentleman wants to take us to a debate about a particular aspect of a particular part of the Directive, well, look, he can either give us notice in a motion or if he has a serious particular concern he can write to us and we can look at it. But I do not think it is going to be in anybody's interest that we have an 1605 esoteric debate at the moment without notice of particular issues like that, other than to say that we are very confident that the transposition complies with the requirements of EU law.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, yes, I will deal with the Hon. the Chief Minister's various points.

1610 The first is that I have dealt with this matter previously to raising this oral question in the House. In fact there was a written question at the last session, which formed the basis of my oral question, and there has been correspondence between myself and the Hon. Minister with the relevant responsibility in this respect because this line of questioning, and indeed my pursuit of this issue, arises from concerns that have been raised with me in relation to the effect of the transposition.

1615 The Hon. the Chief Minister says that I should give notice of the question and the question really quite clearly sets out the basis of the issue that I am alluding to and that is that in answer to the written question. In relation to the written question, the Minister said that the Directive, at Article 4... I think it was 4(6)(c) (A Member: Yes.) Article 4(6)(c) allowed the Member State to increase the minimum age for any of the categories for reasons of road safety. I will happily concede that that is very valid and indeed, at first glance, raising it to the age of 18 for A1 is very good indeed; but what it does do, as almost a side effect, is do away with the staged access to motorcycles. That is a key part of the Directive itself.

1620 During discussions for the creation of this Directive, the British participation in it was dissatisfied with staged access because it had been a source of discussion in the UK that staged access did not actually benefit road safety. But despite that, when the Directive was in fact created and the British Government had abstained from it by virtue of its resistance to the staged access, the implementation in the UK does indeed have staged access.

1625 I know, Mr Speaker, that it is a long preamble, but I think it is very relevant to the supplementary that I will ask, which is that in the UK you can get on an A1 motorcycle at the age of 16 and then at the age of 18 on an A2. The point being that the Directive requires a two-year gap and an additional test in order to progress from one category to the other, because it is growing in terms of the power output too.

1630 The whole purpose in my view, Mr Speaker, of the Directive is the staged access, and you see the difficulty I suspect the Government has run into in relation to the implementation of this Directive, was that they were faced with one of two choices, and that was Mr Speaker –

Mr Speaker: Ask the question –

1635 Hon. S M Figueras: I will ask the question, Mr Speaker.

Is it the case that the Government was faced with the difficult decision between lowering the age of access to the first category of A1 to the age of 16 in order to then have the two-year gap to the age of 18 to allow riders onto A2 category motorcycles?

1640 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I think the position is very clear, but if the hon. Gentleman wants to labour it, let us do so.

1645 First of all, his question, to which this is a supplementary, simply asks whether our Directive transposition is in compliance with European law – yes or no. That is the question. Now this supplementary is a detailed analysis of parts of how the Directive has been transposed into law. I do not think it is something that we can be expected to deal with on the hoof like this.

1650 But there is an aspect of what the hon. Gentleman is saying which is obvious and which we are happy to deal with, and it is that you have got to have the gap. Now, you either have the gap by allowing people to start even earlier at 16 and then you have a gap of two years, or at 18 they can take any type of licence – that is the advice that we have. It is advice that puts us in compliance with EU law, which is the first question that he is asking.

1655 If he has a serious concern, Mr Speaker, about road safety, he can be assured that the Government would have the same concerns and if we thought that there was a way of dealing with it, we would. If he wants to make a proposal in writing – which I certainly have not seen in any of the exchanges – which he thinks is in keeping with European law and in keeping with the leeway that we are given under European law and he wants to write to the Minister for Justice and the Minister for Traffic on it, that will always be received in a welcoming way, as long as we are able to agree the parameters and we are able to get the legal advice confirmed. But his question was really one just of compatibility with European law.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, to deal –

1660 Mr Speaker: The hon. Member asked a written question some time ago. I have got a copy of the question and it was a very, very detailed answer and in a way it is a pity that it was not an oral question (Interjection) because then today I think the proceedings now, the exchanges, would be more clear cut if all 1665 hon. Members had the very detailed answer given, which the Minister gave in writing at the time. In a way it is a pity... it complicates matters.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, it is indeed a pity and it was a written question for a reason, the reason being that I simply could not be in the House to address it as an oral question and the Speaker was aware of the fact that I was unable to be here.

1670 However, for the question for this session, I have put the Government on notice that I was referring specifically to the very detailed answer, and in that question I have made specific reference to specific provisions that they themselves raised as justification for their answer. So they were on notice of the direction in which I was taking this, more so because I have tried to elicit this kind of information and made these suggestions behind the Speaker's Chair to the Hon. Minister on a couple of occasions too.

1675 You see, Mr Speaker, dealing with the Chief Minister's point on compatibility, the answer to the written question last month said that Article 6 allowed them to increase the minimum age of A1 to 17 or 18 years of age, and that is correct, Mr Speaker, because I have the provision right here. Article 6 states that Member States may raise or lower the minimum age for issuing a driving licence (c) for category A1 up to 17 or 18 years if there is a two-year difference between the minimum age for Category A1 and the minimum age for Category A2. There is not. That is, Mr Speaker, the basis of my question today and supplementary line of questioning: why do we not have that two-year gap?

1680 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, because we are advised that we do not have to and that what we have done is in compliance with EU law.

Q169/2014
Government rental homes –
Rent arrears

1685 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Clerk: Question 169, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1690 Hon. D J Reyes: Mr Speaker, sir, can the Minister for Housing provide updated details of arrears in respect of unpaid rents pertaining to Government rental homes since the answer provided to Question 1/2014?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

1695 Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the total amount of arrears in respect of unpaid rents as at end of January 2014 was £4,829,405.71.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, sir, I am glad to note that, albeit small, there has now been a decrease from the figure that was owed as at the end of December 2013.

1700 Can the Minister inform this House if this is as a result of a particular exercise that they have been carrying out in order to better get back the arrears owed, some of which I believe are rather long term?

1705 Hon. F R Picardo (Chief Minister): Mr Speaker, I am afraid I am going to have to rise to deal with this issue, because it is an issue that concerns principally the Ministry for Finance and not the Ministry for Housing.

1710 But I have to tell the hon. Gentleman that I think... I fear actually that that figure will be reduced quite considerably by many millions of pounds as a result of an exercise that the Government is going to have to engage in, which will involve the fact that the limitation ordinance is engaged in respect of these arrears, and that many of these arrears are older than six years and that no action has been taken, dramatically in our view, in the past 16 years in a very large measure to deal with any of these arrears. A huge amount, many, many millions of pounds are likely to have to be written off in respect of that amount outstanding as a result of the failure to pursue those arrears in the past 16 years before our election. The hon. Gentleman knows, and I think we have highlighted that we are going to start a process of taking action in respect of arrears, which is only right and proper, so that those who do pay their rent are entitled to see others who do not pay their rents pursued in respect of that.

1715 It will be something that we will have to publicly ensure is made clear as to what amounts actually are recoverable, because there is no point keeping amounts on the register as recoverable if they are not 1720 recoverable given the application of the Limitation Act and they have to in fact be written off. So the hon. Gentleman will see the fruits of that exercise when the Government makes a public statement having done a detailed analysis of those amounts outstanding, given the lack of activity in the time of their Administration in recovering any of those debts.

Hon. E J Reyes: I am grateful, Mr Speaker, but the Chief Minister explained to us what he says is going to happen in the future.

1725 My supplementary homed in now, sort of saying, well, from the figures given as owed at the end of December to the end of January there has already been a small decrease. Has a particular exercise in order to recoup rents, has it already commenced? Is that the result of that? I was asking not what is going to happen, which the Government is going to announce, but what has happened since the last session and his relevant answer.

1730 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, it is a combination of factors. Some people will have paid, and the process of writing off has commenced. The writing off process has commenced because it is by operation of law. It is not that we are saying that we want to write off amounts outstanding; it is that by operation of law they are not amounts recoverable, and as the process of recovery starts, we have to understand what is or is not recoverable. That is why I would ask the hon. Gentleman to wait to see what the actual amount recoverable is and how much is going to have to be written off as a result of the failure to seek recovery earlier.

1740 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I beg to differ. I am not going to have an exchange across the floor in relation to what is the law and what is not the law. It is not that it is operation, that it is not recoverable by operation of the law. The reality is that it is a defence to a claim made for recovery.

I know that in relation to some of the arrears appertaining, for example, to tenants that moved into New Harbours, because I happen to have looked into this recently, in relation to some of those tenants –

1745 A Member: Mid Harbours.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mid Harbours, I beg your pardon. Yes, in relation to those tenants, as part of some of those that owed arrears being given flats in that particular estate, they had to enter into an agreement with the Government to repay part of what they owed in instalments.

1750 Even if that money is owed for more than six years, the fact there is an agreement and an acknowledgement that the debt is owing would have then operated to actually make the money recoverable; indeed, it would have operated for another six years from the date of the agreement.

1755 Has an exercise actually been done, and at what point was the exercise done, in relation to all of them outstanding to – for example, prevent the limitation outstanding at the time that they got into Government – to prevent the limitation period from kicking in whilst they were in Government, because of course he says, ‘Well, this is all due to the last 16 years of GSD Government’? But hang on a minute, the hon. Member has been Chief Minister of Gibraltar for over two years now and is he satisfied that none of these have been statute barred during the time that he was Chief Minister? Has he undertaken that kind of exercise?

1760 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I have been Chief Minister of Gibraltar for 25 months. They were in Administration for 192 months.

1765 In 25 months, we have given effect to many of the manifesto commitments that we entered into. We have found issues to deal with, which are not in our manifesto, and we have not dealt with all of them yet. One of them is the huge amount of arrears which were allowed to be built up in the time of the previous Administration in their 192 months.

1770 The Hon. Gentleman is absolutely right, and I am not going to have a legal debate with him, that the Limitation Act provides a shield not a sword, and therefore it is a defence available to people who have claims made against them. But the Government is not going to go around making claims which it knows there are absolute defences to – namely that the debt is not recoverable under the application of the Limitation Act.

He is right to say that in respect of the Mid Harbour Estate, those who were to move who had arrears outstanding were in some instances required to enter into agreements in respect of those arrears, many of which they have failed to honour; but the fact of the new agreement gives a new deadline term to start running which will require another six years to expire before the amounts are not recoverable.

1775 Of the amounts that we are talking about, the total amount due in respect of Mid Harbours today, both in respect of historic arrears renewed under agreements and current arrears is £371,000 – that is a very small part of the numbers that we are talking about. Of the millions that are going to have to be written off, because of their failure to take action in the 192 months that they were in Office.

1780 Have some amounts had to be written off... because we have been in Office for 25 months and on the first month the first thing we did was not to go to the list of arrears and check what they were and take action. Yes, 25 months have passed and in some of those 25 months, the six-year period will have expired, but not 192 months, which was the time that expired under them and these arrears built up into the incredible figures that we see today.

1785 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I have to say that I am astonished by some of what the hon. Gentleman has said.

1790 When he became Chief Minister of Gibraltar, the arrears stood at just over £4 million. The arrears in October 2013 stood at £4.8 million – it has increased by nearly £800,000 in the time that he was Chief Minister of Gibraltar. That is not prudent management; that is a very high percentage increase. I do not know how he can stand there with a straight face and make some of the points that the hon. Gentleman makes.

1795 But at the very least, rather than just simply writing off amounts outstanding, has the Government not tried to come to an agreement with some of these individuals for the repayment of these arrears in instalments, which would have then led to the limitation period actually running for a further six years, as he has quite rightly conceded in his previous answer?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do enjoy the hon. Gentleman bowling me such easy ones. Does he not realise what he has just exposed himself to?

1800 In the 25 months that I have been in office the arrears have grown by £800,000 he says. Yes, all of it recoverable, because I have only been in office 25 months. Does he not realise that that £800,000, which has to be dealt with, which has to be the subject of an attempt to reach an agreement, which has to be the subject of attempted litigation, is all arrears accruing still recoverable under the Limitation Act? (A Member: Yes.)

1805 Does he not realise that a very large part of the £4 million is what is going to have to be written off because of their lack of diligence in pursuit of these arrears when they were in Office in the Administration of the affairs of this nation? That their lack of diligence, their negligence, is what is going to have to result in millions of pounds being written off for the Exchequer and a huge shame in respect of those people who pay their rents diligently, who pay their electricity diligently, who pay all their dues diligently, although many of them are workers and it hurts their pockets to have to do so. We, Mr Speaker, are on their side and we will ensure that everybody who does not pay their dues is pursued. In our time in Office, no arrears have been accrued which will have to be written off because they are outside the limitation period.

1810 But what a pity, Mr Speaker, that the hon. Gentleman does not realise that when he gets up to speak he has to carry with him the history of the time that they were in Office. Thirteen cases they started in sixteen years for recovery of debt – 13 cases. Of the total amount of agreements they did, there is no more than £371,000 been carried over with a new renewal of liability. That Mr Speaker, speaks volume for the a mi me pertenece culture, which they allowed to ride roughshod and which enabled people not to pay their liabilities whilst they were in Office – not something that will happen whilst we are. (Banging on desks)

1820 Mr Speaker: May I say that I am not allowing any more exchanges as to the history of this matter as to the reasons why the arrears have accumulated. The question is a very specific one, it deals with the amount. That question has been answered. Why the arrears stand at the figure and why they have grown is a matter for debate and it can be debated if hon. Members so wish.

1825 Whilst I am on the matter, I want to give the Hon. Mr Reyes notice that if at the next meeting of the House he asks exactly the same question with a view to updating the information, which he is entitled to do, I will allow him at the next meeting of the House to ask a similar question if he wants the arrears as at the end of February. I will allow him that question, but I will not allow any exchanges as to the reasons why. He will get that information and that will be the end of the matter, because these are questions that are coming up again, and again, and again. It is exactly the same question and it is not going to result in a debate in the exchanges that we are having here this morning.

1830 If hon. Members want to debate the reasons for the arrears, let them bring a motion to the House and the matter can in any case, I am sure it will, come up in the debate on the Budget when the whole thing is under consideration once again.

1835 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, may I make an offer to the House generally, which –

Mr Speaker: I noticed that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition wanted to intervene before, and then I will allow him to come back.

Hon. Chief Minister: Fair enough.

1840 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, in fairness to the Opposition, we have not sought to debate the reasons for the arrears, all we have asked is very straightforward questions about the arrears, and it is the Hon. the Chief Minister that has introduced and politicised the answer and introduced debate by basically saying that this is all because of the Government.

1845 Mr Speaker: But you have not been stopped from expressing your own point of view, have you? (Hon. D A Feetham: No, no!) You have been allowed to do so as well. (Hon. D A Feetham: No.) It is just that I think the matter has gone far enough.

1850 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, now, Mr Speaker, if I may ask the Hon. the Chief Minister, I note that he feels proud of his record as Chief Minister that arrears have increased by my calculation, I could be wrong, to nearly 20% from what they were in 2011. I have to say that I do not think that that is a record to crow about or to feel proud about.

1855 But let me bowl him a gentle one, perhaps he might change his practice of the past and at the very least provide me with a straight answer to a straight question. Out of the £4 million, how much is non-recoverable because of the limitation period?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, may I start by reflecting simply the offer I was going to make. Well, it is not an offer, I think it is a statement that I think will be welcomed, I hope, by both sides of the House.

1860 This is obviously an issue of public importance and the fact that Mr Reyes has asked the question on a number of occasions suggests that the Opposition want the information, and the Government has absolutely no compunction in ensuring that the information is provided.

1865 What I am going to ask that the Ministry for Housing do is that they add a head to the statistics that are published on line before the end of each month, which gives the updated figure every month, and in that way Mr Reyes will be able to access the information, as will members of the public. Then, if necessary, questions can be asked, based on the figures published, and we can have different types of questions.

1870 Mr Speaker, I want to deal with the issue raised by the hon. Gentleman giving him the information that I have available at the moment. I am grateful for the opportunity that he offers me to provide that information. The exercise has not been done as to what amount is actually recoverable and not as an exercise as I said in the answer of my first supplementary is ongoing, but I am going to try and give him the information that may enable him to work it out.

1875 In 1996 the amount outstanding in respect of rent was £655,000. Does he have that figure, £655,000 in 1996? He knows it is £4 million by the time we reach 2011. It had risen to £872,000 by March 1997. It was £1,105,000 by March 1998 – just in case he has difficulty working it out, Mr Speaker, that meant it doubled almost in the first two years of GSD Administration. An increase of 33.1% in the same 25-month period more or less that he is talking about when I should not be proud of my record. So it reached £2 million by March 2002. It reached £3 million by March 2005. It was £4 million by 2011 and we are now doing the process of working out where the six-month guillotine lies.

1880 I will have the information hopefully, as I told the hon. Gentleman, very soon and it will form the subject of a public statement, one which they will not be happy to read.

1885 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, that does not provide me with the answer to the question that I am seeking, nor does it justify at all the statements that the hon. Gentleman has made, because I would have expected...the hon. Gentleman comes to this House and makes a song dance saying, because there was so much owing under the GSD Administration, which is not recoverable, not recoverable because it is owing for over six years.

1890 None of what he has told me actually allows me to make any kind of assessment or anybody any kind of assessment as to what proportion of the £4 million is statute barred. I would have thought that for a Government that makes itself responsible, as it must, for the answers, and a Chief Minister that makes himself responsible for the answers that he gives to this House, and the song and dance he has made about arrears been owing and the mismanagement by the GSD of all this money that is not recoverable, that at least he could have said, 'Well, we estimate that it is going to be £2 million or £1 million', but he has not. He does not even have that information.

1895 Is it because he does not have that information or is it because he does not want to provide it to this House today because he wants to make a public statement later. It does not provide an answer to the question. The very fact that there is £655,000 outstanding in 1996 and £4 million in 2011 does not give me the answer as to how much of that £4 million is recoverable because you are perhaps talking about different people, or you may be talking about people in respect of which agreements have been entered into, so the limitation period continues to run. So it does not provide me with the answer at all. Is he going to provide me with a straight answer to that gentle bowl that I bowled him earlier on?

Mr Speaker: If the Hon. Chief Minister is not able to provide the answer just now, I suggest that he just leaves it and provides the answer in due course when the exercise has progressed sufficiently.

Hon. Chief Minister: I am very grateful, Mr Speaker, that is exactly the position.

1905 As I said in my first answer, the exercise in detail has not been done and because I am responsible for my answers in this House, I have told him I cannot give him chapter and verse. But he needs to understand Mr Speaker, and I know that he thought that he had got us on this one and I could see his animus when he was coming out with the press release, 'Ah, I have got him. This is the a mi me pertenece culture, which I am really going to go for'.

1910 The exercise which relates to these figures, Mr Speaker, shows that it is cumulative and it will show, Mr Speaker, in my view, when the exercise is done, that over £3 million will have to be written off because of their negligence.

Q170-171/2014
Mid-Harbour Estate –
Works to counteract anti-social behaviour

Mr Speaker: Next question.

1915 Clerk: Question 170, the Hon E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to Question 2/2014, can the Minister for Housing provide updated details, together with estimated completion dates, in respect of works still to be completed at Mid-Harbour Estate?

1920

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 171.

1925

Clerk: Question 171.

Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer to Question 3/2014, can the Minister for Housing provide details of any further actions which are being considered in order to curtail non-compliance of house rules at Mid-Harbour Estate?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, in answer to Question 170, the following works have been completed: survey of infrastructure and installation of fibre from Fish Market Lane to Mid-Harbour Estate; installation of cameras on the car park level; connection to the main fibre ring; procuring and installation of CCTV signs within the car park level; integration of cameras installed within the car park level to the existing public CCTV system and RGP Control Room at New Mole House; part installation of cameras on the podium level – two cameras fitted on the roof canopy of the social club. These cameras will view the central area of the podium including the children's play area.

Ongoing works: testing and commissioning of cameras already installed; infrastructure works to allow installation of the remaining cameras on the podium and promenade levels; integration of podium and promenade level cameras to the existing public CCTV system and RGP Control Room at New Mole House.

1945

In answer to Question 171, it is expected that with the measures being taken the incidents relating to anti-social behaviour will minimise.

We continue liaising closely with the RGP as we take incidents of anti-social behaviour very seriously.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, the Minister needs to reply to the question specifically on 171. He said that it is expected that, given all the things that are almost complete now in the part what had been previously announced and answered in Question 170, that the non-compliance with house rules will minimise and so on, but has the Minister met recently with the Committee in order to pursue other matters, because the issues that we have been discussing about in the past or which the Government has given detailed explanations of how they are handling that, at no stage does he refer to, for example, the house 1955 rules do not allow for the hanging of washing outside the front doors and so on and that is why the homes have been provided with drying rooms and so on? How is that going to be tackled or solved given the new measures he hopes will eradicate this?

1960 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the Committee has been engaged on many occasions. In fact it was this week that the Tenants Association was seen at No. 6 in the presence of the Chief Minister and myself. So we are very aware of the issues being brought up by members of the Committee and this is one of the things that was brought up some time back, anti-social behaviour, which is something in fact that comes across very often and the Government is taking very seriously indeed. This is why, not only Mid Harbour is it in, but throughout the whole of Gibraltar, because this is not a problem which is specific to Mid-Harbour Estate, this is a problem that occurs throughout Gibraltar. So there is nothing particularly special about Mid-Harbour Estate. It is throughout. So this is the reason why the Government has engaged in commencing with the CCTV campaign, or coverage within this Estate.

1970 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, I have understood that the CCTV camera is something that the Government and even we are quite hopeful will help to minimise this problem. But I gave him a specific example, the house rules do not allow tenants to put tables and chairs outside in communal areas or to hang the washing and so on. So other than the CCTV cameras, what else is going to be done in order to...? You do not need a camera to stop that from happening.

1975 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, we are very aware through numerous meetings with the Tenants Association that they have other issues apart from anti-social behaviour. They want, as you say, the removal of clothes lines and they want removal of cupboards in the landings. The Government is looking at all these things and we will address these things in due course.

1980 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, but if I may remind the Minister that is what he told me in the January meeting. In respect of the answer provided to Question 3, he said that further actions were going to be considered. Has he had the chance to consider these and provide any more realistic measure of how this is going to be tackled?

1985 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, this is the same question that was brought up last month. January was only four weeks ago, so the Government is still working on these things.

Reallocation of empty homes – Details of contracted services and costs

Clerk: Question 172, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1990 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Housing provide updated details in respect of all expenditure incurred, since the answer to Question 4/2014, in respect of contracts awarded for making empty homes suitable for reallocation; stating to whom payments were made, how much has been paid, the number of residential homes pertaining to each payment, as well as indicating if the services contracted were for either repair works or cleaning services?

1995 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will now hand the hon. Member a schedule containing the information requested.

2000 As for other months that the same question is asked, all services contracted were for repairs and none were for cleaning.

Answer to Question 172

Contractors	No. of Properties	Cost
CEPRANO LTD	1	£7,890.00
CIAP CONSTRUCTION	1	£8,860.00
RIBEIRO	1	£3,565.00
CIAP CONSTRUCTION	1	£3,512.00
SA CONSTRUCTION	1	£9,514.16
BASE MAINTENANCE SERVICES	1	£5,516.00

ALL SERVICES CONTRACTED WERE FOR REPAIRS
NONE WERE FOR CLEANING

2005 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, if I may just for clarification, because we have had to do this in the past, there are six companies listed here and each one of them having tackled a property. Am I correct in deducting that this is therefore in respect of six separate properties, six separate homes, or is it a question that more than one company tackled the same home and therefore the number of flats that were repaired may not necessarily be six, it could be less?

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, each of these is a separate property.

Q173/2014
Assignment of Government rental homes –
Update

Clerk: Question 173, the Hon. E J Reyes.

2010 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide details in respect of rental homes assigned since the answer to Question 5/2014 indicating how many will be repaired by (a) the Housing Works Agency; (b) subcontractors; and (c) the assigned tenants themselves?

2015 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, since the answer given to Question 5/2014, seven flats have been assigned.

The repairs are to be undertaken by the following: the Housing Works Agency – 0; Subcontractors – 5; the assigned tenants themselves – 2.

Q174/2014
Government rental homes –
Urgent decanting of tenants

2020 Clerk: Question 174, the Hon. E J Reyes.

2025 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide details of how many tenants required urgent decanting from their homes, since the answer to Question 6/2014, indicating the reason why, the date when said decanting became necessary and the date when the tenants were able to return to their home?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, since the answer to Question 6/2014, no further tenants have required urgent decanting from their homes.

Q175/2014

Government rental homes –
Allocations and assignments

2030 Clerk: Question 175, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing say how many residential homes have, since the answer to Question 7/2014 been (a) allocated and (b) assigned, showing the room composition of the respective homes?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, since the answer to Question 7/2014, 18 flats have been allocated and assigned as follows.

2040

Allocated: 1 RKB – 1; 2 RKB – 3; 3 RKB – 7; 4 RKB, 5 RKB, 6 RKB – none. It is a total of 11.

Assigned: 1 RKB – none; 2 RKB – 4; 3 RKB – 2; 4 RKB – none; 5 RKB – 1; and 6 RKB – none. A total of 7.

Q176/2014

Housing Works Agency employees –
Numbers retired transferred and seconded

2045

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Housing provide updated information, inclusive of details of grades and dates, in respect of any further employees of the Housing Works Agency who have been (a) retired; b) transferred; and c) seconded, either from or into the Housing Works Agency, since the answer to Question 8/2014?

2050

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, since the answer given to Question 8/2014, two employees have retired, one employee has been transferred and three employees have been seconded as follows.

The two retired: where one was the project manager, on 31st November 2013; one was Chief Operating Officer, on 31st January 2014.

Transferred out: one was a craftsman, on 31st January 2014.

Seconded, there were three: one works supervisor, on 5th February 2014; and two craftsmen, on 5th February 2014.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, if I may ask, in respect of the craftsman who was transferred and the three who were seconded, do we have any information as to where they have been transferred or seconded to, which Departments and to carry out which tasks?

2065

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the policy that is followed is that staff members are seconded within the financial year and then if they are going to be staying for a long time in one place, we do the transfers at the time of the estimates so they disappear from the budget of one Department and appear in the budget of another. Normally there is a footnote in the estimates, which has always been there every year, saying previously shown under some other head.

2070

So when people are seconded they continue to be paid out of their home Department, as it were, even though they may be working in a different Department. In these cases, people are still involved in the allocation and the supervision and the approval of Housing Repairs.

2075 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, the Minister for Employment has explained that, and that is what I thought was the case.

If I may take first of all, but in a previous... long time ago written answer that I was given that was in respect of Written Question 146/2013, there was actually a secondment that was carried out in October 2012 and then the following financial year, when 2013/14 started, he still remained as seconded. So that transfer that would have happened at the end of the financial year never actually happened and so that put in doubt my thing.

2085 But coming back to the specific question, yes, I take it that in this case these four craftsmen, the one who has been transferred I deduce will have been seconded in a previous financial year and now at the tail end of this financial year is when they are getting the exercise right. Surely the estimates must have catered for this gentleman as from the 1st April 2013, and yet it has not happened until possibly January 2014 – I do not know. Perhaps the Minister for Employment can shed some light on that one.

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, I have given the hon. Member opposite the general rule that we apply. It does not mean that there are never any exceptions to that.

2090 As a general rule, during the year there may be within the service several hundred people who are moving from one Department to another and as a general rule what we do is take a decision in March if they are likely to stay where they are in March in the following financial year, in which case, if that is likely to be the case, then the Department from which they came loses the body and loses the pay, and the Department where they are gains the body and gains the pay. But it does not mean that that is 100% something that has to be done, it is just that it is the most sensible and convenient way to do it.

2095 In theory we could keep everybody back in their home Departments, as it were, although it would not be a very accurate reflection when Members get the estimates of where people are or how the money is being spent, but rather than try and do the changes during the year which would create additional administrative problems for the Treasury and for the payment of salaries and so forth.

2100 If there 100 people move, then I would say 99 would be moved on 1st April, but it does not mean that there may not be a case where once somebody has moved earlier, maybe because from the moment he is moved it is clear that he is not going to go back or because he is transferred to something completely different or he may have transferred to fill a vacancy somewhere else. For example, I can tell the hon. Member that although it is not a question that is in this paper because he is asking only about the Housing, but there is currently somebody who was working in the Sewers Section and the Sewers Section felt they no longer had any need for him and now that person is working in the Construction Training Centre. Well, the fact is that he is not going to go back to the sewer. They know that because they have restructured the sewer. So that is an example of somebody who would probably appear as a transfer even at this stage, because it is not a position which, as it were, includes the possibility of him going back where he came from. This is a case of one that I am giving to illustrate, the kind of factors that influence the decision.

2110 In this case the move was because the Department in a restructuring exercise finished up with one body more than they needed and clearly if the Department informs my Department, ‘We have got a spare body here. Can you use him somewhere else?’, then we will move him.

2115 In some cases people have been moved simply because they were on light duties, for example, and if the Member will remember, looking back, there was something like four or five people in the Housing Department in the Ministry that were moved to the Employment Service and those were people on light duties where there was really no useful tasks to give them where they were, but something else could be found for them somewhere else. So the bottom line is that it is putting people where they can be most usefully employed.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, but further to the explanation, the Minister for Housing has said that one craftsman has been transferred. Does he have any information where he has been transferred to and what task is he carrying out there?

2125 Hon. J J Bossano: I think this is probably a case of one which he identified at the beginning. That is to say somebody that was transferred initially... or rather seconded initially and then should have been transferred earlier than this date but has been transferred later, but it is not the only kind of situation.

2130 I am telling the hon. Member that in some cases the transfer will be because the decision of the move involves a no return ticket, as it were. So if somebody says this guy is surplus, then there is no point in saying we are going to have him seconded just in case he goes back during the year or he moves somewhere. The transfer is normally when there is a home that is likely to be permanent in the new place and in this particular place, having seen the name of the individual, is somebody that is working in the unit in Town Range. (Interjection)

2135 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, so we now know that it could have been from a previous secondment, but as the exercise has been completed now... He was a craftsman, to complete the exercise, who has been transferred. Do we know where he has been transferred to and what he is actually doing?

2140 Hon. J J Bossano: Yes, all the people that are ex-Housing and are in Town Range are involved, as I have already explained previously, in the small works that are being subcontracted to the construction firms where they are involved in visiting the tenants premises, identifying the scope of the work, passing the information to the estimator and then going back. We are using craftsmen to do that, because clearly they are in a position to do an important part of the skills that they have to identify the work that is required to be done.

2145 We have got a craftsman going to... because we have got a complaint that somebody has got something wrong with the bathroom, then the craftsman who goes there can come back and make a report as if he had to do the work himself, except that because he is not doing the work, he is actually doing the scoping of the work, he can deal with many more complaints than if he actually went there and did the repairs. But they are still of the same grade and pay and so on that they were before.

2150 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, so if I applied that as well to the three gentlemen, who have been seconded, two of which were craftsmen, but one was a works supervisor, so what is the difference between being in the Housing Agency or being somewhere else if he is supervising the small works being contracted out? I do not quite see the difference why he is now being seconded to another Department.

2160 So the man who is a works supervisor is employed as a works supervisor in the grade of a work supervisor. It does not mean that he is actually now doing supervising of people who are doing work. What he is now doing is being involved in the giving out of contracts and supervising the work that has been done in the completion of those contracts? The effect of that is, I would imagine one which the hon. Member welcomes, many more repairs are being done now than it was possible to do before, and at no higher cost.

2170 Hon. J J Bossano: Yes, the position is that... the first thing I think that needs to be clearly understood is that none of these individuals are being forced to move – that is to say they have got the contractual right not to be moved out of the Works Agency and somewhere else if they want to stay where they are. They are people who have volunteered to contribute to the exercise that is being done, which is having the effect of reducing the waiting list for repairs, which is the purpose of the exercise and the reason why this Parliament votes the money. The purpose of the exercise, and the voting of the money, is to get the repairs done and that is what is happening. Right?

2175 I am grateful for the co-operation that the Government is getting, and for the fact that these people have volunteered to help in getting more work done by coming over and being involved in identifying the work, estimating the cost and then once three quotes are taken, as I have explained before, and the work is given out to somebody, going back and certifying that the work has been done properly.

2180 The fact that they are people who are familiar with the housing stock and have been working for years in the old Building and Works, means that they are very well placed to do a very valuable job for the Government and for the tenants, and that is what they are doing. It is working well and we are getting value for money.

2185 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, thank you Mr Speaker –

Mr Speaker: May I point out that we have now been 20 minutes –

2190 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, I was going to say –

Mr Speaker: Twenty minutes on one question.

2195 Hon. E J Reyes: I was going to say that, Mr Speaker. I said I am not going to push any of the two Ministers further because the next question on the Order Paper might well provide the sort of information that I may further wish to draw out.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I just have one question, and I am very grateful for the Hon. Minister's lecture and it gives an insight as to how Government works from the inside.

2200 He says that these four individuals are working from Town Range, presumably that is his offices at 31 Town Range. So that we can identify those posts and those positions once we get the estimates book, and I think it is in April, can he tell us which Departments they are going to be transferred to? Is it going to be the Employment Department? Can he clarify where they are actually going to be transferred to? He has explained where the venue is, but not who the employer will be.

2205 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, they have not been moved anywhere yet in the estimates, because the estimates have not yet been prepared. The hon. Member has to understand that in February we are at the stage of looking at the outturn for the year that has not yet finished.

2210 But the company that issues the work is Gibraltar General Construction Company, which is a wholly-owned Government company, which was created by the previous Administration and which employed the workers that were made redundant by OEM and eventually when the work that they were doing was completed, their employment was terminated. So it is a company that has no employees and is used for dishing out the work so that the work goes out from Gibraltar General Construction Company to the sub-contractors, not from the Employment Service to the subcontractors. Right? These individuals are doing the actual physical work, but I cannot tell him at this point in time exactly where they will feature, but when it is put in the book he will see it.

Housing Works Agency and Ministry for Housing – Comprehensive review; update

2215 Clerk: Question 177, the Hon E J Reyes.

2220 Hon E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to Question 10/2014, is the Minister for Housing now in a position to furnish this House with any details of the comprehensive review pertaining to the Housing Works Agency and the Ministry for Housing which he has previously answered on several occasions was being considered by Cabinet?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

2225 Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, further to Questions 886/2012, 331/2013, 616/2013, W147/2013, 782/2013 and 10/2014, the reply still remains the same.

2230 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, but, may I ask, although the Minister has said he is not in a position to furnish this House –

Mr Speaker: May I say at this stage that the answer to this question is an indication of the fact of the extent to which the Speaker is really allowing the hon. Member to ask the same question one meeting after the other. (Interjection)

2235 I am being liberal to that extent. All that is changing is that instead of saying, 'Further to Question 10', it is, 'Further to Question 177, further to Question...', but it is the same question exactly. I allow that. I have given the hon. Member the benefit of the doubt because sometimes the answer will be different; that is how I justify that. Another Speaker might not justify it that way.

2240 But when the question is about urgent decanting and there has not been any, or the question is, as in this one, the position remains the same, then the question is the same, the answer is the same, and I am allowing it meeting after meeting after meeting, when the Rules say it should be every six months.

Go on.

2245 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, but perhaps I need a bit of guidance from you. You see, when I ask the question and the Government says, 'No, we are still not in a position to deliver this', surely the next month I am entitled to ask, 'Well, are you now in a position to deliver?' I cannot wait six... I do not have to wait six months –

Mr Speaker: Yes, yes, yes, that is what the Rules say. You should wait six months and then you update your information then. Yes, that is what the Rules say.

2250 But, as I say, I do not want the hon. Member to be redundant. I understand he has a job to do and therefore I am making the point that I am being liberal, and not everybody would take that view because the opposite can be substantiated.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, thank you, Mr Speaker.

2255 What I have normally done, and Hansard will show that, is when I have asked in the past is he in a position to furnish the House with any further details, and when I have got the answer no, I obviously have not raised any supplementaries as they are not ready to provide the information. I have always been invited by the Government, who say, 'But, look, I do not know when I am going to be in a position...', because sometimes we ask if he has any idea, and if the answer is, 'Well, we hope to by the end of June'. Then I
2260 make a note and that says ask this question in July. But when they have no idea, I feel, as a carry on, I have got to ask the following month, 'Have you made any progress?'

But, anyway, if need be, Mr Speaker, I can always discuss this with you in your office prior to the next Question Time for a bit of guidance – 2265 Mr Speaker: I have told the hon. Member publicly that I have allowed it and I will continue to allow him. I am giving him the benefit of the doubt, in all cases, but I want the fact that I am doing so to be taken on board.

Hon. E J Reyes: Okay, thank you, Mr Speaker.

2270 Now, may I, if you consider it in order to say, Mr Speaker... is it in order for me to ask that although the Government is not in a position to furnish this House with details of the comprehensive review, am I right in deducing that part of what the Minister for Employment and part of what the Minister for Housing have been answering in respect of Question 176/2014 is connected and in some way or another does form part of 2275 this review? Or is the review something completely totally separate from any of the secondments or transfers and so on that I have been guided in response to Question 176/2014?

Hon. P J Balban: It is not connected, Mr Speaker.

2280 The fact that there are people coming over and helping in the work that we are subcontracting out simply means that because we have got more bodies we are able to do more, but whatever the review decides is not connected. This is a very small part of the total workforce of that Department.

Of course, I think maybe with reference to your point on the six months, when the hon. Member was in office of course there was no need to wait six months because we only met once every six months.
(Laughter)

Q178/2014
Glacis Estate –
Lift repairs at George Jeger House

2285 Clerk: Question 178, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Housing provide details and explanation's in respect of the rather lengthy delay in carrying out repairs to the lift servicing George Jeger House at Glacis Estate earlier this month?

2290 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the lift at George Jeger House was reported out of service to the Ministry for Housing Duty Officer on Saturday 8th February 2014 at midday.

2295 The lift contractor was called out on the same day and a faulty electrical panel was found to be the problem. This is not a common fault. The replacement electrical panel takes three to four days to arrive after ordering and around two hours for it to be fitted.

Q179/2014
Repulse House and Victoria House –
Lift repairs

Clerk: Question 179, the Hon. E J Reyes.

2300 Hon E J Reyes: Further to the answer to Question W16/2014, can the Minister for Housing explain why it took so long to repair the lifts at the following residential blocks: (a) Repulse House at Varyl Begg Estate, from 25th December to 31st December 2013; and (b) Victoria House at Alameda Estate, from 26th December to 31st December 2013?

2305 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, due to the Christmas break the electrical spare parts required could not be imported into Gibraltar as per the norm, hence the delay.

Q180/2014
Laguna Estate –
Water ingress through windows

2310 Clerk: Question 180, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide details in respect of recent reports by tenants of water ingress through windows at Laguna Estate, together with details of how many flats have been affected, what actions are being undertaken to solve this problem, estimated cost and completion date?

2315

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, there have been 19 recent reports by tenants of Laguna Estate relating to water ingress through windows.

Nine reports relate to the replacement programme of the major external refurbishment of the walls.

The application of the external waterproofing render will resolve this problem; therefore there are no cost implications.

Ten other reports are unrelated to the above. The estimated cost to repair these is £1,130 and estimated completion date is 11th April, 2014.

2325

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, the Minister has answered that nine of them are as a result of the replacement programme and is absorbed within that cost, and in many ways it is just unfortunate that it should happen that the tenants should experience these problems.

But the other 10, which he said are unrelated to this programme, does he have any information in what caused it then and why all of a sudden this water penetration came in, if it is not related to the replacement programme like the other nine?

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I am not 100% sure, but if I can assume or take the opinion that these windows would be extremely old, hence why all these windows are being replaced as part of the refurbishment programme in Laguna Estate. So why these windows decided to leak then, I do not know. I presume it was because of age, but again, I am not entirely sure.

Hon. E J Reyes: So, Mr Speaker, if they are old windows and so on. Is the Minister aware if these are due to be replaced at the next part or next phase or whatever the replacement programme is, or is this something that was not programmed to have a replacement anyway?

2340

Hon. P J Balban: I am not sure which buildings were affected and which windows were affected, and hence I do not know whether it will be the next phase or the last phase of the refurbishment programme. One thing which is sure, the Government will try its best to try to repair windows because it would not be cost effective to change windows and then having to change it as part of the refurbishment of the Estate. So every effort is made to try to repair the windows as may be, but I do not know which buildings these windows were and which were the buildings affected, so I do know whether they will form part of the latter stage or part of this stage or whether they will come in in the other two stages that follow.

2350 Hon. E J Reyes: It is fair enough, Mr Speaker, that the Minister does not know at this particular stage if they were part of this replacement programme or not.

Would the Minister like some time and perhaps be able to search that information and let me know whenever it does come to his notice?

2355 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, so what you want to know is exactly which were the windows affected and whether they form part of the latter part of this phase, or phase two or phase three? You want to know exactly which were the windows affected? Addresses of the persons affected or just a map or picture pointing to the windows, or –

2360 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, a general guidance saying the 10 windows happened to be in such a block – I do not need the particular address, just an indication of the area – and they are part of a phase of replacement that has still not taken place and therefore it can be phase two, phase three, or phase four of the works, so that those tenants affected in those blocks know that eventually their windows are due to be replaced. Or if it was something that was not programmed and therefore other neighbours will say, ‘Well, I 2365 had better start to make alternative arrangements now with the Housing Works Agency’.

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I can assure that these windows will not remain leaking, but if the hon. Member thinks it is of use to him to know exactly which were the windows, I will furnish him with the names of the blocks and the windows affected.

2370 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, if I may could I ask a supplementary question?

2375 Mr Speaker: On this issue?

Hon. J J Netto: Yes.

2380 Mr Speaker: Right.

Hon. J J Netto: I think I understood the Hon. Minister for Housing in his answer, in relation to the water penetration in the windows was done by the cladding of the buildings. I think he mentioned something about nine of them as a result of the cladding. I think he also said that that would be put good, in a sense that they will be rendered and avoid the water penetration going through the windows.

2385 Can I ask the Minister, in supplementary, whether this is derived as a result of a design fault of the cladding itself or as a result of the material of the cladding which has brought about the water penetration to go through the windows?

2390 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I asked this question and I understand that the reply was that it was an unfortunate... it was just the time of the rains. They installed the windows and then later on comes, shortly after comes the cladding. The rain came in between those two events and that is why the windows leaked – that is my understanding; hence this is why the cladding will correct it, plus the expansion material they use to seal the windows. So I think if I recall correctly that unfortunately it rained in between those two processes that occurred.

2395 Hon. J J Netto: But, for those of us, Mr Speaker, who do believe in climate change, could I ask the Minister if there is a recurrence of this kind of climate of rain or the particular rain we had, I think it was in December, which was quite a lot actually and quite strong, is there likely to be a recurrence of this in the future once the whole cladding is done?

2400 Hon P J Balban: Mr Speaker, that is hypothetical. If it does not rain from now until the end of the phase, then we will have no more leaks. (Laughter) If the bath upstairs leaks and it comes through the window downstairs, again, I do not know. I think this is a purely hypothetical question which I cannot answer.

EDUCATION, TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND JUSTICE

Q181/2014
US internship programme –
Details

2405 Mr Speaker: Next question please.

Clerk: Question 181, the Hon. D J Bossino.

2410 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, this question is directed at the Chief Minister. He is not here, so I suppose it is going to be answered by another Hon. Minister.

Mr Speaker: It is going to be answered by the Minister for Education.

2415 Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful. The only reason why I say it, Mr Speaker, is because I will be phrasing the question in the terms that it has been posed.

Can the Chief Minister provide full details of how the US internship programme works, to include who can apply and what the cost to the Government, if any, is?

2420 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

2425 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, students apply directly to the Washington Centre. Only graduate students may apply and they are expected to have achieved at least the equivalent of a good second class honours degree. Students normally have a window of 18 months from the date of graduation to apply. Those wishing to apply for an internship next September are expected to apply in May. The Department of Education will shortly be sending out the relevant information to all students graduating this academic year.

Students are afforded the opportunity of interning at different private and public sector organisations for 15 weeks. The students also attend classes and lectures on sustainable development, entrepreneurship, innovation, global trade, e-commerce, commercial trade, water management and green technologies.

2430 With regard to costs, Mr Speaker, details were provided to this Parliament in answer to Question 493/2013 by the Hon. Edwin Reyes. The hon. Member therefore already has the information he seeks on costs.

Q182/2014
Legal Aid/assistance qualifying limits –
Changes to system

Clerk: Question 182, the Hon. S M Figueras.

2435 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Justice say when the Government will be proceeding with changes to Legal Aid and assistance qualifying limits in accordance with the Government's manifesto commitment?

2440 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

2445 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, as the hon. Member knows, the Government has already started the reform of the Legal Aid system by increasing the limits in relation to trials involving complex fraud. The reform will be completed within this term of office.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, in the context of the Minister's own admission in the House that there are exceptionally difficult cases which do not involve fraud, and my suggestion that it is not a quantum leap to extend limits into those cases, is this something that can be expected to happen anytime soon?

2450 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, as the manifesto commitment actually confirms this is being done in consultation with the Bar Council. We are having discussions with the Bar Council. They are at an advanced stage. I will not give myself a commitment now as to the time, but those discussions have not yet finalised but this is something that we are certainly progressing.

2455 Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Minister say whether the Bill that he referred to in February of 2012 when a similar matter was raised in this House, whether the Bill that he had before him then for consideration is substantially the same, or whether the consultation has had a significant impact on that Bill?

2460 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member refers to something which I said in 2012. Unless the hon. Member gives me more details, I cannot remember offhand whether he is referring to a Bill or a draft which we had inherited from the previous Administration.

Hon. S M Figueras: Inherited.

2465 Hon. G H Licudi: That is not a Bill. That was a draft piece of legislation. (Interjection) It was not a Bill. A Bill is something that is published. That is something that we inherited from the previous Administration. It is something that we have been considering throughout the process.

2470 Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, indeed, Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the point that he makes. I was referring to the draft Bill, rather than the Bill, as opposed to a Bill published by their Administration. Is he able to say whether that draft Bill has been substantially affected by this consultation process?

2475 Hon. G H Licudi: The matters set out in that draft are certainly matters that are being taken into consideration during this process, yes.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, my recollection of this is that we conducted quite an extensive consultation exercise. I published a white paper for wide consultation, both within the profession and also amongst the community at large. So there was very extensive consultation before the production of the Bill, which was subject as well to discussion with the Bar Council.

2480 Unless the hon. Gentleman is really saying that he is starting all over again, I would have thought that those three years that were spent doing quite a lot of the leg work that resulted in a draft Bill would also be taken into account, and it would help and assist the Government in producing its own reforms.

2485 In the light of that, is this something... and I understand that, of course, you have the entirety of this term, but is this something that is likely to come to fruition, for example, this year, bearing in mind that the only reform of the Legal Aid system at the moment is in relation to serious fraud, which as far as I can tell at the moment from a practical point of view only affects one case, despite of course the point that my hon. and learned Friend makes, quite rightly, that of course, there are serious and complicated cases which are not fraud cases?

2490 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member raises two issues.

2495 Firstly, in relation to the draft that they had prepared, that is a draft which simply informs us of what the previous Administration's intention was. It is not necessarily something which will be replicated whenever the Government makes the reforms that it has said it will make, but it is certainly something that has been taken into account because, as the hon. Member has said, some work has been done and there was something there for us to look at and consider.

As to when it is going to happen, I have said that we are at an advanced stage of discussions, but those discussions are not yet finalised and I am not going to fix a timescale now.

Q183/2014
St Joseph's School Annex—
Update regarding new facilities

Mr Speaker: Next question.

2500 Clerk: Question 183, the Hon. E J Reyes.

2505 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to the answer to Question 81/2014, can the Minister for Education confirm if the new facilities at the Annex to St Joseph's School are now fully functional, as well as stating for what educational purposes these are presently being used?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice

2510 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, the rooms allocated to the First School are now in full use. They are used for teaching, SEN, Movement, Library and Art.

The rooms allocated to the Middle School are for Design and Technology and Library. The Design and Technology room will be available for use as soon as the fitting of a set of worktops is completed. This is expected to occur by the end of this week. The Library is in the process of being moved from its present room to the new facility.

2515 Mr Speaker, as I said in reply to Question 81/2014 last month, how these facilities are actually used is determined by the head teacher of the respective schools.

Q184/2014

Schools, College of Further Education and Bleak House – Fire exit doors Health and Safety compliant

Clerk: Question 184, the Hon. J J Netto.

2520 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Education state whether all the fire exit doors in the classrooms and the entrance to buildings in primary schools, secondary schools, the College of Further Education and Bleak House comply with the relevant Health and Safety and Fire Legislation, and if not, which particular school or schools do not?

2525 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, the Government has no reason to believe that there is any contravention of the relevant Health and Safety and Fire Regulations in schools, the College of Further Education and Bleak House in relation to fire exit doors.

2530 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I take on board obviously what the Hon. Minister for Education has said, that there is no reason to believe that there is a contravention. Just simply from memory, I can tell that there might be one I can think of that may be in breach of the legislation. I say this because back in October when I sat down for an exam in Bleak House, I noticed that the entrance to the building actually opens inwards towards the building. I would have thought that under fire protection those doors have to open outside to allow people when they are actually moving out of a building very quickly to move outside. That is one particular example I can think of.

2535 Can I urge the Minister whether an audit can be carried out in relation to not just Bleak House, which is something as an example which I have said, but indeed in all the other schools to see whether they comply with the relevant legislation?

2540 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I really am quite surprised by that question. The hon. Member asked whether an audit can be carried out in respect of schools. The hon. Member knows, because he has been asking me questions about this, that a Health and Safety audit has been carried out in respect of all schools.

2545 The reason that we say there is no reason to believe, in respect of schools and the College, that there is any contravention is because there is nothing in the audit that suggests that there is any problem with fire exit doors in respect of schools and the College. In fact, I would have expected that the comprehensive audit, which has been carried out would have picked up.

2550 In fact two issues have been picked up in respect of the audit in respect of fire exit doors in schools, and the two issues are one in respect of St Mary's, where there is an emergency exit which leads onto a private property, rather than the public highway, and this is not new. This is not something that we have put in, but that is an issue about emergency exits that has been picked up. The recommendation is that we should find an alternative means of escape, which has been identified, and a sealed structure for a new staircase is currently being constructed. So although that is not a contravention of regulations because there is a fire exit, it is undesirable to have that fire exit into a private property. An alternative is being provided. So that is why I say there is no reason to believe that they do not comply, but there is that issue that has been raised in respect of St Mary's.

2555 The only other issue that has been raised in the audit in respect of emergency exits is one door at the College or the Annex to the College which was actually padlocked. This is something that we have found in 2012 and that door had been padlocked, as I understand it, for a very long time and therefore was 2560 unavailable to be used as an emergency exit with the key nowhere to be found. We have addressed that straight away and there is now a padlock with a key available in the case of an emergency. Those are the only two issues that have been raised in respect of the audit.

2565 There was no audit carried out in respect of Bleak House, but the doors at Bleak House now are the same doors and open in exactly the same way as they were in December 2011. So if there is any issue, I am grateful to the hon. Member for bringing that matter to my attention, because I have said we have no reason to believe because no issue has been brought to our attention.

2570 Now that the hon. Member has raised an issue of one door, which was there during the 16 years that they were in office, that that may possibly in theory contravene, I will certainly ask the Fire Brigade, through my colleague Mr Linares, to investigate that and to tell me whether there is any contravention. If there is a contravention then it will be put right straight away, not 16 years later. It will be put right now. (Banging on desks)

2575 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, the Minister refers to the Health and Safety Audit, and all I am going to say in relation to that is that when I asked the question, ‘Will he provide a copy to Parliament?’, he said, ‘No, I am not providing Parliament with a copy’. In other words, he is deliberately undermining the position of the Opposition to be able to scrutinise the executive and he should be ashamed of doing that. (Several Members: Hear, hear.)

2580 The second thing, Mr Speaker, I would say (Interjections) is we keep hearing constant remarks about the last 16 years. What the hon. Member says, particularly those who are Members of the GSLP, is that most of these things were either meant to happen in the last 16 years or in the eight years in which the GSLP was in Government or in the 40 years of the AACR before the GSLP. (Laughter)

Mr Speaker: I am not going –

2585 Hon. J J Netto: The point is –

Mr Speaker: I am not going to answer for the years that the AACR was in Government (Laughter and banging on desks) and therefore I would ask the hon. Member to limit himself.

2590 Hon. J J Netto: The point is, Mr Speaker, they are in Government. They have been two years in Government. I am asking a question pertinent to when they are in Government and they are the people who have to respond to those particular questions. They have to be accountable for that (Interjections) and I am glad to hear that the Minister, given that I have mentioned Bleak House, is going to take action about it. (Interjection)

2595 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I am not sure whether that was a speech or a question, but the hon. Member should in fact be very happy. He should be very happy because what I have said is that there were two issues raised in respect of doors, which are clearly doors pre 2011 and both issues are being corrected – one straight away and the other one which is, as I understand it, less urgent is being corrected.

2600 What I can also say is that in respect of new facilities since December 2011, which have been built where we have done the facilities of the Annex to St Joseph’s, Notre Dame and another facility, not only can I say that we have no reason to believe that there is no contravention, I can confidently say that there is no contravention because those facilities have been done in conjunction with all the relevant authorities, the relevant building control and the relevant people from the Fire Brigade, who have confirmed that all the relevant legislation is complied with.

2605 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I am very much quite happy indeed that those two particular points have been taken up, but I put it once again to the Minister: is the Minister willing to provide the Opposition with a copy of the report – yes or no?

2610 Mr Speaker: That question does not arise, and this is a convenient point at which to recess the House to three o’clock this afternoon when we will be dealing with Chief Minister’s questions.

The House recessed at 1.04 p.m. and resumed its sitting at 3.00 p.m.

Mr Speaker: The schedule is fairly long. It is two pages of rather small print. If he wishes, we can go on to other questions and then come back. It is up to you.

15 Since it is Mr Feetham who is asking the next question then, the Hon. Mr Bossino, you can have a look at the schedule and we will return to it. Okay?

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes.

Q206/2014

GBC –

Plans to make entirely self-sufficient

Mr Speaker: So call the question for the Hon. Mr Feetham.

20 Clerk: Question, 206, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister state whether GBC is on track to become 'entirely self-sufficient', which is the expectation the Government expressed in 2012?

25 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, this remains the Government's aim and it is one which the current CEO shares and is working towards. We are very much on track on the planning for this.

30 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, do the plans for making GBC entirely self-sufficient, are they still the plans that existed in 2012 or have they moved on from 2012? Has the Government changed its policy or is it just simply a continuation of what it was aiming to do in 2012?

35 Hon. Chief Minister: A continuation of what was aimed for in 2012, Mr Speaker.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, no doubt the hon. Gentleman will recall that this question was last asked in November of 2012. At the time the Hon. the Chief Minister said, when he was asked how does he intend to make GBC entirely self-sufficient, he said, 'Mr Speaker, by the profits of the joint venture it has created, namely Gibraltar Entertainment Networks Limited'. Is he saying to this House that that project is still on course to become successful and therefore underpin GBC's entire self-sufficiency?

Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Speaker.

Borders and Coastguard Agency – Employment structure

Clerk: Question –

45 Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful –

Mr Speaker: Go back to Question 205.

50 Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful, Mr Speaker, and I am also grateful to the Hon. the Chief Minister for the very full information he has kindly provided me in his answer – it is very much appreciated.

In fact, Mr Speaker, one of the concerns that I have that has been reported to me, and it has kind of been confirmed as a result of the information that the Hon. Chief Minister has given me, is that those who are employed as security and immigration officers are carrying out, in effect, the same duties – let me get this right – as the Borders and Coastguard officers, of which there are 62 and of the former there are 15.

55 As I understand it the security and immigration officers get paid less than the Borders and Coastguard officers. Maybe he can confirm whether that understanding is correct and if it is, why is it that the security and immigration officers are doing exactly the same duties for less money than the Borders and Coastguard officers? But as I am not sure about the information I have received, it may be that the premise of the question is wrong, but maybe he can confirm that.

60 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I do not have the information as to salaries here. Now that he has put that question I am quite happy to look into it and speak to him after the meeting at some stage in the next week or so.

65 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, maybe I can obtain the information myself, but obviously he will have the information more readily available than I, and if I find any information in relation to that I will tell the Hon. the Chief Minister, but I would encourage him to look into it.

70 The other point I would raise, Mr Speaker, is that in the estimate book, which was approved at the time of the last budget, there was a provision for 2013-2014 of 14 security and immigration officers, yet we have one more. Can he explain why that is?

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, and I do not have the estimates book with me, but I am quite happy to check that, in the same way I am going to check the other point he has raised and have a conversation with him, probably not today, but maybe tomorrow or next week.

Q207/2014
Previous Speaker's tax affairs –
Report into leak of information

75 Clerk: Question 207, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, further to Question 839/2013, can the Chief Minister please state whether the report into the leak of the tax affairs of the previous Speaker has now been finalised?

80 Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I understand that the report has not yet been finalised.

Q208/2014
Affordable homes available for sale –
Ownership terms

85 Clerk: Question 208, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please provide a breakdown of how many flats may be sold to the public on co-ownership and 100% ownership terms, broken down by reference to ongoing developments announced by the Government?

90 Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, all buyers in respect of the affordable homes available for sale will be given the choice to purchase between 50% and 100% share of those homes, so there is no predetermined co-ownership percentage.

95 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, and on that basis, effectively what he is saying to me is that the Government will not impose, say, for example, a 20% margin of those that will be on 100% terms, 80% say, co-ownership. So given that that is the case, how will the Government allocate these flats to various applicants, bearing in mind that it is likely to be that the projects are likely to be oversubscribed? These projects are the same as Waterport Terraces and Nelson's View. They are all over-subscribed. Can the Government perhaps give me some information in relation to that?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, as I have said publicly in relation to all of these issues, how much one can buy is not going to determine what choice a person has of which of these homes are going to be available to them.

105

The priority, as I have said publicly at the launch of these projects, will be based on people's places on the housing waiting list. I specifically said that we did not think it was proper...well it is not a question of proprietary. We did not think it was appropriate that under the last Administration the affordable homes were sold to those first who could afford to buy the largest share. We have taken a completely different attitude, as he will now know, and your place on the housing waiting list will be what grants you the priority of choice.

110

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, I understand that, and of course he is entitled to have a different policy and I do not criticise it. I do not criticise the policy for one moment, but bearing in mind that people 115 that are on the housing waiting list and a lot of those people may be on the housing waiting list because they cannot afford to buy, has he factored that in to the equation? What are the criteria for allocation if, for example, there is not sufficient take-up from people on the housing waiting list?

120 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, that is not the indication that we have from the people on the housing waiting list. At the moment it appears that we may be oversubscribed from people on the housing waiting list. If we are not, then there will be different classes and categories of people who may be entitled to buy those flats that are left and we will cross that bridge if we come to it. We have ideas as to how we will deal with it, but at the moment it seems very clear to us that the people on the housing waiting list are the ones looking to buy. Now, obviously, if somebody has not got the means to buy, they will not buy.

125 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is the Government satisfied that there is sufficient lending capacity in Gibraltar in order to ensure that people have the funding to fund their purchases for these projects?

130 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, yes, we are, and in fact it may be that in some instances people do not even need to borrow. I mean with a 2RKB starting at £27,600, which is less than the hon. Gentleman's car is worth, they may be able to buy them with one cheque. (Laughter)

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker –

135 A Member: Is it?

Hon. D A Feetham: Actually, no, it is not. I know what my car cost second hand and he does not. But, of course, it is all irrelevant.

140 But, Mr Speaker, surely the Government (Interjections) has taken into account in its policy in respect of these developments that there have been difficulties in the lending sector. Barclays has gone. Now we know that Norwich and Peterborough will also be going by the end of the year.

Does the Government, for example, expect to be taking some of the demand through the Gibraltar International Bank? Can he give us some information in relation to that, for example?

145 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, of course the Government is satisfied that there is sufficient lending capacity. There is more lending capacity in Gibraltar at the moment than there was when the original co-ownership estates were put up for sale and in the marvellous job that was done by the GSLP Administration between 1988 and 1996, where 2,000 homes were developed. There were less building societies in Gibraltar and mortgages were available to all of those people who purchased then.

150 And Barclays has not gone, Mr Speaker, and is not going. Barclays is going to remain in Gibraltar with a much reduced capacity; but they have already said, and the hon. Gentleman should recall, that they are going to continue offering mortgages until 2016, which is beyond the date when mortgages are going to be required for these properties. So we are entirely satisfied that there is going to be sufficient lending capacity in the market.

155 The position of Gibraltar International Bank will be made clear by Gibraltar International Bank.

Q209/2014

Foreign investors – Government plans

Clerk: Question 209, the Hon. D A Feetham.

160 Hon D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is the Chief Minister in a position to make an announcement in relation to those foreign investors which he said he had up his sleeve as far back as May 2011, and which in answer to Question 846/2013 he said he would be announcing towards the end of January 2014?

Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Chief Minister.

165 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, yes, sir.

The recent visit to the Berlin Money Show, which was the subject of a Government Press Release, was in connection with the launch of the Gibraltar International Mint as the joint venture marketing company that will be seeking to place a new Gibraltar silver coin in the market for investment silver coins. The joint venture is with one of the numerous potential investors who have been working with the Government since 170 before our election. A specific statement on this has been agreed with the said investor, but agreeing it is slightly delayed. The launch of the new coin was timed to coincide with the 25th anniversary celebrated at the Berlin Show of the Vienna Philharmonic, one the most successful investments of the coins. The Austrian Mint is responsible for the minting of the Philharmonic and will mint the new Gibraltar coins and a distribution agreement has been entered into with one of the major German companies in this market.

175 Whilst it is early days to estimate what the revenue potential is, what is clear is that there is a huge market and that even a small share of this market will provide Gibraltar with a new source of income.

Other potential investors who were working with us before our elections are still in the process of finalising their investments in Gibraltar. Further statements will be made when relevant.

180 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I rise... I feel slightly deflated. I thought when he as far back as May 2011 made a little bit of a song and dance about these investors he had up his sleeve to... just over... well, in fact it is longer than two and a half years, to come back and to say 'Gibraltar International Mint' is slightly disappointing I have to say.

185 But, Mr Speaker, can he perhaps give an indication of what kind of contribution does he expect this will make to the economy in terms of growth of the economy? What are we talking about in terms of income to the Government, or is he not in a position to provide that kind of information so we can assess the overall contribution to the economy and whether that is going to be significant or it is not going to be significant?

190 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, the fact is that I am not answerable, as Chief Minister of Gibraltar, for anything I said in May 2011, but I am entertaining the hon. Gentleman's questions. I am not going to give him an estimate today of what this business is going to be worth in the future.

He will recall that at election time he was the one that ventured into making estimates of what results were going to be and what turnouts were going to be, and making those sorts of estimates in my view is a little bit foolish so I am not going to do that.

195 But, Mr Speaker, new homes, a new hotel, new office developments, that is real investment, Mr Speaker, and that is what we are seeing in our economy, together with a new Bank. So I am not surprised that the hon. Gentlemen is deflated, furious and frustrated.

200 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I have to say that if you compare the hon. Gentleman's... the Government's achievements in this area and the areas that he has mentioned over the last just over two years and compare it, for example, to the achievements of the first GSLP Government during the same period, and there is absolutely no comparison. He is way, way behind in the achievement stakes, if I may say so myself.

205 But, Mr Speaker, just so I understand it, this is the only investment that he had in mind when he made these statements in 2011 and has made several statements to me in this House when I have asked this question over the last two and a half years. This is the extent of the investments that he had in mind when I was asking the questions and he was answering them across the floor of this House and also when he was making these statements two and a half years ago.

210 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I consider the GSLP Government's achievements from 1988 to 1996 to have set the standard that I would hope one day to be able to be in the shadow of. That was one of the most exciting governments that Gibraltar has ever seen. Involving as it did Joe Bossano leading Gibraltar's economy from a place where we were having to borrow to pay recurrent expenditure, to standing on our own two feet and putting us in the position where we could utter the words, 'self-determination' in the context of self-sufficiency at last.

215 I know that he had family links to that Government and he is justly proud of what happened then, as I am to lead the party today that delivered in those days what I think is, without doubt, a lesson in good and appropriate Government and how to turn an economy around. So if I am failing to achieve what Joe Bossano achieved in 1988 to 1996, I will always continue to try and emulate it.

220 I will never, Mr Speaker, say that I turned my back on what my party did then or what it did in Opposition – something which I note is not the case in respect of Members opposite, given that they already trying to forget much of what they did when they were in Government and already denying it vide the interviews given by him and his new Party Chairman as to the way they do things now compared as to the way they used to do things before.

225 But, Mr Speaker, if the economy grows from £1.1 billion to £1.65 billion by the time I call the next General Election, even Joe Bossano will say that that was not bad.

Mr Speaker, if I started the process of building 1,000 homes, half of what the GSLP built between 1988 and 1992, because by then already 2,000 were to be started, that is at least half of what the GSLP achieved. It may not be enough and I will always be in awe of that Government, but it is so much more than the GSD did between 1996 and 2000. (Banging on desks)

230 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I am glad that he thinks so because of course he actively campaigned against the GSP in 1992. (Laughter and banging on desks) So I am afraid that there is role reversal here. The point that he always makes against me that he has left himself open that I make against him. (Laughter and interjections)

235 But I have to say, Mr Speaker, because of course, he is going to come back to me, that although I was not supportive of the GSD prior to 2004, I hope that in the same way as he lambasts me about the 16 years abysmal record of the GSD here and there, that when we talk about the positives, of which there were many in relation to the GSD, that he also gives me credit for that too (Banging on desks) because I will accept the credit because the net balance is heavily weighted in terms of achievement to the burdens or the ‘unachievements’ of the last 16 years.

240 But, Mr Speaker, in relation to this particular investment, is Credit Finance involved in any way, shape or form – and I ask this question in the widest possible terms – in terms of any guarantees that have been provided for the investors, any assurances that have been provided by Credit Finance, as well as any direct or indirect financial assistance of whatever form – I am trying to sort of keep it as wide as possible for the hon. Gentleman... of whatever form in relation to this investment and these investors?

245 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, in 1992 I was a student at University (A Member: Ah.) and I have learnt many things since then.

250 But it is very clear, if the hon. Gentleman goes back and looks at everything I said, that none of the criticisms I made in 1992 refer to any of the things that I have praised today, which is the economic performance of that Government – something which even Joe Bossano’s greatest detractors always speak highly of. So, Mr Speaker, I do not think there is any contradiction whatsoever. But I think history will speak for itself and will demonstrate what it was that each of the Governments that have led Gibraltar has delivered. There does not need to be a debate about it between us today; but he wanted to make the comparison, so I dealt with the comparison.

255 I am quite happy to deal with the question as widely as he has put it in relation to Credit Finance, Mr Speaker. There is absolutely no involvement in respect of Credit Finance in the way that he has described it or otherwise howsoever arising in respect of this investment. But I just do not know if the directors of Credit Finance might have bought one of these coins already, but that would be a matter entirely for them.

Q210-223/2014

Sunborn floating hotel project – Works at Ocean Village Marina; details and costs

260 Clerk: Question 210, the Hon S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Chief Minister provide details to this House of all costs incurred directly or indirectly by the Government or Government-owned companies, owned directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, as a result of the enabling works at the site where the Sunborn floating hotel is now located at the Ocean Village Marina?

265 Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer together with Questions 211 to 223.

270 Clerk: Question 211, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Port state who is paying or who has paid for the cost of the infrastructural works to accommodate the Sunborn floating hotel in Ocean Village and how?

275 Clerk: Question 212.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can Parliament have a copy of the agreement between the Government, the owners of the Sunborn and the proprietors of Ocean Village with regard to the Sunborn floating hotel project and provide the total cost of this project broken down by each entity involved?

280 Clerk: Question 213.

285 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Port state if the infrastructural works to dock the Sunborn floating hotel in Ocean Village was a Government project or a private one?

Clerk: Question 214.

290 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Port state who is project managing the infrastructural and dredging works in order to accommodate the Sunborn floating hotel in Ocean Village?

Clerk: Question 215.

295 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the letter sent to me by the Hon. Neil Costa MP on 14th January 2014, can the Minister for the Port provide Parliament with the names of all the companies, including Steel Mac Ltd that submitted a bid for the dredging works in order to store the contaminated material in the MV Nord Star and state what were their respective bids?

Clerk: Question 216.

300 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the letter dated 14th January 2014, from the Hon. Neil Costa MP to me, could the hon. Member confirm that Burando Maritime Services is still contracted by the Government to remove the dredged material from Ocean Village, and if not, why not?

305 Clerk: Question 217.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Port state if Steelmac Ltd had been contracted by Burando Maritime Services or by the Gibraltar Government, in order to dredge the contaminated material in Ocean Village and place the said material in the MV Nord Star?

310 Clerk: Question 218.

315 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Port state if some of the contaminated waste material arising from the dredging of the Ocean Village to accommodate the Sunborn has been transferred and deposited at the Nerva (Huelva) rubbish dump?

Clerk: Question 219.

320 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, if contaminated waste material from the dredging of the Ocean Village has been transferred to the Nerva (Huelva) rubbish dump, can the Minister for the Port state what tonnage has been deposited there and whether such material has emanated from the waste material deposited in the MV Nord Star, the MV Meridian, or from subsequent dredging and delivered by lorries to Nerva?

Clerk: Question 220.

325 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Port state how much tonnage of contaminated waste material from the dredging of Ocean Village has been removed to the Netherlands by using the MV Meridian and if this ship will be further engaged for the transportation of further contaminated waste, and if not, why not?

330 Clerk: Question 221.

335 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Port state if the 4,000 tonnes of contaminated waste material from the dredging of the Ocean Village still remains inside the MV Nord Star, and if so, what is the Government going to do to safely dispose of such material?

Clerk: Question 222.

340 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Port state if in the issuing of the export licence to the various companies involved in the removal of the contaminated waste material from the dredging of the Ocean Village, there is an Environmental Audit trail included to ascertain that all the contaminated waste material will be either properly treated or safely deposited and made inert, and if so, who is the competent Authority to conduct the Audit trail?

345 Clerk: Question 223.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Port state who is paying for the removal of the contaminated material to the various final destinations, and how?

350 Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the Government notes and welcomes that the Sunborn five star floating hotel is now permanently docked in the area between Ocean Village and Marina Bay. This is the first new hotel established in Gibraltar in many years. A number of further hotel projects have since been announced as well as the refurbishment of existing hotels.

355 The total cost of the infrastructure required to berth the Sunborn vessel at the said location is in the process of being calculated. This cost will not be borne by the Government. The benefits of the infrastructure works have accrued to Ocean Village and Sunborn and although Government has undertaken the works as an urgent Government project in order to enable this hotel project to progress, the costs will be shared by those who have taken the benefit of the said works. Government is in the process of agreeing with both Ocean Village and Sunborn what proportion of the works each is liable for and how they will respectively reimburse the Government. The Government is not privy to any agreement between Ocean Village and Sunborn and cannot therefore provide details or a copy of it. There is no agreement between Sunborn and the Gibraltar Government.

360 A Government of Gibraltar Project Manager was instructed to manage both infrastructural and dredging works appertaining to this project.

365 A total of four companies submitted bids for the dredging works with these being awarded to Steel Mac in the sum of £680,000.

Burando Maritime Services are still contracted to remove all dredged material from Ocean Village.

370 As far as the Government is aware no contaminated material has been transported to a rubbish dump in Nerva in Huelva.

Approximately 6,300 tonnes of dredged material was removed by the MV Meridian. It is up to the company contracted with the removal of the material to decide whether or not to engage this vessel for any further works in relation to this project.

375 As far as the Government is aware, approximately 1,300 tonnes still remain inside the MV Nord Star out of the original quantity deposited there. This material will be disposed of by Burando Maritime Services.

The companies involved respectively with the collection, transportation, exportation and disposal of the contaminated waste material arising from the Ocean Village dredging are all licenced to undertake these operations. The Environmental Agency is the competent Authority in all matters relating to the collection, storage, transportation and disposal or recovery of waste under Part VA of the Public Health Act.

380 The removal of the contaminated material is being paid by Burando Maritime Services as the company contracted by Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar to do so. The material is being transported by land.

Q224-228/2014
Credit Finance Company Limited –
Commutated pensions; loans

Clerk: Question 224, the Hon. D A Feetham.

385 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please state what is the value of commuted pensions of Civil Servants paid out by Credit Finance Company Limited as at 31st January 2014?

Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Chief Minister.

390 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 225 to 228.

Clerk: Question 225, the Hon. D A Feetham.

395 Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please state what is the amount lent by Credit Finance Company Limited to the owners of the Sunborn as at 31st January 2014?

Clerk: Question 226.

400 Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please provide details of the amount lent to the management companies of housing estates by Credit Finance Company Limited as at 31st January 2014?

Clerk: Question 227.

405 Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please state as at the 31st January 2014, how much has been lent by Credit Finance Company Limited in relation to Government arrears, broken down by the type of arrears?

Clerk: Question 228.

410 Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please state as at 31st January 2014, what is the total amount loaned by Credit Finance Company Limited?

Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Chief Minister.

415 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the value of the commutations paid out to Government pensioners for Credit Finance Company Limited, as at 31st January 2014, was £20,707,012.

The total amount of the loan book of Credit Finance Company Limited as at 31st January 2014 was £46,646,565.

As has already been explained in the House previously, details of individual loans issued by Credit Finance Company Limited will not be given.

420 The details requested in Question 227 remain the same as those provided in answer to Question 758/2013 by letter of 23rd November 2013. I note, Mr Speaker, that that letter was also copied to you.

425 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, in relation to Question 225, which is the loan that has been provided to the Sunborn, the hon. Gentleman has publicly stated in an interview in the Chronicle, he said that the loan as at... I think it was July of last year, was just under £30 million. Now, if he can provide that information publicly in an interview to the Chronicle. Why can he not provide it in this House when he has provided the information publicly to the Chronicle? We know because he has done that, that it is just under £30 million. All I am asking is for an update of that position to be provided to this House as at 31st January 2014. I think it is not an unreasonable question given the information that he has already provided publicly.

430 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, it is becoming a bit tiresome to have the same debate in every meeting of the House. The hon. Gentleman will get from me the total amount of the loan book of Credit Finance Company Limited. He will get no further breakdown. That is the position of the Government. We are perfectly comfortable with giving that information. We are not comfortable giving more information because of the way that we read our obligations as lenders.

435 Mr Speaker, Sunborn has said certain things about its borrowing. At the time that I gave the interview to the Chronicle, I reflected what the position was at the time. I think if the hon. Gentleman looks at exactly what I said, I do not think he is reflecting it in the way that I said it. The Government's position remains as it has been for the past six meetings of the House.

440 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I am afraid that I still take the view, as we do on this side of the House, that it is totally unacceptable behaviour on the part of the Government. But what about in relation to Question 226?

445 The Hon. the Chief Minister has accepted in answer to past questions that there have been loans to the management companies, of at least one management company of at least one housing estate. I am not asking for the identity of... those housing estates – I am not – which is the concern that he has publicly expressed, which is, 'I am not going to breach confidentiality. We do not agree that it applies, 'but I am not going to breach confidentiality in revealing the identity of the people on this loan book'. But I am not even asking that. I am asking to provide details of the total amount, the total amount, not in relation to one, the total amount owed... sorry, lent to management companies of housing estates. Surely that is information that the Opposition is entitled to ask and it is information that the Government should not be reticent in providing.

450 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Government has not lent any money to any housing estate that it is refusing to talk about. What we are talking about is loans by Credit Finance Company Limited and it really is becoming tiresome, Mr Speaker.

I know that the Hon. Gentleman might have felt that he was on to a winner when he started to criticise Credit Finance and he thought that he might finally be able to bring down economic hell and brimstone on 460 the Government and this might help him to achieve his aim of becoming Chief Minister, even if it involved rack and ruin for the people of Gibraltar.

We have said what we are going to say about the loan book of Credit Finance. We are not going to give any breakdown of it. If the hon. Gentleman wants to know what a particular estate has borrowed from Credit Finance, why does he not call the Chairman of the management company of the estate that he believes has been loaned money by Credit Finance and ask him? That person is likely to tell him because he is likely to have written to all the people who reside in that Estate and it is not confidential information in the hands of those individuals, but it is in our view confidential information in the hands of the Government. That is the position. We have made it clear. It is becoming tiresome to have to repeat it. He may not like the answer, Mr Speaker, but it is the one he is going to get.

470 I am just tempted to tell him to go back and read the Hansards of what I have already told him. Repeating the question is not going to change the answer.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, this is a different question. It has been allowed onto the Order Paper. It is a different question.

475 Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman is a master of attempting to confuse the issue. There is no confidentiality issue in relation to this. I am not asking him to reveal the identity of the housing estates which have been lent money. I am not asking him that. I am asking: what is the total amount that has been lent to housing estates in Gibraltar? There cannot be any confidentiality in that at all and I do not understand what the Government's reticence is.

480 Can he explain how he justifies the extension of the Government's policy which I do not agree with, but I understand, which is, Confidentiality bites here. I cannot reveal the identity of the people that have received loans', to the position he is taking now during the course of today, which is, but 'I am not even going to tell you the totality of what has been lent to housing estates'? It is a remarkable lack of transparency and accountability (Banging on desks) where they ought to be accountability and transparency in this House.

485 Hon. Chief Minister: That is nonsense, Mr Speaker. It is an attempt to grab a headline which he thinks will benefit him in some way, and it really is something that the people have seen through.

I have said before, this is not my position now. This is the position that we have been putting since we started debating in this House, that we will not give any details of individual loans. I have said we would not give names. We will not give areas etc. I have said that on a number of occasions.

490 He has got a problem with his memory, Mr Speaker. He needs to go back and check Hansard. We had this problem in the Select Committee, where he thought I had said one thing, when actually I had said another. When he goes back and checks the Hansards, he will hopefully come back and confirm that he got that wrong. When he goes back and checks this, he will also see that he got that wrong.

495 The Government is being completely transparent. We are totally see through on this issue, but what we are not going to do is give him the details that he wants because we believe that that is confidential. I have given him, Mr Speaker, a moment ago, the total amount of the loan book. The total, he has got it. The amount loaned by Credit Finance: £46,646,565. Totally transparent. Totally see through. But he is not going to get the details of every single loan or what it is for, or who it is to. It is not going to happen and that has been our position from the beginning.

500 What he cannot deal with, Mr Speaker, is that we are transparent, that we are accountable, that we come here every month to answer their questions, and we answer them; but they do not like the answer, Mr Speaker. They do not like the answer because they accumulated rent arrears and failed to recover them. They promised new hotels and they failed to deliver them. They got booted up and now we are having to clear up after them, Mr Speaker. They just cannot deal with it. (Banging on desks)

510 Mr Speaker: All these exchanges about the loan book of Credit Finance Company Limited were all rehearsed at the previous meeting of the House. The only difference is that the total amount is different as at 31st January to what it was previously, but we are going through the same arguments again.

Hon. D A Feetham: No, Mr Speaker, that is not right. That is not right and perhaps the Hon. the chief Minister –

515 Mr Speaker: In respect of lack of transparency –

Hon. D A Feetham: No, no, well of course.

Mr Speaker: – and all these other accusations, is not the same thing?

520 Hon. D A Feetham: No, no. Of course. Of course. The underlying criticism is of course the same (Laughter) and will continue to be the same... the lack of transparency and accountability, which rightly we have criticised. But it is not the same (Interjection) and this is the problem here, Mr Speaker, that Mr Speaker has been persuaded by the very skilful way in which the Hon. the Chief Minister really tries to confuse the issue.

525 I am not asking about any individual loans. I am asking the totality of the amounts that have been lent to a particular sector. It is not even individual loans. It is in relation to the housing sector. (Interjection)

There may be two, three, four, five housing estates that may have benefited. Well, what is the totality? I am actually making it easier for the Hon. the Chief Minister to at least provide me with some information that is different, because of course every time that I ask a question about Credit Finance and the Chief 530 Minister refuses to provide me an answer. Well I go back, I read Hansard. I say let me see whether I can get some information out of him that does not breach his self-imposed red lines, because at the end of the day I am interested in receiving as much information as possible. This is one of them. This is different.

Does the Hon. Chief Minister not recognise that it is wrong for him to suggest that he is not providing me with the information because he will not provide me information about individual loans? I am not 535 asking him about individual loans; it is about the totality of what has been lent to housing estates in Gibraltar. It is a particular issue in relation to a particular sector. If he will not provide me with the answer,
I am not going to push it.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, as I have said before, and he perhaps needs to go and read Hansard 540 once again if he actually does bother to read it, because I think sometimes he does not, I am giving him the totality of the loan book – the totality of the loan book. Every month he asks for it, he will get it, Mr Speaker, but he will get no breakdown of the loan book. That is the Government's position. We have made our position explicit on a number of occasions and our position has not changed. He is just trying to see how he can perhaps get more information. Well, look, if he wants to continue trying to get more 545 information he can do what he likes, but our position is clear, transparent and see through. The total amount of the loan book every month set out in answers to questions. Absolutely nothing wrong with that, Mr Speaker. It is the appropriate way to act. It is the way that the Government is advised is the appropriate way to act.

But, Mr Speaker, I will at least take from him that he considers me very skilful and masterful. He does 550 not often call me things that I might like to remember, Mr Speaker. I will take at least that from today's session of the House.

ENTERPRISE, TRAINING, EMPLOYMENT, AND HEALTH & SAFETY

Q185 and Q188/2014

Business start-ups and nurture schemes – Benefit to new companies

555 Clerk: Question 185, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Further to Question 676/2013, can the Minister for Employment state whether any new companies are benefitting from the Government's policy on business start-ups and nurture schemes?

560 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety.

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr
Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 188.

565 Clerk: Question 188.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment provide details of the Government's business start-up policy?

570 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety.

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr
Speaker, the position continues to be as stated in answer to Question 676/2013.

The Government policy on new start-ups is to provide assistance and advice that may be required by the individual engaged in wanting to set up a new business.

575

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, is the policy as wide as that, because as I understood it – I do not have a copy of the Chronicle article which reported on – I think the answer that he or his Department had provided in relation to business start-ups but it was actually more particular than that, albeit confusing?

580

So that the first question is as I put it. In relation to the first question I asked, which was Question 185, does he have an explanation as to why no more companies are benefitting from this particular scheme?

585

Hon. J J Bossano: I can make an educated guess. If the hon. Member remembers, I told him that when the initiative was taken by the Department it was identifying a group of people who had been unemployed for some time, who were in their late-50s and who were therefore finding difficulty in obtaining alternative employment, particularly in the construction industry, given that they were competing with people younger than them and coming over the frontier.

590

Therefore, there were a number of companies where the Department took the initiative of approaching the individuals and suggesting to them that given the difficulties that they were having in finding work, and that we were having in getting employers to take them on, that they might consider the possibility of using their accumulated skills in the industry, as people had been maybe 20 or 30 years in the industry, and with our help set up a business. Those were the first ones that were set up and they were set up because we encouraged it. We went out to suggest it to people. Most of the people in that category were accommodated and have now got these little companies that are doing very well. They have taken on trainees and the owners are working owners – that is they own the company – but they actually use the tools themselves and they help to train young people that we have sent and they have then taken them on. So that has worked very well, but of course this was always a limited market. In that category there might have been seven or eight people, that was all.

595

So that, in my view, is the reason why that particular type of start-up was exhausted, because if tomorrow we find somebody, for example, that is laid off and fits the characteristics that I want and we find we are having difficulty in getting them a job with somebody else, then we would again repeat that exercise, but at the moment there are no potential candidates that have been identified by us.

600

In a few instances, not many, the initiative has been the approach from an investor, who then needed a different kind of help. The help might have been, for example, ‘Well, how do I go about putting together a proposal in order to get EU funding for the project that I want to do?’ or ‘How much help can you give me in training people for what is a specialist task?’

605

So there are effectively two basic sources. One source is the one, in effect, that we created ourselves and the other is a source that comes spontaneously out of people who decide to invest their own money and set up a little business. That is the one where the widely defined part of the answer is because the advice and the help that we give is driven by the demand for the advice and the help.

610

That is to say, the latter category probably do not need any help in setting up a company, they may already have a company, but they may need help with identifying how they can put a package together which is likely to succeed in getting them EU funding, given that there are criteria as to which industries qualify and which do not and how many jobs need to be created. The fact that sometimes, the hon. Member may not know it, but those who have been in Government will know, there are certain EU funds that can only be used to support people who have been a long time out of work or are of a certain age. So all that kind of help and advice is provided to the people who come looking for us, and the advice that they get depends on the questions they ask.

615

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, is all that, which is much more the detail of the policy, as a result of the negotiations which the Hon. the Chief Minister told me on a few – no, he is coming back – previous sessions in this House when he said... and again, I do not have the copy of Hansard in front of me, but when he suggested that the detail of the policy, and he knows that the Government has been a subject of criticism from us in relation to its apparent resistance in revealing to us what the detail of the policy is or was, that the Hon. Chief Minister would be entering into negotiations with the GFSB and the Chamber of Commerce. So is what the Minister for Employment just told me a result and the fruit of the negotiations and the discussions which the Chief Minister has had with the GF...? I think he mentioned and singled out the GFSB and did not mention the Chamber of Commerce. Is that the case? Is my understanding the case?

And, if I may, Mr Speaker, just because I think it is connected as a supplementary, the Hon. the Chief Minister also told me in a previous session that the detail of the policy was available at the ETB. Is that a document that can be obtained from the Hon. the Minister for Employment opposite, because it seems that it is the Hon. the Minister for Employment, as opposed to the Hon. the Minister for Commercial Affairs, who is having charge of this particular scheme?

630

635 Hon. J J Bossano: The recipients of the help and advice are the two categories that I have mentioned, in terms of local businesses, and obviously also the people that I see who are looking at the possibility of investing in Gibraltar. So the hon. Member got a letter from me telling him the number of people that I was seeing in different areas about potential investments some time ago, yes. So, for example, those people would be a new start-up business as well. I mean that if somebody comes and says, 'I want to set up a 640 factory here to do a, b and c,' it is a start-up business, but it is not local start-up business. In those cases then the people have got to be given more information about more things which they do not know.

Of course, quite often people who come in with investment ideas have an initial meeting with me as the Minister responsible for inward investment and then the matter is followed up because they have accountants or lawyers here who look after their interests when they are not here. These people do not normally spend all the time here.

645 But the basic approach of the Department is not that we have a sheet of paper that says all the things that you do, other than the ones that were there already under the Gib Invest Office, which were leaflets that say if you want to incorporate a company, you do all these things and you go and get these other firms of lawyers and the firms of accountants. All that material was already there in 2011 and is still there today and that is predominantly for people who come in from the outside.

650 For the people who are already established in Gibraltar, who may be moving from employment to self-employment, then the answer is that they sit down with somebody in the Employment Service, who finds out what it is that they require, and helps them to achieve it and gets them in touch with people. Where people have got sufficient capital to do all this on their own and get professional advice they do not come to us for help.

655 Where they come to us for help, frankly the interest that we have is that we want people to be able to set up employment opportunities and therefore it is the Employment Service who has got a vested interest in helping a potential employer to get on his feet and open vacancies – it is as simple as that.

660 Hon. D J Bossino: But, Mr Speaker, can he confirm this? He will recall that when we raised the issue about this company, I think it was called ETB1 Limited –

A Member: ETB1 Limited.

665 Hon. D J Bossino: ETB1 Limited, and then there was a subject of a change of name, he will recall that that is when we found out that in fact what was being provided by the Government was a registered office... almost Corporate Service Provider facilities. There was a registered office, directorships, shareholders by Government employees, and as a result of us revealing the existence of this company, we found out (1) that there were more; and (2) we found out that this is a service which was apparently being 670 provided by the Government, although no announcement had been made in relation to that.

So can I ask him to confirm that this service is still being provided as part of this scheme? In other words, that the Government will provide for those people who are wanting to set up a small ...a business in Gibraltar as part of its – and I can read it – the business start-up and nurture schemes manifesto commitment, will be providing corporate service facilities for a limited period of time and then they go off to another Corporate Service Provider if they find one?

675 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I have already answered that. He does not have to go back and look at Hansard. He has to remember what I have said to him 10 minutes ago.

I told him that the ones that had been done on the initiative of the Department where we had set up the company, provided them with the directors and did everything that could be done, were for people long-680 term unemployed in their 50s in the construction industry, all of whom are now operating very successfully providing services in the construction industry, predominantly as subcontractors, have taken on trainees, have now taken on their payroll those trainees full-time, and have created employment and activity.
Therefore we have removed both the employer and the employee from the unemployment list and that is where the level of support that had to be given was very, very high.

685 I have told him about the service that is there. I have told him that although we appear to have used up the pool of eight or nine people that met that characteristic, that if tomorrow somebody loses their job who is in his 50s or is finding great difficulty in getting another job, we have great difficulty in getting an employer to take him... all the explanations that I have already given him, then it will trigger again what we did already in the first batch of people and we will then use our officers, set the company up, provide him 690 with directors, and then when it is all up and running, pass it over to him.

The people that come to us on their initiative do not need that kind of help. They have already got a business or they already know enough about having a business to be able to do a lot of this stuff for themselves and they have got the money, which people who were living on social assistance did not have, to pay a lawyer or an accountant.

695 So there is nothing mysterious about this. It is a service that is there to meet a need which was not being met. The need was a very limited one in terms of numbers, as there are not hundreds of people in this category. If there were more tomorrow, the service would be reactivated tomorrow.

700 We ourselves monitor the unemployment list regularly and we monitor where we think there are potential candidates for the provision of this service. Of course, we have approached people who have said they are not interested, as well. The offer has been made to some people who have not wanted to take it up. They have said they do not want to get involved. They do not feel confident in having the responsibility of having... I mean once they get up and running, the companies, for example, that were created in the first year and now in the second year, they now have the responsibility of dealing with the tax and dealing with social insurance and dealing with all those things and not everybody can cope with that. So there are people that we have offered the service to and who have said no.

705 All the people that said yes, we have done it for them. We have not got at the moment anybody else identified as a potential candidate, but that could change tomorrow. But, in addition to that, the service that is provided by the Department, both to incoming investors and to local businessmen and the service that I am doing and other people might be doing other things, is based on what Gib Invest had initially, which was also for local and outsiders, which was really a series of leaflets of where do you go to get what you need; but we go one step further in getting things arranged for them if they need our help. Really, the people that need our help are the people who are entering into a field that they have never done before.

710 If you have got somebody who has already got some business activity, some business experience, they need very little from us, but we are there to help whoever approaches us because it is in our interest, as I have said, as an Employment Service, to help businesses expand and take on more workers, and that is what the rationale of this is all about.

720 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, as I understand what he has said is, this was a scheme open to the unemployed so that the unemployed were provided with help in setting up a company. They were provided with help in terms of directorship services, shareholder services, with civil servants acting as directors and shareholders with the ETB... sorry, with the Town Range address at No. 6 Convent Place being used as a registered address, and then they would be given Government contracts. They would obviously earn an income as a consequence of that and they would then employ trainees from the Future Job Strategy, who they would then train within this company. That, as I understand it, is what he has said.

725 In relation to the 15 companies that were initially set up in this particular way – I think it is 15 – were all these unemployed from the unemployment list?

730 Hon. J J Bossano: Every single one of the companies that were set up was with somebody from the unemployment list. That is correct.

Hon. D A Feetham: Including the owner of ETB1? I am not going to mention his name across the floor of this House, but the hon. Gentleman knows who he is.

735 Hon. J J Bossano: No, I do not know who he is, Mr Speaker. I do not know who the owner of ETB1 is. It sounds as if it was from a science fiction serial actually. (Laughter)

Hon. D A Feetham: No, not a science fiction, maybe a nightmare for the Government, but not a science fiction.

740 I am talking about Mr Luis Edwards. He is the owner of this particular company, ETB1. Was he part of the unemployment list? Was he unemployed?

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I have already said that every single person that was helped to set up a company was at the time unemployed. Is the hon. Member saying I am lying?

745 Hon. D A Feetham: No, I am not.

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, then the answer is, if he has asked me three times if the people who were helped were unemployed and I tell him yes, and he now mentions one individual, it does not matter whether the guy is called Edwards or Feetham. If Feetham was unemployed, he would get help. (Laughter)

750 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, of course, there is a difference between somebody being unemployed and registered unemployed with the ETB.

755 Can you also confirm they were all registered unemployed with the ETB or were they just simply unemployed because they did not have a job at that particular moment in time? Or were they registered unemployed with the ETB? In particular, were they long-term unemployed?

I can understand, perhaps, the logic – (Interjection) Well, I can understand perhaps some logic in doing something like this for – provided that they are sufficiently skilled to pass the skills on to other people – the long-term unemployed, but can he confirm they were all registered unemployed?

760 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, I do not know whether the hon. Member is familiar, from the short time he spent in Government, as to how the system works, but he must know that there are people who are unemployed and who in between periods of being registered are lapsed, so the people who are unemployed appear and disappear periodically from the employment register at the rate of about 100 a month. Whether 765 in the particular month that the particular individual was actually helped in setting up a company he happened to be in the lapsed category or in the employment category, I do not know.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, yes, of course, Mr Speaker, but let me give you another example.

I could resign from Hassans tomorrow, and say, ‘Well, now I am unemployed. Can I have a company now?’ I would not actually say that somebody like that has resigned to get an opportunity from the 770 Government –

Mr Speaker: Has he not answered that question? He said that if Feetham was unemployed (Laughter) he would get the... (Laughter) He has answered that question already. (Laughter)

775 Hon. D A Feetham: No, Mr Speaker. Mr Speaker has not...

Mr Speaker, I am afraid in the joke that he has cracked, he has not understood the point that I am making. You see, Mr Speaker (Interjection) this question of, he has to be unemployed before he benefits, is a massive loophole because you can say to somebody, ‘Resign from your job tomorrow. I am going to give you a company’. He resigns tomorrow and he is unemployed. Now, that is why I have asked and I have 780 sought to draw the distinction between that and somebody who is registered unemployed and long-term unemployed in particular at the ETB. Can he perhaps provide some information in relation to that?

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker if it is massive loophole, then that massive loophole would be generating a queue of applicants and I would have just told the hon. Member that... he says there were 17. I 785 said there were 8 or 9, and I have just told the hon. Member that as far as we are concerned the Department goes looking for people that we have difficulty in employing in order to see if by helping them to become self-employed it is possible to make them economically active. Or is it that the Opposition, for reasons that are incomprehensible to me, appears to see people idle on social assistance, unemployed, rather than productively employed, generating wealth and bringing an income to their families.

790 I cannot understand how anybody can be critical unless it is that if you have got a particular name or have got a particular view then it should not apply to you, because it seems to me that what the hon. Member is saying is that it depends who you are whether you get help or not.

I can assure him that if he has got anybody, who is a supporter of his or a member of the GSD, who falls into the parameters that I have described, I will be delighted to help that person. (Banging on desks)
795

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, thank you very much to the Hon. Minister for that answer, but you see the concern from this side, or one of the concerns from this side of the House is that for a Government that really delights, because it really does delight, in ticking boxes and making announcements. I mean one announcement that it was continuing paying grants to students, that is one manifesto commitment ticked.
800 (Interjection)

Why did the Government not make an announcement about this particular scheme at the very beginning when it started it and we only find out because it appears to us that the Opposition rumbled them with this particular scheme when it made public the fact that there were a series of companies registered at No. 6 Convent Place and Town Range, where directorship and shareholder services were being provided by civil servants?
805

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, I do not know what rumbling means, Mr Speaker, but what presumably he means is that he went to the Companies Registry and looked up the Company Register and found the registered list. If looking things up in the Companies Register is rumbling, I suppose he knows about that because as a lawyer he must do a lot of rumbling all the time (Laughter) as part of his livelihood.

All I can tell him is what I have told him. We did not make an announcement because we launched the scheme by identifying potential candidates. The scheme is open to people without having to wait for an initiative from us.

815 The people that approach us generally are not the people in the category that I have described because it is something that does not even occur to them. The ones that have done it and are successful and are now providing a service to the Government and to the construction industry, many of these small subcontractors are now working for the bigger construction companies as subcontractors and therefore that is reflected in people who are not being paid by the Government who are being paid for doing work. But it means that the numbers of Gibraltarians in the construction industry was the highest since 1996, when the last survey was published, and will be higher again, and will keep on getting higher because we keep on training more people and then we stop paying them and then they start earning their keep.

It is a policy that they can criticise or they can not criticise. It is a matter for them. All I can tell the hon. Member is that it is producing the results which in the debates that I had with him initially he was saying he thought it would be difficult to achieve, but if I achieved it he would be happy to see more Gibraltarians working. Well, he does not seem to be happy. He seems to be unhappy because he wants to criticise me for achieving what he thought would be difficult, and I can tell him it is not that I am satisfied that we have exhausted what we can do. I think we can do more and we will be doing more.

825
But so far what the hon. Member is asking me in his original question is what the state of play is at the moment, well, look, the state of play at the moment is not what did Luis Edwards had for breakfast this morning. The state of play at the moment is what is happening with the policy. The policy: what is happening is that the people we have identified we have actually put on the road to earning a living and that if tomorrow we identify more we will do it. If there are people that we have missed out and they know of, we will be happy to help them and if there are people who on their own initiative come forward and say, 'Well, look, I want to set up this business. Is there a way in which you can help me?', we will listen to them. I have not announced it publicly. Well, look, everything I am saying to him here is public.

Q186/2014

Gaming industry and Employment Service – Provision of liaison service

Clerk: Question 186, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment provide details, such as the grade and duties of the person who is providing a liaison service between the gaming industry and the Employment Service as recently announced by the Minister for Financial Services?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety.

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the grade of the person involved in providing a liaison service between the gaming industry and the Employment Service is that of a GDC HEO. The duties of the post in respect of the Employment Service are predominantly driven by ensuring a rapid response to the requirements of the industry, particularly in respect of the need to rely on non-EU nationals who require work permits given the nature of the client base of this industry.

The need for the creation of the liaison service was identified following representations by the industry about delays which affected their ability to recruit specialist staff, especially where non-EU nationals were concerned. Following this initial step the role has been widened to include other aspects, for example, liaising with different companies in respect of the current situation where some sections of the industry are requiring additional personnel whilst others are currently reducing their manning levels. Whilst much of the work involves the Employment Service the Officer concerned also undertakes a similar role in terms of expediting responses from other Government Departments to the requirements of the industry.

The feedback that has been received is that this liaison service is greatly appreciated by companies operating in this sector.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the Hon. Minister will know that this was an announcement made by the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services during the course of a debate that he and I participated in, in GBC about two or three weeks ago. He knows that there I welcomed it. I welcome it now as something that will facilitate the service which is being provided to such an important part of Gibraltar's economy.

But the first question I would ask is one of detail. He says this person has an HEO position. Would that be a grade 4, I think it is, under the GDC? If he could just confirm that.

Hon. J J Bossano: A grade 4.

Hon. D J Bossino: A grade 4.

870 And secondly the question which I have is why is it possible, certainly in relation to the initial duties which this person was carrying out which was more relevant to the duties that may be more properly ought to have been carried by the Employment Service, why is it that the Employment Service does not have sufficient, either in numbers or in qualified staff or perhaps even in experienced staff, to be able to provide 875 this service in-house? Why was it necessary to appoint this person to act as a liaison between the industry and the Service?

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the person was selected in fact because the person was at the receiving end in the Employment Service of the requests. Effectively what happened was that she was transferred from the Employment Service to the Department responsible for gaming, so that in fact instead of each 880 individual company approaching the Employment Service with their problems, they have somebody that is permanently working there to do that for them.

It is a way of providing a channel. The requests finish up being in the Employment Service, but instead of us having a person in the Employment Service who had a job to do which involved providing a receiving point from the gaming, the banking, the construction and everybody else, the people in the Employment 885 Service are not broken into dedicated categories of employers. They deal with all employers irrespective of where the requests come from.

Because the system that was in place when it was being done by the Employment Service was not giving the priority to gaming in respect of other customers, so it was first come first served, the gaming was making representations to us. Then in response to that lobbying, I suggested, 'Well look, we will take the 890 employee we have got here and transfer them to the Department that is responsible directly for the gaming', and now instead of each H R Department coming to my Department looking for assistance with something, everything goes to that person that is there already and that person then makes sure that it gets to the right person in the Employment Service having been there and having been at the other end of the business. So the reason is because effectively what the hon. Member is suggesting as an alternative is what used to 895 happen, which is what they thought was not being sufficiently rapid in providing responses. When we have changed it, it produced a better result.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, given the obvious positive experience of this venture, presumably there is no reason why it cannot be extended to other industries like, for example, the insurance industry and – 900

Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): It probably is.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): [Inaudible] Financial Services.

905 Hon. D J Bossino: No, it is not. The question related to –

A Member: Financial Services.

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, but the question related specifically to the gaming industry. If it is already 910 being provided to other industries within the Financial Services world, then I would ask the Hon. Minister to confirm that position – (Interjection)

Hon. J J Bossano: I think the hon. Member should realise one thing that is peculiar to the gaming industry and that is first of all it is bigger than the others. There are 3,000 employees. Secondly, it is more 915 diverse in terms of nationality – that is it has more people in it out of the 3,000 that require visas and permits and other things that most of the others do not and it has a much higher turnover.

The turnover in the industry, for example, I think I gave him the figures at one stage, or if I did not give it to him I gave it maybe to somebody else in Opposition, but when we looked at the churn we found at one stage about a year ago that although there were at one point in time 3,000 people, there had been actually 920 9,000 people in the space of about 18 months who had come into the industry and 6,000 who had left. So in almost every month... well, even more than that, in almost every day there is a spate of terminations and commencements and in a month there is likely to be a turnover of 60 or 70 jobs in gaming. That kind of turnover does not exist in other areas where there is more long-term stability, and therefore although there may be others facing similar problems, they are not of an equal magnitude that it can make a difference if 925 there is somebody permanently dealing with them and specialising and becoming familiar.

Sometimes, for example, I can tell the hon. Member that for this particular officer is dealing also with banks, because we had a situation a week ago where in terms of detached workers, one of the things that we have put, one of the mechanisms that we have put in because of the requirement that the detached worker requires an 11A Form from the country of origin and has got to produce evidence that they are paying 930 social insurance in the country of origin. All those mechanisms which are required by EU law meant that sometimes somebody was going to be brought in to look, for example, at the IT systems and the time they were going to be here was taken up more in processing that their application met EU requirements. So we have now introduced a fast track system for people who will be here two weeks or less.

935 There was an instance a week ago where the individual that was going to be here was going to be one day over the two weeks. If that had gone through the normal bureaucratic channels, it would have eventually reached a point where somebody would have said, 'It has gone over the two weeks. The answer is no'. Because we have somebody there who was able to pick it up early on and they phoned in and they said, 'Look, although the criteria is two weeks, this person is going to be just one day over the two weeks. Can we be flexible and approve the fast track system?' and the answer was yes. This was for a bank and not 940 a gaming company.

So that gives the hon. Member a flavour of the kind, which on a day-to-day basis you can make life a little bit easier for the people that we want to stay here and make them feel welcome.

Q187/2014

Public and private sectors –
Number of people currently employed

Clerk: Question 187, the Hon. D J Bossino.

945 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment state the number of people that are currently employed in the public and private sectors respectively?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety.

950 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, as at 31st December 2013, according to the records of the Employment Service, the number of persons employed in the public service was 6,393 and in the private sector 19,707, excluding directors and self-employed.

Q189/2014

Sunborn floating hotel project –
Update on recruitment process

Clerk: Question 189, the Hon. D J Bossino.

955 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment provide an update on the recruitment process in relation to the Sunborn Floating Hotel?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety.

960 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, there has been constant close co-operation between the Employment Service and Sunborn regarding its labour requirements.

965 The first vacancies were opened in June 2013. Meetings were held in July; August 5th, 14th and 21st; September 5th, 17th, 20th and 23rd; October 3rd, 11th, 25th, 29th and 30th; November 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 9th, 21st and 22nd; December 6th, 11th, 13th, 17th and 19th; January 14th, 15th, 20th, 22nd, 28th, 29th and 30th; and in February on the 13th.

970 As a result of all these meetings, a number of the vacancies have been identified and candidates provided from the local workforce either with the required skills or with the potential for training.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, is the hon. Member able to give me a number of positions filled, because I have here an article, which appeared again in the Chronicle on 22nd August, where Mr Stevendale, who is the CEO for Sunborn, said that he was working with Joanna Hernandez and the team at the ETB to fill 200 positions and an additional 20 positions for senior roles. Then he says, in commenting why all the 200 jobs have been placed with ETB... Mr Stevendale said the jurisdiction has been good to Sunborn and Sunborn wants to be good to the jurisdiction.

There is then a further article of 7th February 2014, where he mentions another figure of 100, which is 50% less. Can he give me some detail in relation to numbers please?

980 Hon. J J Bossano: I think the first caveat is that you should not believe everything you read in the press and I think the second is that I think there was a certain amount of poetic licence in his numbers. There are not all that many people already working there. There are quite a number of people that have been identified as suitable and contracts have been entered into, but with a starting date that has not yet been triggered.

985 But I would be very happy if we were able to take 10 to 15% of the jobs because in fact we do not have amongst the unemployed a large number of people with previous experience of working in hotels – in fact we have very few Gibraltarians working in hotels as it is. If one looks at the actual existing hotels, the bulk of the Gibraltarians are doing office work and there are very few... his dad is the one exception (Laughter) and your brother. (Laughter) Yes, but there are not and regrettably it is not an industry that has ever been very attractive because it is an industry that you have to work very hard to get to the top; it is a reality. You start at the bottom, you learn every job in the hotel, and eventually when you get to the top you know everything that is going on in the whole outfit; but that of course is not something that you can take into a hotel.

990 There will be people hopefully who are now coming in as trainees into this hotel which will follow that path and I think that if we have more hotels there will be a critical mass in this industry for us to be able to say, 'Well, look, we can now invest maybe in a school which will provide staff for five, six or seven hotels, but with the number of jobs that there are at present, I think many of the jobs that require experience and qualified people will go outside.

995 What we are trying to do is to persuade the Sunborn to take as many of the people that have got qualifications in other areas who are willing to switch profession. We are making the pool of graduates available to them for the areas that those can be trained. We have got a few people that have got background in working as cooks and waiters and that kind of thing, which we are also supplying.

1000 But at the stage that we are now, I think we have got something like a dozen people that we have identified that are ready to go in and there are an awful lot of people that have put their CVs in from outside, but the company gave us an undertaking right at the beginning that they would work closely with us and exhaust every possibility here before they took anybody from outside, and even when they take people from outside... they have got people from Scandinavia where they brought their own people from the parent company. But even when they take people from outside, we shall be trying, as far as it is economically reasonable, to have people additional to their normal complement to give people the opportunity to learn the skills.

1005 But we are at the stage of a process. All I can say is it is obvious from the long list of meetings that have been held between my staff and the company that there has been very close involvement at every stage.

1010 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I just want to assess results and what the Hon. Minister is planning to do in terms of numbers.

1015 He mentioned, I think he said, 10 to 12% as probably the realistic number he is likely to secure from the Sunborn, in terms of employing presumably locals. He then mentioned... he gave an absolute figure of 12, as I understand it that is the current figure. But can he give me an absolute figure that he would like to see employed at the Sunborn?

1020 We have seen, in fact the Chronicle reports 200 foundation jobs being placed at the ETB. I am not sure what Mr Stevendale was referring to by 'foundation jobs' as it is in inverted commas, but what figure does he think he is realistically and likely to be able to achieve?

1025 Hon. J J Bossano: He has asked me two things. What would I like? I would like everybody except the owner to be from the unemployment list. Well, that is not going to happen.

I think realistically given the nature of the skills that they require, which we have got a very detailed breakdown of, and the pool of available registered unemployed that we have, which is about 400, of which out of that 400 there might have been, I do not know, 20 or 30 from the hotel and catering industry, and most of those people are people who are... the ones with experience are people in their 50s or 60s and they are mainly Moroccan. The younger people are people that are keen to go in, but have had very little experience.

1030 So I can tell the hon. Member that I do not want to shoot myself in the foot by putting a figure that anybody else is going to try and hold me to if we can get more. The realistic figure is that if we manage 15% of the workforce, of whatever the workforce is... if it is 100, 200 or 300. Well, I do not know. I do not manage the ship. The company has opened a large number of vacancies, but in a hotel... this is not... When you are running a hotel it is not the same thing as running something where you have to have a fixed pool of people. In a situation like this where the hotel is opening its door for the first time they may find once they start operating that they need a smaller core of people for certain activities and that they need to take people, extra people in, like all hotels do when they are full to capacity.

1040 But in any event we would expect all the admin staff to be ours because there does not have to be a specialist catering establishment skill. The people that do the payroll the people that do the office work, all those people we can supply.

1045 The people with catering skills, hotel skills and hotel experience are already working. There may be people who leave other hotels and go to this one. Recruiting from the local labour market is not limited to recruiting from the people who are unemployed. There is nothing to stop the company if they cannot find it from what we have got available, from looking at some of the people who may be working for existing hotels and who have applied to go to this one, because they might think there is a better future, more money or better promotional opportunities.

1050 But at the end of the day, at this point in time we have done a lot of preparatory work, but we are not to the point where I can say, 'Well, look, the hotel is going to have 200 people working in a month's time', that I am not able to say. If it were there, if it opened in a month's time and if there were 200 people, and out of those 200 we had 40 or 50, then I would say we had done well.

1055 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, is the Hon. Minister able to – he may not have this information available with him now – tell this House now how many vacancies have in fact been opened? He has heard me make reference to the press reports, and in fact reading again whilst he was providing his answer, basically what I want to do is establish whether what has been said in the press by the company is in fact the real situation because the company is saying, is reported to have said, that by the time the hotel opens on March 1st, there should be a staff complement of around 100 operational staff in both full-time and part-time positions. Then apparently, the company goes on, it does not give specific numbers but said many of its workers have come from the unemployment list. What I would like the Minister who has responsibility for this for employment is to be able to tell this Parliament what in fact the position is, if he is able to.

1065 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, I can tell the hon. Member when the first announcement was made and before the first vacancy was opened when there were queues going in circles round Ocean Village, the total number of CVs handed in was 2,961, of which 350 were from Gibraltarians, of whom perhaps 50 were unemployed.

1070 The number of vacancies that are presently on our books I cannot tell him, but I doubt that there are 200 vacancies. We have provided in the period 350 names from people unemployed; but of course I have told the hon. Member how long this has been going on. He needs to understand the fact that, for example, we submitted potential candidates way back in August, it does not mean that those potential candidates have been waiting patiently unemployed refusing every other job waiting for the Sunborn to open its doors. Much of the long list of people we have submitted may, when the time comes that the Sunborn says, 'I am ready to employ you' may no longer be interested because they have found something else since.

1075 These are the figures that I have got, the ones that I have shared with him; but I do not think that there are 200 jobs open.

1080 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I will ask a specific question at the next sitting of Parliament in relation to the figures and so therefore the hon. Member will be able to come prepared with the replies. I think it is information which the public ought to have.

The further supplementary I have, Mr Speaker, is – and I am not sure whether he has dealt with it in any specific way in his first reply – how many, if any, future Job Strategy trainees have been taken on to do placements with the Sunborn?

1085 Hon. J J Bossano: None at the moment.

1090 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, is there any reason for that, because obviously this is precisely because of the experience and training deficiency which he has identified in the hotel industry. I come from a family who, as he knows, is involved in that particular industry. It is something I would personally would like to see more Gibraltarians doing, given the fact that more hotels are now going to be opened hopefully shortly in Gibraltar. Does that not present an opportunity given that we have the Sunborn here with us now to ensure that our local population is trained in this field?

1095 Hon. J J Bossano: The policy, as the hon. Member knows even though he does not believe it, is that we provide trainees with a job guarantee at the end. We run some training courses without jobs, but others... well, if you believe that then you must believe that people have got real jobs and not that it is a sham with dead end jobs, which is what is was yesterday. (Banging on desks) (Laughter and interjections)

1100 So the answer is that when the Sunborn is able to sit down with us and do a programme for training which will lead to maybe replacing some of the people that they have because the training will presumably take more than just the short-term training that is now taking place, then if there are suitable candidates and people interested, we will be happy to provide the trainees and finance them.

1105 Mr Speaker: I am not answerable for the previous AACR Government, but I am willing to tell the hon. Member behind the Speaker's chair what the results were of a hotel and apprenticeship scheme, which when I was Minister for Labour we introduced.

Q190-191/2014
Leisure Construction & Maintenance Company Limited –
Details of employees and directors

Clerk: Question 190, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1110 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, sir, can Government provide details in respect of the number of employees who may have been employed, since the answer provided to Question 98/2014, by Leisure Construction & Maintenance Company Limited, broken down by grade, age, gender and nationality?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety.

1115 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 191.

Clerk: Question 191.

1120 Hon. E J Reyes: Can Government provide details in respect of the Directors of Leisure Construction & Maintenance Company Limited?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety.

1125 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, further to Question 98 the answer is none.

The Employment Service has no records in respect of any registered directors of this company.

1130 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, may I just clarify, the Employment Service may have no record of the Directors, but given that this company is a Government-owned company, wearing that hat, can any Minister for the Government side say who the directors are please?

1135 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, he may give whatever it is that he wants to be given, but if a question is that he is asking for me to provide the details of the directors and I am telling him there are no directors registered with this company in the ETB and no employees, I think that it must follow if it has no trade licence, there are no directors registered, there are no employees. It must follow that it is not doing anything.

1140 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, we spent half an hour this morning on this. (Laughter) I have to say my curiosity is piqued with this.

Who withdraw the licence application, if it has no directors and no employees? (Interjections)

Yes, whilst he is at it, the Chief Minister has given me another supplementary to ask. Who made the application if there are no directors and there are no employees? (Laughter and interjections)

1145 A Member: You have not said there are no directors. (Interjections) They are not registered as employees.

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the company that registered with the ETB did not register anybody working for it as director or as employee.

1150 We now learn that if it ever applied for a trade licence, which apparently it did, it did not proceed with the application.

Hon. D A Feetham: But, Mr Speaker, is it a Government-owned company or is it not a Government-owned company?

1155 Hon. J J Bossano: It is not a Government-owned company. I think the hon. Member was told that when the matter was first raised by him, Mr Speaker.

1160 Hon. E J Reyes: No, Mr Speaker. No, I was not told it was not a Government-owned company when the matter was first raised. I was passed to Companies House, for which I had to pay a fee and conduct a search. I found out that there was a company registered on 11th February 2013 with a registered office of 31 Town Range and there are two public servants as share subscribers and that is it, Mr Speaker. Nothing else has been told further to that.

1165 All I know, from the Minister with responsibility for Sports and Leisure, is that two employees, I believe, from his Ministry are the ones who actually signed the application for the trade licence, and in all previous answers the company had no direct employees, as such. So, one understands from all that the Minister for Employment has been saying, that these public servants help in the administration and in the set up of the company and so on. (Interjection)

1170 But we have not got to the nitty-gritty now of the latest supplementary by the Leader of the Opposition that from the records this seems to be a Government-owned company and there are no directors, no employees and not even an interest to pursue a trade licence anymore. So why do we have the existence of this company, which originally was going to show itself as trading from premises within the Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority?

1175 Hon. J J Bossano: What the hon. Member has described is a situation in which there was something that happened at one point in time and nothing has happened since. (Interjection)

1180 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is this then one of those companies that the hon. Gentleman was answering questions about earlier on, which is the start-up scheme, where he says that people from the unemployment list or unemployed people were assisting in incorporating a company with public servants as directors and as shareholders in order to then be provided with Government contracts in whatever sector, to then recruit trainees from the Future Job Strategy? Is this one of those companies then?

Hon. J J Bossano: No, it is not. No.

1185 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I do not want to go round in circles, he must know what this company is about.

1190 You have a company. It is registered at Town Range, it's the offices of the hon. Gentleman, and he knows exactly what is happening in his office. It has public servants as shareholders of the company and it applies for a trade licence in the circumstances that the hon. Gentleman, Mr Reyes, has indicated. He must know more about this company surely... what type of a company it is, because if it is not one of those start-up companies and it is not a Government-owned company, what are public servants doing, as shareholders of this company, and what is it doing being registered at Town Range?

1195 Hon. J J Bossano: I know it is not one of the companies because those people that he is mentioning are not long-term unemployed construction workers in their 50s. (Laughter) So therefore, that is how it is. It is not one of those companies.

1200 The fact that some people set up a company then and nothing else has happened since is because whatever it is that might have happened did not happen and therefore there is no licence, there is no activity, there are no shareholders, there are no directors and no employees, and as far as I am aware there is no company any more.

1205 Hon. D A Feetham: But, Mr Speaker, it is a company that is registered at his offices. It is registered at his offices, with civil servants working for him as shareholders. What is this company? What was this company incorporated to do? What was its purpose?

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, Mr Speaker, I think the hon. Member is saying that it is registered in the sense that it was registered originally there. I think he will find that it is no longer registered anywhere and that the company no longer exists.

1210 Hon. D A Feetham: Alright, Mr Speaker, so the company no longer exists. The fact is that it was registered at Town Range, his offices, with his civil servants as shareholders. He must have been involved as the Minister or given the go ahead to its incorporation and its register in his offices.

I do not expect civil servants to go on a frolic of their own and incorporate companies and register them at his office. I mean, that is not the kind of thing that I would expect would happen.

1215 So therefore he must have some knowledge as to what this company is about. Can he explain what the purpose of this company was? He has now said it no longer exists. What was the original, the initial purpose of this company, its incorporation and registration at his offices?

1220 Hon. J J Bossano: I have not checked, but my understanding is that it is no longer there. I know that they never registered any employees and I know that they never proceeded with an application. Therefore whatever it was that might have been intended never happened. (Interjection) I do not know whether people were frolicking about. I am very lenient as a boss in my office, but allowing frolics is not amongst the activities that I permit. (Laughter)

1225 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, this is now starting to look like a Monty Python sketch – the one about the dead parrot. (Laughter) It is a very dead parrot indeed. Now, I know it is a very dead parrot, but what I am asking is when it was alive, what was its purpose?

1230 Now, Mr Speaker, he is the Minister responsible. It is not an improper question. It is not an unreasonable question. He must have given the go ahead to his civil servants to allow this incorporation of this company, for his civil servants to be shareholders of this company, for this company to be registered at his offices. What was the intention behind this company? Why the reticence of the Hon. Minister to provide me with the information that we are seeking? It is a perfectly reasonable question.

1235 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, whatever might have been in the mind of those who thought of doing something, since the something did not happen, I do not feel I have to give any answers as to what might have happened if it had been proceeded with – it was not.

Hon. D A Feetham: Let me go back a stage.

1240 Was the Hon. Minister involved in authorising the use of this particular company, for whatever use? He does not want to tell me the use or its purpose. Was he involved in authorising his civil servants to assist in the incorporation of this particular company?

1245 Hon. J J Bossano: No, Mr Speaker, they do not require my authorisation for each individual company that is incorporated – this one or any other one.

Hon. D A Feetham: But does he know what the purpose of this company was when it was first incorporated? Does he know that?

1250 Hon. J J Bossano: It was not discussed with me and I had no reason to want to know.

Hon. D A Feetham: So is he answering that he does not know?

1255 Hon. J J Bossano: I am answering more, that I do not know and that I do not care, Mr Speaker. (Laughter)

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, can he clarify an issue which I have in my mind now and I would really seek his assistance in trying to clear the web somewhat.

We have here a company which is registered at his office. The shareholders – 1260 Mr Speaker: I honestly do not think that the Hon. Mr Bossino needs to go... I think we all know what it is that has happened. No, you do not need to say.

Ask a supplementary question by all means, but you do not need to give the background, because even I can understand fully what it is all about. (Interjections)

1265 Hon. D J Bossino: I accept that, Mr Speaker, and I take on that advice.

1270 As I understand it, the Government was providing corporate services to a fixed set of people – in other words, those who were in their 50s, long-term unemployed, I think he also said involved in the construction industry, etc. He has said that this particular company did not fit the bill – in other words, the owner of that particular company did not fit the bill. So can he tell me whether this service is being provided to people who do not fit into criteria? That is the supplementary Mr Speaker.

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I have already told him. I have great difficulty, much as I would like to help the hon. Member who is asking for my help, my problem in helping him is that the help I give him he does not seem to take because he keeps on asking me the same things.

1275 I told him initially that one identifiable category of people were approached by the Employment Service and did not approach us on their initiative, so we went looking for them. They are the people who had been long-term unemployed in their 50s in the construction industry, which we had... This one is not one of them.

1280 I did not say nobody that does not fit into this category has been helped with a company. I did not say that. I said this is a category that I can tell the hon. Member is the one that I think we have now exhausted, but tomorrow that could change. So if he is asking me... I have already answered that this is not a company in that category. So the fact that it is not in that category does not mean that all the 17 companies that have been identified by the hon. Member, it is a figure that I am taking at face value, I have not actually counted them, but assuming that there are 17, but if there were more... well, after all, they get their figures wrong a lot of the time and they may be wrong on the 17 as well, Mr Speaker.

1285 But, apart from the ones I have identified, which I think is about 8 or 9, which are the ones that are really doing the work of the construction industry, there have been other companies that have been helped in other areas, they have come looking for us. So this is one that the approach was not initiated by the Employment Service.

Accident on scaffolding erected at Laguna Estate – Submission of incident report

1290 Clerk: Question 192, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can Government state if a child has had an accident as a result of climbing onto the scaffold erected in the Laguna Estate during the last three months, and if so, has the Factories Inspectorate made an incident report setting out the circumstances in which the incident took place and why, and if so, provide Parliament with a copy of the report?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety.

1300 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with 193 and 194.

Clerk: Question 193.

Leisure Construction & Maintenance Company Limited – Details of employees and directors

1305 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I go back to the question about the Leisure Company and just ask one supplementary of the hon. Gentleman? It is information that I did not personally have, but it has been communicated to me, and I think it is a relevant supplementary and an important one.

Mr Speaker, I will be corrected if I am wrong, but the information that we have on this side was that the application for a trade licence related to the maintenance of children's parks in Gibraltar. Can the hon. Gentleman tell me whether that is accurate?

1310 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Well, since I did not submit the application for the trade licence, no. I am neither responsible for what was put there, nor for its accuracy.

1315 Hon. D A Feetham: And he can confirm that he is not aware of any discussions of any kind between anybody in his Department and the owner, whoever that may be, of this particular company? We do not know because the shareholders are civil servants, so we do not know who stands behind those civil servants.

1320 He is not aware of any conversations between anybody in his Department and the owners of that company in relation to maintenance of children's parks or anything else that this company was purporting to potentially engage in?

1325 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, I do not know what it was purporting to do and not purporting to do, and I certainly do not think I have the responsibility to come here and report conversations that take place between members of my Department and anybody else as if I was eavesdropping. I do not do that to my staff.

Q193-194/2014
Scaffolding erected in Gibraltar –
Inspected and certified

Clerk: Question 193, the Hon. J J Netto.

1330 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government state if all the scaffolding erected in Gibraltar since 2012 has been inspected and certified and found to be compliant with the Factories Act and its subsidiary legislation prior to the work commencing, and if not, please state the names of the company or companies that were not compliant and the respective site or sites on which this happened?

Clerk: Question 194.

1335 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government state if there have been any site or sites in which scaffolding that had been inspected and certified after work commenced since 2012, or not inspected and certified at all, and if so, provide the names of the companies and the sites involved?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety.

1340 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the Government is aware that a child climbed onto a scaffolding in Laguna Estate, but the matter was not reported to the Factory Inspectorate. When the Department became aware, an inspection was carried out by the factory inspector to confirm the safety of the scaffolding.

1345 All scaffoldings, of which the Inspectorate has received notification, have been inspected and certified before works commenced, and none after works commenced or not at all.

1350 Hon. J J Netto: I am grateful, Mr Speaker, for that answer, but I did not quite catch the ending part to the first Question 192, where the Hon. Minister said that once they became aware they actually went on site. Have they proceeded to do an incident report to try and find the circumstances of what happened, by the Factory Inspectorate?

1355 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, no, because as I have said there was not an incident reported that required an inspection and a report. It is just that when I became aware of it, and it was brought to my knowledge by somebody, a member of the public or somebody, that there had been a child involved in climbing, I asked them to go and have a look just to be on the safe side of the safety requirements to check that everything was in order and that it was not that the child had been affected by a badly erected scaffolding. They said that clearly the scaffolding had been inspected initially when it was put up and certified as okay, and they went back in case anything had gone wrong and they could not really find anything that could explain how the accident had happened. So it was not taken any further.

Q195/2014
Future Job Strategy –
Total cost to taxpayer

Clerk: Question 195, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please provide details of the total cost of the Future Job Strategy to the taxpayer since 31st March 2013, broken down by month?

1365

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety.

1370

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, since March 2013 the average monthly cost of the training programme is £975,000. As was the case with its predecessor schemes, the expenditure covers payments to the individuals in the training programme and operating costs.

The persons covered are those employed by the Employment Training Company, the Construction Training Company, the Graduate Research and Development Company and the Supported Employment Company.

1375

In addition to the costs of materials used in training, which are charged to this item of expenditure and the running costs of Gib Dock and the Construction Training Centre facilities, payments for courses at Bleak House are also covered and payments made in respect of ad hoc training – for example, the provision of training to obtain a bus driver and heavy goods vehicle driver licences and plant operation qualifications, which are examples of some of the training that has been going on.

1380

Registration fees payable to UK awarding bodies are also met from this expenditure for trainees that are taking part in the programmes.

1385

Hon. D A Feetham: It is per month, £975 million – (A Member: Thousand.) Sorry, £975,000 per month, but I asked only in relation to the Future Job Strategy, he has widened that to include other areas which are not strictly Future Job Strategy. Does he have just a figure for Future Job Strategy... a subdivision?

1390

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, what he calls the Future Job Strategy is the label provided to the programme of training in the Election campaign. I mean we do not have anything now called the Future Job Strategy. What we have is all the training financed from one head of expenditure, which is the head of expenditure that is about... I think we put it in this year's budget at £11.7 million and that covers Gib Dock, the Construction Training Centre, all the materials, the wages of the people there, the fees for the City and Guilds, which we have to pay to the United Kingdom.

1395

Also some programmes that we have started running recently were as a result, for example, of having a situation where we could not provide people with driving licences for heavy good vehicles, or people with driving licences for buses. We have actually moved away from the traditional parameters that we are training people and placing them with somebody and we have told people who are unemployed that we would keep them on the unemployment register, but pay for their training for them to be able to get new skills and qualifications, which makes it easier for us to find them a job, that is also being funded from this vote and that is being funded for people who are, in effect, continuing unemployed and not trainees.

1400

So we are funding all the costs of all the people who are in the four companies that are doing trainees, which includes the Supported Employment which are permanent employees, and the people that sometimes somebody... for example, we have got some people who are doing hairdressing. They are not employed by us as trainee hairdressers, but we are meeting the cost of the tuition of the hairdressing, which was an initiative of somebody from the industry who came to us and said, 'I would be happy to take on people and train them if you meet the cost', and all that cost is also coming out of there.

1405

Hon. D A Feetham: Does he have a breakdown in relation to this? For example, does he have a breakdown as to how much the wages are in relation to this figure, the wages component in relation to this figure of £975 million – (A Member: Thousand.) thousand, I beg your pardon?

Hon. J J Bossano: I would say that probably the labour cost of the trainees is in the order of £600,000 or £700,000 out of that, which would include the employers' social insurance contributions.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, that is in relation, just to be absolutely clear, to those employees of the companies which form part of the label he described earlier of the Future Job Strategy? In other words, those three or four companies, ETCL and CTCL... yes?

1420

Mr Speaker, he also referred to some individuals, who were currently registered unemployed, were being, in effect, paid by the Government an income, but were not following the FJS scheme procedure whereby they would be placed with an employer. Can he also confirm that those individuals are exclusively within the driver category, which I think he referred to?

1425

Hon. J J Bossano: They are not being paid an income. What I said was not that they were being paid, but that they are not being paid. So they are registered unemployed. They are getting the unemployment benefit. (A Member: Okay.) They continue to be offered jobs, but they are being given the opportunity of attending courses, and what we are doing is paying the tuition. So, for example, the bus driver and the heavy goods vehicle is costing us £50 an hour for the training (Interjection) but this is being paid to the company that is providing the training that puts the bus and the driver and the fuel and charges us £50 an hour.

1430 But the guys that are being trained and then go on and get a licence, we pay for the cost of the licence. These people are on the dole. So we pay for them to be trained. We pay for the costs of the licence. That means of course that we are now able... we have put something like 20 through this system.

1435 The advantage is now that people who had driving licences, but only had the A licence kind of thing, we are now able to, when a vacancy comes up, we are now able to offer candidates with the necessary qualifications to be able to do the job. We have been able to employ some of them as coach drivers for the tourist industry and we have been able to employ some of them as truck drivers in the construction industry.

1440 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, can he confirm – my memory is a bit hazy on this issue – whether this is part of one of the announcements which the Minister for Traffic, I think, made at the time when I had that shadow responsibility? Is that not the same thing?

1445 Hon. J J Bossano: Not to my knowledge. Frankly, this is something that was... I mean in some of these cases there are a number of these things going on and in fact the initiative has come from the training provider, that is somebody came to us and said, 'Look, it is very difficult to find local people when we want to hire people for coach tours and it is difficult to find people when we want people to...' I mean there is an upsurge in demand now for people to drive trucks because there is a lot of construction work. We have got people unemployed, we are pressing people in the construction industry to take them on, so somebody came along and said, 'Well, look, I am prepared, for £50 an hour, to train people and take them through and get them qualified.' Then once they are qualified, if they are still unemployed, as soon as I have got a job, I will offer them a job.

1450 As a result of that it was not our idea; it was not my idea it was something... An idea put to me, which I welcomed, and therefore we invest a few thousand pounds in this kind of training. This is not big money because there are not thousands of people involved – there are only 20 or 30 – but we are doing this in this area, we are doing it in hairdressing. There are three or four activities of this kind, where in a sense what we are doing is upscaling the people that are registered unemployed. The basic departure from what we were doing before is that they continue to be unemployed, they do not get paid and they continue to be available for work and if, for example, the guy that is doing the training for a truck driver, a vacancy comes in for a store man and he wants to do the store man job, then he will abandon the course. There is no penalty and he goes and does the other job. So effectively all the people that are doing this kind of thing are included in the unemployment figures that I provide the hon. Member with.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q196-199/2014
Gibraltar Savings Bank –
Value of debentures; breakdown of debt

Clerk: Question 196, the Hon. D A Feetham.

1465 Hon D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please provide details of the value of Gibraltar Savings Bank debentures as at 31st January 2014?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety.

1470 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question with Questions 197 to 199.

Clerk: Question 197.

1475 Hon. D A Feetham: Will the Chief Minister please give a breakdown by debenture issue, of that part of the aggregate public debt that comprises Government debentures, as at 31st December 2013 and as at 31st January 2014?

Clerk: Question 198.

1480 Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please state what was (i) the gross public debt; (ii) cash reserves; and (iii) the net public debt as at 31st December 2013 and 31st January 2014?

Clerk: Question 199.

1485 Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please give a breakdown by bank and amount of that part of the aggregate public debt which comprises of bank debt as at 31st December 2013 and 31st January 2014?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety.

1490 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the value of Gibraltar Savings Bank Debentures by maturity dates, as at 31st January 2014, was: one month, £23,390,700; 2015 debentures – that is the maturity year – £44,165,200; 2016 debentures, £23,076,600; 2017 debentures, £86,241,500; 2018 debentures, £165,074,000; 2019 debentures, £10,594,400; other debentures, £6,171,623.

1495 Government debentures by maturity dates were, as at 31st December 2013: 2013 debentures, £819,300; 2017 debentures, £67,917,600; one month's notice, £89,057,000.

On 31st January 2014 the figure was 2017 debentures, £67,913,800; and one month's notice, £88,440,800.

1500 The 2013 debenture obviously was repaid before January.

As at the end of December 2013 the gross debt was £457 million; the cash reserves were £222 million; and the net debt was £235 million.

At the end of January the gross debt was £456 million; the cash reserves £223 million; and the net debt £233 million.

1505 The aggregate public debt as at 31st December 2013 and 31st January 2014 included bank loans of £200 million.

These bank loans in both months were £150 million from Barclays Bank and £50 million from NatWest Offshore Limited.

Q200/2014

Personnel in public service – Increase in numbers

1510 Clerk: Question 200, the Hon D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please provide the total net increase in numbers of personnel in the public service since he was elected into office broken down by reference to the Civil Service, the Gibraltar Development Corporation, Government-owned companies and public authorities?

1515 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety.

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment, and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the net increase between 31st December 2011 and 31st December 2013 is as follows: Civil Service, 123; GDC, 28; Government Agencies and companies, 654.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, does the 654 include Future Job Strategy trainees within that figure of 654, or is he just giving me, effectively, the permanent increase in the public service in relation to these two areas of Government-owned companies and public authorities?

1525 Hon. J J Bossano: It includes everybody who was paid that month from any Government company and therefore it includes the four training companies. The figure is – the hon. Member will remember because it used to be done before – is what the Statistics Office produces every quarter, which shows the people who got paid at the end of that month.

1530 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Hon. D A Feetham: May I just have a moment?

1535 Mr Speaker: Okay.

May I ask the hon. Member to ask the next question because it is a very lengthy schedule in the next question and they can be looking at it at the same time.

Hon. D A Feetham: I do not think I have another question now.

1540 Mr Speaker: Mr Bossino.
Question 201.

Hon. D J Bossino: Ah, yes.

DEPUTY CHIEF MINISTER

Q201/2014
Gibraltar Civil Aviation –
Security screening

1545 Clerk: Question 201, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister with responsibility for Aviation please provide details since he came to office of all those individuals other than the Chief Minister who have benefitted from not having to pass through customs or immigration control when boarding or disembarking from a flight at Gibraltar Airport and have had use of an official car of the Gibraltar Government to include the G1?

1550

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, I will now hand over the hon. Member a schedule containing the information requested.

Answer to Question 201

The Gibraltar Civil Aviation Security Programme 2014 states that the following persons are exempt from security screening:

Section A

- Members of The Royal Family
- Lords and Ladies in Waiting when representing the Queen
- Members of Foreign and Commonwealth Royal Families

Section B

- The Chief Minister of the Government of Gibraltar
- The Governor of Gibraltar
- The Judges of the Court of Appeal
- The spouse of the Chief Minister of Gibraltar

Personnel in public service –
Increase in numbers

1555 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I now ask a supplementary whilst my learned and hon. Friend analyses the schedule?

Mr Speaker, the answer that he has given me... effectively I have done the total here. It is a total increase in the public service of 805 employees in the public service, from when they got elected to date. That is the answer that he has given me.

1560 I note that earlier on he answered in relation to one of the questions that my hon. Friend, Mr Bossino, asked about the number of people employed in the public and the private sector, he said that in the public sector the number was 6,393. We are looking at the Employment Survey, and the Employment Survey indicates that for 2011 there were 4,574 people in the public service... in the public sector, and in 2012, 4,991. So the figures that he provided Mr Bossino, it appears that there has been a larger increase in the public service than in the answer that he has provided me today. Now, I do not know, that may be explainable, and I am asking him, can he explain the differences in the numbers.

Hon. J J Bossano: Yes, Mr Speaker, the answer and the explanation is a very simple one. The figures are drawn from different sources.

1570 The Employment Survey is the return produced by employers, who put down who they employ. The figure that he has asked me today... the figure of the Employment Survey is only available for one month a year – the month of October. The figure that I have given him is the most recent figure of the computer in the ETB. To give him an indication of why such discrepancies arise, for example, the people who were employed during the summer who have come out from university and were working during the summer
1575 season as beach keepers and life savers and all those who were there until September and then they went back to the university, the Department forgot to inform the ETB that they were no longer there until January and so they will have been included in December.

If he looks back at the questions that I used to put and if I remind them of that, I often pointed out to the Government of the day that there were four different sources of information and four different figures. So if 1580 you ask the Social Insurance, you get one figure. If you get it from the Employment Service, you get another one. If you ask the Departments, you get a different one. And if you get the computer in the ETB, you probably have the least accurate of the four and that is because there is no guarantee. We have been trying hard for the last two years to reduce that gap, that discrepancy, between one figure and the other and we are now in the process of tracking down 150 employers who may no longer exist, but have never 1585 bothered to tell anybody that they do not exist, and therefore the records remain in the Employment Service and that may be 200 or 300 people. But there is a serious problem and I think until we start effectively fining people for failing to inform the Department when somebody is no longer working... I mean it is easier to enforce the illegal labour thing where they have got somebody working and they do not tell us, but it is more difficult to enforce when the guy just disappears and nobody tells us.

1590 The answer is that subject to what I have said on a number of occasions about the lack of accuracy of the Employment Service, I think the hon. Member should take the figure that I have given him today with a pinch of salt, but it is a figure that I have.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, I could understand all that if I were asking questions about the private sector, but we are talking about the public sector.

One would think that the figures in terms of increases in the public sector would be far more accurate than the private sector. I mean employers... the public sector, the employers are Government-owned companies, Government Authorities, Government Departments, the GDC. You see, if one looks at the Employment Survey, one sees that there is an increase from 2011 of 4,574 employees in the public service 1600 to 4,991 in 2012, an increase of 9.1% and that is the figures that his Department produced. Today there is a huge jump from there in 2012 to 6,393 and that is a significant increase in the public service.

I had asked for a question about the net increase in the public services. They got into office in December and the answer is 805. That is the answer, 805 today, but if you look at the Employment Survey the increase, in accordance with the answer that he has provided Mr Bossino is of the order of 1,400 from 2012
1605 to today. Which of the two represents a more accurate picture as to the increase in the public service, the figures in the Employment Survey, which he has now supplemented today or this answer that he has provided to me which appears to indicate that there is 805 net increase in the public service since they got into office?

1610 Hon. J J Bossano: The most accurate figure is the one I provided him today because that is the payroll. That is to say – (Interjections) The one produced by the Statistics Office.

Hon. D A Feetham: To him or me?

1615 Hon. J J Bossano: The one that says that there were 123 more people in the Civil Service. The one I have just given him is the payroll. So at the end of December 2011, x number of people were paid, and two years later y people were paid. The difference between the x and the y is the 805 that is... So we had 805 people more being paid out of public funds in December 2013 as opposed to December 2011, and 450 of those would be the trainees.

1620 In terms of the people in the data base, I agree with the hon. Member that the records of the public sector ought to be better than the records of the private sector, but I can tell him that when I got there I discovered that they had people who had left years ago from the Health Authority and nobody had bothered to terminate the contract and send it to the ETB.

1625 We did an exercise about six months ago where we took... whereas the figure in the Health Authority might be something like 800 in the estimate, the figure in the Employment Service was 1,200. We took about 400 people out, some of whom were dead and buried. It has still not been cleaned up and it is a mammoth task. I have got people checking, inputting and correcting things. If he looks back at the answers that they provided me with when I asked similar questions, he will find that in fact the gap is smaller, 1630 maybe by something like 600 or 700, which is as much as I have been able to whittle it down by, by checking, but it means checking every single employer in Gibraltar and chasing every single Department. I think, frankly, it is simply not on that Government Departments themselves should be so lax in complying with the law and informing the Employment Service of the terminations of the employees they have got; but there are people retired for years and nobody had told...

1635 Indeed, at one stage when I started chasing people up on this I was told by... I think it was by people in Human Resources or in the Chief Secretary's Office that they thought that the Civil Service did not have to comply with this. I pointed out to them that there was no exemption for the Crown. The idea was that because civil servants get a letter of appointment, that they did not have to fill up a termination of employment form and send it to the ETB and that apparently had been going on for years and nobody had challenged it previously.

1640 But the answer is that I would expect that the figure that I have given him earlier today, which is what I got from somebody pushing the button in the computer and saying what is the number, and that is the number that has come out, we can actually produce the 6,000 names and then we can go and see if those people are still alive. But the reality of it is that we are trying to reduce the inaccuracy in the system by chasing people up in the Departments and by chasing private sector employers. Fairly soon I am going to be announcing that we are going to start fining people if they do not deliver, whether they are in the public or in the private.

1650 Hon. D A Feetham: I mean, it seemed very odd to me, I have to say, when the hon. Gentleman gave these figures because on a quick calculation what he indicated was that the total labour force in Gibraltar public and private sector was in the order of over 26,000, and that seemed to me to be out by about 2,000 or 3,000. (Interjection)

1655 So the figures that he has provided for Mr Bossino really are taken from the computer. They are not – the public service I am talking about – they are not payroll, but presumably if we were to ask next time round what is the total number of people on the payroll in the public service, those figures are available from the Treasury in the same way as he has actually given me the net increase of, in the public service from those figures in answer to my question.

1660 Hon. J J Bossano: That calculation is done on a quarterly basis, and it is done on a quarterly basis by the statistics that used to be provided for the previous Government and has always been provided. So that quarterly head count... the different sources count things in a different way. So, for example, in the case of the figures that I have given him today, it is people who were actually in the month of December receiving a salary at the end of the month. But it would include, for example, people who are working as supply, because somebody is on maternity leave. It is the most accurate in the sense that if you got paid you are there and if you did not get paid you are not there. So if somebody is on unpaid leave they would not be there. The others are the returns from employers and is what the employer puts down in the form and the returns from the Employment Service is what somebody put there sometime in the past and either failed to cancel or even... we had a situation where I have mentioned it to the hon. Member before... The four years, I know that they think that I have got it in for Mr Montiel, but I do not (A Member: You do.) but I have mentioned before that the four years that Mr Montiel was actually the Minister for Employment responsible for the accuracy of this, he appeared as not being in Government and being in the GDC in Bleak House. (Laughter) He was hardly in a position to say to anybody, 'I am going to fine you for not notifying it', when he had failed to notify his own termination in Bleak House and there he was sitting in the office with his name in the computer saying he was not there. There was a sibling somewhere in Bleak House monitoring the employment.

1675 Well, I have to say even Mr Speaker was still shown as being in the GDC when I started checking the records, so – 1680 Mr Speaker: In October 2012, I remember making a return to the Board signifying that I was terminating employment at the end of October.

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, in December 2011 you were still there, Mr Speaker. (Laughter and interjections)

1685 Mr Speaker: [Inaudible]

Gibraltar Civil Aviation –
Security screening

Clerk: Question –

Hon. D J Bossino: No, Mr Speaker, I have got a supplementary in relation to Question 201.

1690 Mr Speaker, I have had some time to look at the schedule and it very helpfully sets out what is the security screening policy of the Gibraltar Civil Aviation Security Programme. Now that particular programme is dated 2014.

1695 Can the Hon. the Chief Minister...the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister – Freudian slip there – tell me what the differences are between the 2014 policy and the policy which was there before that one?

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Yes, Mr Speaker, there was a change to the original programme of 2010, when in April 2011, when the hon. Members were in Government, they added the spouse of the Chief Minister and the spouse of the Governor to the people who are exempt.

1700 There was another change in 2012 when the Civil Aviation Security Regulator was authorised to authorise ad hoc exemptions at the request of the Minister for Civil Aviation and that was a change which basically reflected the practice which had been set in place since 2010. Then in addition to that, in 2012 the police protection officers undertaking escorting duties were also included in the list.

1705 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, he has mentioned the spouse of the Chief Minister and the spouse of the Governor of Gibraltar. Presumably what was also added was the spouses and children accompanying any of the above individuals or was that the... that must be the case, surely?

1710 It is the final bullet point in section – (Interjection) Exactly. In section B. The Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister has referred to the two I have just referred to, but there is also a final one which refers to... it just logically follows that that would have been added – the spouses and children accompanying persons listed in this section.

Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the only changes that we made were those in 2012, were to the escorting policemen and to the procedure. Everything else was there from before we came, including the children, and so it must have been done when the hon. Members were in Government.

1715

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, if I can assist, it is the escorting policemen because we had the Royal visit, I think, in that year and there were escorting policemen escorting Members of the Royal Family. The Chief Minister and the Governor do not travel through the air terminal... at least never have. There may be a situation in the future where we might have to, but we have never travelled with escorting policemen through the air terminal. So this was specifically done to deal with those who were escorting the Royal Family members who came to Gibraltar.

1720

Everything else, every single aspect of the procedure is exactly as set down by them when they were in Administration, and the practice which they built up when they were in Administration.

Q202-203/2014 –
Erection of scaffolding –
Government and private projects

Clerk: Question 202, the Hon. J J Netto.

1725

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government state the number of scaffolds that have been erected since 2012 to date, stating which ones are Government projects and which ones are private ones?

Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

1730

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Yes, Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 203.

Clerk: Question 203.

1735

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government state the date and location of every scaffold that has been erected since 2012, either in Government projects or private ones, the date on which the scaffold was dismantled, the projects that are still ongoing and the name of the company erecting the scaffold and for what project?

1740

Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, I will now hand the hon. Member a schedule containing the information requested.

1750 Mr Speaker: Again, this is a very long schedule... four, five, nearly six pages, may I suggest we go on to Question 204.

Q204/2014 –
Government projects –
Scaffolding costs; contractor

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Mr Netto.

Clerk: Question 204, the Hon. J J Netto.

1755 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government state the money spent per Government project on scaffolding since 2012, stating to which company and whether the payments are for completed works, or for ongoing projects?

Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, the cost of scaffolding for a project is in the main not identified as a separate item in the contract. Scaffolding is included as part of the general contract preliminaries and its cost cannot therefore be easily identified. It is therefore not possible to provide the information for all Government projects since 2012. The information which is available is provided in the table which I hand the hon. Member.

Note: Items marked * indicate total costs of scaffolding erected to date and not the overall scaffolding for the project

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, could I ask the Deputy Chief Minister with regard to the last Question 204, I think I understood, subject to be corrected, that he could not give me the cost per project because he could not desegregate the amount of payment to the scaffold from the overall cost of the particular project.

1770 But is it not the case, and please correct me if I am wrong, that the fees, when a particular company is about to put a scaffold up, they have to seek permission from Building Control Department? They have the forms on which they say that on such and such a day they are going to start erecting the scaffold in such a place and are going to end by such and such a date and in accordance with the time that the scaffold is going to be up, then a schedule of rates goes towards the payment of that scaffold for the duration of the scaffold being erected at that particular site. Is that not the case?

1775 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, scaffolding is not something that comes across my desk very often and the reason I have compiled all this is because it is different Government Departments that are only involved and some of them deal with their own projects.

1780 But the information which is available in relation to what he has requested, which is the cost of the scaffolding in the projects that we have, is what I have supplied to him.

The information which he referred to earlier, I think, is revenue generated to the Government from scaffolding, not the cost of scaffolding to the projects. Those are two different things.

1785 Hon. J J Netto: So the information with regard to how much is charged for the scaffolding, that can be provided and that can be provided because the information is gathered at the Building Control Department. Is that correct?

1790 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Speaker, but it is the revenue the Government generates from that and not what is charged by the scaffolding company to the person or the company carrying out the projects. They are two different things.

1795 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the Deputy Chief Minister's attempts at clarifying this. Is it correct to assume that where you have the particularisation of HMGOG projects that, given that you have that particular information, you may at some point be able to determine what the cost of that specific project listed as a HMGOG project might be?

1800 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, we can determine the revenue the Government receives from scaffolding which is put up all over Gibraltar in relation to building control fees –that we have available and that we can supply; but that is not what the hon. Member has asked. The information we have compiled... he has asked what the cost is of scaffolding in relation to a project (Interjection) which is an expense and not a revenue item – that was the difference.

1805 Hon. S M Figueras: Is the Hon. Deputy Chief Minister saying that it is impossible to ascertain the cost to Government of the scaffolding, as in not that it is difficult or perhaps not the most practical task, but impossible to secure the information?

1810 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, it is impossible to obtain in relation to a number of projects because the scaffolding is sometimes included in the costs. It is not broken down as a separate item. But in those projects where it is broken down as a separate item, we have already provided that to the hon. Member in one of the schedules.

1815 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is he saying that in relation to... this schedule is the schedule of total scaffolding... the large one, the very long one – is the schedule that includes a list of all scaffolding erected, effectively, in Government projects or where there is a contract with the Government, presumably with a Government-owned company, then there is a shorter schedule that provides the cost to the Government. Is he suggesting that anything that is not listed in this short schedule is because the cost of the scaffolding is subsumed within the cost of the contract?

1820 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, that is correct. It is not broken down... itemised.

1825 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, in the long schedule, if we take No. 78 as an example, there is scaffolding being erected at Loreto Convent, Europa Road, and it is listed as a HM Government of Gibraltar project, but yet the property I do not think is a Government property. Can the Minister enlighten us how we can have what I understand to be a private entity and yet it has been listed as a Government project?

And in order to save time, and the same will probably apply to No. 97, where the St Mary The Crowned, Main Street, which I take it to be the... yes, the Cathedral there, again it is a Government project and I do not think it is a Government-owned building.

1830 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the works done to Loreto Convent, although these appear to be March to April 2013, I think are probably part of the work undertaken there by the previous Administration, not by this Administration, and that may simply be a tidying up or a fixing in respect of that.

1835 That building, you are right, is not a Government building, but it appears – I cannot say more than that at this stage – that all of the works and all of the extension done at that school was a Government project, although it is not a Government School and it is not a Government building, but they were the ones who were in power when it was done. I know no more about it.

1840 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker. That is precisely what I was asking. I was asking for confirmation that it was a Government project, despite the property being a private one.

The same goes for No. 97, which is a start date of September 2013 and is still ongoing. So, that has been going on for four, five months or something and perhaps the Chief Minister can shed some light on that one as well.

1845 Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Speaker, that is different. That is work done to the Cathedral of St Mary The Crowned, which the Government has agreed to subsidise.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, just so that I understand it, may I ask the Deputy Chief Minister, this particular column which indicates private or Her Majesty's Government, what is the difference between the 1850 two? Dealing with what... a private project in relation to which the Government has some involvement?

Because I would not expect the Government to be answering questions for which it is not responsible in this House. If it is a private project, can he explain that?

1855 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member asked in relation to Government projects or private projects, that was the question, and in relation to scaffolding which had gone up, which is a building control matter, and so in that sense the Government is involved.

Clerk: And with that we come to the end of Oral Questions.

Questions for Written Answer

Clerk: Now we go on to Written Questions, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

1860 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to table the answers to Written Questions, W25 to W35 of 2014.

Q204/2014 continued – Government projects – Scaffolding costs; contractor

1865 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I know we have moved on to Written Questions, but I have just spotted in the long schedule that the Hon. Deputy Chief Minister gave me that item 24 on the last column, there is nothing at all indicating whether it is a Government project or a private project. Is that one of these... you know, an error in the printing or something?

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, looking at the scaffold location, it looks to be a private project, but I could not say that for certain without finding out... without asking.

ADJOURNMENT

1870 Clerk: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the House do now

BILLS FIRST AND SECOND READING

Stamp Duties (Amendment) Bill 2013 – First Reading approved

Clerk: Sitting of Parliament, Friday, 21st February, 2014.

Bills – First and Second Reading.

A Bill for an Act to amend the Stamp Duties Act 2005. The Hon. the Chief Minister.

5 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Stamp Duties Act 2005 be read a first time.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Stamp Duties Act 2005 be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

10

Clerk: The Stamp Duties (Amendment) Act 2013.

Stamp Duties (Amendment) Bill 2013 – Second Reading approved

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill be now read a second time. This Bill, Mr Speaker, amends the Stamp Duties Act 2005 for two principal purposes.

15 First of all, it introduces an exemption from stamp duty of any instrument whereby property is transferred between spouses, or between the dissolution, or following the dissolution of marriage between former spouses.

Secondly, it introduces a zero rate of stamp duty, where either the value of the property does not exceed £250,000, the purchaser, or if more than one, each of the purchasers, is a first-time or second-time buyer and the property being bought is residential property.

20 LPS have looked at this Bill, Mr Speaker, which implements budget measures and have confirmed to the Government that it enables them to give business efficacy to those measures.

25 Under the new section 19A, the definition of a ‘first-time buyer’ is given as a person being an individual who has not previously been a purchaser of property subject to duty, where the real property in Gibraltar consisted of residential property. The definition of person, Mr Speaker, as an individual is designed to ensure that this zero rate can only apply when it is an individual real person who is a purchaser and not a company. The definition refers to residential property, so that if the individual has a business, and so has previously bought property for commercial purposes, he is still a first-time buyer for the purposes of the Act if he then goes on to buy residential property for the first time.

30 Furthermore, the definition of ‘first-time buyer’ and ‘second-time buyer’ refers to a purchaser of property subject to duty, because the definition in the Stamp Duties Act 2005 of property subject to duty relates to buying real property or to any interest in the company that owns real property. This means that if you have previously bought property through a company for residential purposes more than once, then you are no longer a first or second-time buyer.

35 Admittedly though, according to the Government’s Land Property Agents, LPS, most properties that are owned by companies are over the £250,000 threshold and checking if the existence of a previous property interest held by a company may be difficult, or impossible, if shares have been held by a Trust.

40 For this purpose, and at the suggestion, the useful suggestion of LPS, we have included a certificate requirement in the new section 19A so that the purchaser has to sign a certificate confirming that they are a first or second-time buyer for the purposes of the Act. A person who issues a false or misleading statement, or is reckless as to whether the statement is false or misleading, commits an offence.

The level of the fine is the same as that in section 6, for setting out incorrect facts or information in the instrument affecting how much duty is chargeable. This goes some way, we are advised, Mr Speaker, in dealing with those issues.

45 Mr Speaker, generally the amendments made in this Bill are deemed to have come into operation on Budget day, 24th June last year, as this Bill gives effect to the provision set out in my speech on the Appropriation Bill.

I commend the Bill to the House.

50 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Stamp Duties Act 2005 be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Stamp Duties (Amendment) Act 2013.

Stamp Duties (Amendment) Bill 2013 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

55 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today. (Members: Aye.)

Employment (Bullying at Work) Bill 2013 –
First Reading approved

60 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to prohibit bullying and victimisation in employment and for connected purposes.

The Hon. the Chief Minister.

65 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to prohibit bullying and victimisation in employment and for connected purposes be read a first time.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to prohibit bullying and victimisation in employment and for connected purposes be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

70 Clerk: The Employment (Bullying at Work) Act 2013.

Employment (Bullying at Work) Bill 2013 –
Second Reading approved

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill be now read a second time.

75 Mr Speaker, this Bill implements one of our key manifesto commitments. The purpose of the Bill is to prohibit bullying and victimisation in employment.

Members of this House will be aware that a Command Paper was presented and published in January 2012 on this matter and that the Command Paper contained a draft Bill, entitled ‘Rights to Dignity at Work Act 2012.’

80 Responses to the Command Paper were received and considered and a working group, which comprised of Members of DAWN, the Dignity At Work Union, Unite and the GGCA were set up in January 2013 to further develop the draft Bill. The Bill before this House is therefore different to the Bill that appeared in the Command Paper following consultations with the working group.

85 Mr Speaker, the Bill itself is intended to provide a legislative structure to tackle bullying in a way that goes further than the current provisions on harassment in the Equal Opportunities Act 2006, the Employment Act and the Crimes Act 2011. The Act, by virtue of clause 3(2) is binding on the Crown.

90 Clause 4 defines what amounts to bullying under the Act. It provides that bullying takes place where a person engages in conduct which has the purpose or effect of causing another person to be alarmed, distressed, humiliated or intimidated. This conduct includes: persistent behaviour, which is offensive, intimidating, abusive, malicious or insulting; persistent unjustified criticism; punishment imposed without justification; and changes in the duties or responsibilities of a person to that person's detriment without reasonable justification.

Bullying does not include reasonable action taken by an employer relating to the management and direction of the employee or the employee's employment as set out in clause 4(3) of the Act.

95 Clause 5 defines what conduct amounts to victimisation under the Act. It provides that victimisation takes place where one person treats another less favourably because he or she in good faith has, for example, taken or supported any action taken for the purpose of the Act, including in relation to any alleged breach of its provisions. It also provides that victimisation takes place where one person treats another less favourably because he or she is suspected of having done this or of intending to do this.

100 A person is not protected from victimisation where he or she maliciously makes or supports an untrue complaint. The section replicates the effect of the provision in the Equal Opportunities Act 2006 as regards victimisation, and that is section 13 of the Equal Opportunities Act that I am referring to.

105 Clause 6, Mr Speaker, makes it unlawful for an employer to subject employees and people applying for employment to bullying. It also makes the employer liable for bullying of its employees by third parties, such as customers or clients over whom the employer does not have direct control. Liability in relation to third party bullying will, however, only arise when bullying has occurred on at least two previous occasions, the employer is aware that it has taken place and has not taken reasonable steps to prevent it happening again.

110 However, clause 6(5) provides that an employer will not be in contravention of clause 6(1) in relation to a complaint of bullying where he or she can show that at the time of the Act or Acts complained of, he or she had in force a Bullying at Work Policy in accordance with the schedule and that he or she has taken all reasonable steps to implement and enforce the said Policy. Further, he or she will not be in contravention if, as soon as it is reasonably practicable, the employer takes all steps as are reasonably necessary to remedy any loss, damage or other detriment suffered by the complainant as a result of the Act or Acts complained of.

115 The schedule provides for the Bullying at Work Policy, Mr Speaker. It sets out that the Policy must be in writing, must be distributed to every employee and must include the following: an explanation of the statutory right of employees not to be subjected to bullying and victimisation and a statement that bullying and victimisation will not be tolerated; examples of bullying behaviour and of the conduct that may lead to disciplinary action; a statement of the procedure for bringing complaints and the manner in which they will be dealt with; a designation of a competent person to whom complaints should be made; a statement of the disciplinary procedure to be followed against employees who infringe the Policy; details of designated persons available to counsel, assist and advise individuals who bring complaints, or who are the subject of complaints; arrangements to train all those occupying any position and managerial authority and to inform all employees of the Policy; annual monitoring of the operation of the Policy; and arrangements for the consultation with trade unions, safety representatives and other stakeholders on the operation of the Policy, its implementation and any revision.

120 Clause 7 makes it unlawful for an employer to victimise employees. It applies in respect of anything done in the course of a person's employment.

130 Clause 8 provides that the Industrial Tribunal has jurisdiction to hear the claims under the Act. This clause replicates the effect of provisions in the Equal Opportunities Act and the Employment Act. The clause also deals with time limits. A person must bring a claim within three months of the alleged conduct taking place. If a person wants to make a claim after that period, it is at the Industrial Tribunal's discretion whether they grant permission to allow them to do so. The test applied by the Industrial Tribunal is what is just and equitable in the circumstances. Where conduct in respect of which a claim under the Act might arise continuous over a period of time, the time starts to run at the end of that period.

135 Clause 9 sets out the remedies available to the Industrial Tribunal hearing cases under the Act. This clause again is designed generally to replicate the effect of the provision of the Equal Opportunities Act 2006 and the Employment Act. The Industrial Tribunal can make a declaration regarding the rights of the complainant and/or the respondent, order compensation to be paid, including damages for injury to feelings 140 and make an appropriate recommendation. The measure of compensation is that which applies in tort claims, for example claims of negligence where the compensation puts the claimant in the same position, as far as possible, as he or she would have been in if the unlawful act had not taken place.

145 Clause 10 provides that in any claim where a person alleges bullying or victimisation under the Act, the burden of proving his or her case starts with the claimant. Once the claimant has established sufficient facts, which in the absence of any other explanation points to a breach having occurred, the burden shifts to the respondent to show that he or she did not breach the relevant provisions of the Act.

Clause 11 sets out how interest to any awarded compensation made to a claimant as a result of a case brought under this Act shall be calculated. This clause again replicates the provisions of the Equal Opportunities Act 2006.

150 Finally, the schedule provides for the Bullying at Work Policy, which I referred to earlier.

Mr Speaker, this Bill will not come into operation until a notice is published in the Gazette to commence it. The Government welcomes that employer organisations, like the Federation of Small Businesses and the Chamber of Commerce, are supportive of the work being done to rid the workplace of bullying.

155 In order to ensure that commencement of the Bill does not however give rise to spurious claims and to enable employers and employees to prepare for this landmark legislation, I have established a Commencement Committee which will include the Unions, DAWN and the GFSB and the Chamber, to enable us all to work together in ensuring this legislation comes into operation as effectively as possible.

160 I have this morning, Mr Speaker, or I will in fact this morning in a moment circulate a letter with minor typographical amendments to the language of the Bill, which we will raise at the Committee stage.

Mr Speaker, the very first leaflet we issued during the course of the 2011 General Election campaign carried a simple and effective message that demonstrated our commitment to banning bullying in the workplace. The message was 'Ban the Bully.' This Bill does just that. For that purpose Mr Speaker, I commend the Bill to the House. (Banging on desks)

165

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

The Hon. Damon Bossino.

170 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I have spent considerable time and effort in reviewing this particular Bill, because I think it is a very important legislative move on behalf of the Government and in fact, with your permission, I will be reading from some notes I have here with me. But it is precisely, Mr Speaker, because it is such a ground breaking and I would describe it also revolutionary in nature, that I think and certainly on this side of the House we think that much more should have been done to educate, inform and advise employees and importantly employers about this particular piece of legislation.

There should have been, in my consideration, much more consultation. I have spoken recently in my preparation for this Bill to various employers and other interested parties and stakeholders and many of them, Mr Speaker, are unaware of the existence of this Bill or in some cases, its far reaching terms.

180 One has to acknowledge the sterling work which has been done by a particular local pressure group by the name of Dignity At Work Now – DAWN, for short – and one of its main proponents, Mr Francis Buttigieg, whom I recently had the pleasure to meet to discuss this Bill. Mr Speaker, his very good work over the years in both bringing this delicate issue to the fore and also in counselling and advising people affected by this scar on society, that is bullying generally, but particularly in the workplace, has to be recognised by everybody in this House.

185 There have of course, Mr Speaker, been many pressure groups outside of Gibraltar and particularly in the UK, which have also done a lot of work in this area. But, as I said earlier, in our view a lot more could and should have been done by the Government in the lead up to this legislation by way of analogy.

190 I recall when Lord Woolf spearheaded the radical changes to the Supreme Court Rules, which heralded the introduction of the... I was just about to describe them as the new civil procedure rules, but of course they have been in place now for a considerable period of time in 1999.

Members of the legal profession will recall that we had conferences, seminars and symposiums, which were held in Gibraltar in anticipation of the rules application here. That was indeed very informative for local practitioners, who were able to digest the meat and the substance of the rules before their implementation.

195 As a collective, the members of the Bar, the Judiciary and other court service users and staff were able to prepare for the radical changes which the reforms brought in their wake. As far as the Opposition can see, there has been none or at least little of that here. Very few shop owners, small business owners or indeed even practitioners in Employment Law, Mr Speaker, have been made aware of the proposed radical nature of these changes and this, Mr Speaker, is an important point, because certainly from the perspective of, for example, the small business owner, who is already facing the very considerable reduction in sales as a result of the frontier queues, is now having imposed on him more stringent burdens in the form of legislation. This is not just in the context of the implementation of the Bullying at Work Policy, as set out in the schedule to the Act, which indeed I will go into that later, has been cited in the House of Commons as being unenforceable in nature, but a Policy which has been applied... in fact that particular Policy which the Hon. the Chief Minister alluded to, is a Policy which would have to be applied by all employers irrespective of their size. But also because they could be subjected to unmeritorious claims without being able to recover the costs from such claims given that the jurisdiction where these complaints are going to be heard is in the Industrial Tribunal where cost recovery, as hon. Members who are petitioners or were petitioners in this area will know, is very, very difficult indeed.

Europe-wide there are different stages of developments in relation to this area of law. Sweden, for example, was the first country to legislate in this area in 1993. There have been European-wide legislative moves in the areas of equal opportunities, which the Hon. the Chief Minister referred us to, which enshrined what in broad terms can be referred to as anti-discrimination provisions, where there is a prohibition of bullying and victimisation in respect of protected characteristics, such as sex, religion, age etc, that is already part of Gibraltar's statute in the form of the Equal Opportunities Act.

In the UK there have been various attempts at introducing what they call, and we used to call the Dignity at Work legislation, which although approved in the House of Lords in 2001 has not been implemented in the House of Commons to date. In England, as here, Mr Speaker, we have the ability not only to bring claims under the Equal Opportunities legislation, the common law, but also in relation to Health and Safety legislative architecture.

One particular campaigner, Miss Valerie Davey the MP for Bristol West in the 2001 to 2005 UK Parliament, carried out a personal campaign by persisting over many years to ensure that there was a debate on this issue in the House of Commons, having first applied for a Motion in 2001, but which was not in fact debated until 2003. She, however, found cross-party support for her campaign when the matter was finally aired. In her 2003 speech, she spoke of the harrowing experiences that employees across the country undergo at the hands of bullies in the workplace. The statistics she used then were quite shocking to read. A study carried out by the University of Manchester in 2001 showed that 10% of people had experienced bullying during the previous six months, whilst 25% had experienced it in the previous five years.

Gibraltar, unfortunately, is not apparently free of such bullies. The information available in the DAWN website, the local pressure group, refers us to a preliminary study which shows that 31.1% of employees consider themselves victims of bullying at work and we also had the sad case of one suicide. However, what many people have asked is what other empirical evidence is there of bullying in Gibraltar? What information, if any, is available to the Employment Service? What statistics does the Government have? None, I suspect, and this is one further area of concern as to how this delicate issue is being handled. The now governing party already had draft legislation in place and were already committed to legislation before, in my view, studying the matter more carefully. They had the pill ready before they even knew how big the ailment in fact is or was in Gibraltar.

For all these reasons, this issue should have been properly debated and the community properly educated. I am conscious that this is a manifesto commitment of the Government, but there is no reason why the debate could not have taken place before the legislation was brought to this House.

I also Mr Speaker have concerns, with the details of the Bill as it currently stands and whether therefore we are introducing a good law for what is such an important and delicate subject. I really do get the impression that the Government is pursuing this initiative without much thought in its obsession with ticking that particular box of its manifesto. (A Member: Hear, hear.)

Firstly, and as stated earlier, I am not sure that there has been wide consultation or indeed enough time given for such consultation, given that the Bill represents a substantial departure from the Command Paper which was published in January 2012 within a month after the current party was elected into Government. The Command Paper is expressed, for example, in terms of Dignity at Work as opposed to bullying or victimisation which follows the UK Bill.

Secondly, we seem to have gone on a frolic of our own by mixing the wording set out in the UK Dignity at Work Bill, Equal Opportunities legislation and Prevention of Harassment the UK Prevention of Harassment Act wording, all in one melting pot, and I am not sure how that will work in terms of enforcement and interpretation.

One of the... I am not sure whether this is what informed his decision, but when the Leader of the Opposition was the Minister of Justice and he introduced a considerable number of legislative changes, as a petitioner what I always noticed was that they were very similar in terms to the English legislation, which for a petitioner makes a lot of sense, because you can at least apply the common law architecture which is available in the UK to Gibraltar.

Where you have a wholesale adoption of the Equal Opportunities legislation, is in relation to the remedies section in clause 9 of the Bill and the interest on compensation set out at clause 11 section, which provide, for example, for Supreme Court compensation and injury to feelings. The statutory cap here, Mr

Speaker, is removed in circumstances where the legislation is of much wider scope, because the bullying or victimisation is not required to be based, as I said earlier, on a protected characteristic as it is in the current Equal Opportunities legislation.

265 Could at least, as an initial move, the Government not have adopted a non-punitive approach, as in the case, for example, in Sweden, where in fact there was an MP in the UK by the name of Mr John Robertson who, during the course of a debate, on 25th March 2003, encouraged the UK Government at the time to follow that particular route?

270 Importantly, Mr Speaker, the cost regime applicable in relation to unfair dismissal claims – i.e. they are for all intents and purposes non-payable – apply to complaints of this nature. So that, for example, a small business employer could be subjected to an unmeritorious claim, which would require defending at cost to it, which would then not be recovered, with medical reports and all other sorts of expenses. An unmeritorious claim, Mr Speaker, to a small business employer employing, let us say, one or two employees, could ruin the business.

275 The other point is, is the Industrial Tribunal the appropriate body to deal with claims of this nature? A chairman will now be required to deal with Supreme Court level compensation. Can the Tribunal deal with these matters administratively? A question that I do have is whether this in fact makes matters worse for claimants. Will they not also be precluded as a result from claiming such compensation from the Supreme Court in an ordinary claim? It should be borne in mind that claims under the Protection of Harassment Act 280 of 1997 in England and Wales, can only be brought in the High Courts in England.

Section 4(1) refers to... sorry clause 4(1), I beg your pardon, Mr Speaker, refers to conduct and there is another point I wish to raise with hon. Gentlemen and Ladies, and it is this: there is no further explanation as to whether the conduct is expected to be repetitive or not. Should there not be, for example, a reference to a course of conduct, which I think is the legislative language in the Protection of Harassment Act? I understand, Mr Speaker, that in Sweden, for example, they outlawed recurrent reprehensible or distinctively 285 negative actions, using the words in fact used in the particular section there.

Much of the literature that I have read on the subject refers to repeated and persistent behaviour, which is what is in fact envisaged in most of the examples set out in clause 4(2), but not all of them. The Protection of Harassment Act requires there to be a course of conduct, as I said earlier. Whilst on this 290 subject of the Protection of Harassment Act, I would ask the Hon. the Chief Minister during the course of his reply, given that it is a manifesto commitment of the Government to also include a Protection of... it says, yes, I am reading direct from the manifesto and it says this will also include a Protection of Harassment Act, and whether it is the intention of the Government, as part of its legislative programme during the course of this Parliament, to introduce a separate Act in relation to Protection of Harassment or 295 whether he considers that the relevant provisions there are already set out in this particular Bill. I would be grateful for some guidance in relation to that point.

The suggested amendment I have just made in relation to the course of conduct will also go some way to address concerns, which employers will no doubt have, of being at the end of spurious claims, as I mentioned earlier, as a result of one-off actions. I daresay, Mr Speaker, that even the local pressure group 300 will also agree with the definition of bullying acts as being repetitive or using the words of the draft legislation, ‘persistent behaviour’.

Should the word, Mr Speaker – and it may be one of the suggested amendments that the Hon. the Chief Minister referred to earlier – the word ‘reasonable’ not also be included before ‘justification’ in clause 4(2)(c)? I would ask him to consider that.

305 In relation to ‘third party’, I take hon. Members to clause 6(4), which deals with basically the employer having to protect employees from third party bullying, is the Government contemplating legislation for those acts of bullying perpetrated by non-employees on employees, is a question I have? I think on the face of the wording of the legislation, I think the answer must be yes.

310 And, of course, this can lead to a situation, Mr Speaker, where, for example, a contractor has employees working on a construction site and that particular employee is bullied by a tenant. That contractor or employer will be held liable under the Act. I do not know... a lawyer in a legal firm situation where, for example, a partner may be or a legal firm may be the subject of a claim by an associate if the associate is bullied by a client. Things like that which I think ought to have been given sufficient thought to.

315 How is it proposed, Mr Speaker, that A – i.e. the employer – will know of B’s bullying? I note that there is no specific provision which allows for the giving of notice by, say, B to A, for example.

The other point is, has thought been given to the difference in the use of language and therefore potentially legal tests in the use of the word ‘detriment’ in clause 7(d) and the ‘less favourable’ treatment in clause 5, because I think those two clauses sort of work with each other. I will ask the Hon. the Chief Minister maybe in his reply whether he could address concerns I have in relation to that.

320 In relation to – and this may be one of the typographical errors which the Hon. the Chief Minister was referring to – in clause 9 there is a reference... clause 9(1) we have three subsections, which are (a), (b) and then there is a big 'I'. I think that ought to be a small (c), with a consequential change to clause 9(3) which makes a reference to that particular subsection.

325 Moving on to the schedule to the Bill, which sets out the Bullying at Work Policy, as I said earlier, this requires a mandatory implementation by all employers, irrespective of the size of the undertaking. What cost burden will this imply for these employers? Will they not have to seek legal advice in terms of the drafting of these documents, for example? This is in fact a crucially important part of the legislation, given that it affords a defence to employers under clause 6(5).

330 Provision 2(d) in the Bullying at Work policy, talks of the designation of a 'competent person' to whom complaints should be made. There is no definition of what a 'competent person' is. What guidance is being offered to employers, especially those, as I said and I have repeated during the course of my speech, who run small businesses, which are the vast majority of employers in Gibraltar, as to who this competent person should be? Will they need to employ somebody else? Does a person have to be qualified? If so, in what?

335 Reference is also made, Mr Speaker, in 2(f) to providing details of 'designated persons' and approval, who are available to counsel etc. Again, what guidance is there as to whom those persons should be?

340 Mr Speaker, the legislation which the MP I referred to earlier, Miss Davey, sought to introduce by an amendment, I think it was the Employment Relations Bill, on 29th March 2004, in clause 1 is in fact in very similar terms to clause 4 of the current Bill, although it talks about the protection of the right to dignity at work. But it is almost word for word what is provided for... the amendment which she sought to introduce was almost word for word, if not word for word, what is set out in the schedule to this particular Bill. She in fact withdrew that particular clause on the basis that the Government at the time was to launch, together with Amicus, and I quote:

'The world's largest project to stamp out the bullying and discrimination at work'

She then said:

'I offer my sincere congratulations to my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State on her announcement last week that, together with Amicus, the Government will launch the world's largest project to stamp out bullying and discrimination at work. The project has been launched to provide supportive advice and training to organisations that are trying to tackle bullying, train employees as counsellors, devise and promote a voluntary charter on dignity at work, promote examples of excellent employers in the United Kingdom and produce a benchmark that enables organisations to measure their success in achieving dignity at work and a "ban bullying" pack. The Government are working initially with Amicus and 10 leading employers, including British Aerospace, Royal Mail...'

345 And then she refers to a few other employers. Miss Eleanor Laing, from the Conservative Opposition at the time, then said:

'Although I entirely agree with her sentiments and intentions, I disagree with the idea that passing further legislation will achieve them. The clause is too prescriptive...'

– the same clause as the Bullying at Work Policy –

'Clearly, I do not have to make that argument because she acknowledges its validity...'

– and that is because in fact Miss Davey withdrew the amendment –

'New clause 1 would place an enormous burden on employers and employees to understand what constitutes a dignity at work policy and the way in which it would be enforced. That applies especially to a small workplace in a small or medium-sized firm that does not employ many human resources people. It cannot be good for industry to employ more people to deal with further regulations than it does to manufacture goods and services. Business and industry should be about the latter, not keeping to the letter of complicated laws [...] If the solution to the enormous problem that she described was passing such a law, we would all be pleased. Employers and employees alike would be pleased if we could eradicate the dreadful problem of bullying by merely writing something in statute [...] It would be bad jurisprudence to pass new clause 1 into law, as it would be difficult to enforce. It is bad in principle to make laws that cannot be enforced and would be unclear.'

350 Mr Speaker, in another debate later on, I think it was in 2004, Dr Vincent Cable, Vince Cable said that he was struck by the comments made by the Andrea Adams Trust, which the hon. Member for Bristol was cited as Miss Davey referred to earlier, and it asks

'Does the courtroom really have to be the appropriate battleground? Surely in reality the ideal place to resolve the problem must be in the workplace itself. Recognition and awareness of workplace bullying is essential if we are to move forward.'

Whether or not there may be a case for workplace legislation, the report said that a concerted effort should be made by management and the unions to raise the profile of workplace bullying to ensure that it is 355 properly monitored. Then he referred to the fact that there are legal remedies which exist which are very similar to the legal remedies which are available in Gibraltar.

And then he says

360 'If there were a role for legislation, perhaps it is not laying down prescriptive procedures to deal with work-place bullying, but placing an obligation on employers to have an anti-bullying policy and to allow for flexibility in that policy to deal with particular problems.'

I do not think that this particular Bill achieves that, Mr Speaker. These are precisely the criticisms that we on the Opposition side have in relation to this legislation in general, but specifically to the schedule to the Bill, which is entitled, 'The Bullying at Work Policy'.

365 Mr Speaker, rather than proceed by way of legislation, for example, should the Government not have proceeded in a similar way to the UK and engage with the industry? Or perhaps, also, if legislation is the way to proceed, to have adopted the Swedish example of non-punitive measures, as I mentioned earlier. It is interesting, I would point out, given the socialist credentials of Members opposite, that it is not Labour Party Policy and it certainly did not feature in the 2010 Election manifesto.

370 It is for all of these reasons, Mr Speaker, that unless I am persuaded by the Hon. the Chief Minister in his reply as to what he is about to say, that I think we have little alternative but to abstain on this particular legislative initiative and it is a pity, because had things been done in a different way and properly, it would no doubt have resulted in support from this side of the House. (A Member: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks)

375 Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to contribute to the second reading of the Bill? Otherwise, I will call upon the mover to reply.

The Hon. the Chief Minister.

380 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, it really is quite astonishing to have heard the extraordinary remarks that the hon. Member has made as he has tried to wriggle through, pretending to support something that is designed to protect those who are being bullied in the workplace, whilst trying to find every possible reason to object to raising their hands at the end in support of this. I really do not know what it is that they think that they are doing. Is it that they are trying desperately to be in the good books of the employers organisations, but not annoy the employee organisations? If that is the sort of tight rope that they are trying to walk with these games, well I think it is so transparent and see through that it is not going to get them anywhere.

385 Mr Speaker, let us be very clear about what has happened and how the hon. Gentleman has tried to pretend the opposite. We have published, within 100 days of being elected, a Command Paper on a subject that even by the hon. Member's intervention, he accepts deals with something that is sensitive and that affects some people's daily lives. He has accepted that there are statistics available, internationally and in Gibraltar, carried out by a group that he has said he respects, although he does not appear to have put much store by their statistics that show that there is bullying in the workplace in Gibraltar.

390 So we publish a Command Paper in 2012. We publish an amended Bill, as a result of having published that Command Paper and having consulted a very different Bill to the Command Paper as a result of the consultation, in 2013. And in 2014, the hon. Member gets up and says, 'You have not consulted enough.' Mr Speaker, if we change a Command Paper because we do consult, and we produce a Bill that is different because we do consult, does that not demonstrate that the fruit of that work is what is before the Parliament today? It is therefore the Bill that results from the consultation. How can he say we have not consulted enough?

400 Mr Speaker, I dare say that the fact is that they have not engaged in the consultation. It appears to me that Mr Bossino spent much of last night trying to read up on debates anywhere else in the European Union that he might be able to lay his hands on to have something to say, because we have not had him address what he has been doing for the past two years with the Command Paper published and who he has spoken to in the past two years. By his own mouth he tells us that in the past couple of days he has phoned a few people who are employers and then he has given us his own summary of the debates that he has read in another place. Mr Speaker, I do not think that is consultation leading to proper decision making, to make a stand on something as important as this which leads them to abstain. Well, I think members of the general public will make up their own minds about how serious their protestations of support for the principles and general merits of the Bill are, given their response in this Second Reading.

410 Then, Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman tells us we should have done more by way of guidance and information, and he puts us in mind of the work done in relation to the Woolf reforms (Laughter) as they were known. (Laughter) He is a bit of a wolf in sheep's clothing, Mr Speaker, in this debate, I put it to him, whilst he pretends to want to protect those who are bullied, but does not want to support the legislation that does it.

415 So the Woolf reforms, which were the civil procedure reforms, he says, those were properly dealt with. There were seminars and there were guidance notes and there were conferences. Yes, Mr Speaker, there were after the Bill to make those changes to the rules had passed the Westminster Parliament or had been adopted as what practitioners know as the new white book. So the rules were in place. It was not a question of the rules not being made whilst there were conferences and guidance notes and discussions. All of it was done and then there was guidance, conferences and discussion.

420 But I can see what happened to the hon. Gentleman in his speech, he wrote it before he heard my speech and he either felt that his pen had been so florid in writing his speech that he wanted to read it anyway or he just did not listen to what I had to say. I said there will be a Commencement Committee and the Bill will not commence until the Commencement Committee advises me to commence it, and what the Commencement Committee will do is provide guidance and provide training and help employers and help employees. All the things that he said that we should be doing, which I had just said we were going to do. So I will take, Mr Speaker, with a proverbial pinch of salt, everything that came after, because if he is advising me to do that which I have said I am doing, he is not giving me the sort of advice that I could be persuaded to pay for if I was instructing him professionally.

430 Mr Speaker, small business owners in Gibraltar have never had a more listening Government, and despite the fact that this Bill has been published as a Command Paper for two years and in its current form for some time and that it was published actually as a Bill in December of last year – no this is not a Bill which has only been published for six weeks; it has now been published for almost 12 weeks or even longer – we are still talking to the employer organisations, not to one or two employers, like he referred to his conversations, but to the employer organisations and to the employee organisations and we are putting the employer organisations and the employee organisations and the Government in the same Committee to work on guidance and the best way to implement this Bill.

435 Therefore his pretence that he is somehow representing the interest of the small business owner, of the business with two or three employees, really wears very thin when one looks at what is actually happening on the Government side. They do not need protection from this Government, Mr Speaker. This Government is the ally of small businesses and the ally of those doing business in Gibraltar, regardless of the size of the undertaking, because they are the ones who provide jobs. And in doing the work of presenting this Bill to the Parliament, of course we are not just protecting the bullied, we are also protecting the employer, because what productivity in a workplace where bullying is rife, or where an employee who is there to produce is subject to such bullying that he cannot give the best of himself... so this is in effect also in the interest of the employer.

440 But, Mr Speaker, there should be perhaps no surprise whatsoever that they have taken the attitude that they have taken and in their abstention on this side of the House, we will hear them voting against this Bill because in effect they had 16 years in Government to consult, to think, to talk to DAWN, that they never talked to when they were in Government, and only last week he had the pleasure of welcoming to his office. Whilst those of us who are on this side of the House had been working with them for almost half a decade, concerned about the issues that they raise, because all of the florid words to justify the unjustifiable abstention today are about the new GSD and what the new GSD has done in the past 72 hours or in the past week to try and deal with this difficult issue; but not about what the old GSD was up to for 16 years and their failure to address this issue, at least since DAWN put it on the agenda.

445 Perhaps I should not be surprised, Mr Speaker, given that in almost every public intervention that hon. Members make they try and decry the things that their party did whilst in Government and tell us how new and how different they are, and how new and how different even their internal procedures are, Mr Speaker, although they are uncannily similar to those internal procedures that those of us on this side of the House in the GSLP have been pursuing for many, many years since we were established.

450 But, anyway, Mr Speaker, the history lesson that the hon. Gentleman gives us as to the progress of anti-bullying legislation through other parliaments, he should know is one that we have done already ourselves before the Command Paper and even before being in Government. It does not take a Seneca – and that name is the same in English as it is Spanish, Mr Speaker, because it is Greek – to be able to work out what to type into Google to get now the debates that one has access to in all of the parliaments around Europe that deal with these issues.

455 But everything he told us was just that, it was historical, it was anecdotal, it was this attempt to justify what they are going to do. They are going to keep their hands down. They are going to keep their mouths shut when this Parliament gives them for the first time in history the opportunity to support a measure that will ban bullying. That is what they are going to do and the hon. Gentleman just could not find enough words to try and decorate that disreputable silence that is going to characterise their approach to this legislation when they have the opportunity to vote.

470 Mr Speaker, we have looked at that history. We have looked at those debates. We have engaged with DAWN. We have engaged with the employers. We have engaged with the employees. This Bill is the product of that consultation, and the Commencement Committee will take us even further in providing guidance and deciding how best to assist with the implementation of the principles that are set out in this Bill. Because, Mr Speaker, of course there is evidence of bullying in the workplace in Gibraltar, that our first leaflet in the General Election campaign, that our first advertisement in the General Election campaign in 2011 highlighted the issue of bullying, should at least have highlighted to them during the campaign at least that our first Command Paper dealt with this issue, should have highlighted to them in Opposition the breadth of the representations made to us about how widespread this problem has become.

The hon. Gentleman seemed to quote with approval; the statistics provided to him by DAWN; but then said, 'Why haven't you done your own survey?' Well, Mr Speaker, one suicide is one suicide too many. That is a statistic that should stick in all of our minds today when we decide how we vote on this Bill. To a great extent whether a leader of a Parliament says this is an issue of conscience or not, whether a leader of a Party says this is an issue of conscience or not, every Bill that we make a legislative measure that we make an Act that we make a law, is a matter on our conscience.

Whether it deals with taxation, which affects people's pockets, or whether it deals with issues that can affect daily lives in a different way, every time we vote to make an Act, this must be something on our conscience because we are making laws for the people who are not in this Parliament and who look to us to regulate the relationships between us in this community. And if there has been one suicide attributable to bullying at work, what more statistics do the hon. Members want before they decide to support this and to act?

Mr Speaker, needing guidance and needing to do all the work that we have agreed, and I have said we have agreed should happen during the course of the work of this Commencement Committee, is not a reason to delay the legislation. I do not discount, Mr Speaker, that we could come back in the future and amend the legislation as a result of the work of the Commencement Committee or otherwise, like every piece of legislation, because we have had bumper pieces of legislation, sources of huge pride for those who they have presented. A new Crimes Act, Mr Speaker, that the Hon. the Minister for Justice, when before he was Leader of the Opposition on that side of the House made, and we have had to amend that, Mr Speaker. We have had to amend a lot of pieces of legislation because things change, because of the operation of the legislation, because legislation needs to be updated. We should be amending more.

There are statutes in our Statute Book that require attention because of levels of fines or levels of payments etc, and it maybe that this, which as the hon. Gentleman says is a home-grown piece of legislation, will require amendment in the future. So be it. I do not discount that. It maybe that we need to tighten in some areas that he has suggested that we should loosen. It maybe that we need to loosen in some of the areas he has not suggested that we should loosen. So, Mr Speaker, I think that... and he has even suggested in one particular remark that we should tighten a particular area by the introduction of the concept of reasonableness before a justification.

So, Mr Speaker, it may be that all of those things are relevant in the future, but not a reason not to progress with this legislation today. Mr Speaker, if he were genuine in what he was saying... if he were genuine in what he was saying, because he likes to present himself as the genuine face of the GSD, el tio bueno, Mr Speaker, the nice guy, right? Why has he not written to me, and said, 'Fabian, I really want to support this legislation. This is an important thing that deals with the bullied at work. These are the issues which I think would make the Bill better'? If he were genuine, Mr Speaker, he would have done that and he has not.

He has wanted to use all of these little hooks in this legislative intervention, which is almost an attempt at what we might call now that we know more about fishing, a palangre speech with many hooks in it (Laughter) to try and get himself off the hook of why he is not going to support this landmark piece of legislation. I do not think there is much merit in the interpretation that he wanted us to consider of what happens in relation to associates in a law firm, Mr Speaker. Many of them are actually not employees, they are self-employed individuals. But, of course, there are issues with fixing employers with liability for what third parties do, but this is not the only legislation that does it.

Of course in the same way as an employer has vicarious liability for the acts of his employees, he has sometimes to carry liability if his employee is subject to injury and this is just dealing with exactly that principle. So let no employer think that Mr Bossino is their representative in this place, protecting them from a new concept of liability, because if even he believes that, he has got it completely wrong and he should know better.

It is not a question, Mr Speaker, of employers needing to employ somebody to be the competent person in schedule 1. If he had read the Bill in detail he will see that the competent person in schedule 1 just needs to know what the procedures are, and understand what it is that the anti-bullying protocols that a particular employer may have in place are there for. It is, Mr Speaker, as he has noted at least in one part of his intervention, a defence to a claim in respect of bullying to have had such a procedure in place and the simplest model for him to understand, Mr Speaker, that we base this on, is the model, for example, of anti-money laundering.

Small companies, Mr Speaker, even those he seems to pretend to represent, those with two or three employees, they all have to be ready to deal with money-laundering issues. When one deals with issues like this which are all pervasive, you do not say this will not apply to a three-member firm or a three-man company or somebody trading with a small group of employees, of course it applies. You have a policy that deals with this issue that you know about. It sounds so difficult, maybe when it is being considered in the context of the Parliament, an anti-money laundering policy. ‘My goodness, how am I going to deal with that? I have got a paint shop. How am I going to deal with an anti-money laundering policy? I have got three employees, who is going to be the anti-money laundering officer?’ Well, Mr Speaker, at the end of the day we all have to be on guard in relation to these issues, regardless of the industry in which one is. It is much more important in the financial services sector, than it is in the paint shop, but nobody can launder money today and nobody’s employee can launder money today. So this is not new ground that we are making here, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker, before I say a little bit more about these issues, the hon. Gentleman talked about the protection of harassment issues that are in our manifesto and that were dealt with originally or were going to be dealt with originally with this legislation and are not. In fact, Mr Speaker, those have already been dealt with. I am surprised he asks us how we intend to deal with that. I know that he has only been here two years, but I would have thought the two years that he has been here he has been paying attention. The hate crimes legislation has already dealt with those issues. I know the Minister for Justice is able to give us more guidance on that and I am happy to give way to him, so that he can explain the detail of how that has been dealt with.

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Yes, Mr Speaker, the hon. Member has referred to a provision in our manifesto which deals with this, that we are dealing with today, and says, there will also be a Protection of Harassment Act. The hon. Member will know, or should know, that there have been several measures taken already in respect of harassment.

The Crimes Act, which was a piece of legislation enacted in this Parliament at the time when the Leader of the Opposition was Minister for Justice, contains Part 6, which precisely is headed, ‘Protection from Harassment’. So there are protection from harassment provisions which were enacted during the GSD’s time, but which we commenced, I seem to recall, in November 2012.

But we have not just done that, we have not just commenced legislation at a part dealing with commencement from harassment which was there already. What we did was we reviewed how this legislation was actually working in practice in the UK – the Protection from Harassment Act in the UK – and what we have done is introduced new provisions into that Part 6 of the Crimes Act, additional provisions to those which were already there and these provisions, one of them which we dealt with quite recently here in Parliament was the stalking provisions which was an entirely new provision. It is a part of harassment –

Mr Speaker: May I give some guidance on this matter?

Here we have a Bill that deals with bullying and associated matters. There was a comment by the Hon. Mr Bossino about a question of harassment, which is a separate issue and is not being provided for in this Bill. The Chief Minister has invited the Hon. Minister for Justice to explain what the Government has done, but we really have to be brief about it. We cannot have a debate about harassment on a Bill which is for another purpose.

So I would invite the hon. Member to continue with what he was doing, but to be brief and we are not going to have a debate about harassment.

Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, Mr Speaker, it is not certainly our intention to have a debate, but simply to answer the point as to what the Government is doing about this, which was connected to the provisions of bullying.

As I have explained, we have introduced in the Crimes Act, in Part 6, new provisions which include the question of stalking and also the new offence of harassment of a person in his own home – that is a new offence which we introduced to Part 6 and which was not there already.

I would remind the hon. Member that in those provisions, in that part of the Crimes Act, which are essentially criminal offences, there is also provision for civil remedies – section 93, in particular, also introduces that.

As the Hon. the Chief Minister has mentioned, we have gone even much further than that because we have introduced in one of the parts in the Crimes Act further provisions in relation to hate crimes, and those provisions include specific provisions which deal with religiously aggravated harassment, disability aggravated harassment, aggravated harassment by reason of sexual orientation and age aggravated harassment; again, all new provisions which we have introduced as part of our anti-harassment policy. So although it is true that what we have not done is taken all of those and put them in a separate Act, we considered that it was appropriate, given that there was statutory provision already, simply to add these provisions and there were civil remedies already provided. So we have kept it in the Crimes Act, added to that statutory framework, and that is the extent to which we have gone in introducing the protection of harassment which we committed ourselves in our manifesto to do, and which we have now fully done.

Hon. Chief Minister: Therefore, Mr Speaker, for all of those reasons, a very good opportunity for the Deputy Chief Minister to ensure that he ticks that box in respect of our manifesto commitments completed (Banging on desks) because, Mr Speaker, they do not like the fact that we are completing all of the provisions of our manifesto. They do not like it. They even say that we say that we have done things and that we tick off boxes that are nonsensical, because we said that we have ticked the box of continuing to provide grants to students. Well, Mr Speaker, apparently it is nonsensical when we tick that box and we have done it, but it is not nonsensical for them to put it in their book of 16 years of achievement when it was not their achievement, it was the achievement of the Government before, and to put in their manifesto for 2011 that they were going to continue to give those grants – so, so much for their criticisms of our box ticking.

But, anyway, Mr Speaker, I will deal with the issues that the hon. Gentleman raised, as to the detail of the sections of the draft legislation, during the course of the Committee stage and Third Reading if he wants to raise those issues.

Mr Speaker, this legislation protects small businesses and large businesses. It protects employers and it protects employees. It protects every potential individual, company, firm that this Parliament should want to be protected; but it denudes of protection, the bullies who have not had to deal with legislative controls until now. It is a Bill that is carefully crafted to achieve those purposes and to deal with an issue that, as we have heard, has already become far too pervasive. It puts bullies in their place and it protects small and large employers and all employees.

But, let us be clear, Mr Speaker, we are moving proactively from this side of the House to provide that protection and Members opposite are looking for a way of obstructing this. So be it. Fair enough. Let the public know. Let the public know what it is that Members opposite are not going to support... prohibiting. Let the public know what it is that Members opposite apparently do not stand against. Let the public know, Mr Speaker, that the Opposition are not going to support legislation designed to prohibit persistent behaviour which is offensive, intimidating, abusive, malicious or insulting. Let the public know that they do not want to stop persistent and justified criticism. Let the public know that they do not want to stop punishment being imposed without justification. Let the public realise, Mr Speaker, that they do not want to stop people having changes in their duties or responsibilities to their detriment without reasonable justification.

Mr Speaker, we stand for stopping all of that. They have just told us they are going to cop out again. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to prohibit bullying and victimisation in employment and for connected purposes be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.)

Mr Speaker: Those against?

Hon. D A Feetham: We are abstaining.

Mr Speaker: The Opposition abstain.
Carried.

Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Tobacco (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
First Reading approved

Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Tobacco Act 1997.
The Hon. the Chief Minister.

655

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Tobacco Act 1997 be read a first time.

660

Mr Speaker: I now put the question which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Tobacco Act 1997 be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Tobacco (Amendment) Act 2014.

Tobacco (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Second Reading approved

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill for an Act to amend the Tobacco Act 1997 be now read a second time.

665

Mr Speaker, this Bill amends the Tobacco Act 1997 so as to create new summary offences of concealing cigarettes, or being knowingly concerned with the concealment of cigarettes, within a motor vehicle and being in charge of a motor vehicle in which cigarettes are concealed. The offence does not require there to be a commercial quantity involved, although this does affect the penalty, or for the offence to take place in a public place or within a designated zone.

670

The term ‘conceal’ is defined in the amendment as meaning ‘placing cigarettes within a compartment or place adapted, altered or fitted in any manner, for the purpose of concealing goods. Placing cigarettes within the engine compartment of a vehicle or placing cigarettes within the body work, wheels or tyres of a vehicle. As such, simply placing cigarettes in the boot or glove box of a car, or under a seat is not caught by this offence. The penalties for these offences are in line with those for other offences under the Tobacco Act; imprisonment is not available as a sentencing option where the quantity of cigarettes involved is not a commercial quantity.

675

The amendments included in clause 2(3) place the forfeiture of tobacco in motor vehicles to which the offence relates, on the same basis as the forfeiture of tobacco in motor vehicles, to which the offence of transportation of a commercial quantity of tobacco relates. The court must order forfeiture when an application is made in that respect by the Attorney General or the Prosecuting Officer, as is the case at the moment under the existing provisions of the Act.

680

Mr Speaker, hon. Members will have seen a letter circulated yesterday by me, certifying the Bill as too urgent to await the six-week publication period before it can be proceeded with. The issue of the trade in tobacco is, as hon. Members know, the subject of a letter from the European Commission arising from their inspection of the frontier controls illegally imposed by Spain. The Government has taken, and will be taking measures to implement the recommendations of the European Commission and to go further even than those recommendations in the curtailing of the illicit tobacco activity. This is one such measure and the Government has wanted to ensure it is in place as soon as possible.

685

The Bill, Mr Speaker, was published on 30th January and the abridgement is therefore of three weeks and it is very much in Gibraltar’s public interest, in our view, that it should be taken today. I commend the Bill to the House.

690

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

695

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, very briefly.

Mr Speaker, the Opposition will be supporting the Bill. Indeed, the Opposition will be supporting any legislative measure introduced by the Government that keeps a handle or helps in dealing with what is a problem for this jurisdiction – a reputational problem for this jurisdiction in the unseemly sights that we see, that everybody sees at different points in Gibraltar with this particular illicit activity.

I said as much in September 2012 when I urged the Government to deal with the issue of the selling of tobacco in estates. I am glad that the Government has also dealt with that.

As I say, any measure introduced by the Government that deals with what is a problem and a reputational problem for Gibraltar, the Opposition will support, not only now but also in future.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition for having set the position out as he has.

710 The Government is taking steps, not just which require action in this House – some of which do not require action in this House – and the exercise of powers already granted to the Government under the Tobacco Act and other legislative enactments in order to deal with these issues. These issues have been a problem in Gibraltar for a long time but this Government will grab the nettle, we will deal with the issues.

715 We have done so in Laguna Estate and in Glacis Estate through the Commissioner's, the Collector of Customs' exercise of his discretion to control the retailing of tobacco in those estates in a particular fashion. I have certified and created new red zones under the Tobacco Act in the area of the beaches in Gibraltar and in the area of the frontier in order to curtail that activity, and my hand will not shake if I have to sign into law other measures to enable our law enforcement officers to have the powers necessary to take the action required to curtail activity which is anti-social.

720 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Tobacco Act 1997 be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Tobacco (Amendment) Act 2014.

725 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Taxation (Mutual Administrative Assistance) Bill 2014 –
First Reading approved

730 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to implement the Convention on Mutual Administrative Assistance in Tax Matters of 21st January 1988, as amended by the Protocol amending the Convention on Mutual Administrative Assistance in Tax Matters of 27th May 2010; and for connected purposes.

The Hon. the Chief Minister.

735 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill for an Act to implement the Convention on Mutual Administrative Assistance in Tax Matters of 21st January 1988, as amended by the Protocol amending the Convention on Mutual Administrative Assistance in Tax Matters of 27th May 2010, and for connected purposes, be read a first time.

740 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to implement the Convention on Mutual Administrative Assistance in Tax Matters of 21st January 1988, as amended by the Protocol amending the Convention on Mutual Administrative Assistance in Tax Matters of 27th May 2010, and for connected purposes, be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

745 Clerk: The Taxation (Mutual Administrative Assistance) Act 2014.

Taxation (Mutual Administrative Assistance) Bill 2014 –
Second Reading approved

750 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill be now read a second time.

Mr Speaker, the Taxation (Mutual Administrative Assistance) Act 2014 implements the OECD and the Council of Europe Convention on Mutual Administrative Assistance in Tax Matters of 21st January 1988, as amended by the Protocol.

755 A measure of similar co-operation as that created by this Act already exists with some States, Mr Speaker, by virtue of the TIEAs that Gibraltar has already entered into. TIEAs, Mr Speaker, are Tax Information Exchange Agreements and the usefulness of these is well recognised.

760 The extension of this Convention to Gibraltar extends that network of TIEA equivalent relationships enormously, through the effective international co-operation which this multilateral convention creates between a large number of States and through the uniform application and interpretation of its provisions.

Therefore, Mr Speaker, the Bill is framed so as to provide administrative co-operation between States by way of exchange of information and with respect to taxes on increment profits and in particular, with a view to combatting tax avoidance and evasion. Mr Speaker, I am going to take the House through what I hope will be a quick review of some of the relevant sections of this Act.

765 The declaration that the Convention shall apply only to taxes on income or profits is set out in clause 3 Mr Speaker, and the competent authorities there set out to be the Commissioner of Income Tax in clause 4. Clauses 5 and 6 set out duties and functions and provide latitude for them to be extended by the Government in writing by any other enactment.

770 Clauses 7 to 14 set out the basis upon which information may be exchanged and under clause 7, the condition that needs to be satisfied is whether the information is foreseeably relevant to the administration and enforcement of any laws whether in Gibraltar or in the requesting State relating to taxes on income or profits.

Clause 9 allows the Government to automatically exchange information where the Government agrees with one or more States to such automatic exchange.

775 Clause 10 deals with the spontaneous exchange of information on the basis set out in Article 7(1)(a) to (e) which are replicated in our Act virtually verbatim. (a) deals with the Competent Authority having grounds for supposing that there may be a loss of tax in another jurisdiction; a person being liable to tax under (b) obtains a reduction in or an exemption from tax in Gibraltar, which would give rise to an increase in tax or to liability to tax in the other State. Under (c), business dealings between a person liable to tax in 780 Gibraltar or in another State and a person liable to tax in Gibraltar or another State as the case may be, are conducted through one or more countries in such a way, that a saving in tax may result in Gibraltar and the other State or in both Gibraltar and in that other State.

Indeed, Mr Speaker, the Competent Authority has grounds for supposing that a saving of tax may result from artificial transfers of profits within groups of enterprises or at (e) that information forwarded to the 785 Competent Authority by another State has enabled information to be obtained which may be relevant in assessing liability tax in the other State. On the advice of the Income Tax Office, clauses 11 to 14 incorporate the powers that exist in the International Co-operation (Tax Information) Act 2009 and which are deemed appropriate for the Competent Authority to be able to respond to the request which will be made to it.

790 Clause 16 deals with the simultaneous tax examinations which two competent authorities agree to. Clause 17 covers tax examinations abroad, and allows the competent authorities to make arrangements to allow representatives of another Competent Authority of the applicant States, to be present at the appropriate part of a tax examination in Gibraltar, but always subject to a Minister's approval. As provided for in the Convention, the Competent Authority needs to have exclusive competence over the conduct of a 795 tax examination held in Gibraltar.

Clause 20 deals with the protection of person's rights and sets out limitations permitted by the convention. The Competent Authority in particular is not obliged to provide assistance when the request is (a) for the Competent Authority to carry out measures which are at variance with the laws of, or administrative practice in Gibraltar; (b) seeks that measure to be carried out which are contrary to public 800 policy; (c) requires information to be supplied which is not obtainable under the laws of, or administrative practice in Gibraltar; (d) requires information to be supplied that would disclose any trade, business, industrial, commercial or professional secret or trade process, or information the disclosure of which would be contrary to public policy; (e) is for administrative assistance and the Competent Authority considers that the taxation in the applicant State is contrary to generally accepted taxation principles or to the provisions 805 of a convention for the avoidance of double taxation, or of any other convention which the Government has concluded with the applicant state; (f) is for the provision of administrative assistance for the purposes of administering or enforcing a provision of the tax law of the applicant state or any requirement connected therewith which discriminates against the Gibraltar national as compared with a national of the applicant State in the same circumstances; or (g) is for administrative assistance if the applicant State has not pursued 810 all reasonable measures available under its laws or administrative practice except where recourse to such measures would give rise to disproportionate difficulty.

The limitation period provided for in the convention is 15 years and that is set out under clause 21. Clause 23 deals with confidentiality and how the Competent Authority may use the information. The confidentiality provisions in section 3 of the Income Tax Act are relied upon in respect of information 815 obtained under this Bill.

Clause 25 on costs provides that unless the Competent Authority has, with the Minister for Finance's prior consent, agreed otherwise, ordinary costs involved or incurred in providing assistance shall be borne by the Competent Authority; and (b) all extraordinary costs incurred in providing assistance shall be borne by the applicant State.

820 Clause 26 covers jurisdiction over proceedings relating to measures taken under the Convention. Subclause (1) provides that proceedings related to measures taken under the Convention shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the requested State. Subclause (2) concerns proceedings relating to measures taken by the requesting State and found jurisdiction in that State, whilst providing for the requested State to state any action it has taken pursuant to the request, pending the final outcome of the requesting State.

825 Clause 26 does not apply to proceedings under clauses 13 and 14 which deal with proceedings for a search and seizure and to obtain a production order.

Clause 27 provides an element of forward proofing by empowering the Government to make regulations for the administration or implementation of this Bill and complies with any OECD Council of European Union or other international obligations. Clause 28 provides that the Government and the Competent Authority shall not be liable in damages for anything done or admitted in the discharge of their functions under this Bill, unless it is shown that the act or admission was in bad faith.

830 By way of general note, in clauses 16, the simultaneous tax examinations clause, clause 17, the tax examinations abroad clause, and clause 25, the costs clause, the exercise of the power and discretion by the Competent Authority, is subject to the Minister's prior approval or consent. Reservations and declarations have been entered into, Mr Speaker, on behalf of Gibraltar by the United Kingdom at our request. Pursuant to Article 30, paragraph 1.a of the Convention, the Government of Gibraltar will not provide any form of assistance in relation to the taxes of other parties described in Article 2, paragraph 1.b of the Convention. Pursuant to Article 30, paragraph 1.b of the Convention, the Government of Gibraltar will not provide assistance in the recovery of any tax claim or in the recovery of an administrative fine for all taxes.

840 Pursuant to Article 30 paragraph 1.c of the Convention the Government of Gibraltar will not provide assistance in respect of any tax claim where a reservation has previously been made under Article 30, paragraph 1.a or b of the Convention is in existence that the data withdrawal as such a reservation in relation to the taxes in the category in question. Pursuant to Article 30, paragraph 1.d of the Convention the Government of Gibraltar will not provide assistance in the service of documents for all taxes listed in Article 2, paragraph 1 of the Convention. And pursuant to Article 30, paragraph 1.e of the Convention, the Government of Gibraltar will not permit the services document through the post.

845 The following Mr Speaker, are the declarations that the United Kingdom has entered for Gibraltar. In accordance with Article 2, paragraph 2 and in the respect of Annex A, the Government of the United Kingdom declares that for Gibraltar the Convention shall apply for those taxes in Article 2, paragraph 1 which fall under paragraph a.i.

850 In accordance with Article 3, paragraph 1.d and in respect of Annex B the Government of the United Kingdom declares that the Competent Authority for Gibraltar shall be the Commissioner of Income Tax of the Government of Gibraltar. That is a specific declaration required.

855 And in accordance with Article 3, paragraph 1.e and in respect of Annex C, the Government of the United Kingdom has declared that in relation to Gibraltar, the term 'national' means a Gibraltarian within the meaning of the Gibraltarian Status Act 1962 and any legal person, partnership or association deriving its status as such from the laws enforced in Gibraltar.

Mr Speaker, in relation to this Bill which was published last week, I have also circulated a letter certifying it to be too urgent to await the six-week period of publication before it can be proceeded with by this House. As hon. Members will recall, I discussed the extension to Gibraltar of the OECD Multilateral Convention with the Rt Hon. the Prime Minister, David Cameron, during the course of my visit to Downing Street in June, and had written to him before then to seek the said extension to Gibraltar.

860 The extension of the Convention occurred in Jakarta on 21st November last year, at a meeting of the OECD which was attended by the Government's Minister for Financial Services, Albert Isola. Since then, the process of drafting our national legislation, not an easy piece of legislation to draft at that, has proceeded at a very fast pace. We were able to publish it last week. But the deadline for implementation internationally, Mr Speaker, is 1st March this year, and we want to meet that deadline and not have to explain why we are having to catch up thereafter.

870 For that reason, Mr Speaker, we have considered it to be in the public interest of Gibraltar to proceed with this Bill now, as a matter of urgency, and I commend the Bill to the House.

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

875 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, yes.

Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Chief Minister provided me with a copy of the letter certifying that the Bill was urgent. Having discussed the matter with him, I am satisfied that it is urgent, because this is a measure that needs to be introduced here in Gibraltar before 1st March and that is the urgency, so the Opposition has accepted that this is an urgent measure and therefore we have agreed that the matter be brought to the House without the proper notice.

Mr Speaker, these types of measures are never easy for the Finance Centre and there is always going to be a level of scepticism from some operators within the Finance Centre in relation to measures of this nature which by their nature are intrusive. The Opposition will be voting in favour of this and we will be voting in favour of this really on two grounds: (1) that it builds upon existing measures, as I will explain in a moment; but (2), the reality of the situation is that if it does not already, if these measures do not already apply to, or will apply to our competitors, sooner or later our competitors will be subsumed within what is a clear international trend that finance centres like Gibraltar and others, our competitors, will not be able to avoid.

Mr Speaker, I said that it builds on existing structures. At the moment, what we have is 27 TIEA agreements, some of which – most of which, I think it is true to say – were negotiated by the GSD Government, when we were in Government, some of them by the hon. Gentlemen opposite during their term in Government, and as I say, when I talk in the United Kingdom and also in Spain about this, it is 27 TIEA agreements on the exchange of information not only with the smaller countries, important as smaller countries are, but with the larger front-line countries like the United States and Germany.

On top of that, we also have existing as part of our law, a directive which has been implemented that has the effect of creating TIEAs with Members of the European Union, so effectively the 27 TIEAs are then converted into TIEAs with all the European Union Member States by virtue of the Directive. The Directive also provides within the European Union for automatic exchange of information and also for spontaneous exchange of information.

Now, this latter measure, this Convention which is an OECD initiative, what it seeks to do is to extend effectively the scope of the directive in terms of TIEA, spontaneous exchange and automatic exchange to countries that may not be members of the European Union, but are also signed up to this particular Convention and I am told in a conversation that I had with Mr Tipping yesterday from the Finance Centre that the effect of it would be to create effectively 70 TIEA agreements – in other words, that it would have the effect of Gibraltar having agreements with 70 countries, members of the OECD, including it has to be said, although that was covered by the Directive, the Kingdom of Spain.

So the effect of all these measures that I have described is to create a TIEA agreement for exchange of information between Gibraltar and the Kingdom of Spain, which has hitherto resisted the idea of having a bi-lateral agreement with Gibraltar.

Now, Mr Speaker, therefore for all those reasons, the Opposition will be supporting the Bill and we will be voting in favour of it.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am pleased to see that the Opposition will be supporting this Bill, and I have heard the hon. Gentleman say in the course of the reasoning why they will be supporting this Bill, much of what I said myself in the introduction of the Bill.

But I just want to take issue with a few minor points that he has mentioned. The hon. Gentleman mentioned to not having given the proper notice. Well, can I just caveat that by saying that by sending a letter certifying the Bill as urgent, it does not mean that there is improper notice in any way. There is full compliance with the provisions of the Constitution and of the requirement for a Bill to pass this House. I do not for one moment think that he was suggesting that there was improper notice, but the use of the word proper, I think could have led others to think that. So this is an entirely proper procedure that is being pursued.

The hon. Gentleman says that some members of the Finance Centre may find these issues are not easy to deal with. Well, Mr Speaker, the financial services business has changed and is changing. I remember the prophets of doom long before I was a Member of this House, suggesting that in 1995, when the GSLP was legislating to deal with the issues of anti-money laundering on an all crimes basis, there were some who feared that, not because we were involved in money-laundering, but because our clients as a jurisdiction might not want to jump through hoops, that might be the end of the Finance Centre, and we have grown from strength to strength since then.

Mr Speaker, this Government has a very clear approach to everything that relates to Gibraltar's international relationships, whether it is our relationship with the European Union or our compliance with international conventions and that is a culture of compliance. That is why one of the first things that I ensured we did and we invested in when I was elected was that we became completely up to date with all outstanding directive measures that we were required to transpose under European law. There were many, Mr Speaker, that were outstanding.

Mr Speaker, one of those was the Multilateral Directive that had the equivalent effect to this Convention at a European level between the Member States. The hon. Member has tangentially referred to that by saying that now we have the equivalent of a TIEA with Spain, even though they will not enter into a bi-lateral TIEA with us. Well, Mr Speaker, we have that, not as a result of this Convention – and I think it is important to set out explicitly that that is the case – not as a result of this Convention, but as a result of the Directive that we ensured was transposed into law.

Mr Speaker, the Prime Minister David Cameron, when he was the President of the G8, grasped the nettle and decided that it was important to ensure that the unfair criticism that had been levied against many of the Overseas Territories and the Crown Dependencies of the United Kingdom should be dealt with. He addressed an issue that others had failed to address before him and Gibraltar was pleased to be with him Mr Speaker, in leading in the compliance by Overseas Territories and Crown Dependencies on all matters relating to international conventions to ensure that money laundering and tax evasion became a thing of the past.

The Prime Minister himself, after all the Overseas Territories and Crown Dependencies together at the same time agreed to the extension of this Convention, has said in Parliament that it would be wrong and unfair for anybody to describe any of the Overseas Territories and Crown Dependencies and that of course includes Gibraltar, as tax havens after this Multilateral Convention of the OECD has been extended to us and in particular, in the case of Gibraltar, that already had equivalent to this OECD Convention with all of the Member States of the European Union, the largest economies in the world, and the United States of America.

Mr Speaker, I have absolutely no doubt that the financial services world is very different today to what it might have been 20 years ago and will be very different in 20 years' time. It is a brave new world, but not for that reason, a world to fear.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to implement the Convention on Mutual Administrative Assistance in Tax Matters of 21st January 1988 as amended by the Protocol amending the Convention on Mutual Administrative Assistance in Tax Matters of 27th May 2010, and for connected purposes be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Taxation (Mutual Administrative Assistance) Act 2014.

Taxation (Mutual Administrative Assistance) Bill 2014 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Protection of Trees Bill 2013 –
First Reading approved

Clerk: A Bill for an Act to provide for the preservation and protection of trees and for connected purposes.
The Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to provide for the Preservation and Protection of Trees and for connected purposes be read a first time.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to provide for the Preservation and Protection of Trees and for connected purposes, be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Protection of Trees Act 2013.

Protection of Trees Bill 2013 –
Second Reading approved

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill now be read a second time.

990 Mr Speaker, before I commence, I have given notice by letter which we can take obviously at Committee Stage, of a change in the title of the Bill to the Environmental Protection (Trees) Act 2014.

This Bill was initially published as a Command Paper towards the end of last year and makes provision for the protection and preservation of trees in Gibraltar. Trees Mr Speaker, are important in the urban landscape as they provide shelter for wildlife, they provide oxygen, remove harmful particulate matter and are aesthetically pleasing. Indeed there is evidence to suggest that health of communities in areas with trees is significantly better than in urban areas without.

995 The loss of trees in Gibraltar has been a cause for concern in the past. There are a number of reasons why people request that trees are removed and these may be for danger, structural reasons, desirability for construction with a tree being in the way, health and inconvenience. There is currently an existing regime under section 38 of the Town Planning Act 1999, which allows the Development and Planning Commission to make a tree preservation order. If the tree is subject to such an order, the cutting down, topping, lopping or wilful destruction of the tree, is prohibited without the consent of the Commission. There are currently 1000 47 tree preservation orders in Gibraltar.

This Bill repeals section 38 of the Town Planning Act as it replaces that regime but also expands it in order to improve upon the powers of the Commission. Furthermore, this Bill goes beyond the existing regime in that it will apply to all trees, as it introduces a new regime for those trees not subject to a tree preservation order.

I now turn to the different parts of the Bill. Part I of the Bill applies the Act of the Crown, because the most important trees in Gibraltar are often found on Government property. In the interest of security, clause 3(3) allows the Government to issue a certificate so that the right of entry found in clause 19 shall not be excusable in relation to the premises specified in the certificate.

1010 Part II of the Bill deals with Tree Preservation Orders. While all trees provide some benefit to the community, tree preservation orders are used to protect selected trees, which are particularly valuable because of their intrinsic beauty, their contribution to the landscape, their scarcity or their importance as a wild life habitat among other reasons. The main purpose of a tree preservation order is to prohibit the pruning, cutting down, uprooting, topping, lopping, wilful damage or wilful destruction of a tree, as set out in clause 8 of the Bill, without the consent of the Development and Planning Commission.

1015 Once the Commission makes a TPO, it must serve a copy of it on the owner and occupier of the land affected by the order. This is defined in Clause 2 as the land on which the tree is situated. A copy of the order shall be available for public inspection and may also be made available electronically. By virtue of Clause (6), the Commission has the power to vary or revoke a TPO as it considers necessary. It must then notify the owner and occupier of the said land.

1020 Clause 7 is intended to prevent an owner from intentionally allowing a tree that is subject to a tree preservation order, to die or become infested. It allows the Commission to issue a notice on the owner of the land, to take such steps as may be specified in the notice, to prevent pure or controlled infestation or disease or remedy the condition of the tree.

1025 Clause 9 sets out how an application to carry out works to a tree that is subject to a TPO is made to the Commission. The Commission may, upon receipt of an application either grant consent unconditionally or subject to conditions or refuse consent. The condition, subject to which consent may be granted, includes specifying the standard to which works may be carried out and requiring the applicant to plant one or more trees. Consent granted under clause 10 is valid for a period of two years, unless the Commission decide to grant consent for a lesser period as a condition for grant of consent.

1030 Part III applies to other trees not subject to the regime under Part II. A tree that is not subject to a Tree Preservation Order is still caught by the provisions of the Bill, but is subject to a much less stringent regime. The main aim of this part is to prohibit the cutting down or uprooting of a tree, without the consent of the Commission as provided in clause 13 of the Bill. However, in order to prevent any delay caused by the Commission in dealing with an application, where an applicant has not received notice of the Commission's decisions, or a reply to the effect that this application is being considered within 28 days, the prohibition shall not apply.

1035 Again, the Commission may either grant consent unconditionally, or subject to conditions or refuse consent. The conditions subject to which consent may be granted include the planting of one or more trees and limiting duration of the consent. Generally, consent shall be valid for one year.

1040 Part IV deals with the exceptions to the general prohibitions appeals etc. Clause 16 sets out the circumstances in which the prohibitions contained in clauses 8 and 13 do not apply. In particular, the prohibition does not apply where the diameter of the tree does not exceed 75mm, where the tree is dead, 1045 where work is urgently necessary to remove an immediate risk of serious harm, the removal of dead branches from a tree or if the tree is removed in compliance with the provisions of the various acts listed in that section.

1050 Furthermore, by virtue of clause 16(1)(g) the prohibitions do not apply to works carried out at the Alameda Gardens or the Nature Reserve, where those works are carried out in accordance with the written authorisation of the Government in order to allow legitimate management operations. In order to strengthen the powers of the Commission under the Act, in relation to its ability to prevent the cutting down of trees in contravention of the Act, clause 17 allows the Commission to serve a notice on the owner of the land to plant one or more trees of an appropriate size and species. This could be in the same place as the tree that was cut down or uprooted or in such other area or land as may be agreed between the Commission and the owner of the land.

1055 Clause 18 deals with appeals which may be made to the Development Appeals Tribunal appointed under the Town Planning Act. In particular, an applicant for consent made under clauses 9 or 14 may appeal against the Commission's decision and the tribunal has the power to confirm or vary the decision of the Commission, including amending the condition subject to which consent has been granted. An appeal may also be made by an applicant for consent where he or she has not received notice of the Commission's decision by the end of a period of eight weeks, beginning with the day the application was received by the Commission.

1060 In line with the Government's commitment to e-Government, clause 20 allows the applicant to apply to the Commission for consent by way of electronic communication and includes an appeal made to the tribunal as long as it is in a form approved by the Commission. Certain conditions apply.

1065 Clause 21 gives the Minister the power to make regulations for carrying out the purpose of the Act. I now commend this Bill to the House. (Banging on desks)

1070 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

The Hon. Mr Netto.

1075 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, the Opposition will be voting in favour of this Bill, as we see this as a natural progression from the policy introduced by the GSD Government in the Development and Planning Commission in order to preserve our trees and woodlands during our period in Government. I think there is a bit of murmur coming from the Government side.

As the explanatory memorandum states, the Bill replaces section 38 of the Town Planning Act 1999. Therefore, any further changes that enhances the preservation of trees and the management thereof in its application is something the Opposition welcomes.

1080 Having said this, the Opposition does not see why it is necessary for the inclusion of section 23 which refers to the Governor's constitutional responsibilities. We would therefore ask the Minister in his right of reply to our contribution if he could clarify why this clause was found necessary to be included in the Bill.

Thank you.

1085 Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, thank you very much.

Just in relation to this last point that the Hon. Mr Netto has made, this is a clause that was not uncommon in legislation that potentially impacted on the Constitutional responsibilities of the Governor.

1090 So for example, it was included I recall, in the Criminal Procedure Act, because it might have had an impact in terms of the Governor's responsibilities for internal security. But we are dealing with the preservation of trees – clause 23, I beg your pardon. The Minister for Justice is asking which clause: it is clause 23. We just do not understand why clause 23 has been included when we are talking about tree preservation. What possible explanation could it be?

1095 What possible impact could this legislation have on the Governor's constitutional responsibilities in relation to the affairs of internal security or other matters, unless of course – ? I mean nobody is going to chop down trees at the Convent without the consent of the Governor, but even that would not justify the inclusion of this particular clause. We feel that if there is no justification for it, really I think it is constitutionally bad form to introduce a clause of this nature in legislation that cannot possibly impact on the Governor's constitutional responsibilities.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Mr Cortes.

1105 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, on the last point I think it is a matter that we can consider at Committee stage and we can discuss there.

I welcome the Opposition's support of this Bill and clearly I have to make one comment in relation to the hon. Member opposite stating that it is a progression of the policy of the former administration.

It will not be generally known because the Planning Commission met in secret, that the author of the policy that we are now progressing was, in fact, the person who is now Minister for the Environment.

1110

Several Members: Hear, hear.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to provide for the Preservation and Protection of Trees and for connected purposes be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

1115

Clerk: The Protection of Trees Act 2013.

Protection of Trees Bill 2013 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

1120

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Animals and Birds (Barbary Macaques) (Amendment) Bill 2013 –
First Reading approved

Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Animals and Birds Act.
The Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

1125

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Animals and Birds Act be read a first time.

1130

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Animals and Birds Act purposes be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Animals and Birds (Barbary Macaques) (Amendment) Act 2013.

Animals and Birds (Barbary Macaques) (Amendment) Bill 2013 –
Second Reading approved

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill be now read a second time.

Mr Speaker, before I turn to the substance of the Bill, I do want to point out, as you and hon. Members will be aware, I will be moving several amendments of the Bill at Committee Stage.

1145

Mr Speaker, on the substance of the Bill, the Government is very conscious of the need to ensure that the unauthorised feeding of Barbary Macaques is properly deterred, and that it is adequately punished when it is not deterred. Deterrence in turn depends on the law being, and being seen to be, enforced. That is why, Mr Speaker, the Government is introducing a number of reforms through the present Bill.

The first of these reforms is to rehouse section 547 of the Crimes Act 2011, which deals with the offences of enticing and feeding Barbary Macaques in what will become section 6A of the Animals and Birds Act. This places the offences in the more appropriate context of animal protection legislation.

1150

We have, at the same time, and this leads me to the second reform, created a distinction in section 6A between an offence committed inside the Nature Reserve and one committed outside it. The practical effect of this is to assign different fixed penalties to these offences and I will explain these further in a moment.

1155

The third reform is the very creation of the fixed Penalty Notice regime just mentioned. This is contained in section 6B and will enable authorised officers to issue Fixed Penalties to offenders on the spot.

We see this as a key component in enforcing the law. Indeed, Mr Speaker, I will immediately be publishing subordinate legislation in the form of rules in order to administer the fixed penalty regime if Parliament approves this Bill.

1160 You will see that the penalty for offences relating to enticing Macaques away from, or feeding them outside the Nature Reserve contained in sections 6(1)(a) and 6(1)(c) respectively, following the changes that I will bring up at Committee Stage, is £500 while the penalty for feeding a Macaque or encouraging another person to do so, inside the reserve is £250. This distinction reflects the particular seriousness which the Government gives to the presence of Macaques outside the Reserve.

1165 I should emphasise that the summary conviction offence, with a fine at Level 4 on the standard scale, currently £4,000 is carried over from Section 547 of the Crimes Act and is thereby retained. The fourth reform is the new definition of Authorised Officer in the Animals and Birds Act to include Wild Life Wardens. The inclusion of Wild Life Wardens will help ensure that these individuals, who are among those most likely to see an offence being committed, are able to act on it immediately by issuing a Fixed Penalty Notice.

1170 Mr Speaker, this Bill addresses one aspect of controlling the Barbary Macaque population, the enforcement of laws prohibiting feeding. It is part however, of the Government's commitment to tackling the challenges and opportunities presented by the Barbary Macaque population in a holistic and integrated way and I commend this Bill to the House.

1175 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

The Hon. Mr James Netto.

1180 Hon. J J Netto: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

We in the Opposition will be voting in favour of the Bill, given the general principle contained therein.

We believe that there should be fixed penalty offences to ensure compliance with the underlying view that illegal feeding of the Barbary Macaques is something that this society takes a serious view of and the deterrence of such an act will cause such individuals dearly in their pockets.

1185 The Opposition does, however, have some misgivings. The fact is that there has never been any prosecution and this legislation on its own will not deal with the problem. We still continue to ask the Minister as to where are the Nature Reserve Wardens that he used to say when in GONHS that would solve this particular problem.

1190 As I have said, we in the Opposition will be voting in favour of the Bill but we will be monitoring the implementation of the new legislation very closely. No doubt the Minister will continue to blame the GSD Government for everything which is wrong, despite the fact that the Minister has been dealing with the treatment of Macaques for the last 30 years (Several Members: Hear, hear.) but upon enacting this Bill, if the outcome becomes as sterile as the two years in which the hon. Member has been the Minister for the Environment, then he will find himself at the end of a long branch with nowhere to go but crashing down to a hard surface of public opinion with nobody willing to pick him up. (Several Members: Hear, hear.)

1195 Our advice to the Minister is that we have had enough of theory and excuses what the public wants at large is real tangible practice on the ground.

1200 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, just a small point. There are no new substantive offences created by this Bill. Effectively what this Bill does is takes out of the Crimes Bill the substantive offences created in the Crimes Act and puts it in this new piece of legislation for the policy reasons the Government has outlined, which is that it believes that these types of offences ought to be dealt with in animal protection legislation.

1205 I have to say that I do not agree with that and I hope that in the future the Government perhaps thinks carefully about taking things out of the Crimes Act, which was intended to be a codified piece of legislation dealing with all our criminal offences, save for very few, so that criminal practitioners had effectively a bible so to speak to which to consult when faced with cases which they deal with on behalf of clients.

1210 We are voting in favour of it because we believe that even though it creates no substantive offences, some of the other amendments are worthwhile, they could have been introduced into the Crimes Act but I urge the Government to rethink any policy in the future, taking out of the Crimes Act and then dealing with it piecemeal in other pieces of legislation which just complicates things for practitioners.

1215 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I wish to deal with a point that the hon. Member has just made. We certainly do not agree that where you have got legislation other than the Crimes Act, where an offence is created or exists, that is dealing with criminal legislation on a piecemeal basis, we have had this morning the Tobacco Act amendment which creates an offence, not in the Crimes Act in a Tobacco Act of concealment in a vehicle, which the hon. Member has supported for the reasons that he has stated. It has not taken out an offence, but it is not true to say that the Crimes Act is simply a codifying piece of legislation of all offences in Gibraltar –

1220

Hon. D A Feetham: Will he give way?

Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, I will.

1225

Hon. D A Feetham: And I have not said that.

Hon. G H Licudi: Well, that is what you...

1230

Hon. D A Feetham: No, no, I have not said that. I said... I did not say that. I actually said there are other criminal offences in other pieces of legislation.

1235

The point I am making is, that I am urging upon the Government a policy not to take out of the Crimes Act, to deal with in separate pieces of legislation, because we have a wonderful piece of legislation which we drafted, they implemented (A Member: Hear, hear.) dealing with most of our... dealing with 90% of our criminal offences and I do not think it is the right policy – that is all I am urging, it is up to them – to be taking out of the Crimes Act to introduce it into separate legislation which I have described as piecemeal. Perhaps that is not the best way to describe it, but the hon. Gentleman gets the gist of what I am saying.

1240

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, this is not so much an issue of policy but what is appropriate and what is convenient in any particular case. We have the Crimes Act, which is not a codifying piece of legislation of all criminal offences in Gibraltar, but is a repetition of what was included in the Criminal Offences Act originally, plus an extension, with new offences being created, particularly offences involving children, sexual offences and all that.

1245

Where we have felt it is appropriate to add legislation to the Crimes Act, we have done that and I gave that example this morning in relation to protection of harassment, and I will not repeat what I said earlier, but the position before is that we had a commitment to introduce a Protection of Harassment Act and instead of creating that separate piece of legislation, we simply incorporated the provisions that we wanted to include, in the existing provisions, or further to the existing provisions in the Crimes Act and that shows that there is flexibility of the approach. Where we feel it is appropriate to add offences to the Crimes Act we do so. Where we feel that it is appropriate to add offences to other pieces of legislation, like we did this morning with the Tobacco Act, because we do not have all the tobacco offences in the Crimes Act, we have a separate piece of legislation dealing with that and we now have, or we have in fact a separate piece of legislation, dealing with protection of animals and birds and this is part of that piece of legislation.

1250

Therefore, it is a matter that we gave some thought to, whether we should make these amendments to the existing provisions in the Crimes Act, or we should repeal those provisions and have them in the Animals and Birds Act. We took the latter view. The hon. Member may have taken a different view, but I do not think that this is a substantial issue of policy. It is almost as if the hon. Member wants to protect his baby and anything we do to interfere with that baby, to take anything out is wrong. Well, I do not think that is the right approach to legislation.

1260

Mr Speaker: Does the hon. mover wish to reply?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I would like to thank my learned colleague, and hon. learned colleague –

1265

Hon. D A Feetham: Thank you very much!

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: – the Minister for Justice (Laughter) – not the former Minister for Justice, stressing the word former, of course – for assisting in this discussion.

1270

I do have to correct the former and no less honourable Minister for Justice in suggesting that there is nothing new in this piece of legislation. The aspect of enticing is a new concept. Also the difference in that there will be higher fines outside the nature reserve than inside the nature reserve, to stress the fact that it is possibly something that has to be taken more seriously, and the issuing of tickets rather than the other more drawn out process of the Magistrates' Court, which is still an option for enforcement.

The other significant difference is the number of officers who will now be able to enforce, it is now no longer just the police but also Mr Speaker, all the technical and enforcement members of the Department of the Environment, including the new Environmental Protection Officers, and the officers of the Environmental Agency, so it is increasing the number of people who will be able to enforce this new law.

Over and beyond the wildlife wardens which the Member opposite has continuously tried to provoke me, by saying that I said all these wonderful things were happening or were going to be happening when we had wildlife wardens, in fact there will be more people now on the ground than any wildlife wardens I ever dreamt about at the time, enforcing this piece of legislation.

Mr Speaker, there are some people who even today tell me that I am too nice and too good to be a politician. (A Member: Hear, hear.) I think that the hon. Member opposite has almost convinced me that I am, because as he started welcoming this piece of legislation, and saying how he would support it and so on, I thought, 'Well, isn't this great! Let's just stick to the business', and I am not going to then stand up and tell him all the things he did not do, when he was the Minister for the Environment. (Hon. N F Costa: Tell him.) And there he goes (Hon. N F Costa: Tell him!) and begins a personal attack on me, even wishing me to fall from the branch of a tree – (Interjection) no doubt a tree of one of the hundreds that I have already planted in these two years when I have been sterile (Several Members: Hear, hear!) (Banging on desks) and it begs me to ask of the hon. Member opposite, how can you, Jaime?

Have you forgotten the conversations that we had when you were my Minister and I your loyal contractor? Have you forgotten the correspondence that I and other professionals wrote to you, when we warned you that if you did not listen to what we were wanting to tell you, that the problem that we are having now with the Barbary Macaques was going to happen in a few years?

All I can say is, thank God that I am now the Minister and I am tackling it and I am going to solve it, Mr Speaker. (Several Members: Hear, hear!) (Banging on desks and interjections)

But let me climb up on the tree again, from which I have no intention of falling.

Mr Speaker, the allusion to the lack of prosecution, almost trying to put the blame on me for such lack of prosecution, when his party was in Government for 16 years when they did not prosecute anybody, is almost unbelievable, or when nobody was prosecuted, it is not for the Government to prosecute, it is almost unbelievable. It is precisely because perhaps the law was too cumbersome, that we have introduced this new regime, which may be able to tackle offenders in a more practical and realistic manner.

Mr Speaker, I am not going to refer again to the correspondence and I have published some of the letters in the past to show exactly what the former Government was not doing, and how it was not listening. We are doing a lot of other things. We have increased the human resources now tackling the Macaques considerably, we have introduced this Bill, we have carried out habitat improvement and a lot of other measures that we will be hearing of very soon but needless to say, I will once again, at the next opportunity, be accused of not – 1310 Hon. D A Feetham: Will he give way?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, I do not think I will give way. I will once again be accused of not doing anything, when in two sterile years, despite the fact that there were 16 sterile years on all range of things that we all recall, because we do not have that short a memory.

1315 Mr Speaker, I will leave it at that. I am glad that the Opposition will support this, but I am disappointed because I did think that at last, we were going to see the Opposition standing shoulder to shoulder with the Government tackling and supporting a problem which we have to resolve and that we have both got a role in getting all of our supporters to support the work that we are trying to do in order to properly manage the Barbary Macaque population. (A Member: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks)

1320 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Animals and Birds Act be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Animals and Birds (Barbary Macaques) (Amendment) Act 2013.

Animals and Birds (Barbary Macaques) (Amendment) Bill 2013 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

1325 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

1330

Trade and Industry (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2013 –
First Reading approved

Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend miscellaneous Acts which include a reference or reference to the Minister with responsibility for Trade and Industry.

The Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

1335

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend miscellaneous Acts which include a reference or references to the Minister with responsibility for Trade and Industry, be read a first time.

1340

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend miscellaneous Acts which include a reference or references to the Minister with responsibility for Trade and Industry be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Trade and Industry (Miscellaneous Amendments) Act 2013.

Trade and Industry (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2013 –
Second Reading approved

1345

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I beg to move that the Bill be now read a second time.

The Bill reflects changes in ministerial portfolios and responsibilities which took place back in December 2011 when that marvellous New Dawn occurred, (A Member: Hear, hear.) as a result of which there is no longer a post which can be easily identified as being either the Minister for Trade and Industry or the Minister with responsibility for both Trade and Industry. Therefore there has been a need to identify the pieces of legislation that referred to the Minister in those terms and to correct that.

This Bill does not create any new powers at all. It simply amends the title of the Minister and a search of the current legislation Mr Speaker, has identified eight Acts which would benefit from amendment so as to clarify which particular Minister will undertake the duties and responsibilities under those particular Acts. The amendments have been drafted so that the description of the Minister is no longer tied to multiple responsibility. There is a description of a Minister now, or there will be, for one responsibility so whoever may have that responsibility in the future will be the Minister responsible under these particular Acts without the need for further amendments if there is any kind of changes as there was in December 2011.

Mr Speaker, the Acts amended by the Bill and the relevant Minister for each Act are firstly the Intellectual Property (Copyright and Related Rights) Act 2005 and that is changed to the Minister with responsibility for Commercial Affairs; the Motor Fuel (Composition and Content) Act 2011 to the Minister with responsibility for the Environment; the European Public Limited-Liability Company Act 2005 to the Minister with responsibility for Financial Services ; the Petroleum Act to the Minister with responsibility for the Environment; the Business Trades and Professions (Registration) Act to the Minister with responsibility for Employment; the Export Control Act 2005 to the Minister with responsibility for Finance; the Deep Sea Mining (Licensing) Act to the Minister with responsibility for the Environment and the Disclosure of Interest in Shares Act to the Minister with responsibility for Financial Services.

Mr Speaker, I commend the Bill to the House.

Mr Speaker: Does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend miscellaneous Acts which include a reference or references to the Minister with responsibility for Trade and Industry be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

1375

Clerk: The Trade and Industry (Miscellaneous Amendments) Act 2013.

Trade and Industry (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2013 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

1380 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

COMMITTEE STAGE AND THIRD READING

1385 Clerk: Committee Stage and Third Reading.
The Hon. the Chief Minister.

1390 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the House should resolve itself into Committee to consider the following Bills clause by clause: the Stamp Duties (Amendment) Bill 2013; the Employment (Bullying at Work) Bill 2013; the Tobacco (Amendment) Bill 2014; the Taxation (Mutual Administrative Assistance) Bill 2014; the Protection of Trees Bill 2013; the Animals and Birds (Barbary Macaques) (Amendment) Bill 2013 and the Trade and Industry (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2013.

In Committee of the whole Parliament

Stamp Duties (Amendment) Bill 2013 –
Clauses considered and approved

1395 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Stamp Duties Act 2005.
Clauses 1 and 2.

Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

1400 Clerk: The long title.

Mr Chairman: Stands part of the Bill.

Employment (Bullying at Work) Bill 2013 –
Clauses considered and approved as amended

1405 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to prohibit bullying and victimisation in employment and for connected purposes.

1410 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, in respect of this Bill, a letter has been circulated to hon. Members with what I describe as very minor typographical amendments which hon. Members will be able to see. I think it is being circulated now. They are literally minor typographical amendments. One of them is the typographical amendment that the hon. Gentleman spotted, which was the absence of a little ‘c’ which we will come to, but they are not in any instance a substantive change. They are all typographical.

1415 Hon. D A Feetham: May I suggest that rather than go through... I mean, in the past –

Mr Chairman: Yes, because they are purely typographical amendments and the Chief Minister has given clear notice of them, the Committee will agree that they all be incorporated into the Bill.

1420 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Chairman, there is one further typographical amendment, which is not included in the letter and that is in clause 2, where it defines Minister. It says 'Minister with responsibility for Employment'. The 'e' in Employment should be a small 'e' rather than a capital 'E'. That is just to make it consistent with the way we are drafting legislation and defining ministerial responsibilities.

1425 Mr Chairman: I hope that that can also be incorporated and that when the Act is published, that it will appear there. I mean it has to be monitored.

Clerk: Clauses 1 to 11 and the schedule.

1430 Mr Chairman: Clauses 1 to 11 and the schedule stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: The long title.

Mr Chairman: The long title stands part of the Bill.

Tobacco (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Clauses considered and approved as amended

1435 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Tobacco Act 1997.
Clauses 1 and 2 and the long title.

Mr Chairman: Clauses 1 and 2 and the long title stand part of the Bill.

Taxation (Mutual Administrative Assistance) Bill 2014 –
Clauses considered and approved

1440 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to implement the Convention on Mutual Administrative Assistance in Tax Matters of 21 January 1988 as amended by the Protocol amending the Convention on Mutual Administrative Assistance in Tax Matters of 27th May 2010; and for connected purposes.
Clauses 1 to 29, the schedule and the long title.

1445 Mr Chairman: Clauses 1 to 29, the schedule and the long title stand part of the Bill.

Protection of Trees Bill 2013 –
Clauses considered and approved

1450 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to provide for the preservation and protection of trees; and for connected purposes.
Clause 1

Mr Chairman: Clause 1 –

1455

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Chairman, I –

Mr Chairman: The Hon. Mr Cortes.

1460 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Chairman, as I have circulated, the intention Mr Chairman is that for the words 'Protection of Trees Act 2013', we should substitute the words 'Environmental Protection (Trees) Act 2014'.

1465 Mr Chairman: Do all hon. Members agree that the amendment moved by the Hon. Mr Cortes should be included in the Bill? (Members: Aye.)

Clerk: Clauses 2 to 22.

1470 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Chairman, if I may deal with the point that Mr Netto made and which the Leader of the Opposition followed up in respect of the reference at paragraph 23, which is outside the scope of the clauses called by the Clerk at the moment, of the Governor's constitutional responsibilities, the reason I want to deal with it now, is because the reason for it is actually in section 3.

1475 Section 3 of this Bill applies the Act to the Government and section 3(3) sets out that the Government may certify that, in the interests of the security of Gibraltar, the right of entry under section 19 shall not be exercisable in relation to the premises specified in the certificate.

1480 That is taking to the Government of Gibraltar, rather than putting in the Governor, the right to certify something in the interests of Gibraltar and when we do things like that, we specifically provide that that is not a derogation from the Constitutional power in respect of the security of Gibraltar that the Governor has specifically set out in the Constitution. That is therefore the reason why section 23 is there, I entirely agree with the reasoning that it should not be there unless it needs to be there, that is the reason why it needs to be there.

Clerk: Clauses 2 to 25, the schedule and the long title.

1485 Mr Chairman: Clauses 2 to 25, the schedule and the long title stand part of the Bill.

Animals and Birds (Barbary Macaques) (Amendment) Bill 2013 –
Clauses considered and approved as amended

Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Animals and Birds Act.
Clause 1

1490 Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clause 2.

1495 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Chairman, as I alluded to in my speech earlier, a number of amendments have been distributed by copies of a letter to you. The first one is a typographical error in 6B(3) the definition should be of 'conviction' not of 'convicted'.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, we are quite content –

1500 Mr Chairman: Again, we have a similar situation: they are merely typographical errors. They are not substantive amendments. The hon. Member has given notice, it has been circulated and therefore the Committee agrees that these should all be incorporated into the Act.

1505 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: I am grateful to you and to the Committee, Mr Chairman.

Clerk: Clauses 1 and 2 and the long title.

Mr Chairman: Please call that again?

1510 Clerk: Clauses 1 and 2 and the long title.

Mr Chairman: Clauses 1 and 2 and the long title stand part of the Bill.

Trade and Industry (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2013 –
Clauses considered and approved

1515 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend miscellaneous Acts which include a reference or references to the Minister with responsibility for Trade and Industry.
Clauses 1 to 9 and the long title.

Mr Chairman: Clauses 1 to 9 and the long title stand part of the Bill.

BILLS FOR THIRD READING

Stamp Duties (Amendment) Bill 2013; Employment (Bullying at Work) Bill 2013;
Tobacco (Amendment) Bill 2014;
Taxation (Mutual Administrative Assistance) Bill 2014;
Protection of Trees Bill 2013, now renamed; Animals and Birds (Barbary Macaques) (Amendment)
Bill 2013;
Trade and Industry (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2013 –
Third Readings approved, some with amendments: Bills passed

Clerk: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

1520

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to report that the Stamp Duties (Amendment) Bill 2013; the Employment (Bullying at Work) Bill 2013; the Tobacco (Amendment) Bill 2014; the Taxation (Mutual Administrative Assistance) Bill 2014; the Protection of Trees Bill 2013 now renamed; the Animals and Birds (Barbary Macaques) (Amendment) Bill 2013 and the Trade and Industry (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2013 have been considered in Committee and agreed to with amendments, and I now move that they be read a third time and passed.

1525

Mr Speaker: I now put the question which is that (1) the Stamp Duties (Amendment) Bill 2013; (2) the Employment (Bullying at Work) Bill 2013; (3) the Tobacco (Amendment) Bill 2014; (4) the Taxation (Mutual Administrative Assistance) Bill 2014; (5) the Protection of Trees Bill 2013 with the amended title; (6) the Animals and Birds (Barbary Macaques) (Amendment) Bill 2013; and (7) the Trade and Industry (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2013 be read a third time and passed.

1530

Those in favour of the Stamp Duties (Amendment) Bill? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.
Those in favour of the Employment (Bullying at Work) Bill 2013?

Those against? Carried.

RETIREMENT OF CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT

Tribute to Mr Melvyn Farrell for distinguished service to Parliament and Gibraltar

Clerk: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I rise to move that the House do now adjourn sine die.

1555 But before I do, it is not lost on us on this side of the House, that this may be the last moment that we have Mr Melvyn Farrell, the Clerk of the House with us, discharging his functions which he has loyally done now for some years as Clerk of the House, before he retires.

1560 Mr Speaker, Mr Farrell has loyally served this House and he has loyally served Gibraltar as a civil servant before he arrived in this House as Clerk. From the time that I have been conscious of his work, he has served Chief Ministers at No. 6 Convent Place, he has served in the Registry and he has of course served with distinction in this House.

I have always found, as I know my colleagues on this side of the House and no doubt on the other side of the House, that Mr Farrell is impeccably polite, impartial and unflappable in any situation and he has found himself no doubt, in all the years that he has been a civil servant, in many situations.

1565 Mr Speaker, those of us who have the benefit of having a crib have always found our cribs impeccable as a result of his diligent work. He has always been a friend to everyone in this House and an enemy of none of us.

1570 He is also a distinguished member of HMS Calpe, a retired distinguished member of HMS Calpe and of course he has been discharging his function not just as Clerk of this House in this House, but he has been the organiser of European Elections and the organiser of national elections.

And I will always remember him, Mr Speaker, reading out the names of those who were duly elected to this Parliament after the last General Election. I have him standing on the stage at Mackintosh Hall ingrained in my mind as he read those names.

1575 Mr Speaker, I am sure that this is not the end of Melvyn Farrell's distinguished service to Gibraltar and I am sure that it must be recognised beyond the words I am uttering today. We were reminded by the previous Chief Minister, who is not here today, no doubt not out of any desire not to be here to share with us celebrating Melvyn's work, that he is of course the last civil servant to hold WOPS and therefore his retirement today will enable his diligent approach in the savings to start accruing for the benefit of not just him, but also his family, although we sincerely hope and he goes with the wish I have no doubt of everyone in this House, that the WOPS criteria should not kick in for many years to come.

Members: Hear, hear. (Applause and banging on desks)

1585 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, certainly on this side of the House, we associate ourselves entirely with everything that the Hon. the Chief Minister and the Leader of the House has said about Melvyn.

But yesterday, when I was talking to my Opposition colleagues, 'Well, what can I say about Melvyn?' and almost to the man and almost to the woman, the one word, the one word that resonated in description of Melvyn was the word 'loyalty'.

1595 Melvyn is diligent, he is meticulous and he has an eye for detail. I have to say that when I first became a Member of the Opposition – it is less likely when we are Ministers – and I submitted my questions, I would have Melvyn on the phone to me saying, 'Well, don't you think that perhaps you can phrase this question in this particular way?' And I thought, and I said, 'Well, Melvyn, do you suggest a change of questions to everybody?' and he said, 'There is not one person since I have served as a Clerk that I have not suggested a change of questions!' (Laughter) And I have to say...

1600 A Member: Always to improve –

Hon. D A Feetham: Always, always to improve the question – always to improve the question.

1605 And therefore I have absolutely no hesitation in associating myself with the Hon. the Chief Minister and to wish Melvyn and his family all the best for the future. And that if, in future, Melvyn's service to this community during his long years of service is to be recognised in any way, I can assure this House that the Opposition will be entirely supportive of it, because I can think of no-one else that is as worthy of recognition as Melvyn Farrell. (Applause and banging on desks)

1610 Mr Speaker: May I associate myself with those very kind remarks about the Clerk, about Melvyn Farrell.

Let me put his service into perspective. He has served a total of 47 years and that means that he could have retired with full service at least 10 years ago and he has carried on for about another 10 years, well beyond the age of 60. In fact I am not going to reveal his age, (Laughter) but it is well beyond the age of 60.

1615 When I took over the task of chairing the proceedings of Parliament in October 2012, I knew Melvyn beforehand and I knew and was confident of the extent to which I was going to rely on his guidance, on his advice, and his help would be matched, would exceed all my expectations and this I can vouch for. He has been a tower of strength to me. He has the accumulated wisdom of many years here in Parliament which I have been able to draw upon in order to help me in what is not an easy task.

1620 He has been loyal, he has been a great counsellor and above all, a great friend. And even though he will no longer sit in that chair, our friendship will endure forever. So I associate myself with the Members, I wish him many years of retirement and which he will be able to enjoy with his gracious lady, Sonia. Behind every great man, there is a great woman and this is a job which entails on occasions, great sacrifice. Sometimes the Members here, the staff at Parliament are working here until the early hours of the morning, and people, the public may not realise that, and there is a lady at home waiting for the Clerk and the others to return.

1625 A sad day because it will be the end of seeing Melvyn here, but a very fulfilling day and a day which I think points and indicates that in Gibraltar we are blessed with a very great Civil Service. They are great upholders of the task and they serve the needs of our nation, of our country, very, very to the highest standards in any other Parliament.

1630 May God bless him. (A Member: Hear, hear, Mr Speaker.) (Applause and banging on desks)

Clerk: I am sorry I am being rather emotional, but that is the way I am. And I am grateful to all of you for your fine words and thank you. (Applause and banging on desks)

ADJOURNMENT

1635 Chief Minister (Hon F R Picardo): So I move, Mr Speaker, that we now adjourn sine die and let him go. (Laughter)

1640 Mr Speaker: I now propose the question, which is that this House do now adjourn sine die. I now put the question, which is that this House do now adjourn sine die. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

The House will now adjourn sine die.

The House adjourned at 1.10 p.m.

The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 9.20 a.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. A J Canepa GMH OBE in the Chair]

[ACTING CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: P E Martinez Esq in attendance]

PRAYER
Mr Speaker

Order of the Day

Acting Clerk: (i) Oath of Allegiance.

5

CONFIRMATION OF MINUTES

(ii) Confirmation of Minutes – the Minutes of the last meeting of Parliament, which was held on 20th and 21st February 2014.

10

Mr Speaker: May I sign the Minutes as correct? (Members: Aye.)

Mr Speaker signed the Minutes.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE CHAIR

15

Acting Clerk: (iii) Communications from the Chair.

20

Mr Speaker: As hon. Members are aware, it is a requirement, under I think it is section 69 of the Constitution, that the Estimates of Expenditure for the next financial year should be tabled in the House before 30th April. Since the House is not due to meet next month, and in any case following the precedent of last year, when we did not meet in any case for a couple of months because of the refurbishment of the House, I then ruled and I think I should rule now, that the provisions of the Constitution will have been deemed to have been met if the Estimates are circulated to hon. Members before the end of April. Is that agreed?

25

It was agreed.

Acting Clerk: (iv) Petitions; (v) Announcements; (vi) Papers to be laid; (vii) Reports of Committees.

30

Questions for Oral Answer

TOURISM, COMMERCIAL AFFAIRS, PUBLIC TRANSPORT AND THE PORT

Q229-230/2014

Miami Seatrade Cruise Shipping Convention – Gibraltar delegation and costs

Acting Clerk: (viii) Answers to Oral Questions. Question 229/2014, the Hon. D J Bossino.

35 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Tourism state, who formed part of the Gibraltar delegation to the Miami Seatrade Cruise Shipping Convention?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

40 Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 230.

Acting Clerk: Question 230/2014, the Hon. D J Bossino.

45 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Tourism state what the cost of attendance at the Miami Seatrade Cruise Shipping Convention was, to include the costs of setting up of the stand if one was set up, and travel – I think there is a word missing there – expenses, broken down into air fares and hotels?

50 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, Gibraltar did not exhibit at the Miami Seatrade Cruise Shipping Convention this year. Therefore there was no delegation and no costs.

55 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q231/2014

Cruise companies coming to Gibraltar – Invitations due to Miami Cruise Shipping Convention

Acting Clerk: Question 231, the Hon. D J Bossino.

60 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Tourism state how many senior executives from cruise companies have come to Gibraltar since he took office and who these are, together with how many he has invited with their identity following the Miami Cruise Shipping Convention?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

65 Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, since I took Office nine senior executives from cruise companies have come to Gibraltar and they are: Giora Israel, Senior Vice President, Port and Destination Development and Michel Nestour, Vice President, Global Port and Destination Development, EuroMed Region, Carnival Corporation; Emilio Freeman, Director Brand Operations & Destination Delivery, Global Tour Operations for Azamara Club Cruises; Emilio Lopez Puertas, Vice President of Land Operations and On Board Revenue of Pullmantur Cruises; Steven Young, Head of Port Operations & Services Carnival UK; Sara Ciliberto, Shore Excursion Executive, Fleet Operations, Carnival UK; Neil Duncan, General Manager, Marketing & Planning, Thomson and Island Cruises; Jacqui Nobile, Port and Shore Excursions Operations Manager, Thomson & Island Cruises; Matt Grimes, Viking Ocean Cruises; James Buchanan, Manager Shore Excursion, Saga Cruises.

Mr Speaker, since Gibraltar has not attended the Miami Seatrade Cruise Shipping Convention, no cruise executives have been invited from this Convention.

80 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I may have misread the Press Release which he issued on 3rd March 2012 – in fact, I was reading it whilst he has been answering the question. The way I interpreted it was that there had been an attendance by the Minister with a delegation and therefore, as he will realise, that has been the premise of the questions which I have posed.

85 But I have re-read it and it appears that what there was, was a prior visit to the Convention but no participation directly by the Government in the Convention – is that the correct understanding, can he confirm that?

90 Hon. N F Costa: Yes, Mr Speaker. As the Press Release that was issued on 3rd March makes clear and as the hon. Gentleman has just said now, senior officials and myself went to Miami ahead of the Cruise Shipping Convention for a series of meetings with the cruise company executives.

95 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the last question which I posed in relation to the Miami Seatrade Cruise Convention related to executives that he has invited. In the Press Release, he also said that he planned to invite senior executives but I think in the answer that he has given is that he has not invited any executives, can he shed some light in relation to that?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, as I said in the original answer to the original question, we have invited since taking office, nine senior executives. As the hon. Gentleman knows, Giora Israel is the top, top in terms of executives of the cruise line world.

100 We have also, as he knows, gone to the UK in addition to Miami to hold meetings with cruise line executives. From the list that I have before me, between 2012 and 2014, together with the Chief Executive of the Tourist Board and Peter Canessa of Gibraltar House and myself, either together or separately, we have held around 33 meetings, and that is apart from the nine executives that have been invited to come to Gibraltar.

Q232/2014
ITB Travel Fair in Berlin –
Gibraltar delegation and costs

105 Acting Clerk: Question 232, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Tourism state who formed part of the Gibraltar delegation to the ITB Travel Fair in Berlin, together with what the cost of attendance was, to include travel and hotel cost and the cost of the stand, if one was set up?

110 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

115 Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, Tracey Poggio, UK Marketing and Communications for the GTB in London; Stuart Finlayson, Consultant Airline Business Development for the Gibraltar Tourist Board; and Gail Francis-Tiron, Information Manager for the GTB, formed part of the delegation to the ITB Trade Fair in Berlin.

120 The costs of the attendance were as follows: flights – £1,150; hotel – £2,114.28; subsistence – £313.32; travel expenses £272.97; stand space and build cost – £17,101.89; miscellaneous expenses – £667.45; less the participation fees from the co-exhibitors which amounted to £7,500.

Ordinarily I would have handed the hon. Gentleman a schedule. I do not know why they have given it to me in this way, but if he has not had a chance to make a note in writing, I will ask the hon. Lady to make a photocopy for him.

Flights	1150.00
Hotel	2114.28
Subsistence	313.32
Travel Expenses	272.97
Stand Space & Build Costs	17111.89
Miscellaneous Expenses	667.45
Less Participation fees from Co-Exhibitors	-7500.00

125 Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, I am grateful for that and I am conscious of the hon. Member's practice and I would welcome a copy of that in schedule format.

Mr Speaker, again I am referring to his Press Release, to another Press Release in relation to this matter, of 5th March where he identifies the ITB Berlin Fair as one which can provide great potential for growth in tourism for Gibraltar, then in the final paragraph he gives the public some statistics, which on the face of it would support that assertion, given the number of attendees.

130 In fact, can I ask him to confirm whether the basis of the assertion is on the grounds of these figures which he has provided in a Press Release and secondly, how in coming to that judgement he compares the ITB Berlin Fair with other potential fairs which could also be providers of potential growth in this area to Gibraltar?

135 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, in answer to the hon. Gentleman, to confirm that the figures given in the Press Release did of course show the value of attendance at the Trade Fair. As the Press Release notes, there were more than 174,000 visitors, among these 114,000 are trade visitors and 11,000 are represented companies from 189 countries, so that it is considered to be the leading B2B platform of tourism industry offers.

140 Following the events, I was debriefed on the series of meetings and the contacts that were made. As the hon. Gentleman knows, the main source market continues to be the UK and of course Spain, but there is also tourism that comes from Germany by way of cruise passengers and also from people that are in the Costa del Sol and do come to Gibraltar for the day. So there is great potential in being able to deal directly with those people that instead of coming to the Costa may consider coming directly to Gibraltar and spend more time here and that is the angle that we are considering, which is more a leisure market angle to stay longer in Gibraltar and therefore increase hotel occupancy.

145 But the strategy if you like is more leisure visitors to come to Gibraltar and stay in Gibraltar, rather than come to the Costa del Sol and just come to Gibraltar for the day.

150 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, he has identified the German markets, which is obvious given the location of the fair, but why particularly the German market? I mean we get for example other... Immediately I can think of other northern European visitors who come to Gibraltar and who do visit the Costa del Sol. Is there any sort of empirical statistical evidence that he can provide which would support the conclusion which clearly he has come to in terms of targeting Germany as a particular jurisdiction?

Hon. N F Costa: Well, Mr Speaker, two things. In the first place, the reason why I mentioned Germany particularly, one is because it is a particularly important European country, as the hon. Gentleman knows, and it is one of the countries that continue to have disposable income for tourism.

160 Secondly, the fair is held in Germany, so that it is the headquarters of what, I said before, is considered to be, apart from the World Travel Market, the most important trade fair in Europe and that is why I mentioned Germany in particular. Had it been set in France, then I would have mentioned France, but it brings into play, as I said before, the numbers that I was reading out to him, the 114,000 trade visitors from around Europe and the way that the ITB structure allows tourist boards and other companies to be able to meet up with the tour operators, ground handlers, travel agencies and the trade visitors, to be able to start to first create networking opportunities, once you establish those of course, to pursue them.

165 Hon. D J Bossino: So in other words, Mr Speaker, it is not that necessarily the German market is being identified; it is just that the location of the fair is in Germany and it attracts individuals from other nations, presumably northern Europe – or as I said, in other words, the 170,000-odd visitors to the trade fair are not exclusively going to be German clearly.

170 So I just wanted to establish that, it is not that the Ministry, his Ministry has identified the Germany market in particular; it just so happens that the location is in Germany and it encompasses other European... I would have thought European nation states.

175 Hon. N F Costa: Well, Mr Speaker, just to be clear on my side, it is what I said in the second answer to his... or his first answer to his second supplementary, that Germany is considered to be an important market, but for instance we go to FITUR in Madrid and the World Travel Market in the UK, whereas the main business happens to be either UK based or Spanish based. The reality is that once we are there we do conduct business with – for example, I remember in the World Travel Market in FITUR, we established contact with an Israeli travel company.

180 So like he rightly says, we do meet and seek interest from other European countries, but undoubtedly Germany is an important catchment market because for the reason as I have said before, many do disembark from cruise liner companies, some are in the Costa del Sol and they do travel to Gibraltar for day

185 trips and there is no reason why we cannot sell Gibraltar by itself, as a unique tourist leisure destination and they should consider it separately, and not just as part of a Costa del Sol tour.

Hon. D J Bossino: But Mr Speaker, he will recall in answers to the questions he gave me at the initial stages of this Parliament, when he explained the policy of the Government, which was really to carry out a 190 review of the various attendances at these fairs and to see whether it was value for money in effect. And of course, there is a considerable expenditure in relation to this particular fair, for example the stand alone is £17,000 odd, and then there are obviously other expenses.

Is that analysis being made by his Ministry as to what the returns are, if any, that they are getting in relation to this? Is there a system, a mechanism in place in order to establish whether it is in fact worthwhile 195 or not?

Hon. N F Costa: Well, Mr Speaker, I know that the hon. Gentleman is quite fond of reading my Press Releases, so he will know that the GTB (Laughter) has not attended – at least there is one person that is fond of reading them regularly – the GTB has not attended the ITB Berlin Fair since 1992, so we took the 200 decision to start attending that fair again.

But he would also recall that during the course of this year, he asked me whether we had attended the London Boat Show and I said that we had not attended, so there was one saving there.

I have also told him today that we did not attend the Seatrade Convention, so there was another saving and we thought that that money could be diverted – I mean, not that money specifically, but because we 205 were making savings in other areas which we did not think were producing any tangible results, we thought that we should now try to spend time in this particular market, to see whether there was any attraction in bringing over German and, as he rightly said before, northern European tourists to Gibraltar. So in other words, what we are saving in one way, we are able to spend in another.

Hon. D J Bossino: And presumably, Mr Speaker, his Ministry has not reached the conclusion as to 210 whether the ITB Berlin Fair is worth it? In fact, in other words whether it will provide a return in investment, it is still early stages, is that correct?

Hon. N F Costa: Yes Mr Speaker, that is exactly correct. From the contacts that were made in ITB, 215 there has already been a delegation that did come from, as a direct result of contacts and meetings being held in Germany. This was only held last month so like he rightly says, it is far too soon to be able to make a cogent analysis of whether we are obtaining any results from the attendants, but that would be something of course that we will be able to evaluate during the course of the year as matters progress.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, one final supplementary. In relation to the attendees, as far as I can see 220 the Minister himself, the hon. Member did not attend. I know that he lays a lot of store in the fact that... in fact, he mentioned in the other Press Release which I have quoted this morning in relation to personal contacts – can he explain why he decided it was not worthwhile he himself attending this fair?

Hon. N F Costa: Well, because I had been in Miami the week before and I thought that my Gibraltar 225 domestic affairs required some attention.

Q233/2014
Captain of the Port –
Recruitment progress

Acting Clerk: Question 233, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Tourism state what progress, if any, has been made in 230 connection with the recruitment of the Captain of the Port?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Yes 235 Mr Speaker, I am pleased to report that advertisements for the Captain of the Port's position have appeared in two high-profile on-line marine-related recruitment sites.

240 The advertisements closed on 18th March and so far there have been 33 applications. I have a post it that says that actually since drafting the answer, there are now 36 applications received in total, a large proportion of them from applicants which satisfy the advertised personal specification requirements. The first tranche of interviews are scheduled to take place in London on 27th and 28th of this month.

245 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, is the Minister able to shed any light as to whether there is any possibility of this position being filled by somebody currently locally? Is it possible? I am not sure because there may be qualification, I understand that maybe there is discomfort given his expression, but in other words, can he state objectively whether there is anybody who is currently locally employed in the Port Department who would be unable to apply because of – ? (Interjections) Sorry, I know he – 250 Hon. D A Feetham: Just sit down and wait until they finish.

Hon. D J Bossino: In other words, that there would be a bar because of qualifications is really my question that is really an objective question.

255 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman will recall that I think it was in 2012, we had discussions as to the qualifications required for Captain of the Port and Marine Officer, and the hon. Gentleman is correct in saying that there is a qualification necessary to become a Captain of the Port and that would be a Harbour Master. So in that respect, any person who wishes to become the Captain of the Gibraltar Port would be required to have that qualification and... Sorry, being a Master Mariner, not a Harbour Master, that is the title of the current Captain who was the Harbour Master of the lower Thames in London before he came to Gibraltar. He would have to be a qualified Master Mariner.

260 Currently the selection process is being conducted by the Captain of the Port and as such, given that it is being conducted by him, and until as he knows, I receive a recommendation on my desk as to the recommendation of the Board, I prefer not to make any comment. Save to say that there are minimum requirements that have to be met and clearly the Captain would sift out those who do not have them.

265 Hon. D A Feetham: As far as he knows, no?

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, does he have the information available – if he does not, then that is fine but does he know – whether there is anybody locally who meets those requirements? Is he able to answer that question?

270 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, if I may say so, with respect to the hon. Gentleman, we are here to answer questions in our capacity as Ministers, of what we know as Ministers. The hon. Gentleman's question as to what in your knowledge are the qualifications that individuals in Gibraltar may have, I say, with respect to him, is not one that he can reasonably expect us to answer. There may be somebody sitting at home somewhere that has never worked in the Port in Gibraltar who may have all the qualifications requested in the advertisement and more.

275 Mr Speaker, the Hon. Minister may be able to get up and say, 'Well, I do not know of anyone', or 'I do know of some', but that is to try to corral us into an answer which is not something that we are expected to know in our capacity as Minister.

280 So I put it to him that he should simply allow the process of the recruitment of the Captain of the Port to run its course. If he finds that there is something that he wishes to criticise at the end of that process, then so be it, he can bring it to this House and ask such questions as he may wish to in order to achieve that.

285 But to ask us generally that question is almost to ask us as if to say is there somebody in Gibraltar who has the qualifications to be Lord Chancellor of the United Kingdom? You know, there might be – there may be somebody who has retired to Gibraltar sitting in a sumptuous flat at Queensway Quay who has all those qualifications, but it may not be within our knowledge. If it is within our knowledge, what relevance is it if the person may or may not apply?

290 The process which Government is responsible for is the application process and he should simply allow that to run its course.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I think a lot of what he said, with respect to him, is nonsensical. He has not been asked... He has not been asked a question with reference to the population at large. He has been asked the question in relation to whether there are applicants within the Port Department, who meet the requirements... local applicants within the Port Department that meet the requirements for this particular job. That is all he is asked.

295 Now, he has also prefixed the question by saying, 'Well, do you know? If you do not know of course, then you cannot answer the question', but surely if you... Well, it appears to me that if you have... He has mentioned 27, I think – (A Member: Thirty-six.) 36, I beg your pardon. If he has 36 applicants, at the very 300 least he should be able to say whether any of those 36 applicants are local and whether they meet the requirements within the advert.

He is shaking his head. Look, in fairness to him, I will wait for his answer. I do not want to make this controversial. It is just that the Chief Minister has made some sweeping statements which has forced me to stand up, because I just really cannot agree with the way that he has characterised the question of my hon.
305 Friend, Mr Bossino.

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman might like to learn something from the Hon. the Chief Minister, namely that the Hon. the Chief Minister has said to his colleague, with respect...
310 And he has got up trying not to make something controversial and started by saying that everything I have said is nonsense. Well, Mr Speaker, that is the sort of behaviour that brings Parliament down to the standard of Punch and Judy shows that people frankly feel alienated by and I will not pursue it further.

What we are saying Mr Speaker, is that there is an arm's length process ongoing where people are applying for jobs. The hon. Member has told Members opposite, and it appears that despite wanting to describe things as nonsense or otherwise, the hon. Gentleman does not actually listen to much, because he 315 could not even get the figure right – the hon. Gentleman told us there were 36 applicants not 27, he has not told us whether any are from within the Department or not from within the Department, and I do not know whether his practice when he was a Minister was to be receiving applications as they came in, opening them up and start making up his mind for himself as to whether people were qualified or not.

That is not the practise of this Government, Mr Speaker, and therefore if we simply allow the process to 320 run its course, we will have an objectively dealt with process that the people of this community can have faith in, and has been discharged in the appropriate way. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: I would say that it is perfectly in order for the Minister to be asked whether there are any local applicants. Whether they meet the requirements of the advertisement might be much more difficult, 325 because sometimes people apply and they have got qualifications even from different parts of the world and those qualifications have to be examined very, very carefully. With a closing date of 18th March, which was only two days ago, the Minister would not be in a position to be able to say categorically that all the applicants meet the requirements.

What is proper, however, and I think the Minister if he has the information would be expected to tell 330 Parliament, is of those, how many are locals – not just Gibraltarians, but how many have applied from Gibraltar?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, in terms of recruitment process, as I am sure that the House can imagine, is always a very sensitive issue. As a result of that, I have very robust systems in place, where the Principal 335 Secretary or the Chief Executive of the Tourist Board, or in this case the Captain of the Port, deals with the selection process at arm's length, and they tell me who they will interview and when, and then I receive a page on my desk that tells me who the recommended person to be put in post will be.

Therefore, I really do try to stay as much on the margins of that process as I possibly can, unless a query is given to me for whatever reason. But my Principal Secretary came to me yesterday with a list of people 340 that they are thinking about interviewing on the dates that I gave them in London. I cannot remember the number, I think there was a Gibraltarian living in London if I recall correctly, but as I say I will let them carry out the process and once they do make their selection, I will receive it in writing from them, from the entire Board.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, thank you very much for that helpful answer. I have to say that 345 Judy is not a name that particularly suits me very much and quite frankly, I would rather not be called Punch.

But Mr Speaker, may I ask the Hon. Minister whether he would be so kind – and I know that he is trying to keep the process at an arm's length, I am not asking him to make enquiries in relation to specific names – 350 but would he be so kind as to go back to his officials and ask his officials, out of the 36 applicants, and out of those 36 that meet the requirements – because I understand it, he said as most of them, he did not say all of them he said most of them – how many of those are local applicants?

That is the information that quite frankly he has at his disposal and as Mr Speaker has pointed out, it is information that we quite properly ask, and would he be so kind as to provide that information by 355 correspondence by to my hon. Friend Mr Bossino?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, if I understood the request correctly, the hon. Gentleman is asking me for the number of applicants who are local. Yes, I will be able to provide that information.

360 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q234/2014
Port and adjacent area –
Holistic management plan

Acting Clerk: Question 234, the Hon. J J Netto.

365

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, does the Government agree with the recent ESG – that is the Environmental Safety Group – statement that the Government needs a holistic management plan to cater for all the new industrial, leisure and housing developments in the Port and its adjacent area, and can the Government state whether they already have one or if they intend to create one?

370

Acting Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar does agree that in an ideal world not only is a holistic management plan for the Port and the surrounding area desirable, it is essential.

375

The sad fact of life, however, is that the previous Administration committed vast areas of the Port estate to non-Port related activity, making a cohesive Port-relevant strategy for the entire area difficult to fulfil. We are of course seeking to ensure a more rational use of the area.

380

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, could I ask the Hon. Minister whether that means that they intend to provide a more holistic plan in relation to either the existing or future industrial activities in the Port area?

385

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, what I mean is that given the previous Administration carved up parts of the Port estate, it is impossible to provide a holistic plan because some parts of the Port estate are not used for Port-related activities.

SPORTS, CULTURE, HERITAGE AND YOUTH

Q235/2014
New fire station –
Commencement of work and location

Acting Clerk: Question 235, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister with the responsibility for the City Fire Brigade state when the Government will be starting work on the new fire station and where it will be located?

390

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, works for the new fire station will commence as soon as a suitable location is found. We are still in the process of deciding which location best suits the needs of the City Fire Brigade.

395

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister state which are the possible locations the Government is looking at?

400

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, there are about six or seven of them in different places, but we would not like to state which ones they are at this moment in time but we are looking at about six different places and it is to do with the consultation process that we are engaging with the City Fire Brigade itself because we might have six places, but out of the six there might be five that are not suitable.

405

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, will the new fire station be a new build or a refurbishment of an existing building?

410 Hon. S E Linares: Again, Mr Speaker, I would prefer a new build, because converting a building into a fire station would be very problematic – but I would not like to be held down to that. But I can say that a new build is definitely preferable.

Q236/2014
City Fire Brigade audit –
Findings and publication

Acting Clerk: Question 236, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

415 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister with responsibility for the City Fire Brigade, inform this House on the findings of the City Fire Brigade audit and when the report will be published?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the answer to this question remains as that of October's Parliament, Question 559/2013.

425 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, yes in Question 559 the Hon. Minister said that the Government had not finished the strategy of implementation of the report's relevant recommendations. What stage is the Government at in relation to formulating this strategy in conjunction with the union? Is it nearly finished? Will we be hearing of the conclusions of the audit within a few weeks, within a few months because the audit was completed over a year ago?

430 Hon. S E Linares: Yes, Mr Speaker, and discussions are not only with the union; discussions for obvious reasons have to be with the management as well. Therefore the union and the management have got together and I am not going to be pressurising them as to the timescale in which they finish their strategy. It is up to the professionals and the union itself to decide and it is an ongoing thing. That means they sit down, there is a committee already sitting down together to discuss these issues and they are working at it and I meet them every one or two months if necessary, to see the progress. Therefore it is not 435 up to me or anyone, to ascertain a timescale as to when these are to be implemented.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, the Minister mentioned progress reports. So where is progress, are they nearly finished?
440

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the hon. Lady is pressurising me as to say if it is nearly finished or not. I have just answered her that question, which is simply, I am not going to pressurise them into how long their implementation of different recommendations are going to be. Therefore there might, when I have ... It is not a progress report, it is actually meetings, I sit down with them and I ask them 'How are you getting on? Do you need any support?' It is a supportive and facilitating role that I am putting into the committee, so that is where we are at the present.
445

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: So Mr Speaker, how are they getting on and what support are you providing them with?
450

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I not only provide them with moral and encouraging support and all the other support that needs to be given, if they come to me (Laughter) and ask me 'Minister, this is going to need certain things', I will say 'Okay, if you need those things I will see how I can obtain those things for you.' I think it is pretty logical as to how I support them and how I am a facilitator to them in order for them 455 to fulfil the recommendations.

Q237/2014

John Mackintosh Hall caretaker and night receptionist –
Advertising and filling posts

Acting Clerk: Question 237, the Hon. E J Reyes.

460 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to Question Nos. 135/2014 and 136/2014, is the Minister for Culture now able to say when the positions of caretaker and night receptionist at John Mackintosh Hall will be advertised and by when it is expected that these posts will be filled?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

465 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the answer to these questions remains as that of February's Parliament, Questions 135/2014 and 136/2014.

470 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, in a previous answer, the Minister had informed me that he hoped that this might be tabled for the Board meeting of March or April and given that we are in the second half of March, can he confirm to me that it is going to be tabled in the meeting and when it will be held? Will it be either March or April?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the date for the Board meeting has not been ascertained yet, but I am hoping that it will be before the end of April.

Q238/2014

Heritage sites –
Works and costs

475 Acting Clerk: Question 238, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Heritage provide details of all works together with respective costs undertaken at any Heritage related site since the answer to Question 138/2014, stating by whom these works were carried out?

480 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

485 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, further to the answer to Question 138/2014, I now hand over to the hon. Member opposite, the information requested.

Mr Speaker: The schedule is fairly long. Would the Hon. Mr Reyes like to ask the next question, please?

Answer to Question No 238

Further works undertaken at Heritage sites inclusive of costs and works carried out.

Q239/2014

Europa Sports Grounds –
Refurbishment for use by Gibraltar Cricket Association in 2014

490

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to the answer provided to Question 139/2014, can the Minister for Sports and Leisure provide details of what refurbishment works, inclusive of estimated cost, are planned to be carried out at Europa Sports Grounds in order for the Gibraltar Cricket Association to use this facility during their 2014 season?

495

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, none. The Gibraltar Cricket Association will be using the same facilities as has been the case for as many years as I can recollect.

500

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I pose this question because last year the Minister provided this House with information on some works that had been done to help to make better... shall we call it, the actual pitch playing area and also the transfer of some left over artificial turf that they had from the stadium and so on.

505 Given that preparation for the season... Normally associations, and cricket being no exception, would probably ask the Sports and Leisure Authority, 'Can I have this maintenance carried out?' or whatever improvement. I think that the Minister might need to confirm, to avoid any doubt, that there will be no need to carry out any work whatsoever, in fact that the pitch is ready to start to play next week if need be.

510 Hon. S E Linares: Well, Mr Speaker, as the hon. Member rightly said, we did do some works there which included doing the crease and therefore there is no need now to do anything else. Not only that, the Cricket Association has not come to the Sports Authority to ask for any repairs or anything. They were quite keen for them to be able to use the pitch which is exactly what we are now saying that they can do. So there is no need for any refurbishment because it was already done.

515 Hon. E J Reyes: So Mr Speaker, the Cricket Association has not asked for anything to be carried out and so on. Can the Minister confirm that someone from the Sports and Leisure Authority has actually gone to check that the pitch still remains in a playable condition as at the close of last season, despite the non-use for a few months during the winter season?

520 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, as part of the responsibility of the Sports and Leisure Authority, I would presume and hope that they regularly go up there and have checks like they should do. But I am not privy to whether they have, how many times they have gone or anything like that. The fact is that the Cricket Association, who are the people who have been using it, they have got their pavilion there, they go there regularly and I am very sure that, should there have been any problem, they would have informed the Sports and Leisure Authority if they had not already gone up there to see.

Heritage sites –
Works and Costs Supplementary questions

Mr Speaker: Does the hon. Member have any supplementary arising from the schedule that was circulated to him before we go on to the next question?

530 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, thank you, Mr Speaker, just a very quick one here. The Minister has provided me the list and the cost. I note that on point d), that particular amount paid is quoted in Euros as opposed to sterling. Probably there is a very logical explanation why, but can I have the reason why, Mr Speaker?

535 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, as I see the item, I know what they used the item for, it was to do with special liquid materials for conservation works which is to do with the St Jago's Arch and therefore they have put it there in Euros. Somebody could have done the conversion but I am sure we got the invoice in Euros and the person who has put it down has put it in Euros. But that is liquid material, it was special material in order to conserve better and work at what is the St Jago's Arch.

540 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, I saw from the site and so on, but my question was because in actually accounting for the estimates, it is all done in sterling and we hope that forever and ever it will always remain in sterling! Although the invoice may have come in Euros for the Treasury Department, I do not think they actually account for it in Euros. Euros must have been bought from sterling and it could make a difference if the exchange rate at the time was purchased at say 1.10 as opposed to 1.20, like we all do when we want to buy Euros for anywhere we may go on holiday in Europe. We take advantage when the rate is good. So perhaps if he does not have it now, at some stage he could sort of give us an approximate sterling conversion to help tally up all the figures.

550 Hon. S E Linares: I will do Mr Speaker.

Q240/2014
New power station –
Four reports

Acting Clerk: Question 240, the Hon. J J Netto.

555

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the oral Question 573/2013, can the Minister with responsibility for Utilities please provide Parliament with copies of the four reports stated in his answer in relation to the new power station?

560

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the four reports which I mentioned in my answer to Question 573/2013 are part and parcel of the tender process which we are still engaged in.

565

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, could the Hon. Minister perhaps remind me when the tender process will finish. I think it finishes this month, I believe it is?

570

Hon. S E Linares: Towards the end of April.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Acting Clerk: Question 241 –

575

Hon. J J Netto: May I ask another question?

Mr Speaker: A further supplementary? Yes.

580

Hon. J J Netto: Is there some particular reason in which one of the reports in relation to the Environmental Impact Assessment that needs to wait until the end of the tender process, or is it one particular report that does not have any impact shall we say, to the tender process itself and therefore the Hon. Minister could perhaps provide me with a copy?

585

Hon. S E Linares: The simple answer to that is no, Mr Speaker, because all these reports are part of the tender process and therefore we are not in a position... You are stating that it might be different. No, it is not different. They all go together.

590

Hon. J J Netto: Yes, I understand what the Hon. Minister is saying, that they are all together, but is there any particular reason why the Environmental Impact Assessment Report has to be tied in with the other reports, or is it one particular report that can be disentangled between the four and provided to Parliament?

If there is a good reason why it should not be given to Parliament, then fine, but I just do not understand the logic behind why this particular single report, among the four, cannot be provided to Parliament.

595

Hon. S E Linares: Well, Mr Speaker, an Environmental Impact Assessment is assessing what is the impact to the environment of the power station that we might be putting in place. Since we do not know which is the one that we are putting in place, pure logic says that we cannot at this stage assess what is the impact to the environment of whatever power station we are putting in place.

600

So trying to make an Environmental Impact Assessment on something that we do not really know yet what we are putting in place because it is going through the tender process, would be something that – I do not know, it is one of those things that the professionals would not advise.

605

Hon. J J Netto: So basically what the Hon. Minister is saying is that once a particular company has been successful for the tender, in accordance with the description of the works being carried out, the company will have an Environmental Impact Assessment in relation to the work that they are going to carry out.

Perhaps, Mr Speaker, I could drop it here, because the following question is a similar question but on a different tangent, and perhaps we can make progress in that particular way.

610

Q241/2014

New power station –
Commencement of works for reclaimed site

Acting Clerk: Question 241, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the oral Question 574/2013, can the Hon. Minister with responsibility for Utilities please advise if commencement of the works for the reclaimed site for the new power station has taken place, and if so, when it is envisaged that such works will be finalised?
615

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the answer to this question remains the same as that of my answer to Question 574/2013.
620

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, in the last answer that the Hon. Minister provided, basically what he said was that the work had not yet started. Is there a particular reason why the work has not started or does the Hon. Minister have a date in mind which he is aware of, when the work will commence?
625

Hon. S E Linares: No, Mr Speaker.

Hon. J J Netto: Am I right in saying that the Hon. Minister does not know, has had no discussions with his officials, as to the particular time line of this particular project in which they would have made the Minister aware of when this particular aspect is going to start?
630

Hon. S E Linares: Well, Mr Speaker, as to when it is going to start, it definitely has to start and finish before we procure the power station, or if the power station is going to be there. So I can tell him that officials have come to me giving me sort of like, not specific dates, but sort of a programme – it is not a time-line; it is ‘this has to come first, this goes second, this goes third’, in that manner.
635

But a time-line is very difficult because it is a very, very big project and if officials committed themselves to a date, then it would be not only the hon. Member who would be pressurising me, but it would be me pressurising them to get on with the work. So I think it would be prudent to say... and that is why I said no, sir, because it would be prudent not to say in this case, how we are getting on because we would also impinge on what is the tender process.
640

Companies might come and say, ‘we can deliver the power station in 18 months’, ‘we can deliver the power in 24 months’ or ‘we can deliver the power station in 36 months’, so we are not at that stage yet and therefore things are progressing, just all reliant maybe on the tender system.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member seems to be worried too much about pressure. I think pressure is a good thing. It is good that the Opposition pressures the Government, and it is good that the Minister in turn pressurises officials to get what is indeed a very important project off the ground.
645

Now the question remains... Whether you want to call it a programme or whether you want to call it a time-line, whatever route you choose to take has dates incorporated into every single milestone either in a programme or in a time-line. The question is, if at the end of the day the Government is going to continue with the reclaimed site, surely both he and the official know what the date is, even if it is an approximate date. What he cannot simply do is stand up here in Parliament and say he has no clue as to when they are going to start the reclamation. Either he does know, or he does not know. What is it?
650

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I did not say I did not have a clue – that is his words. If he looks at Hansard, I never said... I said no, sir, when he asked me whether there was a time-line. The fact is that the time-line will be once the tender has been awarded and that is the time-line. Therefore, once the tender is awarded, it will be up to the company to ascertain how long their machine, whether it is a machine or a generator or whatever it is, they will come to us and say, ‘Right, I am going to put you this type of engine and it will take so much time.’
660

Therefore what I can say to the hon. Member is that the reclamation has to be ready before that, so this is the time-line that he is asking me. So if he wants a time-line or whatever he wants to call it, like he said, fine okay. It needs to be done right, before the power station, and there is a tender which I have just said that will end at the end of April and that is the time-line. That means, at the end of April, we will get the people and we will have assessed, or at least the technicians will have assessed – not myself, the technicians will have assessed – what type of generating, power generators we are going to put.
665

At that time then, we will say ‘Okay, we need the reclamation – right, let’s get on with it.’ The reclamation, the type of reclamation is also in the pot. That means do we do so much reclamation, do we do more or less? That is where we are.

670 I am afraid the hon. Member, he can press me as much as he wants, but that is the reality of life, of the tender.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, is it not a fact that regardless who the successful contractor is, at the end of the day there will still be a need to have a reclaimed site? Yes or no?

675 Hon. S E Linares: Yes, but it depends on the type.

Hon. J J Netto: Fine, let us leave type to one side. Given that I am only asking him a start date and not when or how, does he know when as to the start date?

680 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, if I might just assist the hon. Gentleman by reminding him of that Shakespearean phrase that there are many more things thought of in philosophies than some things in people’s imaginations.

685 The type of reclamation may differ based on the choice of tender. Therefore, one cannot start on a reclamation which may not be the reclamation relevant to the final choice made by the Board that is going to award the tender. Hence why there is no start date for a particular type of reclamation, because the particular type of reclamation is linked to the choice made by the Board.

I hope that assists him in not having to go round in circles anymore.

Q242/2014
New power station –
Preliminary assessments

Acting Clerk: Question 242, the Hon. J J Netto.

690 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to Oral Question 575/2013, can the Minister with responsibility for Utilities please provide Parliament with copies of preliminary assessments made by the Town Planner prior to the commencement of the EIA, and the detailed assessment carried out by the successful tenderer as stated by the Hon. Minister in his answer?

695 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the EIA process has been initiated in respect of the proposal to carry out land reclamation to create the land mass on which it is intended to construct the power station.

700 In respect of the EIA for the land reclamation, the Town Planner has drafted a Scoping Opinion which identifies the matters that need to be assessed as part of the EIA.

705 Hon. J J Netto: Yes, Mr Speaker, obviously I agree with the terms of the answer given by the Hon. Minister in terms of what the scope of the Town Planner is. What I am asking him basically is: does Parliament get a copy of this Scoping report?

710 Hon. S E Linares: No, Minister... No, Mr Speaker, sorry! No, Mr Speaker, because this is an internal process that the Town Planner does. He is drafting all the things that need to be done within the EIA and that is his remit and we do not... It is not a copy that is a public document or anything like that. It is done within the Planning Department and therefore it is one of the things that is only appertaining to the Planning Department.

715 Hon. J J Netto: Yes, Mr Speaker, I agree. It is an internal departmental report and is part of the commencement of the process so that later on it can be developed further. Although it is not a public document per se, that does not mean necessarily that Parliament should not be aware of the report if a particular Member of Parliament, of the Opposition asks for it.

720 I just do not see why, despite the fact that it is a departmental report, despite the fact that it is an initial kind of scoping report, that does not preclude per se that Parliament should not have a copy of it if a Member of the Opposition asks for it.

Hon. S E Linares: No, that is not the case, because once it comes to Parliament, it is a public document and therefore I am not going to go and ask the Town Planner what is his draft Scoping Opinion. This is a professional thing that he does and neither I or anybody gets involved in that. This is the Town Planner's work and therefore I am not in a position to give a copy to anyone of what the Town Planner does.

725

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, this is not a draft; this is basically a Town Planner sitting in front of a particular application, a development which is a Government project – it is not a private sector project – in which he puts forward what are the parameters in which thereafter, following the scoping report, the tenderer has to provide a full EIA report.

730

In other words, so we have... not a draft, but setting out what are the parameters for the full EIA report later on. It is a Government project. Therefore, I do not just see why the Government needs to keep the Opposition un-informed of what is basically something of public interest basically.

735

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the answer to that question is similar to the one I have been telling him previously. The Town Planner does not know yet which type of power station we are going to procure. What he is doing now is scoping, scoping an opinion –

740

Mr Speaker: Will the Hon. Minister elucidate what is the meaning of the word 'scoping' in this context?

745

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, as I understand, it is that what the Town Planner does: he lists all the issues that need to be looked at once the EIA assessment has to be done. So the way I understand it is that if a successful company says, 'This is the type of power generation that I am going to put in place', the Town Planner then passes...

750

Well, you have to fulfil all these requirements which he has already listed, which I am sure he looks at the law, the environment, looks at all planning aspects, all the aspects in order to see what impact the power station that is going to be put in place will have.

755

So like I said, it goes back to, because there are many tenderers out there, we do not know and all he is doing at this stage is doing a list, he is putting down a whole lot of list, a general list, probably covering the scope of all the tenders. So that is the process.

Mr Speaker: I am grateful for that.

755

Hon. S E Linares: Okay.

760

Hon. J J Netto: But Mr Speaker, my understanding – and if I am wrong, I am wrong – is precisely in part, not in whole, what the Hon. Minister has said, which is to set out the details or the requirement, be it for an environmental point of view, from a legal point of view, setting out to all the contractors what they have to, they themselves later provide for within their own bids. So that sets the basis and the parameters in which the contractors have to then develop their own full EIA report. This is why I am asking for the scoping report because I would like to know what is that the Town Planning Department sets out in terms of the basis, the details and the legality for contractors to be able to then develop that into their own proposals.

765

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, it is a very difficult thing for the Town Planner to look forward and think which is the power station, because there are loads of different permutations as to which type of power station you are going to put the generation, there are many types. So therefore it is not a question of me giving him a little list and say look, they have to fulfil this. He will now have to look at what are we talking about, where is it going to be, what type, but then on the basis of that, you have to look specifically at which is the power station.

770

On the basis of that, so I am not in a position to say to the Town Planner, 'Can you give me a list of your Scoping Opinion?' He will say, 'Well, hold on, all I am doing is just preparing a little list so that when it comes, I have already got a little list here but then I have to see which is the type of generating station that we are going to put.' On the basis of that, then he goes on and asks more questions in order for the EIA to be written.

775

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, my understanding is that the Town Planner certainly does not get involved in telling prospective contractors what type of power stations they will subsequently put in their own proposals. That is much later on, something that the Town Planners do not get involved in. What they do get involved in, the Town Planners at the very initial commencement of the process, is to say, 'Here is a tender: whoever wants to apply for it, which is your prerogative, you have got to abide by all these, which are the requirements both from an environmental, from a legal, from a contractual.'

780

Whatever type of generator is nothing to do with the Town Planner; it is to do with the contractors. So he sets the scenes, then whoever is the successful contractor at the tender stage will then have to provide a full environmental impact assessment which is a different thing to what we are talking about now.

785 So therefore I think if I understood the Hon. Minister, he is confusing the issue about setting out, he is confusing the issue of setting out what are the legal requirements, the departmental requirements against what tenderers have to beforehand tell them what type of power generation it is going to be. A separate issue altogether, I am not even reaching that far. I am just staying right at the beginning which is the scoping report, not what he is saying; this is why I am insisting on that.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, if I may just assist the hon. Gentleman, because there is confusion creeping in and I do not think it is in the answers, I think it is in the questions.

795 The scoping assessment will be different, based on the result of the tender, because the technology that is proposed may result in different things being – let me use the word so he understands what I mean – different things being in scope.

So, the Town Planners will look at what is proposed when it is proposed, and say with this type of proposal, your EIA... and he says there has to be a full EIA whatever happens. Well, of course there has to be an EIA, but it is the scope of the EIA that the scoping assessment determines.

800 So with a particular type of technology, the scope may lead in one direction and require certain things and with another type of technology, regardless of the fuel being the same perhaps, it may go in another direction. With a type of size, it may go in one direction and with another type of size it may go in another direction.

805 So of course, if you were to say to a Town Planner, ‘I am going to have a new power station. Simpliciter. Give me the scoping assessment for this, which will lead to an EIA’, the answer is very simple: a full EIA covering every possible type of fuel, every possible type of pollution that may be produced, and every possible permutation for the size of the facility. That I put it to him, Mr Speaker, would not be of any use to the community or to the Parliament.

810 Of course therefore what is happening, and I can now take him to a different type of language so that perhaps he understands it in this way, what is happening is a distillation of the requirements of the EIA once the technology, shape and size of the facility is determined by the Board that is choosing out of all of the tenderers.

815 So therefore, Mr Speaker, he would be in a much better position to ask us about the scoping, post a decision on what type of technology there will be. Then scoping assessment and EIA will be two things that follow very quickly, the scope of the EIA having been determined by that assessment to be done by the Town Planners, after the Board has made a determination of who is the successful tenderer and therefore what technology is to be employed and what shape it is proposed that the new facility will have.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q243-258/2014
Liquid natural gas (LNG) –
Transportation and storage at Detached Mole; risks to surrounding area

Acting Clerk: Question 243, the Hon. J J Netto.

825 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Port state how will the liquid natural gas (LNG) be transported to the Detached Mole?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

830 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 244 to 258.

Acting Clerk: Question 244, the Hon. J J Netto.

835 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Port state if the LNG is going to be stored in tanks at the Detached Mole, where will the LNG power generators to convert the liquid to gas be located?

Acting Clerk: Question 245, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Can the Minister for the Port state how will the LNG be transported from the storage area at the Detached Mole to the location of the new permanent power station?

840

Acting Clerk: Question 246, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Can the Minister for the Port state how much will a pipeline across the North Entry of the Port, for the purpose of transporting the fuel from the Detached Mole to the new permanent Power station, cost?

845

Acting Clerk: Question 247, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Can the Minister for the Port state what navigational hazards to the movement of cruise liners arising from the laying of a LNG pipeline across the north entry of the Port have been identified, and by whom?

850

Acting Clerk: Question 248, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Can the Minister for the Port state what navigational hazards to the movement of vessels that are not cruise liners into and out of the Port, arising from the laying of an LNG pipeline across the north entry of the Port have been identified and by whom?

855

Acting Clerk: Question 249, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Can the Minister for the Port state what, if any, financial impact will result from the anticipated new navigational controls to be introduced on vessels entering the Port of Gibraltar due to the laying of a pipeline from the Detached Mole to the new permanent Power Station and who will absorb such financial burden?

860

Acting Clerk: Question 250, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Can the Minister for the Port state how often will the Storage Facility at the Detached Mole require replenishing of LNG due to the expected monthly consumption of the new permanent Power Station?

870

Acting Clerk: Question 251, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Can the Minister for the Port state to whom it intends to contract a LNG tanker specifically to meet the needs of replenishing the Storage tanks at the Detached Mole for the needs of the new permanent power station?

875

Acting Clerk: Question 252, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Can the Minister for the Port state what will be the 'all in rate' cost to the Government as a result of transporting the LNG to Gibraltar and its further transportation to the new power station, inclusive but not limited to, contract/s, fuel, shipping fees etc, both for the duration of the contract/s and on a monthly basis?

880

Acting Clerk: Question 253, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Can the Minister for the Port state from where is the Government of Gibraltar intending to source the LNG requirements to power the new permanent power station?

885

Acting Clerk: Question 254, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Can the Minister for the Port state how reliable is our source of LNG and is there a contingency plan if our primary source fails to deliver?

890

Acting Clerk: Question 255, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Can the Minister for the Port state whether any risk assessment has been conducted with respect to the impact of a pipeline across the north entry of the port, who conducted that risk

895

900 assessment, what mitigations are required by the risk assessment, what impact such mitigation would have on Port operations and will the Hon. Minister provide Parliament with a copy of such report?

Acting Clerk: Question 256, the Hon. J J Netto.

905 Hon. J J Netto: Can the Government state which industrial entities it envisages operating in the Detached Mole in the next two years, specifying what type of industries they are and who the owners of such entities are?

Acting Clerk: Question 257, the Hon. J J Netto.

910 Hon. J J Netto: Can the Government say if any reports have been carried out to determine the potential risks to developments, housing estates and the Airport runway, due to the proposed new permanent power station and if so, could the Government provide Parliament with all documents in relation to this matter?

Acting Clerk: Question 258, the Hon. J J Netto.

915 Hon. J J Netto: Can the Government state what Environmental, Health and Safety and Fire Prevention measures are being put in place at the Detached Mole in order to guarantee that no accidents are likely to happen by the various industrial activities that currently operate within their own zone boundaries, or from any other activity likely to start in the next two years, and provide Parliament with all relevant reports in this matter?

920

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

925 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, all the questions asked by the hon. Member are hypothetical and made as assumptions. Her Majesty's Government is at present in the process of a PIN, which is Priority Information Notice, which will determine how gas supply to the power station will be conducted.

930 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I do not understand how that could possibly be the case. May I refer the hon. Gentleman to Question 257? And the question, of course, the hon. Gentleman has bunched up about 20 questions, giving us the laconic answer that he has given. But Question 257 says 'can the Government say if any reports have been carried out to determine the potential risk to developments, housing estates and the Airport runway, due to the proposed new permanent power station?' That is not hypothetical; it is asking whether any reports have been carried out. Now, the answer must be either yes or no and then obviously, there might be an exchange as to whether it is disclosable or it is not disclosable.

Mr Speaker: Yes, I think it may have escaped the notice of the Minister that whilst the vast majority of all these questions deal with the LNG supply, Question 257 at first sight does not appear to be the case.

940 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Well, Mr Speaker, you are absolutely right, it does not, but it does deal with a power station which is at the moment not of determinable type and that is the issue. I think the hon. Gentleman is right to ask are there reports etc, but the answer is at the moment, they would be hypothetical reports based on a type of power station that is not yet determined. It is for that reason that I think the hon. Gentleman has given the answer.

945

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, just in relation to that, obviously the Government must have an idea of the type of power station that it envisages will be constructed on this particular site and in relation to those, is there a report or is there not? I mean, we are not seeking to go further at this stage. Are there reports in relation to the safety issues that my hon. Friend Mr Netto has highlighted or are there no reports?

950

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, there are of course a number of reports and the hon. Gentleman will know that there are reports even from the time that they were in office, but not in relation to – and this is the key – the proposed new permanent power station. At the moment, Mr Speaker, the type of power station is not determined and therefore it cannot be about the proposed power station. It can be about many other aspects of siting a power station there that there might be a report, but not about the proposed power station, because at present the power station that will be sited there has not yet been determined, as we have ventilated frequently this morning.

955

960 Hon. D A Feetham: But Mr Speaker, so early in the morning, I really do not want there to be controversy on something where there ought not to be controversy. But he is not answering, he is really not answering with a straight bat, with respect to the Hon. the Chief Minister, because even if you take what he says at its logical conclusion and also at face value, the Government has not yet determined what type, 100% determined what type of power station it is going to build, but it must have an idea of the types of 965 power station that it proposes to build. And in relation to the types, one would have expected a prudent Government to have conducted reports of this type and it is in relation to the types of proposed power stations, even giving him the latitude that I am prepared to give so late in the lifespan of this particular project it has to be said, are there reports dealing with these particular issues that my hon. Friend Mr Netto highlights?

970 Hon. Chief Minister: Ah Mr Speaker, so he now changes his question. He has understood my answer and of course he has understood my answer but he has to clothe everything that he says in aggressive terms and suggests that I am not answering with a straight bat. Mr Speaker, he says he does not like to be called Judy, he does not like to be called Punch, but he keeps shadow boxing. The problem is that he never hits the target. (Laughter)

975 The thing is, Mr Speaker, that the question as changed now is capable of a different answer, but we are dealing with the question as it was on the Order Paper. Of the types of power stations that there might be generally as to fuel types etc, are there reports? Well, Mr Speaker, the answer would have been different.
The answer that has been given and is correct is about the proposed power station because there is not a proposed power station yet. There will be as soon as the tender is achieved and that is why the answer that 980 the hon. Gentleman gave was correct.

Hon. D A Feetham: He has not answered the question. Are there reports – ?

985 Mr Speaker: I wonder if for the future, when Ministers are answering questions and grouping a number of them together, to exercise great care because this particular one, Question 257 could have been answered by the Minister together with the previous ones that he has dealt with this morning on the power station. It might have been more appropriate to have done that. So perhaps they would keep that point in mind and take extra care within the time limitations that they have when grouping answers together.

990 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, may I just say that he has already asked the question and it was in Question 240 where he said ‘further to oral Question 573, can the Minister with responsibility for Utilities please provide the Parliament with copies of the four reports’, so there is already indication that there are four reports. So that is why I put them altogether because the question was answered.

995 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, thank you. I think that illustrates... I think the point that the Hon. the Minister has made now actually confirms the point you have made and that this question might have been better grouped with 240.

1000 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, understanding that the hon. Members opposite have not yet decided the type of power station that they wish to commission, nevertheless in their deliberations as policy makers and people that have to make this decision in due course, can the hon. Member say whether – I direct the question at the Hon. Minister, can the Hon. Minister say whether – he or the Government or its technical advisors have expressed any concern about – and therefore whether they have or have considered but rejected – the need to have any concern about choosing a gas fired power station on the grounds that, in 1005 a small enclosed area like Gibraltar, gas may be a more potentially dangerous fuel to store than diesel?

Now the answer to that question may be that is Luddite scientifically, there is no reason to believe that gas is more dangerous than diesel or yes, it has been considered and we think it can be safely accommodated, notwithstanding those dangers. My question is: is somebody addressing the question whether gas is intrinsically unsuitable for a small enclosed locality like Gibraltar or not?

1010 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, if I may say so, that is a very sensible question and of course it is right that there has to be an analysis of those issues and there have been analyses of those issues – not just in relation to North Mole but to other areas as well, because of the volatility of any fuel, and the hon.
Gentleman uses the word ‘Luddite’. I think all of us, Luddite or not, have concerns about gas. It is the sort 1015 of product that one can imagine being explosive in certain circumstances and what are the consequences of that?

Therefore the Government, before embarking on the process of tender, analysed whether or not it was possible to have gas in Gibraltar – and the hon. Member will not recall, he is not old enough and neither am 1020 I, but gas was present in Gibraltar in the past as a fuel used in kitchens and for heating, before we were able to rely on electricity as reliably as it is now possible to rely on electricity.

1025 The Government is satisfied that it is possible to have a gas fired station in Gibraltar, but there are – and this is why type or types is an issue – there are different types of technology that burn gas. You have dual fired engines that can also burn diesel and if you ever burn diesel in those engines then you have got different types of emission concerns and you need different types of flues and chimneys of different heights, which might not be appropriate close to an airport and you have got some that just burn gas and you have got different types of gas burners. He will recall from his time as Chief Minister, that these things required something called HAZOPs – this type of issue requires something called HAZOPs – and the Government has had HAZOPs about the possibilities of using gas and it is satisfied that we can progress down this road.

1030

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, if I may come back to the answer given by the Hon. Minister, I think I understood right that they are doing some kind of a PIN report, which he actually went on to describe what the initials stand for, and he then went on to say that report will determine how the gas is transported or how the gas will be implemented or how it will be transported. Can he perhaps elaborate on the kind of report that he was talking about?

1035

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, it is not a report. What it is, is that it is called a Priority Information Notice and what it does, it puts out a notice to all out there who are in the gas business, to put in their proposals. That means that you ask all the companies who supply gas, ‘We need gas and therefore can you please tell us how, where and all these issues, can you supply gas to us?’ so that is called a PIN, which is Priority Information Notice. It is not a report.

1040

Hon. J J Netto: But am I right in saying at the end of the day, whatever method is selected as a result of this particular notice, it can only either be transported through the land frontier or through a tanker, there is no other alternative way. Is that correct?

1045

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, can I just clarify for the hon. Gentleman, the PIN does not necessarily lead to a selection, right? There may be an intervening process between the PIN and the selection which may be a tender. So he should not jump to that conclusion.

1050

Hon. J J Netto: Fine, I am grateful to the Hon. Chief Minister, but what I am trying to get at is that we are proceeding on the basis that gas, whether it is in liquid form or in gas form, natural gas will be imported into Gibraltar which can either be through a LNG tanker or through the land frontier. Is that correct?

1055 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, without getting in to what will happen, the hon. Gentleman is asking, I dare say hypothetically but for reasons which I can understand, how could it happen. I think it could happen in a number of different ways. It could come in as liquefied natural gas in a bowser by road; it could come in as liquefied natural gas in a tanker by sea; or could come in by pipeline. The pipeline could come from Spain or it could come from North Africa. That is in terms of possibility.

1060 Now in terms of economically viable mechanism, I make no comment until we have received PIN and had an opportunity to consider; but in terms of possibility, those are the possibilities.

1065 And dare I say, Mr Speaker, just for the sake of the record, if we are talking about possibilities, as I was saying earlier, I understand that there is natural gas under the dockyard and therefore it could also be sourced in Gibraltar, but obviously the Government is not looking at fracking in the area of the South District.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, could I ask either the Minister or the Chief Minister as to when is it expected that this particular notice will terminate, in order so that the Government could then assess the different bits being supplied to the Government?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the Priority Information Notice is to do with... I think it has got to be by a certain date, 30, 50 days which they give companies to apply in and then after that date they just put in an interest, so it does not need to be all specific details on how and where it is coming from or whatever.

1075 What they do is they say, ‘Hold on, I can bring you gas. I will put my name down’, and then the process from then starts. So it is not... Like the Hon. the Chief Minister has just said, this is like an information notice, let us see out there who can bring gas. Then on the basis of who and how we are going to bring it, there could well be a tender process after that. There could well be.

1080 Hon. J J Netto: It does not follow then that there will be a tender process. In other words, if the bids by a number of suppliers provide something which is attractive to the Government in terms of the service, in terms of the cost, etc, does it mean that the Government can then award a particular contractor on the basis of that information?

1085 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, to a great extent, the PINs are in the air now because the power station is not yet selected. So many will be saying, 'Well, we could offer this type, or this type of contract', but of course until we know what you are going to select, we are not able to firm up what we are going to offer you. Electricity is an area where European rules give an element of leeway to Governments, not to go to tenders, even if the usual EU thresholds are met. But a competitor process is one that usually produces a better result in terms of pricing. So if you go to competition, even if you do not have to go to competition, you may get a better price, unless what you are offered directly is so attractive that you wish to take it, and you are within the leeways that are allowed by EU rules, given that this is for the purposes of generating electricity.

1090 And there are a lot of permutations here, so it is not impossible to see that somebody could put a hugely attractive offer but there are many considerations when making a choice in relation to gas, not just price and there is also the possibility if not necessarily the requirement, subject to advice on EU law, of wanting to or having to go to tender. So it is not an area which is as straightforward as others, where you simply say, 'Well, the contract is going to award us so much.' You have got to go to tender.

HEALTH AND THE ENVIRONMENT

Q259-261/2014

Conservation areas – Clearance of vegetation; importation of Partridges

Acting Clerk: Question 259, the Hon. J J Netto.

1100 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment please provide a statement to Parliament stating all the areas both in the Upper Rock Nature Reserve, and in all designated European Special Areas of conservations in Gibraltar which, since December 2011, have been subjected to clearance of vegetation, shrubs and bushes which are endemic in this region, providing the dates and places throughout?

1105 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 260 and 261.

1110 Acting Clerk: Question 260, the Hon. J J Netto.

1115 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment please state whether all areas subjected to clearance of vegetation, shrubs and bushes, since December 2011 were, prior to such clearance, the object of an assessment as to the environmental impact such exercise would cause and if so, will the Hon. Minister provide Parliament with all relevant reports?

Acting Clerk: Question 261, the Hon. J J Netto.

1120 Hon. J J Netto: Can the Minister for the Environment please provide Parliament with all relevant environmental reports in relation to the designated area for the incoming importation of Partridges from Morocco?

1125 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, no areas containing endemic species have been cleared.

The 2005 Upper Rock Nature Reserve Management and Action Plan, together with the 2006 Biodiversity Action Plan, accurately mapped and assessed the vegetation of the Upper Rock and other sites of European importance in Gibraltar.

1130 These reports, which were not heeded by the former Administration, made recommendations for the management of different habitats which included among other measures that are currently being implemented, some clearing and thinning of habitats dominated by maquis. The objectives of clearing areas of maquis are to improve floral diversity and also to provide more open spaces for species such as the Barbary Macaque, the Barbary Partridge and the European Rabbit. The clearance of maquis has been a gradual exercise. It should be noted that maquis habitat is not endemic to the region and therefore there has 1135 been no removal of endemic habitats in Gibraltar.

To date, clearances carried out after December 2011 have been done so in close consultation with local botanical experts who have carefully assessed the ecological condition of each site prior to any clearance works. All of the cleared areas are potential sites for the release of imported Barbary Partridge, although no 1140 specific sites have been designated for this purpose to date.

Sites where habitat clearance activities have taken place include Lower and Upper Queen's Road, Governor's Lookout, Bruce's Farm, including the fire break, Jacob's Ladder, the City under Siege area, Hayes Level and Windmill Hill.

1145 Hon. J J Netto: I am grateful, Mr Speaker, to the Hon. Minister. I think he said that he had consulted, or at least the Department had consulted with experts in the Botanical Gardens, but can I ask him whether this discussion has also taken place in the Nature Conservancy Council as well?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I said botanical experts; I did not say the Botanical Gardens. All matters in relation to vegetation and the management of natural areas are discussed with the Nature 1150 Conservancy Council, either at formal meetings in formal discussions, or in exchange of correspondence, and that includes this, yes.

Q262/2014
Commonwealth Park –
Costs of creation

Acting Clerk: Question 262, the Hon. J J Netto.

1155 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Environment state what is the current cost of expenditure for the creation of the Commonwealth Park and what will be the expected cost once the park is finished?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

1160 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the expenditure at Commonwealth Park will, as we have heard before, be made public on completion of the project.

Hon. J J Netto: Is there any particular reason why the Government cannot give what is the actual cost now. Is it a particular administrative problem in being able to ask the officials say, 'Well, so far, on the date 1165 of today, we have spent so much money'? Is that a problem?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the issue has been discussed ad nauseam in previous meetings of Parliament. I have nothing further to add to the various explanations that were given by the Chief Minister 1170 at the time.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, what has been discussed ad nauseam in this House was the hon. Member's refusal to provide us with estimates and not ongoing cost. You see, a few months ago, I asked a question in this House in relation to ongoing costs as at the date of that particular question and I had the 1175 answer given to me.

A couple of months ago I asked a written question because I was not going to be present in the House and the question was further to the original one, what the ongoing costs were as at that date. It was a written question and I had no opportunity to pose a supplementary, but the hon. Member's reply was, 'We will give you all the figures at the end of the process.'

1180 So that is what has been discussed ad nauseam – the estimates, not the ongoing costs. There is not, to our minds certainly, any valid reason why the Government cannot provide us with an ongoing tally of the costs being incurred. The only reason we suspect is because they are quite embarrassed how expensive it is going to turn out.

1185 However, that being the case, could the hon. Member please tell this House, why it is, because we have not visited this point yet, why it is that he is not giving us a current tally of the costs of Commonwealth Park?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I think the two different aspects are actually quite closely related and I think they were discussed at the time.

1190 The information that was given was that in fact, the question related to estimates – I am using my memory now, but the information given was that the costs would be given at the time of completion of the project. At the time of completion of the project they could no longer be estimates. So I think that the two subjects are related.

1195 There is no embarrassment, Mr Speaker, as to the costs of this marvellous project and there will be no embarrassment once the costs are revealed. There are aspects which include the amount of funds that would be provided by a number of bodies which are not Government bodies, which will have a bearing on the final costs and that has not as yet been determined.

1200 Hon. S M Figueras: With respect to the Hon. Minister, my recollection tells me that we had the debate in relation to... the discussion rather, in Question Time, in relation to the estimates and the hon. Member's position was that they would not provide us with any estimates.

The month following that, I asked about the ongoing costs and received an answer, Mr Speaker. It was only in a subsequent written question, in a subsequent session, that I was then told that I would be given all the costs at the end of the process. They are two distinct issues.

1205 In relation to the ongoing costs, I acknowledge and recognise that there will be contributions from third parties to the cost of the park, but with respect I suspect my hon. Friend, Mr Netto has asked in the original question is for the ongoing cost of producing the park, not the ongoing cost to the taxpayer once we deduct whatever contributions these third parties may make. Now on that basis, can the Hon. Minister for the Environment tell us what the current cost so far of this project is?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the expenditure of Commonwealth Park will be made public on completion of the project.

1215 Hon. J J Netto: Can I just ask one more question? Does the Hon. Minister not recognise that what the Opposition is asking is something which can very reasonably be provided by the administration of his Department, if he were to allow them to answer the question?

1220 In other words, you are only not providing us because it is a political decision that you do not want Parliament or the Opposition to know what the current cost is. But it is not on the basis that the administration department cannot produce the figure, because they can. It is just that the Minister has politically told them 'We will not inform the Opposition of what the current cost is.' Is that not true?

1225 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, clearly if a project is ongoing, the civil servants have figures available. I am not denying that, Mr Speaker, what I am saying is that I am not... What I said in my original answer, the costs will be made public on completion of the project and perhaps at that time, the people who will be embarrassed for having asked so repeatedly will in fact be the Opposition and not the Government.

A Member: Hear, hear.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q263-264/2014
New Harbour Views Bathing Pavilion –
Water quality

1230 Acting Clerk: Question 263, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if the quality of the water around the new Harbour Views Bathing Pavilion to be constructed is adequate for bathing and if not, why not?

1235

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I would have said in jest, not right now because it is probably too cold, but I will refrain from that.

1240 I will answer this question together with Question 264.

Acting Clerk: Question 264, the Hon. J J Netto.

1245 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if the water around the new Harbour Views Bathing Pavilion to be constructed meets the quality Mandatory Values as set out by the Environment (Quality of Bathing Water) Regulations 2009?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

1250 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the Environmental Agency has been monitoring the bathing water quality around the proposed Harbour Views Bathing Pavilion since January 2012. The water has been found adequate for bathing under the Public Health (Quality of Bathing Water) Rules 1992 and the Environment (Quality of Bathing Water) Regulations.

1255 The bathing water quality meets both the mandatory and the stricter guide values cited under the Public Health (Quality of Bathing Water) Rules 1992 and the Annexe of Directive 76/160 concerning the quality of bathing water.

1260 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister confirm whether it is right for us to assume that the waters have complied with all that list of requirements consistently and without fail, for the whole period during which they have been under survey?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have no information to the contrary. The information that has been provided to me is that they meet the conditions of the Directive and of local legislation, so I have no reason to doubt that at all.

1265 And we have been monitoring since January 2012 predicting the Government's intention of making it a bathing area, so that we had the information before we committed to so doing. We have been monitoring for two years and we would not have gone down that avenue – it would have been irresponsible for us to go down that avenue – if the water had not been of the correct quality, and therefore we have been monitoring for two years before we opened the bathing pavilion.

1270

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, could I ask the Hon. Minister a question, because what I understood from him was that the mandatory values have been met under the conditions of the European Directive. Now, my understanding is that the mandatory values as set out by the Directive have changed very recently, probably in the last couple of months, and could I therefore ask the Minister whether, when he said that we have met the mandatory values, he is speaking in relation to the existing one as seen in our legislation here in Gibraltar, or is he saying the new European mandatory values which perhaps may not have been incorporated within our own local legislation?

1275

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker.

1280 The present waters meet the current regulations which are based on the European Directive and meet both the mandatory and the guide, so they meet both, they tick both boxes. But we have analysed that in relation to how the regulations are going to change for next year, for 2015 and using the figures that we have, they would qualify as 'good', and therefore they do meet the future requirements of the European legislation.

Q265/2014
Trees in Gibraltar –
Number cut or uprooted since December 2011

1285 Acting Clerk: Question 265, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state the number of trees cut or uprooted throughout Gibraltar since December 2011 on a monthly basis, stating both the place and the type of trees?

1290

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, other than dead trees, mainly palms affected by the red palm weevil and trees replaced due, for example, to danger caused, a total of 16 trees have been removed. All were properly assessed by experts prior to removal.

1295 During the same period, a total of 303 trees have been planted, not including approximately 140 at Commonwealth Park, making a total of approximately 443 trees planted since December 2011. This represents a net gain, excluding palm trees, of 427 more trees in Gibraltar since December 2011.

Details are provided in the schedule which I now hand over. (Applause and banging on desks)

1300 Mr Speaker, the schedule provides I think quite a lot of information which I am sure the Members opposite will find of interest. It lists those trees and it gives a reason for which they have been removed, be they dead or be they had been vandalised, another one was dangerous and so on. So I think it gives quite a lot of information which I am sure the Members opposite will find interesting.

Answer to Question 265

This list of cut and uprooted trees has been compiled from work carried out on behalf of the Department of the Environment from December 2011 onwards.

DATE	LOCATION AND TYPE OF TREE(S)	Column1	Column2	Column3
Jan-12	Removal of Eucalyptus Tree at Governors Parade
Jan-12	Removal of dead Palm Tree adjacent to Admiral's Place entrance gate
Feb-12	Removal of dead Palm Tree at 12 Scud Hill
Mar-12	Removal of dead Palm Tree at Bruces Farm
Apr-12	Removal of dead Palm Tree at Youth Club (What Club?)
Feb-13	Palm Tree in planter next to No6 Guard House felled by MOD due to infestation of the Red Palm Weevil
Mar-13	Schinus molle damaged by Vehicle was uprooted and replaced by tree of same species
Mar-13	Citrus aurantiacum which was vandalized at Main Street was uprooted and replaced by a tree of the same species
Mar-13	2 Platanus orientalis lost through fungus at Main Street were removed and replaced by trees of the same species
Mar-13	9 dead Cupressocyparis leylandi at Glacis Estate removed and replaced by trees of the same species
Mar-13	3 Metrosideros broken by a storm at Eastern Beach were replaced by trees of the same species
Apr-13	8 dead Canary Palms felled within The Mount gardens
Apr-13	Dead Canary Palm felled at Paradise Ramp
Apr-13	Dead Canary Palm felled at Transport Lane
May-13	Dead Canary Palm felled at Mother Goose Nursery, Queensway Rd
May-13	Lagunaria in St Paul's School internal patio felled
Jun-13	Eucalyptus Tree at Landport Ditch felled due to danger of collapsing
Jul-13	Felling of 2 dead Canary Palms at The Mount
Sep-13	Removal of 10 small infected Canary Palms at Waterport Terraces promenade which were replaced by shrubs
Sep-13	Olive tree at The Mount felled as found hazardous. Semi mature Quercus planted
Oct-13	4 dead Robinia Trees in green area adjacent to Harrington Building removed. 4 Quercus planted
Nov-13	damaged citrus aurantium at Main Street removed and replaced with same species
Dec-13	Dead Canary Palm at Central Hall parking area removed
Feb-14	2 Ceiba speciosa and 1 Arecastrum Palm removed from GASA planter and replanted at Mid Harbours Estate due to works
Feb-14	2 dead Canary Palms at Sacred Heart School removed
Feb-14	4 Yuccas, 4 Pepper trees, 1 Ficus Elastica removed at the Coach Park
Jan/Feb-14	4 pepper trees at No 6 Convent Place felled 1305 Mr Speaker: I suggest we go on with the next question and we will come back to the schedule if the hon. Member feels it necessary?

Hon. J J Netto: May I ask a question?

1310 Mr Speaker: Yes, by all means.

1315 Hon. J J Netto: Notwithstanding obviously that I look forward to look at the schedule which will certainly be of interest to me, can I ask in relation to the 16 trees removed, without necessarily looking at the schedule, do those include the ones cut in Jacob's Ladder?

1320 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker, we cannot confuse the removal of trees in urban areas for which there is a process which is now enshrined in the Environmental Protection (Trees) Act, which we passed at the last sitting of Parliament, (A Member: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks) and the clearing of vegetation as legitimate management, in order to improve biodiversity.

The fact is that there was no clear distinction between the two formerly, but not being happy with that, this is why the Environmental Protection (Trees) Act now provides for removal of trees within the Nature Reserve and within the Botanic Gardens, provided it is done with the authority of the Government which is an authority that has been vested with the managers of those areas.

1325 Therefore, it is a completely different principle: one thing is specific trees in a largely urban setting and the other one is the management of vegetation which, sadly, because of the lack of management in years gone by, the vegetation of Gibraltar has developed into very thick matorral or maquis which has led to the drop in population which so concerns the Members opposite of the Barbary Partridge – so concerns them now, so I am sure that they are very pleased that we have been able to separate the two so that the 1330 management of urban trees in one setting is determined by one set of rules and the management of habitat, so we can improve it for nature, as I know they will welcome, is in another set of rules.

So it does not include those because it is not relevant, Mr Speaker.

1335 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, going back to my question, my question does not separate urban or rural. My question says 'in Gibraltar'. In other words, can I therefore ask whether the actual information answers the question or is he drawing an inference which is not drawn from by the original question?

1340 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker, I am sorry, the Member opposite does not seem to understand the basic principles that I am referring to. If you are managing a wild site in a nature reserve anywhere in the world and you have an onset of scrub vegetation which are not generally trees of a large size, they could be but we are talking about shrubs, and you remove them as part of management, you do not go round counting how many shrubs or small trees you have removed, because you have (a) the scientific basis to do it; (b) the permission to do it and therefore you are actually treating it as one whole area of habitat.

1345 The implication in what the Member opposite is saying is that somehow the Department of the Environment has done wrong in clearing vegetation in order to improve the habitat for the Barbary Partridge. That is the implication in what he is saying.

1350 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I read the question to the hon. Gentleman because it is not the question. He said, the question is: 'Can the Minister state the number of trees cut or uprooted throughout Gibraltar since December 2011?' That is the question. You have gone off at a tangent in relation to the Upper Rock and shrubs and shrubbery and what not, but that is not the question. Now, does he have the information to answer that question?

1355 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I am sorry, the Opposition is showing – and if this word is one I cannot use in Parliament, put it down to my relative inexperience, although I have already sat in Parliament many more times than if I had been in four terms in another Administration – (Several Members: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks)

1360 What the Opposition is demonstrating is an absolute ignorance, I do not know whether I can use that term, of the principles of managing natural habitat. If you clear an area of maquis, you do not go round counting how many constituent trees or shrubs and decide whether if it is this high, (Interjection) whether it is a shrub and that high, whether it is a tree. You do not do that. Mr Speaker, you cannot tell! You cannot tell! You cannot tell (Interjection) how many shrubs there are in an area of matorral – Mr Speaker – (Interjection) No, sorry, Mr Speaker, the natural progression, the logical progression (Interjection) – of the Members opposite – I am not giving way, Mr Speaker –

Mr Speaker: Yes, will the Hon. Minister –

Hon. D A Feetham: A point or order.

1370 Mr Speaker: Now, what is the Standing Order that you are referring to?

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am referring to the Standing Order that says that Government Ministers ought to answer the question that is asked, not a different question. Now that must be within the rules of Parliament – otherwise, Mr Speaker, there would not be any point in questions and answers.

1375 The question relates to – and there may be a confusion here, it does not relate to shrubbery, it does not relate to management of the Upper Rock, or anything of the sort. Look, the question is very clear, 'Can the Minister state the number of trees cut or uprooted throughout Gibraltar, since December 2011, on a monthly basis, stating the place and type of trees?'

1380 Mr Speaker: You have got the schedule: the information is contained in the schedule. (Hon. J J Netto: No –) It is not in the schedule?

Hon. J J Netto: No, Mr Speaker, I have asked. (Interjections) I asked the Hon. Minister in a supplementary question –

1385

Mr Speaker: One at a time –

Hon. J J Netto: Sorry?

1390 Mr Speaker: The Minister had the floor when – 1395 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, on the Point of Order, the question has been answered. The Opposition has not understood the answer or my explanation given in regard to the supplementary (Interjection) and by pressing that point, all they are showing is their absolute lack of knowledge on the management of natural habitats and I am absolutely, absolutely scared, just to realise that there are people who were Ministers of the Environment, who do not understand the basic difference between urban trees and the criteria one uses to manage urban trees, which is the answer I have given and the management of habitat, an area of vegetation where you do not go round counting the number of trees deciding whether one is a tree or a shrub because it is a bit bigger or a bit wider.

1400 Mr Speaker, if you were to take what they are saying to the logical extent, you would require, before you cleared any area for their now beloved Barbary Partridge, to go round counting every single shrub or tree, determining whether it was this high, this high or that high, is this a tree or not a tree, well, by the time you get that done, those alleged seven Barbary Partridges, which clearly there are more, would be gone, done and dusted.

1405 Mr Speaker, it is a ridiculous line of argument, absolutely ridiculous with no scientific basis and it is terrifying to see the calibre of environmental knowledge the Opposition has. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Mr Netto. (Interjections) The Hon. Mr Netto had the floor and he wanted to ask a supplementary – may I?

1410 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I will allow the hon. –

Mr Speaker: Very well.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, I wonder if the Hon. Minister will just humour me for a while.

1415 I have no difficulty, there is no need for him to accuse me of being ignorant about the management of urban and that, because I plead, I admit it openly it is not something that I have ever dedicated myself to.

1420 But does the hon. Member not accept from me that – the question was ‘the number of trees that have been cut down in Gibraltar’ – somebody might be interested in knowing that, regardless of the fact that he was completely ignorant about the difference between the criteria that should properly be applied in chopping down trees in an urban environment and the quite different criteria which he is now alluding to, that would inform exactly the same practice in the management of the environmental vegetation, the flora in the upper town ridge? I have no difficulty accepting that.

1425 All of this, it seems to me, if the hon. Member does not mind me asking him, derives from the fact that the supplementary that my learned friend Mr Netto asked him was, given that the distinction that he was pointing out to the House about the difference in criteria – which I have no doubt is very sensible – between the criteria to be applied in chopping down a tree in Main Street or even in the back yard of No. 6 Convent Place, and the criteria to be applied in chopping down a tree in the Upper Rock, whether in giving a list of the trees that had been cut down in Gibraltar, which is set out in the schedule, that includes trees both in the Upper Town in the urban environment and in the non-urban environment, regardless of the fact that both those things may well be driven by different criteria.

1430 The answer is no, the trees in the Upper Rock are not included there because they are driven by another criteria, or yes despite the fact that they are driven by another criteria, the list does contain the Upper Rock. I mean, it is evident from the list that there are no trees in the Upper Rock, they are all in the urban environment, but of course that still leaves open the possibility that no trees may have been cut in the Upper Rock.

1440 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: I am grateful to the hon. Member for those comments and in fact for referring to those rotten trees in No. 6 which he will recall he had made several requests during his time as Chief Minister to have them removed and they were only removed very recently. So thank you for giving me that opportunity to point that out.

The trees within the nature reserve are not specifically counted because it is very hard to determine whether we are talking about trees or shrubs and it is not relevant whether they are or not.

1445 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: So, that is clear now then. There may be trees that have been cut down, there may or may not be trees that have been cut down in the Upper Rock, but they are not counted in this list, or anywhere else, because they are difficult to distinguish from shrubs.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: And Mr Speaker, the argument is not relevant in the context that a tree in an urban area is.

1450 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q266-269/2014

Barbary Macaques –

Number confined prior to export; number of packs; noise makers

Acting Clerk: Question 266, the Hon. J J Netto.

1455 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state how many Barbary Macaques have now been held in confinement prior to being exported to another country?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

1460 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 267, 268 and 269.

Acting Clerk: Question 267, the Hon. J J Netto.

1465 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state which country will receive the Barbary Macaques which are being held in confinement and when this is scheduled to happen?

Acting Clerk: Question 268, the Hon. J J Netto.

1470 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state how many packs of Barbary Macaque exist at the moment, stating the numbers per pack and location of their habitats?

Acting Clerk: Question 269, the Hon. J J Netto.

1475 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. the Minister for the Environment provide a definitive answer in relation to the noise makers bought in Spain, for the purpose of frightening the Barbary Macaques up to the Nature Reserve, as to whether they abide by European Legislation?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

1480 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, no Barbary Macaques are being held in confinement for purposes of exportation. There is an agreement with the receiving organisation that their identity will not be revealed until the receiving facilities are completed. A date has not yet been set.

Details with reference to Question 268 are provided in the schedule that I now hand over.

1485 Approximate numbers are given in the schedule provided. These are now being reviewed on a continuous basis, in order to obtain more accurate figures. It is always difficult to estimate the population of wild animals, especially when they frequent inaccessible areas, so that there is a margin of error which may be – and I am not committing to this number exactly – 25.

1490 Additional human resources now mean that more accurate figures will be collected in the future. It is planned to have the first full census in many years, this summer with the support of researchers from Notre Dame University.

1495 Regarding the fire crackers, I wrote to the hon. Member opposite on 18th February 2014 on this matter. The suppliers have informed the Department of the Environment that the noise makers which were bought from an authorised pyrotechnic vendor conform to EU standards and, as I explained in the letter, we are seeking independent verification.

ANSWER TO QUESTION 269

Answer to Question 268

There are five source groups of Barbary Macaques some of which are subdivided with more or less contact with the original site.

Approx Number of Barbary Macaques in each pack	Locations
1. 35	1 Royal Anglian Way – St Michaels, Jew's Gate, Mount Area, Loreto School, Short Horn, Europa Advance.
2. 67	2 Prince Philip's Arch, Cable Car.
3. 54	3 Middle Hill, MOD Rock Gun area, Galleries, Caleta village, Devils Tower Road, Laguna Estate, the jungle, Casemates, Emil's Hostel, Line Wall Road, Regal House, Turnbull's Lane & Moorish Castle Estate.
4. 35	4 Apes' Den, Devil's Gap, Trafalgar & Southern Main Street.
5. 12	5 Farringdon's, Tower of Homage & Moorish Castle.

1500 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, in relation to the first answer provided by the Hon. Minister, Question 265... No, sorry, I beg your pardon Question 266, perhaps the word 'confinement' may have led the Minister to respond in his answer to say there is no confinement. Now I understood from this particular issue, from a statement made by the Hon. Minister in the past in Parliament, that a group of Macaques were going to be sort of placed in some kind of... I do not know, caged or words to that effect, so perhaps the word 'confined' may have... the use of that word may have drafted an answer. So perhaps if he could explain to the House whether there is in fact some particular Macaques who are already in cages or whatever.

1510 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No Mr Speaker, I took it in the spirit that it was meant and I have answered without hiding anything. There are no Macaques that are currently being held in any way in captivity which are due to go to an external location. We have to start doing it with enough time before the exportation, but not with too much time, so we are still playing with exact dates. But at the moment, there are none in captivity for that purpose.

1515 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, in terms of exportation, I know the Minister does not want to get into the details of the particular country, that is fine we can leave it to one side, but can I ask the Hon. Minister whether the agreement that surely the Department will be signing on with the relevant authorities in that particular country, does it take it so far as to having a settlement programme for the Macaques in that particular country long after the leaving of the Macaques in that particular region?

1520 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: The Macaques will pass into the responsibility of the receiving organisation once they are handed over on their home ground, but members of the Department of the Environment will be travelling to the site both before and after, in order to ensure that all is well.

1525 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, moving on to the last answer provided by the Hon. Minister, which is Question 269, it is correct that he did write to me to state that the supplier of the fire crackers have stated that they do conform to the EU legislation. However, as he rightly pointed out now, the Department is seeking independent verification. Is that independent verification based on advice from the AG's Chamber?

1530 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, we are seeking legal advice to ensure that the noise makers, as specified by the supplier, do in fact conform with our initial information which I gave when I was asked previously was that it did but the question was raised and we sought more details from the supplier, and we are now seeking independent legal verification that it is correct.

In the meantime Mr Speaker, we are not currently using those noise makers.

1535 Hon. J J Netto: Would it be possible... Can I ask the Minister, will it be possible to share that information with the Opposition?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have no problem whatsoever with that.

1540 Hon. E J Reyes: May I, Mr Speaker, ask the Minister – he might be able to enlighten me – in the schedule he has given in respect of the answer to Question 268, I have been trying to see... I declare a vested interest, Mr Speaker, I have had very close family members being personally attacked by the Macaques along Gardener's Road, especially when it comes to my granddaughters who have had the shock of their lives, having had simple items they were carrying in their hands and so on, snatched out of them. I
1545 am trying to find out from this schedule where those apes, or those Macaques probably come from and I am divided whether they pertain to those under number 1, because it seems they could either come down from the Shorthorn area or are they those from number 4, the Trafalgar and Southern End, because the Rock Hotel and Gardiner's Road is a well-known area for these Macaques, especially, they have got some young ones now and at times it is quite scary. I have personally been sat in that car for over half an hour, trying to 1550 see if they will go away and without much assistance from the authorities when I have tried to contact someone to help me get home with my granddaughters.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the opportunity once again being given to me by the Opposition and I know that the hon. Member opposite has a long history of being accosted by Macaques, because I remember he used to call me years ago when he was accessing his office in the Ministry for 1555 Culture, telling me that there were monkeys there and this was well before I ever even dreamt of becoming a Minister, so clearly it is a long-standing problem. I remember clearly.

I am glad to say that we have now put more resources and that we now have more people on the ground to be able to respond to calls. We have an extra five people dedicated full-time to tracking the Macaques 1560 and to keeping them away from urban areas. We are trying hard.

But to answer the actual supplementary, the group that he is referring to, obviously we have not put in every single sheet but they are number four. They are the ones from Apes' Den who, on their way to Trafalgar and Southern Main Street, would chance by Gardiner's Road.

1565 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, if I may ask one final supplementary question in relation to the schedule, to the answer to Question 268. According to the information here, we have five packs and then we have the approximate numbers within each particular pack. Are we saying that those are the only existing packs?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, as I explained in the two lines above the schedule, there are five source groups, some of which are sub-divided with more or less contact with the original site. When you have a group of Macaques and they are starting to fission you get certain smaller sub-groups normally led by an adult female, who starts to move away and will come back to the source group with more or less 1570 frequency.

Therefore for example, if I can use the example of the number four, the Apes' Den group, where you can have numbers, the source group is still the Apes' Den, but if you get a group that is frequenting the Trafalgar Cemetery and there is plenty of food in that area, then they might not go back every day and eventually, they will lose a link and then they will become a different group, for want of a better word.
1575

So there are five source groups which feed these different areas. This is different from what happens for example in the Laguna and Caleta area, in that it is one group that is moving around and we know that from GPS tracking. So there are five source groups, from them there will be sub-groups that will use different areas with more or less frequency.
1580

But the thing is, that this is a dynamic thing and it keeps on changing all the time, so if I say, five plus three is eight, then tomorrow or the day after, there might be seven or there might be nine and it really depends. In nature it is always in a state of flux.

1585 So it is more accurate to refer to the source groups which they all originated from. Many years ago there were two, but if I go into the history, I would keep you here forever.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment confirm or deny the story which seems to have gone on in Facebook in the last couple of days, where Macaques have been culled by the usage of a BB gun?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, clearly not a legitimate supplementary. We can talk about monkeys, we can then talk about biodiversity and next time I tell you I will bring a power point presentation because I am sure we would all enjoy, but I can deny, there are no Macaques that have been shot by BB guns.

1595 Absolutely not. Well, Mr Speaker, certainly not legally by the Government – (Laughter) Other people, you know, I cannot respond. (Laughter)

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q270/2014

Gibraltar Nature Conservancy Council – Legal advice re request for minutes

Acting Clerk: Question 270, the Hon. J J Netto.

1600

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the answer to Written Question 91/2013, can the Government provide an answer in the terms set out by the Hon. Speaker in line 980 of the Question 460/2013 which states:

‘They will provide the basis of what the legal advice is, but the actual legal advice cannot be made available, it is a confidential document.’, as this is not provided in answer to Written Question 91/2013?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the basis of the legal advice is that the request involved the disclosure of internal communications, which is one of the conditions by which such information may be withheld.

1610

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I was not asking for the actual report itself. Could I ask who provided such a report to the Minister?

1615

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the Government’s legal advisers.

Hon. J J Netto: The AG’s Chamber, no?

1620

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: I am not going to name the individual concerned, but it was within the Government’s legal advisers.

Q271/2014

Cancer nurses – Administrative support

Acting Clerk: Question 271, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health advise if the Cancer Nurse specialists are receiving their own administrative support and if not, when will this happen?

1625

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, when this service was introduced, no provision was made for administrative support. However, administrative support is now provided from nurse management’s administrative pool.

1630

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, is this the same administrative support that was in place a year and a half ago?

1635

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I cannot answer that question. I know that there is... The information provided to me by the relevant members of staff is that there is administrative support provided from the nursing pool. Whether it has been in place for a year and a half more or less, I would need to go back and 1640 find out. What I do know is that if there are any particular pressures, then as it is a pooled resource, then the support can be increased in number of hours and so on, but I do not really have the information tuned so finely.

1645 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, the reason I ask is because last year, about a year and a half ago I asked this same question because a concern was raised by the Director of Nursing at a GHA Board meeting and the answer the Hon. Minister gave at the time was that administrative support for the Cancer Nurse specialist is being considered in the context of the overall need to boost specialist services.

So I am just asking if that exercise has been completed and what has been the outcome and if, as a result, the need for more administrative support has been identified, as was raised by the Director for Nursing at the time.

1650 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I thank the Member opposite for reminding me of that question. I did not recall now when she asked the supplementary. I can only assume and for me it is very gratifying to know that I say things in Parliament and then the staff take it on board and provide the things that I have done. So I can only assume then that it is as a result of that process but in any case, I will certainly find out, out of my own personal interest if nothing else.

1655 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: And just, finally Mr Speaker, would the Hon. Minister inform me if that is the case by e-mail?

1660 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No problem, Mr Speaker. Perhaps the hon. Member may wish to remind me if she has not received it within a reasonable period of time.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

1665

Q272/2014
Diabetes Strategy – Implementation

Acting Clerk: Question 272, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1670 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say what the new Diabetes Strategy is and when it will be fully implemented as laid out in the Government's manifesto?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

1675 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the Government has a GHA Team with key professionals developing the strategy. The work is currently ongoing.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister say when a full-time diabetes consultant will be employed and whether he is considering free prescriptions for insulin and other diabetic equipment?

1680 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, all these will be considerations that will be included in the strategy that is being developed.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, so the Hon. Minister does not have a road map for this yet?

1685 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker.

Q273/2014
A&E Department –
New doctor

Acting Clerk: Question 273, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say when the new doctor for the A&E Department will be employed and whether it will be a consultant or an NCHD?

1690

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the recruitment process is about to commence and that is imminent – it may even have commenced since this was drafted – for an Associate Specialist in A&E.

1695

Q274/2014

St Bernard's Hospital –
Creating single-sex wards

Acting Clerk: Question 274, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say when will the wards at St Bernard's Hospital become male or female only, as per the Government's manifesto?

1700

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, this is planned but there is no date set yet.

1705

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister say if this will happen after the new Elderly Care and Alzheimer/Dementia facilities are opened?

1710

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes Mr Speaker, the joint use of wards by different sexes, although we try to manage it with cubicles and so on, is difficult with the kind of pressure that St Bernard's Hospital has been under for quite a number of years now.

As we roll out the facilities for the elderly elsewhere, this we are very hopeful will provide us with the ability to be able to divide the wards up as we propose to do. So I am looking forward to that happening so that we can actually take this additional step.

Q275/2014

St Bernard's Hospital – New Stroke Unit

1715

Acting Clerk: Question 275 the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say when the Stroke Unit will be set up at St Bernard's Hospital, as per the Government's manifesto?

1720

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, once again a working group of key professionals has been set up and is looking at the commissioning of the Stroke Unit at St Bernard's Hospital.

1725

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, in October of last year, the Minister said in Parliament that an expert in stroke management was visiting the GHA, in fact that very same month. Can the Minister say whether the timetable for the implementation of the Stroke Unit has been prepared as per the recommendations of this expert?

1730

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the expert came and we are still in communication with him on a regular basis. He will be back, I think it is in June – it may be July, but I think it is in June – and in the meantime, the group is now looking at how the GHA can carry out his recommendations in advance of the 1735 next visit, which will include some training of the key professionals. So it is ongoing but we are moving along as recommended by this expert, yes.

Q276/2014
GHA Review –
Publication of document

Acting Clerk: Question 276, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1740 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say, seeing that the new GHA management structure is in place, when the GHA Review document will be published?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

1745 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the new GHA management structure is not fully in place, as a selection for some of the posts has not yet been completed. As I have stated before, the Review document will be published once the process is complete.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, once the new management structure process is complete, or are there any other issues that need to be tackled before it is published?

1750 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: The report requires a lot of aspects to be tackled, but the commitment I believe I gave to Parliament is once the management structure is complete and that is the intention.

1755 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister say when the management structure, the new management structure implementation, will be complete?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: We expect this to be quite soon. There is one particular post whose filling has been delayed due to health matters in relation to one of the applicants and we are just hanging on a little bit more but this should not take very long now.

Q277/2014
Medical Advisory Committee –
Setting up

1760 Acting Clerk: Question 277, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say when the Medical Advisory Committee, as per the Medical (Gibraltar Health Authority) Act 1987, will be set up?

1765 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, this has already been set up. The first meeting was held some weeks ago and the terms of reference are being determined.

1770 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister say who forms part of the Medical Advisory Committee? Are all the doctors eligible to form part of this?

1775 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes Mr Speaker, all doctors and dentists employed by the Gibraltar Health Authority are eligible and in fact, will be members of the Medical Advisory Committee. They are getting together terms of reference and the constitution and getting their committee organised. But yes, it is open to membership to all medical and dental members of the GHA.

Q278/2014
GHA Annual Reports –
Publication for last three years

Acting Clerk: Question 278, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1780 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say when the 2011-12, 2012-13 and the 2013-14 Annual Reports of the GHA will be published?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

1785 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the annual report covering 2011 has already been published. A report covering the period 2012 to 2013 is at present being prepared and will be published in autumn 2014.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q279/2014
Personal chemotherapy infusions –
Removal by GHA health professionals

1790 Acting Clerk: Question 279 the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say if personal chemotherapy infusions can be removed at the GHA by GHA health professionals, whether they are being removed by them, and if not, why not?

1795 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

1800 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the removal of personal chemotherapy infusions is not an established service. They have been removed on a few occasions when there has been a problem with the patient travelling back to Spain for this service.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, does the Minister have plans to ensure that this does become an established service within the GHA?

1805 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, this has never been a service provided. It is normally provided by the clinic where the patient has the chemotherapy. We are looking at the possibility of bringing to Gibraltar a lot of the processes that are now done externally and this is one of the ones that is being considered as a possibility for the future.

Q280/2014
GHA statistical data –
Website updates

Acting Clerk: Question 280, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1810 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health explain why the GHA statistical data on the Government website has not been updated regularly and provide:

- 1815 (a) an update of document GHA 16 which has not been updated since June 2012;
(b) an update of document GHA 11 which has not been updated since October 2012;
(c) an update of documents GHA 1, 5, 6, 8, 14, 15, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30 which have not been updated since June 2013;
(d) an update of document GHA 23 which has not been updated since July 2013;
(e) an update of documents GHA 12 and 13 which have not been updated since September 2013;
(f) an update of documents GHA 2, 3, 4, 9, 10, 18, 19, 21, 22, 24 which have not been updated since December 2013; and 1820 (g) why the figures for ‘Children placed on the GHA dental waiting list’, document GHA 17, is not available?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

1825 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the website had not been updated due to administrative delays. It is now up to date with the exception of the figures for children on the dental waiting list, as there is no longer a waiting list for this. The hon. Lady will no doubt wish to congratulate the Government for being able to maintain this.

1830 Several Members: Hear, hear. (Banging on desks)

Q281/2014

Care Agency independent review – Progress update

Acting Clerk: Question 281, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services update this House on progress of the Government’s manifesto commitment to conduct:

‘a complete and independent review of the workings of the Care Agency’?

1835 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, a review is ongoing. This is not a timed manifesto commitment and will be delivered during the course of this Parliament.

1840

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister say which is the independent body that is conducting the review as highlighted in their manifesto commitment?

1845 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I have said that a review is ongoing; the independent review has not yet commenced. The way that we have decided to do it is first of all to review the service and then once that review is completed, we will undertake a further review independently.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister explain why a review of a review?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Okay, I shall explain, Mr Speaker.

When I first started, Mr Speaker, in the first week in my office, I sat down with the Head of Social Services and I suggested that we engage the services of an independent review in the UK. The answer, Mr Speaker, was, ‘Please, Minister, do not do that because it is so bad, so bad, that the morale of Social Services would be very low when the outcome of the independent review would be so disastrous.’

1855

That is the reason why we are doing it in a two-pronged manner, Mr Speaker. First of all, the reason, Mr Speaker, is because the people within Social Services know what was wrong with Social Services, and I am working very closely with the team leaders in each department, in order to bring it up to speed as it should be – as they think it should be, as they thought it should not be as it was before.

Mr Speaker, once that is complete, then we will go externally.

1860

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: So Mr Speaker, if Social Services was so wrong and a review is being conducted and it will be fixed, then what is the need for spending money on an independent external review?

1865

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, it may be that at that stage an independent review is not necessary. Because it is a commitment, we will consider it at the appropriate time.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): If we have done such an excellent job by then [inaudible].

1870 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Yes, Mr Speaker, and the key here is how closely I personally am working with each individual team leader of each team within Social Services.

Anyway, Mr Speaker, in any event, this is a manifesto commitment which is not timed and something which we still have another two years to do, but I am pleased to say of the progress that has been made in Social Services.

1875 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, the Minister says that there is a possibility that she will be going back on the manifesto commitment of an independent review.

1880 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the manifesto commitments that we are delivering on, whether in relation to Social Services or elsewhere, are in the view of this party exactly that: commitments. Something which I commend to Members opposite they should understand, because their record of observing the commitments that they entered into in their manifesto is not so great.

1885 Now what the Hon. Minister has said is that once we have done our own internal review, it may be that there is not such a great need for an independent review. But Mr Speaker, the Cabinet will very likely insist that there is an independent review, given that we have already got a manifesto commitment in that respect. Even if the independent review then simply tells us that our own audit and changes in the Care Agency now deliver a service that is at last fit for purpose.

1890 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, for the sake of clarification, who is conducting the internal review? Is it the Chief Secretary or is it the members of staff within Social Services?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I fail to see why the Chief Secretary would have any involvement whatsoever with the Care Agency which is an independent statutory body. The internal review is undertaken internally by management.

Q282/2014
Care Agency –
Plans for caseload database and paperless system

Acting Clerk: Question 282, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1900 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say when a database for caseloads and a paperless system will be introduced to the Care Agency?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

1905 Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, Social Services already has a database for caseloads and are not planning to introduce a paperless system.

Q283/2014
Care Agency –
Social worker caseloads

Acting Clerk: Question 283, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1910 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say what the present caseload per social worker is, broken down by Team – that is, Adult and the Children & Families?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

1915 Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the caseload is as follows: Children and Families Team – Senior Social Worker, 23 and by Social Workers it is as follows: 17, 13, 15, 13, 6, 23 and 25.

In the Adult Team, the Team Leader has 25, the Senior Social Worker 28 and the Social Workers have 16, 28, 30 and 34.

Q284, Q288, Q290, Q297/2014
Social workers –
Vacancies and recruitment

Acting Clerk: Question 284, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1920 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say how many Care Agency vacancies there are for Social Workers, broken down by grade and Team (Adult and Children & Families) and say how such vacancies arose from the previous post-holders, be it through resignation, retirement or transfer?

1925 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I will answer this together with Questions 285 to 288, 290 and 297.

1930 Acting Clerk: Question 285, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1935 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say when the vacant Children and Families Team positions will be filled, where they will be recruited from, how much locum cover has already been paid since April 2013 and how much will this expenditure accrue for locum cover for social workers on a monthly basis, until outstanding vacancies are filled?

Acting Clerk: Question 286, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1940 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say, as quoted in the Government Press Release 84/2014, which is the dedicated recruitment agency the Care Agency has engaged, in order for it:

‘to work alongside the vacancies advertised locally’?

Acting Clerk: Question 287, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1945 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say if, when recruiting social workers from outside Gibraltar to fill any shortfall of skills in Gibraltar, the policy to live outside of Gibraltar will be relaxed?

Acting Clerk: Question 288, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1950 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say whether the Residential Teacher Services is still on offer at Tangier Views and if not, when did this service stop and what has replaced it?

1955 Acting Clerk: Question 290, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say how many social workers are working in the Court Welfare Team?

1960 Acting Clerk: Question 297, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1965 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say what vetting and criminal records checks are made of supply and locum workers hired by the Care Agency from private care providers, who undertake temporary cover work for staff within the Care Agency, but who are not Gibraltarian and have lived or live outside of Gibraltar?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

1970 Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, there is currently one vacancy for the Team Leader for the Children and Families, a team which is being covered by substitution. The previous Team Leader resigned.

Additionally there is a vacancy for Team Leader in the Disability Service, but this position is under review since it has been identified that it does not necessarily need to be held by a social worker. This position is currently being covered by substitution and the previous Team Leader retired.

1975 There is also a vacancy for a new Social Worker that has been temporarily upgraded to Senior Social Worker, in order to carry out specific tasks in the Adult Team.

I can confirm that vacant Children and Families Team positions have already have been filled, save for the Team Leader post, which is being covered by substitution. These have been recruited through a UK-based recruitment company which specialises in social care professionals and qualified social workers, called Caritas Limited. Social Services does not use locum workers to undertake temporary cover.

1980 The requirement that social workers recruited from outside be required to live in Gibraltar was already relaxed by the previous administration, as many social workers lived in Spain prior to December 2011.

I can confirm that the post of teacher in Residential Services is a complement post, albeit the possibility of revising the position to make best use of this resource is being considered.

There is one social worker in the Court Welfare Team.

1985 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, and the response to Question 297, I believe that was asked.

1990 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Yes Mr Speaker, sorry. In relation to the first part, we do not use locum workers but in relation to supply staff that may be engaged, I can confirm that following vetting and criminal record checks are carried out for all private care providers who may undertake any temporary work in the Care Agency. What we do is we request a Certificado Penal if they come from Spain, or CRB or DBS checks in the UK or elsewhere.

1995 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, in relation to Question 290, the Hon. Minister said there was one social worker working in the Court Welfare Team. Is this enough to satisfy the Government's manifesto commitment of ensuring that the Social Services Court Team are sufficiently resourced to be able to work within the framework of the Children Act?

2000 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, there are times when perhaps the overload of requests from court for Court Welfare Reports increase and it varies from time to time. In cases where we may perhaps get more referrals in a particular month, what we do is other social workers may assist the social worker who is currently working in the Court Welfare Team preparing those reports or there are circumstances where this is covered by overtime.

2005 But in any event, if at any particular circumstances, there would be a particular increase in caseload as a result of the Children Act and the requirement that came into the Children Act, then that would be dealt with accordingly.

2010 I remind the hon. Lady that the Children Act came into force in 2011 but there was no increase in complement in Social Services to be able to deal with this, but we have actually increased the complement of social workers in order to alleviate the statutory requirements within the Act.

2015 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: So the Minister is happy that – because I believe this person is employed on a part-time basis – that despite it having been introduced in 2011, that it is enough to cover this service. And, if I may as I am on my feet, we understand this person will be retiring soon: is someone already being trained to replace the person in this role?

2020 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: First of all, Mr Speaker, while the person works part-time as I have just said, as and when necessary this person works full-time and at present she is working full-time. Now the fact that this person, whether this person is retiring or not is, Mr Speaker, quite frankly news to me. Clearly the hon. Lady has more information than I have. I do not know whether it is direct or whether this is speculation, (A Member: Or it is accurate.) or whether it is accurate at all, Mr Speaker. I certainly have had no indication and it surprises me, Mr Speaker, because I have quite a close working relationship with my staff and I do have regular management meetings with my staff and this has never been raised.

2025 Having said that, Mr Speaker, I am sure that if this were to be the case, it would be raised at the relevant time and if it were, then of course we would have planning progression in place, as we already do, which is something that we have very recently introduced in Social Services.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

2030 Acting Clerk: Question 289

Mr Speaker: Do you have a supplementary?

2035 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Yes Mr Speaker, in relation to the teaching post at Tangier Views, how long has Tangier Views been without this teacher?

2040 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I do not have that information before me but the person who previously held this post resigned but this post has been covered by another person within the Care Agency who did have a teaching qualification, so that person was acting in that post and in addition, we have been receiving a lot of assistance from the Department of Education, because we have had retired teachers assisting as well. So there has actually not been any impact since the person who was in this substantive post left.

2045 Acting Clerk: Question 289, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I am loathe to interrupt but I have just had a message from my staff, that I am told by management that the Court Welfare Officer has no intention of retiring. I just thought I would bring it to the attention of this House. (Laughter and banging on desks) 2050 Perhaps the hon. Lady should not listen to all the gossip that she hears and all the rumours. Perhaps that would be a more responsible way before she starts scaremongering.

Q289/2014
Care Agency –
Legal work

Acting Clerk: Question 289, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2055 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, I do not think it is scaremongering that I should raise concerns, very serious concerns that have been brought to me and issues that people want me to raise, as it is my duty to ask questions in this House. (Interjection)

Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say who is undertaking the legal work on behalf of the Care Agency, broken down by the firm and how much has been paid during this 2013-14 financial year so far?

2060 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the majority of the Care Agency's legal work is undertaken by the Attorney General's Chambers. However, there are occasions where external counsel is sought.

2065 Legal work on behalf of the Care Agency during 2013 and 2014 have been carried out as follows: Hassans £39,931.15; Stowe Family Law £13,691.25; and Isolas £1,500.

Q291/2014
Adoption and Fostering Service –
Review

Acting Clerk: Question 291, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2070 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say if the Adoption and Fostering Service will be reviewed and if so, when?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

2075 Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the Adoption and Fostering Service is already under review.

Q292/2014
Child Protection Team –
Resourcing to protect vulnerable children

Acting Clerk: Question 292, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2080 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say when Government will be fulfilling its manifesto commitment to ensure the Child Protection Team will be sufficiently resourced to effectively protect vulnerable children and that there is a proper follow-up system to ensure long-term protection?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

2085 Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, Government commenced its manifesto commitment to ensure the Child Protection team will be sufficiently resourced to effectively protect vulnerable children, and that there is a follow-up system to ensure long-term protection, since we commenced this term of office.

2090 Already there have been a number of growth posts and additional staff to the Children and Families team so as to ensure this. These are listed as follows: two social worker growth posts; one assistant social worker; four administrative workers; and two newly qualified social workers engaged under the GRAD scheme.

2095 There is now an established reviewing system whereby a Reviewing Officer reviews children on Child Protection Plans as well as 'Looked After Children'.

Q293-294/2014
Hogar Betania, La Linea –
Homeless shelter care for Gibraltar men

Acting Clerk: Question 293, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2100 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say if there are any local men being looked after at the homeless shelter in La Linea, Hogar Betania and if so, are there plans for the Care Agency to provide halfway accommodation for them in Gibraltar?

2105 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I will answer this together with Question 294.

2110 Acting Clerk: Question 294, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say if she has met with the Management of Hogar Betania in La Linea and if so, provide Parliament with the number of times and dates of such meetings?

2115 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, the Government of Gibraltar or the Care Agency do not run or operate the homeless shelter in La Linea and as such, I am not aware who uses it or not. In fact the Care Agency does not run the homeless shelter in Gibraltar either.

2120 The Care Agency is not aware of any person currently being looked after in La Linea. No referral has been made to Adult Services or the Care Agency in respect of any person who is staying in a shelter, needing accommodation in Gibraltar.

I have not met, nor have I nor the Care Agency, ever been contacted by management in Hogar Betania.

2125 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q295-296/2014

Alzheimer's and dementia care –
New facility and Dementia Day Care Centre

Acting Clerk: Question 295, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2130 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say when the new Alzheimer and Dementia facility and the Dementia Day Care Centre, both at the former RNH site, will open?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

2135 Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with 296.

Acting Clerk: Question 296, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2140 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say when the vacancies for the new Alzheimer and Dementia Facility workforce at the former RNH site will be advertised and what will be the composition and skill mix?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

2145 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, the Alzheimer and Dementia Residential Facility and the Dementia Day Centre at the former RNH site, are envisaged for completion in July 2014.

Staff vacancies in relation to the residential facility will be advertised when ready to do so, in conjunction with the planned opening.

2150 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, last October the Minister said in Parliament that the residential facility would open at the beginning of this year. Why the delay to July of this year?

2155 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, unfortunately we are only as good as the deadlines that are given to us by the contractors, and while of course the Government imposes deadlines, sometimes there are reasons why the contractors cannot keep to them. As far as I am concerned, this should have been ready earlier and if I could, Mr Speaker, I would get a roller and the paint and do it myself if that meant it would make it quicker. But there is nothing further that I can do, Mr Speaker, other than ask the contractors to ensure that the deadlines are kept to.

2160 It is important for this administration to make sure that both these facilities, which are very essential facilities to the community, be completed as soon as possible. Having said that, Mr Speaker, in the meantime we have to be mindful of course that this Government has increased the budget in relation to domiciliary care made available to people at home and this has a very significant impact on people who are sufferers from dementia.

2165 So while we are conscious on the one hand that the facility has not been opened in the timescale that the Government desires it to be, we are addressing it on the other hand by offering domiciliary care to people at home.

2170 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, has the decision not yet been taken on the composition and skill mix for the workforce for the facility seeing that the facility is imminent to open within four months' time. A recruitment process will need to take place and potential employees perhaps to give notice elsewhere. So where is the Care Agency in relation to a decision on the composition and the skill mix for this new facility?

2175 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I have answered this question before in relation to composition and skill mix and as I have explained to the hon. Member in the past, it is pretty much a formulaic decision and it is a ratio of staff to the number of beds that we have.

But that is not the issue, Mr Speaker. The issue is to ensure that we have competent and qualified workforce available in Gibraltar and not to fall into the same trap that unfortunately the GSD did when it expanded the elderly residential beds in Mount Alvernia, where they found that there was no skilled workforce in Gibraltar.

2180 So let me tell the hon. Lady what we are doing. Because we know that we are opening these facilities, and because we know that we will need staff and because we know that historically people do not necessarily have experience in working in elderly care, we have through the Employment Service started providing courses for people who wish to work in elderly care, thereby giving them, assisting them to acquire requisite skills and experience to work in this field. Because we are doing exactly what we need to do; we are forward planning and making sure that we have the workforce available and ready for when this place is ready to open, Mr Speaker. (Banging on desks)

2190 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister give more information as to these courses. How long the courses are, who the accrediting body is, what the qualification is that they will receive?

2195 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, it is an induction course into elderly care. I think that the course takes about five weeks. It is run pretty much by people from the Care Agency, there are some people who may be sub-contracted for particular modules but it is pretty much... it mirrors the induction training that someone would receive when starting work at the Care Agency.

2200 So what we are doing is we are training people head on. So instead of waiting to open the facility and train everybody at the same time when we open, what we are doing is that we are running this course every month, or almost every month, so that we can start training people and start to make sure that they have the skill mix. Of course, these people can also be available should vacancies arise elsewhere before the facilities are open. We have been running these courses, we have run a couple of these courses already so we have already started training people.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: So Mr Speaker, what is the qualification?

2205 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: It is not a qualification as such, Mr Speaker; it is a certificate, and it is an accreditation by the Care Agency that people have undergone training into elderly care. People at the end of it will get certificates if....

2210 Let us say, for example, part of this course will require people to undertake a course in first aid. At the end of the first aid course, they will have a certificate confirming that they have attended the course in first aid. If they then undertake a course in manual handling, then they will have some kind of accreditation that they have been through that. They will get a generic sort of certificate from the ETB confirming every single module that they have undertaken. But because some modules are sub-contracted, I think that the first aid course is one of them, and then the provider will provide a confirmation of certification of the successful completion of that module.

2215 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: So Mr Speaker, is the Minister saying that up until these courses started, none of the people working within the Elderly Care Agency were qualified?

2220 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: No, Mr Speaker. Perhaps if the hon. Lady were to listen to what I am saying, she would have said that I have just said the contrary to what she has just said.

2225 What I am saying is, when people start working for the Care Agency, before they start working, they undertake the generic core training. That is something that we do now and that is something that was undertaken before. People do not apply for a job and if you have got no experience, off you go in Mount Alvernia and do what you like. You know, you go and you have your training.

Our generic core training that is delivered in Mount Alvernia now is different to what it was before because we have enhanced it some more and that is just a sort of a general review of the service and the progress.

2230 What I am saying is that training, that is delivered to people who work for the Care Agency – i.e. there is a vacancy in the Care Agency, you apply for a job, you do the training and you go and work if you are successful in the completion of the training – is being offered before the other facility is open. So that by the time that the other facility is open, we do not have to worry about starting the training again for everybody, we will have people who have already done the training and people who are ready to go in. Maybe at the time what we will do is we may have to have a refresher or something like that, but at least the bulk of the training will be there.

2235 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, then can the Minister confirm that all the existing care workers that worked with the elderly, were they trained and are they properly trained? Not new ones coming in to the system, but all the existing ones that were inherited from the time when my hon. Friend was the Minister for Social Services.

2240 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, honestly, talk about own goals! I can for sure confirm that every single entrant into the Care Agency after December 2011 have undergone Care Agency core training.

2245 I would sincerely hope that everybody had undergone the core training before they started in Mount Alvernia when the hon. Gentleman was the Chairman of the Care Agency. I have no reason to doubt that he would not have insisted on these standards in the same way that I do now.

2250 But, Mr Speaker, because I always had that little bit of a fear that maybe everybody had not gone through the core training, I asked my training team to go through every single member of staff, to ensure that they had undertaken the core training and lo and behold, there were people who had not undertaken the core training before December 2011. So what the hon. Gentleman missed, gladly I have picked up and that failure has been addressed. So I am grateful to the hon. Lady opposite for pointing that out.

I am sure it was not intentional on the part of the hon. Gentleman, but I can certainly confirm that everybody who today works in the Care Agency is properly and sufficiently trained – not only in the generic core training, which of course is essential, but of course we do take other training over and above.

2255 A Member: Hear, hear. (Banging on desks)

2260 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, with your indulgence, would it be possible if I could go back to Question 294, this is the one that relates to the management of Hogar Betania, because if I understood the hon. Lady, she gave a categorical statement to the effect that she has never had any meetings whatsoever with Hogar Betania.

2265 Given that my understanding is that she did have a meeting which was over a year ago and she had a meeting with the Director of Hogar Betania, the lady Mrs Begonia Araña, but given that this was a year ago, will she not try and cast her mind over a year ago, to confirm or deny that she has had, or had not had a meeting with this lady?

2270 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I actually pride myself in having a very good memory. I think that if I had had a meeting with someone from a homeless shelter a year ago, I would remember. I confess that of course I may be mistaken, but I certainly do not recall having ever met anybody from a homeless shelter in La Linea ever.

2275 The hon. Gentleman has just mentioned a name, the name does not sound familiar to me at all. It may be that I have spoken to someone from La Linea, that person from La Linea but if that person did not tell me that they were management of the homeless shelter, then I am none the wiser.

Mr Speaker, it is not my intention to mislead this Parliament at all – 2280 Hon. F R Picardo: But why would you deny it?

2285 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: But why would I deny it? Mr Speaker, I have never had a meeting, whether formal or informal, with anyone from a homeless shelter in La Linea in their capacity as management from the homeless shelter in La Linea, to my knowledge. Maybe that... I go to many places, I meet many people on social occasions. That person may have come to me and said hello – and may just have said hello and goodbye, without me knowing who that person was. (Laughter and interjections) I genuinely do not recall ever having met that person nor is there any record of me meeting anybody in my office. But maybe the hon. Gentleman and I can have a chat later on and he can enlighten me, because there may be, you know –

2290 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, he will tweet it now! (Laughter)

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q298/2014
Monument to women of Gibraltar –
Details of sculpting and erection

2295 Acting Clerk: Question 298 the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Equality say when the winning design of Ruth Macias Greenburg, selected in March 2013 for a monument to the women of Gibraltar, will be sculpted and erected in a prominent place in Gibraltar and where it will be erected?

2295 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, Government is in the process of identifying a suitable location. Once the location is identified, we will then commission for the sculpting and erection of the monument.

2300

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister say when the monument will be sculpted and erected? Is it within months or within a year?

2305

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, as I said when we find the suitable location, because it will all depend on the location.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q299/2014
Domestic Violence Forum –
Meetings and strategic plan

Acting Clerk: Question 299, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2310

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Equality say if the new Domestic Violence Forum as outlined in Question 790/2013 has officially met, giving the date or dates of meetings and what strategic plan to eliminate domestic violence in Gibraltar has been decided on?

2315

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the parties have not met formally as a forum, but I continue to work with individual parties in the meantime.

2320

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, last December in Parliament, the Hon. Minister said the forum would formally meet in the New Year. Can the Minister say when will that be?

2325

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, the forum will meet when the forum is ready to meet. This is something, Mr Speaker, that is – the hon. Lady can laugh, you know, but the hon. Lady may want to recast her mind back to prior to December 2011, when there was never an intention to have a Domestic Violence Strategy so actually, the hon. Lady should be grateful of the initiatives that we are now having, to make sure that we have strategies and policies in place – things that happen all over the world, but we were operating in a vacuum in Gibraltar.

2330

This is certainly a very, very important policy and because I recognise the importance of this policy, I am working very closely with all the parties involved. Let me explain, for example, Mr Speaker, we have got the halfway house and the homeless shelter for women which is primarily funded by Government, but there was never even any instrument regulating how that works. That is one of the things that I have had to deal with. There are so many things, so many gaps, so many holes there, so many things that I have to deal with, that my strategy is that, before we all meet as a forum, to make sure that every single party who is going to form part of the forum have their own ducks in order.

2335

But Mr Speaker, the hon. Lady can rest assured that this is a strategy that is very important to me and a strategy that will succeed. (Banging on desks)

2340

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, I only asked the question because she did say last December that they would formally meet in the new year and we are already nearly four months into the new year. Mr Speaker, the Minister mentioned that there was no instrument regulating the Women In Need shelter in place. Can she then say what the instrument that has been devised by the Minister, what instrument has been put in place by her?

2345

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Well, the Minister and her office are in the process of devising an instrument. Mr Speaker, yes, because I think it is very important when a substantial amount of taxpayers' money is passed over to this organisation, which of course is an important and a valuable organisation and it fits into the puzzle of dealing with domestic violence, I think it is very important that we need to have a modus operandi in order so that... you know, things need to be regulated and things need to be above board.

Q300/2014
Women in the workplace –
Collection of data

2350 Acting Clerk: Question 300, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, as per the Minister for Equality's statement in the Chronicle on International Women's Day, can the Minister give further details on the statistics that are being collected on women in the workplace in different sectors of the economy by (a) who is collecting the data; (b) how is the data being collected; (c) how large is the sampling frame, i.e. number of women and number of workplaces surveyed; (d) which sectors of the economy are being surveyed; (e) who will be analysing the data to highlight any trends in earnings; and (f) when the data will be ready for inspection?

2360 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, this is a study that is in process. A preliminary collation of information is being undertaken by researchers employed by the Graduate Research and Development Company.

2365 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister say whether this pilot study has been completed by the graduates?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: No Mr Speaker. It was started some months ago and it is still, as I have said in my first answer, it is in the process of...

2370 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: And Mr Speaker, does the Minister have any idea after this pilot study has been looked at, how it will be rolled out to the wider economy?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Not until I know what the study says. I will consider it at that stage.

Q301/2014
Empowering women and girls –
Further details

2375 Acting Clerk: Question 301, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, as per the Minister for Equality's statement in the Chronicle on International Women's Day, can the Minister give further details on how, through Social Services, 'young girls and women will be empowered'?

2380 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the article actually states:

'Through Social Services we are looking at empowering young girls and women in different ways.'

2385 Therefore what I mean is exactly that, that we are looking at initiatives that we can draw on so as to empower young women. As these initiatives are undertaken, they will be announced as and when appropriate.

2390 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister say what initiatives are being looked at?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, Social Services are looking through a wide range of services that can be made available, for example to girls through the Department of Education. One of the things that we are looking at, for example, at the moment is to do with eating disorders. As I said, this is a work in progress. Again, going back to the similar answer to my Domestic Violence Strategy, it is about having strategies – strategies that never existed, strategies that were never there and it is strategies that we are starting from the drawing board.

2400 Now because we are starting from scratch, these are things that we are looking at, we are looking to see what the needs are and that is then when we will look and see how we will prioritise the different initiatives that we are doing. We have identified a couple of initiatives that we need and what we are doing is now we are in the process of... well, we already have met with the Department of Education and the Health Authority to see how together, where necessary and where appropriate, we deliver these strategies.

Q302/2014

Convention of the Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination Against Women – Extension to Gibraltar

Acting Clerk: Question 302, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2405 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, as per the Minister for Equality's statement in the Chronicle on International Women's Day, can the Minister give further details on the practical applications of the Government's formal request for extension of the Convention of the Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination Against Women to Gibraltar?

2410 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

2415 Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the Convention Against All Forms of Discrimination Against Women (CEDAW) has been described as an international bill of rights for women, as it defines what constitutes discrimination against women and it sets up an agenda for national action to end such discrimination.

By requesting the extension of the UK's ratification of the Convention to Gibraltar, Her Majesty's Government commit themselves to undertaking a series of measures to end discrimination against women in all forms.

2420 The aim of the Convention is to provide equality between men and women through ensuring women's equal access to and equal opportunities in political and public life and education, health and employment – sorry, Mr Speaker, I think I am reading from the wrong paper. Sorry yes, under the Convention, national reports are required to be submitted on measures that State Parties have to take to comply with their treaty obligations. Reports are submitted at least every four years and Her Majesty's Government shall on extension have a reporting obligation.

2425 Sufficient laws and policies are in place in Gibraltar for the purposes of implementing and complying with the Convention obligations.

2430 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister clarify what exactly the Government will be reporting on?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, as I said the report is in relation to compliance with Treaty obligations.

2435 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, which are exactly what?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, the Treaty obligations are all outlined in the Convention. The hon. Lady is free to read them at her leisure. It is a public document, Mr Speaker.

Q303/2014

Dr Giraldi inquiry – Costs so far

Acting Clerk: Question 303, the Hon. D A Feetham.

2440 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Government please state what has been the cost to the Taxpayer so far of the Dr Giraldi enquiry?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

2445 Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, given that the inquiry remains ongoing, the Government does not feel it appropriate to comment on anything in relation to the inquiry at this stage.

2450 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am not asking the hon. Lady or the Government to comment on the substance of the inquiry or anything that could possibly impact on the inquiry or that could possibly cause any kind of prejudice to the inquiry. I am just simply asking what the cost to the taxpayer has been so far of the Dr Giraldi inquiry. Now, is there a reason in principle why you ought not to provide that information which cannot possibly impact on the inquiry?

2455 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, my answer was very clear. This forms part of the inquiry. The inquiry is not over and the position of the Government is that the information will not be provided until the inquiry is over.

2460 Quite frankly, Mr Speaker, I am surprised at the inconsistent approach taken by the Opposition, because this is the third time that this question has been asked, but on the two previous occasions when I gave the same explanation as to why I did not think it appropriate that the information be given at this stage, the question was withdrawn.

The same question was put to me last month and only last month it was withdrawn. There have been no changes from last month to this month; therefore I do not understand this question.

2465 Furthermore Mr Speaker, the answer to this question will not change at the end of the inquiry. This answer can perfectly be provided when the inquiry finishes, Mr Speaker.

2470 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, whether a colleague of mine has decided to ask and then withdraw this question on the basis of some conversation that he has had or she has had with the hon. Lady, is, I think, neither here nor there. I have made the decision that I believe that this is an appropriate question at this stage and I am asking it.

2475 With respect to the hon. Lady, she is not answering my question. Why does the cost...? Why does the cost or the Government providing me with the cost so far of the inquiry have any impact at all on the inquiry, prejudice the inquiry? What reason in principle is there for the Government not to provide this information, other than the Government says well, I am not providing it to you now, I am going to provide it to you at the end?

2480 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, the answer has clearly been given and it is reflected in the last comment by the hon. Member. The information will be given at the end of the inquiry. This is an inquiry which is ongoing. It has not finished. It is not appropriate to engage in public debate or discussion on any matter concerning the inquiry, either on the floor of this House or through the media or outside or anywhere. It is in the hands of the Chairman who has been appointed. He still has to give a decision. Nothing has changed since last month when the same question was asked and withdrawn quite properly.

2485 The fact that the hon. Member does not speak to other Members and does not know apparently that another question was asked and withdrawn, the same question asked and withdrawn, the hon. Member says is neither here nor there. Well, it is very relevant because the hon. Member to his side recognised last month that it was appropriate to withdraw and nothing has happened at all since last month because we are still awaiting the Chairman's report.

2490 So for those reasons it is entirely inappropriate to engage in any kind of public discussion or debate on any aspect of the inquiry and for those reasons the costs which exist today and which may exist next month, will be given at the end of the inquiry and not now.

2495 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I have spoken to my hon. Friend. He took a decision last month to withdraw this particular question after a conversation, I cannot remember whether he said it was with the hon. Gentleman or with the hon. Lady, I think it was the hon. Gentleman. I have since reviewed the situation. I do not believe there is any substance at all in the argument that providing me or the Opposition with the cost to the taxpayer of what this inquiry is costing, that that can possibly prejudice, have any impact at all on the inquiry or that it impacts or infringes the sub judice rule and clearly, what the Government are doing is not in relation to this case only, it is in relation to other areas where we have asked questions of a similar nature, is using and abusing the sub judice rule in order to prevent the Opposition from obtaining information to which the Opposition is perfectly entitled.

2500 So really the answer in a nutshell, Mr Speaker, is and I ask the hon. Gentleman, is that the Government just simply does not... there is no really cogent reason why this ought not to be provided and the Government just simply says no to the Opposition, 'we will provide it to you at the very end of this inquiry'. That is the long and short of it, is it not?

Hon. G H Licudi: Well, Mr Speaker, the hon. Member has either not heard or understood the answer that I have given and he says that the answer I have given has no substance, there is no basis for it. Well, the hon. Member to his right accepted that there was substance in that answer last month and withdrew the question (Interjection) on two occasions and now the same question is asked.

2510 All I can do is repeat what I have already said, that we consider it is entirely inappropriate to engage in any public discussion or debate on any aspect –

Hon. D A Feetham: I am not asking you to – 2515 Hon. G H Licudi: On any aspect, including the issue of cost, on any aspect of the inquiry until the inquiry is over. And it is not as if the costs are going to be hidden anywhere or going to disappear. The costs which exist today are going to be the same costs as of today that will be given to the hon. Member and to the public at large, whenever the inquiry comes to an end. That is the decision that the Government has taken. It is the right decision and it is entirely appropriate. The hon. Member may not be satisfied but that does not mean that he has not been given an answer or the reason (Interjection) or that there is any abuse. What is the question of abuse, the Government considers it inappropriate, it is our view. We are the Government, we have taken that view, but the information will be given. So it is not a question of the Government refusing to give information; the information will be given at the appropriate time.

2525 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, if I may just by way of clarification, I spoke to the Hon. Minister at the time when I had filed the question and during that conversation it was one single conversation over the telephone and I certainly I gave the Minister the benefit of the time to discuss the matter. My initial view at the time was indeed that it was not entirely inappropriate for me to withdraw the question in the circumstances but, following further discussions with my Hon. and Learned Friend, the Leader of the Opposition, that view has changed, Mr Speaker, and I just thought it was necessary to make that position clear.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

TRAFFIC, HOUSING AND TECHNICAL SERVICES

Q304/2014

Government rental homes – Unpaid rents written off 2013-14

Acting Clerk: Question 304, the Hon. E J Reyes.

2535

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Housing provide details of how much has been written off in respect of unpaid rents pertaining to Government rental homes during the financial year 2013-14?

2540

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, during the financial year 2013-14, a total of £41,708.46 has been written off.

2545

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, does the Minister have any details available? Have they been written off because of time expired debts or is it due to other reasons that perhaps he can furnish us with the information?

2550

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, there are a number of write-offs and just to give by way of example, in one case there was a tenant who, due to unhygienic conditions of the tenant living directly above that person, a complaint was lodged that there was damage created to his flat due to the amount of animals living upstairs. Hence this gentleman refused to pay his rent, he was moved out, he was decanted from his flat and the Financial Secretary saw that this was a legitimate claim. That is one of the examples.

Another example dates back to the times of the prefabs, and certain individuals who refused to pay rent due to the conditions which they felt were practically uninhabitable. There are other cases as well of other persons who have suffered things like water ingress and severe dampness who refused and these were all taken up and their cases agreed.

2560 There is also, the vast majority of this money comes from tenants who were admitted to places like the Elderly Care Agency, Jewish Home or King George and then the rent was unrecoverable because family members decided that they were not liable to the Council. There are a number of reasons for the amount that has been written off.

2565 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, I can start to understand that there are a variety of reasons and therefore not a simple clear cut answer. Given that I believe that the House will not be meeting next month, can I, in a gentleman's understanding, leave it in the hands of the Minister perhaps when he can forward me like a little schedule with some sort of breakdown similar to what he has now been trying to explain? Or Mr Speaker, if he so wishes, would he rather that I pose it into a formal question, perhaps even as a written question next time round? Whichever he prefers, so that it is not just information one wants now but rather something that we can monitor and work together in the future. He knows that at the end of the day, we 2570 both have the same vested interests and so on. So can I have some indication from him how he would rather work this one.

I know I am placing a workload on him and his Ministry, but let us be co-operative so I get the information and make the task as easy as possible for him and therefore more efficient for my reception.

2575 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, if I might just be of assistance, I think it is absolutely right that this information should be public and I think what we can do is put this information on the website also, anonymised. For example, the hon. Gentleman actually has the names of the individuals he is dealing with, but it would be inappropriate to share them. It should be on the website. There is another question on the Order Paper about the exercise in respect of the historic arrears to the Government. This is not that type of write-off that we are looking at. These are almost, if the hon. Gentleman will share my view 2580 of how this has been done, it is as a landlord dealing with arrears and there are many good reasons why tenants may sometimes, under the contract, have a good reason to say, 'Look, you are not keeping to your side of the bargain, there is this problem and I am withholding rent for a particular purpose.' That is an area of the law which is very defined, it has to be just the right sort of claim. There are some times when individuals have claims against the Government and they think that they can set off their rent in respect of those claims and their claims have nothing to do with tenancies, for example. Therefore, it is inappropriate and you have to take a completely different attitude to those.

But I am quite happy that we should all, as a community, see what is going on in respect of these issues and therefore I am quite happy to ask the hon. Gentleman to ensure that these things are put up on the website and that the hon. Member should have notice of when they are going up in an anonymised form, in other words in 'a tenant' form, rather than with the name or address provided.
2590

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, in fact I take the opportunity, I thank the Chief Minister. He did commit himself in the previous parliamentary session that the question of unpaid outstanding rent would actually be put up on the website and with the assistance of the Clerk, we found it, so I did not need to pose that question.
2595

What I want the Chief Minister, and the Minister for Housing as well, to understand is that as an amateur, one can look at statistics and say, 'Ah well, compared to the previous month, there has been an addition of £50,000 more in outstanding unpaid rents.' But that figure £50,000 is only conditional. You have got to add into that how much has been written off or not. So in order to get a more complete and accurate picture, I think the Chief Minister is starting to understand why we need to have these figures, so that together we can both work and make sure that those tenants who for unjustified reasons are withholding payments of rent, that they pay up, because it is only fair on those law abiding citizens that everyone be treated equally.
2600

2605 So I look forward to co-operating with the Minister for Housing in the future in that respect.

Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Speaker, I could not agree more. I could not agree more and I am not going to get into the political ding-dong of how the arrears have risen in the time that they were in administration. We had that ding-dong last time. But I want him to understand that the figure fluctuates for many reasons and I cannot recall if the hon. Gentleman has ever held the portfolio of Housing but just so he understands, given that he indicates that he did not, the figure fluctuates both in terms of this sort of write-off, and these are not common write-offs – in other words, he has asked for the year 2013-14, I think there are four individual cases and then the rump relate to cases involving, as the hon. Gentleman has told him, admissions to Mount Alvernia and admissions to KGV. Really, we are talking about difficult cases in those instances.

2615 So it is not that he is going to have to be reconciling monthly this type of write-off. This is an infrequent type of write-off. The management list of the arrears in relation to rent works in different ways. For example, you may have some people – I confess I do not know what has been put on the website and how

2620 the calculation has been done – but there are some people who pay quarterly, there are some people who pay monthly, the amounts go up weekly in some estates, they go monthly in other estates, so the list is sometimes not moving in terms of debt as it is in terms of credit. So you have got to look at almost each individual account in order to be able to do a reasonably accurate reconciliation.

2625 So what he will have to understand from what is going to be published, he will be able to see a trend, right, but he may not be able to reconcile one against the other in some instances.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

2630 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes Mr Speaker, I am very grateful for that, I will be able to see the trend and then if need be, one can then home in with the Minister for any particular clarification. I think we are both singing now from the same hymn sheet.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q305-306/2014
Mid-Harbour Estate –
Update on works to be completed

2635 Clerk: Question 305, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer to Question 170/2014, can the Minister for Housing provide updated details, together with estimated completion dates in respect of works still to be completed at Mid-Harbour Estate?

2640 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 306.

2645 Clerk: Question 306, the Hon. E J Reyes.

2650 Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer to Question 171/2014, can the Minister for Housing provide details of what further actions are being considered in order to curtail non-compliance of house rules at Mid-Harbour Estate?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

2655 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to Question 170/2014, it is envisaged that infrastructure works to allow installation of the remaining cameras on the podium and promenade levels are expected to be completed by the end of this month.

The integration of podium and promenade level cameras to the existing public CCTV system and RGP control room at New Mole House are expected to be completed shortly, after which the system will be tested and commissioned.

2660 As previously advised, it is expected that with the measures being taken, the incidents relating to anti-social behaviour will minimise. We will continue liaising closely with the RGP as we take incidents of anti-social behaviour very seriously.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, thank you, Mr Speaker.

2665 So the Minister has given me an update of what he has mentioned before about the cameras, the completion and so on. More specifically in Question 306, I was re-asking because I think I have asked in the past, does he have any further actions planned? Because although I accept that certain things he may not be able to finalise until the cameras are in operation and so on, I believe he has had meetings with the Tenants' Association or whatever from the Estate and they may have put ideas forward.

2670 So is he in a position to be able to enlighten us in sort of saying which ones are being considered? I use the words 'being considered' rather than a firm commitment. Is there anything in particular that is being considered and that way we even help to have a more cross floor approach to resolving this problem which again is something that both sides seem to be sharing as a grave concern?

2675 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I have had meetings and continue to have meetings with the Tenants Association of Mid-Harbours and their concerns have been taken on board and we will obviously, we do believe that with the installation of CCTV cameras, a lot of the anti-social behaviour that they complain about will actually be targeted.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q307/2014
Making empty homes suitable for reallocation –
Update details

Clerk: Question 307 the Hon. E J Reyes.

2685 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide updated details in respect of all expenditure incurred since the answer to Question 172/2014 in respect of contracts awarded for making empty homes suitable for reallocation stating to whom payments were made, how much has been paid, the number of residential homes pertaining to each payment as well as indicating if the services contracted were for either repair works or cleaning services?

2690 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will now hand the hon. Member a schedule containing the information requested.

Answer to Question 307

Contractors	No. of Properties	Cost
CEPRANO LTD	1	£3,000.00
CIAP CONSTRUCTION	1	£8,860.00
RIBEIRO	1	£3,565.00
AVANTI	1	£2,500.00

ALL SERVICES CONTRACTED WERE FOR REPAIRS
NONE WERE FOR CLEANING

2695

Mr Speaker: This is a short schedule, I will allow the hon. Member to have a quick look at it and if he does not have any supplementaries, perhaps if the Leader of the House is happy, this might be a convenient point at which to recess to this afternoon at 3.00 p.m.

2700 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Yes, Mr Speaker. Thank you.

2705 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, the only one I think I normally ask every month: there is a full list of companies referring to four properties. Can I double check that these are four completely separate properties and not that two companies worked on the same one property? Am I correct in that assumption again?

2710 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, yes there are four separate properties and the other thing which I forgot to mention is that all services contracted were for repairs and none were for cleaning, as per every other month.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, thank you, Mr Speaker. Although the Minister may not have said it verbally it is written in the schedule that they were all for repairs, so I am grateful for the updated information Mr Speaker.

2715 Mr Speaker: The House will now recess to this afternoon at 3.00 p.m., when we shall be dealing with Chief Minister's Questions.

The House recessed at 1.00 p.m. and resumed its sitting at 3.05 p.m.

The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 3.05 p.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. A J Canepa GMH OBE in the Chair]

[ACTING CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: P E Martinez Esq in attendance]

Welcome by the Chief Minister to HMS Astute and her crew

Acting Clerk: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, before we launch into this afternoon's session of Question Time –

5

Mr Speaker: 'Launch' is the appropriate word.

10

Hon. Chief Minister: – 'launch' being the appropriate word, given what I am about to say – may I just ask the House to join me in welcoming to the Naval Base, HMS Astute and her crew. As hon. Members may know, HMS Astute is the first of the eponymously named Astute Class Submarines of Her Majesty's Royal Navy, and she is visiting Gibraltar on what is her maiden operational deployment, and Gibraltar is her first port of call, as I understand it, outside the United Kingdom. I shall be aboard Astute later today, Mr Speaker, and I will extend a warm welcome on behalf of the people of Gibraltar. (Banging on desks)

Questions for Oral Answer

CHIEF MINISTER

Q337-338/2014

Private consultants/independent contractors – Numbers engaged by Government; details

15

Acting Clerk: Answers to Oral Questions continued.
Question 336, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to Question No. 706/2013, that was answered in writing – (Interjection) Sorry?

20

Acting Clerk: My mistake, sir.
Question 337.

25

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government state the number of private consultants engaged by Government during the financial year 2013/14, specifying the name of each consultant, their respective areas of work and the cost to Government for the provision of such services?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

30

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer together with Question 338.

Acting Clerk: Question 338, the Hon. D A Feetham.

35 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please provide a schedule setting out the legal drafting work done by every independent contractor engaged by the Government, including the amounts paid to that individual, his company or firm?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

40 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the cost of private consultants and legal drafting is already online. The process of preparing the additional breakdown, which has been requested, is now ongoing. Online data will change when ready to reflect the information requested by hon. Members.

In relation to legal drafting, Question 338 has been formulated with no time limit, so I have caused that it be answered as from 2008.

45 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, does he have a schedule there of any of those costs? But of course, there cannot be any doubt that I am asking about the present Government's term in office, because surely they are only responsible for their own term in office in relation to legal drafting work, but it makes no difference to me. Does he have the information at all with him or does he intend to just simply post that on the website, as and when it becomes available?

50 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I have some information with me, but I cannot tell him that it is the completed information. It is being completed and will be put on the website when completed. I do not think it is going to take very long to be put up, and it will be put up in that way from now on too.

55 So in relation to his question, it is going to mean that the data already available is going to be added, going back to 2008, and going forward with this further information, and in relation to the hon. Gentleman's question for the period that he requested, it may already be online.

60 Hon. J J Netto: It is just that I am not quite clear, because it seems to me that the Hon. Chief Minister is concentrating his answer in relation to my hon. Friend, the Leader of the Opposition's question, but I am not quite sure as to my question. When is that information going to be given?

Hon. Chief Minister: In relation to his question, Mr Speaker, I think the information is already online.

65 Hon. D A Feetham: Can I, Mr Speaker, ask him to provide me with whatever information he has, that I may have it with me? Of course, if there is anything else that may arise from the information that he has posted on the website, then I will ask in two months' time when we are next here in Parliament.

70 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am not confident that the information that I have with me is complete and that it is directly what he is requesting, so I am not going to give it to him; but the information, which is the answer to his question, is either already or will be about to be online.

I know that further work was being done on the information to ensure it was complete at the time that I was given these schedules before I finalised the text of my answers, so I do not know that this is correct and final. Therefore I would rather he obtain the information when it is certified as correct and final by those who provide me with the information.

Q339/2014

British Gibraltar Territorial Waters— Number of Spanish fishing vessels entering

75 Acting Clerk: Question 339, the Hon. D A Feetham.

80 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, excluding innocent passage, can the Chief Minister please provide a breakdown on a monthly basis of how many Spanish vessels, fishing vessels, have entered into British Gibraltar Territorial Waters in the last six months (a) accompanied by Spanish State vessels; and (b) unaccompanied by Spanish State vessels?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

85 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I now hand the hon. Member a schedule with the information requested.

ANSWER TO QUESTION 339

Month	Unaccompanied	Accompanied
September 2013	58	0
October 2013	49	0
November 2013	9	0
December 2013	4	0
January 2014	7	0
February 2014	17	0
March 2014	2	0

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I happened to hear an interview with the Patron of the Cofradia of La Linea a week and a half ago on Canal Sur Radio, where he said that he was quite happy with the way that things were going. That the situation, as far as Spanish fishermen was concerned, had reached normality to the situation it was prior to 2012.

90 Indeed, I have received representations as well from members of the public here in Gibraltar, who are interested in fishing, telling me that there are Spanish fishermen that are coming into British Gibraltar Territorial Waters unchallenged and are fishing as if there were no legislation in place to actually restrain them from doing so. Are these the reports that the Hon. the Chief Minister is also receiving in relation to this?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do not tend to listen to Canal Sur Radio and therefore I am afraid I cannot say that I have had that report. Neither have I had similar reports to the ones the hon. Gentleman is saying he has received from local people, but the schedule does not suggest that, as he will see.

100 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, when does the Hon. the Chief Minister envisage that the Government will be in a position to formalise the law in relation to this area, because he made an announcement last year that he was going to be changing the law in order to allow fishing, with regulated fishing with EU-compliant nets? The law was... the principal legislation was then amended to allow for regulations to be introduced and that was, as I understand it, in November/December of last year. So we are talking about 105 three or four months from when the principal Act was amended and it does appear to be more than enough time for the Government to have at the very least come to a policy decision in relation to this. I just wonder whether the Chief Minister is now in a position to advance the matter further, in terms of information provided to this House and to the public?

110 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, we will be ready when the Minister signs the regulations into law and there is no question of us procrastinating when that can happen. This is a complex area in order to get right. As soon as it is ready, the Minister will be signing the regulations into law and they will then be published as is the normal way.

115 I cannot imagine that the hon. Gentlemen would believe that we are in any way trying to delay something which the Government is working on. It is just sometimes in order to get things right you have to do them properly and that takes a bit of time.

Hon. D A Feetham: And can he confirm that the Cabinet is united in relation to the Government's 120 approach in this area?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Cabinet behaves in a collegiate fashion. That means that it is entirely united in all the decisions it takes. I refer him to the Westland case and Mr Michael Heseltine's departure from the Cabinet in the United Kingdom, as to what it is that Cabinet responsibility, joint Cabinet responsibility means.

125 So therefore, he can take it that if a piece of legislation is signed on behalf of the Government, it is signed on the basis of that which we on this side consider to be a collegiate and Cabinet style of Government. I do not know whether he had any experience of that in the four years he was in office.

130 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I do not obviously need a lesson from the hon. Gentleman in relation to constitutional law. I perfectly understand that Cabinet decisions, once reached, are the decisions of the Cabinet and that therefore any dissenting voices within that Cabinet, if they feel strongly about it, they leave; and if they do not feel that that is a resignation matter, they have got to defend the policy.

What I am asking is whether the Cabinet has actually come to a decision? Is the Cabinet, before it has come to a decision, united in relation to its approach in this area?

135 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman says he does not need constitutional advice from me, and yet he asks a question which flies in the face of what is the constitutional model of Cabinet that I understand is in place. If a piece of legislation is signed and a Minister does not resign, it must be that the whole Cabinet is united on the subject. But, I do not see what it is he is trying to get at. What tittle-tattle has he heard that he is trying to turn into a question?

Mr Speaker: I think that hon. Members must be careful not to get carried away.

We have started with a question, which is a purely statistical. The answer is purely statistical regarding the number of monthly visits, shall I say, by Spanish fishing vessels into British Gibraltar Territorial Waters, and now we are going in to the deep fundamental principles of collective responsibility. I think it has got nothing to do with the original subject.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker.

150 Mr Speaker, in relation to the decision as to whether to allow Spanish fishermen to fish in Gibraltar Waters with EU-compliant nets and whether that will involve some form of application to be licensed here in Gibraltar, can he at the very least tell me whether in principle that is what the Government has agreed to do and that is what the...? He does not have to go into much more detail than that. Can he confirm that is the decision that has been reached, either unanimously by the Cabinet or with dissenting voices?

155 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I have read a lot of the comics that he puts about to people, including the nonsense that he sends to his alleged Members every month (Laughter) where he suggests that he knows the answer to this question. He has said on a number of occasions, in interviews on television, in interviews elsewhere and in communications, that he understands that Spanish fishermen are not going to have to apply for licences to fish in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters.

160 Well, if that is what he understands, I do not want to contradict him – perish the thought. I will leave it to the Hon. the Minister for the Environment, who is the Minister responsible, when he signs the legislation, when it is ready, to put us all out of our misery and let us see what it is that the new rules require.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am trying to be very restrained in the way that I ask the questions and the way that I am engaging the Hon. the Chief Minister, but he really has to be consistent.

165 This morning, he decried the Punch and Judy show, but that is precisely what the Hon. the Chief Minister is now leading this House into through the answers that he has given me.

Can he at least confirm to this House that the legislation has been drafted? That all it needs is a signature from the Minister for the Environment?

170 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, he does not like to be called Judy, he said this morning, and he does not like to throw a punch. So he does not like the idea of a Punch and Judy show, when having said that something was nonsense, I accused him of drawing the House down into a Punch and Judy show. He obviously thought that the word ‘nonsense’ should not relate to such Parliamentary ding-dongs, as might be described as leading to a Punch and Judy show. When I use it, he feels perfectly free to say that one is engaging in a Punch and Judy show. Well, one is getting used to the sort of political hypocrisy that we see emanating from them, even in relation to these issues.

175

I am not going to give him either a blow-by-blow account of which section has been drafted and which has not been drafted, and whether the legislation is just sitting on somebody’s desk to be signed or whether it is with a draftsman who needs to tidy up numbering. Mr Speaker, he will know that the legislation is published when he sees it in the Gazette and then he will know that it is finished. I am not going to give him a management account of the process of regulations.

180

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is the reason why the Government is procrastinating, in relation to this issue, because it remains deeply divided over this issue?

185 Hon. Chief Minister: No.

Mr Speaker: I am not going to allow that question. It does not arise from the original.

190 Hon. Chief Minister: I have answered it.

Mr Speaker: We move on to the next question.
I am very sorry for the Leader of the Opposition, but really he is straying a bit too far.

Q340/2014

Government rent arrears –
Amounts to be written off

Acting Clerk: Question 340, the Hon. D A Feetham.

195 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, has the Government completed the exercise allowing it to make a decision as to how much Government arrears it is to write off, on the grounds that recovery of such amounts is statute barred?

200 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the work of doing this analysis is still ongoing as a large number of accounts need to be analysed individually. Already it would appear that a figure in the region of £1 million is likely to be entirely unrecoverable as a result of failure to pursue debtors within the six-year limitation period, that number may increase or decrease as the analysis continues.

205 Steps are already underway to recover debt that is recoverable, something that should have been ongoing.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I am glad that it is £1 million. Large as £1 million is – and I have to say that it is a very large amount – the last time round he, of course, indicated that it might have been £3 million. Mr Speaker, may I perhaps invite the Hon. the Chief Minister to reverse his intended policy of writing off this amount? I will explain why and ask him whether he agrees with this or he does not.

I quite understand that if a debt is statute barred the Government will not be able to sue for that debt, but it does not prevent the Government from saying to, for example, a tenant, even if the debt is statute barred, 'Well, look, we are taking into account the fact that you owe x amount... statute barred, but it is x amount'. When that person then turns round to Government and says, 'Well, I want' for example 'an upgrade from a two bedroom to a three bedroom', then in my view it would be a perfectly reasonable decision by a public authority to say, 'Unless you enter into an agreement to pay what you owe, statute barred as that may be', and of course the legal effect of that is that the debt is acknowledged and then the limitation period would begin to run all over again. That, at the very least, it would allow some leverage, in my view, proper leverage in relation to the recovery of these debts in the future from people who have not paid.

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, it may still be £3 million. It may still be £3 million, but with the analysis done to date, it is up to £1 million. But I have told him that we have to analyse each account individually, because in some instances, although the figure may be high and it may go back more than six years, there may have been agreements done at different times, and therefore time may start to run again. But it does not seem that they were very proactive when in Government in pursuing this, other than in respect of the people who moved to Mid Harbour and there, there were some such agreements.

230 The Government's thinking today is much like their thinking in relation to those issues. If somebody owes an amount of money and they want something out of the Government, then there may be a price to pay and that may include amounts which are beyond the six-year period; but only when somebody wants something out of the Government.

235 You see, Mr Speaker, what has happened is that under them there has been an a mi me pertenece culture gone wild like never before. (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Yes.) They have not been pursuing people for liabilities to the Government. They have been presiding over a regime where hard-working people paid their dues and people with cara dura got away without paying. They started 13 claims for recovery in 16 years. They disbanded a central arrears unit that took up these issues (Interjections) and now they want us to wipe up after them.

240 Well, Mr Speaker, a very good job we will do too. (Several Members: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks)

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am so very, very glad that he mentions the a mi me pertenece culture in such a wound-up way that he has. (Laughter) I now know that really I am on the right track. (Interjections) I am on the right track in making it a central feature of GSD policy, just simply from the hon. Member's reaction today. But, Mr Speaker, I do not want to look back. What I want to do 245 (Interjections) is get to a situation – (Interjections) yes, absolutely – get to a situation that the correct decisions are made for Gibraltar.

I am just simply alarmed that the Government is considering just simply writing off £1 million to £3 million, just like that – in other words, rewarding the people, who do not pay... rewarding them by writing off. That is wrong. It is wrong in relation to hardworking people in Gibraltar, of which there are many, and that is why, in the spirit of constructiveness, I am asking the Hon. the Chief Minister to consider and reverse the policy that he announced last time round of writing off this money, which appears to me to just simply be a policy devised in order to embarrass this side of the House and keep that debt on the books. Not to write it off and to basically keep it on the books, and then say to people, 'If you want anything from Government in the future, you have got to enter into agreements to repay what you owe', that is different 255 from writing off the money on statute limitation grounds.

Hon. Chief Minister: The hon. Gentleman, Mr Speaker, does not know what he is talking about, and I am very sorry to say it, because he likes to describe himself as a senior partner of a firm that I have very close to my heart. This is not an issue of policy, Mr Speaker. This is an issue of law.

The statute of limitation... the Limitation Act provides that debts due more than six years after they accrued are not recoverable. Now, of course, Mr Speaker, one can, as a matter of policy – and he did not pick it up when I told him before – say to people, 'Although I am not legally entitled to recover this from you, you want this from me and therefore this is the price for it', and I have said that there is mileage in that and it is something that we will pursue; but not everybody wants something from the Government.

Or is it that the hon. Gentleman is saying that because of his Government's failure to recover debt when it was within the limitation period of the Limitation Act, I should tell a youngster, who goes to have an appointment with the doctor or goes to the dentist, 'Mummy and daddy did not pay rent 10 years ago. The GSD did not follow them up for it, you are not having your teeth looked at' or 'you are not having your health provided'? Surely that he cannot say is right for me to have to visit on innocents their negligence, their failure to follow up, their clear electoral politics. Their electoral politics was, 'I side with el cara dura que no paga in order not to turn him against me... I side with the hard faced individuals, who do not pay, in order not to turn them against me'.

Well, Mr Speaker, we will do it the right way. We will pursue debt within the limitation period and we will seek to recover that which is outside the limitation period; but that which is not recoverable outside the limitation period, he should know we have no recourse to law for, and keeping that amount on our accounts is simply to create a false account of what may be recoverable to hide their failure and to spare their blushes. We will not do it, Mr Speaker.

We will behave properly. We will behave honourably. We will clean up after them as much as we can, but there is some mess they have made that is just indelible. (Banging on desks)

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman really has this wonderful quality, I have to say, and I have to compliment him about it, when the sky falls on his head, he takes refuge in absolute waffle, and that is what he has given us now in the answer that he has –

Mr Speaker: The hon. Members are now beginning to debate. They are beginning to throw across the floor of the House fancy sounding phrases, which really have got nothing to do with what is on the Agenda, so I am giving them notice that I shall be bringing these exchanges to a close before very long.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am very grateful for Mr Speaker's intervention, but does he not understand that there is a distinction? It is a distinction that even a junior lawyer would understand, let alone a senior lawyer, and I have never described myself as a senior partner in Hassans (Interjection) No, I have not.

But it would be understandable, even by a junior lawyer, that if you write off something you cannot revive it, and that is what I am saying. If you write something off, it is zero; whereas the technical legal position in relation to debts is that you may not be able... indeed, you may be able to sue and the defence is an absolute one, which is the limitation period has expired, but it does not render the debt null and void ab initio. It is a defence and what I am saying is do not write it off. It would not be in the Government's interest. Keep it on the books, because in the future it may well be that within reasonable circumstances that the Government may be able to say to somebody, 'If you want something from the Government', for 300 example, an upgrade in Government housing, ‘you are going to have to enter into an agreement with the Government to repay what you owe historically’.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do not think he wanted to hear what I said the first time or the second time about that aspect of what he is saying.

305 I am very clear in what the position is legally. I did not need him to explain it to me. All of this, Mr Speaker, that we are seeing is the usual dissembling in order to hide the huge embarrassment that hon. Members opposite must feel, because under them, under them, debt to the Government went up from £600,000 to close on £4 million under them. That huge embarrassment which they have, siding with those who are on the a mi me pertenece side of the balance sheet, against those who work hard and pay their debts. That, Mr Speaker, is the huge embarrassment that they have to deal with today and this is what we are seeing. All this dissembling has to do simply with trying to hide that.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, I wonder if the Hon. Chief Minister could help me with this.

315 I have heard criticism expressed of the fact that – not here, I mean in the street by others – the previous Government, that is us, were insufficiently selective in who we allocated houses to in the new housing estate in Mid Harbour and that too many people were put there because they were at the right place in the waiting list who the Government should have known may have had difficulty keeping up with the rents. Of course, leaving to one side the debate that he has just had with the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition about statute barred or not statute barred Government debt, there is no doubt, I suspect, that there is particularly in respect of the Mid Harbour Estate, although others as well, an increasing problem of rent arrears accumulation.

320 Would the hon. Member consider, in terms of the opportunities that the Government has to oblige people to pay their rent, particularly in the more desirable estates like the newer ones of which the latest is Mid Harbour, exercising the rights that I believe the Government’s tenancy agreements give the Government to rehouse people from the more desirable estates to the less desirable estates, if they fall into arrears of their rent?

325 Now that, it seems to me, if the Government wants to avoid the same trap as he thinks that we fell into of shameful allowing of arrears of rent... I mean if they spend long enough in Government, it may happen to them if they do not come up with some mechanism to prevent people from accumulating rent arrears on the new estates as well. Would the Hon. Chief Minister consider using the power to rehouse, contained in all Government tenancy agreements?

330 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, if I may say so, the hon. Gentleman, when he dealt with the Mid Harbour Estate, created, perhaps inevitably, some issues in that estate because of the people who were moved into there having certain rights under the Housing List. But, again, in having this debate, Mid Harbour Estate actually is helpful to the current Government because one of the criteria for moving was that people should sign arrears agreements that recognise their liability for that rent arrear; therefore, time has started to run again in respect of those rent arrears. The amount of rent arrears that is associated with the Mid Harbour Estate, which is £371,000 when I last looked at it last month, does not actually represent in very great measure rent due from tenancies in that Estate, but rent carried over and brought by tenants into that Estate.

340 There is, for example, one account that sticks in my mind which is £17,000. If I may say so, with respect to the hon. Gentleman, I think that is the sort of case that enabled him to do what he is proposing to me now, which I think is laudable, namely the £17,000 represents rent due for more than six years, but there has had to be an acknowledgement by the person who has moved of that amount and therefore the six years run again because that person wanted the advantage of moving. That is not to say that one would have been able to sue for the whole of that £17,000, without that person wanting something from the Government, and hence why... What the Hon. Gentleman does not appear to have wanted to hear from me was my agreement that if somebody wants something from the Government, we would be able to revive those arrears, but it is otherwise not sensible to carry those arrears as live debts to the Government, which is what it appears to be today in the books of the Government and what the Principal Auditor is saying is really quite unacceptable.

345 But there are also, if I may say so, other mechanisms that allow the Government to act in relation, for example, to some of the people at Mid Harbour Estate, who have let him and Gibraltar down, because they have moved, signed an arrears agreement, and then stopped paying again – that is not everyone, there are some who signed an arrears agreement and honourably have been discharging their arrears agreement and their current rent. There are good people and less honourable people in every estate in Gibraltar.

350 There are other tools that Government can use, which do not just involve saying to somebody, ‘Well, you are moving back to a particular area’. Something which is moving somebody out of a home is not easy to do and it would require all sorts of bailiffs and forcing people etc, and that is very hard to do. There are other mechanisms that Government can use, given the services that are provided in any estate, such as Mid Harbour, which can make it very unattractive for people not to have paid their arrears, and those are the things that the Government is looking at very carefully.

365 If I may say so, Mr Speaker, given that the hon. Members opposite are now given to talking about how things have changed, he will excuse me for having decried the practice in the past 16 years that gave rise to this increase in arrears. Mid Harbour was actually a shining example of managing them, in some respect, because it is not just me that decries what used to happen 16 years ago. Even on the hon. Member's Twitter account at GSD Gibraltar I saw a couple of days ago, two years in Opposition transformed GSD. Sixteen years in opposition, same old GSLP. Even they are not proud of his legacy, and I am very sorry. He did some very good things for Gibraltar.

370

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q341/2014
Bullying at work –
Extent of abuse

Acting Clerk: Question 341, the Hon. D A Feetham.

375 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, can I remind the Hon. Mr Selwyn Figueras that he has not retweeted. Out of all the MPs, he has not retweeted that particular tweet from the GSD. (Interjections and laughter)

Does the Chief Minister agree that bullying at work is a form of abuse of those who are at the receiving end of such bullying and that the extent of that abuse is a question of fact and degree?

380

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, after this House passed the Employment (Bullying at Work) Act 2014, the hon. Member's question is really asking for legal advice. I can refer him to a good lawyer if he wishes. (Laughter)

385

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q342/2014
No. 6 Convent Place –
Refurbishment; cost to taxpayer

Acting Clerk: Question 342, the Hon. D A Feetham.

390 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, what has been the cost to the taxpayer of the recent refurbishment at No. 6 Convent Place?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

395 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the cost of the refurbishment to the entrance to No. 6 Convent Place has not been costed as a separate part of the ongoing works of refurbishment and extension of No. 6 Convent Place.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, it may be costed separately, but does he have the cost there at hand so that he can provide me with the figures?

Hon. Chief Minister: No, I do not, Mr Speaker, but it is something that we will be looking at, I am sure, during the course of the appropriation debate.

405 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the reason why I have asked this question is because the Government keep on – as indeed they have done today, in relation to Dr Giraldi, and they have done today as well in relation to Commonwealth Park – seem to be drawing the distinction between providing costs when a project is ongoing and providing costs when the project is finished. The Government's position in relation to the two examples, that I have just outlined or just mentioned, is that they will provide the cost at the end.

410 This appears to have concluded... this refurbishment. What is the problem of providing me with the information now so that I do not have to wait until the Appropriation Bill, other than that it is the answer that he just simply wants to give me on a whim?

415 Hon. Chief Minister: Not at all, Mr Speaker. The refurbishment of the entrance has not yet finished in fact. There are parts of it which are still ongoing and parts of it which are connected very much to the wider refurbishment of Convent Place, and therefore I do not want to fall into trap of giving him a figure, which he then says is not actually the figure of the entrance and I should have given him something else, and then face one of these whimsical allegations that he makes once in a while, when he gets out of the wrong side of bed, that I have misled Parliament. So I would much rather give him the full set of figures when they are ready and he can then choose and determine for himself which part he calls the entrance, and which part he does not call the entrance. If he says it is just the façade, then it is just the façade. If it is the façade and the security guard, then it is the façade and the security guard. There is the area behind, which is the new waiting room, the corridor, the two offices on the side and the connection just behind.

420 What is the entrance, Mr Speaker? Is it the fixing of the old side entrance to No. 6? All of those issues, Mr Speaker, could be determined to be the entrance to No. 6, and I do not want to give a figure which misleads the House. I will give him the figure for the whole of the works at No. 6 and then he can look at the breakdown and decide what it is that he wants.

425 He is right, Mr Speaker. I am resisting giving him a management account of the works. I will give him all the account of the works.

430 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, no, I am not being whimsical, either on this particular occasion or on previous occasions. When I actually accuse the hon. Gentleman of misleading the House, it is because he has actually misled the House, and that there are real whoppers of misleading the House that he has uttered.

435 Hon. Chief Minister: A Point of Order, Mr Speaker.
That is an accusation, Mr Speaker, in the clearest terms, that I have misled the House, and the hon. Gentleman has a mechanism in order to do that, and it is to bring a motion. I invite him to do so. I will demonstrate to him in the motion, Mr Speaker, that he is not just whimsical when he makes these allegations, he is wrong. When I do that, I expect he will want to give me an apology.

440 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, yes.
Mr Speaker, when I make allegations of this nature I am very careful in making them, and I make them when I have got grounds. Every single time I have said to the Hon. the Chief Minister that he has misled the Parliament it is because I believe that I am correct in doing so. And indeed, on the one occasion – because it is one occasion that I have done so – most of the people of Gibraltar, in my view, also agree with me.

445 But if I have offended, Mr Speaker, the procedure of this House by saying to him that he has misled the House without bringing a motion, I apologise to Mr Speaker.

450 Hon. Chief Minister: With respect, Mr Speaker, and I would ask that you rule on this. The hon. Member has got away, in that phraseology before now, of saying the words that he seems so keen to say, that I have misled the House.

Well, look, Mr Speaker, if we are going to play it that way, I will be putting to him constantly that he repeatedly misleads the House and the people of Gibraltar, but that I just do not have time to bring motions to demonstrate the number of occasions when he does so. That is not what Parliament is and what the Parliamentary Rules are about.

455 If you are going to make a statement, you have to follow it up with a motion. I throw down the glove and the cudgel to him. Bring the motion and I will show you how wrong you are. You have not done so before, Mr Speaker, I put it to him before, because he knows the minute he brings the motion I will wipe the floor with him. (Interjections)

460 Mr Speaker: As hon. Members are aware, I have ruled that I have no power to investigate any allegations of misleading... Parliament being misled and that therefore the only avenue is for Parliament itself, by debating and voting on a motion, to decide the issue.

465 So, in so far as that is concerned, I have no power to impose anything, but allegations, such as those, if hon. Members ask that such allegations be withdrawn on an honourable basis, that is a matter really for them. I cannot interfere directly, but I would wish that hon. Members were able to overcome such problems themselves.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker –

470 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker –

Hon. Chief Minister: – it is out of order to put –

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am on my feet –

475 Hon. Chief Minister: So am I.

Hon. D A Feetham: – and I have the microphone. (Interjections) I figure that I have the advantage because I have got the microphone – (Laughter)

480 Hon. Chief Minister: That is technology. It has got nothing to do with the Rules of this House. I was up first –

Hon. D A Feetham: I will give way. I will give way –

485 Mr Speaker: Very well.

Hon. D A Feetham: – to the Hon. the Chief Minister.

490 Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, thank you.

I do not recognise that the hon. Gentleman has given way to me. (Laughter) I am speaking because I have asked to speak (Laughter) and they can laugh as much as they like, Mr Speaker, but the Procedures and Rules of this House are essential for the workings of our democracy and they are not to make a mockery of them.

495 One should not put... in fact the Rules say one must not say that another individual is misleading the House, other than upon motion, and therefore it is out of order for the hon. Gentleman to have said that of me or of any other Member, other than upon motion. He should not be allowed, Mr Speaker, to say, ‘and I am not going to bring a motion to say it’. This Rule is essential to the working of every Parliament, which is governed by the Westminster principle, and I ask, Mr Speaker, that you rule on that.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I?

500 Mr Speaker, the only reason why I have not brought a motion is a reason of principle. I have not brought a motion because I believe that it is fundamentally wrong in a modern democracy for a Member of Parliament to... there is an allegation that the Member of Parliament has lied and there is no independent adjudication of that allegation, but that it has to be dealt with by way of a motion in relation to which it will always get defeated by the Government, because the Government has an inherent majority.

510 And I equally throw down the gauntlet to the Hon. the Chief Minister. Go to independent adjudication in relation to whether he lied or did not lie in relation to Credit Finance. But what I am not going to do is bring a motion to this House, which he knows that he will defeat because he has a majority and that is not... in my view that serves no purpose at all in a modern democracy (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: May I say that having mentioned that the only recourse that hon. Members have is to bring a motion, that of course immediately raises a question that it is very much in the nature of things that any motion which the Opposition bring can be defeated by a Government majority. That happens in all Parliaments, but that is not the purpose, surely. (Interjection) It is not entirely the purpose of bringing a motion. They very rarely succeed.

520 In the House of Commons there has been one instance of an allegation of a Member misleading the House, and that was the late John Profumo, and there has been one instance in the last, what... 15 years, of an Opposition motion of confidence succeeding and that was when Mrs Thatcher defeated the then Government, other than that, it just does not happen. But surely, that is not the purpose. The purpose is this is a debating Chamber and whether a motion is carried or is not, it gives an opportunity for Members to air public issues. This is what I have been encouraging them to do, and I am not being entirely successful.

525 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman has made other allegations. He has said that I have lied. He has said it now in relation to Credit Finance.

I am going to say categorically and clearly to this Parliament. I have never misled it and I have never lied to it. I have too much respect for the mace, for the Speaker and for everyone in this Chamber, including Members opposite, ever to utter an untruth from this Chair or from when I was sitting over there. If the hon.

530 Gentleman wants to taint my character, he should have the courage to have the debate with me which allows him to make those statements. He knows he cannot. He knows, Mr Speaker, he is the liar.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q343/2014

Long-term resident British citizens –
Review of Gibraltar Status Act

535 Acting Clerk: Question 343, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, what does the Government intend to do about the situation facing long-term British citizens, who live in Gibraltar, love this country, consider themselves to be Gibraltarian and in some instances even represent this country in international competitions, but are not considered Gibraltarian for the purpose of the Gibraltarian Status Act?

540 This question crossed over with a press release that the Hon. the Chief Minister or the Deputy Chief Minister issued on this particular topic.

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

545 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, long-term resident British citizens, who are not Gibraltarians under the existing and outdated statutory definition, are in this Government's view very much Gibraltarians, as they are here because they have Gibraltar in their hearts as much as any registered Gibraltarians do.

550 Mr Speaker, if 25 years was a long time in the 1950s, it is an extraordinarily long time in the digital world of 24-hour news, and instant communication. Today, most people can move and live where they wish in the European Union or elsewhere in the world and a 10-year commitment to Gibraltar means as much as a 25-year commitment all those years ago.

555 For that reason, Mr Speaker, and as we committed ourselves to do at the election, late last year this Government commenced the process of reviewing the Gibraltarian Status Act with a view to (a) enabling such long-term British citizens who lived in Gibraltar for more than 10 years to register as Gibraltarians at an earlier time; and (b) equalising the relationship between both parents of illegitimate children.

With this in mind, sections 3 and 9 of the Gibraltarian Status Act have been reviewed by the pertinent Department and draft amendments are being considered, which will be brought to this House in due course.

560 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, as I said publicly, I welcome that the Government has taken this decision. It is only just and proper in our view that British citizens, who have lived for a considerable period of time – and 10 years is a considerable period of time – ought to be able to qualify, under the Gibraltar Status Act, as Gibraltarians. There are many, many people living in Gibraltar of British citizenship who consider themselves being Gibraltarian by choice, and I think that it would be very welcome indeed by those people also.

565 But, Mr Speaker, there has been an element of confusion in my view and conflating of the term 'Gibraltarian', for the purpose of the Gibraltarian Status Act, and the qualifying criteria for the purposes of somebody going on to a Government Housing List. Does the Chief Minister agree with me that in fact one is not necessarily connected to the other, and that somebody who is British, that has lived here in Gibraltar for 10 years or over, will also be able to qualify for Government housing and then obviously qualify to purchase the Government's affordable homes?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do.

575 I think the position is extraordinarily clear. The form, which has to be filled in, contains both the criteria, as disjunctive criteria, namely... are you a registered Gibraltarian or a British citizen resident in Gibraltar for more than 10 years.

580 It is so clear, Mr Speaker, that there are hundreds of the... I will happily disclose this afternoon, Mr Speaker, hundreds of the 3,000, almost, applications received which relate to just such people, and therefore it is very clear that the Rule has been interpreted properly by those who wish to apply. Given that there are 854 flats, Mr Speaker, and given that there are 3,000-odd applications, it would appear that this has not prejudiced anyone who read the form.

Q344/2014
European Single Sky legislation –
Gibraltar’s exclusion by European Parliament

Acting Clerk: Question 344, the Hon. D A Feetham.

585 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, what representations has the UK Government made to the Gibraltar Government as to what it intends to do following the exclusion of Gibraltar from the new European Single Sky legislation by the European Parliament on Thursday 12th March?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

590 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the Government will not be providing a detailed account of the representations that the UK Government has made to the Gibraltar Government as to what it intends to do on this or on any other matter, save that the hon. Member can assume that this is an area of constant communication between both Governments. In fact the exclusion referred to, Mr Speaker, was not to a new European Single Sky piece of legislation, but to a draft regulation which amended or sought to improve upon an existing measure. The Gibraltar exclusion clause was included by the European Commission in this draft Regulation because it was also included in the regulation that it so seeks to amend.

595 The Córdoba Agreement commits Spain to cease to seek the suspension of Gibraltar Airport from any EU Aviation measure not yet adopted. However, the Single European Sky is not a new measure.

600 The commitment contained in the Córdoba Agreement that covers existing measures, as opposed to new ones, is a different clause. This provides that not later than six months from the date of its signing, Spain would join the UK in procuring the formal lifting of Gibraltar’s Airport’s suspension from the application of all EU Aviation measures.

605 It is regrettable that the formal lifting of Gibraltar’s Airport’s suspension from all EU Aviation measures did not materialise between March 2007, i.e. six months after the signing of the Córdoba Accords in September 2006, when the procuring was sought, and November 2011, when the Partido Popular was elected into Government. Indeed Mr Speaker, if the suspension clause had been lifted from past aviation measures, as the Córdoba Agreement envisaged, it could not have been put forward by the EU Commission in this one.

610 Finally, Mr Speaker, the question incorrectly refers to the vote of the European Parliament as of Thursday 12th March. For the record, the correct date is Wednesday 12th March.

615 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, he says he is not going to provide what representations the United Kingdom Government has made to the Gibraltar Government as to what it intends to do, and that the communication is fluid between the two Governments. Is he satisfied that the United Kingdom Government will do everything that it can do, that is within its power, in order to ensure that this is not repeated when the legislation goes before the European Council?

620 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am satisfied that that is the intention evinced to us, but I will not be satisfied until this matter has been dealt with. As I told the Foreign Affairs Committee, who came to take evidence from me in Gibraltar two weeks ago at the Garrison Library, I believe that we should really judge these issues on the basis of results, and if we continue to be excluded, then in my view not enough has been done.

625 Hon. D A Feetham: But, Mr Speaker, has he... so that I can assess how far the Government is itself satisfied on some objective basis, has he been told, ‘We are going to be doing everything that we can’ or has he been told, ‘Look, we are going to be doing x, y and z. This is what we are going to be doing. We believe this is enough and the Government of Gibraltar agrees with that’? I mean what is... which of the two?

630 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am not going to get into what I consider to be confidential diplomatic communications between the Government of Gibraltar and the Government of the United Kingdom, but I will say that we know in detail what is being done and we are involved in that detail. We are not just being told, ‘We will do lots to try and help you’. We are actually involved in determining what can be done and how the process will be followed through to ensure that each of those opportunities is taken to do something about this.

635 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, thank you very much.

640 So given that the Government is involved in essentially that road map as to what the United Kingdom is to be doing in order to hopefully ensure that this is not repeated in relation to Gibraltar within the European Council, is he satisfied that that road map is a sufficiently robust road map to reach the goal that he and I both obviously want for Gibraltar?

645 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, this is European politics. The hon. the now backbencher described European politics – I think when he was leader of the Opposition – as essentially, at European Council stage, a horse trading table, where unfortunately one particular state might not be able to get its way even if it wanted to, especially when measures rely on qualified majority voting to be finally adopted, given the new procedures of the EU.

650 So, Mr Speaker, I am not going to shift from my own view as I have expressed to the Foreign Affairs Committee and I have expressed to this House a few moments ago, that until the exclusions are lifted the Government of Gibraltar will not be satisfied.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, would the Hon. Chief Minister agree with me that it is disgraceful and lamentable that the result of the vote in the European Parliament, to which this question relates, was brought about, in part, with the support of British Members of the European Parliament?

655 Indeed, of a party that formed the Government of the United Kingdom at the time of the Córdoba Agreements with whom Spain agreed not to do this, and whose Foreign Secretary sat with me accepting Spain's undertaking and agreement not to do so, and if the hon. Member agrees with me that it is lamentable that British Labour and other parties and MEPs have contributed to this outcome for Gibraltar, is there anything that he believes that Gibraltar should do to mobilise in the context of the forthcoming 660 European Parliamentary elections in the United Kingdom to point out to constituents of those MEPs that have perpetrated this perfidy of British interests, that this is the apparent duplicity to which their Members have... yes, Mr Speaker, because this is not even inter-party UK politics. It was a British Prime Minister and a British Foreign Secretary that did this agreement with us and that they had clearly violated and voted in favour of Spain, violating the agreement that their own party did with Spain when they formed the 665 Government of the United Kingdom. I am astonished that this aspect has not...

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for that intervention from the hon. Gentleman, but I am afraid I do not recognise that what he is saying is entirely correct.

670 The information that the Government has is not that British Labour MEPs voted against Gibraltar's interest. It may be that Members of the PES, the Party of European Socialists, which includes Irish Members, who have names which might appear to be British, may have voted in some respects against Gibraltar, but the information the Government has is that there are no British Labour Party MEPs that voted against the measure.

675 The hon. Gentleman may wish to bear with me as I tell him that the way the vote went was not exactly as anticipated. (Interjection) Right, in fact the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister confirms to me, if you will just bear with me, that the information available to the Government is that all United Kingdom MEPs of all parties, apart from two Members of the Green Party, voted for Gibraltar. And, if he will bear with me, it appears that there was some confusion involving one particular group in the Parliament because an 680 amendment was moved which was favourable to Gibraltar. Therefore voting down the Spanish amendments required a whip that said to all Brits and those supportive groups, 'Vote against amendments'; but yet, some well-meaning knight in shining armour turned up with a pro Gibraltar amendment and that may have upset the applecart in some ways.

685 Some people might have thought they were supporting Gibraltar by supporting an amendment, which they had been told to turn up to do... you know, vote in respect of an amendment relating to Gibraltar. The vote had to be no to all amendments, except that it was this pro-Gibraltar amendment that crept up and may have made some people think that they had to vote in favour of all amendments to be in favour of Gibraltar, because only one of them mentioned it. So this is the difficulty. So, if he will allow me, the information the Government has in relation to British MEPs is that, and I would ask him not to press me further as to what 690 might happen next.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Well, I will not. But, Mr Speaker, that is not how it has been reported, and it is important that if the facts that he is now laying before the House are true, that that information hopefully will be spread.

695 I, for my part, on the basis that what he is now saying to the House is true, which I have no reason to doubt, I of course withdraw my own observations on the matter, but I suspect that public opinion in Gibraltar does not understand this because of the way the matter has been reported here.

700 Hon. Chief Minister: If I may say so, with respect to the hon. Gentleman, Mr Speaker, I had not picked that up from any of the reporting I had seen. I actually thought it had been accurately reported and that is why I was so surprised to see him really mount his white charger in the way he had.

He can rest assured that if it had come to my attention that any Member of the British Labour Party had voted against Gibraltar, I would already have done very much about it, not least because, as he rightly points out, they were in Government at the time that the Córdoba Agreements were entered into.

705 He will know, Mr Speaker, from his time occupying the post I now occupy, that the Chairman for many years of the relevant Committee in Brussels is a British Labour Member, Mr Brian Thomson MEP, who has been extraordinarily helpful to Gibraltar throughout his tenure. Unfortunately we lose Brian in May, because he is not standing again, having had a great career in Brussels for over 20 or 30 years. So, Mr Speaker, he can rest assured that in relation to any British Member, who might, with malice aforethought, want to act contrary to the interests of Gibraltar, there would have been a huge campaign mounted by Gibraltar.

Q345/2014
UK membership within EU –
Renegotiation; impact on Gibraltar

Acting Clerk: Question 345, the Hon. D A Feetham.

715 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, has the Chief Minister had any discussions with the United Kingdom Government over the last year about the impact on Gibraltar of the British Prime Minister's attempts to renegotiate UK membership within the EU?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

720 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, yes, sir.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I will remind the hon. Gentleman there is a motion that was passed unanimously by this House calling on the Chief Minister to keep the Leader of the Opposition apprised of all developments in relation to any discussions that he has had with the United Kingdom Government.

725 Whilst I do not want to extract information that he may feel may be embarrassing across the floor of this House, obviously he has not briefed me in relation to any of these issues and I am asking him whether anything arises in the last year that he thinks he ought to brief me, bearing in mind that motion that was agreed unanimously by this House over a year ago, in fact?

730 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, no, sir.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is he satisfied, because I gather from that that these exchanges could not have possibly been of any seismic... or information that has been communicated to the Chief Minister could not have been important, otherwise, no doubt, bearing in mind the unanimous approved motion of this House, he would have communicated to the Leader of the Opposition?

735 Is he satisfied that Gibraltar's position is being protected as much as possible, difficult as the situation is, in those discussions between Mr Cameron and the EU attempting to renegotiate the United Kingdom's terms of membership within the EU, because as far as we are concerned, the issue is not Gibraltar participating in a referendum, which effectively is going to be a fait accompli of a renegotiated package hopefully... negotiated by Mr Cameron, it is about trying to influence that package so that it does not impact adversely on Gibraltar? Is he satisfied that the United Kingdom has that point firmly in its grasp and that that is what is going to happen?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am tempted to just get up and say, 'yes, sir' again. But the hon. Gentleman needs to understand that I am not going to be briefing him on things that are public. I assume he is not expecting me to call him and read him The Times. When things are public they are public. There are hugely important issues at stake for Gibraltar, but there are also hugely important issues at stake for the United Kingdom, and he, I assume, is following that debate. There is no renegotiation.

745 Angela Merkel the Chancellor of the German Federal Republic addressed both Houses of Parliament in Westminster Hall two weeks ago and said, 'There is no renegotiation. I am not here to give support to a renegotiation'. One of the biggest criticisms of the Rt Hon. the Prime Minister is that he has talked about a renegotiation, but he is not renegotiating because he is not enjoying traction with anyone in respect of that.

The hon. Member knows – and it is now public – that Gibraltar will vote in any such referendum should there be a Conservative Administration after 2015. That issue, to an extent, is not going to be hugely advantageous to Gibraltar if we get to a situation where the United Kingdom was to pull out of the EU. We have said we do not want out. We vote as one more of an electorate of 40-odd million people and then the majority vote out. So what use might that be to us?

But, there are, Mr Speaker, I have told him before, earlier chickens coming home to roost, where again these issues are public, and I must assume that the is aware of them. For example, in relation to the Justice and Home Affairs issues, the Balance of Competences review, which the United Kingdom is holding a public consultation on and consults the Government of Gibraltar on as well, involving what were known in the old days as fifth pillar measures.

Those issues are hugely concerning and they require a lot of interaction between the Government of Gibraltar and the Government of the United Kingdom, but that is to an extent almost administrative interaction about how to protect Gibraltar's interests in the context of those issues, where the United Kingdom made choices at the time that these things were created to be able to review its position x number of years down the line. Those are more actual and those are potentially just as dangerous to Gibraltar as what the hon. Gentleman is talking about, which is the renegotiation, which is what the motion is about.

But, again, I am assuming that everything I am saying he is aware of, because this is in the public domain, and he does not expect me to call him to read him The Times.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, even when I try to keep the temperatures of these exchanges as cool as possible, the hon. Gentleman makes it very difficult because he peppers every single answer with personalised, unnecessarily personalised barbs. (Interjection) Of course I read the press. I may not read The Times, but I certainly read the press.

But, what is he saying to me, Mr Speaker? That he is confident. That Mr Cameron is not going to be able to renegotiate anything with the European Union and that is why he is not concerned about it? Because quite frankly, I would have thought that bearing in mind European politics being what it is, that I do not think that one can say with absolute certainty that Mr Cameron is not going to be successful in his attempts to renegotiate, and what I am asking is...

Well, look, if he takes the view the Government's position is we are confident none of this is going to happen, therefore it is not relevant. But look, if it is potentially it might happen, is he satisfied that Gibraltar's position is being protected? Is he satisfied that the UK Government have all Gibraltar issues at the forefront of their minds, so that we do not end up with a situation where we are presented with a fait accompli when the time comes? I think it is a perfectly reasonable logical question.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I just do not recognise that I have said anything barbed, even when I give him the benefit of the doubt. I have said I assume he reads the paper and he does not want me to call him to do that, and so I have given him the benefit of the doubt, but he sometimes somehow feels that I have slighted him though. Perish the thought, Mr Speaker.

What I am saying to him is not that I do not think that this will happen, because if I were to say that Mr Speaker, then I would be venturing an opinion as to the result of the next General Election in the United Kingdom. I am not doing that. I do not know who is going to win the Election in the United Kingdom, therefore I do not know whether we are going to get to an in/out referendum in 2017, or whether in fact the party leaders will all be, as they have been up till now, favouring a yes vote to stay in the EU.

What I am saying to him, and I am saying this as objectively as possible for him to verify, if he is reading the newspapers... and I said The Times. Okay, he can read whatever he likes, but I find the coverage in The Mirror, The Sun and The Daily Express is not as in depth as The Times in relation to these issues; but anyway, it might be that he reads the tablet or the FT.

Mr Speaker, the fact is that the renegotiation is not happening. There is nothing to influence in that respect at the moment, because the Rt Hon. the Prime Minister's attempt to prise open the renegotiation has not yet yielded results. There is therefore nothing to consult beyond the consultation that we have had already about being involved when the process begins. But he has also heard me say, Mr Speaker, and I say it here as I said it to the FAC, as I said it outside of Gibraltar in Brussels when I have been there, and he no doubt has heard me say it in the press as a result, that there are some instances where Gibraltar may want more Europe than the UK wants.

Even today, outside of a renegotiation, those things have to be explored, and he will have heard me say on a number of occasions that the issues as to Schengen are issues where Gibraltar may want a different result than the United Kingdom has wanted for some time. I cannot say that we do, but we may, and it is an issue for determination and investigation. The issues as to membership of the Common Customs Union and Excise Union etc are issues which bear, if not constant, because constant means every day, then periodical review, because the undoubtedly right decision made by the Administration of Sir Joshua Hassan in 1973, when Gibraltar joined the Union, to stay out of the Common Customs Union then when the rest of the 815 European Economic Community, as it then was, ended at Four Corners and started again in the Pyrenees, might not be the right decision today, given how the world has changed and how commerce has changed. It is now to a very great extent powered online and so all of those things are relevant, looking forward to our relationship to the European Union, in some degree.

820 But the renegotiation, which is what he is asking about, is not happening, and that is what I am telling him. It may happen after 2015. It may start to happen tomorrow and we may find ourselves then involved; but at the moment it is just not happening.

825 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the reason why I have asked this question is precisely for the very reason that he has explained. It may well be that Gibraltar's interests on many of these issues may not be completely ad idem with the interests of the United Kingdom, and it is precisely because I want to ascertain whether the Government of Gibraltar is (i) alert to this, but (ii) actually communicating with the United Kingdom Government in such a way that it is making them aware of our own, effectively, position in relation to some of these issues so that they can take them on board when they engage with the European Union on these issues.

830 But, can he help me with this? Is it that the Government has already communicated the Gibraltar position, if I may call it that, to the United Kingdom Government when the Hon. the Chief Minister met with UK officials at the beginning of last year and that he is satisfied that if the process were to continue – in other words, the process of renegotiation with the European Union – that the Gibraltar Government has already said everything that it needs to say in relation to Gibraltar's position, and that he is satisfied that the United Kingdom Government has actually taken those on board?

835 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, a long time ago. Not just at the beginning of last year, but when the spectre of renegotiation was raised and when analysing Gibraltar's membership of the EU with officials in the United Kingdom because of issues that relates to transposition of directives, as much as relating to frontier flow, even before some of the current issues that we are seeing at the frontier.

840 But it is not just interests, Mr Speaker, that may not be perfectly aligned between the United Kingdom and Gibraltar, it is politics, and politics and interest can sometimes be very different things, and the politics of the European Union in the United Kingdom is to a very great extent poisoned, in many respects, by some of the attitudes that people in the United Kingdom might have to the European Union, which may not necessarily reflect what their interests may be, and hence why the three party leaders are all saying we should stay in, but renegotiate, and many people, and if you believe the polls, more than half would say we want out.

845 Who is right about where the interests of the United Kingdom are? So there is a lot of politics here as well. Our politics is different. I have said repeatedly, Mr Speaker, that we are exchanging views with the United Kingdom in this respect and in respect of the ongoing issues. We have put our position in respect of renegotiation, but renegotiation has not moved.

850 But what I am saying to him, Mr Speaker, and he should be more concerned about, is that other things have moved and other things are moving, and there we are very confident that the United Kingdom understands what our position is. But, I would not accept from him, Mr Speaker, what he has said about when they go they are aware of what our position is, as if they – meaning the United Kingdom – are the people who are going to represent us in this, full stop.

855 My view is, Mr Speaker, that Gibraltar has expertise in European Union issues and that in many instances it is important that we are there when those changes... let us not call it renegotiation, which is the treaty aspect, but changes, like the fifth pillar measures etc, issues are being dealt with, and we may need to be there, not the negotiator, but with the negotiating team, because we are able to point out when things arise that that new issue matters to Gibraltar, because otherwise we may find that something is presented to us three weeks after it has become a draft in Brussels. Once it has become a draft in Brussels, it is much harder to shift, and I see the hon. Gentleman, the hon. the backbencher indicating that he would more or less agree with me in this respect.

860 If you look at what it is that has happened with the Single Skies, it is much harder to shift a draft once it has gone against you, and it is much easier to ensure if you are there at the time that things do not creep into drafts, which are dangerous. So I do not even accept that they, the United Kingdom, should be solely responsible for what happens, and that we should have people who know about Gibraltar issues intimately – and nobody knows that better than the Gibraltarian expertise that we have in EU matters – if possible, as part of teams when these issues are being dealt with.

870 Mr Speaker: next question.

Q346/2014

Europa Point –

Proposed site for UEFA football stadium

Acting Clerk: Question 346, the Hon D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is the Government satisfied that Europa Point is the best location for the proposed new UEFA football stadium?

875

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, yes, sir.

880

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, has the Government together with the GFA explored alternative sites? Is it a case where this is really the only site where a football stadium can be located? Are there other sites or it is just that this one is, in the Government's view and the GFA, a preferable site?

885

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, given the geography of Gibraltar, there are not many sites, and this is the only site, which in the Government's view, is viable. You could reclaim more and create a stadium. You could have one a mile and a half off Eastern Beach if you were prepared to spend the money. You could have one on the Eastern Beach reclamation if you are prepared to forego the huge economic advantages for Gibraltar of developing the East Side in a different way. But given the responsibilities that he would have if he were sitting – perish the thought – in my chair, which involves looking not just at how to play football and where best to play it, but also to ensure that Gibraltar's socio-economic needs are met, then this is the best site for the job.

890

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, overlooking the fact that 'perish the thought' is the language of Punch and Judy, I accept what the hon. Member has just said that it is not as if we are spoilt for choices of sites, and the question of the opportunity cost of other sites is also an important factor to take into account.

895

On the other hand, the hon. Member must be aware, and I hope concerned about the fact, that there is a groundswell of public opinion that deeply regrets and indeed is strongly opposed to the Europa Point expansive site being used for this purpose.

900

I wonder whether the hon. Members have considered, and it may be that they have and either because it is too small or for other reasons rejected it, but I wonder if the hon. Members have considered the site where we were going to build the power station – and apparently they are no longer going to do so, unless they are at some point – in other words further up the slope where the stadium would be, sort of, less obtrusive, in the sense that it would be disguised by the immediate cliff backdrop behind it, which is one of the reasons why it was acceptable to us to build a power station there. This is basically using the site of the old Lathbury Barracks parade ground. It may not be big enough. It is just a thought. Being further up the cliff it would be much less obtrusive and much less visible on the Gibraltar profile. It is just a thought, but I just wondered whether the hon. Members are still open to alternative sites or whether this has now moved beyond that point?

905

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, nobody likes to do something which is unpopular, and if the Government found a site which was more popular with some, or with the majority, then we would be delighted to have been able to find it. But I do not recognise that there is such a huge groundswell of opinion. I recognise there are many people who think it is the wrong site. Many of those who have expressed a view as to the site have then said, 'Well, actually, if it looked slightly different, it might be alright even there'.

915

So there are views – and the hon. Gentleman has done my job for 16 years and if it is difficult to draft a letter by a committee of three, imagine how difficult it is to find a space for a stadium the size of this one if you are consulting 30,000 people – there are views about many aspects, but if you go into the changing rooms of the GFA, for example, everybody is of the view that it is lovely. It should go at the Lighthouse and we should start breaking ground tomorrow.

920

But let us understand what the process here has been. The GFA has approached the Government to work with it and with UEFA to identify sites, and we have done so looking at size, and not just size, but size is hugely important here. From recollection, I think at Lathbury it did not fit, in particular because he will recall that that area is slightly higgledy-piggledy because there are things that the MOD have retained. Accessibility is through a single corridor at the moment, Devil's Bellows, and when you are trying to get between eight and 12,000 people in and out of a stadium, that could be very dangerous indeed. There is, dare I say it, I think a green lane which is (Interjection) a green corridor which is relevant to the Barbary

925

Partridge, that is so close to the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition's heart. We would not for one moment want to interfere with that and it is therefore not the right site.

930 We have looked at many other potential sites. I am not an architect and I am not a designer, and I may or may not like the design of the stadium more or less, but that is much different to accepting that Europa Point, as it is today, is an iconic site. There may be aspects of what Europa Point is today that are iconic, but there are many parts of it which are simply almost a waste ground, because the cricket ground is really just a flat earth area with a pitch that we would not want our people playing on if we could provide something better. So to take just that site and perhaps have a much better design, in some ways that is more 935 in keeping with what people might like to see there, may in the end be the right option.

People say, 'Well, what about the Victoria Stadium, could you not do it there? Is it because Spain objects because it is on the Isthmus?' Well, look, I think I have read something that others have said, that this Government really would not put much store by an objection by Spain as to where we play football, and I dare say that the hon. Gentleman would not have either, when he was Chief Minister. If that was the right place, then that is the right place. Gibraltar is one and indivisible – (Interjection) 940 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: If the hon. Member will give way. It was not Spain that had objected, but UEFA that had said it could not be on disputed territory.

945 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, that has never been put to me, because what they would get from me would be a tongue lashing, because Gibraltar starts at Four Corners and ends in the middle of the Straits, where our waters end; but the issue is slightly different.

950 First of all, area wise, although it is good for traffic and it is close to the frontier where you assume many visiting supporters would be entering from, it is a multi-use facility, and part of the plans that would have been required there, if you are not moving the road and you have got a problem with the tunnel and the timing of these issues is all relevant, would involve demolition of part of the new Tercentenary Sports Hall, and would involve the children from Bayside Comprehensive, St Anne's and Notre Dame, that make very good use of the stadium, never being able to use it, because one of the UEFA requirements is that the stadium cannot be multi-use. It is literally just football, and it can only be played on by teams that are part of the GFA's leagues or the national football team. So you would then, if we were to build something slightly smaller at Europa to be the new Victoria Stadium, have to be taking kids from Bayside and Notre Dame and St Anne's up to that multi-use facility and demolish part of the Tercentenary Hall. So he, perhaps more than most, understands that Gibraltar is a jigsaw puzzle with one piece missing and you have to move everything around to ensure that you get the right result.

955 There is, of course, a rifle range in the area where the GFA are making the proposal to the Government and the Government has said it is prepared to lease that land to the GFA. There is a negotiation and a relocation to be done of the rifle range. This is not throwing an egg to fry, to use a loose translation of another language. There are many opinions. I am not an architect.

965 But what I will say for the GFA is that they have been brave, because this is a very big development. They have not simply wanted to get it into the DPC as soon as possible, get DPC consent as soon as possible and get breaking ground as soon as possible. They have actually been courageous in saying to the community, weeks before they went to the DPC, 'This is what we are thinking of doing. What do you think? How can we improve it?' Many in the community have reacted by saying, 'Oh my God, that is awful. We have been presented with a fait accompli of an area that we all love and this is now going to be completely ruined'. Well, actually, that is not what has happened.

970 The GFA have said, 'Gibraltar, what do you think? It is your stadium. It is your national football stadium. Before we go to DPC give us your views'. They are now going to DPC armed with those views. The DPC is going to give them feedback as DPC. There will be environmental issues to deal with. There will be lots of issues to deal with, and it may be that the final result that comes out from DPC is actually much more acceptable to absolutely everyone. Of course, the DPC is not an architect with 10 heads, but it can ask people to go back and think about how things look and how they blend into a particular area.

975 Some of the elevations that I have seen actually demonstrate that the stadium there, with the sort of height that is being proposed at the moment, blends into the cliff completely. While some of the elevations I saw of what it might have looked like in other places actually blighted the landscape. So this is a very difficult thing to achieve. It is a testament to Gibraltar and to the GFA that having now been in UEFA, we are working very hard to ensure that we can fulfil UEFA's requirements in respect of what a category 4 stadium will look like and where it should be, but all of this within the need to ensure that Gibraltar continues to develop socio economically with its prime land saved for that purpose.

985 I saw the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition refer to the stadium as it has been represented, as I do not whether he said fourth division or third division stadium in the UK. Well, look, everyone is entitled to their opinion. I have described it as if the millennium falcon had landed at Europa Point because it actually looks a little bit like that spacecraft from the Star Wars series. I did not necessarily mean that in a praiseworthy 990 sense, but that is the architecture. If the architecture can be got right, then I think this may actually turn out to be hailed by people as the right place to do it.

And, if I may say so, people should also realise that a lot of work has gone into ensuring that the very popular parts of Europa Point, like, for example, the Children's Park that was developed in that area, although it was developed with the wrong plants, it has now got the right plants in it and therefore it is not so much of a problem, and the old Battery etc are preserved, and some ideas have come out of this which 995 are very positive indeed.

So whatever the stadium looks like, I very much like the idea, as a citizen, and I suppose as the person who represents the landlord, I think actually it is quite enticing that the top of the stadium should have a walkway, which is also going to be accessible to tourists, to give also different views of the Straits of Gibraltar and of the Rock. So you are adding an opportunity there for people to look at the Straits, not just 1000 from where they can look at them today, but also from somewhere else, and if they open them during match days they will be the best seats in the house for sure.

A difficult decision. We have got to get it right. Those are the reasons why at the moment we think that is the only site that can accommodate the criteria that UEFA puts to us.

1005 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I entirely agree with the Chief Minister that it is a decision that we need to get absolutely right, and in determining whether it is a decision that has been well thought out, I would have expected, and I am asking the Hon. the Chief Minister to confirm, or say no, as to whether the Government obtained or commissioned any kind of study as to the areas that were available as alternatives to this particular site, or perhaps that is wrongly phrased... as to the various alternatives that at the time 1010 were available to the Government or is this just a situation where the GFA and the Government looking around for a particular site, say, 'Well, the Europa Point seems to be a good site to have the location of the stadium'. Has there been a formal study, by either Government officials or independent contractors, as to the various sites where this particular stadium could have been built?

1015 Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Speaker, although I would not call it study, and as I told the hon. the backbencher, my predecessor, there has been a lot of work done by the GFA, by UEFA and its experts, and by the Government in order to identify the correct sites.

But let us be very clear. Let us not pretend that we control Texas. There are two or three potential sites – that is it. We could do it in different places if we demolished vast tracts of homes etc and bought people out 1020 and spent years relocating people; but assuming that you want to do it in an area that is relatively greenfield or brownfield, and you want to be able to move relatively quickly, and you are going to try and limit the number of relocations that you do, there are very few sites that you can really talk about. Those sites have been looked at. Each of them has been looked at individually.

The Hon. Mr Reyes asks in meetings of this House about cricket and rugby as well, and that has been a consideration as well, because if we cannot put the stadium, or the UEFA stadium there, can we put the rugby there or can we put the cricket there? All of this, as I told him before – and I have answered questions about this from him – is the ongoing process of finding room for everybody else. One of the areas where we may put cricket and rugby, as he knows, is the Western Beach reclamation. I do not know whether this is an issue that crossed the hon. Member's desk at any time, but you have got the Victoria Stadium to the south 1030 of the runway. Okay, I forget if left or right, to the south of the runway. You would have thought if you were going to set up a sports facility to the north of the runway that as long as you have cleared your lines with the MOD as to the mechanism for reclaiming land there, because as the hon. Gentleman will recall from his time in office, you cannot use dredged material because it could attract birds...you have got to use landfill etc. You get that right and you can set a stadium up there at any time.

1035 The Military Aviation Authority will say to you, 'Ah, but you have got grandfathered rights in respect of sports facilities to the south of the runway, but this is a new application for sports facilities to the north of the runway and we would have to look at whether this is now possible and the risk assessment that we have to do'. So although it is not the right place for the stadium, you cannot actually put the stadium there because of traffic issues etc, and because of the height of the stadium you may not even be able to put a flat pitch, because the MAA may say, 'Well, you can only have within this radius something that is built up to at least two storeys to protect people in the event of there being an accident'.
1040

So this is very difficult indeed and has been looked at in great detail. To a very great extent this is harder than fitting a rich man through the eye of a needle, but we will get there and we will get it right. It will be the right result for this community. Our involvement will be as landlord to cede the area when the time comes, and through the DPC to ensure in respect of those who represent the Government there that they give the feedback that properly represents the community's views as to the architecture being proposed.
1045

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, in terms of the sites that the Government has considered in this 'study' that it has conducted to see what is the most appropriate site, as I understand it the sites have been 1050 Europa Point, Victoria Stadium, the land reclamation on the East Side and Lathbury Barracks. There have not been any other sites, apart from those that the Government has considered as potentially appropriate for the location of the stadium.

1055 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, this dates back some months now. I cannot remember exactly what were the areas looked at. There is a Government analysis of these things. I am given the analysis and the recommendations.

I think at one stage the naval grounds were looked at as well as a potential area, but of course there are leases in place there; but in may not have been the right place anyway.

1060 So a lot of areas have been looked at. There are not that many. I think he may have enumerated most, if not all of them. There may or may not be others.

Find me an area of open ground of that size in Gibraltar that is not prime development land, like the East Side is, which is hugely important to the economic development of Gibraltar etc, and if he can find it, I will have a look at it.

1065 Hon. D A Feetham: The problem with the Victoria Stadium, which most people seem to mention in relation to as an alternative to Europa Point, the problem with that, as I understand it is, that the stadium could not be constructed without demolishing the facility next to it, the Millennium Hall – (Interjection) Sorry, the Tercentenary Hall, without demolishing that, the stadium could not have been constructed.

1070 There is no way in which, for example, the majority of the seating could have been accommodated on the opposite side, on the opposite side of where the Tercentenary Hall is so that that particular hall did not have to be demolished. In any event it is a judgement call on the part of the Government, because of course that could have been relocated somewhere else, but was there no possibility of actually maintaining the stadium there without demolishing this particular hall?

1075 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, it is not just a judgement call on the part of the Government, although of course at the end it might be.

1080 The demolition of part of the Tercentenary Hall, if it is at a particular angle, it is interference with roads. If it is at another particular angle, it is the fact that you are going to lose the multi-use facility. If you lose the multi-use facility, you have to recreate the multi-use facility. Where do you recreate it? At Europa Point. So if the objection is you are going to have to have a stadium at Europa Point, well, then you might as well build once, you might as well get it right, you might as well make sure it looks good, and whether it looks like the multi-use would look like or the UEFA one would look like, what it looks like is not part of the UEFA criteria; it is what identifies access and what identifies size etc that is relevant.

1085 Then the other thing I have said before when I was answering questions from the hon. the backbencher is that you would lose the multi-use facility from next to the school. So Bayside would lose its football pitch and so would Notre Dame and St Anne's lose its ability to access that area. Even Westside is quite close to or much closer to Victoria than it is to Europa and (a) what do you do in the interim; (b) do you then bus school children all the way up to Victoria when they need to have – (A Member: Europa.) to Europa when they need to have their sports, and then what do you create at Europa? You must also create something at Europa, so the objection that there is going to be a structure there disappears.

1090 Mr Speaker, in those circumstances, that is how we are driven to Europa as the possibility where the stadium is going to fit. All of those issues I think are fairly understandable if you apply your mind to them and you work out that this is, at the end of the day, the likely location that you are going to be, if you like, stuck with, because it may be that if we all had the choice, we would do it somewhere else.

1095 Mr Speaker: Next question, the Hon. –

1100 Hon. E J Reyes: May I, Mr Speaker, just to develop something further with the Hon. the Chief Minister?

1105 He did say in the very early part of his answer, the Chief Minister said that if you were to ask in the changing room of the GFA they would all say, 'Right. When can we start... tomorrow?', and so on. Is the Chief Minister aware that within the Gibraltar Football Association there is not that unanimous a consensus, more so not only on the location, but even so on the design?

1105 I have heard comments from well-known regular first eleven players, and I think the Chief Minister is probably aware that certain clubs through their presidents and so on are not quite happy with the set up. Obviously, I cannot press the Chief Minister further because it is not his political responsibility to answer, but will he at least confirm to me that he will look into it just to make certain that he does have the full cross-section view of all the Gibraltar Football Association members, and not just its executive committee, because sometimes when you sit in a position of such responsibility as the Chief Minister, people only tell 1110 you what they think you want to hear and not necessarily the whole picture of what is being said behind the doors in the changing room.

1115 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, thank you to the hon. Gentleman for that intervention. There is no ivory in my door or in my windows and my office is not so high up that it is a tower. I am fully aware of the fact that there are some clubs in the GFA whose presidents have said that they... but what they have said is that they do not like the design, and some others have said, 'I do not like the place', and some have said, 'I do not like the place or the design' (Interjections) and of the players that I have spoken to, all the ones... all the players I have spoken to have said no vea lo bonito que esta el stadium 'Oh, my God, isn't the stadium going to be lovely'. So there are completely different shades of opinion and, for many different reasons, I also understand that there are some who have representation in the GFA who have felt that they could bring a better deal to the table in terms of construction, for example. Well, look, that has got nothing to do with us. It is going to be a GFA development, but we are aware of those issues. To a very great extent those are internal GFA issues and despite not being in an ivory tower, at the end of the day I have to sign documentation as landlord with the GFA Council.

1125 What they have done and what I think they should be commended for by the community, and they appear to be being condemned for, is open themselves up to responses from the public. So the reception that they held at Casemates Vaults, where they presented the stadium, was explicitly one of presentation for views, and many in our community – and this I think I said earlier – have taken it as a presentation of a fait accompli. It may or may not have to be a fait accompli as to location, because of all the issues that we have discussed, that it just does not fit anywhere else when you start to look at the nitty-gritty. But, as to design, as to aspect, all of those things to a very great extent are in the hands of the DPC insofar as the law provides for it, and in the hands of the architect and GFA as developer to another extent.

1135 But I think that the GFA have the sensitivity to have heard what has been said by the public in the consultation, even if the public have responded by thinking that they are not being consulted and giving their views as to what some people have described as awful fait accompli. Well, they have then gone and say it is awful because a, b, c, and therefore the GFA have the benefit of those views when they are now going to take this to the next level.

1140 It is well-nigh impossible, I must tell the hon. Gentleman, in my view, to draft a letter with two people sitting with a pen, let alone design a stadium with 30,000 people having opinions as to where it should be located and who should be designing the seats.

1145 The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has just said we could have one stand higher than the other. I mean perish the thought that we might actually have to design things in that way. To an extent we have to make decisions in our respective legal capacities. We are here as the landlord. We have to make decisions as to location. The GFA have to make decisions as to architecture and look, and the DPC have to respond in that respect. The public have a huge role to play in making sure that landlord and developer are fully aware of their views and make sensitive adjustments to reflect those where possible.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, in relation to the cost –

1150 Mr Speaker: I am going to allow one other supplementary, because really we have now been ventilating this matter for well over an hour. I am aware of the fact that it is an important public issue, in which I, myself, take a great interest, but I do not think we can take the matter very much further than what we have done this afternoon.

1155 I will allow the Leader of the Opposition to –

Hon. D A Feetham: Thank you very much, Mr Speaker.

1160 Mr Speaker, in relation to the cost, (i) is there going to be a cost to the Government in relation to the construction of this particular stadium; and (ii) has there been a cost to the Government in the actual design of the stadium? Has the Government contributed anything in relation to the cost of the design to the designers?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, all the costs of the designing of the stadium and the development of the stadium are for the GFA. It is a GFA stadium and will be owned by the GFA.

TRAFFIC, HOUSING AND TECHNICAL SERVICES

Q308/2014

Government rental homes –
Assignment; repairs to be carried out

1165 Mr Speaker: Question 308, I think we will now deal with.

Acting Clerk: Question 308, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1170 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Housing provide details in respect of rental homes assigned since the answer to Question 173/2014, indicating how many will be repaired by (a) the Housing Works Agency; (b) subcontractors; and (c) the assigned tenants themselves?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

1175 Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, since the answer given to Question 173/2014, 17 flats have been assigned.

The repairs are to be undertaken by the following: Housing Works Agency – 2; subcontractors – 5; the assigned tenants themselves – 10.

Q309/2014

Government rental homes –
Urgent decanting of tenants

Acting Clerk: Question 309, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1180 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide details of how many tenants required urgent decanting from their homes, since the answer to Question 174/2014 indicating the reason why, the date when said decanting became necessary, and the date when the tenants were able to return to their home?

1185 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, since the answer to Question 174/2014, no further tenants have required urgent decanting from their homes.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q310/2014

Government rental homes –
Allocation and assignments

1190 Acting Clerk: Question 310, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1195 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing say how many residential homes, since the answer to Question 175/2014, have been (a) allocated; and (b) assigned, showing the room composition of the respective homes?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

1200 Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, since the answer to Question 175/2014, 40 flats have been allocated and assigned as follows:

Allocated: 1RKB – 1; 2RKB – 7; 3RKB – 11; 4RKB – 3; 5RKB – 1; 6RKB – None. A total of 23.

Assigned: 1RKB – 1; 2RKB – 10; 3RKB – 4; 4RKB – 1; 5RKB – 1; 6RKB – None. A total of 17.

Q315/2014
Affordable housing scheme –
Change in allocation rules

Mr Speaker: We are now going to take Question 315.

Acting Clerk: Question 315, the Hon. D A Feetham.

1205

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, does the Government intend to change the allocation rules for affordable homes, it is in the process of constructing, so that divorced spouses, who do not have care and control of their children or residency orders in their favour, can apply to purchase flats that take into account the number of children they have, so any sleepover contact is meaningful?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the Government's affordable housing schemes are designed to be allocated based on the room composition eligibility provisions, which have been established for decades; but life has obviously changed and divorce is an issue we must catch up with.

Having left office in 1996 with a housing waiting list of 400, it would have been possible then to try to make changes to better reflect changing social values. Having inherited a housing waiting list of almost 1,500 16 years later, a 275% growth, it is not so easy, but we are keen to allow people whose family composition may include children of a dissolved marriage or terminated earlier relationship to buy homes based on that composition once the housing list allocations have been met.

1220

The first projects launched by the Government have been extraordinarily successful, with nearly 3,000 applications received for 850 flats. We will shortly start the process of making the relevant allocations and then of exchanging contracts. Shortly thereafter, further co-ownership schemes are likely to be launched.

1225

We will not fall into the trap of allowing the waiting lists to grow exponentially as the previous administration did.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am not sure that he has answered the question.

My concern is, because I am aware and I do accept that the housing rules go back decades, not only covering the previous GSD Administration, but also the GSLP Administration of the early 1990s, late 1980s, and also as well the Hassan Administration.

1230

But it does appear, and it has appeared to me for some time, that there is a potential injustice in the way that... or there is an injustice in the way that these rules operate, because invariably, when marriages break down and there is a divorce, the husband very rarely gets either care and control of the children or a residency order made in his favour, because the children live with the wife. The rules at the moment, the way they are operated and applied, is that in that situation, despite the fact that the father has, say for example, three children, because the children live with the wife and only stay with the father at weekends, for example, in contact, the Housing Allocation Committee says, 'Well, no. You are effectively single. You are only entitled to a one bedroom. You are not entitled to a two or a three bedroom'.

1235

I can understand there are arguments to say... well, why should that family effectively be entitled to two properties at Government expense, with one for the wife – sometimes they are Government tenants – and also one for the husband? I think that does not reflect the realities of an unfortunate situation. Nobody wants to get married and invariably it is husbands and fathers that are hit very badly. One would have thought that although there is some rationale in relation to – which I do not agree with and I do not criticise the Government because this goes back years and years – in relation to Government housing that if somebody wants to buy his own house in order to provide his children or a suitable accommodation for him to be able to have meaningful contact with his children, that the Government ought not to effectively just simply replicate the housing allocation rules and allow that father, with those three children, to apply – after all he is buying – to apply for a three bedroom, in that example, flat.

1240

1250

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, we agree with the concept, that the hon. Gentleman is espousing, entirely, and we are acting in that spirit; but we have to act in that spirit in the context of the housing allocation rules and in the context of the housing list, and the issue is how do you go out of that? How do you fairly move people out of that?

So if you have got a family that are entitled to a three bedroom and they are on the housing waiting list in that composition, how do you allow somebody who is on the housing waiting list for a one bedroom to jump over them and access that property? So what is going to happen, Mr Speaker, in the context of breaking the back of the housing list, which is the process that we are in now again, is we are going to 1260 ensure that as we go down in priority on the housing list, if somebody is entitled to a particular composition, but would if he had his children be able to aspire to another composition, we are going to allow them buy, if those who are on the housing waiting list before with an actual composition that reflects that right have not already bought. Therefore, to a very great extent, I hope the hon. Gentleman will welcome what we are going to do.

1265 As the housing list is further eroded, it will be even easier to deal with these issues and adopt to the modern problems that Gibraltar has, just like the rest of the world has in respect of co-ownership. This is our position. We are very keen, Mr Speaker, to ensure that fathers or mothers – and the hon. Gentleman I hope was just generalising... I hope he will recognise that there are some mothers; it is man bites dog, but there are some mothers in exactly the same position, who find themselves in this predicament – can aspire to co-ownership homes in this way, as I have suggested and as we are ensuring will be the case, insofar as possible, given the overwhelming demand and given that people may have direct rights because of where they are on the housing list.

1270 The hon. Gentleman has said in his first answer that there are likely to be more co-ownership schemes launched by this Government. I do hope that we will be able to do so very shortly after the allocation of the existing co-ownership scheme, which has been already, Mr Speaker, a huge and overwhelming success from the numbers of applications which have been filed.

1280 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is he saying, or does he expect that this particular rule change, because it is a change in the rules... you are not doing it at the moment. You said, the Hon. the Chief Minister said at the beginning of his answer that we are doing it within the spirit now. Well, that is not the case.

The present position is that if you would qualify for a one bedroom Government house, that is all you are entitled to apply for if you purchase. I just want us to send a glimmer of hope to all those people in this situation, the majority of which are fathers, but I accept there may also be mothers, a minority, but nonetheless deserving cases, where there will be a glimmer of hope for them, where they will be able in the future to buy affordable homes of a size that is obviously going to mean that they will have meaningful contact with their children.

1285 For example, is he suggesting that the rule is going to come in when the Government basically makes an announcement in relation to further affordable homes that he may announce in the future? Or does he think that it will also apply to these particular developments? Because in relation to these particular developments, I cannot see that it is actually going to apply, bearing in mind the size of the waiting list and the commitment the Government has made.

1290 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am not just offering them a glimmer of hope. I am telling them that I will open the doors of these opportunities to them because they should be entitled to, and they should never have found themselves in the situation in which they find themselves. We are on the side of people who are suffering these problems, and there are no rules to follow here, Mr Speaker, because the rules are the housing allocation rules that apply to Government tenancies.

1300 The hon. Gentleman is asking about affordable homes, where we have set out what priorities we will follow in allocation of homes, but these are not rules. We are there as developer. We will say, as I have said initially, we are looking at the housing waiting list; but after that, we are looking at how we can allow people in this predicament to access those homes.

1305 But, Mr Speaker, I am afraid I have to say to him, he has to understand what we inherited. Just in respect of the people who are on the housing waiting list on 9th December, a huge number of people, like he describes, on the 1RKB list, and a huge number of people are on the 3, and on the 2, and on the 4, and on the 6, and so you have got to deal with the whole problem. Some of it we may be able to deal with now and some in respect of future developments, but our commitment is to deal with it, to once again break the back of the housing problem, not just on the basis of the letter of the list, but on the basis of these real social problems that affect people on the list that we need to have and to be conscious of.

1310 But, Mr Speaker, rule changes are not so relevant in relation to affordable housing. What we have to do, is make sure we get this right so that fathers, mothers of broken marriages, of broken relationships, whether there has been a marriage or not, the important thing here, Mr Speaker, is that they should be with their children, because it is not their right to be with their children, it is the children's right to be with their parents and we must facilitate that insofar as we are able.

1315 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I associate myself entirely with that sentiment and that is precisely why I have asked this particular question.

I was not able, I have to say, when I was a Government Minister to persuade my other colleagues about the wisdom of actually changing the housing allocation rules in order to allow divorced fathers, or indeed mothers, who are also divorced, but do not have either care and control or residency, to actually be treated, 1320 what is in my view, in a fair way, which is to allow them to be allocated housing that is commensurate with their need, bearing in mind the size of their family, because unfortunately divorce is all too a reality in this modern society. So is the Hon. the Chief Minister saying that he is also going to be changing the rules for allocation of Government housing in order to basically allow that state of affairs to happen?

1325 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do not agree with the hon. Gentleman when he uses the word ‘divorce’. Divorce is irrelevant here, because there are many people in this situation who are fathers or mothers who have never been married to a partner. So we are talking about broken relationships, and in some instances we are talking about relationships that may only have occurred to give life to an individual and there has never been a cohabitation; but does that mean that that father has not also got a right to reside with his child at some stage or a mother’s right to reside with her child? So divorce should be completely outside the hon. Gentleman’s – (Interjection) I will in a second.

1330 Divorce should be completely outside of the hon. Gentleman’s lexicon in this respect. We are talking about children, however they are brought into the relationship, whether it is a relationship consecrated in marriage or a relationship which might otherwise loosely be called a common law relationship.

1335 I will give way.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, the reason why I am using the term ‘marriage’, and the hon. Gentleman should understand that I was involved in some of these issues, because we also reformed our Matrimonial Laws and also reformed the Magistrates’ Court Act that dealt with judicial separations.

1340 The reason why I am referring to marriage, and I could have also referred to judicial separation, is because the Housing Department has a policy of basically asking for Court Orders when it makes a determination of these issues – that is the reason why I am talking about this in that context.

1345 The Housing Department – and again it is not a criticism of his Government because it is a long-standing practice – asks to see what is the Court Order. When you say that your relationship has broken down, where is the Court Order and what type of Order do you have in relation to your children? That is the only reason that I have phrased it in the way that I have.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, in fact I should have said that of course now I understand why it is that they tweet about being a completely different GSD, given that he wanted to change things before, which he was not able to change and he has changed them now I understand.

1350 Mr Speaker, our position is I think extraordinarily clear now. It is a question of how to do this, and a question of when to do it, and whether it can be done in the first of these developments, or whether it is done in the process of moving from the first to the second, but it is going to happen.

1355 We are going to make sure that we deal with any of these unfairnesses, for the sake of the children as much as for the sake of the fathers and the mothers. Parents and children hopefully will end up much better off as a result of these developments which the GSLP Liberals are going to see now developed in Gibraltar, and the next ones, and then it will be much easier to change housing allocation rules when it comes to Government tenancies, although I note that they have had a policy announcement in respect of some aspects of that already in respect of a means testing, but I will not say more about that at this stage.

1360 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, my final supplementary in relation to this, and he will decide to answer it or he does not answer it.

1365 I understand what the Hon. the Chief Minister has said in relation to developments, the affordable housing, but can he just provide me with a straight answer that he does in principle agree with the need that the housing allocation rules ought to be changed in order to allow fathers or mothers, in the situation that I have described, to be able to apply for larger properties so that they can have meaningful contact with their children? Housing allocation rules, not the affordable homes.

1370 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I think I have answered this extraordinarily clearly and how it will be done, and the answer is yes, because we believe in the rights of parents and we believe principally in the rights of children. How it is going to be done and the mechanism is what we have been exchanging views about.

1375 This is a hugely important part of Gibraltar’s social and demographic development. We have to understand what is happening and we have to provide for it. This is not just to look after people today, it is about looking after people tomorrow, and the Government is going to make sure that children can have contact with their parents, because that contact, in our view, will produce a better adult in the long term, and it is a pity that for some time now these issues have not been dealt with.

1380 He will allow me to say that not having reviewed in the past 16 years and allow the housing waiting list to grow as it did... these rules, has caused a lot of the problems that we are now dealing with. I think he recognises that and I think he supports what we are doing.

Q311/2014
Housing Works Agency employees –
Numbers retired, transferred and seconded

Mr Speaker: Go back to Question 311.

Acting Clerk: Question 311, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1385 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide updated information, inclusive of details of grades and dates, in respect of any further employees of the Housing Works Agency who have been (a) retired; (b) transferred; and (c) seconded, either from or into the Housing Works Agency, since the answer to Question 176/2014?

1390 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, since the answer given to Question 176/2014, no employees have retired, transferred or seconded from or into the Housing Works Agency.

Q312/2014
Laguna Estate –
Water ingress through windows

1395 Acting Clerk: Question 312, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer to Question 180/2014, can the Minister for Housing say if there have been any further reports of water ingress through windows at Laguna Estate and, if so, provide relevant details inclusive of estimated cost and completion dates?

1400

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, since the answer given to Question 180/2014, there have been no further reports of water ingress through windows at Laguna Estate.

1405

Q313/2014
Blue Wave House and Mid Harbour Estate –
Lift breakdowns

Acting Clerk: Question 313, the Hon E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer to Written Question W35/2014, can the Minister for Housing explain what circumstances led to the two separate lift breakdowns on 15th January 2014 in respect of both lifts at Blue Wave House, Mid Harbour Estate, with a further explanation for the lift breakdown within the same block of flats on the 16th January 2014?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the breakdown on 15th January 2014 in respect of lifts at Blue Wave House was due to a power surge to the electrical supply of the lifts.

1415

The lift breakdown dated the 16th January 2014, should have read 'Sea Wave House' and not 'Blue Wave House'. This was due to a typographical error.

1420

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker, can I double check on two things really? What my question was referring to on looking at the schedule on 15th January, both lifts at Blue Wave House were reported broken at 12:40 and then although they were repaired by 14:23, they were again

1425 reported at 20:08 and 20:09. Are both occurrences of breakdown on the same day both because of power surges? In other words, power surge at 20 past 12 midday, and then for the same reason again at eight o'clock in the evening.

1430 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, as I have said, the information I have received from technical staff is that on 15th January, in respect of Blue Wave House, is that the lifts, it was both lifts... due to a power surge to the electrical supply. The error came that on 16th January it was not the same lifts, it was lifts from Sea Wave House and not Blue Wave House, and the reason for that I am not entirely sure whether it was due to another surge in electricity or for another reason.

1435 Hon. E J Reyes: I do not think I have been able to explain myself properly, Mr Speaker.
I understand now that the breakdown on 16th January is in respect of Sea Wave. In fact, I already have... just about that one, Sea Wave at 16:51, but I have not tackled that part yet. I am referring to, if one looks at the date of 15th January, at 12:40 there is a report of Blue Wave lift and also at 12:40 another report of Blue Wave lift, which I have interpreted as their being two lifts within Blue Wave. It is both lifts.
Someone has said both lifts are broken, so it was reported and therefore it has to go down twice.

1440 When it comes further down the page, again Blue Wave at eight minutes past eight in the evening, one lift is reported as broken still in the same block, and at nine minutes past eight another lift is broken. So the same two lifts seem to have broken twice.

1445 The Minister said he had been told it was due to a power surge, and I am saying power surge to what, the one that broke at 12:40 or the one that broke at eight minutes past eight o'clock in the evening, or was it that the power surge happened twice on the same day? It is information that his technician should have been able to provide for him. I wonder if he has it.

1450 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, yes, I see what the hon. Gentleman is referring to. I will need to check that for him, because as far as the reply given to me by technical staff is what I have told the hon. Member, but I do see that the same lift seems to have broken later on that same evening, but I will have to look into that for him and revert.

1455 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, I understand that, Mr Speaker, the Minister needs to go back, but whilst he is doing that and then reverting back to me, can I then take him to the beginning of page 2 of the written answer he gave me last time?

1460 The first item there was Sea Wave on 16th January broke down at 16:51 and was repaired by 20:48. In amending his previous answer, he has told me that the one that read before 'Blue Wave' should now read 'Sea Wave'. So it seems that Sea Wave broke at 16:51, but has broken before at 14:34. Given that he has had to amend that, that information is no longer clear.

1465 I do not know if I am explaining myself, Mr Speaker, I may need your hand on that. Does that mean that then both lifts at Sea Wave were broken on 16th in the amendment or is it only one and the timings are wrong? Can I give the Minister some time to check it out so that he actually reviews this thoroughly with technicians and we will get it correct.

1465 Mr Speaker: In a few minutes time, we are going to have a recess of about 20 minutes.

Hon. E J Reyes: That is fine, Mr Speaker. I can be patient. As long as I get the information, I am willing to wait.

1470 Mr Speaker: What I suggest is that we now deal with Question 314 and Question 316, which is the only one that the Hon. Albert Isola has – (Interjection) Perhaps one later on, but then there is quite a lengthy list of questions, which the Hon. Minister for Justice and Education will have to deal with, and that we can do after the recess. Okay?

1475 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I was in fact going to suggest that Mr Isola will have two questions, the one that is listed and another one that he will be answering. So we can deal with those two questions before the recess and then recess for 20 minutes when we come back for my questions.

1480 Mr Speaker: Okay.

Q314/2014
Government rental homes –
Numbers vacant

Mr Speaker: So we are now at Question 314, the Hon. Mr Reyes.

Acting Clerk: Question 314, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1485 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Housing say how many Government rental homes are currently vacant, providing details of the dates from which such homes have been unoccupied and stating how many of these are Pre-War and Post-War homes?

1490 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will now hand the hon. Member a schedule containing the information requested.

1495 Mr Speaker: It is a very lengthy schedule, I will allow the hon. Member to study it and then come back later on.

Answer to Question 314

There are 219 Government rental homes vacant. Below please find breakup of Pre-Wars and Post-Wars flats with dates.

FINANCIAL SERVICES AND GAMING

Q316/2014

Ince's House –

Update on refurbishment for GIB

Mr Speaker: So we will proceed with the next question, which is Question 316.

Acting Clerk: Question 316, the Hon. D J Bossino.

1500

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I have not morphed into Mr Bossino. As Mr Bossino's firm is professionally engaged, so he has asked me to ask this question.

Can the Minister for Financial Services state what progress has been made in connection with the refurbishment of Ince's House and when the Government expects it will be ready to house the Gibraltar International Bank.

1505 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the appointed Chief Executive Officer and Chief Operations Officer of the Gibraltar International Bank are in discussions with the designers on the proposed layout and operation of the Bank premises, with work expected to commence in April 2014, following its presentation to the Development and Planning Commission and subject obviously to their deliberations. The proposed completion date of the works will be known once the proposed design works are finalised and agreed, costed and approved.

1515 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is the Government's decision to house the Gibraltar International Bank within the Ince's Hall complex, if I can call it that, a firm decision or is the Government looking at alternative sites even at this stage in the announcement, so to speak, that the Government has made in relation to the Bank?

Hon. A J Isola: No, Mr Speaker, the decision is a firm decision.

Q317/2014
Finance Centre development –
Islamic Finance and Shariah-compliant financial products

1520 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Acting Clerk: Question 317, the Hon. S M Figueras.

1525 Mr Speaker: But, is not Question 317 also... which is directed to the Minister for Justice. But according to the information that I have is going...
So we will now call Question 317.

1530 Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, Mr Speaker, the question was indeed addressed to the Minister for Justice because he had answered himself in his capacity for Financial Services at the time of the original question mentioned.

Can the Minister for Justice say, further to his answer to Question 166/2012, what development, if any, has been experienced in the development of the Finance Centre as a centre for Islamic Finance and Shariah-compliant financial products?

1535 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

1540 Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, as the hon. Member is aware, our Finance Centre is already able to deliver Shariah-compliant products in accordance with the Laws of Gibraltar. The Government has recently published the Executive Summary of its business plan for the further development of Gibraltar's Financial Services Sector, on which it has consulted with the Finance Centre Council following extensive direct consultation with law firms, accounting and audit firms, fund administrators and fund managers, banks and licensed firms.

1545 The strategy outlined in the plan does not include specific reference to Gibraltar being promoted as a centre for Islamic Finance, although this remains under consideration, as the business plan is a live document.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, if I may?

Mr Speaker, this is something that I have been involved in, not in a ministerial capacity, but in a professional capacity, just before I became a Government Minister in 2007.

1550 Of course, it is right, as the Hon. the Minister points out, that Gibraltar can offer Shariah-compliant products now; indeed, any jurisdiction in the world can offer Shariah products.

1555 The thinking pre 2007, and it was the thinking of a Committee that had been put together by the then Chairman of the Financial Services Commission, Marcus Killick, who chaired it – I was a member of that Committee and there were a number of other bankers and a number of other professionals – was that what we ought to do was produce a piece of legislation that formally regulated Shariah products. So, for example, any Shariah product that is offered from Gibraltar, and it can be offered, had to comply with Shariah Law and obtain a clean bill of health from an expert in Shariah Law, because this is how these things are done, that is my understanding, that the actual product that was being sold complied with Shariah 1560 Law. It was an added way in which we felt that it could provide Gibraltar with an edge in terms of marketing these products from Gibraltar.

1565 Unfortunately, I became a Government Minister, and as Minister for Justice my attention was elsewhere not on this. I do not know why this never got anywhere. It may well be that in fact the horse has already bolted, because in 2006 or 2005 had we done this, perhaps we could have ridden the crest of the wave because that is when really these products really exploded onto the scene, and that perhaps now the Government takes the view that there is no advantage in doing that. But is that something that has in fact been considered by the Government? Is it a live issue or really it is not something that is within the Government sights at all?

1570 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I acknowledge and agree that the potential benefits of incorporating any legislation within our Laws, which are specific to Shariah, are hugely valuable in the marketing and the development of that business, notwithstanding the fact of course that those products, as you have acknowledged, can be done anyway.

1575 During the course of the past seven months since I was elected, I have consulted extensively with individual law firms, individual accountancy firms, fund administrators, managers, banks, every single category, even insurance managers to see if it touched on there either. Not one of the meetings that I have attended has raised the potential of Shariah Law and therefore in terms of what we are focussing and when we are talking about a real partnership between the sector and the Government and the Regulator, it is not something that we have included in this year's business plan.

1580 As I said in my answer, the document is a live document and if representations were to be made by the private sector asking us to reconsider and relook at this, we would happily do that; but what I can tell the hon. Member is that in all the time that we have been in detailed discussions with individual firms, and of course, the Finance Centre Council, it has not once been mentioned, and hence it is slightly falling off the list of priorities that we have been dealing with over the past months and paid attention to in the business plan.

1585 Hon. D A Feetham: If it would assist the hon. Gentleman, a Bill was actually drafted. A Shariah Law Bill was actually drafted and it ought to be available. If the Hon. Minister is interested in this particular area, perhaps he ought to talk to Marcus Killick and he is probably in a better position than I am, at this stage, because I am rather disconnected from this issue from when I was really heavily involved. He is the best man to tell you whether there is any mileage in us pursuing this particular issue now, several years after the initiative really began.

Hon. A J Isola: Yes, Mr Speaker, I am grateful.

1595 The main sector of the industry I would have thought, would be certainly initially involved, would be the fund sector. [Inaudible] who I have met with and talked to regularly have not raised that as a potential area that they are interested in. We are working with them on a number of other initiatives which are of great interest to them. That has not been mentioned by them either, but were it to be, we would certainly be happy to resuscitate and take the steps that you have suggested that we should.

1600 Mr Speaker: I think this is a convenient time to adjourn for, to recess for...
Yes.

Government rental homes –
Numbers vacant

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Just a very short supplementary that you had invited me to before.

1605 The Minister, in providing me with the details of the 219 rental homes here, he has divided for me the first two pages refer to pre-war properties and the last page to post-war, but I see that the dates are not in any given chronological order and there is more than one flat to the same vacation date and in different columns. Is there a logic behind these dates, which he may be aware and I am not? Does it refer to... for example, the first one listed became empty on 22nd January of this year, is it there because that is a smaller sized property as opposed to the one towards the end of the second page, which is of an earlier date? Is there some logic behind it or is it just the way that the typist happen to input this information into the spreadsheet?

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I do not know where there is any logic at all in this. This is just a list provided with the information that the hon. Member requested. He did not mention whether he wanted it in a specific order. It is just a list. (Interjections)

1615

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I have to accept that since I had not requested it in any particular order, I think your experience as and when the file has been picked up. I will probably have to write to the Minister if I want it in any particular order and give him due time to sort it out.

Thank you, Mr Speaker.

1620

Mr Speaker: We will recess for 20 minutes.

The House recessed at 5.20 p.m. and resumed its sitting at 5.45 p.m.

1625

Q318-319/2014
School computers –
Repairs and maintenance programme

Acting Clerk: Answers to Oral Questions continued. Question 318, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, sir, can the Minister provide details of how many school computers intended for pupils' use are currently awaiting repairs, together with details of how long these computers have been out of service?

1630

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I will answer together with Question 319/2014.

1635

Acting Clerk: Question 319, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Education provide details of the ICT maintenance programme for school computers?

1640

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, the total number of computers in the First School sector for use by students is 219. As of last Friday, there were two computers out of the 219 out of service in that sector.

1645

Of these two computers, one has been out of service for three months. It has been serviced twice during this period but continues to have software issues which need to be addressed. The other computer has been out of service for six months. It has been serviced regularly since September 2013 but continues to have networking faults. This computer is under warranty so a replacement under the warranty is being requested of the supplier.

1650

The total number of computers in the Middle School sector for use by students is 101. As of last Friday, there were no computers out of service in that sector.

The total number of computers in the Secondary School sector, including the College, for use by students is 557. As of last Friday, there was one computer out of the 557 out of service in that sector. That computer has been out of service for one month. It has been serviced during that time but continues to have networking faults. This computer is also under warranty and a replacement under the warranty is being requested from the supplier.

Mr Speaker, as of 9th December, 2011, there were serious issues with breakdowns and servicing of computers in schools. Very early on in our term of office, I visited each and every school to meet the heads and staff and to see at first hand any issues affecting the school. By far the biggest issue brought to my attention concerned breakdowns in IT equipment, and the time it took for these to be looked at and addressed. This was in fact, a consistent theme in all or practically all of the schools.

1660

Only Bayside and the College at the time had IT technicians available. ICT maintenance and repairs in schools was therefore a major issue, in December 2011. The main problem was that issues with school computers were not dealt with by the Government's IT and Logistics Department, so whilst the Government's IT and Logistics Department would attend to computer issues at the Department of 1665

Education, schools had no recourse at all to the resources and expertise of the IT and Logistics Department. It was left to an arrangement with the supplier of the computers who had one technician who would be called out whenever there was a breakdown but who could clearly not cope with the demands of our schools, leading to substantial backlogs in repairs that needed to be carried out.

The inadequacy of the system was even more evident when it came to addressing issues with school networks. These had been set up by different firms at different times with no common infrastructure.

I am glad to say, Mr Speaker, that the situation has changed dramatically and the upkeep of ICT systems in schools has seen a significant and marked improvement.

In fact, as I have indicated as of last Friday we had only three computers out of 877 for use by students out of service. That in itself is a success story, although I would clearly like to see that there are no computers at all out of service.

Mr Speaker, the dramatic change in the situation now from what it was when we were elected into Government is clearly not an accident. It has resulted from a concerted effort and commitment by this Government to redress the poor situation which existed – a poor situation which had already been identified by the GSLP Liberals before the elections.

In our manifesto, under the heading ‘Computer Resources and Upkeep in the Education Section’, we stated:

‘With many classes now equipped with interactive whiteboards and these being used much more effectively in lessons by all teachers, the repair and upkeep of IT equipment is of utmost importance. The increased resources that we will provide in respect of Government IT generally will specifically provide for maintenance of the IT in schools.’

The increased resources came about in the form of extra technicians as well as increased technical support. The Department of Education was given access to the IT and Logistics infrastructure and support for our schools. It is extraordinary that as at December 2011 Bayside had an IT technician but Westside did not. There was no technician at all engaged for the First and Middle Schools.

The position now is very different. There is one qualified IT technician permanently based at Bayside. Another is also permanently based at Westside with four other technicians attending to the needs of First and Middle Schools, as and when required. The College has its own ICT technician support as part of its staff complement.

When we came into Government, schools were asking for a system that provided a faster response time when equipment broke down. At the time, schools had to go through a requisition and local purchase order system, which also made this a slow and cumbersome process. Faults are now reported directly to the IT and Logistics Department by e-mail. As a result of the significantly increased resources available for IT in schools and a change to how these resources are accessed we have seen a very marked improvement in the service provided.

In a nutshell, Mr Speaker, our manifesto commitment has been given full effect and we now have a system that works. The effect of a more resilient and effective ICT support and maintenance system for our schools is dramatic. This benefits the education of all children.

I trust that hon. Members opposite will recognise and applaud these improvements. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: I will allow Members to wave their Order Papers. (Laughter)

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, it is good news for the students concerned. Yes. Can I double-check a couple of things that I hope I have got my notes right. Towards the end the Minister for Education said that they had engaged the extra technicians and support staff, so that means there is now one technician permanently based at Bayside, one at Westside, one available for a combined First and Middle Schools? (Interjection) No? I got that wrong. Can I have a slow repetition of just those figures, so I know the technicians.

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, with your leave, I will repeat the whole of the answer. (Laughter, interjections and banging on desks) Perhaps I will just concentrate on what the hon. Member is asking.

The position now is there used to be one at Westside and the College had its own ICT technician as part of their own complement. Now, as part of the IT Department, we have one technician for Bayside, one technician for Westside and four other technicians for the First and Middle Schools. But these are technicians that are engaged by the Government’s IT and Logistics Department and are seconded for the purposes of being at Westside, being at Bayside and being available to meet the requirements of all the schools. The support that existed at the College continues to be there as part of their own school complement. So in effect, apart from the College we have seen support increase from one technician to six technicians. And I am grateful for the words of the hon. Member in opening his supplementary that he is glad – certainly the whole community should be glad.

1730 Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

1735 Just one quick thing again, I do not know whether I have got the right detail noted down. In respect of the two computers pertaining to the First School sector, one had been out of service for six months but this was under warranty from the supplier so I suppose that is on-going. Was I correct in noting that the other one was out of service for three months but it seems to be just a question of simple software that needs to be amended? Or have I got my note wrong?

1740 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I am not an IT geek, and I do not know whether these things are simple or not, but there is one computer that has been looked at on a couple of occasions over the last three months that is the other computer and it seems to have software issues that still need to be addressed. So that is an ongoing issue that they are still looking at that computer to try and redress those software issues. I do not know how complicated... If they were not complicated, it would have been put right on the first occasion, but the fault seems to be recurring. But clearly there will come a time that if the computer continues to be at fault, we will need to replace that computer.

1745 Mr Speaker: Next Question.

Q320/2014
Ship arrests –
Number undertaken in past 12 months

Acting Clerk: Question 320, the Hon. S M Figueras.

1750 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Justice provide this House with details of the number of ship arrests undertaken in Gibraltar, broken down month by month for the past 12 months?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

1755 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I will attempt to be brief.

The number of ship arrests in the last 12 months is as follows: March 2013 – two; April 2013 – one; June 2013 – one; October 2013 – three; February 2013 – three.

1760 Hon. S M Figueras: Sorry Mr Speaker, he started – the Minister started with March 2013 and then ended with February 2013. Did he mean 2014?

Hon. G H Licudi: Sorry, the last one is February 2014 – three.

1765 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, perhaps the Minister... I am grateful for his answer. Perhaps the Minister can, and I have not given notice of this and certainly I should have done upon reflection – requested some kind of comparison with older figures.

But is the Minister in his experience – and again I acknowledge he might not have the information before him – able to say whether there is any trend identifiable, any downward trend identifiable in terms of the number of ship arrests being conducted in Gibraltar?

1770 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I do not have the figures and I had the same thought as the hon. Member, that it is information that would have been useful, particularly because in another question I do have the figures that I am being asked for and I am also comparing with previous figures. I do not have the figures but I am happy to obtain them for the hon. Member.

1775 With regard to trends, certainly no trend has been brought to my attention. It is always difficult to try and identify the trend in these matters, because it really depends on the needs of owners, mortgage holders, and sometimes figures could be misleading. Because if you have a fleet arrest for example, you may have a relatively large number which upsets the figures and does not really show any particular trend.

So I do not have the figures for the previous year, but I am happy to obtain them.

1780 Hon. S M Figueras: And I am grateful to the Hon. Minister, I will take the opportunity of just writing directly to him in order to request that information.

1785 Hon. D A Feetham: Is the Hon. the Minister for Justice satisfied that Gibraltar remains competitive in relation to ship arrests, not only in relation to the charges imposed by Government but also in all the other services that are also offered and that may play a role in the owners of vessels making a decision to come to Gibraltar to have their ships arrested in Gibraltar?

1790 Hon. G H Licudi: Yes Mr Speaker, we are satisfied that Gibraltar remains a very competitive jurisdiction for that purpose. It is an area that I have discussed with Members of the legal profession through the Bar Council and in particular, practitioners involved in this particular area. I have also had discussions with my colleague the Minister for the Port, because it relates to Port issues and services provided through the Port in relation to ship arrests, such as the marshals on board and all that.

1795 I have had discussions with the Admiralty Marshal on these issues and generally the position seems to be that there is always room for improvement and there are always things that we can do, we can always lower charges, but ultimately this is a matter that remains a viable proposition for Gibraltar. Certainly when there is a ship arrest and there is a sale, there is a percentage that clearly goes to the Government, so we would certainly want to do everything possible to encourage the use of the Gibraltar Port or Gibraltar generally, as a jurisdiction for decisions when decisions have to be made. Sometimes these things happen by accident, but usually they tend to be planned and we would certainly want to carry on encouraging Gibraltar as a port for ship arrests.

Mr Speaker: Question 321.

Q321/2014
Prison occupancy –
Figures for last 12 months

Acting Clerk: Question 321, the Hon. S M Figueras.

1805 Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Justice provide this House with prison occupancy figures on a month by month basis for the last 12 months?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

1810 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I do not have a schedule for this but I will give the information to the hon. Member.

The daily average prison population expressed on a month by month basis over the last 12 months, rounded to the nearest person is March 2013 – 55; April 2013 – 54; May 2013 – 46; June 2013 – 45; July 2013 – 46; August 2013 – 49; September 2013 – 43; October 2013 – 46; November 2013 – 49; December 2013 – 48; January 2014 – 50; February 2014 – 52.

This represents a daily average prison population of 49 over the period.

Mr Speaker these figures can be contrasted with the daily average prison population of 71 in 2011 and 75 in 2012 and there can be a number of factors. I have only been asked for the figures. If the hon. Member wants to go into issues as to what can contribute, I am happy to go into those matters, but the question relates to the figures and that is what I have provided to this House.

1820

Hon. S M Figueras: Yes indeed Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Minister for the very helpful answer. I would certainly want to take up the offer and explore what issues the Hon. Minister might be able to talk to us about in relation to what might have had that effect on, really, that rather significant effect on prison population figures since 2011.

1825

Hon. G H Licudi: Well Mr Speaker, it is difficult, but not impossible to ascribe any one particular cause to the change. We have seen clearly what can be described as a significant drop 71 or 75 down to 50, a 33% drop effectively in that year.

1830

In order to analyse the whole issue and understand why this happens, we would need a criminologist to identify the matter. But there are a number of factors that we can look at and see as possible causes, and factors for explaining this particular trend.

One issue which I can certainly say is not a factor is that there has not been a mass exodus of prisoners on the basis that many of them or many more are now being given parole than has previously been the case. In fact the figures on parole are fairly consistent. In 2013, for example, sorry 2012, there were 23 prisoners given parole and that can be compared with 20 in 2013. Maybe that is the other way round, but for the last two years it has been 20 and 23 so the numbers are fairly consistent so there has to be a combination of factors to which the small numbers are attributable.

1840 There are a number of facts that we have which can help us understand. If we look at admissions to the prison, in terms of people who have been sentenced and sent or remanded in custody, in 2012 we had 281; in 2013 we had 179 – that is a drop of over 100 in one year. There is still the question as to well why that drop, why that significant...? That is a very significant drop, of over 100 prisoners being sent, or being received in the prison and there are a number of factors that we can consider as contributing to this.

1845 First of all, as from the beginning of 2012 we had a fourth judge, specialising in criminal law, Mr Justice Barrington Black who is due to retire next month and I would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge the work and contribution that Mr Barrington Black has made to the community and to the Judiciary generally, and wish him a happy retirement.

1850 But he came in – it was a policy of the previous administration, I acknowledge that – and he was engaged by the previous Administration that commenced subsequently. He came in at the beginning of 2012 and a system of two criminal courts running concurrently was devised. That was intended to clear a backlog that existed and therefore in 2012 there were large moves to clear the backlog. A lot of that was done successfully and therefore there was not that much backlog to clear later on, which again might have contributed to the fall in numbers.

1855 The other figure that can be given is that the recorded crime over last year is down by 18%. Those are actual figures given to me by the Royal Gibraltar Police, and that is 18% down on the previous year, which itself was down 13.5% over the previous year. So the trend of recorded crime going down is evident. Why again, we can consider that there has been a new policy of neighbourhood policing, more visible policing in the community, and the professionals that I have asked on these issues suggest that that is working and is effective in reducing the offending, and reducing the re-offending also, in our community.

1860 We have also had the public CCTV project, which as Members will recall when it was announced, not only which was originally planned by the hon. Members, we actually put it in place and we have had this debate before, in 2012. We know that that not only provides a tool when crime is actually reported, to actually detect who the culprits are and use that as evidence, but it provides a positive deterrent and that can certainly be a factor. The other issue is that we have seen less re-offending so repeat offenders are down and that is a very, very positive sign.

1865 Last month, I gave details of the measures that are being taken in prison to rehabilitate offenders with vocational courses and counselling that is provided, that might account for the less numbers re-offending. One particular issue that is of crucial importance in this area, Mr Speaker, is that once offenders are rehabilitated they can obtain employment, come back into society and are part of the community. That reduces any kind of incentive or any need for re-offending, not that there is ever a need for re-offending, but certainly gives them the incentive to start behaving properly and not offend.

1870 Hon. Members will remember that as part of our policy, although it had been enacted previously by the previous administration, we very quickly commenced the rehabilitation of offenders provisions in the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act. That is something that we gave a lot of importance and we did that early – that was in fact the very first part of that Act that we enacted. That allowed certain convictions to be regarded as spent and not have to be disclosed for employment purposes and makes it easier for offenders to obtain employment.

1880 It is interesting, Mr Speaker, that only last week, in fact as of 11th March, we have new periods for rehabilitation of offenders in the UK and listening to the media reports last week, quoting experts would suggest that the lower the rehabilitation periods the quicker the offender can obtain employment and that that has actually been seen to have a very positive effect in the re-offending numbers, because people can get back into employment.

1885 I can tell the hon. Members that as a result of those studies and those changes which have come into place in the UK as of last week, we have now looked at our own rehabilitation periods, and we will be making changes in order to bring them more in line because there is now a big disparity with the UK. So we will be making changes to the schedule and those tables.

1890 So all in all, there are quite a number of factors, including lower crime, neighbourhood policing, CCTV, less re-offending, the rehabilitation of offenders, all those factors we believe contribute. But this is not a science, and it may be that things change in the next few months, we certainly hope that the Government's Criminal Justice Policy and all the law enforcement agencies that are involved in preventing, detecting and deterring people from committing offences, that the very good work will continue and that we will continue to see crime falling in Gibraltar. Q322/2014
Detention of juveniles –
Plans for provision

1895 Acting Clerk: Question 322, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Justice provide this House with details of how the Government plans to provide for the detention of juveniles, other than in HM Prison?

1900 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, the Government has no immediate plans for the detention of juveniles, other than at HM Prison. Government is however, prepared to consider alternatives to HM Prison for the detention of juveniles, should this be considered necessary.

1905 I should say Mr Speaker that the number of juveniles received into prison custody is, I am very glad to say, low. As an example, in the whole of 2013 we only had one juvenile received at HM Prison during that time.

1910 Hon. S M Figueras: I am grateful, Mr Speaker.

I asked this question in the context of an incident a couple of weeks ago involving, as I understand it, a juvenile where I also understand immediate action was taken to accommodate the juvenile in a manner more appropriate to his or her age. I wonder whether perhaps the Minister is able to say how, given the fact that and my acknowledgement, certainly, that there is thankfully a very, very low number of instances where this is even relevant, what in the interim between now and developing a permanent solution... how it is that these persons are in fact dealt with currently?

1915 Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, Mr Speaker, I am happy to give the hon. Member details of that, but let me just correct... and I do not want to go into an argument or any discussion about the case that the hon. Member has mentioned. It is not the case that that particular juvenile was dealt with in a different way, that juvenile should not – or it was considered, should not have been sent to custody in the first place. That issue was resolved but there may be ongoing issues in relation to that case and I certainly do not want to go into that.

1920 The hon. Member asks how juveniles are actually dealt with and as hon. Members opposite should... well, will know – particularly the Leader of the Opposition, because the Prison Act was introduced by him during his time as Minister for Justice – there is a provision in section 25 which stipulates that so far as accommodation in the prison renders it practicable, prisoners under the age of 17 will be kept separate from other prisoners. There is a separate provision which says that this should not result in an undue deprivation of contact with other prisoners.

1925 So when a juvenile is received into prison, consideration is given to his age, his current circumstances, and the current circumstances in the prison itself when deciding to what degree the juvenile will need to be segregated. Juvenile prisoners are never housed in a cell with an adult prisoner. That simply does not happen. They are either housed in a separate wing or in a wing where other prisoners are located, albeit the best behaved prisoners who are currently in prison. In any event, the juvenile is always under the supervision of a prison officer throughout the day and never left on his own with other prisoners.

1930 We have a vocational instructor that is available and used exclusively for juveniles when they are in custody. They spend... When I say 'they', last year we only had one individual, but juveniles spend most weekday mornings under the care of that particular vocational instructor. We also have a qualified teacher available exclusively for juveniles and who will impart the necessary lessons, so that the education side of the juvenile is also taken into account whilst he is in custody.

1935 There is a range of other professionals and agencies that are necessarily engaged to provide services, depending on the particular case, including psychologists, Care Agency support, and that particularly arises if that juvenile is already known to the Care Agency. So what the professionals will do is produce a care plan for the juvenile for the purposes of meeting his needs whilst in prison, and ensure that every day that is spent in custody is as purposeful and engaging as possible.

1940 The prison we currently have does not have a dedicated juvenile wing. I am advised that one of the wings, a 10-bed wing, was in fact earmarked as a possible juvenile wing. This wing was subsequently reclassified as a vulnerable person's wing, but it can be used for juveniles if there are no sex offenders or other vulnerable prisoners in custody using that particular wing. There is in any event another separate small wing, a 12-bed wing that can also be used to house prisoners. It is dependent upon the population of the prison, but since the population has fallen dramatically in the last 12 months, it is certainly possible to vacate this section and use it exclusively for juveniles if it is deemed necessary.

So by and large the prison, although without a dedicated wing, is adequate and has adequate facilities and additional resources are brought in to support the juvenile whenever there is a juvenile in custody.

1955 Hon. S M Figueras: I am grateful and whilst acknowledging that clearly, given the current prison occupancy figures and the fact that this is seldom something that is required and also the Hon. Minister's first answer that there are no immediate plans, are there any plans whatsoever that the Minister can share with us at this stage?

1960 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I said there are no immediate plans but it is something we are prepared to consider if it is deemed necessary.

Hon. Members will know that we have a commitment to look at and procure a secure unit and that is in connection with particular provision in the Children Act which has not been commenced yet, and which will provide for secure accommodation for children.

1965 That is not intended to be a youth detention centre; it is intended to be a secure unit for other purposes. But it is perfectly possible and feasible if we wanted to develop that to have as a wing, a self-contained unit which could almost double up as a youth detention centre if we wanted to go down that route.

1970 We do not have immediate plans to do that. We do not believe that it is necessary, we are working on a secure unit and when we do that, we will be considering whether that can also be used for other purposes, but the intention at the moment is that that secure unit is not going to be used as a youth detention facility because of the circumstances that I have already described, which we consider are adequate and as provided for in the legislation.

Q323/2014

Registered sex offenders – Number for last 12 months

Acting Clerk: Question 323, the Hon. S M Figueras.

1975 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Justice provide details to this House of the number of registered sex offenders in Gibraltar on a month by month basis for the last 12 months?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

1980 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, there are currently eight persons on the sex offender's register. Of these, two were registered in April 2013, one in July 2013, one in December 2013, three in January 2013 and one in February 2014. Sorry, I should have said January 2014.

1985 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, just one supplementary. Is the Minister able to say whether of the eight currently on the register, whether there is any that have been reported, or rather who have reported for registration, other than in circumstances of being convicted in Gibraltar?

1990 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I do not want to go too much into who is in and who is out and the circumstances and all that. Hon. Members will recall that when we had discussions previously and debate previously about the sex offenders register. There was this issue as to whether there were sufficient powers in the Act to deal with people outside Gibraltar, or even people who had committed offences before the coming into effect of the Act.

1995 I can certainly confirm to the hon. Members that those powers are being exercised and are being used and the eight are not all related to convictions in Gibraltar which would automatically qualify for nominations.

2000 Hon. D A Feetham: So it follows that some of those are effectively people who have been convicted of sex offences outside, so the conviction is outside Gibraltar but there has been some form of application, I cannot remember the exact mechanics now off the top of my head, but there has been some form of application to get them registered onto the list here in Gibraltar. Can the Minister tell us how many of those eight are in that category, in other words that are sex offenders convicted outside Gibraltar?

2005 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, as I said, I do not particularly want to go into an argument –

Hon. D A Feetham: No, I am not going to have an argument.

2010 Hon. G H Licudi: – as to who is in and who is out. There are different circumstances, the hon. Member has mentioned the possibility of making applications. There is a sexual offences prevention order that can be obtained, there is a risk of sexual offences order that can be obtained, and powers have been exercised in respect of that, including – and I do not want to go into numbers, but including – in respect of offences committed outside Gibraltar.

ENTERPRISE, TRAINING, EMPLOYMENT AND HEALTH & SAFETY

Q324/2014

Employment Service – Registered employers

Acting Clerk: Question 324 the Hon. D J Bossino.

2015 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment provide up to date details of the employers registered with the Employment Service by industry group?

2020 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

2025 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the number of employers registered with the Employment Service by industry group as at December 2013 was as follows: electricity supply – 5; water supply – 2; ship building – 32; other manufacturing – 67; construction – 679; wholesale trade – 100; retail trade – 506; hotel trade – 10; restaurants and bars – 222; repairs of consumer goods – 68; sea transport and related services – 93; air transport – 9; road transport – 218; post and communications – 18; banking, finance and insurance – 1,175; public administration and defence – 9; police and fire service – 24; sanitary services – 7; education 41; medical and health service – 150; other services – 827.

2030 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for that. Can I ask the Hon. Minister if there is any reason why the information has not been updated in the website, because the information was available on a monthly basis...? Actually not on a monthly basis, I am not sure on what basis. It started in March 2011, then there is a jump to September 2011 and then since the hon. Member took office, it has been on a monthly basis in 2012 all the way through to December 2012.

2035 Can I ask why that practice seems to have stopped in terms of putting that information online?

Hon. J J Bossano: There is no particular reason that I know of. It is just that whoever does that job has not done it.

2040 Hon. D J Bossino: Do I take it that from that answer, there is no difficulty in the Government updating this information, in other words from December 2012 to the information which he has just given across the floor of the House? It would be very useful to see the trend and I am sure he will appreciate that and then I do not need to ask this type of question in the future. I am grateful.

2045 Hon. J J Bossano: I see no reason for not doing it, but I will find out when I get back to the Department, Mr Speaker.

Acting Clerk: Question 325, the Hon. D J Bossino.

2050 Hon. D J Bossino: Sorry, may I have a supplementary? I was just consulting with the Leader of the Opposition in relation to Question 324. There has been an increase, I think pretty much on a monthly basis in the industry group relating to construction. Does the hon. Member have an explanation for that?

2055 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, the Member may have noticed that there is actually no construction work going on – (Laughter) more scaffolding, more people working – and he will see that is reflected in the statistics when they are finally published. In the construction industry, there is more activity now than there was a year ago, but in any event I think he needs to understand that although this is a register of employers, 2060 it does include people who are self-employed who, in the system that we have in Gibraltar, can actually be employers as well as being self-employed. So you may find that the increase is not an increase in big firms; in many cases it is an increase in people who are really working on their own and maybe employing a mate as a labourer or something like that.

Q325-332/2014
Future Job Strategy –
Salaries paid to trainees; type of training given; finances

Acting Clerk: Question 325, the Hon. D J Bossino.

2065 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment provide details of the expenditure in terms of salaries paid to the trainees in the FJS since it started in February 2012 to date, broken down on a monthly basis?

2070 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 326 to 332.

2075 Acting Clerk: Question 326, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment state whether the trainees in the graduate scheme have been paid their yearly increases above the minimum wage, as promised in the GSLP manifesto?

2080 Acting Clerk: Question 327, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment state whether any training is being provided under the FJS in relation to Port-related activities?

2085 Acting Clerk: Question 328, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment state how many employees each of Construction Training Company Limited, ETCL, Graduate Research Development Company Limited and STCL have had, broken down by months, since February 2012 to date?

2090 Acting Clerk: Question 329, the Hon. D J Bossino.

2095 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment provide details of the number of private employers which have employed FJS trainees, with details of how many trainees have been employed by each employer, broken down by months, since February 2012 to date?

Acting Clerk: Question 330, the Hon. D J Bossino.

2100 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment state the industry area of the private employers which have to date employed trainees under the FJS scheme?

Acting Clerk: Question 331, the Hon. D J Bossino.

2105 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment state how many of the trainees who have been employed under the FJS remain employed to date?

Acting Clerk: Question 332, the Hon. D A Feetham.

2110 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Government please state whether there have been any allegations of financial irregularities in relation to the management of the Future Job Strategy or in relation to anyone exercising that role?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

2115 Mr Speaker: Before the Hon. Minister answers all these questions, may I make what I hope will be a useful practical suggestion. There is a great deal of statistical information in the answers – one, two, three, four, five, six, seven and a half pages.

2120 It would save the Hon. Minister a lot of breath, it would save a lot of time, may I make the suggestion that I arrange for these pages to be photocopied and circulated to Members of the Opposition and while we are waiting for that, we can proceed with Question 333 and then come back and answer and deal with any supplementaries arising from all these pages.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, it is an excellent suggestion.

2125 Mr Speaker: Is the Hon. Minister happy with that?

Hon. J J Bossano: Not at all Mr Speaker. I am not happy. (Laughter)

2130 Mr Speaker: You are not happy?

Hon. J J Bossano: No. (Laughter)

Mr Speaker: May I ask why?

2135 Hon. J J Bossano: Certainly, because the hon. Members have got the choice of seeking an oral answer or a written answer, and if they want a written answer, they wait until the end of the session and they get the thing in writing. They are trying to have their cake and eat it and therefore (Laughter) as far as I am concerned, they are not going to get that cake and eat it from me.

2140 So, since they want an oral answer... Let me say, Mr Speaker, that it was my view, when I was at the other side of the House, that if I asked for an oral answer, I should get an oral answer and it was the view of the then Government that questions asking for statistics should be put down for written answer. They do not practise in Opposition what they preached in Government, and I am going to do in Government what I asked for in Opposition. So when I am asked for an oral answer, I give one.

2145 Mr Speaker: Now with due respect to the Hon. Minister, if photocopies are made of his answer to all these questions and they are circulated, that can be deemed to be an oral answer. The only thing is that we are saving the Minister 15 or 20 minutes of having to read a whole series of figures out. (Interjection and laughter) I mean, it is ultimately up to him but I am trying to be sensible, I think. (Interjection)

2150 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, Mr Speaker, whether one is sensible or not is always a subjective judgement, (Laughter) but of course oral answers are for the benefit of a crowded gallery and everybody watching us on television, (Laughter) and I would not want anybody to be deprived of the opportunity of listening to all these statistics to which the Opposition attach such importance that they have almost paralysed the Department working out everything over the last two years. So if you will indulge me, I will continue giving the answer.

Hon. D A Feetham: Could I, Mr Speaker, it would be –

2160 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo) Could I suggest to provide assistance to both sides –

Hon. D A Feetham: Well Mr Speaker, I have stood up –

Hon. Chief Minister: [Inaudible]

2165 Hon. D A Feetham: I was stood up before. (Laughter) I gave in last time.

2170 Mr Speaker, what I was going to suggest is that perhaps the Hon. the Minister can read it out, then he can have his oral answer, but if you could provide photocopies of what he is going to be reading out, at the very least we can follow. Because the problem with this particular practice, is that you are bunching up an awful lot of questions with an awful lot of statistics and it is actually very difficult for Opposition Members to then start taking notes (Interjection) and it would help us, indeed, in relation to our supplementaries, but also to understand the answer if photocopies were to be made.

But again, we are totally in the hands of the Hon. Minister. If he does not agree with that, then we cannot do anything to make him budge.

2175 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, if I might, I think the useful compromise I was going to propose is not a million miles away from what the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has suggested. I think we have suffered when we have been in Opposition, this practice which it appears is another one of the practices that Mr Feetham is now decrying that they engaged in when in Government, another one of the things that he has managed to finally change from the GSD that he so decries of old, and especially given their admission of their carelessness in their ability to jot down statistics as they are provided, I think it would be a very useful compromise if a photocopy could be provided to Members opposite, but of course that the hon. Member be given the opportunity to read out his answer which he wishes, and is entitled to do. I think in that way we achieve both of the objectives we wish to achieve.

2185 Mr Speaker: May I just comment that I think it is a regrettable practice that developed sometime between over the years between 1992 and 2011. It certainly was not the practice prior to 1992 for statistical information of this length to be provided in the House. It just was never done.

2190 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, may I just remind you that in fact the last time this level of statistics was asked for, you pointed out to the Members – I think it was in October last year – that if they wanted statistical questions, they had the opportunity of asking for written answers. Having been told by you that that should be the way, they should do it, they have chosen not to do it that way. So therefore, they will have to sit and listen to what they want to hear. Otherwise they should not be asking for it to be oral.

2195 Mr Speaker, in the 24 months from February 2012 to January 2014 the expenditure on salaries of trainees, in thousands of pounds, was as follows:

	Month 1	296
	Month 2	348
	Month 3	402
2200	Month 4	459
	Month 5	485
	Month 6	520

The 150% and the 175% enhancement has already been paid to graduate trainees. The further increase to 200% due in the third year has not yet been paid.

No training is being provided in Port-related activities.

2225 There is no company called STCL. Assuming the hon. Member is seeking the information in respect of the Supported Employment Company, the information is as follows. In the 24 months from February 2012 to January 2014 the number of employees in each of the four companies is as follows:

The industry areas of the private employers... I am afraid the hon. Member will not win anything today. (Laughter and banging on desks) Mr Speaker, the industry areas of the private employers who have between February 2012 and January 2014 taken on trainees under the scheme are as follows: electricity supply; water supply; ship building; other manufacturers; construction; wholesale trade; retail trade; hotel trade; restaurants and bars; repairs of consumer goods; sea transport and related services; air transport; road transport; post and communication; banking; finance and insurance; police and fire service, sanitary services; education; medical and health services and other services.

As at the end of January 2014, 722 former trainees were in employment.

Finally Mr Speaker, there have been no such allegations. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: After that tour de force, I understand that television viewers have switched back on. (Laughter and banging on desks) Supplementaries.

2350 Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful, Mr Speaker. Can I just sat that (Interjection) Exactly, absolutely Mr Speaker, completely knocked out. I must say it is a joy to actually be able to follow the hon. Gentleman for once in the answers that he gives us, I really am chuffed.

2355 Mr Speaker, in relation to the answer he gave, I think it was in connection with the number of FJS trainees employed in each of the FJS companies – (Interjection) exactly. He gives me, he cites the numbers, Company 1, Company 2, Company 3, and Company 4. Can he give me the names of the companies?

Mr Speaker: What now? (Laughter) The names of all the companies. Oh, only four, very well.

2365 Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful for that. Also, could he also enlighten me in relation to the percentage figures he has given me in connection with the pay increases to graduate trainees? He refers to 150%, 175% and 200%. I am sure that mathematically that is absolutely correct, but the way I understood it from reading the manifesto was the minimum wage plus 50, the minimum wage plus 75 and the minimum wage plus 100. Can he just give me some explanation as to why those precise figures?

2370 Hon. J J Bossano: Well yes, something plus 50 is 150% of something and therefore the hon. Member asked me about the increases above the minimum wage, they have been paid 150% of the minimum wage, they have been paid 175% and they have not yet been paid the 200% which will happen after the new financial year which is on 1st April.

2375 Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful. Mr Speaker, a brief supplementary.
He says after the new financial year. Does he not recognise that that is a delay in terms of, those graduate trainees would have been employed for example in February 2012, I think it would have been beyond the third year anniversary of their employment. I think the manifesto commitment was that they would be paid the 100% increase on the third year anniversary.

2380 Hon. J J Bossano: Well clearly, Mr Speaker, the hon. Member is not familiar with the way that pay rises happen. I mean a couple of months retrospection is not out of... it is not going to create, I think, excessive hardship to people who are in effect getting twice the minimum wage. There are several thousand people on the minimum wage in Gibraltar.

2385 Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful for the confirmation in relation to retrospection, Mr Speaker, in his answer. There is one particular case which, I can only refer to one and I am not saying that it is necessarily sort of prevalent in all the individuals who are participating in the scheme, but certainly one case has been brought to my attention where I am being told that the 75% increase that the individual has received, basically that person has only received 50% of the 75% increase, as opposed to the entire 75%.

2390 Is he aware of this one case or is it something which is...? Because he has told me that the 75% increase has indeed been paid but I can tell him that the information that I have, very recent information, is that there is at least one individual who has received the entirety of the 75% increase.

2395 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, the individuals to my knowledge that have received it have been the individuals who have signed the variation in their contract to bring the increase about. There is only one individual that I know of who... there was a situation when a lot of these graduates were placed in Government offices as part of their training and they were working the same hours as everybody else in the office, which was a 37-hour week.

2400 As an oversight, the contracts that were originally given to them were given for 39 hours and it was not the fault of the individuals involved, because it was not that they asked for 39 hours; it was since the graduates came in at a later stage than the manual workers did and the manual workers were on 39. Well people made the mistake and gave them contracts. Therefore we honoured those contracts for 39 hours, even though they were working 37.

2405 When the increase came in, everybody was asked to sign, accepting that from the date that it went from 150% to 175%, their hours would come down from 39 to 37 which is what they were working. To my knowledge, only one person has objected to that and therefore I imagine we are both talking about the same person.

Hon. D J Bossino: But is that person not to be receiving the 75% increase, how does that correlate with the – ?

Hon. J J Bossano: Everybody except this one person accepted that it should be 75% for a 37-hour week and this person insists that it should be 37% for a 39 hour week, so she is still on the original contract unless and until she accepts that she will get 25% more but stop getting paid for two hours which she is not working and should not have been working.

2415

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in relation to his answer to Question 327 which he will recall relates to Port-related activities, his reply was that no training has been provided in Port-related activities. Can he give me an indication as to when they will be provided?

2420

Hon. J J Bossano: Well Mr Speaker, I have answered the question by finding out if there is anybody in Port-related activities and the answer is that there is not. I do not know whether there has been any in Port-related activities before now. I assume that he means by Port-related activities something more than being a clerk in the Port, which is not a Port-related activity because the activity is the same whether you are in the Port or in Europa Point.

2425

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the question – I will explain it to him. The question arises from a manifesto commitment entitled ‘Port Training’ and I will quote, it says:

2430

‘Apprenticeships and training in port related activities are essential to guarantee future generations of Gibraltarians can do the jobs required in the Port Services sector.’

That is why I have asked the question so my supplementary, as to what is going to happen in the future.

2435

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, I am told this is not done in respect of taking on employees. I mean can I remind the Member, Mr Speaker, that people who provide training opportunities are required to employ the people at the end of the training. Therefore, there are instances where people get unpaid training and it may be the case either because they are training people already in their employment or because anybody that is interested in acquiring certain skills is given an opportunity. But it is certainly not part of the training that is provided for people where there is a vacancy that has been open which has to be filled and is filled by a trainee, which is the only ones that the Employment Service is involved in.

2440

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in connection with the answer he gave where he says that, at the end of January 2014, 722 former trainees were still in employment. I marry that figure with a figure I know he has already provided in this House and to the press, as to how many of those who are participating in the scheme have been employed. I will do the comparison.

2445

But is there any monitoring? In other words, once the trainee is taken on, assuming that he is taken on beyond the... basically a decision is made to take the trainee on in the first month and then the trainee is provided for a three-month period, paid for by the Gibraltar Government for that three-month period and then he is taken on because of the guaranteed employment. Is there any monitoring being done by his Department as to the permanency of that employment? Because there could always be the situation, the case when an individual may be taken on beyond the third month but in the fourth, fifth or sixth month, in other words before the 52-week period when statutory rights kick in, could be dismissed. Is there any monitoring being done by his Department in relation to that point?

2450

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, that was a fear that was expressed by Opposition Members at the beginning of the scheme. It is a fear that has not materialised and that I would expect not to materialise.

2455

We have a close relationship with the employers that have been... I mean there is no way of forcing an employer to take on a trainee and therefore the employers that do it, do it willingly. They do it willingly because they have got a vacancy that they have opened and it is a vacancy they need to fill. So clearly, if they took on the employee and then sacked him a few months down the road, then there would be an unfilled vacancy and a registered unemployed person and that is monitored.

2460

He needs to remember that the difference is that with the scheme that existed prior to the 2011 Election, it was possible to do that and get away with that because there was no commitment. The people who were placed in the private sector were people that were being placed in the private sector where, as I have told the House in the past, when I came into the Department and I started asking these employers to take on the employees many, many of them, three quarters of them said, well look, they did not really have a need for the person; they were just being sort of public spirited by giving people an opportunity to get work experience, given that they were getting paid an allowance of £400 or £350.

2465

2470 That is no longer the case, so we are able to monitor it simply by virtue of the fact that we monitor all the vacancies that get open and we monitor all the people that register as unemployed on a daily basis and we know who has been through our system. So when I am telling him that there are 722, that is the numbers that are employed having been through the training scheme. That is the figure that I have got today and that was for the end of the month of January.

2475 Mr Speaker: Do hon. Members have any other supplementaries?

Hon. D J Bossino: No.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q333/2014
Industrial Tribunal –
Employment of permanent Chairman

2480 Acting Clerk: Question 333 the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment state when the Government envisages it will employ a permanent Chairman of the Industrial Tribunal?

2485 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): No, Mr Speaker.

2490 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, is there any reason why the answer is no? I mean, can he shed a bit more light? Does he have a date as to when...? I understand that it is a manifesto commitment and I just want to know when he thinks he will be employing a permanent Chairman of the Industrial Tribunal or what issues he is considering?

2495 Hon. J J Bossano: It will happen before the next General Election, Mr Speaker.

Q334/2014
Census 2012 –
Publication of results

Acting Clerk: Question 334, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2500 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can Government say when the results from the 2012 census will be published?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

2505 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): No, Mr Speaker.

2510 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, did the Hon. Minister say that they would not be publishing the results of the Census?

Hon. J J Bossano: No, I am not saying that, Mr Speaker.

2515 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: So Mr Speaker, when will the results for the 2012 Census be published?

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member has not asked me whether they are going to be published, but whether I can say when they will be published, and the answer is I cannot say when they will be published. They will be published when the Statistics Office is ready to publish them.

2520 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q335/2014
Shipbuilding/marine repairs industry –
Major reportable accidents, February 2014

Acting Clerk: Question 335, the Hon. J J Netto.

2525 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health and Safety provide Parliament with a statement in relation to the Major Reportable Accidents in the Shipbuilding/Marine Repairs Industry in February 2014, as shown in table HS2 of the Government website, and stating if any contravention over the Factories Act or any of its subsidiary legislation has taken place?

2530 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

2535 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I am informed that at approximately 15:30 on 3rd February 2014, a Gibdock employee was asked by the crane driver to check if the cradle connected to Crane 5, next to Dock 3, was free of cables and mooring ropes. He requested confirmation as to whether the subcontractors who were working there before lunch had left without informing him about the progress of the job, as the cradle was at the bottom of the dock where he had a blind spot, hence he could not see if the cradle was connected to the cables and the ropes.

2540 The Gibdock employee went down to the docks, stepped onto the dock alters to overlook the cradle down below and slipped, as it was raining and the dock alters were wet. He slipped, stumbled over and landed on the cradle that was hanging below him. The crane driver saw him stumble over so he instructed him not to move. Immediately the dockworkers' foreman attended the scene of the accident to check on the employee.

2545 When the dockworkers' foreman saw the employee, he was conscious and everything was under control. He also saw that the cradle was completely disconnected and safe to lift. He instructed the crane driver to slowly lift the cradle up onto the quayside for the ambulance and paramedics to have better access to the employee. By the time the dockworkers' foreman had instructed that the cradle was clear to lift, the ambulance service had already been advised and were on their way.

2550 During this time, the Safety Officers were on the scene at the incident and they took over control of the situation until the ambulance arrived minutes later. The Health & Safety Inspector then arrived at the location of the incident when the paramedics were placing the Gibdock employee into the ambulance. The employee sustained a fracture to his left elbow.

The Health & Safety Inspectors informed me that they found no evidence of contravention of any of the legislation.

Q336/2014
Development and Planning Commission –
Environmental Impact Assessment Screening Report

2555 Acting Clerk: Question 336, the Hon. J J Netto.

2560 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to Question 706/2013 which was answered in writing, will the Hon. Deputy Chief Minister please provide Parliament with a copy of the EIA Screening Report submitted to members of the DPC, despite stating that such a report is not a public document, in order to allow Members of the Opposition to monitor developments in such important matters to the community, and if not, why does the Government feel that they should not keep the Opposition informed?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

2565 Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, the EIA screening report is an internal document submitted by the Town Planner in order to assist Members of the DPC with their deliberations. The report has been overtaken by events. It concluded that there were no indications to warrant a full EIA in respect of the proposed development.

However, a Screening Direction has been given that an EIA should nonetheless be carried out.

QUESTIONS FOR WRITTEN ANSWER

Acting Clerk: Answers to Written Questions, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

2570 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to table the answers to Written Questions numbered W36 to W63 of 2014, inclusive.

GOVERNMENT MOTIONS

Mayor of Gibraltar and Deputy – Hon. Adolfo Canepa GMH OBE MP and Ms Kaiane Aldorino GMH appointed

Acting Clerk: Number (viii), Order of the Day – Government Motion.
The Hon. the Chief Minister.

5 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move the motion standing in my name which reads as follows:

‘This House appoints the Hon. Adolfo Canepa GMH OBE MP to be Mayor of Gibraltar, and Ms Kaiane Aldorino GMH to be his Deputy.’

Mr Speaker, the appointment of a new Mayor is no doubt a joyous occasion for any city. Today, however, we must also reflect on the service of a Mayor who comes to the end of his tenure and that will always, of course, be tinged with a little sadness.

10 Tony Lima and of course with him Carmen Lima, his wife, have been in post for a year and eight months. His initial 12-month appointment was extended by this Government, so that Mayors can now be appointed as from the start of the financial year, on 1st April.

15 There is no doubt in the Government’s mind, Mr Speaker, that Mr Lima has done an excellent job as Mayor. He has really approached the post with the clear mission of bringing many into City Hall who might not have had the chance to visit it otherwise. He has hosted all manner of delegations and associations without any hint of protestation, and he has done so always with a smile, with courtesy and with his wife, Carmen beaming at his side. So we must convey grateful thanks from our community for the manner in which Tony and Carmen have so ably led the Mayoralty from City Hall. On behalf of the Government and the people of Gibraltar, a big thank you to them.

20 The motion I now move to appoint you as the next Mayor of our City is also to take effect therefore from 1st April. As we all know, Mr Speaker, you have political experience, having held the three highest political offices, including now the post of Speaker. That of course will equip you well to be Mayor, but perhaps most importantly and moreover, you have actually already been Mayor. You took the post from 1976 to 1978. You were the fourth Mayor of Gibraltar, after the Hon. Alfred Vasquez, who then became Sir Alfred Vasquez, the Hon. Col. Willie Thompson and of course the first Mayor of Gibraltar, Sir Joshua Hassan.

You will also be becoming the 16th incumbent of the post and on both occasions, you will have at the same time also been a Member of this House. Your qualification for the role is therefore not a matter on which this House needs to be addressed.

30 It is true, Mr Speaker, that we had previously indicated our intention to reappoint Mr Tony Lombard to the post of Mayor. When the House appointed Mr Alcantara as the 14th Mayor, I reflected then on Mr Lombard’s time in City Hall by saying the following:

‘I want to record the Oppositions gratitude’ –

– we were then in Opposition –

‘to Mr Anthony Lombard for the work that he has done in discharging the civic functions of the role of Mayor of our city. It has been a delight to attend functions over which he has presided and at which he has spoken on behalf of all of us. He has imbued the Mayoralty with a sense of history and purpose that we all knew he would bring to it. He has not let any of us down and he has certainly relished the role and enjoyed it with gusto. Like Momy Levy and Olga Zammitt before him’

– the two who had been appointed as civic Mayors before him –

Mr Lombard has stepped up to the plate and done this House proud for the unanimous appointment of him as Mayor. I am sure that I speak for the whole community, Mr Speaker, when I say that we will be sad to see him go.’

35 We had openly, in fact Mr Speaker, referred to the ‘return to City Hall’ occurring now for Mr Lombard. However, Mr Speaker, the Government received a large number of representations from citizens of all walks of life, who were contrary to Mr Lombard’s reappointment. In many instances, Government must act, Mr Speaker, based on what Government thinks is right, even if our actions might sometimes prove unpopular.

40 In the appointment of a Mayor, however, Mr Speaker, the Government has wanted to make an appointment which is uncontroversial and which enjoys the support insofar as possible of the whole community. Despite our view that he did an excellent job when Mayor, there was a groundswell of opinion which included steps being taken to initiate a petition to be brought to Parliament that Government could not ignore, and all of these were against Mr Lombard’s proposed re-appointment. It is for that reason that we have not pursued the appointment. I nonetheless want to express my own high regard for Mr Lombard as a person and as a professional.

45 More happily, Mr Speaker, I turn now to our proposed choice as Deputy Mayor, namely Kaiane Aldorino. Miss Aldorino needs no introduction to anyone in Gibraltar, or in this Chamber. She has already done Gibraltar very proud indeed in her work as Miss World 2009. She has become the face of Gibraltar to a very great extent – and anybody who has seen the faces of the current, past and previous Chief Ministers, might think that is a very good thing too, that she should be the face of Gibraltar!

50 Indeed, Mr Speaker, I have said before that I think all of us will always remember where we were when Kaiane Aldorino was crowned Miss World in 2009. For Gibraltarians, her election has the tinge of perhaps the moon landings or the assassination of President Kennedy in that respect, and our community recognised her achievements in bestowing upon her the Freedom of the City of Gibraltar and the Gibraltar Medallion of Honour. Having been a representative of our nation on the world stage, Mr Speaker, she is of course, ideally suited to assist you as your deputy.

55 You have many responsibilities and a Deputy Mayor in your case may be called upon more often than in previous instances, to take on functions in your absence. In our view, Mr Speaker, Kaiane can fulfil that role and thereafter become an excellent Mayor also.

60 What we are not doing, Mr Speaker, is making your respective appointments definite in time, as had been the practice since August 2008. Your appointments are indefinite.

I trust that this motion will enjoy support from all sides of the House. (Applause)

65 Mr Speaker: I now propose a question in the terms of the motion moved by the Hon. Chief Minister. Would anyone like to contribute to the debate?

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, yes, thank you very much.

70 Mr Speaker, may I start by associating myself entirely with the words of the Hon. the Chief Minister and the Leader of the House. Warm words about Tony and his wife, he really has been... together with his wife, they have been a credit to Gibraltar and everything that they have done, they have done elegantly, with dignity and I have to say that they have brought something extra, in my view, to the role of – or certainly he has, to the role of Mayor.

75 But Mr Speaker, I am afraid that this motion does not have the unanimous support of the House. Out of respect, Mr Speaker, for Mr Speaker and also Kaiane Aldorino, who we believe will be excellent Mayors – and it is no reflection on your ability to be a Mayor, a role that you have exercised in the past, or indeed, the ability of Ms Aldorino to exercise that role in the future – but we do not believe it is right and therefore we are going to be abstaining. Out of respect, we are going to be abstaining, rather than voting against.

80 And essentially, there are three reasons why we are going to be abstaining in relation to this motion. One is quite frankly the very shabby way in which, in our view, Mr Lombard has been treated in relation to this matter. Secondly, because there has not been any consultation of the Opposition before this decision was taken to overturn Mr Lombard’s initial intention to be appointed. Thirdly, because it represents a reversal, certainly as far as the appointment of Mr Speaker is concerned, of GSD policy and we certainly do not feel that there is any reason why there ought to be a reversal of that policy.

85 If I may develop the first reason, start with the first reason. Mr Speaker, Tony Lombard – the decision to appoint Tony Lombard as Mayor, was the decision that was taken by the Hon. the Chief Minister, the Leader of the House, after consultation with my predecessor as Leader of the Opposition, Sir Peter Caruana. It was a decision that was taken in 2012, it was announced publically in August of 2012 and the intention was for Mr Lombard to serve for a period, I think it was, of three years.

90 This month, because of course we knew that Mr Lima's tenure of office was about to expire, Mr Lombard was asked to produce an interview with the Essential magazine in order to further announce the fact that his appointment as Mayor was to become a reality imminently. Indeed he telephoned, quite properly, the Deputy Chief Minister, and cleared that interview with the Deputy Chief Minister, before it was to come out. It was only the day before the interview was due to be published with the Essential magazine, that he received a call from the Chief Minister to tell him that the Government had reversed the decision.

In other words, just barely two weeks ago – this was a decision that was taken in 2012 – two weeks ago, what happened was that Mr Lombard had to scurry to get hold of the editors of the Essential magazine in order to change the article because he was only told the day before that article was to be published, an article that he had cleared with the Deputy Chief Minister. Now, I have to say that on any reasonable and objective analysis, that is quite shabby treatment of an individual indeed, whatever the reasons that a government may have to change its view, and indeed so hastily was the story changed in the Essential magazine, that what could not be changed was the front page title which reads 'Tony Lombard's new office'.

105 Now Mr Speaker, I have to say that anybody who has been to the office of Tony Lombard, no doubt will describe his office as being excellently appointed, excellently – very well kept indeed, but I do not think that you can describe or the word 'new' is not quite an apposite description of his office. Indeed, if Charles Dickens were to walk in through the door, (Laughter) he would not think that he was out of place in Tony Lombard's office.

110 So Mr Speaker, I think in my view, one does place a premium on the consistency of decisions of governments and governments ought not to change their views like weather vanes in accordance with whether a particular decision is popular or not, taking into account really what we are talking about. Look, if I were to listen to people that thought that I was popular or unpopular, I would go from euphoria to absolute depression within the space of 24 hours. That is the reality of a small community like Gibraltar, everybody has an opinion and I just simply do not think that the Government really has provided cogent reasons to explain the quite extraordinary treatment of Mr Lombard.

Bearing in mind, and I was about to read exactly the same passage that the Hon. the Chief Minister, Leader of the House has read, bearing in mind the very glowing reference that he gave Mr Lombard in 2011, barely I think it was four months before the General Election in 2011.

120 Now, Mr Speaker, the second reason is of course – and it is related, is that the Opposition has not been consulted. I was notified about this in an e-mail from the Deputy Chief Minister and my e-mail in response was, what about Tony Lombard? The response to that was, well the Chief Minister will talk to you about it and will give you the reasons. Eventually it was the Deputy Chief Minister that actually spoke to me and I am very grateful to him for explaining Government policy in this regard.

125 But Mr Speaker, if this is a decision that was taken in 2012 and it was taken after the Leader of the House consulted the then Leader of the Opposition, Sir Peter Caruana, one would have expected that the Chief Minister would have picked up the telephone and said to me, 'This is the Government's current thinking in relation to the appointment of Mr Lombard, what do you think?' I would have told him, look, if he really feels that there are concerns, well, why do we not try and see whether there is a middle road? Perhaps the appointment of Mr Lombard for a year, not three years, and I think that is the way that politics ought to be conducted. There ought to be an open channel of communication between the Chief Minister and the Leader of the Opposition, and I think in this case, it was incumbent on the Chief Minister to pick up the telephone and talk to me before the change of policy, bearing in mind that the appointment of Mr Lombard or the initial decision to appoint him, had actually been taken by consulting the Leader of the Opposition.

135 Thirdly, of course, it represents a reversal of GSD policy. We took a decision that the Mayorship should go out to members of the public, people who were not politicians, who were not Members of the House so that this Parliament could recognise citizens who have contributed to this community by appointing them as Mayors. I have every respect for Mr Speaker and no doubt, I will repeat it again, he is going to be an excellent, excellent Mayor, but I think that it is a reversal of our policy, a policy that was well thought out and I do not see... and look, I could have been open to persuasion if he had phoned me and perhaps spoken to me about it, but he has not. At the moment, I really cannot see at the time that we are taking this vote, why there ought to be that reversal of GSD policy in relation to the appointment of a Member of this House to the Mayorship.

145 Those in essence are the reasons why we cannot support this motion, but again I repeat with respect to Mr Speaker and Miss Aldorino, we are not going to be voting against, but we are going to be abstaining.

Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to speak on the motion? I now call on the mover to reply.

150

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, it is not the first time that things that might traditionally have gone by on a unanimous vote have to go by on Government majority, either with them in Opposition or with us in Opposition. That is the beauty of Parliament: we come here to express freely what our views are on particular subject. But in doing so and in deciding that we are going to obviously have to proceed with this by way of exercise of the Government majority, let me deal with the three excuses that the hon. Gentleman has put forward, in trying to justify why it is that they are not going to be supporting this motion.

155

Let me start at the end, Mr Speaker, with the idea that there is somehow here a reversal of GSD policy. Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman has talked at length about what he calls the shabby treatment of Mr Lombard and that is obviously why they are going to vote against, so I am surprised to see that he has tried to find other excuses to in some way decorate their abstention. Because of course there is no reversal here of GSD policy, the hon. Gentleman is saying that they had taken the decision to appoint people from outside the House but surely they had not taken the decision to appoint people exclusively from outside the House. Or is it that one of the Clerks or Ushers might be disqualified from being Mayor if they were Members of this House, or the Speaker is disqualified from being Mayor if they were Members of this House?

160

What they decided to do was not to appoint a Minister as Mayor. That is what they spoke about. They did not actually address the issue of Speaker's appointment as Mayor and of course, unless they are commending to her a career in politics and you would have to be a fool to become engaged in politics in this community as the 17 of us obviously are, Kaiane Aldorino is not a Member of this Parliament so I wonder whether the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition bothered to read to the end of the motion before deciding that he was going to turn up in Parliament today on a white charger to try and ingratiate himself to somebody whose position he wanted to defend. So the GSD policy reversal excuse is really not worth the paper that his remarks have been spoken on.

170

The issue of consultation, Mr Speaker, has always been a vexed one between Members opposite and with us. I mean, the level of consultation we used to get was a phone call saying the Chief Minister has decided that ... and that is in instances where statute requires consultation. There is no statutory requirement of consultation here. It is true that I spoke to Mr Caruana about these issues some time ago. It is also true that GSD policy was that we were wrong to go back to reappoint somebody who had already held the position, but they agreed that if it was the Government's view, they would support it or is it that that particular GSD policy is capable of reversal without comment.

And then, Mr Speaker, the issue of shabby treatment and how important it is for governments to be consistent, well look, it is important for Government to be consistent, I addressed that in my speech and therefore I have explained why we have made a change in our choice in this nomination – one of the hardest things I have had to do since I have been Chief Minister – because as I have said I have a high regard for Mr Lombard professionally and personally, whatever his views may be about me after today, that will not change.

185

This is not an issue of policy, it is not a policy to appoint Tony Lombard or appoint Adolfo Canepa or appoint Kaiane Aldorino. It is a choice. The hon. Gentleman should surely understand the difference between policy and choice. Not because he has been in politics for 13 years but because I thought he spoke English and the two things are completely different. This is not an issue of policy. It is an issue of having to make a very difficult choice in respect of somebody for whom I have the highest regard.

190

And if having to explain that choice and deal with it is to treat somebody shabbily when one tries to be as sensitive as possible in doing so, then he and I have completely different definitions of what shabby treatment is. I could come up with a list for him of people that have been treated shabbily under his Administration, singled out for discrimination, singled out for attacks in the press, for simply having raised their voice against them when they were in Government.

195

But then when he talks about consistency, one is left wondering whether he reads his own tweets. I had to refer him yesterday to how his Party had proudly tweeted how they had transformed themselves in two years in Opposition, therefore decrying everything that they had done before. So where is the value, weight and merit in consistency when all that they are proclaiming is that they are no longer who they were.

200

And the next item on the Order Paper, Mr Speaker, will demonstrate that to some degree or other because I never saw them move civil partnership legislation and yet now it appears that at least some of them are going to support it. What value consistency then?

205 Politics is about hard choices. Whether it is about a Victoria Stadium being moved to the Lighthouse or the GFA Stadium having to be at the Lighthouse, whether it is about Tony Lombard being Mayor or not being Mayor, it is about hard choices made in the best interests of our community.

210 If somebody wants to say that I have treated a man who I considered a friend and who I have the highest regard for shabbily, then it is because they want to try and use this for their own opportunistic political reasons, as usual. That is shabby. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, in the terms of the motion proposed by the Hon. the Chief Minister. Those in favour? (Government Members: Aye.) Those against? (Hon. D A Feetham: Abstaining.) Carried.

GOVERNMENT BILLS

FIRST AND SECOND READING

Financial Services (Contingency Fund) Bill 2014 – First Reading approved

215

Acting Clerk: Bills, First and Second Reading. (1) A Bill for an Act to make provision for and in connection with the creation of a Contingency Fund to be available for use upon the happening of a major event connected to activities licensed under the supervisory Acts; to provide for the functions and powers of the authority; and for connected purposes be read a first time.

220

The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to make provision for and in connection with the creation of a Contingency Fund to be available for use upon the happening of a major event connected to activities licensed under the supervisory Acts; to provide for the functions and powers of the authority; and for connected purposes, be read a first time.

225

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to make provision for and in connection with the creation of a Contingency Fund to be available for use upon the happening of a major event connected to activities licensed under the supervisory Acts; to provide for the functions and powers of the authority; and for connected purposes, be read a first time.

230

Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Acting Clerk: The Financial Services (Contingency Fund) Act 2014.

Financial Services (Contingency Fund) Bill 2014 – Second Reading approved

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill be now read a second time.

235

Mr Speaker, this Bill establishes a sinking fund from which regulatory action by the Financial Services Commission may be funded. It separates income received by the Commission for its operating expenses and capital expenditure from those to be held explicitly for funding regulatory action in the case of a major event.

240

Mr Speaker, the Financial Services (Contingency Fund) Act will replace the method of funding regulatory action for major events, by the Commission. When the Financial Services (Temporary Administration of Companies) Act 2010 was introduced, it envisaged that funding for such action would be drawn exclusively from licensees under the Financial Services (Investment and Fiduciary Services) Act and used for regulatory action only under that Act.

245

Trade Associations and in particular the Association of Trust and Company Managers made representations for a sinking fund to be established for future actions and that this should be funded from as wide a representative base as possible.

As the annual fee is paid by financial services across the supervisory Acts, and broadly representative of their size, it was put forward that a percentage of annual fees should form the basis of the levy to establish 250 and fund the Contingency Fund. The Contingency Fund will now also be available to fund regulatory action by the FSC under any of the supervisory Acts, as was also suggested by the industry.

This Government concurs with the views put forward by industry and this Bill formalises these arrangements. This Bill establishes a separate fund, exclusively for the purposes of future regulatory action which the Commission may not use for its own expenditure. In any case, any use of the Contingency Fund will require Ministerial consent before it can be drawn upon to fund an action and only then in the case of a major event.

Mr Speaker, clause 3 of the Bill defines what is meant by a major event, very narrowly, as essentially an action that would cause the Commission to remove an authorisation from a firm under any supervisory Act. It is clear that the Contingency Fund cannot be drawn upon for regular enforcement or regulatory actions and that the Commission will need to perform its statutory functions. Such expenses will need to be met out of its normal revenue. Ministerial approval is required in any event before an event can be considered a major one.

Clause 3(2) also imposes upon the Commission a requirement to inform the Finance Centre Council of every request that it submits to the Minister in this respect.

Mr Speaker, clause 4 provides for the establishment of the fund and the accounting thereof, as well as imposing restrictions on the investments and deposits that the fund may be invested in.

Clause 5 of the Bill makes contribution to the fund liable upon every holder of any type of authorisation under one of the supervisory Acts and defines the amount by way of a percentage of annual fees, due under the supervisory Acts.

The Commissioner is required to inform the Minister of the amounts it considers will be required to be made out of the fund in any year and I am obliged to consult the Finance Centre Council before setting the percentage applicable during any year, subject to a cap of 10%.

Mr Speaker, it is anticipated that the Contingency Fund will have a healthy but not burdensome balance in order to fund regulatory actions in time of need.

Clause 6, Mr Speaker, imposes conditions upon which expenditure out of the Contingency Fund may be incurred. Transparency of the operation of the Contingency Fund is essential and clause 7 imposes upon the Authority to make the appropriate disclosures in the notes to its accounts, as well as reserving the right of Government to conduct a value for money audit in relation to its operation.

I commend the Bill to the House.

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker yes, I rise very briefly to associate myself with those remarks that the Hon. the Chief Minister has made in relation to the need for such a Contingency Fund, certainly recent experience in the industry has shown that this is a worthy measure.

Having spoken briefly to the Hon. Minister for Financial Services yesterday, we discussed the consultation that had been ongoing with ATCOM and I, as are the rest of my hon. colleagues on this side of the House, am perfectly happy to support the Bill and will be doing so.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to make provision for and in connection with the creation of a Contingency Fund –

Hon. Chief Minister: Sorry Mr Speaker, I am grateful. Thank you for the opportunity to reply.

I am grateful to the hon. Gentleman for indicating that this Bill will enjoy support. Of course this represents a change of policy from the position taken by them when in Government, given representations from the industry and I realise that they do not put such value on consistency that they would stick with something that the industry would not want, and I therefore welcome the fact that they are going to support us.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to make provision for and in connection with the creation of a Contingency Fund to be available for use upon the happening of a major event connected to activities licensed under the supervisory Acts; to provide for the functions and powers of the authority; and for connected purposes, be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Acting Clerk: The Financial Services (Contingency Fund) Act 2014.

Financial Services (Contingency Fund) Bill 2014 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Committee Stage... or I give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken later today, if all hon. Members agree.

310

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Civil Partnership Bill 2014 –
First Reading approved

Acting Clerk: (2) A Bill for an Act to make provisions for and in connection with civil partnerships. The Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

315

Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to make provision for and in connection with civil partnership, be read a first time.

320

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to make provision for and in connection with civil partnerships, be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Acting Clerk: The Civil Partnership Act 2014.

Civil Partnership Bill 2014 –
Second Reading approved

325

Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill for the Civil Partnership Act 2014 be read a second time.

This is the first time that I move a Bill in this House and I am very proud that it will be such a landmark piece of legislation, one that will enable the formal recognition of relationships between couples of the same sex. Same sex couples currently have no route of legal recognition and this Bill addresses that.

330

In creating this legislative framework for same sex couples alongside opposite sex couples, Government is demonstrating our commitment to equality. This Government's commitment to equality is clear and as Gibraltar's first Minister for Equality, I am tasked with matters of great importance.

335

Already in this term of office, this Government has outlawed homophobic hate crime and hate speech and made these aggravated offences, and done a lot of work in raising awareness of equality issues generally, particularly in organising or funding various training events.

I am told that the first time that the word 'gay' was mentioned in Parliament was during the course of my Budget speech in 2012. I promised that it would not be the last.

340

Mr Speaker, as Minister with responsibility for equality, I have enormous satisfaction in being able to bring this Bill to the House. As the House is aware, in our manifesto we pledged that a GSLP Liberal Government would legislate for the recognition of civil partnerships between two people, regardless of gender or sexual orientation, ratified by a binding contract through the signing of an official register. This would entitle them to benefits related to tax, pension and property rights and this Bill is in fulfilment of that promise.

345

Mr Speaker, gay men and women are a fact of life in Gibraltar. Gay couples live together in committed relationships but that love and commitment counts for nothing in the eyes of the law. This Bill represents a historic step on what has been a long journey for same sex couples, for respect and dignity and above all, recognition in Gibraltar of their right to enter into a relationship and that it be recognised in the eyes of the law.

Her Majesty's Government sees this as a natural progression towards an inclusive society and it is 350 recognition of modern Gibraltar which marks a major step in gay couples gaining recognition and social acceptance.

Many people have decided to share their lives, their homes, their finances and it is not right that these relationships be invisible in the eyes of the law. The concept of a civil partnership is not new. For example 355 in the United Kingdom the statute is celebrating its tenth anniversary this year. Although our Bill is modelled on the UK Civil Partnership Act 2004, a key point of departure and which goes to the core of our Act is the parties who may enter into a civil partnership.

In the United Kingdom, only same sex couples are entitled to enter into a civil partnership. This limitation has had its share of controversy from heterosexual couples who feel that this is a form of discrimination against them. Mr Speaker, as our manifesto commitment pointed out, in this Bill two people, 360 regardless of their gender, may enter into a civil partnership and that is equality.

Members of the House will be familiar with the trajectory of this Bill. A draft of the Bill was presented to GGR, now the Equality Rights Group, in February 2013 and the consultation process with them as a representative group began. We have since had many in-depth and meaningful discussions on the Bill, well before it was published as a command paper in December of last year. During the draft stage, Unite the 365 Union called for Government to consider extending the legislation to opposite sex couples.

There was only one response during the consultation period once the command paper was issued – one that was not in favour of the proposed legislation – but other than that, the Bill has commanded widespread support, not only by organisations such as the Equality Rights Group and Unite, but also by many individuals who have approached me and other Members of Government, expressing their support for the 370 Bill and in some cases, their personal desire to register their own relationships.

I would like at this stage, to express for the record, my thanks to the Equality Rights Group Committee and in particular to Felix Alvarez who has worked so closely with me on this matter. I would also like to thank the legal team who have been involved in drafting the legislation and for their guidance.

Mr Speaker, I have this morning circulated a letter containing one minor amendment to the Bill to 375 reflect the change in the legal position in the UK and some minor typographical amendments that we will raise at Committee Stage.

Mr Speaker, I now turn to the details of the Bill.

Part 1 – other than the usual formalities in clauses 1 and 2, this part provides for the appointment of a Civil Partnership Registrar and Deputies in clause 3. A Registrar will discharge the functions of ensuring 380 that formalities are complied with.

Clause 4 is the key provision in this Bill and sets out exactly what a civil partnership is and it can be summarised as follows:

'A civil partnership is a relationship between two people ("civil partners")–

(a) which is formed when they register as civil partners of each other in Gibraltar; or

(b) when they are treated [...] as having formed [...] by virtue of having registered an overseas relationship.

[...]

(3) A civil partnership ends only on death, dissolution or annulment.

Part 2 of the Bill contains the bulk of the legislative provision spread out over seven chapters.

Chapter 1 is headed 'Registration' and, under clause 5, provides the formalities to be entered.

385 Subclause (1) requires that two persons sign a civil partnership schedule at the invitation of and in the presence of two witnesses and each other; and subclause (3) sign it in each other's presence before the Registrar and two witnesses.

Mr Speaker, at this juncture, I would also highlight the provision in subclause (5) that no religious service is to be used while the Registrar is officiating the signing of the civil partnership schedule.

390 The eligibility criteria for those wishing to enter a civil partnership are set out in clause 6 where the circumstances of persons who are not eligible are set out. These are: (a) either of them is already a civil partner or lawfully married; (b) either of them is under 16; or (c) they are within prohibited degrees of relationship.

Mr Speaker, it may be helpful to explain that the legal term 'prohibited degrees of relationship' roughly 395 translates into whether you are too closely related to the person whom you wish to enter a civil partnership with.

Clause 7 makes it a requirement that where one of the parties to the civil partnership is under 18, the consent of an appropriate person, such as a parent or the court is required.

400 The places where a civil partnership may be entered into are contained in clause 8. This includes the Registrar's Office or with an appropriate licence in a person's residence, aboard a passenger ship, or at a place which is authorised by licence.

Evidence of the civil partnership takes the form of the Registrar's certificate.

Clause 13 of the Bill provides for caveats to be entered in appropriate circumstances. In non-legal language, that means an objection. A caveat may be entered by a person who knows of a just cause why the civil partnership may not take place, for instance where the people may be too closely related and where a caveat is entered, the Registrar may refer the matter to the court.

Clauses 14 to 16 create a number of offences in relation to civil partnerships, such as providing false information.

Mr Speaker, it is inevitable, as in all relationships, that not all civil partnerships will last for ever. Chapter 2 therefore makes the necessary provision to ensure that where a relationship breaks down, there is a mechanism to resolve the issues and allow the parties to move on. The provisions are broadly those that are available in the cases of marital breakdowns.

The chapter also makes provision for separation, nullity and presumption of death orders. It also permits applications to the court for certain declarations, for example that a legal separation be obtained outside Gibraltar is also recognised.

Chapters 3 and 4 deal with the financial and property issues that follow, and includes provision designed to cater for the needs of children, where relevant.

Chapter 5 concerns civil partnership agreements. This is an agreement between two people to register as civil partners of each other and under this Bill, such an agreement is not recognised as giving rise to legal rights.

Chapter 6 relates to children and contains a single clause that takes you to schedule 7. That clause contains a number of amendments to enactments that relate to children.

Chapter 7 contains a number of miscellaneous provisions. Clause 90 takes you to schedule 8 which again makes a series of amendments to other legislation, this time on housing and tenancies.

Clause 91 takes you to schedule 9, which again makes a series of amendments to other legislation, this time on domestic violence and family homes.

Part 3 of the Bill concerns civil partnerships which have been entered into which have been dissolved abroad and provides the basis for when these are to be recognised in Gibraltar.

Part 4 of the Bill concerns relationships. Under clause 106, the definitions of step-child, step-brother, step-parent, etc are to be construed in the light of a civil partner, so that by way of example, A's step-child includes a person who is the child of A's civil partner but is not A's child.

Part 5 of the Bill contains a number of miscellaneous amendments, either directly or by reference to schedules so as to provide for the recognition of civil partnership in other areas of law, such as immigration – clause 107; discrimination in employment – clause 108; life insurance – clause 109; social security taxation – clause 110; and pensions – clauses 110 to 121.

Mr Speaker, this Bill sends a clear and unequivocal message that same sex couples deserve recognition and respect. This is a crucial step on the road to a fair and inclusive society.

Mr Speaker, I commend this Bill to the House. (Banging on desks and applause)

Mr Speaker: Order! Order! Members of the public are welcome here. We are delighted to see you here today, but there must be no demonstration, and clapping amounts to demonstration, so please desist.

Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the principles and merits of the Bill? The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, thank you very much for the opportunity of speaking on the Second Reading of this Bill.

Mr Speaker, the GSD has a very long tradition of allowing Members to vote with their conscience on issues that impact on the individual conscience of Members of our side of the House. It is a tradition that goes back to the early 1990s when the Father of the House, the Hon. Minister Bossano brought a Bill to this House in order to decriminalise homosexuality in Gibraltar and indeed, on that occasion every single Member of the GSD, bar one who abstained, voted in favour of that particular measure.

It was a tradition that we carried over when I brought a Private Member's Bill to this House in 2010 in order to change the then law in order to bring down the age of consent for homosexuals from 18 to 16, an age where it had been for heterosexuals for over 100 years. On that occasion, Mr Speaker, I stood alone in this Parliament together with my friends Mr Netto, Mr Reyes and indeed Mr Montiel – a minority of four – when we presented that Private Member's Bill in this House, voting in favour of that measure to reduce the age of consent for homosexuals to 16, thus equalising it to where it had been for heterosexuals for over 100 years.

Unfortunately Mr Speaker, on that occasion, the hon. Members opposite when they were on this side of the House, voted against that Private Member's Bill on the grounds that it ought to have been a Government measure – in other words, that it was not appropriate to bring an Act of Parliament to this House to change something as fundamental as the age of consent by way of a Private Member's Bill and that the Government of the day had to have the courage of its convictions to bring the Bill to Parliament, which at that stage they indicated that they would have supported.

465 Alas, Mr Speaker, when the matter then was referred by the previous Government to the Supreme Court for a determination as to whether the unequal ages of consent was constitutional or unconstitutional, and the judgement of the Court came back saying that it was unconstitutional and indeed, not only unconstitutional but that the age of consent for homosexuals should be reduced from 18 to 16 – not equalised, not equalised but reduced from 18 to 16 to where it had been, I emphasise, for heterosexuals for over 100 years and the 470 Government then brought a Government Bill to this House in order to reflect the judgement of the Supreme Court, equalising the age of consent at 16.

The hon. Gentlemen opposite abstained from that Bill, on the grounds that they wanted to consult in order to see whether the heterosexual age of consent ought to be increased from where it had been for over 100 years to 18 or vice versa, despite the fact that as a matter of fact – and this is very important – as a 475 matter of fact, the age of consent had already been reduced for homosexuals by the Supreme Court from 18 to 16.

Well, Mr Speaker, to talk about consistency, I suppose they were consistent in their own wonderful inconsistency on those occasions. Perhaps it is not surprising, Mr Speaker – it is not surprising, Mr Speaker, given the fact that they went from no, to yes, to maybe, to vote their conscience on the new Constitution.

480 And I mention the new Constitution because of course the new Constitution which was supported by the then GSD Government, introduced important revamping of the rights and freedoms of individuals, including the right not to be discriminated which has a very direct impact on the lives of homosexuals here in Gibraltar, as indeed across Europe.

Mr Speaker, I will be consistent. I speak for myself at the moment. I will be consistent, unlike hon. Members opposite. I will be consistent and I will support this Bill because as a matter of conviction, I believe that it is the right thing to do.

I can also indicate that for a variety of reasons, because this is a difficult issue, but for a variety of reasons, every single Member of the front bench of the Opposition will also be voting in favour of this particular Bill.

490 Thank you very much, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to contribute to the debate?

The Hon. the Chief Minister.

495 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, it is the second time I rise to say that I hope that a particular debate might be seen as a joyous occasion, and in most modern parliaments one would have thought that legislating to remove discriminations from the statute book would be a joyous occasion for parliament to unite, but obviously, with the present Leader of the Opposition, even the most apparently joyous occasions are turned into low down and dirty partisan opportunities for political profit, with the odd 500 side-swipe at what someone might have done five years ago, totally misrepresented to suit the purpose of the speaker and completely ignoring the issues that are before the Parliament in the Bill today.

So I applaud the hon. Gentleman for his consistency: his consistency in not addressing issues, his consistency in misrepresenting what has happened before and why.

Mr Speaker, of course there can be issues where party colleagues take different views on some subjects. Yesterday, the hon. Gentleman made that, because he apparently thought there was a divergence of opinion on the Government benches, a mortal sin of Cabinet division. ‘The Cabinet is divided!’ over a particular issue to do with the Dover sole and sardines. He thought it was hugely important and yet today he explains their own sad division on something as important, as crucial as eliminating discrimination from our statute book as part of their tradition.

510 Well, it is not a tradition that he would know much of because most of the time that he is referring to, he used to support the people now on these benches, rather than them. At the time of the decriminalisation of homosexuality, he was a town crier for the party on this side, not for the party on that side. But so be it – consistency in inconsistency.

Mr Speaker, we will not take the view that this is an issue of conscience and I as Leader of the House am not saying that this is a free vote on an issue of conscience. Of course the hon. Gentleman is free to do with his team such as he will, but in this Parliament today, this Bill comes not as a matter of conscience. It comes as a matter of law, of the removal of discriminations from our corpus juris, from our statute book. The Government Mr Speaker, deeply respects the fact that there are – in my view, unfortunately, but there are – divergent views in our community in respect of the consequences of someone’s sexual orientation.

520 Well look, there are divergent views as we know on many things. There are divergent views on where we should site a stadium, so it is not unusual and it is part of our culture that we have 30,000 different opinions on most things.

525 But at the core, Mr Speaker, we are a multi-cultural community which is built not on tolerance as we might have said in the 1970s or 1980s; we are built on the basis of multi-cultural mutual respect. And the issues that we are touching upon today in this Bill... and I know the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition did not want to talk about this Bill; he wanted to talk about his own Private Member's Bill. In those days, Mr Speaker, it was one of the few occasions he got to speak in the House because there were not many questions put to him, so he had to resort to the device of a Private Member's Bill to get up on his hind feet and say something. He did not want to talk about this.

530 But this Bill stirs emotions in people of different views, and it is an issue, Mr Speaker, on which different religions take different positions and we should not pretend that this is not happening. We should confront it and those issues are not lost on the Government and that is why, Mr Speaker, what we are doing today in this Bill does not force anything on anyone, does not impose anything on anyone. We are not imposing anything on any sector of our community.

535 What we are doing today is the opposite, Mr Speaker. What this Bill will do is it will take the State – and it is important that we concentrate on that, the State, only the State – out of the structure of discrimination that same sex couples have suffered for many years. Because Mr Speaker, on this side of the House, we think as a matter of law – not just as a matter of conscience, as a matter of law – that the State should never be used as an instrument of discrimination, deployed against people simply because of who they love or how they love.

540 So this is not, Mr Speaker, a Bill that is designed to change anybody's attitude or to force anybody to accept anything. It is only the Government, it is only the State that is being forced to change as a result of this Bill. What we are saying is that after today, the Government, the State, nobody else, will not treat a couple of the same sex in a manner that is less advantageous than a couple of the opposite sex. It is in fact the Government that is taking on obligations today when this Bill becomes law.

545 When you look, Mr Speaker, at the history of equality – and how proud I am that at last we have a Minister for Equality in this Parliament and that I appointed her – but when you look at the history of equality, it comes in dribs and drabs. It is not that long ago, Mr Speaker, when men and women were not considered to be equal in the eyes of the law. And this Bill is not the final step in the road towards equality. 550 Neither was the Bill that the Hon. Mr Bossano brought when we decriminalised homosexuality. All of these are steps on the road towards full inclusion and equality.

555 Attitudes change, Mr Speaker, and they have changed in Gibraltar towards people of same sex orientation. They change in respect of whether women and men were equal, but the fact that attitudes have changed is not enough. The law has changed too in relation to discrimination against women, because they had to and in some instances, those discriminations had been written into our laws and had to be written out. Everybody now would say that men and women are of course entitled to equal treatment and of course our law recognises that – and the sky did not fall in when women got the vote, or were treated as equal to men.

560 And, Mr Speaker, in Gibraltar, I think it is true to say that whether people are gay or lesbian has long been an issue that has not necessarily affected their ability to have interpersonal relationships with others in our community, on the basis that they are equal. Attitudes have changed and to a great extent the representative groups of gay and lesbian people have driven those changes, sometimes in a high profile way, sometimes in a low profile way. But the attitude change is not enough, Mr Speaker. In the same way as had to happen in relation to the discrimination between men and women, laws must change too so that 565 laws which discriminate against homosexual or lesbian couples, stopping them from enjoying State-sponsored rights and benefits, have to be eliminated.

570 I gave a lot of thought, Mr Speaker, to how I might present my own intervention this morning. I did not want it to be partisan and I have had to go down that road because of the way that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has behaved, but I wanted to leave people with a clear understanding of why this is happening, because I know that the conscience of some may be challenged by what it is that we are going to do. I do not know why but I understand that it will happen.

575 So if there is anybody in this Chamber who is left with any doubt as to why we should be passing this Bill unanimously, I would ask them to challenge their thinking in this way and reverse the logic of what we are going to do today.

580 What if our laws did not already contain discrimination against the same sex couples? Imagine there was equality in the law. If you are going to vote against this Bill, would you vote in favour of a law that discriminated against same sex couples, because that is in effect what you are doing by saying that you do not support this Bill?

580 Ask yourself should something as deeply emotional, something as central to who we are as human beings, which is who we love – probably one of the reasons why we exist, much more than being in a wood panelled room on a Friday morning to talk about laws – should that affect how many points you get on the housing waiting list or what tax treatment the State gives you? And if you are going to vote against this Bill, would you vote in favour of a law that discriminates against same sex couples and taxes them in a different 585 way and gives them less points? Assume that the equality is there: would you vote in favour of that discrimination? Essentially, Mr Speaker, at the end of the day, if you vote against this Bill, do you really think that women who love women and men who love men are worth any less than men who love women and women who love men? Is that really what you think?

Those are the difficult questions that you have to ask yourself. I have seen some sniggering on the other benches because I am talking about love and issues such as that. Maybe they do not want to talk about issues such as that in this place, but these things are central –

Hon. D A Feetham: Will he give way?

595 Hon. Chief Minister: No. These things are central to what makes us as individuals. These things are central to who we are as human beings. So if you would not vote in favour of a law to positively introduce a discrimination against same sex couples, why would you not vote in favour of a Bill that eliminates that discrimination? And that is what we are going to do today.

Mr Speaker, this is an issues that was in our manifesto. The hon. Lady has referred to the paragraph. It is an issue of clear Government policy. IPads are wonderful things, they allow you to search documents in a moment. The word ‘equality’ does not appear in the 2011 GSD manifesto. So much for the consistency that the hon. Member was talking about.

I actually took great pleasure in writing the paragraph that the hon. Lady has referred us to in our manifesto, and in tweaking it with her when she was part of our team, relying on the experience that she had had working for the Equal Opportunities Commission in the United Kingdom. I am frankly, Mr Speaker, deeply proud of the fact that our community allowed me the privilege of appointing the hon. Member our nation’s first Minister for Equality and that she now brings this landmark piece of legislation to deliver equality as the first Bill that she ushers through the Parliament. She has commended the Bill to the House, Mr Speaker, and I have heard no reason and see no reason why this House should not unanimously support her commendation. (Applause and banging on desks)

610

Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to contribute to the debate?
The Hon. Mr Damon Bossino.

615 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Chief Minister in his intervention has said that there was laughter on this side of the House, or that we were smiling – (Mr Speaker: Sniggering.) Sniggering, I think yes, that it absolutely correct, Mr Speaker. There was not any such thing and if there was, Mr Speaker, it was not as any reaction to anything he said in relation to the loving relationship between two gay couples or, indeed, heterosexual couples because on cannot lose sight of the fact Mr Speaker, that this particular Bill – there has been an overemphasis I think in relation to the homosexual nature of those individuals who are entering into a civil partnership. That is indeed open to them when we pass this Bill in this House, because in fact he will find, as the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has already indicated, that there will be unanimity in respect of those persons here present in this Chamber at the present moment.

Mr Speaker, so the fact that there is... the mention he has made about love between two homosexual couples and indeed two heterosexual couples who now wish to not take the choice of entering into a civil marriage which is currently available to them in Gibraltar, they can now enter into a civil partnership under the Civil Partnership Bill, two heterosexual couples, is not a matter of laughter quite the contrary, and we support the hon.... Just to make it absolutely clear, we associate ourselves with the comments that the Hon. Chief Minister has said in relation to that particular point.

That is the only point I wish to make.

630

Mr Speaker: If no other hon. Member wishes to contribute –?
Yes, the Hon. the Minister for Justice.

635 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, the hon. Lady in presenting this Bill to the House, she has described herself as the first Minister for Equality, the Chief Minister has mentioned that and that is in fact the position, a position which we as a Government are very proud of, of having had the courage to install a first Minister for Equality.

And the hon. Lady in presenting this Bill has described this Bill on this occasion as historic and it is not an understatement, because this is truly a momentous occasion. It is a momentous occasion not just in the history of Parliamentary democracy and what we do in this Parliament, it is a momentous occasion for the community as a whole. Because this Bill... and the hon. Member is right, it is not just about opposite sex couples, but that is certainly something that we have considered for a long time, the issue of equality, as the Hon. the Chief Minister has mentioned, but this Bill allows a civil partnership to be created.

645 But what is important is that this is not about simply a piece of paper. This is not about labelling people in a particular way, man and wife, civil partner, just because I have got a piece of paper. As the Hon. the Chief Minister has emphasised during the course of his speech, this is about recognition of rights. This is about the recognition of the right, the absolute right to equality. This is about the right to be treated free of discrimination. This is about the right to be treated, as again has been said, equally in the eyes of the law.

650 And there has been much jurisprudence developed in this area over a number of years, particularly through the European Court of Human Rights. The right to be free from discrimination, the right to family life. But it is not correct and it cannot be correct that every time that somebody wants to exercise a particular right, that person has to have recourse to the courts for the courts to recognise those rights. And we have seen cases in court where those rights have been recognise – in relation to housing all the way to the Privy Council, much court time being expended, much cost being expended; in relation to adoption and many other areas in the European Court of Human Rights, and what this is about is about the Government who now has the courage to recognise that those legal entitlements are in fact legal entitlements which have to be enshrined in law.

660 There is a need to recognise that and it is important for the whole of the Parliament to be united – unfortunately that will not be the case and there are very cogent arguments, the Chief Minister has alluded to them, why it is right that everybody should support this Bill because this is about the need to recognise and to act on what is right, what is proper and what is sensible in a modern society and that is precisely what this Government is about.

665 There has been some mention by the Chief Minister about the evolution of struggles that have taken place and the right to rid ourselves as society from any form of discrimination and it is true that great strides have been made. But this Bill, this in fact is a milestone in our legislative process and it marks what this Government is all about.

670 It is indeed an honour for me, as Minister for Justice, to be associated and be part of this Government that has made this Bill possible and this momentous occasion for the whole of the community. (Banging on desks)

A Member: Hear, hear.

675 Mr Speaker: Is there any other contributor before I ask the mover to reply? Does the hon. Lady wish to reply?

So I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to make provision for and in connection with civil partnership be read a second time. Those in favour –

680 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, before you take the vote, may I call a division, especially given the indication we have had that all persons here present, to take the language I think of the Marriage Act, will be voting in favour? (Laughter)

Mr Speaker: Very well.

A division was called for and voting resulted as follows:

Acting Clerk: The Civil Partnership Act 2014.

Civil Partnership Bill 2014 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting 695 Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. S J Sacramento): I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency (Repeal) Act 2014 –
First Reading approved

700 Acting Clerk: Number (3), a Bill for an Act to repeal the Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency Act 2011 and to make provisions consequent upon the repeal.

The Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

705 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move –

(A pause in proceedings)

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Mr Linares.

710 Hon. S E Linares: Thank you Mr Speaker.

I have the honour to move a Bill for an Act to repeal the Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency Act 2011 and to make provision subsequent upon the repeal to be read a first time.

715 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to repeal the Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency Act 2011 and to make provisions consequent upon the repeal to be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Acting Clerk: The Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency (Repeal) Act 2014.

Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency (Repeal) Act 2014 –
Second Reading approved

720 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move the Bill be now read a second time.

Mr Speaker, this Bill has come to this House after two long years of negotiations with all employees of the Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency. The new Government discovered on coming into office, that there was something wrong in the manner that the Agency had been constituted, particularly how staff had been appointed, given grades and awarded salaries without due process.

725 So the first thing the Government did was to commission a report from the Principal Auditor. This report, from which I will be quoting all the anomalies that were found in the Agency, was completed on 23rd January 2012, just over a month after we were elected into Government. Apart from other things which I will refer to later, one of the most curious findings were the dates on which most of the staff were offered appointments.

730 These dates ranged from 16th October 2011 to 2nd November 2011 and they had been signed off by the then Minister for Culture and formally approved on 15th November. The House will know that the elections were called on 4th November 2011, 11 days before the approval.

Staff were given, on those dates, grades commensurate to the GDC officers ranging from Grades 1 to 6, with a 12% over and above increase in salaries. No interviews or selection process took place.

735 Letters of appointment which were supposed to be signed by the CEO were signed by the Minister for Culture instead, since the CEO of the Agency had not yet been appointed, nor the Board constituted. The Board and the CEO were ratified on 15th November 2011. The first Board meeting took place on 18th November – well into the election campaign.

740 What was also significant was the fact that the Minister signed the appointments on 16th October 2011, well before the Board was constituted. These appointments were ratified by the Board on 18th November. One would have thought that it would have been the Board or at least the CEO of the Agency who should have made these offers of appointment to the staff.

745 When one analyses the composition of the staff at the Agency, it is clear that offers were made to all without consideration as to whether they were eligible to be equivalent to the grades commensurate to the GDC and to boot, with a 12% increase. In fact, the employees came from different entities, such as some from the Civil Service, most from private companies, authorities and one was previously only a volunteer.

750 In his report, the Principal Auditor stated that he could not know the basis for the salaries that had been agreed by the Chairman, meaning the then Minister and the Government. We have a civil servant who, an EO grade, was given the equivalent of a HEO grade and to boot, a 12% increase. The CEO's salary was calculated on a hypothetical differential, with the newly appointed heads of the Heritage Division and was personally determined and decreed by the then Chief Minister. A Spanish cleaner was given a Grade 1 plus 12% without an assessment or an interview.

755 The volunteer I mentioned was given the job by the previous Chief Minister, when he happened to visit the Garrison Library. The grading was decided by him and that employee, he decreed, was placed at the Grade 5 level. Again, the Auditor cannot identify the reasoning behind this decision. One officer came from the King's Bastion Leisure Centre and no basis for the grading was found.

760 The other exercise that was done by the Auditor was to ascertain the percentage increase that was awarded to the employees when compared to their previous salaries. A charge hand, TG3 got a 10.5% increase; a TG1, 48.3% increase; a cleaner, which I mentioned before, a 100% increase, since she came from the supply list of a private company. Five Grade 1s got 29.3% increases; two got 49.4% increases. An administrator from a private company was granted a Grade 4, which meant a 16.2% increase. Others also received increases, but the most glaring single one was that of 62.5% increase, in which the salary was increased from £46,164 to £75,000.

765 One thing that was also omitted was the fact that the collective agreement was never signed, the draft copy contained the names of those who were to be signatories, two union reps and the Minister for Culture and the then Chief Minister. When the question was asked to Members as to whether they had been involved in the collective agreement, only a small handful was even aware that it existed.

In view of these facts, I now move to how the Agency's role will be filled, when coming into force of this Act.

770 There are two companies which have been set up. These will be contracted to do the same service that the Agency performs at present. The contracts for these two companies are similar to the successful formula that currently exists in Land Property Services and the Environmental Agency Limited. The contracts are modelled on these two entities.

775 The conditions of the employees of the Agencies will be respected. The new structure will also allow employees more freedom to look at events and run them on a more commercial line, should this be necessary. Further employment of additional staff, should the need arise, will be subject to negotiations with the Government. The existing staff have been fully consulted and have had a direct input into how the Heritage Company and the Culture Company will develop.

780 Therefore, the purpose of this Bill is to repeal the Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency Act 2011 and deal with ancillary matters relating to the dissolution of the Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency.

Mr Speaker, at this stage, I will say that I have given notice of just one small amendment, which hon. Members already have.

785 Pursuant to clause 4 the Bill makes provisions for references to the Agency in the Heritage Trust Act 1989 to be construed as meaning a reference to a person appointed under subsection 2 of clause 4 to discharge any of the functions and duties conferred on the Agency upon that Act.

Clause 5 makes consequential modifications and amendments to the schedule to the Public Service Ombudsman Act 1998 so as to remove the Agency from the list of authorities to which Part 3 on investigation of complaints under the Act applies.

790 Clause 6 of the Bill provides for the necessary savings and transitional provisions, including provision for the transfer of any assets or liability from the Agency to the Government and the exclusion of personal liability attaching the members of the Agency in respect of anything done or omitted to be done in good faith, prior to the coming into operation of this Act.

795 Mr Speaker, I am honoured to be asked to move this Bill for an Act, as Minister for Culture and Heritage, since it is I who is responsible for these areas. I commend this Bill to the House. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

800 The Hon. Mr Edwin Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

I feel I should contribute to today's presentation of this Bill by clarifying and stating for the record that the Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency was set up in 2011 as part of the GSD then in Government's plans for the future running of areas of responsibility that fell upon that particular Ministry.

805 It was also necessary at that time to review the now expired contract that had existed with a company like Knightsfield who were at the time running the John Mackintosh Hall and the Museum and that contract was expired. So therefore a lot of time was spent in discussions with Knightsfield and with existing public servants, some of whom were civil servants, some of whom were GDC employees and so on, who at the time were already working with responsibilities under the area of that Ministry.

810 There was, I can assure, Mr Speaker and all Members of this House, very, very close consultations with the trade unions – and unions in plural, because the employees, some were members of Unite and others were members of the GGCA. It was together with these trade unions that we were at an extremely, extremely advanced stage. In fact, I dare to say the draft was completely ready in order to sign a collective agreement.

815 The reason why it did not take place was because the unions needed time to go back to meet their own individual members, something that, given my trade union background I supported fully, so therefore the Minister, in presenting this Bill today, could have been informed by others that those individuals who perhaps had not heard about the collective agreement and so on, I can assure the Minister that nothing was imposed on them, hence why it was still not fully signed because I wanted to ensure that before any signatories signed up to that agreement, that each and every member that was being represented by the union had had an opportunity to see that in detail.

820 Mr Speaker, by the time of the elections in late 2011, some initial staffing exercise had taken place. What in fact had happened was, we had absolved and gave the right to existing employees of the private companies who were providing services to the Ministry, such as the employees from King's Bastion Leisure Centre and from Knightsfield, we gave them the right to be the first ones to come across and become employees of the Culture and Heritage Agency, as were all civil servants or GDC employees who were at the time working for the Ministry given the right to transfer as well into this company. Some chose to and others did not. There was certainly an equal opportunity offered to all and I believe each particular employee chose what he or she thought was best for them.

830 Mr Speaker, the Bill as such, for which due notice was given, just simply said that the Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency Act 2011 is repealed and it is not until today that I have got sight that the Minister has intentions of passing on these duties to other companies that he is explaining now and so on.

835 All I can say, Mr Speaker, is that given that they are now in Government, it is their right to take the duties and responsibilities that hereto have been covered under the Agency in whichever way they feel is best. Had we been in Government, we would have completed the staffing exercise, the re-structure exercise would have continued, all our negotiations with the trade unions representing each and every employee, but if the Government now wishes instead to do away with the Culture and Heritage Agency and instead replace it in some other manner, that is their prerogative of which we will not be a hindrance to that and therefore this side of the House, Mr Speaker, will abstain on the Bill and let Government get on with their duty of governing. (Banging on desks)

840 Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to contribute?
I call then upon the mover to reply.

845 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, just to put the record straight from the hon. Member's intervention, the company, Knightsfield, that he alluded to where the contract had just expired, the fact is the contract had expired in 2002 and we are talking about 2011. So the contract had expired nine years before the thinking of the Agency – (Interjection) well okay.

850 The fact that he says that they were going to be consulted, one cannot understand how they could be consulted when they already had signed into the.. and I must state at this stage, is that I would have signed the piece of paper that was offered to me. If I am given a 62.5% increase, I would not even hesitate – in fact I will ask, 'Where is it that I have to sign on?!' So the fact is of course you do not have to impose anything on them if you are giving them a 62.5% increase.

855 And the third fact is that there were only two civil servants, one of which got a hike not only in post but salary and another one. Knightsfield which is a private company, no officer came from the GDC like the hon. Member said, there were 16 people who came from Knightsfield, one was self-employed and one from King's Bastion. Those are the facts that I have in front of me.

860 So therefore, and I am glad the hon. Member is giving us space. We did the same when the Bill came to this House – the Agency Bill came to this House. We did abstain because we allowed them as Government the decision and the policy to put the Agency. I am glad that now at least they are just abstaining in order for us to get on with the business of trying to organise and re-organise what was the Culture and Heritage Agency.

Thank you, Mr Speaker.

865 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to repeal the Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency Act 2011 and to make provisions consequent upon the repeal, be read a second time. Those in favour? (Government Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

870 Hon. E J Reyes: We abstain, Mr Speaker.

Acting Clerk: The Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency (Repeal) Act 2014.

Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency (Repeal) Act 2014 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting 875 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of this Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of this Bill be taken today? (Government Members: Aye.)

COMMITTEE STAGE

Financial Services (Contingency Fund) Bill 2014; Civil Partnership Bill 2014;
Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency (Repeal) Bill 2014

880 Acting Clerk: Committee Stage and Third Reading.
The Hon. the Chief Minister.

885 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the House should resolve itself into Committee to consider the following Bills clause by clause: the Financial Services (Contingency Fund) Bill 2014; the Civil Partnership Bill 2014; and the Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency (Repeal) Bill 2014.

In Committee of the whole House.

Financial Services (Contingency Fund) Bill 2014 –
Clauses considered and approved

890 Acting Clerk: A Bill for an Act to make provisions for and in connection with the creation of a Contingency Fund to be available for use upon the happening of a major event connected to activities licensed under the supervisory Acts; to provide for the functions and powers of the authority; and for connected purposes.

895 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Chairman, a minor amendment in respect of this Bill, of which I have not given written notice but you will see how minor it is: it is simply to change the language from the traditional language in the first clause 'shall come into operation on the date of publication' to the other sort of traditional language which is 'shall come into operation on the date appointed by notice in the Gazette'.

900 You will know that we use either of those types of notices for coming into operation or a specific date and because of the financial year and when it runs, etc we need to use the language of notice in the Gazette here.

Mr Chairman: That is a proposed amendment to clause 1. Is that agreed to?

905 Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, Mr Chairman.

Mr Chairman: Clause 1 as amended stand part of the Bill.

Acting Clerk: Clauses 2 to 7.

910 Mr Chairman: Clauses 2 to 7 stand part of the Bill.

Acting Clerk: The long title.

915 Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

Civil Partnership Bill 2014 –
Clauses considered and approved

Acting Clerk: A Bill for an Act to make provisions for and in connection with civil partnership.
Clauses 1 to 4.

920 Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

Acting Clerk: Clauses 5 to 17.

Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

925 Acting Clerk: Clauses 18 to 43.

Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

Acting Clerk: Clauses 44 to 55.

930 Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

Acting Clerk: Clauses 56 to 85.

935 Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

Acting Clerk: Clauses 86 to 92.

940 Mr Chairman: Clause 96, did you call?

Acting Clerk: Clauses 86 to 92.

Mr Chairman: Clauses 86 to 92 stand part of the Bill.

945 Acting Clerk: Clauses 93 to 95.

Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

Acting Clerk: Clause 96.

950 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Chairman, I am quite happy – certainly on this side of the House, we are quite happy for the hon. Lady's letter to stand as her formally moving those amendments, so she does not have to go through them verbally during the course of these proceedings.

955 Mr Chairman: Very well, if all hon. Members agree, those amendments will be incorporated into the Bill. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Carried.

Acting Clerk: Clause 96.

960 Mr Chairman: Clause 96 as amended stand part of the Bill.

Acting Clerk: Clauses 97 to 124.

Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

965

Acting Clerk: Schedules 1 to 9.

Mr Chairman: Schedules 1 to 9 stand part of the Bill.

970 Acting Clerk: Schedule 10 as amended.

Mr Chairman: Call that again, please.

Acting Clerk: Schedule 10 as amended.

975

Mr Chairman: Schedule 10 as amended stand part of the Bill.

Acting Clerk: Schedules 11 to 14.

980 Mr Chairman: Schedules 11 to 14 stand part of the Bill.

Acting Clerk: The long title.

Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency (Repeal) Bill 2014 –
Clauses considered and approved

985 Acting Clerk: Number 3. A Bill for an Act to repeal the Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency Act 2011 and to make provisions consequent upon the repeal.
Clause 1 as amended.

Mr Chairman: Clause 1, notice has been given substituting the date of publication by 1st April 2014.

990

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Chairman, we want to make... it is another amendment rather than 1st April, which I will leave to the Hon. Mr Gilbert Licudi to do.

995 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Sorry, Mr Chairman, the amendment is the same as the previous one: that it should say 'on a date appointed by notice in the Gazette' rather than a specific date. We expect that this will happen on 1st April but we just need to make sure that everything is in order and it will happen and it can happen on 1st April. That is certainly the intention, but we would rather have it by notice to be appointed in the Gazette.

PRAYER
Mr Speaker

Order of the Day

Substitute Clerk: Meeting of Parliament, Thursday 29th May, 2014.
(i) Oath of Allegiance.

CONFIRMATION OF MINUTES

Substitute Clerk: (ii) Confirmation of Minutes – the Minutes of the last meeting of Parliament which was held on 20th and 21st March 2014.

5 Mr Speaker: May I sign the Minutes as correct? (Members: Aye.)

Mr Speaker signed the Minutes.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE CHAIR

Substitute Clerk: (iii) Communications from the Chair.

10 Mr Speaker: I recognise this morning among us Mr Melvyn Farrell, once again, and I thank him for standing in for Mr Paul Martinez, who is away in Cardiff on CPA business. (Banging on desks and applause)

Substitute Clerk: (iv) Petitions.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

15 Substitute Clerk: (v) Announcements.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, can I join you in welcoming back Mr Farrell for this short cameo appearance.

20 Mr Speaker, I am delighted to be able to announce and to share with all Members the excellent news reaching me from colleagues at the CPA conference, that Gibraltar has been able to secure the 47th Regional Conference of the British Isles and Mediterranean Region of the CPA. It will take place in Gibraltar in the spring of 2017. (Banging on desks)

PAPERS TO BE LAID

Substitute Clerk: (vi) Papers to be laid – the Hon. the Chief Minister.

25 Hon. Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to lay on the table the Air Traffic Survey Report 2013.

Mr Speaker: Ordered to lie.

30 Substitute Clerk: The Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to lay on the table the Annual Report of the Parole Board 2013.

35 Mr Speaker: Ordered to lie.

Substitute Clerk: The Hon. Mr Speaker.

40 Mr Speaker: I have the honour to report that in accordance with the Standing Order 12(3) the Ombudsman Annual Report for the year ended 31st December 2013 has been submitted to Parliament and I now rule that it has been laid on the table.

Substitute Clerk: (vii) Reports of Committees; (viii) Answers to Oral Questions.

Questions for Oral Answer

TOURISM, COMMERCIAL AFFAIRS, PUBLIC TRANSPORT AND THE PORT

Q347/2014
Sandy Bay –
Importation of sand

45 Question 347/2014, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Tourism advise where the sand, which has been deposited at Sandy Bay, is being imported from?

50 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, the sand is being imported from Morocco.

55 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am conscious that there is another specific question in the Order Paper directed at the Minister for Health. I am told by the Minister for Health that in fact there are two, and I think he is absolutely correct that there are two questions. That is really as a result of the reports that we have been receiving on the Opposition side as to insect bites which we understand are being caused by spiders which were imported in the sand. As I say, these are unconfirmed reports.

60 Is the Government... is the particular Minister I am asking the question to able, to address this in his answers this morning?

65 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker as the hon. Gentleman just noted whilst my Hon. Friend, Dr Cortes, was making signs to him, there are two questions on that particular matter on the Order Paper. Whilst I know the answer, perhaps it would be appropriate for the Hon. Dr Cortes to answer at that point. But, if Mr Speaker wishes the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment to answer now that particular question, (Interjection) we are in his hands.

Mr Speaker: If you wish to call that particular question, we can do so.

70 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I have two questions I believe. One from the Hon. Mr Netto and one from the Hon. Mrs Ellul-Hammond.

Substitute Clerk: Could you identify the question numbers please?

HEALTH AND THE ENVIRONMENT

Q363/2014

Sandy Bay beach –

Importation of sand; safety of users

75 Substitute Clerk: Question 363, the Hon. S M Figueras on behalf of the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. S M Figueras: Is the Minister for Health and the Environment satisfied that the sand recently imported from Morocco and used in an attempt to replenish Sandy Bay Beach, is safe for users?

80 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, yes, sir. The Department of the Environment is happy that the sand being used for Sandy Bay is safe for use. The Department's Officials regularly assess the sand and have not come across anything untoward.

Q367/2014

Sandy Bay –

Invertebrates imported in beach sand

85 Substitute Clerk: Question 367, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

90 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Can the Minister for Health update this House on the treatment and recovery of two patients who were allegedly bitten by invertebrates supposedly found in the sand at Sandy Bay a few weeks ago, who needed hospital treatment; and if bitten, whether the bites were identified with a particular invertebrate and which type?

Substitute Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

95 Minister for Health and the Environment (Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the records show no such information specific to Sandy Bay. Thirty-seven incidents of bites and stings by invertebrates have presented at the Accident and Emergency Department at St Bernard's Hospital since 1st January this year. This is perfectly normal. So I repeat what I said, no such information specific to Sandy Bay is found in our records.

100 Hon. D J Bossino: When he says it is perfectly normal, Mr Speaker, I assume he means statistically it is nothing which should alarm us. Is that the case?

105 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, indeed. It is not alarming that we should have that number of bites and stings, particularly in the spring, as that is quite uneventful. It is eventful if you get a nasty sting from a wasp, but it is not statistically worrying.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, a wider question in relation to the same subject, and I think it is probably more appropriate for the Minister for Health, with your indulgence, Mr Speaker, that he should answer it.

110 Is there any standard procedure which is being carried out by the Government, in terms of checking the sand which has been imported from outside this jurisdiction, in terms of safety and other issues like that?

115 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, yes, the sand... when the appropriate Department identifies, they will inspect samples. They will make sure that it is screened, and as I said in my answer, Department of the Environment officials regularly go on to the beach and check that there is nothing untoward. There is nothing untoward.

I believe that the original comment that I read about this was somebody saying in a jovial fashion, I think, 'Oh, it has come from the Sahara. Imagine if they have brought scorpions', and I think in the normal Chinese whispers, which is typical of some of the social media, it suddenly became people were actually in hospital, and then scorpions became spiders. So I have looked at it. In fact I have looked at the records myself and there is no indication that there is anything untoward happening there.

120 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, this is a question now for the Minister for Tourism.
Is he able to tell this House what the cost of that importation currently amounts to? Is that information which he has available to him and he is willing to provide to this House? I do not know what the measurement would be. Would it be by cubic metre or any other relevant measurement?

130 Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, I can actually tell him the price, including the supply, the delivery and spreading of the sand on the beach, which amounts to £1,490,500. That includes the supply, the delivery and the spreading of the sand at the beach.

Hon. D J Bossino: So, in other words, just to be absolutely clear, all told that will be the price tag once we have a fully replenished Sandy Bay. Is that correct?

135 Hon. N F Costa: That is the information that has been provided to me, Mr Speaker, by the relevant Department that is carrying out the supply... well, the contractor for the supply, delivery and spreading of the sand. So that is my information, yes.

140 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, who is actually carrying out the importation. Is it a Gibraltar company? Is it a company from outside Gibraltar? Can he give that information? But I do appreciate that it may not necessarily directly arise from the question on the Order Paper.

145 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, unless I am not recalling correctly, I believe that I was asked about the award of the contract in the previous session in Parliament when I answered, that the Sandy Bay contract for regeneration of the beach was awarded following a public tender concluded in March of 2014. The tender document specified the technical specifications for the sand and following a review of the tenders received, the contract was awarded to Van Oord on the basis that they had submitted the most economically advantageous and compliant bid. So it is being conducted by Van Oord.

150 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, is Van Oord the company which is... I do not know exactly how these things work, is Van Oord the company which is doing the importation? Does it then subcontract to another company who then does the importation. Does he have that information? In fact it probably does arise from the question in the Order Paper, but if he does not have the answer in this House then maybe I can ask it again next month or he can provide it to me later.

155 Hon. N F Costa: Yes, Mr Speaker, I do not have exactly the answer as to whether Van Oord has imported and has subcontracted another company to spread the sand on the beach, but I can tell him that the contract was awarded to Van Oord. Whether Van Oord has then subcontracted to another company to spread the sand, I do not have the answer. He can either write to me and I will give him the answer or he can ask me at the next session and I will be happy to give him the information then.

160 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I assume he does not have the answer to the question which I actually posed. It was not necessarily to do with the spreading of the sand, but actually the importation of the sand. Does he have an answer to that question which is the one I posed? He is checking is he?

165 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, from the information that I have before me, I am quite certain that it would have to be Van Oord on the basis that the tender was awarded to that particular company.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

TOURISM, COMMERCIAL AFFAIRS, PUBLIC TRANSPORT AND THE PORT

Q348/2014

Airlines operating from Gibraltar – Subsidies and concessions received

170 Substitute Clerk: Question 348, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Tourism advise whether any airlines operating from Gibraltar are receiving any subsidy or concessions from the Government or any Government-owned company?

175 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa):
180 Mr Speaker, this question is very similar to the question that the hon. Gentleman asked me, namely Question 826/2012. As I informed him at the time, all commercial discussions are commercial in confidence as part of the Government's continuing drive to increase air connectivity.

I am happy to advise the hon. Gentleman, however, that the Government continues to operate the incentives and discount scheme implemented in 2010 and that the GTB discusses marketing collaborations with its airline partners.

185 As I advised the hon. Gentleman in the question that I just mentioned, I will not be drawn to publically announce across the floor of the House whether any airline enjoys an incentive scheme, subsidy or concession from the Government, as to do so would undermine any negotiating advantage of Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar in any discussions.

Q349/2014

Bunkering services in Gibraltar –
Measures taken by Government after Spanish actions

190 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for the Port state what measures, if any, the Government has taken in connection with the Spanish actions relating to bunkering services being conducted in Gibraltar?

Substitute Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

195 Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa):
Mr Speaker, in the first place I do not accept the premise of the question.

200 As far as Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar is aware, there have been no Spanish actions relating to bunkering services in Gibraltar. Bunkering services continue in Gibraltar as they have always done. Notwithstanding and irrespective of any reports in the Spanish media, the Gibraltar Port Authority and I have agreed a series of measures to stimulate all economic areas of port activity. These new policies will be announced during the course of the Budget debate.

205 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I welcome the answer that he has given. Obviously I base myself on what I hear in the press. I am not privy to any other information, and certainly on the basis of various sources and various press sources that one reads, there is certainly a threat of action.

Now, he says that, and I quote, 'no Spanish actions' have been taken. Have there not been incidents of filming by Spanish authorities of our bunkering operations in Gibraltar territorial waters? Is he able to confirm or deny that?

210 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, if I may be helpful to the hon. Gentleman, the question asks the measures that the Government has taken in connection with Spanish actions relating to bunkering. I can tell this House confidently that the Spanish Authorities have not taken any actions in relation to bunkering and I am sure that the House would be delighted to know, that bunkering operations in Gibraltar continue as fruitfully as they have always done.

215 There have been instances where foreign vessels have taken pictures, not just of certain operations in the Port, but also in relation to the groyne in Sandy Bay, but that does mean that any actions have been taken in relation to that project either, simply that we are aware of reports of photographs or filming taking place.

220 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, there was a report in The Telegraph I think it was, albeit back in August when we were suffering from the brunt of the troubles, where it was reported that apparently Spain had actually approved legislation. I have not checked that myself, but actually approved legislation banning permanently anchored fuel storage tankers from operating in its protected waters, and included in their view, the disputed waters around the Rock in the framework of the legislation. Would the Minister not 225 consider that to be specific Spanish action, which ought to be addressed by the Government in terms of the immediate and long-term future economic viability of this particular activity?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, as the hon. Gentleman will know, the position of Her Majesty's Government, and I dare say of the Opposition, the Government's position clearly is that no legislative action could possibly in any way affect the legal jurisdiction, powers, controlled sovereignty and 230 jurisdiction of British sovereignty in Gibraltar waters. So as far as we are concerned the Spanish Government may legislate at their leisure and at their whim, but certainly it would not in any way impact on Port operations or indeed any other sphere of life in Gibraltar.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, in his first reply the hon. Gentleman said bunkering activities 235 continue as they have always done, and then in a second he said bunkering activities continue as fruitfully as they have always done. Can the Minister confirm that he has not noticed any statistical downturn in bunkering activities in the Port of Gibraltar?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, unfortunately the downturn started under their own administration in 240 2009. Between last year and this year there has been a very negligible decrease.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q350/2014
Bus fleet replacement –
Update

Substitute Clerk: Question 350, the Hon. S M Figueras.

245 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport provide an update on the replacement of the bus fleet?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport 250 and the Port.

Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa):
Mr Speaker, Government is currently in the award stage of the tender for the replacement of the bus fleet.

255 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I recall in the House, at either the last session or the one before where we last dealt with this matter, that there were some issues relating to the technology that was going to be used in the buses.

I was wondering whether perhaps the Minister would be able to confirm whether doubts in that regard have now been resolved and what the time frame for delivery of the buses, or rather for award of the 260 contract in the first place and then delivery of the buses is as at today's date.

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, let me tell the House that I will advise the Gentleman what I understand the process to be because this is dealt with by the Procurement Office.

As I understand it, once the Government has decided on the award of a contract, a letter has to be sent to the successful company and the unsuccessful company. I am then advised that there follows a mandatory 265 Alcatel period known because of the Alcatel case. It is a standing period, which is a 10-calendar-day period following notification whereby the unsuccessful tenderer has the chance to submit as to why they thought that the tender should have been awarded to them, so until then there will not be an actual allocation. We are currently at this standstill or Alcatel period.

270 Hon. S M Figueras: Of 10 days?

Hon. N F Costa: Yes, 10 days.

275 Hon. S M Figueras: I am grateful to the Minister for the clarification in that respect. Is he – notwithstanding that answer – in a position to say, once the contract is agreed with the successful tenderer, when the buses can be expected to begin to be delivered?

280 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, as the hon. Gentleman will remember from the last time he asked me questions on this subject matter, I told him that there were two companies that had proceeded to the final stage. So there are two companies. Those two companies will obviously know when they have told us that they will be able to deliver those buses. If I were to give the hon. Gentleman the time frame, they will know who has been successful and who has not. So I cannot at this stage say anything else.

285 Hon. S M Figueras: Well, you see, Mr Speaker, I had understood his previous answer to mean that both successful and unsuccessful tenderers would have already been notified in any event. (Interjection)

Hon. N F Costa: Sorry, as I told the hon. Gentleman, I could tell him what the process was, but because it is dealt with by the Procurement Office, I cannot tell him whether the letters have gone out. It is not done by me.

290 Hon. S M Figueras: So being at this stage of the process, Mr Speaker, it is not unreasonable to expect that at the next session there should be some more certainty in that regard.

Hon. N F Costa: Absolutely Mr Speaker.

Q351/2014
Peter Sardeña case –
Conclusion of matter

295 Substitute Clerk: Question 351, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport say whether the Peter Sardeña matter has now concluded?

300 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

305 Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, as the hon. Gentleman knows, the hearing of the claim has concluded and a decision from the Industrial Tribunal is awaited. So we are in the same position as we were when the last question was asked.

310 Hon. D J Bossino: Just to recollect where we were. Presumably the judgment, exclusively in relation to quantum, I think that that was the position as I understood it, but my memory is somewhat hazy on this one because it has been sometime since I dealt with it. But I thought that in relation to the substantive liability issues there had been a concession by the Government, and if you recall... the Minister will recall, Mr Speaker, that was the subject of much debate and time spent on this in relation to that matter in this House.

As I recall, all that is pending at this stage is a decision by the Chairman of the Industrial Tribunal in relation to quantum.

315 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman would be right in saying that there has been across the floor of this House, I would say, sufficient discussion on this matter. In fact in respect of this particular question, there was Question 237/2012, where we go into eight pages of Hansard where we discussed whether the judgment is in respect of anything other than quantum or just quantum, and us saying on this side of the House the matter is sub judice and when the judgment is handed down, it will be handed down.

320 I will repeat that in less than seven pages to the hon. Gentleman, given that the matter is pending a judicial decision, I will limit myself to just making that comment.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q352/2014
GibiBikes –
Update on progress

Substitute Clerk: Question 352, the Hon. S M Figueras.

325 Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, Mr Speaker.

Can the Minister for Transport say whether there has been any substantial progress in the GibiBikes matter?

330 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, my answer remains the same as the answer to Question 126/2014.

335 Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar has entered into litigation with a contractor and it will make a public announcement on the conclusion of these legal proceedings, including any appeals by either party.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

PROCEDURAL

Substitute Clerk: Question 353/2014 is going to be answered by Minister Balban on behalf of Minister Linares and will be taken later on today.

340 Questions 354 to 359/2014 will be answered by the Chief Minister on behalf of Minister Linares. This will be done this afternoon.

HEALTH AND THE ENVIRONMENT

Q360/2014
Ministry of the Environment –
Companies providing services; details of changes

Substitute Clerk: Question 360, the Hon. S M Figueras on behalf of Mr Netto. Yes?

345 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment please say if there has been any variation to any of the companies providing services to the Ministry of the Environment through contract since 2012; and, if so, provide full details to Parliament?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

350 Minister for Health and the Environment (Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, it is not up to the Government to assess variations to companies as long as the contract is adhered to, which is the main concern of the Department of the Environment.

355 Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, Mr Speaker, I note the Hon. Minister's reply to the question. I suspect that it is being taken on the meaning of the language of the question, which I again suspect has been drafted perhaps in an unfortunate manner, given that the Question certainly to me, and I am asking it on behalf of my Hon. Friend Mr Netto, that the question was intended to elucidate information about variations to the contracts themselves, rather than the companies.

360 I will grant that on the language of the question itself, the Hon. Minister may not have noticed, but if the Minister is in a position to provide any details in relation to any variations that he is aware of, I would be very grateful, but again concede that he may not have had appropriate notice in this instance.

365 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I think I would inevitably give an incomplete answer as the question was phrased... it seemed that it was asking as to a variation in the composition of the company, which is the answer that I have given. If there has been any changes, variations in the companies or in the contracts, I have knowledge of some, but it would be an incomplete answer and I would hesitate. What I can say is that those companies that have had contracts, still valid and in force in December 2011, still retain those contracts.

370 There are some contracts which had expired and were being run either by the same companies or in some other way out of contract and we are in the process of regularising that. But I would not like to give any more details, because I am likely to get something wrong and I would rather have notice of a question for a future meeting.

Mr Speaker: Next Question.

Q361/2014
Fishing Report –
Implementation of recommendations

375 Mr Speaker: Question 361, the Hon. Selwyn Figueras on behalf of Mr Netto.

Substitute Clerk: Question 361, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond on behalf of – (Interjection) No? Question 361, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond on behalf of the Hon. J J Netto.

380 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, further to Written Question 137/2013, can the Minister for the Environment state which recommendations of the Fishing Report have been implemented in the last 12 months, which ones will be implemented over the next 12 months and which recommendation/s the Government feels it will not be able to implement and why?

385 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I apologise I had assumed that Mr Figueras was continuing with Mr Netto's question.

390 Hon. S M Figueras: [Inaudible]

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: That is absolutely fine.

395 Mr Speaker, in addition to the recommendations implemented already, as highlighted in my response to Written Question 137/2013, the following measures have also been implemented, which are relevant to some of the recommendations made in the Fishing Report: (1) Employment of Environmental Protection Officers within the Department of the Environment who will be assisting in the implementation of the upcoming Marine Protection Regulations; (2) Review of the Artificial Reef Programme within the southern waters of Gibraltar; (3) Implementation of a tagging initiative in conjunction with local fishing clubs for sea bream species. The intention is to extend this initiative to migratory species found in the Straits of Gibraltar, such as blue fin tuna.

400 Implementation of all the recommendations is continually under consideration.

Q362/2014
Sewage treatment plant –
Construction tender; details

Substitute Clerk: Question 362, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond on behalf of the Hon. J J Netto.

405 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Further to Question 55/2014, has the Government now awarded the tender for the sewage treatment plant and, if so, please provide details of the work to be carried, location, the company that has been awarded the contract, the timeline for operations to start and the cost associated with the works to be carried out?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

410 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the tender for sewage treatment has still not been awarded. It is currently in the assessment stage.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister say when the award... the submission deadline for this particular tender expired?

415 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker. I am involved in this matter peripherally. The main Minister would be my colleague, the Minister for Utilities, who is not here. I do not have that information I am afraid.

420 Hon. S M Figueras: Is the Minister able to say whether the delivery of the sewage treatment plant will be complete by the end of this term of office?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, there is a possibility. If the tender were awarded quickly, then that would be a possibility.

Q364/2014

Illegal enticing/feeding of macaque –
Number of individuals fined or cautioned

425 Substitute Clerk: Question 364, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond on behalf of the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment say how many individuals have been fined or cautioned for the illegal enticing or feeding of macaques, contrary to the recent changes in legislation passed in Parliament, either inside or outside the Upper Rock Nature Reserve, stating where, the nationality, the amounts imposed, which entity imposed the fine and whether some cases are waiting to be heard in the courts?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

435 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, one individual of Spanish nationality was cautioned by the Royal Gibraltar Police for the illegal feeding of macaques outside the Nature Reserve. I will add that it was in the area of Sandy Bay.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q365/2014

Gibraltar Nature Reserve Management Plan – Update on progress

440 Substitute Clerk: Question 365, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond on behalf of the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment say if he is now in a position to provide Parliament with a copy of the Upper Rock Management Plan?

445 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the Gibraltar Nature Reserve Management Plan is still being drafted and will be published as soon as possible after a period of consultation.

450 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, the Hon. Minister will concede that the Plan has been being prepared for some time now. Is there any definitive timeline that he or his Department has in mind for the conclusion of the Plan and publication thereof?

455 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I would have liked it to have been ready by now. It is a complex piece of work. Already some of the aspects of the recommendations that would be in the Plan are being carried out routinely, like improvements in the habitat management and other improvements that we have seen in the Upper Rock. Remember that the Upper Rock, although it is one of my Ministerial responsibilities, that I work very closely with my colleague the Hon. Minister for Tourism in this and we 460 are aware of a lot of improvements that form part of this. So I am hoping that it will be completed relatively soon. Certainly we are talking about a couple of months. I would not have thought it would be much more than that and believe you me, Mr Speaker, it will be well worth the wait.

465 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I wonder whether perhaps the Minister, who so very kindly offers information in relation to those aspects of the Plan which have already been implemented and are being implemented continually as he has referred to on a number of occasions today and on previous occasions, it strikes me, Mr Speaker, that there must be certain parts of the Plan which are either more controversial or simply more complicated and have therefore not yet been concluded.

470 Whilst that is understandable, I wonder whether the Hon. Minister would be so kind as to give the House a flavour of the issues that remain the source of such controversy and therefore make the publication of this plan something that has not yet happened.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker, because it is my intention to resolve the controversies and then the hon. Member opposite will be having nothing to worry about.

Q366/2014
Smoke Free Environment Act 2012 –
Zone excluded from Act

475 Substitute Clerk: Question 366, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say whether he has received any application under the Smoke Free Environment Act 2012, in order to declare a zone excluded from such Act?

480 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, yes, sir.

Q368/2014
Abdominal aortic aneurism screening –
Start date of programme

Substitute Clerk: Question 368, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

485 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say when the abdominal aortic aneurism screening programme will start?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

490 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, work is progressing steadily and we hope to be able to launch the programme towards the end of this year.

Q369/2014
Cancer Registry –
Public access

495 Substitute Clerk: Question 369, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say when the Cancer Registry will be made available for public access?

500 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the Cancer Registry is a research database that is available as a data source to answer general questions of public health value that may be put to it.

505 Currently, the data is available for the period 1999 to 2009 and further years will be added as and when the data are validated and cleaned. It was never intended that the Cancer Registry would be made available for public access. Cancer Registry data is held on people, many of whom are alive, and is subject to prevention of disclosure for several legal and ethical reasons, including data protection, confidentiality and privacy.

510 While the raw data will not be publically disclosed, questions of public health value may be put to the GHA and where such questions would benefit from the analysis of the Cancer Registry data, the data will be used. Any results returned will be subject to the restriction that disclosure or identification of individuals, directly or indirectly, is not permitted.

515 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, what about making available just the numbers? Getting rid of the personal data... but the numbers of cancers per year and type of cancer?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, if it is possible to do that in a way that it is totally... in that we can ensure total confidentiality, then that is not a problem. The problem is that in a community the size of Gibraltar and with the family links and friendship ties that we have, it is often possible, particularly in the rarer conditions, to identify individuals. But if it is possible to do this and we can be absolutely certain that individuals will not be identified, these data are not secret.

Q370/2014
Primary Care Centre –
Prescribing ‘morning after’ pill

Substitute Clerk: Question 370, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

525 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health advise if all the GPs and nurse practitioners at the Primary Care Centre prescribe the ‘morning after’ pill, and if not, how many opt out and why?

530 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, all GPs and Nurse Practitioners may prescribe the ‘morning after’ pill if they feel it is clinically appropriate. Prescribers may refuse to supply on grounds of religious or ethical objection as per their professional code of ethics.

535 There are clinicians that refuse to prescribe on ethical religious grounds, but those that do object will refer the patient to another GHA prescriber, therefore not negating the patient this option if deemed clinically appropriate.

540 Mr Speaker, once again, because we have a relatively small number of practitioners and there is a relatively small number of those who do not prescribe it, and in order to protect their confidentiality, I am not going to reveal the numbers across this House, but I am happy to advise the Member opposite behind the Speaker’s chair.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

545

Q371/2014
Family Planning Services primary care–
Public Health Department initiatives

Substitute Clerk: Question 371, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

550 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health explain what the GHA’s primary care Family Planning Services are at present and how far the seven Public Health Department initiatives, announced by the Minister in answer to Question 818/2013, have progressed?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

555 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the components of Family Planning Service forms part of the Well Woman Clinic which offers prescription and advice on contraception and other related subjects.

Further to the reply given to Question 818/2013, the Public Health Department has progressed the initiatives within this programme as follows:

(1) Supporting education about sex and relationships in schools and youth settings.

560 The Health Promotion Officer has met with the Child Health Team on several occasions to discuss sexual health promotion in schools. A meeting is being arranged with the Education Department to review the PSHE curriculum on sexual health and support the Education where necessary.

(2) Providing access to good quality advice for all persons on sexuality, family planning and sexually transmitted diseases.

565 People can receive a sexual health check from the infection control nurses, nurse practitioners or general practitioners. Persons needing family planning and other sexual health advice would also have the same options.

(3) Campaigning to reduce the prevalence of teenage pregnancies in our community.

570 Dr Vassallo visits the Girls Comprehensive School to present an awareness talk every year. There is no similar service for the Boys School, this is being addressed. A Sexual Health Awareness Day for the general public is under consideration. The Department is also considering the production of infomercials on the subject of teenage pregnancies.

(4) Supporting the establishment of a nurse-led sexual health clinic.

575 The nurse practitioners are interested in developing a nurse-led sexual health clinic and this requires further planning, which is in process.

(5) Encouraging access to HIV and STD testing for people who may be at risk.

580 The infection control nurses provide a drop-in service for people to come and be tested, which is usually through referrals from GPs, other health professionals or word of mouth. Sexually transmitted disease still carries a stigma and some people are reluctant to get tested in Gibraltar for fear of disclosure in a small community, and many persons prefer to get tested in Spain or UK. GPs and nurse practitioners also provide HIV testing.

(6) Improving the collection of anonymised local data to inform sexual health strategies.

585 Counts of sexually transmitted diseases according to organism detected are obtained from the St. Bernard's Hospital Laboratory every month on an anonymised basis. From 2013, anonymised records are also being kept of people using the drop-in facilities for sexual health screening.

(7) Producing relevant printed material.

590 The Department has procured a number of leaflets on sexual health issues from the UK and these are distributed within the Primary Care Centre. It has a stock of separate leaflets for boys and for girls which are distributed to schools. The Department is in the process of developing local leaflets.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, how is the group Equality Rights helping and advising for the expansion of the GHA's Family Planning Services?

595 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, meetings have been held with the group, both with myself, with the Infection Control Nurses and with the Health Promotion Officer, and we are going to be meeting again shortly in order to see how we can support each other's work in this respect.

600 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, what work is this specifically? How are they involved? What are the qualifications of the group in order to advise and support a Family Planning Service?

605 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the question of what are the qualifications in any group who involves itself in promoting health is a question that can be asked widely. Community groups often have people with no formal qualifications, but with a great deal of interest and experience, and the Government works together with all of them, as many of them as want to work with the Government, in developing ideas and planning strategies.

610 What the Government will ensure is that any clinical or professional work is carried out under the guidance of its own qualified and trained personnel, but certainly we are open to discussions and to be informed by the experiences and by the interests of all community groups, including the Equality Rights Group.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, will the Gibraltar Women's Association also be consulted and be involved in part of this process?

615 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the Gibraltar Women's Association is already involved in the process. I have held meetings with them and we have raised the subject. In fact the question of... the fact that there was not a service to the Boys School as well as there is to the Girls School came up during a meeting with the Committee of the Women's Association and that matter, as I have said in my answer, has been taken up. So clearly any group that has an interest in developing this sort of initiative is more than welcome and my office is open, not just to them, but as a lot of people in the community knows, virtually to anybody... well, to anybody who wants to see me about any of these things.

620 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, in relation to the fourth initiative to be led by the Public Health Department, supporting the establishment of a nurse-led sexual health clinic, could the Minister give a little bit more information about this? Would the nurses be taking over the role from the Well Woman Clinic and the GPs?

625 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, it is too early in the day to have any indication, but certainly the role of the nurse practitioners and GPs in this sort of initiative would almost always – sorry, I did not mean almost. I mean always be paramount.

630 There are a number of nurse-led initiatives which are very successful in the Primary Care Centre, the dermatology initiative being one which has very recently been in the news, both for the success of the nurse who leads it, Linda Castro, in getting an award in the UK and also the initiative of a walk-in cancer screening, which was carried out for the first time a few weeks ago, and that is a nurse-led clinic that involves GPs and involves visiting consultants. So there need be no fear that a nurse-led clinic is going to be diluted in any way. On the contrary, this in many ways is the future for healthcare and the professionalism, dedication and expertise of nurses is something that we cannot understate.

NaProTechnology treatment –
Patient referrals

Substitute Clerk: Question 372, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

640 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health advise who the GHA doctors are that can refer patients for the privately provided NaProTechnology treatment as an alternative to IVF treatment?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

645 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, access to this technology is currently under discussion.

650 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, is the Hon. Minister saying that at the moment there is no access to this treatment or there has been access up until now and it has been stopped and is being reviewed?

655 Hon. Dr J E Cortes; Mr Speaker, what I am saying is that the use of this technology is currently under discussion with the entity that is offering to provide it, but that does not mean that if there were any patient who it was felt was indicated to have this technology, that this could not be dealt with in advance of an agreement being reached with the provider. This happens in a lot of situations.

What I am saying is that there is no formal arrangement at the moment, nor have I detected a demand for it either.

660 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, I was under the impression that this service was on offer by the GHA. Can he explain why it is under discussion? Is this because of lack of evidence?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker. The GHA will provide services. Some of these services are under contract – for example, IVF is under contract following a tender process. Other services are dealt with on an ad hoc basis. There may be things that we do not regularly do at the moment.

665 As I said before, if this was clinically indicated it would be made available, but we still do not have a service level agreement or a contract with a provider and we are discussing that at the moment.

Q373/2014
A&E reception –
24-hour manning service

Substitute Clerk: Question 373, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

670 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, as per the Government Press Release 173/2014, can the Minister for Health say when the 24-hour manning of the A&E reception will start and how that will improve the patient experience of A&E?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

675 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the A&E reception staff will be recruited shortly. This will allow a point of contact for patients through the night and at weekends and will also mean that these duties do not have to be carried out by nurses, hence allowing these more time to attend to patients.

Q374/2014
Primary Care Centre –
Redesign details; extra services offered

Substitute Clerk: Question 374, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

680 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, as per the Government Press Release 173/2014, can the Minister for Health say how the Primary Care Centre will be redesigned and what extra services will be offered in the extra clinic space?

685 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the alterations which have been carried out at present in the PCC have been aimed primarily at offering more clinic space to the professionals working within it and also to create the possibility of improving services.

690 The alterations have consisted of: redesigned office space to provide conditions for administrative staff; four clinics and a waiting area, which can be used by both GPs and nursing staff; one unit which will be used to consolidate all the various professionals working in dermatology into one cohesive unit; a new smaller boardroom; and as part of the exercise storage units are being created away from the main clinical areas, the long-term aim being to convert stores in existence in these main areas into more clinical space.

695 These alterations will immediately provide a better clinical environment for service users and staff alike. It will create enough clinics to allow professionals the ability to arrange clinics more efficiently. It will avoid incidences of double booking of clinics, as can happen. It will create the infrastructure necessary for expansion of services and reinforces the creation of the Dermatology Unit as a service.

Q375/2014
Repeat prescriptions –
Improvements to system

Substitute Clerk: Question 375, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

705 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, as per the Government Press Release 173/2014, can the Minister for Health say what the further improvements to the repeat prescription system will be?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

710 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, further information has been published and disseminated to service users and stakeholders to assist with informing patients of the current procedures in place to obtain chronic repeatable medication.

In addition, we are currently in the final stages prior to launching a repeat prescription pilot scheme, which we anticipate will provide benefits regarding medicines management.

715 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister give us a little more information about the pilot scheme?

720 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I can give a little bit more information, but I am not leading on this. It will allow the possibility, in certain situations where the doctor does not need to see the patient, for the prescription being provided without the patient needing to see the doctor. We are working out whether that should be done manually or whether it can be done electronically and that is where we are at the moment.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker that is very welcome. Can the Hon. Minister say who is leading on this?

725 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: The team at the Primary Care Centre, which will involve the GPs, nurse prescribers and the Health Centre administration.

730 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister say when the pilot scheme will be launched?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker, I would have to ask the people involved. I am told that they are very close to it, but I do not have a starting date.

Q376/2014
Primary Care Centre –
Chronic Disease Management Care

Substitute Clerk: Question 376, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

735 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say what the plan for Chronic Disease Management Care is at the Primary Care Centre?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

740 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, chronic disease management represents a substantial percentage of the current GP workload. Some general practitioners also incorporate areas of special interest, such as diabetes, dermatology and elderology.

745 The medical element is further supported by the multi-disciplinary teams of specialist nurses and allied health professionals, who work in partnership with patients and relatives through a process of case management, regular reviews and evaluation, providing patients with support, information, education, self-management and lifestyle changes. Evidence based guidelines and prodigals provide the standards for optimal care.

The list below – which I am about to read – highlights some of the services currently providing chronic disease management.

750 Diabetes Service: case management and annual reviews, DAFNE programmes for Type1 diabetes and Desmond self-management programme for ongoing and newly diagnosed diabetes.

Cardiac Rehabilitation: new patient and self-help programmes.

Hypertension: halter monitoring and nurse-led assessment/review clinics.

Mental Welfare Officers: case management of GP referred patients.

755 Respiratory: nurse-led for primary care, offering spirometry, management of COPD/COAD, paediatric/adult asthma clinics, smoking cessation service.

Dermatology: nurse-led light therapy and case management and review of chronic skin conditions.

Chronic ulcers and corresponding lymphedema management: nurse-led case management and reviews.

760 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker is there a chronic disease register?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, a chronic disease register, as such, with that title, I am not aware of, but certainly we do have data on chronic diseases. All these clinics will have their own database.

765 As for a chronic disease register labelled as such, I would need notice of the question to see in what form such information is kept.

770 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, will the Hon. Minister be able to say if there is a system in place to manage each chronic diseased patient annually to ensure that they receive monitoring and treatments, prescription monitoring and so on for each different chronic disease?

775 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, it depends on the disease – that is I am not aware of all the information. I can say for example that the diabetes service, which is very, very effectively run, we are shortly going to be introducing an annual review by a consultant for Type 1, which is something that is done in the UK and other countries and has never been done in Gibraltar before.

775 Certainly for hypertension, the GPs will normally want to see a patient every six months or every 12 months. I would have to... for such specific detail as to the frequency in which each patient is seen in each of these chronic disease management protocols, I would need notice in order to be able to give factual details of every single case.

780 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Again, Mr Speaker, is the Minister aware of any incentivisation or how GPs are encouraged to manage chronic disease and other perhaps more time consuming or difficult patients?

785 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, again that is pretty specific. I would have thought that our GPs would be... well, I know for a fact that they are dedicated and responsible enough to manage their patients in whichever way their clinical condition requires, so I am confident that this is happening.

790 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: And finally Mr Speaker, the Hon. Minister mentioned the new system that is going to be put in place for Type 1 diabetes, where patients will be seen or reviewed by a consultant annually. Will this system be introduced or is it being considered for other chronic disease management – annual reviews with a consultant locally?

795 Dr J E Cortes: It depends on the condition. There are some conditions which do not require a consultant to carry out an annual review, conditions in which a GP perhaps with specialist interests and knowledge of a particular condition or nurse practitioners can deal with the routine and they would only be referred to a consultant for when it is particularly indicated.

It so happens that for Type 1 diabetes it is recommended. It is part of NICE guidelines in the UK and this is a programme that we are about to introduce using our existing consultants.

Q377/2014

Gibraltar Health Authority – New contract with Xanit Hospital; details

800 Substitute Clerk: Question 377, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health explain what the arrangements, fees, terms and conditions are in the new contract the GHA has with the private hospital Xanit to provide healthcare services for GHA patients and provide a copy of such contract to this House?

805 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

810 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, Xanit Hospital is used by the GHA as a tertiary referral centre. The Authority refers patients to Xanit in the same way that it refers patients to other centres in the UK and Spain. The nature of the referrals depends on the judgment of the referring clinician or the preference of the patient.

815 The Authority entered into a contractual arrangement with Xanit last year, which in the main catered for the pattern of referrals that had been in existence over a number of years during which the patients were referred without a formal contract being in place. As a result of the formalised arrangements, the Authority was able to obtain a reduction in costs for most of these services – for example, we have been able to lockdown the prices of certain procedures regardless of how long the patient requires admission at the hospital. A number of specialities and procedures have since been added to the list on the recommendation of clinicians.

The Government does not consider that it is appropriate to disclose details of the commercial arrangements that the GHA has entered into with Xanit Hospital.

820

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister say do we pay then a monthly fixed rate or is it based on the number of patients we send to Xanit? Is it based on the treatment type or the length of time the GHA patients use the services?

825

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, there is no fixed rate. We pay for the services provided according to a schedule of prices that are agreed and fixed. As I say, Mr Speaker, when I took over the role of Minister for Health and Chairmanship of the GHA, patients would be referred on an ad hoc basis and the bills would come in without any fixed price.

830

The contract has a set fee, agreed and comparable to fees in other hospitals, and in some circumstances has actually, as I have said before, locked the prices for certain procedures, which means you cannot always know how long a person has to be in hospital. In the contract, we have been able to arrange that for certain procedures, no matter how long the patient stays, the price is the same, and therefore we have obtained, I believe, a reduction in the cost per procedure and also certain guarantees. We pay as we use the service.

835

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, if I ask the Hon. Minister for the cost over the last financial year for the use of Xanit and the list of the fixed prices, I know he may not have that information with him today, if I write to him or ask him next month, will he be able to provide me with that information?

840

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I believe the hon. Member has asked me the Xanit question. In fact the hon. Member has asked me a host of Written Questions. I am obviously very popular. I think I get more questions than anybody else. (A Member: Hear, hear.) Either I have more. I do not know. Maybe it is just that I do a lot. (Laughter)

845

But some of the questions ask for some details down to a breakdown of costs in the GHA per month, per department, which makes me wonder why an earth these questions are asked, because I cannot see any benefit in the Opposition knowing how many bandages, how much money is spent on bandages in a month in any particular department, and it is a serious concern for me, Mr Speaker, because there are public servants who are spending a lot of time answering questions. By all means, the Opposition has every right to ask questions.

850

But questions I think that will be of benefit to them in their contribution to a better Gibraltar. But asking such kind of detail, which takes public servants many hours and many days to answer, for no apparent effect in the end, to me that time would be better spent in doing other things. But anyway that is just an opinion and I take the opportunity.

855

Now I have forgotten what the hon. Member has asked me, so she had better ask me again.

860

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, she has asked the question that I have asked her to ask, the first part of the question, which cannot possibly be characterised in the way that the hon. Gentleman has characterised it, which is how much has been paid to Xanit over the last financial year. The Opposition is perfectly entitled to that information.

865

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Oh, absolutely, Mr Speaker, and that information has been given in the Written Answer that the hon. Member is going to get.

870

What I am alluding to is other questions like how much sick leave over three days per grade for the whole of ... the monthly figures of cost for the Department. The monthly cost per hospital per condition in the UK. These are things that... I mean monthly figures really have not much value, because if you do not get all the bills one month, you might get them the next month and therefore these things are not relevant. I think an overview of a year comparing year with year is fine, but getting down to the nitty-gritty of these details and asking, for example, on the question of sick leave, in which you have a Human Resources Department spending three or four days there and not being able to perhaps process vacancies. Then I get a question as to why I have got so many vacancies.

875

Mr Speaker, I think the Opposition has to really take stock of how they are asking questions or the manner of questions they are asking and of the negative effect they can have on the public service for no benefit for Gibraltar, Mr Speaker. But on the question of Xanit, that information will be given on an annual basis.

875

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, obviously he was not a Member of the Opposition at the time when we were answering a battery of statistical questions on a regular basis. But look, we will be the judge, as

Her Majesty's Opposition of Gibraltar, of what is relevant, what is not relevant, and what is good for Gibraltar, what is not good for Gibraltar. His role is to answer questions. (Interjections)

880 But, Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman said that in relation to Xanit, originally there had been an ad hoc arrangement, which has now been consolidated into an overall agreement. I note that in the past there have been referrals to, for example, other institutes in Spain, such as the very well-known excellent institute in Navarra, the Pamplona Institute, Cancer Research and Treatment Institute, and I wonder whether the Government is also thinking of conducting that same exercise in relation to that Institute.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, he may be the judge, but I think his judgement is flawed.

Certainly I have not had the experience of being in Opposition. I hope I never will, but certainly I doubt whether questions like how many partridge chicks have been born on the Upper Rock, which I have got again as a Written Question this time round, when I have explained that it is impossible to tell to the hon. –

Mr Speaker: May I intervene?

This question of the sort of information which the Opposition asks of the Government is nothing new; it is something that has been happening over the years. There is only one Member here, apart from myself, and that is the Hon. Mr Bossano, who will recall that during a Budget session in Committee, a particular Member of the Opposition persisted in asking for every single item of overtime in all the subheads of the Public Works Department. We used to spend a week, a week in Committee during the Budget. Now, that does not happen any longer. (Interjections) No, it was not Mr Bossano. (Laughter) No, it was not. Mr Bossano took a much broader view of matters. It was not Mr Bossano. All it succeeded in doing was tying down the Ministers of the Government for a whole week here. So that is nothing new and I am sure that all Members when they are in Government feel that an excessive amount of time is perhaps being devoted in having to provide answers to questions, but it cuts both ways.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Certainly, Mr Speaker, and I apologise if I have gone on too much on the subject.

I have no problem at all in – (Interjections) I am going to Pamplona in a minute – supporting public servants when they do this work, but I do question whether there is any point in some of the questions that are asked. But anyway, that is another...

905

Pamplona. Let us go to Pamplona. Mr Speaker we do refer patients to the Universidad de Navarra facilities in Pamplona and we are currently under discussion with them looking at possibilities of firming up the relationship in various different ways. We are in discussions and we will see what comes of them.

910

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, if I may just end with one final supplementary?

Going back to the information on Xanit, what I have not requested and will be requesting is a schedule of the fixed prices for the different treatments.

915

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have no problem in giving that to the Member opposite. I would ask her to keep those confidential because obviously if we are discussing with other hospitals – and we are, not just with Pamplona... we are open to discussions with other hospitals – that would be commercially sensitive.

920

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q378/2014

New GHA management structure – Xanit's role in negotiation and establishment

Substitute Clerk: Question 378, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

925

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say what role, if any, the Spanish private hospital Xanit has played in the negotiation and establishment of a new GHA management structure or in the consultant's contract?

930

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, this is probably one of the most bizarre questions I have had to answer because I just cannot see... anyway, Mr Speaker, none, sir.

935 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister confirm that no GHA meetings or negotiations for new GHA services have taken place at Xanit?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Oh, Mr Speaker, now I see.

940 Mr Speaker, one meeting was held there because – (Interjections) No, let me explain. (Interjections) No, this says – (Interjections) What role... No, Mr Speaker, this is mischievous and totally unjustified. The question clearly says (Interjections) what role has the Spanish private hospital played in the negotiation? (Interjections) That is – (Interjections) No role.

Mr Speaker, the meeting was held in Xanit because one of the members of the negotiating team was a patient in Xanit and in order to allow the negotiations not to be delayed, the meeting was held there.

945 Mr Speaker, I think the Members opposite should think about what they are asking and get a little bit information before they make allegations. (Interjections)

Substitute Clerk: Question 3...

950 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister confirm whether or not the acting Chief Executive, who is now a consultant, Mr John Langham, has been operating out of Xanit as part of his remit for the establishment of a new GHA management structure or if he has held meetings there on behalf of the GHA?

955 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker.

I repeat, one of the Members of the team, and I will not mention the name here, was a patient there, a long term patient; therefore, in order not to delay the negotiations, a meeting was held there so that he could attend, and that is it. Absolutely no relationship at all to Xanit as an organisation, other than the use of a room.

Q379/2014

Transmissible blood born viruses – Screening for GHA staff; vaccination programme

960 Substitute Clerk: Question 379, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health explain how GHA staff are screened for transmissible blood born viruses and what the vaccination programme is?

965 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, staff members are tested for exposure to transmissible blood born viruses in the event of a needle stick injury. There is also a programme to screen all existing GHA staff for hepatitis B immunity and offer them a vaccination against hepatitis B, if indicated.

970 This is part of a wider programme for the public service, which was long overdue and which the Government is proud to have introduced.

975 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Yes, Mr Speaker, I understand that the hepatitis B vaccination programme for emergency and public service staff, including the GHA, was introduced. It was reported in the media. But what about the actual screening for all new entrants into the GHA, into the emergency services, a screening programme for hepatitis B and other viruses, such as HIV, hepatitis C and so on, where they are automatically screened before starting work within an emergency setting or health environment?

980 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, this has never been carried out in Gibraltar. I would need the advice of the Director of Public Health if he thought that was indicated.

TRAFFIC, HOUSING AND TECHNICAL SERVICES

Q380-Q386/2014

Charles Bruzon House – Construction work; concerns raised

985 Substitute Clerk: Question 380, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Government say whether any concerns have been raised by residents of neighbouring estates in relation to the construction of the Charles Bruzon House?

990 Substitute Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 381 to 386.

995 Substitute Clerk: Question 381.

Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Government say whether it has taken steps to ensure that any heavy machinery required during the construction of Charles Bruzon House will be operated in a manner that does not put the children and staff at undue risk of injury?

1000 Substitute Clerk: Question 382.

Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Government say what procedures are in place for access by emergency services vehicles to Governor's Meadow and Bishop Fitzgerald Schools during the continued closure of Europort Avenue and the building of Charles Bruzon House?

1005

Substitute Clerk: Question 383.

Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Government say what steps it has taken to ensure that children, staff and students at the three schools in the vicinity of the Charles Bruzon House construction site, have adequate exit and assembly locations in the case of emergencies?

1010

Substitute Clerk: Question 384.

Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Government say to what extent if any, the sports facilities adjacent to the site of Charles Bruzon House will be affected by the construction of the new building?

1015

Substitute Clerk: Question 385.

Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Government say whether any concerns about the safety of the staff and children at Governor's Meadow House have been raised with the Government since the announcement of Charles Bruzon House, by members of staff from any of the schools in the area?

1020

Substitute Clerk: Question 386.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, is the Government satisfied that the children of Governor's Meadow School are safe from hazards arising from the construction of Charles Bruzon House?

1025

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the Government has not received any representations from residents of neighbouring estates in relation to the construction of Charles Bruzon House.

1030

Representations have however been received from a group of parents whose children go to Governor's Meadow and Bishop Fitzgerald Schools. The Department of Education, through the Director of Education, have also raised a number of issues to be taken into account during the construction of Charles Bruzon House.

1035

Meetings have been held between the Government's project team, the contractors management team and health and safety advisers with the Director of Education and the head teachers of the three schools in the area to discuss all issues and explain how these will be addressed.

1040 A meeting has also been held with the representatives of the concerned parents to similarly address their concerns and explain how they will be addressed.

The full re-opening of Europort Avenue to traffic on 23rd May 2014 meant that access for emergency services to the Governor's Meadow and Bishop Fitzgerald Schools will be the same as it has always previously been.

1045 The housing project site is self-contained within what used to be the car park and so there should not be any effect on the access arrangements for emergency services whilst construction of the building is ongoing.

1050 The issue of emergency exits and assembly points have been discussed and reviewed by the City Fire Brigade's Fire Safety Officer, together with the heads of the three schools. Revisions have been made to the school's emergency plans to reflect changes made to exit routes and assembly points, all of which are in place.

1055 The sports pitches located on the south and west of Westside School will not be affected whilst Charles Bruzon House is being built, other than for the scaffolding which will be erected along the boundary wall. This will only encroach one and a half metres into the school area and will not prevent the pitches from being used for the same purposes as they currently are.

1060 Responsibility for health and safety on site lies with the main contractor in accordance with current laws and regulations. As is the case for all building sites, the Government's Health and Safety Inspectorate will carry out inspections and take action against the contractor should there be any breaches or unsafe practices. The contractor's mandatory health and safety plan includes for all heavy machinery to be operated within the constraints of the site, including the transportation of heavy loads.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Hon. Minister for the comprehensive answer he has given to the series of questions I have asked him.

1065 I would be grateful if he could just confirm, because I heard in the answer – I mean it was substantial and I may have misheard – that Europort Avenue has reopened on the 23rd May. I am grateful.

1070 Also, in relation to the site where the building is being constructed, I understood from representations that were made to me that that was indeed the assembly site in emergency scenarios for the schools. Can I confirm that the Minister has actually said that those arrangements have been reviewed and that different processes are now in place in that respect?

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, given that the arrangements concern the schools, I will deal with the supplementary.

1075 It is indeed correct that all those matters, including health and safety issues, evacuation procedures and emergency procedures have been fully reviewed. The site in question was an area where people would congregate in the event of any emergency and certainly other sites have been identified, including areas of Bishop Fitzgerald and, as you know, there is access also to Westside School and that has also been identified.

1080 In case there is a need to have a full evacuation of both the Governor's Meadow and Bayside School area, everybody will congregate on the Westside area. So alternative arrangements certainly have been made and that has certainly been taken into account.

Hon. S M Figueras: I am grateful, Mr Speaker.

1085 One of the representations that was made to me was that exit from the area of the two schools into what is effectively the Montagu Gardens area, that there were certain issues relating to that, including restricted access to the area. Is this something that has been considered by the Government and dealt with appropriately?

1090 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, it is something that has been considered by the Government and it is something that has been dealt with appropriately. There has now been an agreement with Montagu Gardens Estate for the opening of another exit from Westside into Westside Estate, Montagu Gardens Estate directly, that is in the course of being done.

1095 Although the question says that all emergency exits and revised arrangements are in place, this is an additional item, over and above all the other arrangements that are in place in order to have, in the event of an emergency, whether there is a need to evacuate through Westside and outside of Westside School into the Montagu Gardens area. So that is certainly something that has been considered and has now been fully agreed and will be implemented very shortly.

Hon. S M Figueras: I am grateful Mr Speaker.

1100 Just two short supplementary questions left on this issue and that is in relation to the use of the heavy machinery and in particular the cranes on site. Representations received by myself from concerned parents suggested – in fact I saw some video footage – of heavy machinery operating in a manner that represented, to the layman, an unnecessary... well, not unnecessary, but an undue risk to students in the area.

1105 I suppose that the second supplementary, the last supplementary I was going to ask can be asked in conjunction with that, and that is whether there are any concerns that have been raised with the Government that remain outstanding or that have not been dealt with to the satisfaction of those who have raised it with them... to the Government's knowledge clearly?

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, in relation to the crane, we were advised that it is perfectly normal in any construction site to have a crane where the jib, the front part of the crane, goes over adjoining areas. 1110 Unless you have a large enough site and you have the crane in the middle, generally a crane will encroach over the adjoining areas...in other words the jib, the front part. In this particular case there will be some, what is called, free sailing of the jib around the adjoining area.

1115 However, what we have made absolutely sure is that there will be absolutely no lifting and no goods will be transferred in that part of the crane which will go beyond the area of the site itself, and that is an absolute restriction that has been placed on the contractors and the contractors will have confirmed to us. They need to confirm because I understand this is all part of health and safety regulations and they will have to do it in any event, but it is in fact a strict restriction in relation to this construction site and the contractors have clearly confirmed that this is a restriction which will be very, very strictly adhered to.

1120 The hon. Member also asks about other concerns and other issues which have been raised and issues that have been raised concern noise, dust, vibration and traffic. All those issues have been adequately addressed in a comprehensive plan which has been put together by the contractors. There have been numerous meetings between the Department of Education, Technical Services Department and the contractor. I attended a site meeting myself with both the contractor's representatives and members of my Hon. Friend Mr Balban's Department of Technical Services in which we looked at all these issues. 1125 A comprehensive plan has been put together and all the issues have been addressed, certainly to the Government's satisfaction.

1130 With regard to the parents, there was recently a meeting attended by the Deputy Chief Minister, hosted by the Deputy Chief Minister, with a group of concerned parents and the Director of Education and members of Technical Services Department were also there. I understand – and the Deputy Chief Minister can further enlighten us if necessary – that all those issues were addressed and explanations were given and satisfactory explanations were given to the group of concerned parents, who appeared to leave the meeting satisfied with what... Whether they were entirely satisfied or not it is not for me to say, but certainly those issues have been addressed, meetings have taken place and they appeared to be satisfied with the explanations that were given to them.

Q387/2014
Europort Avenue –
Partial collapse; details

1135 Substitute Clerk: Question 387, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Government provide details of the partial collapse of Europort Avenue in March this year?

1140 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, during maintenance work, it was discovered that there was a partial collapse of the main drainage system on Europort Avenue at two places where it crossed the road. At said location, there was an old storm water culvert and a sea water intake which were constructed using corrugated iron sheets surrounded in concrete. 1145 Over the years, and given the lack of maintenance, the corrugated iron sheets corroded and lost their structural integrity leading to loss of material into the culvert.

1150 The works carried out have involved the complete replacement of the existing system from the entrance of the school up to the corner of Chilton Court, using new plastic pipes. Works are currently progressing on the reconstruction of a manhole on the Chilton Court side and the laying of the last short section of pipe.

The final items of work shall be the partial reconstruction of the existing manhole in front of the school and repairs to the inlet culvert.

These works will be undertaken during the school summer break.

Q388/2014
Europort Avenue –
Re-opening to traffic

1155 Substitute Clerk: Question 388, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I suspect that we have already covered this answer, but I will ask the question in any event and just ask any relevant supplementaries accordingly.

Can the Minister for Traffic say when he expects Europort Avenue to re-open to traffic?

1160 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, Europort Avenue was re-opened to traffic on Friday 23rd May 2014.

1165 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, in the context of his answer to Question 387/2014 and that there are certain parts of the work yet to be completed, can he confirm whether there is any need for traffic arrangements which will limit flow through there? I have not been in the area since I asked the question, as the Hon. Minister for Justice is suggesting. I have not been in the area. I do not know what arrangements are in place, if any.

1170 Is the Hon. Minister for Traffic able to provide us with details of what arrangements, if any, are in place for the management of traffic during the time that the remaining works are conducted?

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I believe that no more works will be done on that road per se. I think the works will be done within... carried out within Chilton Court, as far as I believe.

Q389/2014
Dudley Ward Way Tunnel –
Details of ongoing works

1175 Substitute Clerk: Question 389, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Traffic detail the works currently ongoing in Dudley Ward Way Tunnel?

1180 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

1185 Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the works currently ongoing in Dudley Ward Tunnel comprise the following: (a) the provision of brackish water wet main and fire hydrants at intervals along the tunnel; (b) the provision of fixed emergency telephone call points at intervals along the tunnel; (c) the provision of fire extinguishers at intervals along the tunnel; (d) the removal of redundant exposed pipes and supports.

The works are programmed to be completed by the end of August 2014.

1190

Q390/2014
Europa Road –
Cost of works; completion date

Substitute Clerk: Question 390, the Hon. S M Figueras.

1195 Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Minister for Traffic detail the costs relating to the widening of Europa Road and the addition of pavements along various stretches of it, as well as confirm when these works are expected to be completed?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

1200 Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the sections of new pavement that has been constructed along the southern end of Europa Road have been built as part of the new water mains infrastructure project being undertaken by AquaGib. The new mains were being encased so the opportunity was taken to upgrade this to a pavement.

1205 Technical Services Department have supplied the paving slabs and railings along this section. The section of new pavement between the ends of the AquaGib works and the start of the section of new pavement being constructed as part of the Buena Vista development project has been undertaken by the Technical Services Department. The total cost of this, including the paving slabs and railings for the southern section, is £28,459.60.

The works to the pavements undertaken by AquaGib and Technical Services have been completed.

1210 Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, Mr Speaker, I take this opportunity to commend the Government on that initiative. Certainly it is one that is welcome on this side of the House and by many residents in the area.

1215 I wonder whether the Minister is able to tell us – though he has no notice of this question, but it generally arises in the context of it – whether there are any plans for the development of pavements along the northern section of Europa Road, particularly in the area between Brympton and the access to Sunset Close?

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, no, not receiving notice of that question, I would not be able to answer correctly. The issues there I would presume are the actual size of the road itself and the constraints with it being such a very narrow road.

1220 The road that has been repaired in question was one which many residents in the area were concerned about and a stretch of road where cars do travel at a reasonable speed and there was no protection for pedestrians; hence the Government took this available opportunity by making these pavements, which was possible. But there is that area, the curvy area just passed Brympton, which I would presume... I would think that it would not be possible to build a pavement along the whole length of that road.

1225 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I have actually given the issue some thought from a personal point of view, because I used to live at Highcliffe House. In fact, I also raised it with a former Minister for Trade and Industry, Mr Joe Holliday, and he said that in fact it may well be possible because part of the... I cannot remember which part, but part of the land, either the wall on the left-hand side as you walk south or on the right-hand side, parts of that are actually owned by the Government of Gibraltar. So it may well be possible to keep the width of the road as it is, but build a pavement in areas that are owned by the Government.

1230 In any event, actually if you were to ask the residents there whether they would be amenable to losing... what is it, a metre in front of their drives just to have a pavement that actually works to their advantage? It may be possible that they would also agree.

1235 But my question is would the Minister perhaps look into this, because it is one of the most dangerous parts of Gibraltar? There are a lot of people who walk their dogs. There are a lot of people who walk with their children in that particular area and it is very, very dangerous.

1240 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, we will most certainly, we do agree that it is something which could be looked at and we will most certainly be looking and addressing it within this next 16 years of Government. (Laughter and interjections)

1245 Mr Speaker: Next question.

A Member: That was very droll.

1250 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, in relation to the... Congratulations on your confidence in the –

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, arrogance actually; not confidence. But anyway –

Several Members: Oh!

1255 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: In relation to that area, the Hon. Minister has been talking about the stretch from Brympton to the bottom of Windmill Hill, has the Government considered having a partial one-way system with the road that takes you partly down Naval Hospital Hill and then up out via Brympton and then that stretch of Europa Road from Brympton to the bottom of Windmill Hill, perhaps considering a one-way system there that would enable to provide room for a pavement?

1260 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I do not believe that that has been considered, but as part of our Traffic Plan we will be looking at every single aspect that could help. Remember, one of our priorities is to increase the safety of pedestrians throughout Gibraltar in many locations and it is something which if can be done will be looked at. I do not believe the Government has looked at that, but I will ask in the Department.

Q391/2014
Large-scale resurfacing of roads –
Government plans

1265 Substitute Clerk: Question 391, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Traffic detail what plans the Government has for the large-scale resurfacing of Gibraltar's roads?

1270 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the contracts to carry out the first phase of a major highway resurfacing programme has recently been awarded to AMCO (Gibraltar) Ltd in the sum of £577,231.75.

1275 The works will involve the full resurfacing of Line Wall Road, from Smith Dorrien Bridge up to Cloister Ramp, and the full resurfacing of Rosia Road, from the Trafalgar interchange up to its northern junction with Cumberland Road.

1280 Hon. S M Figueras: I am sorry, could the Hon. Minister just repeat the last bit from Trafalgar interchange to ...?

Mr Speaker: The northern junction.

1285 Hon. P J Balban: I said the works will involve the full resurfacing of Line Wall Road from Smith Dorrien Bridge up to Cloister Ramp and the full resurfacing of Rosia Road from the Trafalgar interchange up to its northern junction with Cumberland Road.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the reply. I wonder whether he could repeat the cost. I did not quite get the cost.

1290 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the cost was £577,231.75.

1295 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, this question does generally arise from the original one, in terms of the actual deployment of the resurfacing. Has the contractor encountered any issues with the siting of the equipment that they are using to prepare for this resurfacing, mainly on the east side reclamation?

Mr Speaker: I will allow this supplementary, but I find it very difficult to see what connection it has with the original question. But I will allow it.

1300 Chief Minister: (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, this is an issue which is being dealt with generally, also in my office because it involves all different parts of Gibraltar, and as I can see the hon. backbencher looking at me, he will know that this is the part of the jigsaw puzzle that is Gibraltar.

1305 There have been no issues because the plant that is there is simply there at the moment not to operate; it is only there whilst an area in a different part of the reclamation is made available which was presently taken up by rock and sand which is being used for the Sandy Bay project. So it will move into an area where there will be no issues with the operation of the plant.

Hon. S M Figueras: I am grateful to the Chief Minister.

1310 Could the Hon. Minister for Traffic say whether in addition to the contract that has been awarded in respect of Line Wall Road and Rosia Road, whether there are any other plans in the pipeline for resurfacing in other areas of Gibraltar?

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, we are looking at the next phase in the programme and would be the southern section of Line Wall Road and Queensway.

Q392-396/2014
Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan –
Publication of report; cost to taxpayers

1315 Substitute Clerk: Question 392, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Traffic provide an update to this House in the context of the findings of the Sustainable Traffic and Transport Management Plan?

1320 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 393 to 396.

1325 Substitute Clerk: Question 393.

Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Minister for Traffic say when he expects the Sustainable Traffic and Transport Management Plan will be published?

1330 Substitute Clerk: Question 394.

Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Minister for Traffic provide details to this House of initiatives which the Government is intending to pursue or is indeed pursuing as a result of the findings of the Sustainable Traffic and Transport Management Plan?

1335 Substitute Clerk: Question 395.

1340 Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Minister for Traffic provide details to this House of the traffic measures he expects to be carried out in consonance with the findings of the Sustainable Traffic and Transport Management Plan?

Substitute Clerk: Question 396.

1345 Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Minister for Traffic say what the total cost to the taxpayer has so far been in the context of the Sustainable Traffic and Transport Management Plan?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

1350 Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the first draft of the Government's new Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan has been completed. This is currently undergoing an internal review process and so it is not possible to give a definite date for its publication. It is not possible to provide details at this stage of the findings, the initiatives that will be pursued, nor the measures that will be implemented as these are still subject to review.

1355 As has been previously stated in this Parliament, the Plan will look at ways of encouraging alternative forms of transport with the aim of improving our environment and how we move around for the benefit of all.

The total cost to date, in the context of the sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan, is £368,219.05.

1360 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the answer, though I have to say it seems that this plan is the subject of great mystery when it is something that would certainly, I am sure, be very welcome in the public domain and certainly not least for the Opposition.

It strikes us, Mr Speaker, that there will have been many findings that subject to any kind of redraft or internal review that is currently ongoing, there should be no great issue with divulging and making available to the Opposition in this House.

1365 What reasons can the Minister give for the delay in providing this House at the very least – if not publication of the Plan itself... providing details to this House of those issues rather more specifically than generally trying to encourage alternative forms of transport and all those matters that we have covered here in the past for not doing that?

1370 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I encourage the eagerness of the hon. Member and the Opposition to see what important findings come as part of the Traffic Plan. We must remember that this is a draft; hence it is work in progress.

1375 Those Members who have read the draft can see already there are going to be very many positive suggestions and it will definitely be something which will be very, very positive for Gibraltar. But until that draft has been read through and it becomes a final document, then that is when the Opposition will be able to have a look, as will the whole of Gibraltar when it is published.

1380 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, is the Minister saying that the Government has not made any decisions whatsoever in respect of any measures whatsoever that they will be taking following the recommendations and findings of the Plan? If they have taken such decisions because certain issues certainly are very clear to them and the stakeholders, why is it that he cannot tell this House what it is that they are already planning on doing?

1385 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I think it is important that we understand the parameters that we are talking about.

1390 The Plan is being worked on at the moment by the local technical people, who have received the draft from those who have been helping us prepare it. It has not yet been shared with other Ministers. It will have to be shared with other Ministers for other Ministries to have input also. Once we have done that, then we will produce a final document, which he will be happy to know, I reiterate, will be shared with them and with all of the public in Gibraltar.

1395 Now, he would be right, Mr Speaker, to take us to task for not publishing the final report. He would be absolutely right to say if we did not publish the final report, we would not be complying with our obligations of accountability and transparency. He would be absolutely right to say that with the final report, on which we have spent taxpayers' money, we should not be acting without sharing that information with the public and of course with Members of this Parliament. But, of course, if he did that, Mr Speaker, he would run the risk of being a critic of the previous Administration (Hon. D A Feetham: Oh...) which had many reports which they did not publish. I hear the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition groaning. I am not surprised, Mr Speaker, because the strain of the record of the previous Administration that he has to pull along with him, which does not enable them to rise up like the phoenix that they wish to rise like, is there, and it is a history that is always going to burden them.

1400 I remind them, for example, Mr Speaker, of the report into the future of GBC prepared by Mr Allan King, something which I was asking the previous Administration to disclose for many years. We entered into a commitment that we would publish the minute that we were elected and we published it two weeks after we were elected. There was nothing there in our view that could not be shared with the public. We made a small redaction which identified an individual, but otherwise it was a report paid for by the taxpayer and shared with the public.

1405 Of course there is also the report into the future of the Customs Department, which was prepared by the previous Administration and not shared publically, although paid for by the taxpayer, which we also shared with the public and with the people at Customs who were concerned.

1410 So, Mr Speaker, absolutely right to press us on publishing the report; but absolutely no chance of us publishing a draft.

1415 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, I promise I am not rising like a phoenix (Laughter) but I would like to just, sort of, slip in a supplementary here.

The word 'draft' has been used by both hon. Members in their response. Would the hon. Members confirm whether they have received a report from the consultants and they are now considering it locally to produce from it the report of what they want to do? In other words, their action plan.

1420 Does the adjective 'draft' apply to the report or to their action plan of what parts of the report they wish to accept and not accept, which would be normal? Consultants come in, they make a million recommendations. And then the Government would consider them and extricate the ones that they like and implement them. Have they received a report which is not in draft or a list of ideas or recommendations from the consultants?

1425 Hon. Chief Minister: As I understand the position, what has been received is a draft, still for consultation with the technical people here, who are working with the technical people in the UK, and that is why it has not been shared with the Cabinet as a whole yet.

I understand that one or two Ministries, whose technical staff is the staff involved in liaison with the technical people in the UK, are the ones who have it, but there is not yet something which is at the concrete level of a recommendation.

1430 Hon. S M Figueras: But you see, Mr Speaker, I am not alluding to the publication of the report itself in the supplementaries that I asked. I am alluding to the initiatives or findings, which are generally accepted as positive and workable in Gibraltar, that may still be subject to further internal review on the details of how they will be deployed, but the disclosure of those findings which have wide acceptance which may provide a glimpse into what it is that we can expect in the future as a result of the Plan.

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, there are many things within the report that I have read so far which will be very interesting to proceed with. As we said, the report will be targeting other forms of transport – so other forms of moving people around Gibraltar in a more environmentally friendly way.

1440

So it will be looking at the use of more bicycles and it will be looking at the bus service, but these things we have mentioned already, but until we are not... these are recommendations and we need to look at these in detail before taking a final decision.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q397/2014

Government vehicles – Number powered with non-polluting engines

1445 Substitute Clerk: Will the Hon. Selwyn Figueras be putting the Questions 397 and 353 in respect of Mr Netto... Questions 397 and 353? Those are questions posed by the hon. Member Mr Netto. Question 397, the Hon. S M Figueras on behalf of the Hon. J J Netto.

1450 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, further to Question 783/2013 and to the answer to Written Question W149/2013, can the Government state how many of the vehicles, since these questions were asked, that have been bought to date are powered by non-polluting engines other than the G1?

Substitute Clerk Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

1455 Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, no vehicle powered by an exclusively non-polluting engine has been bought since Question 783/2013 was asked.

Q353/2014

New power station – Report; allocation of tender

Substitute Clerk: Question 353 the Hon. S M Figueras on behalf of the Hon. J J Netto.

1460 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, further to Question 240/2014 and to Question 573/2013, can the Minister with responsibility for Utilities please provide Parliament with copies of the full report stated in his answer in relation to the new power station, given that according to the Hon. Minister, the allocation of the tender would be, and I quote ‘towards the end of April’?

1465 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services on behalf of the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the answer remains the same as that of my answer to Question 240/2014.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

FINANCIAL SERVICES AND GAMING

Q398/2014

Minister's travelling expenses –
Trips undertaken; costs and allowances

1470 Substitute Clerk: Question 398, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Financial Services provide details of the trips he has undertaken since coming into Office, together with the costs of such attendance, broken down by travel costs, subsistence allowance and who attended with him?

1475 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Yes, Mr Speaker, the information requested is available on the Government website.

1480 Mr Speaker: Next question.

EDUCATION, TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND JUSTICE

Q399/2014

Bishop Fitzgerald School – Asbestos concerns

Substitute Clerk: Question 399. This is a question which has been posed by the Hon. J J Netto and it is in connection with asbestos and the Education Department. Who is going to be...?

1485 Question 399, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond on behalf of the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Education say if there have been recent reports of asbestos concerns in Bishop Fitzgerald School and if so, provide Parliament with a statement?

1490 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, no recent reports in relation to concerns over asbestos in Bishop Fitzgerald have been brought to the attention of the Department of Education.

ENTERPRISE, TRAINING, EMPLOYMENT AND HEALTH & SAFETY

Q400-405/2014

Future Job Strategy trainees–
Salaries; training; numbers employed privately

Substitute Clerk: We are now going to proceed to questions which have been put to Minister Bossano. Question 400, the Hon. D J Bossino.

1500

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment provide details of how many people are undergoing training at a cost to the Government, together with the industry area in which such training is being carried out outside the FJS scheme?

1505 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I will answer that question with Questions 401 to 405.

1510 Substitute Clerk: Question 401.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment provide updated details of the expenditure in terms of salaries paid to the trainees in the FJS since his reply to Question 325/2014, broken down on a monthly basis?

1515 Substitute Clerk: Question 402.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment provide current details as to how many employees each of Construction Training Company Limited, ETCL, Graduate Research and Development Company Limited and SECL have had, broken down by month, since his answer to Question 328/2014 to date?

Substitute Clerk: Question 403.

1525 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment provide updated details of the number of private employers which have employed FJS trainees, with details of how many trainees have been employed by each employer, broken down by month since his answer to Question 329/2014 to date?

Substitute Clerk: Question 404.

1530 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment state where trainees are currently placed in the private sector as relevant to the industry area of the private employers?

Substitute Clerk: Question 405.

1535 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment provide details as to where the grad trainees are currently placed?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

1540 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, there are currently 10 persons in such training in the industry areas of sea transport and related services and in road transport. Salaries paid to trainees since the answer to Question 325 are as follows: February, £400,000; March, £406,000; April, £370,000.

1545 Since the answer to Question 328/2014, the numbers of employees are as follows:
Company 1, January to April: January, 134; February, 145; March, 121; April, 118;
Company 2: January, 155; February, 151; March, 151; April, 115.
Company 3: January, 80; February, 72; March, 70; April, 67.
Company 4: January, 73; February, 72; March, 72; April, 70.

1550 Since the answer to Question 329, the number of trainees and the number of private employers are as follows:

February: 43 employers with one employee each; 15 Employers with 2 trainees each; 10 with 3; 10 with 4; 2 with 5; 2 with 6; 1 with 7; 1 with 12.

1555 March: 49 with 1 each; 25 with 2 each; 10 with 3 each; 5 with 4 each; 2 with 5 each; 1 with 6; 1 with 7; 1 with 11.

April: 53 employers with 1 trainee each; 20 with 2 each; 13 with 3 each; 3 with 4 each; 2 with 5; 2 with 6.

1560 The industry code of the private sector trainee placements as at 31st March 2014 was as follows: other manufacture; construction; wholesale trade; retail trade; repairs of consumer goods; restaurants, bars etc; sea transport and related services; road transport; banking, finance and insurance; Police and Fire Service; Education; and other services.

On 30th April the grad trainees were placed in the following industry areas: public administration and National Defence; and other services.

1565 Hon. D J Bossino: A question of detail, I cannot cite the exact question the Hon. Minister was answering, but it is basically the number of trainees, and I have this specific question in relation to that and perhaps he could clarify. It is basically the list he gave of employers who have trainees employed... or have employed trainees rather. I think he gave me the details for January, February and then he went on to April. Has he given me March? He has given March? Okay. It started in February.

Hon. J J Bossano: I think, Mr Speaker, the figure for January was given the last time he asked the question, yes?

1575 Hon. D J Bossino: In relation to that question, which I can identify as Question 403, the question specifically relates to the number of private employers who have actually employed trainees. Whilst, with the benefit of time, I read the answer he gave me in the last sitting of the House in March, he provided the statistical information, but based on this... and this is the way he phrases his answer, which is 'the number of private employers with trainee employees between...', and then he sets out the dates, just to be certain that we are both singing from the same hymn sheet and we understand each other, what I am asking is the number of employers who have actually formally employed trainees, as opposed to having trainees placed with them. Can he confirm that he has understood the way that I have put the question?

1585 Hon. J J Bossano: No. Mr Speaker, the answer that I gave to Question 329 and the answer that I have given is the number of trainees still paid by the scheme and placed with the employers. So there are 43 who have got one each as a trainee. The bulk of these will of course be employed and I can give him a list of when their training is finished, but these are the people who are currently in training and this is the distribution of where the trainees are placed.

1590 Hon. D J Bossino: I think in fact there has been a misunderstanding. The question was very specifically worded, but then I was able to... again with the benefit of time when I had the chance to review the answer he gave in writing, I noticed that I think he misunderstood the question. Perhaps I am repeating myself, but the answer...this is also interesting information which I will analyse.

1595 What I am interested in is the statistics which show the trainees who have actually been formally employed by the private employers. In other words the trainees are no longer – if I can use the terminology or the way that the Hon. Minister has answered the question right now – no longer in the payroll of the scheme and actually in the payroll of the private employer. That is the information which I sought in March and the updated information that I am seeking now. Obviously it is information which I am sure the hon. Member can provide, but presumably will not be able to provide this morning.

1600 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, I can provide it, but of course it is not very meaningful, in the sense that there are these other people who are currently in the training. He already knows from the figures when he has asked me how many of the trainees have finished up in employment at the end of the training and the answer that I gave him when he asked me the last time, which was quite a long time ago, was that it was 65% at that time. So in effect the percentage, if anything, is higher now than it was then; but the month is of no particular relevance.

1605 In the case where there is only one person with 43 employers, people start in different periods and finish in different periods. There is no correlation between the month in which they spent in training and the month in which they finish in training, but I can tell him that it is of the order of 65% to 70% of the numbers that I have got here who finish up employed.

1610 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, but, Mr Speaker, the question that he has asked is a very specific question. He said, 'details of the number of private employers which have employed Future Job Strategy trainees'. Now, we all know that the employment contracts of the trainees are not with the private companies. They are with ETCL and the other companies. They are the ones that employ these individuals. They are the ones that pay them.

1615 It is asking for how many private employers have employed Future Job Strategy trainees. The question is specific, he has given another answer. He is asking now for us to extrapolate the figures from the percentage that he is giving us. If he does not have the statistics, I accept that, even though the question is very specific and it is very clear.

1620 But, in answer, will he provide to my hon. Friend, by way of a letter, the monthly statistics, because that is what he is asking: how many people have actually been employed by employers following their training in January, in February, in March and in April?

1625 Hon. J J Bossano: Well Mr Speaker, I am answering it the same way as I answered Question 329, because the question said, 'since the answer to Question 329/2014'. So I am giving an answer which follows the same as the one that he asked previously, which was in fact understood to mean what was the distribution of trainee employees.

1630 When they have completed their training they are no longer trainees of course, they are then employees of the placement provider. I have already told him that the last time I answered that question it was 65% and that the percentage is higher; of course I can go and get the Department to work out the figures. If he asks me the question the next time I will give it to him for both Question 329/2014 and this one, if he wants it, for 329/2014 as well.

1635 Mr Speaker: Could I suggest that the hon. Questioner follows the matter up in writing and makes it clear in his letter to the Minister exactly what is the information that he wants?

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, Mr Speaker, the question is in fact in very clear terms and it is exactly the same terms as I have posed it here, but clearly understood from reading the answer that the Hon. Minister had misunderstood it. That is fair enough. We are all human. We all make mistakes.
1640 But just for the record, the question is and was in very, very clear terms.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

1645 Substitute Clerk: Question –

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, there were five or six questions bunched together and I have some supplementaries.
I did not make an accurate note of the answer that the hon. Member gave in relation to Question 400, which was posed in terms of the assistance which the Government is giving outside the FJS scheme. The reason why I asked that question is that I think the hon. Member, if he recalls, at the last sitting of the House said that assistance was being given to those individuals, who, for example, wanted to undergo heavy goods vehicle training. I think he also cited the example – again from memory – of hairdressing, but they were not formally part of the FJS scheme. In other words, they do not necessarily have to subject themselves to a contract and his Department with a private employer does not follow that scheme. I was interested to know what the cost of that was. I am not sure if I got the answer, because I have not taken a full note of the answer he would have given to that particular question. The question is Question 400.
1655

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, Question 400 says, ‘how many people are undergoing training at a cost to the Government’, but it did not say at what cost to the Government. So what I have given him is the number, which is what he asked. The number is 10.
1660

Hon. D J Bossino: [Inaudible]

1665 Hon. J J Bossano: There are 10 people. Of those, six were doing bus driving, but they do not get paid. What the Government pays is the cost to the company that is training them.

Hon. D J Bossino: Does he have the information as to the cost to the Government?

1670 Hon. J J Bossano: It works out at about £1,200 per person for a period of three months or something like that – that is the order of cost.

To train somebody who has already got a driving licence and get him up to what is required by the public service or the Transport Commission, or whoever it is that gives them a licence to be able to drive a public service vehicle, takes three months and costs about £400 a month per driver.

1675 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I think the Hon. Minister said that there were about six of the 10 who were benefitting from this, and the others are in which area of activity?

1680 Hon. J J Bossano: The others are involved in maritime activities and are not paid from the vote of the ETB. They are paid from a fund that has been there for some time, which is created from a levy from the port users, but the money comes out of that fund and there are four people in that area.

1685 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister tell me how do individuals access this facility? If somebody pops round to the ETB offices and asks for assistance, what criterion for selection of a candidate is there in place? Is there any formality in relation to that, in terms of selection, in terms of how much money they get paid?

1690 As I said, I do specifically recall him referring to various areas of activity and I do not think he was specific. He was just almost suggestive that anybody who approached the Government with an idea, whether it be an employer or somebody who wants to benefit from training, can approach the Government and obtain assistance in this regard. Can he shed some light in relation to that?

Hon. J J Bossano: The maritime thing is not run by the Employment Service and has been there for some time. I think it is advertised and people apply. There are four currently.

1695 The bus drivers and, for example, heavy goods, plant operators and stuff like that is something that is offered to people who are unemployed in order to improve... I mean if we find, for example, that there are bus driver vacancies and we have difficulty in filling them or there are requirements for lorry drivers or 1700 plant operators and we have difficulty in filling them because people who are registered as unemployed do not have the necessary skill or may have the skill but do not have the necessary licences, then what the Employment Officers do when they are looking at the jobs that can be offered to the people that are being assisted in finding employment, they are told that training in these areas is available; but this is not part of the normal scheme because they continue to be registered as unemployed and they do not get paid while they are being trained.

1705 The only cost is the cost of the provision of the training. So that is the only area. I have assumed that outside the scheme meant that they are not with a contract of employment with one of the four companies. (Hon. D J Bossino: Exactly.) Right, but at the moment it is the bus drivers.

Hon. D J Bossino: Again, this is something in respect of which his Department has a complete control and handle. They are the ones who decide and identify that there is a deficiency of skills in one area and as he has explained, they offer, basically, a way out, but is it something which is there, available and transparent and available to all?

1710 Is it an extra service which is available to the public in general which can be accessed by the public in general by popping round to the Minister's office and trying to find out whether any assistance... because, again, I have said this is the third occasion, but I specifically recall that the hon. Member mentioned hairdressing, for example, which does not fall into the categories he has been referring us to this morning. So I just thought is there something that is available to the public in general and that they could benefit from?

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, it is something that is done by the Department in order to get people who are not with a job into a job. So the answer is, this is not, somebody cannot just walk in and say, 'Well, I like the idea of being able to drive a bus'. It does not happen like that. Clearly, you have got to be unemployed. You have got to be looking for work. You have got to be in a position to be willing to work as a bus driver. You have got to be in a position to pass whatever vetting is required of bus drivers, because they have the responsibility for driving passenger vehicles.

1720 If you meet the criteria where obtaining the licence makes the difference between being able to apply for the job or not being able to apply for the job, then in effect what we are doing is in addition to the training, where we take people on a payroll, we are providing training where the unemployed person clearly cannot afford to pay for the training because he is unemployed. (Hon. D J Bossino: Okay.) So it is as simple as that. It is simply a mechanism for adding something more to the range of mechanisms that the Department has in order to bring unemployment down.

1730 Independent of that, the question of something like hairdressing, which I mentioned before, is different from the normal thing because there what we have got is somebody who approached the Government with a proposal for training hairdressers. But those hairdressers are being paid 20 hours a week, because unlike the bus driving thing, which is something that people can still carry on being unemployed and also get training two or three days a week, in the case of hairdressers where they are 20 hours in a hairdressing salon getting trained, we are paying them 20 hours, but the trainer is not required to undertake to employ the people who are doing the hairdressing. So that is one thing that makes it different from the normal system, which is the vacancy is identified and the person who is supplied as a trainee is being trained for a job that already exists. In this case the people who are doing the hairdressing will, on completion of the hairdressing, not have a guaranteed job.

1740 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, if I might after that exposition of the excellent work being done at the Employment Ministry, may I move that the House now adjourn until 3.00 p.m. this afternoon?. Sorry, not adjourn, but recess until 3.00 p.m. this afternoon.

1745 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, just simply to point out that obviously I am still in the midst of posing supplementaries to the five questions which were bunched up together by the Hon. Minister.

1750

Mr Speaker: Some Members have to attend an investiture at midday. (Interjections)
So the House will now recess until 3.00 p.m. this afternoon.

The House recessed at 11.40 a.m. and resumed its sitting at 3.10 p.m.

Q354-359/2014

New power station; update – Cost of imported generators; storage/transportation of LNG

Substitute Clerk: Answers to Oral Questions continued.
Question 354/2014, the Hon. D A Feetham.

5 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister state what has been the cost so far to the taxpayer of all the temporary generators which the Government has imported since 2012?

10 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister on behalf of the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question, together with Questions 355 to 359.

15 Substitute Clerk: Question 355.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister state when the Government expects to commence work on the land reclamation associated with the new power station?

20 Substitute Clerk: Question 356.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister state when the Government expects to commence the building of the new power station at the North Mole?

25 Substitute Clerk: Question 357.

Hon. D A Feetham: In the light of the tender in respect of the liquefied natural gas installation at the Detached Mole, can the Government state what minimum amount of natural gas would be required in order for the storage facilities to become cost effective... to be cost effective? I beg your pardon.

30 Substitute Clerk: Question 358.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Government confirm whether there will be an exclusion zone around the liquefied natural gas installation and, if so, provide details of the same?

35 Substitute Clerk: Question 359.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, how does the Government intend to transport and/or supply liquefied natural gas to the proposed liquefied natural gas installation in Gibraltar and from there, how will any gas be transported to the new power station in useable form?

40

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister on behalf of the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, before I launch into my reply as this is the first opportunity I have to speak in this session, may I just quickly record on Hansard the Government's thanks to the Returning Officer, his staff and all public servants in Gibraltar for their excellent work at the recent European Election.

45

Mr Speaker, the total cost so far of the temporary generators since 2012 until the end of April 2014 has been £10, 252,359.75.

50

It is anticipated that the reclamation works associated with the new power station will commence at the end of June 2014.

The validity date of the new power station tender has had to be extended until mid-June on account of the numerous technical clarifications from the tenderers that were still outstanding to allow the tender to be evaluated. This delayed the process by 60 days.

55

Mr Speaker, at this stage we have issued a prior identification notice, not a tender, to identify interested parties for the supply, storage and reclassification of liquefied natural gas in Gibraltar. Once these expressions of interest are reviewed, we will be able to engage with the different interested parties to determine what is the minimum amount of LNG that will be needed to be stored for it to be cost effective, together with what will be any exclusion zone around the LNG installation.

60

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Chief Minister has not provided an answer to Question 359, which is the transport of the gas to the installation and then from the installation in useable form to the power station.

65

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I thought he would have understood that because the PIN is not yet determined, it is not possible to give a detailed answer to his question.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, he may not be able to give me a detailed answer to my question, but no doubt the Government has investigated how it intends to bring liquid gas to the Detached Mole, and then presumably from there it has an idea as to how it is then going to either pipe or transport in another way, the gas, to the power station.

70

Can he provide us with at least a flavour of how the Government intends to do that or alternatively what are the various possibilities in relation to this?

75

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, there are very many different options and until the Government decides which option based on the advice we are receiving is the one that we are going to pursue, I would not be able to give any detail that is of any use to the House, other than to set out what all the possible options may be. He is, I assume, as able as anybody else in our community to work out what all of those possible options may be.

80

We can have a discussion, if he likes, about what all the possible options are, but I do not think that is conducive to the community being any wiser as to what exactly it is that is going to happen. That position can be put once the technical advice to the Government has been received. The Government has then made the decision and then explains publically what methods are going to be used. But you know he is saying himself from the Detached Mole it is not going to involve trucks, it is going to involve probably some sort of underwater pipeline if that is the solution that is recommended.

85

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Chief Minister is aware or must be aware that there is European legislation in relation to exclusion zones around plants of this nature and it requires that any authority that is planning to install a plant of this nature conducts a risk assessment in order to determine what kind of exclusion zone there is around a plant of this nature. Can the Government confirm that such a risk analysis has already been completed?

90

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, different levels of risk analysis are required. Until the actual amount of gas that is going to be stored is determined – and that is the subject of advice – the actual exclusion zone, such as it may be, cannot be determined. I would have thought it obvious that the exclusion zone for 100 cubic metres of gas, or whatever it is measured in, is different to the exclusion zone for 1,000 cubic metres, and that is an issue which is still the subject of advice.

95

100 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is he satisfied on the information that he has at the moment that locating a plant of this nature in the Detached Mole is going to allow him or his Government to have an exclusion zone around this particular plant that satisfies risk and any relevant European legislation?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am satisfied that the options that are being put to the Government do not involve the Government being in breach of any relevant legislation, European or otherwise.

105 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, moving on to the question of the power station, he said that the land reclamation is to commence work in June 2014 and that the tender in relation to the power station has actually been extended by another 60 days. Is he satisfied that the completion of the power station will be completed before this Parliamentary term and before the next General Election?

110 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am satisfied that it will be done with such alacrity as it is possible to do it in order to do it safely and in order to ensure that we make the right choice for this community for many generations. I am certainly satisfied that work will start during the lifetime of this Parliament, but as he knows, Mr Speaker, we did not have a manifesto commitment [inaudible] fixed Parliaments. Therefore the next 115 Election is not necessarily going to be held on 8th December 2015 and it may very well be held before the end of this year for all he knows, and therefore with the best will in the world, nobody can build a power station in a few months.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, I rise just to touch on the same subject, as I did last time this matter came before the House.

120 Whilst admitting to not being very technologically minded, the hon. Member knows that I have a sort of luddite nervousness about the concept of liquefied natural gas in a small place like Gibraltar, and indeed the fact that there are EU Regulations that require the determination of the required exclusion zone suggests – at least to the ignorant person and I admit to being that on this matter – that there is an element of risk, otherwise EU regulations would not be concerned with the size of exclusion zones.

125 The Government obviously does not share the same concern as I do about the intrinsic risk involved in liquefied natural gas fired power stations. But can I just ask whether the hon. Members are now, as a matter of policy, committed to that or are there any options that they are being given in the bidding process that might limit the Government, might enable the Government ultimately to opt just for a more traditional diesel powered station, or is that beyond policy decisions that have already been made?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, to a great extent policy is driven by technical advice and it is within the realms of what the technical advice tells one is possible that policy can be fixed. I think this is something that he will have come up against himself on a number of occasions, that however much you might want to push a particular policy, if the technicians say, ‘Look this does not come within the rules and the ambit of 135 what is allowed under the European rules, for example, then it is not a policy that is going to prosper.

So the Government is satisfied that its policy of pursuing a cleaner fossil fuel in terms of emissions, a much cheaper fossil fuel in terms of cost, is one which is deliverable within Gibraltar and the technical advice demonstrates that. We would not be pursuing it if the technical advice was such that we were told that the exclusion zone required around any type of liquefied natural gas solution was two and three quarter miles, in 140 which case it would be very nice to have the facility here, but none of us would be able to get near our homes. That is not the position.

The hon. Gentleman knows that there are exclusion zones in terms of health and safety requirements around many different types of installations. It is not possible these days, for example, if you are not grandfathering, to simply have a large deposit of diesel without some element of an exclusion zone as well.
145 So therefore this is degrees of exclusion zone, degrees of health and safety concerns and ensuring that what is done comes within the sort of HAZ OP, as I think they are called, Hazardous Opinion of what is viable and not viable, and nothing that has been said to the Government suggests that this is technically not viable, although it may require the movement of certain things which may be within a radius of a particular area, and fitting those concentric circles into what is Gibraltar is part of the art, as he knows, of being in Government.

CHIEF MINISTER

Q416/2014
Nature Group Company –
DPC application; extension of agreed terms

150 Substitute Clerk: Question 416, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond on behalf of the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, given the recent announcement by the Nature Group Company to extend the terms of the granting of its application from the DPC from storing to treating oil, will the DPC review the original application and will the Government make clear what its position is in relation to this matter, given that there are two Ministers who are members of the DPC?
155

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, one is tempted to think that the first part of the question is actually addressed to the DPC.
160

Mr Speaker, the DPC deals with all building, development and planning issues before it, based on the applications before it. If applicants want to make any change to any consent to build or develop, granted by the DPC, they need to apply to the DPC for that change. Until they do, whatever they may say about their intentions, they would be acting illegally if they went outside such consent to construct or use land as may have already been granted.
165

In any event, Mr Speaker, the issue of oil treatment or oil storage would require a specific licence, not from the DPC, but from the Port Licensing Committee which does not include any Ministers.

Q417/2014
Gibraltar Fair –
Naval Grounds; parking facilities available

Substitute Clerk: Question 417, the Hon. S M Figueras.

170 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Government confirm what plans are in place for the temporary, or permanent as the case may be, relocation of the coach park and associated parking and facilities during the use of the Naval Grounds for the fair this year?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.
175

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, plans are being put in place to provide an alternative set down area for the week of the fair this year, in a manner designed to inconvenience the public as little as possible, and details of which will be made public nearer the time.

Q418-419/2014
Legal consultants –
Drafting services; costs incurred

180 Substitute Clerk: Question 418, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister provide details to this House, further to answers to Question 338/2014, of the work done by legal consultants providing drafting services to the Government since December 2011?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.
185

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 419.

Substitute Clerk: Question 419.

190 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister provide details to this House of all legal costs incurred by Government-owned companies since January 2012 on a month-by-month basis, detailing the law firm/lawyers to which payment has been made and details of the matters in respect of which such payments have been made?

195 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the information requested in Question 418 has now been uploaded on the Government website.

200 In relation to Question 419, the information has not previously been provided in this House by any Administration, I understand. I nonetheless now hand the hon. Member a statement with the information requested and I have asked that it now be added to the Government website in the area that deals with legal fees.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, in relation to the Hon. the Chief Minister's reply to Question 418, I checked the Government website to see what information was available at the time when I filed the questions and the only information that had been provided had been provided in relation to 2014 and there were entries for January to April, where there were only two recipients or beneficiaries of Government contracts in that context.

There was no information that I was able to find for 2013 and 2012, and I wonder whether perhaps he can confirm whether this is something that is being worked on or whether it is not intended to provide that information?

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, the intention is not just to provide that information. I understand it is now on line and going back to 2008.

220

Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, Mr Speaker, could the Hon. the Chief Minister tell us when that information was uploaded?

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, but I understand it is now on line.

225

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, the point that I am seeking to make is that the information was not available when the question was asked and I would therefore expect that the information be provided in this House accordingly. If there is any reason why that should not be the case, I would be glad to hear it.

230

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the information that I have from the people who prepare my questions for me... or my answers for me, is that the information was on line and so I am afraid I do not have it with me.

235

If he could quickly check on his Mac Apple, then he can check and let us know whether it is now on line and he has it available. If he wants me to go outside and print it out for him and provide a copy across the floor of the House, because he says it was not available when he asked the question, then so be it. I have no difficulty in doing so at the end of this session.

Mr Speaker: May I help?

The hon. Member I think can check the Government website and I will allow him to ask any supplementaries that he feels are necessary.

240 Likewise, with respect to the very detailed supplement to the answer to the next question, which is very lengthy and detailed, I think we should move on to the next question, which is in the name of Mr Bossino, and likewise you can come back and ask any supplementaries when you have studied the information circulated by the Chief Minister.

245 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the suggestion certainly, but the Hon. the Chief Minister knows that that is not the point. I have a time stamped screen grab of the relevant Government website when I ask the questions and the information was not there when I asked the question and therefore should have been provided in this House. It really is as simple as that.

250 Now, if I have no option but to review the information, which I can easily do on my MacBook Air (Laughter) I am happy to do so, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: I am not ruling or anything like that.

255 No, the only thing is that the hon. Member when he drafted the question and he checked the website, it was not there. It could well be that by the time whoever drafted the answer for the Chief Minister, the person who was dealing with drafting an answer... it may have been on the website. That is possible.

Hon. Mr S M Figueras: In that case, Mr Speaker, I would be grateful for the opportunity to review the information and revisit the issue of supplementaries at a later stage today.

Mr Speaker: Of both.

Q420/2014

Juan Verde –

Connection to companies tendering for Government projects

260 Mr Speaker: Question 420.

Substitute Clerk: Question 420, the Hon. D J Bossino.

265 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Chief Minister please state whether Juan Verde has or has had any connection with any company which has so far tendered for any Government projects?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

270 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, it is clear that Members opposite have something against Mr Juan Verde. It is difficult to see why that should be the case.

In respect of this question in particular, Mr Speaker, the answer is that it is impossible for the Government to answer this question. How could we possibly know with any certainty if Mr Verde has had any connection with any of the many companies that tender for Government work? We would have to ask Mr Verde to reply or each company that has tendered for Government work.

Q421-422/2014

Jason Cruz –

Details of role in Gibraltar's London and Hong Kong offices

275 Substitute Clerk: Question 421, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please state whether Mr Jason Cruz will play any role in the Gibraltar Office in London?

280 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 422.

Substitute Clerk: Question 422.

285 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please provide details of the remuneration and any other employee benefits agreed with, or intended to be provided, to Mr Jason Cruz in respect of his position in the Gibraltar Office in Hong Kong, and in respect of any position he may have in relation to the London Office?

290 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, Jason Cruz is one of those Gibraltarians who has done extraordinarily well outside of Gibraltar. He is the sort of man we as a community are justly proud of. I cannot emphasise enough how happy this Government is that he is now working for Gibraltar in the highly competitive market that is South East Asia.

295 Jason has worked for almost 20 years in Hong Kong's commercial sector. His family has lived in Hong Kong for almost 40 years and enjoys an excellent reputation and an excellent network of relationships which will happily now accrue to the benefit of Gibraltar.

300 Jason was a Director of Cushman and Wakefield in Hong Kong, no mean feat in what is the world's largest privately-owned commercial real estate firm, and recognised as leaders in their field, who have vast amounts of experience in working with over half of the Fortune 500 companies.

In that role, Jason has been responsible for the completion of commercial transactions totalling over US$1 billion. Indeed, it is not just the Gibraltar Government that is justly proud of him, for Jason's achievements have been recognised by the Royal Institute of Chartered Surveyors for the most significant commercial transaction in Hong Kong in 2013. Well done that Gibraltarian. Now, that is something for the whole of Gibraltar to be proud of, Mr Speaker.

305 Jason was co-Head of Asia Pacific of Cushman and Wakefield's Banking and Financial Services practice between 2011 and 2013, and previously head of Asia Pacific for Cushman and Wakefield's Global Alternative Investment Services, working with hedge funds and private equity firms.

310 Mr Cruz is presently Hong Kong SAR representative and Deputy United Kingdom representative. He will also become United Kingdom representative on 1st June 2016 or such other date as may be mutually agreed between him and the Government.

315 His remuneration is £130,000 per annum with an allowance for housing, education of his children and an annual return flight to Gibraltar.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can he provide more information, in terms of the allowance that has been agreed for this gentleman's education of his children and any other allowances that may have been agreed with this particular gentleman? Does he have a figure in mind or is it going to be elastic in terms that Mr Cruz is to find a suitable school for his children and the Government has agreed to pay? There must have been already an agreement in relation to a sum as an allowance for this gentleman's education of his children and any other allowance that the Government may have agreed with him.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, it is not something I intend to get involved in.

325 What has happened is that there is an agreement that an allowance will be made for housing and for education of his children. I do not intend to be looking up the cost of accommodation in London or the cost of schools in London and Hong Kong as that is going to be done by the Chief Secretary, who is responsible for those things. I assume that it will be brought to me just for final approval before it is agreed, but it is an amount that is reasonable in the eyes of the Chief Secretary who will be having these discussions with him.

330 But, Mr Speaker, I am conscious of the fact that a number of people have wanted to congratulate Mr Cruz on having taken the appointment for Gibraltar, including Mr Michael Feetham, who was a Minister with the GSLP between 1988 and 1996 who publically said on Twitter that he was very happy for Jason having accepted the role.

335 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am very glad and indeed I found the exposé in relation to this particular gentleman's experience very interesting indeed; but in the words of Jessie J – he is a great fan of Jessie J – I am interested in the price tag that comes attached to this particular individual's role in Hong Kong and also in London.

340 The hon. Gentleman says this is a question for the Chief Secretary and he does not get involved in these things, but of course he is accountable to this House for taxpayers' money and this is taxpayers' money. Perhaps I might be able to jog his memory. The word is that this gentleman is being paid £200,000. Would I be far off in relation to that particular figure?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, yes, sir, very far off. This gentleman is being paid £130,000 and then there is an amount for allowance on housing and education.

345 Mr Speaker, if housing costs £70,000, well look, I can only... the only other reference to an allowance for housing is an allowance for housing that was agreed by them for the person they sent to London to be Director of the London office where the amount might have been... I cannot remember what the exact amount was. It was brought to me for ticking off at one stage. I am reminded by the Hon. Mr Bossano, who tends not to get things wrong in respect of numbers, that what they might have agreed might have been in the region of 350 £1,000 a week, which might have meant £52,000 a year. So, Mr Speaker, if what they are doing is applying the standards of the lavish accommodation that they thought was appropriate and adding it to £130,000, then they are already £182,000; but it may be that in Hong Kong the accommodation is much cheaper or that Mr Cruz does not want to live in St. James' Square, where they thought it was appropriate to put the person they sent to London at £1,000 a week.

355 I certainly do not know what rents are in London, but this man is the sort of man that we need doing our work in Hong Kong. He is the sort of man who may do very well for us in London also in the future. If he is quantifying the package at £200,000, so be it. I do not have any details as to what the housing allowance proposed to be agreed by the Chief Secretary is or what the education allowance is going to be. It is not that I am trying to hide anything. If he wants to ask me in a couple of months, I guess that by then it will have 360 been agreed and then I can give him the exact figure because I will ask the Chief Secretary, but I am not the person in the driving seat of agreeing it and neither would I ever recommend that the Chief Minister should be involved in looking at that sort of detail of one particular civil servant.

365 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I have to say I find that very odd indeed, bearing in mind that no one would actually agree to take on a particular post unless all the major details of his contract had actually been agreed. But he says that something as central, no doubt for Mr Cruz, as accommodation allowance and an allowance for the education of his children has not been agreed, well, so be it. But even on the figures that the hon. Gentleman is talking about, probably my figure of £200,000 a year is probably a conservative estimate, because if we are talking about £50,000 for accommodation alone, bearing in mind that this 370 gentleman has a family and the previous incumbent, if I can call him that, does not have a family... well £200,000 is probably short.

I do not want to have a controversy across the floor of this House this afternoon. If I write to him about this, will he undertake to provide me with the information in correspondence? I just want the information. I do not care whether he provides it across the floor of this House or in correspondence.

375 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, he says he does not want to cause controversy after having tried to cause it. It is like every olive branch he offers: it is littered with thorns.

Mr Speaker, the reality is that the previous incumbent, who did not have a family, may be one of two people. I do not know whether he is describing Mr Poggio, who has long been in London, or Mr Canessa, 380 who went to London. Mr Canessa is no longer in London. His salary was in the region of £70,000. His housing allowance was in the region of £52,000. You are already at £130,000 before the many flights that Mr Canessa was entitled to under his arrangement to Gibraltar. You may be very close to £170,000. He is no longer going to be doing that job. We save that money. So we save £170,000-odd in respect of Mr Canessa and Mr Cruz, who has no previous incumbent, because we have never had anybody in Hong Kong, is by his calculation, he 385 says, going to cost us £200,000. Well, look, Mr Speaker, then we are really arguing over, by his calculation, about £30,000, if Mr Canessa's package was not worth perhaps even slightly more. I do not know. I cannot actually put my finger on what Mr Poggio's package is worth, and I do not know whether anybody ever has, but anyway let us just assume that it is in the region of the same sort of cost to have that level and that standard of representation in the United Kingdom.

390 Mr Speaker, I am a huge fan of Albert Poggio – a huge fan of Albert Poggio. I believe Mr Poggio was instrumental in defeating joint sovereignty. I believe he has the ability to communicate with well on nigh seven eighths of the Chamber of the House of Commons at the drop of a hat and he is a huge asset for Gibraltar. But, Mr Speaker, he and I have had to have a serious conversation about the fact that he is not getting any younger and Gibraltar needs representation of that standard.

395 So can I put it to him, Mr Speaker, that if he is so concerned about cost, he applauded the fact that given what the cost of Mr Canessa will have been, and what the cost of Mr Poggio would have been, if in the long term what we have is Mr Cruz in London, that is actually an overall saving with a person, who he has seen, is imminently well qualified to represent us today in South East Asia and in the future in London. The cost actually may represent a full saving. As to the detail of the Housing and the Educational allowance, I am very 400 happy, Mr Speaker, for him to either write to me or to ask me again and when that amount is determined, then I am quite happy to write to him and give him the detail or answer his question across the floor of the House.

I put it to him however, Mr Speaker, that if he wants to be the CEO of this great corporation that we call
Gibraltar, the shareholders, although expect to hold him to account and they expect him to get the best value 405 for money, do not expect him to be involved in working out what the cost of a flat in London is or what the cost of a public school in Hong Kong is. He needs to be looking at the broader picture. Sometimes he does not see the broader picture because he is stuck in the detail.

410 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I have to say that the hon. Gentleman judges me by different standards than he used to employ himself when he was on this side of the House. He used to lambast his predecessor for using the private suite at Heathrow for £1,500 a go. Now he is lambasting me because I am asking questions that could cost the taxpayer between £70,000 and £100,000, but that is up to the hon. Gentleman.

415 Can I ask him two supplementaries arising from the answers that he has given? The first one is, so the intention is for Mr Cruz to effectively replace both Mr Poggio and also Mr Canessa? And the second one is why this particular post was not advertised in order to determine whether there were other candidates that might have been better than Mr Cruz?

420 No doubt Mr Cruz has his qualities, but this being such a central and important role, both in Hong Kong and in London, we think that it ought to have been advertised, at the very least it would have given the Government a choice of candidates, rather than just simply hand picking one individual a dedo, so to speak.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, it is not that I used to lambast the Hon. the previous Leader of the House, the Hon. Sir Peter Caruana – (Interjection and laughter) I used to simply say that to use the lounge every time he went to London was excessive and that of course he should use it on particular occasions if he needed to, but not on every single occasion.

425 But, Mr Speaker, let us be clear. It is not that I am not responsible for the £70,000 to £100,000 that he estimates that the allowance for Mr Cruz may be – it may be more, it may be less. It is that the principle of an allowance is agreed and the detail of it is to be pursued by a third party, and I do not think the Chief Minister of Gibraltar, with all of the issues that any Chief Minister of Gibraltar has to deal with, should be involved in negotiating the minutiae issue of contracts.

430 He is right if he were to say, but he does not, that I used to lambast the Hon. the previous Chief Minister for being involved in that level of detail and not allowing people to do their jobs, but look, so be it... everybody has a different way of doing things. I happen to think that the right way to do them is the way I am doing them, otherwise I would not be true to myself or doing the job that Gibraltar, I think, deserves to be done.

435 Mr Speaker, he has asked me the question why did we not advertise. Why did we not interview and why did we not perhaps choose somebody who might be even more qualified to do this job than Jason Cruz? Well, Mr Speaker, because I took a leaf out of the books of Joe Bossano and Peter Caruana. I know that he has loved them and criticised them both at different times in his political career, but when it comes to precedent, precedent is precedent. Mr Poggio was appointed by Joe Bossano without an interview process or without choosing to advertise the post. Mr Canessa was appointed by Mr Caruana overnight without choosing to advertise or propose to see whether others were appointed.

440 In the same way, Mr Speaker, as the Chief Secretary is appointed, the Financial Secretary is appointed and the Chief Technical Officer is appointed, there are some posts which are simply within the purview of the Chief Minister. I actually think it is just a very few and perhaps those four are the only ones. So in this instance, Mr Speaker, I was simply following the procedure established before. I know that the fact that Sir Peter did it is not going to stop him from criticising, because he has become his biggest critic.

450 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, before I ask another supplementary, he has not answered the first supplementary, which was whether it is the intention of the Government that Mr Cruz take over both the roles of Mr Poggio and also Mr Canessa.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, yes, thank you for that opportunity. I am sorry I missed that first limb of his supplementary.

455 Mr Canessa is back in Gibraltar. There were never two people in London. The advent of two people in London arose from circumstances, which I think were not happy ones and led to a situation where there were two captains trying to steer a ship. In any organisation it is important that there only be one captain. We have now corrected that situation: Mr Poggio is in London and Mr Canessa is back in Gibraltar. As I told him before, Mr Speaker, and I am surprised he did not deduce it from what I said, the long-term aim is that Mr Cruz should take over from Mr Poggio in the United Kingdom.

460 As I said before, and I say again, I am a huge fan of Mr Poggio, but he is getting no younger and therefore we need to ensure that we plan for a future when Mr Poggio decides that he wants to enjoy his retirement. He is almost 70, Mr Speaker. Mr Poggio looks very well for his age – I have to say that in case he reads Hansard – but actually 70 is the new 60 these days. Mr Poggio does not look almost 70, but he is literally almost 70 years old and therefore at some stage those who are in their seventies may wish... I know there are some who are less resilient than others (Laughter) but some people in their seventies have indicated that they want a future where they do not work five days a week and they are not...

In fact, if I may say so, the Office of Representative of Gibraltar in the United Kingdom is not a nine to five, five days a week job, it is a very intensive job involving weekends etc. Therefore what we are doing is planning for the future, and in the future if this Administration is able to see through our plans, Mr Cruz will have taken over from Mr Poggio. Mr Poggio today is the only person representing us in London. Mr Canessa is back in Gibraltar... or will be back in Gibraltar on 23rd June, I am told by Mr Isola, working in the Ministry for Financial Services.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman says that I have loved and criticised both the hon. backbencher and also the hon. the Father of the House in equal or less equal measure at different times. I have to remind the hon. Gentleman that of course he used to talk to me in less than becoming terms of the hon. the Father of the House, almost 10 years ago when we were talking about and planning as to how we could oust the hon. the Father of the House.

Mr Speaker: But we are not going to go into that, are we?

Hon. D A Feetham: No, we are not. Absolutely not, Mr Speaker. But, Mr Speaker, does the Hon. the Chief Minister (Interjection) not recognise that there is a fundamental distinction between the example that he has drawn, which is Mr Canessa and Mr Poggio on the one hand and Mr Cruz on the other in this sense, that Mr Canessa is a public servant and Mr Poggio was in fact appointed – I think I am right in saying – by the GSLP Administration and the policy of the GSD Government was a continuation of effectively that appointment that was made? Whereas here, what we have is a new appointment which has not gone out in any form of advertorial to see whether the Government is obtaining the best candidate for this particular job, which is highly remunerative, with benefits, let me repeat, at least we think £200,000, and therefore there is a distinction to be drawn in relation to the two examples that he has given.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I forgive him for disclosing the least indiscreet of my youthful indiscretions. (Laughter) But anyway, if anybody is reading history, they might think that at least I stayed and saw the job through with a smile, rather than with a dagger... but never mind.

Mr Speaker, the position is very simply this. Whether Mr Canessa was a public servant or not, he was simply appointed a dedo to London. The vacancy was not opened internally in any way. There was absolutely no question of others being able to apply for the job.

Mr Poggio was appointed by Mr Bossano and that appointment must have been a good one because it was seen through for 15 years – despite their criticisms before they were elected – by the previous administration and very well done too, because it saw Gibraltar out in great measure of the joint sovereignty issues that we faced in 2003.

Mr Speaker, Jason Cruz is an outstanding individual. We think we have made the right choice. We made it because we came across an individual who had all the qualifications that anybody could have thought were necessary for this job.

Does he really think that what we should have done is advertise in the South China Morning Post ‘Wanted: Gibraltarian. Must be sociable, able to manage London office and have done largest transaction in Asia last year?’ (Laughter) Is that what he is really proposing, because, Mr Speaker, I must tell him that of all the things that he needs to be analysing and putting under the microscope, this decision, which is the right decision for Gibraltar, because Gibraltar by the way is falling behind in representation in Asia when many of our other overseas territories competitors as financial services hubs have got representation there already? It is a decision long overdue and it is the right decision with the right individual in post at the right level of remuneration. If he says he would not have done it this way, so be it.

The problem he has got, Mr Speaker, is 16 years of track record of his party in Government having done the opposite – the complete opposite. Appointments, which he now calls a dedo, not at top levels like this where you can point to previous administrations having done similar or identical things in just a handful of posts along the top ridge of appointments to the public service, but throughout the sector. Or does he really... is he such a glutton for punishment that he wants me to remind him of the people appointed at the new terminal in Gibraltar Airport simply out of –

Mr Speaker: I would rather the Chief Minister did not and we get on with the business in hand, please.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, you are absolutely right. I would rather, myself, not have to do that.

525 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, does he not recognise that really there is a fundamental distinction here? Mr Canessa is a public servant who has been deployed to London. This individual is not a public servant, and he has been appointed directly by the Government.

Does he not also recognise that the examples that he has given are, with respect to him, ridiculous examples about advertising in the South China Times or whatever. There may well be people in the United Kingdom or elsewhere, English speaking... they do not have to necessarily be Gibraltarians, although I accept 530 that if you are going to have two candidates of equal ability and equal standing, it is always preferable to employ a Gibraltarian over somebody from the outside.

But we are talking about the economic driver, economic development for Gibraltar and that he could have advertised in the United Kingdom. There may well be candidates in the United Kingdom or elsewhere who may have been able to do this particular role and would have been far more qualified, but what the 535 Government has done is effectively deprived itself of that opportunity. Does he not recognise the distinction?

Can he at least satisfy me that this has nothing to do with the fact that Mr Cruz is very supportive of the Hon. the Chief Minister and his Party?

540 Hon Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I knew it had to come, the allegation somehow that there is impropriety; it always is ever thus with the hon. Gentleman, Mr Speaker. Somehow it is connected to you, Fabian and somehow it is connected to the Party.

Mr Speaker, when – may he rest in peace – Mr Cantos was appointed as the Director of Media Relations for the Government of Gibraltar weeks after the 1996 Election, there was no interview for that post. When Mr Golt was appointed, there was no interview for that post. When Mr Flower was appointed, there was no 545 interview for that post, Mr Speaker. Was it because they were particularly close to the previous Administration? I know at least that Mr Flower and I will laugh about the fact that I have had to mention him in Hansard again when I see him later.

Mr Speaker, the hon. Members opposite have established a course of dealing in the past 16 years where it is impossible to distinguish their appointments from those that supported them. Most of those appointments were a dedo. We have established a criteria. We will not in any way be involved in simply appointing people whether they are GSLP or otherwise. We will do this in the proper way. There will be interview boards where 550 necessary, but in some instances, at the very top level, we will continue to exercise the prerogative that a Chief Minister is able to choose who represents Gibraltar as Chief Secretary, as Chief Technical Officer, as Financial Secretary, as our representative in London and our representative officers elsewhere. Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman may not like that. He may be saying, but I do not know if he is, that if he were elected, he would always interview for the posts. Well, Mr Speaker, that is a matter for him, he can develop that policy if he wishes, but he must if he does so say that he eschew the actions of the previous GSD Administration and adds that to the many critiques he is making of the 16 years of Government that previously he had praised as amongst the best.
555

560 Mr Speaker, I defend the fact that we have chosen Jason Cruz and I do not believe there is anybody out there who could do the job. One of the qualifications we would be looking for is that the person be a Gibraltarian, because in my view, Mr Speaker, to represent Gibraltar in a representative office, in London, or in South East Asia or anywhere else in the world, not to lobby but to represent, a Gibraltarian is always best and being a Gibraltarian is, in my view, a requirement of the role.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q423-425/2014
Lobbying/marketing abroad for Gibraltar –
Consultants; details

565 Substitute Clerk: Question 423, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please explain what criteria the Government used to select Holland and Knight Limited Liability Partnership to undertake lobbying work in the United States?
570

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 424 and 425.

575 Substitute Clerk: Question 424.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please provide details of the work undertaken by GSLP Member Glyn Ford for the Government since it started to pay him as a consultant, and will Mr Ford continue as a consultant after the European Elections?

580 Substitute Clerk: Question 425.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please provide a list of consultants currently working for the Government on lobbying or marketing for Gibraltar abroad?

585 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, as usual when choosing service providers we looked at various entities in relation to Holland and Knight, who might provide the service. We looked at track record and took references from third parties. We then made the selection and set up a meeting when I was last in Washington.

590 Mr Speaker, in relation to Question 424, the fact that Mr Ford has been a GSLP Member is irrelevant to this Government. We do not choose the people we do business with based on their partisan affiliations, but on their ability and their expertise and if he does not believe me, he might want to ask the question to the person sitting at the end of the row who has been instructed by my Government on various occasions. Indeed, the Government is working with people who have been and some who are still GSD Members, and I do not hear Members opposite asking questions about them, but that demonstrates that we, as a Government, do not consider partisan affiliation to be either a qualifier or a disqualifier when determining who we do business with.

600 Mr Speaker, we will not in any event be taking any lessons on the subject from the party opposite, who exclusively favoured its own people to the exclusion of those who were not their supporters when they were in Government. Mr Ford will continue in his role as part of the bolstering of our lobbying efforts in Brussels. I should add, Mr Speaker, now that the European Election has passed, and he was not returned as a second MEP for Labour. As for the exact work he does, I do not believe sharing information of this nature publically is in the public interest of Gibraltar.

605 Mr Speaker, in respect of lobbying, my answer remains as my earlier answer to Questions 1084/2012 and 429/2013, namely that we will continue the practice of the previous GSD Administration and not provide a breakdown. What we give is in exactly the same form as it was given to us by Members opposite when they were in Administration. I agree with the position of the previous Chief Minister, that sharing information of this nature publically is not in the public interest of Gibraltar.

610 In respect of marketing, other than the UK, US, Hong Kong and Brussels representatives, there are none.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, so is he saying that he will be willing to provide me with the information as to what work is being undertaken by Glyn Ford for the Government privately? Is that the position?

615 Hon. Chief Minister: Absolutely, Mr Speaker. I offered to do so the first time that they asked about Mr Glyn Ford and the second time that they asked about Mr Glyn Ford, and if he bothers to look at Hansard, they said, 'We do not want it privately. You must answer in this House'.

620 But I am delighted, Mr Speaker, to share with him what work is being done for Gibraltar's benefit, but I will do so privately.

Hon. D A Feetham: My recollection is that it was a different question that I was asking then. In relation to the consultants and the list of consultants, is he also prepared to give me a list of consultants currently working or lobbying abroad for the Government on a private basis?

625 Hon. Chief Minister: Is he saying privately?

Hon. D A Feetham: Privately. Yes.

630 Hon. Chief Minister: Absolutely, Mr Speaker. I have absolutely no difficulty with that at all.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q426-427/2014
Radio Bahia/Samuel Fernandez –
Government subsidy; licence to transmit

Substitute Clerk Question 426, the Hon. D A Feetham.

635 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Government please state whether it is subsidising either directly or indirectly, Radio Bahia and/or Samuel Fernandez and/or any entity associated with him?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

640 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 427.

Substitute Clerk: Question 427.

645 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Government please state whether Radio Bahia and/or Samuel Fernandez and or any entity associated with him has applied for any licence or permission in Gibraltar associated with the transmission of radio signals?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

650 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar is not subsidising either directly or indirectly Radio Bahia and/or Samuel Fernandez.

In relation to Question 427, the answer is no in respect of information we have sought and obtained from the Gibraltar Regulatory Authority that regulate these matters.

Q428-438/2014
Sunborn Hotel/Credit Finance Company Ltd –
Details

655 Substitute Clerk: Question 428, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond on behalf of the Hon. J... no? It is a question posed by Mr Netto and we would like to know who is going to be asking the question. Question 428, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond on behalf of the Hon. J J Netto.

660 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Government say if during the lifetime of the Sunborn Hotel in its current location, will there be a need to carry out yearly infrastructural or maintenance works, either on land or sea, within the vicinity of the area in order to maintain the environment and/or applicable health and safety conditions and, if so, please state what are such requirements, who will undertake such works and what costs are required on an annual basis?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

665 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 429 to 438.

Substitute Clerk: Question 429, the Hon D A Feetham.

670 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please confirm that all monies due to Credit Finance Company Limited in respect of any Sunborn related loans have been repaid on their original due date?

675 Substitute Clerk: Question 430.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please state whether the amounts lent by Credit Finance Company Limited to the owners of the Sunborn or in respect of the Sunborn have increased since 5th July 2013?

680 Substitute Clerk: Question 431.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please state whether the owners of the Sunborn or anyone else have made requests for an increase in the amount of Sunborn related loans since 5th July 2013, either from Government, the Gibraltar Savings Bank or any Government-owned or partly-owned company?

685 Substitute Clerk: Question 432.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please provide details of the total amounts of loans provided by Credit Finance Company Limited as at 31st March 2014, 30th April 2014 and 20th May 2014?

690 Substitute Clerk: Question 433.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, other than in respect of the commuted pensions of civil servants, Government arrears and other loans, can the Chief Minister please provide details of all payments made by Credit Finance Company Limited as at 31st March 2014, 30th April 2014 and 20th May 2014, broken down by (a) the amount of each payment made in each case whether the payment was made to an individual company or partnership; (b) the date of each such payment; and (c) their purpose?

700 Substitute Clerk: Question 434.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please state how much has Credit Finance Company Limited paid out in respect of the commuted pensions of civil servants as at 31st March 2014, 30th April 2014 and 20th May 2014?

705 Substitute Clerk: Question 435.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please provide details as at 31st March 2014, 30th April 2014 and 20th May 2014, of all sums paid by Credit Finance Company Limited to individuals and entities in order to allow them to pay off their debts to Government in respect of Government arrears broken down by (a) the amounts of each loan, indicating in each case whether these loans were provided to an individual, company or partnership; (b) the date such loans were provided; and (c) the type of Government arrears each loan was used to pay for?

715 Substitute Clerk: Question 436.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please state as at 31st March 2014, how much money the Gibraltar Savings Bank has invested in Credit Finance Company Limited?

720 Substitute Clerk: Question 437.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please state as at 31st March 2014 how much the Government has, either directly or indirectly, invested in Credit Finance Company Limited?

725 Substitute Clerk: Question 438.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Chief Minister please provide a list of all employees of Credit Finance Company Limited as at 31st March 2014?

730 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, barely 30 months into Government we have delivered the now operating Sunborn Hotel, which provides the fabulous five-star hotel facility that the Financial Services and the Gaming Industry were saying Gibraltar needed. Now that it is on site and being used, people can see it is a fantastic asset for Gibraltar. A number of conferences have already been organised on board that might not otherwise have been organised in Gibraltar. I understand that others are already planned and booked.

735 The Government's first event aboard Sunborn, the Gala Evening for the Queen's Baton Relay, was a huge success. I trust the Opposition Member for Sport enjoyed his meal as we invite them and do not exclude them from such events as they used to exclude us.

740 The US Trade Mission event, which I was invited to open, was similarly an excellent function that really was to the standard one might expect in any modern European city as was, Mr Speaker, I hasten to add, the event at St. Michael's Cave, catered for by the Elliott Hotel and brilliantly supported by the Royal Gibraltar Regiment Corps of Drums and Band. Both the Leader of the Opposition and the Deputy Leader of the Opposition were invited, but unfortunately were apparently unable to attend.

745 So, on present showing, Mr Speaker, already we were certainly right to bring Sunborn to Gibraltar. The Sunborn Hotel is nonetheless a private facility and it is the responsibility of the owners and operators to ensure it complies with any requisite regulations and laws and the Government has no involvement in this.

Mr Speaker, in answer to Question 429, I am informed that it is indeed the case that all amounts due from all debtors to Credit Finance have been repaid on their due dates.

750 In answer to Questions 430 to 433, the total amount of the loan book of Credit Finance Company Limited, as at the end of March 2014 and at the end of April 2014, stood at £49.4 million. As has already been explained in the House previously, details of individual loans issued by Credit Finance Company Limited will not be given.

755 The total amount paid out to Government pensioners by Credit Finance Company Limited, stood at £21.4 million at the end of March 2014 and £22.6 million at the end of April 2014. The figure, as at 20th May 2014, is not yet readily available in the Treasury. A month end figure will be available.

The details requested in Question 435 remain the same as provided in answer to Question 758/2013 by letter of 23rd November 2013. Mr Speaker, I note that this letter was also copied to you.

760 Mr Speaker, the total amount invested, in answer to Question 436, by the Gibraltar Savings Bank in Credit Finance Company Limited stands at £400 million.

In answer to Question 437, the equity funding to date by the Government in Credit Finance Company Limited stands at £30 million.

Mr Speaker in answer to Question 438, other than the Directors of the company, who are all Government officials, Credit Finance Company Limited has no other employees as at 31st March 2014.

765 Mr Speaker, in order to alleviate the need for the Leader of the Opposition to continue to put recurring questions, I am asking that the information on the total size of the loan book of Credit Finance, the total amount of commutations paid as at the end of each month, the total equity invested by HMGOG in Credit Finance and the amount of any arrears to Government paid by loans from Credit Finance on the terms the information that was previously provided, should be put up on the Government website and updated as appropriate as at the end of each month.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman has provided me with the loan book which is nearly £50 million... just short of £49.5 million. He has also provided me with a figure of the payments made by Credit Finance Company Limited in respect of commuted pensions, which stood in April at £26.6 million. Can he confirm that the total amount paid, and there is a distinction... I am not talking about loan book. I am talking about the total amount paid by Credit Finance Company Limited in respect of loans, commuted pensions or anything else that Credit Finance has paid out, exceeds, and does he have the figure, exceeds effectively, the £49 point whatever, plus the £26.6 million?

780 Indeed, it is actually one of the questions that I have asked about the payments made, the total payments made by Credit Finance, which the hon. Gentleman has not answered.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do not think that I have not answered.

785 The loan book, the amount of the commutations... and that is it, Mr Speaker. I think we have had this discussion before. I do not know whether he is specifically asking...that is it. I think we have given, in the exchanges that we have had in the House, what it is that Credit Finance is spending on and I think I have given him every figure.

I do not recognise the figure of £26 million that he has mentioned –

A Member: It is £22.6 –

790

Hon. Chief Minister: It is £22.6 million. That is the figure in respect of commutations. So unless I am missing something or unless I have given him information before, which I am referring to having given before and therefore is not a figure referred to here, I do not think there is anything else to speak of, Mr Speaker.

795 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can I draw the hon. Gentleman's attention... this is the danger with bunching up so many questions like this, but can I draw the hon. Gentleman's attention to Question 433? Question 433 asks, other than in respect of commuted pensions of civil servants, Government arrears and other loans, can the Chief Minister please provide details of all payments made by Credit Finance Company Limited?

800 Now, is he saying that effectively all that has been paid out by Credit Finance is its loan book, commuted pensions and payment of, or the provision of these loans to allow for the payment of Government arrears? That is it? There is nothing else?

805 Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Speaker, that is the position, but he is doubling up when he talks about the arrears paid to Government. Those form part of the loan book because they are part of the loans granted by Credit Finance, the purpose of which has been to repay Government arrears. So it is not that there is an additional amount; it is included in the £49.4 million.

810 Hon. D A Feetham: So effectively we are talking about £49.4 million, plus the £22.6 million. That is the totality of all payments made by Credit Finance as at the dates that I have asked.

Hon. Chief Minister: With the caveat, Mr Speaker, that there may be a figure for May 2014, which will be available at the end of the month.

815 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, turning to Question 438 and to the employees of Credit Finance Company Limited, it just strikes me that Credit Finance Company Limited is making some very important decisions in relation to what payments are made, what loans are made and what we have is effectively... or is this the position that effectively the people that are making the decisions as to who gets loaned any money or any payments made are just simply the Chief Secretary, the Financial Secretary and the other civil servant
820 from the Treasury, who are making the decisions between them as to how £400 million is to be effectively invested. Is that the position?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do not see what it is that surprises him of that because of course we have added the Chief Secretary and somebody else from the Treasury to the position under the Act, whether 825 it is just the Financial Secretary on his own who can decide how the investments are made with the monies in the Savings Bank.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is it the Government's intention for the entirety of that £400 million that has been invested in Credit Finance to be used as required by – and I hesitate to use the term – his 830 Government, but that is effectively what the reality of the situation is. Let us just call it Gibraltar Plc, shall we?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, we have had this discussion before and he has actually listed every single project in our manifesto and asked us whether we were going to fund it from Credit Finance and we have specifically said no in respect of each of them. So he has his answer, Mr Speaker. We are not going to be using it.

My Government, as he likes to put it, is not going to be using the monies in Credit Finance to finance any of the projects in our manifesto, if that is what he is trying to get at.

840 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, but Mr Speaker –

Hon. Chief Minister: I know he says it constantly.

845 Hon. D A Feetham: Actually, Mr Speaker, yes, he is using this particular money in order to pay for Government expenditure, because the very fact that it is being used to pay off the commuted pensions of civil servants, that is Government expenditure. The very fact that he is also using this particular money in order to allow people to pay off their debts, their arrears to the Government, releases other Government income in fact, and distorts the public finances of Gibraltar, but we are not going to have a debate in relation to this.

850 It just strikes me that £400 million is an awful lot of money that has been caused to be transferred... of savers' money from the Gibraltar Savings Bank into Credit Finance Company Limited and there must be a purpose, because if we are simply talking about loans to the Sunborn, Government arrears and commuted pensions, I do not expect that the payment of commuted pensions is going to escalate to £400 million. I am just asking what the Government's plans are in relation to this £400 million. Why such a colossal sum of money, which now exceeds over a third of the size of the economy, has been invested in this particular 855 company? What does the Government intend to do?

Hon. Chief Minister: He has got the wrong size of the economy, Mr Speaker; it is much bigger than that already.

860 Mr Speaker, let us be very clear, nothing that is being done distorts public finance in any way, because he knows what the numbers are. So if he says this – and I take the words much more elegantly used by the backbencher – this flatters the Government accounts because you are not paying the commutations from the Government accounts, you are paying them from Credit Finance. We have told you what the figure is and so you can simply add it or subtract it from the amounts that you will have seen in the Estimates Book and you can say if you had paid the amount from here, then this is the amount you would have left over. This is not a distortion. This is just asking him to do simple mathematics; but if he is not able to do so, then I suppose then there would be a distortion.

Mr Speaker, we have explained the purpose of Credit Finance before on many occasions. It is intended as a vehicle that will produce the returns required in order to be able to pay the interest that the bank offers – that is the purpose of it. We say repeatedly that we are not paying for any Government projects out of it. Of course, as I have told him that we are paying the commuted pensions out of it, and we have answered all his other questions in respect of specific projects – the housing, the cladding etc. That is the position. He knows that is the position.

The only thing that fascinates me, Mr Speaker, is that it does not stop him – having had the information and having had all the detail – trying to go out and say the opposite to try and create a spectre of fear in people that something is somehow going wrong. But he gets it wrong, Mr Speaker, even when he says this is larger than one third of our economy. Where is he, Mr Speaker? Does he still think that the economy is at £1.2 billion, because that is what it would be if this were larger than one third of our economy. He has had the estimates, Mr Speaker. I tell you what, Mr Speaker, he has had last year's estimates and we have had a debate on last year's estimates and we were above £1.2 billion, so what is he talking about? Can he not do the simple maths?

Mr Speaker, the fact is that the Credit Finance debate has been had. All his questions have been answered. In future, all the information will be available on a monthly basis on the website. He cannot pretend that there is a distortion, because all the information is available to him, but he wants to go out and say the opposite. He wants to talk about a perfect storm, although the clouds have dispersed after 8th December. He wants to talk about there being financial problems, although, Mr Speaker, he knows that today, Community Care, for example, already has not zero, which is what it had the last time that they were in Government until 8th December 2011 and when I am doing like this across the floor, Mr Speaker, I am not saying to him that he did things well, it is that they left Community Care with zero. Today, Community Care has £35 million already, and it is not as if we have a usable cash reserve of £2 million. I am not saying to him, 'Well done. Peace brother', across the floor of the House. I am just reminding him of how much we had left at the end of their last financial year in office: £2 million.

The perfect storm gathered, Mr Speaker, but on the day of the new dawn the clouds dispersed. (Laughter) Financially Gibraltar is much better off. Look at the deposits in Community Care. Look at the usable cash reserve. Look at the size of the economy. It is not an amount of which £400 million is more than a third. Look at the facts and then make the argument, that is good politics; but distorting reality, trying to scare people and pretending something else is happening, that is bad politics.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, mea culpa. I am a complete illiterate – £400 million is just 2% of the size of the economy, it is really miniscule. £400 million is absolutely miniscule in terms of the size of the economy! It is absolutely miniscule.

Mr Speaker, look, the hon. Gentleman has said that the purpose as I understood it, the purpose of this investment was to allow for a return on investment to be made so that, presumably, those debenture holders in the Gibraltar Savings Bank could be paid off and it does not cost the Government money. Because, of course, if the Government is loaning... or the Gibraltar Savings Bank, I beg your pardon, is being lent money and is paying at 5% – and really in the market place at the moment it would be very difficult to actually get in any kind of safe investment, more than 1% I would have thought, the Government is really funding the balance.

Now he is saying, or the purpose as I understood him of this investment of £400 million, is to allow for the Government to pay that back. Now, how does he intend to do it? What super venture does he have, bearing in mind that I have been asking him about inward investment and all he was able to say to me at the beginning of the year was that all those trumpets that he blew in 2011, all that he has attracted is a coin-minting company, how in his miraculous way of dealing with the public finance of Gibraltar... what is he going to be doing with this £400 million to allow for those losses to actually be paid to the Government, or so that there is no loss to the Government?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, he wants to have the debate now on Credit Finance again. We have had it many times already.

Look, Mr Speaker, let me remind him of what it was that they used to do when they used to take the money in respect of debentures and offer a return. But first let me tell him that he should not distort – to use his words – what I have said to him in reply.

I have not said that £400 million is a small amount of money. I have not said it is 2% of the size of the economy. He said, Mr Speaker, and he is responsible for his words in this House, that £400 million was more than a third of the size of the economy. That put the economy at £1.2 billion. Our economy is bigger than that. He needs to understand that, otherwise the whole of the premise of the debate is incorrect.

925 So, having established that and assuming that he accepts he was wrong in that remark – but he says things quickly off the cuff without thinking and I accept that and I forgive him – let us move on to understanding what they used to do, because then he might be able to understand what it is that he is criticising.

930 His Government, the GSD under Sir Peter Caruana, used to issue public debt. They used to issue it directly, Mr Speaker – something which has been defended by his predecessor in this House. They used to issue debentures and they used to offer 5%. When they offered 5%, Mr Speaker, what they did was, they took the money from the debenture holder and they spent it on Government projects. They then repaid, from taxpayers' money, the capital and the interest. That is what they did and they have defended that Mr Speaker, which is one of the ways you can structure Government borrowing – perfectly acceptable.

935 There is now, Mr Speaker, the money going into the Savings Bank. The Savings Bank is offering the returns. The Savings Bank, in order not to have to ask the taxpayer for that money in order to pay that return, has got to make those returns in the market. It is making those returns with the money invested in Credit Finance that Credit Finance has applied to the purposes that we have discussed. It may be that Credit Finance does more loans and it may be that Credit Finance does more of these commutations – very good business it is too, very much the returns required are being produced in respect of the amounts already being used for that purpose, full stop. It is quite simple. In that way you produce the return.

940 If you do not invest the balance of the £400 million in anything that produces anywhere near the return, you have to put your hand in your pocket to pay the balance of the investment. That is what we are trying to avoid by making the money work. It is what every institution that takes deposits does – except of course the Savings Bank does it by buying the shares in the redeemable preference shares in Credit Finance in the way that has already been explained.

945 But Mr Speaker, he does not really want to have this this debate; he wants to talk about Credit Finance in pejorative terms in order to scare people, in order to talk about the perfect storm. That perfect storm, Mr Speaker, is not something that is remotely an issue based on reality. It is something that is absolute conjecture, designed by him for political purpose to scare people.

950 Mr Speaker: May I warn the Chief Minister and the Leader of the Opposition that they are now beginning to debate. I have been liberal, but I am not prepared to allow it very much longer. They will have an opportunity next month to debate to their heart's content but not this afternoon.

955 I will allow the Leader of the Opposition a supplementary.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, nobody here on this side of the House is trying to scare anybody. But of course, we are talking about significant amounts of money and we are talking about a break in practice from the past in the way that the Government is undertaking the public finances of Gibraltar.

960 And look, when I was asking the questions a number of months ago, the investment in Credit Finance Company Limited was £344 million. Now it is £400 million by the Gibraltar Savings Bank and another £30 million by the Government. That is £430 million and I just want an idea of what the Government policy is in terms of what it intends to spend this money on, because I need – because it is my duty as Leader of the Opposition – to be in a position to assess the risk to savers' money in relation to the expenditure. I understand that the Government underwrites it all, because the Government underwrites everything within the Gibraltar Savings Bank, but we are talking about significant sums of money.

965 Whether we talk about a third more than the size of the economy or just under a third of the size of the economy, it really does not matter, Mr Speaker, because these are very, very significant sums of money indeed.

970 I would have thought that as a democrat, as a man who placed as the cornerstone of his policy at the last election, openness, transparency, accountability, that he ought to see the concerns on this side of the House in relation to this particular issue and that he ought to be able to answer a straight question with a straight answer.

975 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the answers are always straight; it is the questions that are crooked. Does he not see, Mr Speaker...? Look, of course, it is a significant amount of money, but does he not realise, when he talks about whether as a democrat I want to be transparent or not, that we have given him full transparency. He knows what the money has been spent on. Now his questions... because it used to be, 'You will not tell us what it is spent on, hell and brimstone,' he used to say. But when he is told everything that the money has been spent on, Mr Speaker, he says, 'Now you must tell me what you might be thinking of spending it on.'

So his question now is not about the £72 million or £73 million that has been invested. It is about the balance that has not been invested and he is not asking about actual investment; he is asking about future prospective investment.

985 Well, Mr Speaker, look, if I am telling him that we are going to tell him what has been loaned and what has been commuted etc, he is going to see what things Credit Finance is investing in. It is going to be entirely transparent. Whilst that remains a vehicle that the Government wishes to use for this purpose, he is going to not even have to ask questions in this House. It is going to be on the website, Mr Speaker. So what more transparency can he want?

990 They like to say Mr Speaker, that we are not transparent. Ten meetings a year, thousands of questions, every one of them answered. I offer them answers in private, they say no. Ten months later they ask the same question. I give the same answer and they say, 'What about private now?' I say, 'No problem, in private, you can have the answer on the things that matter to Gibraltar and could be a route map to our enemies.' Full and utter transparency Mr Speaker, because of course these are significant amounts of money and we are talking about what it is that they are being applied to and therefore there is no distortion. He just has to do the mathematics.

995 He says there is a break from the past, Mr Speaker, in the way that this money is being managed. Yes, there is a break from the past. We have been defending that break from the past from the minute that we started answering questions about this. We are saying this is active management of that money and he says, Mr Speaker, that he is the guardian and it is his duty to ensure that this money is being properly invested.

1000 Well look, Mr Speaker, as Leader of the Opposition he has wider duties than that. He can look at every penny that is being spent. We are answering his questions. But actually, it is the Financial Secretary that has statutory responsibility for that money. This money has not passed from his control into the hands of a third party. It has gone from one hand of the Financial Secretary into the other hand of the Financial Secretary and therefore there is absolutely no risk that the money is being dealt with by anybody other than the person who has statutory responsibility for it in the way that he thinks is the appropriate way to deal with it, and with more active management will come the better returns.

1005 Now, Mr Speaker, it will be a matter for him at the time of the election to be able to say, 'This has not produced the results that would have been produced', or to accept, as I hope he will, Mr Speaker, at the time of the next election if we are proved right, that Credit Finance was the right vehicle, that Credit Finance has produced the return, that Credit Finance has delivered no risk, but an excellent source of investment for the taxpayer.

1010 In respect of one particular thing that Credit Finance does, which are these commutations, he has to remember that Credit Finance is paying to the pensioner the commutation and is receiving a very steady income stream and that actuarially it is very clear that that is absolutely safe. All that is in the pot, Mr Speaker. All of that information is out there. It is now going to be available to anybody on the internet, month in, month out. What more does he want? He has had the information on what money has been spent on. He will see what future money is invested in and that is the end of it, Mr Speaker. There can be no more to delve for.

1015 But of course, Mr Speaker, there is one added element to all of this. It was he himself, Mr Speaker, who said that it is very likely that he is just at the end of the day the GSD's night watchman. Well, Mr Speaker, night watchmen spend their time at the graveyard, on the graveyard shift. What he needs to do, Mr Speaker, is stop digging.

1020 Mr Speaker: Does the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition have any – I will allow him one more supplementary arising from these ten questions that we are answering, because we must draw a line under this debate.

1025 Hon. D A Feetham: I have one more and the hon. backbencher has another one as well.

1030 Mr Speaker: Yes, go ahead.

1035 Hon. D A Feetham: Well Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman delights in the use of the words 'night watchman'. I have to say that I do not have the arrogance that has been displayed only this morning by the Hon. Minister Balban when he said that his Government was going to remain in office for 16 more years, or indeed the Hon. the Chief Minister when I think in the same programme or the Talk About Town programme, he said that he was going to be serving the people of Gibraltar for the next three terms. It is a matter for the people of Gibraltar, and then for my party.

1040 Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition might like to know that, on one occasion in a test match at Lords between England and New Zealand, the nightwatchman scored 99 not out! (Laughter)

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, and this particular nightwatchman intends to deliver one or two knockout punches and one or two sixes from now until the next general election.

1045 But Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman tries to characterise this in a particular way, minimise the importance of this. Look, he has already invested a substantial... the company has invested a substantial amount of money. We calculate about £70 million loan book and commuted pensions, some of which has gone to housing estates, some of which has gone to allow people to pay for the Government arrears, including arrears of tax. That is not possible for the Opposition to determine what kind of risk to assess, get a flavour of the risk that this involves, because of course, we do not know the identity of who is in receipt of this particular money. That is the substance of our criticism as well as, of course, other criticism about the distortion of public finances.

1050 It just strikes me that the Government continues to invest substantial amounts of money in this particular company. As I said, it has gone up by nearly... Well, it has gone up from £334 million to £430 million, by about £100 million. Does the Government envisage that by the time of the next election the entirety of that £400 million is actually going to be used in whatever venture the Government chooses that this particular company invest in?

1060 Hon. Chief Minister: Let me start at the beginning, Mr Speaker, of that intervention. Mr Balban this morning did not say that we were going to stay in Government for 16 years. He said, Mr Speaker, that if we were to do something about that road, we would certainly do it in our first 16 years of Government because they seem to be very keen to ask questions and push us to do things which they appear to have had absolutely no interest in during the 16 years that they were in Government.

1065 I did not say Mr Speaker, and he knows it is not in my character however much he tries to mischaracterise me, that I would be Chief Minister for 10 years. What I said was that even if I had the opportunity of staying for longer than 10 years, because the people of Gibraltar might be prepared to tolerate me, I would not stay for more than 10 years because I have said repeatedly, Mr Speaker, that I will not be Chief Minister of Gibraltar when my son reaches the age when he becomes a student at Bayside. That is a personal choice of mine, whether or not my party wants me to stay or whether or not the people of Gibraltar want me to stay.

1070 I would have thought, Mr Speaker, that he would say, 'You are closer to my idea of term limits which I constantly put' – which is him – that he says it should be a maximum of eight years. Well, I am saying, Mr Speaker, I would do a maximum of three. That does not mean I think I am going to win three or I am taking anything for granted. Or is it, Mr Speaker, that every time he has talked about doing two, he has assumed that at one stage he is definitely going to win and do two and get the chance. So this bears absolutely no relation to reality other than just his attempts to twist everything to try and win an easy 'spin-able' political point – nonsense, the lot of it.

1075 But it comes to something, Mr Speaker, when you try and throw him a lifeline, he shows who he really is, because when you referred to the nightwatchman that succeeded, he says that he intends to land quite a few punches. Well, Mr Speaker, I remind him that when Mr Bossano used a punching analogy, he thought that this was absolutely terrible, that it showed a preponderance for violence, that he was a man of words, not a man of physical violence. Well, I commend to him, Mr Speaker, that he re-read his speech and not use that sort of language anymore because I certainly am not a man of violence. I am a man of words and I would not be looking to spend the next three or four years having a punch-up. I would much rather we just have civilised debates on issues.

1080 Now, Mr Speaker, avoiding a debate, but trying to answer the question: it is about £72.2 million that we have given the information today has been invested in a particular way. Mr Speaker, we have said on a number of occasions, and he likes to forget because it does not work for the argument he is trying to spin, that the amounts on the loan book are more than fully secured and those that had previously had arrears to Government did not, because of the fact that there was a debt, have in any way the Government debt secured, whilst through Credit Finance, the Government has – or the Credit Finance Company – has lent the amount against security. So there is now security in respect of those loans where there was not security in respect of those arrears.

1090 We have had this debate. He has had the information. He likes to pretend he did not so that he can continue to ask the same questions over and over again. [Technical difficulties]

1095 Well, it is not a power cut, Mr Speaker, but it is a gremlin in the system somehow that seems to have gone wrong. Oh, it is a power cut!

I am told, Mr Speaker, we should stop whilst they... Shall we recess for 10 minutes?

Mr Speaker: We will recess until we get power.

The House recessed at 4.37 p.m. and resumed its sitting at 5.40 p.m.

Substitute Clerk: Mr Speaker.

1100 Mr Speaker: The Hon. Sir Peter Caruana I think wanted to ask a supplementary before the power cut. Chief Minister?

1105 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I had not finished my answer when the power was interrupted, but given that I think I had given the substance of what I was going to say to the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition and obviously my thread has gone, I think I will leave it there.

Obviously the interruption of the power reminds every one of the urgent need for the grid and the new power station to be developed as soon as possible in the interests of our community, which is exactly what we are working on.

1110 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Yes, Mr Speaker, as I understand the hon. Member's position, it is that of the £70-odd million that have been invested, the bit that has been invested in the... which we debated last time I took part in a question and answer session on this subject that has been invested in an attempt to boost the yield so to speak of the fund in the Government pensions commutations.

1115 Is there anything the hon. Member can tell us by way of just information about how that investment is calibrated in terms of releasing profit? Given that in effect what you are doing is buying the pension rights which die with the pensioner and therefore it is a straightforward sort of life insurance annuity company type investment, is the release of profit which you can then use for the general yield of the investment, is that done on the basis of, per pensioner, has this particular pensioner died early thereby liberating profit or died late thereby creating profit rather, as opposed to costing profit, or is it done on an actuarial basis?

1120 If on the latter, presumably you would need statistics before it could be particularly reliable. You would need a longer tail to use insurance company jargon, before you could rely on it.

How do you calculate profit is the question, really?

1125 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I believe that the way we are calculating the level of profitability is in fact the more conservative way, which is since the yield exceeds the cost... that is to say, the return on the money is 8% because the commutation is a lump sum which is 12 times the pension. So if you do it in the reverse, the return happens to be 8% per annum on the amount that will be given to the pensioner. Not the cost, the income, the revenue of the pension is 8% of the lump sum –

1130

Hon. P R Caruana: Whilst he lives.

1135 Hon. J J Bossano: Whilst he lives, so we are paying out 12½ times the pension and therefore if you pay out x thousands of pounds – in some cases we are talking about a couple of hundred thousand quid or more – then that in effect starts yielding 8% per annum from the first monthly pension that is received.

Since that is in excess of the cost of the money, what we are doing is that in effect in terms of accounting for the income stream, it is being used as if it was similar to a mortgage which is a repayment mortgage where you are reducing the capital by the surplus of the interest which is the profit.

In terms –

Hon. P R Caruana: You might end with a capital loss –

1145 Hon. J J Bossano: You might end with a capital loss if a lot of our civil servants die within eight or nine years of retiring. Given that they are all retiring at 55, it would be a major change in the demographic statistics with which we are working. The reality of it is that life expectancy is around 78 years in Gibraltar, the average male life expectancy. I know what a hard life civil servants have, which may reduce our life expectancy, but there is no evidence of that happening. (Laughter) Therefore, if anything, they are likely to live more. Some politicians expect to live well over 90 years, so on that basis the commutation is likely to be a very profitable business.

1150

The reality of it is that we are taking a conservative view, rather than saying well look, we will take all the income up front and by reducing the amount of capital that we have outlaid, rather than taking the profits upfront, we are likely to have a situation in a not very long space of time, where the amounts that are coming in will be, to a very large extent, financing what we put out once it gets to a certain critical mass. The income that comes in will mean that we have reached, for example, the end of the repayment of the original lump sum and we will still be getting an income which as well as being 8% to start off with, is actually programmed to increase by a minimum of 2% per annum, because the hon. Member will remember that he introduced into the Civil Service Final Salary Scheme, a minimum increase which was either inflation or 2%.

1160 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: And of those pension payments that you are collecting, are you releasing any part of it? Did I hear him say that he was or he was not releasing a part of it or he was keeping the whole of the annual pension payments for the eight years and then only kept the profit if the pensioner lived more than eight years, or in year one, on the basis of some actuarial assumption that people will live more than eight years – of course some might not but many more will than will not – are you releasing part of each payment, even from the very first payment? Are you releasing any actuarially computed part of each premium payment, 1165 if you could call it that, which would have been the monthly payment of pension collected by the pensioner had he not commuted with you, is any of that being released as profit, which is how an insurance company or how life insurance annuity company would do it?

1170 Hon. J J Bossano: This is why I started off by saying I believe we are adopting a more conservative approach, so rather than taking the profits as we go along, on the basis that every year we will have a profit, we are taking enough of the income to cover the cost of the capital and the balance we are using to reduce the amount of the loan, as it were. So that in fact the...

1175 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: On the capital in terms of what the commuted... what you are paying to savers, not in terms of... That is how you get the return –

Hon. J J Bossano: That is right, yes.

1180 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: – that we spoke of before. That is how you are matching the yield gap, closing the yield gap that you need to pay the [inaudible].

1185 Hon. J J Bossano: If I were to give a simple example, if the cost of the money is 5% and the income is 8%, then effectively the 3% would go to reduce the size of the money that theoretically we have got at risk. So in effect, it means that the amount we have paid up is... I mean in terms of the amount of cash in the company does not make any difference, but we are treating some of it as repayment of capital and some of it as income.

1190 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: So in fact the Government, for the company as a whole, not to be in a loss-making situation, pensioners need to live more than eight years because if you are only using 3% a year, and of the 8% the other 5% is going to meet the cost of capital, the amount by which you are reducing the 5% is going to pay the cost of capital in terms of the annual interest cost of capital, only 3% of the 8% are going to reduce the capital liability, so they would have to live more than eight years for the whole of the capital to be repaid, so to speak, at the rate of 3% per annum.

1195 Hon. J J Bossano: Well yes, and then the effect of that is that after year one, the return goes up every year because you have got two elements that are increasing the yield. You are reducing the size of the payment that you made, but the return that you are getting is the same as if the original amount was there and the original amount is index linked.

1200 It is true that it will take more than eight years for the whole of the capital, but in fact the return in the final year is that you might be getting £50,000 on a theoretical return of an investment which is only £1.

1205 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Yes, in terms of return on capital, yes, but in terms of capital at risk of not being... In terms of return on capital, yes, every year that passes, your return on the remaining capital outstanding is hugely increased, but in terms of the amount of capital in jeopardy, if I could just call it that, it may not be covered. People may die soon and you may be left, having commuted a civil servants pension – let us say somebody unfortunately dies young – you will have a capital loss that might run into £100,000 if he dies very young. That hopefully will be covered by the many other civil servants who do not die before the capital has been repaid.

1210 So in terms of the recoverability of the capital, it is not really done on an individual by individual basis, some individuals will be loss making, obviously – the ones who die. Other individuals will be hugely profitable if they live to a ripe old age of 100 and the Government is having to carry on paying the premiums, the monthly sums, those will be hugely profitable and those will make up for the capital loss in the cases of people that you have paid out a commutation to and then die the next day. In which case, all of that capital will have been lost.

1220 Hon. J J Bossano: Yes, it is in fact... You could argue that you are going to lose money on 5% and make a profit on 95% but it is not being done on an individual basis. The whole of the money that is paid out in one year is then treated in that way and even if there are some unfortunate people who die before, the amount that we lose on the basis of the statistics that we have got of the rate at which people die after they retire, we are fairly confident from the figures the Treasury has produced that the whole thing will be quite a profitable thing and since people want it, and we are delivering them, it is their choice. I mean people can choose to carry on with their pensions because it is their –

1225 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Actually it suits the Government that people should retire earlier rather than later.

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, it suits the Government that if they choose to retire earlier, they take the option. That is what suits the Government!

1230 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: You are more likely to recover your investment, the earlier you retire.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, there is just one question arising in relation to the Credit Finance Company Limited which I would like to pose. It is simply a factual point in respect of which I would be grateful if the Chief Minister could assist.

1235 There is a scheduled answer which was provided to my Hon. and Learned Friend, Mr Figueras to Question 419, which lists the Government-owned companies which have paid out in legal fees to legal firms. There are two instances where Credit Finance Company Limited features. One is in September of last year to a firm called Hammarström Puhakka Partners, Attorneys Limited for a sum of about £14,000 and the other one is in March of this year to Hassans for about £75,000.

1240 Given that the expenditure as explained by the Chief Minister before, or rather that Credit Finance Limited has a loan book of about £44.5 million and I think he also mentioned the other expenditure is in relation to commuted pensions of about £22-odd million, can he explain how this fits in? Is this only in relation to the loan facilities which have been provided? Is that the legal work in relation to that?

1245 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do not like to speculate but I will assume for the purposes of a debate that it is the case, and it is very likely that as part of such loan facilities the costs of Credit Finance Company Limited will actually have been amortised and borne by the borrowers. (Interjection) Yes, but it does not mean that Credit Finance would not pay it. They would have been assumed by the borrowers, but it would be Credit Finance instructing and making the payment, even though then it recovers it from loans. That would be the usual way in which it is done, even in a commercial transaction.

1250 Hon. D J Bossino: Perhaps if we can find a way of securing confirmation of that information, because I take it that the Chief Minister is unsure of the answer he has given, by writing to him.

1255 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I would seek to confirm that, but again, without indicating in respect of what particular facility it might be, I would simply write to the hon. Gentleman if he wishes and say yes, I can confirm that this relates to work done in respect of the loan facilities granted by Credit Finance Company Limited.

1260 I am quite happy to confirm that to him in writing if somebody who is listening is making a note and ensuring that my Office prepares a response.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, and that obviously it forms part of the £49 point something million – £49.4 million I think it was – loan book for Credit Finance.

1265 And just, Mr Speaker, for the sake of the record, the economy was forecast by the hon. Gentleman to grow in his Budget speech last year to £1.224... so if I said over a third, it is just about a third of the size of the economy, £400 million. Indeed if one takes £400 plus, the £430 million is probably a third of the size of the economy or slightly over.

Hon. Chief Minister: I am grateful that he accepts that he was wrong about that, Mr Speaker.

1270 Of course, Mr Speaker, it is Hassans that were paid the fees. So given that it appears he acts for Credit Finance Company Limited, I am sure that he thinks that it is not such a problem company after all.

1275 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, as a partner of Hassans, the hon. Gentleman probably knows as much as I do. I stay away from partnership issues of Hassans, because of course every single time, he makes exactly the same point, and therefore I choose to stay out of it. But he is a partner of Hassans, so therefore he has as much knowledge as I do.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, whether he likes it or not he is a partner of Hassans and whether he stays away from things or not, I am on a sabbatical. He is not: he is actively a partner of Hassans. Credit Finance can consider him their lawyer and take very badly the fact that he is suggesting it is in some way acting and not in the interests of the Gibraltar taxpayer, and may want to take that up with his partners.

1280

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I would like, if it is alright by the Chair, to ask a supplementary in relation to the information, I think it was also in relation to Question 419 where I was provided with information about the legal drafting services, where we had the dispute as to whether it had been published or not.

1285

Yes, Mr Speaker, the information that the Hon. the Chief Minister provided me – well, did not provide me, sorry, as the case may be – that I accessed on the internet, there is a discrepancy between that information and the information as was published at the time when the question was asked, Mr Speaker.

The one particular discrepancy I am referring to is that in respect of one of the legal drafting service providers, namely Mr Vinet, who had, until the point when the question had been asked, been included on the list of legal drafting services providers, is now, in the information that is posted on line, in the general legal services table.

Could the Chief Minister perhaps provide an explanation as to why that is the case?

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, the fact is that I – (Interjection) no, hang on! (Interjection) Okay.

1295

Hon. D A Feetham: Just to clarify that, when the information... you may recall that when I asked the question, the Hon. Chief Minister said, 'We are going to be posting this information today.' When it was posted there was a list of people, including Mr Vinet, as legal drafters. In fact the work that each drafter had done for the money had not been published, which was what I asked.

1300

It appears now that in recent weeks, he has been taken out and placed somewhere else, and that is really what we are querying – the reason for that.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do not know the answer to that. I do not actually contract these services myself. I am quite happy to look at it. It may be that he has been put in a drafting table when actually it is a services table and whenever they have done the refiling of the information, they have changed it round. I am quite happy to go back and check and if the hon. Gentleman writes to me, I will send him the answer.

1305

Mr Speaker: Now we revert to the Hon. Mr Damon Bossino who had not finished with questions to the Hon. the Minister for Employment.

1310

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, before everybody falls asleep, Mr Speaker!

Actually just to point out, I was quite interested when I was listening to the Hon. the Minister for Employment's answer, when he was answering the hon. Member Mr Caruana, when he said in terms of life expectancy, just to point out that Santiago Carrillo and Dom Mintoff both on the left of the political spectrum lived way into their 90s. So the hon. Member really can draw comfort from that!

1315

Mr Speaker, if I could go back to Question 402, one of the companies which featured in that question is SECL, which relates to those who are in supportive employment. Can he explain what criteria there are, if any, to allow individuals basically to be employed by this company? What is it that his Department considers in terms of disabilities and what are the requirements in order to access employment in this particular company?

1320

As I understand and recall from his previous answers, this is not one where you enter into agreements with the private sector and they are permanently employed with this company for obvious reasons.

I would just like to know whether there are any criteria in terms of admission, in effect.

1325

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, the number that we originally inherited was 46 and it has grown since, basically by virtue of the people that we have registered as looking for employment and their ability to cope with a normal job – although in fact some of the people that were there originally have actually been able to get jobs in the market. They have applied for jobs, we have helped them and they have actually left, so in fact the total, you will see that in some months it is actually lower and that is because some people have actually left the company and gone into employment with a normal salary and a normal job and that kind of thing.

1330

The bulk of those who are there are people we are trying to help effectively to finish up with a normal job but it may not be possible. Therefore it is an evaluation that is done based on the experience we have of trying to get them work.

1335

In some cases, it is obvious from the moment they leave school that they are not going to be able to cope with the normal problems of the job market and generally it is the same criteria that were used in terms of the original 46, there are a certain kind of problems related to some kind of conditions, which were generally the ones that led to the 46 individuals in the beginning – people who fall into that kind of category automatically when they leave school would have gone into the old system and now go into this one, using the same criteria that was being used before.

1340 But, because we have widened the net as it were, the increase is because it was not just a kind of traditional conditions that were thought to make it very difficult to get work that are in there. In some cases, it is because people have been in normal jobs and it has been impossible for them to carry on working and in some instances it may be that they are close to the age when they become entitled to some income from the social security or from community care or something like that and we are bridging the gap by putting them here for 1345 two or three years and giving them an income and giving them some kind of a job to do in return for that income, which in those cases is usually somewhere in the public sector.

About two thirds of them are placed in the private sector and those in the private sector often make the transition to a normal job. But the answer is that the criteria that were being used for the original 46 are still used for people with similar conditions and in other cases, it is a question of people having been identified as 1350 being difficult to place through the time that they have been registered seeking employment or the problems they have had in keeping a job when they get one.

Hon. D J Bossino: That is precisely the point I wanted to explore further in terms of the ‘widening of the net’ as he puts it. How has the net been widened? Can he be more specific in relation to that?

Hon. J J Bossano: Well I have just explained it, Mr Speaker. The net has been widened because there was a list of conditions that the 46 fell in and if anybody is covered by those, then we take it for granted that they would have gone into the old system and we put them in the new one.

In addition to that, some people who are in their 50s and who for a variety of reasons may find it impossible to get work and are caught in-between – maybe they have had an illness, they have had an operation, they are not able to hold a job – we then help them by giving them an opportunity to be in this company, to be doing something and to have an income, until they get to the age of 60 and they get an income.

Other people are people that, having come out of school and having been in the labour market in competition with others, have found it very difficult to get a placement or to get... We try first through ETCL and the normal placement and a business partnership agreement and a job at the end, so we try with everybody in that scenario. It is only when we find that it is very difficult and we think that we may not be successful, that we then look at the possibility of putting them in the Supported Employment Company. But even when they go in there, what I am saying to the hon. Member is that it is not the end of the road, we still try to get them back into the normal job market and we have succeeded in two or three cases this year so far, for example. So we have actually had two or three people leaving the system of SEC and entering back. So whereas at the beginning in 2012 when we started it, SEC was, as it were, a closed shop in the sense that the categories that were there were the ones that were there. Since then we have used it to be more of a half-way house between ETCL and unemployment.
1365
1370

Mr Speaker: Next question.
1375

Hon. D J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I think there is one further supplementary which arises from a question which has been answered by the Hon. Minister and that is Question 405 and for his assistance, it relates to the GRAD trainees and as to where they are currently placed.

I took a very quick note of what he said. I think he talked about public administration and other services. There are one or two questions I wish to ask. The first one is are all these trainees exclusively in the public sector or are some of them also in the private sector?

Hon. J J Bossano: Those in other services are in the private sector and those in the private sector are all with business partnership agreements and a job guarantee at the end.
1385

Hon. D J Bossino: And if he could explain how that fits in with the manifesto commitment in relation to graduates’ employment because I think the idea, certainly how it started off in 2011, was that this would be offered to returning graduates to Gibraltar and that they would be specifically carrying out work – I think the wording used is ‘in the Department’, I assume it is in the hon. Member’s Department – to assist in research activities in connection with inward investments. There was a very specific commitment. Presumably the Minister has decided to move away from that and use and widen the policy, if you like. Can he accept that the premise of my question is right, that there has been a moving away from the commitment as set out in the manifesto?
1390

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, not quite, Mr Speaker, because we have not moved away because what was done in the manifesto is what we intended to do when we were told by the previous Administration that the 1400 numbers of graduates were about six. That is what we were told in the budget before the election and the unit that is doing the research consists of six. But we have not got six; we have got 60 – ten times the number. We have not got the amount of work in research for investment opportunities and training and the kind of research that has been done in the skills audit and that kind of thing, to keep 60 people involved in doing that.

1405 Moreover, some of the people that were taken in during the course of the last 12 months were not people who were returning graduates, but people who had become unemployed having already been in the labour market. Therefore, those are, in effect, in GRAD on the same terms that they would be if they were in ETCL.

1410 If they are in a private placement, they are in a private placement with a BPA at the end and a job guaranteed. If they are not in a private placement, then they are effectively in different Government Departments where they are really doing something for the Government on the basis that they are moved around and they acquire skills which improve their prospects of employment, when they apply for jobs either in the public or the private sector. But they have to apply in competition with everybody else; they do not get a greater opportunity than if they were not in there.

1415 In some specific instances, there are some graduates, particularly in... I think we have got three or four that are civil engineers, where we are giving them the opportunity to work in civil engineering, because in fact, in looking at the succession planning in the Government, the reality is that the returning graduates would have been in the impossible situation that when vacancies come up, they would not have been able to apply because the requirement would have been that they would have had post-graduate experience of working in a civil engineering capacity which does not exist outside the Government. So you had a situation where if we did not give them the opportunity of getting experience, when the jobs are advertised, we would have finished up with unemployed civil engineers in Gibraltar and having to import experienced civil engineers from outside.

1420 So that is one kind of category that was not envisaged at the beginning, but in the light of experience and the advice from the Department that they have in problems of recruitment that they cannot put somebody straight out of university into the job and expect him to do it, simply because he has got all the necessary qualifications, if he has not been working previously somewhere. So we have got a number of grads who do not have a guaranteed job in the Government, but what they are getting is the experience that will qualify them to apply for the job when the job comes out.

1425 That is true also of some cases where what we have done is provide people with the opportunity of doing some work in certain Departments where their registration in the United Kingdom in the profession would be lost if they did not get continued experience to prove that they are still using their knowledge, for example in the laboratory in the Health Authority and that kind of thing.

1430 So really, the extension of the scheme beyond the original programme for six or seven graduates doing research has been driven by a number of different factors. One of them has been giving specific professionals an opportunity to gain experience so that they are able to compete for jobs when the jobs come out, giving people the opportunity to retain their registration in the United Kingdom, or else simply helping people who have been unemployed so that they do not have a period of unemployment when we have had difficulty in finding them a placement. In some respects, it is more difficult to find work for graduates than for non-graduates.

1440 Hon. D J Bossino: So, Mr Speaker, just to be absolutely clear, the hon. Member's position is that this commitment was made on the basis of answers that he was given in the previous House by his predecessor, to the effect that the number of returning graduates was six in number. So is my understanding correct or is it not?

1445 Hon. J J Bossano: Well Mr Speaker, I think my command of the English language is sufficient to make myself understood!

1450 I have said before and I have said today, that the commitment to set up a unit of graduates to carry out research for the Employment Service was on the basis that the information available to us when we designed the concept was that on average, at any one time, the number of people who were unemployed who were returning graduates was of the order of six or seven people.

1455 Therefore we thought well, six or seven people can come in, do the research for the Government, rather than come in, be unemployed, not find work and then go back to the UK because all they did was come here in the summer and if they could not find work at the time, of course it might have been that there were periods in the past when the situation in the United Kingdom was that people that came out of university found work easier than has been the case recently. Maybe in the past the numbers were not as great as they have been in the last couple of years.

Because of course it is true that in many instances we used to have a lot of the graduates coming back and just working the summer here, and if by September or October when the summer season finished they could not find work here, they would go and most of them would not come back.

1460 The idea was that if we had six or seven people who were doing that and then disappearing, it was better to give them an opportunity to do something here which would retain them in Gibraltar, we would use them to do research for the Government and by being here, they would be able to be in a position to apply for the jobs that come up which they might not do if they left Gibraltar. Because we want, having invested, as we do, £12 million every year in sending people to university, then if we can provide them with work here, it is better that our people should be here in the view of the Government than that we should have to import graduates from elsewhere while we are losing ours to other places.

1465 So that is the context of how the scheme started and the context in which it has grown as it has grown. The present size is composed therefore of three elements. There is the Research Department that was there originally; there are the people who are in a discipline where we need to help them in order to be able to equip them to be able to apply for jobs, because the degree with no experience post-graduate is not much use; and the third category are people that we are giving an opportunity to get experience and do work for the Government in different Departments, but with the intention that they should find work in the private sector and they know that. They know that what they are doing is being helped to obtain experience but not being offered a job in the Government.

ENTERPRISE, TRAINING, EMPLOYMENT AND HEALTH & SAFETY

Q406/2014 Skills audit – Progress update

1475 Substitute Clerk: Question 406, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment provide the House with an update as to progress in relation to the skills audit which he has said the Government is conducting?

1480 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, this is an ongoing exercise. There have been regular updates of the analysis for the construction industry – which I told the House about when this question was previously asked – monitoring its composition in terms of skills and as regards age and nationality of the workforce.

In addition, an audit has been conducted in the care services and related industry, electricians and related trades, tourism and leisure, gaming, child minders, hairdressing and beauty, and the accounting sector.

Currently the Research Unit is doing an audit for the wholesale and retail sector.

1490 Mr Speaker: Does the Hon. Mr Bossino have any supplementary on this, arising? Please do.

1495 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I think the hon. Member mentioned a unit that is looking into this. Is that correct? Can I ask him what resource has actually been dedicated to this in terms of, the resources in his Department in terms of employees who form part of this unit? How many people are looking into it and if it is possible, and I understand it may not be, to break it down in terms of how much expenditure is being dedicated to this?

1500 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, the only expenditure is the wages and the cost of the electricity for the computers. The team is a team of six graduates that are in the Research Unit so they are the ones who are doing it. This is one of the jobs that they are doing. It is not the only thing they do but this is one of them. I mean for example in terms of the construction industry, which is the one we concentrated on from the beginning, because it was evident from the employment surveys that the participation of Gibraltar and other residents was very low, but we did not know before the exercise was done. We had an average figure but we did not know in different trades what was the share held by residents.

1505 Well, for example the first thing we found out – which was the reason why we decided as a matter of policy to start last September with training for tilers, bricklayers and plasterers – is that in that area Gibraltarians were 7% of the workforce. So that for every 100 employees in the construction industry in the work trades, seven were Gibraltarians and 93 were outsiders. So clearly there was an area where there was a skills deficit which was very visible.

1510 In the case of plumbers, for example, the situation was that 55% of the plumbers were Gibraltarians and 45% were outsiders. So given that the entire concept of everything that we are doing with the companies and with the training is that we provide people with skills for which there is an identified demand, we identified the demand first and the demand is identified by the need to import labour to meet the demand. So where we 1515 have got a situation where we are having to import 93% of the workforce, it is logical to say well if we had more people here, we would need to import less than 93% and that is part of the rebalancing exercise that will be taking place and it started in the construction industry.

I can tell the hon. Member that the latest report that I have had from the unit is that for example in the last 12 months – that is, in the last financial year – the Gibraltarian workforce in the construction industry has gone up by 18% and the non-resident workforce has gone up by 17%. We have still got a very long way to 1520 go because of course there are many more of the non-residents than residents, but we are beginning to try and recover a greater involvement in that area.

We are therefore looking at other areas initially on the basis of deciding where we need to be encouraging people and providing training. So if we find – as I have told the hon. Member – in the other areas that we are looking at, the purpose of the exercise is to establish which areas in terms of skills and which areas in terms 1525 of industry are very highly dependent on Frontier Workers and which are less. Therefore in those where there is a very high dependence is where we want to do something to change that so that our dependence is less.

In addition, at the same time we are looking at the age profile, particularly the age profile of the resident workers because the reality is that the imported workers tend to be on the whole younger. But the age profile of the resident workers means that as well as being in some areas a small percentage, they tend to be a small 1530 percentage and in the higher age ranges. So it means that if we do nothing, the percentage will go from being small to being zero, because there are people who are closer to retiring age, people in their 40s or their 50s rather than in their 20s. So you know that is essentially the work that is being done in terms of the nature of the audit and the use to which the audit results are being put.

Q411/2014

Public Service personnel – Net increase in numbers

1535 Mr Speaker: Can we deal with the questions in the Order Paper down to the Leader of the Opposition, to enable him to attend a pending engagement? Can we call Question 411?

Substitute Clerk: Question 411, the Hon. D A Feetham.

1540 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am very grateful.

The Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and myself are attending a black tie function by the Funds Association at half past seven. That is the reason why.

1545 Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please provide the total net increase in the number of personnel in the public service from 1st April 2013 to 31st March 2014, by reference to the Civil Service, Gibraltar Development Corporation, Government-owned companies and Public Authorities?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

1550 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr
Speaker, the net increase in the financial year 2013-14 in the number of personnel on the public service payroll in each of the four areas is as follows: Civil Service, 47; GDC, 12; Government Companies, 40; Public Authorities, 48.

1555 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q412-414/2014
Public debt and debentures –
Figures for 2014

Substitute Clerk: Question 412, the Hon. D A Feetham.

1560 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please give a breakdown by bank and amount, of that part of the aggregate public debt which comprises bank debt, as at 28th February 2014, 31st March 2014, 30th April 2014?

1565 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I will answer that question together with Questions 413 and 414.

1570 Substitute Clerk: Question 413.

1575 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please provide this House with a breakdown by debenture issue of that part of the aggregate public debt which comprises Government debentures as at 28th February 2014, 31st March 2014 and 30th April 2014?

Substitute Clerk: Question 414.

1580 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please provide details of the value of Gibraltar Savings Bank debentures or other debt security as at 31st March 2014?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

1585 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the aggregate public debt consisting of bank debt was Barclays Bank plc £150 million and NatWest Offshore Limited £50 million for each of the three months.

The part of the debt in Government debentures by maturity dates were as follows: in February, 2017 debentures, £67,813,800; one month's notice, £87,859,400.

1590 In March, the figure for debentures is the same: £67,813,800; and the one month's notice is slightly down, £87,148,200.

And in April the same figure for debentures and the one month's notice is £86,940,100.

1595 The value of the Gibraltar Savings Bank debentures and other debt security by maturity dates as at 31st March was: one month, £24,123,900; 2015 Debentures, £44,161,200; 2016 Debentures, £23,068,600; 2017 Debentures, £87,840,000; 2018 Debentures, £165,054,000; other Debentures, £25,533,300; Bonds, £73,880,639; Deposit Accounts, £404,382,242.

The aggregate Public Debt consisting of Bank Debt was; Barclays Bank plc £150 Million, and NatWest Offshore Limited £50 Million, for the three months.

Government Debentures by maturity dates were as follows:

As at 28 February 2014:

2017 Debentures	£67,813,800
One month's notice	£87,859,400

As at 31 March 2014:

2017 Debentures	£67,813,800
One month's notice	£87,148,200

As at 30 April 2014:

2017 Debentures	£67,813,800
One month's notice	£86,940,100

The value of the Gibraltar Savings Bank Debentures and other debt security by maturity dates, as at 31 March 2014, was:

One month	£24,123,900
2015 Debentures	£44,161,200
2016 Debentures	£23,068,600
2017 Debentures	£87,840,000
2018 Debentures	£165,054,000
2019 Debentures	£25,533,300
Other Debentures	£7,913,973
Bonds	£73,880,639
Deposit Account	£404,382,242

Mr Speaker: I think the hon. Member may have left out 2019 Debentures, I did not hear him.

1600 Hon. J J Bossano: 2019 Debentures is £7,913,973.

Mr Speaker: No, if he will check again, I think it is £25,533,300.

1605 Hon. J J Bossano: I will read the whole thing again just to be on the safe side, Mr Speaker. (Interjection and laughter) Why not?

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Too much information.

1610 Hon. J J Bossano: Well Mr Speaker, if they are so keen for these figures, I thought they would enjoy hearing it. (Interjections)
2019 is £25,533,300. Then the Other Debentures is £7,913,973. The Bonds £73,880,639. £404,382,242 is the Deposit Accounts.

Q406/2014
Skills audit –
Question continued

1615 Mr Speaker: We now come back to the Hon. Mr Damon Bossino.

Substitute Clerk: Question 407. (Interjections)

1620 Mr Speaker: Do you have another supplementary? I am becoming very frustrated just now, because neither the questions nor the answers are short or sharp or to the point. This is going on and on and on and that is not the purpose of Question Time.

1625 Hon. D J Bossino: Okay, Mr Speaker, in relation to the skills audit, the hon. Member has said in the past that the census would have an influence in the production of the skills audit. Can he give any information in relation to the census? Is that complete?

Mr Speaker: No, no he cannot.

1630 Hon. D J Bossino: No?

Mr Speaker: He cannot.

1635 Hon. D J Bossino: I thought he was just about to Mr Speaker.

1640 Mr Speaker: He cannot! I do not see where the census arises from any of these questions. I am sorry. None of the questions on the Order Paper have anything to do with the census and we are not going to inject new material that could keep us here till tomorrow. I am not having that, I am sorry. I am very sorry for hon. Members, but if they want to ask questions on the census, you put the census down on the Order Paper.

1645 Hon. D J Bossino: But Mr Speaker, with respect, the answers that the hon. Member – I can refer to Hansard – has given in the past directly relates the skills audit to the census which was anticipated to be conducted by the time that he last answered these questions in October 2013, and he thought – because I think the questionnaires which were being sent out as part of the census project would elicit information which would be very useful to the Minister in finalising and producing the skills audit.

So I think there is a very clear link in the answer that the Hon. the Minister has given in the past and I just wanted to know given – (Interjection) No, Mr Speaker, just so that there is a correlation with the previous answers which the Hon. the Minister has given in relation to this specific issue in the past.

1650 Mr Speaker: Okay.

1655 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the census should have taken place in 2011. For reasons which are not very clear, it never happened. When they eventually got round to doing it, it was a lengthier exercise than anticipated and it has still not been put together, so the answer is that we still have no information on the result of the census.

What I did say initially was that there is a difference between the information I am giving him because the information that I am giving him includes Frontier Workers and the census will only include the resident workers, but – 1660 Hon. D J Bossino: You have explained that before.

1665 Hon. J J Bossano: Yes, I have explained that before. But it would give us another source of raw data to test against the resident workforce composition, which would enable us to, if you like, improve the accuracy of the information that we have got. But it is not available yet. I do not know how long it will take. Clearly the sooner we get it, the happier we will be.

Hon. D J Bossino: But the Skills Audit will not be delayed as a result of the delay in relation to the census? The skills audit continues progressing and moving forward? Just so that I have that clear in my mind.

1670 Hon. J J Bossano: The audit is being done on the assumption that the data we have got is reasonably accurate. Once we get the census, we will be able to test whether it is or it is not.

Q407/2014
Registered unemployed –

Substitute Clerk: Question 407, the Hon. D J Bossino.

1675 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment state what the figure for registered unemployed is for the last quarter?

1680 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Yes, Mr Speaker. The average number of Gibraltarians registered unemployed in the first quarter of 2014 was 386. (Banging on desk)

Q408-409/2014–
Vacancies created by Sunborn Hotel –
Places taken up by Gibraltarians, registered unemployed and FJS trainees

1685 Substitute Clerk: Question 408, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment state how many vacancies have been opened by the Sunborn Hotel and how many of these have been taken up by Gibraltarians and how many are from the 1690 registered unemployed, stating the areas of unemployed activity that they are... involved in? 'Unemployed activity' – I am not sure why that...

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

1695 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): I will answer the question together with Question 409, Mr Speaker.

Substitute Clerk: Question 409, the Hon. D J Bossino.

1700 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment state whether any FJS trainees have been placed with the Sunborn Hotel since it started operations?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety.

1705 Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker as at the end of April 2014, the number of jobs filled by Gibraltarians in the Sunborn Hotel was 46. Of these, 25 had been registered unemployed.

1710 The areas of employment and the vacancies in the company is information that is not made public in respect of individual employers.

Up to the end of April 2014, three trainees were placed in the Sunborn Hotel. (Banging on desks)

1715 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in relation to Question 409, I think in his last answer he gave me dealing with trainees, he said that when the Sunborn is able to sit down with us and do a programme for training which will lead to maybe replacing some of the people that they have, because the training will presumably take more than just the short-term training that is now taking place, then if there are suitable candidates and people interested, we will be happy to provide the trainees and finance them.

Has he sat down with the Sunborn and is the programme for training up and running?

1720 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, other than the three trainees that I mentioned, that were there in April, in fact none of the three are there now. One lasted a week and the other two were given permanent jobs by the company! (Banging on desk)

1725 The reality of it is that in the areas that they are opening vacancies and recruiting people, there is no training at the moment because they have not found suitable candidates. They selected these three individuals themselves and, given that the three individuals expressed an interest in what was being offered, and that the company – in the interviews that they gave to the unemployed persons that we submitted – thought they looked like suitable candidates and was willing to take them on.

1730 As I say one person found after the first week that it was not what he thought it would be and did not want to carry on and therefore he left. The other two carried on and they finished in April and the company was happy with the performance they had and they were employed in May.

We are open, because clearly we want to give as many opportunities as we can to local people, but it is not easy. But if anybody is interested and the company thinks that they can make it, then we agree the level of training that is required, depending on the nature of the job and the previous skill of the person. So it is a one-to-one thing.

1735 But I have got somebody permanently on board the ship now, working with the Human Resources Department from the Employment Service.

1740 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in relation to that last point which was very interesting, so he has somebody from the ETB permanently with the Sunborn Hotel? What role is that person discharging? Can he be more specific in relation to that?

1745 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, of course, I will tell you why, he is trying to get as many Gibraltarians employed as possible! That is what his role is and therefore because he is there first hand, we are able to be sure that the people that we send get seen, if they need any advice from him. At the same time he provides assistance to the company in the process of registration, opening vacancies, making sure that everything is going smoothly. He is not going to be a permanent feature, but given that initially the company started with zero employees, in order to help them and help ourselves in reducing our unemployment figures, we placed somebody on board.

1750 Hon. D J Bossino: Is that individual a public servant or is he a trainee under the FJS?

Hon. J J Bossano: No, no, no. He is somebody on a HEO equivalent grade.

Q410/2014–
Health & Safety Inspectorate –
Review of team, legislation, policies and procedures

Substitute Clerk: The next question has been posed by the Hon. J J Netto. Is...?

1755 Hon. D J Bossino: I think I am doing that one.

Substitute Clerk: Question 410, the Hon. D J Bossino on behalf of the Hon. J J Netto.

1760 Hon. D J Bossino: Has the Government conducted any reviews of the Health & Safety Inspectorate team, the current legislation, its policies and procedures since December 2011, insofar as it applies to the private sector and Government's organisations and if so, provide Parliaments with the dates of the reviews, the name of the person or entity and details of the items examined and any implementation emanating from such a review?

1765 Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health and Safety.

Minister for Enterprise, Training, Employment and Health & Safety (Hon. J J Bossano): No, Mr Speaker.

1770 Mr Speaker: Next question.

DEPUTY CHIEF MINISTER

Q415/2014–
Town planning legislation –
Update on overhaul

1775 Substitute Clerk: Question 415, this is the last question, Question 415, the Hon. D J Bossino on behalf of the Hon. S M Figueras. (Interjections and laughter)

Hon. D J Bossino: Does this make me Acting Leader of the Opposition? (Laughter) Acting Opposition. (Interjections) Let me relish the moment!

1780 Mr Speaker, can the Deputy Chief Minister update this House as to when the overhaul of the town planning legislation can be expected?

Substitute Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

1785 Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, the review of the town planning legislation is proceeding well and is now at an advanced stage. The principal Act is almost complete. Then work will move to reviewing all the various Regulations, as the Government would like to introduce everything simultaneously.

Questions for Written Answer

1790 Substitute Clerk: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker I have the honour to table the answers to Written Questions W64 to W171 of 2014 inclusive.

ADJOURNMENT

1795 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the House do now adjourn.

1800 Whilst I do so, and in order to attempt to assist hon. Members with their own time planning, I want to inform the House that it is my intention after tomorrow when we deal with the Bills and the Motions that are outstanding, it is my intention to return to the House in June, not the third week but the fourth week, because the United Nations have given us notice that the session relating to Gibraltar will be held in the third week in June.

1805 I therefore intend to call the House for the 25th June, which will be a Wednesday, and to go through in those last three days of that week – the 25th, 26th and 27th – through any questions there may be and I just want to give the hon. Members opposite a ‘heads up’ that I intend to take the debate on the Appropriation Bill on Monday, 30th June.

1805 I now move the House adjourn to tomorrow at 11.00 a.m.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that this House do now adjourn until tomorrow morning at 11.00 a.m. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

The House adjourned at 6.45 p.m.

The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 11.10 a.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. A J Canepa GMH OBE in the Chair]

[SUBSTITUTE CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: M L Farrell Esq RD in attendance]

Order of the Day

BILLS FIRST AND SECOND READING

Companies Bill 2014 – First Reading approved

Substitute Clerk: Sitting of Parliament, Friday 30th May 2014.
Bills – First and Second Reading.

A Bill for an Act to re-enact, with amendments, the provisions of the Companies Act (1930-07) as amended; to incorporate the Companies (Accounts) Act 1999 and the Companies (Consolidated Accounts) Act 1999; to take account of the effect of the Insolvency Act; to incorporate amendments proposed by a Law Reform Committee of the Gibraltar Finance Centre Council; and for connected purposes.

The Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to re-enact, with amendments, the provisions of the Companies Act (1930-07) as amended; to incorporate the Companies (Accounts) Act 1999 and the Companies (Consolidated Accounts) Act 1999; to take account of the effect of the Insolvency Act; to incorporate amendments proposed by a Law Reform Committee of the Gibraltar Finance Centre Council; and for connected purposes, be read a first time.

Mr Speaker: I think this is probably the shortest Bill that I have seen in the last 40 years. (Laughter)

I now put the question which is that a Bill for an Act to re-enact, with amendments, the provisions of the Companies Act (1930-07) as amended; to incorporate the Companies (Accounts) Act 1999 and the Companies (Consolidated Accounts) Act 1999; to take account of the effect of the Insolvency Act; to incorporate amendments proposed by a Law Reform Committee of the Gibraltar Finance Centre Council; and for connected purposes, be read a first time.

Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Substitute Clerk: The Companies Act 2014.

Companies Bill 2014 – Second Reading approved

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I beg to move that the Bill for a new Companies Act be read for a second time.

The Bill brings the Government's manifesto commitment in this area closer to completion by providing a much needed and thorough review of the present Companies Act and related legislation. It has been felt throughout the industry that the current Act is in need of a wholesale review to update it in line with the needs of the Gibraltar Finance Centre industry.

As Parliament is aware, the review involved consideration of proposals put forward by the Company Law Reform Committee, set up by the Finance Centre Council, and a consultation process which culminated in the publication of a Command Paper.

35 The Bill before Parliament today incorporates a number of issues which were also raised during the Command Paper consultation period. The process has involved input from the Association of Trust and Company Managers (ATCOM), Companies House, the Financial Services Commission, the Gibraltar Society of Accountants, Gibraltar Funds and Investments Association and a number of fund administrators, as well as individual legal practitioners.

40 Since the Bill was published, further representations have been received from the Gibraltar Funds and Investments Association relating to the filing requirements of certain regulated entities, and I will deal with that particular point later.

45 The aim of the Bill, Mr Speaker, is to consolidate and codify existing practices, as well as to modernise the current Act in preparation for, amongst other things, electronic filing at Companies House. The Bill is made up of 18 parts, 490 clauses and 29 schedules, and rather than go through these provisions one by one, the House will, I am sure, be very happy that I shall only refer to occasions where changes have been made to the existing provisions in the current Companies Act.

Mr Speaker, Part II of the Bill deals with formation of companies. This part of the Bill includes provision:

50 (1) Expressly allowing a company limited by guarantee and an unlimited company to have a share capital, which is current practice but not expressly provided in the law.

(2) Reducing the number of persons required for the formation of a public company from seven to one.

(3) Including a statutory definition of a public company.

55 (4) Removing the requirement for object clauses in a Memorandum of Association, resulting in a shorter form of memorandum. This follows from the presumption in clause 21(3), that a company is authorised to carry on any type of lawful business making redundant the requirement to list the types of authorised business in the memorandum.

60 (5) Allowing a company that is a collective investment scheme the option to formally notify the Registrar that it is a CIS within 30 days of establishment of the scheme. This option is based on submission received from the Gibraltar Funds and Investments Association. A further amendment was proposed by GFIA after the Bill was published and will be presented at Committee Stage. A letter setting out the proposed amendments has been sent to Mr Speaker and I understand circulated to all Members. It will be proposed that clause 18 be amended to include a subclause (2) which provides that any notification given pursuant to section 18 shall confirm whether the company is a private scheme as defined in section 2(1) of the Financial Services (Collective Investment Schemes) Act 2011. The reason for this is that there are 65 distinct exemptions which apply, depending on whether it is a private scheme or otherwise. Collective Investment Schemes, which are not private schemes, are afforded more exemptions.

(6) Removing the current 50 member maximum for a private company, bringing our legislation in line with the equivalent UK Act. Section 369 of the current Act is also being repealed, so that a partnership with more than 20 members is no longer required to be incorporated as a company.

70 (7) Removing the requirement to file a statement of incorporation containing details of the first directors before the company may be incorporated.

(8) Setting out clearly the documents to be included in the company's application for registration. These include: a statement of capital and initial shareholdings, if applicable; a statement of guarantee, also if applicable; a statement of proposed officers; a statement of the intended address of the registered office; and a copy of the proposed Articles of Association.
75

Mr Speaker, Part III of the Bill deals with the Companies Constitution and powers. This part includes the following provisions:

(1) Defining a company's constitution as including a company's articles and any relevant resolutions and agreements. The current Act refers to Companies Constitution throughout, but without a definition.

80 (2) Providing that the validity of an Act done by a company shall not be called into question on the ground of lack of capacity of such company. The reason behind this change is that those dealing with the company should not bear the risk of the company claiming that dealings in question are ultra vires and therefore void.

85 (3) Empowering the Minister by regulations to prescribe model Articles of Association for companies. The current tables A to E will be replaced by model articles, which will only apply to companies incorporated after the introduction of those model articles. Clause 488 provides that until the model articles are introduced by regulation, tables A to E containing schedule 1 of the current Act will continue to have effect.

90 (4) Changing the time limit for sending amended Articles of Association to Companies House. This has changed from 15 days to 30 days, so as to standardise time periods throughout the Bill. A number of additional variations are made to this part regarding the changing of the company status, such as private company to public company and vice versa. This conversion is currently possible, but is not expressly provided in the current Act. Public company to unlimited private company, company limited by shares to company limited by guarantee having a share capital, company limited by guarantee having a share capital to company limited by shares, and limited company to a company limited by shares or guarantee. There is also clarification as to the requirements to be satisfied by a company when executing deeds and documents.

Part IV of the Bill, Mr Speaker, deals with prospectuses, share capital and debentures. These include the following new provisions... or amended provisions:

(1) For an exception to collective investment schemes, which means that this type of company is not required to file returns of allotment at Companies House, there is a proposed amendment to this clause or clauses 188 and 189 of the Bill, pursuant to representations made by GFIA. In order to ensure that all collective schemes are caught, we have made reference to section 18, which is the obligation to notify the Registrar. This section captures all in Collective Investment Schemes (CIS).

(2) Amending the current prohibition on financial assistance so as to enable the company to give financial assistance for the purchase of its shares by another entity, so long as certain provisions are complied with. A private company can give financial assistance under the Bill if its net assets are not thereby reduced or to the extent that they are reduced, if the assistance is provided out of distributable profits. A company looking to provide financial assistance, unless it is a wholly-owned company, will be required to (1) pass a special resolution; (2) cause the directors to make a statutory declaration; and (3) engage an auditor to prepare an auditor's report confirming the statutory declaration.

It should be noted that: (1) the definition of what constitutes 'financial assistance' has been tightened to reflect the position under the UK's 1985 Act by the inclusion of the words 'or any of its subsidiaries'; (2) the proposal is to reflect the position, as I have said, under the 1985 Act, in spite of the fact that in 2006 the prohibition was relaxed in the UK. This, Mr Speaker, is an area on which I have had some correspondence with the Hon. Mr Damon Bossino, and I have explained the rationale for the decision that has been taken to introduce what are essentially termed 'white-wash provisions', rather than removing the prohibition of financial assistance altogether, and I will be happy to deal with any other points that Mr Bossino may raise in connection with this in my response; (3) a CIS will no longer be required to deliver a return to the Registrar when purchasing its own shares; (4) all companies having a share capital will be able to use fractional shares, unless prohibited under its constitution; (5) creating an exemption for CIS's in relation to the need for a notice to the Registrar of consolidation of share capital and conversion of shares into stock – again, there is a proposed amendment to this clause at Committee Stage; (6) the introduction of a new type of protection for Members against being unfairly prejudiced. A Member or the Minister may apply to the Court where such Member feels that the company's affairs have been conducted or are proposed to be conducted in a manner that is unfairly prejudicial to the interest of Members, generally or some part of the Members. Clause 147 sets out the type of order that the Court may make if it finds the petition to be successful, including ordering the company to refrain from doing any act complained of. These clauses have been largely taken from the UK Act. The reason for this change is to bring the protection of Members in line with that which exists in the UK; (7) a new requirement is introduced that all companies, except for a company which is a CIS, file the prescribed form at Companies House within 30 days of any change in its members or in any of the particulars contained in the register of members. Currently there is no statutory provision for the filing of a change of members; (8) a statutory basis is created formalising the current practice of allowing the redenomination... no. (Interjections) (A Member: Re-domiciliation.) The redenomination of share capital... it is not domiciliation. (Interjections) It was the other one. (Laughter and interjections); (9) the removal of all references to bearer shares as a result of the abolition of share warrants to bearer implemented by the Companies, Partnerships and Trusts (Miscellaneous Amendments) Act 2012.

Mr Speaker, Part V deals with the registration of charges. In this part there are amendments to the time period for registration of charges created by companies registered in Gibraltar.

Clauses 168 and 171 extend the period for registration of charges by companies registered in Gibraltar from 21 days to 30 days. The period for charges over property situated outside Gibraltar has also been extended from 21 days to 30 days after the date on which the instrument could have been posted. The Bill still contains a discretion given to the Registrar in cases of late filing of documents received from abroad.

Clause 168 also clarifies the law which emanates from the Slavenburg case.

Section 128 of the current Act requires registration of every charge created by a company registered in Gibraltar. This includes companies registered in Gibraltar under Part X, which is a place of business registration, or Part XIV, which is branch registration.

Since the Slavenburg case, it has also become common practice to present for registration charges over present or future property in Gibraltar created by overseas companies which do not have an established place of business or branch in Gibraltar. If the company is not registered as a branch or place of business in Gibraltar, Companies House will make note of the documents sent and return them to the sender with a standard form of letter as proof of delivery, but the documents will not be registered. This practice was also carried out in the UK, but was removed as a result of section 105(2) of the UK Act.

Clause 168(11) makes it clear that only charges which are created at a time where the company is registered in Gibraltar shall require registration.

155 Currently there is no statutory procedure for the registration of charges by a company which re-domiciles into Gibraltar from another jurisdiction, with existing charges or mortgages registered against the company.

160 Clause 168(8) of the Bill includes provision for the registration of existing charges of re-domiciled companies and clarifies that the time period for registration commences the day after the company is registered in Gibraltar.

Mr Speaker, Part VI of the Bill deals with management and administration. Provisions under this part include the following:

165 (1) Formalising the current practice of the filing of statements at Companies House in relation to the authority of a company to use a registered address. There is currently a form which can be filed at Companies House, entitled 'Statement that the company does not have authority to maintain a registered address at specific premises'. There is, however, no statutory authority to allow for this notice. We are therefore plugging this gap.

(2) Amending the requirement that a company display its name outside its office to require such display at every office – in other words, not necessarily outside the office.

170 (3) Regarding annual returns, clause 188 of the Bill remains largely unchanged from the equivalent section 153 of the current Act, except that it provides an extended period of six months instead of 30 days after the date on which the return is made up for Collective Investment Schemes to deliver the annual return to the Registrar. Amendment exempting certain CIS's from certain obligations in relation to annual returns will also be proposed at Committee stage. These amendments are, as I have mentioned, the result of representations made by GFIA and they have followed discussions with Companies House.

175 As I have already mentioned, Mr Speaker, GFIA made a number of proposals following which, and after extensive deliberation with leading individuals in the Fund industry, it has been decided that the following amendments be considered at Committee stage: (a) subclause 188(6) introduces an exemption for Collective Investment Schemes which are not private schemes. These funds will be exempt from the requirement to provide the information listed in clause 188(4) in relation to its members in the annual return; and (b) an exception has been inserted at clause 189(2) so that only private schemes are required to submit a statement of allotment, redemption and purchase of its own shares.

180 GFIA's reasoning for these proposed amendments is that EIFs and other such funds are regulated by the Financial Services Commission and as such they are already under an obligation to submit information to the Commission in relation to their members. CIS's which are not regulated are under no obligation to submit information and therefore should submit the same information under the Bill as non-CIS companies, and the Government has agreed with the proposals submitted by GFIA and with a reasoning and rationale for those proposals. That is why we are making those amendments to the Bill which are set out in the letter.

185 Mr Speaker, clause 197 of the Bill has been taken directly from section 309 of the UK Act, which sets out the requirement where a company wishes to notify the members of a meeting via website. The reason for this change is to bring the Bill in line with the UK Act and give companies the option to use technology as a means of communication with its members. There are similar provisions, including allowing for members to signify written approval by electronic means, allowing for the sending of documents relating to written resolutions by electronic means, and for the publication of written resolutions on websites.

190 (5) The current Act refers to ordinary resolution throughout, but does not provide a definition of the term. Clause 200 of the Bill codifies the definition which is actually used in practice, namely a resolution passed by members representing a simple majority of the total voting rights of the members.

(6) Clause 205 provides that where a company's articles prohibit the company from passing a resolution in the form of a written resolution, such provision in the articles shall be void.

200 (7) The time limit for the filing of resolutions is increased from 15 days to 30 days from the date of the resolution.

(8) Clause 231 of the Bill provides a new power to any person, not including the company, to indemnify a director against any liability which by virtue of any rule of law would otherwise attach to him in respect of any negligence, default, breach of duty or breach of trust of which he may be guilty in relation to the company.

205 Additionally, clause 231 allows companies to purchase insurance for a director of the company, which is in addition to the existing power of a company to indemnify any director against any liability incurred by him in defending any proceedings, whether civil or criminal, in which judgment is given in his favour or in which he is acquitted. This clause clarifies that the rule against indemnifying an officer of the company does not preclude the company from taking out directors' and officers' liability insurance.

210 The new powers contained in clause 231 are not provided in the current Act. This change is as a result of one of the many proposals put forward by the Company Law Reform Committee of the Gibraltar Finance Centre Council.

215 (9) Clauses 232 to 236 create a statutory basis for the remedy of a derivative action. I know the Hon. Sir Peter Caruana was particularly interested in this area. These new clauses allow a member to bring an action on behalf of the company in respect of a cause of action arising from an actual or proposed act or omission involving negligence, default, breach of duty or breach of trust by a director of the company. In order to bring a derivative action under the Bill, a member must apply to the court on behalf of the company for permission to continue such action. A derivative action may be brought only in respect of a cause of action
220 arising from an actual or proposed act or omission involving, as I have said, negligence, default, breach of duty or breach of trust by a director of the company.

Mr Speaker, Part VII of the Bill deals with accounts and audit. This part consolidates the Companies (Accounts) Act and the Companies (Consolidated Accounts) Act, within the Companies Act. It seeks to remove any ambiguity which existed between these Acts and the current Act, as well as removing any 225 inconsistency which existed with any other legislation, notably the Income Tax Act 2010.

Part X of the Bill deals with liquidation. This part is divided into two chapters: voluntary liquidation and other liquidation provisions. Mr Speaker, as a result of the new Insolvency Act 2011 and the Insolvency (Consequential Provisions) Bill, which I will be moving later on in this session, all of the insolvency provisions in the current Act have been transferred to the new Insolvency Act 2011. The Companies Act 230 will therefore only cover voluntary liquidations. Where a voluntary liquidation becomes an insolvent liquidation, the Bill provides that at that stage the Insolvency Act will apply.

Under clause 362(2) and (3) of the Bill, the directors of a company are required to comply with the following requirements when making a statutory declaration of solvency: (1) They must make the declaration within five weeks before the date of the passing of the resolution for the appointment of a 235 voluntary liquidator; and (2) they must deliver the declaration to the Registrar for registration within 15 days after the date on which the resolution for winding up is passed.

Clause 362(4) of the Bill introduces an offence with a penalty of up to two years' imprisonment where a director makes a declaration without having reasonable grounds for giving such a declaration. This offence is inserted so as to ensure that directors do not sign the declaration, which is a declaration which could have 240 very serious consequences for the company, without considering its content and validity fully.

Part XI, Mr Speaker, of the Bill deals with general provisions as to registration.

Clause 413 provides for a new requirement whereby the directors of a company must state in an application to strike off a company that the company has no assets or liabilities. This change clarifies the procedure for voluntarily striking off a company and is in line with common practice.
245

Clause 421 of the Bill introduces new requirements in relation to the authentication of a document sent to the Registrar.

Clause 421(3) details how a company is to authenticate a document supplied in electronic form. This clause is introduced so that companies may take advantage of the e-filing platform being developed by Companies House.
250

Clause 422 of the Bill allows the Registrar to impose requirements as to form, authentication and manner of delivery of documents which are to be delivered to the Registrar.

Part XII of the Bill deals with companies incorporated outside Gibraltar, carrying on business within Gibraltar.

255 Clauses 436 to 438 of the Bill clarify the requirements in respect of the execution of documents by foreign companies. These allow foreign companies to execute documents and deeds by (a) affixing its common seal; or (b) by any person who, in accordance with the laws of the territory in which the company is incorporated, is authorised to do so.

Part XVIII of the Bill deals with miscellaneous provisions. This part includes provisions regarding the sending or supplying of documents or information setting out requirements that need to be fulfilled, be it in a document sent in hard copy or electronically, creating a right for a member to request a hard copy of a document and setting out the requirements for the authentication of documents – again being in hard copy or electronic format.

Clauses 488 to 490 of the Bill set out the transitional provisions, consequential amendments and repeals arising from the provisions of the Bill.

265 Mr Speaker, I move to schedules. The schedules to the Bill are largely the same as those in the current Act, with a few exceptions, and includes those schedules taken from the Companies (Accounts) Act and the Companies (Consolidated Accounts) Act, which are being repealed.

Schedule 5 deals with annual return. The form of annual return has been amended so that a company must also confirm the main activity of the company, the size of the company, the number of employees and its financial year end.

Schedule 9 deals with definition of a small, medium and large company. The definitions of these companies have been amended to be brought in line with EU definitions.

275 Schedule 23 deals with powers of a voluntary liquidator. This schedule is taken from clause 54 of the Insolvency (Consequential Provisions) Bill, which I will be moving later, and sets out the powers of a voluntary liquidator.

Schedule 28 deals with index of defined expressions. This schedule contains a table which sets out where to find definitions of terms used throughout the entire Bill.

280 Mr Speaker, that concludes my run through of the Bill, in particular the new provisions of the Bill and what this actually does. It is in fact, Mr Speaker, very satisfying for the Government to see the vast amount of work, which has been put in over more than two years, approach fruition by the consideration of this Bill by Parliament today.

285 I mentioned at the outset, the Second Reading of this Bill, the various organisations which had been involved in this process and I would like to publically thank them all. It would simply not have been possible to undertake this task without their expertise and effort. In particular, I would thank those involved in the Company Law Reform Committee of the Finance Centre Council, who initially set out to consider the existing Companies Act and to make a substantial number of proposals to improve our legislation and that is precisely what we are doing today. We will now have a modern, up-to-date and comprehensive Companies Act, which will give all practitioners the tools required to service the needs of a finance centre in a jurisdiction that can be regarded as a model of excellence for the whole world.

290 Finally, I wish to thank all practitioners, both in Government and the team at Hassans led by Ian Felice and Gemma Vasquez, who have put this Bill together in an extensive drafting exercise. They have had to endure numerous requests by me for explanations and clarifications as we painstakingly went through each provision of the Bill.

295 Mr Speaker, it will be clear to hon. Members that this is not just a re-enactment of the current Companies Act with a few tweaks or amendments. This is a complete overhaul by way of a new Act. The Government recognises that it will take some time for practitioners to get to grips with the full effect of the Act. It is therefore now the Government's intention – apart from the fact that the Bill was published some time ago and a Command Paper was also published – that practitioners should be given around three months to fully familiarise themselves with the legislation and the related insolvency legislation before they are commenced. We are therefore proposing to commence the legislation, both this and the insolvency legislation, on 1st September 2014.

300 Mr Speaker, I commend the Bill to the House. (Banging on Desks)

305 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, Mr Speaker.

310 This is a bit of a baptism of fire, given that I was only given responsibility for financial services on my appointment by the Leader of the Opposition as Deputy Leader about a month or two ago. Some would say that it is a hospital pass, given that this is a Bill which runs into almost 900 pages. But, Mr Speaker, simply to be... the introductory comment would be that I am grateful to the Hon. Minister for going through this very lengthy piece of legislation in summary form, in redacted form. I think that is something which will be welcomed by everybody in this House, and highlighting simply those changes to the current Bill, which in fact originally dates from 1930, based on the 1929 legislative provisions in England and Wales.

315 I would also, Mr Speaker, like to associate myself with the comments made at the end by the Minister, in terms of acknowledging the assistance provided by the Law Reform Committee and other groups, such as ATCOM that he mentioned at the beginning, Companies House and the Financial Services Commission. He talked about the Gibraltar Accounts Association and others, and indeed, those professional competitors in Hassans, who I see sitting behind the Government benches now, to also acknowledge their assistance in this.

320 Mr Speaker, this is certainly welcome from the Opposition benches as a legislative initiative on behalf of this Government, one which I am sure will also be welcomed by many practitioners in the field, such as myself as somebody who deals in company matters, if I can put it in the broadest terms possible.

325 The Minister is absolutely right in saying that this is a particular area of the law which is crucial to one of those central sectors of our economic activity that is the finance centre and obviously all the ancillary services which are provided to it. They are very important services provided by the legal profession, accounting professions and I can think of corporate service providers and fund managers, for example.

330 The introduction of this Bill into our Statute Books is very positive and indeed complements in a very useful way, I think. I think it has to be acknowledged by everybody the sister legislation to this particular Act or Bill, which is the Insolvency Act, which was introduced by the Leader of the Opposition when he was Minister for Justice when we were on the other side of the House, which is also another very important piece of legislative initiative in this particular area of activity.

I would highlight a few of the points. One of them has already been acknowledged by the Minister in his address and I would welcome in his reply any further comments he may wish to make in relation to financial assistance.

But if I could deal first with the provisions – he and I have discussed this behind the Speaker’s Chair in recent days – set out in clauses 72 onwards, under the heading ‘Execution of documents by companies’. I have had some difficulty when reading those provisions, although I derive comfort from the fact that it appears that this wording is already the subject of settled interpretative law in that, as I understand it, there is – and I have not read the Act in any detail – a Supreme Court decision of England and Wales which deals with this matter. I just found it rather strange, Mr Speaker, the provisions, particularly if I could highlight Clause 72(1) and then the subclause to that which is (2). Clause 72(1) states that a contract may be made (a) by a company, by writing under its common seal or on behalf of a company – not by a company. The wording is slightly different and I raise that because that featured in the Supreme Court decision which I referred to earlier and which was referred indeed rather hopefully by the Minister to me when we have had these discussions. So on behalf of a company, by a person acting under its authority, express or implied. Presumably that is a contract, as I see it, which would be entered into orally, for example; however, it may not necessarily exclusively deal with that and I see that the Hon. Minister shakes his head.

If a contract is then reduced to writing and therefore becomes – I am just reading on the face of the language of the Bill – a document, under clause 72(2) it says a document is validly executed by a company if it is signed on behalf of the company (a) by two authorised signatories, or; (b) by a director of the company – and this is the important bit, Mr Speaker – in the presence of a witness who attests the signature. Those of us who deal in this area of law and have to provide opinions to banks and other clients, the position – and I think it is correct advice that I have certainly been providing – is that if it is an ordinary contract, i.e. if it is not a contract which is entered into, for example, by way of deed, then the signature of a director, or indeed an authorised signatory, is sufficient without the requirement of that signature being witnessed. I see that as an added burden, which does not currently exist in the Companies Act which we have today, and that is something I would welcome the Hon. Minister’s views on to be placed on record across the floor of the House, because I am sure that that will be of assistance to those of us who deal in this area of the law.

Mr Speaker, moving on swiftly to clause 100, I believe it is, under the Bill, which deals with the prohibition of financial assistance. This is also a point which I raise with the Hon. Minister and the point I raise is that in England, under the 2006 Act currently in force in England and Wales, the prohibition has actually been removed insofar as it impacts on private companies. As I understand it, the position in respect of plc’s – public limited companies – still exists, but as far as private companies are concerned, Mr Speaker, it has been removed.

The information that I received is that that was a reaction by the legislators in the United Kingdom to complaints made by those petitioners in the field as to the expense in complying with the white-wash provisions which now apply under this Bill, i.e. the Minister went through it... the requirement to have a shareholders’ resolution, the requirement to have a statutory declaration, presumably in relation to solvency and also the requirement in particular of having an auditor’s report. Those did not exist in our current legislation. They do not exist in our current legislation. They have been introduced in this Bill and in fact they have now been removed as a result of the 2006 Act in the United Kingdom.

From speaking to the Hon. Minister, I am sure he will not mind if I say so, the decision-making process which has influenced him in coming up with the wording in the current Bill is not as a result of any Government policy decision, but in fact simply responding to the various representations which he has received. He has explained to me and I would give him... certainly welcome him to explain the position, no doubt far better than I, that what was placed in the balance in England was that there was a codification of directors’ duties, directors’ duties which were in any event prevalent there as a result of developments of the common law, but they were actually formally codified in the legislation in England in the 2006 Act. If that had been done... if that particular route had been taken by the Government on this occasion, it would also have required the imposition of offences and that is something which is placed in the balance and therefore it was felt that it was better to retain the pre-2006 position in England and Wales and retain the whitewash provisions, despite the alleged cumbersome nature of them, because there was a reticence to impose offences in relation to those directors’ duties. I would welcome the Hon. Minister’s contribution in relation to that particular point.

And simply to mention finally two minor points. One is very close to my heart, in terms of the area of law ID, the codification of the Slavenburg register, and I think that is something which is going to be very much welcomed for those practitioners in this field. I think that if Companies House has had a difficulty when we as a matter of practice have tried to follow the route, which is now codified from my understanding of the Bill and what the Minister has explained... they have had a difficulty in accepting those notifications from practitioners. Now it is clearly set out and it is clear for all to see that that is the procedure set out in statute and I very much welcome that, certainly from a personal perspective as somebody who deals in matters like this.

395 Also, I found very interesting the new clause 197, which adopts the practice in England, in relation to the publication of notice of meetings on a website. I am sure that is also something which will be welcomed by practitioners.

Mr Speaker, that is the end of my contribution. I am not sure if the hon. the backbencher wants to say anything.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, just to say this, that in the past I have said that I could not have hoped for a better successor as Minister for Justice than the hon. Gentleman. I think that the work that he has done in that area justifies the view that I have expressed publically within the House. I commend him for the work.

405 It is one of the quirks of politics and living in a small community, such as Gibraltar, that effectively when the hon. Gentleman opposite won the last election, that the hon. Gentleman, Mr Licudi, and myself effectively switched roles. I inherited his legal practice within Hassans and he inherited my role as Minister for Justice. Just as I am bringing hopefully to a successful conclusion many of the cases that he began when he was a legal practitioner, I congratulate the hon. Gentleman too for bringing to a successful conclusion some of the work that we had commenced when we were in Government and I was Minister for Justice. Not only has he done so in commencing the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act and also the Crimes Act, but also now this particular Act enables him to commence the Insolvency Act. I wish to just stand up and recognise it and commend the hon. Gentleman for it.

Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to contribute before I call on the mover to reply?

Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, very briefly as Minister for Financial Services and working with the sector as closely as I do, I have to say that I am absolutely delighted by the presentation of this Bill by my Hon. and Learned Friend. I think he does a quite stunning job in bringing together not just the private sector by itself – in other words, all the individual component parts that are often pushing in different directions – but to bring the regulator on board, to bring Companies House on board, to bring all the different facets all in almost unanimous praise of the work that he has done, I think is quite a staggering achievement.

420 This Bill is hugely important to the industry, because it provides them with clarity, it provides them with certainty and as the Hon. the Shadow Minister for Financial Services has said, quite rightly, it is a key component part of the work and one of the tools that the sector relies on to be able to go about its business. To bring it up to date, to consolidate it and at the same time to bring amendments, which the sector has specifically requested, is an example of the partnership that we are all trying to engage in with the private sector that we work in to bring about the necessary tools for them to go about doing their business.

425

So I certainly commend the Bill and I congratulate my Hon. and Learned Friend for the quite fabulous work that he and his team have done in bringing us this Bill today.

435

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, very often in this Parliament we have had to endure in the past 30 months – this is, I think, our 23rd meeting of Parliament since we were elected – calls from the hon. Gentlemen to look at where we have made progress in our manifesto and where we have not. So I think it is incumbent on me to raise the point they might have been raising if we were at the last meeting of the lifetime of this Parliament and we had not brought this Bill, which would have been on page 66 of our manifesto. We say that we are committed to revising our company legislation and adopting a new, consolidated and revised Act as soon as possible and this is in full compliance with that commitment. It reflects yet another one of the commitments that we acquired at the General Election fulfilled, and fulfill House, Mr Speaker, as I think the House unanimously agrees, in fantastic and excellent fashion.

440

Mr Speaker, apart from giving the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister another good reason to tick a box and issue a detailed press release reminding Members opposite and the rest of our community just how much progress we are making in the delivery of our manifesto, this Bill demonstrates also of course something else. Gilbert Licudi is not just, in my view, a worthy successor to those who have come before, he is undoubtedly and without a shadow of a doubt one of the greatest Ministers for Justice that Gibraltar will ever see.

445

But (Laughter) he is not Minister for Financial Services at the moment, Mr Speaker, and neither is he Minister for Finance, and yet this is a Bill that he started working on when he was Minister for Financial 455 Services. He brings it to the House a year after having moved on from that portfolio, demonstrating the collegiate way in which this Government works, in a cross-Ministerial way, always ensuring that we deliver for our community in the best possible way and in our collegiate fashion with full Cabinet responsibility being something that all of us are very much aware of.

460 Mr Speaker, I want to say a few words about some of the people who have been in his team. They are the lawyers I have been working with since they arrived at Hassans as baby lawyers and they have done an excellent job in working with Mr Licudi on this.

I commend, of course, the Bill to the House. I will be very pleased to see the House support this Bill unanimously.

465 Mr Speaker: The Hon. Mr Gilbert Licudi.

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I am very grateful for the comments that have been made today in the House and in fact very flattered to receive those comments, not just from my colleagues in Government, but also from the Opposition benches.

470 It is true, as I mentioned at the beginning, that this is not the work of one man or one Minister, by a long, long shot. This is the collective work of not just the professionals, who have assisted in actually putting it together, but a great many individuals, practitioners and professionals, who have been involved for two and a half years in the process of consultation, collaboration, advice and assistance for the Governor, and once again, I express my gratitude to them all. It is really a tribute to them that in a Bill that we have before the House, which runs to almost 1,000 pages, that does not just re-enact the current 475 legislation that brings in substantial new provisions and amendments, that in all of those there should be so little – in fact nothing between us – but so little by way of comment or issues that need clarification. It really is a testament to the excellent work that has been done by those who have put this together. It is a tribute to them that that is indeed the position.

480 The hon. Member opposite, Mr Bossino, has raised in particular two issues, and those are the same two issues that we have already been in correspondence with. I have provided explanations for the views taken by the Government on this and I will be happy to provide those again. The two issues he raises are in relation to the execution of documents provisions at clause 72, etc, and in relation to financial assistance provisions at clause 100.

485 In relation to the execution of documents, as the hon. Member has acknowledged, this has been taken from the equivalent provisions in a UK Act – not the most recent provisions that exist in the UK. Those are reflected in the 2006 Act which remove...sorry, that is in relation to financial assistance, but this is taken from the 2006 Act, the execution of documents provisions. The 2006 Act. So they do reflect the most up-to-date practice, legislative practice in the UK. They have been in place since 2006. So for eight years now the UK has had these provisions and, from what I am told, they work well and do not impose any particular 490 onerous burden.

It is also worth mentioning that this was one of the specific proposals that was made by the company Law Reform Committee of the Finance Centre Council. They proposed that these particular provisions from the 2006 Act be adopted and taken for Gibraltar. Not only was it a proposal from the industry, but following publication of the Bill, and also in relation to the Command Paper when we published a draft of the Bill and invited comments, we did not have any particular issues of concern raised as this creating an added burden.
495

I am assured that this creates a clearer scenario as to what is required to be done in relation to the execution of documents. I know, and certainly from discussions with my colleague, the Minister for Financial Services, I know that he has had issues as a practitioner in the past as to what the current provisions in the Companies Act and what the current practice actually should be and there has been some disagreement between practitioners. So there was a need and that is why the proposal was made in the first place. There was a need to clarify the position and make it crystal clear. Given that this was a proposal by the Committee, it was a proposal that I accepted. It seemed to make sense and I asked that the drafters include this in the draft bill that was presented to me. When I saw it, I must say that I raised exactly the same points that the hon. Member has raised in relation to these provisions, because it did seem to me at 500 first blush that the requirement for certain documents to be signed by a director with a witness may, in certain circumstances, be more onerous. In response to the raising of that issue, a specific paper was prepared for me in relation to these provisions and I have in fact shared that paper that was prepared for me a number of months ago. I have shared that paper with the hon. Member and that paper refers to the decision in the UK Court which sets out the jurisprudence which has been developed as a result of these 505 provisions.

510 The crucial issue which arises from that jurisprudence and in fact it is on the face of the sections, or the provisions, is the distinction as to whether a document is signed by a company or on behalf of a company. I am assured that as a result of what the provisions say, the statutory provisions, the interpretation of those provisions by the Court already in England is that for the most part most of the documents, including

515 contracts, and not just oral contracts, written contracts by a company are signed on behalf of a company, although it is true that the judges do say in that case that sometimes it is an artificial distinction as to whether something is done by a company or on behalf of a company, it is always done on behalf of a company because you cannot get a company with a pen and write itself. A company officer can put a seal and that signifies that it has been done by the company, but if something is done without a seal, signed by 520 somebody on behalf of the company, in the main will be regarded as a document signed on behalf of the company, even if it is signed by a director.

There is provision in section 72 that where a document or contract – it does not distinguish between oral and written, so it must include written contracts – is signed on behalf of a company, as long as that person has authority to sign and expressly it is provided that that authority can be expressed or implied in the 525 normal course of events and we are all familiar with those provisions, as long as that is the case, it is sufficient for one person, the authorised person, to sign that contract on behalf of the company. That is the analysis that has been made for me. As I have said, this originates from the industry. It is already established practice in the UK. It seems to be working well and therefore we have decided, for the sake of certainty, to produce that.

530 It also provides, as I have mentioned to the hon. Member that although we could take issues on board and say, ‘Well, let’s make it even clearer. Let’s change a word here or a word there’, that may well destroy the jurisprudence that comes out of the UK if we do not reflect the wording that is being interpreted by Courts in the UK. So it is always useful. We do not have to slavishly follow what the UK does in any Act, but when we are adopting those provisions, it is useful to follow the words because then the jurisprudence
535 from the Courts will be applied equally in Gibraltar and that is always a useful provision. So the Government is satisfied that this is what the industry wants and that it works well. It has been shown to work well and so we have no particular concerns about those added burdens that the hon. Member mentions.

540 The other point is in relation to financial – (Interjection)
I am happy to, yes.

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Hon. Minister for giving way.

Simply to point out the point that I intended to make when I made my contribution, but it escaped me, and acknowledge that other than the issue that I have raised in relation to clauses 72, etc, in relation to 545 execution of documents, acknowledge that what is there now is by far a huge improvement to what is the position in the current Act, which is, I think, section 47. I think it does provide for clarity, which is certainly not there under the current legislation. I am grateful.

550 Mr Speaker: I now put the question –

Hon. G H Licudi: Sorry, Mr Speaker, I have not finished dealing with –

Mr Speaker: Sorry.

555 Hon. G H Licudi: I just gave way to the hon. Member.

I was just seeking clarification on one particular point, if I may?

Mr Speaker, the other point that the hon. Member raised is the question of financial assistance and that is an issue that has been live with practitioners for a number of years and what changes should be made to that. We pondered on the various options. The options that we had available was to adopt the provisions 560 that are currently contained in the 1985 Act in the UK which are essentially what is generally called the white-wash provisions, whereby a procedure can be followed to make things right, or to remove the prohibition on financial assistance altogether as they have done in the 2006 Act.

The advice that I was given, which I have also shared with the hon. Member in terms of what I was told, was that coupled with the removal in 2006 was a codification, as the hon. Member has already alluded to, 565 of directors’ duties in the UK Act – in Gibraltar we have not gone as far as codifying all directors’ duties and we will continue to rely on common law provisions – and because there were specific statutory duties, it appears that in the UK it was felt that that should be sufficient protection and therefore there was no need to keep the prohibition on financial assistance. That is why they moved down that route in 2006.

In Gibraltar, we have had consultation with practitioners. We have looked at the provision extensively and eventually we decided that the better option was to go for what they had previously because we are not 570 codifying those directors’ duties in the Act and therefore we are following the 1985 Act. As the hon. Member has said, this is not something specifically as a matter of policy of the Government. There is no particular policy; it is just doing what is best for the jurisdiction and for practitioners and what works well. We will now have a provision which will allow the white-wash procedure, subject to certain steps being 575 taken. And, yes, it is true, as the hon. Member has said, that certain steps will have to be taken and that will incur some time and sometimes some expense, but that is what we have felt is the best option for the industry in Gibraltar, having regard to what they have done in the UK more recently and the reasons why they did it and we have not followed fully what they have done in the UK in this. So that is the explanation in relation to financial assistance.

580 It simply remains for me again to thank all hon. Members for their contribution, for their very positive contribution to this and for the fact that this has been welcomed by the whole House.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to re-enact, with amendments, the provisions of the Companies Act (1930-07) as amended; to incorporate the Companies (Accounts) Act 1999 and the Companies (Consolidated Accounts) Act 1999; to take account of the effect of the Insolvency Act; to incorporate amendments proposed by a Law Reform Committee of the Gibraltar Finance Centre Council; and for connected purposes, be read a second time.

Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

590 Substitute Clerk: The Companies Act 2014.

Companies Bill 2014 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of this Bill be taken later today, if all hon. Members agree.

595 Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of this Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Insolvency (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
First Reading approved

Substitute Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Insolvency Act 2011.
The Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

600 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Insolvency Act 2011 be read a first time.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Insolvency Act 2011 be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

605

Substitute Clerk: The Insolvency (Amendment) Act 2014.

Insolvency (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Second Reading approved

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I beg to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Insolvency Act 2011 be read a second time.

610 Mr Speaker, as we have already heard this morning, this arises from a need to make certain changes, minor changes to an Act, which was passed by Parliament in 2011. The Insolvency Act is also an extensive Act, which was passed by my predecessor, the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition, when he was Minister for Justice and certainly a great deal of work went into putting that together as well and that must be acknowledged today.

615 The Bill was passed, as I seem to recall, in June 2011, but it has not been commenced yet, and it has not been commenced for a number of reasons. Firstly, there was a need to finalise the drafting of a number of pieces of regulations and rules. There are in fact six Rules and Regulations – I will go through them later – which required to be finalised, and those are now just about in the final form. There was a need also to pass, apart from this Bill, the other related Bill which I will be moving today, which is the Insolvency

620 (Consequential Provisions) Bill. That, in the form that it was previously, made amendments, necessarily made amendments to the existing Companies Act and we felt that it made no sense when we were overhauling the Companies Act, for the sake of saving one or two months... or three or four months, to introduce these provisions and to commence the Insolvency Act, make wholesale amendments to the Companies Act as it is and then come back to Parliament a couple of months later and make all those 625 amendments again to reflect the changes in the new Companies Act. So that did not make sense. It made sense, we felt, to put it all together as one overall revision of companies and insolvency legislation. Part of it had already been enacted in 2011 and the rest we are doing today.

In the same way as it is proposed that the Companies Act be commenced on 1st September 2011, we will be publishing very shortly the various pieces of regulations – not commencing them, but just publishing for public knowledge – and again to give practitioners the opportunity to get to grips with the 630 whole new regime, the whole new insolvency regime, which will commence at the same time as the new Companies Act on 1st September this year. In relation to this particular Bill, Mr Speaker, this is in the main a housekeeping Bill in that it introduces changes, which are necessary or desirable to the Insolvency Act 2011 as a result of the provisions of the Companies Act which we are enacting today, and in order to make a number of minor corrections to the Insolvency Act 2011.

635 The Bill also introduces a number of changes arising from decisions which we have taken since we have been in Office, following consultation with the practitioners in the field of insolvency.

The amendments consequent to the enactment of the Companies Act consists simply of updating of references in the Insolvency Act to the new Companies Act because the existing Companies Act clearly was done having regard to the existing Companies Act and some of the terminology will need to be 640 changed. So what we are doing is generally ensuring that there is consistency of terminology between the two pieces of legislation – the existing Insolvency Act and the new Companies Act.

There are also a number of corrections to the Insolvency Act consisting primarily of rectifying cross-referencing errors and a number of typographical errors which we noted. There are, as I have said, also a number of changes to the Insolvency Act which are being made, and these have followed consultation. I 645 will go through the various changes. There are essentially four changes.

The first, Mr Speaker, is to provide for the licensing of insolvency practitioners by the Financial Services Commission. The Insolvency Act 2011 provides for this function to be exercised by the Minister with responsibility for Financial Services. The Act in fact distinguishes in relation to insolvency practitioners, between the licensing of insolvency practitioners, which is a responsibility given to the 650 Minister, and the supervision of insolvency practitioners, which is a responsibility given to the Financial Services Commission.

The Act in fact allows the Minister to designate another person or entity as essentially the licensing authority. The Government has decided that that function should not be exercised by the Minister, but by the Commission. The licensing function should be exercised by the Commission. Although it is true that 655 this could have been done by designation under the existing provisions, we were in any event, as a result of the Companies Act, bringing an amendment to the Insolvency Act and the Government's decision is not that the primary power under statute should be held by the Minister, subject to a designation, but that the statutory power should be held by the Commission itself; therefore, we felt that it was best to do this by bringing this amendment to the Act.

660 Secondly, Mr Speaker, we have widened the scope of what is currently contained in section 136(3) of the Insolvency Act. This provides that where there is any inconsistency between the Act and legislation transposing EU Directives on collateral arrangements and securities, the EU provisions naturally prevail.
However, section 136(3), which is the current provision which reflects this, is limited to set-offs. The amendment makes it clear that this applies to all arrangements and transactions caught by the relevant 665 collateral and securities laws.

Thirdly, we have placed the responsibility for distributing the report on the outcome of a creditors meeting on the interim supervisor. We have done this because it is the interim supervisor and not the Chairman. At the moment under the Act it is the responsibility of the Chairman, but it is the interim supervisor who prepares the report on the creditors meeting and we felt that the interim supervisor would be 670 better placed to have the obligation to distribute that report.

Fourthly, we have provided when considering the appointment of a liquidator on a public interest ground, the Court must include the interests of the public outside Gibraltar. We have done this because we have been advised that it has previously been argued in proceedings that 'public' may only mean or should only mean the public in Gibraltar, and if that were to be the case, it could possibly undermine the 675 confidence of overseas' investors in Gibraltar companies if we do not take their interests into account or the Court was not to take their interests into account.

Mr Speaker, the existing Companies Act provides for certain offences for both solvent and insolvent liquidations. We consider that offences in the new Companies Act should apply only to solvent liquidations 680 and the equivalent offences for insolvent liquidations should be placed in the Insolvency Act. The Bill before this House gives effect to this.

685 Finally, Mr Speaker, we have given notice by letter to Mr Speaker of a further amendment which we will be proposing at Committee Stage. I understand hon. Members have a copy of the letter with the proposed amendment. The purpose of the amendment is to introduce a new provision in the Insolvency Act which reflects the current section 42A of the Bankruptcy Act and as Members know, the Bankruptcy Act will be repealed when the Insolvency Act is commenced.

690 Section 42A of the Bankruptcy Act contains provisions relating to Asset Protection Trusts. These are not used to any particularly great extent, as I understand it; however, there have been regulations made under section 42A, and that is the Bankruptcy (Register of Dispositions) Regulations, and a number of dispositions are in fact registered under the existing regulations. We have received representations from the industry that it would be desirable to keep the equivalent of section 42A in the new Insolvency Act. The Government has agreed and we will therefore be proposing at Committee a new clause to the Bill which will give effect to that.

695 Mr Speaker, as with the Companies Act, as I have already indicated, it is the Government's intention to commence all the legislation on 1st September 2014. At the same time a number of Rules and Regulations will be commenced, having previously been published and these are the Insolvency Rules, the Insolvency (Transitional Provisions) Regulations, the Insolvency Partnership Regulations, the Insolvency (Administration of Insolvent Estates) Regulations, the Insolvency Practitioner Regulations and the Cross-Border Insolvency Regulations.

700 Once again, Mr Speaker, I wish to thank all those who have been involved and assisted and advised the Government in putting together the various strands of this undoubtedly complex process. In particular, I would thank members of what we call the Insolvency Group, who are a group of practitioners in insolvency work who have for the last two years been involved with myself and the Minister for Financial Services in consultation, advice and have reviewed various drafts, in particular the drafts of the Rules and Regulations which are necessary to give effect to the provisions of the Insolvency Act.

705 I would also extend the Government's appreciation for their input to the Financial Services Commission, in particular, the Commission's Chief Executive Samantha Barrass.

Mr Speaker, I commend the Bill to the House. (Banging on Desks)

710 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of this Bill?

The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

715 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, just to say that the Opposition will be supporting this Bill. This Bill is introduced in order to allow four amendments of the Insolvency Act, which the Hon. the Minister for Justice has acknowledged was introduced into this Parliament by us when we were in Government, not only to enable it to be commenced, but also they made a number of amendments.

720 Whilst perhaps we would have dealt with certain issues differently and indeed, in terms of the amendments to the licensing regime, we took a conscious decision to deal with it in a different way, the reality is that there is more than one way to skin a cat and simply because we decided to deal with it differently does not mean that there is anything wrong with the way that the hon. Gentleman has sought to deal with this particular issue through these amendments.

So the Opposition will be supporting the Bill for those reasons.

725 Mr Speaker: Does the hon. mover wish to...?

730 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Yes, Mr Speaker, there is just one minor point on which... I am grateful to the Hon. Minister for handing me the Act as it stands. I was a little bit concerned when he said that the effect of the amendment to section 229 was to define the public interest, including the public interest of a place outside of Gibraltar. I think that might be a happy misspeaking on his part because I think in fact it does something slightly different in that it defines 'public' as being the public both within and without Gibraltar, which is slightly different to defining the public interest. I think it would be dangerous, as a matter of generality, to define the public interest in the laws of Gibraltar as the public interest of every country in the world. The public interest of some countries is that Gibraltar should not have a finance centre, should not have laws to encourage people and therefore I think as a matter of general statutory provision, it would need very careful thought before the definition of 'public interest' were broadened in that way. I do not think that that is the effect, even though that is how he has described it. I do not think on a very quick reading that is the effect of this amendment, which is simply to do probably what is already the position and that is simply where it says 'public', as in members of the public. It means members of the public who are both in and out 740 of Gibraltar and that must be true, that a creditor of the Gibraltar company is a member of the public in Gibraltar for that purpose already.

On that basis there is a provision in clause 229 that refers to the public interest, the Court is of the opinion that it is in the public interest for a liquidator to be appointed. The amendment is, public, includes public within and outside of Gibraltar. Whether that would influence the interpretation of the word 'public', whether the reference to the 'public' in that sense would influence the interpretation of the phrase 'public interest', which includes the word 'public', I do not know. But I do not think it is hugely important in the context. In any event, I do not think it would be hugely important in the context of this legislation, but I think it is worth just bearing in mind perhaps in other legislation where it might be more sensitive, to perhaps focus on this point.

750 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I agree entirely with the clarification and the interpretation given by the hon. Member Sir Peter Caruana. Certainly it is not our intention to signal that the Government considers that any reference to public interest is anything other than the public interest in Gibraltar. There is a particular provision here in relation to the public and what that means and public must necessarily for insolvency purposes. We are only dealing with this and therefore we are making no wider statement than what is contained in this particular Bill. We are simply clarifying that 'public' for these purposes, means the public in Gibraltar and outside because of the interests of people outside Gibraltar in Gibraltar companies who may be affected by this. Therefore, I am happy to agree with the clarification which has been put forward and I am in fact very grateful for it.

760 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to provide for the repeal and amendment of certain enactments consequent on the enactment of the Insolvency Act 2011 be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Substitute Clerk: The Insolvency (Amendment) Act 2014.

Insolvency (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

765 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

770 Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Insolvency (Consequential Provisions) Bill 2014 –
First Reading approved

Substitute Clerk: A Bill for an Act to provide for the repeal and amendment of certain enactments consequent on the enactment of the Insolvency Act 2011.

The Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

775 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to provide for the repeal and amendment of certain enactments consequent on the enactment of the Insolvency Act 2011 be read a first time.

780 Mr Speaker: I now put the question which is that a Bill for an Act to provide for the repeal and amendment of certain enactments consequent on the enactment of the Insolvency Act 2011 be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Substitute Clerk: The Insolvency (Consequential Provisions) Act 2014.

Insolvency (Consequential Provisions) Bill 2014 –
Second Reading approved

785 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I beg to move that the Insolvency (Consequential Provisions) Bill 2014 be read a second time.

This Bill makes amendments to various Acts, Regulations and Rules arising from the enactment of the Insolvency Act 2011, as amended by the Bill which we have just considered.

790 As the name of the Bill implies, the intention is to give effect through this Bill to changes which are necessary or desirable simply as a consequence of the enactment of the Insolvency Act. As hon. Members are well aware, the Insolvency Act 2011 introduces the concept of administration of companies. This makes it necessary for various statutory provisions to be amended to reflect the fact that companies, apart from being placed into liquidation, may also now be placed into administration. As an example, Mr Speaker, the application of the Crime (Money Laundering and Proceeds) Act 2007 and the Drug Trafficking Offences Act 1995 is extended to assets held by companies which are subject to administration under the new procedure.

795 A number of amendments are also being made to the Protected Cell Companies Act. Although special provisions apply in relation to the liquidation of a protected cell company, there is no reason to exclude the Insolvency Act completely. However, in relation to individual cells, the Protected Cell Companies Act provides for the appointment of an administrator and this is a self-contained procedure within that Act and the proposed new section 2A of that Act therefore excludes the administration provisions in the Insolvency Act because the Act already has its own procedure. Other amendments are also made to this Act to reflect the change in terminology in the Insolvency Act.

800 Mr Speaker, the other pieces of legislation which are amended by this Bill are the Deposit Guarantee Scheme Act 1997, Financial Markets and Insolvency (Settlement Finality) Regulations 2011, Financial Services Commission Act 2007, Financial Services (Temporary Administration of Companies) Act 2010 and a Supreme Court Rules 2000.

805 Mr Speaker, I commend this Bill to the House.

810 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

I will now put the question which is that a Bill for an Act to provide for the repeal and amendment of certain enactments consequent on the enactment of the Insolvency Act 2011 be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

815 Substitute Clerk: The Insolvency (Consequential Provisions) Act 2014.

Insolvency (Consequential Provisions) Bill 2014 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today if all hon. Members agree.

820 Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

COMMITTEE STAGE

The Companies Bill 2014;
The Insolvency (Amendment) Bill 2014;
The Insolvency (Consequential Provisions) Bill 2014.

Substitute Clerk: Committee Stage.
The Hon. the Chief Minister.

825

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the House should resolve itself into Committee to consider the following Bills clause by clause: the Companies Bill 2014; the Insolvency (Amendment) Bill 2014; and the Insolvency (Consequential Provisions) Bill 2014.

In Committee of the whole Parliament

830

Companies Bill 2014 –
Clauses considered and approved

835 Substitute Clerk: A Bill for an Act to re-enact, with amendments, the provisions of the Companies Act (1930-07) as amended; to incorporate the Companies (Accounts) Act 1999 and the Companies (Consolidated Accounts) Act 1999; to take account of the effect of the Insolvency Act; to incorporate amendments proposed by a Law Reform Committee of the Gibraltar Finance Centre Council; and for connected purposes.

840 Clauses 1 to 17.

Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

Substitute Clerk: Clause 18.

845 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Chairman, I have given notice in a letter, which I understand hon. Members have, of various amendments to this Bill, including an amendment to clause 18. I am happy to go through the various amendments or for the record to show that these amendments are formally put before the Committee.

850 Mr Chairman: Do all hon. Members agree that having regard to the fact that it has been circulated in detail, we dispense with the need to actually read them out? Agreed.

Clause 18, as amended, stands part of the Bill.

855 Substitute Clerk: Clauses 19 to 85.

Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

Substitute Clerk: Clause 86.

860 Mr Chairman: The Hon. Mr Licudi. No?

Substitute Clerk: There are amendments, but they are covered by the general amendment. If you could say that it is covered by the general memorandum. (Interjection)

865 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Chairman, I understand that all the amendments have been accepted and therefore it is clause 86, as amended, should stand part of the Bill.

Mr Chairman: Clause 86, as amended, stands part of the Bill.

870 Substitute Clerk: Clauses 87 to 113.

Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

875 Substitute Clerk: Clause 114.

Mr Chairman: Again, there is an amendment which has been circulated. Clause 114, as amended, stands part of the Bill.

880 Substitute Clerk: Clauses 115 to 130.

Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

Substitute Clerk: Clause 131.

885 Mr Chairman: Clause 131, as amended, stands part of the Bill.

Substitute Clerk: Clauses 132 to 187.

Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

890 Substitute Clerk: Clause 188.

Mr Chairman: Clause 188, as amended, stands part of the Bill.

895 Substitute Clerk: Clause 189.

Mr Chairman: Clause 189, as amended, stands part of the Bill.

Substitute Clerk: Clauses 190 and 191.

900 Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

Substitute Clerk: Clause 192.

905 Mr Chairman: Clause 192, as amended, stands part of the Bill.

Substitute Clerk: Clauses 193 to 490.

Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

910 Substitute Clerk: Schedules 1 to Schedule 29.

Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

915 Substitute Clerk: The long title.

Mr Chairman: Stands part of the Bill.

Insolvency (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Clauses considered and approved

Substitute Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Insolvency Act 2011.
Clause 1.

920 Mr Chairman: Stands part of the Bill.

Substitute Clerk: Clause 2.

925 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Chairman, I have given notice by letter of a proposed amendment to clause 2 to introduce a new 35A and the details are set out in the letter which I understand has been circulated to the hon. Members opposite. As I explained during the Second Reading, this is to re-introduce the provisions relating to asset protection trusts.

930 Mr Chairman: Is it agreed that clause 2, as amended in the terms the hon. Member has given notice, stands part of the Bill?

Clause 2, as amended, stands part of the Bill.

Substitute Clerk: The long title.

935 Mr Chairman: Stands part of the Bill.

Insolvency (Consequential Provisions) Bill 2014 –
Clauses considered and approved

Substitute Clerk: A Bill for an Act to provide for the repeal and amendment of certain enactments consequent on the enactment of the Insolvency Act 2011.

940 Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

FIRST AND SECOND READING

Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
First Reading approved

Substitute Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011.

Mr Speaker: The report...?

945 Substitute Clerk: We report at the end. (Interjection) Yes.
A Bill for an Act to amend the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011.
The Hon. the Minister of Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

950 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 be read a first time.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question that a Bill for an Act to amend the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 be read a first time.

955 Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Substitute Clerk: The Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011.

Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Second Reading approved

960 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I beg to move that the Bill for an Act to amend the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 be read a second time.

Mr Speaker, this Bill introduces a number of amendments to the Act so as to increase the range of sentences to which rehabilitation attaches and to decrease the rehabilitation period in respect of certain sentences.

965 The provisions regarding the rehabilitation of offenders introduced in the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 aim to give those with convictions or cautions the chance, in certain circumstances, to have their convictions or cautions regarded as spent after a specified period of time, known as the rehabilitation period. The length of that specified period depends on how the individual concerned was dealt with, including the length of prison sentence where such a sentence has been imposed.

970 Prison sentences of over 30 months are excluded from the scope of the Act and can therefore never become spent, subject of course to the possibility of a review, which is an amendment we have previously introduced. The rehabilitation periods for other types of sentence vary according to the person's age and whether the person was cautioned or convicted, and if the latter, the type of sentence imposed. Once the conviction or caution becomes spent, the offender is regarded as rehabilitated and for most purposes is treated as if he had never committed the offence.

975 The amendments included in this Bill are based on recent changes in the United Kingdom made to the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act and these amendments came into force on 10th March 2014. As a result of the amendment in the UK, there is now a very wide gap between rehabilitation periods in the UK and those in Gibraltar. As an example, someone sentenced to six months imprisonment in the UK has a rehabilitation 980 period of four years; whereas someone sentenced to the same period of imprisonment in Gibraltar, has a rehabilitation period of 10 years – in other words more than double.

The UK regime was amended following criticism as to it being inconsistent with contemporary sentencing practice, with the result that it failed in its aim to help reformed offenders resettle into society. It was suggested that the rehabilitation periods were too long and did not reflect the point at which re-offending tails off following a conviction. When these changes were introduced in the UK in March of this year, a number of reports also suggested that studies have shown that shorter rehabilitation periods made a critical difference on whether or not an offender was able to find employment and turn his or her life around. That in turn also reflected on re-offending rates. Shorter periods of rehabilitation resulted therefore in offenders being more likely to find employment and in turn less likely to re-offend.

990 That does not of course mean or lead to the conclusion that rehabilitation periods should be eliminated altogether. It is necessary to have rehabilitation periods. The question is simply what those periods should be. The UK has now pitched those periods at a level considerably shorter than those which currently apply in Gibraltar. There appears to the Government to be sound public policy, criminal justice policy and social policy reasons for these shorter periods. We have therefore decided to follow the periods recently set in the UK.

995
1000 The changes in the Bill involve two key matters. The first change is to extend the scope of the Act to cover custodial sentences of up to 48 months and the second is to change the length of some of the rehabilitation periods and the manner in which they are calculated. These changes will result in a simpler system which will no doubt help in a more realistic opportunity being given to offenders to get on the right path and contribute to society. That is in line with Government policy as reflected in our manifesto where we set out the importance of rehabilitation of offenders provisions. Other changes are simply to simplify the system in line with current UK practice.

Mr Speaker, I commend the Bill to the House. (Banging on Desks)

1005 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of this Bill?

The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1010 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, this Bill seeks to amend legislation that we introduced into this House... I think it was in 2011, in the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Bill, which introduced for the very first time into Gibraltar the concept of rehabilitation of offenders.

1015 Mr Speaker, I recall from the debate in relation to that Bill that in fact the hon. Gentleman, when he was shadowing me, he raised a number of concerns about the shortness of the rehabilitation periods. He also raised some concerns as well as to the schedule annexed to the Bill, which listed all those professions. He may recall all those professions that had actually been excluded. I told him then that really the question of rehabilitation of offenders was very much work in progress and that it may well have been that at some point in the future a future Gibraltar Government would have to review the rehabilitation periods, and indeed also the exclusions, the list of professions that were excluded from being... or people working in those professions were excluded from being rehabilitated at some point in the future.

1020 The hon. Gentleman has decided to do this at this point in time because what he is doing is, he is following UK amendments to the legislation in the UK. I think that it is something that actually ought to be kept under constant review and it is something that may well in the future lend itself to Gibraltar going down a different path to the United Kingdom, particularly too in relation to re-examination of all those professions that are excluded from being rehabilitated.

1025 I will just explain, for the benefit of viewers, that there is a list of professions annexed to the Criminal Evidence and Procedures Act, as it now is, and anybody wanting to work in those professions will never be rehabilitated. In other words, a conviction will always – no matter how spent the conviction would have become – would always weigh effectively against that person when that person wanted to work in those professions, and of course that makes sense in relation to, for example, professions such as people working with children or with vulnerable people; but indeed, the list is a very wide list indeed. We chose to follow the UK because at the time we thought that that was appropriate, but I think that is something that also ought to be re-examined by the Government and I urge him as part of this continuing process, of course, of keeping our laws updated that he should look at that, but other than that Mr Speaker, the Opposition will certainly be supporting this Bill.

1035 Mr Speaker: Does the hon. mover wish to reply?

Hon. G H Licudi: Yes Mr Speaker.

The hon. Member mentions certain issues which are raised at the Second Reading of the Bill in 2011. I have no independent recollection of that, but be that as it may, I do agree that this legislation, as many other 1040 pieces of legislation, needs to be kept under constant review. The review that we have done now in relation to the periods do arise because of changes in the UK. The hon. Member has mentioned – and again he is correct, as I acknowledged earlier in the context of a separate Bill – that we should not and we do not need to follow slavishly in Gibraltar whatever happens in the UK. So it is not that it is a reaction to a change in 1045 the UK, but a consequence of consideration of the reasons why those changes have been made, the studies that have led and the criticisms of the longer periods that have led to those changes. And after some consideration of those reasons – and those changes were only made in March of this year – we have felt that it made sense to move in that particular direction, but I do acknowledge that there may well be local circumstances which may make us in the future go down a different direction to the UK.

1050 I also agree that the list of professions, which is quite extensive needs to be kept under review. We have not decided at this stage that we should make any particular changes, but it is something that certainly needs to be kept under review as we see how the effect of the changes of the introduction in the first place, and let us recall that although this was introduced in Parliament in 2011, it did not actually come into effect until November, as I recall, of 2000... sorry, the whole Act came into effect in November 2012, but very early 1055 on in 2012, we introduced the Rehabilitation of Offenders Provisions as a commencement of a part on its own.

So this is not something that has been around for years and years and we have learnt from the practice as to what it actually means to people who have come out of jail and end their rehabilitation periods. In the main part, people who have been subject to rehabilitation periods since the commencement have not had the opportunity of having that period end and then be rehabilitated. This will certainly help because it will 1060 automatically mean that somebody who is currently subject to a longer rehabilitation period, who is caught by the new provisions, will have that period automatically shortened and therefore that person may well now find, as a result of this commencement, that that conviction becomes spent and has those extra opportunities which is what we all want to achieve.

1065 Certainly this is a matter that needs to be kept under review and I am certainly grateful on this occasion that the Opposition is supporting the changes we are making.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

1070 Substitute Clerk: The Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment) Act 2011.

Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

1075 Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today. (Members: Aye.)

Prison (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
First Reading approved

Substitute Speaker: A Bill for an Act to amend the Prison Act 2011.
The Hon. the Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice.

1080 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Prison Act 2011 be read a first time.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Prison Act 2011 be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

1085 Substitute Clerk: The Prison (Amendment) Act 2014.

Prison (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Second Reading approved

Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I beg to move that the Bill for an Act to amend the Prison Act 2011 be read a second time.

1090 Mr Speaker, we seem to be dealing with a number of amendments to Acts which were passed by this Parliament in 2011. For some reason –

A Member: Very welcome.

1095 Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, certainly very welcome Acts, but for some reason there seems to have been a flurry of activity in 2011 (Laughter) to get some legislation through Parliament. But this, of course, is certainly a welcome amendment... a welcome provision and updating of the Prison Act, which as I recall was welcomed by all.

1100 Mr Speaker, this Bill includes a number of amendments to the Prison Act 2011 which can be split into three groups. The first set of amendments is contained in clauses 2 and 3. These deal with the position of prisoners aged 17 and their classification under the Act. The changes ensure that persons aged 17 are treated as juveniles during the judicial process under the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act and also under the Prison Act. At present, special treatment is required under the Prison Act for those aged under 17 – this does not of course include 17-year-olds.

1105 Hon. Members will recall that I explained, in answer to a question from the Hon. Selwyn Figueras in March of this year, how juveniles who are detained at HM Prison are dealt with. It became apparent during the course of preparing the answer to that question that whereas in prison 17-year-olds are treated as adults – because it is only under-17's that are given that special treatment... so in prison 17-year-olds are treated as adults and under the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act, 17-year-olds are treated as juveniles. This discrepancy exists as a result of the commencement of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act in 2012, which changed the age at which young persons become adults from 17 to 18. This discrepancy in fact, Mr Speaker, was also highlighted in a recent case before the Court, which was reported by the Gibraltar Chronicle on 5th April this year. As a result, Mr Speaker, the Government considers that it is right that 17-year-olds should be treated as juveniles for all purposes under the Criminal Justice System. It is therefore necessary to amend the Prison Act to bring the classification of 17-year-olds in line with the definition of 'juveniles' in the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act.

1115 Mr Speaker, the second area being amended by this Bill is contained in clause 4. This amendment clarifies the way in which a sentence of imprisonment is defined for the purposes of release on licence. The amendment reflects the current practice, that terms in default for the non-payment of fines are for the purposes of releasing persons on licence treated as sentences of imprisonment and that consecutive terms of imprisonment are to be treated as one term. This arises where a prisoner is serving a sentence of imprisonment and separately has to serve a term, say, of 30 days in default for non-payment of fines. The question that arises is how the parole eligibility date is calculated? Is it only by reference to the first sentence with a term in default served separately or is there a requirement to put the two terms together as one term and calculate parole eligibility date by reference to that whole term? The legislation Mr Speaker, I was advised was not clear, although the practice was to treat the sentences as one term. The amendment we are making does not change the current practice; it simply clarifies the law.

1120 The final amendments made by this Bill are by clause 5, Mr Speaker. These are amendments to section 64 of the Prison Act 2011 to create a new offence of possession without authorisation of a device capable of transmitting or receiving images, sounds or information by electronic communications in a prison. This includes mobile telephones, as well as other devices which are capable of accessing the internet or are otherwise capable of sending or receiving data.

1135 There is already, under the Prison Act, the offence of introducing such a device into the prison. This requires evidence of who introduced the device to the prison, but does not assist where someone is in possession of the device, but it is not known how or by whom the device was introduced to the prison. It was felt that this creates a lacuna in our legislation which we are correcting with this new offence. The new offence will also extend to the possession of any component part or article designed or adapted for use with such a device, such as a SIM card or a charger for a mobile telephone.

Mr Speaker, I commend the Bill to the House.

1140 Mr Speaker: I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of this Bill?

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker.

1145 Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, yes.

1150 Mr Speaker, in the mutual back-slapping that has characterised this particular session this morning, it was the first ungenerous comment by the hon. Gentleman to suggest that we had delayed all these Bills – the Insolvency Act, the Criminal Evidence and Procedure, the Crimes Act and the Prison Act – all seminal pieces of legislation until the very end. Of course the reality is, as he well knows because of the work that he has done in relation to the Companies Act, that dealing with legislations of this nature is not like, I suppose, frying an egg. Although, I have to say, I have very little experience of frying eggs or frying anybody else... sorry, anything else (Laughter) much to my wife's complaints.

1155 But, Mr Speaker, these are just simply amendments. One of the amendments deals with an anomaly that has arisen or that attention has been drawn to an anomaly as a consequence of a recent case in the Supreme Court. I happen to read the case. It is logical that the Government comes to Parliament in order to introduce an amendment that will effectively make the provisions in the Prison Act compatible with the provisions in other pieces of legislation.

1160 For all those reasons, Mr Speaker, the Opposition will be supporting this Bill.

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, just to say that I was not trying to be ungenerous. I was simply remarking on a fact. In fact I was implicitly trying to commend the Member for bringing all those, as he has often described them, as seminal pieces of legislation, before he was, unfortunately for him, ousted out of office.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Prison Act 2011 be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

1170 Substitute Clerk: The Prison (Amendment) Act 2014.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, may I now, bang on one o'clock, invite the House to recess until 2.30 p.m. this afternoon?

1175 Mr Speaker: The House will now recess until 2.30 p.m. this afternoon.

The House recessed at 1.02 p.m. and resumed its sitting at 2.35 p.m.

COMMITTEE STAGE AND THIRD READING

Prison (Amendment) Bill 2014 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting Substitute Clerk: The Hon. Mr Licudi.

5 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Prison (Amendment) Bill be taken later today, if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Are all hon. Members agreed that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Prison Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

FIRST AND SECOND READING

Public Health (Amendment) Bill 2014 – First Reading approved

10 Substitute Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Public Health Act.
The Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

15 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, before I move I would like to call attention of the House to the fact that I wrote to Mr Speaker to advise him that there had been an error and the Bill had been published in two successive weeks in the Gazette. Therefore the Bill that appears as Item V on the list in the Order Paper should be withdrawn because it is an identical Bill that was published in error on a second occasion.

Then, Mr Speaker, having said that I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Public Health Act be read a first time.

20 Mr Speaker: I now put the question that a Bill for an Act to amend the Public Health Act be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Substitute Clerk: The Public Health Amendment Act 2014.

Public Health (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Second Reading approved

25

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill be now read a second time.

30

Mr Speaker, as a child, like so many Gibraltarian children at so many times through its history when travel was more difficult and other pastimes scarce, I would spend many hours with my parents and grandparents playing in the Alameda Gardens. I remember the plants and the care that they were given. I would look over the bridge into a magical glade and sit on the old guns dreaming of adventure.

35

As a youth, already with a keen interest in nature, I would walk through the Alameda on my way to my bird watching outings on the Upper Rock and then I would go into the Garrison Library and research into the rich history of the gardens, relishing the accounts of the travellers of yesteryear.

40

In the early 1980s I saw the gardens gradually decline; but as the years went by and I became more aware of the silence that backdrops nature, I recognised their potential more and more. When in the late 1980s, through a chance conversation with a friend, the opportunity arose to become more closely involved, I prepared a proposal for their conversion into a botanic garden. This was accepted by the Government of the time, that of the first GSLP Administration.

45

Since then, through hard work and persistence and with the support of successive Governments and six successive Ministers, the gardens developed from a derelict public park into a real botanic garden, renowned not just in Gibraltar, but around the world too for its beauty, its special plant collections, its educational value, its work in conservation as well as its wildlife park and of course its stunning open air theatre. It is, among other things, recognised as a member of international organisations, such as the International Association of Botanic Gardens and Botanic Gardens Conservation International.

Significantly, Mr Speaker, the gardens have been responsible for the discovery of new species of plants and invertebrates and for the saving of species from global extinction: the Gibraltar Campion, a flower unique to the Rock of Gibraltar.

50

Mr Speaker, I dedicated two decades of my life to this place and I believe was able to steer it through successive Administrations, keeping it away from political controversy by concentrating on the tasks and challenges I faced. I pay tribute here now to the successive members of staff of the gardens through the years for their vital contribution to this work.

55

Mr Speaker, the Alameda Gardens are defined in statute, but its role as a botanic garden is not. A botanic garden is as important in defining a country's identity through natural heritage, as a museum is in defining its character through its history. No-one, for example, will question the role of the Royal Botanic Gardens at Kew, nor the fact that its status is equivalent to that of the British Natural History Museum and the British Museum itself as an institution of scientific, educational and recreational excellence.

60

Mr Speaker, in the same way then that the Gibraltar Museum is defined in Gibraltar law, the Government feels that the Gibraltar Botanic Gardens should be likewise defined and recognised.

Mr Speaker, this Bill seeks to amend the Public Health Act to define the Alameda Gardens as Botanic Gardens, with the roles and functions of any such institution worldwide. It is a particularly fitting time to do this, Mr Speaker, as the gardens were officially opened in April 1816 and so are approaching their 200th anniversary.

65

With a slight amendment notified by letter, Mr Speaker, which aims not to restrict the enjoyment of the gardens to residents of Gibraltar – important given the increasing number of tourists including those visiting on cruise ships – and in the knowledge that the work of the gardens and its progress have been supported and made possible by both GSLP and GSD Administrations, I call on the support of all Members and commend this Bill to the House.

70

Several Members: Hear, hear. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

75

The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker.

80

Mr Speaker, I am tempted by starting my comments in relation to the Bill by saying to the hon. Gentleman, it does not appear que tiene abuela. This morning, I complimented the Minister for Justice quite extensively and he has now complimented him himself quite extensively. (Laughter) But look, in the spirit of the way that we have been conducting proceedings so far today, I will not hold it against the hon. Gentleman.

Mr Speaker, we cannot vote in favour of this Bill. We cannot vote in favour of this Bill on a point of principle, and the principle is this, and it is going to be... foreshadow, our attitude also in relation to the Commonwealth Park.

85 The point is this, that constitutionally no Parliament can bind a future Parliament. So any legislation that we introduce now about perpetually setting aside Alameda Gardens, could not perpetually set aside Alameda Gardens for any purpose if a future Parliament decided to effectively change the law.

90 I do not see why we ought to be introducing legislation of this nature. I want to make absolutely clear that neither the GSD, nor indeed the GSD whilst I lead it or whilst any of the people present today ever lead the GSD would intend to change the use of Alameda Gardens to anything other than what it is today, but I do not think that it is right to introduce legislation that perpetually seeks to effectively bind future Governments when the reality is that is not possible. So all you would be doing really is ensuring that if any future Government wanted to change the law, it would have to come to this House in order to debate the issue. But, quite frankly, there would be such a public outcry if anybody were to try and change the use of Alameda Gardens that it would be absolute political suicide and turkeys voting for Christmas if any future Government decided to do that. So we are not going to be voting against it, Mr Speaker, but we will certainly abstain. We are not voting in favour.

100 Mr Speaker, I would also ask the hon. Gentleman just to explain and to provide some clarity in relation to Section 269(2)(d) which says, 'may allow the public to be excluded from the Alameda Gardens or parts thereof and for a reasonable fee for admission to be charged'.

Can he explain what the intention is in relation to this particular clause that obviously is a different point to the point that I have made.

105 Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I was in the Ante Chamber, but I heard all of what the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has said in relation to what he said was the point of principle that led them to indicate that they would not be able to support this Bill, and already to indicate that a Bill that is on the Order Paper is not one that can be proceeded with until after 25th June, almost a month from now, is also not likely to enjoy their support.

110 Can I just ask him to reflect a little bit on the principle that he has enunciated and consider whether in fact there is not actually room for them to come on side with the Government and understand why it is that we are doing this, especially given the fact that he has told the House this afternoon that certainly a GSD under him or under any other person on the Opposition benches at the moment would not, if they were ever to be in a position to do so from Government, be seeking to change the use to which the Alameda Botanic Garden is being put?

115 So in those circumstances, given that we are dealing with a putative third Government – in other words, one not led by anybody in this room today that evinces the intention of not in any way effecting the Botanic Gardens and their use – why would we not want to...let me use this word 'entrench' in legislation the principle that these gardens are going to be used simply as gardens?

120 Well, the hon. Gentleman says that Parliaments cannot bind their successors. Governments cannot bind their successors. Of course, Mr Speaker, that is not true. Governments do bind their successors and he will know, and if the hon. the backbencher were here, he would be able to bear out that in the same way as they in Government were bound by contracts entered into by the GSLP Administration before 1996, the GSLP Liberal Administration of 2011 is bound by contracts entered into by them, some of them on the eve of the Election. So Governments do bind their successors contractually and Governments also bind their successors through legislation – for example, we have passed swathes of legislation this morning which binds the next Parliament and the next Government, unless and until another Government comes to this House or an individual can come to this House on a Private Member's Bill and garners a majority of it and then a Rule can change.

130 The hon. Member's reason for not supporting this Bill is a good reason for not supporting any Bill and of course belies the principle of legal certainty. The principle of legal certainty is that the Rule is on the statute book and must be observed whilst it is on the statute book – of course, an issue that we shall come to perhaps later on when we deal with the motion. But until such time as a Government or individual, a majority of this House however garnered, makes a decision to pass a statute that contradicts or supersedes or in some way overturns an earlier statutory provision, it is on the statute book and must be observed. Therefore, given that we protect the rights of individuals and the rights of corporations and we protect society in so many ways against so many evils, in so many statutes and so many sections, why not extend that protection to the use to which a particular area of Gibraltar is being put.

140 Let me give him another example. We do it today here by statute. In part it is done through the Gibraltar Development Plan. You may have seen in recent weeks, Mr Speaker, reference in correspondence in local newspapers where people have spoken about the relevance and the enforceability of the Plan in relation to

145 the area of Europa Point, for example, and of course Alameda Gardens is an area which in the Development Plan is a garden. The Development Plan as it stands does not cover, for example, Commonwealth Park as a garden, where it appears as an area of car parking, an open space available for development. We are going, Mr Speaker, therefore an extra mile. We are adding a layer of protection and of course it is right. Perhaps even for very good reason in future a Government might need to come and say, ‘We need to get rid of the gardens’. I doubt there will ever be a reason good enough for John Cortes and perhaps never a reason good 150 enough for any of us, but who can tell where Gibraltar will be in the 22nd century BC... AD, sorry. Who could tell what the needs of Gibraltar then might be?

We think it is right that if there comes a need in order to redevelop that area, that the Government that is going to seek such redevelopment comes here and seeks the approval of the Parliament, and in that way the approval of the people for that redevelopment. It is simply an extra layer of protection, but I cannot see why in principle they would not accept my invitation to add that layer of protection to these non-urban areas.

155 I know that the Commonwealth Park is new. That it is our manifesto commitment and not theirs, and I know that there has been an element of controversy about that and I can understand why the area of the Commonwealth Park might be an area that we might not enjoy their support on, unless they are prepared to say, ‘Well, look, it was not our idea, but we think it works and we want it protected’. But the Alameda Gardens go back centuries already. They are an area that I think are close not just to botanists’ hearts. I 160 think they are close to the hearts of all of us in different ways and I cannot see a reason why not to require a future Chief Minister to come here and explain to him, or explain to me if I am on that side, or explain to any of us, or explain to any generation of Gibraltar, why it is that this is necessary and perhaps even carry the full support of the Parliament because in extremis – and we cannot see the future – it may one day become necessary. Let us... please, God, that it does not happen.

165 So given the intentions that they have evinced not to touch Alameda Gardens, I think that is genuine and I accept that as genuine and I park the Commonwealth Park point, but as a matter of principle, accepting that at least until they move the Bill and come to this House and make the explanation, they would find it impossible to tamper with the gardens – it is not something that could be done by a DPC or by a change in the Development Plan... consider adding that layer of protection in the hands of the elected representatives 170 of the people, such as they may be at such time were the Bill ever to come in this Parliament.

Mr Speaker: Does the mover wish to reply?

175 Minister for Education, Telecommunications and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I am not the mover. The mover is Mr Cortes, but I do want to make a short – (Interjection) If he asks – (Laughter and interjections)

Mr Speaker, the Chief Minister said just about everything that needs to be said in relation to the point that the hon. Member has said, but I rise only because what has been raised is a matter of legislative principle, and I rise as Minister for Justice, responsible generally for legislation.

180 Again, asking the hon. Member to consider the point that he has made, because I genuinely believe it is incorrect. It is an incorrect position of principle to take. If it is simply, as he has explained, a point of principle, rather than a disagreement with the substance of what this Bill is supposed to do, then it is important to reflect as to whether the principle is correct.

185 Hon. D A Feetham: Will he give way?

Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, Mr Speaker, I will be happy to give way.

190 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, thank you very much. I am very grateful to the Hon. the Minister for Justice for giving way.

Mr Speaker, may I just first of all before I deal with this also come back to some of the comments made by the Hon. the Chief Minister. There is of course a fundamental distinction between a situation that we have here today and a situation where one Government is bound by a contract entered into by a previous Administration. As a matter of simple contractual law, the Government of Gibraltar is one continuous 195 constitutional entity and simply because there is a change of Government does not mean that what a previous Government does, does not bind a subsequent Government. I do not believe that the analogy in respect of contracts is an apposite analogy for the purposes of today’s debate.

The reality is – and this is the point that I am making – that nothing that this Parliament does today can possibly bind a Government in the future. The word that I find... the word that draws my attention – it is a 200 word that I think is also in the other Bill – is the word ‘perpetually’. If the Government had come to this House and basically just simply had this Bill setting aside Alameda Gardens for the purposes of health, recreation, enjoyment of all persons resident in Gibraltar, I think we would probably have taken a different view. I do not know whether the Government wants to consider an amendment to just simply delete the 205 word ‘perpetually’ and then it would have the support, the cross-party support, because of course if you remove the word ‘perpetually’, the reality is it sets aside Alameda Gardens in a way that, for example, a previous Government...indeed it was the GSLP Government in 1991 and I will have something to say about that when we come to the motion on fishing – that designated the Upper Rock as an area of special importance. Of course a future Government can always de-designate that area and basically open it up to all sorts of development – (Interjection) That is possible, provided of course that that Government comes to 210 Parliament and changes the law. It is the word ‘perpetually’ that I just find as a matter of principle, if I can use the word, offensive for the present purposes. But, of course, if they are prepared to remove the word ‘perpetually’, then this Bill would enjoy cross-party support. But it is the word ‘perpetually’ that we object to.

215 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I will give way to the Chief Minister, who wants to make a particular point.

Mr Speaker: I am going to allow this afternoon all this process of giving way, but I should remind hon.
 Members that you give way for the purpose of clarification. It is not to make a debating point and to bring a 220 new debating point into the framework of the debate. It is to clarify something which one Member has said in the debate. It has been picked up by another and replied to and the original Member wishes to clarify something. It has got to be for that purpose and not to continue a debate. But anyhow, we are okay.
 [Laughter]

225 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do hope that this is simply going to serve to clarify the position for the hon. Gentleman in a way that may actually enable us to proceed by way of agreement. He has made his position now very clear. His objection is to that word. If I can simply satisfy him of something, he may find that he wishes to reconsider his position, given that his stated view is that this is something that we can all agree on in respect of the non-redevelopment of the area.

230 No, we cannot move on, Mr Speaker, because the issue is this. The word ‘perpetually’, Mr Speaker, is already in the Act. It is not a word that we are inserting. The word ‘perpetually’ is already in the Public Health Act and what we are doing is extending the protection already in the Public Health Act perpetually to the Alameda Gardens. Therefore, Mr Speaker, I recognise what the hon. Gentleman says. This is a first year law point. We cannot disagree on it. Somebody can come to Parliament in the future and that which 235 has previously in law been protected perpetually can disappear and the section can simply be taken away.
 But when the Public Health Act was commenced – that was in 1950 by the old City Council, precursor of the Legislative Assembly, the House of Assembly and now the Parliament – that language was already in our legislation.

240 Everything that we do today, whether we say we are doing it perpetually or not, we do until such time as Parliament decides again in the future. So in those circumstances, Mr Speaker – and I know that the mover of the Bill has actually identified where in the Act the word ‘perpetually’ appears, but it appears already – I think he may want to reconsider the view that he is taking and see that the word ‘perpetually’ is something that is oft used in legislation, despite the supremacy of each Parliament to overtake and undo the Acts of an earlier Parliament. May I simply remind him that our whole title to this place rests on an agreement said to 245 be done in perpetuity, which could be undone by another Parliament at any time of course, over our dead bodies... all of us. But the word ‘perpetuity’ is a word of treaties and is a word of law, despite the established principle of the supremacy of Parliament.

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I have given way.

250 The issue, as I mentioned, is this point of legislative principle, whether it is right to include in an Act of Parliament something that goes beyond the life of a particular Parliamentary term. If there was an objection to the word ‘perpetually’ and, as the Chief Minister has explained, this is not a new word, and there is nothing intrinsically wrong in saying –

255 Hon D A Feetham: I have not seen the context.

Hon. G H Licudi: But that is what the Chief Minister has indicated and that is the position. I understand the mover of the Bill will respond also on this.

260 But if there was anything wrong in saying that something is in a certain way perpetually, there would also be something equally wrong in setting out any period in any legislation which goes beyond the term of that Parliament, because if you have any period set out in any legislation, whether it is five years, 10 years, 20 years, you might say you cannot bind a future Parliament. If you set, for example, a perpetuity period of, say, 100 years, what are you doing? Are you binding future Parliaments? No. You are stating that the present Parliament believes that that is a state of play that should continue for that period of time. In the 265 same way we are stating today that this Parliament believes that the Alameda Gardens should be perpetually set aside as a botanic garden. That is a statement of intent which we are making forcefully today with this legislation. (Interjections)

Mr Speaker, if I can refer to the existing provision, which is section 269 of the Public Health Act, which is the one that is actually being substituted by the present section, and that is, as we have heard, an Act 270 which goes back to 1950 and nobody since 1950, as far as we are aware, has ever taken any objection, nor sought it fit to change it because in 1950 it bound future Parliaments.

This is what section 269 says:

‘The public gardens known as the “Alameda Gardens” and all the roads, paths, walks and ornamental buildings therein shall continue to be perpetually set apart for the health recreation and enjoyment of all Her Majesty’s subjects and others inhabiting or being in Gibraltar and shall be managed and maintained...’

275 What we are doing is replacing that provision with a wider provision here... substituting, but the principle of the gardens themselves being set aside perpetually for that purpose, that does not originate here with this Bill. That is not a new invention of this Government, and even if it was it would not be objectionable for the reasons I, and the Chief Minister, have stated. It is not something that we have come up with ourselves. It is something we have adopted from what already existed... from in fact what already 280 exists since 1950, and for those reasons it seems to us that we would just ask the hon. Member to reflect and recognise that there is that provision already. All we are doing is continuing the form of wording, but substituting certain things. Substituting other things, but that particular wording about the gardens being perpetually set aside for that purpose, that is just a continuation of what the state of play has been since 1950 and that is what we want to do.

285 I understand the hon. Member wishes me to give way. I am happy to do so.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, thank you very much.

Mr Speaker, I am very grateful to the hon. Gentleman for the way that he has explained the existing provisions. Both as a Minister for Justice and also in my capacity as a lawyer, I have never come across a 290 situation where there has been an Act of Parliament that seeks to do something perpetually.

Acts of Parliament seek to do things and until a subsequent Parliament actually changes what a previous Parliament has done, it remains extant – that remains the position – and really to me the word ‘perpetually’ seemed just simply gesture politics in circumstances where it just simply could not be because you could not bind somebody or a future Parliament perpetually.

295 But, Mr Speaker, on the basis of the –

Mr Speaker: May I draw...

Perhaps Members may wish to clarify? In 1950 there may not have been a legislature and it may not have been an Act of Parliament. It may have been the City Council enacting legislation which was given the 300 force of law subsequently in the Public Health Ordinance, but it may not have been enacted by this legislature which was not inaugurated until November 1950.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I am very grateful for that. Obviously your experience and your immense wealth of experience has brought something interesting to bear in relation to this particular debate, 305 because, Mr Speaker, we are not taking a position here for the sake of being difficult; indeed, I said we will abstain because generally it is a worthwhile Bill. We are not going to vote against it. It is just that I personally do not like, and we do not like this use of the word ‘perpetually’. Never come across it before in legislation and it appeared to me that really it added absolutely nothing and was just simply gesture politics.

310 But on the basis of the explanation that he has given me, which is that really this is just simply a continuation of what is there at the present moment, well look, when there is gesture politics where there is a matter of principle... really one ought not to be using that particular word or not, the hon. Gentleman has persuaded the Opposition to then support the Bill.

315 Hon. Chief Minister: Thank you, very much. (Interjections and laughter)

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I will not labour the point any more in the light of the statement that has been made. We are in fact very grateful that the hon. Member has relented and seen that in the context that we have put it that this was the right way to proceed.

320 Mr Speaker: Does the hon. mover wish to reply?

325 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, in the light of that, and I am grateful to the Opposition for having conceded on that, and grateful to my colleagues on this side of the House for their dealing with that point and convincing the Opposition accordingly, I have very little to add other than just to say that I did not consider my speech to be self-praise, but rather praise for the team that has worked there through the years, and I did make a reference to that. It has been a huge task. I remember the state of the gardens back in 1988 and through... sorry, back in 1991, which is when the gardens were converted and how we were able to improve them. The hard work of many people through 20 years is the one that I want to acknowledge here and not mine, that is for others to do, although this work has been praised in the past by successive Administrations, including the Government of the party now in Opposition.

330 One clarification that the Leader of the Opposition has asked for is the question of charge. This is relating specifically to the open air theatre where groups and organisations will put on events and will charge for entrance and that is the kind of event that could occasionally, although it never has to my knowledge, happen elsewhere in the gardens, but specifically this is to allow the continuation of events to be charged for at the open air theatre.

335 Mr Speaker, in finalising what I have to say, let me just say that a botanic garden is a very special kind of garden, not at all in conflict with its recreational use. The very part, the essence of its educational use, and what this House is unanimously going to do today is a significant step in enhancing Gibraltar's position internationally. There is a huge following of botanic gardens and it strengthens the involvement of the Gibraltar Botanic Gardens in the international organisations that it belongs to, to be able to say that like other gardens, like the Royal Botanic Gardens, it is in fact supported by the Statute of the Nation in which it is set. (Interjections)

345 Hon. D J Bossino: He was concluding in relation to the point that in fact I would seek clarification on. Is the definition of a 'botanic garden', as set out in the Bill – I think it is literally the last provision which lists from (a) to (h) what it in fact means in quite a lot of particularity – is that the effect in summary form of what describing the Alameda Gardens as the Gibraltar Botanical Gardens will be? Can he confirm that?

350 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, that reflects the botanical aspects of the work that is being done at the moment in the Botanic Gardens. As I said before it is also recreational. It is also educational. But that defines the botanical aspects and I believe is taken from definitions in one of the international organisations that the gardens belong to.

355 Having said that, I once again commend the Bill to the House.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Public Health Act be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Substitute Clerk: The Public Health (Amendment) Act 2014.

Public Health (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

360 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that Committee Stage of this Bill be taken later today? (Members: Aye.)

Environmental Protection (Controls on Ozone-Depleting Substances) Bill 2014 –
First Reading approved

365 Substitute Clerk: A Bill for an Act to give effect in the law of Gibraltar to Regulation (EC) No. 1005/2009 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 16th September 2009 on substances that deplete the ozone layer, as amended by Commission Regulation (EU) No. 744/2010 of 18th August 2010 with regard to the critical uses of halons...?

370 The Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Yes, Mr Speaker, halons... not halos.

375 Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill for an Act to give effect in the law of Gibraltar to Regulation (EC) No 1005/2009 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 16th September 2009 on substances that deplete the ozone layer, as amended by Commission Regulation (EU) No 744/2010 of 18th August 2010, with regard to the critical uses of halons be read a first time.

380 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to give effect in the law of Gibraltar to Regulation (EC) No 1005/2009 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 16th September 2009 on substances that deplete the ozone layer, as amended by Commission Regulation (EU) No 744/2010 of 18th August 2010, with regard to the critical uses of halons, be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye) Those against? Carried.

Substitute Clerk: The Environmental Protection (Controls on Ozone-Depleting Substances) Act 2014.

Environmental Protection (Controls on Ozone-Depleting Substances) Bill 2014 –
Second Reading approved

385 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill be now read a second time.

Mr Speaker, the Bill implements in Gibraltar the Regulation already referred to, with regard to the critical uses of halons. The Act, together with the subsidiary legislation published by way of legal notices, will implement in Gibraltar the Copenhagen 1992, Montreal 1997 and Beijing 1999 amendments to the Montreal Protocol on the Substances that Deplete the Ozone Layer, which Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar has asked the United Kingdom to extend.

In implementing the Regulation, in clause 3 designates the competent authority in Gibraltar for the purposes of the Bill. The competent authority is the Minister with responsibility for the Environment.

395 Clause 4 sets out the offences for breach of the EU regulation, which are more particularly set out in schedule 2 of the Bill.

The following offences have also been created: failing to comply with an enforcement notice; failing to comply with a notice under clause 11; intentionally obstructing any person acting in its execution or enforcement of the regulation; failing to give any person who acts in the execution or enforcement of the regulation any assistance or information which that person may reasonably require; furnishing any information, knowing it to be false or misleading; failing to produce a document or record to any such person acting in the execution or enforcement of the EU regulation.

Clause 5 sets out the penalty provisions.

Clause 6 deals with the liability of a body corporate for offences committed under the Bill.

405 Clauses 7 to 10 cover the enforcement provisions, which include in clause 7 the Environmental Agency having power to enforce a regulation. Subclause (2) sets out that the Minister with responsibility for the Environment will enforce the Regulations. Subclause (3) sets out that the Minister with responsibility for the Environment would enforce the Regulation in relation to offshore installations. The meaning of offshore installations is set out in schedule 1 to the Bill.

410 Clause 8 empowers the enforcing authority to authorise any persons as may be required for the purposes of enforcing the Regulation.

Clause 9 deals with issuing of enforcement notices for the purposes of requiring a person to take specified steps to remedy or avert a contravention. It empowers an authorised person to serve an enforcement notice upon a person if the authorised person is of the opinion that another person has contravened or is contravening the provision of the EU Regulation. An authorised person has been defined in clause 2 of the Bill. An authorised person means a person authorised by the Environmental Agency or by the Minister under Clause 8.

420 This Clause also sets out the requirements in relation to the enforcement notice. It must state that the authorised person is of that opinion, specify the matters constituting the contravention or the matters making it likely that the contravention will arise, as the case may be, specify the steps that must be taken to remedy or avert the contravention, specify the period within which those steps must be taken and state (1) that the person on whom the notice is served has the right of appeal to the Magistrates Court; and (2) the period within which the appeal may be brought.

An enforcement notice may at any time be withdrawn by an authorised person. Also, a person on whom an enforcement notice is served must comply with it at their own expense and if an enforcement notice is 425 not complied with, the enforcing authority may arrange for it to be complied with at the expense of the person on whom it was served.

Clause 10 sets out the special provisions in respect of enforcement notices.

430 Clause 11 deals with the powers of the Minister under the Bill. The Minister with responsibility for the Environment may by notice require a person in possession of a controlled substance or product or equipment containing or relying on a controlled substance that has been produced, placed on the market or imported or is intended to be or is being exported in contravention of the EU Regulation, to dispose of it or otherwise render it harmless in accordance with the notice.

435 Clause 12 deals with the powers of customs officers to detain and seize any controlled substance or product or equipment which the customs officer believes is being imported in contravention of Article 15 of the EU Regulation or exported in contravention of Article 17 of the Regulation. The Collector of Customs is also empowered under this clause to detain in his custody anything detained and seized by customs officers pending proceedings or until it is decided that proceedings shall not be brought.

Clause 13 places a duty on the Minister with responsibility for the Environment to review the Act and submit reports in accordance with the requirements of the EU Regulation.

440 And finally, clause 14 repeals the Environmental Protection (Controls and Substances that Deplete the Ozone Layer) Act 1997 which implements Regulation No 3093/94 on Substances that Deplete the Ozone Layer, as this EC Regulation has been replaced by this one.

I commend the Bill to the House.

445 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to contribute and speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

450 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, no. Just to say that this is the implementation of an EU directive and therefore it will enjoy the support of the Opposition bench.

Mr Speaker: I will therefore put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to give effect in the law of Gibraltar to Regulation (EC) No 1005/2009 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 16th September 2009 on Substances that Deplete the Ozone Layer, as amended by Commission Regulation (EU) No 744/2010 of 18th August 2010, with regard to the critical uses of halons, be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Substitute Clerk: The Environmental Protection (Controls on Ozone Depleting Substances) Act 2014.

Environmental Protection (Controls on Ozone-Depleting Substances) Bill 2014 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting 460 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken, if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc) (Amendment) Bill 2014 – First Reading approved

465 Substitute Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc.) Act 1993. The Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port.

Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc.) Act 1993 be read a first time.

470 Mr Speaker: I now put the question that a Bill for an Act to amend the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc.) Act 1993 be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Substitute Clerk: The Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc.) (Amendment) Act 2014.

Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc) (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Second Reading approved

Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa):
Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill be now read a second time.

475 Mr Speaker, this is a short, in fact I should say extraordinarily short belt-and-braces Bill to ensure that the 1996 Protocol to the Convention on Limitation of Liability for Maritime Claims 1976 is given full effect in Gibraltar. It does so by inserting ‘as amended from time to time’ after the Conventions full title in the schedule to the principal Act.

480 Both the Convention and the Protocol were extended to Gibraltar some time ago and the Protocol has, in any event, already entered our legislation through an administrative instruction published as a legal notice in the Gazette, in a Legal Notice 2014/019 of 20th February of this year.

For the information of this House, the Protocol, as reflected in the administrative instruction just mentioned, raises the limits of liability for maritime claims and provides a simpler mechanism for future increases to the limits of liability.

485 I would also note, Mr Speaker, that an additional benefit of the amendment is that it will cater for any future changes to the Convention which affect Gibraltar, without needing to amend the principal Act.

Mr Speaker, I commend the Bill to the House.

490 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to contribute on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc.) Act 1993 be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Substitute Clerk: The Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc.) (Amendment) Act 2014.

Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc) (Amendment) Bill 2014 Bill 2014 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

495 Minister for Tourism, Commercial Affairs, Public Transport and the Port (Hon. N F Costa):
Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

500 Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Marriage (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
First Reading approved

Substitute Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Marriage Act.
The Hon. the Chief Minister

505 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Marriage Act be read a first time.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Marriage Act be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

510 Substitute Clerk: The Marriage (Amendment) Act 2014.

Marriage (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Second Reading approved

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I beg to move that the Bill for an Act to amend the Marriage Act be read now a second time.

515 Mr Speaker, the purpose of this Bill is to derive greater economic benefit for Gibraltar from those who are contemplating getting married here or on a Gibraltar flag ship. It does so in two ways. Firstly, by requiring couples who are married under a special licence to spend at least one night in Gibraltar with the attendant hotel restaurant and related spending that this will hopefully entail. Secondly, by permitting marriages by Gibraltar appointed Deputy Registrars to be contracted on board passenger ships registered in Gibraltar.

520 Mr Speaker, with regard to the overnight stay, I should point out that the Government has been careful not to make the requirement onerous or rigid – for example, by allowing the night in question to be either before or after the marriage is contracted and so we are not requiring consummation to now occur in Gibraltar in any way, Mr Speaker, by changing the Bill in this way – and by allowing the parties to choose to meet the requirement by spending the relevant night as the guests of a Gibraltar resident, rather than an hotel, if appropriate.

525 Further, Mr Speaker, this policy of the Cabinet was the result of a detailed consultation by the Minister for Tourism, who would have moved this Bill, but this is a matter of personal status and therefore under my ministerial responsibility, with all the relevant stakeholders individually and via the United Kingdom Tourism Association. I am sure that it will please the House to learn, Mr Speaker, that there was unanimous agreement as to the potentially advantageous effects of this new policy initiative.

530 Mr Speaker, the House will want to note that the one-night-stay requirement – also absent the requirement for it to be consummation – is already (Laughter) included in the Civil Partnership Act at section 12.

535 With regard to the amendments to facilitate special licence marriages to be contracted aboard Gibraltar registered passenger ships by Gibraltar appointed Deputy Registrars, the Government expects that over the long term, and given the many other benefits to registering under the Gibraltar flag, these changes to the Act may actually persuade the owners of passenger ships to re-register their vessels under the Gibraltar Flag, which would be a very good thing too.

Before I conclude, I stress that the amendments today proposed to the Marriage Act do not affect Gibraltar residents and that the legal requirements remain as before in respect of marriages by residents.

540 Mr Speaker, this Bill is one more example of the Government commitment to promote Gibraltar as a tourism destination and to be innovative in its approach to developing the activities of the Gibraltar Ship Registry.

I commend the Bill to the House.

545 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Marriage Act be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

550 Substitute Clerk: The Marriage (Amendment) Act 2014.

Marriage (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

555 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that Committee Stage and Third Reading be taken later today? (Members: Aye.)

Gibraltarian Status (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
First Reading approved

Substitute Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Gibraltarian Status Act.

560 The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill for an Act to amend the Gibraltarian Status Act be read a first time.

565 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that the Bill for an Act to amend the Gibraltarian Status Act be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those Against? Agreed.

Substitute Clerk: The Gibraltarian Status (Amendment) Act 2014.

Gibraltarian Status (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Second Reading approved

570 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill be now read a second time.

Mr Speaker, this short Bill does two things in respect of this Act. The first is that it provides that so long as a father's name appears on a child's birth certificate where there is a relationship between a father and child, whether it is legitimate or illegitimate, the child will be able to be registered under the Gibraltarian Status Act, something which is not the case at the moment and has caused a lot of angst and hardship to many people in families which these days are not necessarily families that emerge in marriage.

575 Mr Speaker, we think that it is appropriate to make this change. Being registered under the Gibraltarian Status Act means a lot to people, who are Gibraltarian otherwise by blood, and Mr Speaker, the inability to have one's offspring registered under the Act does cause people a huge amount of concern. The Government is happy to move to make this amendment.

580 Mr Speaker, the Act has been on our Statute Book since 1962 and has seen society change. There have been changes made previously to the Act – for example, to allow the children of Gibraltarian women to register as Gibraltarian, whereas before the lineage was dealt with in only the male line. Mr Speaker, it is also true that the changes or the reason for the Act in 1962 was to ensure principally that in a referendum those who were able to vote would be those registered under this Act and not all and sundry who might be resident in Gibraltar.

585 The first referendum came in 1967, Mr Speaker, and it was only those registered under the Act then that were able to vote. The second in our lifetimes – certainly in the lifetimes of those of the younger generation of this Parliament perhaps, the only one we lived through and the one that most of us in this room were able to vote in – was in 2002. In that instance the franchise was extended by this House, Mr Speaker, by common agreement to all British Citizens who were resident in Gibraltar for more than 10 years.

590 Mr Speaker, that brings me to the second amendment, which is the amendment to section 9(f) of the Gibraltarian Status Act, which deals with how people can become eligible to register under the Gibraltarian Status Act if they are not otherwise eligible to be so registered.

595 Mr Speaker, under the existing Act an individual would have to be British and resident in Gibraltar for more than 25 years and at least the last 10 years before they sought registration. In 1962, Mr Speaker, 25 years is what one might call a lifetime – certainly a very long time indeed.

600 Mr Speaker, today, in a world of 24-hour news and instant communication, when somebody gives a country 10 years of their lives, they are probably giving it the equivalent of 25 years of their lives so many years ago. The world is now a very small place. People are able to move from one place to another at the drop of a hat. In the European Union we can move from one state to another without the need to seek permission. So somebody who stays in Gibraltar for 10 years stays because Gibraltar means something to them and that was clearly recognised by this House in extending the franchise to those British citizens who had been here for more than 10 years in the seminal referendum of 2002 that saw off the joint sovereignty proposals of the British and Spanish Governments and, as I said yesterday, of course with the important input that we had from our friends in Parliament through our Gibraltar representative.

605 Mr Speaker, we have therefore taken the view that if in a seminal moment such as came in 2002 we were prepared to exchange the franchise 12 years ago to British people who had been here more than 10 years, it is right that we also extend not just the franchise, but the right to be registered and identified as Gibraltarian under the Gibraltarian Status Act to people who have been here for more than 10 years and who are British citizens. There are people, Mr Speaker, who are here because they love Gibraltar. They love Gibraltar probably as much as we all love Gibraltar. They have made Gibraltar their home. They bring their families to Gibraltar. This is the place where they wish to live the rest of their lives. This is the place where they wish to be buried.

615 Mr Speaker, in English tax – something much less emotional than being registered as a Gibraltar – one’s domicile is defined as the place where one wishes to be buried. So for many people, even under the much colder tax statute, many of those British people would consider Gibraltar their domicile and would objectively be deemed to see Gibraltar as their domicile. They are part, Mr Speaker, of the Gibraltarian family and there is no reason why they should not be able to register under the Gibraltarian Status Act as Gibraltarians do.

620 I commend the Bill to the House. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

625 I will now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Gibraltarian Status Act be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against. Carried.

Substitute Clerk: The Gibraltarian Status (Amendment) Act 2014.

Substitute Clerk: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

700

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to report that the Marriage (Amendment) Bill 2014; the Gibraltarian Status (Amendment) Bill 2014; the Public Health (Amendment) Bill 2014; the Environmental Protection (Controls on Ozone-Depleting Substances) Bill 2014; the Companies Bill 2014; the Insolvency (Amendment) Bill 2014; the Insolvency Consequential Provisions Bill 2014; the Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment) Bill 2014; Prison (Amendment) Bill 2014; and the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc.) (Amendment) Bill 2014 have all been considered in Committee and passed with amendment.

705

Mr Speaker, I think the Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment) Bill must be 2014, not 2011, despite the reference in the crib to it.

710

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that the Marriage (Amendment) Bill 2014; the Gibraltarian Status (Amendment) Bill 2014; the Public Health (Amendment) Bill 2014; the Environmental Protection (Controls on Ozone-Depleting Substances) Bill 2014; the Companies Bill 2014; the Insolvency (Amendment) Bill 2014; the Insolvency Consequential Provisions Bill 2014; the Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment) Bill 2014; the Prison (Amendment) Bill 2014; and the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc.) (Amendment) Bill 2014 be read a third time and passed.

715

Those in favour of the Marriage (Amendment) Bill 2014? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Those in favour of the Gibraltarian Status (Amendment) Bill 2014? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

720

Those in favour of the Public Health (Amendment) Bill 2014? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Those in favour of the Environmental Protection (Controls on Ozone-Depleting Substances) Bill 2014? (Members: Aye.) That is carried.

725

Those in favour of the Public Health (Amendment) Bill 2014? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Those in favour of the Companies Bill 2014? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Those in favour of the Insolvency (Amendment) Bill 2014? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Those in favour of the Insolvency (Consequential Provisions) Bill 2014? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

730

Those in favour of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment) Bill 2014? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Those in favour of the Prison (Amendment) Bill 2014? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Those in favour of the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc.) (Amendment) Bill 2014? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

735

Mr Speaker: Private Members' Motion?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, can I move now that the House recess for 15 minutes?

740

Mr Speaker: Very well.

The House will now recess for 15 minutes.

The House recessed at 3.47 p.m. and resumed its sitting at 4.14 p.m.

PRIVATE MEMBER'S MOTION

Regulation of fishing in British Territorial Waters – Licences required to fish with nets – Statement from Government Substitute Clerk: Private Member's Motion.

The Hon. D A Feetham.

745

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move the motion standing in my name which reads as follows:

'THIS HOUSE calls on the Government to provide an immediate comprehensive statement to the House as to its intentions in relation to the regulation of fishing in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters and whether it intends to require members of the La Linea and Algeciras Cofradias to apply for licences in Gibraltar to fish with nets in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters.'

750

Mr Speaker, it is important to place this debate in its proper context. In 1991, the then GSLP Government introduced the Nature Protection Ordinance, a very worthwhile piece of environmental legislation, which imposed an outright ban on fishing with nets, all types of nets, in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters. Mr Speaker, that was always bound to create a certain amount of tension, because whether we like it or not, whether it is right or not, Spanish fishermen have been fishing in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters with nets for generations.

755

Mr Speaker, I had recently the pleasure of talking to a retired doctor and I think that he has published his views in an opinion piece in the Chronicle, but I am not going to mention his name out of an abundance of caution, just in case my recollection is not accurate. He said to me that during the 1950s when he was called on board a ship in order to treat a patient on board a ship, he had to navigate very many Spanish nets in the Bay out there in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters. Spanish fishermen have been fishing in our waters for many, many years. Of course, the Nature Protection Act, worthwhile as it is, went much further than similar environmental laws in other jurisdictions. Imagine, for example, Mr Speaker, if Spain and the United Kingdom had decided to impose an outright ban on fishing with nets in virtually the entirety of their territorial waters.

760

Mr Speaker, it is of course for Parliament to introduce laws and it is for enforcement agencies to enforce those laws, and from 1991 to 1997 the Nature Protection Act was enforced with a level of common sense that has long been the hallmark of the Royal Gibraltar Police. There is no doubt that Spanish fishermen would come in to our waters. There is no doubt that they would lay nets, but when they were asked to move on by the RGP, they did so. There was never a policy, Mr Speaker, of zero tolerance, as indeed there is not a policy of zero tolerance in relation to many other areas of the law. The RGP had a discretion as to whether to invoke any of their powers or not.

770

Mr Speaker, an outright ban does create tension, because sooner or later continued breaches of the law cannot be justified and inevitably lead to the full force of the law to be applied in any particular situation. I make that point, Mr Speaker, because I think that it is worthwhile legislation, and it is a worthwhile amendment, and the Government is not going to be criticised for coming to this House. Indeed it cannot come to this House now because it is going to have to do it by secondary legislation, but the Opposition will not criticise the Government for introducing legislation in Gibraltar that allows Spanish fishermen to fish with some form of EU-compliant nets, because we think it is perfectly reasonable for the Government to introduce legislation of that nature and end what is the present situation which is an outright, effectively, ban on the use of nets in most of or large parts of British Gibraltar Territorial Waters.

780 Mr Speaker, from 1997 to 1998 the actions of Spanish fishermen became much more militant. At the time the Government in Spain sought to harness that militancy to try and wage the type of campaign that we have recently witnessed in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters. It culminated, of course, in the arrest of a Spanish fishing vessel La Piraña and one curious but important factor that is often overlooked in an analysis of those events is that the Spanish fishing vessel La Piraña was loaded with Spanish journalists at 785 the time that it was arrested. It was obvious that its entry into British Gibraltar Territorial Waters was designed to provoke a crisis, with maximum public and political exposure, and it did, because we all know that that arrest, justified as it was, led the Spanish fishermen to block the Frontier in protest and it led to some very ugly scenes indeed.

790 It is in that context, Mr Speaker, that my predecessor, as leader of the GSD, and indeed the Hon. the Leader of the House, as predecessor of the Chief Minister, in what must rank as one of the most intelligent... one of the most intelligent moves in Gibraltar's interest by any Chief Minister in the history of this place, managed to decouple Spanish fishermen from the influence of Madrid and managed to cut the strings allowing the puppeteer to control Spanish fishermen as an instrument of conflict against Gibraltar by entering into an Agreement directly with the Spanish fishermen, which completely defused a very difficult and dangerous situation indeed, so much so, Mr Speaker, that the PP Government at the time, whatever Mr 795 Margallo may say at the moment, was absolutely disgusted with the Agreement and condemned it in very, very strong terms, and the reasons are obvious.

By that Agreement, Spanish fishermen agreed to genuflect to our sovereignty to our jurisdiction and control over our waters, and to genuflect and respect the instructions of the RGP and indeed the laws of 800 Gibraltar. Above all what it did... what the 1999 Agreement did was to return to the status quo ante the outbreak of the crisis, and of course five of those years were years under the GSLP administration because at the time of the 1999 Agreement this was very much a nascent GSD administration. All the Agreement did was to find a diplomatic solution to a very significant and difficult problem for Gibraltar indeed.

805 That the GSD could have amended the Nature Protection Act, Mr Speaker, in order to allow for regulated fishing with nets. Yes, it could have, but that may be susceptible to criticisms. Perhaps it might be susceptible to criticism. I do not need to defend my predecessor, Mr Speaker, but having spoken to him, he has said that certainly during those early years and large parts of the time that he was Chief Minister, what he did not want to do was to be seen to be legislating under pressure from anybody, least of all under pressure from the Spanish Government. But, of course, we certainly had plans in 2011 to do so and had we 810 been elected into office, we would have amended the Nature Protection Act in order to allow for regulated fishing with nets – in other words nets that comply with EU law – and indeed, we might have allowed fishing during some seasons or parts of the year and not during others. Therefore, again, Mr Speaker, I want to make it absolutely plain and clear that I do not criticise the Government for any plans to allow fishing with EU compliant nets in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters.

815 Mr Speaker, history is a great educator of men and it is a real shame that the hon. Gentleman opposite failed to learn from some of the events in the 1990s. It has never been the thrust of our criticism of the Government, but the Government should not have replaced the 1999 Agreement. It is the sudden confining of the 1999 Agreement to the dustbin of history without carefully thinking about the consequences of not having anything to take its place that has been the main thrust of our criticism. It was described,
820 Mr Speaker, by the Chamber of Commerce as a rookie error, and indeed, I believe that that is a particularly apposite description of the error of the Government in its handling of this particular issue. All it did was to allow Spanish fishermen to make common cause with the PP Government in Spain and not only enter British Gibraltar Territorial Waters to fish with nets, but to do so escorted by the Guardia Civil.

825 So the very thing, Mr Speaker, that the 1999 Agreement did... the decoupling of the influence of the PP Government in Madrid over Spanish fishermen locally to the detriment of Gibraltar unfortunately was the inevitable conclusion of the actions of the present Government. From genuflection of our sovereignty, jurisdiction and control, it turned into an outright challenge of our sovereignty, jurisdiction and control, and the Government must accept responsibility for its part in that.

830 Mr Speaker, for all his championing of the rule of law, the rule of law in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters has not prevailed since he made his decision to tear up the 1999 Agreement. It was as large a monumental mistake as it was avoidable. The result, I repeat, is that the Spanish fishermen are now tools in the hands of the PP Government.

835 I began by saying, Mr Speaker, this part of my address, that history is a great educator of men. I know that the hon. Gentleman thinks that he can learn nothing from the GSD Government. We can speak about the rule of law all we like. The principal job and the principal concern of any Chief Minister of Gibraltar is to keep the people of Gibraltar safe and secure and to avoid anything that creates instability and insecurity within this jurisdiction that we are all here and this community that we are all here to serve and that we all love so much. This has just created, Mr Speaker, a huge sense of instability, insecurity and uncertainty, at a 840 time when it was obvious that the PP Government was looking for excuses, tools and pawns to use as a tool against Gibraltar. It was therefore incumbent, Mr Speaker, on the hon. Member, as Leader of this House and Leader of this community to deal with the situation as expeditiously as possible... a solution to the crisis as expeditiously as possible.

845 From the very early juncture, Mr Speaker, we said, 'Change the law to allow regulated fishing with nets'. Regulation can take a number of forms. You can either require Spanish fishermen to apply for a licence in Gibraltar or you may decide not to, because you may decide to recognise the fact that Spanish fishermen have been fishing in Gibraltar Waters for many, many years, and you decide to say, 'Well, look, if you are a member of the Cofradia of Algeciras or you are a member of the Cofradia of La Linea, we are going to treat you as if you are licensed in Gibraltar'. There are many ways in which to deal with the issue. 850 Likewise, Mr Speaker, one can allow fishing with nets in particular seasons and not allow it in others in order to allow fishing stocks to recover, but what was required was very early intervention and not allowing the wound to fester for years.

855 Had they come to this Parliament at an early juncture to amend the Nature Protection Act, we would have supported it. Instead, Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman, Mr Picardo, the Chief Minister has prevaricated and prevaricated to the extent that in my view positions have hardened and it has become much more difficult to deal with the situation. He has become a prisoner of his early mistakes, for reasons that I am going to develop in a few moments. Mistakes that explain his constant ducking and diving and the refusal to answer my questions in this Parliament, as is his obligation as Chief Minister of Gibraltar, because by answering my questions he becomes accountable to the people of Gibraltar, the very same people who elected him to serve as Chief Minister in the first place. (A Member: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks) Before I do so, Mr Speaker – (Interjections) I want to give an account of what has happened since the Government decided to tear up the 1999 Agreement in that rookie error in the first place. 860

865 Mr Speaker, on 30th March 2012 the Government issued a press release stating that technical talks were to take place with the Spanish fishermen in order to explain the Government's stance, post the tearing up of the 1999 Agreement. Surprisingly, Mr Speaker, those talks took place with the Commissioner of Police, not with the Government. Of course, the Spanish fishermen came to that meeting armed with their own proposals to deal with the situation, and we saw the unseemly sight, Mr Speaker, of the Commissioner of Police having to be a messenger in between Spanish fishermen and the Chief Minister of Gibraltar.

870 On 17th April, the Government recognised that it would have to deal with the Spanish fishermen directly and not just shelter behind the Commissioner of Police. The Hon. the Chief Minister, the Deputy Chief Minister and the Minister for the Environment met with Spanish fishermen to explain their policy.

875 In May 2012, the Government then announced the creation of a Cross-Border Commission, which would ultimately provide input and inform the production of a Government sponsored report, and I quote, the management... the 'Report on the Management of Marine Living Resources in the Waters around Gibraltar' or colloquially referred to as the fishing report.

880 On 3rd August the Chief Minister met with representatives of the Cofradia de Algeciras and proclaimed that, and I quote, 'very considerable progress had been made by the Commission'. That is in August of the very year of March that Government broke, or tore up the 1999 Agreement and he said that within 10 days preliminary recommendations would be made. All then went quiet, Mr Speaker, except that all the while the Spanish fishermen kept on coming into British Gibraltar Territorial Waters fishing with impunity, either accompanied or not accompanied by the Guardia Civil.

885 And it is not until December 2012 when the Government said that it had received, finally received the fishing report, but of course that fishing report could not be published because, in the words of the Minister for the Environment, the report needed to be formatted. The formatting of the report took another six months until June 2013, when under intense public pressure, Mr Speaker, the Chief Minister bowed to that pressure and decided to publish the report.

890 Mr Speaker, the one indisputable fact about that report is that the report does not recommend, does not recommend a change in the law in order to relax the law on fishing with nets in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters. Mr Speaker, a Government is never bound, never bound to follow recommendations of a report. It has happened on many occasions that Governments have not followed all the recommendations of a report that they themselves commissioned. But it took the Government over a year from when the conflict first broke to the time they decided to publish the report, and then the Government decides not to follow the recommendations.

895 Well, look, Mr Speaker, the people of Gibraltar are entitled to ask what on earth has it all been for? What on earth has the Government been playing at in relation to this particular issue? People can see there is more fishing in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters than ever before.

Mr Speaker, in November 2013, the Government then introduced amendments to the Nature Protection Act to allow for secondary legislation to be introduced to allow, it appeared from public statements made by the Government... it is not clear from the Act itself, but from public statements made by the 900 Government, for regulated fishing with nets in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters. It certainly allowed for those regulations to be introduced.

The Government decided to take advantage of the Opposition, as it was their right to take advantage of the Opposition's absence because of the Credit Finance issue, in order to plough ahead with the debate on the Bill, despite the fact that we had indicated that we would be returning after lunch for that debate. They decided that is their prerogative. But, Mr Speaker, it is not right to say, as he has said, and his supporters 905 have propagated in social media and elsewhere, that the reason why the Government has not provided proper explanations to this House and through this House to the people of Gibraltar is because the Opposition did not participate in that debate.

I have asked him questions about what the Government intends to do about regulation in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters on four or five occasions in this House, Mr Speaker, and he has refused to answer those questions on every single occasion. If anybody saw the interview that the hon. Gentleman gave after the interview that Stephen Neish did with me precisely on this issue, people would have seen that the Hon. the Chief Minister is simply ducking and diving using every excuse in the book so as not to account to the people of Gibraltar as to the Government's intentions as to what it intends to do in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters.
910

Mr Speaker, he is the Chief Minister who described himself as the new dawn Chief Minister leading the new dawn Government. He is the time for change, Chief Minister, leading the time for change Government. Well, what kind of new dawn? What kind of change? It is a situation, Mr Speaker, where we know that people across the border in Spain know more about the intentions of the Government of Gibraltar, about what it intends to do in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters than Her Majesty's Opposition here in Gibraltar, than the people of Gibraltar, because he has not deigned to make a statement to this House in this Parliament, which after all is here to serve the people of Gibraltar.
920

We know, Mr Speaker, that there have been proposals, that have been put, or certainly a discussion paper that has been put to Spanish fishermen, because the Government itself has admitted that that is so in statements that it has made to the media here in Gibraltar. I understand the difficulty that he has. I really do.
925 I understand that if you take the decision to effectively dumb down the law or relax the law and allow for fishing with nets in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters, the last thing that you want, of course, is to dumb down the law and then have Spanish fishermen coming into British Gibraltar Territorial Waters and still breaking our laws.

It is eminently sensible – because I have said it to him before that he should do so – to effectively go to Spain, talk to the Spanish fishermen and try and obtain a measure, not an agreement, because that implies that Spanish fishermen will have a veto as to what happens in Gibraltar, which is an anathema to anybody that loves this country and loves this Parliament; but, of course, at the very least explain to them and consult with them in relation to the proposed changes. He is caught on the horns of a dilemma because if they do not buy into the legislation, as it is going to be amended, he is going to have exactly the same situation as is happening now with Spanish fishermen coming into British Gibraltar Territorial Waters breaching our laws, but with a law that is significantly dumbed down and relaxed, and that is not going to be acceptable to anybody, least of all to the people of Gibraltar.

Mr Speaker, laws are there to be enforced and the reality is, Mr Speaker, that at some stage we are all going to have to collectively look at ourselves and there is going to be an outcry in this community, in the sense that at some stage we are just simply going to have to enforce those laws. What I urge him to do, Mr Speaker, is to bite the bullet. If he thinks that what is good for this jurisdiction is to introduce proper regulated fishing in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters, go ahead and do it. You have tried to explain it to the Spanish fishermen. They have not accepted it. Well, go ahead and do it, but let us make sure that nobody makes a mockery of our laws in the future. Let us make sure that if having introduced those laws, and those laws continue to be breached with impunity, that something is done about it, Mr Speaker.
940

But, of course, unfortunately, Mr Speaker, because the hon. Gentleman refuses to make a statement in this House and refuses to provide answers to the questions that I have sought, which are very reasonable questions and well within the remit of what is within my responsibility as Leader of the Opposition, we do not know what the Government intends to do and we can only speculate.
945

But I urge the hon. Member to take a leaf out of his own political discourse at the last election and to be transparent, to be open about this particular issue, and to make a full statement about what he intends to do in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters.
950

Mr, Speaker, I commend the motion to the House. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: I now propose the question in the terms of the motion moved by the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition, Mr Daniel Feetham.
955

I call upon the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I am grateful.

960 Mr Speaker, I think it is important that after that full frontal attack apparently on my credibility, given what the hon. Gentleman has said, which really puts one in mind of that great phrase of that great defender of self-determination, Margaret Thatcher, that one feels like one has been mauled by a sheep. It is worth reading the motion that the hon. Member has put and not really spoken to.

He says this in his motion:

‘This House calls on the Government to provide an immediate comprehensive statement to the House as to its intentions in relation to the regulation of fishing in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters and whether it intends to require Members of the La Linea and Algeciras Cofradias to apply for licences in Gibraltar to fish with nets in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters.’

965 So I guess that is ‘and whether in particular the intention would be’, because otherwise they are two statements of intention. Okay, well, that is the motion, and I will go through some of the things that the hon. Gentleman has said about what he likes to call the fishing ‘crisis’, in the context of my reply to what he has said; but I need to draw the attention of the House to the wording of the motion and what the motion, as drafted, tries to get at.

970 He uses the word ‘intention’. Intention means – and this is the longer Oxford Dictionary... the 20 volume one which it was long my ambition to possess and is now in my possession – the action of straining or directing the mind or attention to something; mental application or effort; attention; intent observation or regard; endeavour; the action or faculty of understanding; a way of understanding; the way in which anything is to be understood; the action of intending or proposing; the volition which one is minded to carry out; that which is intended or proposed; a purpose or a design.

975 Mr Speaker, the Government is answerable in this House for the things that it does, but we are not answerable for our thoughts. We are not answerable for simply wanting to consider things and develop them. The hon. Gentleman is not entitled to come into our heads and see what we are thinking about.

980 My old law tutor used to say that intent is something that can never be objective. Somebody who kills another person may kill him in an act of self-defence, where there was no intention to kill. He used to say to me that there is not a light on anybody’s head that goes on when they intend to murder and is not on if they kill without intention.

985 The reason for that analysis of what it is that the word ‘intention’ means is very simply this. In the context of asking questions in this House in the context of this motion, hon. Members opposite seem to think that they are entitled not just to reports, but to work done in the context of preparing reports; not just final reports, but draft reports; not just ‘what is your policy?’, also ‘what do you think might be your policy?’. Mr Speaker, it is not possible to conduct a Government on the basis of simply telling the hon. Gentleman everything we are thinking. You would have thought if they had conducted themselves in Government from a position of giving us all their preparatory work, all their reports and defending that level of transparency, it would be right for them to demand the same; but they did not even give us the final fruit of work.

990 Yesterday, we looked at what reports they did not give us. They did not give us the report into GBC. They did not give us the report into Customs. Any report which they had prepared they said was internal and for the Government. We went to the Election saying we would be more transparent. We would publish those reports and we would publish any report we obtained, and we will; but it does not mean that we have to give them every scrap of paper on which we may write something whilst we prepare a report. That is not transparency, Mr Speaker. That is absolutely ridiculous. It would be impossible to conduct a Government in that way and the hon. Gentleman knows it.

1000 He knows that by asking us about our intention, he is really intending to put us in an impossible position and I will start replying to the things that he has said by starting at the end, where he said, ‘I understand the difficulty he has.’ You dumb down the law, but the last thing you want is that they – the Spanish fishermen – still come and break our laws. So it is right to talk to the Spanish fishermen. That is what he says, right? Talk to the Spanish fishermen.

1005 Well, he knows, and so does everybody else, that we have had a technical discussion with the Spanish fishermen. We have made no secret of it. We had discussions with them through law enforcement agents. We had discussions with them ourselves. He has set out the chronology of some of them. We have had our technical people talk to their technical people. We have made absolutely no secret of it. But is he also saying – because it is of course nonsense if he is saying it... not that it has ever stopped him before – that all of that has to be played out in the public domain? Namely, if you want to talk to the Spanish fishermen, you must say in this Parliament what you are going to say to them first.

1010 He himself has illustrated what the Spanish Foreign Ministry thought of the Agreement done in 1999. He himself must know – of course, not that it matters to his attempt to try and somehow in his Shakespearian dramatic way try and check the Government – that if we were to say what it is we are going to put to the Spanish fishermen and discuss with them at a technical level, the Spanish Foreign Ministry would quickly type up the Hansard of these proceedings themselves and not wait for it to be published, and say to the Spanish fishermen, 'This is not acceptable'. Is he saying that every discussion that we have to have, we have to have not just openly, in the sense that we say that the meeting is taking place, but that we must let the cameras into the meeting? Mr Speaker, it is of course plainly ridiculous for him to suggest that, but that is what he is suggesting. He is saying, 'You are talking to them. You must tell me what it is you are going to talk to them about'.

Are we a little bit here in the Glyn Ford situation, because when we say a year and a half ago, look that we are not prepared to tell you what Glyn Ford is doing publicly, but we will tell you behind the Speaker's Chair and we will give you all the details of his contract? They say, 'No, no, no. We want to know on the record'. In other words, que se entere España también, that Spain should know too. We want to know on the record. He does not say to me, Mr Speaker, 'Fabian we spoke over the summer on Privy Council terms. Let me know what is going on with the Spanish fishermen, because you know you have my support', because that is not the reality, Mr Speaker. What he wants to do is grandstand. He wants to say, 'He is saying something to the Spanish fishermen which he does not say to us in this Parliament to the people of Gibraltar'. He is not interested in us reaching an agreement with the Spanish fishermen because he does not want to talk to me about it behind the Speaker's Chair. He wants to grandstand about it. He wants to ask questions in Parliament which are not replied to, according to him, just because we will not tell him what he thinks he is going to hear; but that is him all over, Mr Speaker, because none of this discourse is about what is good for Gibraltar. I do not think it is even about what is good for the GSD. It is about what is good for Daniel Feetham, and he thinks that this is an area which he can really plough in order to try and garner some support.

Let me now go through the things that he has said, Mr Speaker. We do not deny that there have been Spanish fishermen fishing in Gibraltar waters for generations; it is obvious that they have. There was no legislation before. These are men of the sea, who earn their living from a hand-to-mouth existence. They come and go and for them there has never been a frontier here for generations, but from 1991 there was. He recognises that. I daresay he was supportive of it in 1991, and in relation to most of our laws, Mr Speaker, there is no zero tolerance policy. So, in other words, just because every Spanish fisherman was not stopped, arrested, had his ship or boat pulled up on the hard between 1991 and 1996, does not mean that the GSLP Government then was ignoring its own laws, because, absolutely right, enforcement – and I am glad he has understood this at last – enforcement is not a matter for the Parliament; it is for the law Enforcement Agencies.

That is why I took such issue when he said to some protesters outside the Convent that if he were Chief Minister he would remove the Commissioner of Police because he was not enforcing the law of Gibraltar at sea in the Nature Protection Act. Mr Speaker, I think he denied at the time that he had said it, but we all know that he did. Enforcement is a matter for the law enforcement agencies. It was between 1991 and 1996 in relation to this law, as to all the others. It was between 1996 and 1999. It was not between 1999 and 2011 and it has been since 2011 onwards, and that is the nub of the issue: what happened in 1999?

Between 1996 and 1999, under a GSD Administration, an issue started to occur and for three years there was an issue. For two years, rumbling. For one year, a very important issue that resulted in the closure of the Frontier by the Spanish fishermen. Can I just ask the House to recall that that was just one of the two occasions when under the GSD, in that first term, the frontier was closed by the Partido Popular Administration? One by the Spanish fishermen – the Spanish Government did very little to unblock the Frontier at the time – and secondly on the arrival of the P & O ship Aurora at some stage. In fact, I cannot put my hand on my heart and say it was before 2000. It may have been during the first or second GSD Administration when the Partido Popular in Spain closed the Frontier... a real crisis.

So between 1997 and 1998 these things start to bubble over. The Piraña incident occurs. Nothing like the Piraña incident has occurred on this occasion. There has been no closed Frontier situation, but to hear the hon. Gentleman... forget that it is Daniel Feetham, anyone, Mr Speaker, describe the utter capitulation of the Chief Minister of Gibraltar to the people who illegally blocked the frontier in 1999 as one of the most intelligent moves in Gibraltar's interests that decoupled the Spanish Fishing Federation from the Spanish Government, is really to see 'capitulation' described as genius. It is absolutely ridiculous. I do not think even they believed it at the time. They might have tried to sell it as something that there was no alternative but to do, but to say that with a gun to your head you give up and do what you are being asked to do, not by the huge Government of the giant that is Spain, but by a couple of guys who burn a tyre from La Atunara, I mean, frankly... well, I suppose it demonstrates what sort of backbone some people have.

But I am pleased to hear him describe the 1999 fishing agreement as an agreement, because in the past two and a half years we have even heard him say that that was not really an agreement. Well, certainly, Mr Speaker, it was not something that required the Spanish fishermen to genuflect to the jurisdiction of Gibraltar and its Parliament. One is almost tempted to say, 'Look, we are not going to support the motion. Let's put it to a vote and let's just vote... you know, eight/three, and defeat this, because standing up to have to challenge these sorts of remarks is really quite difficult to do.

So people understand what the Leader of the Opposition is saying, the Spanish fishermen wanted to do (a), (b) and (c). The law of Gibraltar prohibited (a), (b) and (c). The Chief Minister of Gibraltar entered into an Agreement that the Spanish fishermen, but nobody else and certainly no Gibraltarians, could do (a), (b) and (c). The Spanish fishermen came and did, against the law of Gibraltar, in keeping with that Agreement, (a), (b) and (c). That is them genuflecting to the jurisdiction of Gibraltar and to this Parliament's rights to legislate for those waters. It is such nonsense, Mr Speaker, that it does not really bear replying to.

Somebody can say to me, 'Look, we did it. It was convenient and in the scheme of things that was better than continuing the quarrel'. That, although I do not agree with, I can accept. It is possibly the dividing line between the two parties that one might be more pragmatic, as people politely refer to that sort of capitulation, than the other. I can accept that, Mr Speaker. But to try and get the public in Gibraltar to believe that the fishing agreement, which allowed the Spanish fishermen to do the things they wanted to do and which were against the law, meant that they were genuflecting to our laws is such drivel that it should not have passed his lips, because it shows utter disrespect for the mental capability of anybody who may be listening to this debate. It is really quite incredible that we are still hearing those arguments a year and a half or two years on.

Mr Speaker, he then himself says that under the Agreement all that happened was that we went back to the stage between 1991 and 1996 of non-zero tolerance. Well, I do not know how he gets there, Mr Speaker, but he seems to be happy with the period between 1991 and 1996 when there was no agreement and when there was not zero tolerance, which is more or less really where we are now. So I do not see why it is he does not just catch me in the Ante Chamber, congratulate me and not raise these points. But anyway, it is true that in 1999, having done the Agreement, they did not move to make an amendment to Gibraltar law, because the feeling was that if they did they might be seen to be capitulating the law of Gibraltar to what Spanish fishermen were dictating.

Do you know what, Mr Speaker, although I entirely disagreed with the Agreement, I can see their point in 1999; but in 2000, 2001, 2002, 2003, 2004, PSOE Government already, 2005, 2006, 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010 and 2011, how can you be doing something under pressure of something that occurred in 1999 if you had done it then? It does not actually mean anything not to have changed the law if they were going to do it. But today, at least we have had an explanation of why they did not change the law between 1999 and 2011, because they were going to change it in 2012. (Laughter) They were ready to do it, Mr Speaker, (Laughter) but they lost the Election. (Laughter) But why did they not turn up to the meeting with the Gibraltar Federation of Sea Anglers that the PDP and the GSLP and Liberals turned up to when we were being asked our views on these issues and say, simply, 'Do not worry brothers. Oh, anglers all of us here. We are going to change the law for you in 2012'. It does mean that he is slightly lacking in credibility, even on that point.

He says that history is a great educator of men. Mr Speaker, of course history is a great educator of men and it should have taught any Gibraltarian that surrendering to Spanish pressure is not actually going to get us anywhere. It is not going to get us anywhere whether it is pressure about fishing or pressure about tobacco or pressure about a reef or pressure about Another issue, insert as you will, when there is a Partido Popular Government in place, usually but sometimes even under the Socialists.

Mr Speaker, because somebody in the Chamber of Commerce may have described something that we have done on this side of the House as a matter of policy and in keeping with a manifesto commitment as a rookie error, believe me, we will not be losing one moment's sleep. That description by somebody – it is in the Report – is absolutely and utterly irrelevant to the Government. We did not consider that something like that should be done – going back to the law of the land – simply as a whim. This is a manifesto commitment of this Party. If it is a rookie error, it is a rookie error of every single person that voted for this Government. We have a mandate to return to the Nature Protection Act and undo the fishing agreement. So look, the fact that someone in the Chamber has said that it is a rookie error, well, look, you know, the hon. Gentleman puts great store by it; but, so what? I would describe much of his last 18 months as Leader of the Opposition as a collection of rookie errors connected by press releases. (Laughter) I assume it means very little to him, so he can understand perhaps in that way how little it means to us.

Mr Speaker, if the fishermen in Spain were making common cause with the Partido Popular as a result of us undoing the fishing agreement of 1999, then what of every other sector? Are we to believe that any sector that disagrees with the Government of Spain is a sector that is somehow going to be in our favour all the time? I have not heard anyone in Spain recently express very clearly their view that Gibraltar should not be Spanish, but he seems to have persuaded himself of the Spanish argument. His whole thesis in this debate is the thesis of Margallo and the thesis of Landaluce that all of this is befalling Gibraltar. All of this, what he calls crisis and which I call just exactly the same thing that was happening between 1996 and 2003 when they were in Government, is just normal Partido Popular behaviour.

He fails to grasp and analyse one aspect of the historic period between 1996 and 2003, which is: what happens after the fishing agreement? Whether he describes it as genuflection that they come to fish or I describe it as a breach of the rule of law, forget that. What happens at the frontier? Exactly the same thing that was happening the day before, except that the fishermen are not blocking it? So the Partido Popular

Government of Spain turns the screw on Gibraltar from 1996 to 1997... or 1997 when they are elected, even with them in Government, and continues to turn the screw after the 1999 Agreement. So the idea that somehow they broke the common cause between the fishermen and the Partido Popular Government and somehow gave us any advantage is utterly ridiculous... utterly ridiculous.

And then he says that by having undone the fishing agreement, what we have done is make the Spanish fishermen tools in the hands of the Partido Popular Government. As if they needed a tool. As if they needed an excuse. Mr Speaker, they would have gone for tobacco. They would have gone for anything as any excuse to attack Gibraltar, but he says, in what I think he thinks is the most well thought out and best scripted attack on me that he could ever come up with, that the principal job of any Chief Minister is to keep people safe and secure and avoid anything that creates instability. That is the point, Mr Speaker. I am not a Chief Minister that will tolerate the instability that comes from the rule of law being broken and the rule of law is broken when a Chief Minister does an agreement... in fact, the rule of law is mortally wounded when a Chief Minister does an agreement that allows one sector of a group of foreign individuals to come into our territory, our undisputed land and water, and do something there which nobody else is allowed to do. Unless you enshrine that in legislation, if you do that by agreement, the rule of law is dead, and that is not just my opinion, it is clearly the opinion of anybody who has bothered to study any law.

So the instability is created by the 1999 fishing agreement. The 1999 fishing agreement does not resolve issues at the Frontier. They stayed absolutely the same. The issue of whether you could design a law as to seasons and stocks etc is something which he knows he has seen already and we were looking at, as a Government, in the technical discussions that we were having. So if he is just trying to pretend now and the future whenever it is that we decide that we may want to consider the possibility of publishing a law in this respect, that this was his idea. Look, it is very clear that it is not and it is really nonsensical to pretend that it might be. Mr Speaker, it does not follow just because we are doing that, that we would ever be in a situation where we might pursue those issues into regulation. We may wish to. We may not wish to. The answer I have given him all along when he has asked his questions is that he will find out when we do that in regulations when they are published. There will be a press release and the press release will explain what it is that the regulations do, if he does not want to bother to read the regulations themselves. That is the way things happen in an open and transparent democracy.

He comes to another point, which is to say there is now more fishing than ever before and, on top of that, they come accompanied by these Spanish Guardia Civils. Well, he cannot say there is more fishing than ever before because the fishing was not monitored between 1999 and 2011. In some instances it appears that there is less fishing than ever before. In many instances, when the Police ask them to go away, they go away without dispute – exactly as was happening between 1991 and 1996 – but I will not hold my breath to hear his congratulations.

He got the answer the other day in the House that he did not want to get when he asked me the question: how many times have fishing vessels been accompanied by Spanish State vessels for each of the following months...? I gave him the answer. He was ready to pounce and there was a zero in every column. He was left denuded of argument because the things he says are just not happening; but he gets up and gives speeches as if there were an alternative reality out there, Mr Speaker, and I hope at least his supporters enjoy them otherwise it is a complete waste of taxpayers' time.

Anyway, he went on, Mr Speaker, to deal with what is probably the low point of his career as Leader of the Opposition so far, which was when he led his bunch of merry men – one of them the backbencher, very reluctantly – out of the door of this House because he disagreed with the way that we were dealing with a particular question. This all to create the pretence, the drama, the theatre that somehow this Government is not the most accountable in Gibraltar's history.

I am reminded, Mr Speaker, just as a small parenthesis, that this is our 23rd meeting of this Parliament. We have answered in those 23 meetings thousands of questions. Mr Speaker, in the eight years between 2003 and 2011, the GSD held 20 meetings of the House. In the two-and-a-half years since our election, we have held 23. This is the non-transparent, non-open, non-accountable Government. Well, look, Mr Speaker; it is clear that the new dawn is here. He just needs to perhaps take off his sunglasses.

Mr Speaker, he goes on to say that... in that period when he said, 'I will be back after lunch. It is a walkout, but I will be back after lunch'. I mean it was not a very principled walk-out (Laughter) but anyway... 'I will be back after lunch and so do not do anything else until I come back'. He needs to understand that he is not the Leader of the House, and if we are lucky he never will be, and therefore the timetable of the House is not in his hands. He could have walked out, made his point if he wished to in that way – it was up to him – and then come back, because I asked that he be notified that we were moving on to the next item on the Order Paper. It is not unusual for people sometimes in some other circumstances to leave a Chamber when something is happening which they do not agree with and then come back when we move on to the next item. Sir Peter, the hon. the backbencher, did so in relation to the Civil Partnerships Bill in order – as he told us – not to have to vote against it. Very well, he came in as soon as we had finished dealing with the Bill. They could have walked out for what was left of Question Time, the four or 1200 five questions, and come back in. So the debate on the parts of the Nature Protection Act that he is trying to engineer now is the debate we should have had then and I hope this has demonstrated to him the futility of walking out of a Chamber and not staying here and defending your own position and making your own argument, even if you are not going to succeed in winning the vote in it.

1205 But then he attacks me, Mr Speaker, saying that I won the Election on the basis of there being a new dawn, and what kind of new dawn is it when I will not tell him exactly what it is that will happen in respect of fishing and what is our intention etc as I do not make a statement. Well, Mr Speaker, that is just absolutely pathetic. It is not necessary for me to go around telling everybody every thought that pops into my head in order to be able to make out the case that I am transparent and that I am a new dawn. It is absolute nonsense to say that I need to utter every thought that comes into my mind in order to be transparent. It is ridiculous, Mr Speaker, absolutely ridiculous.

1210 I have dealt with his penultimate point, Mr Speaker, where he told us that if I felt it was appropriate to talk to the Spanish fishermen before – as he called it – I ‘dumb down the law’, he would support me in doing that. Now that it appears he thinks I am doing it, he is trying to blow that up as he sees it by requiring that I make a statement before I even talk to anybody about it. Well, Mr Speaker, okay, I understand the hypocrisy of his position.

1215 Then he says: ‘You are hoist on the horns of your own dilemma.’ Well, Mr Speaker; I do not feel my skin pinched anywhere by any horn at all. I am perfectly relaxed with the situation that we are in and I think so is the rest of the Government and so is most of the rest of our community, despite the fact that he continues constantly to try and pick as much propellant or jet fuel and throw it onto the flames of this issue to try and keep it in the headlines. Nobody else is bringing this issue forward. Nobody else is putting this issue in the headlines, only the Leader of the Opposition and maybe one Leoncio Fernández but nobody else other than Mr Feetham is putting this issue at the forefront of public debate. So I must tell him, I feel no horns (Laughter) and I sense no dilemma. But for reasons that I will come to, I think I will be able to demonstrate once again, with evidence, I think I will be able therefore to prove that he is actually hoist by his own petard (Laughter) but I shall leave that until the end.

1220 He tells us in his final repost that at least under the 1999 fishing agreement – I have got to read this because it is worth reading – they did not tolerate our laws being broken with impunity. Mr Speaker, if anybody believes that, then it is not that in our community we do not learn from history, it is that we re-write history Mr Speaker, and that is very, very dangerous indeed. In order to ensure that we do not do that and that we remember that the 1999 fishing agreement was actually an abject capitulation of our jurisdiction and the jurisdiction of this Parliament to legislate in respect of British Gibraltar Territorial Waters and to have our legislation in those waters respected by everyone, I move an amendment to the motion.

1230 The amendment, Mr Speaker, would be to delete all the words ‘after this House’ and insert the following language – (Interjections and laughter) in the best traditions of Parliamentary practice in Gibraltar (Laughter) – and insert the following language: ‘THIS HOUSE’ would stay. The following would read:

1240 ‘CONDEMNS the so-called fishing agreement entered into in 1999 between the then Government and a group of Spanish fishermen as contrary to the rule of law in its selective application of the law to some, but not to others;’

A Member: Hear, hear, hear. (Banging on desks).

1245 Hon. Chief Minister: Thank you, rent a mob. (Laughter) Your cheque is in the post. (Laughter)

‘BELIEVES that the 1999 fishing agreement purported to override the law of Gibraltar by setting out to regulate fishing in certain numbers, in certain locations, at certain distances and with certain methods even though this remained prohibited in law;

1250 TAKES NOTE of the excellent report entitled ‘The Management of Marine Living Resources in the Waters Around Gibraltar’ which was commissioned by the Government and published in December 2012;

CONSIDERS that the regulation of fishing and diving in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters must be handled in a sensible and responsible manner;

1255 THEREFORE WELCOMES the policy of the Government to engage in a process of consultation with many different stakeholders in relation to fishing and diving in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters and the announcement that Regulations are due to be published shortly by the Ministry for the Environment to start the process of regulating use of the marine environment;

AND REAFFIRMS the unquestionable British sovereignty, jurisdiction and control of the waters around Gibraltar as set out in the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea and the uninhibited right of the Parliament of Gibraltar to legislate in those waters as set out in the Gibraltar Constitution.’

I move that amendment, Mr Speaker, and with your leave I would ask to be allowed to speak on it.
(Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: I am sure the hon. Members know what the position is now.

1265

This is the Chief Minister's amendment. Hon. Members may speak to this amendment, including the Leader of the Opposition, right, but what hon. Members cannot do is to speak on this amendment... or rather speak on the motion of the Leader of the Opposition under this amendment. You cannot do both, okay?

1270

Hon. Chief Minister: So, Mr Speaker, on the amendment, the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Westminster Parliament has long been an ally of the people of Gibraltar. When the people of Gibraltar have faced, for example, the joint sovereignty debacle of the British Government in 2002, the Foreign Affairs Committee of the British Parliament was on the side of the people of Gibraltar. It took evidence from the then Chief Minister and the Leader of the Opposition and they made clear in their report that it was wrong for the British Government to go down the purported joint sovereignty route.

1275

In its Fourth Report, Mr Speaker, the Foreign Affairs Committee had this to say about the fishing agreement. This was in the same year, Mr Speaker. They had said it was sensible to talk to the fishermen. They had said it was sensible to try and reach an accommodation, but they said this, Mr Speaker, paragraph 25 of the Fourth Report:

1280

'There is one important constitutional point to be made in the context of the fishing dispute. The Commissioner of the Royal Gibraltar Police has operational responsibility for the RGP and "exercises normal policing discretion when taking decisions on operational matters, on the same lines as Chief Constables in the United Kingdom." Whatever agreement there may be between the British and Spanish Governments, or between Mr Caruana and the fishermen, it is for the Commissioner to decide how to enforce the law. It is wrong to place a Chief Officer in a position where he is asked to enforce the law in a way which is politically expedient. Ms Quin told the House that the Government hoped'

– and this is the Government of the United Kingdom, who Ms Quin represented from the Foreign Office –

'that the agreement'

– the fishing agreement –

'would be "backed up by legislation in the Gibraltar Assembly." We agree. We understand Mr Caruana's concern that amending the law might appear to be capitulation to Spanish pressure, but we do not believe that this is the case. We hope that the Government of Gibraltar will seek to amend the Nature Protection Ordinance so that the informal understanding about the extent to which it is not to be enforced is given proper legal effect.'

1290

And yet, despite that, in 2000, in 2001, in 2002, in 2003, in 2004, in 2005, in 2006, 2007, 2008, 2009, in 2010 and in 2011 they did nothing about it, having been told, not by Fabian Picardo, not by Joshua Gabay who did a sterling job in this House after the agreement, for the GSLP in Opposition, setting this issue out repeatedly, meeting after meeting, more eloquently than I ever could, but by the Foreign Affairs Committee of the United Kingdom Government... not that one is better than the other, but they are not the Opposition to the GSD as Joshua was in 1999, but I guess that is because they were going to do it in 2012, Mr Speaker.

1295

But if that were not enough, if the opinion of Joshua Gabay were not enough to convince Peter Caruana, if the opinion of the Foreign Affairs Committee that most times comes down on Gibraltar's side and I will say most because I have not read all of their reports and they might at some stage have said something we did not like, but if that were not enough, let me come to one more point, because the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition, Mr Feetham, has made the point that there was no breach of the rule of law, that all of these issues were not of great concern and that we should have stuck with the 1999 fishing agreement. If Joshua Gabay cannot persuade him, if the Foreign Affairs Committee cannot persuade him, if Fabian Picardo cannot persuade him, let me try Daniel Feetham.

1300

Mr Speaker, this is a press release issued by Daniel Feetham in 2003, in September:

'Chief Minister caught in crab controversy'

– I will allow him, Mr Speaker – if that was his headline on Panorama – at least a smirk because it is quite a funny headline. It could have meant anything, Mr Speaker, the Chief Minister caught in crab controversy –

‘Complaints are being received from both local amateur scuba divers and people concerned with nature conservation about the considerable amount of Spanish fishermen who are catching spider crabs (known in Spanish as Centollo) which is a protected species under the Nature Protection Ordinance.

It appears that these crabs are being taken to Spain to be sold there and when spotted by the RGP nothing is done to stop them.’

1310 – I assume that the error in syntax was an intention to refer to the fishermen taking them and not the arrest of the spider crab, as appears to be suggested by the sentence –

‘In the meantime when Gibraltarians are caught doing this they are arrested and subsequently charged for the offence. “We are also informed that the Chief Minister has received complaints about this but thus far, nothing has been done to tackle the issue”, says the Labour party.

The party adds: It will be recalled that the Government resolved the Spanish fishermen’s dispute by entering into a private agreement allowing them to fish in Gibraltar waters and, in particular, in areas designated a Marine Nature Area under section 18(2) of the Nature Protection Ordinance. Esta muy bien. La verdad es que no escribe muy bien a menudo, pero esto esta muy bien.

Marine Nature Areas are territorial waters designated as areas of special interest for the purposes of conserving marine flora or fauna and providing special opportunities for the study of, and research into, matters relating to marine flora and fauna. These areas are, therefore, of tremendous importance to Gibraltar’s marine wildlife and to the research carried on in them.

The party believes that both Gibraltarians and foreigners alike should respect Marine Nature Areas “and we also believe that protected species under the Ordinance should likewise be protected”.

It is a matter of great regret that our protected wildlife and our protected areas are pillaged in this way without respect. It is likewise a matter of great regret that Gibraltarians cannot expect equal treatment of the law in their own homeland. No doubt the RGP would be applying the law equally among locals and Spaniards if it had not been for the agreement reached as a consequence of the fishermen’s dispute.

“We do our society, underpinned as it is by the rule of law, a great disservice when we turn a blind eye to breaches of our laws and that disservice is compounded when the full force of our laws are applied only in respect of local youths and not foreigners,” says the party, which calls on the Chief Minister to ensure that the law is applied equally among everyone and above all, that our Nature Conservation laws are upheld.’

1315 Mr Speaker, if nothing that Fabian Picardo has said has convinced the Hon. Daniel Feetham, I hope Daniel Feetham has. (Applause and banging on desks and laughter)

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1320 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am totally in your hands as to whether you wish me to respond, as indeed I would wish to, to the Chief Minister in reply to my motion or to reply to his first... in other words, the amendments, because I have not responded yet.

Mr Speaker: You are able now to speak on the Chief Minister’s amendment.

1325 Having done that, if the House then votes on the amendment and passes the amendment, then that becomes the motion before the House, at which stage you will have your right to reply. At the end of the debate you will have your right to reply.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, as long as I have my right to reply on my motion.

1330 Mr Speaker: No, your motion will have been amend... if your motion is amended, then this becomes the motion before the House, but you do not lose your right to reply to what has been said. Is that clear? The likelihood is, because your motion and the Chief Minister’s amendment in a way overlap each other, I will be able to interpret the rules of debate very liberally in allowing you to exercise your right to reply.

1335 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, yes, of course. But normally in this kind of situation, as it is my motion, I have the last word (Mr Speaker: Yes.) but what we have here... as long as I have the last word, that is all I am interested in, Mr Speaker.

1340 Mr Speaker: You will have the last word. (Laughter) The only thing is that it is not likely to be on the original motion. If I can count the heads, which I think I can, it is likely to be on the Chief Minister’s amendment. That is all, but you will have your right to reply.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, then let me deal with the – 1345 Mr Speaker: What you cannot do is both. You cannot now answer everything that the Chief Minister has said with this motion and then repeat the process and go over the same ground again. Do you follow? You cannot then repeat yourself. (Interjections)

1350 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, of course, I cannot repeat myself and neither can he. No, I accept that.

Mr Speaker: Right.

1355 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes. Well, Mr Speaker, let me just deal with the last point which is the Chief Minister reading what was, I have to say, an excellent press release by the Labour Party in 2003. (Members: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks) Absolutely, Mr Speaker – (Interjections) An excellent, excellent, excellent press release of which I do not resent one bit Mr Speaker, because of course what that press release was directing itself to – and indeed, it was not drafted by me, but it was drafted by a very competent colleague in my team at the time – was the fact that there were Spanish fishermen... divers, in this case, not fishermen – divers that were coming into British Gibraltar Territorial Waters and lifting a protected species such as the Centollo and basically then taking it to Spain; whereas Gibraltarians were being arrested, or being cautioned for exactly the same offence, and that is wrong.

1360 But, Mr Speaker, actually that has absolutely nothing to do with the 1999 Agreement. It has something... it is very relevant and has something to do with the Nature Protection Act, because it is the Nature Protection Act that essentially deals with the protection of these kinds of species in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters. The 1999 Agreement had nothing to do at all with Centollos. Nothing whatsoever at all with Centollos.

1370 So, Mr Speaker, there is absolutely no contradiction at all in the position that I am taking now with the position that I was taking then, and even if there were, even if there were, Mr Speaker, the reality of the situation is that the 1999 Agreement – as he has also recognised in his own address – was a good diplomatic solution to a very difficult problem that existed in 1999, that we could have changed the law later. I have already said that I accept criticism in relation to that, but it does not, Mr Speaker, deal with the main thrust of my criticisms to the hon. Gentleman today, which has been the way and the manner in which he personally has handled the tearing up of the 1999 Agreement without having anything to take its place.

1375 Mr Speaker, turning to the other parts of his intervention, I have to say, Mr Speaker, that it is as poor a response and intervention as I have seen the Chief Minister provide in this Parliament. Mr Speaker, but let me start by giving him a very small, historical lesson.

1380 He said, Mr Speaker, that it had been Margaret Thatcher that had said that it was as being mauled by a sheep. He has actually got it wrong on two counts. First of all, it was not Margaret Thatcher. It was Denis Healy about Geoffrey Howe, and the quote was it was 'like being savaged by a dead sheep'. Well, Mr Speaker, I have been called the black sheep, politically, many times by the hon. Gentleman opposite, but never a dead one and never one without teeth, and if he knows something about me by now, he should know that my teeth are particularly sharp indeed. But, Mr Speaker, he then says that it was a Glyn Ford moment. Well, Mr Speaker, I think that his intervention today shows that he is having one of many of his 'Clinton' moments.

1385 Mr Speaker, he says, 'I am not answerable... we are not answerable for our thoughts or everything that we are thinking', but it certainly appears, Mr Speaker, that he believes that he is answerable to the Spanish fishermen, because he is prepared to explain his thoughts to Spanish fishermen and to people across the border, the very same people he describes in his address as 'foreigners', but he is not prepared to share those thoughts with the people of Gibraltar and with Members of Parliament in this Parliament. That is the essence of my criticisms of the hon. Gentleman. He can talk about or he can call that criticism nonsense, or he can call my address nonsense. He calls it drivel. He then says that I am siding – which has become a favourite of the hon. Gentleman – I am siding with Margallo because he is just simply repeating the thesis of Margallo. Well, Mr Speaker, that is increasingly becoming a shield, a shield to the hon. Gentleman to shield him from the incompetence – it has to be said – that he has shown, in relation to dealing with this particular issue.

1390 The reality is that criticism of the Government is not criticism of Gibraltar. Criticism of the way that the Government has handled this particular issue is not being unpatriotic or a bad Gibraltarian or siding with anybody else, the reality is that the GSD has a different way of dealing with things, Mr Speaker. As I have said before, a calm, mature, intelligent way of dealing with things. All the qualities, Mr Speaker, that unfortunately the hon. Gentleman lacks in the way that he attempts to bulldoze these issues without any measure of intelligence and sometimes a thought.

1400 Mr Speaker, he said he goes from nonsense... he says that it is nonsense to expect us to provide him with the information publicly because, he says that the Spanish fishermen... sorry, he says that the Spanish Foreign Ministry would find out. That is absolutely a nonsensical argument, Mr Speaker. Does he not think that the Spanish Foreign Secretary has not been informed by the Spanish fishermen exactly what the proposals are and exactly what that discussion paper that he has given Spanish fishermen entails? Does he not think that? Does he think that the people of Gibraltar are so stupid as to believe that kind of argument?

Mr Speaker, he does not give the people of Gibraltar the credit for the intelligence that no doubt they have and the sophistication that time and time again they have shown in successive elections and indeed in the way that they express opinions on this matter.

Mr Speaker, he then repeats another point that he is very fond of making, and he says that I have said that I would like to see the Commissioner of Police removed and that everybody knows that I would like to see the Commissioner of Police removed. Well, Mr Speaker, I challenge him to produce the evidence of where I have said that I want the Commissioner of Police removed, because it is false, and I am telling him that it is false, as I have told him in the past. He must make himself responsible, Mr Speaker, for statements that he makes within this House. What he cannot do is just simply invent stories of this nature, because they are very serious indeed. I have told them I did not say it and yet, Mr Speaker, he continues to repeat it.

He then says – (Interjection) well, the 1999 Agreement, he says... I beg your pardon, he said... Well, he has never asked me to brief him on these issues on a confidential basis. Mr Speaker, I remind the hon. Gentleman that we gave him nearly two months grace where we kept quiet to give him the space to deal with the issue post the laying of the blocks, and we got criticised, criticised by a section of the press for effectively suspending political activities during that period of time because we wanted to give the hon. Gentleman the political space to deal with these issues. And yet, when we resumed political activities, any private briefings actually ceased and what the hon. Gentleman must realise and what ...as a democrat he must realise, that what we cannot have is a situation, Mr Speaker, where private briefings from the Chief Ministers are dependent on us just simply rolling over and not doing our job.

He is the Chief Minister of Gibraltar. He is in possession of this information and it is incumbent on him to pick up the telephone and to say, 'Look, come to my office. I am going to brief you on X, Y and Z', if that is relevant; but, Mr Speaker, he has not done so.

Mr Speaker, he also said that it is the duty of all Chief Ministers to prevent foreigners coming to our land and breach our laws. He mentioned an alternative reality as well during the course of his address, and I just wonder whether it is the hon. Gentleman who lives in some form of alternative reality. Mr Speaker, there are Spanish fishermen coming into British Gibraltar Waters, fishing with nets with impunity. Does he think that he is exercising his duty as Chief Minister preventing foreigners from coming into our land or our waters to prevent breaches of our laws, because it is not doing that? If he thinks that he is doing it, then it is him that lives in an alternative reality, not us.

Mr Speaker, he also said that the backbencher was reluctant to leave during the... when there was a walkout on the Credit Finance issue and he has repeated that in the past and he has repeated it outside. His supporters repeat the fact that I am doing Margallo's job etc, as they repeat most of what he says, but, Mr Speaker, the backbencher has said publicly in this House that he walked out of his own volition and that indeed if the situation persisted that he would have no hesitation at all in walking out again, because it was so serious that it merited walking out. No amount of distortion or the hon. Gentleman saying otherwise will change that very simple fact, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker, finally, just in my reply, returning to this question of the thesis of Margallo, I know that the hon. Gentleman likes to repeat it often that I am somehow doing Margallo's dirty work. I have now read in a section of the Spanish media that I believe to be sponsored with advertising by the Gibraltar Government, that somehow I have very high-level connections with the PP Government in Madrid and that the PP Government in Madrid would prefer me to him as Chief Minister of Gibraltar and that there is somehow a conspiracy between myself and Rajoy. Well, look, I wish, Mr Speaker, that I would have the influence to be able to influence Rajoy. I would tell him that his policy in relation to Gibraltar is counter-productive not only in Gibraltar, but also amongst his own people across the frontier in La Linea because it is harming them more than it is harming us, Mr Speaker. But, look, alas, it is not possible. I do not have that influence.

Mr Speaker, I love this community as much as anybody else in this Chamber. I have dedicated the last 15 years of my life; indeed, I came to Gibraltar in order to pursue a career in politics in order to defend the interests of my community. There is nothing more of an anathema to me than any suggestion that I am doing the dirty work for anybody across the frontier in Spain, least of all the PP Government in Madrid Mr Speaker.

But we have our way of doing things. There is a GSD way of doing things and simply because we say so – (Laughter) Simply because we repeat that and simply because we criticise the Government for doing things in a way that we do not agree with, does not mean that anybody on this side of the House, Mr Speaker, is a bad Gibraltarian, anti-Gibraltarian, or that, Mr Speaker, we do not love this community. Nothing could be further from the truth. He does a huge disservice to politics in Gibraltar to suggest otherwise. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to speak on the Chief Minister's amendment?
The Hon. Dr John Cortes.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, unlike the Leader of the Opposition, who has strayed from talking on the amendment to responding to the Chief Minister's response to his own, as proposer, I intend to do my utmost to stick to the amendment.

1470 My, my, my, Mr Speaker, I was accused earlier on of singing my praises when I was speaking about the Alameda Gardens and now we have heard the Leader of the Opposition singing his praises about his work as a Minister in 15 years. The difference, Mr Speaker, is that he was 15 years in politics, I was for 20 years el jardinero. Mr Speaker, as a rookie, indeed, I must also point out that I already have more Parliamentary experience than any two-term GSD Minister.

1475 Mr Speaker, on the actual amendment, I think that what we have to remind ourselves, despite those who say otherwise, is that the fishing agreement, which was then known as a joint understanding, is in fact contrary, or was in fact contrary to the rule of law. Mr Speaker, it was worded so as to appear not to be against the rule of law, but against the rule of law it certainly was.

1480 Mr Speaker, in the preamble to the agreement, it stated equally that the fishing sector undertakes to respect the instructions of the Police Authorities of Gibraltar in their enforcement of that law. Mr Speaker, they did not... firstly, because they did not; and secondly, because they rarely got any instructions anyway.

Mr Speaker, it also makes a statement like, 'as a consequence both sides understand that there should be a return to the status quo which existed in the period 1991 to the start of 1997 and that thus the law will be applied with the same level of tolerance as during that period'. It was not applied at all.

1485 Mr Speaker, perhaps most significantly are the following words in the annex:

'After having discussed in detail what a return to the status quo and therefore to the 1991 – 1997 situation is, both sides understand that the law will be applied strictly in the following circumstances...'

1490 And therefore, Mr Speaker, by implication, that it would not be applied in other circumstances. Therefore, the distance from the coast of 225 metres, it would not be applied strictly outside them. The number of fishing boats: no more than four. It would not be applied if there were less and in this respect luceros are not considered boats actually fishing. That actually goes completely against an actual specific mention of luceros in the law.

1495 Therefore, Mr Speaker, although it was worded in such a way as to try to pull the wool over the eyes of the community by having a pretence that this was not in breach of the law, it most clearly was in breach of the law and therefore I think Gibraltar has to realise and I have no option but totally to support the amendment. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: Is there any other contributor?

1500 In that case, I will call upon the Chief Minister to exercise his right to reply on the amendment. The Chief Minister will not be able to speak again, unless there were to be an amendment to the amendment.

Hon. Chief Minister: Or somebody gave way to him.

Mr Speaker: Yes.

1505 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, thank you very much for the opportunity now to reply on the comments that the hon. Gentleman has made about the amendment, but the hon. Gentleman has said very little about the amendment when he got up to reply to the amendment, so I am going to reply to the things that he has said.

1510 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, that –

A Member: [Inaudible]

1515 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, yes, because you were only allowed to speak on the amendment and you spoke about everything, and therefore I am allowed to reply to what you have said.

1520 Mr Speaker, let me start by saying that it was absolutely clear that the hon. Gentleman, faced with this amendment and faced with the logic of what I had said, had nothing to say. So I will take his words, that this was from me as poor a response as he has ever seen, as actually a great compliment because what he means – and of course he always says the opposite of what he means – is, 'Oh, my goodness. That was a total methodical destruction of everything I, Daniel Feetham, said. I am left with nothing I can say to confront your amendment because the arguments which I put will obviously be clearly contradictory to the press release that I issued in 2003'. Of which he says, Mr Speaker, 'It was an excellent press release of the Labour Party, not drafted by me, but had absolutely nothing to do with the 1999 Agreement. It was all about diving'.

Mr Speaker, this is not a man on the horns of a dilemma. This is a man wriggling on a hook, a hook of his own making, and he has just made the hook sink deeper into his mouth. He has said here, within living memory of all our minds, a moment ago, that this press release had nothing to do with the 1999 Agreement. Let me relish reading that part again. (Laughter)

1530

"The party says that it believes that both Gibraltarians and foreigners alike should respect Marine Nature Areas "and we also believe that protected species under the Ordinance should likewise be protected".

It is a matter of great regret that our protected wildlife and our protected areas are pillaged in this way without respect. It is likewise a matter of great regret that Gibraltarians cannot expect equal treatment of the law in their own land. No doubt the RGP would be applying the law equally among locals and Spaniards if it had not been for the agreement reached as a consequence of the fishermen's dispute.

"We do our society, underpinned as it is by the rule of law, a great disservice when we turn a blind eye to breaches of our laws and that disservice is compounded when the full force of our laws are applied only in respect of local youths and not foreigners," says the party, which calls on the Chief Minister to ensure that the law is applied equally among everyone and above all, that our Nature Conservation laws are upheld."

It is a clear reference to the 1999 Agreement. Mr Speaker, does he think that absolutely everyone is stupid except him? At least, Mr Speaker, he is enough of a parrot that when I say in my intervention, 'You must respect the electorate. You must not treat them like fools' the next thing that he does is get up and say, 'You must respect the electorate. You must not treat them like fools'. But then, Mr Speaker, he goes on to treat not just the electorate, but everybody watching, everybody sitting here, everybody in the gallery and yourself, with all due respect, Mr Speaker, as an absolute fool by telling us that his press release, which I have just read out again, had absolutely nothing to do with the 1999 Agreement. So we can judge his credibility on that simple basis; but not that that had anything to do with the amendment... but anyway.

1540

Mr Speaker, he says that I recognised that the 1999 Agreement was a good thing diplomatically. Now, Mr Speaker, let us be very clear. I read him a part of the Foreign Affairs Committee Report which said something like that. That is not my position. That is the position of the Foreign Affairs Committee in its Fourth Report. So please can the easy device of him pretending that something I read from somebody else which I have expressly said I do not agree with, which he tries to impute to me, be clear does not actually work.

1545

Mr Speaker, he says that he has sharp teeth. Well, look, that is really a matter entirely for him. I have no need to know much about his dentures (Laughter) to understand that what he is promoting is an agreement that is contrary to the rule of law.

When I refer to a Glyn Ford moment, I am referring to the fact that they asked question about Glyn Ford. We offered them the information privately and they said no; but a year and a half later they have now said they would like the information privately. It is quite something, Mr Speaker, for him to say, as he likes to do repeatedly, that I have Bill Clinton moments. Well, you know what, Mr Speaker, Bill Clinton is famous for having denied adultery when he committed it and that, Mr Speaker, is a little bit close to the bone and perhaps we should not be going there. We should not be accusing each other of those sorts of moments because there is really quite no need to do that.

He says, Mr Speaker, that he is cleverer than me and that he is much better at what he does politically than I do. If that was not the import of him saying how terribly I am doing it and how well he was doing it, well, Mr Speaker, look, I do not consider myself cleverer than anyone. I have been elected to do this job for as long as the people of Gibraltar want me to do it. They will decide at the next opportunity whether or not that is the case and they will decide whether he should continue as Leader of the Opposition or otherwise. What is the point in a debate of saying, 'I am cleverer than you and I am better than you. Ya boo sucks'. I thought we had got beyond that when we left primary school.

1560

Of course it is clear to the Government, Mr Speaker, that by now the Spanish Foreign Ministry is fully aware of all the things that have been discussed, even at a technical level between Gibraltar technicians and Spanish fishermen; it was not always thus. But he was putting the issue on the public agenda. He was trying to draw us out on the subject. He is the person, Mr Speaker, repeatedly putting the issue back in the public domain with questions and with press releases and now with this motion. He wants to, Mr Speaker, because you see the reality is that Mr Feetham does not want us to resolve the issue that there may be with Spanish fishermen. He wants it to continue and endure, even if it damages Gibraltar, simply to try and make a cheap electoral point of it – that is the point – and if in doing so he plays into Mr Landaluce's hands and into Mr Margallo's hands, then he does not care a jot. That is why, however proud a Gibraltarian he may be, however much he says that he loves Gibraltar, he is always going to have to face from me the accusation that for his own selfish ends he pursues this issue of fishing and plays into the hands of those who would do our community the greatest damage. He needs to understand that, so that when he continues doing it, he does not have the excuse that he did not see that.

But having said that Mr Speaker, given the extraordinary things that he has said, even denying the fact that his press release was speaking about the 1999 Agreement, when it clearly was, I have no doubt that 1580 either because he cannot see it or because he will not see it, he will continue to do whatever he thinks is in his expedient interest in order to try and win Office. Which brings me, Mr Speaker, to the great sacrifice that he made by coming back to Gibraltar to defend it.

1585 It is abundantly clear to everyone, Mr Speaker, that the hon. Gentleman came back to Gibraltar when he came back to Gibraltar for whatever reason he might really have wanted to come back to Gibraltar, but principally to become Chief Minister of this community. This is his obvious lifetime ambition and he wears it so much on his sleeve that they should embroider it on all his suits, Mr Speaker. (Laughter) This man does not think that he has a date with destiny; this man thinks he is married to destiny, Mr Speaker. (Laughter) Whether it is 15 years ago or 10 years ago or whenever it was, Mr Speaker, one thing is very clear. When he came back from the United Kingdom... God knows why he did, but when he came back from the United Kingdom, it was because there was and there is a GSD way of doing things and he wanted that to stop. (Hon. J J Bossano: Absolutely.) He came back to Gibraltar at that time to offer his service to remove the GSD from Office (Hon. J J Bossano: Yes.) and rebuffed he has done now everything possible to keep them there and now bring them back.

1590 If Mr Speaker, he were to change the GSD and its policies were to reflect those of the GSLP on every aspect, then maybe, maybe he might be forgiven, but on present showing, given that he is defending the GSD way of doing things, which he was so against, I think it says much more about him than it does about the GSLP way of doing things. Mr Speaker, the GSLP way of doing things is the way of doing things that people have selected in this community to govern. Therefore, condemning the fishing agreement, which the GSD did, is absolutely right. Believing that the agreement was wrong is absolutely right. Taking note of the expert report is what we must do. Considering the regulation of fishing in British Territorial Waters a matter for this Parliament is what we must do. Welcoming the way this Government is trying to ensure that that is done in consultation with stakeholders is what we must do and reaffirming the unquestionable sovereignty of this Parliament over the land and sea of Gibraltar is exactly the right way of doing things. There could be no other way... the GSLP, now also Liberal, way of doing things.

I therefore, Mr Speaker, commend the motion to the House as amended. (Banging on desks) 1605 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I propose an amendment to the motion... to the amended motion?

Mr Speaker: You have already spoken on the amendment. You cannot put an amendment to the motion. Some other Member of the Opposition can do so, but you cannot.

1610 Hon. Chief Minister: But not at this stage, Mr Speaker.

Procedurally, Mr Speaker, if I may, at this stage I have spoken on the amendment. We have to now vote on the amendment. Once we have voted on the amendment –

1615 Mr Speaker: We have to vote on the amendment and then –

Hon. Chief Minister: After that you can do it.

Mr Speaker: – then after that – 1620 Hon. Chief Minister: – you can propose an amendment to the amended motion.

Mr Speaker: We now have to vote on the amendment and then the amended motion is before the House. You will not be able to put an amendment, but you will have a right to reply. One of your colleagues can move an amendment, okay?

1625 So I now put to the House, the amendment moved by the Chief Minister in terms of the amendment which has been circulated and which I am sure Members will not wish me to read out. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? (Hon. D A Feetham: Against.)

1630 The amendment is carried by a Government majority and therefore the motion now before the House is as amended and, as I say, the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition is not able to speak on this motion. He has a right to reply.

The Chief Minister is not able to speak on the motion. The Hon. Mr Cortes will have to be very careful because he has, to all intents and purposes, done so; but he did not speak on a number of other paragraphs and he could, if he so wished.

1635 All other Members on the Government benches and on the Opposition benches can speak on the motion as amended.

1640 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, can I just... I need to absent myself from the Chamber for a minute. I mean no disrespect to whoever speaks next and I will be listening in the Ante Chamber, but I must make a phone call.

Mr Speaker: That means, as I say, hon. Members of the Opposition, who would be the ones normally interested, can move an amendment to the motion.

1645 Hon. D A Feetham: Do I have a right to reply?

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has a right to reply at the end of it all. Before we take a vote... you see, oddly enough what happens is that the motion, as amended, becomes your motion (Laughter) according to the Rules of the House and that is why you have the right to reply. (Laughter)

Hon. D A Feetham: So, Mr Speaker –

1655 Mr Speaker: I should not have put it the way I have, but you know what I mean. (Laughter and interjections)

1660 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am not sure that I do so. Essentially I have no right to expect answers from the Government to my questions and also his amendments become my motion. (Laughing) I am not sure if that is exactly the correct position, but I accept that the order... I have the right to speak at the very end.

Mr Speaker: The last person to be able – 1665 Hon D A Feetham: Which was what I was concerned about, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: Yes, that is the position. Does any hon. Member wish to speak on the motion, as amended? (Interjection)

Several Members: Hear, hear. (Banging on desks)

1670 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the GSD way and the GSLP way are like chalk and cheese in almost every respect, but there is in one particular respect, which is very relevant to this motion and to the way the Member opposite behaves nowadays when he is so proud of the GSD way which he condemned in 1996, in 2000 and in 2003. That is, when it comes to taking sides in issues where the Government of Gibraltar is in conflict with the Kingdom of Spain.

1675 So in 1996 the situation that was inherited by the GSD was that the 1991 Nature Protection Ordinance was in place and that was not in place in order to stop fishermen from Spain fishing because we do not like Spaniards in our water; it was there to protect the fish from fishermen of any nationality. The only relevance that the Spaniards were involved is in fact that everywhere else that they had been fishing they had wiped the place clean, from Norway to the North Sea in the United Kingdom. Indeed Greenland left the EU rather than allow the Spaniards to fish there! They actually negotiated their exit because one of the conditions demanded by the Spaniards was that they should be able to wipe out all the fish from Greenland's Territorial Sea, having exhausted almost every other possibility.

1680 So the purpose of the exercise was to retain fish in our waters before they wipe them all clean. And of course to the degree that we were able to influence with the constitutional arrangements that existed there, the involvement of the Police in doing the job we did, and when they could they did and when they could not, they did not. So the reality was it was not that it was a non-zero tolerance; it was that on some occasions they were able to do something about it and on others they did not.

1685 When the situation developed after 1996 and the conflict came about with Spain, what we did not do, because we did not believe in the GSD way and we did not know about the GSD way because we had not been with a GSD in power before then, what we did not do in Opposition, was to say to Mr Caruana, 'You have created the problem with Spain. By having the ship arrested, you are responsible for the blockade on the frontier by having done this because unlike the measured well thought-out supposed GSD way we are having described now, that is not what happened then.

1690 They did not do a measured, well thought-out process where they knew what was going to happen. They arrested a ship – which they were perfectly entitled to do, which we fully supported – and then the Spanish fishermen blockaded our frontier illegally and we did not blame the Government of Gibraltar for the blockade by the Spanish fishermen because that was not the GSLP way. The GSLP way was to say we do not agree with Mr Caruana and we do not agree with the GSD but if the Spaniards attack the Chief Minister of Gibraltar, we defend him. That was the GSLP way. (Several Members: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks)

1700 And whenever anybody interviewed me in Spain and attempted to draw me out in criticising the policies of the GSD, however much disgust I held for the GSD way of doing things – which I did (Laughter) and I still do (Laughter) – I would say to them in Spain, I am not here to talk about the Government of Gibraltar in a foreign country. What I do is that whatever I have to say to Mr Caruana, I will say to his face and in our Parliament. So as far as I am concerned, I am not prepared to be drawn on any passing of judgement on any 1705 policy of the Government of Gibraltar.

We criticised Mr Caruana for dropping his trousers and giving in when the Spaniards blockaded the frontier. We did not criticise him and say to him you brought this on yourself by doing what you did. So if we are talking about the equivalent of putting blocks of concrete, if it had been the GSD way of doing things, in the case of the position that existed in 1999 what we would have done was say, ‘Well look, first 1710 of all you provoked the crisis. The crisis has not been provoked by the Spaniards. It is not the fault of the PP. It is the fault of the fact that you do not do things without looking ahead and knowing what is going to hit you, and now when it hits you, you finish up capitulating it and you finish up with egg on your face.’

Because that is what actually happened – but we did not say it. We attacked the Spaniards for blocking it and we did not support the Government for doing the agreement in order to lift the blockade, although we 1715 understand the pressure they were under.

We had a situation where people were around No. 6 Convent Place blockading it, because they did not agree that there should be Spaniards inside negotiating with the Government of Gibraltar and the guys outside did not know what was going on. What did the Police do? They arrested some of the people outside and protected the Spanish fishermen all the way back to the frontier! The GSD way, of which he is so 1720 proud.

Well, he was not proud in those days. His values were different in those days. I am sorry that he has given up those values, which we still have and which have been part of our history and our tradition on the left. So as far as I am concerned, we do not go round condemning things unless we are provoked into 1725 condemning them and he has actually made it necessary for us to go along the route of condemning what was there before, because he is trying to put a situation which is in fact misrepresenting what took place.

Of course Mr Caruana, on more than one occasion, it happened with a numbering plan on the telephone system, when he said in this Parliament, ‘Well look, if there are three parties in a negotiation and somebody has got to drop his trousers, who do you think is going to do the dropping of the trousers – the Spaniards, the Foreign Office or Gibraltar? The weakest of the...’ Well look, you might as well stop wearing trousers 1730 if you are going to be dropping them all the time! (Laughter and banging on desks)

So the answer is that having known the Member opposite in short pants, as he often remembers, I hope I do not see him with no pants, now that he is supporting the GSD way.

Several Members: Hear, hear! (Banging on desks)
1735

Mr Speaker: Is there any other contributor to this debate?

If there is not, I will call on the mover – that is the Leader of the Opposition to reply – and then that is the end of the whole show.

1740 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, thank you very much for allowing me –

Mr Speaker: No, no, I do not allow you. (Hon. D A Feetham: It is the rules that allow me, absolutely.) It is the Rules that allow you and my job is to apply the Rules, which I do to the best of my ability.

1745 Hon. D A Feetham: Thank you very much for giving me the opportunity pursuant to the rules of replying to what has been quite an entertaining debate. (Laughter)

But Mr Speaker, it has been entertaining, not least Mr Speaker, because we have spoken during the course of this debate about alternative realities and really, listening to the Hon. the Father of the House in his intervention, I am just really not sure what kind of reality sometimes, with all respect to him and he 1750 knows that I hold him – I have criticised him – but I do hold him in affection – (Laughter) I do, I do, I do and I remember my moments with him in short pants!

I have always endeavoured to learn from his good qualities and his bad qualities – where he got it right and where he got it wrong. But Mr Speaker, he said – he made one extraordinary statement – the reality is that the GSLP way is not to agree or to give vent, or to allow the Spaniards to criticise the Government of 1755 Gibraltar here and that he has always defended the Government of Gibraltar in Spain.

Well Mr Speaker – Mr Speaker, please! Mr Speaker what about Joanna Hernandez, Mr Speaker, when the hon. Gentleman gave an interview in a programme in Spain, the ‘House of Horrors’ that laid into our Social Services and laid into the way that we were running here in Gibraltar. The Doctor Giraldo Home –

1760 does he not remember that, Mr Speaker? (Interjection) Or does he – ? I am not giving way, Mr Speaker (Severall Members: Oh! Oh!) Or does he, Mr Speaker (Interjections) or does he, Mr Speaker, live in an alternative reality all of his own making, Mr Speaker?

1765 And of course Mr Speaker, I do not blame him for the selective amnesia. I have to say, Mr Speaker, that the best contribution that he made was when he said, ‘Because the Spaniards have wiped out fish from all the waters that he has fished.’ I have to say he must have said that through gritted teeth and I will tell you why: because Mr Speaker, the Government actually intends to allow Spanish fishermen to fish in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters, Mr Speaker!

1770 Or is it, Mr Speaker...? Because look, if he takes that statement to its logical conclusion, Mr Speaker, and if he really is going to defend his socialist principles, Mr Speaker, and all the principles that he has spoken about, Mr Speaker, then of course he is bound to tell the Hon. the Chief Minister, do not allow Spanish fishermen to come into our waters to fish in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters, not only now, and they are doing so more than ever before, but also do not change the law of which I was the architect in 1991, in order to allow Spanish fishermen to come and fish in our waters!

1775 Or Mr Speaker, do I detect a sign of division in the Government benches, with the cracks starting to show and divisions between the Hon. the Chief Minister and indeed the Father of this House on this particular issue? Because certainly by the looks and hearing him make the statement that he made, it would appear that he is firmly opposed to the idea flown by the Hon. the Chief Minister of allowing Spanish fishermen to fish in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters.

1780 Mr Speaker, he also made a comment – a comment that has been made on numerous occasions by himself and by the Chief Minister as well – that I condemned the GSD in 1996 and that somehow I was effectively the caped crusader here on behalf of the GSLP from 1988 all the way to 1996. Look, the reality is, that if I had been here in Gibraltar, I would have been supporting my father. That is true. I would have been supporting my father, because he was the hon. Gentleman’s right-hand man; there is no doubt about it.
 But I did not even vote in the 1996 election, Mr Speaker! I do not even think I voted in the 1992 elections because I was not in Gibraltar. I was actually in the United Kingdom and I returned in 1999/2000 and, 1785 rightly or wrongly, it is a matter for the history books, it took me all of six months to a year, I think it was, in order to fall out with the hon. Gentleman because of the position that he was taking and the manner in which he conducted a number of issues.

1790 And let me say, Mr Speaker, now coming back to the Chief Minister, that I had an ally. I had an ally in the Hon. the Chief Minister in relation to this, because he was the one that persuaded me, Mr Speaker, that the leadership of the Father of the House could not be trusted. Those were the words that the Hon. the Chief Minister used in my house in Sotogrande. I suppose that the hon. Gentleman, the Father of the House was always right when he used to say to me the best plots are always hatched in Sotogrande. Well, Mr Speaker, that is the reality.

1795 That is the reality and, Mr Speaker; there was a moment of admission. A moment of admission by the Hon. the Chief Minister yesterday during questions, when he said, ‘Well those were just simply the indiscretions of youth.’ Well, if it was indiscretions of youth, Mr Speaker, to say that the leadership of the Hon. the Leader of the House, Mr Bossano was not to be trusted, well I suppose I could be forgiven for having some indiscretions myself in terms of my political past.

1800 Because Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Chief Minister, of course, when he said that he would resign from the Liberal Party within 24 hours of my resignation of the GSLP and then went back on his word, within a year he had jumped from the Liberal Party into the GSLP to basically fill the void that I and others had left within the GSLP! (Interjections)

1805 So look, Mr Speaker, I will accept criticism for my political history but of course he has to accept an element of criticism himself and by criticising me, he is also criticising himself.

1810 Mr Speaker, finally, the 1999 Agreement has absolutely nothing to do with spider crabs. Absolutely nothing to do with spider crabs. It deals with Spanish fishermen coming into British Gibraltar Territorial Waters and fishing with nets. That is what it is about. It is not it does not deal with spider crabs and Mr Speaker, my position now continues to be my position then, in this respect: that the law has to be applied universally across the board to Spaniards and also to Gibraltarians, because actually, I have also had complaints from Gibraltarians who I have been told have not been able to fish in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters when Spanish fishermen fish with nets in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters. And look, that is a disgrace! That is an absolute disgrace that the law discriminates against Gibraltarians in that way.
 (Interjections) The law, or the way that it is applied.

1815 Mr Speaker, for all those reasons, we will not be voting in favour of the amendment as the Hon. the Chief Minister has amended my motion. (Interjections) No. We are not.

Hon. Chief Minister: I call a division for the vote.

1820 Mr Speaker: I now put the motion in the terms of the amendment moved by the Chief Minister which has been incorporated into the motion and is therefore the motion now standing before the House. So I call a division, please. (Interjections)

1825 The motion before the House is a motion which has had an amendment incorporated into it. It so happens to substitute the original motion (Laughter) and puts a new one in front of it. But that is the position. If the amendment had been a minor amendment adding a paragraph or so on, part of the original would have remained. I give that as guidance, because the House is not very used to this sort of thing. It is something that used to happen at practically every meeting that the Hon. Joe Bossano and I attended. But now it is a relatively new thing – but I am glad to see it all the same.

1830 Voting took place and the results were as follows:

FOR

The Hon P J Balban
The Hon J J Bossano
The Hon Dr J E Cortes
The Hon N F Costa
The Hon A J Isola
The Hon G H Licudi
The Hon S E Linares
The Hon F R Picardo

The Hon Dr J J Garcia
The Hon J J Netto
The Hon E J Reyes
The Hon Miss S J Sacramento

Mr Speaker: There are 6 Members absent. There are 8 votes in favour of the motion and there are 3 against. The motion is carried. (Banging on desks)

ADJOURNMENT

1835 Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the House do now adjourn.

1840 Mr Speaker, I gave an indication yesterday of when I intend to come back next month so that hon. Members know that we intend to have Question Time the week of the 23rd and the Budget debate the week of the 30th.

1845 It is my pleasure, Mr Speaker, to call an end to the 23rd meeting of the House during the lifetime of this Parliament and record my disappointment that hon. Members have not seen fit to be able to support a motion that reaffirms British sovereignty over our waters and our sea and our right in this Parliament to legislate for that area.

Mr Speaker: Is the Chief Minister not moving the adjournment sine die therefore?

Hon. Chief Minister: Sine die, yes.

1850 Mr Speaker: I now propose the question which is that this House do now adjourn sine die.

I now put the question which is that this do now adjourn sine die. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Passed.

The House will now adjourn sine die.

The House adjourned at 6.25 p.m.

SPORTS, CULTURE, HERITAGE AND YOUTH

Q440/2014

City Fire Brigade – Waterport Power Station fire; details of foam used

Clerk: Question 440, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

55 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister with responsibility for the Fire Brigade say how much foam the City Fire Brigade used in the Waterport Power Station fire of Sunday 20th April 2014, whether they had enough and if any extra foam was needed from the Defence Fire Service and if so, how much was used?

60 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the total foam 'concentrate' (foam liquid before being mixed with water) used by the City Fire Brigade was 450 litres. An additional 1,325 litres were deployed by the Defence Fire Service for their foam appliance at the incident.

65 The City Fire Brigade has a total availability of 73,200 litres of medium expansion foam and an additional 16,250 litres of Hi-Ex foam, giving a total foam stock of 89,450 litres.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: I am grateful for that, Mr Speaker.

70 Could the Hon. Minister say why the Defence Fire Service was deployed to use their foam and not the City Fire Brigade, and tap into their stock as he said of 89,450 litres?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, in an incident like that, what happened was that they needed more foam to be squirted or at least thrown into the incident, and therefore as a resilient measure, what they do is call on the Defence Fire Service who have the appliances.

75

The foam can be supplied by the City Fire Brigade and so they were there to aid the City Fire Brigade in the incident; it does not mean that we went to ask for their stock. We had enough stock, as can be seen from the figures, but they come along because they have got appliances which can be used and deployed in the incident.

Q441/2014

Victoria Stadium –

Installation of seating in stands; cost

Clerk: Question 441, the Hon. E J Reyes.

80

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Sport provide details of the cost to install seats at the stands pertaining to the Victoria Stadium football pitch?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

85

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the total cost for the supply and installation of the seats for both spectator stands at the Victoria Stadium main pitch was £29,143.30. This included a number of spare parts to ensure proper and regular upkeep of these seats.

90

Hon. E J Reyes: Sorry Mr Speaker, the Minister has just said for both. What does he mean by both? By both, I understand more than one. Can he please enlighten me on that issue?

Hon. S E Linares: Yes, Mr Speaker.

95

As he well knows there is the East Stand and the West Stand and so the answer is for both spectator stands. You asked for the total, which is the football pitch, and I am just stating that it is in the east and the west, being both.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker, that does clarify the matter.

100

Then I think the... or, I know that the Minister also said that includes some maintenance. Can he elaborate a bit further on the details of maintenance? What does it actually entail?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, that is the question he has put in Question 442, which I will answer later on. It is not relevant to this question. I can answer it, but then I will be answering the next question.

Q442/2014

Victoria Stadium –

Cleaning and upkeep of seats; details

Clerk: Question 442, the Hon. E J Reyes.

105

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Sport provide details of what maintenance programme is in place for the cleaning and upkeep of seats pertaining to the Victoria Stadium football pitch?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

110

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority has a contract with a cleaning company that is entrusted with the regular cleaning of all auxiliary facilities, which includes the main pitch spectator stands and seats.

115

General upkeep, whenever possible, is carried out directly by the GSLA staff members, including any necessary replacement of broken seats for which spares were acquired at the time of the initial supply and installation contract.

120 Hon. E J Reyes: So, Mr Speaker, referring back a little bit to Question 441 as well, the supplier, who for £29,143 supplied the seats, and the Minister mentioned that there was something involved as well in the maintenance... given that the GSLA has contracted out for cleaning, and I take it from the answer that the GSLA, where possible from its spares, would repair the seats, what does the supplier actually do in respect of maintenance then?

125 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the supplier supplies the seats and therefore what we got was a contractor that puts the seats, and that was the total cost which is the supply of the seats. They placed the seats and that is it. The seats are then maintained by the GSLA, having extra seats to replace, and so there is no maintenance contract with the supplier. The supplier just supplies the seats. We place them and then the GSLA maintains them.

130 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, if I may inform the Minister further, one of the reasons for posing this question is as a regular attendee at the Stadium, I noticed, having sat there on the main stand on the western side for a weekday match, that unfortunately some spectators had not been the tidiest of people and had spilled drinks, especially the fizzy drinks that when they dry up tend to leave a very sticky seat and so on. Yet, however, it was three or four days later by the time I went to the next match at the weekend, I noticed, those same seats were still in the same unusable condition.

135 Would the Minister please take it upon himself to ensure that other than the sweeping up... I know that seems to be done in a rather satisfactory manner because a lot of sunflower seeds, ends and so on are left there and they seem to be cleaned out quite regularly, but the actual seats, a fair number of them, were unusable for a number of days. So can the Minister please give an assurance, not just to me, but all regular spectators in the stadium, that it will be closely monitored for ensuring that the highest level possible of cleanliness is being maintained?

140 Hon. S E Linares: Yes, Mr Speaker, I will go even further. If they are not doing their job properly, they will be called in and asked why they are not doing their job properly.

145 I completely agree with the hon. Gentleman that if those seats are not maintained, as they should be, that some managers or the facilities manager should make sure that they are. So, yes, I will go back to them and ask why they were not cleaned on the days... if the hon. Member can give me the dates. I will go back and ask them why they were not cleaned on those dates. You are absolutely right, that is what the cleaning company is there for, and if they are not doing their work properly, then the management should take it up with the cleaning company that they do so.

150 Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

155 That is good to hear. Whilst we are on the subject, can I also inform the Minister, and I think all spectators will agree, there has been a certain level of improvement now in respect of spectators watching mainly football games because the Gibraltar Football Association is actually now providing what is called a 'match delegate' – you see from his vest that he has got the word 'delegate' written – who has even helped to control the abusive language coming from spectators. The match delegate has taken some action. However, the match delegate has informed me that he is not the landlord and therefore has no authority to try and curtail the...at the moment not very frequent, but I suspect that as time goes by it will increase. There are people who are not being as friendly towards the installation of the seats as possible and they tend to walk on the seats, rather than walk on the path provided and so on.

160 One of the common comments amongst spectators is that perhaps if GSLA staff have a physical and visible presence of them along the stands, it might help to curtail this. It is the same as a police officer, in that his presence helps to prevent a crime happening rather than just being a detective to try to verify it, because there are very few cases, but some seats are already not in an ideal condition for sitting upon as they have been cracked. They have been badly used and kicked about. So I would like to work together with the Minister in ensuring that we look after our facilities in the best manner possible.

170 Hon. S E Linares: Yes, Mr Speaker, I think we are again singing from the same hymn sheet here. I would ask the hon. Member that whenever he sees or is speaking to the delegate, that he also speaks to the management of the GSLA, like I will, in order for the presence of the employees of the GSLA are there so that the seats and everything is policed as it should be.

So, yes, I am quite happy and I would suggest that whenever the hon. Member sees this, that he approaches one of the managers there and tells them, like I will if I see it or... and I will report then what the hon. Member is just saying.

Q443/2014
New power station –
Reclaimed site; details

175 Clerk: Question 443, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the answer to Written Question 79/2014, can the Minister for Utilities please provide the approximate cost for the reclaimed site for the new power station and the name of the company which will be doing this aspect of the works?

180 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the answer remains the same as that of my answer to Written Question 79/2014.

185 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I have not got with me right now my previous question, but I recall – and please correct me if I am mistaken – that what he said before was that the award had not taken place, but I think he gave me a date in which the works would commence, which would be at the end of this particular month. Therefore, if that is correct and work is going to commence at the end of this month, I am sure that by now there must be a company who has been awarded the particular works and what will be the 190 approximate cost. Has anything not changed in relation to that and he cannot provide a figure?

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, in order to try and assist the hon. Gentleman, because I think we have been through this issue before and he knows that this is an important project that is dealt with not just by the hon. Member but also by my office, what we have said before is that the reclamation will be dependent on which option is chosen for the power station. We cannot say more obviously, because 195 the issue has not yet been announced publicly.

Therefore by giving details of the reclamation, we would in effect be giving an indication of which options are being chosen for the particular power station; but, as he himself has indicated in his question, we have said that it is likely that there will be an announcement towards the end of this month and then he 200 will have more detail by then.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, what I do not seem to understand, given that the Minister for Utilities already indicated that works will commence by the end of this month in relation to the reclamation site of the power station, it seems logical to assume therefore that a company has already been awarded at least 205 those aspects of the work, and if a company has been awarded, we should be able to know which particular company it is and what is the approximate cost for those aspects of the reclamation works.

Hon. Chief Minister: He is right, Mr Speaker, that he does not seem to understand. He is also right, Mr Speaker, to say that he is making assumptions. He starts his question by prefacing that he assumes, and 210 as I often say to him, when he says that, to assume makes an ass of you and me in many ways, in the lexicon of the English language.

Mr Speaker, what I have said is that by disclosing details of the reclamation, we would perhaps be giving an indication publicly of an award of a tender that is not yet something that can be announced publicly for the reasons he himself has indicated, because the date is likely to be towards the end of this 215 month. So all I am saying to him, Mr Speaker, is he has got to wait a little bit more and then he will have all the information. It is just a question of the Government being able to make the announcement at a particular time.

This is a European tendering process that we are talking about in respect of the power station and the reclamation is linked to it; therefore we have to make sure that we scrupulously follow the rules.
220

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is the Chief Minister saying that they have in fact identified – if not allocated already – the tender in relation to the land reclamation, but that he is not in a position to identify who the successful tenderer is or who has been identified to do that work, because to do so would indirectly identify who is the preferred bidder in relation to the power station because the land reclamation will be 225 influenced by the bid? Is that the position?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker that is what I have said.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q444/2014
New power station –
Imported generators; costs involved

230 Clerk: Question 444, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, further to the answer provided to Question 354/2012, does that figure include... 2014, I beg your pardon – does that figure include the overall cost associated with the temporary generators, including the cost of transport, maintenance and running costs, or is it just the cost of purchasing or hiring those generators?
235

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, no sir. The figure provided includes the overall costs inclusive of transport and running costs. An additional £49,745.80 will include the maintenance and repair costs.

HEALTH AND THE ENVIRONMENT

Q445/2014
World Health Organisation Report –
La Linea air quality; assessment

Clerk: Question 445, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to Written Question 109/2014, has the Government or the Department of the Environment raised the matter with any European Union officials, and is the Government or the Department of Environment conducting any assessment or assessments as a result of the World Health Organisation Report in relation to the fact that La Linea happens to have the worst air quality in Spain and how this may be affecting the health of Gibraltarians?
245

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.
250

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the Government has not raised this matter with any European Union official.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, could I ask the Hon. Minister whether he thinks the report of the World Health Organisation is significant in order to arouse an analysis by him or his Department in relation to this matter?
255

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Certainly Mr Speaker, I think that is a perfect legitimate supplementary.
260 The Government has raised the matter with its appointed air quality consultants, Ricardo-AEA, who advise that while the WHO Report does show that La Linea has the highest concentrations of PM2.5 within the Spanish cities analysed, these levels are still below the legislative thresholds for human health contained within the EU Air Quality Directive. These are 25 micrograms per metre cubed to be met by 2015 and 20 micrograms per metre cubed as from 2020. La Linea is reported as having a figure of 18.
265 Gibraltar's annual mean was 15 in 2012 and this figure has always been below the 20 micrograms per metre cubed since monitoring began.

Given that the levels are well within the compliance thresholds, there is nothing to be gained by raising the matter at any other level; nevertheless, Government recognises that PM2.5 is a pollutant and therefore continues to monitor the situation and to work to improve local air quality.

Q446-447/2014
Eco Wave Power –
Purchase of electricity; tariff rates

270 Clerk: Question 446, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government state if the cost of $5 million to build the buoy floaters in order to produce electricity from sea waves, and its corresponding infrastructure (as quoted in the Bloomberg Article of 16th June 2014) will be paid by the Government or the company, and if this is to be paid by the Government, will it come from the consolidated fund or from what other entity?

Clerk: Answer the Minister for Health and the Environment.

280 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 447.

Clerk: Question 447, the Hon. J J Netto.

285 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government provide the tariff rates that will be charged by Eco Wave Ocean Power Plant Company Limited to the Government during the 25-year contract entered, and whether there is a stipulated monthly or otherwise amount of energy that the company needs to produce and sell to the Government?

290 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the costs of building the buoys and associated infrastructure will be met by the company, Eco Wave Power. The tariff rates are commercially sensitive and therefore this information will not be provided in public.

295 Hon. J J Netto: Will the Government provide it privately or confidentially?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, if the hon. Member requests this, I will provide that information.

Hon. J J Netto: I am grateful Mr Speaker.

Q448/2014
Commonwealth Park –
Maintenance contract

300 Clerk: Question 448, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment please say which company has obtained the maintenance contract of the new Commonwealth Park and what is the annual cost to the contract?

305 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

310 Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the maintenance contract has been awarded to the management company that runs the Botanic Gardens, Wildlife (Gibraltar). There were three tenders submitted; the other two were non-compliant. The annual cost of the maintenance contract is £160,916.69.

Hon. J J Netto: Sorry, could the Hon. Minister mention the figure again? I did not get that.

315 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: £169,916.69, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: £160 –

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: £160... sorry, I beg your pardon – £160,916.69.

320 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, could the Hon. Minister provide the names of the two other companies that actually put in a bid?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I cannot provide that in this forum because obviously there will be issues to do with the non-compliance with which I am not familiar and I do not think it would be proper for those two other companies that submitted.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, could the Hon. Minister say how the other two companies were non-compliant?

330 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, no. I was not part of the tender process and therefore I am not aware. I do not even know for certain which those companies are. That is something that we would have to have notice and I am not sure whether we would be able to provide that information. It is a tender process that I have not been involved in personally.

335 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I note from some pre-emptive research that the Hon. Minister for the Environment was, until some time ago, a 60% shareholder in Wildlife Gibraltar Limited. Can the Minister now confirm that he no longer has any interest in the company?

340 Mr Speaker: I do not see how that arises from the matter that we are dealing with. What has that got to do with the Commonwealth Park? Does it have to do with Commonwealth Park? Yes.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, on a Point of Order, if the hon. Member had an interest in that company, the rules require him to disclose that before answering the question. Given that he did not, the House is entitled to believe that he had no such interest given, in particular, the hon. Member's pre-emptive research, as he referred to it – not that most people need to do any pre-emptive research to know that John Cortes was involved with the Alameda Gardens before he was a Minister.

350 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I do not think that the House can assume anything of the sort. That the House can just simply assume what the Chief Minister has said, simply because of... it just does not follow. But, Mr Speaker, I do not think it is a proper Point of Order.

355 Mr Speaker, this supplementary – (Interjection) It does arise out of it, because the answer is Wildlife... the Hon. the Minister was a shareholder of this particular company until very recently and my understanding is that the question talks about interest, and of course that interest can involve an interest in trust as well as a direct interest if it were a shareholding.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have no problem in presenting the facts. Even though I was a shareholder of the company for many years through two Administrations, I must point out that I never took any director's fees and only the salary that the Hon. Mr Netto approved for me.

360 I have taken no active part in the running of the company since I was elected. I retired on Election Day on hearing the result of the Election and I resigned some time ago. The paperwork has been completed relatively recently, but I am no longer a shareholder of that company. I thought it was only right that I should point that out, even though I have no –

365 Mr Speaker: May I remind hon. Members, of course, that there is such a thing as a Register of Members' Interests and that before raising matters here, they can direct their attention to that particular Register. Then, having regard to the information entered there, they may or may not raise the matter here. That would be the proper procedure to do in the first place.

370 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, if I may assist, I had declared that interest on election and I have subsequently written to the Clerk to advise him of the fact that I had resigned. The Clerk will have that information. (Banging on Desks)

375 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, in relation to the point that the Chair raises in respect of the Register, the purpose of the question was to elicit confirmation from the Hon. Minister that there was no indirect interest that may not have been present in the Register. I do note that the Register had reflected that interest and take the Minister's confirmation that that is no longer the case given that he has no direct interest in the company any more.

380 Mr Speaker, perhaps I am going to take... I am actually going to take further counsel in relation to the next supplementary if perhaps the Speaker would indulge me just for a moment? Thank you.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am not prone to pussy-footing around in these things.

Mr Speaker, can I ask the hon. Gentleman directly, does he hold any interest at all in this particular company on trust? He may not be a shareholder – he has said so and of course I accept – but are any of the shares in this particular company held on trust for the hon. Gentleman? That is the question.

385

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker. These are intricate legal points, but, no. I am not sure whether I understand fully the question, but it is not being held for me on trust in any kind of understanding that the day I cease to be a Minister it will be given back to me or anything like that. I resigned them totally, because even though I have had no interest – and I think the hon. Members opposite know me well enough to know that I am above that sort of thing – I did not think that it would be correct for me to continue to be a shareholder with a company that has Government contracts. Therefore I resigned.

390

Hon. D A Feetham: So therefore, Mr Speaker, there are no arrangements in place at all – I think he has said this, but I just want him to confirm this – for the hon. Gentleman to resume being a shareholder of this particular company upon him ceasing to be a Government Minister.

395

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker. That was my instruction to my lawyers. If they have not carried them out, I can categorically tell the House now that I have no intention of assuming that role in the future.

Q449/2014
Care Agency staff –
TUPE transfer; details

Clerk: Question 449, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

400

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, further to Written Question 120 can the Minister for Health explain the set-up of the clinical Care Agency personnel who became GHA staff after a TUPE transfer on 11th November 2013, and which establishment of the Estimates Book they will be reflected in and where their salaries will come from?

405

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

Minister for Health and the Environment (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the transferred staff are Gibraltar Health Authority employees under the Medical (Gibraltar Health Authority) Act 1987, deployed to the Elderly Residential Services of the Care Agency. During the period while they are deployed, the employees are subject to the management and direction of Elderly Residential Services of the Care Agency.

410

The staff are reflected in the Care Agency appendix of the Estimates Book which is where their salaries are reflected, and before anybody asks, Mr Speaker, I have no shares in the Care Agency. (Banging on Desks)

EQUALITY, SOCIAL SERVICES AND THE ELDERLY

Q450/2014
Social Services –
Vacancies for senior care workers

Clerk: Question 450, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say when the senior care worker vacancies will be filled on a permanent basis?

420

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, as the hon. Lady is already aware, there is a review of the Residential Services and until the review is completed, current vacancies will continue to be covered as present.

425

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister confirm is this the review that started from when she took office and does she have an idea of when the review will end?

430 Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, it is a continuous review. It is somewhat different to an initial review that was undertaken because initially there was a review for particular purposes and now there is a review in relation to staff and staffing structures.

435 This review is very in-depth. Every single member of staff of the Residential Services is being spoken to. I understand that we are not yet 50% of the way in relation to speaking to the staff now with the summer break with lots of people being on leave. I envisage that this will probably be ready by the autumn, but I cannot categorically state. It all depends on how quickly the team can get to speaking to the staff.

Q451/2014
Dr Giraldi Home –
Plans to relocate to the Mount

Clerk: Question 451, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

440 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say if there are plans to move the Dr Giraldi Home from its present location to the Mount?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

445 Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the matter is being discussed generally, but there are no specific plans.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister say if it is being looked at to move the Dr Giraldi Home at all from its present location?

Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, as I have just said, it is being looked at generally.

Q452/2014
Care Agency –
Subcontracted care workers; details

450 Clerk: Question 452, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

455 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state what the terms and conditions are for care workers subcontracted from private care providers, such as ADA Company Ltd and Grand Home Care, who undertake work for the Care Agency in terms of contract length, rates of pay and facilities?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly.

460 Minister for Equality, Social Services and the Elderly (Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, these contractors are private companies and they are required to conform with the statutory employment conditions that apply to all employers.

465 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister confirm if it is the Care Agency that actually sets up these contracts for the individuals?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I think I have already answered that question. This is something that is subcontracted and care workers are employed by their employer – their employer being the subcontractor.

TRAFFIC, HOUSING AND TECHNICAL SERVICES

Q453/2014

George Jeger House and Portmore House – Provision of an additional lift

Clerk: Question 453, the Hon. E J Reyes.

470

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Housing confirm if his Ministry has any plans to provide an additional lift to service George Jeger House and Portmore House at Glacis Estate?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services.

475

Minister for Traffic, Housing and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the matter remains under review with technical issues being the reason why a further lift has not been added to these blocks. The original works were undertaken by the GSD Administration, who are the ones responsible for only one lift being installed in each block at the time.

480

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can I simply add a personal appeal to the Minister? Given that this lift has to service 85 flats, of which unfortunately the residents there are getting older by the day and not younger, would he please take a personal interest and do everything possible to try and alleviate the situation, because unfortunately as the Minister provides me monthly details, the lift breakdowns and so on are unfortunately a rather common occurrence?

485

It does mean that some elderly tenants end up being housebound for quite a while and some have even had to cancel doctor's appointments because of the non-mobility and lack of lift at that time. So a second lift, if at all possible, would greatly enhance the quality of life for our residents there. Irrespective of any political allegiance, I am making this personal appeal.

490

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I am grateful for that from the hon. Gentleman. If I may say so and inform the House, the Hon. the Minister for Housing has been an advocate for the addition of these lifts for some time and we are in fact in the process of trying to ensure that none of the technical issues that have been raised will prevent us from being able to deliver on this issue for the people of both Portmore House and George Jeger House.

495

Can I just ask him – I know that he is not here to answer questions – but why is it that they did not install two lifts in that area at the time that they were in Government, because frankly it would have made sense to do so at the time it seems to us? He can answer, if he wishes, or not.

500

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, yes, if I had been Minister for Housing at the time, perhaps I would have had some information. (Laughter) I do not have it with me. (Interjections) So, it is not that I am trying to shy away from answering, but I would need notice of that question. (Laughter)

505
