Tribute to Mr Bernard Linares

Clerk: Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I am grateful to hon. Members for having agreed to adjourn last week when I was unable to attend.

I am conscious of the fact that whilst I was not here, the House held a minute's silence to mark the passing of Bernard Linares, who was a Member of this House for 12 years. I was not here then and I know that not much was said at the time and I am grateful for the opportunity to lead a tribute to a man who I think has touched everyone in this community in different ways, and had friends across the political divide as much as he had friends across all the divides that he might have represented.

Bernard Linares was a man who took positions in his life, but the fact that he took positions did not stop him from being friends with those who might have taken opposite positions – an art which not everyone is able to emulate.

He was a man, Mr Speaker, as I have said in some of my public tributes, who lived many lives in the time that he was with us. A man who baptised us, who gave us communion, who married us and who then led us in understanding political principles and then taught and did so much more. He was a man who will be very sadly missed across the political divide in Gibraltar, because he had strong friendships on both sides of this House and across the community and that is what really represented the man that Bernard Linares was. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I would like to, first of all, start by associating myself with the words of the hon. the Leader of the House, but I would also like to say this, that very often politicians talk about integrity and they talk about conviction and in my experience, looking at world politics – leaving aside Gibraltar politics – those are rarely apposite descriptions of many politicians out there, but I think, that in relation to Bernard Linares, rarely has there been a man with whom you could associate the words 'integrity' and 'conviction'.

He was a great, great friend of mine. I will always cherish a note that he sent to me just before Christmas when he was in England about to receive treatment, and it will always remain one of my most cherished possessions. I think it is a sad, sad loss for this community. He is obviously a very sad loss for his family, but equally he is also a sad loss for his friends and he will be sorely missed. (Banging on desks)

Welcome back to Hon. Mrs Isobel Ellul-Hammond

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, before we continue can I just recognise that the Hon. Lady is back amongst us. It has been a source of sadness for all of us that she has not been with us for three or four months and it is a pleasure to see her back. (Banging on desks)

Hon. Mrs Isobel Elul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, if I may, with your indulgence, thank all those present in the Chamber today, the MPs and members of the Parliament staff, thank you all for the support you have shown me these last few months while I have been away due to medical reasons.

I would especially like to thank the Chief Minister and Government Ministers who have extended a hand of friendship during what has been a very difficult time for me and to a certain extent still is a little difficult. I would like to thank you for that. You have shown love and compassion in my hour of need. The Chief Minister has said in the past it is about the issues and not about the man – and I think in this case, the woman – and in that regard you have risen to that and I am very grateful and would like to thank you.
(Banging on desks)

Questions for Oral Answer

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT & TELECOMMUNICATIONS

Q56/2015 Public sector – Labour supply

Mr Speaker: Answers to questions.

Clerk: We now start answers to questions and we commence with Question 56, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Economic Development provide details of the companies which provide labour supply to the public sector to include the numbers of companies which do so, their names and how many employees they are each currently supplying?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Economic Development and Telecommunications.

Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): The companies supplying labour to the public sector are the following, Mr Speaker: G L Limited, 44; P S Limited, 96; Rhino Construction, 98; Workforce, 150, Rock Admin, 28; Endash, 43; W & N Limited 11; S & K, 90.

Q57/2015 Employment Service – Refurbishment works

Clerk: Question 57, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment confirm that all refurbishment works carried out to the offices of the Employment Service in the financial year ended March 2013 have received the appropriate approval with details of the contractors which have carried out these works?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Economic Development and Telecommunications.

Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): No, Mr Speaker.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, why not? Why not? That is the question.

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, Mr Speaker, because no works have been carried out in the Employment Service.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, maybe I have interpreted... I will explain why this question arises. It arises from the Public Auditor's Report, page 17, which deals with the expenditure which arises from, I think, the Improvement and Development Fund, part two, and with your permission, Mr Speaker, I will just read the relevant paragraph. It deals with works and equipment, Government buildings works and structures, and it says:

‘I asked the Principal Secretary, Ministry of Employment and Labour, whether three payments selected in a sample exercise regarding refurbishment works carried out to the offices of the Employment Services’

– that is very clear and I do not think I have misinterpreted that –

‘by three contractors amounting to £46,000-odd had been channelled through the Government’s Procurement Office, or alternatively, if an internal selective tendering process had been performed. The Principal Secretary’

– I assume that is the Director of Employment –

‘informed me that although the works predated his appointment as Principal Secretary’

85 – I think there have been various changes in that position –

‘he and staff of the Employment Service could not trace any relevant paperwork leading up to the works being approved. The Financial Secretary confirmed that authority was not sought from his Office to charge the cost of the works to the I and D F, nor to dispense with the Government’s official procurement process.’

Really, what I wanted was an explanation from the Hon. Minister. The question was addressed to the Minister of Employment, and I know there has been a reshuffle, but I suspect that it is the Hon. Mr Bossano who will have the information, given that he has been in post only until relatively recently. So I want an explanation of this.

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, Mr Speaker, I will go back to the person who was then the controlling officer of the Department and find out what this work is about. I am not aware of any work having been done in the office while I have been there.

95

Hon. D J Bossino: But, Mr Speaker, will he therefore accept that the answer he gave me, the previous answer he gave me that the answer was no, because the works had not been carried out in his office, I think he said, is incorrect on the basis of the Principal Auditor’s description, where he says:

‘Works which were carried out to the offices of the Employment Service by three contractors.’

So on that basis is there not a contradiction? And I give him the opportunity to dispel any contradiction which I can clearly see on the face of the words that I have just read and the answer he has just given.

100

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, there is no contradiction. No works have been carried out while I have been there and I am not aware of what works are being referred to. So I will investigate how there is apparently a reference to works which as far as I am concerned have not taken place.

Q58/2015

Approved List of Government Contractors – Number of incorporated companies

Clerk: Question 58, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Government state how many of the companies which have been admitted on to the Approved List of Government Contractors have been incorporated since they came to office?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Economic Development and Telecommunications.

110

Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): Forty-six, Mr Speaker.

115

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr. Speaker, this question also arises out of a comment made, again in the Principal Auditor’s Report, where again, with your permission, if I could simply read the numbers, where he says:

‘The review also highlights’ –

120 Mr Speaker: On this occasion I am going to allow that procedure whereby you quote extensively from the Principal Auditor's Report. May I commend to Hon. Members that in future, perhaps in the main question, there should be a reference to the particular paragraph? Other than that, what the House can do of course is to debate the Principal Auditor's Report, which was a feature of life in the House of Assembly in days gone by. We cannot have a repetition whereby you are quoting at length from the Principal Auditor's Report, paragraph after paragraph.

125 But I am allowing that today because it is the first occasion that it arises. Okay?

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for that, but the only concern that I have is the premise on which the comment is made and it is this, that first of all it is not an extensive quote from the report. I have literally just quoted a few lines and I think I am more than entitled to proceed in the way that I proceeded this morning in the future.

130 I will take on board what the Chair has said for the future, but by doing so I am not necessarily agreeing that that is the way I will be proceeding in the future, Mr Speaker. But this is not an extensive quoting of the report; it is simply a quotation based arising from the answers that the Hon. the Minister gives.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Member will appreciate that if he wants to get a fuller answer, if the Minister who is answering the question knows what the subject matter is going to be, he can give a much fuller and much more accurate answer.

Hon. D J Bossino: Indeed, Mr Speaker, and that is obviously clearly a matter for the relevant Member asking the question.

140 Mr Speaker, paragraph 2.6(8) says:

'The review also highlighted a vast number of tenders which had not been channelled through the Government's Procurement Office, but directed via the Construction Industry Temporary Scheme for Government Contractors'

– which I assume is the approved list system –

'The scheme was created in August 2010'

145 – during our time –

'with the purpose of attempting to aid the local construction industry in order to achieve flexibility in the allocation of contracts to registered contractors who meet a set of terms and conditions.'

150 However, Mr Speaker, the number of contractors in the approved list of Government contractors has risen from 53 in June 2012 to 185 in March 2014. In that context he has answered the specific question which I asked which was presumably, out of those, 46 have been incorporated during his time in office. But can he give this House an explanation as to why there has been such a massive increase from the figure of 53 in June 2012 to the current figure or the March 2014 figure of 185?

Hon. J J Bossano: The original question is how many companies that are currently on the list were incorporated after we came into office, and I have given him that figure.

He then asked me, as a supplementary – nothing to do with the 46 that I have given him – what do I think about something that the Auditor says. Well, he should have asked me that in the original question and then I would have brought an explanation for him.

160 Clerk: Question 59, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I come back?

Mr Speaker: Yes.

165 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, let me try and make it easier for the hon. Gentleman in the supplementary that I am going to ask, because he has answered that there has been 46 new construction companies that are on the approved contractors list and that means that even on those numbers, taking the 53 that were there when we were there, another 46 in three years, that is double... in fact, it is much more. It is 185, the number at the moment.

170 Can he give an explanation as to why we have seen this significant increase in the number of construction companies that are now on the approved contractors list?

175 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, Mr Speaker, the hon. Member knows the answer to that question already, because he has been asking me questions about the companies that were incorporated from people who were previously unemployed and who then set-up small companies in order to be able to compete for Government work. The bulk of these 46 companies are one-man companies – one-man outfits.

180 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, but, Mr Speaker, part of the criteria for coming onto the approved contractor's list is also experience as well, experience to deal with a job, and when we were there certainly my recollection is that there were limits. So, for example, any contractor below, I think it was, £½ million, you required X number of years practising in that particular area as a construction company and then over a £1 million... so the experienced companies would obviously do the more complicated jobs, because at the end of the day there is a quality issue.

185 But here in Gibraltar we have seen companies, such as, for example, Busy Bee, which is a company that was incorporated a year and a half ago, that is awarded a £1.5 million contract. How does the hon. Gentleman justify that?

Hon. J J Bossano: I justify it on the basis that I justified it when he first raised the matter. It was the lowest tenderer.

190 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, with respect that does not answer the question. Leaving aside whether it was or it was not the lowest tenderer, it is about quality too and it is about experience to do a job, and if you have a construction company that has been incorporated (Interjection) a year and a half ago, and in a year and a half it gets a substantial contract for £1.5 million, surely there is a quality issue there.

195 Is he satisfied that the quality of jobs done by companies that have been recently incorporated getting these very substantial contracts, that the quality is being retained?

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I am satisfied that the people who do the work for me are satisfied that that is the case. I am myself not a construction expert.

200 Hon. D A Feetham: So, Mr Speaker, have the qualifications, the quality threshold for coming onto the approved contractor's list and for being able to do these substantial contracts, has that changed between when we were in Government to them taking over, because quite frankly I cannot remember when we were in Government – and I had some involvement in relation to this – I cannot remember that in our time you could ever have a situation where a company that has only been there for a year and a half since incorporation gets a contract for £1.5 million.

210 Hon. J J Bossano: I certainly do not want to emulate their record of disasters in the construction industry and so therefore I am not going to look to his record to see what we should be doing now. But I can tell the hon. Member that when I asked about the list that he talks about with the thresholds, that list had been out of date for 10 years out of the 15 that they were there, according to the people in the Technical Services, and included at least six companies that had gone bust and disappeared from the scene and were still on that list.

215 Hon. D A Feetham: So, Mr Speaker, if Mr Bossano and I were to incorporate a construction company tomorrow, is he saying to me that in a year's time we would be perfectly entitled to be allocated contracts for £1.5 million or is our membership of the GSD going to count against us, Mr Speaker?

220 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the membership of the GSD will not count against him, but I would think that those 46 that were originally GSD will by now have changed their voting pattern, given the attack that they are constantly being submitted to since they left the unemployment list. But I would welcome it if they both decide to devote their energies to construction because they are doing a lousy job in politics. (Laughter)

265 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Training provide details of any new Trainees enrolled at either (a) the Construction Trades Training Centre and (b) Engineering Trades Training Centre, since the answer provided to Question 766/2014, indicating the specific discipline or course being followed, indicating at what level, the examination board and awarding body who will upon successful completion certify the award as well as stating at which training centre they are enrolled?

270 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Economic Development and Telecommunications.

275 Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, there are eight instructors in the Construction Training Centre, two are delivering carpentry training up to NVQ level 3, one is delivering painting and decorating training up to NVQ level 2 and one up to NVQ level 3. One instructor is delivering plumbing up to NVQ level 2 and three are delivering training in bricklaying, plastering, wall and floor tiling up to NVQ level 3.

All instructors have qualifications under the CITB and are approved under City and Guilds.

280 There are three instructors in the Engineering Training Centre, one of which is employed by Gibdock, delivering training in mechanical and electrical engineering and fabrication and welding up to NVQ level 3.

There are eight assessors at the Construction Training Centre, with lead body qualifications City and Guilds D32, D33 and EAL L Unit, and three assessors at the Engineering Training Centre, two possess the EAL Award in assessing competence in the work environment level 3 and one is in the process of obtaining it.

The qualifications obtained by the trainees are as follows.

285 Awarding Body City and Guilds: Carpentry level 1, 13 trainees and level 2, four trainees; Plumbing level 2, one trainee; Bricklaying level 1, two trainees, level 2, three trainees; Plastering level 2, two trainees; Tiling level 2, one trainee; Painting and Decorating level 1, seven trainees; Combined Bricklaying, Plastering and Tiling level 1, 76 trainees.

290 Engineering level 3, two trainees.

Construction Training Centre: Combined Bricklaying, Plastering and Tiling level 1 City and Guilds, 17 trainees. City and Guilds Carpentry level, three trainees and level 3, four trainees; Bricklaying level 2, five trainees; Plastering level 2, five trainees; Tiling level 2, two trainees.

295 In the Engineering Training Centre, doing EAL: Fabrication and Welding level 2, there are four trainees and level 3, four trainees; Mechanical Engineering level 3, seven trainees; Electrical Installation level 3, 16 trainees; Motor Vehicle Mechanic level 2, eight trainees.

There have been no enrolments since the answer to Question 766/2014.

Mr Speaker: I can arrange for the hon. Member to receive a photocopy of this if it will facilitate him, 300 unless he is satisfied with the main answer.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, please.

Mr Speaker: Okay, if you just wait a moment then we will arrange for that to be done.
305

Hon. E J Reyes: In the meantime, Mr Speaker, it is a very comprehensive answer and I am very grateful for your offer, but can I just clarify one thing that may be very clear to the Minister, but not to me?

When he said that since the answer he gave to my hon. colleague to Question 766/2014, he said there have been no new trainees, perhaps I could have used a better language. Does he know from there if any...

310 Although there may not be a new name enrolled at the Training Centre, since that answer has there been any trainee who has completed a particular level and has kept on being enrolled but has now moved to a higher level – for example, Mr Speaker, those who completed level 1 moving on to level 2 or from level 2 to 3? The Minister may or may not have that, but if he does have it, then it would save me having to pursue it in the future.

315 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the answer is that the trainees who are at level 2 are people who are continuing having level 1 and the ones at level 3 are continuing, and so they only have to enrol once, I am told by the Training Centre, which is when they first enter and they do not need to re-enrol to continue with level 2 and level 3. Indeed, in the case of the construction sector, they spend time in the industry and then 320 they can come back and continue. We do not treat that as a new enrolment, but as a continuation of the previous one.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, and I think it is only fair that if I require further details I will come back to the Minister. I doubt I will be able to deduce from his figures what trend there is. If I give you a 325 hypothetical example. If 20 trainees completed level 1, how many of those 20 wish to move on and actually carry on with Level 2? But perhaps the Minister may know and offer some information.

I believe from some of the trainees there present that despite those within the construction trades receiving qualified craftsman status on completion of level 2, there seems to be a desire by three or four, maybe half a dozen of them to continue on to level 3 and for which the Training Centre I know in the past 330 has tried to accommodate them. Does the Minister have any information he can offer to this House whether they are allowing those, despite that they will have to spend far more time out in the industry? I think it is one of the conditions set by the Examination Board, but is he, as a matter of policy, willing to encourage these youngsters to carry on with their qualifications?

For the sake of those not well versed in this issue, Mr Speaker, if I can draw you to our educational 335 system, a craftsman in the construction trade who attains a qualification at level 2 to continue to level 3 would be the equivalent of us carrying on doing in the education world, like a post-graduate type of study. Can the Minister enlighten us if he has any information?

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, it is not something that we encourage because the whole purpose of the 340 training is that we want to get people replacing craftsman that we are currently importing; therefore, as he rightly says, going on to level 3 is really in order to take on more the level of charge hand, a foreman or a supervisory, and I think frankly it is not the best thing to come straight out of training and go in there without having experience of some work in the industry.

So for those who want to do their level 3, what we are saying – there are not all that many of them – is 345 that they should go into the industry and get day release and we will enter into an agreement with the employer so that when they need to get released to carry on with their level 3 studies, that will be funded by the Training Programme so that the employer will not be hostile to the idea of releasing people because it will not be at the expense of the employer.

350 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, with your leave may I say to the Minister that I think that sounds extremely sensible and I simply say to you, thank you for that type of commitment. He can rest assured of my support that we are not only training people to fill up the type of vacancies that will arise now, but we are looking forward towards succession planning, if one wants to call it that, so that in a few years' time there will no longer be a need to import any labour to take over supervisory roles. We are talking about the 355 managers of the future and time runs away and so the Minister can count on the support from this side of the House in respect of continuing up to level 3.

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, if we are able to continue to attract people into the construction industry, eventually we will see a significant move, but we are still at the early stages of that transition.

360 Mr Speaker: Next question.

455 The funds of Credit Finance are invested in commutation, pensions, financing and loans which provide a profitable return and the balance is held in on-call accounts, which have been explained in answer to supplementaries in previous questions on this subject. I am not prepared to provide any further details beyond what has been provided.

The monies held by GIH and its subsidiaries are managed collectively, together with Government research by the Treasury in order to meet day-to-day needs in cash flow movements.

460 The cash reserves in the months requested were as follows: August 2014, £79,000,000.57; September 2014 £96,000,000.84; October 2014 £90,720,000; November 2014 £84,000,000.65; and December 2014 £60,000,000.10.

465 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I afford the hon. Gentleman an opportunity to answer some of the questions that he has missed out in his bunching of all these questions? He has not answered Question 65, which is the cash reserves. I have not heard him answer that for the cash reserves and he knows that I need the cash reserves in order to calculate net debt. He has not answered the question that Mr Bossino has asked about Gibtelecom. Obviously he has not answered the questions on Gibraltar Investment Holdings Limited, but I assume his answer in relation to that is that he does not want to provide me with any further information than the information he has already provided for me. But at the very least before I come back on the other matters, I want to ask supplementaries on in relation to Question 65 and also Question 70.

Hon. J J Bossano: Yes, I apologise. I think the people who have been putting this together for me are new and put it down as a supplementary when it should have been part of the original answer.

475 The investment was made by the Gibraltar Savings Bank Fund in the purchase of the Gibtelecom shareholding and that is reflected in the list of investments that I have passed over to the hon. Member, but I should have mentioned it.

I did give the figures for the cash reserves, but I will repeat them, which was August £79,000,000.57; September £96,000,000.84; October £90,720,000; November £84,000,000.65 and December £60,000,000.10.

485 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: I had obviously misunderstood him to have meant that that was the money that had gone into Gibraltar Investment Holdings that had been held as cash for the use of subsidiaries and that that was the monies that had been held as at those months – that was my understanding. Can he confirm that my understanding was wrong and that those figures that he has given are the public debt net reserves?

Hon. J J Bossano: The figure that I have given for the months of August, September, October, November and December are in answer to Question 65 and are the Government cash reserves.

490 Hon. D A Feetham: So, Mr Speaker, the net debt, as at the end of December, was the gross debt of £452 million less cash reserves at the end of December, which gives a net debt of £394 million pounds. Is that the same calculation? He must have that as one of the supplementaries... the calculations that the hon. Gentleman has.

495 Hon. J J Bossano: The figure that I have got shows £392 million.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the net debt is effectively even higher than the net debt that the Hon. the Chief Minister announced to this House of £352 million during the Budget and so the trend is an increase in net debt. We have cash reserves which are just simply £60 million.

500 Mr Speaker, how does the Government intend to keep its manifesto commitment of actually cutting the public debt in half in the light of these figures?

505 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I do not think I have to explain to the hon. Member how I intend to complete any manifesto commitment. The point is that we intend to do it and therefore I do not recall in the 42 years of being here anybody ever explaining to me on that side of the House how they intended to do something they were committed to doing. They just told me to wait and see and I give the same advice.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I await with baited breath.

510 But, Mr Speaker, with cash reserves of £60 million and with a Government just very recently signing a contract for the construction of a power station at £77 million, how does the hon. Gentleman, the Government, intend to be funding the power station with cash reserves of £60 million and the position as he has described it, say, in answers to my question?

515 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I do not recall that it worried him in Government when he was intending to spend twice that much – £120 million to put one up the Rock – and so presumably if he had a scheme up his sleeve which he did not reveal in Parliament then, I am sure there must be people imitating what he was doing at the time.

520 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, it is very simple. His Government and his party have been lambasting us about the fact that we would have needed to borrow money and now I am asking him to come clean. We have got a potential bill to this community of £77 million. Indeed, over the next few weeks I will be demonstrating that that bill is going to be increasing to over £140 million. That is the real cost of the power station and I just simply want to know how the Government is going to fund it.

525 Is the Government, for example, going to fund it via the money sitting in Credit Finance, now actually sitting in Gibraltar Investment Holdings Limited, as indeed from the answer that he has given, my hon. Friend, Mr Bossano, he appears to have funded the purchase of the shareholding in Gibtelecom because that has been funded out of the Gibraltar Savings Bank, and of course, if that is the case, then I have got other supplementaries that I wish to ask the hon. Gentleman, as he no doubt can predict.

530 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I am not going to tell him (Laughter) and he knows that (Banging on desks) but I can tell him that given the ‘nomenclature’, which was a word he liked using the last time, introduced by the former Chief Minister, I think this falls into the category of either being hypothetical or work in progress – one of the two.

535 I can tell him that as far as the investment in the Gibraltar Telecom shares is concerned, I think to say that it is funded is a misnomer. The Gibraltar Savings Bank has bought from Slovenia Telecom their 50% shareholding, which was yielding Slovenia 8%, and it is a good return and a safe investment. It has been bought at a price which I can tell Members opposite is a very good price, because my information is that the previous Administration had a valuation done in 2008 which put the value of this 50% shareholding at £40 million.

540 So if it was valued independently and professionally for the previous Government at £40 million in 2008 and we have been able to negotiate a buyout of our partner, what I expect is that the Savings Bank will continue with that investment until we find a suitable partner to replace Slovenia. I anticipate that in the time that we continue to hold those shares we will be taking steps to improve the profitability and consequently the value of those shares so that when we come to resell them there will be a capital gain to the Savings Bank, and so that is the rationale of that investment.

545 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is there not an alternative rationale? It is that the Government has been spending so much money and has been borrowing so much money that actually there is nothing in the coffers, in the kitty to be able to purchase those shares. It would not have been possible for the Government to have purchased the shares in Gibtelecom. It would have been impossible, taking into account the cash reserves that the Government had and indeed the formula about how much the Government can borrow, isn't that the position?

555 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, no, he is wrong. Although he formed part of the Government that invented the formula, it is clear that he does not understand it as well as I do.

560 The formula would allow us to have a net debt of £443 million and so if we had chosen to go to the maximum allowed by the formula, the reserves could have been dropped to something like £70 million and we would still have been able to purchase those shares. But the decision was a deliberate decision that the Savings Bank would be given the opportunity to invest because it provides a good return and it is money that... rather than having it invested somewhere else with a lower return, as the Minister responsible for the Savings Bank I bid for the shares because they were a very lucrative source of funding for us to be able to increase the profitability of the Savings Bank at the same time.

565 So we have got an income stream now coming into the Savings Bank at 8%, which is very good, above anything we are paying out and at the same time. As I say, I expect that it will be possible to improve the value of those shares and to sell them for more than we bought them.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, I sincerely hope that it turns out to be a wonderful investment for the Savings Bank. A little bit liquid for a bank, but nevertheless I hope it is a very good investment and I am sure it will be.

570 But given that the investment has been made by the Savings Bank, which is not the Government and not by the Government, would the hon. Member agree with me that all the Government's public statements to the effect that it has bought out Slovenia Telecom are factually incorrect?

Hon. J J Bossano: I agree with the hon. Member that technically he is right, but it has been bought by the Savings Bank, which is in itself owned by the Government. So if the Government had chosen to use a Government company to buy it, as opposed to the Savings Bank, presumably it would have not been a major departure from accuracy to say that the Government owned all the shares. But I think it is preferable that all the shares should not have been held by the consolidated fund, which would have been the correct 100% accurate interpretation of the statement that the Government has bought it.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana Mr Speaker, [Inaudible] whether the Savings Bank is owned by the Government, in any normal sense of that word it is a statutory body with statutory existence. It is managed by civil servants and it is overseen by a Minister, but of course it is not the Government. It is very different to a Government Department. It is not the taxpayer that owns the asset; it is effectively, I suppose indirectly, the depositors of the Savings Bank. This is now one of the assets that answers for their deposits in due course and so it would have been, I think, more transparent for the Government statements to have said what the hon. Member has said today, which would not have added or subtracted anything from the statement but it would have been factually correct.

Hon. J J Bossano: I agree it would have been a more accurate description of what has been done.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, even if the hon. Gentleman is right, and I had calculated under the formula a net debt that the Government could borrow on the formula... for how much the Government could borrow, a net debt slightly below or below the £443 million, you would still, had the Government bought the shares in Gibtelecom directly, the Government would have been within less than £20 million from that...borrowing...that ceiling.

Is it not the case that really what the Government is doing here is using the Gibraltar Savings Bank as a form of borrowing, which it does not have to, which is not going to be caught by the legal borrowing limit, because the Government really does not have the money to then fund all the other things that the Government is going to be funding, including a power station? Because if the legal borrowing limit is £443 million and had these shares been bought by the Government, it would have taken them within £20 million, or slightly less I think the calculation is, of that actual ceiling.

It would not have had money to then pay for the power station. It would not have had money to pay for the small berths, which the Hon. Minister Costa is responsible for etc, etc, etc, and that is at the heart of the problem that this Government is facing, which is that it has promised so many things to so many people, funded by very high borrowing, that it really does not have the money to fund its long list of commitments, hence why it effectively needs to rely on savers money in the Gibraltar Savings Bank.

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, I know that it suits the hon. Member to put that interpretation on it and no doubt he will either rush off and do another You Tube thing on it or produce little squares on a paper to put through my letterbox, but I am afraid the fact that he does that, which I think is misrepresenting reality, like he is doing now, is something that does not really upset me very much because the day he put this little paper through my letterbox explaining why people should not touch the Savings Bank with a bargepole, when I got to my office there was a telephone call from somebody who wanted to know how they could go about putting £1.5 million in.

So I really want to encourage him to keep on doing these things because it seems to be getting people to put more money in, than I am able to do with my own efforts. (Laughter)

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am going to have to instruct my activists not to post leaflets through the hon. Gentleman's door so that it does not upset the hon. Gentleman.

But this is really the most serious issue affecting Gibraltar and everybody in their political careers learn from people that they have observed in politics, and I have observed him for a very, very long time. One of the things that I took from the hon. Gentleman is his economic philosophy, which was 'always live within your means and always save something'. Leave something aside so that if the going gets tough, Gibraltar has something there that it can rely on and so that we are not vulnerable to future threats.

We have a situation here where the net debt is the highest in history and where we are within, on this calculation, £47 million of the net debt limit of the limit of the Government's borrowing. The Government could not borrow more on these figures than £47 million more, and yet the Government has huge commitments, a power station, the berths and other commitments, the final bills in relation to the cladding of the estates – that has not come through yet – and the affordable homes.

Surely he should see of all people – the architect of the rainy day fund policy – that this is jeopardising the future of our children and our children's children because the only way that this can continue is if everything goes Gibraltar's way. If I were on the board of a company and a CEO of that company were to say to me, 'My policy is that this company has always done well and therefore it is going to continue to do well', without laying out a plan as to how it is going to continue to do well, I would vote for his sacking tomorrow.

635 And you see the problem that I have, Mr Speaker, and I am asking the hon. Member to comment on this, is that this appears to be Government policy that everything has gone well in the past and it will continue to go well. And yet, I would have thought that he of all people would have understood the dangers of Government policy and what the Government is doing here.

640 Mr Speaker: The Hon. Minister has answered the question. I have allowed the Leader of the Opposition effectively to make a political speech and not to ask a question. I hope I do not have a repetition.

645 Hon. J J Bossano: I am glad, Mr Speaker, that the hon. Member has said that that is something that he has paid a lot of attention to, because I still believe it is absolutely essential for us to think of the future and not live just for the day. Indeed, I think it is important that we should not compete with each other in doing things that maybe have short-term benefits and long-term penalties. (Several Members: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks) The hon. Member will know that in my recent broadcast one of the things that I mentioned was the slogan of the GSLP manifesto in 1988, which surprised a lot of people, that a socialist party should be saying you cannot spend money before you make it – that is still my view.

650 I think there is a problem in getting people to stick to the amounts that are intended to be spent when we bring an Appropriation Bill to this House and approve it. I think the former Chief Minister found that problem at one stage and tried to see if it could be corrected by getting everybody to send him monthly e-mails with the figures. I think that at the time that he did that I said to him that the problem, in my view, was not in the Government Departments where there are civil servants and controlling officers on a long-term tradition of considering that it is wrong to spend more. Since then – it started I think in their time and has continued still in ours – through agencies and authorities and in areas like that there are individuals who seem to think that approving variations on original prices, so that the money that was intended to cover several projects now is stretched to the limit, is perfectly permissible.

660 I can tell the hon. Member that given that we have now brought the level of unemployment down to the level that we both think is desirable and attainable, which is below the 300 mark, my colleague will be ensuring that it stays in that region. I, with my new responsibility, will be taking a much greater role in ensuring that that philosophy, which he subscribes to and so do I, is reflected in the way we manage things.

665 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, let me say, Mr Speaker, that we have been political opponents now for the last 14 years, despite our closeness in the past. Let me say without hesitation that I feel far more comfortable with the hon. Gentleman in the Government benches and I hope that he remains as a voice of caution in the management of our public debt for many years to come, because the reality is that what he has said, and also what he has not said, but I know that he subscribes to too, makes a lot of sense and the reality is that in an uncertain world, and increasingly we live in an uncertain world, we need to live within our means and we cannot have every four years auctions as to who pays more on both sides, and I really do believe that and I really do hope that the hon. Gentleman remains there for many, many years.

670 May I now deal with something that I do not agree with the hon. Gentleman (Laughter) and that is all that money that has been shifted from Credit Finance to Gibraltar Investment Holdings Limited? I know that he is not providing us with any information in relation to that, but he did say, and I took a note of this, 'the money is in cash flow movements within Government companies'. I think he used that phrase. That means therefore that effectively that £347 million, which is the £430 million in Credit Finance, £400 million from the Savings Bank and £30 million from the Government, less the £82 or £83 million is £347 million, that £347 million has effectively been parked in Gibraltar Investment Holdings Limited and it is being used as cash flow for the Government group of wholly-owned companies. Is my understanding correct in relation to that?

Hon. J J Bossano: Yes, as was the case before 2011.

685 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, but Mr Speaker, there is, and he knows it, one important difference here. The Government-owned companies when we were in Government were funded out of the consolidated fund. In other words, it was the taxpayer that funded Government-owned companies, and for people listening, it is not only the funding of Government companies, it is the funding of their projects. So, for example, if GJBS, who forms part of that network of companies, had projects, the Government in the past would fund not only GJBS their wages, but also the projects undertaken by GJBS.

690 If that £347 million is being used in the same way as we injected cash in these companies from the consolidated fund, effectively is it not the case that the Government is not only funding through the Savings Bank this network of companies, but also their projects, including projects by GJBS?

695 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I know what the hon. Member is trying to do is to get me to tell him what I have told him I will not tell him. I know that. What I can tell him is the only thing I am prepared to tell him which is that the system of using the cash collectively from all sources and having that controlled centrally by the Treasury was the answer that was given to me when I asked the question about how this was being done and that is the answer that I am giving him now. He can speculate as to what the implications of that are, which is what I used to do when I got the answer.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Clerk: We now move to Question –

705 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in relation to my question, which relates to Gibtelecom, is he able to tell this House who carried out the valuation and whether any due diligence... presumably some due diligence would have been carried out in relation to that exercise, but is he able to advise us who actually carried out the valuation? I think from the reports given to the press – I think from the Government's own press release – the purchase value was at €48 million. I think I am quoting the correct figure.

Hon. J J Bossano: I cannot remember the name of the entity that did it, but I can tell the hon. Member the Slovenian's did their own valuation and Gibtel did its own valuation, remember this is before I became a shareholder in Gibtel at Savings Bank. But I did form part of the delegation that went to Slovenia to discuss the issues with the Slovenians and in fact we actually negotiated a price which was at the bottom range of those valuations for very particular circumstances.

715

The background to this, Mr Speaker, is that the Slovenian group, which was state owned, was required by the EU to have to be privatised because Slovenia needed EU bailout and it so happened that although the Gibraltar investment in a group that was at one stage valued at something like €2 billion in the Ljubljana Stock Exchange, the Gibraltar outfit was the most, if not the only profitable bid of the whole empire and so there was an element, yes, from the accounts that they provided me with it was clear. So they thought they could get better value by selling us the profitable bit, which we were interested in buying, rather than by selling the whole thing where the ratio of profits of Gibraltar was lost against a background of a lot of red ink in Croatia, Albania and all the other places where they were.

720

So it was in their interest to buy and therefore I think we got a better price than we might have otherwise done. The price was within the parameters of the valuations that had been done, but their eagerness to sell before the whole group went on sale meant that on the basis that they could do the sale quickly and that they would get cash. The only reason why it was delayed in fact was because they wanted to get the dividend that was due in the second half of 2014 as well as the payment for the shares, and we were not able to persuade them to forego that dividend so they stuck out until the dividend was due, but that is the reason for the price and the timing. It was within what had been done independently with somebody that did it for them and somebody that did it for Gibtel and in the process of the negotiation where we had, if you like, a very keen seller as well as our interest in buying, partly because it was a very good return; secondly, because in my judgement we can get a better price than what we paid, especially if before we put it back on the market we do things to improve the return; and thirdly, because with the group being put on the market, we would never have known who we might have finished up as a subsidiary of, which is not a very good situation. So that is really the background.

735

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in terms of putting it back onto the market. I presume the Government, the Gibraltar Savings Bank has not decided to do that as yet, and the reason why I ask, I seem to recall, and I do not have a copy of the article here, but I think the Hon. the Chief Minister said in a recent interview that he had many – I do not think he gave us a number – many investors who were interested. In terms of that I just sense there is a bit of a contradiction in terms of the approach.

740

I get the impression, and I certainly do recall this when I think the first press release was issued by the Gibraltar Government, that the intention was to take control now, to therefore control who the next private sector partner would be, but that as quickly as was reasonably possible, the Government – and that is the only information that we had – the Government was very interested to sell that shareholding back into the private sector. Whilst I sense from the answers which the hon. Member has given this morning that his approach seems to be different. He has gone in and he wants to make a profit out of it and then in time, when he thinks that the timing is correct, he will then sell on to a third party private bidder. Is that analysis correct?

Hon. J J Bossano: From the point of the Savings Bank this is a good investment. We are in no rush to sell it. We believe that we can sell it profitably and we believe that if certain things are done with Gibtel the price that we can get is going to be even higher. So obviously the Government does not need this money

755 back as a Government because it is not the Government that has put the money in. It is the Savings Bank that has put it in and the Savings Bank... I, as the Minister responsible for the Savings Bank, believe that a timescale of within a year would not be a long-term investment. If we look at the portfolio where I have given a breakdown in terms of the maturities, then in fact the bulk of the money that we have got in the 760 Savings Bank is more than 12 months' money and therefore the bulk of the money that is coming in is predominantly in three-year and five-year maturities. So the Savings Bank itself is attracting funds which are in for more than one year and I would think that one year would be more than sufficient time to achieve the kind of targets that I think are possible to achieve.

765 But of course, if somebody turned up tomorrow very keen to buy it and gave us a very good price, we would reconsider the situation, but it is not that we have a desperate need to resell this because we need to use the money for somebody else or something else because we have not used Government money. If we had used Government money we might have been in that situation, but given that it is an investment by the Savings Bank, the Savings Bank is getting a sound return.

BUSINESS AND EMPLOYMENT

Q1-2/2015

Industrial Tribunal – Employing permanent Chairman; reforms to procedure

Clerk: Question 1, the Hon. D J Bossino.

770 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment state whether he has any intention of employing a permanent Chairman to the Industrial Tribunal?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

775 Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, I shall answer this question together with Question 2/2015.

Clerk: Question 2, the Hon. D J Bossino.

780 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment state when he expects he will have completed the promised reforms to the Industrial Tribunal procedures?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

785 Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, at present we are considering the long-term sustainability of appointing a full-time Chairperson against the feasibility of retaining the current system of appointing a Chairperson from a panel. The expectation is that all the reforms will be completed before the summer.

790 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, clearly from the answer he has given, is it within the realms of possibility that the Government may change its position in relation to the permanency of that position?

He may recall that when I asked the then Minister for Employment back in March 2014, Question 333/2014, I asked him that precise question and I asked him when it was going to happen and he was very forthright in his answer, saying it would happen before the next General Election, Mr Speaker.

795 But can he confirm that he will not be held to that and that he may be considering going down another route, which is to have, basically, the system that we have had before where you draw people from a panel?

Hon. N F Costa: Yes, Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman is correct. The intention is to reform the entirety of the Industrial Tribunal system before the summer and whether it is before the General Election or not is a 800 matter entirely in the hands of the Chief Minister if he calls an election before then. But I do think that six months would be sufficient time to be able to consider the different proposals that have been sought from the Bar Council, the Unions, the Chamber of Commerce and the GFSB. They will be writing to me, hopefully by the end of February.

805 In the meantime, and in any event, we have been liaising with the Bar Council and the law firms – his firm may have received a letter from me – where I seek lawyers wishing to be appointed Chairpersons in employment cases. I am sure he will be happy to learn that from the 32 existing cases that I inherited that did not have a Chairperson presiding, we only have three left.

810 But to answer specifically the question that he asks, I am looking at both possibilities. Whether a permanent Chairperson is sustainable insofar as there would be a continuous number of cases for a full-time Chairperson to deal with throughout a year or whether that is not likely and therefore we better have a system where we choose Chairpersons from a list of a panel, but certainly relooking at and reviewing the existing structure of appointment, fees paid etc.

815 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, yes, he is absolutely right in relation to the reference to the letter which he said was sent to the Gibraltar Bar Council and then it was distributed amongst the Chambers and that is why I had a copy of it.

In that context, he does not seem to refer to the possibility of having an appeal body comprising three individuals, and the reason why I say that specifically is because that does feature in an electoral commitment on behalf of his Party.

820 So can he confirm that it will be the intention as part of the proposals, which presumably will be reflected in legislation in the future – perhaps not necessarily primary legislation, but certainly changes in the rules – that that specific proposal, i.e. the Appellate Body, comprising three individuals, will feature in that?

825 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, I do not know whether the hon. Gentleman has had the opportunity to consider the letter that I circulated, but if he were to look at the third paragraph, the last line in fact says:

‘The intended effect of the reform is to simplify the Industrial Tribunal process, including the appeal process.’

So therefore we are in fact looking at that manifesto commitment as well.

830 Hon. D J Bossino: Oh, I see. So, exactly, as part of the simplification procedure he is envisaging complying with the electoral manifesto commitment, which is to have a three-man or three-person Appellate Body, and presumably he sees that as a simplification because at the moment the only other course open to an aggrieved party is to appeal to the Supreme Courts.

835 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, yes. The manifesto commitment set out that the intended effect of the reform is to simplify the Industrial Tribunal process and as part of our thinking currently is that we may even have to come to this House to enact primary legislation on perhaps an Industrial Tribunal Act, because having considered the English laws so far, there is an Industrial Tribunal Act and then there are subsidiary rules. Given that the reference to Industrial Tribunal in the current Employment Act, if I recall correctly, only relates to two or three sections, we think that it actually makes a lot of sense to have a separate piece of primary legislation that sets out the entirety of the objectives, the effect and the procedures of the Industrial Tribunal and also the subsidiary legislation that may cover other matters. But that is what we are currently thinking and it may be that we need to come to this House therefore to enact primary legislation.

845 I wish to stress to the hon. Gentleman that the reform that we are presently considering relates exclusively to the Industrial Tribunal and I have already written to the Chamber to say that at this juncture we are not considering any other changes to the employment laws, but simply and exclusively on Industrial Tribunal Reform.

850 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, has the Government in relation to that last answer, that portion of his answer, has the Government adopted a position? I have not had the opportunity of reading the proposals made by the Gibraltar Chamber of Commerce, but I have had the opportunity of reading the reported reaction by the Unions in Gibraltar. I think one of the concerns which they have and they are absolutely dead against is the possibility that potential complainants will have to be, I think it is, paying for part of the filing process.

855 Has the Government adopted a position specifically in relation to that? The reason why I ask that question is relevant from the answer that he has just given, because it I think impinges upon one of the procedural aspects which he is looking at.

860 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, in the first place to stress that since my appointment as Minister for Employment, I have only been able to sink my teeth into this very recently. But I can tell him categorically that on the question of whether a complainant will need to file a fee to start an Industrial Tribunal process, the answer is categorically no. (Banging on desks)

865 Mr Speaker: May I say to the hon. questioner, there is a limit about the extent about which he can ask supplementaries on the reforms. He has asked for a date and he has been told it is going to be done by the summer, but we must not get carried away in discussing here this morning the actual reforms – that can be the subject of a separate question on the Agenda Paper of course.

Unemployed Gibraltarians –
Quarterly average

870 Clerk: Question 3, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment provide details of the quarterly average of unemployed Gibraltarians for the last quarter of 2014?

875 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, the quarterly average of unemployed Gibraltarians for the last quarter of 2014 was 268.

880 It gives me great satisfaction to be able to report to the House that thanks to the unstinting efforts of the former Minister for Employment, the Hon. Joe Bossano, the lowest unemployment figures since records began was in December of last year, when the figure stood at 228. (Applause and banging on desks)

Q4, Q6 & Q8/2015
Dry-dock –
Operating procedure; complaints received

Clerk: Question 4, the Hon. J J Netto.

885 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health and Safety say what health and safety procedure is implemented by companies operating at the dry-dock when using blasting materials on ships at the dock in order to ensure that no adverse effect occurs to the environment, and what external monitoring procedure to ensure compliance with the law is carried out to ascertain that companies using such materials do not cut corners that might damage the marine environment, given the type of hazardous contaminants that blasting has?

890 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 6 and 8/2015.

895 Clerk: Question 6, the Hon. J J Netto.

900 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health and Safety please say on how many occasions have the Factories Inspectors had inspection meetings, advice, complaints, site visits and accident investigations in the ship building/marine repair industry sector during 2014, broken down by the categories above mentioned?

Clerk: Question 8, the Hon. J J Netto.

905 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health and Safety say if Factory Inspectors have inspected recently the dry-docks arising from complaints made by the residents in the nearby area, and if so, provide Parliament with a statement of their findings?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

910 Minister for Business & Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, with respect to the hon. Gentleman, I am not answerable in the House for procedures implemented by private companies that may operate at the dry-dock when conducting any operations. What I can tell the hon. Gentleman is that all works at Gibdock are undertaken in accordance with the Safety Systems of Work Policy Document in accordance with ICA 9, 14 and 18 thousand accreditations and in accordance with the relevant domestic 915 legislation.

I can also tell the hon. Gentleman that I am informed by Gibdock that blasting is conducted by Gibdock employees and not by subcontractors. The Health and Safety Inspectors also collaborate with the Environmental Agency on matters relating to blasting.

The Inspectorate has effected three meetings in respect of the ship building marine repairs industry sector during last year and the Health and Safety Inspectorate have not visited the dry-docks as they have 920 not received any complaints from residents.

I am advised however, by the Health and Safety Inspectorate, that the Environmental Agency has received a number of complaints.

925 Hon. J J Netto: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Could I ask the Hon. Minister whether in relation to the sand blasting operation that takes place from time to time, at least during 2014, whether the company – not the sub-company but the company directly operating there – does have a planning supervisor appointed every time that sand blasting takes place on a ship? And in relation to having a planning supervisor appointed, whether the Health and Safety Inspectorate 930 have been notified every time that such an operation takes place?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, I do not have the answer to those questions.

Hon. J J Netto: Well, Mr Speaker, I did have a number of supplementary questions in relation to this, but it might be the case that the Hon. Minister himself might not have the kind of detailed answers to my specific supplementaries. So I wonder whether in order to just save time I simply write to the Hon. Minister detailing them, because I fear that in the same way he may not have available to him there, the information, he might not have the information to my other supplementary questions, which really emanates from these

Hon. N J Costa: Mr Speaker, as the hon. Gentleman will know, we have corresponded in the past as a result of questions that he has asked in this House. So I am, once again, more than happy to reply to any supplementaries that he may have.

945 Mr Speaker: Question 5.

Q5/2015
Health and Safety – Statistics for December

Clerk: Question 5, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health and Safety please provide the Health and Safety Statistics for the month of December as these were not available on the Government website at the 950 time notice of questions was notified?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Yes, Mr Speaker, I will now hand over the set of statistics to the hon. Gentleman.

965 Mr Speaker: The schedule consists of five pages, so perhaps we can go on to the next question and if necessary, come back to anything that may arise.

970 Hon. J J Netto: I think, Mr Speaker, that will not be necessary because last night I did notice that the information had already been uplifted to the Government website and so in a way the information, which is now coming through, I already have it available to me. There are, I think, two small issues that I would like to raise, if possible, with the Hon. Minister.

One relates to the table in relation to monitoring activities. If the hon. Member looks at the table, both for December and November, he will be able to see that in December there were 11 inspections carried out, 10 to the construction industry, one to, I think it is, the road transport as far as December, and in relation to November there were 16 to the construction industry.

975 The one thing I would like to point out to the Hon. Minister, given that, as he has just said, he has only just sunk his teeth into his new portfolio, is the same kind of comments that in the past have been made to the two previous Ministers for Health and Safety, and that is that there is a constant predisposition by the Health and Safety Inspectorate only to target, not only... 'only' is perhaps the wrong word – mainly to target the construction industry, and this is probably due to the fact of their own Health and Safety Inspectors background and qualifications.

I think there is a disproportionate amount of time dealing with the construction industry and what I would urge the Hon. Minister is to look at this, have a discussion with the Inspectors so that we can have a more fair balance of inspections right across all the industry groups and not just mainly on construction. So if he could take that on board I think it would be good for all the industry groups.

985 The other point I would like to raise with the Hon. Minister is in the table of occupational reportable accidents. If the Hon. Minister goes to the December figures, he will see that there was one major accident, I think. Let me just get this right. Is it the construction industry? Yes, in the construction industry. I wonder whether this has been highlighted to him and whether he can give Parliament a brief account of what happened as a result of that major accident in the construction industry in December.

990 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, in the first place to say to the hon. Gentleman that he is absolutely correct in saying that the statistics were not available on line when he went to prepare the question, and I apologise to him for that. I have made it clear to my new staff that statistics have to be updated regularly and they have to make sure they are ready for the hon. Gentlemen, certainly before we are to appear in Parliament to 995 answer questions. As the hon. Gentleman will have realised, as he has in fact, they were ready for today's session.

The hon. Gentleman has urged me to look at why there seems to be a predisposition to mainly target the construction industry and he urges me to look at this in order to have a more balanced inspection or a more balanced review of all industries. I am sure it will please him to learn that in fact one of the first things that I asked on being made responsible for the portfolio was for a plan. To ask in fact how we achieve that. How we are able to have a balanced continuous review of all industries throughout the entire year and therefore what resources, in terms of infrastructure and human resources may be required. So I take on board the comments made by the hon. Gentleman and I will hopefully be able to update him on progress in that respect during the coming months.

1005 As to the question on the accidents, is that in relation to Question 7, which we have not yet got to or is that a separate question? The hon. Gentleman in Question 7 asks me about a major accident report in November.

1010 Hon. J J Netto: Will the hon. Gentleman give way?

Hon. N F Costa: Yes of course.

1015 Hon. J J Netto: I think Question 7 has not been read yet and in fact – I may as well say it now or say it later – I think there is a mistake actually in the question form, because I might have been looking down the table and spotted that the major accident was in the electrical supply industry, which it is not... again, checking as I did last night – it is in the sea transport related industry as opposed to that. But the question has not been read for Hansard purposes.

1020 Hon. N F Costa: Actually, the hon. Gentleman is correct. When he did formulate the question to me, there was a typographical error and so it was not his mistake. It was the fact that the – (Interjection) No, not at all. It was that the website did not accurately reflect the reality which I will now answer to him when Question 7 is read.

Minister for Health and Safety –
Statement in relation to major accident November 2014

Clerk: Question 7, the Hon. J J Netto.

1030 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health and Safety please provide the House with a statement in relation to the major accident reported in the November 2014 statistics on the Government website, Table HS2, in the electricity supply industry sector, and state what, if any, consequences have emanated from such incident?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

1035 Minister for Business & Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, as I was informing the House and the hon. Gentleman, I was informed that there had been an administrative error with this particular statistic. The major accident in question is related to a sea transport incident and not a major electrical supply incident.

1040 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, normally when I have asked questions in the past in relation to not minor accidents, but major accidents, because obviously minor accidents, we are not going to have a debate here or are for a discussion here in relation to such matters, but at least when it is major accidents normally in the past the Minister has stood up and said, 'Well, this happened on this particular site. The inspectors went there and they observed that a number of things were not done properly and we have taken action', and a small brief statement is normally done by the Minister.

1045 I do not know whether the new Minister now for Health and Safety has been prepared with a brief statement as to the nature of the major accident, what was wrong, what lessons have been learned, in order to avoid such a thing happening in the future.

1050 If he has the information, he can provide it to the House. If he has not got the information available right now, again I can write to the Minister and perhaps he can get the information later on for me.

1055 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, it is one of those ironies of life that in fact the accident relates to the Gibraltar Maritime Authority for which I was responsible just a few months ago and we are in exactly the same situation that I was when I answered the question to him then, about the fact that the MAICO has prepared a report, and this is one of these preliminary reports which has been sent now to the new relevant Minister, who is Minister Isola.

1060 Without wishing to rehearse the answer that I gave to him in respect of that question two months ago, he will recall that a preliminary report is sent to the Minister and that the question of whether the MAICO does report a report is entirely a matter for him and not for the relevant Minister. But on the last occasion, I did write to him with a summary of the report, the recommendations and the actions taken. So whereas I am no longer the relevant Minister, I have no doubt, speaking on behalf of Mr Isola, that he will be willing to do the same.

SPORTS, CULTURE AND YOUTH

Q9-10/2015

Gibraltar Rugby Football Union/Gibraltar Cricket Association – Provision of facilities

1065 Clerk: Question 9, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to the answer to Question 137/2014, can the Minister for Sports inform this House if he has now identified and agreed upon potential facilities for use by the Gibraltar Rugby Football Union for the playing, teaching and development of the sport?

1070 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 10.

1075 Clerk: Question 10, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer to Question 485/2014, can the Minister for Sports say if any potential alternative facilities have been identified for use by the Gibraltar Cricket Association in respect of provision of facilities for the playing, teaching and development of cricket in Gibraltar?

1080 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture and Youth.

1085 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, no further facilities have yet been finally identified for the Gibraltar Rugby Football Union, other than formalising with the Ministry of Defence for them to have easier access to use the Devil's Tower Camp facility at no cost to them.

1090 In relation to Question 10, no further facilities have been identified for the use of the Gibraltar Cricket Association, other than already stated, that is the Gibraltar Cricket Association will be able to use the Europa Point Sports Ground as it always has and we are working with them in order to refurbish the Garrison Gymnasium so that they can share this facility for teaching and developing cricket in Gibraltar. The latter is an improvement to what they had before we came into Government.

1095 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, this time round, my questions for both Question 9 and Question 10 refer to where he has identified 'potential' facilities. The Minister has addressed what facilities there are and one welcomes whatever ease of access you can achieve into Devil's Tower Camp, and of course, the use of the Garrison Gymnasium, which under my term in Office was mainly used by the Basketball Association could be easily diverted to the Cricket Association. But about the potential facilities, can the Minister shed some light on that?

1100 Hon. S E Linares: No, Mr Speaker. I have just answered that no further facilities have yet been identified and so therefore the answer is no. But also say to the hon. Member that it was not an easy task to get the Garrison Gym. As he well knows, the Garrison Gym was solely used for basketball, was given to the Basketball Association and we negotiated with them because they saw that it could be used for other sports and we went with the cricket, who were willing to use it for indoor cricket, which is a vast improvement for 1105 their development for young children. Therefore, this is an extra thing which we have done for the cricket, but as to the facilities to identify, we have not been able to identify at this moment in time for the rugby.

1110 Hon. E J Reyes: So for the sake of clarity then, Mr Speaker, the Minister has not in any of his meetings has not said, 'Look, potentially or possibly we could...' I get the feedback from some Members involved in those sports that they seem to have identified a place that may or may not materialise, but that there is potential in it. Can the Minister confirm that that is incorrect information reaching my ears?

1115 Hon. S E Linares: Well, if that is the information that they are giving you, it is incorrect. But what I can also tell the hon. Member is that in the Europa Point Ground, as I have stated before in this House, that we laid down some turf which is not only now used by young children, which is a great improvement for young children to play football, but the rugby is also using it, and I am glad to say that the cricket have indicated that this summer they will also be using it for the development of sports.

As to identifying other areas, the answer remains that no further details are available.

1120 Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Can the Minister clarify he said before that the Garrison Gymnasium, under the GSD Administration, had been given to the basketball. My understanding was that that always remained an asset that was under the control of the Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority. There may have been an arrangement about its allocation, use and upkeep and so on, but can the Minister clarify what he really means by the word 'given'? Was it that the land or the lease was actually donated to basketball?

1130 Hon. S E Linares: Well, Mr Speaker, he was the Minister at the time when the Garrison... when I say given, I say loosely given, because no other association were able to use it and therefore it was for the sole use of GABBA and one could say the keys were given to them and they were using it. No legal pass over was given to GABBA, that is for sure. So there was not a legal lease, licence or anything passed on to GABBA, but GABBA has always used that as if it was theirs, and he well knows that because the GSLA had very, very little, if any, input in the Garrison Gymnasium.

1135 Hon. E J Reyes: Well certainly, Mr Speaker, the GSLA had an input and accountability to this House because if one looks at the estimates of that period you show that the controlling officer of the GSLA still had to answer to this House for those funds.

Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Hon. S E Linares: Is there a question, Mr Speaker.

Q11/2015 Bishop Fitzgerald School –
Calanetics and Taekwondo activities; facilities available

1140 Clerk: Question 11, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1145 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Sports now provide the details missing in his answer to Written Question W85/2014, so as to show which team association has been allocated the use of Bishop Fitzgerald School facilities, in respect of Calanetics and Taekwondo activities?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture and Youth.

1150 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Yes, Mr Speaker, I now hand over to the hon. Member opposite the schedule providing the information that was missing in the answer to the Written Question, which I would like to thank the hon. Member for highlighting this to me because it was a Written Question and when he got the answer he highlighted that to me and obviously the answer was missing. I now hand over the correct answer.

Mr Speaker: It is a lengthy schedule. Perhaps we can go on to the next question and come back to this one, if necessary.

Q13/2015 Heritage sites –
Works undertaken; details

1165 Clerk: Question 13, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Heritage provide details of all works, together with a breakdown of respective cost undertaken at any heritage related site, since the answer provided to Question 732/2014, stating by whom these works were carried out?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Further to the answer to Question 732/2014, further works undertaken at Heritage sites inclusive of costs and works carried out is – and I will read it, Mr Speaker, as there is only one – the site at the Devil’s Tongue Battery. The works were cleaning, general repairs and paintwork. The contractor was Casais and the amount was £12,839.50.

Mr Speaker: Perhaps I suggest we deal with the next question from Mr Netto and then Mr Reyes can come back if necessary.

Mr Netto, please. Question 14.

Q14/2015 Advertising in Spain –
Source of funding; costs involved

Clerk: Question 14, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government say if any funds from the Ministry for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth, or through the Kings Bastion Leisure Centre, has been spent on advertising in Spain, via television, radio or press; and, if so, please provide the amount since January 2012, specifying the name of the media outlet and the date or dates of each individual payment?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the answer to this question remains the same as those of a similar nature relating to questions asked to the Chief Minister in previous Parliamentary sessions, and that is that HM Government of Gibraltar continues to believe that sharing information of this nature publically is not in the public interest of Gibraltar.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, the reason why I have asked this question is because probably in the previous questions that the Hon. Minister has just stated, there was a change between questions and answers and supplementary questions and answers in which in fact the Hon. Chief Minister did say that some funding emanated from either the Ministry or the Kings Bastion Leisure Centre. So it is as a result of the statement made by the Hon. Chief Minister that I am now posing the question.

So there seems to be an acknowledgement, at least on the part of the Government, through the Chief Minister, that such payment has materialised, either through the Ministry for which the Minister is responsible or the Kings Bastion Leisure Centre. All I am trying to do is to see – now that I have this confirmed – what amounts and to what particular entity is concerned. So I am not trying to open any new ground; it is ground that has been opened by the Chief Minister.

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I do not recall when the Chief Minister has said that, because I have here Hansard to Parliament in which he did state and that is why I have answered the question in the manner I have, and there is no mention of Kings Bastion Leisure Centre at all. The answer remains the same.

1210

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, yes, but can I just ask a question in relation to Government policy, because the hon. Gentleman, in his answer, portrays a situation as if Government policy were exactly the same for all Government Ministers? But actually the Hon. Minister Costa has provided us with details of advertising in Spain, on the radio and in the press in Spain, in relation to his own Ministry.

What is the difference between Minister Costa’s approach, which I commend to the House, which is open, transparent and providing us with that information and the approach of the hon. Gentleman in relation to his own Ministry. I just do not understand what the difference is and perhaps the hon. Gentleman might want to explain that to me.

1220 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the simple answer is no, I am not going to explain it, because the Chief Minister actually did that, made the explanation and this discussion was already had when the answer to Question 462/2014 was answered by the Chief Minister. So therefore I am not going to get into the same debate now as has already been had here in this House.

1225 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can he at least answer this, without identifying I am not asking him to identify who the recipients of any funding have been, but can he at least confirm or deny that there has been funding by his Ministry in relation to Spanish press and radio in relation to the subject matter of this particular question, Kings Bastion etc?

1230 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the answer remains the same as I stated at the beginning.

Hon. D A Feetham: But, Mr Speaker, I just simply do not understand the answer.

1235 If you tune into Spanish radio, I think it is Cuarenta Principales I cannot remember exactly which one it is, but there is clearly advertising on that radio station in relation to Kings Bastion. So in the very least he could say to me, 'Well, look, it is public knowledge that this particular radio station does advertise Kings Bastion'. What is the state secret? What is the big national point of public importance and national interest in the hon. Gentleman effectively giving me a non-answer to the question?

1240 Hon. S E Linares: Well, Mr Speaker, he has already answered the question himself. Why am I now going to... He says he is listening to Los Cuarenta Principales and he hears that that there are adverts for Kings Bastion Leisure Centre Limited. Why then ask the question? You know the answer. Why do you want me to tell you? I do not hear the Cuarenta Principales I do not tune into those radio stations. So if he does and he has heard it, there is the answer.

1245 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, of course the hon. Gentleman is a model of patriotism for not listening to Cuarenta Principales, a radio station in which his Government advertises Kings Bastion. I have to say, Mr Speaker, that is a contradiction in the same sentence if ever I heard one (Laughter).

1250 But, Mr Speaker, well at least perhaps he can answer this: is the advertisement of Kings Bastion on Spanish radio the only advertisement that his Ministry places in the Spanish media? At least he can say that. He can say, 'Well, no, it is'. I am not pressing him further where, but can I press him to at least say to me 'Yes, that is exclusively what we do' or 'No, there are other areas, but I am not telling you'?

1255 Hon. S E Linares: No, Mr Speaker, when he says that I contradict myself, I do not contradict myself and it has nothing to do with nationalism; it is to do with the hard work that I do and I do not have time to listen to Los Cuarenta Principales and that is the issue because if I had time, I would be listening to Cuarenta Principales because I would be listening to music and I would try and see which type of music I could bring to the successful music festival. So therefore the premise of nationalism and all that is just an invention of his.

1260 As to being advertised in other media, well, it seems that if he listens to radio and reads all these newspapers, wherever they are, it is exactly where Kings Bastion Leisure Centre Limited advertises.

1265 Hon. D A Feetham: But, Mr Speaker, with respect, the point I quite understand. There might be an argument in relation to public interest of not giving me the exact amounts that the Government advertises on this particular radio station or in that particular newspaper, it provides that information to Gibraltar in relation to the Gibraltar media, but it might choose not to do so, despite the fact that the Hon. Minister Costa did provide that information in a question that I asked.

1270 I quite understand that there might be an argument, a difference, but I am asking him where are you advertising, and that cannot be of national interest. If the answer is, 'Well, you should find out by reading every single newspaper in Spain', that is not an answer. It is not a reasonable answer that a reasonable Minister coming to this House, discharging his obligations, as he must, to the people of Gibraltar in providing reasonable information, it discharges... it cannot possibly.

So therefore, can I press him one more time, the final time, for at least for him to answer my original question or at least the areas where the Government, through his Ministry, is advertising in the Spanish press?

1275 Hon. S E Linares: No, sir.

Cultural grants awarded –
Financial year 2014/15
Supplementary questions

1280 Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker. Can I please ask the Hon. Minister, is it a question of... how can I put it – a question of an error of a repetition of some of the figures provided in his system. If I look, for example, the figures coincide, the name of the recipients coincide, and if one looks towards half way 1285 down the page, Andrew Felices, Elmhurst School of Dance, there is £12,000 and just six lines further down it is the same name for exactly the same quantity. Is it that the entry has been duplicated, as a simple human clerical error, or that two payments, indeed a third one as there is one further up the page for £3,000, and so therefore the grand total is £27,000 and does that correspond to one academic year or to more than one year?

The same thing happens when we come to Sonia Golt book grant and Tracy Lee book grant and so on – it is exactly the same figure. Is it because they were 50% payments on each occasion or does the Minister 1290 perhaps need time to double check that it is not a simple repetition?

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I can explain the Andrew Felices issue, which is for Janet Felices, and if the hon. Member remembers the Chief Minister announced that there will be two cultural grants given to two individuals, who were like elite cultural 1295 persons like Dance and all that and therefore it could well have been that it was given before the financial year, because it goes from April to January, and it was agreed in the previous financial year, the first £12,000, but not paid until this financial year. So it is not quite a double up.

As to Tracy Lee and Sonia Golt, I will check whether it is a double up, because if I remember correctly, with Janet Felices, we gave her an initial £3,000, but then it was agreed that she would get as a grant, the 1300 sort of thing like an education grant, but a cultural grant, because the Chief Minister had announced it, and therefore they probably invoiced the previous year's or at least some part of it from the previous year.

Like I said, as to Sonia Golt and Tracy Lee, I will check on this.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, I am grateful that he is going to check on that one.

1305 Can I then come back and hone in on something Mr Speaker, about six lines down, the MO Productions, 13th Gib International Dance Festival/Dance World Cup Portugal/Sussex, is Sussex a reference to Portugal? Otherwise, if it stands alone, we do not quite know what Sussex was. The other one does say it is a Dance World Cup, but I have no idea what Sussex is. The Minister may need time to go into that one.

I come back to another issue, the Gibraltar Re-enactment Society has an additional grant for uniforms, 1310 which was £350, and so one would take it that is in addition to another figure given, but it does much further up, which was repairs, refurbishments plus additions to kit and weapons. So they all seem to be additions so what was the original source. If you are adding something then you are adding it to what had been granted or is that what is on the penultimate line of the page where Gibraltar Savings Bank. Why is Gibraltar Savings Bank receiving any grant? I think there is a very logical explanation for that, but for the 1315 sake of the record and for clarity, if the Minister could enlighten us on that.

Likewise, four lines from the bottom, a printer has been given a grant. I think what the Minister means there is that the printer was paid in respect of, logic would say, printing a book; but printing a book, there is no entity of what the book was.

I will accept, Mr Speaker, with your leave that the Minister may need time and I do not want to delay 1320 the other questions. He could come back to this House before we adjourn sine die, otherwise we do not have that for the record and I do need it, especially when it comes to budget time for the future, to see where the monies have been spent.

Hon. S E Linares: Yes, Mr Speaker. I thank the hon. Member for highlighting these and I will be 1325 questioning all those. For example, like the hon. Member rightly says, Charles Trico (Printers), it must have been somebody who wrote a book and has actually contracted or done it through Trico Printers and obviously this list is... the cheque or the PV has passed to Trico Printers. Likewise with the Gibraltar Savings Bank and probably the Re-enactment Society have accounts or something there and the money has gone through there, but it is not clear and therefore I will go back and ask to whom or which entity and to 1330 explain these things.

Q15/2015 Gibraltar Music Festival –
Mega Concert; further expenditure

Clerk: Question 15, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Government please state whether it has paid any further expenditure in respect of the Mega Concert since this question was last asked?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, since my last answer, a further expenditure of £29,875.12 has been made in respect of the Gibraltar Music Festival.

Hon. D A Feetham: Is that net or gross?

Hon. S E Linares: That is net. If you are saying that it has been counted out with the revenue, no, it has not. This is expenditure, purely expenditure.

Hon. J J Netto: May I ask, Mr Speaker, I could have got the wrong thing, the Minister has just mentioned that the £29,875.12 in respect of the Music Festival, but that is a totally different festival to the one that appears first in the schedule that he gave me in answer to Question 12, where it says, 'Gibraltar World Music Festival, £15,000'. Am I correct in assuming they are totally unrelated?

1350

Hon. S E Linares: Yes, sir, they are completely different; it is two different entities that organise two different things.

HEALTH, THE ENVIRONMENT AND ENERGY

Q16/2015 GHA Eating Disorder Programme –
Access to programme; details

1355

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health explain the protocols involved to access the GHA's Eating Disorder Programme and what the programme entails?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, if you would first of all allow me to say what a pleasure it is to hear the Clerk announce the hon. Member opposite and we have missed her and clearly as somebody who has had to answer her questions, I personally have also missed her and I am so glad to see her here. (Several Members: Hear, Hear.) (Banging on desks)

1365

Mr Speaker, referrals from the doctor are normally made to the dieticians and psychologists simultaneously and the patients, whether adults or children, are advised and/or treated accordingly and there is a good communication within the team in order to deal with these.

Q17/2015 GHA Review Report – Publication date

1370

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, if I may first say that it is a pleasure to be asking the Hon. Dr. John Cortes questions again and thank him for his very kind words.

Mr Speaker, further to Written Question 233, can the Minister for Health state when exactly the GHA Review Report will be published?

1375 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the prepared answer is a bland no, sir, but I think I can expand that, with your permission.

1380 I had explained in the past that we were not going to publish it until we had reformed the structure of the DHA and that process is now fortunately complete. So it is now a question of doing so and we are preparing to publish it, there is no other impediment than that, and whereas I cannot give an exact date, it will not be long now because it is now a question of actually getting it out. I thought that might be helpful.

Q18/2015 St Bernard's Hospital – Provision of meal service

Clerk: Question 18, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1385

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say if the Xanit Hospital model of food distribution and/or the providers of their meal service is, or are being considered for food distribution at St. Bernard's Hospital?

1390 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): No, sir, we are not considering that at the moment.

1395 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, so can the Hon. Minister confirm that the bulk meal service is a model that will be followed and plated food will be phased out?

1400 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes indeed, Mr Speaker. The intention is with the move to the new kitchen facility on site that we will now be phasing out the plated food service and revert to the more traditional, and I believe better, bulk food which is served on the spot so to speak. We are hoping to be able to pilot this in one of the wards in advance of the new kitchen, just to make sure that we have got our systems and so on in order. So that is the intention.

1405 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, just a couple of supplementary questions. The pilot that will be started is, I believe, at John Ward, can the Hon. Minister say when the pilot will start? Also, is the intention to offer a choice of different foods, because different people have different dietary requirements? Also, will the foods prepared in the new kitchen be providing food for other social services – for instance, the prison and so on?

1410 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, if I start with the last one, yes, the new catering facility will continue to provide a variety of locations with the food.

The other question as to when the pilot will start, I could not say exactly. I do know that it was going to start in January and it may well be about to happen. We needed just to tweak some of the equipment which is clearly different equipment to the one that has been used before.

1415 I cannot recall the third question, if you would just repeat that.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Different choices of food.

1420 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, when the new facility comes in closer, then the intention is to provide the ability to choose food by the patient.

Q19/2015 New prostate cancer clinic –
Details of GP and Consultant Surgeon protocols

Clerk: Question 19, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1425 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, further to Written Question 242, can the Minister for Health state what the prostate cancer GP and Consultant Surgeon protocols are now that the new clinic has been established?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

1430 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the protocols are described in the schedules that I now hand over. As would be seen from these schedules, they have been produced in conjunction with the Prostate Cancer Support Group.

Schedule Answer to Question 19 of 2015

1435 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, while I wait for the schedule, if the Hon. Minister could confirm whether PSA testing will be used as a screening programme. I understand there is controversy about the use of PSA testing because evidence shows that it produces a lot of false positives and so it may be unreliable. So if the Hon. Minister can reassure us that that is not going to be introduced yet without very close and careful consideration.

1440 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker. PSA will not be used as the screening method, because as the hon. Member has pointed out, this can give false positives and without proper counselling, particularly, can create unnecessary alarm, although clearly PSA is an indicator.

Therefore these tests will be carried out in consultation with the doctor and with the patient being fully informed as to the consequences and the different things that can cause an elevated PSA test.

1445 There will be some patients who will be monitored with regular PSA, but, as I say, this is very much a patient-by-patient issue between the patient and his medical practitioner.

Q20/2015 Bonita Trust – Purchase of MRI machine for GHA

Clerk: Question 20, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1450 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say if it is true that the Bonita Trust was prepared to buy the GHA an MRI machine, but this was rejected?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

1455 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, not in the time since we were elected, certainly, not that I am aware of. It has not come to me.

Q21-23/2015 Waste management strategy –
Hazardous waste exported to Gamasur, Los Barrios

Clerk: Question 21, the Hon. J J Netto.

1460 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment please provide an explanation as to why there was a sharp drop in the collection of glass, paper/cardboard in February 2013 as shown in the Gibraltar Waste Management Plan 2013, on page 33?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

1465 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 22 and 23.

Clerk: Question 22, the Hon. J J Netto.

1470 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment say the amount of hazardous waste sent to Gamasur, Los Barrios plant in 2013 and 2014 in tonnage in relation to waste blasting material containing dangerous substances?

Clerk: Question 23, the Hon. J J Netto.

1475 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, is the Minister for the Environment aware that the Gamasur facility plant in Los Barrios is being investigated by the Spanish Prosecution Service and La Junta de Andalucía for alleged serious breaches to Spanish environmental laws and what independent verification does the Minister locally have that hazardous waste from Gibraltar to this plant is being safely disposed of in accordance with European Law?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

1485 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the figures for the collection of glass and paper or cardboard are based on the figures of recyclates exported to the recycling facilities in Spain. These are summed up for each calendar month.

1490 While the figures for February indicate a sharp drop in the collection of the recyclates, this can be explained by there being fewer recyclates exported in this particular month and not necessarily a decrease in the amount of glass and paper/cardboard recyclates deposited locally by the community. It could be that being a shorter month there were fewer deliveries in February and therefore it is an artefact of the way that it is calculated.

In answer to Question 22, the total amount of hazardous waste sent to Gamasur Los Barrios plant in 2013 and 2014 concerning waste blasting material containing dangerous substances was 3,444.844 tonnes and 2,265.58 tonnes respectively.

1495 In answer to Question 23, we are aware, although not directly, that there is currently an investigation into the plant; however, neither the Ministry for the Environment nor the Environmental Agency, which is competent authority for the export of waste, have received any official notification from the Junta de Andalucía's Consejería de Medio Ambiente, Dirección General de Prevención y Calidad Ambiental, 1500 Servicio de Residuos y Calidad del Suelo, that the Gamasur facility in Los Barrios is being investigated or is in breach of European Law. Should the facility be found to be in breach of any applicable laws, the Ministry will then take appropriate action.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, in relation to the answer provided by the Hon. Minister to the last question, Question 23, the reason why I posed this particular question is because after doing a quick search in Google, I found an article – I do not know whether the Minister has got the same article at his disposal – 1505 in the Spanish Newspaper El País, which came out on 8th January 2015, basically where it stated under the title 'Un Vertedero, fuera de control' a Rubbish Dump Out of Control', whereby both the Spanish Prosecution Service and the Junta de Andalucía was completely concerned about many environmental laws being breached by this particular company at this particular plant.

1510 In fact the article goes on to say that the Junta de Andalucía is I think proposing – perhaps not done so far – a fine of €6.12 million to the company as a result of breaches to environmental laws. So given that we have clearly a duty of care in relation to whatever waste we export to this particular plant as we do to other plants indeed, it is important that we follow this as much as we can possibly do to ensure that we have safe disposal.

1515 So if the Minister is not aware, perhaps I can give him the details of the article and indeed come to the bottom of it and ensure that we do our very best in relation to the safe disposal.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, we share the same concern. I have not seen that particular article so I would be grateful for a copy, although I am aware. In fact I can say that officials from the Department of the Environment have enquired to officials in the Auntamiento de Los Barrios and we are in 1520 fact in conversations and awaiting more information.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, just to say that I will make a photocopy right now and pass it on to the hon. Minister for his attention.

Q24/2015 New Waste Treatment Facility –
 Production of electricity; portable water; bio diesel; syngas

Clerk: Question 24, the Hon. J J Netto.

1530 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if the new Waste Treatment Facility to be constructed will produce any of the following: (a) electricity and, if so, how much; (b) portable waste and, if so, how much – I am not sure whether (b) should be portable waste or portable water.
 It should have been portable water and that is a typographical mistake – and (c) bio diesel and, if so, how much and (d) syngas and, if so, how much?

1535 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

1540 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr
 Speaker, at this stage it is not possible to state what the by-product or products of the Waste Treatment Facility will be, given that the tender process is ongoing. This information will become available once the tender is awarded.

1545 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I take on board the answer provided by the Hon. Minister, but what I cannot reconcile, at least in my mind, is that when I look at the Waste Management Plan, which the Hon.
 Minister gratefully sent to me, it is a plan that was issued in January 2013, and if the Hon. Minister goes to page 78, after talking about the future Waste Management Plan in Gibraltar it did say that Government has required that the tendering process has the capability of all the things, which I have said. Then he goes on to say that the tender process was started in February 2013, when the advert was published in the Official Journal of the European Union and it goes on to give the number of the contract. The tender process has now closed and the tender submissions are now being reviewed and assessed by the Government and so 1550 something must have happened for this particular process to have been stopped for some new reason. So perhaps can the Minister inform the House what has happened here?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Certainly, without any problem at all, Mr Speaker.

1555 The tender process resulted in two companies, who came up with some of the conditions that had been required, but neither was found to fulfil and therefore that tender was not proceeded with. The companies were informed and the tender was then reissued and we are now in the closing stages of the second tender. There have been more expressions of interest and they seem to be providing what we require. So that tender process stopped and we issued a new one.

1560 I can confirm that one of the requirements of this tender is that the proposed treatment includes for one or several of the following, which is largely what the Member opposite has asked: generation of electricity and/or production of portable water – and I take it that that was a typographical error; the production of bio diesel; the production of syngas; and the disposing of ad hoc waste including saline sewage sludge.

But we are now quite advanced in the second round of tenders because the first one did not provide one that would have fulfilled these environmental requirements, and that is the reason for the delay.

1565 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, just for my own benefit to try and get this right, back in November... I think it was November – I asked the question about how was the municipal waste treatment plant proceeding and the Hon. Minister in his reply said that we were currently – then in November – in the pre-qualifying questionnaire stage. Has that process now finalised? At what stage are we right now in relation to the tender process? When is that likely to close? When is it likely that the Government is going to consider or the Procurement Office consider the different bids in relation to the tender and whether the Government still holds to the view that the target date for completion of the plant is still, as stated in November, at the end of 2015?

1575 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, it is a legitimate supplementary or perhaps a little bit more, because the question was whether the treatment plant would produce the following. Therefore I do not have the timescales in front of me and so I am talking from memory and I may be one or two weeks out of date.

We have gone through the pre-qualification. A number of companies, and I will pick up a figure, I think it was seven qualified and have now been to Gibraltar at least some of them, if not most of them have been to Gibraltar to look at sites and so on and I think we are now just weeks away from the final stage.

1580 The intention is still, because of the technology that we are looking at, to... I am still hopeful that we will be able to deliver by the end of this year; if not, very early in the next year. But obviously this is something that is all subject to all the usual nuances of this kind of process, but we are certainly further along than we were in November.

1585 Hon. J J Netto: I am grateful, Mr Speaker.

So to round up, can the Hon. Minister provide the House with an idea as to when the current tender process is going to be completed so that the Government will be able to know which of the particular bids tendering will be able to provide either electricity, portable water, bio diesel or syngas? When will the Government be in a position to know when is this likely to emerge so that I do not have to come every single month and ask the question to the Minister and so I can leave the question until such time as the Minister may think the process has completed and therefore I can ask the relevant question?

1595 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, as I am not directly involved in the tender, I do not have the answer, but I am happy to provide it if he calls my office or writes to me, as he often does, I will be very happy to inform him where we are exactly in the process, rather than approximately which is all that I am able to do now.

Q25/2015 British Gibraltar Territorial Water – Fish stocks; collection of data

Clerk: Question 25, the Hon. J J Netto.

1600 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the supplementary answer given to Question 643/2014, can the Minister for the Environment please say how the collection of the data with regard to fish stocks in British Gibraltar Territorial Water, is progressing?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

1605 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the collection of fish stock data within British Gibraltar Territorial Waters is still in its early stages, but nevertheless progressing well.

1610 The Department of the Environment is in regular contact with the local fishing clubs who are providing valuable information on fish stocks. This will be used to develop a fisheries database, together with the data that will become available as part of the fish tagging programme. One of the key developments in this area has been the creation of the Fishing Working Group, which met on 16th December 2014. The Fishing Working Group forms the ideal platform to discuss any issues of relevance to the sustainable management of fish stocks, including the provision of fisheries data.

1615 Hon. J J Netto: I am grateful, Mr Speaker, but could I perhaps press the Minister a bit further? He did say in his answer that the collection of the data was in its early stages, that is what he said, and that was in fact is what he answered, I think it was, back in November as well.

1620 What I want to try and put together is a picture where we are able to see by when the data will be sufficient to be analysed? Yes, the data to have been sufficiently great to be analysed and conclusions drawn from such data, to be able to inform the Government as to the renewal of licences in relation to fishing in the various categories within the legislation. So can he provide the House with a bit more information as to when the data is likely to be concluded so that an analysis can take place?

1625 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, this is a totally new initiative. There has never been such a collection of data and in order for data to be reliable they have to go on for a long time – I would say years more than months. However, as soon as we have a few months' worth of information, we can take some preliminary views, although they would not stand a statistical test.

1630 This is the beginning of a long process; however in the fullness of time, if I may use that term, clearly it will allow us to make a much more informed decision on the potential use of our waters for fishing in every kind of way. But it is very early days yet and I cannot commit myself to a date.

1635 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, indeed, yes, there is a lot of work to be done and I take that on board, but is the Minister confident that by the time the renewal of the fishing licences, which have to take place every three years, the data will be collected and long analysed before the Government take a decision on the renewal of such licences?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Well, I would like to think that in three years' time two things will have happened, and one is that we have sufficient information at least to take a view, even though clearly, for statistical significance you need a long time and a lot of data. The other thing, I hope that I am still Minister for the Environment so I can answer questions on this particular topic.

Q26/2015 New fishing regulations – Details

1640 Clerk: Question 26, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment say if the new fishing regulations have now come into force and if not, when?

1645 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the Marine Protection Regulations 2014 came into force on 1st January 2015.

Q27/2015 European Commission – Complaints received

1650 Clerk: Question 27, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, following the favourable statement made by the European Commission in dismissing the latest complaints made by a Spanish political party with regard to the reclamation of the East Side Project, can the Minister for the Environment say if this is now the last complaint to be considered by the Commission or if there are more in the pipeline?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar is not aware of any further complaints that may be in the pipeline.

Q28-29/2015 Environmental Agency –
Inspections of ship building/marine repair companies

Clerk: Question 28, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment and Health say on how many occasions has the Environmental Agency inspected companies in the ship building/marine repair industry sector during 2014, broken down by companies and dates and what the finding of such inspections have concluded?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 29/2015.

Clerk: Question 29, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Can the Minister for the Environment and Health say if employees of the Environmental Agency have inspected recently the dry docks, arising from complaints made by the residents in the nearby area and if so, provide Parliament with a statement of their findings?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

1680

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the Environmental Agency inspects Gibdock the only ship building marine repair company presently operating in Gibraltar. Inspections are carried out to ensure compliance with their waste licence issued under Part VA of the Public Health Act and when members of the public lodge complaints on alleged nuisances.

1685

A breakdown of the visits undertaken by the Agency in 2014 for both waste licensing issues and general complaints lodged by the public is provided in the schedule that I now hand over.

In answer to Question 29, which is very closely linked, a statement of their findings has been included in the schedule that I am handing over.

TOURISM, EQUALITY, SOCIAL SERVICES AND HOUSING

Q30/2015 Sandy Bay Beach Project – Details of total cost

Clerk: Question 30, the Hon. D J Bossino.

1695 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Tourism please provide details of the total cost of the Sandy Bay Beach Project?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

1700 Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the cost is broken down as follows: construction of groynes and breakwater , £7,370,799.80; beach replenishment, £1,441,590.00; additional sand supply, £117,737.46; design costs, £49,088; environmental impact assessment, £51,211; consultancy/supervision services, £25,710; stevedoring costs, £41,449.

1705 I trust that the hon. Member will agree that this was money very well spent.

Q32/2015 Doctor Giraldi Inquiry – Publication of Report

Clerk: Question 32, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say when the Doctor Giraldi Inquiry Report will be published?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, a statement in respect of the Report of the Inquiry into the Dr Giraldi Home will be made later today by the Chairman of the Inquiry.

Q33/2015 Housing Department –
Refurbishment programmes; provision of guard patrols

Clerk: Question 33, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Following on from Government Press Release 504/2014, can the Minister for Housing provide details and relevant information appertaining to the engagement of high visibility guard patrols in residential areas where refurbishment programmes are in progress, together with details of cost and what co-ordination arrangements have been made with the Royal Gibraltar Police?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, following on from Government Press Release 504/2014, a security company was engaged to provide this service. Laguna Estate, Glasis Estate and Moorish Castle Estate are patrolled daily between the hours of 8.00 p.m. and 8.00 a.m. The cost of this service is an average of £10,300 per month.

The arrangements, in terms of co-ordination with the Royal Gibraltar Police, are the same as that of any other security companies with no different or special arrangement.

1740

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, the company that has been contracted and the hon. Lady has said that it covers three housing estates, are there separate guards for each individual estate or are they sharing on a patrol basis, just one patroller and taking it in turns to go round the three estates?

1745

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I understand it is one guard per estate, although there are separate guards for each estate.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Would the Hon. Minister please just take it upon herself, if possible, it seems that, based on the press release, the neighbours who felt that the security guards should have been there for a particular incident could not find a guard and called the Royal Gibraltar Police to try and see how they could best contact the guards. The Royal Gibraltar Police said, or at least the operator answering the phone on that day said that they had no details and no information in that respect. So I am asking the hon. Lady, can she please take it on board that perhaps some notice could be put up within the estate so that if there is a need to contact the security guard, a contact number for them and so on, and that the Royal Gibraltar Police Control Room at least has that information, if possible.

It was in respect of an issue of a winch or something that had come loose and it was not serious enough to have to dial the police emergency number, but the residents found that the other source of avenue, especially after normal working hours, was not available. Could she please give me an undertaking that she will try and look into that?

1760

Q34/2015 Alameda Estate –
Refurbishment works

Clerk: Question 34, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1765 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide details of all the remaining refurbishment works still to be carried out at Alameda Estate, together with estimated dates when these works will be carried out?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

1770 Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I can confirm that external refurbishment works have been successfully completed to Kingsway House and most recently Red Sands House. Remaining blocks will be done, but not in this financial year. The hon. Member will have to wait for the estimates to be published.

Q35/2015 Housing Department –
Unpaid rents; amounts written off

Clerk: Question 35, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1775 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide full details of how much has been written off in respect of unpaid rents pertaining to Government rental homes, since the answer provided to Question 745/2014?

1780 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, work in this respect is ongoing with the Office of the Financial Secretary.

1785 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, but does the Minister have any details of what sums have been written off since the answer to the question?

Hon. S J Sacramento: No, I do not, Mr Speaker. That information has not been provided and it is not decisions that I take at ministerial level.

1790 Hon. E J Reyes: Where can I obtain the information, Mr Speaker?

Hon. S J Sacramento: Sorry, Mr Speaker, I did not hear the question.

1795 Hon. E J Reyes: I am asking, the Minister, where can I obtain the information in respect of the sum of monies that may have been written off by whoever takes that decision? I am trying to find the right channel where I can pose a legitimate question, Mr Speaker.

1800 Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, as I understand it, it may be that figures have not actually been written off, as such, but that work may be ongoing with the Financial Secretary. The reason I have no details is maybe because no sums have actually been written off in the period in question, but it may be that some may be written off in the future. I do not know. It is not something that I would deal with at a political level; it is something that is a financial question.

1805 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, but, Mr Speaker, the question is posed to the Minister for Housing and she may not have responsibility for this area, but surely, if a question like this is posed, somebody in the Government benches takes responsibility and ownership of the question and provides the answer. I do not understand why the Government has chosen on this occasion not to provide the answer, because I do not think that it is reasonable for the Minister to just stand up and say, 'It is not my area of responsibility and I do not know', when she forms part of a Government.

Hon. S J Sacramento: No, Mr Speaker, that is not what I have said, because what I have just said is that I do not think that any sums have actually been written off, but it may be that there may be things in the 1815 pipeline and therefore they are being considered by the Financial Secretary. It does not mean that a decision to write them off has been taken. It may be that a decision to write something off may be taken, but, as such, Mr Speaker, I have no details, therefore no sums have been written off as such.

1820 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, she talks in terms of maybes, ifs and may, and effectively what she is really saying is, 'I do not know what the answer to this question is', but somebody surely within the Government benches must know.

1825 It may well be that the answer is that no monies have been written off, which is not the answer that the hon. Lady gave originally. It appears what she is saying now... although it was a terribly circumspect answer, maybe what she is saying now is that there has not been at the moment anything written off, but it is being considered by the Government. Well, if that is the answer then that is the answer, and that is the straight answer that the hon. Lady should give, but what the hon. Lady cannot do is come to this House and talk about ifs and buts and maybes and not take responsibility for providing clarity in relation to an answer to a question that clearly ought to be answered by the Government.

1830 Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I do not think my answer could have been any clearer. If the hon. Gentleman does not understand plain English then you know, Mr Speaker, I do not think how I can make it clearer when I say, first of all, that I have not said that there are any matters being written off. I have said that to my knowledge none have been written off, but that matters are ongoing. I do not know how much clearer I can make it to the hon. Gentleman.

1835 Clearly, he has understood what I have just said because he has just read it back to me. So, Mr Speaker, that is the position.

Mr Speaker: Is the Hon. Minister saying that the Office of the Financial Secretary, the Treasury, have not been able to provide her with information in order to answer this question?

1840 Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, as I understand it, nothing has been written off, which is what I have said very clearly, but it may be that there are things in discussion, ongoing, as I said in my original answer, that work in this respect is ongoing with the Office of the Financial Secretary.

1845 I have not been given figures of anything that has been written off and therefore on that basis I understand that nothing has actually been written off.

Mr Speaker: By being ongoing, she means that no final decisions have been taken.

Hon. S J Sacramento: Yes, precisely, Mr Speaker. Thank you.

1850 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I do not want to –

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can I just come back because Mr Speaker... his intervention is absolutely correct. The position is very simple –

1855 Mr Speaker: Let me say one thing... my intervention really. Obviously the answer was provided for the 22nd of... there has been another week and there has been a little bit more time available in case information that was not available at the time that the answer was drafted may have become available later, that was what I was trying to elucidate.

1860 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, I understand because of course the position is very simple, and it is yes there has been something that has been written off or no there has not been. If, as at a week ago or two weeks ago, the position was that nothing has been written off, then that is the answer and the hon. Lady is then perfectly entitled to say, 'It is being reviewed and I do not know what is going to happen in the future'.

1865 But the answers that she is giving us, the ifs, the buts, the maybes and now 'it is my understanding', I just want to get clarity from the hon. Lady that the information that she has been provided with from the civil servants, not her understanding, but the information is that as at the date of this question nothing has been written off. That is the position.

1870 Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I do not know where the hon. Gentleman gets the words 'if', 'but' or 'maybe'. I have said 'none' I think, twice already, if not three times, Mr Speaker – none. But because I am being absolutely transparent, I am also saying that matters are ongoing with the Financial Secretary. How much clearer can I be, Mr Speaker?

Tourism Department – Further advertising expenditure; details

Clerk: Question 31, the Hon. D J Bossino.

1875 Mr Speaker: We will come back to Question 31 the Hon. Mr Bossino wishes to ask some supplementaries.

Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful, Mr Speaker.

1880 I just commend the Hon. the Minister for being so transparent and open in providing this information and following in her predecessor's footsteps and perhaps she can advise the Hon. the Minister for Sports to do the same. (Laughter)

1885 Mr Speaker, there are certain recipients of funding in respect of which I would wish to ask further questions. Some of them are very obvious in what they relate to – for example Cruise Trade News – and it is not just because they happen to be the Spanish ones that I asked this question, but if she could elucidate what the nature of the advertising, which has been undergone in relation, for example, to the payments which have been made to La Verdad Magazine and La Tribuna Marbella. I think they appear at least on three or four occasions and they receive about the same amounts of money of about £4,000 on each occasion.

1890 Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, in respect of La Verdad Magazine, payment is made for editorials and advertorials. As for La Tribuna Marbella, this is in relation to a front page cover advert and editorials.

Q36/2015 Housing Department –
Reallocation of empty homes; expenditure incurred and works undertaken

Clerk: Question 36, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1895 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide details in respect of all expenditure incurred since the answer to Question 747/2014 in respect of contracts awarded for making empty homes suitable for reallocation, stating to whom payments were made, how much has been paid, the number of residential homes pertaining to each payment, as well as indicating if the services were either for repair works or cleaning services?

Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

1905 Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the answer is in relation to four residential premises: one to ESS at a cost of £6,350; one to AJEC at a cost of £11,080; one to Keyway Construction at £11,325; and one to N & S Services £8,150. All services contracted were for repairs, none were for cleaning.

1910 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, would the Minister have any sort of relevant details of what type of repair works they were?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I understand that these were in relation to refurbishment works.

1915 Hon. E J Reyes: I could have been a bit clearer as it was a question of whether they were electrical, plumbing or roof repairs.

1920 Mr Speaker: Could I suggest to the hon. questioner that in future, because this is a standard question that he has from meeting to meeting, if he wants details of the repair works, then say so in the question, 'And could the Hon. Minister give some indication of what the repair works are?', and then he is covered. The Minister will then bring that information to the House.

Hon. E J Reyes: I take your advice on board, Mr Speaker, yes because although I welcome the Lady as the new Minister for Housing, and this should be absolutely no problem whatsoever, the previous Minister 1925 did know me and always kept that sort of additional information. But I will take your advice on board, Mr Speaker.

Q37/2015 Housing Department –
Tenants requiring urgent decanting from homes; details

Clerk: Question 37, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1930 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Housing provide details of how many tenants required urgent decanting from their homes since the answer to Question 748/2014, indicating the reason why, the date when said decanting became necessary and the date when the tenants were able to return to their home?

Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

1935 Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, one tenant has required decanting from their home and the details are as follows. It is due to works and the person has been out of the property since 12th January and there is no set date for return.

1940 Hon. E J Reyes: Again, Mr Speaker, I do use the words ‘provide details of the tenants’, but is there any idea of what works they were?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I do not know the exact details of the works, but I understand that the reason the works were required was due to flooding and anything that may have been needed was because of that.

Q38/2015 Housing Department/Housing Works Agency – Comprehensive review; updated details

1945 Clerk: Question 38, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer to Question 177/2014, can the Minister for Housing provide updated details of the comprehensive review pertaining to the Housing Works Agency and the Ministry for Housing?

1950 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

1955 Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the technical staff, who were originally excluded to transfer to the Housing Works Agency, have now transferred so as to consolidate housing works.

Hon. E J Reyes: Transferred to where, Mr Speaker?

1960 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: To the Housing Works Agency.

Hon. E J Reyes: Would the Minister know if that completes the whole exercise or are there any other matters still being considered by Cabinet as I have been informed before?

1965 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, insofar as the transfer, I think that is complete. I am not aware that there are any issues. There may well be others, but, Mr Speaker, as you can appreciate after a very short period, I think that the answer is yes, it is complete. Maybe things as you know spring up from time to time, but I do not know.

1970 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, I appreciate the short period of time.
Thank you, Mr Speaker. So the transfer could be completed, but I was led to believe that there were other matters because the word ‘comprehensive review’ is the one that was termed by the Government and so is the hon. Lady aware of any other matters still pending within the review?

1975 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: As far as I am aware, Mr Speaker, I think that that is complete. As I said before, I am sure that things will spring up from time to time and as is the general policy, things are always reviewed because if things can be improved then they will always be looked at and so a review never stops and is always ongoing.

But in terms of the bigger picture, I think that that is complete because we have now had quite a significant restructure within the whole of the Ministry for Housing.

1980 Hon. E J Reyes: Would the hon. Lady like me to give her more time perhaps for raising the matter on another occasion, Mr Speaker, because comprehensive you know one tends to think would be a lot more than just the transfer of the remaining technical staff. Is there any mileage there? She may not have the answer now, but would the Minister like me to pose the question there or will she categorically say that the matter is now closed?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, in my view the restructure that we have had is quite comprehensive, but of course if the hon. Gentleman would like to ask me this question again in six months then he is free to do so.

2000

Mr Speaker: Can we move on to Question 40 and come back if necessary.

Q40/2015 Mid Harbour Estate – Works still to be completed

Clerk: Question 40, the Hon. E J Reyes.

2005 Hon E J Reyes: Further to the answer to Question 523/2014, can the Minister for Housing provide updated details, together with estimated completion dates, in respect of works still to be completed at Mid Harbour Estate?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

2010 Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, as informed by my colleague, the Hon. Minister Balban, in previous answers to Parliament in Question 523/2014 and Written Question 146/2014, the CCTV project and garage barriers at Mid Harbour Estate is now complete.

2015 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, the reason why I ask this is because the last time Minister Balban told me that he had to finalise with the Tenants Association or whatever, about although the barriers had been installed, they still were not operational. My understanding as of yesterday when I last went there is that those barriers are still not operational. So can we have any further updates in that respect?

2020 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I am informed that the works are complete. I have to rely on the information that is provided to me by officials. I am informed that the works are complete and I will go and check whether works are complete or not, if the hon. Member suggests that they are not, but certainly the information that I have been given is that works are complete.

2025 Hon. E J Reyes: I do not want to use the wrong language Mr Speaker, but I do not suggest, I affirm that the barriers are still not operational.

2030 Mr Speaker: I realise that this is pantomime time when some people say, ‘No, you don’t’ and ‘Yes, you do’, but perhaps the hon. Member can be more specific – perhaps behind the Speaker’s Chair – about the information that he has, what he has been told, and clarify it with the Minister.

Hon. E J Reyes: I can be as specific as assuring, Mr Speaker, that I physically went yesterday on the eve of this meeting to see if the barriers were operational. I physically checked them myself and they were not, Mr Speaker.

2035 Mr Speaker: It is clear that the Hon. Minister is getting other information and I would hope that the two can be reconciled.

2040 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, if I may, the last time I answered this question, as the hon. Member says, she is absolutely right. The works are completed and the barriers are installed. The only thing that was pending in my time was the actual handing out of fobs and agreeing with the Tenants Association what the procedure would be in that respect and that is the only thing.

2045 But in terms of the answer to the question, the works have been completed; it is just the logistical matter of who gets a fob and everyone gets their permits and how the thing will be policed and structured. That was the only thing that was pending, but the works have been completed.

2050 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, I have no doubt that the works have been completed as far as the Minister’s Department in that they have been able to tick the box, but I do start my question by saying, ‘Further to the answer...’ and the answer given in Question 523/2014 was that they still had to finalise distribution of the fobs and so on. So I am asking for confirmation that this has now been completed or is it still ongoing? I do not think I can reword it any other way, Mr Speaker.

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Actually, Mr Speaker, I beg to differ as the question is very clear. The question says, ‘in respect of works still to be completed at Mid Harbour’ and the answer in relation to works, as my colleague has very helpfully clarified, is yes.

2055 If the hon. Member’s question – more specifically because he is perfectly aware of the answer given on the last occasion – is in relation to the operation of the barriers, as opposed to the works, then maybe the question could have been clearer and directed at the operational function of the barriers and not the works.

Insofar as the question asked and the question asked is in relation to the works and whether the works have been completed, the clear answer to the clear question is yes.

2060 Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, but I also believe, Mr Speaker, that it is equally clear that it is further to the answer given where that matter has arisen, otherwise Mr Speaker would be ruling me now as out of order that it is not a valid supplementary. I am referring to an answer that has been given. I do not know, perhaps, 2065 Mr Speaker, you and I could meet behind the Chair later and you can advise me on the correct way I can pose this wording so that one gets the answer that everyone knows I am seeking.

Q41/2015 Housing Department –
Eviction of squatters from rental homes; expenditure incurred

Clerk: Question 41, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing say how much expenditure has been incurred in respect 2070 of legal costs relating to the eviction of squatters from Government rental homes since the answer provided to Question 531/2014, providing a breakdown showing the number of homes involved and to whom payments were made?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing. 2075

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, there has been no costs.

Mr Speaker: Question 42.

Q42/2015 Housing Department –
Unpaid rents; details of arrears

Clerk: Question 42, the Hon. E J Reyes. 2080

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide details of arrears in respect of unpaid rents appertaining to Government rental homes as at 31st December 2014?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing. 2085

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the total of arrears in unpaid rents as at 31st December 2014 is £5,279,068.59.

TRAFFIC, TRANSPORT AND TECHNICAL SERVICES

Q43/2015 Department's marketing and official visits –
Details of costs

Clerk: Question 43, the Hon. D J Bossino. 2090

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for the Port provide details of the amount spent on marketing and official visits for 2013/2014?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Traffic, Transport and Technical Services. 2095

Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the total spent under marketing and official visits in the year 2013/2014 was £70,093.08. This can be broken down as follows: expenditure incurred for advertising, £19,284.27; expenditure incurred for membership amounts 2100 to £1,410.00; expenditure incurred for accommodation, travel and marketing amounts to £49,398.81. The total, as I said earlier, was £70,093.08.

2105 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, can he tell me – I think he has categorised the breakdown into three – I think that's right. Can he tell me which of those three, if it can be so identified, has been responsible for the £10,000 increase in terms of what was estimated would be the expenditure at the time of the Budget? I think the forecast outturn for that financial year was £60,000, which in itself represented a £15,000 increase from the previous year.

I just want to understand, if he is able, of the three categorised elements he has just given us, which one is most responsible for the overrun in expenditure?

2110 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I have just been advised by my colleague, the previous Minister with responsibility for the Ports, that he believes it is to do with the Hong Kong trip, but other than that, I would not be able to give him the information myself personally.

2115 Hon. D J Bossino: But that is information which he will have available if I give him notice of a question in the future. Presumably that would account for the accommodation and travel head.

Of the three that he mentioned, did he mention membership as one of them? Did I hear that correctly? If so, can he give me more information in relation to that and what that in fact means?

2120 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, under that head, memberships are included. Just to give him an example – and in fact there are only a couple of memberships detailed – one is for the International Bunkers Association, that was membership for 2013-14, and there was another one, which was the International Harbour Masters Association membership. So it is just these annual memberships for a few different associations that the Port is part of.

Housing Works Agency –
List of employees retired, transferred or seconded

2125 Mr Speaker: The Hon. Mr Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

2130 With your leave, I am going back to the schedule that was given to me in answer to Question 39. One small point, I had asked for those either seconded in or seconded out of the Agency. The schedule says seconded and there are two grades, but there is no indication whether they were seconded into the Agency or from the Agency out elsewhere.

2135 Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Miss S J Sacramento): Actually, Mr Speaker, I asked the same question and I did ask for clarification, but I think that on the basis that in the paragraph below we have transferred in, I am assuming that these people have been seconded out.

Hon. E J Reyes: That is strange, Mr Speaker, because on other occasions in the past there has actually been some seconded in and some seconded out. So would the hon. Lady like some time to clarify that and then before we adjourn sine die we could have the correct information?

2140 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, what I am happy to do, in case these people are not seconded out, then I will revert to the hon. Gentleman, but my understanding is that they are seconded out.

FINANCIAL SERVICES AND GAMING

Q44/2015 Minister for Financial Services – Director from Maverick; details

Clerk: Question 44, the Hon. D J Bossino.

2145 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Financial Services provide the name of the Director from Maverick whom he said he had met on one of his visits to London?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

2150 Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Yes, Mr Speaker, the name of the Director/part owner who I mentioned having met was Carron Rees.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the reason why I asked this question is he helpfully in the last session, or in the November session, told me that Maverick, which does have a presence I think he said in Gibraltar now, as a result of its involvement in relation to the GFA campaign, and somebody... I kind of joined the dots and somebody else has joined dots for me and I just wanted to give him the opportunity to explain the position.

2155 I think Mr Henry Coelho is he involved in Maverick? He isn't. Okay. The reason why I joined the dots personally and then somebody else joined them for me is because that is where I met him, at the Airport, when I was part of the receiving party for the GFA guys as a result of their successful campaign and that is where I met him. I hadn't known him, but then he mentioned that there was actually a family connection with me.

2160 But I just wanted to give him the opportunity whether Mr Coelho has any connections with Maverick as I understand that he is also very well known to the hon. Member himself, and whether there was, as a result of that connection, any connection in relation to him having appointed this particular company?

2165 Hon. A J Isola: No, Mr Speaker. Obviously the engagement of Maverick was long before I came to this Parliament and my understanding is that Mr Coelho is a consultant to Maverick on certain aspects of the works that they do. Yes, he is not employed by them, but he consults with them on specific projects.

I think, as you rightly said, he was involved with the GFA "we're ready" programme as I said long before I came into this Chamber.

2170 Hon. D J Bossino: And there is no connection as a result of that connection, which I have said between himself and Mr Coelho as to why then Maverick has been appointed, I think, to do three of the Government's websites. Isn't it not the case, I think, the Tourism one, the Finance Centre one and they have an involvement, not exclusive, but they have an involvement in relation to the Gibraltar Government website. Can he just dispel that and I give him the opportunity?

2175 Sorry, given I understand that there is a relationship, I think Mr Coelho is a personal friend of the hon. Member, that that was not the reason why they went to Maverick for the purpose of enlisting their services. Excuse me, I have a bit of a runny nose.

2180 Hon. A J Isola: Well, Mr Speaker, Mr Coelho is a personal friend of mine and a valued professional and in the same way that I use my professional judgement when we instruct lawyers, including partners and members across the other side of the House, and indeed on this side of the House, it is that professional judgement that is used as to whether we use them or not.

2185 My professional knowledge of Mr Coelho is that he is superb at what he does, as are Maverick and consequently I just continued what had started before I arrived here in drawing on their resources, knowledge and expertise to assist in what we wanted to do.

Q45/2015 Gibraltar Government website – Set-up costs

Clerk: Question 45, the Hon. D J Bossino.

2190 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Financial Services provide details of the cost for the setting up of the Gibraltar Government website?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

2195 Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Yes, Mr Speaker, as I explained at the last meeting of Parliament, the website has been completed by Elitech Lab and Maverick working together on this project. The costs of Elitech for the build, integration, testing and training across Government of the system is £38,440. The cost for Maverick for the design, layout, and architectural content review is £37,040.

Clerk: Question 46, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, can I go back to the previous questions, if I may?

I have just been told, and I have not looked at it myself, but I am being told by my Hon. and Learned Friend that the Gibraltar Government website has, as yet, not gone live. Is that correct? Because it just seems to us that... I think it is probably the most expensive expenditure, in terms of the other... relative to 2205 the other websites – the Tourism one and the Gibraltar Finance one. It seems much higher than the figures which I recall. I think the figures were in the region of £9,000 or £10,000, whilst in this case just Maverick is in excess of £35,000... yes, £37,000 and then we have the other company which is £38,000. So all told it is very close to £80,000 and it just seems very expensive for a website which, as yet, has not gone live.

Hon. A J Isola: Yes, Mr Speaker, the Government website is a huge website and consequently every aspect of it is very much greater than if we look at the Finance Centre website where it is minute by comparison. So we always knew it was going to be more expensive to update and adjust.

I would say that from memory there are other websites, not carried out by Maverick, which are much more expensive than the previous ones you have mentioned than I think even this one, if I remember 2215 rightly, but I would have to confirm that to the Member opposite.

So it is more expensive because it is a huge project and undertaking. The reason for the delay... it was meant to be launched some weeks back, it was then going to be launched last week and I am told it is now going to be launched tomorrow or very early next week – the big reason for the delay, this last holdup, the thing was good to go and then there was a Ministerial reshuffle and so it all had to be redone before it was 2220 launched, which set us back a while. What has held it back at this moment in time has been the huge volume of statistics that need to be ensured, when it goes live, are fully up to date and that is an enormous amount of work, which in order to launch it with current information, accurate information, has taken a little longer than we would have liked.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, could the Hon. Minister say what added functionality the new website is going to have over the old website when it is meant to be launched?

Hon. A J Isola: No, Mr Speaker. I am not a techy, I have to admit. From the sightings we have had of the draft website its functions seem to be very much easier to follow, easier to find, and so the visibility of 2230 this site, I believe, is far easier to access – you may agree or not agree.

But in terms of the technical aspects of it, I am afraid I really cannot be of much assistance. I know it is under a new Drupal system which other Governments have used, including the US Government, which provides added security, which in this day and age is important, and that is part of the work that Elitech did for us, but I am not a technician and I can only tell you what I have been told myself and I do not know how 2235 accurate that is or not.

Hon. S M Figueras: I understand, Mr Speaker, that the Hon. Minister may not be able to give an answer to this question and it may well be that it has been discussed previously, but I am certainly not aware of it if it has been, will the redesign form part of the strategy or the changes that need to be effected 2240 in order to give life to the e-Government programme of being able to take payments online for Government services as the Hon. the Chief Minister has discussed on a number occasions is a direction in which Government wants to go?

Hon. A J Isola: There is a separate eGov website so this is not directly linked to it, but once the eGov rolls out then I would imagine there will be a link, but I do not think more than that. In other words, I do not believe the e-Government site will form an integral part of this website.

Q46/2015 Gibraltar International Bank Limited – Authorised services in UK

Clerk: Question 46, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Financial Services state why the Gibraltar International Bank
2250 Limited is authorised to carry out services in the UK, with details as to what its plans are in this respect?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

2255 Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Yes, Mr Speaker, Gibraltar National Bank Limited has entered into arrangements with providers to have a sort code to access the UK clearing system.

In order to obtain a sort code, GIB is required to passport payment services into United Kingdom and the authorisation has been sought exclusively for this purpose. There is therefore no intention to carry out any activity other than as stated.

2260 Hon. D J Bossino: I am very grateful to the Hon. Minister for that response and the reason why I ask the question is because if one looks at the FSC website you will see that the firm will be authorised to carry out certain activities and it is much wider than the way that the Hon. the Minister has explained to us this morning.

2265 Is there any way of narrowing that or is it just... I mean, I am not an expert, but is it just that this is the way it has to be done? You need to obtain passport services for this wide range of services, which include things like acceptance of deposits and lending etc, which is what the bank is licensed to do in Gibraltar and equally is licensed to do in the UK, and so there is no way of narrowing that is there?

2270 Hon. A J Isola: No, Mr Speaker. I am advised that in order to have the sort code access you are required to passport payment services and payment services covers an array of things which are included within that passporting right. What I can tell you is that it is the intention of GIB solely to use that passporting right for the purposes of the sort code, and in order to have the sort code available in time for the proposed opening, this has had to be accelerated and arrangements put in place to finalise that to make sure it is ready in time – nothing more than that.

DEPUTY CHIEF MINISTER
Q75/2015 Naval Ground car park –
Cost of construction

2275 Mr Speaker: Question 75.

Clerk: Yes, we now move to Question 75, the Hon. D J Bossino.

2280 Hon. D J Bossino: Further to Question 688/2014, can the Deputy Chief Minister now advise what the cost of the construction of a car park at the Naval Ground is?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

2285 Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Yes, Mr Speaker, the answer remains the same as the answer given to Question 688/2014.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, yes, I think the answer at the time was that the detailed design of the coach and car park had not been completed and so consequently the cost of construction was not finalised.

2290 Is he able to give me information as to who the developer is for this particular project?

Hon. Dr J J Garcia: Mr Speaker, the developer is a private entity. This went to the Development and Planning Commission as a private sector project.

2295 Hon. D J Bossino: But does he have that information available? Does he have the name of the private entity? It is public knowledge is what he is telling me, but if he has that information I would be grateful if he could share it across the floor of the House.

2300 Hon. Dr J J Garcia: Mr Speaker, I do not have it with me, but if the hon. Member cannot find it in the public domain, then I will be happy to supply it. But it is public information, yes.

Hon. D J Bossino: Simply to understand this a bit better, because I think public announcements have been made in relation to this as well, but I think the cost of the car park is going to be a cost to the Government. Is my understanding correct? What we do not yet have is the price tag for that. Is that correct?

2305 Hon. Dr J J Garcia: Mr Speaker, there has been work obviously on designs and in progressing the project and he can see that some of it has already commenced, but in short I think the answer is what the hon. Member has said. Yes, as the hon. Member said in his question.

2310 Mr Speaker: We are now going to recess until this afternoon at 3.00 p.m. when we shall be dealing with questions to the Chief Minister and questions to the Minister for Education and Justice.
The House will recess until 3.00 p.m. this afternoon.

Questions for Oral Answer

CHIEF MINISTER

Q76-78/2015
Fire at Sunborn Hotel –
Cause

Mr Speaker: Question 76, to the Chief Minister, the Hon. Mr Netto.

5 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, has the Government obtained a report detailing the cause of the fire at the service entrance of the Sunborn Hotel at Ocean Village and provide Parliament with a statement as to what is known so far from this incident?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

10 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 77 and 78.

Clerk: Question 77, the Hon. J J Netto.

15 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government confirm or deny the rumours that the fire that started at the Sunborn Hotel emanated from a portacabin which had butane gas bottles stored therein, and if so, could the Government supply the name of the company that owns the portacabin and whether all due licences to comply with existing legislation were in place prior to the incident?

20 Clerk: Question 78, the Hon. J J Netto.

25 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, given the fire that broke out in the vicinity of the Sunborn Hotel at Ocean Village, can the Government state if there had been envisaged at the planning stage through the DPC, or is now a requirement to dredge the sea bed underneath the Sunborn Hotel in order to create a safe channel in case of an emergency and, if so, when is this likely to happen?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

30 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Gibraltar Fire and Rescue Service has produced a report in relation to a fire which occurred at the entrance of the Sunborn Hotel at Ocean Village on 28th December 2014, at approximately 17:00 hours. A copy of the said report has been provided to the Government.

The report can be summarised as follows. The structure where the fire occurred was approximately 12 metres long by five metres wide and four metres high. It is not a portacabin but a service access, although the dimensions are similar to some portacabins seen around Gibraltar.

35 This was divided into two levels, the lower of one metre in height approximately and the other three metres. Most of the unit had been destroyed by the fire, leaving only part of the lower storage unit. The upper level had been mostly affected by the fire on the western end and decreasing towards the eastern end.

40 There was a hole on the floor approximately five metres from the western entrance. The fire had spread from the lower level to the upper level via this hole. This was later confirmed by CCTV cameras from inside the unit and the Sunborn Hotel.

It had then spread upwards and devastated most of the roof and walls of the upper level. There was also extensive damage to the facade of the Admiral Casino in the Leisure Island Business Centre. The predominant wind that evening was a strong westerly and the fire had spread from this direction and been accelerated due to this.

45 In conclusion, there are two options. In the opinion of the Gibraltar Fire and Rescue Service that the fire seems to have been accidental by a person or persons. The source of ignition would have been a naked flame – possibly a cigarette, as it is an area used for smoking – that has found its way under the unit. The strong winds funnelled by the corridor between the ship and the casino building lead to the rapid spread of the fire. We, that is the Gibraltar Fire and Rescue Service, cannot discard the possibility of an electrical fire, but this is less likely.

50 The Gibraltar Fire and Rescue Service can confirm that there were no butane gas cylinders inside the above mentioned structure.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the information the Hon. Chief Minister has provided. In relation to, I think it is my last question, which was Question 78, in relation to the possibility of having to dredge underneath the Sunborn Hotel in order, in an emergency, for the Sunborn to move away quickly, has that been considered either at the early stages of the planning process or thereafter, as a result of the accident?

60 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Sunborn floating hotel looks like a cruise ship but it does not have engines and it is attached to the marina by two very strong arms. It is a floating structure but it is not designed to sail like a cruise ship.

65 Therefore the idea that it may need to have a channel which allows it to sail in or out is not relevant in the context of understanding emergency procedures about this vessel or structure. It really is like a building. So in the same way as the casino would not have been able to sail away as a result of the fire in an attempt to deal with it, the Sunborn is not designed in that way either. I think that is why the answer was structured not to respond to that particular part of the question.

Chamber of Commerce/GFSB economic study – Details

70 Clerk: Question 79, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Chief Minister provide details of the economic study which he stated, in the Gibraltar Chronicle edition of 5th January 2015, was being conducted in conjunction with the GFSB and the Chamber of Commerce?

75 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

80 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, yes sir. The economic study referred to is underway and the study that I was referring to is the one I referred to on a number of occasions inside and outside this House, about the potential effects were Gibraltar to join the Common Customs Area of the European Union as well as the Excise areas of the Union.

A team of economists from the United Kingdom with the appropriate expertise for such a study has been established by the Government and the Chamber working together. Members of the team have come to Gibraltar to identify the issues and in particular, the economic data that they require in order to carry out the study.

85 Data has already been forwarded to them by Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar and further data is being collated with a view to a further meeting which will take place shortly. That will leave the Government, the Chamber and the Federation to likely put together a questionnaire to businesses on this issue, as I previously also stated in this House, I believe.

90 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Chief Minister for the very complete reply. Is he able to tell me who the economists are? Is that information which he would be willing to divulge across the floor of the House?

95 Hon. Chief Minister: I believe I have the information. I do not know whether it is appropriate to divulge it across the floor of the House without asking them but I am quite happy to give him the information when we recess for a moment, so he knows who we are dealing with.

100 These are economists from Oxbridge and they have been identified by individuals in the Chamber and individuals in the Government's EUID Department as having the right sort of expertise. Because I have not checked whether they are happy for their names to be made public, I do not feel comfortable making them public today. I am quite happy to give them to him today and once I go back and check whether they have any difficulty with their names being made public, I am quite happy in the future in exchanges if necessary, to mention them by name. I cannot imagine why they might not want to be referred to in public. The instructions of a Government are usually things that people like to boast about, but I have not quite checked and therefore I will give him the names, and later we can determine whether publicity is appropriate.

105 Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, thank you for that as well.

Mr Speaker, as I understand the reply the purpose of the reports was basically... Is this understanding correct, if I can put it to him? The purpose of the report is to inform the type of questions which are then going to be issued to the relevant parties in Gibraltar. But is that report going to be shared with the GFSB and the Chamber of Commerce once ready?

110 If so, can he give advance notice to the House as to how he intends to treat that report once it is finalised? In other words, is he going to publish it? He is shaking his head. Is it something which he would be willing to share with the Opposition? And he is nodding – so he is answering my questions! So basically I would like some information as to how he intends to treat the report once it is complete and available to him?

120 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, let us be very clear about what it is that we are doing here and what I have said before. In the event that the United Kingdom were to choose to have a referendum on potential exit from the EU and therefore potentially in the event of that referendum resulting in the United Kingdom negotiating an exit from the EU, Gibraltar needs to understand what its positions should be in a negotiation.

125 That I do not think is an issue which is simply for the purview of the Government. That is why I think it is important that we do it with the Chamber and we do it with the Federation which are the relevant business organisations. And indeed, Mr Speaker, that is why I am nodding when asked whether I would share the information with the Opposition. I think it is information that the Opposition should have in order to formulate policy, which I hope will likely be the same policy that whoever may be in Government at the time may be dealing with.

130 We are probably dealing with issues that will visit us in 2018, 2019 or thereafter because my prediction would be that in the event of there being a referendum decision that the UK wants to exit the EU, the permutations are not simply in or out. It is EEA status or non-EEA status for the UK – what does that mean for Gibraltar? – etc. So the referendum result, if a referendum were to occur and if it were to be an exit result in the UK, is only the beginning of the UK's negotiation with the EU. So we need to understand in what context this information then becomes important to the Government of Gibraltar.

135 At that stage, what the Government of Gibraltar needs to understand, what the Chamber and the Federation and businesses in Gibraltar need to understand, are the realities that could be visited upon us, depending on what type of status we were to choose.

140 So we know that we are comfortable and that we are prosperous in the status that we enjoy at the moment. How might that change? Would those changes be changes that we might seek through negotiation or would they be changes that might be imposed on us as a result of the United Kingdom's negotiations but that we might have to be ready for however much we might fight against them? Because we might then be fighting against the UK choosing to do a particular thing in terms of its status in Europe and we might be the only enclave of 30,000 in the UK holding out for a different sort of status.

145 So we need to understand what the reality of the Common Customs Union regime is today in legal and economic terms and how the economy would be affected by entry into that mechanism. The only way to do that is to carry out this in-depth economic analysis and then share it with the business community as a collective, i.e. Chamber and Federation and then seek information from individual businesses through questionnaires also through the Chamber and Federation, to then be able to produce a report that informs the Government, the Opposition, the Chamber and the Federation.

Why not the whole community? Why not simply publish such a report? Well look, such a report is likely to be determinative of what negotiating positions we take vis-à-vis the EU and vis-à-vis the UK and 150 what we do not need, is that those who would be doing their best to argue for us to have the worst possible economic scenario in the future, to have that data too. And by that of course, I mean Spain.

So this is information that I think the Chamber needs to have, the Federation needs to have and Members of this Parliament should have, but not information that should necessarily be in the public domain and the people should be able to download and then necessarily have the ability to use against us.

155

Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful. Mr Speaker, just for my own understanding of what the Hon. Chief Minister says in the totality of the reply that he has just given us, is the remit of the report, from what I understand, is it as wide as looking at all the possible permutations, even to the extent as to what would be the effect of the UK, and therefore Gibraltar, leaving the EU? Because, I think, certainly the last pronouncement that he made in relation to this issue was in the Gibraltar Chronicle article that I referred to earlier, and it was in the context of his view as to what the dire economic consequences that leaving the EU would be for Gibraltar.

So is the report wider than I originally understood from his answer which was it was only looking at the possibility, what the effect of Gibraltar's entry into I think the Customs and Excise Union would be, is it wider than that or is it simply looking at that specific discrete issue?

Hon. Chief Minister: It is about looking at that and other issues. In other words, that and other permutations of different types of membership alternatives for Gibraltar within the EU and the EEA. So, in other words full EU – what does full EU mean in terms of excise duty, in terms of VAT etc? What does partial EU mean in terms of VAT but not excise, or excise but not VAT? What does EEA mean, which can probably mean both of those or three other scenarios potentially also being relevant to Gibraltar? And I think you can also draw a conclusion, given the numbers that we are going to be given, of what not being in EEA or not being in the EU would mean.

170

So I think the data we will have will enable us to churn information and see all of those potential scenarios or as close to an analysis can take us to seeing those potential scenarios. That is the data I think we need to have, and it is data we can only get in my view by talking to economists of the sort that we are talking to, talking to the representative bodies and then talking to individual businesses and asking them questions once we have the right questions to put to them about how particular aspects of those changes would affect those sectors and industries.

Clerk: We now move to Question 47, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, can I invite the House to recess for five minutes before we continue with this question. I need to have a discussion with the Minister who has just arrived in Gibraltar on another matter.

The House recessed for five minutes.

EDUCATION AND JUSTICE & INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGE OF INFORMATION

Q47/2015 New fire station – Establishment

The Clerk: We continue with Question 47, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

190

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister with responsibility for the Fire Service say if he is still committed to delivering his manifesto commitment of establishing a new fire station during this term of office?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education and Justice.

Minister for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, the manifesto commitment was to commence work on a new fire station within this term of office and not establishing within this term of office a new fire station, as set out in the hon. Lady's question.

200 The Government has already commenced work on a new fire station, as it promised it would do. The work on the planning for the new fire station has been finalised and an announcement with full details will be made when the Government is in a position to do so, certainly within this term of office.

205 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister say when the work, either the refurbishment or the building, will be starting?

Hon. G H Licudi: Well as I have said, we are working on plans on this matter. This is something that the Government has been working on for a while. Work continues, it is in an advanced stage and we will certainly make a full announcement as to what is going to happen and I expect work will actually commence within this term of office, before the elections are called.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: I know the Hon. Minister has said that it will be within this term of office but is there any indication as to where the site is?

215 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, we will make an announcement on that when we are in a position to do so.

Q48/2015
New Medical Priority Dispatch System –
When expected to go live

Clerk: Question 48, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

220 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister with responsibility for the Fire Service say when the new Medical Priority Dispatch System will go live and if it will be within this term of office?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education and Justice.

225 Minister for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, we are working at having the new Medical Priority Dispatch System go live within this term of office.

Q49/2015
University of Gibraltar –
Applications

Clerk: Question 49, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

230 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Education say how many students have applied to the University of Gibraltar for the new academic year 2015-16?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education and Justice.

235 Minister for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, recruitment of students for the University of Gibraltar has not yet started.

This will commence once the University is established, when the Act which we will be bringing to Parliament is passed.

240 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, the Hon. Minister said that the university would be open for business as from 1st September 2015. My understanding is that students are applying now to universities for the September 2015 entry, and this is why I have asked the question.

245 Is there any way that students can start to apply in preparation for the opening in 2015, or will they be allowed to apply at a later stage and perhaps have a late entry onto the courses?

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, it is not a question of late entry. This is something that has been planned and will be open in September 2015. We are finalising the legislation, which I hope to be in a position to publish very soon. I am intending to bring the matter to Parliament within the next couple of sessions at most. Once that is established, then the announcement will be made as to the precise courses and students will be invited to apply.

There will be plenty of time, if that is what the hon. Lady is concerned about. There will certainly be time between the announcement being made, between the Act being passed, the announcement as to the specific courses, enrolment for those courses being started and the students actually starting in September 2015.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, has there been any revision of the plans for the Gibraltar University by the Government since the announcement was made in terms of the scope of the courses that are going to be on offer by the Gibraltar University? Has there been an expansion or perhaps a contraction of that original vision that the Government presented to the people of Gibraltar when it made the announcement for the first time?

Hon. G H Licudi: Well, Mr Speaker, this is as I said when I announced the project, when we made a joint press conference at the Chief Minister's Office. This is going to be a process which will evolve and will develop over time and as we do that, then clearly new things will be added.

So yes, of course there have been new things. There is a lot of work which has been done but the core structure which we announced remains the same. Four faculties: Health and Sports Science; Tourism and Hospitality; Business; and Life and Earth Sciences. Those four faculties remain as they were when we announced. What we are now doing is fleshing out what precisely each of the faculties will be doing.

In addition, we will of course have the Institute of Professional Development and Continuing Education, as announced. Also as announced, we will have a Language Centre. What we are doing is developing specifically the areas which we are going to be in a position to announce very soon and start the recruitment of students, as I have indicated earlier in the question.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: So, Mr Speaker, and I know this will relate to Question 51, students obviously will be applying outside of the UCAS system. There will be a separate system set up and that is how students will be able to apply and therefore enrol for September?

Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, Mr Speaker, the hon. Lady pre-empts another question in the Order Paper but students will be applying directly to the University.

Q50/2015
University of Gibraltar –
Awarding body

Clerk: Question 50, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Education say which recognised body will be awarding degrees at the new University of Gibraltar?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education and Justice.

Minister for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, programmes at the University of Gibraltar will include degrees awarded by the University of London in relation to Business and Computing and the University of Kingston and St George's in relation to Nursing and Paramedic Science.

In addition research post graduate students will be engaged in programmes carried out in conjunction with other universities, depending on the various specialisms that are followed by those students.

Q51/2015
University of Gibraltar –
Management by UCAS or another method

Clerk: Question 51, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

300 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Education say whether undergraduate applications to the University of Gibraltar will be managed by UCAS, which is the Universities and Colleges Admission Services?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education and Justice.

305 Minister for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, applications to the University of Gibraltar will not initially be managed by UCAS. We do, however, envisage that in due course discussions will take place with UCAS on the possibility of applications being managed by them.

310 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister say who will be..., has it been determined who will be entitled to apply to the University and who will be setting the entry criteria and the requirements, if not UCAS?

315 Hon. G H Licudi: Well, Mr Speaker, UCAS does not set out any entry criteria or requirements for any university. The universities themselves set out entry criteria; all that UCAS does is process the application and then transmit those applications to the universities for a response. So that element of somebody receiving the application and transmitting it to the University of Gibraltar will not happen.

But in relation to degree programmes which we are doing in conjunction with other universities, for example if it is a University of London programme that a particular student will follow, then the University of London will set out the entrance criteria, in the same way as with the University of Kingston.

320 We are, as I have already announced, been developing collaborations with other universities, we already made an announcement in relation to Seychelles. I have today returned from a trip specifically on that and we will be issuing a press release in relation to further collaborative projects with other universities. So as we develop these collaborations, we will certainly have to discuss with those other universities that we partner with, the entrance requirements and criteria for those particular courses.

Q52/2015
University of Gibraltar –
Recruitment of lecturers; research funding

325 Clerk: Question 52, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

330 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Education advise where the lecturers for the University of Gibraltar will be recruited from, what research will they be conducting and where will funding for faculty research be coming from?

Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Minister for Education and Justice.

335 Minister for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, the intention is to recruit locally, but if required skills are not available, these will be sourced externally.

Most of the research will be based within the faculty of Life and Earth Sciences with Gibraltar and Mediterranean Studies. However, there will be opportunities for research stemming from any of the other faculties.

340 Research will be funded by the present funding streams provided by the Department of Education, as well as the university's own funds. It is expected that there will also be some funding from private sector sponsorships.

345 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, would it be possible to allow any industry that is happy to invest in research to be able to fund facilities, perhaps linked to marine or the environment; or will it be totally state funded? Would you allow flexibility for private and state funding?

350 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, the Government would most certainly welcome anybody who wants to come in and fund the university to do so. As I have said in the last part of the answer, it is expected that there will be some funding through private sector sponsorships and we are already in discussions with some elements of the private sector specifically on that area.

355 Hon. E J Reyes: If I may, Mr Speaker, has the Minister at least embarked into seeing it from those different categories within the EU funding that go towards education purposes and so on? Can he confirm that he is exploring those to see if some could be applicable and therefore Gibraltar become a beneficiary of such a thing such as the Erasmus Schemes and all those?

360 Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, Mr Speaker, this is certainly something that we are exploring and I have been advised in relation to. The Erasmus Scheme which involves an exchange of students also involves certain universities being approved for that scheme and given that we are in the process of establishing that university, it is impossible to seek that approval yet. But that is certainly a process that we will want to follow because we will want to be part of a European process in terms of standards, through the Bologna process, Erasmus through exchange of students, and also tapping into funds at a European level which will be available for research based in various areas including Sports Science.

365 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, just one final supplementary. The Hon. Minister mentioned the Institute of Professional Development and Continuing Education that will be offering CPD and professional qualifications for both the private and public sector. My understanding is that this is a role that at present the College of Further Education has been offering through evening classes and the use of Bleak House as well. Does this mean that the remit of the College will be reviewed alongside the evolution and development of the university?

375 Hon. G H Licudi: It is not so much that the remit will be reviewed, but certainly it will in fact be enhanced through the collaboration with the university and in particular with the institute. As the hon. Lady says, some of the areas of the institute will be embarked upon are already being done through the college and those will be done through the university by engaging with the college and tapping upon their expertise and getting their involvement fully in this process.

380 But it will not be limited; the institute will not be limited solely to the work that has been done currently by the college. There will be enhanced programmes, locally developed programmes and in particular, short courses developed with industry associations and I have given some examples as possibilities, on human resource management, on compliance and money-laundering issues, with the Association of Compliance Officers, on insurance through the Insurance Association.

385 By working in conjunction with the private sector, by working with employers who we expect will be able to provide their staff to these courses and will be able to provide an element of day release, whenever the day or the half day that the person is engaged in this, so that the student can further his or her career within that organisation or elsewhere in Gibraltar.

So there will be a range of programmes developed within the institute and it is in fact one of the exciting parts of the university, as of course are all the other parts of the university.

Gibraltar College of Further Education – GCSE re-sits

390 Clerk: Question 53, the Hon. E J Reyes.

395 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to the answer provided to Question 758/2014, can the Minister for Education now provide the missing details in respect of the number of students, broken down by gender, who are repeating subjects pertaining to GCSE examinations which they sat for during the academic year 2013-14 and currently enrolled at the Gibraltar College of Further Education?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education, Justice & International Exchange of Information.

400 Minister for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, the number of students broken down by gender, who are repeating subjects pertaining to GCSE examinations which they sat for during the academic year 2013-14 and are currently enrolled at the Gibraltar College of Further Education is 40 boys and 60 girls.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, may I ask for a bit of clarification? Towards the very end of the first page, there is one college but the reason for cover has been left blank, followed by two supply teachers also at the College to meet optimum staff sizing sector and then below that there is no educational establishment identified whatsoever.

They all seem to be not fixed less than three months: short-term absences mainly tend to be of a medical nature and so on, but the educational establishment has been omitted, as has that one in respect of the College, two lines before that.

Can the Minister enlighten me?

Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, Mr Speaker. The one where it has been left blank, that is one which I did not pick up, so I do not have the specific information on the one entry which is blank. I could assume that it relates to meeting optimum class sizes in the sector but I do not want to give that as a definitive answer and I will therefore check the information. I apologise, I just did not pick up that there was one item where one column was left blank.

The bottom part simply relates to – apart from the supply teachers which are set out at the top – a total of 12 additional teachers that are not on fixed contracts and simply cover short-term absences wherever and whenever they might be required.

I am not sure that the hon. Member wants a list of so and so spent three days in Bishop, so and so spent two days in Bayside, my understanding is that that relates to the rest of the pool of supply teachers that do cover as and when required and not on a fixed-term contract.

The hon. Member will remember that when we overhauled the system of supply work, including by employing those who we considered to have been on permanent supply and those were part of the intake of 47 new teachers that we did at the beginning of our term of office, we also added the additional benefit that whenever a supply teacher was engaged, was needed, for at least three months, that supply teacher would be given a fixed-term contract with all the necessary benefits that an employment contract brings.

So whenever there is an ad hoc need for a particular teacher, say for a week, or someone is off sick for two weeks, those teachers are taken from the pool of these additional teachers. It is not a fixed contract because it is on an ad hoc basis and they are certainly for less than three months because if it is beyond the three months then that is when the fixed-term contract kicks in, as we said we would do at the beginning of our term of office.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker I think it has been clarified but can I double check, because the numbers 1 to 12 there are running consecutively. It is a grand total of 12 – not one plus two is three and then another three is six and four is ten – am I correct in that deduction?

Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, Mr Speaker, otherwise the number, if you add up all those individuals, 12 plus 11 plus 10, the number would be very great and we certainly do not have that many supply teachers.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, that is what caused a big question mark in my mind! That is understandable. Can I assume and the Minister confirm that I am correct in the deduction that really, what these 12 members of staff is... they would report somehow or another let us say to the central Department of Education on a daily basis and then would be fed out into schools as and when needed, and that is why they are not going to be based in a particular school and is then able to provide the information? Is it something similar to that effect that he was trying to explain?

Hon. G H Licudi: No, Mr Speaker, that is not quite how the system works. It really depends on school requirements. So school heads, or whoever is in charge of the particular issue on a particular day in the absence of the head, will report and will ask the Department of Education. In particular there is one of the education officers that deals specifically with the supply and one of the first jobs that he does in the morning is look at the requirements on any particular day for any particular school.

Then, what that person does is call people from the list and get the people who are available and put them in the schools which are required. So it is not that the supply teachers turn up every day and say, 'Where am I going today?' The supply teachers are on a supply list and as and when they are required by a particular school, the school informs the Department and the Department calls the teacher and says, 'Can you go to such and such a school where there is a position for, a cover for two weeks?' or a week or whatever the amount of time is.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, thank you, Mr Speaker, so therefore not all 12 are going to be engaged every day. Can I take the Minister to the last page, the posts of ten part-time cleaners which are in the process of being recruited? Although they are going to be part-time, and by that one normally understands that to be around about the 20 hour per week mark, 15 or 20 hours which is half of the working week of the school or whatever. but if they are in the process, why – is it the intention then, despite being part-time that they will be on a permanent type of contract or will they be on a supply contract because...? And that is where the question mark comes in.

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, the comment in the remarks column is ‘in the process of being recruited’. So my understanding is that these are posts of part-time cleaners which are available and the cleaners for those posts are in the process of being recruited.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, so therefore I did not explain myself properly. The process of being recruited, are they going to be recruited as supply workers or are they going to be recruited so that they become P&P workers?

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, my understanding is that they are in the process of being recruited as part-time workers.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, it is written there ‘part-time cleaners’: on a supply basis or on a permanent and pensionable basis?

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I will be happy to double check. I can tell the hon. Member what my understanding is: that these are positions, posts which are being recruited and therefore they will be offered those jobs as part-time cleaners, not as supply, not simply going on a supply list, but actually engaged as part-time cleaners. That is my understanding but I will be happy to double check.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, I would be grateful if he could double check because I understand all that he is saying but they are being recruited to become part-time cleaners but will they be on a supply basis, for example an 11-month contract or something, or will they be on an indefinite type of contract. I don’t know if the Minister is able to understand what I am trying to get at. They may be part-time...

The second one there; perhaps my explanation will help him understand what I am trying to get at. The bus escort works for 18.75 hours a week – special needs pupil requiring an escort: as long as the special needs pupil requires an escort there is employment for that person. Once that child leaves the education system that post will not be required so one understands why it is a supply basis. Hence when it comes to the part-time cleaner, will they be employed until their eventual retirement or is it just to cover a very short period of time?

Hon. G H Licudi: Well, Mr Speaker, the position as I understand it – and if I am wrong in this I will let the hon. Member know, but my understanding when I asked about this – is that these are positions that are currently being filled because the question relates to supply workers in the Education Department, whether it is learning support assistants, teachers, cleaners, so this is the list of supply workers. Therefore these positions which currently exist are being filled currently by supply workers, but the posts exist and are in the process of being recruited.

So whilst the recruitment is ongoing and until the recruitment for the position ends, they are being filled by supply workers. Is the hon. Member with me?

Hon. E J Reyes: I think so, Mr Speaker – let me double check as a pedantic teacher. So for example, at the moment there is an assistant arts and design person who is on a supply contract but the Department is already in the process of recruiting one that will become permanent – great. So then, Mr Speaker, can he shed some light on the senior technician who is at the Gibraltar College, employed for 17 hours a week, but then gets seconded out to the GFA? I mean what needs does the College have that it has to be from the College to second to the GFA? That one, I am again, I am a bit lost and I need pointing in the right direction.

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, this is someone who was engaged as a senior technician at the College and is now currently seconded to the Gibraltar Football Association and works for the Gibraltar Football Association.

We are looking at what precisely we do because we have a person employed in that position but the person is not physically there at the college because he is actually working with the... I know who the person is, he is actually working with the GFA because the Government agreed to second him to the GFA for that particular position. There was a request for a secondment, rather than a resignation and an engagement by the GFA and the Government agreed. But now we need to be clearly at some point need to regularise the position and we need to fill that position.

540 So the position is again, I go back to the table, of supply workers. So we have supply workers, my interpretation of this table is that we have supply workers filling these positions, the remarks are the reasons why these positions are being filled. In some cases because the posts are in the process of being recruited, in another one because there is an additional need for a particular purpose at a particular time and this one, because the officer that was doing that particular job has been seconded elsewhere and therefore there is a need for a supply worker to fill that position and to do that work.

545 What we cannot do is recruit for that position because there is somebody who holds that position already, albeit seconded somewhere else. So in the meantime, whilst that person is seconded we have to fill that position with a supply worker.

550 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, that has helped to clarify it quite substantially. However, if my understanding is that the senior technician who is now seconded to the GFA – and it may be a separate question that requires separate notice – if he is on secondment is he still being paid for by the college or the GFA is footing that bill, then we can enter it another time.

555 The cover for that senior technician is only for 17 hours a week. That is way, way less of what the senior technician used to work at the College. Does the Minister have any idea why there is only a need for 17 hours? Either the other fellow was under-utilised or there must be some other explanation. It is not a like-for-like replacement from a full-time officer to someone being replaced for only 17 hours in the week; 17 hours in the week just about covers three days a week of actual school teaching time.

560 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I do not have a specific answer to that. It may be that the rest of the time that the senior technician used to do in the College is being covered in another way with existing staff at the College; it may be that that is the position. But what this table reflects is that we have a supply teacher covering this position for 17 hours a week which is what the hon. Member has asked. Now if the hon. Member says well why only 17 hours and what happens to the rest of the time that the senior technician who has been seconded would have been working in the College, then that is information that I do not currently have with me.

565 Hon. E J Reyes: If I may, because I hinted at this, does the Minister happen to know by chance whether the senior technician seconded to the GFA is his salary still being paid from the College as a sort of gratuitous secondment to the GFA or is the GFA footing that bill and therefore that money is not being paid out in that salary and thus the college making a saving in salary?

570 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I do not know for sure as I was not involved in that specific arrangement. I can only assume, subject to confirmation that the person is actually being paid by the GFA. He is actually working at the GFA and therefore I would expect that the GFA would be paying for that officer.

Nature Protection Act contravention by Spanish fishermen – Applications for summons

575 Clerk: Question 55, the Hon. J J Netto.

580 Hon. J J Netto: Yes, Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Justice say if applications for summons to the Spanish fishermen who allegedly contravened the Nature Protection Act due to raking of the sea floor on Boxing Day just opposite Catalan Bay has now taken place and if so, please indicate if such summons will apply to one vessel or to the six?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education and Justice.

585 Minister for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I am informed by the Royal Gibraltar Police that they have not yet laid information before the Magistrates' Court for a summons to be issued in respect of this matter.

Follow-up information to earlier questions

590 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, may I, before you move on to any other item, may I... as I think we all cordially agreed this morning that the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth was going to try and look up on the chart and I said if we had it, then it rested in the record of Hansard.

Also whilst I am on my feet, Mr Speaker, I do not know if the Minister, the new Minister for Housing has had a chance to reconfirm that what she thought was going to be the terms and conditions of the seconded, that they were out. Has she had a feedback from her Ministry that they were actually seconded out or is she still not 100% certain on that one?

If we know it in this session it does save and then if I have to have any follow-ups I can give you due notice for next month.

600 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, in relation to the question that was addressed to me, I did ask and the information was given to me, but I would rather wait because the information might be more confusing to the hon. Member. Therefore I would like to clear with the staff, which I have not had time because I have to go through it.

605 But rest assured that I will be sending him a letter with that information, most probably before the next session.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, I am grateful, Mr Speaker, if I do have that like the Minister is trying his best to achieve before the next session then if I need to have any follow up I fall within the category of giving due notice of questions.

610 I do not know if the Minister for Housing wishes something or a similar situation that she will double check and if there is a change to seconded out, then she will give me any due information.

615 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to table the answers to Written Questions numbered W1 to W18/2015 inclusive.

Order of the Day

BILLS

FIRST AND SECOND READING

Public Services Ombudsman (Amendment) Bill 2014 – First Reading approved

Clerk: Order of the Day. Bills – First and Second Reading.

(i) A Bill for an Act to amend the Public Services Ombudsman Act 1998 and related matters.
The Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

620 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, before I move that the Bill be read, let me just explain that although this is a Bill for an Act to amend the Public Services Ombudsman Act and I am not the Minister responsible for the Ombudsman, in discussion with my colleague, because this Bill pertains exclusively to matters relating to complaints against the Gibraltar Health Authority, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Public Services Ombudsman Act 1998 and related matters be read a first time.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Public Services Ombudsman Act 1998 and related matters be read a first time.

Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Public Services Ombudsman (Amendment) Act 2014.

Public Services Ombudsman (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Second Reading approved

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill now be read a second time.

635

Mr Speaker, the Bill amends the Public Service Ombudsman Act 1998 so as to, as set out in the Government's manifesto, pass the responsibility for the investigation of complaints against the Gibraltar Health Authority for non-administrative matters from the GHA and the Panel constituted under the Gibraltar Health Authority Complaints Review Panel Act 2004, to the Public Service Ombudsman. (A Member: Hear, hear.)

640

The Bill provides for this transfer by amending the definition of an action which may be investigated by the Ombudsman so as to include complaints against the Gibraltar Health Authority, allowing the Ombudsman to specify certain members of his staff to be tasked specifically with investigating complaints against the Gibraltar Health Authority, creating a power for the Public Service Ombudsman to appoint one or more clinical assessors who must be external to the Gibraltar Health Authority, so as to advise him in relation to complaints against the Gibraltar Health Authority, setting out the circumstances where the Ombudsman may obtain medical records in addition to the powers already in the Act and deeming that a person who has made a complaint has waived his or her rights of confidentiality against the Gibraltar Health Authority with respect to the passing of the records and information to the Public Service Ombudsman and repealing the Gibraltar Health Authority Complaints Review Panel Act 2004 and making transitional provisions for outstanding matters.

I commend this Bill to the House. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, the Opposition will be voting in favour of this Bill. We are satisfied that the Ombudsman and his staff, who have now set up a health jurisdiction for Gibraltar, will continue to discharge their statutory duties in a professional, impartial and thorough manner.

The track record of this independent public service is evidenced where most complaints and disputes are arbitrated successfully to the satisfaction of all involved.

However, the Opposition would like to learn in more detail, how written or GHA formal complaints will be processed in practical terms and whether regular reports will still be submitted to the GHA Board for scrutiny on the range of complaints made, whether they have been upheld or not and what has been learnt or improved as a consequence of the complaints.

665

Will the Public Services Ombudsman with its clinical assessors, as the Hon. Minister has mentioned, will these clinical assessors have a presence in the GHA, an office where service users can submit a written complaint and fill in the required paperwork, or will they need to attend the Ombudsman's Office in person to do so? We hope the process will not be overly cumbersome so that members of the public do not feel reluctant to access the service.

670

Now, if the service user is dissatisfied with the outcome of the written or formal complaint, can the Hon. Minister explain if the Ombudsman will provide another tier of appeal by a higher authority, such as an independent panel, and how this appeals process will be different to that of the present GHA Independent Complaints Review Panel? And obviously we understand that this is of course, was the main reason for the Government's manifesto commitment for the Ombudsman to adopt the GHA's Complaint Procedure.

675

Where the Opposition requires some clarification from the Hon. Minister, Mr Speaker, is in relation to dealing with verbal or what are known as the GHA informal complaints and the provision also of a Patient Advisory Service, which at present is so adeptly, or has been so adeptly provided by the GHA's Complaints Coordinator and her team. With regard to these informal complaints, will the same process continue where a verbal complaint is made to the senior staff member of the Department where the complaint originated; or will the Ombudsman's Office provide permanent personnel in the form of clinical assessors at the GHA to deal with and arbitrate this, perhaps less serious complaints? Can the Minister advise who will process these recorded informal complaints so that the information can be reported to the GHA Board?

685 And can the Hon. Minister advise as to the continuation of the successful Patient Advisory Service, where up until now the GHA Complaints Team troubleshoots by assisting users who do not wish to complain but need help, information or advice on GHA services? Will some members of the GHA's Complaints Team continue with this role or will they be transferred as new employees of the Public Services Ombudsman's Office, or will this role just move to another Department of the GHA, for example the reception area of St. Bernard's Hospital? Or indeed will this service be discontinued completely?

690 All members of our community hope that the new Ombudsman GHA Complaints Service will – and I quote from Health Matters 2012-13 here –

‘provide a mechanism for users to report their grievances if they are dissatisfied with the services, to provide a way for the GHA as an organisation to listen to users, to create an understanding of patients’ negative experiences and identify poor practice and gaps in service and to identify any poorly performing service or department so that the GHA can improve its standards of care and service in that area.’

695 Mr Speaker, we are confident the Public Services Ombudsman can deliver on this, which is why this side of the House will be voting in favour of the Bill. However, reassurance from the Hon. Minister as to the provision of a complete service, i.e. to include a Patient Advisory Service, informal and formal complaints arbitration and an appeals process, would be desirable.

Mr Speaker: Before I call upon the mover to reply, does any other hon. Member wish to contribute to this debate?

I call upon the mover to reply. Hon. Dr Cortes.

700 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I would like to thank the hon. Lady for those comments. I want to reassure her and I think I will cover all the points that she has raised, that we will continue with a complete service and I would like to think more complete than it used to be. The aim is certainly to improve the service that users can access.

705 If I start from one point right away, and that is to confirm that clearly the new procedures will be reported on a regular basis to the Board and the Board will review them – and I know the hon. Lady knows as a former member of the Board – and the Board will review them regularly at its meetings.

710 The Ombudsman will be providing a Complaints Handling Scheme and I believe that the Members of staff who will be handling that have already been recruited, who will be based within the GHA. They will have an office there and will be accessible directly to the public and will be able to provide together with the support of the Unit Managers and the clinical staff and indeed, my own office staff, a very wide patient advisory service to, as often happens, clarify queries which often avoid the need for complaints to be carried out in a more formal manner.

715 The very basic complaints will, as now be dealt with in the first instance by the members of staff themselves and very often minor complaints can be cleared at that level. If that does not work or if members of the public want to take that further, then the Complaints Handling Scheme officers will carry out an investigation liaising with members of the GHA staff, but always answerable to the Ombudsman.

720 The next level, if that does not satisfy it, the complaints will be referred to one of the Investigation Officers at the Ombudsman's Office who will be the second level who will try and determine the effects or the results of the complaint. Finally, if that is not satisfactory, then – and this of course as I mentioned earlier – it will allow the possibility of independent clinical assessors to come in and look at any clinical aspects that have to be reviewed, and the appeal will be to the Ombudsman himself, who will then set up the necessary investigation, if there has to be a further level of investigation.

725 So I think that we will have the benefit of additional members of staff from the Ombudsman's Office working within St Bernard's Hospital. Clearly if the complaints are about other sites, people will be requested to visit St Bernard's Hospital, as is the case at the moment, and I believe that this produces a robust service which I think will benefit the members of the public as a whole.

I think, Mr Speaker, that that covers the questions that the hon. Member has raised and therefore I commend the Bill to the House.

730 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Public Services Ombudsman Act 1998 and related matters be read a second time.

Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Questions for Oral Answer

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT, TELECOMMUNICATIONS & THE GSB

Q163-168/2015

Trainees – Details of levels followed

Clerk: We commence today with Question 163, the Hon. E J Reyes.

15 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Government provide details of how many of the Trainees who obtained NVQs Level 1, as listed in answer to Question 768/2014, have continued working towards obtaining NVQ Level 2; providing a breakdown showing the corresponding NVQ discipline being followed?

20 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB.

Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question with Questions 164 to 168.

25 Clerk: Question 164, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Government provide details of any of the Trainees who obtained NVQs Level 2, as listed in answer to Question 768/2014, have continued working towards obtaining NVQ Level 3; providing a breakdown showing the corresponding NVQ discipline being followed?

30 Clerk: Question 165, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer provided to Question 60/2015, can the Government say by when it is estimated that the Assessor at the Engineering Training Centre will obtain the required EAL Award in Assessing Competence in the Work Environment Level 3; as well as indicating who is carrying out any 35 official assessment duties until the necessary qualifications are obtained by the individual concerned?

Clerk: Question 166, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Government provide the missing information in respect of all the 134 Trainees listed in answer to Question 768/2014, as the information provided through answer to Question 62/2015 only accounts for 123 Trainees in respect of NVQs attained?

Clerk: Question 167, the Hon. E J Reyes.

45 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Government provide revised and/or updated information in respect of the 74 Trainees listed in answer to Question 766/2014, as the information provided in answer to Question 63/2015 accounts for 75 Trainees in respect of NVQs they are currently undertaking?

Clerk: Question 168, the Hon. E J Reyes.

50 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Government provide details of any new Trainees enrolled at either (a) Construction Trades Training Centre; (b) Engineering Trades Training Centre, since the answer provided to Question 64/2015, listing the specific discipline or course being followed indicating at what NVQ Level, the Examination Board and Awarding Body who will upon successful completion certify the award, as well as stating at which Training Centre they are enrolled?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB.

Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the Trainees progressing to Level 2 are in the following trades: Carpentry – four; Bricklaying – two; Plastering – two; and Wall and Floor Tiling – one.

The Trainees progressing from Level 2 to Level 3 are in Carpentry – four; and in Bricklaying – one.

The Assessor undergoing training within the Engineering Training Centre is expected to attain the qualification by the end of September 2015. Currently official assessment duties are overseen by the 65 Gibraltar College.

The 11 Trainees omitted from the answer to Question 62 were 10 trainees obtaining NVQ Level 1 in Plumbing, accredited by City & Guilds and one trainee NVQ Level 3 in Fabrication and Welding and accredited by EAL.

In respect of the answer given to Question 63/2015, the extra trainee at NVQ Level 2 was in Carpentry.
70 The correct figure was one trainee and not two. 24 trainees have now enrolled at the Construction Training Centre and are following City & Guilds NVQ Level 1 Courses in Painting and Decorating, Carpentry and Plumbing.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker. I have got a small query that perhaps the Minister can clarify for me. Having been able to see an actual certificate of an NVQ Award, the Minister keeps on referring to the awarding body as City & Guilds yet on the certificate it says that it is the Construction Industry Training Board (CITB).

Does the Minister have any sort of explanation as to why on the one hand we call it City & Guilds and the certificate as such is issued under the nomenclature of CITB?

80 Hon. J J Bossano: Well I am not able to clarify the point about the specific certificate he is talking about because I have not seen it, but I can tell him that at one stage the City & Guilds and the CITB were awarding the qualifications jointly.

Quite recently, I think within the last 18 months, they split and now they no longer provide – they provide the same qualification but they are now separate. So there are people who will have a certificate that will have both logos, as it were, and there will be people who will only have CITB and there will be people who will have City & Guilds.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, it helps at least to a certain extent to clarify that. Should the Minister ever come into further information of division or reunification of boards and so on, I would be grateful – even if it is behind the Speaker's Chair, if he just updates me, because sometimes I try to look on official websites to try and see the actual contents of the syllabus and one does not know whether to search under City & Guilds or under CITB. Whatever the Minister can do for ease of reference, I appreciate that.

95 Hon. J J Bossano: I am not sure that there is much difference in the content, although one of the reasons why... well, the initial move, as the hon. Member knows because I told him, I think, three years ago when I started on this, was that there were employers in the industry who were saying they preferred City & Guilds. He was right in that the information that I brought to the House, which was information that they had provided to me, which was that they were talking about City & Guilds as if it was a different 100 qualification, when in fact it is a different awarding body, which is something he pointed out to me and was right. But I was acting on information that they gave me which I was not in a position to question.

So in terms of the awarding bodies, I do not think the difference between them is all that much, given that until a couple of years ago, they were both doing the same syllabus. But I am told that in the City & Guilds version, there is now more practical work and less written work, and that I think is an important 105 consideration, because we have a problem in that many of the school leavers and some of the older people in the industry who are coming back to get qualifications are not all that proficient in the English language. Although they know what they are doing and they can describe it to you in Spanish if you question them, it does not mean necessarily that they can write a thesis on it.

So to the extent that there is a difference other than for example that the training is now more geared to maintenance work because we believe that is where the long-term future is in terms of secure jobs rather than putting up buildings which go up, and then when they are finished there is no more work, other than that element which would be the same whichever of the two we took, I think that is the main difference.

But I will try and get the information for the hon. Member that is more accurate than the one I can give him standing on my feet.

115 Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker, and just to state in this House, I concur wholeheartedly with the Minister's views: City & Guilds does have quite a good reputation. Certainly employers in Gibraltar for many, many years have been satisfied with the standards required from City & Guilds and 'if it ain't broken, why fix it?' So the Minister will continue to receive my support if he carries on down the avenue of 120 City & Guilds.

At the end of the day, I think all sides of this House prefer to have good quality craftsmen, irrespective of what the nomenclature on the certificate may say.

Hon. J J Bossano: I am grateful for his support, Mr Speaker.

Q169/2015
Public service employees –
Increase in numbers

125 Clerk: Question 169, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, what permanent increases have there been in numbers in employees in the public service since 1st April 2014 broken down by reference to the Civil Service, the GDC and any 130 other Government company, public authority or entity for which the Government is accountable?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB.

Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr
135 Speaker, the figures for December 2014 are not yet available. The increases in respect of the figures given for 31st March last year have increased by the end of September as follows: Civil Service – 4; GDC – 33; Public Agencies and Authorities – 72.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, does this include the over 70 recruits for the Customs Department, the 140 figures that the Hon. Minister has provided?

Hon. J J Bossano: No, those would be civil servants and there are only four, so four cannot possibly include 72.

145 Hon. D A Feetham: So in fact the figure – obviously we do not have the figures post-September, I will ask again next month, but the figure is likely to be closer to 200 extra bodies within the public service as a whole as from March of last year?

150 Hon. J J Bossano: I am not able to confirm that figure. All I can tell him is that this is based on the same analysis that I gave him for 31st March figure which is the number of... If I remind the hon. Member, this is the quarterly exercise that is done by the Statistics Office, which was being done when he was in Government and every three months they produce a snapshot of the people that there are working at the end of the quarter. If you compare one quarter with the other, the difference that you get is the figures that I have given him.

155 I mean it is a net figure so there will be some Departments that have gone up and some that have come down; but the bottom line is that there are four more civil servants, 33 more GDC grades and 72 more in the agencies and authorities.

160 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the actual net increase... I have done the calculations, he may not agree but the actual net increase from March 2012 to March 2014, within the public service as a whole, that includes Civil Service, GDC, authorities, entities, etc was 513 at a recurrent cost to the Taxpayer, in terms of recurrent expenditure, of £8.2 million if we take into account the lowest possible pay scale. So it is actually likely to be more than that.

165 Does the hon. Member feel comfortable with these increases in recurrent expenditure and these increases in the public service or does he feel that perhaps he feels comfortable now but that moving towards the future, this is something that is going to have to be re-examined, these increases in the public service, because Gibraltar cannot sustain such increases in recurrent expenditure?

170 Hon. J J Bossano: I assume, Mr Speaker, that the 513 that he is referring to is the figure that I gave him for last year, but not the figure in this question.

Hon. D A Feetham: The figure is a figure calculated from the Estimates Book and also answers that the hon. Gentleman has given me and it is from March 2012 to March 2014. So it is those two full years for which the Government is responsible, there has been an increase, a net increase in the public service of 513 bodies at the lowest pay scale that is £8.2 million of recurrent expenditure that has been added to the recurrent expenditure bill on an annual basis.

180 Hon. J J Bossano: I think his figures are wrong, Mr Speaker, but of course it is difficult to analyse what he is saying because he has asked me what has happened since March 2014 and now he produces a figure of what has happened since March 2012. Well, if he wanted to know the figure since 2012 I would have had that produced and then I would have given it to him but I am not sure his figure of 513 for that period is there because I have not checked it myself and I have not provided it at this stage.

185 What I provided him for example the last time he put this question which was for the Financial Year 2013-14 was that there were 47 more civil servants and 12 more GDC. So if his figures were accurate, which I do not believe they are, it would suggest that in the first year there must have been an increase of 400. I do not recall 400 more civil servants or GDC employees, certainly not GDC because I remember the GDC number since I was much more involved in the GDC administration than in the Civil Service side and I remember that there certainly was not that level at all. I think what we had initially was the 84 people who came back from the Civil Service and in fact in the first year, those 84 might have gone up maybe by 30 to about 111, something like that from recollection that is in 2012-13.

190 So if in the first 12 months we had about 20-odd in the GDC extra and since then we have had 12 in the second year, which makes it 36, I do not see how he can get to 500 in the period. But I will go back and check the figure and if he wants to ask me the same question again, I will tell him whether I think the financial side of the question is correct.

195 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I can assure him that we have been meticulous in our consideration, but if the answer is that the hon. Gentleman has given this House... but also in the comparison of Estimate Books as to compared to previous Estimate Books – but leaving aside the question of the past, we are talking about this year, substantial increases within the public service and the figures that he has given me are likely to increase, they do not take into account the 70-odd Customs officers who have also been recruited. What I am asking is, in terms of Government policy and intention moving towards the future, does he feel comfortable with that kind of increase within the public service and the recurrent expenditure that entails, or does he believe, as indeed I believe, that moving towards the future, there really has to be a taking of stock and keeping under control those numbers of coming into the public service, because in the current climate I do not think that is sustainable, moving forwards.

205

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, it is self-evident that what is not sustainable is that everybody should finish up working in the public sector, which is what most people would like, because there would be nobody left in the private sector to pay taxes.

210

So clearly, the philosophy has to be that we employ people in the public service, not because people like to be in the public service because they are much better off, but because the public service needs them in order to deliver the service. And I think the philosophy of any government has to be to make use of the human resource that employing people is, in the most efficient way possible so that without the quality of the service suffering, we do it with the least number of people that it is possible to do it, so as to keep the cost within sustainable limits.

215

But it has to be accepted, I think, that if there have been four more civil servants since March, in that six-month period, it is because a case has been made for the need for those four additional ones. I can tell the hon. Member that generally the case is made for ten times that many and if there are four there, it is quite likely that the request was for 40 in the first place – something that I am sure he can recall from his days in Government as being the norm. The Departments always argue that they need more people and I have yet to see a Department that comes and offers to release staff to another one.

220

But as a general rule, in my view, the correct approach to take is that to accept that by the very nature of things there will be changes in the requirements of the Government service which make it necessary to increase in some areas and as far as possible those increases should be compensated by reductions in other areas, where the need may not have been as much in the present as it was in the past.

So we should try as far as we can to ensure that there is no net increase, even though there may be increases in some professions or some grades where an expert is required but which can be compensated by not replacing some people that we lose in other areas.

That would be, in my view, something that we should all aim to achieve but easier said than done.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, easier said than done. When I was in Government, I only had a PA and a secretary. Probably because as I told him last month, I am rather averse to increasing the recurrent expenditure bill for the Government.

235

But, Mr Speaker, does he have any figures in terms of what the additions to the recurrent expenditure bill, there is going to be with these additions that he has provided this House in answer to the question that I have asked him at all. Does he have those calculations there?

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, no because in some cases, it means that if the people have come in during the course of the last six months, they may have been provided for in the estimates we have approved in this House, but that money is not being paid from 1st April so you have a situation where I mean, between now and the end of March, nothing much is going to change.

I think the reflection of additional costs in personal emoluments will be seen once the estimates are closed and brought to the House. But I can tell him that at this stage, not all the Departments have put in their requests so we have not yet got a global figure that I could give him an indication of whether we are going to be facing a much bigger increase than in other years or the same model as other years.

But I can assure him that the efficient use of manpower is a fundamental element in any sensible policy in terms of the public service and therefore I would not disagree with that.

275 Mr Speaker: Are there any supplementaries?

280 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, if I can draw the hon. Gentleman's attention to the schedule that he very kindly sent across the floor of the House in relation to Bizzy Bee Limited, the hon. Gentleman will see a final entry which is the Varyl Begg Estate entry for £97,000. Bearing in mind that my question was details of all contracts that have been awarded to Bizzy Bee by the Government and effectively the public sector, it says £97,000 but my understanding is – and indeed I think it has been confirmed in communiques from the Government in answer to communiques from us in relation to this particular company – that the Varyl Begg tender was for £1.5 million.

285 Why the discrepancy between the £97,000 in relation to Varyl Begg and the £1.5 million which we know is roughly the figure in terms of the award for the total works of the Varyl Begg Estate?

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, Mr Speaker, because I assumed that what he wanted to know was what had been paid to date, given that the answer to the question that he is now putting to me he already has and by the Rules of the House he is not supposed to ask me questions to which he already has the answer.

290 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I think the question is very clear. It is: please provide details of all contracts that have been awarded to Bizzy Bee. What he has given me then is a schedule of payments made to Bizzy Bee. So effectively in terms of the quantity, the size of the contracts and the money that is going to be paid at some future date is obviously going to be significantly higher. Indeed it is probably going to be more than double what we see here, probably more than quadruple what we see here, because 295 the Varyl Begg contract in itself was £1.5 million and only £97,000 is accounted for.

Does he have the figures there of the actual contract, and it is a question that I have asked, the details of all the contracts awarded in terms of the price, the contract price awarded to Bizzy Bee rather than what has been paid?

300 Perhaps in terms of some of these I suppose, some of the smaller jobs, the figures here are the contract award because perhaps some of these smaller awards Town Range £1,600 that is what has been paid in respect of this particular project, I mean I do not know. But what I am interested in is really the contract award and the price that has been awarded to Bizzy Bee for contracts awarded by the Government.

305 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, the contract for Varyl Begg the answer is that he had the information before he put the question so he knows that and in respect of the others, those are jobs that have all been completed and the figure there is the full price for each job.

310 Hon. D A Feetham: Just to be clear, all the way up to Ramillies House for £1,286, all of that includes the sum paid and the contract price awarded to Bizzy Bee, I want to be absolutely clear about that, that is the money paid, plus the price agreed with the Government for these jobs, right up to Varyl Begg Estate.

Hon. J J Bossano: It is what I have told him, Mr Speaker.

315 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, in relation to the question on GJBS the £7 million, £13 million, £31 million and £38 million, does he have any breakdown in relation to how this is broken down in relation to projects at all there, by way of supplementary information that his civil servants may have provided?

320 Hon. J J Bossano: No, this is not something that they can produce at the drop of a hat. It would take a lot of time to go back and check. This is all money that has been paid on projects that have been approved by this Parliament in the Improvement and Development Fund.

I cannot tell him... the money in any one year is not necessarily all in a project that started and ended in that same year. As he knows, most of the capital projects overlap one year and the next so there will be jobs that started maybe in their time which finished after 2011-12 and some maybe carrying on.

325 There are things that involve going back and putting work right that goes back to the time of OEM and the estates that were left in the lurch and had to be put right and are still having work done to them. So the answer is, I can get it for him but it will take some time to do it and it will probably mean that there will be the same projects appearing in more than one year and it will be matched by the amount that the House has approved. This is money approved and paid for the projects in question.

330 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, bearing in mind that GJBS are undertaking some very major projects for the Government, they are undertaking the £24 million project in respect of the small boats marina and they are also undertaking the project in respect of the cladding to the three estates, Glacis, Laguna and Moorish Castle and also they are undertaking the construction of the affordable homes in the Aerial Farm near Eastern Beach, we are talking about some very substantial projects undertaken by GJBS

Is it safe to say, and does he agree, that these figures do not take into account the major outlay that is to come from the Government in respect of those major projects totalling nearly £200 million?

340 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, I do not think I am qualified to judge him on the fairness of the things that he says (Interjection and laughter) but whether it is fair or not, it is not accurate because he needs to understand that I am giving him the answer to the question that he asked, which is on the Government's projects. He knows that when he was in Government, the Government was paying some things as Government projects and some things were not being paid as Government projects, and it is the same still today.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, can he elaborate on that answer? What does he mean, the Government paid some projects as Government projects and some projects not as Government projects in the light of that £200 million outlay by the Government towards GJBS for the completion of those three construction projects that I mentioned in my question earlier?

350

Hon. J J Bossano: What I mean, Mr Speaker, is that as was the case before December 2011 when GJBS was being paid, for example £40 million or £50 million from the I&D Fund and other things were being paid because the car parks were being done by the car park company. So the car park company was paying for the car parks and that is something that was happening, so the system continues to be as he did it.

Whether there is still £200 million more or less to meet, I cannot confirm because that is speculative. I have not done the numbers and I only use numbers when I am sure they are accurate.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I cannot, with respect to the hon. Gentleman, think for one moment that he has not looked at these figures and that he has not calculated what is outstanding and what is to be paid either via a Government-owned company or directly from the Government or wherever, to GJBS in respect of £200 million which he knows that GJBS has got to be paid in respect of all these projects. I just cannot fathom that, I know the hon. Gentleman well and quite frankly I cannot see that he has not made that calculation.

But let me ask him this. Does he accept that the Government does not have the money at this present moment, in order to pay – ?

365

Mr Speaker: No, sorry, it does not arise from the original question.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, if Mr Speaker rules the question out, then obviously I am going to have to sit down because that –

370

Mr Speaker: If the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition in respect of GJBS has asked a very simple question, how much has the Government paid GJBS in respect of Government projects since it took office, divided by financial years. It has been answered in the manner in which the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition asked the question. It has been answered.

375

Now he is expecting the Government to look into the future and give an answer to an all embracing supplementary that does not arise from the original question. It is as simple as that.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I provide Mr Speaker with my views in the most respectful manner that I can, but they are my views. (Laughter)

380

Mr Speaker, the whole purpose of this question is to look at how much money has been paid to GJBS in respect of those very substantial projects and to then determine how far the Government has the cash flow to pay for those projects. Because if the Government has still an outlay of for example £160 million in respect of these projects, bearing in mind that this is the Government that says it is going to complete its manifesto commitments within this term, that is another £160 million that it has to pay and of course our contention is, that the Government does not have the money to pay.

385

But of course, if Mr Speaker rules the question as inadmissible, then I obviously respect that decision but I think that he knew where we were coming from in the same way as obviously, because my intention in asking this question is pretty clear to anybody that has thought about this particular issue.

Mr Speaker: It is perfectly admissible for the Leader of the Opposition to seek further information in respect of the information that has been given of the expenditure for all these financial years that is perfectly admissible. But the supplementary that he is asking goes far way beyond that and if what he wanted was an answer in respect of future cash flow, he could have asked a specific question in the first place. He can still do so for the future at the next meeting.

Mr Speaker: I say to the Leader of the Opposition to assist him that he does not have to take notes in respect of the answers to these eight questions, because I am going to provide him with the whole answer immediately after the Minister has given the answer, alright? Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, it is a disappointing answer in respect of Questions 177 and 178, I have to say.

Mr Speaker, does he not realise that if the Government as we know has caused £347 million to be transferred from Credit Finance into Gibraltar Investment Holdings Ltd, which is the holding company for all Government-owned companies, and he himself last time round told me that this money was being used ‘for Government Companies’ cash flow requirements’ – that is a direct quote from the answer that he gave me last time round – that this House is entitled to know how that money is being spent in respect of all those Government-owned companies?

Otherwise, it is impossible for this House, and then of course for the community at large through this House, but certainly Her Majesty’s Opposition in this House, to scrutinise how large parts of the public finances of this community are being handled and how the people’s money, savers’ money in this case is being spent. Does he not recognise that effectively what the Government is doing, or the actions the Government is taking are unprecedented in drawing the shutters on the Opposition’s ability to scrutinise large parts of the public finances of this community?

A Member: Hear, hear.

Hon. J J Bossano: I do not agree with him, Mr Speaker.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, let me link this to the previous supplementary questions that I was asking, and this time they are legitimate because they arise from these questions.

Does he not accept that if what has happened – which we know has happened because this is what he told me last time round, £347 million has gone from Credit Finance to Gibraltar Investment Holdings Limited, in order to fund the cash flow requirements of all Government-owned companies – £347 million – that money is bound to be used in order to fund some of those very same projects that I asked him about a few moments ago – the £24 million in respect of the small boats marina, the cladding at the three estates and the affordable homes? The reason why the Government is doing this is because it does not have the money to do it directly itself, because cash reserves are now down from the last time that I asked the question, from £60 million to £52 million and the Government cannot borrow more than £51 million. Last time round he said £51 million, I suspect that with cash reserves at £52 million, that figure has also gone down.

Effectively, what the Government is doing is using savers’ money, through Credit Finance and the Gibraltar Investment Holdings now, as an unaccountable credit card. It is like going to the bank and applying for a credit card to the bank, without declaring the fact that you already have credit cards with other banks and with the credit limits all the way up to the hilt. That is what the Government is doing.

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, Mr Speaker, I do not agree with what he says that the Government is doing, but I can tell him that I know exactly what he is doing. What he is doing is what he has been doing ever since 9th December 2011 when we announced the expansion of the Savings Bank, which is to do everything possible to undermine the success of the Savings Bank. And now, he starts off by saying ‘Well, what has the Savings Bank invested in?’

Well look, no institution anywhere, state owned or private, who operates by taking savers’ money, produces a monthly list of all the investments that it makes. It produces it once a year when it closes the year and has audited accounts. He wants it every month, he gets it every month but then getting it every month he says, ‘Ah yes, but you put the money in Credit Finance so who did Credit Finance give it to? GIH and who did GIH give it to?’ Eventually I suppose he will want me to tell him that somebody got paid on a building site and went out and spent the money in Morrison’s so he can track down the last penny. (Laughter)

Since the whole purpose of the exercise is not to protect the credit cards of anybody but in fact to undermine the success of the Savings Bank which belongs to the people of Gibraltar, I am not in the business of helping him to achieve that and therefore I am not prepared to tell him what is done with the money that is part of the cash reserves. All I can tell him is that the pool of merging the cash reserves of all the companies and the Government together and using it as a single pool was not invented by me; it was invented by them in their time and we have continued with the same system.

And I can tell him, if he thinks I am going to give him information in this House so that somebody writes an opinion in the Chronicle who describes himself as a GSD executive member and former Gibraltar Government tax adviser, which is true, he used to be my tax adviser because I imported him (Laughter) and having imported him to ensure that we collected more tax, he eventually left the Government and devoted himself to advising people how to reduce their tax bills, a metamorphosis which is unusual in that this is a case of a gamekeeper turning poacher, instead of a poacher turning gamekeeper. (Laughter)

This member of the GSD Executive presumably wants to remind people that he was my tax adviser in order to lend credibility to the nonsense that he writes and says that the Government has failed to make clear what is the level of funds deposited in the GSB by non-local. Well I am not sure what a non-local is, whether it is a non-resident or a non-Gibraltarian. He happens to be a non-local if it is the second.
 550 (Laughter)

But he then goes on to say that the information which has been provided has not been provided, it has been provided on two occasions, and therefore he deduces that the whole of the £1 billion belongs to the non-local rich so that they can get richer with the Taxpayer guaranteeing the payments. Well, given that no local saver according to a member of his executive has any money in the Savings Bank, I would not worry 555 too much about what happens to the non-local rich.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, having enjoyed for more than 16 years, the considerable intellectual pleasure and challenge of being the hon. Member's immediate and direct political opponent, I recognise in his answer to that supplementary, every characteristic of 'Bossanesque' parliamentary 560 technique (Laughter) that I recall during those hugely pleasurable 16 years.

Mr Speaker, the issue is not whether the Government... I had better convert this into a question: does the hon. Member not acknowledge that in parliamentary terms, the issue is not whether the Government is in fact spending the money wisely or unwisely; it is not whether it is doing things with the money that the Opposition would not have done, or perhaps spending the money on things that the Opposition would have 565 done differently or different things to the things that the Opposition would have done but still done; it is nothing to do with that?

The essence of the Opposition's position is that by the device that they have used to fund the Government holding companies, and we used to do projects through Government company structures too, but the alternative to giving a statement in Parliament through the budget estimate debates, by including in the debate about what you are going to spend the money on and where it is coming from, is that if you do it through companies, you give Parliament through answers to Opposition questions, information about that expenditure as if you had done it through the Consolidated Fund, so that Parliament is not reduced in its capacity, through the medium of the Government choosing to do things through companies, in a way that 570 disables Parliament from keeping the Government under scrutiny.

Parliament's right and this is why I rise, because the hon. Member knows that I no longer participate in front-line political debates, except where I think it raises something fundamental to this Parliament and fundamental to the interests of Gibraltar – which is that for good or for bad, Parliament must have the right at least to keep tabs of what the Government is doing for its own sake, without that being a comment about whether what the Government is doing is good, bad or indifferent and to the extent that the Opposition by 575 not getting the whole picture through Government's refusal to provide company information, as we used to provide it, means that the Government, that the Opposition cannot do that job.

Is the hon. Member at least willing to distinguish between the question whether we want the information to be able to put out a press release that somebody has used Government funds to do his shopping in Morrison's, if I could just borrow his smoke screen example, willing to distinguish between that on the one 580 hand and the Government's, the Opposition's right to know that if that was happening, the Opposition, the Parliament has a right to know it.

It may be an entirely justified spending of money in Morrison's because he may be buying the tea for the worker's canteen, but that does not mean that Parliament is not entitled to be aware of it. And I would ask him to acknowledge and accept that Parliament's wish to defend through the Opposition its right to scrutinise the public finances is not a comment on the propriety of that expenditure, or the desirability of that expenditure; it is an objective and a virtue in its own right for its own sake because it is a keystone of our parliamentary system of governance. Will he acknowledge that? (Banging on desks) [Hon. J J Bossano: No, Mr Speaker] Ah!, you do not acknowledge that, then we are in deep trouble.

Hon. J J Bossano: I must say that in reference to his opening remarks, I had not realised during the 16 years how much the hon. Member was enjoying himself. I am sorry he did not show the enjoyment at the time that it was happening. (Laughter)
 595

The hon. Member is talking as if Parliament had voted money to do something and we were refusing to tell him what the money voted on was being spent.

This is the Gibraltar Savings Bank investing in an entity. If the legitimacy of the concept is if the Gibraltar Savings Bank invests in an entity which is using the money in Gibraltar, you can ask down to the last penny who is the last person who got some money out, but if it is in the Bank of Finland then there are no questions as to what the Bank of Finland does with the money when they get it from the Savings Bank, well, it is a distinction that I do not draw because if the concern is the safety of that money it is considerably 600 safer in Gibraltar administered by civil servants than invested in the Bank of Finland and administered by 605 people we do not know.

If the concern is what is the pool of the liquidity being used for, well look, it is being used for short-term cash needs the same as it was being used before and it is being repaid as the figures that he has every month shows. Every month it shows that the amount in GIH is going down and the amount in the other elements of the portfolio of Credit Finance is going up and that is what will continue to happen,

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, does he acknowledge that if that is the answer to my supplementary question – and I am grateful to Mr Speaker for his indulgence in allowing me to technically convert it into a question – that if that is his answer to my supplementary, does he not acknowledge that he is not addressing my point?

Mr Speaker, when the Government invests public funds in the Bank of Finland, the Bank of Finland I suppose then re-invests it and remains liable to the Gibraltar Government for repayment to it, providing it does not fail financially and goes itself into bankruptcy, is responsible for repaying that. But does he not acknowledge that if he seeks to compare what I am talking about with that, he is at best paying lip service to the principle of parliamentary scrutiny and at worst, obfuscating the reality?

What is happening here is that money starts, a little bit of it public but most of it in the Savings Bank, depositors' money, the Government then procures that the Savings Bank invests that money in a Government-owned company. That Government-owned company then puts it in the Government's company that sits at the top of the structure of companies through which the Government often spends money as we used to do.

Does he not realise that it is a sort of washing job that the money starts in a place where the Government guarantees its repayment to Taxpayers, goes through two companies and comes back into Ministers' hands to decide how it should be spent and that is not a comparable situation to his example about the Bank of Finland?

Mr Speaker, I have often said in this House and I have not been universally popular on my side of the House for saying it, that there is no great, implicitly, there is no great objection, because all governments do it round the world, of borrowing money from depositors, even savers, to spend. That is why governments borrow money; governments do not normally borrow money to just leave it sitting in a current account. I am not objecting to that. I have never objected to the fact, I have said that I want the Government to tell the depositors that that is what they are doing just for the sake of transparency but there is nothing intrinsically wrong in the Government borrowing money from depositors of the Savings Bank to spend on building a block of flats, if that is what the Government thinks it wants to spend the borrowed money on.

I am not complaining about that. What I am complaining about is that having done that and shunted the money through to a corporate structure, it then will not account in this House for what that corporate structure, owned by the Government and controlled by Ministers, is spending the money on so that the Opposition and through the Opposition, Parliament... which in our context is a little bit of a nonsense because Parliament is divided only into the Government front bench and the Opposition front bench now with one exception, and that therefore Parliament cannot keep tabs, even through the medium of asking questions, as they used to keep tabs when I was doing the same thing of spending public money through companies, of how much is being spent, on what it is being spent except obviously what we can see going up.

Does he not realise that there is a distinction? He may not want to agree with it but there is a distinction between the criticism of the borrowing of money from depositors for public purposes, which I make no comment on, subject to quantum, and a simple plea for that not to result in opacity to Parliament about what that money is being used for and when. They are two wholly different things and I am speaking only to the second one of the two.

Hon. J J Bossano: They are only two wholly different things because he chooses to formulate it that way. As far as I am concerned Mr Speaker, the Savings Bank has got a £1 billion deposited in it and £600 million of that is reinvested outside and £400 million is invested here. The money that is not invested in the long term, that it is deposited in, is the money that is in cash in the Credit Finance and forms part of the cash resources of the Government and the companies as a single pot and that money will come back and is coming back every month to Credit Finance and then being reinvested.

That does not mean that they are entitled to say, 'Well look, I want to know how much of each pound went into GIH.' It is a pool of money as he knows, because he was the one who devised it, which is fluctuating on a daily basis as money comes in and out of the Government or money comes in and out of the companies or contractors putting in more invoices or not but the final financing of everything is not a matter that will be done by the Savings Bank or Credit Finance.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I gave way to the Hon. the Backbencher but I do have a number of more supplementaries on what is an important issue where the Government has decided to bunch a number of questions together.

670 Mr Speaker, does he accept at least this, a very short question that if the Government had not caused Credit Finance to pay over £347 million to the Gibraltar Investment Holdings Limited in order to fund the cash flow requirements of Government-owned companies, that the Government itself would have had to pay that £347 million and that therefore it is a saving to the consolidated fund of £347 million?

Hon. J J Bossano: No, Mr Speaker, I do not accept it.

675 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I do not understand how on earth he can disagree with that and what the Government is doing you see – it is even worse than the Hon. the Backbencher has put it – and I agree and associate myself with most of the comments that he has made in relation to the transparency issue, but of course if you have – and I am asking whether he agrees with me, if you have a net debt of £392 million and the Government can only spend out of the amounts that it has borrowed another 680 £51 million, then it stands to reason that what the Government is doing by injecting £347 million from the Gibraltar Savings Bank into Government-owned companies, in order to fund those Government-owned companies which would otherwise have been funded by the Government either through reserves or through borrowing, that the Government is effectively using this as a device to circumvent the legal borrowing limits.

685 That is what the Government is doing and that is obnoxious to this Parliament. Not only is it obnoxious to this Parliament for all the reasons that the Hon. the Backbencher has mentioned and that I have added to, but because those borrowing limits are there to ensure that Governments do not borrow in a manner that becomes unaffordable. And the debt that this community faces is both the £392 million direct debt and then the £400 million in Credit Finance £347 million of which is being used to fund Government-owned 690 companies. It is nearly £800 million of debt.

Now, does he not agree with me on that?

Hon. J J Bossano: No, Mr Speaker, I do not agree with anything that he has said and I accept that what I say on this side of the House is obnoxious to him and I can tell him that the feeling is reciprocated.

Hon. D A Feetham: But, Mr Speaker, if the Government had not caused this £347 million to be paid into Gibraltar Investment Holdings which is now being used in order to fund all Government-owned companies, where would the money have come from, a very simple answer, a very simple question. Where would those £347 million have come from if the Government had not caused Credit Finance to pay that 700 money over to Gibraltar Investment Holdings?

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, Mr Speaker, as I understand it that is an entirely and self-evidently a speculative question to which I do not have to give an answer. But I presume that the Government might have done what his Government did over many, many years which is to get supplier credit from other 705 people, none of which was brought to this House including the occasion when I discovered £20 million in one of the tables I was given for which there was no explanation and I asked the then Chief Minister what it was and he said he could not remember. Eventually he remembered that it was £20 million that he had obtained at the bank in order to buy shares in a private development of the place where the parking is now going up.

710 Well look, if being so accountable is so important, many of the mechanisms that are now considered to be unaccountable were invented by them, so it is simply a case of, if I do it then it is okay but if you do it, it is wrong.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, again, the hon. Gentleman is trying to obfuscate the issues in his classic and traditional way.

715 Does he not accept this – and it is my final supplementary, Mr Speaker, and I am very grateful for Mr Speaker's indulgence – does he not accept this the Government with the level of direct borrowing that it has, which is the highest in the political history or the history of this community at £392 million with £51 million away from that borrowing limit in terms of spending it can only spend another £51 million, it did 720 not have the money to capitalise, to effectively fund these Government-owned companies to the tune of an extra £347 million? Does he at least not accept that?

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, Mr Speaker, I do not accept that anything has been capitalised. I told him that these are the cash holdings that are held in a pot together with the Government's own cash reserves and the 725 companies, all of which are handled together and I do not consider that to be capitalisation.

Capitalisation is what has happened with the Savings Bank buying shares in Credit Finance – (Interjection) Well, he can ask another question, I do not have to give way.

730 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, well Mr Speaker, I use the word capitalisation and it is not capitalisation; it is funding. Does he not recognise that with the borrowing limits as they are, with the Governments direct debt at £392 million, the Government could not have funded Government-owned companies to the tune of £347 million and to that extent, effectively what the Government is doing is, it is saving that money from direct expense from the consolidated fund and indeed an increase in the public debt of £347 million which it could not have incurred by law in accordance with the laws on how much a Government can spend?

735 Hon. J J Bossano: Well, Mr Speaker, the hon. Member knows that if the Government wanted to exceed the limit laid on the net debt which is not something that the Government set as a target, he knows that the target was bringing down the gross debt but I know they do not attach importance to the gross debt, only to the net. But if the Government wanted to do it, all it had to do on 9th December 2011 was proceed with the motion that was already in preparation, suspending the limit that there was if that was what the Government wanted to do.

740 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: And that would have been the transparency that I am calling, does the hon. Member acknowledge that?

745 Hon. J J Bossano: Well it might be the transparency or might not be the transparency, but the hon. Member is asking me if it was impossible to do anything else and I am telling him that it was not.

750 Hon. D A Feetham: But, Mr Speaker, it is not only a transparency point and that is the main point in relation to this particular issue that he has now raised, but how on earth can this Government lambast... and the Chief Minister lambast his predecessor, Sir Peter Caruana, for having an intention, indeed there, for having an intention to come to this House to raise the legal borrowing limits when this Government does not come to this House to raise the legal borrowing limit but covertly borrows £347 million, which it would not have been able to do under the law as it stands at the moment? (A Member: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks) And does he not accept that that is a contradiction in terms – indeed a very dangerous non-transparent opaque contradiction in terms?

755 Hon. J J Bossano: No, Mr Speaker, I do not accept either his analysis or the whole list of adjectives that he has added to them.

760 Mr Speaker: We will now move on. The question of transparency and opacity has been totally and fully ventilated.

BUSINESS & TRAINING

Q80/2015

Employment Service – Changes made to address complaints

765 Clerk: We now move to Question 80, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment state if there have been any changes in his Department which have resulted in less complaints in connection with the service being provided?

770 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

Minister for Business & Training (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, whereas perhaps I thought that the drafting of the answer would have raised the temperatures too early in the morning, sadly by the time that I have given the answer, I see that temperatures are already quite inflamed and so the tenor will not, I hope, increase the temperature.

775 Mr Speaker, yes sir. The result of the General Election in late 2011 resulted in a change of Government, which meant that instead of the relevant Minister trying to avoid seeing people as he presided over growing numbers of unemployed peaking at 1,200 as the now Leader of the Opposition identified during the election campaign, the now GSLP/Liberal Minister dramatically changed style and approach. As a result, working hard in implementation of the Future Jobs Strategy, Minister Bossano achieved a record-breaking reduction in unemployment which was at a record low in December, since records began, of 228. As a result, Mr 780 Speaker, we have had many less complaints.

Hon. D J Bossino: This House does not accept, as we ever accepted, that unemployment was at the level that he has indicated in his reply and I must say, it really reeks through in his answers that it is clearly not the Hon. Minister's style. I am sure his answer has been drafted by somebody else who is on his left-hand side.

Mr Speaker, the question arises in relation to a very specific point that I made during the course of my budget speech and that related to the comments made by the Gibraltar Public Services Ombudsman in his report of 2013, when he said very clearly –

Mr Speaker: I am sorry –

Hon. D J Bossino: Oh my goodness, what – ?

Mr Speaker: There is a very clear Rule which says a supplementary question must not introduce matter not included in the original question. You are now introducing the question of the Ombudsman's Report. That is matter not in the original question.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, it very much arises. The matter that I am dealing with here, Mr Speaker, if I had been allowed to pose the question, relates specifically to the service being provided and the question relates to the service being provided by the Employment Service, so therefore it is particularly apposite that I should be referring to the comments made by the Gibraltar Public Services Ombudsman in relation to the service being provided by this particular Department.

800

So therefore, Mr Speaker, with the greatest respect, I think I am more than entitled to make a reference because this is not extraneous to the question.

805

Mr Speaker: You could have included a reference to the Ombudsman's report in your main question.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I could have but I chose not to, with the greatest respect.

Mr Speaker: You chose not to. I choose to tell you that you are introducing new matter. It is as simple as that. Now, let him try to rephrase his supplementary in another way and we might be able to make progress. Let us see.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the question arose as a result of comments made by the Public Services Ombudsman, so I really cannot think of any other way of asking this supplementary question.

815

The Public Services Ombudsman made highly critical comments as to the service being provided by the Employment Service, to the point that he said – and I can read where he said it – that he will be meeting with senior management in order to address these issues because he made the point that there had been a tremendous – a significant, using his adjective – increase in the number of complaints from 2010 to when he wrote this report. In my respectful view, Mr Speaker, I think the question in the Order Paper and the supplementary are both highly relevant to each other.

820

Mr Speaker: I am going to allow the supplementary, but I insist that what the hon. mover of the question should have done was to have made a reference in respect of matters raised in the Ombudsman's report. He should have made a reference in the main question. And it is a very simple matter to do; I do not know why he did not if he then proposed to... or is it just to catch the Minister off-guard?

825

Question Time is also about getting information. If you want information, put it in the original question otherwise you run the risk of it being ruled inadmissible because of the Standing Rules and Orders. It is nothing to do with me; it is the Standing Rules and Orders.

830

Now, is the Hon. Minister prepared to answer that supplementary?

Hon. N F Costa: Well, Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman knows that had I read the report, I would have been happy to comment on it, unfortunately I have not had sight of that report which goes back to 2013. Perhaps my hon. colleague the former Minister for Employment is aware of the report; and may be able to comment on the substance because I have not read the report.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, if I may, given that you have allowed – and I will take the Chair's comments in relation to this on board for future reference – but given that the Speaker has allowed the question to proceed, perhaps if I can assist by simply reading one particular sentence which arises from the report – and I must insist that I said it during the course of when I first articulated my supplementary question, that I did make a reference to this particular quote during the course of my budget intervention where he said, and it is very simple, he says the 'average complaints'. He talks about a significant increase in complaints during this year, the average complaints for the years 2010 to 2012 were six per annum whereas during 2013 we have recorded a total of 23 complaints. He refers to things ‘apparently they are varied’ and he talks about ranging from lack of replies when seeking information to alleged unprofessional treatment and dissatisfaction regarding claims for payments under the insolvency funds.

So just to assist the Hon. Minister, given that he is going to rise and provide the answer.

Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): Well, Mr Speaker, given that the question to my colleague has been based on whether there has been a decline in the number of complaints since he took over from me, it appears to suggest that what the Ombudsman was saying was that everybody was complaining about me and now that I am no longer there, they are no longer complaining. (Laughter)

The answer to his question is that neither the present Minister nor the previous Minister gets to hear of these complaints. The first time I knew that there had been complaints to the Ombudsman was when he pointed it out to me, just like the first time I knew that there was supposed to be something about some works being done in the Department because in my view incorrectly, the Head of the Department chose to deal or fail to deal with the issue without bringing the matter to my notice when I was there.

I can tell him that when I investigated as a result of him raising it, most of the complaints dealt with people who felt that their claims under the insolvency were not being dealt with, with the speed with which they should be, over which there have been some problems, particularly in relation to the construction industry where there was an issue which arose previously, when the previous Government was in office, over the correct interpretation as to whether the CATA terms apply in the industry or the statutory terms apply in the industry. Where there is an anomaly that what was agreed under CATA is actually something that gives better redundancy to some people and much, much worse to others and that the people who get better redundancy are the people who have been working for a very short time who would get nothing under the statutory scheme, which requires that you are there for at least one year – or maybe two years, I cannot remember whether it is one or two – but all the people who were left out of the statutory were given compensation under CATA, which was based on a sum of money per week that they had worked. So somebody who had been working one week would get something.

But the way that it was interpreted was that then the people who would get many thousands of pounds under the statutory scheme would actually finish up getting considerably less. That has been an issue, that is how it was interpreted before and is still being interpreted in the same way and there are still people complaining that it is wrong that CATA should be providing less redundancy payments than the law says is the minimum because then there is not a minimum.

I can tell the hon. Member that if any of this had been brought to my attention at the time, I would probably have been able to deal with the issue myself, but since the people who were there at the time that these complaints were being made, were not the people who had been there before our years because there had been changes in the Heads of Department, after the person that had been there, Ernesto Gracia had been there for a very long time and therefore he was very conversant with these things, but the people who came in later clearly did not answer the points with the speed with which they should have been answered.

Now, the fact that there were more complaints than ever, in my view is totally unacceptable that it should be happening without the matter being raised at a political level to get to the root of the problem. I hope that now that he has raised it, and I am saying this in public, the same thing will not happen to my colleague as happened to me when I was there, which is that I got to find out about it after the event.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Hon. Minister for the answer he has just given and I must say in relation to his comments in connection with CATA and the statutory position, I just find it very strange from a legal perspective that you can almost contract out of the minimum statutory requirements but I am happy to look at it for him, for a fee that is.

Mr Speaker, I think he expresses a hope that the matter will have been resolved and in relation to that, does he know because the point is also made expressly by the Ombudsman in the report, that he intends to meet with – as he describes it – senior management, if there has not been an improvement within a period and I think he cites of about a few months.

Does he know whether that meeting has, either of the Ministers, ever took place during his time when he was discharging his responsibilities or indeed whether Mr Costa is now since he took over these responsibilities, whether that meeting has in fact taken place?

Hon. J J Bossano: Yes, I found out that the meeting had taken place when I started asking questions as a result of him raising it, so this has all happened in the past. By the time it got into the Ombudsman’s Report, some of the complaints were discarded by the Ombudsman as not having substance, but many of the complaints were not about the substance but about the failure to provide answers. The fact that people were waiting to be given answers to issues that they were raising in matters of labour rights and in some 905 cases, the answer was very simple, the rights that were being raised were not rights that existed in law, however big a grievance a person might have had.

We have had one particular recent case which actually I know went to the Ombudsman and there were meetings with the Labour Inspectors and there were meetings with the Heads of Department, where there was one particular lady who was a Frontier Worker who worked in the private sector, who had serious medical problems and she wanted to be sacked in order to be able to claim unemployment benefit in Spain.

910 But the employer was being advised by the lawyers that he should not sack her because then he could be facing an unfair dismissal claim. Well, the Labour Inspectors are not, as far as I can tell, employed to go round advising people to sack employees. They explained to her that perhaps what she could do was draft a letter, which they helped her with, saying that she would give up her right to go to an unfair dismissal because her argument was that if she resigned, she would not qualify for the unemployment benefit. The 915 last I heard of it was, it had not been resolved because she insisted not only on being sacked but also of being given a guarantee that the job would be kept for her when she finished with the unemployment benefit in Spain which as everybody knows can be as much as a year and a half.

I think that was one of the cases that either went that year to the Ombudsman or went to the Ombudsman in a subsequent year but I happen to know about this particular case because it was brought to 920 my attention. There were others that I only found out when the whole thing was long dead and buried and only because the hon. Member took the trouble, for which I am grateful of bringing it to my attention. As a result of his intervention and then I did the only thing I could do, go back and ask the Department, why is it that I do not know anything about this?

925 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Clerk: Question 81, the Hon. D J Bossino.

930 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment provide updated details on the information contained in Table EMP.7 of the Gibraltar Government Website.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business, Employment, Skills & Training.

935 Minister for Business & Training (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, the information requested by the hon. Member is set out in the schedule that I now hand to him.

Next question.

SPORTS, CULTURE, HERITAGE AND YOUTH

Q82/2015

Monument to women of Gibraltar –
Commissioning and location

940

Clerk: Question 82, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Equality say when the winning design for the monument to the women of Gibraltar, selected nearly two years ago, will be commissioned and where the monument will be placed when completed?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, HM Government is currently working closely with the winner of the design competition for the monument to the women. This is to see how best her design can be fulfilled. A number of locations are currently being considered.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister say which sites are being considered?

955

Hon. S E Linares: Not specifically, Mr Speaker, because like I said there are a few of them that we are looking at and we are working with the designer so that it has the best impact that it should have because that is what it deserves.

Q83/2015

Sports Injury Clinic – How to be set up and run

960

Clerk: Question 83, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Sport say when the Sports Injury Clinic outlined in the Government's manifesto will be set up and how it will be run?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth, Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, HM Government is still working with stakeholders on how best to run the Sports Injury Clinic. We are considering a number of options.

970

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, that is exactly the same answer the Hon. Minister gave me, I think it was six or eight months ago.

975

Can the Hon. Minister say if the leaning is more towards providing the service from the GHA or from the private sector?

Hon. S E Linares : Yes, Mr Speaker. First of all on the comment about eight months ago: this is a four-year Parliament and therefore we will fulfil this before our term of office. (Banging on desk)

980

Mr Speaker, on her specific question of whether we are looking at inclining towards the GHA or the private sector, both are being considered and it could be a combination of both. It depends on the treatment that the sports person might have. If the injury – and again we are looking at it generically – is one that can be done within the GHA then it will be done. As the hon. Lady might know, there are osteopaths and there are physios and the GHA does not employ osteopaths and all these issues are the ones we are considering.

985

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: And finally, Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister say when he thinks the service will be set up? Is it just about to happen within the next couple of months?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, definitely before the election.

Q84/2015
GS LA school swimming classes –
Cancellations

990

Clerk: Question 84, the Hon. E J Reyes.

995

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can Government provide details as to how many, and why some swimming classes at the Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority's facilities have been cancelled by schools in 2015?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

1000

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, a total of nine school classes at the pool for the elderly, disabled and teaching have been cancelled in 2015. This has been due to a problem with the air treatment system, which has now been addressed.

The pool has been fully operational since 26th January 2015.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, this treatment system which seems to have caused a problem, is this the new one that was installed recently or is it a recurring problem which has been there in the system from its original construction time?

1010

Hon. S E Linares: No, Mr Speaker, it is definitely not the new one, the new one is working perfectly. There are two pools as he knows, there is what we used to call the GASA pool, the 25-metre pool, and there is the pool for the elderly, disabled and teaching. It is the one for the elderly, disabled and teaching which is not incorporated into the system of which is in the 25-metre pool.

1015

Therefore what we are looking at now is to incorporate the system that is working perfectly with the solar panels. I am happy to say that it is a system that is making a tremendous saving to the pool running costs, where we do not even have to buy diesel so it is even better for the environment and it is being used in many places as an example as to how we should be moving towards zero carbon emissions.

1020

Therefore, what we are looking at now is that the air treatment of the second pool which has been historic has been there for since it was built and there were loads of problems, we are now looking at how we are going to solve that for the long term. But as I said, at least in the short term it has been addressed and it is now working, not as we wish it to be working, it will be working much better when we fix it properly and do the whole system again overall.

Therefore what I am saying is we are hoping that all the system will be up and running soon with all the new systems that we need to put in place.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, the Hon. Minister in his contribution just now said that thanks to the solar panel which has been installed there are huge savings which have been made in expenditure. Could the Hon. Minister provide us with some figures in terms of what the figure for savings is?

1030

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I believe the hon. Member already has in the Order Paper a question to the Minister for the Environment asking about how much the savings – last night reading all the questions that he was asking – I do not have figures as such but I can tell you –

Mr Speaker: Not only do you not have figures but it does not arise from the original – again new matter being introduced which is not covered in the original question.

Q85/2015
Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority – Vacancies

1035

Clerk: Question 85, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1040

Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer provided to Question 728/2014, can the Minister for Sports provide details of any vacancies within the Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority, as well as indicating by when it is estimated these will be filled?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, we are currently in discussions with the Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority regarding improvements to management structures. Discussions are at an advanced stage and these changes should take place in the near future.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, I note the Minister said that they should take place in the near future at the tail end of 2014 in a question there the Minister led me to believe that he hoped to have made a decision in respect of whether to keep or otherwise reorganise the post of the Deputy Chief Executive Officer and so on and he said that he hoped to have this completed by the end of the Financial Year which is next month.

1050

Are we still on target, Mr Speaker, for the end of the Financial Year?

Hon. S E Linares: Yes, Mr Speaker.

GSLA school swimming classes –

1055

Mr Speaker: Before we deal with the next question, perhaps I should clarify one matter. I apologise to hon. Members that I did miss out that I think the Minister... It is very difficult for me to hear everything and catch everything that is being said. I think the Minister himself introduced the question of savings.

Where that happens, where a Minister in providing an answer widens the ambit of a question, then it is legitimate to ask a supplementary – and if I make a mistake, please draw my attention to it. (Interjection)

Where it is not legitimate is of course, if the hon. questioner himself should have introduced it and did not. I apologise to the hon. Member if I misled him.

Hon. J J Netto: No, obviously Mr Speaker, I bow to your rulings whenever you make them.

Mr Speaker: But it is not easy to be here, hour after hour, trying to pay attention all the times and sometimes there are matters which escape the Speaker's attention. I am only human.

Hon. J J Netto: It just caught my attention, given that I follow this type of issues and of course one is glad to hear that as a result of the installation of the solar panels whether in that particular location or any other particular part of the public service, there are savings to be made in relation to expenditure arising from that.

Having said it, the Minister... obviously I want to try and get to the bottom of it. Now the Hon. Minister in his reply did say that I have a question on the Order Paper which... not quite, it is a separate type of question because later on, presumably this afternoon, when I have the opportunity to ask the Minister of the Environment, it is basically where is that the Government at the moment is obtaining renewable energy to the tune of 3.1% arising from the statement in the ERDF Operational Report 2014 to 2020? It is a separate question, it only arises as a result of that.

1075

If the hon. Member has the information, fine; if not, I will simply ask the question next month.

1080

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I do not have the exact savings because it was not asked. The relationship between the questions that he is asking and the financial savings is that he will realise by the answer to the questions why the GASA pool is being used as an example of how much we are producing in kilowatts or how much we are saving from the power station because the kilowatts have been produced by the solar panels. So it is not a quantity as in financial quantity; it is to do with kilowatts and all the technical issues that are to do with electricity and energy.

But from the top of my head, I can tell him that the GASA pool used to spend an average of nearly £3,000 per month on diesel, buying diesel for the pumps and for the workings of the pool and that is not being spent now.

There is hardly any and there is a reserve there just in case it needs to be put into the system, should the system break down, as a last resort. But I can tell him and I was looking at the actual Vote Book and the expenditure is not there anymore, so that is only but one of the savings that I can just mention as I stand on my feet.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I am very grateful for that answer.

1095

Q86/2015

Gibraltar Rugby Football Union and Gibraltar Cricket Association – Provision of alternative facilities

Clerk: Question 86, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1100 Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer to Questions 9 and 10/2015, can the Minister for Sports say if any potential alternative facilities have been identified for use by the Gibraltar Rugby Football Union and the Gibraltar Cricket Association in respect of provision of facilities for the playing, teaching and development of their respective sports in Gibraltar?

1105 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the answer remains the same as my answer to Question 9 and 10/2015 in the previous session of Parliament.

1110 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, the Minister in answer to Questions 9 and 10 said that no identification had been made as he has done previously throughout 2014, yet I can assure Mr Speaker, that the representatives of both the Gibraltar Rugby Football Union and Gibraltar Cricket Association have been able to mention that there seems to be an area that has been identified, which is what I am asking.

I have not asked if there has been a final agreement or settlement or whatever, my question has always been have alternative facilities been identified.

1115 Can the Minister please enlighten us as to what sort of areas have been identified as potential use by these two Associations?

1120 Hon. S E Linares: No, Mr Speaker, I cannot specifically say because as he rightly says, this is a discussion we are having with them in order to ascertain whether some areas or a big area we can give to them to see if there is a potential of, so therefore this is what I have been saying all the time, that we have been in discussion with them. The question does not ask whether I have had a meeting with them, but I had a meeting with them only last week where we were discussing issues of how we can improve.

1125 I cannot specifically say to the hon. Member which is the area where we are looking at. There are many areas – he can look at the map of Gibraltar and try and identify areas we could use for the development and teaching of these two sports – but it is not only these two sports that we are looking at areas. We are looking at areas for all other sports and any area that I can identify and I can go to the Deputy Chief Minister and the Lands Management Committee in order to get for sports, then I will do so. This is what we are doing constantly. All the time we are doing that, so it is not a question of saying, ‘Oh, we have identified this for cricket or this for rugby.’

1130 I mentioned to him last time that in relation to the Cricket Association, we have been able to get the Garrison Gym to be shared with the basketball, so that is an area where we can expand on the development of the teaching of cricket. And in the rugby, like I also said to the hon. Member last time, we have been able to sit down with the MOD in order that the Devil’s Tower Camp (DTC) can be used for free for the rugby more often than it used to, obviously because before they used to have to pay and now they do not.

1135 So these are the issues that we are constantly all the time trying to develop, so if that is an answer to the question has there been any advance or any – that is as far as – but there has not been any advance from the last question only three weeks ago in the last session of Parliament.

1140 Hon. E J Reyes: Well I have to accept it is a pity, Mr Speaker, that these Associations tell me that the Government does seem to sort of have more advanced planning and so on in a particular area and the Minister has chosen at this particular stage not to make that public and since I am sat on this side of the House, I am going to have to put up with that.

1145 However, Mr Speaker, arising from the information that the Minister has just provided back, he said and in many ways I even welcome, that they have eased the use of the facilities at Devil’s Tower Camp by the Gibraltar Rugby Union and so on.

1150 Can the Minister confirm that the additional use of these facilities is because it is the Gibraltar Sports Authority or some other Government entity that has taken over the locations and then administers them to the Gibraltar Rugby Union; or does the Gibraltar Rugby Football Union have to deal directly with the MOD and with the Sports and Leisure Authority not even getting themselves involved in helping with the development of this sport?

Hon. S E Linares: No, Mr Speaker, as the hon. Member knows, the DTC has had issues and still has issues of security on how you go in, how you come out, who goes in, and all these issues. The other issue was that the MOD was charging different entities for the usage of the Devil's Tower Camp.

1155 What we have done is sat with the MOD, we have got a Memorandum of Understanding with them that we will – and he is right there – through the GSLA, we could have a system and in this case it was football and rugby who were the ones that were mainly using the astroturf in the Devil's Tower Camp, that we would have a system where people will have a type of ID card specifically given so that they can go in and out in a safe manner fulfilling all the security issues that the MOD have.

1160 So these are the sort of things that we have tried to clear up because those were the problematic things when the rugby people could not even – well, still cannot – go. A parent cannot come in to see the child who is playing inside the DTC because of security reasons, they have to just wait outside. But then the team manager can take the whole team in because they have a specific security card which they already know at the door, yes okay, these children can come in.

1165 So all these things we have ironed out with the MOD and this is what I am saying that we have got a memorandum of understanding and rugby is a great beneficiary of that system because they have been using that place quite a lot for the rugby. And the hon. Member is right: it is done through the GSLA but it is sort of, like slots are given to rugby and then rugby handles, with the MOD, all these issues that I have just explained.

Q87-88/2015
Cultural grants –
Awards for 2014-15

1170

Clerk: Question 87, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Culture provide updated details, since the answer provided to Question 12/2015, of any cultural grants awarded so far pertaining to the financial year 2014-15?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 88/2015.

Clerk: Question 88, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Is the Minister for Culture now in a position to provide this House with a revised schedule showing details of cultural grants awarded so far pertaining to financial year 2014-15, explaining the queries raised through supplementary questions in reply to Question 12/2015?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, due to the fact that only three weeks has passed since the last Parliament session I have been unable to write to the hon. Member – and I think he got a call from my office anyway – as promised.

Therefore I now hand over to the hon. Member opposite, updated details of all cultural grants awarded so far, appertaining to the financial year 2014-15.

This information is now the correct one and is now recorded in Hansard.

Mr Speaker: Strictly speaking, the schedule is not recorded in Hansard. The schedule that he is now providing is not recorded in Hansard, if he is just handing it over. If he does not incorporate it in the main answer, I do not think it will be recorded in Hansard. Is that the case, Mr Clerk?

1200

Yes, because we are making the schedule part of the answer, it will be recorded; normally a schedule is not recorded, okay.

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I just wanted... because last time there was a mistake in the schedule that I gave him and I promised him that I would write to him with the correct one, but if I had written to him directly, it would not be now in Hansard. That is what I am on about.

Mr Speaker: I have been in touch with the hon. questioner and he has kept me au courant with this particular answer, thank you.

1210 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, thank you. What my communication Mr Speaker was that after the deadline for submission of questions, the Minister's office did give me in fact from what I received, an exact copy of this schedule but I still wanted to maintain the question so that it is recorded in Hansard and also so that I am within the Rules and Mr Speaker should therefore allow me to make a supplementary question in this respect.

1215 Mr Speaker, if I may start with the third item down, there is a young performing dancer who has been granted £3,000 and it says 'travel assistance'. By that nomenclature it means that he seems to have travelled either first class or whatever to New York because £3,000 does take you a hell of a long way further than just New York. Or does that £3,000 incorporate some sort of tuition fees and so on?

1220 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, it is both.

Hon. E J Reyes: Right, so if it is for everything then travel assistance can be a bit misleading. Mr Speaker, can I take him further down, to a certain extent I am referring a little bit as well to help facilitate matters to the previous schedule I have been given last month, although there has been a great amendment to that and so on.

1225 Can I ask the Minister to clarify where it says 'Gibraltar Sea Scouts Band'? The last time it was in respect of the purchase of instruments and so on for the band. Am I therefore also correct in deducing that just beyond half way down where it says '1st/4th Scout Group £1,334.00' that it is also in respect of musical instruments? Because the Sea Scouts does specify the band and for the 1st/4th it does not. I know that these sort of Scout groups receive some money from youth grants and other places, so can he confirm to me that it is actually to do with the band, the 1st/4th contribution?

1230 Hon. S E Linares: Yes, Mr Speaker, as he rightly says, the Scouts themselves get grants through the youth grants and therefore it is the right assumption that this should be for the band.

1235 Hon. E J Reyes: Great, that helps tremendously, Mr Speaker. We had raised it last time and the Minister was going to look into it, when a payment is given to the parent to Andrew Felices in respect of tuition fees and so on for the Dance Academy for his daughter Janice Felices, it says here now, £12,000.

1240 The Minister was going to try and find out whether that is related to just one academic year or does it spread out over two years because of the way that payments are made? Has the Minister been able to get any information?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, this is appertaining to her annual... so it is a yearly thing and therefore it might roll over the £12,000. We might pay £6,000 and then £6,000 or £3,000 and £9,000 but the annual amount is £12,000 because this includes all her travel expenses, all her maintenance expenses, so therefore it is, if the hon. Member thinks about for example a student and I think again in the Order Paper, there is a question of how much a student on tuition fees, they are usually for example in the UK £9,000 which is the average, so this would be like if it were the £9,000 plus another £3,000 for maintenance which, as the hon. Member knows the Department of Education pays maintenance. So the £12,000 is inclusive of all that and it is an annual thing.

1245 Hon. E J Reyes: That clarifies it a bit. And Mr Speaker, may I round up by asking: the Gibraltar Re-Enactment Society appears four times in the schedule. The very last payment, the penultimate entry Re-Enactment Society Grant, I think that is an annual grant basis of £11,000 but then there are other payments not huge amounts but £350 on one side, then £350 again, then £2,088.

1250 Given that this is over and above the grant am I right (1) in assuming this is a one-off payment and not just simply an increase due to inflation on the grant and (2) may I ask the Minister for some enlightenment on why beyond the £11,000 per annum grant, these three separate payments were given in respect of the Re-Enactment Society?

1260 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, these payments, as I understand it, were that for example the £350: they came to us to ask – 'us' as in the committee that actually decides this, which is the Cultural Grants Committee – and they asked for £350 for a specific capital expenditure sort of thing. They wanted to buy a gun or a cannon or some uniforms, which are not part and parcel really of the grant that they get. The grant is for running costs as opposed to buying something specific, so all these items are specific.

We give them the grant of £11,000 in order to maintain and do things during the year but then in these cases they have come to ask for something specific. It could well be something like fixing lockers within their premises. These are the sort of things that are the smaller amounts.

1270 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, my understanding always was that the big sum of the grant, £11,000 included recurring costs and certain maintenance and upkeep of uniforms and so on. I can to a certain extent understand what the Minister is trying to say that there are two payments of £350. One takes it that it is two separate payments and not a clerical error again, could be a one-off – perhaps if one had seen from the press that they helped to create an old gun and so on. But there is one that is a slightly bigger figure, it is £2,088 – 1275 that is an additional 20% to the annual grant.

Can the Minister provide some information at least in respect of the bigger figure, £2,088, which is the third line down on the second page of the schedule?

1280 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I cannot specifically say what it is, that amount, I do not think it is a vast amount, some of these uniforms and equipment cost quite a lot of money. Therefore I would assume that these are like buying ten new uniforms, which is the amount that they cost. They cost quite a lot of money these uniforms, but what I am saying is that I do not specifically have the information but it should be something that they have asked for and it has been paid. I mean, that is what it is.

1285 Hon. E J Reyes: The Minister does not have that information but, Mr Speaker, that is precisely what I am asking, what is it? Exactly £2,088, given the cost of the upkeep of uniforms and so on, £11,000 per annum is quite a substantial sum of money. To require an additional 20% of additional supplementary funding, I do not think I am out of order, Mr Speaker in asking, as I would like to know what the £2,088 is for, if the £11,000 already includes the upkeep of uniforms and so on.

1290 If he does not have it now, could he at least commit himself to trying to provide that information to the House when possible? Your guidance is appreciated, Mr Speaker.

Hon. S E Linares: It does not need the guidance of the Speaker. I will do that.

Q89/2015
Sports Development Projects –
Details of grants

1295 Clerk: Question 89, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer provided to Written Question W5/2015, can the Minister for Sports provide a breakdown with detailed information showing what Sports Development Projects the grants for £8,037.07 and £6,000 given to the Gibraltar Shooting Federation were for?

1300 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the breakdown of payments given to the Gibraltar Shooting Federation from Sports Development projects are as follows:
1305 (1) a payment of £7,000 towards electronic targets for the Gibraltar Target Shooting Association and £1,038.07 for financial assistance towards the Gibraltar Pistol Association's attendance at the IPSC General Assembly in Florida, October 2014, so it's a total of £8,038.07.
(2) £6,000 second and final payment towards electronic targets for the Gibraltar Target Shooting Association.

1310 Mr Speaker, if the hon. Member wishes, I can pass him the answers so that he does not have to note it down.

Q90/2015
Gibraltar Philharmonic Society –
Grants awarded 2014-15

Clerk: Question 90, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1315 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Culture provide details of any grants awarded to the Gibraltar Philharmonic Society in the Financial Year 2014-15, indicating the amounts awarded as well as the Head and Subhead to which this has been debited; showing the purpose or purposes for which the grant was awarded?

1320 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the Gibraltar Philharmonic Society receives an annual cultural grant of £10,000 and it comes from the Head that he asked the question before, which is the Cultural Grants Head.

1325 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, the reason why I had to pose this question before the deadline is that in the previous schedule that we can now more or less call obsolete, in answer to Question 12, the Minister had put down that there was £10,000 given to the Gibraltar Philharmonic Orchestra.

1330 So part one of my supplementary is that it raised a concern so that the Society was not receiving any money. I accept that we have kept to that £10,000 well spent in being one of the sponsors, it is nice to see Mr Speaker, when we do go to the concert that among the list of sponsors of individual companies and so on that the Government of Gibraltar is a sponsor and I think that is right and fitting and therefore there is no query in respect of that £10,000.

1335 The schedule given to me just a few minutes ago clarifies that. But then, Mr Speaker, can the Minister sort of confirm or deny whatever that no additional money has been given to anybody, be it the Gibraltar Philharmonic Orchestra or whoever, in respect of purchasing woodwind instruments to develop the Gibraltar Youth Orchestra. Have we made any contributions towards an orchestra or is that just a simple human clerical error, I would say?

1340 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, if he got that information from the previous schedule, it was an error. This now updates and corrects all the errors that is why we are having this discussion and I have given him the new one.

Q91/2015
Heritage sites –
Details and costs of works

Clerk: Question 91, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1345 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Heritage provide details of all works, together with a breakdown of the respective costs undertaken at any heritage related site, since the answer provided to Question 13/2015 as well as stating by whom these works were carried out?

1350 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, further to the answer to Question 13/2015, further works undertaken at heritage sites inclusive of costs and works carried out are:

1355 (a) Site: Europa Pass
Works: Emergency Works
Constructor: Koala Construction
Amount: £1,534.32

1360 (b) Site: South Port Gates
Works: Repairs to wooden door
Contractor: Gibraltar Cultural Services Limited
Amount: £300

1365 (c) Site: Montagu Bastion Bunker
Works: Removal of loose concrete blocks
Contractor: Construction and Maintenance Company Limited
Amount: £1,680

1370 (d) Site: Trafalgar Cemetery and St Jago's Stone Block
Works: Fixing of gate posts, balustrade and painting works
Contractor: Straits Overseas Limited
Amount: £1,620.

1375 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, fair enough Mr Speaker, but he did say that the Europa Pass was sort of emergency works, but he has not said whether it was the gate, the painting or so on. What type of emergency work, does the Minister have any pertinent information?

1380 Hon. S E Linares: Yes, Mr Speaker, because I remember the day that it happened. If he knows where the Europa path is, there were some rocks that were falling off the actual wall and there is a house just beside a property and if any accident had happened... It is also to do with the buildings that are at the top, if the hon. Member knows where I am talking about, there must have been probably some works happening at the top and part of the wall was falling down, some of the rocks had fallen down so these are emergency works.

1385 What we did was, we sent the contractor there, they put scaffolding up, in these cases they are stone blocks that might move and therefore what you do is you put them back in and you make them safe. So that is exactly the type of work it was.

1390 Hon. E J Reyes: No, Mr Speaker, let me just double-check. The repair works carried out at South Port Gates, am I correct – my note says Gibraltar Construction Services Limited, no? Then can the Minister enlighten me?

1395 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, this was another emergency work of which one of the doors was flapping and it was dangerous and it is Gibraltar Cultural Services. Gibraltar Cultural Services is the company that runs the Mackintosh Hall, that runs the Ince's Hall and all this has replaced the agency.

1400 What happens is that these works and the maintenance team had to go out, which is a heritage job, but because it was such an emergency works, we could not get anybody I think it was a Saturday evening, so when I called the Cultural Services because they were the ones who reported it to me, I said, 'Why don't you go out and do the work yourselves?' and they did. So that is exactly what they did. They just made it safe so that at a later date we will do the whole works again.

Liberator Bomber AM911 – Progress on removing and exhibiting wreck

Clerk: Question 92, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1405 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Heritage provide an update on the progress made so far in respect of Government's intentions as stated by the Chief Minister at the National Press Club on Tuesday, 8th October 2013, 'to work with the Museum in order to bring Liberator Bomber AM, or Alpha Mike, AM911 out of the sea and placed on permanent exhibition in Gibraltar'?

1410 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sport, Culture Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the HM Government of Gibraltar is still exploring the feasibility and technical aspects of removing the wreck from the bottom of the sea in conjunction with the Gibraltar Museum.

TRANSPORT, TRAFFIC AND TECHNICAL SERVICES

Q123-132/2015

Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan – Cycling

1415 Clerk: We now move to Question 123, and the questioner is the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport say on what basis the Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan states that cycling is not currently seen as a viable form of transport?

1420 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 124 to 132/2015.

Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Minister for Transport say how soon work will begin on the introduction of cycle safety routes as set out in the Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan and provide details of the features of these cycle safety routes?

1460 Clerk: Question 131, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Minister for Transport say whether the Government will be introducing 'Ride to Work' schemes in the nature of similar schemes available from time to time in the UK?

1465 Clerk: Question 132, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Minister for Transport say what the total amount of expenditure being budgeted for by his Department for investment in cycling infrastructure is?

1470 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the draft Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan includes proposed indicative routes for cycle and pedestrian priority.

1475 At the current consultation stage, feedback is being sought on the principles of the route network and the policies to promote cycling and walking. The deadline for feedback to be provided is tomorrow

20th February 2015 and I very much look forward to reading the input provided by the public and if he is to be positive about this in any way, the hon. Member opposite.

1480 Once the Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan consultation is complete and account has been taken of the responses, further work will be required to develop and design the routes as part of the implementation stage. If adopted, these routes are expected to incorporate a range of measures, such as Toucan crossings and advanced stop lines.

1485 Cycle routes are not meant to replace pedestrian routes but be complementary to them as part of the wider modal shift in forms of transport being proposed. However, the compatibility of pedestrian and cycle movements need to be taken into account and to this end, Main Street and Irish Town are not included as cycle routes at present.

1490 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I have asked a significant number of questions which the Minister has asked be bunched together, but there really are a significant number of issues that he has not dealt with.

I start with the first question, which is the one I asked the Minister for Transport to say on what basis the Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan states that cycling is not currently seen as a viable form of transport.

1495 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, we must remember that this is a draft plan; it does not necessarily mean that everything in that plan is what the Government's view of entirely what the plan should be. Remember, Mott MacDonald Consultants who were engaged in this were tasked to actually give the Government their proposals and their views independently of what I thought, or we thought or anybody else thought for that matter.

1500 Hence the perception that they have received when they have been interviewing individuals, people who could possibly use cycling as a form of transport and the main problem or issue raised was that people who were questioned felt that at this point in time, cycling was not currently seen as a viable form of transport. They perceived that they did not feel safe or secure.

1505 So it is not why the Minister for Transport says that it is not considered viable, it is not the Government's opinion; it is what has come about from public consultation.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, a number of points on that answer.

1510 The summary published not last week but the week before, is a summary of the plan itself. Therefore when I asked the question about why it is that the summary of the plan says certain things, I enquire as to why it is that it says such things.

Now the Hon. Minister tells us that this is about Mott MacDonald's independent view and it is also as a result of the responses received.

1515 But, Mr Speaker, would it not be in fact the case, or is it not the case, that given the likely preponderance of responses to the survey having come from people who want cycling, given the disproportionate bias to other forms of transport other than cycling, that this was a likely outcome; and that in fact, Mr Speaker, as has become clear in cities around the world, it is through political leadership and a genuine commitment to the idea of cycling that cycling in fact flourishes?

1520 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member's view of the plan is intrinsically flawed. This is not a draft; this is a draft Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan and as I said earlier, it is the views of the consultants and is also partly the view of the Government. We chose to publish the whole lot, the whole findings of the plan and not hide anything or say and there are things here which are contentious but everything is here now.

1525 Having said that this is not the plan, this is a very abridged version of the plan. The plan itself when it is printed in due course will be a very, very thorough document which will have things and contingents which are not within this plan or may at least have only been slightly touched upon within the plan and they will be elaborated upon and built upon. So those people who are interested in seeing the reasons for certain proposals or want to go into further detail can do so. But the plan itself will be a very, very detailed and large document.

1530 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, before I go on to labour the point which I consider is a very important one about political leadership in this context, I would hasten to add to the Minister that in fact, my description of the document, for clarification sake, was that it is a summary of the plan because that is what it is, that is what I have called it, that is what they have called it and yes, it is in draft to the extent that it is still subject to more consultation, still subject to the kind of consultation that means that he does not give answers in this House to questions that I ask.

1535 Now in his original answer, Mr Speaker, he invites me to make a positive contribution to this debate by participating in the consultation process. Well, Mr Speaker, you really do not get more positive than having 1540 come to this House practically every month since we were elected to Opposition to talk about solutions, to talk about possibilities which surely the Minister will have taken note of and will constitute my participation in the process which I think is significant enough.

1545 However, to labour the point about the political leadership, Mr Speaker, my concern and the reason why I raise this, is because a plan that identifies cycling and walking as alternatives that should be explored as alternatives, that should be developed as alternatives that people should be made aware of, as being good alternatives of transport to the car and to the motorcycle as they have been for a very, very long time, cannot in my view do well by departing from the premise that cycling in Gibraltar is dangerous, which is the view that the Hon. Minister for Transport, the previous Hon. Minister for Transport expressed in this House the first time we met in January 2012 and the view that is expressed in the plan.

1550 Does the Minister not agree that by expressing the view that it is not safe, that it is not a viable form of transport in Gibraltar, without saying more, Mr Speaker, without saying it will be because we will invest x amount or we will do this and that to make it so, is not the basis upon which to depart on trying to make this a cycling community, as I know and I am sure he knows, this community can become.

1555 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, personally I do not have a death wish so I do not go out on my bicycle to get run over or killed or maimed in any way, and I am sure he does not do so either. But that does not mean that the perception of the general public out there, and the reason why there are no more people joining us when we cycle out there, is because they feel that it is perfectly safe.

1560 I mean these are exactly the views that came out of the public consultation. People do not think like we do. And one of the things that the hon. Member did ask me to look at – because he was very concerned because he himself had actually been hit in the rear while he was riding his bicycle – (Interjections and laughter) One of the things that he highlighted because he had actually been hit by a car, was the possibility of a zebra crossing or a pelican crossing outside Portland House. So it is clear... That was just his brush with danger in that respect. (Interjection) Well, it might have been a motorcycle, but anyway...

1565 People's perception of whether cycling is safe is not what we feel and I find that cycling is safe enough for me to actually take to the road but that is not the perception of the people that were questioned.

Hon. S M Figueras: Which brings me to another point I would make in relation to a number of questions that he has not actually answered.

1570 The second question I asked, number 124, asked when a comprehensive cycle strategy will be formulated for Gibraltar and to explain why one has not been devised during the last three years. You see, Mr Speaker, the comprehensive cycle strategy is one that is mentioned in the summary of the draft Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan – I hope I got its label right – and I was simply asking the Minister to elucidate upon the details of what that comprehensive cycle strategy will be and when we can expect it to be devised.

1575 And again, Mr Speaker, I have made no secret over the last three years in this House of my disappointment at the fact that nothing has been done in terms of increasing cycling safety awareness by having advertising campaigns or anything of the sort, an initiative which the plan itself identifies as being necessary to promoting the safe use and adoption of cycling as an alternative form of transport and the Minister insists in telling me that because it is going through another process of consultation, he is not going to give me any more details.

1580 Mr Speaker, the question is asked in this House and I believe that this is information that he now has, because the plan has been in the making for the last three years. So will the Minister, and this is not my last supplementary because, Mr Speaker, he has not answered many of the questions, will the Minister tell us when that comprehensive cycle strategy will be formulated for Gibraltar and tell us why no advance, no progress has been made in the development of one in the last three years, when surely he will have been appraised of the information and the likely recommendations that the consultants, who we hope have not brainwashed him, will have brought to his attention during the course of the last three years. (Banging on desks)

1590 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, it is incredible that the hon. Member who had 16 years to set up a safety for cyclists (Several Members: Hear, hear) –

1595 Mr Speaker: No, no, now we are beginning to debate and this is not the time to debate. If you want to debate, then let us have a motion on the Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan and you can debate it under the rules of debate. So get to the point.

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, as I was saying I think the comments made by the hon. Member are extremely unfair. Now the traffic plan is in a stage of development, it is still in the stage of development and the Government will announce all these measures when it feels fit to do so.

1600 The only reason why I think the hon. Member has been pushing for a traffic plan, traffic plan, traffic plan, is to have an opportunity just to look at it with a fine tooth comb and just criticise it like they criticise all other Government projects to the hilt. That is exactly the impression of what is happening here.

1605 So whether there is a comprehensive cycle strategy he will have to wait and see, but it is the intention of this Government to help promote other forms of transport, other sustainable forms of transport and cycling is one of them in question, as is walking.

So as and when the Government is prepared to make mention of these initiatives and as the final traffic plan comes into the public, he will then be furnished with the information he requires.

Several Members: Hear, hear. (Banging on desks)

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, the hon. Members applaud a lack of a plan because there is nothing yet concrete. Which brings me to the next question and that is Question 125 which is asking for the Minister to detail the strategy or strategies the Government has developed to ensure the safety of cyclists in Gibraltar. At first glance, Mr Speaker, I have to say none from my own personal experience.

1615 However, the reason why I was asking the question is because as an example in the UK and elsewhere, construction vehicles of which there are many in Gibraltar these days, many carrying scaffolding or empty scaffolding lorries, represent a clear and present danger to cyclists in those communities.

1620 Now I asked the question because I am interested to understand what the plan has unearthed in terms of cycling safety measures that this Government will be taking and I would ask the Minister to articulate a few of those for our benefit.

Hon. P J Balban: Let me see what the previous plan actually said about those things to see whether we can gain any insight.

1625 Mr Speaker: Let me give a little bit of guidance. Please sit down.

I think there is an alternative procedure that I would commend to hon. Members generally and particularly to Members of the Opposition. If you want to discuss, if you want to debate something like the traffic plan, all you have to do is to introduce a neutral motion: 'This House notes the recommendations, the contents of the traffic plan.'

1630 You can then debate the matter, raise all the points that you want. It is not as if you are introducing a motion which you might lose by Government majority. It is a totally neutral device which was adopted very often during the years when I was a Member of the House. It can be done with the traffic plan, it can be done with the report of the Ombudsman, it can be done with the report of the Principal Auditor and either the Government or the Opposition can introduce a very short motion. 'This House takes note of the...' and then the rules of debate apply.

1635 It is a far better method of procedure in my view than the present one, where you are constrained by the rules applying to questions.

1640 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the Chair's intervention and I take on board the recommendation as we have on a number of occasions in the past, but if the Chair will indulge me, Mr Speaker, I have been nothing but positive about the plan since it was published. I said so publicly on Newswatch last week when the plan was published.

1645 All I want to do, Mr Speaker, is to elucidate information from the Minister and that is all I am seeking to do. I do not wish to debate the plan today; I wish to elucidate information, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: What I do not want hon. Members to do is to keep on going back over what happened over the last 16 or 20 years and both sides do that. Both sides of the House do that. That is what I do not want them to do.

1650 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, granted, but today during this question and answer session, Mr Speaker, I have only asked about the Government's performance in respect of this very particular project and nothing else. I have not alluded to the last 16 years and neither do I want to. I only want information, Mr Speaker. (Interjection and Laughter) No, and Mr Speaker I am perfectly happy to talk about the last 16 years if it is in fact what we are going to do here today, but it is not.

1655 What I want to do, is to elucidate information from the Minister which he is hesitant to give me and he betrays his nervousness by so very quickly alluding to the last 16 years of GSD Government, because of course, Mr Speaker, he is nervous about the fact that in the 16 years of the GSD Government, so much was achieved that they cannot hope to emulate in four, eight or even 20 years.

1660 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member has gone back to the past 16 years once again and I feel that it is only... Why can't I go back to the last 16 years?

I totally disagree with what the hon. Member is saying, the Government has brought out a very positive plan, a very thorough plan, a plan which has been generally very well received even by the hon. Member as he rightly says. But when we look at cycle safety which is something which the hon. Member is raising, and I unfortunately have to see where we are today and what we have inherited along the years and what we did was a scheme which we will talk about later because it is part of...there are questions related to this later on, a scheme which failed, which was the GibiBike scheme.

1670 Now the Government, as I said, is very, very keen and is going to be pushing to help encourage people to sustainable forms of transport, cycling being one of them and the Government will be looking at – as you can see in the plan – the possibility of cycle lanes, which we have been very clear about, with Wellington Front and the walls being used as a segregated cycle lane, so people are not in contact with vehicles. We are looking at every single road in Gibraltar to see whether there is a possibility of having segregated bicycle lanes, which appears to be extremely difficult because of Gibraltar's roads and Gibraltar is too small in size to be able to merit and have this sort of infrastructural changes.

1675 Obviously the Government, like any other Government, will be keen on ensuring the safety of cyclists by use of protective gear if necessary and the Government will most certainly be looking at a scheme for bicycle rental which works, because unfortunately the one – and I am sorry, Mr Speaker, having to go back to that – because what we took over in 2011 was a system which was rushed, which did not work, spares were not available, many of them got stolen and we inherited a lump of bicycles that were unusable.

1680 The Government will take its time, do things properly, because we think that in most modern urban cities around the world, there are schemes which work better or worse, but there are schemes where people can borrow bikes or rent bikes or whatever, and the Government is keen to look at all these schemes but we will do things correctly. We are not rushed to do it and we will make sure that when we have them, that they work.

1690 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Hon. Minister for that reply, inasmuch as he provides at least a glimpse of a variety of initiatives that the Government might be able to adopt for itself in terms of enhancing cycling safety. It is lamentable, however, that they have had three years to embark on a programme of awareness on television or in the press, which did not require external consultants at a cost of hundreds of thousands of pounds to brainwash the Minister into agreeing to, but I will now continue and ask a further supplementary arising from specific questions that I have already asked.

In relation to the GibiBike scheme, Mr Speaker, the Hon. Minister will know that there are two or three questions in the Order Paper on that subject and I will therefore not deal with those suggestions, wrong as they are, at this juncture.

1695 I asked the Minister whether he could say when a comprehensive programme of cycle facilities will be delivered by the Government. Again, the answer to the question, Mr Speaker, was a very general one where everything is being looked at. But I would be grateful if the Minister could give me particular attention to that and tell me when it is in fact, that we can expect this comprehensive programme of cycle facilities.

1700 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, before the actual question was asked, the prelude to the question is that obviously he is begging me to go back to the 16 years. I will refrain from doing so because you have said that we should not, but he keeps on saying what have we done in the three years that we have had.

1705 Well, we have a traffic plan which we have said will be a thorough investigation which will give us a very good idea of what we want to do. If he is saying what have we done in the past three years, well if we had inherited something better we would have continued with that, but we did not unfortunately. Again he keeps on asking me to go back and I will try to refrain from doing so.

1710 Again, the hon. Member expects me from the plan to start giving him dates, when am I going to do this, when am I going to do that and when is the Government going to embark on the other? He will learn in due course when the Government is ready to have a timeframe if the Government sees that system to be fit, he will have it. But what he cannot expect is a document which has gone out for public consultation which is almost towards the end of that public consultation, for me to give him details of what he is asking.

He is asking for costs, he is asking for timeframes, he is asking for specifics and unfortunately, those specifics are not available to the hon. Member. This work is still being developed and once we are ready to give him more specific information, we will be happy to do so.

1715 Hon. S M Figueras: Well, Mr Speaker, that is just inaction hiding behind consultation, but we will leave that there.

1720 Moving on to Question 127 which he did answer, remarkably, in saying no cycling will not be allowed along the pedestrianised areas of Main Street or Irish Town. I would ask, Mr Speaker, is the Minister content that it is okay, it is legal, it is in fact allowed for goods vehicles to be in the area of Main Street and Irish Town before 10.00 a.m., or 11.00 a.m. I think it is, in the morning; but yet an eco-friendly, quiet, inoffensive form of transport as cycling is not allowed in that area? Is that something that has the potential of being revisited in that context?

1725 Hon. P J Balban: Once again, Mr Speaker, this is what we have had. There have never been bicycles allowed to cycle through Main Street or Irish Town. Why is it all of a sudden so important that bicycles should cycle down there? If you want my opinion – (Interjection) But the Government – we could have been briefed by them, but if you want my opinion on whether cycling through Main Street and Irish Town is safe, well I have my doubts.

1730 Bicycles are quiet methods of transport. They can travel in one direction or they can travel in others whereas goods vehicles will travel in one direction, their engines make noise, they travel at slow speeds, whereas the bicycle can whisk silently south, west, east, north and people are coming through tributaries, pedestrians are walking. Take Irish Town for example, we have pedestrians coming through all the tributaries to Irish Town and if you are going to make walking dangerous as a result of encouraging bicycles, then I do not think that is convenient.

1735 I think pedestrians, who are the majority of persons, should be encouraged and should not be having to look behind their backs. We have problems with mobility scooters who run people over in Main Street and there are all sorts of issues. So I think these things have to be thought about very carefully.

1740 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am grateful that he has confirmed that it is of his own initiative that he does not want to pursue the idea of allowing cycling on Main Street before 11.00 a.m. like the heavy goods vehicles and to explore the possibility of restricting cycle traffic to those hours and in the direction of the flow of traffic as they exist today. But I can move on, Mr Speaker, because I have my answer.

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, if I may, would the hon. Member give way? I have given the hon. Gentleman –

1750 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am not going to give way unless it is a Point of Order. (Interjections by Mr Speaker and other Members) No, no, thank you very much. Thank you very much, Mr Speaker. As I was saying, I am happy to give way for a Point of Order though. There is not one? Oh good. (Interjections)

1755 Mr Speaker, Question 131 – we got to 132, is that right? (A Member: Yes.) Again, there was no mention of the Hon. Minister in his replies to the questions of whether the Government is looking to introduce something like a ‘ride to work scheme’ as has existed in the UK from time to time and it is not something that from my review of the plan, was present in it, or rather the summary of the draft Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan.

Could the Minister please enlighten us as to whether this is something that the Government is looking at but is not in the plan?

1760 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, just to answer a question or comment that the hon. Member made earlier, I gave a reply to a question which was my opinion of cycle riding in Irish Town and along Main Street. That does not necessarily mean... I said it was my opinion, that does not necessarily reflect the Government’s opinion. What will happen is, all these things have been looked at and will be taken into account. Just because I think that this should be done, or I think that should be done, this is not my plan and any way this has not been my brain child; this has been something that has come across – no I will not –

Hon. S M Figueras: On a Point of Order, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: Yes, what is the Point of Order.

Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, I wanted to refer to the Hon. Minister’s original answer in relation to that particular question and the answer was no. Not that it was up for consultation; that the answer was no. That was the Point of Order, Mr Speaker.

1775 Hon. P J Balban: I do not know what that was all about, Mr Speaker, but what I am saying is whether in future bicycles will be seen riding along Irish Town or on Main Street, that is something which the plan will develop further and we will see what will happen. (Interjection)

1780 Mr Speaker: Now you have had... I think we can now leave the question of Main Street and Irish Town. You have been asked about Question... [Inaudible].

1785 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, all these things are being looked at as part of the plan, the consultants are UK consultants and they are very up to date on all sorts of plans, including the ‘ride to work’ scheme which is in fact the ‘cycle to work’ scheme. I do not know whether, it is official, in order to... – it is ‘cycle to work’ scheme and not the ride. I do not know where he has got the term ‘ride’ from, he has probably heard it somewhere. But our UK consultants are providing us with all these similar schemes to try to incentivise and if the Government decides to adopt some of these we will make an announcement when necessary.

1790 Hon. S M Figueras: Finally, Mr Speaker in relation to these questions specifically on cycling, I asked what I thought was a valid question certainly, and one which I think the Minister will agree is important in the grand scheme of this debate.

1795 That is to enquire as to what the extent of the investment planned by his budget entitling infrastructure is. You see, Mr Speaker, I asked the question because in countries on the continent such as the Netherlands where investment is very significant, the modal share of commuting trips or journeys carried out on bicycles is much, much higher than in other places in Europe. In the Netherlands for example it is 27% and in Denmark it is 19% and the UK languishes behind at about 2% in terms of the modal share.

1800 But it is evident from the report of the All Parliamentary Cycling Group in the UK that cities that invest in infrastructure see a significant increase in the modal share of cycling, such as Oxford and Cambridge who respectively have a rate of 17% and 30%. So my question to the Minister would be twofold. One, what is the current modal share of cycling as a form of transport in Gibraltar and have those findings been provided to him and his Department by the plan, or by Messrs Mott MacDonald; and secondly, how much money is budgeted by his Department – and I am talking about looking forward not back, in terms of investment in cycling infrastructure.

1805 Hon. P J Balban: A very clever bit of reading there on the part of the hon. Member, coming up with ‘modal shares of cycling’ and all these things which he is very up on.

1810 Mr Speaker, the Government will be – what we cannot do is compare little Gibraltar to Oxford and Cambridge or places in Holland as to what we invest in cycling infrastructure. We are very limited in Gibraltar, which means to say that no matter how much we invest in trying to encourage people to cycle in Gibraltar, there is so much we can do. So what we are looking at is a possibility of including some cycle lanes, which is the most we can do and encouraging people to use this form of transport.

1815 So as I said, the full report, when the report is published... What the hon. Gentleman wants is for the Government to say, ‘We want more and more information, because that gives me more and more fuel to be able to attack and criticise and whatever.’ No, unfortunately we are not ready to provide you with all this information, and I do think at this stage, which is a draft public document, that people really want to know what the Government is going to be budgeting or what the modal share or any fancy term in that respect.

1820 The Government obviously will be budgeting for the traffic plan, the Government will be investing considerably in the traffic plan and the hon. Member will have to wait and see how that is shared throughout all the different aspects of the plan itself.

1825 Hon. S M Figueras: Well, Mr Speaker, I rise only to disagree with the Hon. Minister’s assessment of the terms that I have used as fancy language. It is what it is, a modal share of use and I also disagree with his assessment of my approach to these questions this morning, Mr Speaker.

I have been doing nothing but seeking information from him to try and understand the reach of this plan and the extent to which we can all expect that in years to come, because this is not going to happen overnight and I acknowledge that, how we are going to see cycling develop as a form of transport in Gibraltar.

1830 Of course the plan is not limited to that, it has many other aspects, many of which we touch upon in further questions in the Order Paper but, Mr Speaker, I suppose what is most regrettable is that whilst he perhaps to a certain extent, rightly identifies that Gibraltar has certain limitations – not that we are limited because we are certainly limited only by our imagination and that of our political leadership – I would ask the Minister to say what he considers are the series of measures that he can take, starting today, to try and encourage the use of cycling as an alternative form of transport in Gibraltar?

1835 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, it is not what I think. When the Government is ready to provide him with information of what the Government thinks, I will do that.

1840 Now, no matter how much forward planning: I have not planned ahead because eventually in the future I suppose we will see cars that fly! (Laughter) But we are not going to go down that route in that respect. As I said, when the Government is ready to provide the hon. Member with that sort of information, then we will do but we are not ready yet.

Q133-135/2015
Bicycle rental scheme –
Plans for delivery

Clerk: Question 133, the Hon. S M Figueras.

1845

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport provide full specifications of the urban bike rental scheme contemplated by the Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan – that should read ‘the summary of the Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan’ (A Member: Draft.) ‘draft’ – including information as to when such a scheme will be available?

1850

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 134 and 135.

Clerk: Question 134, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Minister for Transport say whether the Government has now formulated plans for the delivery of an urban bicycle rental scheme or whether they will be resurrecting the GibiBikes?

Clerk: Question 135, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Minister for Transport say if Members of the original GibiBike scheme will automatically be registered as members of a new urban bicycle rental scheme, whatever shape that may take, in the future?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the Government has no plans to resurrect the ill-thought out and so badly rushed GibiBike scheme, which has been a huge GSD waste of money for our community.

However, the Government is looking into the possibility of introducing a new, well-thought out, unrushed and value-for-money bicycle rental scheme. We are therefore looking at all the commercial options that are available in that respect.

1875

At this point, I am not in a position to provide any further details. If such a scheme will be introduced, we would welcome back all the members of the original and ill-fated GibiBike scheme. However, a decision as to whether registration will be automatic cannot be taken at this stage.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I welcome the answer by the Minister inasmuch as he says that there will at some point – nobody knows when – be a GibiBike equivalent urban bicycle rental scheme.

I do, however, have to disagree with the premise that it was a GSD failure that the GibiBike scheme became as problematic as it did. At the time there were many questions and answers across this floor –

Mr Speaker: Now you have made your point. You said and that you disagree, but we are not going to debate that.

1885

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker –

Mr Speaker: We are not going to go into detail in debating – you have refuted the point –

1890

Hon. S M Figueras: Grateful, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: – that has been made about a waste of money, so leave it at that and now you go on.

Hon. S M Figueras: Grateful, Mr Speaker. Yes, happy to, Mr Speaker. I am grateful for the guidance. In relation to the urban bicycle rental scheme that the Government is looking at, I note that he says that the automatic registration of members will not be possible.

Is there any indication at this stage of whether the integration of that urban bicycle rental scheme in terms of locating it close to bus stops, which is something I saw in one of the images in the draft, in the summary of the draft Sustainable Traffic and Transport Plan, will be more or less a la GibiBikes in terms of having it close to bus stops, as they were intended to be when the scheme rolled out to the South District and other areas, which in the event it never did?

1905 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I think I heard the hon. Member say that I had said that it will not be possible to automatically register persons – if that is what he said then I need to correct his view because I said that at this moment in time, a decision as to whether registration would be automatic cannot be taken at this stage. So just to correct that point in case I misheard.

Now again, Mr Speaker would not wish me to go back and debate why the bikes were so good or so bad or whatever. Clearly the public at large knows whether they were good or bad and why they did not survive.

1910 Anyway, in order to be able to – which is part of the question – in order to be able to, resurrect the GibiBikes you would need nothing close to a miracle really, because in order to resurrect these bicycles is just not possible. The bicycles had serious issues with the locking mechanisms, they had issues with bikes which were stolen as a result of their faulty locking mechanisms, which would have been fine as long as the locking mechanisms could have been repaired or spares could be bought or they could be upgraded. But 1915 then, the company was not there to be able to deliver on spares, on service and so the bicycles just died a natural death. So unfortunately that is GibiBikes and many of these bikes are lying in the bus depot as a carcass of rotted metal, which is a shame, because it was a huge expense to the Taxpayer at the time.

Now the Government's idea is that Government is looking into potential schemes because as I said earlier, in most modern urban cities, bicycle sharing systems do work. They are not profit making schemes 1920 as the hon. Members knows, so care has to be taken that at least if we are going to invest money in a scheme that it stands the test of time, which unfortunately the others did not. So that is imperative.

Whether the racks will be close to the bus stops or not, well if you think about the size of Gibraltar, there are bus stops very close to each other so these racks will be close enough to bus stops. They will be very much within walking distance or a stone's throw away from buses. Whether they will appear like the picture shows which is the bus stop which has a rack right beside it, whether it will be that configuration or slightly apart, well again these are just ideas.

The idea of the document was to charge people's views on the plan and they can come back to us with ideas. It was meant to be a plan, a document which would see how people thought and get them interested and get them debating and saying well this is really bad or this is really good or this will work or this will 1930 not work. I think the plan has done that, I think... the closing date is tomorrow, I think people have been interested either way, whether they are interested because this will affect them or interested positively or whether interest because it will affect them negatively.

I think everyone loves the idea of a traffic plan as long as it does not affect their immediate vicinity and I think people have said and even NGOs have stated, we have to wait and see how things go. There has got 1935 to be a series of pilot schemes and I think the plan has done that. It has created a lot of interest, a lot of comments. Some have been negative, some have been positive; some people have written objective pieces on the plan in very much detail which Government really appreciates. I have actually gone through it section by section, so I think the Government has achieved what it set out to do.

Now it will be a time to look at all of these, reflect upon all the ideas and come up with a plan which is well balanced and for the good of the whole community in every respect to try and encourage people to stop 1940 using their vehicles as often, to use the excellent bus service that we have, eventually to hopefully use a bike scheme when we are able to decide on how to proceed on that, encourage walking and all the other methods which include sustainability to.

So as I said, this plan is a plan in progress. I know it has taken time and the hon. Member has been really enthusiastic, he has been positive – so much so that he did say publicly that if they ever took office in 1945 the future they would not bin it. Of course they would not because I truly think it is a great plan.

So as I said, if the hon. Member just gives us the gift of that extra time, we are almost there now and then all these things will be revealed in due course.

1950 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Hon. Minister and there is only one more question. But what I would say is that of course I understand that a certain amount of artistic licence has to be given in the production of illustrations and diagrams in the plan. There is one in the plan of a lady riding a moped on Zoca Flank in a bikini not wearing a helmet. So we are perfectly happy to allow them the artistic licence you need to give in these instances, Mr Speaker.

1955 Also to touch upon a point that he has made which I think is very important and one which I have made publicly but which I wish to make here in this Parliament. Mr Speaker, our approach to these things will be very different to theirs. We will not, if elected to Government this year, take that plan and rubbish it just because it is not our plan. That is not how we do things and that is not how we will do things if we are entrusted with the stewardship of this community this year.

1960 What I would ask, what I would ask the hon. Member is whether he can say whether he has any regrets that this investment that they are looking at and there is no account of how much that could be, but certainly 1965 in the context of the very, very many and splendid investments being made by this Government in projects for the better of the community at large, whether perhaps this might not have been one of those projects which the Government could have taken under its wing at an earlier stage, as soon as it had identified that the GibiBike scheme was not going to exist for much longer, in order to continue to reap the benefits of the interest and the commitment of so many users who were coming to GibiBikes in their droves?

1970 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, yes the Government could have just as they did, got rid of the GibiBike scheme and started looking for another scheme but again, we have the main issue of public perception of cycling in Gibraltar, which we spoke about initially. For us to place a new scheme to replace the old without looking at the actual real reasons why perhaps the bicycle scheme would never be used by people... I do recall that people would use it from the frontier to 6/7 Europort and from the frontier to Waterport Place. Those were the most common routes because people who came to work who lived across the border would use them.

1975 I know that they were popular for the short life they had within that route, but people, I do not think – I may be wrong as I was not there at the time, but I do not think that people... If they are worried about cycling in Gibraltar and the perception is that it is not entirely safe, I do not think any bicycle scheme would encourage people to just take up cycling.

1980 As I said, but once we have segregated bicycle lanes, hopefully which is what we are looking at which is part of the Wellington Front Project then people I think will start realising that cycling can be another way of moving from A to B even if it is just through leisure, it does not have to be a form of transport but encourage people through leisure to use these bicycles, keep people fit which is another reason why people walk or cycle, not just to get cars off the street, it is also to become healthier people.

1985 I do not think, personally, that at the time it would have been a good idea to have scrapped one scheme and replaced it with another because one did not work and this one would have. I think when we are ready and I think when people are ready, I think it is something which we definitely need to explore.

1990 Now, when I mentioned that the hon. Member was looking at the plan with a fine tooth comb, I have got excellent vision, I have got very, very good vision, but I would need a magnifying glass to see whether the lady driving her bicycle on Zoca Flank is wearing a bikini or not. It just goes to show how in-depth the gentleman has gone into the plan just to be able to make useless comments or comments which do not really mean much in terms of, it is not a comment which is constructive in any way; it is just a little... I do not want to use a rude word, just a little... you know. So anyway it just goes to show my perception of what the hon. Gentleman has been doing with the plan.

1995 So as I said just to round off, in essence first let us correct the perception of people, let us encourage people, let us make cycling safer in the perception of people and once we do so, once we have our segregated bicycle lanes, then let us invest in a scheme in a system of the rental bikes perhaps which would also explore, which we do need to explore, because the previous scheme only rented bicycles, but they never thought I think anyway of renting helmets because that would have been the cherry on the cake I suppose because people can use a bicycle but not wear a helmet. There is no law that says you have to use a helmet. Now whether we want to or whether we do not want to, that is a different story. Will people encourage that or will it be another thing to carry around.

2000 But again, we need to look at everything and the Government will be looking at a scheme which works throughout.

2005 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, the Minister betrays his fragility when he touches upon once more just an amusing side comment that I made in relation to the plan in terms of artistic licence and that is where I am going to leave that point.

2010 I am going to say, Mr Speaker, that we are going to have to agree to disagree on the popularity of the GibiBike scheme because I recall asking in this House, Mr Speaker, questions in relation to the numbers of people who were signing up to the scheme when it was already in full scale descent to detritus and the numbers of people signing up were still significant because there were a lot of people depending on that scheme.

2015 Now, we will agree to disagree on the point of whether it was a good idea to just take one scheme and replace it with another one which was not beset by all the difficulties and problems that the first one was. But what I will ask the Minister now, Mr Speaker, is a question which I think arises from the answer and which I think needs to be answered to do away with any kind of ambiguity. That is, whether there is any question whatsoever, that an urban bike rental scheme will at some point return to Gibraltar?

2020 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, Government is looking positively at it, very positively at it. It is something which, as I said, all major cities have. I personally think it is a good idea, As the hon. Member said, there were people who signed up for the scheme but I think it is very different, I think when a new scheme comes up and something different arises, I think many people are keen to sign on. We have to really analyse and what should have been analysed is what the use was after that. As I said when something new turns up it is a great idea, you go and you sign up. Whether you then use it or not is a different issue.

Hon. N F Costa: May I?

Hon. P J Balban: Yes, please do, yes.

2030

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, if I may, my hon. Friend is being far too generous. He should not accept the premise of the hon. Gentleman's questions. The GibiBike scheme did not –

Mr Speaker: No, out of order. The hon. Member is out of order.

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, I am answering the premises of his question –

Mr Speaker: No, I will not allow it, the question –

2040

Hon. N F Costa: – which relates to the GibiBike scheme, and I was the Minister responsible for the GibiBike scheme for three years.

Mr Speaker: I am sorry, the Hon. Minister will sit down because the questions have not been addressed to him. In the last three quarters of an hour to an hour, we have been dealing with cycling, and it does not involve –

2045

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman gave way to allow me –

Mr Speaker: To who?

2050

Hon. N F Costa: To me, the hon. Gentleman –

Mr Speaker: He had no business to give way to you – what for?

Hon. N F Costa: Because I am answering –

Mr Speaker: He has answered the question –

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman has not answered the question because he is leaving out an important part, which is the part that I wish to address to the hon. Gentleman, which is a very simple one.

The hon. Gentleman keeps making the implied criticism in everything that he asks, that we have allowed the GibiBike scheme to deteriorate and as I explained to him, during the course of the last three years, that was not the case. There was no intentional policy of allowing the GibiBike scheme to come to nothing. The GibiBike scheme collapsed because it was a rushed through, ill-thought out, completely inadequate scheme for Gibraltar. That is the answer.

2065

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q136/2015
Adult cycling proficiency courses –
Potential introduction

Clerk: Question 136, the Hon. S M Figueras.

2070

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport say, and I think I know the answer already, whether the Government is contemplating the introduction of adult cycling proficiency courses?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

2075

Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, if the hon. Gentleman knows the answer, why ask the question in the first place, but I will go ahead and answer. It is the comments which are totally unnecessary, I think and they do not help in any way. (Several Members: Ooh!) (Interjections)

2080 Mr Speaker... (Laughter) Well, it adds some fun to this, otherwise it gets a bit boring.

Mr Speaker: May I call hon. Members to order. This is a serious business. Let's get on like adults, that we are responsible persons, please. (A Member: Hear, hear.) Anyone would think that only children sat here.

2085 Now answer the question, please.

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the RGP currently conducts cycling proficiency courses for young people, particularly with children at school and numerous different social organisations. This also includes HM Government of Gibraltar GSLA summer sports programme.

2090 The RGP have offered cycling proficiency courses to adults before, but this was a programme for people with disability needs.

As part of a plan to encourage a greater take up of cycling in Gibraltar, we will continue to work closely with the RGP in this regard.

Q137-138/2015

Buses –

Full specifications of old and new

2095 Clerk: Question 137, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: We will be moving along a bit more swiftly now, Mr Speaker. Can the Minister for Transport provide full specifications of the old Dennis buses, including but not limited to engine type, size, number of cylinders, power output and all other technical specifications available for these vehicles?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 138.

Clerk: Question 138, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport provide full specifications of the new buses, including but not limited to engine type, size, number of cylinders, service intervals, power output and all other technical specifications available for the new buses?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, in answer to Question 137, although those buses were ordered by the previous Administration when they were on this side of the House, I shall be happy to oblige.

The technical specifications of the Dennis Dart buses are as follows:

Engine type: Cummins

Make (trade name of manufacturer) Dennis Dart

Cylinder capacity: 3,900 cc

Number of cylinders: 4

Propulsion: Diesel

As to the answer to Question 138, which is exactly the same answer but for the new buses, the technical specifications for the new buses are as follows:

2125

Engine type: MAN

Make (trade name of manufacturer) Man-Caetano

Cylinder capacity: 6,871 cc

Number of cylinders: 6

Maximum net power: 213 KW

2130

Propulsion: Diesel

Service intervals: The manufacturer's first vehicle maintenance interval is recommended at 4,000 kilometres. As of yet, the vehicles have not reached such mileage.

Hon. S M Figueras: I am grateful, Mr Speaker, so the new buses are diesel like the old buses were.

2135 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the new buses are...yes, I said propulsion of both these buses were diesel.

2140 Hon. S M Figueras: I am grateful, Mr Speaker, can the hon. Member just very quickly – and I do not have too many supplementaries on this issue – say whether the new buses have yet required a service of any kind in terms of their maintenance, not a regular service in terms of maintenance, anything that is not routine?

2145 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, at present, as I said, the service interval has not been reached yet, at 4,000 kilometres the buses will need to undergo their first service. Apart from that, the buses have had certain things checked which are I believe the ramps had to be checked, but again, if you actually give notice of that specific question then I can get more details for him. What I have based this question on is actually the characteristics of the engines, plus the service and the oil changes, filters etc. but no more than that.

2150 Hon. S M Figueras: I am happy to give notice of the question but just to clarify what I was asking for, was whether anything out of routine service had needed to be done on the buses, which the Hon. Minister says in relation to the ramps, but I will give notice of that question. I believe my learned and Hon. Leader of the Opposition –

2155 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, yes. Perhaps the hon. Gentleman cannot answer this question; it arises out of his answer, the answer in relation to maintenance, and also a question that I asked the Hon. Minister Costa in December of last year about maintenance.

2160 Has the Government now concluded a contract for the maintenance of the new buses which was still pending in December of last year when I asked this question of the Hon. Minister Costa? If it has, can he identify who has been awarded the contract in relation to the maintenance? If he cannot answer it because he needs notice, I will ask it next time round.

2165 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I would rather he ask the question next time round and I will have a fuller idea of the reply plus supplementaries to that because as I said, I do not think that has been concluded yet. But I really need notice of that question because obviously it will lead to other supplementaries and I would rather be fully informed by my team before I engage in that sort of debate on that question.

Bus drivers merging onto Rosia Road – Resolving difficulties at Red Sands Road

Clerk: Question 139, the Hon. S M Figueras.

2170 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport say how he has dealt with the difficulties experienced by bus drivers merging onto Rosia Road from Red Sands Road at the southern end of Rosia Road?

2175 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, an application was made to the Traffic Commission for the placing of a mirror opposite the bottom of Red Sands Road. This application was approved and the traffic mirror was subsequently placed.

2180 I am glad to report that the issue has now been resolved.

Q140/2015
Safety of red buses –
Works on Europa Road

Clerk: Question 140, the Hon. S M Figueras.

2185 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport detail the works carried out to ensure that Europa Road is safe for the recently acquired red buses to travel along it?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

2190 Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, no physical works have been carried out to Europa Road as these have not been deemed necessary at this moment in time.

2195 The whole of Europa Road has, however, been assessed by HM Government Engineers, in conjunction with a firm of specialists Geotechnical Engineers. The assessment has included detailed surveys of the road using ground penetrating radar and intrusive bore holes to allow stability analysis checks to be carried out on the existing walls.

The conclusion of the assessment is that Europa Road can safely carry the weight of the newly acquired buses and a programme of monitoring is currently in place.

Q141-143/2015
Buses–
Increasing service levels

Clerk: Question 141, the Hon. S M Figueras.

2200 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport say when the pilot scheme for an evening bus service will commence?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

2205 Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 142 and 143/2015.

Clerk: Question 142, the Hon. S M Figueras.

2210 Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Minister for Transport say to what extent the bus service will be increasing the level of its service and whether or not the Government is looking to acquire more buses?

Clerk: Question 143, the Hon. S M Figueras.

2215 Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Minister for Transport say what changes the Government is making to the layout of the buses and at what cost?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

2220 Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the modifications that are going to be carried out to the buses is to modify the steps to lower the height of the steps.

2225 The estimated cost of this modification is €4,912. Although the new buses conform to EU approved standards, on-site meetings with the Senior Citizens' Associations, Social Services, Disability Groups and the Occupational Therapists were undertaken to better assess their accessibility. In view of the findings it was decided to modify the steps by adding one extra step.

2230 With regard to the evening bus service, there is no definite date for the introduction of this pilot scheme. All the administrative arrangements for such a scheme are currently being studied, which includes routes, timings and pricing etc. The Government will make an announcement in due course.

As part of the STTPP there are proposals to establish new bus interchange hubs. This would create more travel opportunities aimed at co-ordinating bus timetables more efficiently and minimising waiting times between services.

2235 The Government will also be looking at the possible introduction of new ribbon routes which will run at a lower level of frequency of the normal bus routes but would provide connections to key destinations like the hospital. In addition, the Government is looking to acquire more buses to service the Upper Town area.

2240 Hon. S M Figueras: I am grateful for the answer, Mr Speaker. Can the Minister for Transport say whether it is this intended investment in new buses that has promoted the insertion into the plan of reference to the possibility of starting to charge for the bus service at some date in the future?

2245 Hon. P J Balban: No, Mr Speaker. As I said when the consultants quizzed people and they went out on their surveys, some comments came back – in fact they were surprised by the amount of people who said ‘why should people not pay for the bus?’, people said why have a free bus service? They were keen, people thought it would increase the value of the service somehow, so as part of the... This is a perfect example, as I said before, it was something which could have been omitted because it could well be contentious because it is very easy to say, ‘Well if you are going to be charging, we want whatever.’ But that is not the point, the point was to show what people’s views are and we were surprised that we found quite a few people said ‘Why not pay for buses? Why should it be free? It is costing the Taxpayer a lot of money to have these buses, why can’t people contribute when they are using them?’

2250 Hon. S M Figueras: And you know, Mr Speaker, this is the reason why I have raised it in such a neutral fashion because genuinely the plan has been conducted in the way that it has and this is the kind of feedback that Government and the consultants have received, then fair enough, Mr Speaker, you cannot say anything other than that.

2260 However, Mr Speaker, I would say and I would perhaps caution the Minister, that it strikes me that if I were a bus user, if I were to use the bus every day to rely on it for commuting and I found that in the mornings when, as the plan says, the buses are full to the brim and often buses will go by because they are full and there is just not enough capacity, that as a bus user answering questions about the bus service, I may well be inclined to say, ‘Actually, why don’t we charge so we have less people on the bus?’ and frankly –

Mr Speaker: Charging does not arise from any of the three questions.

2265 Look, I did allow the Minister to reply to a question when I should not have allowed it. I allowed the question, I allowed the Minister, hoping that the Minister would just say yes or no, to give a short answer, and now you are no longer dealing with the subject matter of the three questions. You are now dealing with a question of charging, which is a totally separate issue.

2270 I have been liberal, I have allowed people to ask, I have allowed the Minister to give a short answer, but for heaven’s sake, you must not elaborate now and have a debate on whether people are going to pay for the bus service or not!

2275 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the guidance and I am happy to leave the issue there and bring it up in a question next month. But only to say, Mr Speaker, that it only arose in the context of the additional cost for acquiring more buses and covering that cost. I thought it was a convenient point to bring it together. So that, Mr Speaker, was the reason why I raised it, in the context of the Minister saying we are going to acquire more buses and therefore there was a cost that was going to be covered and the Minister himself did very helpfully provide – and it arises from the plan – a very full answer to which I thought a quick supplementary was appropriate.

2280 If it is the Chair’s view that it is not appropriate, then I am certainly happy to move on.

Mr Speaker: The Chair... I allowed him to answer, conscious as I was of the fact that the supplementary did not really... I thought well fine, let the Minister... He gave a reasonable answer, short, to the point. That should be it, I would imagine. We must not elaborate and now have a debate on something that does not even arise.

2285 So on the one hand I am liberal and I allow it, and then...

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I will raise it as a separate question in next month’s meeting of Parliament, but I believe that the Hon. Leader of the – 2290 Mr Speaker: ‘What is the Government’s policy about people paying for the buses?’ That is the question. Why not...?

2295 Hon. S M Figueras: But, Mr Speaker, the point that I was getting to, Mr Speaker, but unfortunately I was unable to get to the point, was that there is a concern on this side of the House that consultation, good though it is, can if not tempered by the expertise and the knowledge and experience of the consultants on board and the Minister's own Department's guidance and leadership in this context... I was giving an example of how perhaps the responses might be skewed one way or another and how we needed to guard against being guided by those in a way that might not be representative.

I am happy to leave this issue for discussion by way of further questions next month, but I do believe that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has a supplementary to ask.

2300 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, before I ask the question, I have to declare an interest, in that I live in the Upper Rock and under the Rules I need to declare that.

2305 But it arises out of Question 142 and the increase in the levels of service and I wonder whether the Government has thought about introducing a bus service for the Upper Rock. I will tell you why I am asking, there have been a number of people in the Devil's Gap area and also further down, the Bruce's Farm area and we are talking about 20 something families up there, asking me as to whether there are any plans in relation to the introduction of a bus service there that then links with Moorish Castle and Calpe on the way down.

I just wondered whether the Minister can provide some information in relation to that if he has any?

2310 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, as far as I am aware, this is the first I hear of a proposal in that respect. It has not come across, as far as I am aware as part of the consultation period, or even as part of your comments on the traffic plan, no-one has raised that.

2315 I would not like to speculate, as there are just a few families up there and I think we have to very careful. I do not think we can provide a bus service everywhere in Gibraltar because there is no need or there has been no demand and obviously it is difficult but again if it is something that is popular with people in the area, Government will look at everything that is proposed for sure. Then we will weigh up on whether that decision, on what the usage is.

2320 If the hon. Gentleman would like to make that as a proposal, we welcome that sort of thing. But again, I have not heard any comments; they have come to see you, but not me or the Government.

Q144-158/2015
City centre traffic –
Government's plans

Clerk: Question 144, the Hon. S M Figueras.

2325 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport say if it is in fact the case that it plans to exclude all non-public service, non-eco-friendly traffic, from within the city walls?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

2330 Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 145 to 158.

Clerk: Question 157, the Hon. S M Figueras.

2395 Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Minister for Transport say how the Government expects to monitor and maintain appropriate levels of enforcement of traffic laws in Gibraltar?

Clerk: Question 158, the Hon. S M Figueras.

2400 Hon. S M Figueras: And finally, Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport say what the Government means when it refers to 'longer term plans' in the summary of the draft Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan?

2405 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the draft Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan does not suggest exclusion of non-public service or non-eco-friendly vehicles within the city walls.

At present, Government has no specific plan to provide dedicated parking spaces for micro-cars in and around the city centre, but doing so in future is not necessarily discarded.

Mr Speaker, the draft Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan identifies pilot schemes which will be introduced along Linewall Road and Waterport Road. They will operate on a pay and display basis as is already the case in a number of areas around Gibraltar. An announcement will be made in due course.

The Government is not contemplating the introduction of a congestion charge for Gibraltar at present and there is no mention of this in the draft summary document of the Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan.

The plan makes recommendations aimed at encouraging shared car usage to reduce the number of vehicles on our roads. These recommendations will be fully considered at the end of the public consultation period. However, there are no plans at present to license a social car-sharing scheme in Gibraltar.

Mr Speaker, the traffic and parking arrangements introduced in the area of St Joseph's School are part of a pilot scheme launched under the draft Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan. This pilot scheme and others to follow will be constantly monitored. At present, the RGP who are on site are also monitoring the scheme on the ground and will relay any concerns, or otherwise, to the Ministry as they see fit.

2425

In moving on, Mr Speaker, the draft plan states that residential parking zones have met with support in principle from stakeholders. Further engagements with the tenants' association and residents will now ensue in order to proceed with the pilot schemes in given areas, which will help address the serious misgivings of the residential parking scheme as laid out in the integrated Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan, such as the lack of provision for visitors, carers and commercial vehicles. At present it is not possible to advise on the exact extent and number of zones that might be introduced.

2430

The plan also incorporates a number of proposals to develop a new bus network for the use of core routes supported by ribbon routes. The introduction of one such ribbon route around and outside of Waterport Terraces was shown on the plan as a possibility. Work on core routes and ribbon routes is still ongoing. This, Mr Speaker, is still very much work in progress.

2435

With reference to the Trafalgar Interchange, micro-simulation modelling has been used to examine and review concepts and proposals for different areas of the transport network. These have been used to develop the draft Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan and once the consultation period has been completed and responses taken into account, further work will be required to develop the actual measures. It is, however, expected that these will include the introduction of a new pelican crossing, along Ragged Staff Road as well as changes to the northern area of Alameda Estate to improve pedestrian access.

2440

Mr Speaker, enforcement of traffic laws in Gibraltar are currently monitored by the RGP. Furthermore, there are weekly briefings for the Senior Command on Operation Roadwatch. Offences and Fixed Penalty Notices are issued by the Highways Enforcement Officers. HM Government of Gibraltar will continue to work and liaise closely with the RGP to ensure that enforcement is monitored and maintained to the appropriate levels.

2445

Mr Speaker, in using the phrase 'long term' within the context of the draft Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan, this is to be taken as being a period of between six to ten years and beyond.

2450

In conclusion, Mr Speaker, I am happy to state that consultations with the Gibraltar Taxi Association are presently ongoing to improve the quality of the service to users and any possible changes arising out of these discussions with the GTA will be announced where necessary. The purpose of these discussions are to help improve the service already being provided.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Hon. Minister for the very comprehensive answer that he has given. He has in fact, on this occasion answered I think most of the questions I have asked and the supplementaries will therefore arise out of the answers that he has given, that I have scribbled quickly as he gave it.

In relation to the exclusion of non-public service, non-eco-friendly traffic and congestion charging for Gibraltar, I recognise that those are nuclear options if one can describe them like that. It is perhaps quite appropriate in the sense that they would be the hardest ones for a community of our kind to stomach. However, I mention them in the context of the longer-term solutions in the plan and the reason I ask that particular question, which he has answered by saying six to ten years and beyond, is because it strikes me, Mr Speaker, and unnecessarily this will be a political point, but I give due warning of it, that any revolutionary, any genuinely ground-breaking, gain-changing initiatives contained within the plan – and there are a couple, or three – are contained in the longer term outlook.

Would the Minister agree that the plan, good as it is as I have described publicly and repeat here, does not go far enough in terms of setting out ambitions with clearly set out goals and objectives in terms of the 2470 development within this community of alternative forms of transport such as the personal rapid transit system and ultimately solutions such as congestion charges and anything but eco-friendly traffic being excluded from the city walls, as possibilities?

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, in view of the very long winded prelude, can I just have the question? With all the hon. Gentleman just said, I am lost within... what is the exact question he is trying to ask?

2475 Hon. S M Figueras: The question I suppose, if it can be summarised – it was complex but certainly not long-winded, Mr Speaker (Laughter) – whether the Minister agrees with the assessment that the plan can perhaps be accused of having fallen short in respect of setting clearly defined, long-term goals and objectives and that in doing so, it has failed to seize the opportunity of this momentum that we see in this community, of establishing what perhaps some might describe as lofty goals as something realistic that this community can achieve, including but not limited to, ideas such as excluding vehicular traffic which is non-eco-friendly and non-public service from within the city walls, or a congestion charge – which is not to say that a GSD Opposition would be pursuing that, but certainly I am keen to understand what the Minister's assessment of that is.

2485 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I sincerely struggle with the length of the questions. But I cannot agree, remember as I said before, this is a draft plan and if what the hon. Member is asking for is set times and dates similar to what they had when they wrote theirs out, which was a checklist – in fact I do not recall them having timeframes but I do recall a checklist of things as and when they were being done – I do not think the draft plan which has been produced now for the public deems it necessary to have timeframes of when we are going to do this or when we are going to do that and how long are long term and short term etc. As the plan comes out, as we develop the plan, if the Government feels that there is a need to pinpoint timeframes to these things, we will do.

2490 A lot of these things are dependent upon others so there is a domino and cascading effect and you probably want to do things slowly to give people time to react and respond, time to get used to things. If we do these game changing changes, as the hon. Member is mentioning, people are resistant to change. People worry about change. Again, I do not want to go into St Joseph's, because we have had chance to discuss that, but even minor changes do... People are concerned whatever you do. So I think we have to be very careful how we roll things out, we have to be very clear that things depend on other things and we will need to take this as they come.

2495 So again, I do not agree that at this stage of the plan there was any need whatsoever to set dates because dates need to be adhered to. That is something which is clear and the Opposition will hold us to account if I say by 3rd April we will have this done and it is not done. So at this stage there is absolutely no need in my mind that we should have gone the other route. Again, this is a public document, tomorrow is the closing date, let us see what comes from it and then we will have – within a short period of time hopefully – we will have the full document which will not only include the non-technical part of things which is what we have seen now but will also have the technical details of the plan which some people may be interested in, in learning the statistics and all the research that came as part of the plan.

2510 Hon. S M Figueras: I am grateful for that answer. Moving on, Mr Speaker, in relation to parking and charging for same in the city centre, much as I personally and certainly this party welcomes the initiative because it is clearly one of the strategies that can be deployed in putting – not necessarily putting people off using their cars, but incentivising them somehow to get where they are going somehow else.

2515 Much as that aspect of the plan might be welcome, how does the Minister, if he would be so kind as to answer, juxtapose that with the commitment to free resident parking so colourfully displayed in the general election manifesto in 2011?

2520 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, they are totally different things. A residential parking scheme is where people reside and there necessarily might not be a need to... Let us analyse what the reasons for paid parking are.

2525 I think that you want to charge people to park so that they do not stay there all day, so in areas where there should be a flow of people, there should be a circulation of vehicles like for example the city centre. So if you want to go down to do a bit of shopping or go and have a coffee or you want to meet someone, then if we do not have areas which are dedicated to pay and display for example, people would not move their vehicles so it does not give enough opportunity for everyone to benefit from going into town.

So there are clearly areas which will require some sort of method which will allow people to go in and guarantee a parking and there are other areas of Gibraltar within more residential areas and there may not be a need for pay and display for that reason.

2530 Now, there may also be a need to have combinations of, because as I said initially one of the reason why the previous plan was put on hold, was because there were many, many complaints that emanated from the North District Plan and that was because anybody going to visit a family member or anybody going in that wanted to deliver a plate of food to someone's home could not do so because there was nowhere to park.

2535 So there may be reasons why one may wish to combine areas of free residential parking with a small limited number of visitors parking, which could be controlled or not by way of pay and display, it could be way of signage which says no more than 30 minutes like we have in Waterport Road, there are numerous methods which can be used to encourage people, so that people do not stay with the parking for long periods of time. So that is why I say they are different issues.

2540 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the answer. Again, it flies in the face of the expression in their own manifesto for 2011 of the very good looking but unfortunately never to pass two-tier multi-level underground car park below Commonwealth Park, where the manifesto itself had a signed 'free parking' for residents and the manifesto itself said it would be free for residents of Gibraltar, not for residents of the area.

2545 But moving on, as I am keen to do Mr Speaker, he also mentioned in relation to the question of the St Joseph's School reorganisation pilot scheme, has he now received a significant amount of representations from neighbours in the area and are these representations and concerns being taken into account? In particular, representations from people who frequent the area and are now unable to negotiate the area because they are diverted in another direction.

2550 Could the Hon. Minister please provide us with a flavour of how it is that he is hoping to balance the needs of residents and users alike?

2555 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, referring to our manifesto whereby the hon. Gentleman keeps referring to our underground parking scheme, I must remind the hon. Gentleman that this was always subject to a technical survey. It was something that was placed in our manifesto, but it was always subject to a technical survey.

2560 But the manifesto commitment still holds. We said that we would provide double the amount of parking in that area and this is something which you will be pleased to know will happen. Whether the package whereby the cars are kept is underground or multi-storey or floating in space does not matter. I think that what the commitment is that we will increase, we will double – (Interjection) I am sorry if what I am saying sounds ridiculous, because I think the constant badgering about that, I think is dead and it is ridiculous. This is why I think it requires that little bit of a ridiculous response back just to prove a point.

2565 Now coming to the St Joseph's parking scheme, remember one thing as I told the hon. Gentleman earlier. Yes, there have been complaints by, in fact from members of the public. You will note that there have been numerous complaints from the same people, so if we look at the amount of complaints, there have been up to five, seven complaints from the same individual on different days saying, 'Well this is my complaint for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.'

2570 There are people who are adamant that they do not want this to work because it affects them and as I said, a traffic plan is something which we have to understand will not be popular for everyone. But it is not this Government's intention or any Government's intention for that matter, to do something which is unpopular or something which is wrong or flawed. Everyone is seeking what is right and what will help everyone in the long term. And I have used this example when we were on Viewpoint, when Main Street was pedestrianised originally; the complaints were incredible, I am told. It was viewed that people did not want that, nightlife in town would cease, we were losing a road, etc.

2575 If today you tell people that we are going to introduce cars into Main Street, there would be another uproar about that. So as change comes, people I think need time to settle (A Member: Hear, hear.) so it is not the Government's intention, just because a pilot plan is perhaps being perceived as not working to a certain sector of the community we are now going to turn back and say let us stop that because it is not popular, let us go with this instead and that is not popular either, so let us not do anything because we are going to rock the boat whatever we do.

2580 I think it takes a brave Government to say that we are going to give this time and if it fails in the longer term, then we will have to re-assess. (A Member: Hear, hear.) There are many things that can be done as well because we want this, we want people to come and complain and even say positive things about it because it is only this way that we will be able to see how it works. People are good to complain but they are not very good to say well it works.

2585 You will be surprised that there have been no positive comments from people coming from wherever to drop their kids off there. That would be expected because these people now benefit from areas to be able to drop their kids or their grandchildren off or whatever, it is just the people who are in the area. Now we may have to adapt it, where at the moment there are around 30 spaces which are there for people to come and drop off their kids, maybe we need to bring that down to 15.

2590 Everything is fluid so as I said, we really appreciate the patience of people who live in the area, we appreciate the comments coming through, we will now be able to see clearly what the views are and the Government in due course will take a decision of what will happen.

2595 Hon. S M Figueras: One final supplementary, Mr Speaker and I am grateful for the answer that he has given in relation to that.

2600 Would the Minister, however though, concede that perhaps some more time might have been given to the residents of St Joseph's to assimilate the changes given that they were announced in a summary which was published and was said to go to consultation but then the scheme was effectively, to use quite an unkind word, 'foisted' on the residents within a couple of days? (A Member: Hear, hear.) That is the only point I would make in that regard and would the Hon. Minister perhaps concur that that might be a reasonable view to take?

2605 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I mean I see what the hon. Gentleman is asking and I wonder to myself, if we take too long to do things, we take too long to do things; if we do things quickly, it is done too quickly. (A Member: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks) So it is very difficult to get it right. But I think the purpose of... Remember what we have not done is conducted all our pilot schemes at once throughout the whole area, we have done something quickly just to gauge a response and I think it has been extremely effective because this was the intention of this, we are going to launch the traffic plan, we are going to set this pilot scheme up quickly. Yes, you think, let us give people time to read the document. Well, they had a few days, the plan was out on a Thursday, I think it was, and this happened on a Wednesday so people had a bit of time but we wanted to just throw something out there to see what the response would be and I think in that respect it has been positive.

2615 Now as I said, if we give people more time it is a problem, if we give them less time it is a problem, so I think it is a matter of opinion. You have your opinion and we have ours.

A Member: Hear, hear. (Banging on desks)

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, may I –

2620 Mr Speaker: A very short supplementary I hope.

Hon. E J Reyes: May I please put a short supplementary, Mr Speaker?

2625 Would the Minister for Transport commit himself in this House that he will consult closely with his colleague the Minister for Education? Because in all these arrangements at St Joseph's Schools, and there are two schools there, we are taking into account residents and we are taking into account parents or grandparents who deliver the children, but there has been no mention... and I hope this House reassures the teaching staff of both St Joseph's Schools that their needs, since they have to be in school before the arrival of any pupils to open the gate and for safety reasons, that their needs will also be taken on board in the consultation process.

2630 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, there is plenty of consultation between the Ministry for Transport and the Ministry for Education. We do discuss ideas constantly and especially when it comes to school children: ideas that I may have that I pass to the hon. Member for his opinion, he then sometimes seeks the opinion of the experts who are there at ground level. So yes, Mr Speaker, the consultation not only does it exist but it will continue existing as long as we are here.

2635 Mr Speaker: The House will now recess until 3.00 p.m. this afternoon for Chief Minister's Questions.

The House recessed at 1.08 p.m.

HEALTH, THE ENVIRONMENT, ENERGY AND CLIMATE CHANGE

Q93-97/2015

ERDF Operational Programme 2014-20 – Renewable Energy Action Plan

Mr Speaker: In the absence of the Chief Minister, we are going to proceed with questions to the Hon. the Minister for Health and the Environment.

5 Question 93.

Clerk: Question 93, the Hon. J J Netto.

10 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment say if the Gibraltar Climate Change Taskforce has now finalised the Renewable Energy Action Plan as stated in the new ERDF programme plan and if so, will the Hon. Minister provide a copy to Parliament?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

15 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 94 to 97.

Clerk: Question 94, the Hon. J J Netto.

20 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state from which renewable sources we are currently obtaining 3.1 MW/year of renewable energy as stated on page 5 of the ERDF Operational Programme 2014-20 stating the individual amounts by each source and whether this is produced by the Government or privately?

25 Clerk: Question 95, the Hon. J J Netto.

30 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, given the statement on page 11 of the ERDF Operational Programme in which it states that Gibraltar is an excellent for placing solar and wind production, can the Minister for the Environment say if any wind turbines are envisaged to be erected during this new programme and if so, provide a statement to Parliament?

Clerk: Question 96, the Hon. J J Netto.

35 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment say if we have already had a project that has been partly funded or in the process of being funded through the new ERDF programme. If so, could the Hon. Minister provide details of such?

Clerk: Question 97, the Hon. J J Netto.

40 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment say if the Government or any other organisation working for the Government is likely to obtain any funding from the new ERDF programme as a result of the new power station to be built?

45 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, in answer to Question 93 yes, Mr Speaker. A copy of the plan will be provided electronically during the course of this afternoon.

50 The figure included in the ERDF Programme Report indicating that 3.1 MW/year was being generated from renewable sources was based on a previously estimated forecast base line that Gibraltar would be generating approximately 0.002% of its total electricity requirement from renewable energy sources. The figure should have been correctly expressed as 310,000 kWh per year.

55 Moreover, it should be stressed that the figure used was an estimate since forecasting the actual electrical output from renewables per annum is as difficult – particularly in solar power – as trying to forecast the weather for a whole year.

The actual recorded production of renewable energy fed into the network in 2014 – and this is the first time this has ever been done – was 123,880.5 kWh. With the exception of the solar photovoltaic systems set up in Sir William Jackson Grove and the swimming pool, which are operated by private companies all the remaining sources were produced by the Gibraltar Electrical Authority. The complete breakdown is as follows: the GSLA Swimming Pool – 85,218 kWh; bus stops – 17,798 kWh; King’s Wharf Car Park – 2,706 kWh; the Frontier – 1,503 kWh; various street lights – 601 kWh; Sir William Jackson Grove – 16,054.5 kWh.

60 The Government is currently investigating the feasibility of installing wind turbines in both onshore and/or offshore environments. It is currently not possible to ascertain whether any wind turbines will be erected during the new programme period until all the required assessments are carried out.

65 It is nevertheless the Government’s desire to generate renewable energy from wind turbines by the year 2018 as highlighted in Gibraltar’s National Renewable Energy Action Plan of which a copy, as I said earlier, will be forwarded this afternoon.

70 To date there are no projects that have been partly funded or in the process of being funded under the new ERDF programme and finally, Mr Speaker, there is no present intention for ERDF money to be used in the funding of the new power station.

Hon. J J Netto: Yes, Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Hon. Minister for the information given and also indeed for providing the report I have asked for.

75 In relation to one of the questions that deals with the possibility of introducing wind turbines, I think the Minister said that they were looking at a number of places both onshore and offshore. Could perhaps the Minister elaborate a bit more in relation to the specific areas they are looking as to see whether it is feasible or not, at this stage anyway?

80 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, the wind turbine technology is progressing and now it is increasingly possible to generate a considerable amount of wind energy from smaller plants and also plants that rotate on a vertical access rather than a horizontal access, which obviously means there is no danger to birds which is a concern that I have often had and we have had this conversation before, when the hon. Member opposite was Minister.

85 Therefore, because of the possibility of smaller, non-dangerous wind turbines, there are a number of possibilities in Gibraltar which would have to be assessed from the point of view of the wind and also the visual impact. There are in fact some wind turbines now that almost look like artificial trees and there are a number of locations, possibly the Europa Point area for that sort of thing.

90 As far as offshore wind turbines are concerned, we are beginning a number of studies to ascertain wind velocity and reliability of wind and these would clearly likely be, but this is not a commitment, off the east side of Gibraltar. But it is very early stages yet but because this technology is progressing, it is something that we need to look into for the future.

95 Hon. J J Netto: I am grateful, Mr Speaker. Could the Minister perhaps indicate whether any sort of feasibility study has been provided to the Government and to the Department of the Environment in relation to the possibility of installing some wind turbines at the Detached Mole and in the Upper Rock Nature Reserve?

100 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I will start with the last one. The Upper Rock Nature Reserve to my mind is not a suitable location because of the other types of environmental impact. There have been studies carried out in the past on the Detached Mole and that is one area that one will have to consider. But I recall those studies from quite a way back and those are obviously still there but we are looking at other areas because we know the Detached Mole has other possibilities as well for the future.

105 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, exactly, that is precisely what I was thinking about when I was listening to the exchanges between the Hon. Minister and my colleague Mr Netto, that there are studies that indicate that actually the best place to site wind turbines – and now even more so because you have got these vertical ones that operate almost like a corkscrew technology – is in the Detached Mole.

110 Bearing in mind that the Government – any Government, it does not matter whether it is them or us – will have to have 20% renewable energy by 2020, it does seem to us like a waste of space actually locating the liquefied natural gas there.

115 I have to say that if we were to win the next election that is precisely what we would be looking to use, the Detached Mole, in order to build these wind turbines because it is the ideal location. Does he not agree with me that there are these studies that appear to indicate that that is the best location in Gibraltar for wind technology?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: If the Member opposite were to win the next election, I can assure you, Mr Speaker, that there will be less renewable energy than if I am in the winning team next time. But anyway there we are, I could not resist that one, Mr Speaker. (Laughter)

120 The studies at the time indicate that of the areas studied, the Detached Mole did in fact seem to be one of the best locations. I cannot confirm whether it is the best because my recollection is not as acute as that, it is a little while since I read the report and clearly that is a possibility.

125 At the time I am not sure whether offshore wind farms were being considered, these are obviously very expensive and you have to measure up the investment and the return of that investment and as technology progresses it will be better. So that is a possibility.

I will not comment on the location of liquid natural gas because the final decision on that and where that will go has not been taken and obviously it is not a supplementary to this particular question but it is a supplementary to other exchanges that there has been over the last few days.

130 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, bearing in mind that on this side of the House we have been publishing our policies in relation to a number of areas where in our view, we have been breaking away from past practices of keeping cards close to one's chest and publishing a policy that people can see what the GSD is about and what the GSD is going to be doing if it were to get into Government, well in advance of the General Election, may I invite him to consider this policy that we feel is an attractive one and would help in assisting the Government to meet, any Government, to meet its 20% quota by 2020?

135 It is having a system whereby private residences can plug into the distribution network and incentivise through tax incentives for example, those private residences building say for example solar panels, so that if there is a net production of electricity by the private individual within his home, they can then effectively plug that into the system so that they are net producers of electricity, those homes, and then the Government will give them some kind of credit for example in relation to electricity. Is that something that the Government can consider as a policy and adopt themselves?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I claim some credit for the conversion of the Members opposite to the environmental movement (Laughter) and you cannot deny that. (Interjection)

145 Anyway, Mr Speaker, it is a very good idea but it is not exclusively the idea of the Member opposite. We are in fact currently discussing the question of feed-in tariffs for this sort of initiative. In fact already, there is, as I have said, some solar power being fed into the grid for the first time but these are in Government buildings so obviously there is not the same need for a feed-in tariff. But absolutely, this will probably be rolled out I suspect before the next election, so he will not be able to get the credit for it, whether or not he wins it. (Laughter)

155 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I have to say that I did not know that the Government was thinking of doing this. It seemed to me to be a good idea just based on my reading that other jurisdictions were doing it and I am delighted that the Government has, as it were, decided to adopt this particular policy, which is a policy that we were in fact going to be announcing ourselves when we announce how we would meet the 20% requirement by 2020.

160 Now, Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman has spoken about wind turbines. The hon. Gentleman has spoken and indeed the Government has installed solar panels as well. What other forms of renewable energy does the Government envisage it will be adopting in order to meet this 20% requirement by 2020?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have to be careful because if I give too much away, I may actually be writing the hon. Member's manifesto. (Laughter)

165 The sea is clearly one. As we have announced we have one initiative which is looking at wave energy and we have one or two others and I say one or two because I am not sure whether one of those two is still on the cards in which we are looking at the use of marine currents. The technology there is much newer and it is not completely tried and tested, but we are encouraging developers of this technology to come and use Gibraltar to carry out these tests and we will shortly be carrying out some marine current surveys off the south west of Gibraltar, to see if there is enough to generate electricity from that source.

170 So the wind, the sun and the sea are the three main ones that I think will be applicable to Gibraltar.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I agree entirely with him that those are the three areas. May I invite the hon. Gentleman that perhaps he might meet myself and also the Shadow Minister for the Environment Mr Netto, because it strikes me that this is one of those areas where perhaps – it does not matter what Government or what political persuasion there may be after the next election – that we could do with continuity of policy irrespective of who is in Government. There is an obligation –

175 I will give way to Mr Licudi – do you want me to give way?

Minister for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi): Yes, Mr Speaker, I am very happy for him to give way.

180 I can confirm that there will be continuity of policy, because we will win the next election. (Laughter)

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, thank you very much for that comment. Since the hon. Gentleman was stripped away from his most important portfolios, he has obviously got very little to say. (Several Members: Ooh!)

185 May I return to the main purpose of this supplementary, and it is an invitation to meet with myself and his Shadow on this side of the House, to perhaps try and pool ideas so that there is continuity of policy in terms of the environment looking towards 2020, where there is clearly this requirement for there to be the provision of 20% renewable energy. It is an invitation I make publicly to the hon. Gentleman as a sign of good faith and also as a sign of the constructive politics that we are certainly about, particularly in this area.

190 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have been teaching the Members opposite about the environment for several decades. I have no problem in continuing to do so.

A Member: Hear, hear. (Laughter and banging on desks)

Q98/2015
New power station –
Payments to successful contractor

195 Clerk: Question 98, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, I think we might be less constructive on this question.

200 Mr Speaker, how much has the Government paid the successful contractor thus far, in respect of the contract to build the new power station?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

205 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, no payments have yet been made.

210 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is the reason for that because effectively the Government only has £52 million (Laughter) worth of reserves, Mr Speaker, (A Member: Hear, hear.) and in fact can only borrow another £51 million before it reaches the legal borrowing limit – therefore this Government is yes, skint and does not have the money in order to pay for the £77 million for the power station before the end of the financial year?

215 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker, not at all. The first payment as far as the agreement is concerned is not due until April.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is that pursuant to a request that the Government has made of this particular company that no invoices are submitted until after 31st March because prior to 31st March the Government is skint and does not have the money to pay for outlays of this nature?

220 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the Member opposite will remember that I became Minister responsible for energy two days before we signed the contract so it took me very little time to sort that one out, didn't it?

So the arrangements were made prior to that but I am absolutely certain that this was just part of what was programmed and that the relevance of what the hon. Member opposite has said is just non-existent.

Hon. D A Feetham: And, Mr Speaker, can he confirm that the £77 million for this particular power station and indeed, it is going to be nearer £140 million – actually slightly more than £140 million for a variety of reasons, but let us just concentrate on the £77 million – that the £77 million is going to be paid out of the Consolidated Fund and that no monies that have been deposited by the Government, or caused by the Government from Credit Finance to Gibraltar Investment Holdings Limited is going to be used in order to pay for this particular project?

230

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I would have thought so but I have answered the question. This is a supplementary that I do not think I have to answer but I do not think it is relevant. No payments have been made and the intricacies of how the payments are being made do not fall under my area of responsibility. Therefore I think that should be asked more specifically again on a future occasion.

Q99/2015
Cycling related injuries –
A&E figures for last five years

Clerk: Question 99, the Hon. S M Figueras.

240 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health provide details of the number of cycling related injuries dealt with by the A&E department at the Hospital on a month by month basis for the last five years?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the information is not accessible as it is recorded as a road traffic accident and is not specifically recorded as a cycling accident. So I am not able to provide that information.

250 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, just one supplementary. In the context of everything that we were discussing this morning and we are not going to labour the point at all this afternoon, is looking at the possibility of somehow categorising incidents in that way something that the Government might look at? Thank you.

255 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, on receiving this answer, it became apparent that there are some categories that could be subdivided more greatly. Clearly, we do not want the staff at A&E to spend too much time on recording and less time on treating, but with the advent of the electronic health record and the A&E module is due to come on line in just a couple of months, we are looking at actually being able to key in more categories so that more information will be accessible in the future.

Mount Alvernia balconies –
Safety

260

Clerk: Question 100, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

265 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister responsible for Elderly Care advise whether the newly refurbished balconies at Mount Alvernia are safe and are open for use by the service users and their families?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

270 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, yes sir, the refurbishment of Mount Alvernia balconies and façades received their approval notice and certificate of completion, number 7229, from the Department of Planning and Building Control. The Health and Safety Plan was approved by the Planning Supervisor of Technical Services.

275 Mobile residents and relatives can enjoy the use of the balconies whenever they wish. The balustrades have been designed to a height to maintain safety measures and all risk assessments have been carried out by the Health and Safety Officer.

Presently we are in the process of implementing disabled accessible ramps for balcony access for those in wheelchairs. However, the premises were completed in the 1960s when no requirement for disability was in place and therefore we have issues that are being assessed in order to find the best option for wheelchair users.

280 All balconies have awnings for the summer period which is the best time for residents to enjoy the sunshine and view. Residents are happy that finally they now have a splendid view of the bay, resplendent in the beautiful light of the new dawn that this Government has brought about, (Laughter) as they have previously had the scaffolding blocking their view and making their rooms dull for more than 12 years. (Applause)

285 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, when have these particular balconies been opened for members of the public and also for service users? The hon. Lady has said the summer, but I have been there visiting a relative of mine and I was told that the balconies were not accessible to service users because the Government was still assessing whether it was safe for service users to be able to use them.

290 Now that was in December and those reports are actually coming to us thick and fast and that is the reason why this particular question has been asked. Is he aware that service users are being prevented from going onto those balconies because there is this impression on the part of staff, that it is unsafe and that the Government is looking at safety issues in relation to the balconies?

295 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, obviously a service user with certain conditions like dementia, or whatever, would not be allowed out on their own and unescorted. I have not had this information passed to me, I have consulted my hon. Friend who was previously Minister with responsibility for the elderly and she shares that view.

300 I will, however, be there tomorrow afternoon – I go there as often as I can – and I will myself assess it and attempt to step onto the balcony. If there is that kind of issue I will certainly deal with it right away, but the prepared reply that I have from the officials responsible is the one that I have mentioned, clearly with a little bit of flourish added, and therefore that is the information that I have.

Q101/2015
Abdominal aortic aneurism screening –
Commencement and eligibility

305 Clerk: Question 101, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say when the abdominal aortic aneurism screening will be starting and who will be eligible for it?

310 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Yes, Mr Speaker. The hon. Lady will be very happy to learn that the programme will be launched on 25th February – the prepared answer says 24th but actually it is 25th February – and is due to commence in March. Screening will be for men approaching their 65th birthday.

315 The hon. Lady will no doubt wish to congratulate the Government for this great innovation. (Banging on desks)

Q102/2015
Sponsored Patients Scheme – Review

Clerk: Question 102, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

320

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Very welcome news, the AAA screening.

Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say at what stage the review of the Sponsored Patients Scheme is?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Apologies, Mr Speaker, the actual green paper was not in front of me so I thank the Deputy Chief Minister for loaning me his iPad so that I can reply from here. Oh, it has just been found, thank you. It was buried under other green papers!

Mr Speaker, yes sir, I have this week had what will have been the final meeting of the working group and I now have proposals ready for discussion and approval by Cabinet.

Q103/2015
Consultants' contract –
Negotiations

Clerk: Question 103, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

335

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say what stage the negotiations for the consultants' contract are at?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

340

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, yes sir, the negotiations are at an advanced stage with the final draft contract having just been reviewed by the GHA's legal advisers. It will be presented to Unite for final discussions within weeks.

TOURISM, HOUSING, EQUALITY AND SOCIAL SERVICES

Q104/2015
Cruise liner arrivals –
January 2015 numbers

Clerk: Question 104, the Hon. D J Bossino.

345

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Hon. Minister for Tourism please provide details of the number of cruise liner arrivals for the month of January, 2015?

350

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, two cruise ships arrived in Gibraltar during January 2015.

355

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am simply making a direct comparison to the position as it was last year, I have not had the opportunity of looking at previous seasons and years and to see whether this is a trend and which direction it is going. But certainly, the difference between January 2014 and January 2015 is in effect three less.

360

Does she have an explanation as to why that is the case? Had she prepared that as an expected supplementary from me?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I do have the figures for the expected annual figures which we expect during the course of the year, not just the month, and we have an additional 216 ships expected in 2015, no sorry 216 ships are expected in total which is 35 more than last year.

365 I would like to add to that that passenger numbers will also be up.

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes Mr Speaker, that is the expectation but does she have an explanation as to why there were three less from last year?

370 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, this is a fluid arrangement so companies' itineraries fluctuate from time to time.

Standing Order 7(3) suspended to proceed with a Government Statement

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

375 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I beg to move under Standing Order 7(3), to suspend Standing Order 7(1) in order to proceed with a Government Statement.

Mr Speaker: Those in favour? (Members: Aye) Those against? Carried.
The Chief Minister.

STATEMENT BY THE CHIEF MINISTER

380

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, as hon. Members are aware, the Foreign Secretary, the Right Hon. Philip Hammond MP, is today in Madrid for the purposes of meeting with the Spanish Foreign Secretary Sñr Garcia Margallo y Marfil. I have this afternoon heard from the Foreign Secretary after he has finished his meeting with Sñr Margallo.

385

As hon. Members will also be aware, the Foreign Secretary has in the past months, been embarked on a tour of European Capitals holding talks with all EU partners in respect of EU reform. This visit was part of that tour and included discussion of the Foreign Policy challenges the UK and Spain share, including continuing Russian-backed aggression in Ukraine and the threat of global terrorism.

390

The Foreign Secretary has confirmed that during the course of the meetings with his Spanish counterpart, he also took the opportunity – as we had agreed that he would – to raise the concerns of the UK Government and those of HM Government of Gibraltar.

In particular, the Foreign Secretary raised the issue of the continued incursions by Spanish state vessels into British Gibraltar Territorial Waters which he told Sñr Margallo are illegal under international law and therefore unacceptable.

He also raised the continued delays at the frontier between Gibraltar and Spain.

The Foreign Secretary has also confirmed that he told his Spanish counterpart, as we had agreed, that Spain needs to address delays at the border, which the European Commission has already found to be disproportionate.

400

Further, and also as agreed between us, Mr Hammond raised our joint disappointment at Spain's holding up EU aviation legislation by seeking to exclude Gibraltar, in a blatant further breach of the Córdoba Agreements, which the UK and Gibraltar continue to honour, and are EU law.

Mr Hammond restated our common call for a return to dialogue in order to deal with these and all other issues and matters of mutual interest to people who live and work on both sides of the frontier.

Mr Speaker, the House will be pleased to note that, in that context, the Foreign Secretary reminded Sñr Margallo that the UK remains strongly committed to the Trilateral Forum for dialogue. He also told him that until we can return to that forum, we in the United Kingdom and Gibraltar will continue to work towards ad hoc talks, involving all relevant parties, on issues of mutual interest.

The Foreign Secretary informed me that Sñr Margallo has made a further proposal in this respect today which the Government will now be further considering with UK colleagues.

Mr Speaker, no-one should confuse, or allow anyone else to confuse them into thinking that the raising of the issues about Gibraltar today amounted in any way to a bilateral negotiation about Gibraltar. No such negotiation will be acceptable to the people or Government of Gibraltar and this House.

Indeed the UK, through its Foreign Secretary, has confirmed again today in Madrid, its strong commitment to the Trilateral Forum and its and our hopes to return to that forum whenever possible.

415 As Ministers have already stated, Spain is a key partner for the UK, as it is for Gibraltar, but the UK/Spain bilateral relationship is not as strong as it could be due to recent Spanish actions towards Gibraltar and its people.

Mr Speaker, in that context, the Government is pleased that the position set out by the Foreign Secretary in Madrid is exactly in keeping with what was agreed between us and entirely represents the position of the Government and people of Gibraltar.

420 Mr Speaker, I trust that this statement will assist in informing the House as to the events of today in Madrid. This is what has delayed me from arriving in time for three o'clock this afternoon.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, certainly from this side of the House, 'no to bilateralism, yes to trilateralism' is our policy and has been our policy for over 16 years. So in that sense, Mr Speaker, we associate ourselves with the sentiments expressed by the Chief Minister and we certainly welcome that that is the position that has been made clear by the Foreign Secretary to the Foreign Secretary of Spain in Madrid.

430 But, Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Chief Minister spoke about further proposals being made by Sñr Margallo and I wonder whether in the interests of providing a full statement to this House about the report that has been provided to him of that meeting in Madrid, if he can give us some further information about what that further proposal from the Spanish side entails?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, not at this stage. The Government is considering the proposal made, it has literally just come in and I do not think it is in the interests of the community that without having an opportunity to consider something that we should make a statement about it, it is literally less than half an hour since I have had the benefit of communications from the Foreign Secretary in respect of the subject.

440 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, is he prepared to brief me in private as to the proposal that has been made. I am not asking the Government to comment on the proposal, to say whether the proposal is good or bad, but at the very least for the Government to brief the Opposition on what is that proposal that has been made by the Spanish Foreign Secretary to his counterpart, Mr Hammond?

445 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, as he knows, I am quite happy to brief him in private if he wishes, on the basis of complete confidentiality. We have business to be getting on with now and I will be quite happy to brief him afterwards. That is why this Government is the one that is going to pursue the establishment of the Chief Minister's Consultative Council, to enable that sort of communication to occur, but it will be on the basis of strict and utter confidentiality.

450 Mr Speaker: We will now proceed with questions to the Chief Minister.
Question 181.

CHIEF MINISTER

Q181/2015

Central Register of Ultimate Beneficial Ownership –
Correspondence with UK Leader of Opposition

Clerk: Question 181, the Hon. D J Bossino.

455 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Chief Minister state whether he has received a reply to his letter to the UK's Leader of the Opposition in relation to comments regarding the implementation of a Central Register of Ultimate Beneficial Ownership?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

460 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, yes sir.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I have had the opportunity of reading the Hon. the Chief Minister's letter, I think I saw it posted on Twitter and I have also had the benefit of reading some details in a press release he issued in relation to this point, so I know what he said. But can he give me an indication of what the Right Hon. UK Leader of the Opposition told him in response?
465

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I had various conversations with the Leader of the Opposition since he received my letter, and I think he now understands why it was that Gibraltar felt it was important that he should understand the issues relating to the Central Register, the progress Gibraltar in particular makes together with the United Kingdom and all other 28 member states of the European Union in respect of financial services matters, where we stand on whether such a register should be public or not.
470

Hon. D J Bossino: Do I take it that the reply has not been done formally in writing but by way of telephone conversations? Is that what he is telling me? I have a further supplementary, just that detail.
475

Hon. Chief Minister: Well I do not think there is any formality that is attributed to something which is in writing which is not attributed to something which happens on the telephone or in conversation. It was a formal response to the issues that I put in writing.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, he I am sure will agree with me when I say that this was a matter of crucial importance for Gibraltar and the way that the Right Hon. the UK Leader of the Opposition represented Gibraltar's status with regard to this in particular misstated the position in relation to Gibraltar's position in relation to this matter.

Is there, as a result of those conversations, any possibility of the Labour Party in the United Kingdom, particularly its leader, to retract publicly the statement it has made, at least insofar as it affects Gibraltar's position in relation to this point? Is there any possibility of that happening? I was pretty shocked, I am sure as he was, when – I think it was on a Sunday – the report of this policy was made in the news media in the UK, and Gibraltar featured very much in it when I went through all the different Overseas Territories. I think it did quite a lot of unfair damage in terms of what he said.

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, which part is it that he thinks should be retracted? It is up to you. The hon. Gentleman has asked me whether I think any part of it is going to be retracted. Which part of the letter from the Leader of the Opposition is it that he is asking me there is a chance would be retracted?

If he does not want to answer that to enable me to answer his question it is up to him, but I mean...

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I have asked the question and I expect an answer from the Chief Minister. Certain disparaging comments were made in relation, not just to the Overseas Territories, but Gibraltar within the Overseas Territories, which caused him to come out in I think in Sky News and various other news media outlets to defend Gibraltar's position and made him write a letter, quite a strongly worded letter, to the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I have been asked a question, which was is there a chance that the Leader of the Opposition in the UK is going to retract any part of his letter, and I am saying which part of the letter is it that the hon. Gentleman is asking me is there a chance he will retract?
505

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, generally the statements that he made, the policy statement in relation to the blacklisting of Gibraltar in relation to the OECD. It was a threatening letter which he certainly sent to at least one of the Overseas Territories, published in Twitter, I think by the editor of the Gibraltar Chronicle. I am not sure that the Hon. the Chief Minister received a similar letter to that. I assume he did but I am not sure whether he did, but certainly he threatened that unless the Overseas Territories got their act in order in relation to central registers, he would ask the OECD to blacklist us.
510

In relation to that, I would have thought that if there has been a clarification at least as far as Gibraltar is concerned of its position, that the Right Hon. Gentleman should retract the issue publicly, at least in relation to that specific issue.
515

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, look, I am afraid the hon. Gentleman needs to show this Parliament an element of respect by at least coming a bit more prepared for these sessions.

The letter that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition in the United Kingdom sent to all the Leaders of the Overseas Territories was published in generic form in The Guardian. It was published on Saturday, Mr 520 Speaker, not on Sunday, although I acknowledge that he might not have picked that up until I replied to it, which was during the course of Sunday.

The letter, Mr Speaker, talks not about the issues so much of central registers but much more about the issue of whether beneficial ownership, which is what the central registers are about, will be available publicly if those registers are to be accessed publicly.

525 What the Leader of the Opposition in the UK said was that if within six months of their being elected the territories had not agreed to have these central registers made public, then he would ask the OECD to blacklist those territories.

530 He was not making any allegations, Mr Speaker, about Gibraltar which he could retract, so if the hon. Member looks at my letter, what I am telling the Leader of the Opposition in the United Kingdom is what is wrong with that policy. But it is not something he said about Gibraltar which requires retraction. Of course, as a result of his letter a lot of other people have commented about the Overseas Territories, whether we are tax havens or not and whether the issue of central registers, etc is one that is determinative of whether one is a tax haven or not. But he will have seen that my letter sets out the Gibraltar position.

535 The Gibraltar position is that we will be complying with the Fourth Anti-Money Laundering Directive within the transitional provision provided in the directive, once it is published, and publication is expected during the course of September of this year, with a transitional provision of two years. Now, is he asking me, have I managed to get the Leader of the Opposition to change his Party's policy in that respect? Is that the question?

540 Clerk: Question 182, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Government please state how much it has paid either directly or indirectly, and either in money or benefits, to Joe Carseni since it took office, divided into calendar years?

545 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I now hand the hon. Member a schedule with the information requested.

2015 (up to Feb-15)	£5,105.21

550 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q183-184/2015

Chief Minister's talk in Madrid –

Invitees; associated costs

Clerk: Question 183, the Hon. D A Feetham.

555 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister provide a list of all people invited by Government to his recent talk in Madrid?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

560 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, we are unable to provide the details requested at this time. The information requested requires that all accounts be reconciled.

To date we have still not received – (Interjection) Oh sorry, the first answer, yes. I will answer together with Question 184.

565 Clerk: Question 184, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister provide a breakdown of all costs associated with his recent talk in Madrid, including the cost of accommodation, travel and expenses of anyone travelling with or invited by the Government to that event?

570 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, now, we are unable to provide the details requested at this time as the information requested requires that all accounts be reconciled. To date we have still not received all invoices in order for us to complete this exercise.

575 In any event, Mr Speaker, the information will not be publicly provided. The costs of my travel, however, will be set out in the Government website when available.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister provide a reason why he cannot provide me with a list, first of all, of people that had been invited to this event in Madrid by the Government of Gibraltar and also, secondly, the people that have been paid for by the Government to go to Madrid in order to attend this talk?

580 Surely that information ought to be disclosable by the Government as something for which the Government is accountable for. This is effectively Taxpayers' money which the Government is using in order to invite people to attend this talk in Madrid and he is accountable to this House and I cannot see any conceivable reason why this information is not to be provided to this House.

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, he must not have read a Spanish newspaper in the past few weeks then or is it that he does not know that at every turn, the Spanish Foreign Ministry has been trying to suggest that the opportunity afforded to the Chief Minister of Gibraltar to address a number of prominent people in Madrid – not five or six people; a very large number of prominent people in Madrid – was simply engineered and paid for by the Government of Gibraltar as a stage show.

590 Now, I have been very careful what I have told him. I have told him what I have told him before. I have said I will not give the information publicly, Mr Speaker. Now, of course we are accountable in this House for every penny of Taxpayers' money that we spend. I am quite happy to give him the information and have the discussion with him, Mr Speaker, but it is quite another for me to stand in this House and give him all the information of all the money that we have to spend in Spain, given the hostility that we face from that Government there, in order to be able to get across the message of the people of Gibraltar.

600 I have told him before in relation to another matter and I will tell him again. I am happy to give him the information, but if he does not see that it is not in the public interest of Gibraltar for that information to be, not bandied across the House, it is not just the 17 of us here, but to be made publicly available in order to have thrown in our face, then he has never heard the Spanish Foreign Minister talk about how Gibraltar uses its economic power in order to be able to get its message across.

605 It was something that was done by the previous Administration when they needed to do it in the early part of the last decade when Gibraltar faced the issue of joint sovereignty, it is something that we are having to do today in order to ensure that all of the lies and all of the defamation that there is about Gibraltar does not find itself uncounted in the Spanish press and in the Spanish media and in Spanish public opinion, but we are doing it now.

610 Now, Mr Speaker, he can have the information if he likes behind the Speaker's Chair. I am not suggesting he cannot have it and I was very careful about what I said, I will not make the information publicly available, but I am not, Mr Speaker, going to be persuaded that that is information for which there is any benefit in making public in this House to the world at large.

615 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am afraid that he continuously uses and demeans debates and sessions in this House by constantly playing this particular card every time we ask what is a legitimate question.

Look, unless the Government effectively has engineered an attendance at the Madrid talk, by paying dozens of Spaniards accommodation and subsistence in order to get them to attend, it cannot possibly be an issue, Mr Speaker, the provision of this information.

620 Now in order to make it easier for the Hon. the Chief Minister, well look do not provide me with the information of those in Spain that have been invited at Government expense to attend that Madrid talk, but at least provide me with the information of those who are Gibraltar residents that have travelled to Madrid at public expense for the purpose of that talk. That surely cannot be of any sensitive nature and it would at least allow us to see whether the Taxpayers' money is being properly spent.

625 Because look, if what you have is a situation that out of 100 people attending that Madrid talk, 80 are from Gibraltar and they have been subsidised by the Government to go up to Madrid, then all he is doing is paying for cheerleaders to go with him to Madrid and we would say I am afraid that is not good use of Taxpayers' money.

630 So in order to assist him, I am drawing that distinction and perhaps he can provide me with the information as far as the local contingent is concerned.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman opposite does not care about the national interest of Gibraltar. He has given a mischievous Spanish headline writer two great opportunities to score, or attempt to score a goal against the Government of Gibraltar, which we will not have an opportunity to reply to.

635 The first is: 'Feetham pregunta si Picardo invita a docenas de españoles sin que tengan que pagar sus gastos para su discurso en España' Feetham suggests that the Chief Minister of Gibraltar engineered dozens of Spaniards, all expenses paid, to his talk in Spain. The headline is enough, Mr Speaker, to damage Gibraltar. The headline is enough: he plays directly into the hands of Gibraltar's enemies, Mr Speaker.

640 The next one: 'Is the Chief Minister of Gibraltar paying for cheerleaders to go with him up to Spain, to Madrid?' – another gift to a Spanish headline writer, regardless of what the national interests of Gibraltar may be.

645 Such is his ambition, Mr Speaker, that he does not even see, in an infantile question like this, the potential dangers for Gibraltar. All he wants to do is to score a goal, now Mr. Speaker, on expenses because everything is now about expenses. Mr Speaker, I heard him say a moment ago before I came into the House, that Gibraltar is skint. That is the first time in the history of Gibraltar that a Leader of the Opposition has suggested that Gibraltar is bankrupt – that is what skint means.

650 What will Mr Margallo make of that, what will Mr Margallo make of that, or any one more of our enemies, because even in 1992 and 1996, even at every time when the dispute between this side of the House and that side of the House has been at its worst, nobody has ever suggested that Gibraltar is bankrupt, like he has this afternoon. The absolute irresponsibility of the man is just incredible, Mr Speaker.

655 Look, skint we are Mr Speaker: skint in this House of a good Opposition. Skint of an Opposition that knows what it is doing and skint of an Opposition that discharges its obligations loyally to Gibraltar. Absolutely skint and bankrupt, because what he is telling us, Mr Speaker, is that he wants information which he could have by simply turning on his television and watching the magnificent recording that our media made of that excellent opportunity I had in Madrid to deliver the Gibraltar point of view.

660 He can see who was there from Gibraltar and who was not. He can see, Mr Speaker, that there were not 80 from Gibraltar who were cheerleaders; there was actually a huge majority of people who were Spaniards, leading politicians, Mr Speaker. Not one or two, Mr Speaker. Leading politicians – people who are today in the Parliament, people who are opinion formers, people who speak for their party, not regional or municipal individuals who do not speak for their party. Leading individuals in their party who have restated at last the policy of the party in Opposition to continue committed to the Trilateral Forum. That is the level of achievement that the Chief Minister's speech in Madrid two weeks ago finally delivered for Gibraltar.

665 Not a question of taking cheerleaders anywhere. I do not need to take cheerleaders anywhere, Mr Speaker – thank goodness, I have got supporters in the places that he might least expect!

670 But, Mr Speaker, to hear that the first argument is that Joe Bossano, who has given his life to Gibraltar, Joseph Garcia who has given the past 30 years of his life to Gibraltar, who they used to say were so in love with Gibraltar that they could not be objective when it came to sitting down perhaps with Spaniards and considering talking about our future with them, that we all collectively want to bankrupt Gibraltar... But actually not even want to, Mr Speaker; today we have been told that we have bankrupted Gibraltar because we are skint. That we are going to blow up the whole of the western face of this Rock. And not just Bossano and Garcia, but also Cortes, Mr Speaker, the environmentalist who cared about smoke but is not going to care about a huge explosion that is going to deliver us into the Neolithic age. And that now finally, skint as we are, I am paying for the croissants and orange juices of cheerleaders, Mr Speaker.

675 What a pity that we are so skint of an Opposition in this House.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the Hon. Chief Minister had shown signs that the pressure was getting to him, (Laughter) even before this question and answer session. But that answer demonstrates to me, just 680 the extent to which the pressure is getting to him. It really is proving far too much, he is carrying the office in which he serves on his shoulders. It really is bearing down on him and he cannot take the pressure.

Now, Mr Speaker, he plays on the ambition card. First it was the nationalistic card, now it is Daniel Feetham being too ambitious. I am playing to a Spanish gallery. Well, Mr Speaker, barely a few weeks after we have had the Dr Giraldi Home, where Ministers opposite participated in a programme –

685 Mr Speaker: No, no. The Dr Giraldi Home is a separate matter. There is a motion on the Order Paper and you can say whatever you want in that regard but I am not going to allow you to anticipate that motion.

690 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, absolutely, I think the people of Gibraltar get the drift of where I was going in the light of the comments made by the Chief Minister that we on this side of the House, that we on this side of the House are playing to Spanish galleries. I have not participated in any Spanish television programme, doing the people of Gibraltar down, Mr Speaker. That is the point that I was going to be making.

695 But, Mr Speaker, does he not realise, the Hon. the Chief Minister, that it is actually he, with the way that he has answered this particular question, a fairly innocuous question, designed to deal with, designed to show how much the Government has actually spent on this particular event, but the way that he has answered it, he is giving ammunition does he not realise to our critics in Spain by making a mountain out of a molehill because it looks as if the Government has got something to hide.

700 Now I repeat, Mr Speaker, will he not at the very least provide me with the information of who exactly on the Gibraltar side went to this particular event and at what cost. There cannot possibly be any national interest in the provision of that information and that is a legitimate question, bearing in mind that he is accountable for the Taxpayers' money to this House and that goes to expenditure that the Government is incurring.

705 I will leave for the moment, and he can give me the information behind the Speaker's Chair if he wants to, the Spanish contingent and how much he has paid in relation to that, but surely there cannot be any excuse for the hon. Gentleman not providing me with the information in respect of whom from Gibraltar went to this event at the invitation of the Government and paid for by the Government. That is what I am interested in.

710 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I will happily give him the information, behind the Speaker's Chair. I am not going to give him the information here, publicly. Now, Mr Netto, Mr Speaker has been overheard to use rather unparliamentary language to describe what I am full of. It is just that, the feeling is so mutual Mr Speaker, that perhaps we do not need to understand what the words used were.

715 Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman needs to understand what it is that he is doing. He needs to read a bit more, he needs to be a little bit more concerned about Gibraltar and a little bit less concerned about himself. I heard him say the other afternoon, Mr Speaker, in one of his – I do not know if it was the podcast which they themselves characterised as comedy when they put it up on YouTube or whether it was one of his interviews on GBC, Mr Speaker, that when he talks about things people do not realise the importance initially, but then eventually everybody realises how he has been right from the beginning and he uses an example of public finances.

720 You see, Mr Speaker, he said on Newswatch, 'I am talking about the power station now and you think this is not so important, but eventually everyone will agree with me, as they all – everyone – now agrees with me on the issue of public finances.' Well, Mr Speaker, I do not know where he gets that from! Maybe he is relying on the last poll. We do not comment on polls but maybe he is relying on the last poll that gave him an extraordinary lead of 20% over our 74% if you took out the undecided. But anyway, if that is what 725 he is taking comfort from, maybe that is what he is working out is everybody who agrees with him in relation to public finances.

730 But he needs to read a bit more around the issues because you see, Mr Speaker, on that subject what he was doing in relation to the answer I am giving him about why things matter in Spain and why we should not share them, and why he should be a bit more circumspect when he says things – even things as adventurous as the fact that we might want to be reckless as to whether we blow up the western side of Gibraltar. It is that there is a huge confluence – to such an extent I wonder whether they speak every night, Mr Speaker – between what the hon. Gentleman says and the things that Sñr Landaluce says; what the hon. Gentleman says and the things that Sñr Margallo says when they are criticising the Chief Minister of Gibraltar and the Government of Gibraltar.

735 Sñr Landaluce said recently that the power station, because it was gas and because it was going to be on the area of the reclamation on the North Mole, was a danger to the whole of the Campo de Gibraltar. Now, Mr Speaker, I switch on my television and I see Daniel Feetham saying the same thing.

Mr Speaker, Sñr Margallo says the Government of Gibraltar uses its economic power in order to be able to address the media and the public opinion formers in Spain. Then the Leader of the Opposition in 740 Gibraltar asks me, oh yes, how much of that economic power have you invested in this particular speech? Mr Speaker, look, the hon. Gentleman may want to be Chief Minister more than he cares about Gibraltar – that is obvious to most who are following his political career – but he needs to be a little bit more careful about the way he goes about things.

745 Even, Mr Speaker – let me give him this little tip – even if he were to think, ‘Well actually, maybe if I am saying the same things as Landaluce and Margallo all the time, it may not suit me so much so perhaps I should try a different tack.’

750 So I will give him the information behind the Speaker’s Chair, I will not give it to him otherwise. If he looks at the video of who was in Madrid then he will be able to see for himself. It is, Mr Speaker, available. I thought it was fantastic that it was available to the people of Gibraltar when the Broadcasting Corporation put it on Viewpoint. I think it is available on their website and all he needs to do is sit down and watch it.

755 Now if it is that he cannot bear to hear my voice on television and he does not want to sit and watch the video and does not want to watch the camera pan to show him who was there and who was not, well look, so be it. I will tell him for nothing, Mr Speaker, that the Nueva Economía Fórum provides the orange juice, the croissants, the hot chocolate and the coffee for everyone who turns up. So everyone he sees on camera, he can work out, have their coffee, their orange juice, their hot chocolate and their croissants paid for by the Government of Gibraltar. What more does he need? Why is it so important?

760 Or perhaps, Mr Speaker, it is that he has persuaded himself that we are in fact skint and that we cannot even afford the orange juice. What a pity Mr Speaker, that there might actually be a Leader of the Opposition who fails to understand the economics, the public finances and the reality of Gibraltar to such an extent that he might actually believe that.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, we will see who understands the economics of the public finances of Gibraltar when he and I participate in the debate on GBC, unconstrained by the Rules of this House. And then we will see who understands the public finances of Gibraltar and who does not.

765 Because I have to say, I concluded a long time ago that he certainly does not and that is precisely the reason why his erstwhile leader, the Hon. Minister Bossano, answers every single session of the House, answers questions on the economy of Gibraltar and the public finances of Gibraltar, instead of him. He does not; it is Mr Bossano because he understands them and the hon. Gentleman, the Chief Minister does not.

770 And talking about ambitions, Mr Speaker, and talking about bankruptcy and being skint, was it not the hon. Gentleman that for months before the last General Election was telling the people of Gibraltar that the GSD was addicted to debt, that we were very close to bankruptcy and that they needed a saviour in the form of a New Dawn Government? Well look, he is accusing me of precisely what he did prior to the 2011 election. I do not understand how an earth he can criticise me in those terms when he did it to a greater extent when he was trying to become Chief Minister of Gibraltar.

775 But, Mr Speaker, how – (Interjection) Indeed, he was successful absolutely, his arguments were successful. We will see whether my arguments are successful or not, but that is democracy. But, Mr Speaker, he has talked about how much economic power is used by the Government to invite people from Spain to his talks. He has also said during the course of his answers that in fact this was a very, very successful meeting for him and I am glad that if it was a very successful meeting for Gibraltar, I really am glad.

780 But look, at the end of the day I am entitled to know, and I am entitled to assess that information that he is providing, by asking questions in this House and I just do not understand why he is not prepared to provide me with the information as to how much he has paid for example, a particular trade unionist to go to Madrid in order to listen to his speech. At first blush I do not understand what the benefit of that to Gibraltar is. I can understand the benefit of going to Spain and addressing a Spanish audience and I can understand at a push that he may not want to give me information – I do not agree with it but I can understand it – as to exactly who on the Spanish side had been invited by the Government of Gibraltar – at Government expense, I am talking about – at Government expense, because they might be criticised there.

790 Look, I can understand that argument. But who an earth from Spain is going to criticise Victor Ochello or who or earth from Spain is going to criticise Mr Buttigieg of the Self Determination Group for going with the Gibraltar delegation to Madrid? What I want to know is what the Government has spent in inviting those people – and surely, that is not something that the Chief Minister ought to refuse to provide across the floor of this House.

795 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, so what is next? So he cannot win the debate as he has accepted because he is looking forward to it being a debate unconstrained by the Rules of the House. He cannot win the debate constrained by the Rules of the House because of course the only way that he can win a debate is by saying, ‘You are lying, you are lying, you are lying’ or using another insult. He cannot use that insult here so therefore he wants to have the argument unconstrained by the Rules of the House 800 because I do not find the Rules of the House constraining when it comes to having any debate on any particular issue.

805 But I very much look forward to having the debate on public finances on GBC, not because it will be unconstrained by the Rules of the House but because we might be unconstrained by the timing of the House, the fact that people might not be available to watch us at three or four o'clock in the afternoon and everybody will be watching us at 9.30. Well, 'everybody' – maybe people who might have better interest and may be doing something else, but at 9.30 they might actually listen to the debate and he might not get away with pretending that the Government does not give information, that the Government is pretending to keep things hidden when it comes to public finances etc, because people will see the Government giving the information and debating it with me embodying the Government in that debate.

810 But then if he does not win it unconstrained by the Rules of the House because he will be on television, is it that he is going to say that he wants to win it unconstrained by the rules of human decency and he wants to go outside GBC and have a slap up, like he challenged the Hon. the Father of the House to do at the beginning of the lifetime of this Parliament? Why does he have to be – ?

815 Hon. D A Feetham: A Point of Order, Mr Speaker.

Hon. Chief Minister: Why does he have to be... Why does he have to be... Let me finish the phrase, let me finish the phrase –

820 Mr Speaker: A Point of Order.

Hon. D A Feetham: On a Point of Order. Mr Speaker, he has to make himself responsible for the accuracy of the information that he provides to this House.

825 I never challenged the Hon. Mr Bossano; Mr Bossano challenged me to the Antechamber, so it was the reverse.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do not accept that. I believe that the hon. Gentleman challenged the Hon. the Father of the House to a mano a mano and this is very simple: he can just go into Hansard and he can look at what he said at the time, whether he likes it or not.

830 I know that he hates, Mr Speaker, (Interjections) I know that he hates Hansard, Mr Speaker, that little liar that reminds him of the truth, that little chivatito that reminds him of the things he used to say, (Interjections) that little chivato that does not lie, Mr Speaker!

Mr Speaker: Order! Order!

Hon. Chief Minister: Of course I know he hates to be told about Hansard, but it is all in Hansard, Mr Speaker.

So I do not fear a debate constrained or unconstrained by the Rules of the House because in a proper debate, the Rules actually help to get to the nub of the issue.

840 But, Mr Speaker, why is it that the Hon. the Father of the House answers questions that he puts about the debentures issued by the Gibraltar Savings Bank, etc? Well there was a small matter of a Government reshuffle, Mr Speaker, in the early weeks of December last year, where the Hon. the Father of the House took specific ministerial responsibility for the Gibraltar Savings Bank. Mr Speaker, that is why he now answers those questions.

845 Perhaps, Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition was not alive to that and he might still be calling us by our old ministerial names. Mine still happens to be Chief Minister; the Hon. Minister now includes in his title the words 'Gibraltar Savings Bank'. That is why he answers those questions, nothing to do with competence. But of course, the hon. Gentleman has to always comment on people's competence because he cannot talk about issues, he has to comment about competences.

850 Well, Mr Speaker, you know it is not unlike what his predecessor used to be, it is the one thing which he is actually, quite remarkably similar to Sir Peter, when Sir Peter was Chief Minister. Because as Chief Minister, Sir Peter spent a lot of time telling me that I was unfit to govern. Well, Mr Speaker, people took a different view.

855 He just commented on my competence and this is not a place, Mr Speaker, where we come to comment on each other's competence. We should come to look for information and to comment on information and give our opinions on information. But look, given that what is good for the goose is good for the gander and he likes to comment on my competence, I will tell him one thing and he will be very happy to hear me. He will be very happy to hear me on this because I am going to actually credit him. I used to think, Mr Speaker, that he was quite an unbalanced individual but I am clearly wrong, Mr Speaker. He has got a chip on both shoulders, Mr Speaker, not just one. Whether it comes to ambition or whether it comes to his ability to understand public finances, he has got enough chips that he cannot be unbalanced – he has really managed to get that exactly right, 50/50.

865 Mr Speaker, I did not spend the run-up to the last General Election saying that Gibraltar was bankrupt and as ever, Mr Speaker, the devil is in the detail, something that perhaps the hon. Gentleman does not have the time these days to try and look at. All I did in the run-up to the General Election, Mr Speaker, was take the language that had been used by the GSD in 1996 and say to the then Chief Minister, Sir Peter Caruana, this is what you said in 1996 and if we apply the same standard, although we did not share your view in 1996, look at how things have developed.

870 Now if only he had looked at that level of detail, he might not have made the monumental mistake he has made today and it will come back to him as a monumental mistake eventually, Mr Speaker, to be the only Leader of the Opposition, in fact probably the only Gibraltarian politician in our history, to say that our community, that our country, that our nation, our public purse and our exchequer is bankrupt. Nobody has ever said that before until he got up here just before I arrived and said we are skint and that is why you cannot pay for the power station.

875 But never mind, there is, not on this Order Paper but shortly to come on an Order Paper, a Bill known as an Appropriation Bill on which we can have a debate which will demonstrate that he is absolutely wrong.

880 Mr Speaker, he talks about the trade unions and Victor Ochello. I am surprised that a man of his socialist convictions should be picking Victor Ochello out for criticism for a croissant, an orange juice and a hot chocolate. Why is it that he does not talk about the Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce or the Federation of Small Businesses? Why is it that he, the perennial socialist, he who is redder than red but not so red that the Chamber might not want to vote for him, the socialist who the conservatives should choose – the man should be permanently be wearing purple, for goodness' sake, he is so red and blue! – why is it that he chooses to pick out Victor Ochello and not anybody else?

885 Well, Mr Speaker, you know I am now clearer in my view as to why it was this morning that he was talking about this fictional figure of 513 more people in the public sector, because today although he is wearing red, he is trying to appeal to the blues. So, he is trying to get the Chamber on side, the Federation on side and trying to control public expenditure and very concerned about the rising numbers in the public sector, I think that is obvious in the way that he has addressed the whole debate. I mean why would he care that I am paying for the orange juice of a trade unionist and not care that I am paying for the orange juice of a captain of industry like the Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce?

890 Well, to come to the nub of the issue, Mr Speaker, is it that he does not know that in every other state, money is used for purposes of promoting that state in circumstances such as these where there is not a debate across a parliamentary floor about how that money is used? There is actually a debate behind closed doors, like the one I have offered him, which provides oversight on the spending of that money by those elected by the people, Government and Opposition, but is not public.

900 In Spain, Mr Speaker, that debate happens very often and there is a lot of loyalty about the way that people approach those debates. In other words, they keep very confidential, despite their huge differences, what that money has been spent on and why it has been spent. In some instances, it is known as the fondos reservados, for example in Spain or Intelligence Committees, Mr Speaker. Or is it that he can point me to any part of the Hansard of the Spanish Cortes which sets out what the cost of gathering intelligence on Gibraltar is costing the Spanish State? Does he know what the cost of listening, observing, him, me – I suppose he is their blue-eyed boy and me, their nemesis – is costing the Spanish State? The Spanish Taxpayer pays for that, there is oversight by the elected people of the Kingdom of Spain, but behind closed doors. What I have offered him... and there is oversight of all the spending that is used against us but not all of it – some of it yes, but not all of it is debated across the floor of any parliament.

905 That is what I am offering him, that is mature. Well, Mr Speaker, if he does not want that information or he does not want the information for that purpose, if all he wants, Mr Speaker is to be able to criticise the cost of having invited the trade unionist to Madrid, there is a way out. It is the way out that he always takes and I am offering it to him.

910 Look, I have already told him the video exists. I have already told him that he can sit down and look at who was there. He has already obviously spotted someone who he wants to point out and it happens to be Mr Ochello, so be it. I do not know what problem he has with Mr Ochello but he has picked him out, so Mr Ochello, the others who he can see on the video and then he can do, Mr Speaker, the exercise that he did this morning, he can work it out for himself and come back here with a figure.

915 So this morning he said you have employed 513 new members of the public sector, which at the lowest wage in the public sector at an average of blah, blah, blah is £8 million more to the bottom line each year in recurrent expenditure which you have added. Absolute and utter nonsense, but never mind, let him sit down, let him –

920 Look, Mr Speaker, there is a button that says 'mute' on the remote control: he can press the mute button and he can watch the whole episode of an hour of Viewpoint and see the events in Madrid without having to hear me. I know that obviously my voice grates and he does not want to hear it. Fair enough, I do not like hearing myself either, especially in Spanish, and then he can work it out, Mr Speaker.

925 Mr Speaker: I do not know whether the Hon. the Chief Minister and the Leader of the Opposition realise, but they have been hammer and tongs for 55 minutes on two questions. I would like them to tell me whether they think there is any parliament in the Commonwealth where the Speaker would allow that. If so, if they think that is the case, they can carry on. If not, I would suggest to them that we move on.

930 Important as these matters are, but there is a limit and now they are both debating and they have been hammer and tongs at it. By all means bring a motion and I will sit here for as many hours as you like, but not under the guise of two questions. That is a transgression of the fundamental Rules of this House. If that is the way that they want to continue, well look, I may have to think again myself.

935 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, you are absolutely right. As far as I am concerned I am here to answer questions but when one is baited as one is baited one has no alternative but to reply. This morning I cannot remember how long you took on the few questions that were on the cycle path, but I think we all feel exactly the same way and we have better things to do.

940 Mr Speaker: There were about 15 or 20 questions on cycling and I thought I was going to leave the House on a bicycle at that rate (Laughter) and they took about 50 or 60 minutes – yes nearly an hour, we were all cycling for about an hour. (Laughter)

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am quite happy to get off this tandem now and move on.

945 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I have been very patient in listening to the Hon. the Chief Minister with an answer that has taken him...

Mr Speaker: The only person who has been patient is me. (Laughter and banging on desks)

950 Hon. D A Feetham: – taken him 20 minutes.

Mr Speaker: I am the one who is patient with hon. Members. I am the one who is patient.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well may I indulge your – 955 Mr Speaker: I say that because I follow politics in Gibraltar, as you can imagine, and I know that since the last meeting of the House, outside this House hon. Members have been at it in an explosive situation. I know. So it has been debated out there for ages and now it comes here today. Two questions, 55 minutes – come on now.

The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

960 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I mean the reality is that I have listened to the Hon. the Chief Minister for the last 20 minutes go on and ramble and waffle about this and about that and about the other, and I do have one final supplementary and then I will listen to his rambling and waffling answer for as long as he wants, but I think that I ought to ask him to correct the record in a number of respects.

965 Look, I think, Mr Speaker, that the pressure is really now fogging his memory, I really do think that. Because the Hon. the Chief Minister (Interjection) because the Hon. the Chief Minister, he said that the only reason why the Hon. Mr Bossano is answering questions on the public finances of Gibraltar is because there has been a reshuffle. But the Hon. Mr Bossano has been answering my questions on the economy and the public finances of Gibraltar for the last two years, Mr Speaker and I would ask the Hon. the Chief Minister, for the sake of accuracy and because he has to make himself responsible for the answers or for the statements that he makes to this House, to at the very least correct the record in that regard.

975 The questions have always been answered by Mr Bossano because it is Mr Bossano that really understands the public finances of Gibraltar, can speak authoritatively about them to the extent that he can authoritatively say it, Mr Speaker, that Government Ministers, including the Chief Minister of Gibraltar is being brainwashed by consultants to spend too much money. Now, Mr Speaker, if that is not an indictment much more powerful than any indictment or any criticism that I could make of the Government benches, if that is not an indictment, Mr Speaker, what is?

980 And I just again for the sake of accuracy because I know he is not going to provide me with the information that I seek, which is innocuous information but I think one that I am entitled, which is a list of the locals that attended the Madrid event and the cost to the Taxpayer for taking those locals to Madrid. It has nothing to do with Victor Ochello, it is no criticism of Victor Ochello at all or anybody else, (Interjection) none at all, my comment, Mr Speaker, was that there cannot be any national interest in not telling me how much he has paid for Victor Ochello or anybody else in the Gibraltar delegation from going to Madrid.

985 But if I can demonstrate to him, if I can demonstrate to him that I never challenged Mr Bossano to a fisticuffs or anything of the sort, will he stand in this House – because again he is responsible for the accuracy of the information he provides – and apologise to this House for misleading this House by saying that I challenged Mr Bossano, which is certainly not true?

990 What happened there was, that Mr Bossano challenged me and I stood up and I said I have never been challenged to a fisticuffs, to a mano a mano by anybody in my life in Parliament and I did not expect it. That was the comment.

995 He should make himself responsible for the comments that he makes. I know that he is under a lot of pressure; I know that the pressure is getting to the Hon. the Chief Minister, but I think that despite pressure, in the interests of fairness, he ought to be able to correct the record so that it is accurate.

Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, on a Point of Order.

1000 I do not accept that I challenged the hon. Member to a mano a mano, which is not terminology that I would use, since I avoid the Spanish language at all costs. If I had decided to take him on outside, I would not have told him about it; it would have happened. (Laughter)

1005 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, (Interjections and laughter) I am a fan of parliamentary democracy and I believe that Prime Minister's Question Time in the United Kingdom, although a bear pit, is an important part of democracy. Therefore, Mr Speaker, the fact that the hon. Gentleman gets up and says things that are really quite fanciful and have nothing to do with the original question, is not something that shocks me but frankly, it is really quite outside of the Rules.

1010 But anyway, Mr Speaker, you know why it is that the hon. Gentleman thinks he is going to get up and get an answer about a question which is supposed to be important to our community when he starts talking about my condition. You see, Mr Speaker, he does not get up and say can the Chief Minister say x, y or z. He gets up and he says you have a condition; you are suffering because of the pressure. Anybody who knows me knows how much I am enjoying doing this work knows that I am probably one of the people that least suffers pressure in the context of stress that they might come across.

1015 But whether or not I am suffering pressure is totally irrelevant to our democracy and to our community. It might be relevant to my physician and my family, but it is completely irrelevant to our politics and to what decision people are going to make when they decide who is going to be allowed to continue running our community for the next four years once an election is called, one that of course, Mr Speaker, I do not intend to cut and run to as the hon. Gentleman predicted in one of his recent speeches. But then again, most of his predictions are wrong, like the prediction he made during the course of the by-election that we were going to have a huge turnout and he was going to win by 10% which turned out to be a very low turnout but an election that we won by 10%.

1020 But never mind that, Mr Speaker, always he says, Mr Bossano has answered these questions. That is not the case. Once again, Mr Speaker, Hansard will demonstrate that that is not the case. But this is now just arguing about an argument. This is no longer about the nub of the issue. But the hon. Gentleman said something which is important in his question and I want to deal with it. He said that Mr Bossano understands the public finance and can talk authoritatively about it. Absolutely true, Mr Speaker and the ten people, or rather the nine people sitting on this side of the House with Mr Bossano, have always accepted that and believe in Mr Bossano's ability to understand public finance. In fact, Mr Speaker, I think he used to be one of the people who used to do that before he turned Labour, then turned GSD.

1030 But so be it, we still believe in that, Mr Speaker, we have never changed our opinion in that. I did not, Mr Speaker, when I became Leader of the Gibraltar Socialist Labour Party; take a new degree in economics. I took, or rather the Chairman of the Party, took a vote based on a simple majority of those present in the room as to who should be the Leader of the Party and starting from my left, Mr Speaker, let me just describe us in academic or in qualification terms. Lawyer, Lawyer, Dietician, Economist, Lawyer, Historian, Lawyer, Lawyer, Environmentalist/Botanist, Doctor of all things he surveys and Lawyer and Teacher. Teacher, Trade Unionist, Journalist/Teacher, Lawyer, Lawyer/Friend, Lawyer and Lawyer.

1035 Only one economist, Mr Speaker. Only one person who can speak authoritatively on the public finances of Gibraltar as an economist because he, Mr Speaker, certainly the Leader of the Opposition certainly on the day that that deal was done where there was neither a show of hands or a secret ballot as there should have been, but some sort of other executive manoeuvre when he became Leader of the Opposition, did not take a degree in economics either. So he is still as much a lawyer as I am. But of course he says as he 1040 always likes to say during the course of these debates that I Fabian am cleverer than you and I can speak better on these subjects than you can. Well fine, okay if you do not have a grandmother, you do not have a grandmother, what can you do?

1045 But he says, speaking authoritatively on that subject as he did, Mr Bossano said that the Ministers are capable of being brainwashed. That is not what Mr Bossano said, Mr Speaker. He is traducing what Mr Bossano says. Mr Bossano said, that consultants might try to brainwash Ministers. (Laughter) He cannot even do a false laugh in a way that is convincing, Mr Speaker. (Laughter) Consultants might try to brainwash Ministers.

1050 Well, Mr Speaker, in this context what Mr Bossano was saying is, they might try, we will not allow it, it is not going to happen and we will be better guardians of the public finance than ever anyone has been before. Why did he say that and why did he say quite rightly, we will not give political cover to those who try and get away with spending more of the public finances than the Parliament? Not just us, the Parliament has voted because at the last minute when they were about to not vote in favour of the budget, Sir Peter Caruana stepped into the room and said, ‘Do not commit political suicide, no Opposition has ever not voted in favour of a budget. The Parliament votes in favour of the budget.’

1055 Why do we say that and why are we better guardians of that purse than anybody ever has been? Because, Mr Speaker, the hon. Member himself cannot have been brainwashed when he was Minister for Justice and responsible for the spending on the new courts and the new prison. The spending of which went through the roof contrary to the estimates. Even Sir Peter cannot have been – 1060 Mr Speaker: May I ask the Chief Minister please to come to a conclusion?

Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, thank you and I will, Mr Speaker.

1065 Even Sir Peter cannot have been brainwashed and I am dealing with his putting to me this statement from Mr Bossano, when he was dealing with the airport which was quoted at £24 million and came in at £84 million. They must have been absolutely, permanently bleeding lobotomised because the spending was in the order of three times what the estimate was on the airport. So it is not a question of attempted brainwashing which we are stopping and quite right too, there are incidences of absolute total lobotomy of the Members opposite, which is why we find the public finance mess that we found when we were elected and by the end of that financial year, the last financial year they were in office, there was £2 million left in the kitty. As close to skint as this community is ever going to come, under them, Mr Speaker. (Banging on desks)

1075 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, my final supplementary. But, Mr Speaker, it is a supplementary that I cannot allow the Hon. the Chief Minister to get away with whitewashing the comments of the Hon. Minister Bossano. Because I am going to quote exactly what Minister Bossano said, quote, ‘The guys that have been brought in as consultants and are still there, are responsible for a lot of projects and they seem to think that they have a free hand to spend money and maybe they go to their Minister and they sort of brainwash him into thinking it without being conscious.’

1080 They brainwash him, Mr Speaker. Mr Speaker, you cannot air brush away interviews that have been given by his Ministers to GBC which are then reported in the press. That is a quote and it is a quote from the Gibraltar Chronicle of what Mr Bossano said and Mr Speaker, that is the worst indictment the worst possible indictment of this Government’s runaway expenditure, runaway expenditure that anybody could have possibly come up with and it does not come from the Opposition benches, it comes from one of his own on his own benches. That is a terrible indictment, Mr Speaker.

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, the position –

1090 Mr Speaker: This is the last intervention from the Chief Minister.

Hon. Chief Minister: Thank you.

Mr Speaker: I am bringing these exchanges to a conclusion.

1095 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman just gets up full of enthusiasm, thinking he has won the point, reads the quote and realises as he is half way through it, it says maybe. ‘Oh damn it, it says maybe. It says maybe, but I had better not repeat that bit when I go back and say the bit that I want Bossano to be indicting them all for.’

1100 So maybe this happens and so we are going to stop it and he does not like that, he does not like that Mr Speaker, so he only repeats the bit he likes which may be unconstrained by the rules of debate in this House. If we were actually slightly more constrained by the rules of the court, he might find the judge asking him to repeat. The judge might say, ‘Well actually Mr Feetham, can you just repeat that? Does it actually say “maybe”? Does it actually say “maybe”? (Laughter) And there is no need Mr Speaker for him to repeat it again for a very simple reason: because as I told him a moment ago, there is that chivatillo which is Hansard which will have chapter and verse recorded, what he already read a moment ago. So it was all in the context of ‘maybe’ – therefore no indictment.

But look, Mr Speaker, if he wants to talk about indictments and talk about runaway expenditure well, Mr Speaker, that is not what is happening but this is not a debate on public finance, the Appropriation debate is coming and we will see who is right on all of these issues just like we will see in the fullness of time when we sit back and look at all of his predictions, where exactly it is that they all end up. The last one was that I was going to cut and run and have an early election. I guess it is because it is all about running. I do not know whether the hon. Gentleman has decided to become a jogger these days. He talks about runaway expenditure, my cutting and running to go to an election, all of which his predictions will prove to be entirely wrong.

He said during the course, Mr Speaker, of his earlier supplementary that the information that he was seeking was innocuous and could he please have it. Well Mr Speaker, you said 55 minutes, it may be even longer, for innocuous information. If it is so innocuous why bother to insist on it? Why not say to me, ‘Well, Fabian, let me have it behind the Speaker’s Chair and I will take a view’, if it is so innocuous? If it is so innocuous and whether he likes it or not, I am the Chief Minister of Gibraltar, just like whether Mr Margallo likes it or not, Gibraltar is not Spanish. There is a treaty that makes it British de facto. It is not Spanish and de jure it is not Spanish and today I am the Chief Minister of Gibraltar, however much it hurts. However much it grates, that is the reality. He has to deal with it every morning I know, but it is the reality.

I am therefore saying to him, I believe it is not in the public interest of Gibraltar to do this. Look at what the newspapers say, look at what Mr Margallo is saying in the newspapers, let me give you the information behind the Speaker’s Chair. If it is so innocuous the information that he is seeking, why does he not accept it in that way? Or is it perhaps, Mr Speaker, that the information is not so innocuous, as he knows?

Mr Speaker: Question 185.

Q185/2015
Plans for GBC –
Update

Clerk: Question 185, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister please state whether he considers the plans he announced for GBC in 2012 are still on course to be achieved?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, yes sir.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, he may recall that in relation to those plans when he made the announcement, he said that GBC would be self-funding and profitable through use of the company which GBC was to have a 50% shareholding. That was from recollection, Gibraltar Networks or Gibraltar Entertainment Networks Limited where another UK company, an entertainment company, had the other 50% and that they would have premises at Europa Point and that those premises would be completed by 2015.

So does his prediction that his plans are on course, include the fact that those premises are going to be built in effect for GBC and also for this particular company?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, those premises have already been provided, at one stage GN was operating from premises in Europa Point, I think it was one of the MOD properties that were there. But I am very confident that our overall plan for GBC is moving in the direction in which we want to move it. It may have different permutations but my plan for GBC is on course to be achieved.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, just to be clear, the plan included for GBC to be self-funding and the way that the Government was going to make GBC self-funding was through this subsidiary company, which was going to be attracting productions to Gibraltar using Gibraltar’s beneficial tax system in order for those productions to be done here in Gibraltar, to generate profits so that GBC could then become self-funding, presumably through the profits paid up from the subsidiary company to GBC.

Is he saying that those plans of self-funding for GBC via this particular company are still on course to be achieved?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am saying that my plans that GBC should eventually become self-funding are on course to be achieved, they continue to be the view of the Chief Executive of GBC and my view and we think we stand a very good chance of actually making something of GBC rather than consider it just something that costs the community money to provide a service, it could actually be an engine of growth for the community.

1165

Hon. D A Feetham: And that is going to take place, or the plan is that the way that GBC would become profitable, would be through this particular subsidiary company generating those kind of profits through local productions. That is still the plan.

1170

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the plan is that it should become self-financing. The route to that, whether it is through this particular subsidiary or others or in fact through even new and more exciting opportunities, is something that is constantly being worked on by the Chief Executive and by the management of GBC and by us.

1175

I mean what could be better than to achieve that and why shouldn't we want to keep on track, in that respect? I would have thought that we would have enjoyed support from the Opposition in this respect, except of course that they did not think of it when they were in power. Maybe that is why they do not want to be supportive.

1180

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, it is not about the Opposition not being supportive. I am asking him questions. I know that it irritates him when I ask him questions, but that is my job. My job is to hold the Government to account on its policy, to enquire as to whether its policy is being successful or is not being successful so that something can be done about it. It should not irk the Hon. the Chief Minister that I am on this side of the House asking questions. It should not at all.

1185

Now, Mr Speaker, Gibraltar Entertainment Networks, I think that is the name of the company. Has this company been profitable? Has it been making profits and has it been making the kind of profits that will allow GBC to be well on the road to self-sufficiency or is Gibraltar Entertainment Networks, has it not been successful and the Government is really looking at other avenues of making GBC self-sufficient?

1190

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am sorry to have to get up to say these things because they are not pertinent to our democracy or our politics, but I cannot allow things that the hon. Gentleman says to go unanswered so I am going to deal with that point. If he were prevented from saying these things, I would not have to reply to them.

1195

Mr Speaker, I do not find his questions irritating or irksome; I actually find them quite amusing. Mr Speaker, especially in the context of what it is that he is hopefully trying to achieve, I find most amusing much of what he does and how he goes about things. So he need not concern himself about irritating me or irking me.

1200

Mr Speaker, GEN: I cannot tell him what the balance sheet of GEN is without notice, but I can tell him that GEN involves certain individuals who continue to work in part with GBC but not all of them with GBC and therefore that the original concept of GEN is not actually one that is likely to be progressing into the future but the ideas behind GEN and how that would lead to GBC being eventually, we hope self-financing, does continue to be something that we are pursuing very enthusiastically.

TOURISM, HOUSING, EQUALITY AND SOCIAL SERVICES

Upper Rock Nature Reserve – Visitor numbers, January 2015

Clerk: Question 105, the Hon. D J Bossino.

1205

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Tourism please provide details of the number of Upper Rock Nature Reserve visitors for the month of January 2015?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, 18,774 visitors entered the Upper Rock Nature Reserve during the month of January 2015.

1215 Hon. D J Bossino: Just to point out, Mr Speaker, in fact on the day that I filed the question, which was the Wednesday, it was actually updated on line but I am grateful for the reply in any event.

Mr Speaker, just to ask, that figure is actually slightly higher than the figure in 2014 and indeed in 2013 although it still represents quite a significant reduction from the position in 2011-12.

1220 Does she have – and probably not a question which can be answered – but does she have any indications from within the Department as to whether this is likely to go in an increasing upward trend over the next few months? I know it is difficult to predict but perhaps she can do something, make an attempt at replying to the question if she can.

Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, the figures show that the visitors in January this year are up by 306 from January last year and on the basis that we expect more cruise ships in this year, then that will I think relatively have a knock-on effect of increasing the number of tourists that we will have.

Q106-107/2015
Mid-Harbour Estate–
CCTV and garage barriers

Clerk: Question 106, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1230 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to the answer provided to Question 40/2015, can the Minister for Housing inform this House by when it is estimated that the recently installed CCTV project and garage barriers at Mid-Harbour Estate will be operational on a permanent basis?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

1235 Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 107.

Clerk: Question 107, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1240 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide details in respect of any maintenance programme which has been established in respect of the recently installed CCTV project and garage barriers at Mid-Harbour Estate, indicating who will carry out these tasks and their respective cost?

1245 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, as previously informed, the CCTV project is complete. The maintenance of the CCTV project in Mid-Harbour Estate is being carried out by Sheriff Electrical Contractors on a reactive basis.

1250 The maintenance is within the two-year warranty as stipulated in the contract documentation and there is no current financial implication as this was covered under the original contract sum.

In relation to the garage barriers the Housing Department has written to all tenants at Mid-Harbours, advising them of the procedure to be issued with the relevant permits and fobs and that barriers will be operational as soon as this is completed.

1255 Insofar as the maintenance, there are plans to engage the services of an electrical contractor to adopt a maintenance programme.

Hon. E J Reyes: Sorry, Mr Speaker, I did not quite catch the very last part, something in respect of the fobs and talking to the tenants. Could the hon. Lady, because of my hearing problems, please repeat the last part?

1260 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: What I said, Mr Speaker, was that we have written to the tenants advising them of the procedure to collect the fobs and given them a deadline in which to do so. Once that deadline has passed then the barriers will be operational. It should be by next week or the week after.

1265 Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, I was going to jump in, by when the deadline?. So, therefore, Mr Speaker is the hon. Lady confident that probably within the next month or so we should have everything now fully operational?

1270 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, tenants were written to last week and the deadline for applications for that is 20th February so it should be operational by the end of the month.

Q108/2015
Weather damage to rental homes –
Details

1275 Clerk: Question 108, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide full details of the extent of damages, inclusive of locations, caused to rental homes as a result of inclement weather during the ongoing refurbishment works at any housing estate, since the answer provided to Question 746/2014?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, up to 9th February, 14 flats have been affected throughout the 1,547 flats in the three estates, of which nine have been affected through the roof, four via the stairwell and one via the window.

Further protective measures and minor repairs are currently being undertaken.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I can understand the question was submitted on its deadline which was last Thursday morning but the Hon. Minister said up to 9th February – that is over a week prior to that. Surely the information, Mr Speaker, could have been provided up to last Thursday.

I will tell you why: because one of the things that I was hearing and so on, seems to have happened just in the days or in that same week prior to the deadline of the question and with the Minister only being able to provide information up to 9th February, it means that one is now delayed until the latter part of March in order to be able to get any information on something that really happened within the first few days of the first week of February.

Does the Minister require a bit more time and perhaps she can at least get the information up to at least the question deadline time which was Thursday morning. I do not know, Mr Speaker, if she can be helpful on that.

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I did urge the Department to provide me with as much information as possible, right up to the latest deadline that they could provide. Of course, Mr Speaker, you can appreciate we have the whole internal mechanism and everything for production of answers. In any event, Mr Speaker, the question can be put to me again next month so that the Department can have sufficient time to answer this.

1300

In any event, Mr Speaker, the answer will not change. There is only a month delay, Mr Speaker, now that thankfully we sit in Parliament every month. The hon. Gentleman only has to wait a question of a couple of weeks, four weeks in fact for that answer.

1305

I can only provide as much information as the Department provides to me; though I did ask for as much information as possible, Mr Speaker, I want to make that clear.

1310

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, if the Minister does not have the information, if need be, Mr Speaker, I will consult you so that by wording the question, I do not infringe the rules of repeating the question and so on, so any information that refers to anything after 9th February then that might, if need be with your guidance, we can do it in such a manner, Mr Speaker.

1315

Mr Speaker: No problem.

Q109/2015
Government co-ownership housing projects –
Unsold homes

Clerk: Question 109, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1320 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to the answer provided to Question 749/2014, can the Minister for Housing provide revised and updated details of how many homes still remain unsold in respect of Government's new co-ownership housing projects, giving the room size composition in each case?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

1325

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the Government's new co-ownership housing projects are a huge success and there are no homes remaining unsold.

Q110 & 117/2015
Government rental homes –
Unpaid rents

1330 Clerk: Question 110, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide details of how much has been written off in respect of unpaid rents pertaining to Government rental homes, since the answer provided to Question 35/2015?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 117.

1340

Clerk: Question 117, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide details of arrears in respect of unpaid rents pertaining to Government rental homes as at 31st January 2015?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, nothing has been written off since the answer provided to Question 35/2015 because work in respect of these areas continues.

The total of arrears in unpaid rent as at 31st January 2015 is £5,368,606.27. From that figure we need to deduct the amounts that are older than six years, which are not therefore recoverable.

1355 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, again I lacked a bit of hearing at the end. The figure of £5,368,606 I think the Minister said. What did she end up saying, Mr Speaker – that it does not include something that has been written off because time has expired? Can I have a repetition of that please?

Mr Speaker: More than six years.

1360 Hon. E J Reyes: Has anything been written off because it has been more than six years?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: No.

Q111/2015
Reallocation of empty homes –
Expenditure and details

Clerk: Question 111, the Hon. E J Reyes.

1365

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide details in respect of all expenditure incurred since the answer to Question 36/2015 in respect of contracts awarded for making empty homes suitable for re-allocation, stating to whom payments were made, how much has been paid, the number of residential homes pertaining to each payment, as well as indicating the type/nature of repair works, or cleaning services undertaken?

1370

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, information for the month of January 2015 is as follows, in relation to one property awarded to AJEC at a cost of £8,444 and to E Lopez and Sons Limited £4,450.

1375

Hon. E J Reyes: And the nature type of work undertaken, Mr Speaker?

Miss S J Sacramento: Sorry, Mr Speaker, all services contracted were for repairs and none were for cleaning.

Hon. E J Reyes: And what type of repairs, Mr Speaker? What nature, what type of repairs? Was it repairs to the roof, to electrical installations? I amended the wording from last month on your suggestion, Mr Speaker, because I just said repairs and I want to know a bit further, the type of repairs.

Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, the only information I have been provided with is that they were general repairs. I imagine that when a property is repaired we will have different issues, Mr Speaker. They are not huge repairs because the figures are not that big.

1390

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, they may not be huge repairs but I have taken on board the advice given to me and that is why I have said indicating the type and nature. I would like to know, Mr Speaker, whether it was to do with plumbing works or do with electrical works or roof repair please, Mr Speaker.

1395

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I am sorry I do not have any further information because the officials have not provided the information.

Mr Speaker: Will the hon. Lady please instruct her officials to look at the question carefully because it does say type or nature of repairs.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, three tenants have required decanting from their homes for the following reasons: on account of a fire since 23rd January 2015; two on account of works, on 12th February and one on 13th February, and no set date for return has yet been established for any of the three.

1410

Governor's Meadow House, Alameda Estate – Cost of resurfacing work

1470

Mr Speaker: Yes, please do.

Hon. S E Linares: – and he has finished today so I would like just to say to him that the £2,088 that he asked in the previous question as to the Re-Enactment Society and Association, was exactly what I said to him they were, on uniforms.

FINANCIAL SERVICES AND GAMING

Q159/2015

Flagship events – Business development goals

Clerk: Question 159, the Hon. D J Bossino.

1560 Hon. D J Bossino: I am sure he is enjoying whatever he is eating (Laughter)
Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Financial Services provide details of the business development goals which the Flagship events have?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Yes, Mr Speaker, as the hon. Member will be aware, 'Flagship Events' are those at which Gibraltar Finance arranges a central event with private meetings previously arranged around them and timed to coincide with international conference events in each of the jurisdictions.

1570 The reason for this is simply to enable professionals in the private sector to attend the international conference, attend the flagship event and also where appropriate, participate in the private meetings arranged during that visit.

1575 Further, we always take the opportunity during these events, to engage with the international media in order to further raise the profile of Gibraltar as a quality and reputable financial services centre. This initiative has led to engagement with Swiss local media and on our recent visit with a Bloomberg Interview, in Hong Kong with CNBC Asia and RHK, a major Hong Kong radio station, both with live interviews. In London with a live interview on Sky News on their Business Today programme and in Bermuda with both TV and newspaper interviews.

1580 Our goal in all of the above is, of course, to promote Gibraltar as a quality and reputable international financial services centre in partnership with the private-sector firms, by proactively marketing the benefits of our proposition and stressing that Gibraltar offers a well regulated transparent and internationally co-operative jurisdiction, with access to financial markets including the right of access to the EU single market in financial services.

1585 The recently released Business Development Plan of 2015 details the precise events and conferences we will be supporting this year which exceed 30 different events across the spectrum of our financial services community. The programme has been discussed with and considered by the Finance Centre Council, who have warmly welcomed the Development Plan and are actively supporting our efforts to promote the jurisdiction.

With respect to the flagship events, I would comment as follows:

1590 These past 12 months we have organised Gibraltar Day Lunches in five different cities, being Bermuda, Hong Kong, Geneva, Zurich and London and hosting over 910 guests, including some 200 local professionals supporting these initiatives. These numbers give you an indication of the magnitude of the project we have embarked on and the extent of the support that we have received from those attending and of course, our local firms.

1595 The opportunity to engage directly with professionals in each of these jurisdictions and address them on the benefits of our jurisdiction, hand in hand with the private sector, is an effective and efficient means of promoting business links in these financial hubs with our professionals.

1600 These events, together with attending conferences and road shows and engagement with media, are all part of the programme of increasing serious awareness of our jurisdiction and catching up on the many years of a lack of investment in this area. In addition, our senior executives are constantly engaging with professionals in these and other markets promoting the Gibraltar proposition.

I would like to sincerely thank the entire team of Gibraltar Finance for their conscientious work and attention to detail in ensuring that whatever functions we organise or attend, we always do so perfectly prepared and our presence professionally delivered.

Q160/2015
Finance Centre Department travel expenses –
Details

Clerk: Question 160, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Financial Services provide details of his Department's travel expenses to date for 2015?

1610

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Yes, Mr Speaker, the travel expenses for the Finance Centre Department paid to date for 2015 are Hotel £4,029; Flights £10,461.28; Subsistence and Expenses £903.

These costs relate to invoices paid in 2015 up to 16th February 2015. If I might just add, Mr Speaker, included within those numbers is one visit to London which was cancelled due to my inability to go through serious neck pains, which we are in the process of recovering the cost of through an insurance claim.

1620

Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful for that reply, Mr Speaker. Just to be clear in my own mind, he has given me a set of figures because in fact when information has been uploaded – he and I have had this debate across the floor of the House in relation to asking questions in respect of matters which are available in the internet on the Government website – the information which I thought I was seeking in the question has actually been provided on line, it was updated I think on 16th February which post-dates the filing of the question, Mr Speaker.

1625

Now that information online relates to four specific events which took place, two in January and two in February, the total amount of which I calculated to be about £9,350 – well, the specific figure is £9,351.30. Now the information he has given me is not in tandem with this. Can he explain why? Basically, I was really wanting this updated information but he has given me different information.

1630

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, there may be a difference because what you have on the website will be, I think, ministerial travel and the question is phrased in the Department's travel. So I am including Gibraltar Finance which includes, for example, the members of the Gibraltar Finance Team, Nadiuska and Joanne who travelled to set up an exhibition in London and Zurich, so there are different expenses so you will not be able to relate the information I have given directly to the one you have got from the website because there are different people involved. The Gibraltar Finance Team is not on the website on the same page that you are referring to.

1635

Hon. D J Bossino: But the information he has given me, would it include this information that is on the website, because it is his personal expenses I want, as Minister?

1640

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, from the information I have been provided, the breakdown for the numbers that I have just given you, which total I think £10,129 – no they do not – so what they have done is they have extracted my costs and given you the Ministry's costs. For example it includes the cost of a visit to Madrid for a LEIROC Conference of £95 and £179 of hotel. That is not on my website but that is included in these numbers.

1645

If the hon. Member would like to have more details, I am happy to let him have them by letter, giving a breakdown of the specific costs relating to each member of Gibraltar Finance in respect of each of those visits which may be of more use to him than the generic total breakdowns.

1650

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, I probably will be seeking that information from him. Well, I will get the information from the prepared answer once it is on Hansard in any event and then I will take a decision once I have had a proper chance of reading it and comparing it with this information. But he has been helpful in his reply.

1655

Now, I have noticed that in terms of making comparisons to how much was spent last year and this year and in terms of his travel expenses there is a three-fold increase. So for example up until March, his travel expenditure all told, was about £3,500 whilst the information provided on the website suggests he has already spent £9,300. There was a visit to Hong Kong for example which was not included previously.

1660 But, and this is where I am leading to, does he envisage that the overall annual cost, given that he must have a plan and in fact it is published in the Development Plan, the overall annual cost is going to be higher and if so, does he have an idea of how much higher, overall annual for 2015?

1665 Hon. A J Isola: Yes, Mr Speaker, the difference between last year and this year obviously is that there was a visit to Hong Kong in January this year and there was not a visit to Hong Kong in January of last year.

1670 In terms of the overall spending, the Business Development Plan which we issued in January has been costed, the expenditure that was in last year's estimate was below the amount that was required to meet the Business Development Plan. So there has been a supplementary funding request made through the Financial Secretary this year and we are within the Budget in terms of what the original estimate was and the supplementary funding request which covers the entirety of the Business Plan. Does that answer your question? (Interjection by Hon. D J Bossino) It is above the estimated amount last year but within the budget that we set through the supplementary funding process.

EDUCATION AND JUSTICE & INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGE OF INFORMATION

Q161/2015

Supply teachers and/or support auxiliary staff –
Details

1675 Clerk: Question 161, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Education provide details of any changes there may have been since the answer to Question 54/2015 in respect of supply teachers and/or support auxiliary staff, currently engaged by the Department of Education?

1680 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information.

1685 Minister for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, in respect of my answer to Question 54/2015, the only change to report is that out of the 10 supply cleaners mentioned, eight have been made permanent and the other two are in the process of being recruited, one at Bayside School and one at Bishop Fitzgerald Middle School.

The hon. Member will recall that in one of the schedules to Question 54, in particular Table 4, there was a reference to 10 part-time cleaners with a remark column saying 'in the process of being recruited'. Eight of those have now been recruited and two are in the process of being recruited.

1690 The only other change, Mr Speaker, in respect of the tables previously given, is not a change in actual circumstances but simply the filling of a gap which the hon. Member will recall in Table 1 he saw that under the reasons for cover – this is of supply teachers – there was a gap in one of the teachers covering at the college.

1695 I now have that information and can report that the reason for the cover is an SEN Life Skills Course, which I know that the hon. Member will recognise as ASDAN, and that is a specific Life Skills Course which has been delivered over the course of this year for pupils of special educational needs and that is a temporary cover which has been done over the whole of the academic year.

Those are the only two changes to report, Mr Speaker.

1700 Hon. E J Reyes: I am really grateful, Mr Speaker, for the updated information. I know it is just a month since the last time but I posed this question now because it has given the Department of Education enough time to consolidate any information or any amendments required from the start of the term. Therefore, I am satisfied now that I have a complete picture at least for the remainder of this term.

Thank you.

1720 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I will wait for the schedule to be handed over. Yes. I will wait for the hon. Member to see it before making a particular comment in relation to this schedule. It is a complex and –

Mr Speaker: The information there is in respect of nearly 900 students so I suggest we go on to the next question, 163.

1725 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, can I just say – ?

Mr Speaker: Do you wish to add something to the main answer? Okay.

1730 Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, just add to that answer, as the hon. Mr Speaker has mentioned, this is a list in respect of 866 students, 866 students which are this year being fully funded to study outside Gibraltar.

Mr Speaker, I can rightly say that is an extraordinary number of students (Banging on desks) to be funded by the Government to be studying outside Gibraltar in a small community such as ours. It includes, in that list, not just undergraduate students but also postgraduate students, including Masters and PhDs. And that to a large extent has arisen as a result of a change in policy by this Government which decided that the mandatory scholarship scheme was to apply not only to undergraduate students, but also to postgraduate students who wanted to do a Masters or further studies. (A Member: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks)

1735 Mr Speaker, can I just say that this record which is set out in this schedule is a record which Gibraltar as a community can rightly feel proud of.

1740 Mr Speaker: Can I suggest to the Hon. Minister that the next time that he provides such a schedule, instead of referring to St Mary's University College, it should be St Mary's University Twickenham. It became a University last year; it is no longer a University College. It is listed here as St Mary's University College; it is now a University and it is called St Mary's University, Twickenham. The former Strawberry Hill College is now St. Mary's University, Twickenham.

1745 Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, Mr Speaker. I know it is referred to as University College –

Mr Speaker: You are using the old terminology.

1750 Hon. G H Licudi: I will advise the Department of Education of that.

Mr Speaker: Is there any supplementary from the Leader of the Opposition?

1755 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, just out of interest in the purpose of all this, there is an analytical purpose for this and I will look at it in due course when I have time. But my attention has been taken by just an entry; three pages from the back where it says University of Malta – Medicine and there are no fees for both, there are two entries for University of Malta – Medicine, no fees. Can he just explain why there are no fees in relation to the University of Malta when there are fees in respect of all the other entries?

1760 Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, Mr Speaker, I can certainly do that. The hon. Member will know that two weeks ago, I was in Malta meeting the Rector, Juanito Camilleri of the University of Malta itself and this is an issue that we certainly discussed.

1765 Malta has a scheme whereby the University of Malta provides free education for its students and in providing free education for its students, it is free education not just for its students, but EU students. Therefore Gibraltar students that choose to go to the University of Malta... and in fact the University of Malta's Faculty of Medicine is a very prestigious and well-known faculty of medicine and produces some very, very good professionals from that University.

1770 We have two of our own students in that faculty – (Interjection) Yes, the education is in English, absolutely and we have two of our students studying at this prestigious college at no cost to the Government because that is the model that the University of Malta or that Malta, as a jurisdiction, has decided that it provides free education for its students and by extension, it also means free education to EU students.

1775 Mr Speaker: As long ago as 1975, Dr Albert GUILLEM was studying medicine at the University of Malta and I met him when I visited the island in 1975.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can the Minister confirm if the same argument applies to the entry in respect of student number 117 at Dundee University undertaking an undergraduate course in architecture? It says the same, no fees – Scotland.

1780 Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, Mr Speaker, that is indeed the position although I understand that the position in Scotland has now changed and therefore students from outside Scotland do now pay a fee. I seem to recall, if the hon. Member will remind me of the... oh it says, no fees, Scotland.

1785 My understanding is that in respect of new students going to Scotland there will be fees payable but this is one that had started already at a time when the system was that no fees were payable for studying in Scotland. I know this because it also caught my eye when I saw the list and I asked the specific question that the hon. Member has asked.

1790 Hon. E J Reyes: The only one, Mr Speaker, the Minister either knows it now or may have to seek the information. The student listed on 117, the qualification is an MA which one reads as Master of Arts, normally Masters Degrees are recorded as postgraduate, rather than undergraduate and on the right-hand side column he is down as an undergraduate.

1795 Unless nomenclatures have changed, Mr Speaker, from your time and mine, undergraduate is normally up to the obtaining of a Bachelor's Degree and anything beyond that is then considered postgraduate. The Minister may need some time to check with the Department of Education on that one, but it does seem at first glance a contradiction in terms.

Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, Mr Speaker, that is one that I missed when I went through the list and I will check.

1800 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, it is a fascinating, I have to say it is a fascinating list and hopefully it is the last supplementary we will ask on this side of the House. But 1995 to 1998 there are four entries, Faculty of Medicine in the Czech Republic and they are all studying, four students studying medicine. Is that in Czech or is it in English as well?

1805 I understand that there is a lot of competition for medicine in the United Kingdom and people are looking for alternatives. It just strikes me the medicine in the Czech Republic and I am just asking the question whether it is in Czech or whether it is in English that the courses are provided.

1810 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I am tempted to say that I will check what the Czechs do, (Laughter) but I do know the answer. This is of course in English but we do have, as the hon. Member has said there is a lot of competition for medicine in UK universities and sometimes we have had – and I seem to recall one last year or the year before, a straight-A student who did not get a place for a medicine course in the UK and students over the last few years have been looking at alternatives. One of the alternatives that was looked at, apart from Malta which we have already seen, is the Czech Republic and we now actually have four in that faculty doing medicine in English, taught in English in the Czech Republic.

Mr Speaker: There is one final question, which is to the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister. Mr Bossino.

DEPUTY CHIEF MINISTER

Q180/2015 European Single Skies – Gibraltar's inclusion

Clerk: Question 180, the Hon. D J Bossino.

1820 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Deputy Chief Minister provide any updates to the House in relation to seeking Gibraltar's inclusion in the new European Single Skies Directive, having regard to recent press reports in relation to this issue?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

1825 Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Yes, Mr Speaker, the answer remains the same as given in the answer to Question 773/2014.

1830 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I thank the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister for that. There was a press report in the Gibraltar Chronicle reporting on Latvia's Presidency in relation to this saying that it was going to prioritise obviously because it was affecting all the other EU member states.

Does he get a sense as to whether there has been a change as a result of the Presidency? The last time that I asked the question I think it was an Italian Presidency in the Chair and I just wondered whether he senses any difference. Presumably the case is going to be exactly as it was when he answered the question back in, I think it was two months ago when I posed this question in the House.

1840 Hon. Dr J J Garcia: Mr Speaker, I will be happy to discuss the matter with him privately, but certainly the position as regards... If he will recall the UK Foreign Secretary spoke to the Italian Foreign Secretary who then had the Presidency of the rotating Presidency of the Council of the EU. They have also spoken to the Latvian Presidency and explained what the UK position is which is that Gibraltar is entitled to be included in the legislation and that our exclusion would be illegal because the aviation law under the treaty applies to Gibraltar.

1845 So that is the position at present, the item, the draft legislation is still held up in the European Council and once it is unblocked from the Council then it moves to discussion with the Parliament. We have not moved to that second phase yet because it is still in the Council.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I do not know whether the hon. Gentleman had the benefit of seeing the press conference held after the meeting in Madrid today, I think the Parliament might have been about to start its session when the press conference was being held.

1850 The position of the Foreign Secretary was as set out in our press statement and in similar way to this House, the position of the Spanish Foreign Secretary was very aggressive and I commend that he should read what it was that he said in terms of understanding what their position is.

Mr Speaker: So to table the Written Questions, please.

Question 184/2015 continued – Supplementary information

1855 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, before I do, can I crave the Parliament's indulgence and ask to go back to Question 184/2015 which you might recall, Mr Speaker, the very contentious question about the event in Madrid.

1860 Simply to correct the record, the hon. Gentleman opposite said that we need to be responsible for the things that we say in this House and ensure that the record is not in any way improperly reflecting the facts.

1865 In fact, I am going to make myself responsible for his statement as much as for mine. I am told, Mr Speaker, that Mr Victor Ochello was actually in the United Kingdom on the day that I was in Madrid and therefore we should not have been referring to him and whether he had his costs paid, as the hon. Gentleman did and that Mr Richard Buttigieg, another person who the hon. Gentleman referred to in this House, wants to make clear that he paid his own costs of travel to Madrid, having heard his name uttered over the airways.

Questions for Written Answer

1870 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to table the answers to Written Questions W19 to W23/2015 inclusive.

Mr Speaker: I think the House can now recess for 20 minutes.

1875

The House recessed for 20 minutes.

1880

BILLS FIRST AND SECOND READING

Royal Gibraltar Regiment (Amendment) Bill 2014 – First Reading approved

Clerk: Order of the Day – Bills, First and Second Reading. (1) A Bill for an Act to amend the Gibraltar Regiment Act 1998.

The Hon. the Chief Minister.

1885

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): I have the honour to move that the Bill for an Act to amend the Gibraltar Regiment Act 1998 be read a first time.

1890

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Gibraltar Regiment Act 1998 be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Royal Gibraltar Regiment (Amendment) Act 2014.

Royal Gibraltar Regiment (Amendment) Bill 2014 – Second Reading approved

1895

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill for the Royal Gibraltar Regiment (Amendment) Act 2015 be read a second time.

Mr Speaker, this Bill updates the Gibraltar Regiment Act which is an Act that is in its current form dated back to 1998 but in fact applies the Army Act 1955.

Changes to legislation concerned with the Armed Forces have been significant over the years in the United Kingdom. The Army Act 1955 is no longer in force, having been swept away by the Armed Forces Act 2006 and this Bill seeks to bring the Royal Gibraltar Regiment up to date in respect of disciplinary matters dealt with in those pieces of legislation.

Clause 2 of the Bill makes amendments to both the long and short titles of the Act so that the legislation will reflect the conferment of the Royal Prefix which was proudly awarded to the Regiment in 1999 after the Act which we are amending.

Clause 3 of the Bill updates definitions within the Act.

Clause 4 replaces existing sections 3 and 4 of the Act and sets out the basis for the establishment, maintenance and disbandment of the RGR – although, Mr Speaker, nobody in Gibraltar can imagine that the RGR should ever be disbanded, but there has to be provision for it and there was in the old Act.

Mr Speaker, clause 6 of the Bill renames Part II of the Act so that it is clear that the part relates to disciplinary matters.

Clause 7 inserts new sections to the Act. Section 5 sets out the purposes of the part which is to provide for a disciplinary framework on the same terms as their UK counterparts for soldiers who are members of the Regiment through Gibraltar.

Section 5A relates to who the part applies to and deems that such persons to be persons subject to service law. In that context, the House will note that the Act will only apply to two classes of persons, effectively those in uniform and to a much more limited extent, to those who were in uniform but have left the Regiment. This section is important because in the UK there is a further class of persons to whom service law applies. These are described as civilians who are subject to service discipline. Such persons could include spouses, partners and other family members of enrolled persons. As far as this Act is concerned, nothing in service law can apply to such persons in Gibraltar.

1925 Section 5B makes further provisions as to the application of service law and in particular restricts the application of service law if it would be contrary to the UK Constitution, the unwritten Constitution. This section also restricts the application of service law to the extent provided for in Schedule 2A. The House will note that the purpose of Schedule 2A is to restrict the implementation of service law to what we might colloquially call within the wire, i.e. the MOD Estate.

Section 5C modifies service law so that it can be applied in Gibraltar and where appropriate and in accordance with our legislation and procedures.

Section 5D provides the basis for the enforcement in Gibraltar of the outcomes of disciplinary proceedings.

1930 Section 5E provides a regulation making power for the purposes of transfer of persons who are deprived of their liberty.

Mr Speaker, section 5F will permit the amendment of service law via subsidiary legislation albeit the House will have sight of any such amendment.

1935 Section 5G relates to persons absenting themselves without leave and provides that warrants may be obtained if granted by a Gibraltar Justice.

Section 5H ensures that a civil criminal court does not lose the right to try a person who may have committed an offence outside of the wire.

Clause 8 of the Bill updates the provisions of section 6 of the Act in connection with the administration of the Regiment.

1940 Clause 10 of the Bill amends section 8 of the Act in connection with the command of the Regiment.

Clause 11 re-classes the nationality requirements for entry into the Regiment in keeping with the UK law. The provisions of the Act concerning liability for service are recast in sections 15A to section 17, as set out in clause 12 of the Bill.

Clauses 12 to 16 of the Bill are minor amendments, some of a typographical nature.

1945 Clause 13 provides a regulation making power allowing the Governor to issue regulations, etc of an administrative nature.

Clause 18 repeals Schedule 1 which provides for terms and conditions of service and which in terms of maintenance updating can be better provided for outside of the confines of an Act.

1950 Clause 19 inserts Schedules 2 and 2A and these represent service law which is to apply to RG Personnel.

Clause 21 reproduces Schedule 4 with a number of minor amendments.

1955 Mr Speaker, I will be moving during the course of the Committee Stage some amendments to the Royal Gibraltar Regiment (Amendment) Bill. I have a letter which will be distributed to hon. Members, but the House... Mr Speaker, in order to be of more assistance, I can offer whoever is going to speak on this subject on the other side if they wish – I do not want to make 17 copies but I will make one copy for me and one copy for Members opposite if they wish it, of both a marked up version of the Act that we are amending with the amendments and also a marked up version of the Bill to reflect the amendments that are being proposed at the Committee Stage and if anybody on that side is going to speak on the Bill wants to have a copy I am quite happy to let them have one. There is another copy to come which, I think needs to be printed and that can be circulated in time for the debate on the Committee Stage.

1960 I commend the Bill to the House.

1965 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any other hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of this Bill?

1970 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the Opposition will be supporting the Bill. Mr Speaker, from my recollection from my time as Minister for Justice, this was something that was discussed when we were in Government, certainly we would have brought a similar Bill to this House in any event and therefore the Opposition is going to be supporting the Government in relation to this particular Bill.

Hon. Chief Minister: I am grateful for that indication, Mr Speaker.

1975 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Gibraltar Regiment Act 1998 be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Tobacco Act 1997 be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Tobacco (Amendment No. 3) Act 2014.

Tobacco (Amendment No. 3) Bill 2014 –
Second Reading approved

Minister for Education, Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I beg to move that the Bill for an Act to amend the Tobacco Act 1997 be read a second time.

2000

Mr Speaker, this Bill amends the Tobacco Act so as to clarify, for the avoidance of doubt, the situations where certain searches may be carried out under the Act. This clarification reflects the operation of the Act and the search powers thereunder since 1999 and allows for the search, without a warrant, of any vehicle in Gibraltar where a Police or Customs Officer has reasonable grounds to suspect that cigarettes in circumstances contrary to the provisions of the Tobacco Act 1997, may be found within. This amendment clarifies that officers have the same powers when dealing with locally registered vehicles as they do with foreign registered vehicles.

And just to explain the issues, if I can read what the current section says, it is section 17C(1) it says:

‘Every police or customs officer shall have free access to any vessel or aircraft at the port or airport and of any vehicle brought into Gibraltar where there are reasonable grounds to suspect that cigarettes may be found in that vessel, aircraft or motor vehicle in circumstances contrary to the provisions of this Act, and may –’

and then it sets out the powers.

It is a reference to ‘brought into’ Gibraltar that has just raised... the interpretation that has been given previously is that every vehicle has at some stage been brought into Gibraltar and therefore the powers have always existed. But given that the matter was raised, this is just an amendment for the avoidance of doubt that refers to every vehicle in Gibraltar whether it is brought in the day before or two years before is irrelevant, it now relates to any vehicle in Gibraltar, or it will when the House passes the amendment and the Bill is brought into effect.

2015

Mr Speaker I commend the Bill to the House.

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

2020

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, yes, just to say that we will obviously be supporting the Bill and only to really say that it is rather curious in that it will have been an issue that had to be dealt with and it would certainly be interesting on this side of the House to understand in what circumstances it actually arose that the change has been required. But clearly it is not a point of contention at all, Mr Speaker, thank you.

2025 Mr Speaker: I now put the question that –

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: Sorry, yes.

2030 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, my officer has received representations from the Collector of Customs about the need to insert an additional power in respect of the Tobacco Act in respect of powers of stop and search in special zones. He has proposed that because of the urgency in dealing with issues which relate to Tobacco and having received these representations shortly, in fact during the space of the last 14 days from the Collector of Customs that we should take the opportunity of using this active Bill which is going to amend the Tobacco Act to make the further amendment.

2035 A letter will be circulated to hon. Members setting out what the proposed amendment is, but they will see that it is literally something headed ‘Additional powers of stop and search in special zones’. The advice that we have through the Collector and the Attorney General’s Office is that this is what the previous Chief Minister used to call giving retrospective legal cover if necessary, in respect of the way that stopping and searching has been happening to date in special zones and how it might be able to continue to happen in the future, to ensure, much as the hon. Gentleman said in respect of the main amendment which was in the green copy, that nobody can make an argument to suggest that there is not a power there that nobody has previously challenged but there is advice now might be challenged in the future.

2040 That is set out in the amendment which will be circulated.

2045 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Tobacco Act –

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker.

2050 Mr Speaker: Yes.

Hon. G H Licudi: As the mover of the Bill can I respond to the issue raised by the Hon. Member?

2055 Mr Speaker, the hon. Member just asked about the circumstances which brought this about and it was simply that it was brought to my attention that someone, presumably some lawyer, might at some point raise in court, that there are no powers to search locally registered vehicles. And so as to leave nothing to chance, although we do not believe that was ever the intention of the Bill or that it has ever happened, to leave nothing to chance that somebody might raise it, it was suggested that I should make this amendment just for the sake of clarity. That is how it was brought about.

2060 Mr Speaker: I now put the question which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Tobacco Act 1997 be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011, be read a first time.

2080 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011, be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment) (No.2) Act 2014.

Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2014 –
Second Reading approved

Minister for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi):
Mr Speaker, I beg to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 be read a second time.

2090 Mr Speaker, this Bill amends the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 so as to ensure that when calculating the length of a sentence to be served, time spent on remand counts towards just one sentence of imprisonment.

2095 The need for this amendment follows two recent cases before the Supreme Court in Gibraltar, which have dealt with the interpretation of the current section 497 of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011. The first of these cases was heard when an application for a writ of habeas corpus, whereas the second was due in the sentencing process.

2100 Section 497 was held to be mandatory in that the length of a sentence must be reduced by the time the person has been in custody in connection with the proceedings for that offence. This is appropriate, Mr Speaker, in circumstances where that person is solely on remand for that offence, but not where a person is serving a custodial sentence for another offence or is remanded in custody for more than one offence.

In those circumstances it is only right that the time spent on remand or in Police custody should only count once towards one sentence. This is the position in the United Kingdom and one that this Government believes must have been the intention when this Act was passed.

2105 Mr Speaker, just to put that in general context, if somebody is already serving a sentence of imprisonment and goes to court and is remanded in custody in respect of another offence, that person as this has been interpreted, has the advantage of that same period in remand being counted twice: once in respect of the serving of the period he is already serving; and once in respect of the new sentence if he was to be sentenced respectively for the new offence. In one occasion, I understand the court re-sentenced the individual changed the sentence once this matter was brought to the courts attention so as not to give effect to that double counting.

2110 As I mentioned when I introduced the Bill, the position in the United Kingdom is what we consider, must have been the intention of Parliament when it passed this Act and as a result of the two cases that have arisen in court, we feel that it is only right that we should clarify that a person should not doubly benefit in this kind of situation.

2115 I commend the Bill to the House, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

2120 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, yes, only to confirm that the Opposition will be supporting to this Bill. We have nothing really further to add to this debate.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment No. 2) Act 2014.

Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2014 –

2130 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice of the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

International Co-operation (Tax Information) (Amendment) Act 2014 –

2140 Minister of for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the International Co-operation (Tax Information) Act 2009 be read a first time.

2145 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the International Co-operation (Tax Information) Act 2009 be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The International Co-operation (Tax Information) (Amendment) Act 2009.

International Co-operation (Tax Information) (Amendment) Act 2014 –
Second Reading approved

2150 Minister of for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill be now read a second time.

Mr Speaker, the Act contains a definition of Minister currently as the Minister with responsibility for Finance. As the House knows, there was a reshuffle on 9th December 2011 whereby specific responsibility for international exchange of information was created and given Ministerial responsibility and I was tasked with that job.

2155 Therefore, given that we now have a Minister with responsibility for International Exchange of Information, it is appropriate that that is the Minister that has responsibility under this Act and therefore the definition of the Minister in this Act is simply amended to reflect the change in Cabinet responsibilities in this area.

2160 Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the International Co-operation (Tax Information) Act 2009 be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The International Co-operation (Tax Information) (Amendment) Act 2014.

International Co-operation (Tax Information) (Amendment) Act 2014 –

The Hon. the Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB. (Laughter)

2175

Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): I think if I am responsible for the GSB I had better resign, Mr Speaker. (Laughter)

I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Parliament Act be read a first time.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Parliament Act be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Parliament (Amendment) Act 2014.

Parliament (Amendment) Bill 2014 –

Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): I have the honour to move that the Bill be now read a second time.

Mr Speaker, the Bill introduces in respect of Members of this House, the option of being able to commute 100% of their pension which already exists for civil servants and of course existed previously, just for the private sector when the maximum 25% which used to exist for private sector pensions was first removed under the previous Administration.

As the law stands at the moment, section 94(1) has two subsections, (a) and (b). Subsection (a) is the one that limits the commutation to one quarter of the pension as the maximum; and (b) is the multiplier that produces the value of the commutation to produce a gratuity.

What the new provisions do is in fact they reflect in section 1 the provisions that are there and now there is a new section 2 which simply says that the option can be to have 100% commutation and take no income at all.

I commend the Bill to the House.

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

2200

I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Parliament Act be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye. Those against? Carried.)

2210

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I ask the hon. Gentleman... or do you want me to ask it at Committee Stage?

Mr Speaker: Well, really there is only one clause and if you do it in Committee Stage, you can come back to the charge again and again until you understand or whatever point you are making is dealt with.

Hon. D A Feetham: It is about members who are only taking their pensions from –

Mr Speaker: Well, raise the matter in Committee.

COMMITTEE STAGE AND THIRD READING

Royal Gibraltar Regiment (Amendment) Bill 2014;
Tobacco (Amendment) Bill 2014;
Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2014;
International Co-operation (Tax Information) (Amendment) Bill 2014; and Parliament (Amendment) Bill 2014.

2230

Clerk: Committee Stage and Third Reading, the Hon. Chief Minister.

2235

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the House do now resolve into Committee and consider the following Bills, clause by clause, namely: The Gibraltar Regiment (Amendment) Bill 2014; The Tobacco (Amendment No. 3) Bill 2014; The Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2014, The International Co-operation (Tax Information) (Amendment) Bill 2014; and The Parliament (Amendment) Bill 2014.

In Committee of the whole Parliament

Royal Gibraltar Regiment (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Clauses considered and approved

Clerk: (1) A Bill for an Act to amend the Gibraltar Regiment Act 1998.
Clause 1.

2245

2250

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, for the benefit of dealing with this issue in a way that is expeditious and given that hon. Members opposite have the Bill as amended – in other words, they have both the amendment to the principal Act that we are amending in mark-up and they have also this Bill with the amendments marked up and the letter that sets out what amendments are being proposed, which they will have seen deal with the issues I put in the speech.

If they agree, would they take those as read?

Mr Chairman: I think it would be useful if I had a copy of the letter so that I know at which stage which clause is being amended. It makes it easier for me.

I notice therefore, for instance, that in clause 1 there is an amendment which is just a substitution of 2015 for 2014, so do all hon. Members agree with that amendment?

Members: Aye.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, we can treat the letter as effectively he is moving the amendments and we will not have to go through the amendments for every single clause.

2265

Mr Chairman: Right. I think procedurally they should be. What I will do is, with each clause, I will ask hon. Members to agree that the amendment of which the Chief Minister has given notice, be incorporated, be agreed to, without having to actually read it out, okay? But as I say in clause 1 there is this straightforward amendment substituting the year 2015 for 2014 agreed. Okay.

2270

Clerk: Clause 2.

Mr Chairman: Clause 2, do all hon. Members agree with the amendment of which the Chief Minister has given notice? No, there is no amendment to clause 2.

Clause 2 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clause 3.

Mr Chairman: There is an amendment to clause 3 the Chief Minister has circulated. Are all hon Members happy with it? Is there any point they wish to raise?

So, clause 3 as amended stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clauses 4 to 6.

Mr Chairman: Clauses 4 to 6. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Clauses 4 to 6 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clause 7 with amendments.

Mr Chairman: In clause 7 there is an amendment of which the Chief Minister has given notice. Are all Members supporting the amendment? (Members: Aye.)

So clause 7 as amended stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clauses 8 and 9.

Mr Chairman: Clauses 8 and 9 stand part of the Bill.

2295

Clerk: Clause 10 with amendments.

Mr Chairman: Clause 10 an amendment has been circulated by the Chief Minister. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Clause 10 as amended stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clauses 11 to 18.

Mr Chairman: Clauses 11 to 18 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clause 19 with amendments.

Mr Chairman: Clause 19 an amendment has been circulated. Those in favour? (Members: Aye) Those against? Carried.

Clause 19 as amended stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clause 20 with amendments.

Mr Chairman: There is also an amendment to clause 20. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against?

2315

Clause 20 as amended stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clause 21 with amendment.

Mr Chairman: Clause 21 there is a very simple amendment of which notice has been given. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against?

2320

Clause 21 as amended stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clause 22.

2325

Mr Chairman: Clause 22 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: The long title.

Mr Chairman: Stands part of the Bill.

Tobacco (Amendment No. 3) Bill 2014 –
Clauses considered and approved

2330

Clerk: (2) A Bill for an Act to amend the Tobacco Act 1997.
Clause 1.

Mr Chairman: Clause 1 stands part of the Bill.

2335 Clerk: Clause 2 with amendments.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Chairman, yes, there is an amendment that I have spoken to the Hon. Minister for Justice IN RESPECT OF, behind the Speaker's Chair a moment ago, and that is to the amendment to clause 11DA(2).

2340 The amendment currently reads:

'Where a person or vehicle has been stopped pursuant to subsection (1) and police or customs officer' –

I have suggested that we add a so it is 'and a police or customs officer' –

'has reasonable grounds for believing that an offence has been or is being committed, that officer may search that person, any article that person has with him...'

and then it goes on to say 'and any vehicle, including any other persons in that vehicle.'

2345 I suggested to the Hon. Minister that we might want to make clear that it is not just any vehicle in the vicinity other than the one that has been stopped. Therefore I would suggest that it be amended to read 'that officer may search that person, any article that person has with him, the vehicle, including any other persons in that vehicle.'

I can read it again if it would assist.

2350 Mr Chairman: I think the hon. Member needs to write it out, the amendment that he is proposing.

Hon. S M Figueras: I see, Mr Chairman, it is just that we have often done quick amendments like that on the fly.

2355 Mr Chairman: The Government have seen the amendment?

Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, I have consulted with the hon. Member, yes.

2360 Minister for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Chairman, I have discussed it with the hon. Member and I am happy. There is a slight change to the wording used by the hon. Member. Subclause (2), the last two lines should read 'been committed, that officer may search that person, any article that person has with him, the vehicle and any other persons in that vehicle'.

2365 Mr Chairman: I am slightly confused because this is an amendment, I take it, to clause 2. Is that right! Is that the one that I have here from the Chief Minister?

Hon. G H Licudi: Sorry, no. It is an amendment to the current section 11DA –

2370 Mr Chairman: Ah, there is a further amendment to that. Then the correct procedure would therefore be for the Chief Minister to move the amendment of which I have been given notice and then for the hon. Member with having that amendment before the Committee, for the hon. Member to move an amendment to this amendment. That is the correct procedure.

2375 Chief Minister (Hon F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I think that that is what we were taking as having happened, although I had not formally moved the amendment. You are right, we moved straight into it and into discussion of it (Mr Chairman: Right.) But I think we were all of that mind which you rightly set out now for the record.

2380 Mr Chairman: Okay. So, let me then put to the House the Chief Minister's amendment of which notice has been given as amended by the Hon. Selwyn Figueras amendment. Is that clear? Those in favour? Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

So clause 2 as amended stands part of the Bill.

2385 Clerk: The long title.

Mr Chairman: Stands part of the Bill.

2405 Mr Chairman: Stands part of the Bill.

Parliament (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Clauses considered and approved

Clerk: (5) A Bill for an Act to amend the Parliament Act.
Clauses 1 and 2.

2410 Mr Chairman: Now in respect of clause 2, I think the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition wishes to raise a matter.

2415 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, I just wanted to ask Minister Bossano whether any of these amendments affect the rights of those that have retired already. Government Ministers, Members of Parliament that have retired and are already in receipt of their pension, whether they can at some stage now take commuted pension or whether this only affects those who are not of retirement age at the present moment and are not taking any pension at the present moment.

2420 Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): I think it is clear that it is not retrospective, just like the one for the Civil Service. I mean there were people who retired a day before the provision was introduced in the Civil Service Pensions Act and they had either elected the maximum they were then allowed which was 25% or a lower figure, but they were not able to come back and say, 'Well, I would like to make use of the new provision.' Partly because I suppose once the pension has been paid, how do you go back?

2425 Mr Chairman: Clause 2 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: The long title.

2430 Mr Chairman: Stands part of the Bill.

Royal Gibraltar Regiment (Amendment) Bill 2014; Tobacco (Amendment) Bill 2014; Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2014; International Co-operation (Tax Information) (Amendment) Bill 2014; and Parliament (Amendment) Bill 2014 –
Third Readings approved: Bills passed

2435 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to report that The Royal Gibraltar Regiment (Amendment) Bill 2014; The Tobacco (Amendment) Bill 2014; The Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2014, The International Co-operation (Tax Information) (Amendment) Bill 2014; and The Parliament (Amendment) Bill 2014 have been considered in Committee and agreed to with amendments and I now move that they be read a third time and passed.

2440 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that The Royal Gibraltar Regiment (Amendment) Bill 2014; The Tobacco (Amendment No. 3) Bill 2014; The Criminal Procedure and Evidence (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2014, The International Co-operation (Tax Information) (Amendment) Bill 2014; and The Parliament (Amendment) Bill 2014 be read a third time and passed. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

There is no need to take an individual vote for each of the Bills, since hon. Members are all agreed.

GOVERNMENT MOTION

Royal Anglian Regiment –
Conferring of Freedom of the City of Gibraltar – Motion carried unanimously

Clerk: Government Motion. The Hon. the Chief Minister.

2450 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo) Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move the motion standing in my name, which reads as follows:

'This House:

WELCOMES the long and historic relationship between the Royal Anglian Regiment (and its forerunner Regiments) and Gibraltar;

RECALLS that throughout the 18th and 19th centuries, regiments from the Royal Anglian counties of Essex, Northamptonshire, Suffolk, Lincolnshire and Norfolk were posted to Gibraltar to defend the Rock and its people;

RECALLS that both the XII Regiment, the forerunner of the Suffolk Regiment, and the 56th Foot, the forerunner of the Essex Regiment, defended Gibraltar during the Great Siege of 1779-1783 and that the XII Regiment formed the main body of the Grand Sortie of November 1781;

TAKES NOTE that in recognition of the efforts of the XII Regiment the "Castle and Key" and the name "Gibraltar" were taken as its crest, and that the former remains there to this day in the Royal Anglian regimental crest;

RECALLS that in May 1969 a formal affiliation was announced between the Royal Anglian Regiment and the then Gibraltar Regiment and that there have been many instances of Royal Gibraltar Regiment soldiers serving abroad with the Royal Anglians in places like Northern Ireland, Germany, Cyprus, Belize, Bosnia, Iraq and Afghanistan;

DECLARES that the Freedom of the City of Gibraltar be conferred on the Royal Anglian Regiment in view of its historic and close connection with Gibraltar and its people.'

2455 Mr Speaker, this is a motion the text of which to a very great extent speaks for itself. The people of Gibraltar have long and historic links, not just with the United Kingdom but with the Ministry of Defence in particular and with parts of the Ministry of Defence who have been particularly responsible for the defence and protection of Gibraltar and its people at some key times in our history.

Mr Speaker, the Ministry of Defence in Gibraltar still celebrates the Grand Sortie of November 1781 in some style, as I was able to attest to this year and I think the Leader of the Opposition was with me as we enjoyed a sumptuous banquet in St Michael's Cave, demonstrating the importance of that date, even in these times of austerity for the Ministry of Defence, the Grand Sortie is an important date in history.

Mr Speaker, the Anglians were here then and they were here at other important times in the history of Gibraltar, that those who understand how it is that in military terms, the defence of this fortress has been achieved, sometimes in light of almost impossible odds, will recognise the importance of the links that we continue to enjoy with key regiments such as the Royal Anglians, one of the few Regiments that has not disappeared in recent amalgamations etc. of the UK Infantry.

Mr Speaker, in the circumstances, I do not propose to say anything more but I do understand that this motion will be enjoying the support of the whole House as it should and that we will all be very pleased indeed when we are able to make the arrangements for members of the Royal Anglian Regiment serving today to come to Gibraltar to receive the Freedom of the City on behalf of this Parliament on behalf of the people of Gibraltar and to exercise their right to the Freedom of the City of Gibraltar and parade up Main Street, whether or not they bring their sheep with them.

Mr Speaker: I now propose a question in the terms of the motion moved by the Chief Minister. Does any hon. Member wish to contribute?

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, yes, simply to associate the Opposition with the words of the Hon. the Chief Minister and to confirm that we will be supporting this motion. He is absolutely right when he says that the text of the motion speaks for itself, its contents are very clear and there is nothing really to add, other than to point out that as a result of some research that I did in preparation for the motion, that it says that the name Gibraltar was taken as its crest and that the former remains there until this day in the Royal Anglian Regimental Crest. Also to point out that the Garrison Headquarters in Suffolk, is also called the Gibraltar Barracks, so the Opposition will be supporting this particular motion.

Mr Speaker: Any other hon. Member wish to contribute to the motion? The Hon. Mr Bossano. (Laughter and banging on desks)

Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): Yes, Mr Speaker, I would just like to add one bit of the history of the Anglian Regiment that I do not think has been reflected, of which I have personal first-hand knowledge. That is when I did the compulsory military service in 1958, (Laughter) the 20th intake converted from being artillery to being infantry and the Royal Anglian Regiment had somebody seconded to Gibraltar to convert us into riflemen or artillery men, which you went from being gunners to being part of the regiment and therefore they made an important contribution to the transition of the Gibraltar Regiment into what it then became, an important part of the British Army and the only thing that they failed singularly in was in converting me into a disciplined soldier. (Laughter and banging on desks) Apart from that they were...

Hon. E J Reyes: And shall I also add, Mr Speaker, because I have also had my service, alas way after the Hon. Minister – I did from 1974 to 1980 – and it was actually the Royal Anglians who had posted to Gibraltar a Warrant Officer First Class who served at the time as a Regimental Sergeant Major. He was instrumental in preparing the first local Gibraltarian and locally enlisted member of the Gibraltar Regiment and therefore it was enacted through Bob Randall having become the first Gibraltarian Regimental Sergeant Major thanks in many ways to the training given to him by the Royal Anglian Regiment.

Mr Speaker: Does the mover wish to reply?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, only to thank hon. Members who have spoken for their support and to say that anybody who has been able to persuade Mr Bossano of anything, even if it is just to go from Artillery to Infantry and not then to become a soldier as he suggested, deserves much more than the Freedom of the City and therefore the case is proven for the Royal Anglians to have this award.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question in the terms of the motion moved by the Hon. Chief Minister. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.
The Hon. the Chief Minister.

PERSONAL STATEMENT BY THE LEADER OF THE OPPOSITION

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker.

2520 Mr Speaker: Yes.

Hon. D A Feetham: I have given notice that I wish to make a Personal Statement before the House is adjourned.

2525 Mr Speaker: Please do.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, yes. Mr Speaker, we were on the subject matter earlier about Members of Parliament making themselves responsible for statements that they make in this House.

2530 I have now had an opportunity of looking at Hansard and it is simply not the case that I challenged the Hon. Minister Bossano to a mano a mano, it was the reverse. I do not say that in any way criticising Minister Bossano, because from my point of view that is a matter that is in the past, but of course I need to set the record straight.

2535 If he wants me to read from Hansard I can, but that is the position and I want him to know so much that it is a matter in the past for me, that actually I view it as one of those episodes in this House that I have personally taken in a light-hearted way and it has lifted some of the seriousness that we often see in this House. So much so that I have an article from the press with his head and my head over two boxes and the article next to it, on my corridor in my house. So I do not say this out of any sense of spite or anything like that, but of course I need to set the record straight, Mr Speaker, because I have had an opportunity to look at Hansard.

2540 In relation to Victor Ochello, if in any way, if the Hon. the Chief Minister says that Mr Victor Ochello was not there at the Madrid event, then I apologise for having mentioned him in circumstances where he was not there. I did not mention him from a point of view of criticising Mr Victor Ochello; it was just simply an example that I used from somebody that I thought was there because I had seen photographs from the Gibraltar Chronicle but obviously if I am mistaken. I have absolutely no hesitation in withdrawing the reference to Mr Ochello.

2545 But those are the two statements that I wish to make.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Well, Mr Speaker, I do not know what it is that the hon. Member says that he said which he has now clarified. I think he has just insisted that what he said was the right thing all along because his position it appears has not changed and he has just got up to tell us he was right, I think. But anyway let us take that remark in the way that I think it was intended and move on from the matter.

2550 I am delighted to hear that he has that picture in his home, in his corridor and we all look back sometimes affectionately on things that we have said to each other in haste and in this place and we on this side have absolutely no problem in accepting that in that way because in all of those heads to heads we have always won, so it does not matter. (Laughter)

ADJOURNMENT

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): And, Mr Speaker, in the same spirit, trusting that the hon. Gentleman will reflect, realise that we are not in fact skint, we can afford the electricity and we will be back here next month, I now move that the House do adjourn sine die.

Mr Speaker: I now propose the question, which is that the House do now adjourn sine die.

2565 I now put the question, which is that this House do now adjourn sine die. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Passed.

The House will now adjourn sine die.

The House adjourned at 6.55 p.m.

Questions for Oral Answer

FINANCIAL SERVICES AND GAMING

Q240/2015

International online gaming conference – Plans to provide Clerk: We begin the session with Question 240/2015, the Hon. D J Bossino.

30

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Financial Services please state when it is intended to provide an annual international online gaming conference?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

35

Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Yes, Mr Speaker. Government has reviewed its original plans and moved forward in the following manner.

40

Firstly, both in October 2013 and 2014, Government hosted a ‘Gaming Breakfast’ around the Gibraltar Day in London with operators, regulators and professionals working in the gaming sector. The breakfasts were both addressed by the Chief Minister and myself and served as an opportunity to engage directly with existing and potential clients of Gibraltar. This was the first time such an event had been organised and was much welcomed by the gaming community. (A Member: Hear, hear.)

45

Secondly, Mr Speaker, Government has explored the hosting of an international gaming conference in Gibraltar with the sector and rather than compete with the existing leading International Gaming Conference in Gibraltar, which is now in its fifth year, Government has agreed to join forces and support the KPMG e-Summit on 23rd April 2015.

50

This means that we will jointly be expanding the original plans for this conference and inviting speakers from Gibraltar and internationally to address the event in areas such as responsible gambling and exploring the benefit of potential links, for example between the University of Gibraltar and the gaming community.

55

We are also expecting to launch at the event, our consultation process on the way forward for the gaming community and will be hosting a dinner for all delegates. This will enable us to support and use the existing conference for raising issues of importance to Government in the gaming sector, in total partnership with the private sector.

60

We believe this approach has worked well in the past and we are looking forward to the April Conference, after which we will evaluate and determine in full consultation with the GBGA and the sector whether the arrangements required are to be reviewed or improved.

65

Hon. D J Bossino: I am very grateful to the Hon. Minister for that very full reply and I am sure that what he said is very good for the industry.

70

But he started off his answer by saying that the Government had reviewed its original plans and the reason he may have suspected why I asked the question is because it arises from...it's a manifesto commitment. It is in terms of providing the organisation of a Gibraltar Annual International Conference in gaming in Gibraltar, was that the original plan which he has now tweaked and amended? Can he just explain what the original plan was which he has now decided to re-evaluate and change?

75

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the intention was to ensure that Gibraltar had an international gaming conference. We are now satisfied that we do have a very successful one in its fifth year.

80

When we went through this and we discussed it with the sector, the thought of competing with the established sector, which has been supported by the private sector for some years now and invested substantially in it, it would have been unfair for us to compete with it by having a second conference in Gibraltar.

85

Consequently the decision was taken to pool resources together, use it for the things we want to use it for and also what the private sector requires too. So it made enormous sense and saved cost in having the two brought together and having one extremely good conference, which we hope to have at the end of next month.

90

Hon. D J Bossino: Just for clarification, that is the KPMG one you refer to?

Hon. A J Isola: Yes.

80 Hon. D J Bossino: Great.

Q241/2015
UK's Diverted Profits Tax –
Potential effect on Gibraltar

Clerk: Question 241, the Hon. D J Bossino.

85 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Financial Services please advise whether the Government has made any assessment regarding the potential effect of the UK's Diverted Profits Tax, otherwise known as the 'Google' Tax?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

90 Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I confirm that the Government has had preliminary conversations on this matter with specific members of the industry.

We are advised that this tax, when it comes into force – and obviously there were budget announcements yesterday by the Chancellor of the Exchequer in the UK – will focus mainly on the avoidance of tax by royalties and management charges through, typically, companies established primarily in Luxembourg and Ireland. It remains to be seen how aggressively this legislation will be applied by the United Kingdom and whether they will be successful in doing so.

95 I can also confirm that this matter has not yet been flagged as a specific discussion point at any Finance Centre Council meeting by the industry. We are also considering this matter in the context of the related OECD initiative on Base Erosion Profits Shifting (BEPS), which continues to evolve as a global effort to deal with similar issues.

100

Q242-243/2015
Experienced Investor Funds –
Applications, enquiries, registrations and de-registrations since 2011

Clerk: Question 242, the Hon. D J Bossino.

105 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Financial Services please provide details of all applications and enquiries there have been in relation to the establishment of EIFs in Gibraltar since 2011, broken down by year?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

110 Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Yes, Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 243.

Clerk: Question 243, the Hon. D J Bossino.

115 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Financial Services please provide details of the number of EIFs which have been registered and de-registered in Gibraltar over the last five years?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

120 Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the details of all the applications there have been in relation to the establishing of EIFs including sub-funds in Gibraltar since 2011, broken down year by year, are as follows: 2015 – 1 to date; 2014 – 37; 2013 – 31 – 2012 – 55; 2011 – 61; and 2010 – 63. There is no specific information available on enquiries.

125 With regard to the number of EIFs which have been registered and de-registered in Gibraltar over the last five years, these are as follows: from 1st January 2011 to date, EIFs registered – 76; and EIFs de-registered 63, producing a net gain of 13.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the response. In fact many of the statistics he gave in the first tranche of these questions, exactly, are available on the FSC website, so technically the question should not have been on the Order Paper, because it is publicly available, but I am grateful in any event for the hon. Member to have provided this information across the floor of the House.

I must say, for example, there has been a drop, it seems, in the number of the EIFs from 2011. We had 88 according to the... I have not taken a full note of the information he has given me and I think there is a slight discrepancy, but in the FSC website it shows 88. Well actually no, an increase by eight to 2012 and then a decrease by seven to 2013.

I just wanted to get an understanding if he would have been able to have answered the question in relation to how many enquiries there have been to see what level of interest there is. It may be that come a year's time, we will see those numbers increasing drastically, or not, is this a trend – those types of questions which I think, I legitimately, have in my own mind. So I am wondering whether he can give any further information in relation to enquiries and whether it would be of interest for the Government to start collating that type of information in the future?

Hon. A J Isola: Yes, Mr Speaker, I think the issue of funds is one that has troubled the sector for some years now. We have always talked about the enormous potential the funds community has and yet we never seem to hit the potential that we all feel that we have, because when you do a jurisdictional comparison of Gibraltar and other centres, in terms of what the Gibraltar fund product is, it is pretty difficult to beat.

Consequently we all ask ourselves why, in those circumstances, we are not reaching the success levels that we think we should. This is something that we have discussed at length with GFIA and with the sector more generally, as to whether there is something in the product that we should be revisiting, is there something in how it has been structured that we should be revisiting? Is it the cost? What is the issue that is holding us back in terms of EIFs?

Interestingly, the implementation of the AIFM Directive which we did in July of last year, we expected to be a catalyst for funds in Gibraltar. In fact what it has been shown to have done is almost the reverse, which is a number of funds that were here before have actually left to avoid AFIM, because they were not primarily focused within the EU, which we expected the reverse of.

So when you look at why it is that we are not getting the numbers that we think we should be getting, there is more work to be done with GFIA in particular, in assessing and reviewing the product itself which we are in the process of doing. One of the things we have targeted this year has been three conferences called the Hedge Fund Start-up Forums, which is really going back to the root of where funds are born from. We believe that could be interesting to see again, hand in hand with GFIA and the private sector in exploring whether the start-up forum is a better place for us to attend than the more established fund conferences. So it is something that we have been thinking about, we have been considering for some time, as I say working very closely with GFIA.

Interestingly, another aspect which I think is important is the Stock Exchange. We believe that the Stock Exchange will be a catalyst to Gibraltar's use of funds, certainly in my visit to Hong Kong last January, that was one of the key issues that attracted a huge amount of attention. We note from that visit alone, when we talk about enquiries, there are two very interesting investment firms who we met during the course of one of our lunches, who are engaged with professionals in Gibraltar, talking through the possibility of setting up in Gib.

We believe that actually to bring investment managers to Gib is what will kick off the setting up of more funds because they themselves will launch those funds from Gibraltar, rather than seeking to attract the fund itself, which has proven to be so difficult over the past years.

So all of these things are very much under consideration and we are exploring ways in which we can help the industry to kick start it. The funds lunch we did in London was hugely successful. The funds events that we are hosting are proving to be – in the words of the sector – very beneficial, but we are not seeing that translated into new EIFs.

Now, of course, we have to bear in mind that the EIFs are not just EIFs. You have got private funds which are unregulated, which are happening and which are not included in these numbers, but again, not at the level that we would like to see them at.

And so we will continue to work very closely with GFIA, to see what are the things that we need to do to try and make this product work better on the back of AIFM, on the back of the Stock Exchange and on the back of more targeted marketing, which is what we are in the process of doing.

May I just say in relation to enquiries – the hon. Member raised the point on enquiries – we have asked the FSC to begin to collate information which may be of assistance to us in terms of the enquiries they receive. We do know from members of the private sector that they are working on a series of new funds coming into Gib, but again, like anything, it is very difficult to establish until you see them. These things can change course at the last minute.

190 One that I have been engaged with in the last week could be a very quick private fund that is set up in Gibraltar as a result of enquiries, but it is very difficult to... The information will be useful but in terms of the noise that we get from the sector, it is very difficult to pin anything on it because until it happens, it is not really reliable in terms of assistance to us.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, I have got a number of supplementaries, if I may.

195 This is a subject that is very close to my heart. He may know that I chaired the working group on the establishment of the Experienced Investor Fund structure here in Gibraltar in 2005 and indeed, was one of the co-authors of the original regulations – the Experienced Investor Regulations that were introduced, I think it was in 2005/2006. Indeed, prior to becoming a Government Minister, I think I had set up over half of the Experienced Investor Funds in Gibraltar. Like the hon. Gentleman has said, I expected it to really take off, so that this would become really one of the main pillars of the financial services sector and it appears that unfortunately it has not.

200 But can he just explain, because I do not quite understand it, how will the establishment of the Stock Exchange actually aid the Experienced Investor Funds and the sale of the Experienced Investor Funds, when most of these Experienced Investor Funds really have private placement memorandums? Are we talking about the sale of units in Experienced Investor Funds through the Stock Exchange, just a valuation that will help in terms of...? Can he explain that, because I do not understand it?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the first phase of the Stock Exchange listing process is closed ended funds. In other words there is no trading so the benefit of the listing for managers seeking to raise investment in their funds is almost like a second tier of KYC due diligence and transparency. It means that the fund itself has succeeded in a listing which has been successful in its pre-qualification stage to list on an exchange.

210 So in terms of investor confidence, it helps. What the sector tells me is that the Stock Exchange enables you not to just have that, but also to have external funds not registered in Gib listed on the Exchange. So it could bring a different type of business to Gib that could not have been done without an Exchange. That is why I say I think it would be a catalyst, if what I am told again from the private sector... I am told there are a number of funds from Luxembourg – a small number, three or four who are currently considering listing on the Gibraltar Exchange. Luxembourg funds, not EIFs, so I am talking about the funds community, as opposed to the EIF.

215 As I mentioned before the EIF regime, for whatever reason, does not do what we thought it would do, going back to 2006, and to be honest every year since. But interestingly, if I can just give you another statistic, the number of investment firms registering or applying in Gibraltar has increased, which is from zero in 2009, one in 2010, one in 2011, three in 2012, three in 2013, five in 2014 and one in 2015. Still small numbers, but an indication that there are more investment firms coming to Gib, which hopefully will assist in the lifting of the registration of EIFs in Gibraltar.

225 Hon. D A Feetham: We are talking effectively about two separate issues. We are talking in a global context, I accept that. But we are talking about Experienced Investor Funds, which are targeted at experienced investors with a minimum investment of usually about $100,000 or €100,000 and then you are talking about funds that may well be, for example, listed for valuation purposes and all the other purposes the hon. Gentleman has outlined, on the Stock Exchange, that may be sold not to just simply experienced investors, the people who want to invest really large sums of money in very focused funds, but also UCITS funds or funds that are available to members of the public.

230 It may well be that effectively the Experienced Investor Funds – I am just asking the hon. Gentleman to perhaps comment on this – the Experienced Investor Funds regime, turns out to be a niche market in Gibraltar, a part of the range of services that are offered by the financial services sector, but that in terms of funds, for Gibraltar to become a funds jurisdiction of renowned... and with sufficient mass to make it really one of the main pillars of the economy, one really has to branch out into other types of funds which will overtake the Experienced Investor Funds, which have been the staple product for those who are practising in the area of funds.

240 Is that how he sees it, that really what we are talking about is trying to do as much as we can in order to attract other types of funds, rather than the Experienced Investor Funds which, for whatever reason, he has not been able to pinpoint a reason, it almost remains stuck at 2011? I have seen the figures at 2011 levels for the last four years and certainly, as I have accepted in my previous question, it did not take off after 2005 in the manner that we wanted it to take off.

245 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I think the hon. Member has raised a number of interesting points. The first one is he has mentioned UCITS. When you move forward with AIFM, what we are finding is that more and more managers are finding it almost easier to set up a small UCIT than an AIFM, because obviously the standards for AIFMs have increased. UCITS are now a very popular and common way of setting up these retail funds and you can have a private fund, an AIFM, as a UCIT. So the competition for what we are selling increases to then decrease.

250 At the same time, as the hon. Member will know, in the same way that we have got EIFs, Luxembourg has them, Ireland has them, there are a lot of jurisdictions with the QIFs, the PIFs, all variations of the same EIF term. And so when you talk about niche, it is what we conceived in 2006 to have a niche area for these Experienced Investor Funds, for people with enormous experience in the investment sector to be able to set up their own niche funds, primarily designed at people who would be leaving, asset managers leaving a big institution and setting up their own small fund, bringing some clients with them and kick-starting and building up their own track record.

255 It has not happened and that is the honest truth. If you look at the levels of competition and where they are coming from, it is not going to get easier, because primarily of UCITS, and although there is certainly an angle with AIFM for us, which is hence the focus in places like New York, Bermuda and Hong Kong – non-EU jurisdictions that want a speed to market in a relatively cost-effective way to hit the market – Gibraltar remains in competition with primarily Dublin, as the main centre for that to happen.

260 That is why we are working with GFIA very hard, to see if we can try and secure at least that entry point into Europe from those jurisdictions. But as you know, it is a long process. You do not start marketing and results start coming three months later. We are now getting traction and I am hopeful that in a year's time, those numbers will be different. But we have just got to get our heads down and work very closely with GFIA and see how far we can go and take this. I cannot make any promises but that is what we are doing.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, certainly to the extent that it is necessary, the hon. Gentleman will have all the support possible from the Opposition, because at the end of the day we will have a vested interest in seeing this particular product and other products succeed in Gibraltar. So I wish him all the best and all the success.

270 But in relation to just statistics for one moment, he said there was a net gain of 13. Is that correct when you take into account PCCs? Because for members of the public perhaps watching this debate, if anybody is – 275 Mr Speaker: It is not a debate; it is answering questions.

Hon. D A Feetham: Questions, I apologise, Mr Speaker – questions absolutely, no debate. No debate this morning or this afternoon.

280 Mr Speaker: We shall see. (Laughter)

Hon. D A Feetham: A PCC – yes, we shall see if we can be as restrained as we have been in the last few months, Mr Speaker. (Laughter)

285 For members of the public watching, a PCC – you can set up a company and that company will have a number of cells underneath it, each cell a little sub-fund. But effectively, what you have is just one company. So of course, from a statistical point of view if each of the little cells, if you have one company with five cells, that can distort the statistics in terms of how many, effectively, funds are actually coming into Gibraltar.

290 How many of these...? Does this take into account, factor into, protected cell companies so that the net gain is after you take into account those sub-funds?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, as I said in the first line of my answer, the details of the applications are in relation to establishing the EIFs including sub-funds. The numbers that we have been talking about throughout the whole course of the morning are EIFs including the sub-funds that you have referred to.

So when I talk about producing a net gain of 13, that is solely in respect of the EIFs registered and de-registered. So it does include sub-funds, the whole way through the numbers we have been talking about include the sub-funds.

300 Hon. D A Feetham: That is what I thought. In other words, effectively if you just treated those sub-funds under this one company as effectively one unit, because you are talking about one company with, for example, five sub-funds, then the statistics may well show a deficit.

305 I really am not saying this from the point of view of criticising the Government or anything like that, I just want to get an idea of the statistics. Because if it is inclusive of sub-funds, then of course that must be so, because I expect that out of that 76 there has to be a substantial number that are sub-funds within one umbrella company.

310 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the same is true both ways, to the extent that if you include sub-funds, it could distort in the manner that you have just mentioned. If you do not, it could distort the other way in terms of not really reflecting the number of funds there are, whether there is funds or sub-funds. The issue with sub-funds really is that a core company, the PCC itself, could have five different funds with different investment strategies, different investors and so for those purposes, it is easier for us to just deal with the sub-funds and have the full number so that we know what we are talking about, and we are using the same numbers across the board.

315 If we begin to talk about funds and then sub-funds, it will complicate it and we will not be comparing like with like. For that reason I have used sub-funds throughout. As the hon. Member, Mr Bossino mentioned earlier, the numbers of both are on the website, so they are there on the FSC website so you can see the funds themselves and the sub-funds themselves. So if you want that distinction, I do not have it here with me but it is available on the website.

320 Hon. D A Feetham: And is it possible to do the calculation? I have not looked at the table; I have only come into this exchange as a consequence of the questions that are being asked. But is it possible to calculate the difference? Because what I am interested in is effectively what has been the net gain.

325 To a certain extent, I understand the hon. Gentleman's argument in relation to the distortion working both ways. I do not quite agree with it because of course when you talk about inward investment, when you have one... Effectively there is a series of investors comes in, sets up one company and then, underneath... – (Interjection) Well the people that set up the company are the investment managers or..., exactly, and that is how one looks at, in my view, the inward investment.

330 That investment manager may then have five different investment strategies. One in relation to property, another one in relation to future, something else, so to get a true reflection of whether there is a net gain or a net deficit, I think one also has to look at the question of the companies themselves that are effectively being set up, rather than the sub-funds.

335 It is not intended to criticise the Government in any way, shape or form. It is just intended to give me and indeed my Party and Mr Bossino who is dealing with this, a clearer reflection both ways, it has to be said, about what the net gain or the net deficit has been for Gibraltar.

340 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I do not agree with the analysis the hon. Member has made because a core company, a PCC is set up by an investment manager who may then have ten different clients with ten different cells. So what is the difference between that and that same investment manager setting up ten funds?

In terms of analysing what it is that is happening, I think the inclusion of sub-funds gives us a much clearer picture than not including it. Having said that, I do not know what the answer to the question is in terms of whether it is more or less. I do not know that answer.

345 But as I have said before, the information is on the website, it can be looked at and questions can be raised next time. But I do not agree with that analysis because as I said before, the investment manager could choose to have ten different funds or ten sub-funds.

350 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member made a comment I think in answer to one of my supplementary questions, that in relation to one of the fund conferences, he described it as being hugely successful and I just wanted to explore that a bit further, given what he said in relation to this particular area not kicking off, and he has admitted that, quite rightly so.

So on what basis is he making that analysis? Is it just simply on the basis of the attendance figures or is there something else that he can provide to this House?

355 Hon. A J Isola: No, I said as a result of that conference, I am aware of a number of companies from that jurisdiction who are potentially going to be listing on the Stock Exchange and there are also two investment firms that are in touch with local professionals. I understand the professionals are actually going to be flying to that jurisdiction this month to see if they can pursue those firms moving to Gibraltar. In that sense, I said it was hugely successful, because there is real traction and it looks like real business.

360 But at the same token, as I say that, I say that we cannot really call it a success until we have seen it delivered and that obviously is in the lap of the gods at this moment in time.

365 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am grateful. Just one final supplementary: the one aspect of this discussion that we are having during Question Time this morning that we have not yet touched upon, but I am certain has been in previous exchanges on the subject, is the impact on the net asset value of the funds registered in Gibraltar.

I wonder, it may well be that the hon. Member does not have the information at his disposal and certainly it is something that we can file in a question come May, but given that in 2015 to date there is only

370 one new fund registered – I seem to recall from the original answer that the hon. Member gave – could the Minister provide any information in relation to the impact on net asset values of the trends that we are seeing?

375 Hon. A J Isola: I assume by that you mean assets under management by all the funds pooled together.
It is on the website, because I have seen it on the website. I cannot recall what the numbers are because there are two numbers that they have: one is asset under management; another one is total assets, which obviously differentiates. But no, I do not have that information available but it is on the website.

Q244/2015

Gibraltar International Bank –
Costs of construction works

Clerk: Question 244, the Hon. D J Bossino.

380 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Financial Services please provide an update as to the current and budgeted costs of the construction works relating to the Gibraltar International Bank?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

385 Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Yes, Mr Speaker, the certified expenditure to date is £3,599,502 and the estimated budget cost is £5,208,979.

Q245/2015

Gibraltar International Bank – Update on opening

Clerk: Question 245, the Hon. D J Bossino.

390 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Financial Services please provide an update as to when he expects that the Gibraltar International Bank will open?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

395 Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the bank will open to the general public one month after the completion of the construction works at Inces House. The project management team are confident that the building will be handed over to the executive team at the bank on Monday, 30th March. If this is the case – and we fully expect it to be – the bank will be open to the public towards the end of April of this year.

400 I would like to take this opportunity to thank the contractors GJBS and the project management team for the excellent work they have carried out at Inces House in what has been a short period of time and I look forward to seeing the premises completed later this month.

I trust Members opposite will want to join me in welcoming their work and looking forward to the imminent opening of the bank.

405

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, just by way of confirmation and acknowledgements perhaps on his part, will he acknowledge that there has been a slight delay in terms of the intended opening time. I think the original – if I recall, I have not checked Hansard – but I think on at least two occasions, he said that he was quite confident that the opening month would be March and there is a slight delay in relation to that to April. It is not significant and just to confirm that.

410 And also... well, he has already answered it, that the project managers are confident that they will be delivering the project on 13th March and it will take a month to open, presumably at the end of April, I think he said.

415 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, there has been a delay in the works and the reason for the delay stems back to the original date that we managed to get vacant possession of the premises for. There were a number of relocations that had to be done which took us significantly longer than we thought it would and so the construction works have been done in a very, very short period of time because unfortunately, the vacant possession was not given until last summer, so there has been a delay, not in the works but in the delivery of the site to the contractors enabling them to do their works.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, yes. May I start by congratulating the Hon. Minister for being able to hold at bay the Father of the House in not preventing any overtime at this particular site, as has happened on other Government sites across Gibraltar where overtime has been halted.

But can I ask him this: is it going to open in April for all intended services, for a limited amount of services and then there will be an expansion of offerings as time goes by, or is it open to business for everything that the bank intends to do, as from April?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I think that there is perhaps a slight misunderstanding when the hon. Member refers to overtime, because when you enter into a design and build contract, it is a fixed price and therefore if you stop overtime, you are actually going to be adding to your own cost. So that certainly has not happened on this site or indeed any other sites where there has been a design and build contract.

Where overtime has simply got out of hand in traditional build contracts, then I think the justifiable step would be to stop overtime and I think the hon. Members opposite should be congratulating us if indeed we have done that.

In respect of the bank certainly it is a design and build contract at a fixed price and therefore whether there is overtime or not is the contractor's problem, not the Government's problem.

With relation to the services the bank will be offering, when the bank opens its doors on 30th or towards the end of April, the phase one suite of services will be there and ready, in terms of retail banking, loans, mortgages, on-line banking with a phone app, all of those suite of services will be there.

In terms of what will happen in phase two later on which could be wealth management, all those sorts of things which we have not even sought a licence for yet, those will come later. But in terms of what we intended to start, which is a fully fledged retail bank, that will be with effect from the opening of the doors, yes.

Clerk: That concludes questions to the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

BUSINESS AND TRAINING

Q186/2015

Employment vacancies – Availability to job seekers

Clerk: We now move to Question 186/2015, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Further to Question 545/2014, can the Minister for Employment please confirm that his Department makes all vacancies available to all those who seek them, irrespective of whether they are in employment?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business, Employment, Skills and Training.

Minister for Business & Training (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, I can confirm that the Department of Employment makes all vacancies available to persons who are registered in the Department and actively seeking a job, irrespective of whether the person is in employment or not.

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, Mr Speaker, that is the answer I expected and indeed that is the answer that in summarised form is the one that his colleague, the Hon. Mr Bossano gave me back in –

Mr Speaker: Yes, and may I remind the hon. questioner that he asked that series of supplementaries last October. So it is within the six-month rule, therefore he should ask new questions and not go over the same old ground, not ask the same supplementary but new ones.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, you are absolutely right in relation to the six-month rule. I will need to check the detail of that particular rule, but it is a further development and the only reason why I ask this question, Mr Speaker – and I am grateful that he is allowing me to pose it in any event, because I am 470 always very conscious of that particular rule – but the reason why I ask is because I continue to receive representations from members of the public that this is indeed happening.

I think what the Hon. Minister Bossano – by way of assistance to the Minister for Employment – told me, as a possible explanation for that, is that what the Department will not do is send them to the places where the vacancies are available and perhaps that is the cause of the confusion.

475 But in any event, he ended the answer to my supplementary in this way, and I wonder whether I can put it to the Minister for Employment whether he could carry out further investigations, where it says:

‘It just that they will not send somebody who is working to vacancies.’

This is the Hon. Mr Bossano:

‘The information on the vacancy is available – and I will go back and check again,’ is what he said, ‘but I am told that when people say, “Well, look, I want to be sent by the Employment Service”, the answer is, “No, we cannot send you.”’, but the vacancies are made available.

480 But I still receive complaints and that is why I ask the question again in relation to this matter. They ask for vacancies and they are not provided to them unless they are unemployed. That is the information I am receiving and is a matter of serious concern and the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition tells me he is also receiving as well.

485 So it must be of concern to both sides of the House, but given that the – it is not – but given that the Hon. Mr Bossano, Minister Bossano (Laughter) – he is nodding his head – said that he would go and check and it is happening, I thought it was appropriate to ask the question.

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, in the first place to reply very briefly to the preface that he is conscious of the six-month bar, I do not think he is, because he has asked the question and he has gone over exactly the same matters which he raised with Minister Bossano, which are recorded in Hansard of 16th October.

490 Therefore, given that he has referred me to that question and answer session, I will reply exactly with what the former Minister for Employment said which was:

‘The rate of jobs taken up by people from the unemployment list is still under 20%.’

which means that the people who find employment are those who are already employed.

495 And in answer to the specific question that he asks me, yes, I can confirm that the Department does make all vacancies available to persons. I have given those instructions and I have no reason to doubt that my instructions are not being carried out.

500 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, does he not accept that even if the vacancies are handed out – and I receive those complaints, the Hon. Mr Bossano receives complaints – that is not the position? That if you are not sending people to those vacancies that they are being disadvantaged, people who are employed are they not being disadvantaged in access to those particular jobs?

505 Because no doubt he will agree with me that people in the private sector are as entitled to improve themselves in life and their lot and the lot of their families as indeed people who are unemployed who deservedly, of course I understand that, need as much assistance from the State as possible in their quest for a job.

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, I cannot but agree with the statement that people who are in employment do have the right absolutely to improve themselves in whatever way they can, certainly to obtain better employment or better terms of employment, which is why the vacancy information is provided to anybody who attends the ETB offices and asks for all of the vacancies.

510 In respect of whether it should be the function of the ETB to send employed people to an employer that has posted a vacancy in the ETB, well, as has been the case since I can recall, the function of the Job Centre, the ETB, is to assist those who are unemployed. What I do in my employment surgeries is that I attend the ETB for the entire day and I meet people who are unemployed. I then ensure that one of the employment officers joins that meeting and during the course... and after they leave the meeting with me, 515 they sit down and they go through all of the vacancies. Then the ETB itself calls the employers who have posted those vacancies and actually arranges the interviews for the unemployed.

520 The function of the ETB, as I see it, certainly, is to be able to assist those who are seeking employment. I suppose that in circumstances where we had double the staff and double the resources, we could help those who are seeking employment who are already employed and those seeking employment who are unemployed. But the former Minister for Employment did bring up what I think is a very important point in this question, which is that for some reason – and given that the statistics are – that it is only 20% of people who are filling the vacancies and therefore 80% of those vacancies are being filled by people who are already in employment, it makes absolute sense that we should be helping those who are not in employment.

525 And for whatever reason, it would appear to me to be a case that being out of a job, interestingly or perversely, is almost a bar to an employer choosing that person. They would rather choose, it seems, from the hard statistics and from my very limited experience, they wish to choose people who are already employed. Of course, people who are already employed can, on their own steam, because they can find the vacancy information at the ETB, do so.

Gibraltar's employment law –
Amending any age bar

530

Clerk: Question 187, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment please state if the Government has any plans to amend those provisions of Gibraltar's employment law which impose an age bar?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business, Employment, Skills and Training.

Minister for Business & Training (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar is considering the Industrial Tribunal's ruling of 6th February of this year, reported in the Gibraltar Chronicle on 10th March of this year.

540

This ruling may have an impact on our employment laws. I have therefore instructed my legal counsel to review the ruling and related legislation. Once this assessment is completed, I will take a view as to whether our employment legislation requires amendment.

SPORTS, CULTURE, HERITAGE AND YOUTH

Q188/2015

Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority – New 'Management Structure'

545

Clerk: Question 188, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to the answer provided to Question 85/2015, can the Minister for Sports update this House as to what stage the new 'Management Structure' discussions in respect of the Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority are currently at?

550

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the answer to this question remains the same as that of my answer to Question 85/2015.

555

Mr Speaker: Can I give the hon. questioner some guidance. As he knows, as a matter of course, I allow him in particular questions where he does refer 'further to the answer provided to question so and so', and I have explained why, because very often the answer is different.

560

But in this case we have an answer which is identical: the position remains the same as that in Question 85. Therefore I must rule that he cannot ask the same question again for six months. He cannot, at the next meeting of the House, say 'Further to the answer provided to Question 188', because the answer provided to Question 188 is the same as the answer provided to Question 85, there is no progress made.

I always allow him to update information that he is seeking, but here we have a different situation. So I must ask him not to refer or bring up this matter again of the management structure for another six months – although of course, he will probably have the opportunity to do so during the Budget session. He can raise the matter then. Is that clear?

570 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I think that we need to exercise some care in relation to this, because I can understand that perhaps in relation to something like the management structure where one would not expect a change within a short period of time, there might be some logic in what Mr Speaker is saying, but I often ask questions about, 'has the position changed?' and the answer –

Mr Speaker: And he does and – 575 Hon. D A Feetham: And I suppose we have got to take it case by case is what I am saying.

Mr Speaker: Because I take it case by case, I am ruling in respect of this particular, and not in respect of others.

580 I do allow him and he knows, I have stated it – I do allow him and any other Members when they want to update information, the question is exactly the same and the only thing that changes is the first few words, 'further to question so and so'. Really, up to a point you are asking the same question. But the answer might be different, because if it is a case of statistical information in particular, in updating that information the answer is different, and that is why I do allow it.

585 But in this case, we have an answer which is totally identical. But as I say, there is no problem and he can raise the matter in June during the Budget session.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes thank you, Mr Speaker.

590 I understand what you are saying. I did actually think about this question and having looked back on the answer, the Minister said that it was work in progress and there was an indication given that it was more or less towards the end of March, the current Financial Year, when he hoped to have had this settled.

Given that we all knew that because of the Easter recess there was going to be no meeting in April, I could not have asked him for an update in May. Now given that there is a lot of public interest from service users, employees and those who potentially would like to become employees of the Sports and Leisure Authority, I asked the question.

595 If Mr Speaker judges the Hon. Minister said the answer remains the same, I have not even pushed him further in any supplementaries because I have taken it that 'the same' means work in progress and I was not going to be pedantic by saying, 'Well you know, you said March and we are now in the second half of March', and so on.

600 But although I understand what Mr Speaker is trying to say, and obviously keeping within the spirit of the six months, I may have to seek his advice behind the Chair, because six months from now could be a very long period. For all I know, during the month of April, the structure could be completed, and yet it would be September before I can even ask about anything that appears in April. So we could talk at a future date on how to pose the question.

605 Mr Speaker: I invite the hon. questioner to seek my advice, if he wants to. He knows that I usually treat him with an air of liberality.

Next question.

Q189/2015
Heritage sites –
Costs of works

610 Clerk: Question 189, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Heritage provide details of all works, together with a breakdown of respective cost undertaken at any heritage related site since the answer provided to Question 91/2015; as well as stating by whom these works were carried out?

615 Mr Speaker: Here we have a case in point. The subject matter of this question is the same as the subject matter of the question that he asked, Question 91. The subject matter is the same. But because during the time that has elapsed there has been further work, the answer has progressed and because the answer has progressed, I do allow it. It is as simple as that and I am sure they will understand. I think it is important that Members should understand the reasoning behind it, okay?

620 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

625 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, further to the answer to Question 91/2015, further works undertaken at heritage sites inclusive of costs and works carried out are: one, actually.

The site is The Grand Battery, Phase 2 External Areas, Gibraltar Regiment Premises; Works – Outline and Scheme Design; Contractor – WSRM Architects Limited; Amount – £10,300.

Mr Speaker, I would also like to add that this will soon be in a website where all these things will be updated on a monthly basis.

Q190/2015
Gibraltar Museum –
Contract for running

630

Clerk: Question 190, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Heritage provide details of any contract entered into or renewed for the running of the Gibraltar Museum?

635

Clerk: Answer, the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, after the repeal of the Gibraltar Culture and Heritage Agency, the running and management of the Gibraltar Museum is carried out by the same entity that was responsible before the agency was constituted.

640

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, from that answer I can deduce that it is Knightsfield Holdings who has it again, but my question does ask for details.

Does the Minister have any details please?

645

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the details are exactly as they were before. That means that they – and he is correct, it is Knightsfield Holdings that are running the museum and they will be running the museum exactly as they used to before. All that has changed is that they were all put into the agency and we have negotiated with them. They are now out of the agency and back happily to where they came from, and the works they used to do.

650

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, I quite understand that, but I think the question is targeted inter alia, amongst other things, at this: has the Government negotiated a contract with Knightsfield Holdings Ltd and what is the term for example of that contract?

655

Hon. S E Linares: Well, Mr Speaker, in relation to the wages and the – (Interjection) yes, I am going to go into the terms, because the Budget is actually part of the terms, and therefore when the contract is signed –

660

Hon. D A Feetham: Will he give way?

Hon. S E Linares: No I will not give way.

Mr Speaker: Order, order. Ask the question again.

665

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, by ‘term’ I do not mean the terms generally; I mean the length of the contract.

Hon. S E Linares: The length of the contract is 20 years.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, 20 years from when? From this year?

Hon. S E Linares: From when it was signed, which is the beginning of September, I think, we negotiated.

675

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I know absolutely nothing about this, but of course we are the Opposition of Gibraltar and anything that ties the Government into long-term contracts we are entitled to scrutinise it.

680 I understand that one of the principals of this company, Mr Finlayson, who does sterling work in relation to his area, I do not know what his age is but he must be late 50s, perhaps early 60s. If we are talking about a contract for 20 years from today, that would take that particular gentleman till the age of 80, presumably well after his retirement.

685 Is the Government satisfied that there are sufficient succession plans within this particular company in order to ensure that the Museum is going to be run properly over the next 20 years, because I accept Mr Finlayson is the right man for the job, but of course, this contract takes him up to the age of 80.

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the contract is not with Mr Finlayson; it is with Knightsfield Holdings and therefore it is Knightsfield Holdings which will then decide who runs the Museum after Mr Finlayson moves – and I hope he lasts a very long time.

690 But there are safeguards within the contract, if you are interested in learning – there are safeguards within the contract that say that suitably qualified people are the only ones that can be part of the company in order to run the Museum. What you cannot have, is Mr Finlayson selling this on to somebody, the Knightsfield Holdings for example, and then be the curator of the Museum. The curator of the Museum is a specific qualification that is needed and there are safeguards within the contract which state that whoever runs the Museum has to be suitably qualified.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I would not believe for one moment that any Government, any reasonably competent Government, would not have terms within the contract preventing an assignment of the contract to a third party, bearing in mind that although this is a contract with a company, effectively the people that run the company are everything to that company and indeed to the contract itself. Because although the Government is entering into a contract with Knightsfield Holdings Limited, it is only doing so because Mr Finlayson has the expertise.

705 In order to properly answer – and with respect, he has not properly answered my question – one has to look at the succession plan within that company itself and Mr Finlayson is late 50s/early 60s. This contract takes him to the age of 80, and I would have expected the reasonably competent Minister, entering into that kind of contract with Knightsfield Holdings Limited, would have asked the question, ‘Well look, it takes you up to the age of 80 – who is there in this company that will be taking over from you, in order to safeguard the safe running and reasonable running of the Museum when you are gone?’ Unless of course, Mr Finlayson has told the hon. Gentleman, ‘Look, I intend to stay until the age of 80.’

710 MR. Speaker: Like Mr Bossano does. (Laughter)

Hon. D A Feetham: Indeed, as Hon. the Father of the House... although he has not got to 80 yet, he is only a sprightly 76 -

715 Hon. S E Linares: Well, Mr Speaker, as a person who does not believe that age makes any difference, I can say to him that there are two options which Knightsfield Holdings can do. Either they have people within their directorship who can take over and qualify themselves if they are not already qualified; or employ someone to be qualified to be able to run the contract.

720 So I think Mr Finlayson is going to last until 80 anyway, and I hope he does, but even so, they have the option whether – and we have discussed this issue with them – they are having a succession plan within already. But should that not work, then Knightsfield Holdings could well employ people who are qualified to run the Museum.

725 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, but Mr Speaker, the more he provides me an answer, the more unfortunately I come to the conclusion that he has not applied his mind to this. Because it is all very well for the hon. Gentleman and we are talking about assets belonging to the people of Gibraltar and the running of assets belonging to the people of Gibraltar and the running of important assets belonging to the people of Gibraltar.

730 And it is all very well for the hon. Gentleman to say to me Knightsfield Holdings has a succession plan. I am asking him, has he seen the succession plan? Is he satisfied that there are people within that organisation that can take over from Mr Finlayson in a properly organised succession plan?

735 Because look, if there is not at the moment anybody within Knightsfield Holdings that can actually do that job after Mr Finlayson has gone, then I would have expected a reasonable Government and a reasonable Minister to have said, ‘Well no, we are not giving you a 20-year contract; we are giving you a

10-year contract, and we will review it at year 8, 9 or 10, when we know that you have got people within your organisation that can safely run the Museum.’

740 Because it strikes me that if Mr Finlayson decides to retire at the age of 70 and the Government or any future Government is not satisfied that there is somebody who is appropriate within Knightsfield Holdings that can run the Museum, you are stuck with a contract for a 20-year period. That is what it appears.

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, that is not correct because he did not listen to what I said before: that there are clauses within the contract that says that you need suitably qualified people.

745 So if the scenario that the hon. Gentleman is saying, that in 10 years’ time Mr Finlayson decides to retire at the age of 70, which I hope he does not, then the Government has the right to say to Knightsfield Holdings, ‘Who is the qualified person that is going to run this place? Let me see the qualifications, let me see...’, because they could employ somebody. If we are not satisfied with the qualifications and the credentials of the person that they are employing, we can terminate the contract. Therefore what you have just said: after ten years a review. Well, after ten years, should Mr Finlayson move, we can review by using 750 those clauses in the contract which say that they need suitably qualified people.

Now, have I discussed a succession plan with Mr Finlayson? Yes, and those are between Mr Finlayson who is the director of Knightsfield Holdings and his team, because he is not the only director; there are three or four other directors. We have discussed it, but these are things that are discussed, we do not need... I do not need to divulge all the things that we have discussed with him, but we have gone through that, and 755 that is why we have added these clauses in the contract.

Q191-192/2015

King’s Bastion Leisure Centre Fitness Gymnasium – Future plans and membership fees

Clerk: Question 191, the Hon. E J Reyes.

760 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can Government state what its plans are for the future of King’s Bastion Leisure Centre Fitness Gymnasium?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

765 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 192/2015.

Clerk: Question 192, the Hon. E J Reyes.

770 Hon. E J Reyes: Can Government explain why payment cheques in respect of membership fees to King’s Bastion Leisure Centre Fitness Gymnasium are now required to be made to LMS (Gib) Ltd?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

775 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the King’s Bastion Leisure Centre Gymnasium which was previously run by the Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority is now operated by LMS (Gib) Ltd.

The future plans for the gymnasium are to increase and improve the services currently being provided.

780 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the hon. Gentleman perhaps tell this House who are behind LMS (Gib) Ltd?

I asked for a company search in relation to this particular company, and I was not able to obtain – and I accept it may be the fault of whoever did the search for me – any information on the company. Perhaps he could provide that information to the House.

785 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the directors of LMS are the two employees who have been running the Leisure Centre since it was opened and they were employees of the GSLA. So basically there are two employees in this case who have been running the Leisure Centre since 2008 since it opened, but on behalf of the Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority. They have decided to make LMS Ltd and run the whole place without the GSLA.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, did this particular contract...? Well, first of all, before I ask that question, can I ask him this. Is the contract limited – with LMS (Gib) Ltd – limited to running the gym or is it going to be a contract that is going to extend to other parts of the Leisure Centre as well?

795 Hon. S E Linares: The whole of the centre.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, did this particular contract go out to tender?

800 Mr Speaker: I think we have to be careful because we are widening the whole scope now. Here we had a question about the plans for the future of the gymnasium. Now there is another question about payment cheques, and now we are widening the whole scope of that.

I am allowing the supplementary, but there is a limit.

805 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I –

Mr Speaker: Please go ahead and ask it.

810 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes but may I say, just in relation to the points made by Mr Speaker, it is the first time that the Opposition has in fact learnt – and it arises out of the information that the hon. Gentleman has provided – that this company LMS has been contracted by the Government in order to run the gymnasium and indeed, not only the gymnasium but the entirety.

815 The reason why this question comes about is because I am a member of this particular gym. I saw that cheques should be paid to this company and I thought, ‘Well, who is this company?’ That is why it has been broadened out of the answer, so I think that in fairness, Mr Speaker, although we are not going to obviously have a debate across the floor of this House, I know Mr Speaker’s views on that, I think we are entitled to pursue supplementaries on this, what may turn out to be actually quite important for the community.

820 Mr Speaker: Go ahead and ask the question.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, I think I have asked it, and the hon. Gentleman has got to answer.

Hon. S E Linares: And I heard it the first time, so okay.

825 Mr Speaker, no, it did not go out to tender because we believed that because this was being run by the Sports and Leisure Authority, and employees of the Sports and Leisure Authority who were running it anyway, they are there. It is like a co-operative and they do have succession planning in this case.

They have employees there from the GSLA who have been willing to go into making a private company in order to run the centre. So the centre has been run by them anyway and the terms and conditions are exactly the same that they were with the GSLA.

830 In fact, the GSLA was running that and was charging King’s Bastion Leisure Centre Ltd for its services. So it is a question of just getting the same people to run the centre.

835 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I am sure that these two individuals are thoroughly decent individuals and, indeed, everybody that works there, in my own experience – and I am there every other day, as I say, I train at this particular gymnasium – my experience of everybody has been that the service and the quality of the service is very good going back years to when it was opened.

840 But, Mr Speaker, we are talking again about an asset which belongs to the community, and it is about the management and the proper management of an asset. For example, what kind of premium has this particular company paid in respect of this particular contract which the Government has entered into with them?

845 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, premiums do not come into question here. It is a question of running the Leisure Centre with the same people. Instead of being from the GSLA they are exactly the same people. Instead of being from the GSLA they are the same people running the centre now, so there is no question of premium or anything like that. All they are going to do is just run it as a more commercial and private entity, running the King’s Bastion Leisure Centre. That is exactly how we ever contracted with them.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, I understand that the Government wants it run on a commercial basis, I understand all that.

850 But, Mr Speaker, we are talking about a potentially substantial contract where the Government has just simply decided, ‘We are going to hand this particular contract to these two individuals’ – decent as those two individuals may be – without affording the opportunity to anybody else to compete for that particular contract.

855 Does he not accept that it is important, in fact, in the Government contracting with people or in relation to the management of assets of this community, for not only the Taxpayer to get the best value for money, but also for service users to obtain the best service, and for there to be an element of competition.

860 Effectively what the hon. Gentleman is saying is, he has deprived anybody else in Gibraltar who may have had an interest in providing this particular service, who may have been able to do it as well as these two individuals, who may have been prepared in fact to pay a premium to the Government for this particular contract, the ability to compete.

Hon. S E Linares: Well, Mr Speaker, why did that not happen in 2008?

865 Mr Speaker: No, that is irrelevant.

Hon. S E Linares: Well, Mr Speaker, with all due respect, Mr Speaker the –

Mr Speaker: You have been asked a question –

870 Hon. S E Linares: I will answer the question –

Mr Speaker: Nothing to do with 2008. Answer the question if you can.

875 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, King's Bastion Leisure Centre Ltd is a company completely different to the Sports and Leisure Authority.

The Leisure Authority has been running it on a fee basis. It is a question of passing on the same responsibility that the Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority had, passing it to the same people who have been running that place, so there are no issues at all.

880 What they are doing now is running it, the same people running it as a company, the Leisure Centre. There is no question... Mr Speaker has told me not to go back to 2008 – was there a tender there? No, there was not. It was just handed over to the Authority and in this case, what we have done is negotiated with LMS Ltd in order for them, who are the same people, to continue running the Leisure Centre.

885 Hon. D A Feetham: But, Mr Speaker, with respect, I think really that is a thoroughly ridiculous answer that the hon. Gentleman has provided.

Does he not recognise that there is a distinction between King's Bastion Ltd and this particular company? King's Bastion Limited was a Government-owned company – Government-owned. Therefore it was the Government through indirectly – the famous word – indirectly providing services to effectively the GSLA or whatever, but it was a Government-owned company.

890 This is a private-owned company that has been incorporated, which the Government has gifted a contract to run the Leisure Centre on a commercial basis. Does he not recognise the important distinction? Does he not recognise what the Government has effectively done, is to gift two individuals, however thoroughly reasonable, however thoroughly decent those individuals, however thoroughly competent those individuals may be, without going out to tender? That is the distinction.

895 Hon. S E Linares: No, Mr Speaker.

Mr. Speaker: Next question.

900 Hon. E J Reyes: Sorry, Mr Speaker, I just wanted a bit of clarity because my understanding from the Minister, he is saying that the employees who were running it are the ones who are now running the other company. But, Mr Speaker, from my experience there were more than two employees running it. Were all the employees given the option and then only two took it up?

905 I am a bit confused because there were certainly more than two members of staff working there, so how does it end up just being two? Can the Minister clarify that a bit?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, it was offered to the administration, the management and only two got it. The others wanted to stay within the GSLA, which they had the right to do. If they wanted to stay within the GSLA, they stayed within the GSLA.

910 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, can the hon. Gentleman tell me what the value of this particular contract is?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I do not have this to hand.

Q193/2015
GSLA sea bathing facility –
Cleaning costs

Clerk: Question 193, the Hon. D A Feetham.

920 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Government please state what has been the cost of cleaning the GSLA sea bathing facility since works were completed last year?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth.

925 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the cost of cleaning the GSLA sea bathing pavilion since works were completed last year is £33,540.64.

These works have been undertaken by Master Services as an extension of their general cleaning duties for all the Gibraltar beaches.

930 Hon. D A Feetham: So, Mr Speaker, £33,000 is just the portion allocated to the cleaning of this particular facility, nothing to do with the rest of the beaches?

Hon. S E Linares: No, Mr Speaker, it includes employing part-time lifeguards on a seasonal basis, it includes the management, everything. The £33,000 includes the running of, because the question was –

935

Hon. D A Feetham: Cleaning.

Hon. S E Linares: Yes.

940 Hon. D A Feetham: So £33,000 effectively is the cost of the cleaning of this particular facility, including the green moss that –

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: The algae.

945 Hon. D A Feetham: The algae that polluted it. I am very grateful to Minister Cortes for that technical answer! (Laughter) Of course he is a scientist and I am not and that exchange demonstrated that. (Interjection) Yes, although I have to say that my Learned and Hon. Friend, Mr Figueras, reminds me that probably moss is more readily understandable to members of the public than algae, but in any event.

950 The £33,000 includes the cleaning of this facility and also the lifeguards. Is this going to be a recurrent cost every single year to the Government under a particular contract?

Hon. S E Linares: Yes, it will. Obviously like I said before, we will have to add on the other bits like the lifeguards and the management so all that needs to be, and he was correct, that needs to be added to the £33,000. The £33,000 is specific to the cleaning, yes.

Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, Mr Speaker, I rise only to address what I think might be a confusion which is quick developing and which we may be able to nip in the bud.

960 The hon. Member said in his original answer that the £33,500 was done by way of an extension of the contract that Master Services already has, and then in answer to the first supplementary, he said that it included lifeguards, etc. (Interjection) Oh I see, so the Minister is clarifying that it is only the cleaning. The £33,500 is just the cleaning by Master Services – because I am sure lifeguards are not employed by Master Services.

Hon. S E Linares: Correct.

Q194/2015

GHA European Health Insurance Cards – Delay in renewal

Clerk: Question 194, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

970 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health confirm whether there are delays in the renewal of the GHA European Health Insurance Cards and if it is as a result of a lack of printing ink?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

975 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, there are currently no delays in the renewal of GHA EHIC cards, other than the four to five days it takes for checking documents, printing and collection which is a standard procedure.

The Primary Care Centre recently experienced a three-week delay in issuing of cards due to a combination of several factors, these being a surge in demand and one printer breaking down.

980 There had been a delay in the delivery of cartridges, but this was not the cause of the backlog – a backlog Mr Speaker, which was quickly dealt with.

Q195/2015

St Bernard’s Hospital – Primary care clinic for children

Clerk: Question 195, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

985 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say as outlined in the Government’s manifesto, when a primary care clinic for children, with dedicated GP resources, will be set up in St Bernard’s Hospital associated with the Rainbow Ward?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

990 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, a dedicated children’s area is being prepared in the Primary Care Centre. In addition, plans are being developed to set up such a clinic in St Bernard’s when space issues are resolved.

995 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister say if that means there are plans to bring the whole of the Primary Care Centre on site to where St Bernard’s Hospital is, as part of a new building that could be erected?

1000 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Not necessarily, Mr Speaker. Clearly that opens all sorts of possibilities, but we are looking at doing this as a separate exercise. Demand for space in St Bernard’s is very high as we increase the amount of activity and this is one of the things that we are considering.

Q196-198/2015

‘Objective Standards’ in Health – Policy update

Clerk: Question 196, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1005 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health explain as outlined in the Government’s manifesto on page 31, how the commitment for ‘Objective Standards’ has been fulfilled and which areas of this policy still need to be introduced?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

1010 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 197 and 198.

Clerk: Question 197, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1015 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health explain, as outlined in the Government's manifesto commitment for 'Objective Standards', how much staff flow with the UK, in both directions, have taken place and especially, how many GHA staff have spent time in the UK on exchange programmes or work placements and for how long, since January 2012?

1020 Clerk: Question 198, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health explain as outlined in the Government's manifesto commitment for 'Objective Standards', whether a fully formed and impartial complaints process has been set up in order for a UK trust to be able to arbitrate in disputes?

1025 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, both corporate and clinical governance arrangements have been set up.

1030 A new contract with a major NHS Foundation Trust is close to being agreed. Not only will this arrangement improve tertiary services, but will open up opportunities for staff to undertake training and clinical placement. It will also allow access to policies and protocols which once adopted could be used within the GHA. Having a formalised arrangement will also assist in developing closer working relationships with our providers.

1035 This will see a significant increase in exchanges. Amongst those that have taken place are: for the Radiology Department a three-month CT placement in Guy's and St Thomas' from mid-January to mid-April. It says 2015 but I believe it should read 2014. I need to confirm that Mr Speaker.

1040 For nursing, two registered nurses had placements, one in 2012 in the UK and one in the Isle of Man in 2013. The first of these was a one-week placement as part of an ongoing training and development. The second was a four week placement. In physiotherapy, a three-month junior placement, 2nd April to 29th June 2012 at Darlington NHS Foundation Trust.

Consultants often attend such placements as part of their study leave commitments. The GHA supports training and development of their staff and is actively pursuing placements for other staff members, for example, operating department practitioners.

1045 The new Complaints Handling Scheme, under the umbrella of the Office of the Ombudsman, is planned to commence in April or May 2015. The relevant legislation has been completed and due to be commenced. There is a typing error there in the prepared answer.

1050 This will provide a more independent and a fairer process in managing complaints. In addition, membership of NHS Employers will fulfil the role of arbitration in matters relating to employment. Close contacts have been developed with a number of health care trusts on which we can call on, in order to carry out investigations and arbitrations. I will add for example, in this context, the Isle of Wight.

1055 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, the Hon. Minister said they were close to closing a deal with an NHS Trust. Can he say which NHS Trust it is, or at least say if it is one of the ones based in London?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I would rather not give the name as we are on the point of closing the deal. It is one of the major London Trusts and this will allow us to send our patients to what is a Centre of Excellence, and will allow us to develop other links in relation to staff training.

1060 The costs will be well controlled, because it will be a contract that will close costs for certain treatments whereas now they are often open ended, depending on the length of time and so on. We are very close to announcing the final signature of the deal.

Q199/2015
Stroke emergencies –
Creation of protocol and specialist unit

Clerk: Question 199, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

1065 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health say when a stroke protocol and a specialist unit for stroke emergencies will be created, as outlined in the Government's manifesto?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

1070 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the review of stroke services has been completed. The recommendations will shortly be presented to Cabinet for approval.

Q200/2015
Upper Rock Management Plan – Publication

Clerk: Question 200, the Hon. J J Netto.

1075 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment say if he is now in a position to provide Parliament with a copy of the Upper Rock Management Plan?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

1080 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the Gibraltar Nature Reserve Management Plan will be published in spring this year.

1085 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, the reason why I have asked this particular question is because way back in 2014, I asked this question and the Minister at the time, I think he said that the plan would be published 'soon', way back in 2014. He is now saying that it will be published sometime in spring of this year. Can the Minister say why the delay?

1090 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, because I have very hard-working officers who have a lot of work to do and they obviously have to dedicate themselves to the wide range of environmental initiatives that we are carrying out. Therefore, because in addition this is a complex plan which involves a lot of stakeholders, it has taken rather longer than we envisaged.

But I am sure that the quality that will come out at the end of the process will have been well worth the wait.

Q201-202/2015
Macaques –
Culling; illegal feeding

1095 Clerk: Question 201, the Hon. J J Netto.

1100 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state how many Macaques have been culled on a monthly basis during 2014.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

1105 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 202.

Clerk: Question 202, the Hon. J J Netto.

1110 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to Question 364/2014, can the Minister for the Environment say how many individuals have been fined or cautioned for the illegal enticing or feeding of macaques, contrary to the written changes in legislation passed in Parliament, either inside or outside the Upper Rock Nature Reserves, stating where, the nationality, the amount imposed, which entity imposed the fine and whether any cases are waiting to be heard in the courts?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

1115

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, no macaques were culled in 2014. One large adult male was put down on 21st September, as a result of it having attacked and bitten a person.

1120

In relation to Question 202, yes, Mr Speaker, I answered this question very recently in response to Question 739/2014 in December, and not Question 364, which was in May.

In any case, I can inform the hon. Member that no individuals have been cautioned or fined since I last provided the information requested in December 2014.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the clarification made by the Hon. Minister in relation to the latest question which was, I think he said 739/2014.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker.

1130

Hon. J J Netto: Would that have been in September of last year?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, my reply says it was December last year, Question 739.

Hon. J J Netto: I am grateful, Mr Speaker, for that clarification on the part of the Minister. So since December, therefore, we have not had any person, regardless of nationality, who has either been cautioned or fined as a result of that.

Is that due perhaps because for whatever operational reasons no particular officer has been able to be looking into this particular activity; or is it because the Department is saying that there is a change in the attitude either from locals or from tourists alike in getting the message that you cannot entice or feed the Macaques illegally?

I mean can the Minister perhaps provide some kind of information on this matter?

1145

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Well, Mr Speaker, I think it is even a better answer than those suggestions. Certainly in the case of urban areas, the hon. Member opposite may have noticed that the frequency of occurrences of Macaques in urban areas is now hugely reduced. I think we have been able to tackle that problem quite effectively and therefore there are fewer occasions in which this will happen in the town.

On the Upper Rock, it seems likely that the work of the Department in working with operators in reducing the Macaque/human interaction seems to be working. So I think it is a reflection of an improvement in the situation rather than an operational thing, but that is my opinion.

1150

Clearly the animals are unpredictable and there could be a surge in the future, but at the moment, I think the situation is pretty well contained.

Hon. J J Netto: I am grateful, Mr Speaker, particularly the question that the Minister is alluding to that there seems to be a closer relationship in the Upper Rock Nature Reserve in relation to working with operators in that field, and that is extremely important and should be maintained.

But perhaps, can the Minister provide some information to that part of my supplementary question, which was basically saying individuals, who either may be local or tourists, who still have this attitude of illegally feeding the macaques. Is that being assessed during this particular period as well?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: It is not being assessed in a structured way. We are dedicating the manpower resources or have been dedicating them to dissuading the Macaques from coming into town rather than from monitoring on the Upper Rock. Now that situation has improved, we will be able to use some of those resources in the Upper Rock to monitor more closely what these interactions are.

Q203-219/2015

Liquefied natural gas (LNG); new power station – Fire and Rescue Service; health and safety

1165

Clerk: Question 203, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister with responsibility for the Fire and Rescue Service say if the Government is satisfied that the Fire and Rescue Service is equipped and certified to deal with a liquefied natural gas (LNG) accident?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

1170

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 204 to 219.

Clerk: Question 204, the Hon. J J Netto.

1175

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government state if any of his advisers on LNG has elaborated a report on the need to resource and train the Gibraltar Fire and Rescue Service in order to deal with an accident from the new power station and the LNG facility and if so, provide details of such considerations and provide Parliament with a copy of any report produced on this matter.

1180

Clerk: Question 205, the Hon. J J Netto.

1200

Clerk: Question 208, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, given the Government's statement on 23rd February 2015 in which it states:

can the Government provide Parliament with all copies of such reports?

Clerk: Question 209, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government state if the competent authority in relation to the building of the new power station and the LNG facility has produced an emergency plan for off-site use, including arrangements for providing the public and neighbouring establishments or sites, specific information in relation to a possible accident and if so, provide details of such and could the Government provide Parliament with a copy of the report produced?

1225 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, has the advice given to Government in relation to the LNG identified all possible sources of ignition that need to be avoided in case of an accident that could form an 'Ignitable Vapour Cloud', and if so, state what such possible sources can be, and provide Parliament with a copy of the report given?

Clerk: Question 212, the Hon. J J Netto.

1230 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government state if any of its advisers have produced any report on the possibility of a terrorist attack on the new power station and the LNG facility and, if so, provide Parliament with a copy of such a report?

Clerk: Question 213, the Hon. J J Netto.

1235 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government state if any of its advisers have undertaken a study of seismic movement around Gibraltar in order to inform its decision on the location of the new power station and the LNG facility and, if so, provide Parliament with a copy of such a report?

Clerk: Question 214, the Hon. D A Feetham.

1260 Clerk: Question 218, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Government state the cost of the land reclamation associated with the new power station?

1265 Clerk: Question 219, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Government please state the cost of relocating businesses in the area of the North Mole as a consequence of the new power station and associated installations?

1270 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, clearly this is not a matter of great interest to the Opposition as there are only two Members present to listen to my reply. But nevertheless, I will continue.

1275 Mr Speaker, the Government in consultation with experts will ensure that should it be necessary, the Gibraltar Fire and Rescue Service is provided with any additional resources and training.

Any specific emergency and fire requirements will be detailed in the on-site and off-site plan under COMAH – the Control of Major Accident Hazard Regulations, Mr Speaker.

1280 The new power station is not subject to the provisions of Part IIA of the Public Health Act – Control of Major Accident Hazard involving dangerous substances, because the fuel will not be stored within the site.

The Environmental Agency entered into a contract with the Health and Safety Laboratory as part of the Health and Safety Executive (HSE), to provide consulting services on all aspects of LNG. They considered 1285 the north western end of the North Mole and the Detached Mole as potential sites. Their decision is based on site specific considerations and involved numerous teleconferences where members of different Government Authorities, Departments and Agencies were present. HSL's analysis included vapour dispersion and pool fire modelling. The HSL concluded that storage plants meeting certain design criteria, capacity and safety features are feasible at the proposed sites. The site specific report will be prepared and made available once the Government has received detailed proposals from potential suppliers of LNG.

1290 Bouygues has not submitted any safety reports to the competent authority as these are in the process of being completed.

During 2012, the Gibraltar Electricity Authority at the request of Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar discussed with several potential providers, the feasibility of supplying small quantities of LNG to Gibraltar to provide natural gas for the power station. All those consulted indicated that this could be done.

1295 The preferred option was through an LNG carrier and the report was commissioned from Braemer Engineering to assess the viability of doing so. The report concluded that this was technically viable and recommended that further studies be carried out which is what we are doing now.

1300 Vapour dispersion and pool fire modelling formed part of the assessments carried out by the HSL. These are very site and installation specific. The results were subject to numerous teleconferences. These results cannot be viewed in isolation without full knowledge of these discussions. The site specific report will be made available once the Government has taken the decision on the successful tenderer. An off-site and on-site plan will be produced in due course, after the plant has been fully designed as a part of the COMAH requirements.

The exact location of the LNG facility is still being assessed and hence, so are the required safeguards all of which will of course be put in place.

1305 The necessary preliminary assessments are currently being conducted as part of the proposals that will be put to Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar shortly. These assessments will be followed by design specific risk assessments which will include ignition sources.

No report, Mr Speaker, on potential terrorism has so far been requested.

1310 No seismic studies have been undertaken. This will be done if the risk assessment indicates that this is a particular hazard that needs to be considered further.

Experts consulted are as follows: as part of the preliminary investigations, Braemer, contracted by Gibelec; HSL, contracted by the Environmental Agency.

1315 As part of the LNG proposal (LNG PIN notice) a number of commercial entities have provided positive feedback to Gibelec on the issues. As the House is aware, Shell has entered into a Memorandum of Understanding with Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar, related to the possible supply and storage of LNG in Gibraltar. As part of the power station tender discussions, Torgy and HSL have been consulted.

The cost of the Spark Energy installation so far is £7,105,209.61 with another £835,007.99 being paid to GJBS to prepare the sites.

The cost of the temporary turbines since 2012 has been £7,850,795.92.

1320 The information on works to the network is contained in the schedule that I now hand over:

The new power station will not be constructed on the reclaimed land but ancillary services may be located there.

Finally, no estimated costs of relocating businesses in the area of the new power station can presently be accurately provided.

1325

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, whilst we digest some of the answers and I believe that we are obtaining copies of the answers as I speak, may I just get on with some of the questions in relation to the monetary questions, the cost questions and ask some supplementaries in relation to that?

1330

Mr Speaker, first of all, I did not hear the answer that the hon. Gentleman gave, if he did answer it, as to the cost to the Taxpayer of the Sparks Energy temporary generators. There is a difference between the Sparks Generators and the temporary turbines which were imported in 2012, which I think he said was £7 million.

1335

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I did provide that information, I provided that information just after I listed the experts that we have consulted. Spark Energy installation so far is £7,105,209 and that is the payment to Spark Energy itself. I provided that as part of my answer.

1340

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, what about the temporary turbines which were imported in 2012 which is – ?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I also provided that – maybe he was too busy thinking about the difference between moss and algae to listen to what I had to say – £7,850,795.92.

1345

Hon. D A Feetham: Well I am afraid that answer does not stack up and if he is going to use sarcasm and quips, then yes, perhaps he can give me an accurate answer. In relation to the temporary turbines, I have asked this question before and I asked it last year and the Chief Minister told me that it is £12 million. I can go back to Hansard and demonstrate that, so how can it now be £7 million? How can the cost go back instead of...? If anything it would increase, unless what the Government would have said to me was, 'Well actually we replaced them with the Sparks, so it remained at £12 million.'

1350

The hon. Gentleman cannot tell me it is £7 million, when the Chief Minister has already told me that the cost was £12 million.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, first of all the comment I made about algae and moss was in the spirit that we had exchanged earlier – it was not sarcasm; it was humour. (Interjection by Mr Speaker) Well precisely, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker, the information I have been provided by my team is the one that I have given. If there is an inconsistency with a previous answer then I will have to go back and check that but that is the information I have been given and I have in good faith provided to the House.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, it is not accurate and of course we were all here when the Chief Minister provided the answer to the previous question. He is the individual; the Minister that is responsible for this particular area and let me read the answer that the Chief Minister gave me –

1365

Mr Speaker: But he was not responsible at the time of the last Budget, and therefore he is not aware of any discrepancy and he has undertaken to find out and come back.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well the answer, and let me read on 29th May 2014, the Hon. the Chief Minister said:

'Mr Speaker, the total cost so far of the temporary generators since 2012 until the end of April 2014 has been £10,252,359.75.'

That was the answer to the question and I think the cost has actually gone up to about £12 million. Indeed, I took him up on that answer because that answer appeared to me again to be inaccurate in the light of a previous answer, and he corrected it and said it was closer to £12 million.

So I would appreciate it if the hon. Gentleman went back and gave me an accurate answer in the light of the fact that Hansard quite clearly shows that at the very least in May 2014, it was already £10.2 million.

Mr Speaker: Could I suggest to the Hon. Minister, given that we are not meeting in April, that when he concludes answering questions, he gets in touch with the Department to see if the accurate information can be reconciled during the course of this meeting.

1380 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Certainly I will, Mr Speaker, but we could perhaps do a little bit of mathematics, which I learned from your good self many years ago. It could be, Mr Speaker, that this is not that inconsistent because if the answer was a global figure for all temporary generation –

Hon. D A Feetham: No, it was not. Mr Speaker. No, it was not.

1385 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: The answer that – (Interjection by Hon. D A Feetham) I will give way in a minute, but the answer that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has read out says ‘temporary generators’. You can be absolutely sure that it does not mean all temporary generators because if that were the case, then if you calculate that you would have probably a year ago spent about two thirds of the £7 million in two different places, you would more or less have £5 million and £5 million, which would make £10 million at that time. I just wonder if it maybe that it was combining two, but I will certainly check, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: Any other questions?

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker.

1395 Mr Speaker, the cost of relocating businesses. The hon. Gentleman says that he cannot provide me with a figure at the moment, but surely the Government... and knowing the Father of the House as I do, who has probably examined this in the minutest detail, because he is responsible at the present moment for the Government to keep Government spending within limits, I would have expected him to at least have made enquiries in relation to what the cost of relocating these businesses is.

1400 I have done my own enquiries and I am being informed that in fact the cost is between £3 million and £3.5 million. Can he at least tell this House whether those costs are likely to exceed £3 million? I am not asking him to give me an exact figure, but certainly that is the figure that I have at the present moment, excluding – and I am giving the Government the benefit in relation to this – excluding the kitchen, the relocation of the hospital’s kitchen which would have to be relocated, but I believe that those plans were already afoot before the power station plans were engaged and that is going to cost I think, about between 1405 £6 million and £7 million.

So excluding that, I believe that it is going to cost over £3 million and perhaps the hon. Gentleman or indeed, the Father of the House can confirm that.

1410 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the kitchen is a separate project which was started before and clearly is a separate one.

I repeat my prepared answer and the enquiries that I have made tell me that we cannot accurately calculate the cost of reprovinding the businesses. Clearly I can look into it and see at what stage we have that information and clearly I will have no problem with sharing that. But that is the information I have at the moment.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I would ask him to look into it although he could have said to me look the cost is estimated at this particular amount. I wonder whether the Father of the House has that information available to him, because as I say, I would have expected him in particular to know what the cost of the relocation of the business is.

1420 I do not know, Mr Speaker, with your indulgence, whether I can address this question to the Father of the House.

1425 Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): Well, Mr Speaker, my role is to make sure that people stay within the Budgets that are approved by the Parliament and that is what I am doing, for the benefit of the Opposition, which is what their role is.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, thank you very much to the Father of the House for that very helpful answer.

1430 Mr Speaker, the cost of the land reclamation. Yes, I understand that the power station is not going to be located in the land reclamation, but of course originally, when this particular project went out to tender, the power station was going to be located in the land reclamation. The land reclamation, the plans, only happened because of the power station. As the hon. Gentleman has also conceded, there are going to be ancillary services to be provided in the land reclamation area, and indeed under one of the three proposed sites for the liquid natural gas installation, the land reclamation is also going to be one of those three 1435 proposed sites.

So therefore it is a cost associated, with respect to the Government, with the power station and I believe that the Opposition is entitled to be provided with the information as to what the Government estimates the cost of the land reclamation is or, if he cannot provide me with that, at least what cost so far has been incurred by the Government in relation to the land reclamation.

1440

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, as the Hon. Leader of the Opposition has said, what I said was ‘may hold ancillary services’ – not will – may hold ancillary services. Clearly that information can be sought, but it was not relevant to the letter of the question, in the sense that he was clearly assuming that the power station... or at least the implication in the question was that the power station would go on the land reclamation itself.

1445

Hon. D A Feetham: No. I am sorry, I have not.

Mr Speaker: I think regardless of whether the implication is that the power station would go there or not, it is possible for the Government – and the Government is aware of what land reclamation project the question is addressing. Therefore, I would assume that an answer can be given, regardless of whether the power station is going to go there or not. An answer can be given about the cost.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, I will seek that information.

1455

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, because I know perfectly well that the power station is not going to be located here. Indeed that is not completely an accurate statement, nor is the statement that the hon. Gentleman made, because a small part of the corner of the power station will be located – because I have seen the plans – will be located on the land reclamation. But it says ‘associated with the new power station’; not that the power station is going to be built entirely there. I know that the liquid natural gas installation certainly is one of those three sites.

1460

And I will tell the hon. Gentleman what the importance of this is. The importance of this is that when the Government announced this particular power station project in June of last year, the Government made great play of the fact that this power station was going to cost at the time £67 million, it went up to £77 million, whereas our power station, which included a Gibelec building, a new distribution network throughout Gibraltar, also the installation facilities, was going to cost £120 million.

1465

But when you take into account relocation of businesses, and I am telling him for his benefit so he knows where I am coming from in relation to asking these questions, when you take into account the electricity distribution network, when you take into account the land reclamation, when you take into account the relocation of businesses and the building of the liquid natural gas installation and ancillary issues associated with the power station, including the cost of temporary generators, you are going to be talking about a power station that, all in, is going to be costing the Government over £140 million.

1470

So I want the hon. Gentleman to know exactly where I am coming from when I ask these questions.

1475

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member opposite is predictable enough for me to have known where he was coming from before he started speaking. (A Member: Oooh!) (Interjection by Hon. S J Sacramento) Mr Speaker, the maths do not add up.

Mr Speaker, our project is estimated or the contract was for £77 million. Theirs was for £120 million.

Mr Speaker, our generating station will be able to produce over 80 megawatts; theirs was 64. So already our cost is about two thirds per megawatt to what theirs was.

But let us add, let us do a little bit of addition. Assume, Mr Speaker, not that the relocation costs £3 million to £3.5 million, which is what the hon. Member opposite has calculated. Let us assume even that it were to cost £5 million – and I am not saying that is the figure – let us say that is what it was going to cost. That would bring us to £82 million.

The temporary power supplies would have had to have been brought in by them if they had carried on with the other power station because otherwise they would not have been able to deliver power until about now or a few months’ time when perhaps, if all had gone well, their power station might just about have been ready.

But let us say that because we have got another 18 months for our power station we would have had to bring in those generators and that cost pro rata would be about another £8 million. That is still £90 million. Let us say even that we had to put in some more money for infrastructure, which I can say we are already dealing with elsewhere, let us just put in for argument’s sake another £12 million. That is still £102 million. We have got almost £20 million change, even taking all those things into account.

Then, Mr Speaker, let us deduct from our power station the savings from gas and add to their power station at least £1 million a year for carbon credits and let us calculate possibly another, perhaps £2 million per year as fines for excess nitrogen oxide.

1495

Mr Speaker, the maths is entirely on our side. (Banging on desks)

1500 Mr Speaker: Yes, but now the hon. Members are beginning to debate. All those arguments which the Minister has put across are not in answer to a question providing information.

Both the Minister and the Leader of the Opposition are now beginning to debate – which they can do; there is no problem in tabling a motion to debate the whole question of the power station. I invite Members to do so. They know that I am very keen to promote the idea of debates, but not now.

1505 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, of course.

Mr Speaker, it does not take into account the £5 million it cost you to cancel the contract and indeed it does not take into account the cost of an energy installation, which I understand exactly why the Government wants the private sector to pay for it, in exchange for bunkering which we believe will create an unacceptable safety hazard for many people living in the area.

1510 But what about the electricity distribution? What about the electricity distribution? He has not – and I will be corrected if I am wrong because he bunched many, many questions together... The electricity distribution network, how much is that going to cost? Because of course within the £120 million for our contract, that was also included. How much is that going to cost and what is the balance that the Government will have to pay in order to have a new distribution network around Gibraltar which is also 1515 part of the problem with electricity resilience in Gibraltar?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, that specific question was not asked. If he asks me the question, I will provide the answer. But it is not true to say that their £120 million included the whole distribution network. (Interjection by Hon. D A Feetham) No it did not, Mr Speaker, because a lot of it was actually 1520 hidden in other projects which were going to pay for sizeable stretches of that distribution network.

The Leader of the Opposition must remember that I was alive before 2011 and very active in the discussions and the debates in relation to the power station and so I know rather more than he thinks I might.

1525 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, whatever the hon. Gentleman thinks he knows or does not know, I am telling him because I have seen the documents, that it did include an entirely new distribution network around Gibraltar, obviously where it is necessary. In other words, where it has not been done, where it had not been done at the point at which those works were going to be commenced. But it did include, now I am asking him – and that is a question that I have asked in the Order Paper – I have asked 1530 him, can the Government please state what parts of the electricity distribution network has been renewed since it was elected and at what cost?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, and I provided a schedule giving that information. He did not say, ‘How much are you going to be spending in the next year, two years or three years?’ I have provided the 1535 information as asked and, Mr Speaker, I am not going to be tempted into mentioning a question of the guaranteed increases in electricity prices.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, turning to the question of LNG, away from the question of costs, where clearly we are not going to be agreeing on anything, but on the question of LNG and on the 1540 question of experts, the HSE, or the HSL from the United Kingdom, one of the Government’s communiques that was issued was that they had been first contacted in June 2013 and that they came to Gibraltar for a site visit in January 2014.

Can he therefore confirm that the HSE was not involved in providing any kind of report to the Government prior to the decision taken by the Government to locate the power station at the North Mole 1545 which was a decision that was taken in 2012, because it was announced very early on in 2012?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the decision to locate the power station at the North Mole and the decision to use LNG as the preferred source of fuel, are two separate decisions in a process. What I can absolutely and categorically state is that we did not progress into any kind of commitment to LNG without 1550 having had the advice of the experts that we have mentioned.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, what experts are you talking about? Mr Speaker, if the Government in its communique has said that the HSE was first contacted in June of 2013 and that is a matter of record and they came to Gibraltar in January 2014, it is in a communique, you can read it.

1555 On what basis will the HSE be involved in the decision to basically locate a liquid natural gas operated power station at the North Mole? I do not understand the chronology, it does not quite add up.

1560 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I am looking – I am sure I have a copy of that press release and I do recall the dates that were given in the press release, but the Leader of the Opposition must not think that there is nothing that happens between dates.

1565 As I have said actually in my answer, there have been numerous teleconferences and discussions, and in this day and age a lot of work can be done across remotely. There were numerous discussions with information being exchanged in relation to all matters connected with the power station and no decision will have been taken by us, without having had the information that we require in order to make a sensible and responsible decision, Mr Speaker, that is absolutely certain. I have spent many, many years looking after the environment and I am not going to change my principles now, Mr Speaker.

1570 So I cannot find whether it actually says that they were first contacted in June 2013, I was not the Minister responsible at the time, therefore that is not in my memory, but I am fairly certain that if it is that they came over in June 2013, there will have been conversations between the different agencies and those experts before then and certainly, before a decision was taken that LNG was a reasonable source of fuel of energy to consider for our power station.

1575 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, it is a matter of record whether the Government has said in communiques that it was in June of 2013 or whether now, in the light of what he is saying, it was not June 2013, it was earlier.

1580 But certainly it struck me that when the Government said June 2013, in fact that appeared to post-date the date on which the Government had already made a firm decision in relation to liquid natural gas in this particular area. I understand that from June 2013 to January of 2014, there may have been many, many conversations on the telephone with the HSE, but the decision to locate liquid natural gas, a dual-fired power station, had already been taken by then.

1585 But, Mr Speaker, is the decision now to move towards bunkering of liquid natural gas? Has that been taken? Because in fact it is not economically viable to have a liquid natural gas power station unless you have sufficiently large storage tanks which would enable a quantity of liquid natural gas for a period of time, for example two months, three months or four months. If you have smaller tanks, then you are going to have either barges having to come into Gibraltar ships having to come into Gibraltar or alternatively tankers through the frontier coming in every two weeks. Was that factored into the equation at the point at which the Government decided to go out to tender with a dual-fired power station?

1590 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, in relation to the decision taken, the decision was taken to site the power station in the North Mole and LNG has always been a possibility – even in their day it was a possibility, but the crucial date is when was the notice published asking for potential providers of LNG. Had that been done without the advice from experts, then that could have been questioned. But the fact that we were discussing possibilities, it is the responsibility of the Government to discuss possibilities and look at how we can better what we do for our community. So of course we talk about it, we discuss and we have conversations about it.

1595 But the publication of the notice calling for LNG interest was not, I believe, until February or maybe later in 2014 and therefore clearly after that visit which we have quoted in January 2014.

1600 Mr Speaker, bunkering was not in any of the questions that I have been asked, but I will answer anyway in two words, all the various things that the Leader of the Opposition has postulated, and the two words are: no sir.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, let me read to him a press release of 23rd February 2015. It basically says:

‘On 7th June 2013, the Environmental Agency contacted the Health and Safety Executive (HSE) in the UK on behalf of the Government and entered into a contract with the Health and Safety Laboratory (HSL) – a part of the HSE – to provide consulting services on all aspects of Liquefied Natural Gas.’

1605 Then it says, in January 2014, two representatives came to Gibraltar to assess the sites.

Well look, I am asking Mr Figueras to look at exactly the date at which the Government actually went out to tender for this particular project, because by January 2014, which is presumably the first time – well clearly from the press the first time – HSE came to Gibraltar in order to inspect the site and then report, we were only three or four months away, five months at the most, from the Budget session at which the Chief Minister of Gibraltar announced that Bouygues was the winning tenderer for a dual-fired power station.

1610 In other words, by the time that the HSE came to Gibraltar in January 2014, the Government had already gone out to tender and the Government had already instituted its plans for a dual-fired power station.

1615 Or is the hon. Gentleman telling me, 'We just simply went out to tender for a dual-fired power station, but really it was all subject to the HSE coming over and reporting that it was safe to do so', because that would have entailed an awful lot of expense for an awful lot of companies, tendering for this particular project?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have explained already, there is a separate process from the power station and the LNG, and the LNG PIN was published after that visit.

1620 In any case, Mr Speaker, it was never... it is the delivery of how the LNG is delivered to Gibraltar that is the question, not the possibility of using it and we had enough conversations with the different experts. Gibelec had it with Braemer and the Environmental Agency had it with HSL, telling us that it was a viable proposition and here we are.

1625 We are still looking at the detail as I have said amply, and as I said amply last week on the Viewpoint debate, we are still looking at the detail but we have done absolutely everything responsibly to make sure that the solution that we deliver for energy in Gibraltar in the future –not just the energy but all the other things we are looking at with renewables and so on – will be an excellent strategic view of delivering energy for Gibraltar.

1630 A Member: Hear, hear. (Banging on desks)

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, he may be an environmental expert and I recognise that, I do not seek to detract from that, but I have to say that I have been observing people giving evidence and people answering questions for 22 years, and his answers simply do not stack up.

1635 You see, the Government has gone out to tender on a dual-fired power station, and he is now shifting, but on a dual-fired power station. In other words, to use electricity and also gas, before the HSE were contracted and certainly before the HSE provided their report. Now, Mr Speaker, that raises all sorts of questions about the competence of this Government on the handling of this particular issue. Because if you have got a tender –

1640 Mr Speaker: You are debating.

Hon. D A Feetham: But may I –

1645 Mr Speaker: You are making points in support of your argument.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, may I ask him this question. What report did the Government have in its possession prior to the decision to go out to tender for a dual-fired power station in 2013? What report did it have in its possession and from whom?

1650 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have to check some of the dates, because as you rightly say, we are now debating, and I have prepared a set of replies and now things are being spuriously thrown up and I have to check dates.

1655 But I can tell you, Mr Speaker, that – and as I said earlier – we have publicly declared the experts that we have consulted. The only expert that I know the Opposition has consulted is Mr Google, or maybe Professor Google. But I have already said that the Gibraltar Electricity Authority contracted Braemer Engineering to carry out a preliminary survey and that was done in 2013. I need to confirm the actual dates but these sort of expert advice are developing as you go in discussions and I have already said there were many teleconferences. You do not actually have to wait to have the report in your hand to know that certain things are possible.

1660 And what we are forgetting, Mr Speaker, is the fact that we really need a power station and that we have responsibly explored all the different options and we want to deliver this as soon as possible. But, Mr Speaker, I can assure you that we would never have taken any decision which was not based on sound advice and certainly the indication from the very beginning was that LNG was a suitable possible source of fuel for Gibraltar. But I do repeat again, Mr Speaker, that a dual-fired power station can run on gas and on diesel.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, and look it would not surprise me one jot if eventually this particular power station fires on diesel and not on gas, the way that we are going.

1670 But, Mr Speaker, on 8th May 2013, the Government announced the tender for a dual-fired power station, gas and diesel. It announces the tender, in other words it has made the policy decision to locate a gas-fired power station at the North Mole before it has even contacted and made contact – yes, Mr Speaker – because the Government has been hung by its own petard. That is the press release of 26th February, 1675 which says that they only first contacted the HSE and contracted with them in June 2013 and the report then comes after January 2014.

Does he not think that this is irresponsible? Or look, if he does not think that it is irresponsible – and I really do want to believe that he and the Government have not acted irresponsibly in relation to this – well, I am giving him the opportunity to tell me what experts were engaged and what expert reports were produced – I am not even asking for a copy of those reports – prior to the decision to go out to tender in May 2013.

1680 Mr Speaker, it is a very simple question and the hon. Gentleman is not answering, and people out there are coming rapidly to the conclusion that this Government did not know what it was doing when it first made the decision to locate a liquid natural gas power station in the North Mole. (Banging on desks)

1685 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the Government clearly did not know what it was doing is the Government that left power generation in Gibraltar in the horrendous state that they left it in. (Several Members: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks) They have absolutely no policy, absolutely no strategy and they were dinosaurs in trying to resolve it.

1690 Mr Speaker, I apologise for debating, but I have to rise to the fact that the Leader of the Opposition has embarked on a debate. But I do not mind taking the Leader of the Opposition on, I assure you, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: What is unfortunate is that this is a very serious matter, that the Minister and the Shadow are able to go to television and debate it there, but not in this House, and I have to safeguard the interests of this institution. That calls for a debate here in the House.

1695 By all means, ask 16 questions because it is important and because there is information to be obtained. But what is now happening is that we have a debate at Question Time, when what we should have is a motion tabled in the House in which not only the Minister and whoever is asking the question can take part, but everybody else, because this is an important matter. I think that hon. Members are letting Parliament down as an institution.

1700 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I intervene at this stage in relation to that and say to the Hon. Mr Speaker that it is our intention to bring a motion in May about this particular issue. It has been discussed between myself and Mr Netto, but of course at this session we took the decision – one, because we had the Dr Giraldi motion, so we did not want to issue another motion; but secondly, we need answers to these questions before we can properly debate it.

1705 I do not want to be unfair with the Government and if the Government has a report and has received a report from experts prior to the decision to go out to tender, I am asking him to at least identify it. That is a very simple point that no doubt the hon. Gentleman understands very well.

1710 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have to reply, I believe, to the question that was asked before your intervention. I totally agree, Mr Speaker, I think it is accepted that the invitation to discuss this on television came from GBC, and was not at the Government's initiative or the Opposition's initiative.

1715 Mr Speaker, I have to once again make the distinction between gas storage, which is what seems to be concerning the Leader of the Opposition, and the gas-powered power station. They are two very, very different things and we had plenty of advice from our own experts about the possibilities of generating power using LNG as a fuel source.

1720 It is a very different thing, you can bring LNG to Gibraltar in many different ways and the decision to go with the tender for the power station stood not on how we were going to store it, because that is the subject of a separate process, but on the fact that it was a viable option. And clearly, because a process still had to proceed, there was a dual-fired option, as a responsible Government does in putting different options across.

I am absolutely looking forward to any debate that there might be in this House, because I am absolutely 100% certain that we are a responsible Government and that we have done things in a responsible way and that we will provide the best possible power solution for the future of our community.

1725 A Member: Hear, hear. (Banging on desks)

1730 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, responsibility that did not include a safety report before the decision to go out to tender for a dual-fired power station – it is obvious from the way that he has answered that question; otherwise he would have provided me with a categorical answer saying there was a report and it was conducted by these particular people, but he has not and I have given him plenty of opportunities for him to do so.

But does he not recognise, Mr Speaker, the inherent flaw in his argument? It is this: that if you are going to have a dual-fired power station at the North Mole, it is obvious to anybody – it does not have to be an 1735 expert – that there would have to be storage of liquid natural gas. Now, that storage may well be small storage facilities for two weeks – which I believe no doubt is what the Government originally intended but we will leave that to one side – or larger storage facilities that will provide larger quantities and more liquid natural gas for a longer period of time, which is what the Government is opting for now.

1740 But the fact that you would have had storage of liquid natural gas in the vicinity of the power station must be obvious to him, as indeed it must be obvious to any lay person, because a power station operated by liquid natural gas requires as a minimum an installation, storing the gas. It does not produce gas – well unless he tells me and I have to say, I will apologise to him profusely – unless he tells me that this power station produces its own liquid natural gas.

1745 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Well, Mr Speaker, I am not going to shock him into suggesting that it will.

Mr Speaker, it must be recalled that at the time – I do not have the information at hand because at the time I was not the Minister responsible, therefore I have relied on being briefed. But I can assure the Opposition that discussions with people who know about liquid natural gas had been taking place from a very, very early stage, regardless of whether a date on a report is a particular date.

1750 We have been considering the implications and the benefits of liquid natural gas from a very, very early stage. I do not have exact dates or all the details because I was not the Minister responsible at the time. But as you yourself have said, Mr Speaker, when we come to debate, clearly we will have the opportunity of having all the information present.

1755 I think the most important thing to bear in mind is that we will not do anything that will endanger our community and that the Opposition is just resorting to a pointless... well, not pointless, (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Scaring.) but irresponsible scaremongering.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, nobody on the Opposition side is resorting to pointless scaremongering. (A Member: No.) No, not at all. (Interjections) Not at all – we want to ensure that the Government has done its homework before locating what is a hazard. The risk may be low and I accept that one in 10,000 is a low risk, but actually it is about consequence, Mr Speaker. Because I may take a risk every day of my life and people up and down Gibraltar take risks every day of their lives, but if you tell the residents of the land reclamation that on a credible scenario, however low the risk, it will cause hundreds of lives or – (Interjection) hang on a minute! – (Interjections)

1765 Mr Speaker: Order! I must call hon. Members to order.

This is not seeking information; this is expressing views about the dangers of liquid natural gas. That is a matter for debate. It is also a matter for specific questions, but not to express views.

1770 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I apologise and in fact on this particular occasion, Mr Speaker is right. We were descending into the realms of a debate and my apologies.

1775 But Mr Speaker, turning to the Government's prospective plans and the Government's prospective policy in relation to liquid natural gas, is what the Government is considering effectively installation tanks of about – hang on a minute – 12,000 cubic metres, which will provide the Government with roughly, for this particular power station, which I believe I have done the calculations and I have consulted our own expert in relation to this, which will roughly consume about 5,000 to 6,000 cubic metres per month?

1780 Is the Government's intention for these storage facilities to be about 12,000 cubic metres, which if they are refilled on a monthly basis, it will allow at any given time for there to be enough for the month for the power station with another 5,000 to 6,000 or 7,000 cubic metres for bunkering purposes.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker that is pure speculation.

1785 We are in the process of receiving proposals and therefore we are not only not in a position to state what those proposals are, we do not even know what those proposals are. So that question is purely speculative. We are awaiting proposals from potential suppliers of LNG and then they will be assessed in detail by health and safety experts and then we will make a decision – and as we have said, we will share that publicly.

But at this point in time, he is well ahead of the time when we are able to provide that information. It is pure speculation. We do not have the plans. The plans are not ours. We are waiting for the providers to come up with their plans.

1790 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, that is a very strange answer, I have to say. The Government of Gibraltar has the duty of care to Gibraltarians and is he telling me that he does not even know...? Bearing in mind that we are already four years, three and a half years into their term in office and this power station has not got off the ground, is he telling me that they still do not even know what the size of the installations are going to be for the supply of gas to the power station, because that is going to be determined not by any policy decision of the Government, but by commercial decisions by commercial operators who will be making proposals to the Government? That appears to be what he has just said.

1800 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I am not talking about commercial decisions! We put out a PIN. We have a number of companies who want to come to Gibraltar to provide this facility. We are awaiting their recommendations. We have to await their recommendations. I am not a designer of LNG storage – I do not know, the Leader of the Opposition might well be. We are waiting to see what recommendations they come up with as to what is viable or not viable and then they will have to adhere, under COMAH Regulations, very strictly to any HSE conditions that there may be, but we are not designers of LNG installations. We certainly are not, and therefore we have to await to see what the specific combinations, locations, size of tanks and regularity of filling is going to be.

1810 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, but Mr Speaker, does he not recognise in what he is saying that effectively the decision as to the size of these particular installations is being left entirely to the private sector? (Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No!) Of course, because the Government is not...! What he is telling me is, at best, ‘I have absolutely no clue whatsoever what the size of these liquid natural gas installations are going to be, because really we are waiting for proposals from the commercial sector.’

1815 These are the people that are going to be building it, the ones that are proposing to do liquid natural gas bunkering. Does he not accept that is a wholly unacceptable answer to be giving to this Parliament on something as important as liquid natural gas, with the potential consequences that it has?

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Minister can answer the question and I am not allowing any more supplementaries on the question of liquid natural gas.

1820 Well, I will allow Mr Netto because he does have a number of questions on the agenda, but he must not cover the same ground as the Leader of the Opposition. Is that clear?

1825 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, if the Government now came up with its own design for liquid natural gas storage, the Opposition could very, very clearly criticise us for having done it without the advice of experts. Now that I am saying that we are waiting for the experts in the industry to provide us with those plans, he is criticising us for doing exactly what he would have wanted us to do.

Mr Speaker, it makes absolutely no sense.

1830 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I just, in relation to the experts, can you clarify that the experts that you are talking about – the three experts in relation to the three sites – are experts that are engaged by the commercial operators, are being paid for, not by the Government but by the commercial operators that are going to be making the proposals to the Government?

1835 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, what I am saying is that companies – and one has been named publicly, so I can name it again – Shell, of course they have their commercial interest, but they also have the expertise in designing and running these sorts of installations. Therefore, we are awaiting their proposals of a number of these, and then we will assess with the advice of our experts, which are the most viable ones. That is a responsible way of doing it – not me going with a sketch pad and Google Earth, and designing a gas cylinder.

1840 Mr Speaker: Mr Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Yes, Mr Speaker, thank you very much. I do have a number of supplementary questions and taking your lead, I will try and avoid a repetition of some of the issues which have been raised so far in here.

1845 In relation to my first supplementary question – and I will direct the Question No. which is 203 by my hon. Friend, Mrs Ellul-Hammond – it is in relation to the question of whether the Government is satisfied that the Fire and Rescue Service are equipped and certified to deal with an LNG accident. The answer provided by the hon. Member opposite said, ‘should it be necessary, the Government will then provide additional sources and training.’

1850 Now to me, I would have thought that by now, given the time that the Government has been considering all these issues and taking decisions and tenders and implementing policies as they have gone along, that there would have been a requirement at least by the City Fire Brigade to analyse what the risk entails. And anyone who has knowledge on firefighting will know that there is a clear distinction in the way that the resources and training need to be taken into account between firefighting say an LNG storage tank and the difference between a diesel tank.

So can I ask the Hon. Minister whether the Government or the Government advisers or indeed the City Fire Brigade has raised these questions with the Government and whether the Government is in the process of establishing whether extra resources and training is required, arising from the decision of the Government to go ahead with the dual-fired power station and LNG storage tanks?

1860

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the Gibraltar Fire and Rescue Service, as we know they are now called, has been involved in discussions and continue to be involved in discussions and will continue to be involved in discussions, to ensure that any additional resources and training that may or may not be required, is available. That is what I said in my answer and that is what I can confirm now. But they have been and are involved in these discussions.

1865

Hon. J J Netto: I am grateful to know that they are involved in these discussions but that is not my supplementary question. If I could be more focused perhaps on this issue: has the City Fire Brigade, in those discussions that the Minister has just said, have they raised the issue that they would need extra resources and training arising from the decision of the Government to proceed with their policies?

1870

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I am not aware whether the Fire and Rescue Service has requested anything specifically, because I am not the Minister responsible for that service, nor was I the Minister responsible for energy at the start of this process.

1875

Clearly, should there be any necessary resources, and it all depends on the detail, they will be provided and as I say, they continue to be involved in the discussions. Clearly, if they are involved in the discussions and if they have any questions or concerns, they would have raised them. That goes without saying.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the reason why we are asking this question is because we know, we are being informed, that in fact firefighting in relation to an LNG accident requires different equipment, different boats, a different way of fighting fires in relation to an accident with LNG than another type of fire accident.

In those circumstances, one would have expected that the Government would have at least had a project in mind or a timeframe in mind, a road map in mind, of making sure that the City Fire Service had all the resources in place and had all the necessary training in order to deal with any kind of accident with LNG. I think that is really... What steps are the Government taking?

1885

Obviously I understand that he has not been in meetings, but it is a very, very obvious question arising from LNG bunkering in Gibraltar.

Minister for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, as Minister responsible for the Fire Service, I will deal with that particular supplementary.

I have only taken over this portfolio quite recently and I have not been directly involved in the LNG project and I have not had the specific discussions yet with the Fire Service.

But I can tell him this: whenever a new facility is set up, whenever a new initiative is introduced by the Government which has implications for example in relation to firefighting, clearly those responsible at that end, at management level of the Fire Service will be involved, their issues will be taken into account and in particular any necessary requirements, as my hon. colleague has already mentioned, any necessary requirements specifically in relation to training, which is the point that the hon. Member has made, will clearly be taken into account, and will be addressed and will be provided as necessary.

The hon. Member may or may not know, because I have made public comments in relation to this issue, that we are looking at training facilities in particular and the provision of very specific training facilities for the Fire Service, the expansion of the training facilities that are available. That is something that we are not just actively looking at, but planning and finalising plans to actually put it in place.

1900

Clearly part of those training facilities will include looking at the needs of Gibraltar and to the extent that this is going to be a future need, we will address that future need before anything happens on the ground in that the training that will be required will be provided. We will bring over the necessary experts, we will send people to the necessary courses and we are fully committed to having a fully resourced and fully trained Gibraltar Fire and Rescue Service which will be able to cope with any particular incident.

1905

Given that this is a new facility and a new installation for Gibraltar, clearly one of the priorities will be to get the Gibraltar Fire Service not just involved, but fully kitted and fully trained in this matter.

1910

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I quite understand that but it actually, the training aspects of this is just one part of the equation; it is the resources as well. There are going to have to be pretty advanced resources for the Fire Brigade to be able to deal with an accident relating to LNG.

1915

And let me tell the hon. Gentleman that in certain parts of the United States, certainly, where there are specific routes that LNG tankers can travel – they cannot travel outside those specific routes – all fire brigades on those routes have got to be certified that they have the equipment necessary, and the training, in order to be able to deal with those accidents because you are talking about some pretty specialised equipment.

1920 And it is a question that no doubt – and it is an evolving situation, I accept that – but it is a question that no doubt we will continue to ask further down the line, as to the preparedness of the Fire Brigade in relation to a possible LNG accident in the future.

1925 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I can say to the hon. Member that there will be that level of preparedness, there will be the level of training that is required and whatever is advised by the experts that the Government consults in relation to this particular issue will be addressed.

The hon. Member may not know but I actually had a team sent off to the United Kingdom very recently specifically to look at training requirements and to look at training facilities to see what it is that we need to build in to our final plans that we are producing in Gibraltar for the training in order for the Gibraltar Fire and Rescue Service to be fully equipped, fully trained and fully able to deal with any incident of this and other issues.

1930 Because what we are looking at is risk assessment throughout the course of Gibraltar – not just in this particular area, but risk assessment throughout the whole of Gibraltar. How it affects legislation, for example, is an issue that has been looked at. The building rules which provide for fire safety and fire prevention issues: that is being addressed and being looked at. I already have proposals in relation to a risk management plan which will include clearly this area and which is obviously being looked at by the Government.

1940 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, before I go into other supplementary questions on some of the other questions that are still remaining on this particular issue, both Ministers' contribution so far to my first supplementary question was basically to say, 'Well if, perhaps, maybe, we will develop it further.' But my question in relation to question 204 is quite clear: I am asking a question to the Government regardless of the fact that perhaps the Minister of the Environment or the new Minister for the Fire Service are new today within the subject of firefighting and risk analysis.

1945 So my question to the Government is if there has been any advisers on LNG in relation to the power station and the LNG facilities and if they could provide all the assessments and reports to Parliament. All I want is a clear answer as to whether the Government – either the Ministers who are now the Ministers or were before – can tell me in relation to LNG and the power station whether there have been any reports from any advisers and if so, can they provide a copy to Parliament?

1950 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I know that this is a matter that primarily my hon. colleague has been dealing with and he will address the substance of that particular question because he has been more involved in meetings in relation to LNG generally and the power station generally, than I have –

1955 Hon. J J Netto: I am referring to the Fire Service.

Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, he is referring to the Fire Service and the hon. Member has confirmed that the Fire Service has been involved in meetings and providing input into this.

1960 But let me just address the preface to the hon. Member because the hon. Member started his supplementary by saying that the contributions of Members on this side have been on the basis of ifs, buts and maybes. There are no ifs, there are no buts and there are no maybes. Whatever needs to be done to make sure, and I have made it absolutely clear, to make sure that the Gibraltar Fire Service is fully kitted and fully trained to deal with any incident, that will be done in advance and as part of the plans that we are proposing. No ifs, no buts and certainly no maybes.

1965 Hon. J J Netto: But, Mr Speaker, that does not answer my supplementary question. My supplementary question in 204 in relation to firefighting is, and I will repeat it again, whether the Government – not a particular Minister, the Government – has any advice in relation to the Gibraltar Fire and Rescue Service in terms of dealing with an accident of the new power station and the LNG facilities and if they have had, then can they provide a report to Parliament? (Interjection)

1970 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, again, there are two different issues here. One is the power station which is currently going through its final design stages and its EIA and so on where these things will be addressed. The other one is the LNG installation which will go through a similar process once it has been decided which type of installation it is.

You cannot have a generic plan for something so specific. Therefore we have to await the details before these plans can be developed. But, as my hon. Friend has said, regardless of what the specific plans are, we will be ready and we will be resourced and if there is anything we need to do, it will be done.

1980 Hon. J J Netto: So therefore they are saying there has been no report whatsoever by any advisers in relation to the Fire Service.

1985 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, you can only have a specific report when you have a specific detail. We are going through a process; we are not at the end of the process. The contractor for the power station is now going through – and I said it in my reply – all the different processes and assessments and the EIA which will look at all these different things and then the LNG plant, whichever model we decide to go with, will go through a similar process. The reports will come then. You cannot have a report about something that has not yet happened, Mr Speaker.

1990 This obsession with reports while you are still in the process, I just do not understand it! We hear it time and time again.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, therefore the answer is no, so I will move on to my next question. (Laughter)

1995 In relation to the answer to Question 204 the Minister said any specific emergency and fire requirement will be detailed on the on and off-site plan under COMAH.

Now my understanding – and I have not got the legislation in front of me is that this has to be made open to the public so that the public is made aware of the particular plan. How does the Government envisage doing this particular task?

2000 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, we have already committed to when we have the specific reports on the specific projects, then we will make them public. Make them public means make them public. It could be on a website – we will wait and see what the information is and what is the best way, but we are committed and I think we said this clearly in a press release last week or the week before that we will make it public when there is something specific to be made public.

2005 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker –

Mr Speaker: Mr Netto.

2010 Hon. D A Feetham: Sorry –

Mr Speaker: Mr Netto is still asking supplementaries.

2015 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, I know but I am –

Mr Speaker: I think –

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, it is up to this side of the House whether Mr Netto gives way, and I think that he is giving way in relation to this particular supplementary question. (Interjections)

2020 Mr Speaker, (Laughter) the COMAH Regulations – is he aware of the fact that in relation to these COMAH regulations, they are very, very onerous for large installations and there is, as I understand it, a threshold of 12,000 cubic metres, above which certain regulations which are very onerous will bite and below 12,000 cubic metres the regulations are less onerous? Is he aware of that?

2025 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have not studied the detail of the COMAH Regulations. I do not know whether the relevance as to whether I am or I am not aware of that is, because I am not the competent authority. I think I am very competent, but I am not the competent authority and therefore it is the competent authority that has to be aware of those regulations and advise me, and help me to work with the Government in taking these decisions.

2030 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, in formulating my next supplementary question, I have got to be careful not to re-ignite some of the questions and answers already given recently, so I need to focus this very specifically.

2035 In relation to part of the answer given to Questions 205 and 207, on 205 the Government and the Minister said in relation to the storage of fuel that the fuel will not be stored at the site. That was part of the answer given to 205 and in Question 207 in relation to the supply of quantities of LNG, the second paragraph started off by saying the preferred option was through an LNG carrier.

2040 Now, in order not to cover the ground that we have already done, can I ask the Hon. Minister whether the Government is conceiving the idea of having a... whether they call it a super tank or a mother tank, or whatever they call it – basically an LNG super tank anchored outside in the Bay of Gibraltar as the refuelling bunkering facilities to the storage tanks wherever they are sited? Is that the Government thinking over this?

2045 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I do not know how many times I have said this. We are awaiting the recommendations of the entities that are going to be making proposals to provide LNG to Gibraltar. Therefore, until we have those recommendations and we have studied them, I cannot answer that question.

I repeat, these questions are actually quite premature in the process.

2050 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, while I acknowledge what the Minister has said, that does not stop the fact that the Government has taken a decision that the storage tank will be of a limited size. That has already been factored into the answers being given by the Ministers this morning and in a previous session before.

2055 So we know that as far as Government policy is concerned, so the next step is basically the options available to continue to refill those storage tanks, given that the size is going to be small. So it is not unreasonable to ask the Government what those options are.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, this is all pure speculation. I do not know how many times I have to say it, it is all pure speculation.

2060 Mr Speaker, it is all pure speculation. I cannot answer the detail of proposals that have not yet come my way.

Hon. J J Netto: Well obviously, he has not got a clue on the answer –

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker – ! (Interjections)

2065 Hon. J J Netto: Well you will get a chance –

Mr Speaker: Was that a remark from Mr Netto? (Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes!) What was the remark?

2070 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: He said I clearly do not have a clue. (Interjections)

Hon. J J Netto: Moving on, Mr Speaker, to my other supplementary question and that is in relation to the answer given in relation to Question 2012 and the answer –

Mr Speaker: Not 2012 – Question 212.

2075 Hon. J J Netto: Sorry, Question 212. No report on potential terrorism has so far been requested. This is an issue for which the Hon. Minister, Mr Linares only 10 minutes ago from his sedentary position said, this is scaremongering.

2080 Now the reason why I raise this is because – perhaps Mr Linares is not aware – of the fact that there is a difference in legislation between the USA, the way they actually look at the potential risks, which does include terrorist attack because of the fact they have experienced that and the difference between the EU Directive – the EU Seveso Directive – which does not necessarily take them into account.

2085 But the fact that we do know that the reality of such a terrorist attack is a very feasible idea, because we do know that there are sleeping terrorist cells both in Ceuta, Spain and Morocco, that means that we could have a terrorist attack on any future LNG facilities, whether Mr Linares knows it or not. So it is conceivable and realistic to ask the particular question.

2090 So can I ask the Minister whether in those analyses, they will go the extra mile in relation to the standards adopted by the US in relation to incorporating those prescriptive scenarios which are likely to emerge from a terrorist attack or whether the Government is of the view that such a thing is not going to happen in Gibraltar because terrorism around in the Iberian Peninsula or in North Africa does not happen?

Mr Speaker: No, the answer, the Minister did not say that they do not think that it can happen. The answer is no report on potential terrorism has so far been requested. There is no indication in that answer whether the Government thinks that it may or not happen.

2095 I would think that we are all here subject to terrorist activity, or aren't we? (Laughter) Do they not think, do Members not think that someone could come in here with a gun? Is it out of the question in the world in which we live? Because if we think that we are, then we are barking up the wrong tree, I think.

2100 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I think that is the precise point that the hon. Gentleman is making. Of course, it is possible in the world that we live in to have a terrorist attack.

The difference between this and the scenario that he is talking about is of course, that if there is a terrorist attack here, well Gibraltar loses – except for the Chief Minister who is not here – all the Parliamentarians and the Hon. Backbencher – loses the entire Parliament.

2105 But of course if something goes wrong with a liquid natural gas installation, it has got wider consequences for the community.

I think that is what he is saying, although I have to say – I make this point – that normally with these types of reports, unless it is specifically – 2110 Hon. G H Licudi: Point of Order.

Mr Speaker: What is your Point of Order?

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, there has been a supplementary asked by the Hon. Mr. Netto.

2115 Mr Speaker: Yes, I interrupted it myself. He has not answered it. Perhaps the Hon. Minister should answer it and then (Interjection by the Hon D A Feetham) the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. G H Licudi: I am happy to give way in a moment to the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition –

2120 Mr Speaker: We do not know who is giving way to whom now. I think we had better come back to Mr Cortes –

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: I am happy to rise and give way to Mr Licudi.

2125 Hon. G H Licudi: I am dealing with the point made by the Hon. Mr Netto, and I rise as Minister for Justice.

Certainly we should not be flippant with these things and refer to, 'Well, if there is an attack here then all Parliamentarians might die and that is a different kettle of fish to an attack on an LNG facility.' We have to treat these matters with the seriousness that they deserve.

2130 I am very concerned about the use of language used by the Hon. Mr Netto when he says that a terrorist attack in Gibraltar is feasible. Those were the words that he used and that is very, very concerning. I am sure that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition, as former Minister for Justice, would also be concerned with any suggestion that that is the case.

2135 We are all aware of the risks. We are all aware of the realities of the world that we live in and we all share all of those concerns and we have to be as prepared as we possibly can be in Gibraltar, through intelligence, through actions, through co-operation, through international agreements. We have to be as prepared and as ready, not just to meet the consequences of an attack but to prevent, and that is the effort that is being made.

2140 I would certainly ask the hon. Member to withdraw the use of that word because whatever the risks might be, certainly we do not want to give the impression that it is feasible for terrorists to come to Gibraltar. It certainly is not feasible. We are as prepared as we certainly can be to face any possibility of an attack as anybody else might be.

2145 And can I just say, this contribution is not meant in a partisan or party political way. I am absolutely sure that in this particular area, we are all singing from the same hymn sheet and we are all aware of those risks and we want to be sure that those risks are minimised as much as possible, as indeed is every other government in the world that takes these matters as seriously as we do.

Hon. J J Netto: Well, Mr Speaker, I am quite happy to reformulate that particular comment in the terms that we need to be as prepared as necessary in the circumstances. I have no problem with that.

2150 Perhaps the way I elaborated the point was to make sure that it can happen. The reality is that it can happen. Whether it is feasible or not is a different issue, but it certainly can happen and we live in a world today where we all see through the news that there are constantly people being arrested in Ceuta, people being arrested in Morocco, people being arrested in Spain, who are certainly engaged. It is a matter of concern and this is the reason why I am raising the original question which is to say are we looking into that.

Now fine, going back to Mr Speaker, where he did say that the original answer to the question has been that such reports have so far not been requested. Can I therefore reformulate my original supplementary question to ask whether it is the intention of the Government to actually look at this matter and perhaps see the consequences of this?

2160

Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, Mr Speaker, of course. To the extent that we have any facility that is exposed to any risk. All angles will be considered and to the extent that the risk that the hon. Member has alluded to, is a risk that is a reality in the world and everybody has to take action to minimise the risk, to deflect the possibility of attacks that is something that we all have to work towards.

2165

I would urge the hon. Member not to try and engage in a party political way in this sort of area because this is something that the whole Parliament, the whole of Gibraltar – in fact the whole of the democratic world – take very seriously in terms of making sure to the fullest extent possible, that every single jurisdiction – and it is certainly in our case, the one that we are responsible for – is as prepared as possible for the possibility of any attack, we anticipate any possibility of an attack and we take steps to be fully trained and fully prepared and to prevent any such attack as necessary.

2170

So yes, the answer is we will take all necessary measures and all the necessary agencies that need to be involved in assessing risk. I mentioned risk earlier in the context of fire prevention risk and certain things that we are doing, but when you talk of risk at a much wider level, then certainly all risks will be taken into account and all relevant agencies will be involved in looking at that risk and minimising the risk.

2175

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q220/2015

Solar panel installation – Contracted companies and individuals

Clerk: Question 220, the Hon. D A Feetham.

2180

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Government please provide a list of companies or individuals who have the benefit of contracts with either the Government, a Government-owned company, Government Authority or Agency for which the Government is accountable, for the installation of solar panels in Gibraltar?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, no individuals have contracts with either the Government or a Government-owned company, Government Authority or Agency for the installation of solar panels.

2190

Two companies have signed contracts for the installation of solar panels. These are Helios and Green Resources Investments Ltd. Other proposals are currently being considered.

2195

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, Helios was awarded the tender for Tangier Views and also to install the system at the Tercentenary Sports Hall.

Green Resources Investments Ltd installed the system at the swimming pool and have a power purchase agreement with the GEA. They have also been awarded the tender for the installation of a solar thermal photovoltaic system at the Gibraltar Health Authority.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, does he have the values in terms of these contracts at all with him?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker, but I am happy to share them with him.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, could the Hon. Minister provide some more details about the power purchase agreements that they have got with the GEA and how that actually works in practice?

2210

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, it does not work yet because it has not yet commenced. The power purchase agreement is similar to what we are doing with the company that we signed an MOU with – I am not sure whether we actually signed the PPA with them as well to do with the wave power – and that is that they install at their cost and then we purchase the power off them.

So that is the detail. Any more details as to costs and so on, as I say, I do not have them with me but that is the principle of it.

2215

Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, just one other supplementary to understand how it is working in practice now, not the power purchase arrangement which I understand from the Minister is not yet working, but is the power being generated by these installations already being taken advantage of in the specific context of their installation?

2220

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: My information – and I think I have shared this before in Parliament, I do not have the details here but I have said it before – I believe that at least the one in the swimming pool has on occasions produced surplus energy to the one required there and it has been fed into the grid.

TOURISM, EQUALITY, SOCIAL SERVICES AND HOUSING

Q221/2015 Disability Action Plan – Update

2225 Clerk: Question 221, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say at what stage the Disability Action Plan is at as outlined in the Government's manifesto?

2230 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the Disability Action Plan is at an advanced stage.

2235 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I do recall that that is almost word for word what the hon. Lady said to me almost two years ago. What has happened since I asked the original question two years ago?

2240 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, it is an ongoing matter. Disability Action Plans are working documents for a five-to-ten-year period. It is a complex working document. It is a massive project. Remember that it is something that we are starting from scratch. The hon. Gentleman opposite may have asked me about this two years ago. It is a shame that prior to two years ago when it was his responsibility, it did not occur to him to do anything about it. (A Member: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks) It surprises me that he feels so strongly about it now. But in any event, it is being done, Mr Speaker.

2245 But the thing is, although the plan itself is not a plan that has been published, as we work on it we do develop the strategies that will form part of the plan. The irony is that the more things that we do, the more things that we realise that we can then do. It is like a web, Mr Speaker. The more initiatives that we have, the more further initiatives that flow from that.

2250 But again, as I said before, it is a massive project. A lot of research and preparation has already gone into it and it is a manifesto commitment that is not timed, Mr Speaker, but will be delivered in the term of this Parliament.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, leaving sarcasm to one side, I think that the hon. the Party opposite did have a manifesto commitment, particularly to the Disability Society in general, that they would implement this particular measure within a year of being in Government.

2255 Now, I asked the question three years ago as she rightly reminded me, and the answer was then, that soon, it will be done soon. Now, all the answer she is giving me now is that this is work in progress, but surely there must be a point in time where she has to meet the commitment given to the Disability Society.

2260 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, the supplementary question that I am being asked now has nothing to do with the Disability Action Plan. It relates to a different question on a different matter – in the field of disability, but he is asking me on something else, Mr Speaker.

In any event, Mr Speaker, as I said before, because an actual document has not been published does not mean that the work in progress is not happening.

2265 But what I can say, Mr Speaker, is that for 16 years there was nothing – no document, no work in progress. (Banging on desks) So perhaps we can leave it at that.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

2270

Q222/2015
Sheltered Employment –
Companies involved

Clerk: Question 222, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2275 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say why only one company is part of their ‘Sheltered Employment’ programme for disabled persons, as outlined in the Government’s manifesto, and what is being done to fulfil the commitment to:

‘Develop sheltered employment for disabled members of the community and support for disabled people to provide outsourced services to companies.’?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

2280 Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, Question 121 referred to the employment of service users at St Bernadette’s and Dr Giraldi only, and not generally to people who are employed under the sheltered employment scheme. It is a different question to what it is now.

However, there are seven other companies or associations engaged in providing voluntary placements to service users of St Bernadette’s and Dr Giraldi Home.

2285 In relation to the second part of the question, as Parliament has already been informed, in accordance with the Government’s manifesto commitment, Supported Employment Company Limited was created in February 2012 and its employees include people who were previously on the VTS Scheme. The difference is that those previously on VTS received a training allowance between £300 and £450, but these are now in employment in this company with indefinite contracts, earning a salary, as well as contributing to Social Security which in turn gives them an opportunity to receive an old age pension.

Q223/2015
Dr Giraldi Home –
Respite beds

Clerk: Question 223, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

2295 Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services say how many respite beds are available at the Dr Giraldi Home for disabled persons?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

2300 Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, there are five.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister say if there are plans to increase the number of respite beds?

2305 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, the service as a whole is something that is continually looked at and different methods of expanding how the service is offered is being given consideration. So the answer is yes.

Q224 & 226/2015
Government rental properties –
Expenditure on refurbishment and repair

Clerk: Question 224, the Hon. E J Reyes.

2310

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to the answer provided to Question 111/2015, can the Minister for Housing now provide details pertaining to the type/nature of repair works undertaken by the two companies listed?

2315

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 226.

Clerk: Question 226, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide details in respect of all expenditure incurred since the answer to Question 111/2015 in respect of contracts awarded for making empty homes suitable for re-allocation, stating to whom payments were made, how much has been paid, the number of residential homes pertaining to each payment, as well as indicating the type/nature of repair works or cleaning services undertaken?

2325

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

2330

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, in answer to Question 224, further to the answer provided to Question 111 the nature of the repairs undertaken were general refurbishment works which include painting and plastering.

In answer to Question 226, the information for the month of February 2015 is as follows: AJEC was paid £9,830 for carrying out general refurbishment works to one property; MC Construction was paid £12,400 for carrying out general refurbishment works to one property; Trotters were paid £10,270 for carrying out general refurbishment works to one property; CRJN was paid £9,874.89 for carrying out general refurbishment works to one property; and that is it, Mr Speaker.

2335

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I do not want to be over pedantic but can the Minister tell me a bit more? When she says 'general refurbishment works', with the example I gave last month, well is it of a plumbing nature, electrical nature? I do not know if she does have something.

2340

We accepted that last month perhaps those who provided her with information had not been paying due attention to that, but Mr Speaker did guide the Minister that she should ask the public servants to provide a bit more guidance on that type of information.

2345

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I have said that it is for general refurbishment. So if say, for example, within that refurbishment a bathroom is being replaced or a kitchen is being replaced, then naturally there will be plumbing works involved. But they are all sort of general refurbishments, I did say that they include plastering and painting. To be exact, for one of them, for example, there was a replacement of a floor and the replacement of a door and painting a door and replacement of a kitchen worktop.

2350

Mr Speaker. I am happy to go into minute detail in every single property that we refurbish every month but I question whether it is really necessary and whether it is really proportionate if I give the value of the refurbishment works. And I say that it is general refurbishment: is it proportionate to have my officials and public servants having to spend a whole day looking through the whole sort of the minutia of the works order to provide this level of detail, when the actual value of the contract is relatively small, Mr Speaker? Because if we look at it, they are all in the region of £10,000, Mr Speaker.

2355

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker. I accept that we do not want to be over pedantic or whatever, but perhaps a general indication, for example if it was because it required electrical installation or just refurbishment to the fabric that could include in very general terms, like the Minister said in answer to Question 224, paint and plastering. That suffices. I do not need to know whether it was the kitchen, the bathroom or not.

2365 Here I am looking as well in cases where if there has been a roof repair, because there are many Government tenants at the moment expressing lots of concerns to the Opposition mainly of big problems with water ingress and so on.

2370 So if in the future the Minister has anything that can guide us more to that then we know whether we are talking about the same cases that are being reported to us or whether those are just separate and still need further actions.

Q225/2015

Referendum House 'Breakdown Fault'– Firefighters in attendance

2375 Clerk: Question 225, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer provided to Written Question W20/2015, can the Minister for Housing explain what is meant by 'Firefighters', which is listed as the 'Breakdown Fault' for Referendum House on 25th January 2015?

2380 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the reference to firefighters means that the attendance of the Fire and Rescue Service was required.

2385 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, but the schedule which was provided last month, there was a written question for all the cases under the heading of 'Breakdown Fault'. It says whether a main switch cut or a lift was blocked and so on. This one in respect of the firefighters. What struck my attention was that the report came through on 25th January at 23:42 hours and it was not functional again until 09:53 hours the next morning so it was an 11-hour stretch and so on.

2390 One wonders what happened: had there been unfortunately vandalism? I concur with the Lady in condemning those who seem to get some sort of weird enjoyment out of vandalising the lifts. In other cases, it says there was an electrical fault or whatever.

2395 But if the firefighters had to attend, did they have to attend because the lift had got stuck? They did attend but it got stuck because of... The reaction that one gets is that maybe the firefighters were at fault and had been the cause of the damage to the lift.

2400 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I agree that the word 'firefighters' should not have been in the original schedule as the reason for the breakdown. But that is the way that the schedule was completed and there was a reference to firefighters.

2405 The question on this occasion is what does 'firefighters' mean and the answer to that is that it is a referral that there was an attendance by the Fire and Rescue Service. The reason the Fire and Rescue Service attended was because someone was stuck in the lift. So because it broke down at almost midnight, the Fire Brigade were called to get the people out at midnight.

Hon. E J Reyes: Would the Minister happen to know why a person got stuck in the lift and what caused the breakdown? Was it anything similar to one of the other ones?

2410 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Yes, Mr Speaker, that is a separate question again. The question is now the cause for the breakdown of the lift and the cause of the breakdown of the lift was a technical fault in the lift. There was a technical fault, someone was stuck and the Fire Brigade were called.

Q227/2015

Government rental homes –
Weather damage

Clerk: Question 227, the Hon. E J Reyes.

2415 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide full details of the extent of damages, either internal or external, inclusive of locations, caused to rental homes as a result of inclement weather during the ongoing refurbishment works at any housing estate since the answer provided to Question 108/2015 which provided details only up to 9th February 2015?

2420 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and social Services.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the damage reported due to inclement weather since 9th February has been to clothes-drying screens at Referendum House, Glacis Estate and at Rodney House, Laguna Estate.

2425

Hon. E J Reyes: Can I ask, Mr Speaker, is the Minister now satisfied that, with the unfortunate damage caused, appropriate measures have been taken so we try as far as possible to avoid a repetition, should strong winds and so on occur again?

2430 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Appropriate remedial action was sought immediately, Mr Speaker, so yes.

Hon. E J Reyes: And just for the sake of the record, Mr Speaker, can the Minister then confirm that since 9th February the only sort of damage that has been done has been to the clothes-drying screens, that no other reports, as in previous answers, any other examples – for example, water ingress through the windows, through the roofs, because of refurbishment works, that none of that has occurred luckily since 9th February?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: On the basis of information that has been provided to me, Mr Speaker, no.

Q228/2015
Families with disabled persons –
Housing provision

2440 Clerk: Question 228, the Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services and Housing say, as outlined in the Government's manifesto, how many families with disabled persons have been provided with adequate and affordable housing since January 2012?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the answer is 119.

Q229-230/2015
Government rental homes –
Unpaid rents

2450

Clerk: Question 229, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide details of arrears in respect of unpaid rents pertaining to Government rental homes as at 28th February 2015?

2455

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 230.

2460

Clerk: Question 230, the Hon. E J Reyes.

2465 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide full details of how much has been written off in respect of unpaid rents pertaining to Government rental homes since the answer provided to Question 110/2015?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

2470 Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the total of arrears of unpaid rents as at 28th February 2015 was £5,340,483.59.

In answer to Question 230, no monies have been written off since the answer provided to Question 110/2015 as the exercise in this respect is continuing.

2475 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes thank you, Mr Speaker. But I think I also recall from the last time in respect of how much money had been written off, the Minister was able to say last month that nil, or none had been written off except for those that had, sort of, time had expired or whatever.

Is the Minister aware of how much money will have to be written off because – what is it called – the statutory limitation kicks in?

2480 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: No, Mr Speaker, because as I have just said, this is an exercise which is continuing.

Q231-232/2015
Tenants urgently decanted – Expected return home

Clerk: Question 231, the Hon. E J Reyes.

2485 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing say when the three tenants listed in answer to Question 112/2015 who required urgent decanting from their homes will be able to return to their own dwellings?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

2490 Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 232.

Clerk: Question 232, the Hon. E J Reyes.

2495 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide details of how many tenants required urgent decanting from their homes since the answer to Question 112 of 2015, indicating the reason why the date when said decanting became necessary and the date when the tenants were able to return to their homes?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

2500 Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, in answer to Question 231, further to the answer provided, one tenant has returned to their flat, another is due to return by the second week in April and there is no set date for the other.

2505 In answer to Question 232, since the answer to Question 112, two tenants have required urgent decanting from their homes due to works. The first tenant was decanted on 18th and the other on 27th February. There are as yet no set dates for their return.

2510 Hon. E J Reyes: Sorry, Mr Speaker, in Question 232, I asked there ‘indicating the reason why’, so does the Minister have at least a general idea of the reason why the last set of decanting has been necessary?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I did say that it was in relation to works. One is in relation to works required due to water ingress and the other one is because of severe dampness in the flat.

Q233/2015
Government rental homes –
Legal costs of evictions

Clerk: Question 233, the Hon. E J Reyes.

2515

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing say how much expenditure has been incurred in respect of legal costs relating to the eviction of squatters from Government rental homes since the answer provided to Question 114/2015, providing a breakdown showing the number of homes involved and to whom payments were made?

2520

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, since the answer provided to Question 114/2015, £260 has been paid to Triay & Triay for the eviction of a squatter from one property.

2525

Q234/2015
Government rental homes –
Legal costs of evictions

Clerk: Question 234, the Hon. E J Reyes.

2530

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Housing provide pertinent details pertaining to the Government flat which was repossessed in January 2015 and shown in Table H27 on the Housing Ministry's statistics website?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

2535

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, a Government tenant needs to be in occupation of the property for 270 days in the year. In this case because the tenant was not, the process of repossession was commenced and a repossession order was obtained by the court.

2545

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 236.

2550

Clerk: Question 236, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer provided to Question 107/2015, can the Minister for Housing provide updated details in respect of the projected maintenance contract for the garage barriers at Mid Harbour Estate?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services.

2560 Minister for Tourism, Housing, Equality and Social Services (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, in answer to Question 235, it is envisaged that the barriers will be operational by the beginning of May 2015.

In answer to Question 236, as previously explained a contract for the services of an electrical contractor to provide maintenance for the new barriers will be entered into once the new system is fully operational.

TRANSPORT, TRAFFIC AND TECHNICAL SERVICES

Q237-238/2015

Big Publications Ltd – Revenue from advertising on buses

Clerk: Question 237, the Hon. S M Figueras.

2570 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport now tell the House how much advertising revenue is owing to the Government from Big Publications Ltd for advertising on the buses further to the Government's confirmation that it has received accounts from the company?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

2575

Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 238.

Clerk: Question 238, the Hon. S M Figueras.

2580

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport say what is the total amount of advertising on the back of the buses that the Bus Company has contracted with advertisers since September 2014, broken down on a month by month basis?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I am still not in a position to be able to provide the hon. Gentleman with the information requested, as the detailed examination of the accounts has not yet been considered. I expect to be in a position to give a fuller answer at the next meeting of the Parliament, when I would invite him to ask me again so I can provide further details.

As to Question 238, there was only one advert placed on the back of the buses since September 2014 to date.

2595

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, in relation to the answer to the first of the two questions that I have asked together, the Minister has said that the detailed examination of the accounts has not yet been considered. Could he clarify for the House whether a detailed examination has actually been carried out and that the results of that examination have not been considered or that a detailed examination has not yet been conducted?

2600

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, as far as I have been told, a detailed examination of the accounts received from the company has now been carried out and the report has been presented to the directors of the Gibraltar Bus Company Ltd. The report is now being considered by the directors.

2605

Hon. S M Figueras: I am grateful Mr Speaker. In relation to the second question, the continued advertising on the back of the buses, I have asked it because it has been impossible to miss the fact that the livery on the new red buses does not seem to take into account the possibility of advertising on the back of them.

2610

Is it a policy decision that has been taken by the Government that advertising on the back of the buses is something that will no longer be done on the new fleet of buses?

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, at present the buses just have the logo of the Ministry for Transport at the back and so in the future we could well allow for advertising but we have not taken a decision yet.

2615 Hon. S M Figueras: So is the Minister then saying, Mr Speaker, that the reason why no advertising has been taken on the buses is because they do not have a contractor to administer the sale of the advertising as Big Publications was doing before September? Or is it that there has been no interest in advertising on the buses and therefore none has been contracted beyond the one that he has mentioned?

2620 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the Government is still taking a decision as to whether they will. There is a possibility that the Government could well sell advertising in the future, it does not necessarily mean that the Government will go down the same route as was done previously which was to have someone to sell the advertising for it, and so all these options are still open.

2625 Mr. Speaker: Next question.

Hon. S M Figueras: Sorry, Mr Speaker, just one other supplementary. When the Government conducted the tender for the new contract before they awarded it to Big Publications Limited in 2012, there were other applicants. Has the possibility of those other applicants being approached to administer the contract been taken into account?

2630 If of course it is a matter of the Government developing a new policy position – because it would be a departure from existing policy in terms of having a contractor selling the advertising – if it is in fact the case that the Government needs to develop a policy as to whether they are going to continue with that arrangement or not, is there a timeline for when that decision might be taken?

2635 Hon. P J Balban: No, sir.

Hon. S M Figueras: I take it that is in relation to the last part of the question. The first part of the question was whether the possibility of getting in touch with tender applicants for the contract in 2012 has been considered as a possibility in the interim to generate some revenue for the bus company?

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, if I can assist, what we are saying is that those possibilities are on the table. But the other possibility which may also be relevant is that the Bus Company may sell its own advertising. Having seen how the advertising has worked under two different contracts, the Government may take the view, may take the view that it is in the Government's interest to see the Bus Company do its own sales of advertising.

2645 But that is not a determination that has yet been made. We need to see what resource that would take up. If it does not take up much of a resource, which appears to be what we are being told, then it may make sense to cut out the middle man and simply sell the advertising direct.

2650 He may have seen that the advertisers seem to be more or less the same advertisers, so it is more or less a case of renewals rather than actually aggressively having to pursue any entity in the market to persuade them to advertise. Therefore if that is the case, it may be that at least initially the Bus Company can benefit from the advertising payment coming in without the need to interpose an agent and that of course would be beneficial.

2655 Hon. S M Figueras: I am grateful for the Chief Minister's interjection. And certainly on the point of selling the advertising yes, Mr Speaker, I agree with the observation that they tend to be the same advertisers over and over again.

2660 But I wonder whether perhaps that is just as a result of any kind of lacking in terms of marketing the possibility to other potential advertisers. I would simply urge the Chief Minister to bear that possibility in mind that having a contractor that actually goes out there to sell the advertising, may also be in the interest of the bus company.

2665 The last supplementary would be in relation to this subject and is clearly the resource that we are talking about and I would ask for clarification is the printing resources I suppose and the installation of advertising on the buses and that I trust is something that could probably be sub-contracted. Is that the case, is that something they are contemplating?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, we are looking now at the situation with the benefit not just of one contractor but of two contractors, and the other contractor is one of the ones that had applied on this occasion as well, that he is asking us to consider.

2670 So therefore if two contractors have failed to reach out further into the market, given that Gibraltar is a very small market, it is likely that the market is the size that it would appear from the back of the buses it is, and not much larger and waiting to be tapped. That is why it is likely that we may take the decision that the Bus Company can simply be its own agent for the sale of advertising, because there does not seem to be a huge untapped market that a person with talent in promotion of the product, which is i.e. the back end of a bus, could sell to advertisers, that you know the two entities that have already been trying to do that historically have not been able to achieve.

2680 I know that he sells himself now as a marketing man, rather than as a lawyer and I am quite happy to sit down with him and take his marketing advice on this issue if he thinks he has anything, or perhaps he would like to come and sell advertising for the Bus Company as a more potentially rewarding career than the one he is experiencing in the benches Opposite.

Mr Speaker, I say that by way of a quip and nothing else, but we do not think there is a huge untapped market in advertising that anybody else might be able to reach that has not been reached yet and therefore it looks like it is really more or less renewals.

2685 But that is the selling of the advertising that we are talking about, not the printing of the designs or the preparation of the designs. The graphic design and the printing of the stickers and all the rest of it would not be something that would be done in-house. That would be produced for the advertiser to go on the back of the bus.

2690 But the renewal of the contracts and the cost of the advertising is something that would be contracted directly by the Bus Company potentially, if we are deciding to go down that route.

Mr. Speaker: Question 239.

2695 Hon. S M Figueras: Just one question which will tend to clarify, rather that there is an element of disagreement between what the –

Mr Speaker: I am anxious to finish – [Inaudible].

2700 Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, it is a very simple supplementary. It is a very, very short supplementary, Mr Speaker.

Will the Chief Minister not concede that the first contractor, if we look at the data that was provided in answer to questions last year in relation to this point, will he not concede that actually the first contractor was a nice little earner, not just for the contractor but certainly for the Bus Company in terms of the successful, really I think if we look at it objectively, amount of advertising that they were managing to sell?

2705 It seemed that the problem is that with the second contractor, the experience has been nightmarish by comparison. So I do not know whether perhaps it is a question for him to answer and it is something that we have covered, but would he concede that the experience with the first contractor was by far and away a much better and much more profitable experience than that of Big Publications Limited?

2710 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, I have been following the debate in the House, although I was not here, and I am surprised by that question by the hon. Gentleman, because the first contract, Mr Speaker, was not granted by tender. It was a direct allocation by the previous Administration to one particular company.

2715 Now, is he saying to me that by analysing the data that produced more income than the contract that you gave out by tender? Well look, I have not got the tender. I have not got the data. He has analysed it but I am prepared to take at his word that a direct allocation without going out to tender by them when they were in power may have produced a greater return than the properly dealt with tender that we did which produced an unfortunate result.

2720 Which I suppose, Mr Speaker, just goes to show that tenders are not always the best way of making the best amount of money for the Taxpayer. Something that all of us perhaps may be reticent to admit but given some of the exchanges that we have had this morning in relation to other matters in respect of tenders and whether things should go out to tender, is really quite remarkable.

2725 And in fact, Mr Speaker, I was particularly struck by one exchange where the issue of tenders which the hon. Gentleman has tangentially touched upon by the way that he has phrased his question, was dealt with given that in one question we were talking about the Government having awarded to the managers of a particular Government installation, the contract to run that installation without a tender, and yet in the next question we were told what it cost to clean another installation by a contractor that was also awarded the right to clean Government sites by the previous Administration without a tender.

Mid Harbour Estate –
Garage barriers

2730 Clerk: Question 239, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister provide details to this House of all costs incurred by Government in the servicing and maintenance of his official car, the G1, indicating which service provider has carried out said servicing and maintenance?

2735 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. The Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, since the Tesla was first registered on 15th October 2013; it has undergone one service, namely its first service. This service was carried out by a Tesla technician, known as a Tesla Ranger, at a total cost of £1,390.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister say at what installation the service was carried out?

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, we do not know where the actual service took place, but it was carried out using Bassadone Motors.

Mr Speaker: I think as there are no other supplementaries that this is perhaps a convenient moment to recess until this afternoon at 3.00 p.m. when the Chief Minister will be answering questions.
The House will now recess until 3.00 p.m. this afternoon.

The House recessed at 1.00 p.m. and resumed its sitting at 3.00 p.m.

Questions for Oral Answer

CHIEF MINISTER

Q264/2015

No. 6 Convent Place –

Completion of works; estimated cost

Mr Speaker: Questions to the Chief Minister, beginning with Question 264.
The Hon. Mr Figueras.

Clerk: Question 264, the Hon. S M Figueras.

5

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Chief Minister say when works at Convent Place are expected to be completed and the estimated cost of these works?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

10

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the current works at Convent Place are programmed for completion in June, 2015. The total estimated cost of these works have not yet been finalised and therefore final costs will be available in the course of the next financial year.

15

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, could I ask, I mean taking into account what the Chief Minister has said, does the Government have a kind of order of cost as opposed to a definitive amount of what the cost would be?

20

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, we have had these debates in the past and I have indicated that it is not in the taxpayer's interest that we give an order of cost. Because, for example, in respect of this project in particular and because I am obviously involved with it, as is the Deputy Chief Minister as we are living on the site, although I have had to move out for a few days because of the works there are sub-contractors still being engaged and negotiations are ongoing with some sub-contractors in respect of some works and therefore we do not want to give any indication of what the approved costs are so that we can continue to drive a hard bargain with the contractors, but of course the total final cost will be disclosed during the course of the Budget debate I imagine.

25

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I ask the Chief Minister if at least he can give us some further information to this extent, as he has already gone on record as saying that this particular project is going to cost around £4.5 million. I mean that is the original estimate that he has quoted as having said in the press. Does he envisage that it will come in at less than that, around that or more than that? At least perhaps he can provide us with some further information.

35

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am very happy to report that the costs estimated at £4.5 million at the time that the project was envisaged are likely to come in on target – in other words, what was going to cost £4.5 million is going to cost £4.5 million. But Convent Place is a very old building, Mr Speaker, and therefore as works move on new issues arise and a refurbishment or aspects of a refurbishment are leading to new works which are being required.

40 It may be of interest to the House to know, for example, that the floorboards in some parts of No.6
Convent Place are riddled with termites and therefore there will have to be work done in respect of that work which has now been uncovered and which will require replacement because of course earlier refurbishments did not deal with that. They dealt with chandeliers and curtains, but they did not deal with the infrastructure of the building which is what is now being uncovered.

45 Therefore it maybe that there will be additional costs, but not because the £4.5 million is not going as far as the £4.5 million should have gone.

Q265/2015
Europa Point Stadium –
Government expenditure

Clerk: Question 265, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Government please state what money has been paid either 50 directly or indirectly by the Government, a Government-owned company, authority or agency in respect of the proposed Europa Point Stadium and/or Europa Stadium Limited?

Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the sum of £104 has been charged to Europa Stadium 55 Limited to date.

Hon. D A Feetham: So, Mr Speaker, the answer – so that I get it absolutely clear and so there is absolutely no doubt moving to the future – is that taxpayers' money, the extent of the expenditure by the Government to date in relation to Europa Point and in relation to this particular company is just the figure 60 that the hon. Gentleman has just provided to this House now.

Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Speaker. Following exactly the words that he has used, the cost to the taxpayer is exactly the figure that I have given.

Q266-272/2015
Sunborn floating hotel –
Government costs; registration; Certificate of Fitness

Clerk: Question 266, the Hon. D A Feetham.
65

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Government confirm whether the Sunborn floating hotel is registered as a ship or a hotel in Gibraltar, and if not, where is it registered?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.
70

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 267 to 272.

Clerk: Question 267, the Hon. D A Feetham.
75

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, what has been the total indirect or direct cost to Government or any entity for which it is accountable of the Sunborn floating hotel, including but not limited to any cost of dredging a passage to allow the hotel to be berthed at its current site?

Clerk: Question 268, the Hon. D A Feetham.
80

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, has the Sunborn floating hotel been awarded a Certificate of Fitness by any authority in Gibraltar and please provide details of the same?

Clerk: Question 269, the Hon. D A Feetham.
85

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Government confirm that it is not contractually responsible for any maintenance costs in respect of the Sunborn floating hotel?

Clerk: Question 270, the Hon. D A Feetham.

90

Hon. D A Feetham: What payments have been made to the Government of Gibraltar or Credit Finance Company Limited in respect of loans provided by the latter to the owners of the Sunborn or any other entity associated with it?

95

Clerk: Question 271, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Government confirm that no further loans have been provided to the owners of the Sunborn floating hotel or any entity associated with it in respect of that hotel since June 2013?

Clerk: Question 272, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Government confirm the owners of the Sunborn floating hotel or any other entity associated with that hotel have paid Credit Finance Company Limited all repayments due in respect of loans provided in respect of that hotel on their due date without the need to reschedule, renegotiate or otherwise postpone the original date of payment?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, as previously stated in my answer to Questions 210 to 223 and 428/2014, and in other instances I believe, the Sunborn hotel is a private facility and it is the responsibility of the owners and operators to ensure it complies with any requisite regulations and laws and the Government has no involvement in this. Furthermore, there is no maintenance agreement between the Government and the Sunborn floating hotel.

110

The Sunborn floating hotel is not a building subject to building control and so it is not captured by building regulations and the Government's Building Control Department are not called upon to determine whether a Certificate of Fitness should be awarded or not. The Government nonetheless understands that the Sunborn is registered as a vessel in Finland.

115

The Government will not bear any costs associated with the Sunborn project. Although the benefits of those works have accrued to Ocean Village and Sunborn, the cost will be shared by those who have taken the benefit of said works. Government is in the process of agreeing with both Ocean Village and the Sunborn what proportion of the works each is liable for and how they will reimburse the Government.

120

Mr Speaker, as I have said repeatedly in answer to questions of this nature, the loan of monies to the Sunborn by Credit Finance Company Limited is not a matter on which the Government will comment as it is commercially confidential.

125

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, starting with the question of the Certificate of Fitness Mr Speaker, does the Government feel comfortable with a situation where the Sunborn floating hotel does not have a Certificate of Fitness here in Gibraltar?

My understanding of the position is that any hotel in Gibraltar would need to have a Certificate of Fitness and presumably the reason why this particular hotel does not have a Certificate of Fitness is because it falls between two stools – in other words, it falls between regulations pertaining to hotels and regulations pertaining to ships. But one way or the other I would have thought that it would have been advisable for this particular hotel to also have a Certificate of Fitness, as indeed do all other hotels in Gibraltar.

135

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, before I answer, can I invite the hon. Gentleman to declare his interest in respect of these questions?

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am certainly not the owner of the hotel and so I am not sure what interest he wants me to declare. Perhaps he would care to clarify the situation.

140

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman is a partner in the law firm that advises the Sunborn floating hotel. As I understand it, given previous rulings, it is incumbent upon him to declare his interest in that respect.

145

We were required to do so during the course of the Budget debate in 2011 and during that session... in fact not in relation to the Appropriation Bill – simply because Mr Licudi and I were going to vote on a matter in respect of which a client of Hassans had an interest. We were not going to speak. We were going to vote on a matter in respect of which a client of Hassans had an interest.

150 So I invite him to declare his interest here as a partner of the law firm that advises the Sunborn floating hotel in respect of which he is now asking questions of the Government as to what might and might not be advisable.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well Mr Speaker, he appears to know more about the business of Hassans than I do. I have to say that is the reality. He appears to know more about the business of Hassans than I do. I certainly was not aware that Hassans had been advising the Sunborn hotel in relation to these particular issues, if that is what he is suggesting.

155 But to the extent that I must accept the hon. Gentleman's word for it, that Hassans are somehow involved with the Sunborn floating hotel, to the extent that that is so, Mr Speaker, I have absolutely no problem in declaring that is so, accepting his word for it that Hassans are acting on behalf of the Sunborn floating hotel, because of course he appears to know more about the business of Hassans than I do.

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, it is not that I know more about the business of Hassans than he does, it is that lawyers from Hassans come to see me about the Sunborn floating hotel and they appear to have advised that the Sunborn does not need to apply for a Certificate of Fitness. It may be, given everything that he has said, that he takes issues with the views expressed by some of his partners and the associates working in his firm.

Hon. D A Feetham: No, Mr Speaker look I do not take issue with the advice provided by any lawyer. I am asking the Government questions because they are accountable at the end of the day to this House and to the people of Gibraltar.

170 I am the Leader of the Opposition. I also happen to be a partner in Hassans. But look, the fact that somebody from within Hassans, which is a massive organisation, has been advising the Sunborn is neither here nor there. I am asking the Hon. the Chief Minister whether he, as a Government, as Head of a Government, feels comfortable with a situation where you have a hotel that does not appear to have a Certificate of Fitness. That is all I am asking. Now surely that is capable of a very simple answer.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the fact that Hassans is a massive organisation was not relevant when Mr Licudi and I were simply going to vote on a Bill, which we were not even speaking on, and he and the then Leader of the House were sitting on this side of the House and insisted that we had to declare an interest simply to say 'aye' or 'nay' in respect of a Bill. So it appears that this is the embodiment of the hypocrisy that the hon. Members opposite have displayed as to how they acted when they were on this side of the House and how they act when they are on that side of the House something which has manifested in just about every single thing that they do.

185 For example, Mr Speaker, when they are on this side of the House they agreed to pay increase electricity charges by 5% a year and when they are on that side of the House they say they have no intention of passing that on to the people who consume electricity. Well, never mind.

190 Mr Speaker, it is not that the Government feels comfortable or uncomfortable in respect of a Certificate of Fitness, it is that the Government is advised that the hotel does not require a Certificate of Fitness and obviously the law firm that he is a partner of feels exactly the same way, otherwise they would have applied for one.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I do not care what advice – I am not here in my capacity as a lawyer – what advice has been provided by Hassans, nor was I aware that Hassans had advised the Government in relation to this particular issue or advised anybody else about this particular issue.

195 But, I ask the question because clearly there must be a lacuna in the law, because if you have a situation where a floating hotel does not require a Certificate of Fitness, presumably because it is classified as a ship and therefore does not come within the regulations appertaining to hotels, but then also does not come within the regulations appertaining to the registration of ships or yachts in Gibraltar because it is not quite that.

200 There must be a lacuna within the law in relation to this and all I was going to ask the Chief Minister, before he got on his high horse in relation to this, was whether the Government intends to perhaps change the law in order to deal with that lacuna. That is all. Perhaps he might care to answer that question.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I have never been known for my equestrian skills. There is a champion jockey sitting on this side, but it is Mr Licudi not me. So I do not do high horses. (Laughter)

What I will say, Mr Speaker, is that if the Government felt that there was a lacuna in the law... Mr Speaker, the hon. Members says he is not here as a lawyer, but he uses legal terms – a lacuna means a gap. If I thought there was a gap in the law the Government would have filled it.

But we are perfectly happy, Mr Speaker, that his clients are operating legally in Gibraltar.

210

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, just perhaps for the benefit of viewers and those that do are not quite understand the intricacies of this, can he confirm that the reason why this this hotel ship is registered in Finland is because under current law it cannot be registered in Gibraltar because it does not quite fall under the relevant definitions for the purpose of ship registration in Gibraltar?

215

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, because I do not know why his clients have chosen to register in Finland and not in Gibraltar.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, let us move on with another supplementary.

220

Mr Speaker, I have asked about Credit Finance and I have asked a question, which is an important question, and it is an important question for the purposes of allowing the Opposition to properly examine the Government... well indeed the Government because the Government guarantees the money – exposure in relation to the loan provided to the owners of the Sunborn.

225

I have asked whether the Government has had to, or Credit Finance has had to reschedule that debt since the time that it entered into those loans with the owners of the Sunborn because of course if the Government has had to reschedule that debt because the owners of the Sunborn have not paid on their due date because they have not been able to, that obviously raises other questions and would lead us into a trail of enquiry, which is quite legitimate, Mr Speaker, in our role as in Opposition holding the Government to account and in making sure that the Government does not over-expose this community.

230

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I have made clear the position of the Government on a number of occasions before and he knows. He is asking this question knowing exactly the answer he is going to get which is that we will not disclose the details of the loan book of Credit Finance Company Limited, other than to disclose the full extent of the loan books – in other words, to say how much money has been loaned, but not in detail what has been loaned to whom to them.

235

But, Mr Speaker, I am prepared to take a completely different line in respect of this loan to the Sunborn. If he confirms to me that his client, Sunborn Limited, have authorised that, I give that information across the floor of the House. If he has instructions from Sunborn Company Limited to authorise the Government to disclose that information about the details of what they have paid and what they have not paid, if he wants to check with his clients whether he has those instructions so that I can disclose that confidential information in this House, then I am happy to do so. But he needs to make clear to me whether he has those instructions from his clients.

240

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can I make it absolutely crystal clear for the Hon. the Chief Minister and indeed anybody else that is listening out there, I could not care less, not one jot do I care about the views of the Sunborn floating hotel. Whether they are clients of my firm or they are not clients of my firm, I am here discharging my duties as Leader of the Opposition, which I will discharge to the best of my ability. And therefore, if I feel that there is a question of relevance to the taxpayer, of relevance to the people of Gibraltar, I will ask it, whether they are clients of Hassans or they are not clients of Hassans and If the owners of the Sunborn have any complaint whatsoever against me, they can make a complaint to the Admissions and Disciplinary Committee and no doubt that will be considered in due course. I am perfectly comfortable with the questions that I am asking.

250

But, Mr Speaker, there is a conflict of approach in the way that the Chief Minister is approaching this particular question 272 and the way that he has approached it in the past, which gives rise to a suspicion on my part that the situation has changed because in the past, last year, I asked this question and he said that there had been no rescheduling of the debt and that the owners of the Sunborn had paid on their due date. Today, he refuses to provide the answer that question. Why is that?

255

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, it is just that I have asked him whether he has had instructions from his clients that I could disclose that confidential information and he appears not to have those instructions.

260

But, Mr Speaker, clearly there are conflicts here. There are conflicts which have just been disclosed as to his commercial interest in the position that he is taking here. But there is also conflict, Mr Speaker, in respect of the executive of the GSD because I have a letter here from Mr Rafael Benzaquen which appeared in the Gibraltar Chronicle on Monday 3rd November of last year, and I do not pay much attention to what that gentleman tends to say, but on this particular occasion he said something which caught my interest.

Talking about whether the Sunborn had received a loan from the Government or not, he said of my statement in this House, “true, that Government is not providing a loan to the Sunborn out of the Consolidated Fund,” in respect of the things I had said. “But a Government-owned company is from public money.” Well apart from the fact that this man obviously does not know what is and is not public money, at least he certainly accepts that what I said in the House was true.

So, Mr Speaker, he has got the conflict of interest between the clients of his firm and what he is advocating in this House. He has got the conflict in his executive as to whether what I said in the House in the past about the Sunborn is true or not. His position is riddled with conflict. Is it not about time he got his act together?

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the only person that is floundering and fumbling in relation to this issue – as indeed he is fumbling and floundering in the management of Gibraltar’s public finances and indeed who will be found wanting in the management of those public finances – is the hon. Gentleman and no one else.

Mr Benzaquen again, even on the way that he has read that particular letter, it has absolutely nothing to do with the point that I am making. I want to know whether the owners of the Sunborn have paid back the instalments on that loan on their due date. I am not even asking, because I know that he is not going to give me the information, what the size of the loan is. I am asking him have they paid on their due date and look, just simply...

There are going to be people out there listening to the Chief Minister and the evasiveness that is quite patent in the way that he answers the question who are going to be believing and are going to be saying to themselves, ‘Well he has got something to hide’. Is it because, is it because the owners of the Sunborn have not provided, have not paid on their due date? I do not know. He may be doing a to the owners of the Sunborn. I do not know.

On that last point let me say this so that people outside also understand it, that he continues to be a partner in Hassans and no doubt he knows what happens at Hassans more so than I do.

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, I am just better liked than him on most occasions so people tend to talk to me more. But let us start from the very beginning because, as Julie Andrews said, that is a very good place to start. (Laughter)

He says that I am fumbling and floundering and that I will be found wanting. I am delighted that he has said that, Mr Speaker, because I have yet to hear him make a prediction that comes true. Even if it is about the turnout in the by-election or the result of the by-election, he is probably one of the few politicians that allows himself to make predictions that he knows are one day going to be judged at the end of a campaign with empirical returns and numbers. He has always got them wrong, so I am delighted that his prediction is that I am the one who is going to found wanting because by the standards of the past we know that prediction is going to end up as an omelette all over his face.

As to evasiveness, Mr Speaker well look, the only person who is evading the issues here is the man who represents the Sunborn Floating Hotel and is yet trying to make capital in this House of what he appears to think may be a short coming in respect of the hotel, whether that is in respect of its Certificate of Fitness or whether it is about his client’s paying their loan liabilities etc. Look Mr Speaker, frankly I think what he has said about his firm, which also happens to be the firm on which I am on a sabbatical, leaves a lot to be desired because nobody in this House has ever said I represent those people corporately, but here I do the opposite of what might be in their interests.

Everybody in this House has declared interests when they have had to. They have been clear about how they represent the people of Gibraltar in the way that does not conflict with their commercial interests, and where there might be a conflict they allow another Member of the Parliament on their side to deal with those issues so that the community is not in any way let down if there were issues to be followed up, but those personal conflicts are not highlighted and in the way that he has really brought to the forefront of what it is that he does professionally and what he does here.

There is absolutely no evasiveness on the part of the Government. The Government has said what it has said repeatedly about the loan book of Credit Finance. I am very happy, Mr Speaker, that Credit Finance is doing an excellent job. The returns being produced are absolutely excellent and, Mr Speaker, I have absolutely no desire to continue down the road of a debate that the hon. Gentleman wants to have, which he may think is very much in his interest today, but he might think – sooner than he thinks – was not perhaps the right argument to be pursuing for so long because there may be more than one omelette flying in his direction.

Hon. D A Feetham: I quite enjoy omelettes. I have to say, I have six eggs a day.

330 Mr Speaker, the Sunborn hotel... because I would not want anybody out there to be misled by what the Chief Minister is saying – are not my clients. I have never spoken... I do not know who there are. (Interjections)

No, they may be clients of the (Interjections) firm and I have to accept and I have to accept the Hon. the Chief Minister's word for it, Mr Speaker. (Interjections)

335 Mr Speaker, may I be allowed to continue?

Mr Speaker: [Inaudible] Let me repeat what I said, because I am on camera now.

For over an hour at the last meeting of this House there were some very heated exchanges between the Chief Minister and the Leader of the Opposition, and to a certain extent I was conscious of the fact that I was allowing them perhaps too much leniency.

340 Subsequent to the meeting I was approached by a number of people, one in particular with very inside knowledge about the proceedings of Parliament, as to whether I had not been too lenient. I said, 'Yes. I admit I had been too lenient'. I was lenient because I wanted to lay down a marker and that marker is that between now and the General Election I am not going to permit exchanges in this House at Question Time to become a slanging match.

345 If hon. Members want a slanging match, they had better put somebody else in this Chair, not me. I am not going to play that game. Okay? But I am conscious of the fact that I allowed too much leeway, but I am not going to allow it today. Okay? If necessary, I will suspend the sitting of this House for half an hour so that temperatures can cool down, but I am not prepared to go through that again. I do not see why I should. I am at an age when I do not have to, when my blood pressure might dangerously... and I might not be here

350 after the next General Election if it is that Members would want me to be here.

So having laid down that marker, let us see whether common sense can prevail and let us get on with the business of the House which is what we are all about. (Banging on desks)

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I certainly would not want your health to suffer as a consequence of any questions or any exchanges with the Chief Minister during Chief Minister's Question Time.

355

Mr Speaker, all I want to ask the Chief Minister is this, perhaps this can cut across it – what his objection is to me standing here, because my firm appears to be acting, according to him, for the owners of the Sunborn? I do not know. What if the hon. Gentleman my friend, Mr Bossino were to ask exactly the same question 272, in terms of whether the owners of the Sunborn had paid on their due date or if there has 360 been any rescheduling of that date, would the Chief Minister answer the question in those circumstances?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, he should put it at the next meeting of the House.

But Mr Speaker, let us be very clear. The hon. Gentleman has said that he is taking my word for the fact that the Sunborn is a client of Hassans... that he was not aware of that.

365 Well, Mr Speaker, I accuse him of misleading the House. I accuse him of misleading the House and I am prepared to move a motion for that purpose, because in a press release, well in the Chronicle newspaper, an article of 4th July 2013, we had an exchange. He will recall it in this House, which is reported in the Chronicle, that I made reference to the fact that the Sunborn is a client of Hassans. We followed that up with a press release on 3rd July 2013, which was a Government press release setting out that the Sunborn was a client of Hassans. We followed that up again on 22nd July 2013 with a Government press release that set out that Hassans was the lawyer for the Sunborn. I therefore believe that he has misled the House, unless he tells me that he forgot those exchanges and if he does, then I will relent from my accusation that he has misled the House.

375 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, he can bring whatever motion he wants to bring and I will answer and I will meet whatever motion he wants to bring, and if he wants to, he must act in the manner that he feels in his own judgement he has to do. If he brings a motion, I will deal with it. The issue of Hassans acting on behalf of the Sunborn has arisen in relation to the question of the Certificate of Fitness.

I have absolutely no clue about Hassans acting in respect of the Certificate for Fitness and advising the Government or anybody else as to whether a Certificate of Fitness was necessary in this particular case, but look that is irrelevant. He brings whatever motion he wants to bring and I will meet it head on.

Mr Speaker: I am sorry, my mistake. My own microphone was on which means that the camera has been on me for the last few minutes. I apologise.

385 But having regard to the fact that the six questions, which were answered together by the Chief Minister, does the Leader of the Opposition or any other Member of the Opposition have any other supplementary on these questions before we move on? (Interjection) Then I will ask the Clerk to call Question 273.

Q273/2015

Number of people naturalised as British in Gibraltar –
Housing waiting list; applications received

Clerk: Question 273, the Hon. D A Feetham.

390

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, how many people have been naturalised British in Gibraltar since December 2011 and how many of those have applied to join the housing waiting list?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

395

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, since December 2011, 992 have been naturalised British in Gibraltar. Of these, 192 have applied to join the housing waiting list.

Q274/2015

Residency permits – Discrimination against Gibraltarian men married to foreign women

Clerk: Question 274, the Hon. D A Feetham.

400

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, does the Government intend to end the current discrimination against Gibraltarian men married to foreign women in the issue of residency permits for their partners under the Immigration, Asylum and Refugee Act?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

405

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, at present the position of the alleged ‘current discrimination’ is that established by the previous GSD administration. The present Administration is considering a change to the rules and we expect to be in the position to make an announcement shortly.

410

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I do not mind talking to the hon. Gentleman behind the Speaker’s Chair in relation to this particular issue, but of course until the Government amends the legislation – and I accept it is a legislation probably going back many, many years – the current discrimination against men who are married to foreign ladies- is going to set to continue.

415

I believe that I have found a way in which that can be dealt with in a manner that will allow applications to be dealt with by men in a way that is not discriminatory, because the present position is that if a Gibraltarian woman married to a foreign man, if the foreign man applies for a residency permit, there are not the limitations in terms of the length of the permit that can be granted when one takes into account the position of men married to women. At the moment if you are a man married to a foreign woman, the foreign woman, when applying for a residency permit, will get six months at most a year and that difference is obviously discriminatory.

420

I think that I have found a way in which– I do not propose to deal with this across the floor of this House – in which it can be dealt at a discretionary level until the Government changes the law, and I wonder whether he is recipient to talking to me about this particular issue? I have also expressed it, I have to say, to the Chief Secretary. I do not know whether the Chief Secretary has spoken to the hon. Gentleman.

425

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I think I know what case he is talking about. It is a case that has come to me too and I believe I know a way of dealing with this discrimination as well which will enable us to deal with that case in particular. I believe that there may be ways of dealing with the whole issue very quickly; it is an issue that I am looking at. But we have of course before we act to look for advice on whether there are consequences to our actions and what the flood gates might bring, although my instinct is that there will not be any flood gates opening.

430

But the Civil Service is very good at making those checks and ensuring that when we act we act properly, and in a way that is not going to cause a problem that we might not envisage. I am quite happy for him to write to me if he wishes, but I think we have determined the way in which to do it already.

EDUCATION AND JUSTICE

Q246/2015

Marrache & Co –
Company's collapse; cost to taxpayer

435 Clerk: We now move back to Question 246, questions to the Minister for Education and Justice, and the questioner is the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Justice provide an update to this House of the total running cost of the taxpayer on all matters, criminal and civil, arising from the collapse of the law firm Marrache and Co in 2010?
440

Clerk: Answer, the Minister for Education and Justice.

Minister for Education and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, the total running cost to the taxpayer of all matters, criminal and civil, arising from the collapse of the law firm Marrache and Co in 2010 is £7,012,070.65.
445

Mr. Speaker: £7,012,070.65.

Q247/2015

H M Prison –
Up-to-date occupancy figures

Clerk: Question 247, the Hon. S M Figueras.

Hon. S M Figueras: Can the Minister for Justice provide up- to-date prison occupancy figures further to answers given to Question 669/2014?
450

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education and Justice.

Minister for Education and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, the daily average prison population expressed on a month-to-month basis from November 2014, rounded to the nearest person is: November 2014 – 49; December 2014 – 48; January 2015 – 48; February 2015 – 55.
455

Q248/2015

Small boats marina –
Annual recurrent running costs upon completion

Clerk: Question 248, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Government please state what is envisaged to be the annual recurrent cost of running the small boats marina when it is completed?
460

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education and Justice.

Minister for Education and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, I assume that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition is asking what is envisaged to be the annual recurrent cost to the Government of running the small boats marina when it is completed, and the answer to that question is zero.
465

Hon. D A Feetham: Can he explain why it is going to be zero if we are talking about effectively what is a Government facility built by the Government for small boat owners? My understanding of the project was that the Government was going to be providing these berths, but effectively the facility itself continues to belong to the Government.
470

Now for a facility like that, effectively at sea, there would be quite a high level of maintenance I would have expected in relation to something like that, unless of course the Government intends to subcontract for example or provide a contract to a third party for the running of the entire facility. Can he explain that?

475

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, the explanation is quite simply by analogy to the other small boats marina which they built whilst in office, and the annual recurrent running costs to the Government of running that other marina, The Cormorant Camber marina, as I understand it, is also zero. Even though it is owned by the Government, that other marina is run on the basis of a club. People pay berthing fees and people pay membership fees and out of the berthing and membership fees the running costs are met.

480

It is envisaged that whatever fees are charged per boat in respect of the 700 berths that will be available in the small boats marina, whichever way it is run, whether it is a club or some other entity, it is certainly not going to be run by the Government. But whichever way it is run... and we have the example of the other marina which is right beside and the cost of that is zero and in the same way the cost of this will be zero.

485

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, the Camber marina is a much smaller marina. So that I can do the calculations in my own time, what other kind of fees are the Government going to be charging, or the club, in relation to the berthing facilities that will then allow to make it self-running?

490

Also, can I also ask him this: does the Government have any figures in terms of what it believes would be the maintenance costs, obviously not to the Government, but to whatever entity it is, because I presume that the Government has made the calculation of, 'Well we are going to be getting X amount or the club is going to get X amount from all these berthing fees and the maintenance a year is going to cost X'? So it is going to be within that budget self-generated through the generation of fees.

495

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member asks what fees the Government will be charging. The Government will be charging no fees at all. This will be a matter for whoever is running the marina. The marina is being built and berths have not yet been allocated. They will be allocated in due course and at some point there will be a committee of representatives who will decide how the club or the marina is going to be run.

500

The analogy... the hon. Member mentions the other marina and says, 'Well, that is much smaller'. Well, precisely. That is to the benefit of this particular marina because there will be double the number of boats and potentially double the amount that will be collected, but presumably not double the amount that will be incurred in costs because if you have one person dealing with all the admin, whether it is for 300, 400 or 500, you get more fees out of 400 or 500, but you still have one person doing the admin.

505

So the economies of scale are such that this particular marina should in fact be more efficient in terms of running costs than the other marina which is smaller. So, no, the Government will not be charging anything. The Government will simply be engaging with the representatives of those who are allocated berths in due course to see how it is proposed to run that marina, but the Government does not get involved in the running or charging of anything in respect of the Cormorant Camber marina. That is run by them at no cost to the Government and that is exactly the same as will happen in this particular marina.

510

Hon. D A Feetham: I understood the hon. Gentleman the first time, but I would have expected – and if he has not then I am not going to press the hon. Gentleman – that in the Government's plans to build this particular marina, and bearing in mind that all sorts of things can go wrong... I mean things do go wrong sometimes and in any event, even if things do not go wrong I would have expected the Government to have had in mind calculations in terms of how many fees this marina was going to be generating and how much it would cost for the maintenance to make sure that the fee generation would cover the maintenance.

515

So does he have those figures? If he does not, then he does not. But does he have those figures... the annual recurrent cost and the fees that he would expect would be generated through the fees for the berths?

520

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, it is not a question of the Government not having these costs. These figures are irrelevant for present purposes because the Government has taken the view that the cost of running that marina is zero to the Government.

525

Now if the hon. Member wants to insist that the Government should take money out of its pocket and pay for that then that is another argument and is something that perhaps the hon. Member might take up. He says things do go wrong. Yes, of course things do go wrong. In the Cormorant Camber marina things have gone wrong. In October – was it 2008 or 2007? – there was a massive storm and there was damage, but there is insurance.

530

So if people are running a marina then they will have insurance for things that go wrong. As I understand it the damage that occurred again resulted in no cost to the Government, because you expect whoever is running the marina to have insurance to cover these things. So I reiterate there is no cost. There will be no cost to the Government.

535 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, in relation to this particular small berth marina, it is going to all be taken up by small boats and there is not going to be any usage at all by the Government in any way, shape or form, which will mean that the Government will have to make a contribution in relation to the maintenance? Can he just confirm that?

540 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, it will all be taken up by small boats. There are six-metre berths and seven-metre berths. We have not envisaged keeping an allocation of those berths for the Government if that is what the hon. Member means.

But if there is, for example – and I do not know if there is and I will just use this is a hypothetical example – a boat which the Department of the Environment runs, if there was another similar situation whereby a Government Department needed a berth and applied for a berth and was granted a berth, then that Department would contribute whatever the berthing fees are, in the same way as anybody else that is allocated a berth.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT & TELECOMMUNICATIONS

Q249/2015 Gibraltar Savings Bank – Locations; details

Clerk: Question 249, the Hon. D J Bossino.

550 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for the Gibraltar Savings Bank please state which locations the bank will be operating from?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Economic Development and Telecommunications.

555 Minister for Economic Development and Telecommunications (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the Savings Bank will be operating from 104 and 206 – 210 Main Street.

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, Mr Speaker, just to clarify it is 104 and then it is 260 and 200 (Interjection) Ah, 206 –

560 Mr Speaker: It is 206 – 210.

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes.

Just by way of assistance, and I will explain why in the supplementary of its relevance, because I do not exactly know where these are. Is 104 the one which is just opposite already open and launched, opposite the cathedral? (Interjection) the old Marrache building or is that 206 to 210? Whichever one it is, which one is the other one?

565

Hon. J J Bossano: The opposite. The Cathedral is 206 to 210. I would have thought the hon. Member worked sufficiently near to Main Street to know what the numbers are. (Interjections)

570

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I can confess that I am absolutely terrible with these things. The 104 is then which one? Is it the one that used to be the Lloyds Bank building? I'm going the other way (Interjection) No, I should be going the other way shouldn't I?

575

Hon. J J Bossano: Number 104 is the Post Office in Main Street which also operates a savings bank.

Hon. D J Bossino: Okay, Mr Speaker, thank you for that clarification.

I think from answers that I have had in this House before, we have been told that the location where the old Lloyds Bank used to be opposite the John Mackintosh Hall was also going to be an outlet for the Gibraltar Savings Bank and I see that he has not mentioned that. Can he provide any further information in relation to that specific location?

585 Hon. J J Bossano: Yes, Mr Speaker, the original plan was to use the Main Street Savings Bank location where the Post Office is to expand the role of the present main office of the Savings Bank. At a later stage when the building where Lloyds Bank used to be became available, that was looked at as an alternative to the Post Office location which was where the expansion was going to take place and I was informed that the cost of converting the Lloyds Bank building and amending the plans of the Post Office to adjust them to the other location would be of the order of a £¼ million and I gave the go ahead for that to happen and then at a
590 later stage I saw some correspondence that indicated that the £¼ million had become £1½ million and in line with the way that I discharged my responsibility I immediately put a stop to it.

Hon. D J Bossino: So, Mr Speaker, that then must be the explanation which I have seen with my own eyes as to why there has been absolutely no works in the Lloyds Bank building, but works to the value if I understand his answer correctly works more or less to the value of £1.5 million have already been undertaken in respect of that particular site. Is that correct?

Hon. J J Bossano: No, Mr Speaker, that is not correct and it would be extremely stupid if I had stopped it after the work had been done. I stopped it before the work was done obviously, otherwise there would have been no savings.
600

Hon. D J Bossino: So the actual expenditure was £¼ million. Is that the case?

Hon. J J Bossano: Well I cannot tell you what the actual expenditure was. I can tell him that the budget was a £¼ million and when I saw the budget ballooning, and this had not been cleared politically, I put a stop to it. I am not prepared to take responsibility for expenditure in excess of approved budgets unless I have taken on the responsibility for taking the decision. This was done at the level of the officials, who, you know, appeared to think that what was worth investing £¼ million was equally worth it if it cost £1½ million. So the answer is that work has been stopped because in my judgement there was no justification in terms of the value to the building to us if that kind of money was being spent on a building that is rented by the way – (Interjection) Yes, rented. Not even our own property.

It is much better if you are going to spend that kind of money to spend it on a property that is ours which is where it was originally intended to be. So the building will be put to another use, because we are renting it and paying rent, and we will see you know how much money we can save between what was originally budgeted and what was intended to spend.
615

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I congratulate the hon. Gentleman for not allowing himself to be brainwashed by consultants and may I commend his example to the rest of his Parliamentary colleagues.
620 (Laughter)

Mr Speaker, what about the Lloyds building? Are there any plans for the Lloyds building? I know that he says it is rented. It is not owned by the Government, but are there any plans? Does the Government have any plans in relation to that particular building?

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, there is a strong possibility that it may finish up as the Ministry for Economic Development. (Laughter)

Q253/2015
Public service employees –
Increase in permanent staff

Clerk: Question 253, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, what permanent increases have there been in numbers of employees in the public service since 1st January 2012, broken down by reference to the Civil Service, the GDC and any other Government company, public authority or entity for which the Government is accountable?

675

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Economic Development and Telecommunications.

Minister for Economic Development & Telecommunications (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the increase in the number of employees since January 2012 has been Civil Service 277, Agencies, Authorities and Companies 211.

680

Clerk: Question 254 –

Hon. D A Feetham: May I, Mr Speaker?

685

Mr Speaker: Yes.

690 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker look, I may be missing something here, but my calculation in terms of the increases in the public service was 500... I think it is 511 or 521. I cannot remember. I have got to look at my notes, but it is roundabout that figure. The Chief Minister in communiques has denied that that is the apposite figure.

695 Well the figure that is... with the implication that it is much lower, the figure that the hon. Gentleman has provided me is close to 500 and so we are not too far apart am I? or am I missing something in the... well the figure he has provided me with is 277 plus 218 is 388 – (Interjection) 211. And so it is basically 488. Exactly, 488, and I was saying 511 and so it is only a difference of 20. Am I missing something here because to have an argument over 20 does not seem to me to be a reasonable point for the Government to be making?

700 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the difference is bigger because in fact when he was quoting the 513 he was not quoting it up to now. He was quoting it up to the figure of six months ago. Obviously it could not have been 513 six months ago because then it would have had to decline quite dramatically in the last six months which is not what has happened.

705 I think he should take note of the fact that 197 of the increase are the dinner ladies, who were at the time that he was in Government employed by a private company and supplied to the Government and who were converted into Government employees after the General Election. Others are increases that have taken place in the Civil Service because of the supply teachers that were made permanent teachers. So in fact this is not 488 more clerical grades, this is 488 more public servants.

710 I think to put it in context so that it may help him in discharging his duty to see whether the growth is successive or not. It may help him to note that in the three years between December 2011 and December 2014 the growth has been 8.9%. In the three year preceding – that is the last three years when he was there – the growth was 12.9% and so we have still got a margin of 4% to catch up with him.

715 Hon. D A Feetham: Can I examine whether we get to that margin, accepting that his figures are correct of course? Do these figures actually take into account the 70 Customs Officers, the extra recruitment within the Customs Service that we know is going to be taking place or indeed is in the process of taking place at the moment?

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, this is the figure as at the end of December last year and therefore a proportion of those will be counted, but certainly nothing like 70. It might be that 20 have come in so far.

Q254/2015

Skills Enhancement Training Company Limited – Employees paid by GJBS

720 Clerk: Question 254, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Government explain why some employees of Skills Enhancement Training Company Limited are being paid by GJBS?

725 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Economic Development and Telecommunications.

Minister for Economic Development & Telecommunications (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the information implied by the question is not correct.

730 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, let me tell him that a couple of people have been to see me just before the notice for the questions, concerned that they are being told by the Ministry of Employment, as it happens, that their wages... and they are employed by this particular company, Skills Enhancement Training Company in order to do short-term courses. I think it is about six weeks, five or six weeks in order to be trained in relation to Mount Alvernia and provide services there and elsewhere within the Care Agency. They are being told that the company that was to pay their wages, what was owed to them – these people had not been paid for two months and so in other words they had finished their course and two months later they still had not been paid – was GJBS.

740 This seems extremely odd to me. I have to say I saw their employment contracts and I could see that the employment company was Skills and Enhancement Training Company, but I could see nothing in relation to GJBS. That is the information they were being provided. Indeed, when they went to GJBS they were being told by GJBS that the Government had not put GJBS in funds to allow them to be paid.

Hon. J J Bossano: I know that the hon. Member has not been in politics as long as I have been, but he should not believe everything that he is told. (Laughter)

745 First of all, GJBS does provide a service to the training companies in that they produce the calculations for us because it is cheaper for us to use their payroll system than to fabricate one of our own and duplicate services which would cost more money, but of course the employer pays the employee even though they may outsource the function of preparing the wages.

750 Secondly, everybody that goes on the five-week course is told at the beginning of the five-week course that it will take 10 days after they have finished the course for them to receive their wages and they do not receive their wages until after the five weeks because otherwise we are not in a position to ensure that the people have done the five weeks for which they get paid.

755 Thirdly nobody has ever had to wait two months at the end of the five weeks to get paid and in fact if they did there would have been a backlog because every five weeks there is a new cohort of people coming in. So clearly, if everybody had to wait two months there would not have been two people, there would have been 48 people without payment because there are 24 in each intake.

So the information is wrong on every single count. People do not wait two months, they wait 10 days. They get told they will wait 10 days before they start and they never get paid before the 10 days. These people have been paid within 10 days. The people that went to him also came to me. I investigated it and the 10 days were not yet up.

760 In any event, GJBS is not the entity responsible. GJBS just happens to be the entity that has a section of its administration which prepares pay for 500 construction workers and therefore for a small fee they do the calculations for the trainees, which is a cost effective way of doing it.

That is the explanation, Mr Speaker.

765 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am very grateful for the explanation. Can I tell him that actually the people that came to see me are his own supporters? They voted GSLP and are GSLP supporters, not GSD supporters. But of course I discharge my duties in relation to everybody, not just people that are going to be voting for the GSD, but of course that is my responsibility.

770 So when I speak to these two individuals tomorrow – I am going to be telephoning them – what I will say from the hon. Gentleman, a communique from him, is that you should have been paid within 10 days and that if you have not been paid within 10 days, and it happens not be the two individuals that have already been to see the hon. Gentleman, to go and knock on the hon. Gentleman's door. Because of course if it is true that these people have not been paid after two months then I have no reason to doubt the fact that that is so from what they have told me, then of course under the hon. Gentleman's explanation they should have been paid and they will be paid.

780 Hon. J J Bossano: That is absolutely correct. If anybody has not been paid for two months after finishing their course, it is something that should not have happened and I am assured has not happened. The fact that they should be GSLP voters that went to him surprises me not in the least because it is the hallmark of the GSLP members that they always complain.

Q255/2015

Approved contractors list – Number of companies approved as at 1st December 2011

Clerk: Question 255, the Hon. D A Feetham.

785 Hon. D A Feetham: No doubt they will soon feel at home within the GSD.
Mr Speaker, how many companies were on the approved contractors list as at 1st December 2011?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Economic Development and Telecommunications.

790 Minister for Economic Development & Telecommunications (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the number on the list on 1st December 2011 is not known. At the close of that month – that is at the end of December 2011 – the total was 91.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, do you have... does the hon. Gentleman (Problem with microphone) I think the hon. the Chief Minister said 'ni el microfono lo traga'

795 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): That is right, absolutely. Would you like me to repeat it, Mr Speaker?

Hon. D A Feetham: I am afraid that I have to put up with – (Interjection) But anyway, let me get on with the serious politics that I and the Father of the House want to be engaged in and leave the infantile behaviour (Banging on desks) to the playground, Mr Speaker.

800 Mr Speaker, does the hon. the Father of the House have the figure for the end of November so that I can see what really the position was when we were in Government? Because we know what the position is today. That is really what I am getting at. Does he have the figure as at 30th November?

805 Hon. J J Bossano: No, Mr Speaker, because I think I have told him in the past, the alleged approved contractor list that was supposed to exist in the Technical Services Department where there were companies identified for different kinds of work and for different volumes of work in terms of size of contract, was in complete disuse and had not been touched for years and included a lot of dead companies. That was not the list that was being used by the Employment Service.

810 The list that I have given him was the list that was compiled by me in December from the people who were getting work and who were then in existence, even though they were not identified as being approved contractors de facto. They were being given work as approved contractors and therefore I started off with the list made up of the people that were getting work at the time and I can certainly give him a copy of that list if he wants it, the 91 that were there in December when we took over.

815 But the list was compiled by me getting information on different entities doing different work in different places because in fact when the announcement was made in 2010 I think the subsequent evolution of that policy in 2011 happened on an ad hoc basis, on the basis that instead of there being a compiled list from which people were invited to submit a price for work, people submitted a price for work and I think joined the list subsequently as it were.

820 But I can tell him that the list that I have got from December, plus the one subsequent to December of the new incorporated companies, is the one that operates today. So I think almost all of the 91 there are still in existence. I think there may be one or two who have fallen by the wayside, but I would think most of them are there. Therefore these would be the people that were available to do work for the previous Government going from December backwards.

825 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, I would appreciate it if the hon. Gentleman were to provide me with a list. My recollection – and I have to say that I have looked back at Hansard and I have not been able to find it – was that on the actual approved list, and I understand what the hon. Gentleman is saying, that what he is taking... these are not people on the approved list. These are people who are doing work for the Government as at December 2011, the 91.

830 On the approved list, as far as I can remember, there were some 45 companies on the approved list as of that date. That is my recollection, but I have not been able to find anything in Hansard to substantiate that. If he could provide me with a list I would be very grateful.

Government-owned buildings/housing estates – Lift installation and maintenance contractors

835 Clerk: Question 256, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Government please provide a list of companies or individuals who have the benefit of a contract with either the Government, a Government-owned company, Government authority or agency, for which the Government is accountable for the installation or maintenance of lifts in Government-owned buildings including housing estates?

840 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Economic Development and Telecommunications.

Minister for Economic Development & Telecommunications (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, the companies are Schlinder, General Lifts, Otis, Embarba and Fain.

845 Hon. D A Feetham: These are names of companies?

Hon. J J Bossano: These are the five companies that I have been told are doing work either in installation or maintenance, yes.

850

Hon. D A Feetham: These are the companies that the Government is contracting directly with. In other words, what we are not dealing with is a situation whereby, for example, Otis is engaged to provide maintenance facilities or installation of lifts by a third party.

855

In other words the Government contracts with a third party and the third party contracts with Otis. We are talking about direct contracts between these five companies and the Government or Government agencies or entities.

Hon. J J Bossano: That is the information I have got. There is no intermediary. These are the people who are doing the work and the people who have a contract, yes.

860

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, does he have the details of the estates in relation to each one of these five companies?

Hon. J J Bossano: Some of these companies have just been contacted to come in and put in a lift.

865

I can tell him that in terms of the ongoing maintenance of the estates, Otis has got 55 lifts, Embarba has got lifts at Bishop Canilla and Fain have got the lifts at Albert Risso. (Interjection) So the 55 lifts are the lifts that are not in either Bishop Canilla or Albert Risso.

Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, Mr Speaker, just a point of clarification. I think he has been talking about five companies, but I have jotted down four. Is there one missing? We have got Schindler, Otis, Embarba and Fain. (Interjection by Mr Speaker)

870

Mr Speaker: Schindler, General Lifts, Otis, Embarba and Fain. [Inaudible]

875

Clerk: Question 257, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I think that my hon. Friend, Mr Figueras, has a supplementary in relation –

880

Hon. S M Figueras: Apologies, Mr Speaker, it only just occurred to me.

Of the five lift companies that were mentioned, four are well known. Four are very recognisable. Is General Lifts another non-Gibraltar registered lift operator?

Hon. J J Bossano: To my knowledge, the only one that is registered in Gibraltar and employs people in Gibraltar is General Lifts. All the others have people in Spain and send them out to do the work.

885

Hon. D A Feetham: Is General Lifts – and I have obviously not been able to do any company searches in this because the information has just come now – a company that has been incorporated relatively recently over the last two or three years?

890

Can he provide us with information in relation to who the people are behind General Lifts, as indeed I asked the Hon. the Minister for Sport to provide some information in relation to that and he kindly provided it this morning?

Hon. J J Bossano: Well, no, Mr Speaker I don't think. I know that it would appear to me that the hon. Member is biased against Gibraltar companies because he wants to know who is behind a local company, but is quite happy not to know who is behind Ortis, Embarba, Fain or anybody else that is based in Madrid or Algeciras. The answer is no. I am not here to give him who is behind the company.

895

We do business with a company which is a legal entity. We do it with Spanish companies because we do not had Gibraltar companies. I wish there were more Gibraltar companies, because I want the work that the taxpayer pays for to stay as much as possible in Gibraltar to provide economic activity in Gibraltar, and profits for Gibraltarians and work for Gibraltarians.

900

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, he does not need to get upset about the question. I fully agree with the aim of providing more employment for Gibraltarians and attracting Gibraltar companies and allowing businesses to stay here, but I am also perfectly entitled to make the observation which is an observation which is quite clear, that all of these are well-known lift companies and there is one which is not.

905

The information that we have is that this particular company is associated with well-known GSLP supporters (Interjections) and that is where the question arises. Of course we are perfectly entitled to 910 examine that and no doubt we will come back and ask about these contracts, whether they went out to tender, whether they did not go out to tender etc.

Hon. J J Bossano: The hon. Member expects me not to be upset about the fact that he prefers the work to go to Spanish companies than to a Gibraltarian who happens to vote for the GSLP. That does upset me. (A Member: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks) I can tell the hon. Member that as far as I am concerned, I prefer a GSD supporter to get the work than an outsider. (A Member: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks)

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker.
Can he assure the House that we are not dealing with a situation where contracts for the maintenance or installation of lifts go to a particular company who then just simply subcontracts to one of the other four who are recognised as suppliers and installers of lifts? In other words, what you are not doing is adding another layer to the taxpayer of Gibraltar simply to award a contract to your own supporters. (A Member: Yay)

Hon. J J Bossano: I will tell the Civil Servants in the Procurement Office that the Leader of the Opposition suspects that they are awarding contracts to create a layer for GSLP Members to skim off an additional profit. Certainly I have not been involved in awarding the contract because this is not a political decision.

I can tell the hon. Member that the rules that exist are that if somebody gets a contract, the subcontractor has to be approved by the Government. In all the contracts that come my way I make sure that there is a constant supervision of the use of subcontractors to ensure that they are people who are properly registered, that their employees are registered with the ETB, that they are up to date with their tax and they are up to date with their insurance. There is no question of somebody skimming off a layer of profit and providing no value in exchange for that profit. So if the hon. Member suspects that is the case here, I will investigate it and satisfy myself that it is not.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, if I might, I think it is incumbent on the Government to clarify that the only instance where we have found evidence of layers being added of cost to the taxpayer are in high profile expensive contracts granted without tender by the previous Administration to companies owned and operated by supporters of the GSD on the basis of cost plus. Namely, contracts granted to Colour Works, contracts granted to Kings Bowl, contracts granted to Master Services, contracts granted to GLRC. All of them companies owned and operated by what were then high profile supporters of the Government, who achieved those contracts without tender and which contracts were based on the cost being charged to the taxpayer with an agreed increase on the cost of 10%.

In other words the more the contract cost, the more it cost the taxpayer with the obnoxious 10% cost plus added. That is the layer of fat added by a Government to the taxpayers' cost to its own supporters companies of which there is only evidence once in the history of Gibraltar and that is in the 16 years that they were in Government. (Applause & Banging on desks)

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I do not know whether any of those companies or the people that he has mentioned are supporters of the GSD – (Interjections) Well, no. I have to say (Interjections) he is more informed – (Interjections) He is more informed –

Mr Speaker: Order.

Hon. D A Feetham: He is more informed on who votes for the GSD than I am. I have to say that I did not know that the people associated with Colour Works were GSD supporters – (Laughter) No, I did not. No I did not. I did not (Interjections) but no doubt, if they are, they are welcome to continue supporting the GSD.

But, Mr Speaker (Interjection) is it true that those behind this particular company are well-known GSLP supporters, such as Mr Cardona and Mr Elliot? Is that the case?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, it is the case that the hon. Gentleman seems not to know any of the things that he ought to know to prevent himself from getting up and appearing as if he had a red nose in this House, Mr Speaker (Laughter) because he does not want to know the things that demonstrate that he and his Party are the ones who have been responsible for the greatest level of nepotism and cronyism which Gibraltar has ever seen at a huge cost to the taxpayer.

Whether it has been in the award of contracts for the development of the Airport, for the cleaning of Gibraltar or for the operation of parts of the Kings Bastion Leisure Centre –

970 Mr Speaker: I am going to interrupt the Chief Minister if he does not mind, because we are going to move on. Who would have thought that such a simple answer was going to generate so much heat. We go on to the next question. (Interjection) No, no, we are moving on.

1040 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, yes I note that the hon. Gentleman is answering the question as Minister for Economic Development, and not as Chief Minister, although I have to say that we would all feel much, much safer if you were answering the questions as Chief Minister for Gibraltar because at least you understand what we are talking about. (Interjection by Hon. Chief Minister) Mr Speaker – (Laughter) (Interjections) the figure for debt and the figure for cash reserves is for 1st March 2015.

1045 Bearing in mind that we are just a month away... well a month from that particular date away from the end of the financial year and bearing in mind the Government's commitment to reduce the public debt, the gross debt by half, unless the Government has a significant increase in revenue in this month – in other words, and these are the figures for 1st March to end of March – the gross public debt is not going to be cut by half, certainly in this financial year and therefore we will not see that at the next Budget.

1050 It may well be that the hon. Gentleman says, ‘Well, actually we do expect it before the end of the month because, for example, the sale from the premiums on the Eastside development is going to reach over £100 million and perhaps increasing the sale of tobacco, we are going to plough that into a reduction of public debt’. But does he expect the Government’s target of a reduction of public debt, gross public debt, by half to be met before the end of this financial year?

1055 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I am at a loss to understand why he should ask me if I expect that to happen when in fact he has got the book that we approved in this Parliament a year ago, where the expectation in that book is that the debt should now be £450 million and it is £448 million. In fact the expectation of the Government was that there would be a debt of £450 million at the end of March and there is £448 million at the end of February. So a month ahead we are already £2 million below the figure 1060 we expected. So I do not know why he thinks I am expecting it to be £260 million by the end of this month when that is not what the book says.

What we have said is that we expect it to be £260 million in the term of office of the Government, which maybe he regrets is not going to be at the end of this month. We are still going to be there on 1st April. (A Member: Hear, hear.) So he was expecting us to disappear at the end of the month and I have 1065 to tell him he is an April fool of the 1st – (Laughter)

Hon. D A Feetham: So, Mr Speaker, the question of the reduction of the public debt by the gross public debt by half is a commitment that the hon. Gentleman stands by, by the end of this year. Can I ask him whether he expects to fulfil that, bearing in mind that the only way that he can do so is through the influx of 1070 extra capital generated by the Government, because it is not going to happen just simply on the basis of the income that the Government generates on a current basis? This is going to have to be done from some extra sale of some Government asset and that is why I spoke about the Eastside development.

Can he provide us with some information as to how the Government intends to fulfil this manifesto commitment of reducing the public debt by half by the end of this term in office?
1075

Hon. J J Bossano: No, Mr Speaker. I do not think that there is any obligation to assist the education of the Members opposite by telling them how things can be done.

We commit ourselves to do things and we do them or we do not. Sometimes we fail in our targets. Sometimes we succeed in our targets. I have in the past, may I remind the hon. Member, predicted levels of 1080 economic growth which were considered impossible under the previous Administration, even though they actually succeeded in doing it themselves and were considered impossible when we had the first debate when he participated and he was not yet Leader of the Opposition in 2012.

All the participants there were saying it was impossible to do. (Interjection) So the answer is the target is still there. I am confident that we can achieve it in the timescale we set ourselves. The timescale was not 1085 three years but four.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, but can I ask him this, because you see it may be possible for the Government to reduce the public debt by half if it receives significant premiums – as I say, Eastside development, over £100 million – and it goes directly into paying, for example, the revolving loan from the 1090 banks and there is an increase, an influx in tobacco revenue which the Government has projected, bearing in mind this increased price, and that again goes into the repayment of the public debt. But does he not agree with me that actually that is going to be, if he does it that way, a very short-term measure, because you can reduce public debt by half by doing that, but effectively what you are doing is starving yourself of the cash flow that will be necessary in the future?

1095 So inevitably what will happen is that the Government will pay off half the public debt tomorrow... let us say for arguments sake on a particular date, two months later – and I hope it is not after the General Election, but two months later, three months later it then has to borrow another £200 million because of course it was not possible for cash flow reasons to actually just simply pay half the Government debt without getting yourself into a problem with respect to cash flow, although I have to say the Government is 1100 cash flow rich in the sense that it is using £400 million from Credit Finance.

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, first I would like to correct the inaccuracy in the element of the question he put that I can just pay off the revolving debt from the banks because the revolving debt no longer revolves, because when he was in Government he did a swap agreement (Laughter) which means 1105 that I cannot repay them until 2019. (Laughter and interjection) maybe he didn’t know it.

The reality of this is that we make a statement when we go to an election of what the target is. The target is that we will come down from £520 million to £260 million in the gross debt. That is the commitment that we gave, a commitment which he thinks is irrelevant anyway because he has kept on 1110 saying since then, and before then, that the level of the gross debt is irrelevant. So as far as he is concerned whether it is £520 million or £260 million does not matter. What matters is the net debt.

At one stage he was saying something which seemed to suggest that by some miracle comparable in physics to anti-gravity we could have net debt higher than gross debt, which I pointed out recently in a press release was not a physical possibility. So the answer to his question is.

1115 He has asked me whether I think we are going to be able to do it and my answer is yes and what our targets will be in our next term of office when we are elected by the people who vote for the GSLP, even if they complain to him about me (Banging on desks) will be produced at the time the manifesto is published. I hope he does the same thing and publishes what he is going to do with debt and other things. (Interjection by the Chief Minister)

1120 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman, may I reassure the hon. Gentleman, so that he is not as sensitive about the issue as he appears to be, that the complaints actually were not against the hon. the Father of the House. The complaints were against the Chief Minister, because it was a complaint against the Head of the Government. So perhaps he can rest assured that they are going to be voting for the hon. Gentleman. I do not know whether they are going to be voting for the Chief Minister.

1125 Mr Speaker, I never suggested that the net debt could be higher than the gross debt mean look... I have been in this game long enough to understand the basics of what I am talking about and indeed I have demonstrated that I know what I am talking about by the way that the Government constantly reacts in a defensive manner to everything, all my criticisms, in relation to the public debt.

1130 But, Mr Speaker, when is the Government – and I understand that if Mr Speaker wants notice, Mr Speaker would be right, but perhaps he might want to answer this question. When is the Government expecting to receive, for example, a premium for the Eastside development, which I believe is what the Government is going to be using in relation to reduce the gross public debt?

1135 Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, first of all it has absolutely nothing to do with the level of debt or the level of reserves that there are in February when the Government expects to receive money from the lease of these sites and secondly, if I knew the date I would not tell him.

Q262/2015
PAYE tax system–
Increase in December 2014; details

Clerk: Question 262, the Hon. D A Feetham.

1140 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Government explain why according to table ITO.6 PAYE tax collected for the month of December 2014 is approximately five times the average collected for each month over the previous two years?

I think it is about £50-something million for that particular month, compared to roughly an average of about £9 million for all the previous months or the previous two years?

1145 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Economic Development and Telecommunications.

Minister for Economic Development & Telecommunications (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I regret to say that a computer glitch gave us £60 million more than we actually received in December 2014. (Laughter)

DEPUTY CHIEF MINISTER

Q263/2015
Eastside project –
Expressions of interest; details

Clerk: Question 263, the Hon. D J Bossino.

1155 Hon. D J Bossino: Further to Question 774 of 2014 and recent public statements, can the Deputy Chief Minister please confirm to this House how many expressions of interest remain in relation to the Eastside project?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

1160 Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, the Government is now in discussion with two entities in relation to the Eastside project.

1165 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Deputy Chief Minister for the answer. After I filed this question there have been further announcements by the Chief Minister in relation to this.

Can he give me an indication as to when he expects or the Government expects to be in a position to make a public announcement in relation to the projects which are going to go ahead on this particular plot of land?

1170 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I think the answer to that question must be that as soon as we are able. The Government is pursuing, as I said on GBC, detailed discussions now with two of the bidders. We want to make sure that we clarify certain of the new answers in their applications. We want to make sure that the details are absolutely right before we make the awards and we want to do that of course as soon as possible. We expect to be in a position to do that shortly.

1175 But you know in negotiations it is never possible to say, however well they are going, that you are there until you have signed on the dotted line. But I am sure he will be very pleased when we make the announcements, because we are of course trying to look for a project that deals with everything that Gibraltar needs, that preserves the area for Gibraltarians, that actually gets off the ground and that we see economic activity on – exactly what we have not seen in the past 16 years there.

1180 Hon. D J Bossino: Thank you for that.

There is a quote in the Gibraltar Chronicle article. I also watched his the Chief Minister's interview, where he says, and this is quoting from the Gibraltar Chronicle:

1185 'We want to see the development bring something special to the whole of Gibraltar.'

Is it perhaps not an answer that he can provide because it will have an impact on negotiations, but can he give us an indication of what he would like to see there?

1190 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I think the official notice for expressions of interest set out exactly what it was that the Government wanted to see there, but these are not issues that will affect the negotiations because they are red lines for the Government. This has to be an area near access to the Waterfront where Gibraltarians can have access. We are not going to create gated communities where Gibraltarians cannot have access to the Waterfront and cannot enjoy that area as a leisure area. I am sure that across the floor of the House would all agree that that is essential and that is not going to affect our negotiations, neither have any of the parties who have made proposals to us knowing that that is a red line for us, having seen that in the expressions of interest, suggested anything to the contrary.

1200 The projects that we are discussing are very, very exciting projects for Gibraltar. As they can imagine they would be a transformation of an area which they used to call when it was a GSLP...what is it? They call it reclamation. A rat infested area, but no sooner had they taken over and it was their reclamation, it was a Sovereign Bay. We would rather not give it a name. We would rather just see it in Economic Development.

1205 Hon. D J Bossino: Will it entail any of the projects... will it entail an extension of the reclamation or is it what there is now?

1210 Hon. Chief Minister: I think what he has seen from the expressions of interest, Mr Speaker, suggest that there is to be a marina. So obviously we are not going to dig into the reclamation to create a marina. The marina is going to come out of the existing area of reclamation and there is no intention to reclaim further in that area.

PRAYER
Mr Speaker

Gibraltar Football Association – Congratulations to senior and under-16s squads

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, before we get into the formal business of the House, which will involve Bills and motions, I wanted to rise just to reflect that history was made yesterday on the football field by the senior GFA squad and the under-16 squad in two respects.

5 The first event of note was the fantastic goal scored by Lee Casciaro – which no doubt all of Gibraltar will have watched on television and some were lucky enough to watch in person at Hampden Park – in the Euro-qualifier which Gibraltar were playing against Scotland. I have no doubt that the Casciaro goal was absolutely, certainly in my view, definitely the most beautiful goal of the match and I am sure that the whole House will want to join me in congratulating Lee Casciaro for the fantastic achievement that the goal represents as our first in a competitive international competition. (Banging on desks)

10 Moreover, at the level of our younger selection, the under-16s, we can see that the next generation of Gibraltar footballers are also achieving greatly. As their more senior brethren had already done, they yesterday beat Malta by two goals. They were playing in the GFA's first ever Youth Development Tournament being held this weekend in Gibraltar.

15 Mr Speaker, I note that also in Gibraltar for the tournament are the teams from Macedonia and San Marino. I am delighted to welcome the Malta, Macedonia and San Marino teams to Gibraltar.

I warmly congratulate all of our senior and under-16 squad and their coaching and training staff on behalf, no doubt, of the whole Parliament. The GFA make the beautiful game carry our dreams in European and, hopefully soon, international competitions and we all value their hard work. (Applause)

BILLS FIRST AND SECOND READING

Referendum Bill 2015 – First Reading approved

20 Clerk: Order of the Day – Bills, First and Second Reading. (1) A Bill for an Act to govern the organisational, administrative and procedural matters associated with the holding of referenda in Gibraltar.
The Hon. the Chief Minister.

25 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act govern the organisational, administrative and procedural matters associated with the holding of referenda in Gibraltar be read a first time.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to govern the organisational, administrative and procedural matters associated with the holding of referenda in Gibraltar be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

30

Clerk: The Referendum Act 2015.

Referendum Bill 2015 –
Second Reading approved

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill for a Referendum Act 2015 now be read a second time.

35 This Bill provides a legal basis for the holding – or rather I should say, for the reasons I am going to come to later, a legislative basis for the holding of referenda in Gibraltar.

Hon. Members will know that the thinking behind this Bill relates to the situation which manifested itself at the time of the atrocious joint sovereignty negotiations between the United Kingdom and Spain. At that time ill-informed and badly advised commentators in the UK and Spain started to suggest that a referendum in Gibraltar which was not organised by the United Kingdom would not have any legal validity.

40 That is, as this House then agreed, utter nonsense. That was common ground between both sides of the House at the time and I trust that it is still common ground across the floor of the House. Indeed, I want to refer the House, in taking this Bill, to Question 706/2002, where the subject was ventilated in the exchanges on that issue between the then Chief Minister, now the hon. backbencher Sir Peter Caruana, and the then Leader of the Opposition – then and now, as in the future and for many years, we hope, the Father of the House. Let me highlight some parts of that exchange.

45 Mr Bossano, in his supplementary question, said this:

‘Can I ask, in terms of the technical position to organise a referendum, the United Kingdom has said in Parliament’

– that is the Westminster parliament –

50 ‘that it is a matter for them both to decide the question I think and the timing that is put, on what basis do they think they have the right to say under the Constitution to do this without the support of this House?’

Sir Peter then said this, as Chief Minister:

55 ‘I do not know and they appear to think that this raises some legalistic issue where of course a referendum is simply a properly administered opportunity for people to express a free and democratic view. It does not raise any issue of law and of course there is nothing in the laws of Gibraltar that entitle the UK but not the Gibraltar Government to conduct a referendum and there is nothing in United Kingdom law in that respect either. I think the point they are making which in my opinion is a complete non sequitur is that if the result of the referendum would require a change in English law, for example, if we all voted to be Spanish in this referendum and this required some acts of Parliament to be passed that they do not think that they should have to change the UK law except in response to a referendum that they have organised, I think that is the somewhat skewed thinking, the formal positions are as follows, they say that they would like to organise in consultation with the Gibraltar Government and I say that the Gibraltar Government will organise it in consultation with the British Government. In either event the Gibraltar Government reserve the right to organise a referendum in Gibraltar on any issue at any time that it pleases there is nothing in the law preventing the Gibraltar Government from doing so, indeed there is nothing in the law providing anybody in Gibraltar organising a referendum.’

– I assume that is prohibiting anybody in Gibraltar organising a referendum; a note to amend Hansard in that respect, at page 635 of that particular Hansard –

70 ‘The idea to be a valid expression of democratic will it has got to somehow comply with some law which is non-existent in the event but that it has to comply with some law is a view for which I can see no rational consensus.’

The argument continued with both sides of the House being entirely of one mind in that respect. There are a few more exchanges but I do not need to trouble the House with those.

75 Mr Speaker, as a result of that issue raising its head then, we committed ourselves in our manifesto for the General Election to bring a Bill for a Referendum Act and we set out what that Act would do.

Under the heading ‘Referendum Law’ our manifesto says as follows:

‘As became apparent at the time of the referendum on the 2006 Constitution’

80 – a later referendum, Mr Speaker, which was also relevant –

‘the legal base for consulting citizens through a referendum does not exist in Gibraltar, as was confirmed at the time by the Attorney General. This does not mean that the referendum was illegal, as Spain has argued, but that the legal basis for it is not as 85 strong as it could be. We will therefore introduce an Act of Parliament in our first year in office to cure this problem to provide the legal basis for holding referenda and the procedure to be followed. We will make provision for non-Gibraltarian British nationals resident in Gibraltar for over 10 years to be eligible to apply for Gibraltarian status and vote in such referenda.

– something, in respect of that last phrase, which has already happened. It was the case that British citizens who had been resident for 10 years were given the opportunity to vote in the referendum from 2002. We were therefore only, in effect, giving legal cover to what had been the case as a matter of policy agreed between both sides of the House at the time that those particular referenda had been agreed. Mr Speaker, that is therefore what the Bill before the House today now seeks to do.

Part 1 of the Bill is concerned with the usual preliminary matters, such as title, commencement and interpretation.

90 Part 2 contains the mechanism for the calling of the referendum. A referendum is held when the Chief Minister makes an order pursuant to clause 3, but an order under Clause 3 is only made either after the House has read a Government Bill for a second time with the other stages then being adjourned to a later date, or where this House has approved a Government motion calling for a referendum – in the first instance, if a Bill is being put to the people in referendum.

95 Clause 4 of the Bill sets out the contents of the order and what has to be contained in it and this includes the day itself of when the question is going to be put, the question to be put and also the percentage of votes that will be required to carry the vote.

Clauses 5 and 6 are concerned with the appointment of the referendum administrator and related administrative issues.

Part 3 of the Bill then goes on, in clauses 7 and 9, to relate to qualifications for participation.

100 Clause 7 sets out the criteria for eligibility by reference to the voter's nexus for Gibraltar, as is the case in elections. In very general terms, persons will become eligible if they meet the nationality criteria and have lived in Gibraltar during the qualifying period, which, as I indicated, should be 10 years.

105 Clause 8 is not replicated in elections legislation and allows for a change to the minimum age. If we eventually decide to change the minimum age for voting then such a clause will not be relevant; but as the House will know, in a referendum in the United Kingdom recently – in the 'Scottish Referendum', as it is known, the minimum age for voting was reduced, although in this election in the United Kingdom the age for voting remains at 18.

Part 4 of the Bill contains the procedural requirements necessary to establish a list of eligible voters and to provide for challengers, where appropriate.

110 By clause 13 provision is made for the creation of a Register of Voters which must be published prior to the holding of a referendum, exactly the same as when dealing with an election.

115 Part 5 of the Bill comprises clauses 14 to 38, replicates in large measure the provisions of election legislation again regarding polling stations, manning of the same, and these provisions allow for a secret ballot to be undertaken, of course. Unlike in the elections legislation, however, a polling station is referred to as a 'voting station'.

Part 6 of the Bill relates to absentee voting and part 7 to postal voting. Again, these provisions are largely a replica of the existing elections legislation.

120 Part 8 deals with the business end of the referendum and contains the procedural matters relating to the counting of voting papers, the verification of the count itself in addition to the declaration of the result – the bits that are important to the Returning Officer, Mr Speaker.

Offences that may be committed in connection with the holding of a referendum as set out in part 9 of the Bill and the penalty if a person has committed an offence is provided for in clause 79.

Part 10 of the Bill, headed 'Miscellaneous', contains clauses 80 to 83.

125 Clause 80 allows for the destruction of papers at least 12 months after a referendum has been held.

Clause 81 saves the validity of actions taken in the referendum process if observers are not present when they are undertaken.

Clause 82 gives the final say to the Referendum Administrator, as the Returning Officer is known in respect of referenda, in respect of organisational, administrative or procedural matters or in any respect of any voting paper.

130 Clause 83 is a wider regulation-making power that will allow for subsidiary legislation to be made. In Clause 83(2)(d) such a power extends to making regulations that may alter the application of the Act for the purpose of enabling the participation of voters who are unable to attend and vote in person.

135 In a letter that I have circulated to Members, a new part 11 is to be introduced at Committee Stage with just one new clause, clause 84, which will provide that where a result has been declared in a referendum conducted in accordance with this Act, that that result shall be recognised and given effect to until the result of a subsequent referendum requiring otherwise.

Mr Speaker, before I sit down to allow others to speak on the Bill, I should add that the making of this Act for future referenda, which a Gibraltar Government may organise after a motion in this Parliament or in respect of any particular Bill, does not in any way call into question the validity of any earlier referenda and 140 does not give any credence or credibility to the ridiculous and undemocratic statements of those that so disgracefully wanted to silence the voice and thwart the will and the expression of the wishes of the people of Gibraltar back in 2002.

Mr Speaker, I commend the Bill to the House. (Banging on desks)

145 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Yes, Mr Speaker, thank you.

150 First of all, let me say that I would wholeheartedly support a Bill to provide legislative underpinning for what we did back in 2002, and to the extent that this Bill did that I would have no hesitation whatsoever in supporting it. As I have understood the Bill – and it may be not what the hon. Members intend, but as I have understood it nevertheless – it does considerably more than that, and unless the hon. Members can put my mind at rest I do not see how I can personally support the Bill.

155 The issue that it arises is really one of the role of Parliament. As I have understood clause 3, and indeed the Hon. the Chief Minister's explanation of it just now, this Bill creates an Act to allow the hon. Members opposite to organise a referendum not on political questions, which is what I would certainly back it for, but rather to give the public at large an opportunity to express a view on any Bill under consideration by this House after its Second Reading. Either we govern in Gibraltar by representative Parliament, in terms of legislation, or we govern by referenda; but what it seems to me is that it is completely undermining the role of Parliament as we have hitherto understood it that as a Bill is making its way through Parliament –
160 namely, after the Second Reading of a Government Bill... It maybe that the hon. Member means a Bill to organise a specific referendum on a specific question, but that is not what it says, is it? It says any Government Bill. So we can have a Bill about the price of fish and after the Second Reading the hon. Members could call a referendum and then presumably Parliament's will is obliged by the result of that referendum.

I do not know if that is what was intended or not – it may not be – but I cannot imagine that it is consistent with the role of this Parliament, or any Parliament as we have hitherto understood it, that a referendum should be part of the legislative process of this Parliament in its legislation-making. It seems to me that that is a much more radical transformation of the system of governance in Gibraltar than a 170 referendum to give statutory underpinning to the political question of sovereignty or any other political question that might arise in future, which is, as I have understood it, is what the hon. Members intend to achieve by this Bill. I am just wondering whether between now and the Committee Stage, if the Bill is not too urgent – and assuming that they agree with me, which they may not – whether it would be worth just tightening up the language of the Bill to make it clear what it is and clear what it is not.
175

Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to speak?

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, we would wish to hear what the Hon. the Chief Minister has to say about the points that the backbencher has just made. (Interjection) I understand that technically, Mr 180 Speaker, but of course how the Opposition is going to be voting depends on the answer that the Chief Minister provides the hon. the backbencher to his question.

Hon. Chief Minister: If the hon. Member gives way –

185 Hon. D A Feetham: I will.

Hon. Chief Minister: If the hon. Member gives way, I can now speak and then come back and reply.

Mr Speaker, the fact is that our intention was exactly what the hon. Gentleman has indicated: this should be about political questions, not about legal questions.

190 In taking advice – of course we do not draft these Bills – from the draftsmen, they have come back with a model which is used in Canada in particular, which does not govern by referendum, it governs by its Parliament but does have the power to put Bills to the general public in Canada in this form. In other words, at the end of a second reading you can then move out – well, at least that is the advice we have – and go for a referendum on this issue.

195 It is not our intention, nor do we envisage circumstances where we might do that. I suppose if we all put our heads together we could find such a situation, but the hon. Gentleman is right – our model of Parliament is that the Government takes responsibility for the Bills it brings to the Parliament and passes them with a Government majority if they do not enjoy unanimity because that is Government policy.

200 Could there be circumstances where you want to take a Bill from a second reading, suspend it, put it to referenda and bring it back to the Parliament? Well, if it were because there were divisions between both sides and the Government were to lose that referendum, then it would say something about the confidence the public had in the Government. That was never the intention that we had, Mr Speaker. In fact, I will put it to the hon. Gentleman that should you wish to do that, then in fact you would have the power to do that without that clause, simply by having a Government motion that appended to it a Bill.

205 Therefore, Mr Speaker, what I am going to propose – given that it is not our intention to try and seek controversy in respect of this particular Bill, because I think we are curing an ill that both sides identified should be cured to avoid the problems that we are dealing with – I am going to propose that at the Committee Stage we should delete clause 3(a) and be left only with clause 3(b). In other words, clause 3 should just read as one clause without a small (a) or a small (b). It should just read:

‘The Minister may make an order for a referendum to be held where Parliament has approved a Government motion for a referendum.’

215 That still allows a Government in the future, should it wish to, to put a Bill to the public once it has come here by simply attaching it to the motion. It is not what we envisaged, Mr Speaker, and I value that we might be able to count on the support of both sides of the House for something that we consider to be a very important Bill indeed for our political future, not an issue that should deal with how we deal with legislation in this House. I hope that is helpful and I will therefore prepare a written notice to the effect that I propose the deletion.

220

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, on that basis then the Opposition will be supporting the Bill and we will be voting in favour of it.

225

Mr Speaker: If no other Member wishes to contribute then I will ask the mover to reply.
The Hon. Mr Bossano.

230 Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, although we have never had any doubt about the validity of the referenda we have had in our history, the first one, in 1967, was organised by the United Kingdom government and is still considered invalid by Spain, so it does not matter to our neighbours who organises the referendum – they will only recognise the referendum that will never produce the result that they want. If we produced that tomorrow, they would say it was a legally valid one. Therefore, the only referendum that Spain will ever accept as a legitimate one is a referendum which gives Gibraltar to Spain, which will never happen and therefore they will never, irrespective of what we do in this Parliament, give recognition to the results. (Banging on desk)

235

However, for us it is important, I think, to accept that predominantly on fundamental issues that deal with the survival of our country but also perhaps on other things where the House – very rarely, but it has happened – has had a situation where Members on both sides of the House were in agreement with each other and in disagreement with their colleagues... It has happened on one or two occasions but not very often in the last 42 years, and I think if it is an issue that is controversial and that it is of such a nature that neither the Opposition nor the Government within their own branch can get unanimity because it is something that people take and hold very strong views of, independent of where they stand on the political spectrum, then I think it is legitimate to say, ‘Well, look, let’s see whether the people agree with one view or the other’ – because who are we, the 17 people in this room, to decide on something where there are very strong views held?

240

I think it is important, if that happens, that the decisions that are then taken are accepted as binding by those who were against it before and accept that once you consult the people on something it has to be respected, and therefore the framework of making the referendum an instrument that is passed by this Parliament... of course tomorrow another Parliament could decide to repeal the legislation and that would be the end of it, so it is not inhibiting a future Parliament from having a different view. But I think that nobody would dream of doing anything, in terms of talks about Gibraltar’s future, that was in breach of the referendum that was conducted when we agreed in this House, organised by the Government of Gibraltar in the context of the sharing of sovereignty that was being attempted by the government of the United Kingdom. The view was then very clear, it was overwhelming, and therefore nobody in his right mind wanting to stand for politics in Gibraltar would want to go against that. Nevertheless, the fact is that there is nothing to stop a result being ignored and what I think is important also, in terms of creating a legal basis for the referendum, is that the legal basis should be one that requires the results to be adhered to by a Government unless they go to the extent of saying ‘I am going to ignore that referendum’, and if that happens it should be going back to the people and again seeing if opinion has changed. Opinion on a subject might change. A different generation might have different views on anything, nothing to do with the question of... on any other issue. Within the generations in Gibraltar we would perhaps have less of a gap

260

265 than in other countries, but it can still happen. Therefore, I think it is something that is required and it should be more than just creating the mechanics of how to do a referendum, but sending a very important message that ultimately there is a sovereignty higher than the sovereignty of Parliament, and that is the sovereignty of the people. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

270 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, as I have said, I am grateful for the indication that, given the amendment, the hon. Members will be supporting this Bill. I think it is important that this Bill go with unanimity and I am very pleased and very proud to be able to present it and commend it to the House.

275 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to govern the organisational, administrative and procedural matters associated with the holding of referenda in Gibraltar be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Referendum Act 2015.

280 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today if all hon. Members agree.

Electronic Commerce (Amendment) Bill 2015 –
Second Reading approved

295 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill now be read a second time.

This Bill, in effect, provides that the Electronic Commerce Act, which is already on our statute book, should enjoy a small amendment as a precursor to the introduction of greater e-government by the introduction of legislation to regulate e-commerce where that commerce is not designed to be for profit. The context of the word ‘commerce’ always might suggest profit, but when the Government is going to come into this space to provide a public service as a public body to the general public and has no intention of doing that for profit, we are advised that it would be in the interests of legal clarity to ensure that there is an amendment to show that the Government itself will be covered by the provisions of this Bill, which essentially relates to how that exchange of information occurs in the ether of the virtual world.

305 It is a short Bill, Mr Speaker. Hon. Members will have seen it is hopefully uncontroversial and I commend the Bill to the House.

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

335

In November 2011 we published our election manifesto. In it we said the following, and I quote:

‘The University of Gibraltar will commence operations within 4 years...’

340

In a packed and ambitious manifesto those 10 words represented a commitment of monumental proportions. It may not have been immediately obvious to those reading the manifesto that that commitment would represent a massive advancement of what Gibraltar is, what Gibraltar represents and how Gibraltar is to develop. As from September of this year Gibraltar will step up to become a university city. It is a coming of age, it is a transformational moment, it is a milestone in our history which comes only once and which we and, I hope, many generations of Gibraltarians will cherish.

345

We set to work straight away on making our commitment a reality. In 2012 we engaged Prof. Daniella Tilbury to carry out a feasibility study on the University. That study concluded not only that it was feasible for Gibraltar to have its own university, but that the University could be very successful. In January 2014 Dr Darren Fa was seconded from the Gibraltar Museum to the Department of Education to work exclusively on the University project. The work that Dr Fa did, together with other members of the project team, was consolidated into a scheme which was launched as the University project in October 2014. At that launch we confirmed that the University would indeed open its doors in September 2015 and we announced the location of the University and the various faculties that would form part of it. Hours upon hours of thought, of discussions, of consultations, of identifying building needs, of looking at the resources both financial and human that would be required, of considering the academic programmes that could be offered, of visits to higher educational institutions in various places around the world, of working through a number of statutory, operational and governance models, have brought us to where we are today: on the verge of a landmark event.

This Bill will establish the University of Gibraltar and set the framework for the University to function.

This is, of course, only one element of what needs to come together to allow the University to open its doors in September. We have already brought to this House a Bill to appropriate £10 million for the University. The Bill was passed in October 2014.

That funding enabled building works to commence. Now I am glad to report that work continues at full pace at the site of the former St Christopher's School to convert two emblematic buildings into our University. Europa Point is a magnificent location for the university and allows the creation of a campus with room for expansion in the future – an expansion which will see new facilities added, including student accommodation. The existing buildings are being brought back to life in a way which not only preserves but enhances the heritage value of those buildings. An 18th century stone building with high vaults will house the library, a computer suite for study and for online exams, a hall where conferences can be hosted and the administration centre of the University. There will be an outside courtyard surrounded by rooms for teaching staff and research students. The building known as the Defensible Barracks has 10 vaults, which will be primarily used for teaching. Between the two main buildings a glass roof structure will be installed to create a large open atrium, which I expect will be a hive of activity for students. On either side of the atrium are two new constructions, with a student cafeteria and a training kitchen for the Faculty of Hospitality on one side and a research laboratory for the Faculty of Life and Earth Sciences and a simulation suite for the Faculty of Health Studies on the other. On top of the Defensible Barracks, the southernmost building, will be a restaurant, which will form part of the Faculty of Hospitality but which will be open to the public. The restaurant will enjoy unrivalled and unobstructed views of the Straits and Africa. This will in fact be one of the most attractive places in the whole of Europe in which to enjoy a meal.

As already announced, Mr Speaker, the University will have four faculties, an Institute for Professional Development and Continuing Education and a Language Centre. The faculties are the Faculty of Health Studies and Sports Science, the Faculty of Business, the Faculty of Tourism and Hospitality and the Faculty of Life and Earth Sciences with Gibraltar and Mediterranean studies.

On Health Studies there will be a continuation of the programmes offered by the Gibraltar Health Authority, namely a Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing and a Masters in Leadership and Management in Healthcare. These programmes are accredited and directed by Kingston University.

On business there will be a series of programmes taught which are part of the University of London international programmes, and I am glad to announce today what those programmes will be. There will be a Bachelor of Science degree in Accounting and Finance, a Bachelor of Science degree in Banking and Finance and a Bachelor of Science degree in Business and Management. In addition, there will be offered a Diploma for Graduates in Banking and a Diploma for Graduates in Accounting. All of these programmes are directed by the London School of Economics through the University of London international programmes. Initially these will be offered on a part-time basis through evening classes, so they will be accessible to everyone in Gibraltar. We expect full-time programmes to also be offered as from 2016. The Faculty of Business will progress to also offer computing courses as from 2016. In addition, the Faculty of Business will offer courses in Gibraltar law and in Gibraltar tax. These will be taught over 24 weeks with a two-hour lecture each week.

Mr Speaker, the University of Gibraltar has consolidated the association and collaboration with Oxford Brookes University. Through that association the Faculty of Tourism and Hospitality will be offer throughout the next year a series of practical programmes in hospitality culture. We expect the faculty to progress to academic programmes as from 2016.

The Faculty of Life and Earth Sciences with Gibraltar and Mediterranean Studies will incorporate two research institutes. The Institute of Life and Earth Sciences will deal with scientific research. The Institute of Gibraltar and Mediterranean Studies will concentrate on research into social science themes. The Gibraltar Museum, the Garrison Library and the Gibraltar Botanical Gardens will form part of the research institutes and will be part of the extended campus of the University. The Faculty will offer research courses leading to PhDs. We expect that up to 10 PhD opportunities will be offered during the course of the first year. These will cover a wide cross-section of topics. They will include topics in areas such as macaque behaviour and management, the marine biology of Gibraltar waters and the Straits, the modern constitutional development of Gibraltar, Neanderthal life in and around Gibraltar, football crowd policing and behaviour, and responsible gambling. This will be the start in the evolution of a research facility which we hope will expand and make Gibraltar a major centre for academic and scientific research.

The Institute of Professional Development and Continuing Education will offer professional development for both the public and private sectors. There will be short courses developed to meet industry needs, as well as courses leading to professional qualifications such as accounting technician, the Institute of Legal Executives and the Chartered Management Institute. These will be expanded over time into other areas where a need is identified in consultation with relevant industry associations.

Mr Speaker, the Language Centre will concentrate on the teaching of English as a professional or business language. In order to be able to attract students from abroad to take these courses, it will be necessary for us to be able to offer appropriate student accommodation. I therefore expect these courses to start during 2016. I would add that the potential for the Language Centre is truly enormous. Every year, tens of thousands of students attend language centres in the UK and elsewhere to learn not just English but English for professionals, with specific courses offered for different industries. There are, for example, courses in English for engineers or English for aviation, and many more. Gibraltar is particularly well placed to attract many students from all over the world. With English as our main language and a location which is in many ways unique and attractive we are well poised to make this area an economic driver for our community. This is not just true for the university, though. This is an area where private providers could set up and the teaching of English could become a huge industry for Gibraltar. The University of Gibraltar's Language Centre is therefore set to play a pioneering role and to act as a launch pad and catapult for the development of a new industry. Such is the impact that we expect our University to have.

Mr Speaker, I turn to the Bill itself.

There are some amendments proposed to the Bill as originally published. These are set out in a letter to Mr Speaker dated 23rd March, which includes a schedule of the proposed changes and a tracked version of the Bill showing the changes. I will formally move – (Interjection) My note says the 23rd; it may have been the 24th when it was actually sent, Mr Speaker. It was in fact the 24th. Yes, I have a copy of the letter in front of me and it is the 24th. I am grateful to the hon. Member for pointing that out.

I will formally move the amendments to the Bill at Committee. I will be speaking to the Bill as proposed to be amended and I will of course be happy to address in my reply any questions which the Opposition may have on the proposed amendments.

Mr Speaker, this is a Bill for an Act to establish the University of Gibraltar. The University is founded and constituted as a statutory body. The Bill provides for the University to be a body corporate with the ability to sue and be sued in its own name and to have its own seal.

Part 3 of the Bill contains important statements of principle. There are provisions for institutional autonomy so that the university, its board and its constituent bodies are free from interference from all external bodies, authorities or agencies.

This part also provides for academic freedom, with a requirement that the principles of enquiry and research, teaching and intramural and extramural expression shall be respected.

The university will have a power in its own right and name to grant degrees, including research and honorary degrees, diplomas and certificates.

The functions of the University and the duties of the University are set out in clause 8. The functions of the University include establishing and maintaining faculties, institutes, departments, schools, colleges and academic chairs and to provide courses of instruction in the various branches of knowledge and to establish facilities for the pursuit of original research.

The University will be headed by a chancellor, who will be the University's titular head and will have no executive role. The chancellor is appointed by the Minister with responsibility for Education. The University will have a vice-chancellor, who is appointed by the board with the consent of the Minister. The Bill provides for the vice-chancellor to be the chief executive officer who sets the strategic direction of the University and provides it with academic leadership.

There will be a board of directors. The board is responsible for the management, administration and control of the property, revenue and business of the University but not for academic governance. The board is composed of up to seven persons made up of the vice-chancellor, the Director of Education, the University's financial controller and up to four persons appointed by the Minister. The Minister may increase the number of members of the board at its request and any such additional members are appointed by the board. The chairman of the board is appointed by the Minister from among its members.

As I have indicated, the board is responsible for all the business of the University but not for academic governance. It is customary for academic governance to be vested in a separate body. The Bill contains provisions for the establishment by the Minister of an academic board, Council, senate or equivalent body to undertake the academic governance functions of the University. Pending the establishment of such a body, the University's academic governance functions are undertaken by the vice-chancellor.

There are provisions in the Bill for the recognition of a student union and for the student union and any student society to operate in a fair and democratic manner and to be accountable for its finances.

Part 7 of the Bill deals with interim governing arrangements, with the power given to the Minister to designate an initial governing authority and to determine its powers and duties. The initial governing 475 authority shall have the powers of the vice-chancellor until the appointment of the first vice-chancellor and of the board until the commencement of the board's first meeting. These provisions are essential so that the University can start to function whilst it is taking shape and it is up and running with all its constituent parts, officers and members appointed or put in place.

480 Hon. Members will be aware that the Government has incorporated the University of Gibraltar Ltd as the vehicle through which the University is being delivered and which engages staff and enters into contracts such as the contract for the construction works at the Europa Point site. The company is the operating vehicle for the University project. It is my intention to designate the University of Gibraltar Ltd as the initial governing authority so that the University itself can start to function. Once all the necessary appointments and structures are made or put in place it is the Government's intention to transfer the shares in the University of Gibraltar Ltd to the University established by this Bill. In that way there will be a seamless transition from the Government project that the University currently is to a fully functioning and structured University as an independent statutory body. It will, of course, be up to the University's board to 485 determine whether it keeps the University of Gibraltar Ltd as its operating vehicle. It probably makes sense for the board to do so, but that will be a decision for the board and not for the Government.

490 Part 8 of the Bill contains financing provisions with an obligation created on the University to use its best endeavours to become self-financing. Subject to certain safeguards, the University will have powers to borrow and to invest.

Part 9 deals with the acquisition of property and provides for the property and income of the University to be exempt from taxation.

Quality assurance and regulatory provisions are contained in Part 10.

495 A power is given to the Minister to establish or designate a quality assurance authority to be known as the Gibraltar Authority for Standards in Higher Education. The purpose of the Gibraltar Authority for Standards in Higher Education is to establish and safeguard academic standards and to provide quality assurance in respect of the University's academic programmes. It should be noted that the primary responsibility for quality assurance of its academic programmes vests with the University itself and not with an external body. It will be for the University, through its academic board, council, senate or equivalent 500 body established under the power given in clause 29 or pending the establishment of such a body through the vice-chancellor, to create the necessary structures for quality assurance and for the maintenance of standards in the academic programmes. There is nevertheless a role to be played also by an external body in ensuring that those standards and quality assurance are maintained. In the UK that is the function of the Quality Assurance Agency. At the outset it may not be necessary for an external quality assurance authority 505 to be established or designated. That is because the degree programmes that are being offered in conjunction with Kingston University or as part of the University of London international programmes already come with the necessary quality assurance. In due course it will be necessary for the Gibraltar Authority for Standards in Higher Education to be established or for another body such as the UK's Quality Assurance Agency to be asked to carry out this function. Discussions to this effect have already taken place 510 with the Quality Assurance Agency and a power exists in the Bill to delegate this function to such a body.

There is a separate provision in the Bill for a regulatory authority to be known as The Gibraltar Higher Education Commission, which can be established or designated. The functions of the Commission will be to regulate the affairs of the University by making sure that statutory provisions are complied with and statutory powers are not exceeded. It is necessary to distinguish between an external body that looks at 515 academic standards – that would be the role of the Gibraltar Authority for Standards in Higher Education – and an external body that ensures compliance with statutory provisions other than academic governance.
That is the role of the Gibraltar Higher Education Commission. The Gibraltar Regulatory Authority has agreed to carry out the functions of the Gibraltar Higher Education Commission and arrangements by the GRA to be able to provide this have already been made. It will therefore be my intention to designate the 520 GRA to carry out the functions of the Gibraltar Higher Education Commission. This will be one more strand of the work of the GRA, which already deals with the regulation of telecommunications, satellites, postal services and data protection.

525 Mr Speaker, part 12 contains miscellaneous provisions, including provisions to prevent any person other than the University without the consent of the board to hold himself or itself out as the University or use the title or style of the University of Gibraltar. It also provides protection against the misuse of the University's coat of arms, logo, insignia or emblem. A contravention of these provisions amounts to an offence with a penalty on summary conviction being imprisonment for six months or a fine not exceeding twice level 5 on the standard scale, or both.

530 There is an exclusion of liability to the University for acts of students and protection from acts or omissions by officers of the University in good faith in the execution of duties carried out on behalf of the University unless those acts or omissions arise from gross negligence.

Finally, there is a power given to the Minister to make rules, regulations and orders to fulfil the purposes and objects of the Act.

535 The Bill sets out a comprehensive framework for the establishment and functioning of the University. It provides for the University's independence, for its governance structure, for academic governance, for interim governing arrangements, for the University's financing and investments, for accountability and reporting and for quality assurance and regulation.

540 In September the University of Gibraltar will open its doors to the whole community. The statutory framework, the building, the staff, the initial academic and professional development programmes should all be in place by then.

545 Mr Speaker, the University has been described many times as an exciting project. It is much more than pure excitement that we feel. 'Exciting' does not even begin to express fully what it is that we are building and what it is that the University can become and achieve for Gibraltar. With the enactment of this legislation an institution that will change and benefit Gibraltar in many ways is born. It elevates Gibraltar to the rank of those cities that are able to welcome international students to carry out important research, to engage in academic programmes, or even to learn English tailored for the profession in which they are engaged. It will provide opportunities for Gibraltarians who have either already returned from studying abroad and want additional qualifications or who want to do their first degree locally. There will be opportunities for research into areas which will make a real difference to our community. There will be constant interaction with industry, with professional courses to meet Gibraltar's needs. There will be specific and high-quality training for the hospitality industry. There will be job opportunities in higher education, which have never been possible in Gibraltar. The University will be an economic driver not just for itself but for the entire community. In a nutshell, the University is an institution for the whole of Gibraltar and I look forward to welcoming everyone to the University when it opens for public viewing in September.

555 Mr Speaker, it is with enormous pleasure and with a huge sense of responsibility and pride that I commend this Bill to the House. (A Member: Hear, hear.) (Applause and banging on desks)

560 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of this Bill?

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

565 As the Opposition said at the time of the supplementary appropriation Bill, this side of the House is supportive of the concept of establishing the University of Gibraltar. It is indeed something that, as the Chief Minister said himself at the time, has been a project long trailed by more than one political party in the history of this House and its predecessors. But in doing so I would like to ask the Hon. the Minister for Education for a little bit of clarification on some parts.

570 Seeing that this side of the House is very much committed to the professional development and continuing education and so on which is embedded in the principles of what the University is being established for, in clause 8 there is a section that says that the functions of the University are as follows, and it mentions – I take it in the general sense of or in the general meaning of the word – schools and colleges. Can I, at least just across the floor of this House, just as an assurance that it is not the intention of the University to take over primary or secondary education in Gibraltar but rather from a higher education interpretation that is why schools and colleges have been included in that section there?

575 I look forward later on in the Committee Stage, Mr Speaker, to hearing from the Minister the amendments that he is introducing in regard to the composition of the board. We want to have a board that is independent and above all political interference and so on, but it seems to me that the board is going to be composed of two employees of the University – the vice-chancellor and the financial controller – the Director of Education as an ex-officio member, and then the Minister will appoint four other persons and so on. I look forward to hearing what the Minister has to say in respect of maintaining a certain independence and freedom that that board needs in order to carry out its duties properly.

580 More so, Mr Speaker, leading to section 46, because an annual report has to be presented by the vice-chancellor and the board and it has to be presented to the Minister. With that, the board has to arrange for the audit of annual accounts and so on. Given that this House has already approved the expenditure of £10 million – which should cover expenses for the next two or three years but one can foresee, because we are supportive of investing in education and so on, that there will be contributions from this House going towards the University – to my knowledge there is nowhere in this Bill that clarifies whether that report should later on, once the Minister has had time to see it and perhaps had to make the relevant questions from the board... where that report and its financial outings will be recorded – whether it will be laid for the record in this Parliament or whether it will be published because it is the University's intention under the board to publish that so that the public of Gibraltar is aware of where their money – which we are supportive, as we did at the time of the supplementary appropriation – where the money is being spent so we can really judge our value for money.

590 With that, Mr Speaker, I look forward to the Minister's reply.

595 Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to speak?
The Hon. Sir Peter Caruana.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Yes, Mr Speaker.

600 I am not sure that I would share the full extent of the hon. Member's mental orgasm of the Bill, (Laughter) but certainly I have no hesitation in welcoming his political initiative in this respect.

The University of Gibraltar is, without doubt, a category of institution that fits into what he has said about institutions that enhance Gibraltar's trappings as a modern European country. It will be, I am sure he will accept, equally important for those very same reasons that Gibraltar, as it has done in other sectors of its outward facing activities, seek excellence of standards because by virtue of the fact that it is going to be 605 a high profile institution it will therefore be one with a capacity to tarnish Gibraltar's image and reputation if standards begin to fall or the value of our degrees begin to fall. I am sure that will not happen, but the hon. Members should just be aware of that.

I only wish to intervene on one point and I do not thereby wish to cast criticism on the project itself, which as I say is excellent and I warmly support it. Clause 5, rightly in my opinion, flags up the importance 610 of the institutional autonomy. So, for example, clause 5 says:

'The university, its board and its other constituent bodies shall be free from interference from all external bodies, authorities or agencies'

615 – in which I am certain the Minister would wish to include himself as an external authority and agency –

'in the exercise of the powers conferred by this Act, including as regards the following–'

Then clause 6 says:

620 '(1) The principles of freedom of inquiry and research, teaching and intramural and extramural expression, shall be respected.'

So that is the statutory statement of the desired level of independence and autonomy that the Government, in my view rightly, wants for this institution. It is noteworthy in conjunction with that – and I suppose that this has been a matter of careful consideration and policy decision – that the Bill gives no role 625 whatsoever to the Department of Education in relation to what is just one more level of educational establishment in Gibraltar. But whilst giving the non-political side of Government – that is the Department of Education – no role whatsoever, the same is not true – Sorry? (Interjection) Yes, I beg your pardon.

Hon. G H Licudi: If the hon. Member were to give way just on that particular point, the only role there 630 is is that the Director of Education forms part of the board of governors, so to that extent – and it is a point perhaps that also addresses something that the Hon. Mr Reyes said – he is an ex-officio member but he is the highest authority of education in Gibraltar and therefore we thought that it was fitting for the Director to be represented on the board of governors.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Yes, of course he is, in that capacity, ex-officio, but in terms of administrative 635 responsibility for the administrative side of education and for the policy side the Department itself has no role as a body, which is subject to whatever influence he can bring to bear within the board as a member of which he, the Director, is.

Contrast that with the usual model – and I recognise it is the usual model of our agencies and authorities
640 in Gibraltar; there is nothing untoward about it or unusual – of the very high level of power, which in effect ensures control in the person of the Minister, and through the Minister the Government. So the Minister appoints the chairperson of the board, effectively the chancellor; the Minister has to consent to the appointment of a vice-chancellor; the Minister personally appoints the majority of board members; the Minister can at any time, and it does not even say 'for good reason', fire any member of the board, even for 645 making perhaps decisions that the Minister – a Minister; let's depersonalise it from him; any future Minister – may not like. That is clause 23, by the way, 'Removal from office'.

Clause 29 then goes on to say:

650 'The Minister may pursuant to section 58 establish and provide an academic board, council, senate or equivalent body to undertake the academic governance functions of the university otherwise undertaken by the board.'

I just wonder whether this is a calibrated extent... a calibrated following consideration and decision 655 extent of Ministerial power – there is nothing wrong with the word, I suppose, 'power' – over the affairs of the board through these powers of appointment; and have the hon. Members given any consideration to some other model which somehow makes the University not just be stated to be independent as in clauses 5 and 6, but through the degree of control? I do not say that the Minister should have no control, hence my point about the Department. This is an important academic function; it is important to maintain standards.

660 There are questions of the image of Gibraltar abroad; there is the question of the Government funding; there is a question as to the extent to which the Government may want to use the University as a tool of policy to deliver, for example, as he has just announced, the Bar Council, the solicitors' and barristers' qualification thing; they might want to use it as an instrument of economic policy for training and retaining. So there are any number of reasons which would justify the Government rightly reserving the ability to ensure that this publicly funded organisation does indeed serve the needs and interests of the community as primarily identified by the Government that has over-arching responsibility for that in our democracy. But it seems to me that the Bill itself starkly contrasts a statement of independence with actually the usual dose of ministerial control which successive Governments have given successive Ministers in successive areas of activity in Gibraltar.

Mr Speaker: Any other hon. Member who wishes to contribute?

670 The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker.

As the shadow Minister for Education quite rightly said, the Opposition is going to be supporting this Bill. Indeed, we supported the Bill that was brought for supplementary funding.

675 I would ask him to clarify one point and it arises out of section 54, if he has that, and that is as to the scope of section 54, which is an immunity from suit, from proceedings. It says:

'(1) No action or proceeding shall be brought against a member of the board or faculties, an officer or employee of the university, or against the initial governing authority'

680

Then, at subsection (3), it says:

'No action shall lie against the university if it appears that the university acted under the authority of this Act or any other Act.'

685

The University itself – as I understand it, but I will be corrected if I am wrong – has no separate legal standing. It is going to be a limited company that effectively is going to be running the University. I may be wrong about that but I am thinking about, for example, cases in the industrial tribunal. Does he envisage that this clause is going to catch any claim for unfair dismissal, for example, or any other type of claim that may be properly brought against that limited company or indeed against the University if the University has some separate personality by virtue of this Act or otherwise? I would just ask the hon. Gentleman to perhaps clarify that for me.

690

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Dr Cortes.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, as someone who has spent most of his life moving in and around the world of academia I feel I must say a few words in support of the Bill and by way of congratulating my colleague the Minister for Education and the team that have been working to bring this Bill to us today. I do not think we can overstate the significance of what we are doing here today: the tremendous potential that the University has and the fact that it will open more doors than we even know are there to be opened.

695

I still have considerable contact in the academic world and I have received many words of congratulation and many words of interest in what we are doing in Gibraltar. It has certainly created great interest in the academic world. Wherever I have gone and in areas where I have been in academic circles I have been congratulated for the vision that the Gibraltar Government has had in creating a University.

700

Mr Speaker, the University of Gibraltar, I feel, will be one of the most important and significant achievements of this Government and possibly will be the most significant part of its undoubted and unequalled legacy. (Banging on desks)

705

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, as most Gibraltar students will know, especially those who study the sciences at university, universities are places not just of organisms but also of orgasms, as the hon. Gentleman has referred us to, which is everything that education is about, (Laughter) at least further education! (Laughter)

710

Tony Blair has said many things with which people can disagree, and rightly so, particularly in Gibraltar. If there is one thing that Tony Blair said once that people in Gibraltar will be able to agree with, when asked what a priority for a Labour Government should be he answered, 'Education, education, education', and that is certainly something that we can all agree with.

715

720 Mr Speaker, I rise because I want to commend the work that has been done by the team in the Department of Education, led by the Minister of Education and the Director of Education and in particular by Mr Darren Fa, who has been very closely associated with the project and who has done a lot of what we might call the leg work, and now the appointment of Miss Daniella Tilbury.

725 When I rise in jest to talk about ‘education, education, education’ I want to talk also about milestones. Milestones in our modern history in education have been set by the Gibraltar Socialist Labour Party when in Government in this respect.

730 The front page of this week’s The Economist carries a very apposite front page, almost as if they knew that the Minister was going to move this Bill. It is, ‘The whole world is going university’ and it contains a special report that deals with university education. There are two parts of this report that in particular I want to refer the House to when considering education and how it has developed and how we are now led to this university.

735 In the lead article The Economist says this:

‘If people need a degree to get ahead, then democratic governments must offer everybody with sufficient brains a chance of getting one.’

740 and that is exactly what in 1988 the then GSLP Government ensured could happen by the introduction of the mandatory scholarship scheme.

745 Elsewhere in the same leading article the following:

750 ‘As first degrees become standard, more people are getting post graduate qualifications to stand out from the crowd. In both America and Britain, 14% of the adult workforce have a post graduate degree and despite the increase in supply the post graduate premium has increased in both America and Britain especially since 2000.’

755 In 2011 our manifesto for the General Election provided that we would move the Department of Education from simply providing first degrees as a mandatory requirement, as we had introduced in 1988, to providing, because of this competition of people who already had a first degree, that all those who wished to and were able to obtain a place at university would be able to access a second degree, a higher degree. That demonstrates our commitment to education, education and now, with the university, education.

760 The conclusion of the lead article in The Economist says this:

765 ‘But access to higher education is not binary. Some provision is excellent and some is not, and the returns to low-quality higher education are poor. So the ambition expressed by pretty much all governments everywhere to widen access to good-quality higher education conflicts with another global force: competition to create the best universities.’

770 I think that it is important for the Parliament to realise that the road on which the Government has embarked, under the stewardship of the Hon. the Minister for Education, is not a rush to be average, it is not a move in haste to just create another institution; but, as he has demonstrated in the past three years since he started work on the subject, since he has moved the Parliament on a number of occasions to consider and deal and support the legislation and motions he has brought in relation to the University, we are embarked under the Minister for Education and this Government in a careful endeavour towards creating a great University, a great institution. In so doing, we are not just going to create a place of learning but, as he has said himself, I hope that we are also sowing the seeds for new and future economic activity for our nation.

775 Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Minister for Education.

Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, thank you.

780 It is certainly very satisfying to see that this Bill will enjoy the support of the whole House. It is an institution, as I have said, for Gibraltar generally and which we expect many good things to come out of the institution.

785 Taking the points that have been raised by hon. Members, the Hon. Mr Reyes mentions the possibility in the Bill of the University establishing schools and colleges, and wonders whether we are going to create a primary school on the University site. Certainly not, Mr Speaker. It is customary these days for many universities to operate within the university itself their own schools and colleges. For example, Oxford Brookes University operates the School of Hospitality Management, which is part of the higher education offering of Brookes University; and as we know, universities such as Cambridge and Oxford operate through colleges of their own. So any references in this Bill to any departments, faculties or institutions clearly are all within the framework of what it is that we are establishing. This is a higher education institution and that is where the University needs to remain, as a higher education institution.

790 The hon. Member mentions the appointment of persons to the board, which is also the point raised by Sir Peter Caruana about on the one hand there being established in the Bill itself the basic principles of institutional autonomy and academic freedom to provide for the independence of the University – and it is pretty strong language that the Bill provides: there shall be no external interference by external agencies or 780 authorities, and that clearly includes the Government. So in the functioning of the University there shall not be interference and it will function as an independent organ, as a statutory body with its constituent parts, in particular the board of governors.

785 Somebody has to appoint the members of the board and the hon. Member asked whether there could have been other possibilities. Well, perhaps there could have been but we have looked at statutory frameworks in Gibraltar and the hon. Member has himself referred to various agencies and authorities that have been established, but there are some... For example, the Gibraltar Regulatory Authority: that one in particular operates as a statutory body totally independent, has regulatory functions which are independent of Government, and yet its members are appointed by the Minister. I seem to recall it is the Chief Minister. That is an Act that dates from 2000, I seem to recall, and therefore an Act which the hon. Member passed 790 when he was the Chief Minister of the Government at the time. The fact that appointments are made, the fact that a Minister has the power to make regulations and to whom reports are submitted should not and, in the Government's view in this particular case, will not undermine at all the independence of the University. It is intended that the University should operate as an independent body and take its own decisions, and certainly there has to be some accountability.

795 There has to –

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: ... [Inaudible]

Hon. G H Licudi: Certainly.

800

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Are you willing to say exactly the same about the power to remove at will as the power to appoint?

Hon. G H Licudi: Well, again, Mr Speaker, it is because there has to be a power to remove – 805 (Interjection) There might be an argument if the hon. Member wants to make the point that there could be an amendment for cause; but then again, what is cause in the context of a member of the board? Clearly, I presume that no Minister would remove simply because the Minister wants or does not like a particular person.

810 But let me just say this before I give way. The power to remove a member of the board only applies to members appointed by the Minister. There is a possibility of members being appointed by the board itself and the Bill provides for that. There is no provision for those members to be removed by the Minister.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member is right: there are other Bills relating to authorities and things that give the Minister power to remove people from boards, tribunals, agencies and things of that sort. Almost all of them do, but they are all for cause, and the causes usually are commission of a criminal offence, bankruptcy, failure to attend meetings... I cannot think of any – in fact, I would venture to suggest that there are not any – in which a Minister, in the name of a power relating to a so-called independent body, has the power to remove at will and without cause, pursuant to a one-and-a-half line power that simply says he can at any time remove whoever he wants from the board, full stop. I do not think that there is anything... I am not saying that the hon. Member is minded to do this or any of his successors in office are going to be minded to do this – I suppose they would be accountable to Parliament and to public opinion if they did – but in terms of the integrity of the Act itself and the rest of the Bill looking as independent as clauses 5 and 6 rightly profess that it wants to be, it is just a rather odd summary power that a politician should have the right, without cause or without explanation, to remove somebody from a board that the Act says has got to be independent and cannot be interfered with by any authority, including the Minister. It is very easy to see how somebody who feels that he is removable at will by somebody does not feel entirely independent from what he knows that person's wishes are in the exercise of his so-called independent power. You might say that that is a weakness of the appointee or a lack of gumption and that may well be right, but in terms of appearance you would not expect to find a provision of this sort in respect of... In the UK for example – and I do not hold the UK up as an example that we should necessarily follow by virtue; they are on some things and are not on others, but I do not think that in the UK an institution whose governing bodies could be removed at will by a Minister would be regarded as independent of the Government as clause 5 wants it to say.

830
835 I would not wish this point to detract from my enthusiasm for the project as a whole, but if the hon. Member wanted to just go the extra half mile in signalling independence it would be relatively easy to borrow one of the removal clauses from the other Bill and tag it on. But it will not affect my support for the Bill if he does not, if he chooses not to.

840 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, let me assure the hon. Member that there is no ulterior motive. There has, in fact, been no specific consideration that the words 'for cause' should be removed and that there 845 should be a summary power at will. I am looking now at the provisions of the Gibraltar Regulatory Authority Act, which sets out a list of matters which the Minister can be satisfied on – being absent, being bankrupt, being incapacitated or otherwise unable or unfit to discharge the functions of a member; and then the Minister may, in consultation with members of the Gibraltar Regulatory Authority, declare that person’s office as a member to be vacant. We have no particular issue with a similar provision being moved at Committee Stage because, as I have said, there was not any particular intention that the Bill should have that summary power in that particular way. It was not intended to be and I am grateful to the hon. Member for pointing that out, and we will be happy to make an amendment.

850 The Hon. Mr Reyes also mentions the annual report and how is the report to be published. This is a statutory body, it is a public institution, although no provision is made for it in the Bill, but as an administrative matter I would simply expect that the report would be published on the University’s website on a yearly basis. That is certainly the expectation.

855 The point made by the Leader of the Opposition in relation to clause 54(3) about the University and whether it has a separate legal standing, the answer is yes it does. That is provided in clause 4, which is headed ‘Body corporate’ and which says:

‘The university is a body corporate, may sue and be sued in its own name, and shall have its own seal.’

and therefore the University itself can be sued. What clause 54 does is provide some protection against the University where the University is simply fulfilling its functions, but I can certainly foresee that if at any time a person who is an employee of the University is unfairly dismissed that person should certainly have the right to go to the industrial tribunal and sue the University itself as the employer. That is certainly possible if the University continues to operate under the University of Gibraltar Limited and the employer is in fact the limited company – then there is a possibility of having proceedings against the limited company, for example in unfair dismissal proceedings. So the hon. Member should have no worries in that regard.

860 Finally, Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the comments on this side of the House. Certainly education has been something at the heart of the GSLP since it came into office in 1988. It pioneered the expansion of higher education with the introduction of mandatory scholarships for anyone who had a place to study at a recognised institution.

865 When we came into Government in 2011 we extended that to give mandatory rights for people to continue in higher education. We want to continue to foster that possibility. We recently made available figures in this particular House about 866 students being currently funded. That is an extraordinary amount of students in higher education being funded by the Government in a small community that we are. It is a record that we can be proud of.

870 This is another leg in higher education, it is a new stool in higher education; something which, as I have said, will benefit the whole of Gibraltar. When we see what it is that we are doing and when we are all able to visit – and I expect that there will be a couple of open days before formal opening so that the whole community can come along and see what it is that we have created and have a drink and toast with us the opening of the new University in September – I think everybody in Gibraltar will be very, very proud of what it is that we have achieved.

875 I am happy to give way to the hon. Member.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: I am obliged, Mr Speaker.

880 Just following on from the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition’s point – and I just say this to check whether the hon. Members intend this to be the effect or not; it is not a political point – in section 54, the immunity point, I notice that this is drafted... There are other bits of regulatory legislation – for example, the Financial Services Commission Act has a statutory exemption for members of the staff and it is drawn slightly narrower to make it clear... I cannot remember the exact wording but I am almost certain that the language is drawn in terms that the exception, the immunity from suing, extends only to regulatory output. The way this is drafted... for example, except in the case of gross negligence you would not be able to bring a suit under the occupier’s liability for personal injuries or anything like that because it is a complete and blanket immunity for anything. I cannot imagine that that is the intention, but what is there in the language that the hon. Member thinks prevents it from having that effect?

885 I am obliged to him for giving way.

890 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, the language is contained in the clause itself. The last bit of the clause talks about immunity from suit and no action etc shall be brought, and then at the end it says:

‘in respect of an act or omission by any of them which is done or omitted to be done in good faith in the course of the execution of the person’s duties on behalf of the university.’

895 So it is limited to anything that the person does in the course of his duties on behalf of the University and it has to be done in good faith. Then there is an exemption by the next sub-clause, which says it does not apply in the case of gross negligence. So even in the person's execution of his duties on behalf of the University, where the person is guilty of gross negligence or is liable in respect of an act of gross negligence then there is no immunity. But it clearly only applies in the restricted way of the person having 900 to act on behalf of the University in carrying out – (Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Or omission.) or omitting to act on behalf of the University in carrying out the functions and his duties.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: So the hon. Member is satisfied that it would not extend to civil actions which have nothing to do with academic acts or omission, but rather could relate to damage to property, injury to 905 person, failure to have health and safety protocols in place – the sort of things that the operators of a building could easily be sued for? He is satisfied – and if he is, that is fine by me – that this would not go that far?

Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, Mr Speaker, I am satisfied. This is limited to acts or omissions done in the 910 execution of the duty. What is in the execution of a duty is another matter and that would be for the courts.
When somebody acts in a particular way – for example, if someone disregards a particular Act in respect of health and safety, is that person acting in the execution of his duty in omitting to act in pursuance of a statutory duty? – that would be a matter for the courts to determine as a matter of fact, but I am satisfied with the language that this is contained.

915 Mr Speaker, this is an occasion for all of us to be joyful about and I am grateful that this landmark piece of legislation enjoys the support of the whole House, as it should. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to establish the University of Gibraltar and for connected purposes be read a second time.

920 Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The University of Gibraltar Act 2015.

University of Gibraltar Bill 2015 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

Minister for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi):
925 Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of this Bill be taken today if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Fair Trading Bill 2015 – Motion deferred pending republication of amended Bill

930 Clerk: (4) A Bill for an Act to Establish and Provide for the functions of the Office of Fair Trading and the Office of Fair Trading Commission; encourage businesses to comply with consumer law and improve their trading practices; streamline and simplify the Trade Licensing system; establish enforcement powers for the Trade Licensing Authority being part of the Office of Fair Trading in cases of non-adherence by licensees; establish a single point of contact as part of the trade licensing procedure; amend the law relating 935 to the Protection of the collective interests of consumers; enable action to be taken against conduct detrimental to consumers; and for purposes connected therewith.

The Hon. the Minister for Business, Employment, Skills & Training.

Minister for Business, Employment, Skills & Training (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, conscious of 940 our discussions the week before last in respect of the amendments that I proposed to move on the Fair
Trading Bill, and in the light of your advice, I wish to give notice that the Bill will not proceed today.

For the purposes of Hansard and by way of explanation I wish to state the Bill is, for all intents and purposes, ready to proceed and only requires, for the most part, stylistic amendments that are of no substance but that reflect a change to the name of the relevant statutory body where they result in 945 consequential amendments throughout the Bill. In particular, I refer the House to the change of name from Trade Licensing Authority to the Business Licensing Authority and the substitution of the phrase 'trade' with 'carrying on business'. Given that the amendments are numerous as a result of the references in the Bill to the Trade Licensing Authority and to trade, and in accordance with your advice that it is neater to simply proceed to republish the Bill incorporating the amendments, I will accede to your guidance and a new Bill will be published afresh for consideration at a future meeting of the House.

950 To conclude, I wish to add that I have already notified and discussed this with the Opposition spokesman for Commercial Affairs, the Hon. Mr Bossino, across the floor of the House, Mr Speaker. I also wish to thank the hon. Gentleman for his engagement with my office and me on this Bill, and I am sure he will be delighted to learn that of all of his amendments all but one have been accepted.

955 Mr Speaker: I am very grateful to the Hon. Minister.

Financial Services Insurance Companies (Solvency II) Directive Bill 2015 – First Reading approved

Clerk: (5) A Bill for an Act to transpose into the Law of Gibraltar provisions of Directive 2009/138/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council on the taking up and pursuit of the Business of Insurance and Re-Insurance (Solvency II), and the provisions of Directive 2014/51/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council amending Directives 2003/71/EC and 2009/138/EC and Regulations (EC) No 1060/2009, (EU) No 1094/2010 and (EU) No 1095/2010 in respect of the powers of the European Supervisory Authority (European Insurance and Occupational Pensions Authority) and the European Supervisory Authority (European Securities and Markets Authority) and related matters.

The Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming.

965 Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to transpose into the Law of Gibraltar provisions of Directive 2009/138/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council on the taking up and pursuit of the Business of Insurance and Re-Insurance (Solvency II), and provisions of Directive 2014/51/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council amending Directives 2003/71/EC and 2009/138/EC and Regulations (EC) No 1060/2009, (EU) No 1094/2010 and (EU) No 1095/2010 in respect of the powers of the European Supervisory Authority (European Insurance and Occupational Pensions Authority) and the European Supervisory Authority (European Securities and Markets Authority) and related matters be read a first time.

970 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is a veritable tongue-twister, namely that a Bill for an Act to transpose into the Law of Gibraltar provisions of Directive 2009/138/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council on the taking up and pursuit of the Business of Insurance and Re-Insurance (Solvency II), and provisions of Directive 2014/51/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council amending Directives 2003/71/EC and 2009/138/EC and Regulations (EC) No 1060/2009, (EU) No 1094/2010 and (EU) No 1095/2010 in respect of the powers of the European Supervisory Authority (European Insurance and Occupational Pensions Authority) and the European Supervisory Authority (European Securities and Markets Authority) and related matters be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

985 Clerk: The Financial Services Insurance Companies (Solvency II) Directive Act 2015.

Financial Services Insurance Companies (Solvency II) Directive Bill 2015 – Second Reading approved

990 Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill now be read a second time.

The Bill is designed to transpose into the law of Gibraltar the European Union Directive of 2009 known as Solvency II, as has been amended extensively by the 2014 Directive known as Omnibus II. The Directive deals broadly with codifying and harmonising the regulation of the insurance industry within the European Union in general. Most importantly, it deals with the amount of capital that EU insurance companies must hold to reduce the risk of insolvency. In the words of the European Commission, the Solvency II regime introduces for the first time a harmonised, sound and robust prudential framework for insurance firms in the European Union. It is based on the risk profile of each individual insurance company in order to promote comparability, transparency and competitiveness.

1000 The Bill and the Directive introduce economic risk-based solvency requirements for insurance undertakings. The new solvency requirements are designed and intended to be more risk sensitive and more sophisticated than in the past, reflecting the real and actual risks run by each insurer in place of the present more generic approach. Solvency requirements will therefore be more comprehensive than in the past and insurers will now be required to hold capital against market risk, credit risk and operational risk. The new rules also require insurers to disclose more information to the public and are designed to promote greater 1005 co-operation between National Insurance supervisors that oversee the subsidiaries of any given group with a stronger role for the group supervisor overseen by EOPA.

The Bill applies to almost all EU insurers and reinsurers. Only the smallest ones will be exempt and even they can choose to opt in. This is a harmonisation and consumer-protection measure in European Union terms. As the preamble to the original Directive puts it, it is in the interests of the proper functioning 1010 of the internal market that co-ordinated rules be established relating to the supervision of insurance groups and with a view to the protection of creditors to the reorganisation and winding-up of proceedings in respect of insurance undertakings.

As a transposition measure the Bill is required to follow the provisions of the Directive and to transpose them into the laws of Gibraltar. As a result the Bill is one of the longest, disregarding consolidation Bills, to 1015 be brought before our Parliament.

After a series of many delays over the years, the backstop date for commencement of the Directive is 1st January 2016, and that is therefore the default date for commencement of the Bill.

The Bill deals with the following main topics, following the order of the Directive as amended.

1020 Part 1 sets out the general rules on the taking up and pursuit of direct insurance and reinsurance activities.

Part 2 contains specific provisions for insurance and reinsurance.

Part 3 deals with group undertakings.

Part 4 sets out the rules about the reorganisation and winding up of insurance undertakings.

1025 Although the Bill is itself far from short, it is important to note that much of it is enabling and will be supplemented by yet further implementing rules to be made by the European Commission. In many areas those rules will set out more detailed requirements for individual insurance undertakings as well as for groups.

Finally, it may be helpful to note that the European Commission expects to review the solvency capital requirement by the end of 2018 and to report by the end of 2020 on the functioning and stability of 1030 European insurance markets and other high-level impacts, including the availability and pricing of long-term insurance products, and that these may give rise to the need for further legislation.

Mr Speaker, I commend the Bill to the House.

1035 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of this Bill?

I now put the question in the terms of the Bill moved by the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services and Gaming and which I read out fully (Laughter) at First Reading, and therefore I ask hon. Members to agree that it has been read. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

1040 Clerk: The Financial Services Insurance Companies (Solvency II) Directive Act 2015.

Financial Services Insurance Companies (Solvency II) Directive Bill 2015 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting 1045 Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

1055

Clerk: Committee Stage and Third Reading.
The Hon. the Chief Minister.

1060

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the House should resolve itself into Committee to consider the following Bills clause by clause: the Referendum Bill 2015; the Electronic Commerce (Amendment) Bill 2015; the University of Gibraltar Bill 2015; and the Financial Services Insurance Companies (Solvency II) Directive Bill 2015.

1065

Mr Speaker: Does the Hon. the Chief Minister wish to recess now, or are we continuing?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I would propose that we continue through the Committee Stage, which I anticipate is not going to be long, and then adjourn.

In Committee of the whole Parliament

Referendum Bill 2015 –
Clauses considered and approved

1070

Clerk: (1) A Bill for an Act to govern the organisational and administrative and procedural matters associated with the holding of referenda in Gibraltar.

Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Chairman, it is here that I was given notice of an amendment after clause 83 to introduce a new clause 84, of which notice was given last week and, I understand, circulated to Members, which reads:

1115

‘Part 11
Referendum Result to stand’

– and then –

1120

‘Referendum result to stand
84. Where a result has been declared in the referendum conducted in accordance with this Act that result should be recognised and as the circumstances may require be given effect to until the result of a subsequent referendum requires otherwise.’

1125

Mr Chairman: Does any hon. Member wish to speak on the Chief Minister’s amendment?
I will then put it to the vote. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried. (Interjection)

1130

Hon. Chief Minister: I am sorry, it is a deletion, the hon. Member is right, because I have given written notice only of the new clause 84.

Mr Speaker, what I propose to do – and I will follow up with written notice if Mr Speaker will allow me – is to propose the deletion of sub-paragraph (a) in clause 3, so that sub-paragraph (b) no longer needs to be numbered (b) and it all reads as one sentence, as we indicated at the second reading, and I will give the Clerk written notice so he has it for his notes.

Mr Chairman: I will put that amendment to the vote. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Clause 3, I think it is, as amended, stands part of the Bill.

I will now put clause 84. All in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Clause 84 stands part of the Bill.

1165

Minister for Education and Justice & International Exchange of Information (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Chairman, there is one additional amendment. I have it in writing.

1170 Mr Chairman: Which clause?

Hon. G H Licudi: It is clause 23(1).

Clerk: Clause 22 as amended.

Mr Chairman: Stands part of the Bill.

1255 Clerk: Clause 23.

Hon. G H Licudi: Yes. Mr Chairman, a proposed amendment is being distributed to deal with the point of the Hon. Sir Peter Caruana. The amendment is to the power to remove a member of the board.

1260 I am not sure whether all hon. Members have copies.

Mr Chairman: We are going to proceed with all the other clauses and will –

Hon. G H Licudi: I understand we are ready now.

1265 There are a couple of amendments to the letter itself, which we have just done in a moment and passed over. It should say I propose to move the following amendments to the University of Gibraltar Bill 2015 rather than Act and then namely to remove the existing clause rather than section 23 and in place thereof include the new clause 23 in its place.

1270 Where there is a reference in the proposed new clause to the board of governors I propose that that should be amended and be replaced simply by a reference to the board, with a small ‘b’, because that is a defined term in the Bill. So whenever it says ‘of the board of governors’ it should simply say ‘of the board’, with a small ‘b’.

For some reason, in the letter that has been circulated there is a number – 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 – beside (a), (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f), which should not be there, and I say it to assist the Clerk. And then, at the end, 1275 where it says ‘as a member of the board to be vacant and thereupon such office shall become vacant’ I would propose that we put a full stop there and remove the reference to publication in the Gazette, because there is no need under this particular Bill for any publication in the Gazette in the first place, so let us just remove those last words.

1280 Mr Speaker: Are hon. Members in agreement with those minor amendments? (Members: Aye.) They stand part of the Bill.

We now go back to clause 23. All those in favour of the amendment moved by the Minister for Education. (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clause 23 as amended stands part of the Bill.

1285

Clerk: Clause 24 as amended.

Mr Chairman: Stands part of the Bill.

1290

Clerk: Clauses 25 to 27.

Mr Chairman: Stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clause 28 as amended.

Mr Chairman: Stands part of the Bill.

1300 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Chairman, could I just follow up on something that the hon. Member... [Inaudible] If this is not a company but a statutory body – do you want me to start again? – but a statutory body, and no public notice of appointments needs to be given, how do people know who are, from time to time, directors, or members of the board, sorry, of the University? It just struck me when I heard him say... [Inaudible].

1305 Hon. G H Licudi: Again, Mr Speaker, I would expect that notice of the board be part of the website of the University. The University will have a website; it should have a provision on who the board members will be and once the board is constituted there should be a provision made in the website to give public notice of the members of the board.

1310 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Yes, I think I have had the thought a little bit too late to expect the hon. Member to act on this as well, but given that these are people who enjoy statutory immunity from suit perhaps ought to be more formally gazetted. People who have statutory immunity from civil action cannot be just website appointees. But anyway, if it is a problem at some future date perhaps it can be fixed at some future date.

1315 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Can we give consideration to that valid point, Mr Speaker, because what we do not want to do, when we are talking about a very independent body, is actually create the nexus that the Government is going to gazette names etc.

1320 I think the hon. Gentleman is right to suggest that perhaps there needs to be something beyond just the fact that their names will be on the website – they will probably be on a board at the University and all the rest of it – but that there should be some other public reflection of appointment in a way and perhaps directing the chancellor or the vice-chancellor to make a public notice in some way, announcing it in a local newspaper, and elsewhere if necessary but not necessarily the Gazette, or directing the chancellor to put it in the Gazette but not the Government, for example. So if we could consider that, perhaps we can come up with a better solution.

BILLS FOR THIRD READING

Referendum Bill 2015;
Electronic Commerce (Amendment) Bill 2015;
University of Gibraltar Bill 2015; and
Financial Services Insurance Companies (Solvency II) Directive Bill 2015 –
Third Readings approved: Bills passed

1565 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Chairman, I have the honour to report that the Referendum Bill 2015, the Electronic Commerce (Amendment) Bill 2015, the University of Gibraltar Bill 2015 and the Financial Services Insurance Companies (Solvency II) Directive Bill 2015 have been considered in Committee and agreed to with amendments and I now move that they be read a third time and passed.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that the Referendum Bill 2015, the Electronic Commerce (Amendment) Bill 2015, the University of Gibraltar Bill 2015 and the Financial Services Insurance Companies (Solvency II) Directive Bill 2015 be read a third time and passed.

1570 Since there has been no indication of the Opposition being against any of the Bills, I do not think there is any need to vote for them individually, so I now propose that they be read a third time and passed. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Silence held in respect of deceased family found at Boschetti's Steps 1575 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. the backbencher has got the attention of the Minister for Education and made a suggestion to me, which I confess I am going to accept and I have discussed the issue with the Leader of the Opposition and he and I are entirely in agreement and of one mind.

1580 Today we know that four bodies have been found where apparently life has been extinguished in violent circumstances, and it would be improper to say more but the bodies are four British citizens and two of them are children, apparently of a very very young age indeed. Therefore, Mr Speaker, I think we all agree across the floor of the House that, given those circumstances – which are, thank God, unusual in Gibraltar; indeed, an absolute and utter aberration – today is not a day for us to be playing political gladiatorial games in the motions that we were about to consider.

1585 I am therefore going to move, first of all, that we have a minute's silence as a result of this tragic finding; and second, that we do not proceed today into Government and Opposition motions but that we adjourn until Wednesday at 5.00 p.m. to deal with those issues then. I now move therefore that we hold a minute's silence.

There was a minute's silence.

ADJOURNMENT

1590 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, too often people think of parliaments as places where there is huge political conflict, and often it is right that there should be; but today, those who have tuned in to watch conflict and that type of exchange have seen this Parliament do perhaps what it does best, which is with both sides co-operating to produce better legislation for our people.

1595 I now move that on that note we adjourn until Wednesday at 5.00 p.m. to deal with Government and Opposition motions.

Mr Speaker: I now propose the question which is that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, 1st April at 5.00 p.m. I now put the question which is that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, 1st April at 5.00 p.m. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

The House will now adjourn until Wednesday, 1st April at 5.00 p.m.

The House adjourned at 5.35p.m.

The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 5.00 p.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. A J Canepa GMH OBE in the Chair]

[CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: P E Martinez Esq in attendance]

Tribute to the late Solomon Seruya

Clerk: Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: The House is going to hold a minute's silence as a tribute to the late Solomon Seruya, who, of course, graced this Chamber with his eloquence for very many years.

Members stood in silence.

Mr Speaker: Chief Minister.

10

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, people may ask themselves why it is that we held a minute's silence that might be beyond just the fact that Solomon Seruya had been a member of the predecessor of this Parliament. He was, of course, a Member of the House in the 1960s, but he was much more than that. He is also the Father of the Alameda Open Air Theatre, the Patron of the development of the Piazza. He became a Consul of the great state of Israel and President of the Chamber of Commerce when he returned to Gibraltar. A great Gibraltarian entrepreneur, a friend to all, whether or not he might have agreed with you politically – therein lies a lesson for many of us.

15

But, Mr Speaker, apart from all of those, Solomon Seruya is also in my mind to be remembered for another reason. He was the first person, I believe, who spoke out, either in this House or outside it, suggesting that in order to properly promote the tourist product in Gibraltar, and in particular those who might want to visit us from Spain, there should be on the eastern side of Gibraltar a marina so that people who wanted to come in their yachts to see the Rock or to shop on the Rock did not have to go round the Europa Point, which might get a little rough even on days when either the Bay of Gibraltar or the Mediterranean might look calm.

20

Mr Speaker, the Government expects that it will be possible for us to develop out the East Side reclamation into an area of housing and of general public amenity and that in that development, in common with the views of the previous Administration and the Administration before that... the GSLP Administration that started that reclamation – that there should be a marina in that area which will fulfil the vision originally put in Gibraltar by Solomon Seruya.

25

And I trust that by acclamation in this House, without needing for one moment to put this to a vote, the House will agree that on that East Side development there should be a fitting tribute, perhaps a road or some other fitting tribute named after our friend Sol.

30

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

35

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I say without hesitation that I associate myself entirely with the words of the Chief Minister. He has used the words 'our friend' and indeed he was a friend to many of us. I think that his suggestion of having or naming a street or something else after Sol is a fitting tribute indeed and one that will enjoy the wholehearted support of this House.

40

Mr Speaker, I have very fond personal memories of Sol Seruya. I remember, Mr Speaker, in 2000 giving a speech in the Casino Calpe, where he was present, and then going afterwards to Sol and saying, 'Sol, how did you think that I did?' and he said to me "No eres 'El Juli' pero eres novillero de carta". That is what he said to me and it will always stay in my mind. Those comments will always stay with me, putting me in my place, but at the same time some encouragement for the future. That, I think, was Sol and we always had a laugh when I used to remind him about what he said to me on that evening 15 years ago.

45 But, Mr Speaker, I think we must not also forget that Sol was one of those politicians who stood for something. Throughout his career, indeed throughout his entire life, he advocated dialogue with Spain and he advocated good relations with Spain whatever the political climate may have been. Whether the people of Gibraltar at that stage, the political climate was such that they may have been receptive or non-receptive to that message, Sol Seruya was one of those individuals who was a conviction politician, a conviction individual and he always stuck to that message.

50 So, Mr Speaker, on behalf of the Opposition I have no hesitation in paying Mr Seruya the highest possible tribute. (Banging on desks)

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, associating myself with the words of both the Hon. the Chief Minister and the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition, may I really – harking back to my days in my previous job – add my own words of tribute to Sol?

Sol was not a person that you could always agree with, if for no other reason than his thinking was always so much more brave and so much more advanced, in the sense of vision, than certainly where public opinion was and probably where the political representatives of that public opinion were as well, and therefore it was sometimes not possible to agree with him.

60 Nevertheless I can tell this House that throughout my 16 years as Chief Minister I often sought and often heeded Sol's advice, not just on matters of commercial policy, but importantly on matters of foreign policy, in terms of the handling of Gibraltar's relations with the United Kingdom and with Spain. I very frequently sought that advice. He always gave it with clarity of thought, even when he knew I might not agree with it and even when he knew that I might have difficulty implementing his advice. He was throughout all my years as Chief Minister a frequent source of advice and influence.

70 And as the Leader of the Opposition said, he was always brave in his public statements of opinion, even when his views did not chime with the popular or the safely consensually held views of the majority of Gibraltarians, Sol almost always to his vision of what was in Gibraltar's short, medium and long-term interests – never shied from expressing views that he thought and knew would not be popular. I think that is a mark of a brave and opinion-forming citizen and I think that would be, probably in terms of his public life, what he will be rightly most remembered for.

75 I think Sol was a great Gibraltarian. He was a great Gibraltarian businessman. He was a great Gibraltarian politician. He was a great Gibraltarian citizen. He was a great Gibraltarian opinion former, and of course very often one has to wait until after one has passed, hopefully to better places, before all these things are recognised and said of you and I think it is right that that should be so. But for all his contributions to so many aspects of life in Gibraltar, I think it is right that this House is today recognising Sol in this way and from my seat here in Parliament I would extend publicly my sincere condolences to his daughter and the other remaining members of his family. (Banging on desks)

80 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, it is clear that the House is unanimous in the view that there should be a tribute to Solomon Seruya on the East Side and to take from the Letters pages of the Chronicle many years ago from his old 'compinche' a phrase that stuck in my mind when he left the Presidency of the Chamber of Commerce. 'Se va el Sol, pero, we will always remember him on the East Side where he had the vision to think there should be a marina.'

Order of the Day

Statements by Hon. Daniel Feetham – Misleading the House – Motion carried/lost

Clerk: Government business, Government motions, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, speaking of bullfighting, I have the honour to move that the motion standing in my name, which reads as follows:

90

'This House notes:

*Statements by the Hon. Daniel Feetham at the beginning of the House for questions on Thursday 19th March 2015 on the Sunborn floating hotel that he was not aware that the law firm of which he is a partner, Hassans, were solicitors for the operators of the Sunborn floating hotel; and
The content of exchanges in press releases in the past which disclosed that fact explicitly, namely Government Press Releases 483, 487 and 536 of 2013;
AND THEREFORE considers that Mr Feetham clearly misled the House when he stated that he was not aware that the law firm of which he is a partner, namely Hassans, were solicitors for the operators of the Sunborn floating hotel.'*

Mr Speaker, I gave notice of this motion at the time of the Question Time to which I refer in it. There was a heated exchange in this Parliament on the subject and hon. Members will know that during the course of that I disclosed that I was also a partner on sabbatical of that firm, Mr Speaker, and referred to these press releases.

Mr Speaker, I invited the hon. Gentleman at the time when I disclosed to him that the press releases referred him and the general public to the fact that Hassans were the solicitors for the Sunborn floating hotel, that there was no question therefore that he could not know that his firm represented this particular counter party in respect of the borrowing from Credit Finance Company Ltd. I told him, Mr Speaker, that if he simply told us that he had forgotten or that he had spoken in haste, I would be quite happy not to proceed to bring a motion and he did not take my invitation at the time. If he were to ask me to give way and say any of those things, I would happily withdraw the motion, but he does not, Mr Speaker. Therefore, I want to proceed with this motion on the basis, Mr Speaker, that what we have set out in it is absolutely and abundantly clear.

Mr Speaker, let us look at the terms of the press releases that are referred to in the text of this motion. Mr Speaker, Press Release 483/2013 makes clear that the Sunborn floating hotel, which was the subject then being debated in Parliament in 2013, was an issue that Mr Feetham should declare an interest in, because his firm were representing them. In fact, in the quote attributed to me in that press release, the press release reads as follows:

'I am happy to confirm that the position is exactly as I have previously set out in Parliament. There is nothing whatsoever to clarify.'

In fact if Mr Feetham is so concerned about the fantastic five star Sunborn Hotel, perhaps he should note that the firm that represents them is Hassans, of which he is a partner. The public may find that surprising, given how negative Mr Feetham seems to be about his own client's project, to bring – it has now brought, Mr Speaker – this fantastic five star hotel to Gibraltar.

Press release 487/2013, Mr Speaker, again sets that out explicitly, Mr Speaker. The press release reads in its fifth paragraph, as follows:

'What is entirely ridiculous, however, is Mr Feetham's suggestion that Mr Picardo's reference to the fact that the Sunborn is a client of Hassans is somehow an attempt to put pressure on him.'

In fact, Mr Speaker, it then goes on to talk about instances where I was the subject or the butt of criticism in this House by the former Leader of the House, when matters related to Hassans were debated in this House.

Finally, Mr Speaker, although there are many other such press releases and exchanges, press release 536/2013 also explicitly makes a reference to Hassans. In the second paragraph in the third sentence, it reads as follows:

'In fact the status of the Savings Bank, which is not a credit institution in EU law, is based on advice given to the GSD when they were in Government in the late 1990s by his own law firm, Hassans.'

This again, and the reference to 'again' is the reference to the fact that the reference had been made in previous press releases in relation to the Sunborn creates professional issues of conflict for Mr Feetham and his firm. And, Mr Speaker, there I gave notice that I was going to move a motion demonstrating that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition had misled the Parliament then, something which I did not do, Mr Speaker, because frankly I did not want to put the Parliament to the time of having to deal with these issues. But now that Mr Feetham once again misleads the Parliament, I believe it is important to correct the record.

Mr Speaker, it is therefore abundantly clear when the hon. Member said that he did not know that Hassans represented the Sunborn floating hotel that he was in fact misleading the House. Mr Speaker, the 145 first supplementary that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition took when he was asking me the questions that led to this exchange was a question that dealt with the issue of the Certificate of Fitness, and the questions that he asked, Mr Speaker, in particular Questions 271... in fact Questions 270, 271 and 272 all relate to the issue of the borrowings of the Sunborn floating hotel and they were all being taken together.

150 Mr Speaker, when I alerted the hon. Member to the fact that Hassans were the solicitors for the Sunborn, he told me that I knew more about the business of Hassans than he did and all the rest of it. He said some quite scandalous things during the course of those exchanges about what he felt about and what he cared about the clients of Hassans. He told me that he would take my word for the fact that Hassans are somehow involved with the Sunborn floating hotel to the extent that it is so. He then said that he had no problem declaring that interest, but, Mr Speaker, he did not accept that he had known this. He then went on to say that he did not know perhaps that Hassans were acting in relation to those matters. Well, Mr Speaker, 155 those matters could only have been a reference to Questions, 270, 271 and 272 and 266, 267, 268 and 269, and therefore, Mr Speaker, he cannot pretend not to have known that the subject on which he was asking questions included the very subject which had caused the press releases to be issued in 2013 and that therefore, Mr Speaker, he certainly did know that Hassans were acting on behalf of the Sunborn.

160 He said in particular this phrase, Mr Speaker:

‘He appears to know more about the business of Hassans than I do. I was certainly not aware that Hassans had been advising the Sunborn floating hotel in relation to these particular issues if that is what he is suggesting.’

165 But, Mr Speaker, it is very clear that the issues that he was dealing with include the issues of the loans which he was trying to seek more information on, information, Mr Speaker that the Government has already made its position very clear about.

And so, Mr Speaker, I invite the House to support the Government motion and find that Mr Feetham misled the House.

170 Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, so many motions, Mr Speaker, and just for me.

175 Mr Speaker, anyone listening to these debates would be forgiven for thinking that the hon. Gentleman has got it in for me. Indeed, Mr Speaker, on Saturday morning walking down Main Street, a lady came up to me and said, ‘Good luck, Mr Feetham, on your debate on the three motions on Monday. That Mr Picardo doesn’t seem to like you very much, does he?’ I said, ‘Nonsense. It is a love-hate relationship’. (Interjection) Exactly, and then I remembered the hon. Gentleman’s words to my wife when she made a similar statement to him. The love is yet to come, Mr Speaker. That was the statement that he made.

180 Mr Speaker, it certainly was not a statement of intent as to any future platonic relationship between the hon. Gentleman and myself, Mr Speaker. And for the avoidance of any doubt, Mr Speaker, it certainly was not a statement of intent as to any sort of civil partnership between us in the future. I thought that I might get that one in, Mr Speaker, now that the rainbow flag flies so proudly over No.6 Convent Place. Rightly, I should say, because of course on this side of the House we are very much in favour of equality too, Mr Speaker.

185 But, Mr Speaker, it was meant in the sense of ‘ni el microfono te traga’ which were the words that he uttered to me across the floor of the House from a sedentary position, because my microphone broke down during a Question and Answer session about a week and a half ago and it is very sad, Mr Speaker. It is sad. It is sad, Mr Speaker, because the hon. Gentleman does not appear to be able to break away from the sterile politics of the personal and the personalised, Mr Speaker. (A Member: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks)

190 It is sad, Mr Speaker, because this motion, as indeed the next motion, is a blatant attempt to drown the Dr Giraldi motion in a sea of news, Mr Speaker, and for that motion to be heard at eight o’clock tonight, because of course it is going to take some time for us to deal with his two motions. Mr Speaker, it is sad because it takes the ground from underneath, Mr Speaker, who on many occasions in this House has said to both sides of the House, and certainly the Opposition, that we ought to debate important issues of the day. If 195 we are going to be met with this kind of filibustering tactic when we present a motion on the Dr Giraldi Home... as important, Mr Speaker, as the Dr Giraldi Home is going to be met with these kind of tactics to be drowned in a sea of news and to be heard as late as possible so that people are not tuned in and do not listen to the debate, well, Mr Speaker, it is just not worth the Opposition’s while to bring any kind of motion to just be debating it as between Government and Opposition without anybody listening to the 200 debate.

It is sad, Mr Speaker, because it places the firm, of which we are both partners, Mr Speaker – sabbatical or no sabbatical – the firm of which I derive a substantial financial benefit and he derives a substantial financial benefit in the eye of the storm, Mr Speaker, and that is his doing, not mine, Mr Speaker. It is sad, Mr Speaker, because I see the faces of good friends across the floor of this House, who are now going to be 205 forced to vote in favour of an abusive – as I will demonstrate in a moment – abusive motion, simply because of collective Cabinet responsibility and because this is a Government motion, Mr Speaker.

It is a motion that is misleading the House, Mr Speaker, and not what I said on the 19th March, because it attributes to me words which I simply did not utter or were not reasonably capable of being interpreted as the mover of the motion suggests. It is an abusive motion and it is says, Mr Speaker, I am sorry to say, more 210 about the mover of the motion than it does about me.

Mr Speaker, the motion says and I quote:

215 ‘Mr Feetham clearly misled the House when he stated that he was not aware that the law firm of which he is a partner, Hassans, were solicitors for the operators of the Sunborn floating hotel.’

Well, let us see, Mr Speaker, what in fact I did say and how it was in fact interpreted by reporters who were present during those exchanges.

Mr Speaker, the starting point – and this must be the starting point because this is the context in which this all took place – was my first supplementary. Mr Speaker, I quote:

220 ‘Starting with a question of a Certificate of Fitness, Mr Speaker, does the Government feel comfortable with a situation where the Sunborn floating Hotel does not have a Certificate of Fitness here in Gibraltar? My understanding of the position is that any hotel in Gibraltar would need to have a Certificate of Fitness and presumably the reason why this particular hotel does not have a Certificate of Fitness is because it falls
225 between two stools. In other words, it falls between regulations pertaining to hotels and regulations pertaining to ships. I then continue.

He then comes back to me and he says, and I quote:

230 ‘Mr Speaker, before I answer, can I invite the hon. Gentleman to declare his interest in respect of those questions?’

I am going to return to that in due course, Mr Speaker, because it was a wholly misconceived statement for the hon. Gentleman to make. Unsupported, either by the Rules of this House or by Erskine May. I said:

235 ‘Mr Speaker, I am certainly not the owner of the hotel and so I am not sure what interest he wants me to declare.’

He came back to me, and he said:

240 ‘Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman is a partner in the law firm that advises the Sunborn floating hotel. As I understand it, given previous rulings, it is incumbent upon him to declare his interest in that respect.’

– and then he continued.

Then I said:

245 ‘Mr Speaker, he appears to know more about the business of Hassans than I do. I have to say that is the reality. He appears to know more about the business of Hassans than I do. I certainly was not aware that Hassans had been advising the Sunborn floating hotel in relation to these particular issues...’

– Mr Speaker, we are talking about the Certificate of Fitness – That is what we are talking about.

250 ‘If that is what he is suggesting...But to the extent that I must accept the hon. Gentleman’s word for it, that Hassans are somehow involved with the Sunborn floating hotel, to the extent that that is so, Mr Speaker, I have no problem in declaring that is so, accepting his word for it that Hassans are acting on behalf of the Sunborn floating hotel...’

– and then he comes back to me.

He could never have misunderstood what I said to him, that it was wider than that, because he came back to me and he said this:

255 ‘Well, Mr Speaker, it is not that I know more about the business of Hassans than he did, it is that lawyers from Hassans come to see me about the Sunborn floating hotel and they appear to have advised that the Sunborn floating hotel does not need to apply for a Certificate of Fitness. It may be that, given everything he said, he takes issue with the views expressed by some of the partners and associates working in his firm.’

260 Well, Mr Speaker, just pausing there, I thought that was a scandalous statement for him to make because if a firm of solicitors goes to the Chief Minister of Gibraltar and they say, ‘We have received this particular advice’, surely that advice is privileged advice and he should not be disclosing it in this House. But, of course, he has no respect for the principle of privilege because what he is doing is... he does not waste a single opportunity to try and get a political point in.

265 What is obvious, Mr Speaker, is that he did not misunderstand what I had said about what I did or what I did not know, Mr Speaker, and of course the reality is that Hassans is a firm with many, many lawyers. It has nearly 300 employees. How on earth is the Leader of the Opposition, or indeed any other lawyer in Hassans, going to know or must know what every single lawyer in Hassans advises or does not advise? Indeed, it is a step back from that, Mr Speaker. How on earth do I know that the Sunborn floating hotel has 270 gone to Hassans to seek advice on a Certificate of Fitness, because it came as a complete surprise to me, Mr Speaker?

And I said:

275 'No, Mr Speaker. I do not take issue with the advice provided by any lawyer. I am asking the Government questions because they are accountable at the end of the day to this House and to the people of Gibraltar. I am the Leader of the Opposition. I also happen to be a partner in Hassans. But the fact that somebody from within Hassans, which is a massive organisation, has been advising the Sunborn [floating hotel] is neither here nor there. I am asking the Hon. the Chief Minister whether he, as the Head of the Government, feels comfortable with a situation where you have a hotel which does not appear to have a Certificate of Fitness. That is all I am asking. Now surely that is capable of a very simple answer.'

280 And then he came back to me again, upset at the fact that the hon. the backbencher had presented a motion or had made this particular point on the voting of a Bill when he was on this side of the House and we were on that side. Indeed, I recall it well, Mr Speaker, because I stood as Minister for Justice, a Member of the Government, and I too declared my interest at the time, Mr Speaker.

285 Then I said:

'Mr Speaker, I do not care what advice – I am not here in my capacity as a lawyer – what advice has been provided by Hassans, nor was I aware that Hassans had advised the Government in relation to this particular issue or advised anybody else about this particular issue.'

290 Again, Mr Speaker, he could not have been misled by that.

And indeed, at the end of this exchange, I said to him as well when he said that he was going to bring a motion that I had misled the House, I said:

295 'The issue of Hassans acting on behalf of the Sunborn floating hotel has arisen in relation to the question of the Certificate of Fitness. I have absolutely no clue about Hassans acting in respect of the Certificate of Fitness and advising the Government or anybody else as to whether a Certificate of Fitness was necessary in this particular case, but that is irrelevant. He brings whatever motion he wants to bring and I will meet it head on.'

300 That is what I said to him and for him to suggest that I had meant something else is a gross misrepresentation, Mr Speaker, of what I said and what I meant, which he must have understood very clearly, because certainly, Brian Reyes, the reporter from the Chronicle understood it as I have outlined in my own speech because he said this in the Chronicle of 20th March 2015, and I quote:

305 'As the two men hit back and forth on this issue, Mr Feetham insisted that he had no knowledge that Hassans had advised the Sunborn on the issues of the Certificate of Fitness and that this was irrelevant to his line of questioning.'

That is how Mr Reyes, Mr Speaker, the correspondent for the Chronicle understood what I had said.

310 Mr Speaker, the reality of this particular motion is that this is part of an ongoing campaign by the Hon. the Chief Minister in particular, to make my life within Hassans as difficult as possible – that is the reality. That is the transparent reality of what is going on here, because he has raised the issue of Hassans every single time I ask questions about Credit Finance, every single time I ask questions about the Gibraltar Savings Bank and every time that I ask questions about the Sunborn, Mr Speaker. It is part of a tried and tested modus operandi on the part of the GSLP going back years. They did it with – (Interjection by the 315 Hon. Chief Minister) My Father, Mr Speaker, has nothing to do with it. If he wants to make a comment about my Father, let him make it to the microphone so that the entirety of the electorate in Gibraltar can hear that he stoops as low as mentioning my father in debates. My father is not here to defend himself, Mr Speaker. I am and that is precisely what I am doing.

320 So whilst I am on my feet, Mr Speaker, he will listen to what I have to say, however unpalatable my words may be to him. (Interjection by the Hon Chief Minister) They did it to Peter Montegriffo Mr Speaker. They did it to Peter Montegriffo in 1990 and 1991, with the then clients of Hassans, and it ultimately caused him to leave politics and cause a by-election. They did it to the hon. the backbencher, Peter Caruana, as he then was, in relation to the Spanish pensions and Triay advising Spanish pensioners and they are now trying to do it to me, Mr Speaker. That is the transparent political ploy that lies at the heart of this particular 325 motion.

I want the hon. Gentlemen, Mr Speaker, and anyone who forms part of his small cabal trying to apply political pressure on me using my partnership in Hassans to understand this. I have every faith, Mr Speaker, in my senior partners that they will not be influenced one jot by his games and by his attempts to pit them 330 against me, because at the end of the day, Mr Speaker, Hassans has a very long and distinguished tradition of producing lawyers that ultimately end up in public service and in politics.

In any event, if I am ever made, because of the pressure that he may exert, to choose between my partnership of Hassans and my service to the people of Gibraltar, the people of Gibraltar win every single day of the week, Mr Speaker. (Banging on desks) I will discharge my role as Leader of the Opposition fearlessly, Mr Speaker, so that kind of pressure will fail on both grounds.

335 But, Mr Speaker, there is also an immense hypocrisy in all this and the constant retort by the hon. Gentleman, ‘Ask your client’, every time I ask a question about the Sunborn or the Gibraltar Savings Bank or Credit Finance. He is a partner of Hassans, Mr Speaker. He says that he is on a sabbatical, but he continues to be a partner of Hassans and he continues to derive substantial financial benefits from Hassans, Mr Speaker.

340 Mr Speaker, if the Sunborn are clients of mine, they are clients of his and he has as much of an obligation to declare any interests as I do, Mr Speaker. On this particular occasion, on the Certificate of Fitness, he knew that Hassans had advised on the Certificate of Fitness and I did not, Mr Speaker. Well, should he not have allowed someone else to answer the question? Should he not have declared his interest before he stood up and answered the question?

345 I have absolutely no influence, Mr Speaker, on the Government at all except it appears in the propensity to rile the hon. Gentleman into bringing absurd motions; therefore any conflict of interest on my side pales into absolute insignificance in relation to any conflict of interest on his side, Mr Speaker. I may be a partner of Hassans and Hassans may have acted for the Sunborn, but I did not bring the Sunborn to Gibraltar, he did and he is a partner of Hassans as well. Mr Speaker, the absurdity of this particular point about conflicts of interest really is absolutely astonishing. Mr Speaker, it is also misconceived, as I am going to demonstrate to the Hon. the Chief Minister now.

350 Mr Speaker, Standing Orders in relation to this question of conflict of interest, the relevant Standing Order is 53(7), and 53(7) says:

355 ‘Where a member has a direct personal pecuniary interest on any subject, he shall declare that interest and shall not vote on the Question, but a motion to disallow a member’s vote on this ground shall be made only as soon as the numbers of Members voting on the Question have been declared. If the motion for the disallowance of a Member’s vote shall be agreed to, the Speaker or in Committee the Chairman, shall direct the Clerk to correct the numbers voting in the division accordingly.’

– and then it continues.

360 Mr Speaker, this Standing Order deals with voting on Bills or on motions – that is what it is addressed to. It is not addressed to Questions and Answers. Now, of course, we then go to Erskine May, and may I, for the benefit of the Chief Minister, pass a copy of the relevant passage of Erskine May so that he can follow my point as well?

365 Mr Speaker, page 76 of Erskine May, and I think my colleagues have extracts too. Mr Speaker, the third line:

370 ‘The House has two distinct but related methods of the disclosure of the personal financial interest of its Members: registration of interest in a register which is publicly available and declaration of interest in the course of debate in the House and in other context.’

The main purpose of the register is to give public notification on a continuous basis of those financial interests held by Members which might be thought to influence their Parliamentary conduct or actions.

The main purpose of the declaration in debates is to ensure that fellow Members of the House and the public are made aware at the appropriate time when a Member is participating in the proceedings of the House, of any past, present or expected future financial interest which might reasonably be thought to be relevant in those proceedings.’

375 – and the issue is relevance.

Indeed, when you turn to the third page, it is page 80, Declaration of Interest in Debate, the second paragraph, it says this:

380 ‘It is the responsibility of the Member, having regard to the Rules of the House, to judge whether a financial interest is sufficiently relevant to require a declaration. The basic test of relevance is similar to that for registration, that a financial interest should be declared if it might reasonably be thought by others to influence the Member’s speech.’

385 In other words, it is only relevant if it would influence what I say, Mr Speaker. It is quite the reverse... and indeed the criticism from the hon. Gentleman is that I have no regard to the clients of Hassans. Indeed, he has made that point in his speech today. Mr Speaker, I am the one that is saying I do not agree with the incorporation of Credit Finance. I am the one that is saying I do not agree with the use of the Gibraltar Savings Bank in the manner that the Government is using the Gibraltar Savings Bank and I am the person that is saying that I would not have lent the money to the Sunborn or indeed I was questioning the Certificate of Fitness. Well, Mr Speaker, how on earth that could be relevant to anything that I might say in this House, I just really do not know. But it does affect him, Mr Speaker, because he is the Chief Minister of Gibraltar. He has a pecuniary interest and he is the man in the hot seat making the decisions and potentially making decisions that influence favourably or otherwise the clients of Hassans. Well, I have no influence, Mr Speaker. It is utterly misconceived, Mr Speaker, for him to talk to me about declarations of interest and me not declaring interest the way that he does at every single opportunity.

395 But, Mr Speaker, now that I have dealt with some of the balls that he has served in my direction, may I also serve him a couple of volleys with a little bit of top spin too? Mr Speaker, the context of this motion is the Sunborn with its obvious connections to Credit Finance – indeed, he has introduced Credit Finance – and the Gibraltar Savings Bank... and it is an utter hypocrisy, Mr Speaker, to be talking about me misleading the House when the way that he answers questions about the Gibraltar Savings Bank, Credit
400 Finance and the Sunborn is at the root of all the issues between him and me about the lack of transparency and the opaqueness of this Government in the management of Gibraltar’s public finances, of which this is clearly a part.

Mr Speaker, the starting point is March 2012 and the Bill the Chief Minister brought to this House in order to amend the Gibraltar Savings Bank, and he may recall that what he did in that amendment in March 405 2012 was delete the requirement of the Gibraltar Savings Bank, invest in cash or cash equivalents – in other words, it went in March of 2012 from a position that the Gibraltar Savings Bank could only invest in very solid safe forms of investment to investing in anything under the sun. They could do anything because of that amendment.

Mr Speaker, in November of 2012, eight months later, in a supplementary question to Questions 1001
410 and 1002, the Chief Minister was asked whether, and I quote:

‘The Chief Minister is able to confirm that the money represented by the issue of debentures by the Gibraltar Savings Bank is held in cash or near cash by the Savings Bank?’

– and that was the question that he was asked.

415 The answer from the Chief Minister was, and I quote:

‘Mr Speaker, that is what the Gibraltar Savings Bank Act provides’

– that is what he said –

420 ‘that investments must be held in. So unless somebody is in breach of the Gibraltar Savings Bank Act, then yes, I can confirm that.’

Later, he repeated:

425 ‘As far as I understand it, all investments of the Bank are in cash or near cash, which is what the Savings Bank Act requires.’

Well, Mr Speaker, he obviously did not understand it, because eight months previously he had come to this House to actually move an amendment to delete the requirement that investments in the Gibraltar Savings Bank had to be in cash or near cash equivalents And, of course, that then allowed the Government, 430 Mr Speaker, on 17th February 2013 to incorporate Credit Finance Company Ltd with a registered address at No.6 Convent Place and invest £303 million of savers’ money into it. Had the Act required the Gibraltar Savings Bank to invest only in cash or cash equivalents, which was the position when we were in Government, that would not have been possible, Mr Speaker.

Well, Mr Speaker, I cannot believe that such a huge investment by the Gibraltar Savings Bank in non-cash investments had not already been planned by someone within his Government when he said three 435 months earlier, in November, that the Gibraltar Savings Bank could not invest in cash or near cash equivalents. Mr Speaker, Ministers and certainly not, Mr Speaker, the Father of the House, they do not wake up one morning and say, ‘Well, you know, I think it is a good idea to cause the Gibraltar Savings Bank to invest £303 million in a Government-owned company’. Indeed, Mr Speaker, the very fact that the 440 Government moved an amendment in 2012 to do away with the requirement that he said existed in November was what allowed the investment of that money in Credit Finance Company in the first place.

Mr Speaker, there are two explanations for the statements that he made in November of 2012. Either he was blissfully unaware, Mr Speaker, of the plans of the Father of the House as to the use of the Gibraltar Savings Bank to fund huge parts of the Government’s expenditure and projects, blissfully unaware, or Mr 445 Speaker, he was aware but he chose to make that statement to the House. I do not say, Mr Speaker, that he was misleading the House at that stage. I actually think that he did not know what was happening in his own Government, Mr Speaker, on the management of the public finances of Gibraltar.

Mr Speaker, the Sunborn Gibraltar Ltd was incorporated on 12th March 2013 and on 16th April 2013 it registered a mortgage for an unlimited amount. So at that stage Credit Finance had already provided that 450 loan of between £30 million and £40 million – we do not know because the Government does not give us the exact figure – had provided that loan to the owners of the Sunborn.

Mr Speaker, whatever his ignorance of Mr Bossano’s secret plan may have been in November 2012, he certainly must have known about Credit Finance Company and the loan to the Sunborn by April of 2013, otherwise, Mr Speaker, he ought to move to one side and allow the Father of the House to run the show because he is clearly the figurehead of this Government and is not running the show, Mr Speaker. On 16th 455 May 2013 I asked the question for the first time about the Sunborn, and so a month afterwards.

After indicating in answer to the penultimate supplementary of Question 423 that the Government had not made any financial investment in the Sunborn and therefore the taxpayer stood to lose nothing if the ship just sailed away into the sunset, I asked the next logical question, which was whether the Government
460 had loaned any money to the owners of the Sunborn, because of course the taxpayer could lose that money if the Sunborn just decided to sail into the sunset as he had remarked. The answer was this, Mr Speaker:

‘I would need notice of that question.’

465 That is a month after the Government loaned the money, £30 million or £40 million, to the Sunborn and two months after the Government had invested £303 million from the Gibraltar Savings Bank into Credit Finance. This is the Chief Minister of Gibraltar:

470 ‘I would need notice of that question. This is not any of the issues that have been raised in respect of this matter, so if the hon. Gentleman gives notice of that question for the next meeting, I can try and find out exactly what the detail of anything related to soft loans might be, but I have no information with me today.’

No information a month after he provides his Government, through a Government-owned company registered at No.6 Convent Place, provides a loan between £30 and £40 million to the owners of the 475 Sunborn.

Mr Speaker, a month later on 23rd May, Question 384/2013, I asked the Chief Minister how the proceeds from savers money at the Gibraltar Savings Bank had been invested as at 1st May 2013, and it was answered by Minister Bossano. This is the first time that Minister Bossano answered any questions about Credit, about the Gibraltar Savings Bank or about these issues. They had been answered by the Chief 480 Minister prior to that and all the answers, in fairness to him, have been properly provided. Minister Bossano answered by providing me with a list of investments, not as at the 1st May 2013, but as at 31st March 2012 – a year earlier, Mr Speaker.

The significance of that, Mr Speaker, is that if they had disclosed all the investments of the Gibraltar Savings Bank as at 1st May, it would have disclosed the fact that the Gibraltar Savings Bank had invested 485 £303 million, Mr Speaker, as at that date in Credit Finance Company Ltd, which would then have led the Opposition on a trail of enquiry and no doubt we would have then seen the loan to the Sunborn floating hotel. But, of course, Mr Speaker, there was a by-election looming, hence the manner in which the Government answered all these questions.

Then, Mr Speaker, on 20th June 2013, I asked the Hon. the Chief Minister, and I quote, because this really is one of the most shameful episodes in Parliamentary history:

‘Can the Chief Minister state whether the owners of the Sunborn Hotel have had the benefit, either directly or indirectly, of any financial assistance from the Government?’

495 The answer was no. That was the answer from the Government.

Well, Mr Speaker, I just simply do not understand how on earth a Chief Minister of Gibraltar discharging his responsibilities to the House could possibly answer no to a question like this when he must have known, Mr Speaker – otherwise he is not running his own Government – that Credit Finance, a Government-owned company registered at No.6 Convent Place, in his Department, had made a loan of 500 some £30 million to £40 million, Mr Speaker, to the owners of the Sunborn. Mr Speaker, absolutely shameful.

Then on 24th June 2013, during the Budget session, I said this, Mr Speaker:

505 ‘I have already sought to show how the Government has shifted Government debentures to the Gibraltar Savings Bank where they do not rank as public debt. I want to deal now with the use of the proceeds of the Gibraltar Savings Bank issued debt security may be put to.’

I then reminded the House of the amendments in March of 2012 and I said this:

510 ‘Mr Speaker, I have been observing the Hon. the Minister responsible for the Gibraltar Savings Bank, Minister Bossano, for many years now. I may not always agree with what he does or the manner in which he does it, but he does everything for a reason. I hope, Mr Speaker, that I am wrong and that the Government is not contemplating using that money to fund its capital projects and

515 expenditure simply because it is committed not to borrow or donate Government surpluses to community care. The consequences for these annual debates and the transparency of Government finances would be considerable because it would blow a massive hole in the Government's duty to account to this House at Budget time for expenditure because, as we all know, the Gibraltar Savings Bank expenditure is not reflected in these estimates.'

Mr Speaker, at this stage, we did not have a clue about Credit Finance or about the Sunborn, but certainly because we are a diligent Opposition, we certainly had an inkling that all this transference of debt from the Government into the Gibraltar Savings Bank was for a reason and that the Government intended to use it for its own purposes, Mr Speaker. But the importance is that in the light, Mr Speaker, of the way that he had answered the question as to the loan, the way that Minister Bossano had provided me with a schedule relating to a year before, Mr Speaker, there was an obligation on the Leader of this House to come to this House and set the record straight, Mr Speaker, about the Sunborn and about Credit Finance. That was his obligation at the Budget if not earlier and he did not do so, Mr Speaker.

520 Indeed, Mr Speaker, he only came clean, because this only became an issue during the by-election because somebody came to me and said to me, 'Look, it is not true that the Government has not provided a loan to the owners of the Sunborn'. I was prepared to give him the benefit of the doubt, Mr Speaker, but somebody told me that it was not the case. We then conducted a search on the Sunborn company and we found the loan to it from Credit Finance Company, Mr Speaker. He continued to deny it throughout the by-election and it was only, to his eternal shame, the day after the by-election that he came clean in an interview with Dominique Searle in the Gibraltar Chronicle drawing the distinction, Mr Speaker, between the Government and a Government-owned company and saying that I had asked the wrong question.

535 Well, Mr Speaker, what is wrong about a question that says has the Government directly or indirectly provided any kind of financial assistance to the owners of the Sunborn, Mr Speaker. The irony and absurdity of all this, Mr Speaker, is that earlier on this year when it suited the Government's purposes and it wanted to make an announcement as to the purchase of the shares in Gibtelecom owned by the Slovenian company, he told the press that the Government had bought back those shares, when indeed we only found out two months later that it was not the Government, it was the Gibraltar Savings Bank. So when it suits him, Mr Speaker, he draws the distinction between a Government and a Government-owned company registered at No.6 Convent Place, Mr Speaker, but when it does not suit him, the Government and the Gibraltar Savings Bank are one and the same, Mr Speaker.

540 What is also absurd, Mr Speaker, about the exchanges last week, was that on 29th May 2014, when I asked the question whether any of the debt – we do not know how much because he refused to tell us – to the Sunborn had been rescheduled...well, I did not ask that. I apologise. What I asked was whether the Sunborn had paid that debt on its due date and the hon. Gentleman said to me, in May of 2014, 'Yes, the Sunborn had paid its debt on the due dates'.

550 Mr Speaker, I then asked in the last session a similar question... indeed I asked that and the rescheduling. I asked that question and he did not want to give it to me, Mr Speaker. Well, look, I could be forgiven and the Opposition could be forgiven, Mr Speaker, for being on the highest alert, not only about the history in which... because the history and the manner in which the Government has dealt with this, but because in May 2014 he was willing to say to me openly that the Sunborn has paid always on its due date and then a week and a half ago he did not want to answer the same question.

555 Well, Mr Speaker, does he now have something to hide, because that is the next logical question? Mr Speaker, during his New Year speech, again he then publishes a balance sheet relating to Credit Finance Company and he says, 'We are the most transparent Government in the history...' of what I do not know. He publishes a balance sheet, a four line document, Mr Speaker. A four line document insulting the intelligence of the people of Gibraltar, Mr Speaker... insulting the intelligence of the people of Gibraltar – and then he says during the course of that speech, 'Not one penny is being spent on Government projects'.

560 Again, Mr Speaker, I was willing to accept him at face value, but then Mr Bossano, Mr Speaker, a month later... within a couple of months, I beg your pardon – in answer to questions in this House, accepted that in answer to questions from me that £347 million of the now £400 million invested in Credit Finance by the Gibraltar Savings Bank had in fact been transferred to Gibraltar Investment Holdings Company, which is the Government's holding company for all Government-owned companies, for the purposes of allowing 'Government-owned companies to meet their cash flow requirements'. Well, Mr Speaker, that includes GJBS, who are undertaking about £200 million worth of Government work.

565 Mr Speaker, if anybody has to be careful with the statements that they make, it is the hon. Gentleman, and not me, Mr Speaker. It is certainly not me.

570 Mr Speaker, the reality is that on the issue of transparency, on the issue of who is honest with the people of Gibraltar, on the issue of opaqueness, the hon. Gentleman has been measured, Mr Speaker, and he has been found wanting, Mr Speaker. That is the reality, Mr Speaker, and there is no one who has misled this House or the people of Gibraltar more than the hon. Gentleman, Mr Speaker. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to contribute to the debate?

575 The Hon. Sir Peter Caruana.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Yes, Mr Speaker, very briefly I would just like to add one thing. The Hon. the Chief Minister invited Parliament, by which I assume he meant the Opposition as well, to support what he called the ‘Government motion’. In appealing to the whole of the Parliament, that is to say to the 580 Opposition including me to support the motion, he must have been suggesting that he thought that I was capable of objective fairness and that I would not make a decision on this motion based solely on Party lines. If that is the case, then I trust that it will be equally true of the Members on that side of the House.

I have no doubt whatsoever in concluding that the suggestion that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has misled this House in the manner that the hon. Member has suggested in his motion, or at all, is 585 completely unfounded and unmet, not just for the reasons that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has just so formidably articulated, but also for this reason, and this is my only contribution to this debate.

It seems to me that as he has put his motion it suffers a fatal flaw and that is that as I have understood his address in support of his motion he has listed, and I have made a note of three, he may have referred to more – at least three Government press releases that I made a note of the number of – in which he says 590 public notice, and therefore it was in the public domain because it was in Government press releases that Hassans represents the Sunborn, leaving to one side the issue about the precise words that the Leader of the Opposition uttered or did not utter.

My Lord... I mean Mr Speaker. I get into the same trouble in Court by the way. (Laughter) I call the judge Mr Speaker and he does not like it either. (Laughter) Mr Speaker, I believe the fatal flaw is this. The hon. Member has said that the Leader of the Opposition is obviously misleading the House because the 595 information that he claimed not to know about was ‘in the public domain already and therefore he must have known.’ But Mr Speaker, if it was in the public domain for the hon. Member, it was in the public domain for this House as well, and if the hon. Member is to be imputed knowledge of everything that is in the public domain then the same knowledge for the same reason has got to be imputed to everybody in this 600 House.

Every lawyer sitting in this House on both sides knows that it is not possible to mislead someone who knows the truth – in other words, you cannot mislead somebody who knows the truth about what you are saying. And if, as the hon. Member says, the misleading flows from the fact that the information is in the 605 public domain, ergo the House must know the same information and it is not possible for the House to have been misled by it, because it is already in the public domain, namely the same criteria by which he seeks to condemn the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition. So quite apart from the objective view that one takes on the evidence, and quite apart from Party lines and quite apart from objectivity and subjectivity, by the very basis upon which he has presented his case against the Leader of the Opposition, it is not possible. It is not possible to be sustained because by his measure of what constitutes misleading this House could not have 610 been misled by what the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition said, even if he had said what the hon. Member attributes to him. You cannot mislead someone who knows the truth.

Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to contribute to the debate before I ask the mover to reply?

615 The Hon. Mr Albert Isola.

Minister for Financial Services and Gaming (Hon. A J Isola): Yes, Mr Speaker, I am grateful.

I had no intention of intervening in today’s motion on the subject matter before us now, but the two interventions from the Leader of the Opposition and from the hon. the backbencher has stirred me to rise because I am almost in disbelief at what I have heard. We have had, I think, probably about 45 minutes 620 from the Leader of the Opposition talking about conflict of interest, declaration of interest, the cabal that sits on this side of the House, the GSLP plots, Erskine May, Credit Finance, Savings Bank and then of course the huge lesson in arguments that we have heard ad nauseam from the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition in respect of his personal views on Credit Finance, the Sunborn and the Gibraltar Savings Bank.
625 But Mr Speaker, what an absolute smokescreen. What relevance have any of those issues got to do with the motion before us?

The motion before us is actually very, very simple, Mr Speaker, and it is that the hon. Member said he was not aware that Hassans were acting on behalf of the Sunborn. The Hon. the Chief Minister gets up and says, ‘I am happy to forgive if you just accept that that was a mistake’ and the hon. Member gets up and 630 fails to correct the clear error, which by the way has not been denied by the hon. backbencher. The hon. backbencher is actually saying in effect that what the Leader of the Opposition has done is consistent because everyone in the Parliament knew the truth and therefore it is impossible to mislead.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, on a point of order.

635 No, Mr Speaker, he cannot attribute words to me. I have not said. I have said even on the assumption, which I do not accept, that the Hon. the Chief... uttered the words acclaimed, my point is right. He cannot convert that into a statement that I accept that what the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition said are the words attributed to him. So I am always very interested in hearing him, but please without putting words in my mouth.

640

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, in that case, what I will do is say that he certainly did not suggest that he had not intended to mislead the House, if I can leave it at that, which is a flipped coin of the same thing.

Mr Speaker, it is interesting really –

645

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Floundering!

Hon. A J Isola: I am doing my best. (Interjections)

650 So it is one of the worst lessons in the art of diversion that I have ever seen in my life, because to sit here and listen for 45 minutes about Sunborn and Credit Finance when the actual motion is so simple and so brief, and it is basically saying this, ‘I was not aware that Hassans were lawyers.’ The Chief Minister gets up and says, ‘But hang on a minute. Are you sure about that? And if you are not sure, do you want to correct? If not, I will bring a motion.’ ‘I do not care two hoots about whether you bring a motion or not.’ That is the issue that we are adjudicating on, and frankly, Mr Speaker, this motion is hugely important – hugely important.

655 The hon. Member says that one of the things that my friend talked about in some session many, many moons ago was one of the most shameful episodes in Parliamentary history. Well, Mr Speaker, for me, misleading Parliament is one of the most shameful episodes in Parliamentary history and I am absolutely gobsmacked that the Leader of the Opposition has not dealt with the very single and simple point as to whether he was or was not aware that Hassans were the lawyers for the Sunborn. It is as simple as that, Mr Speaker. (Interjection)

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Mr Bossino.

665 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I think there is one point that needs to be clarified here. I think the hon. my learned and hon. Friend the Leader of the Opposition very clearly set out in his exposition and in his intervention in response to the Chief Minister’s motion what he actually said. The Hon. Mr Isola said that this motion is simple and brief, but I am afraid it is wrong. It is wrong and misconceived. Quite frankly, one of the points I was going to make in my initial intervention was to say that this is a huge and humongous waste of time, quite frankly, that Parliamentary time should be used for this purpose.

670 Mr Speaker, what is it that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition said? Let me just make the point. Let me just make the point in answer to his point and it is this. We need to understand one thing that this point really arises as a result of a supplementary question which my hon. Friend the Leader of the Opposition said and it related specifically to the Certificate of Fitness and all the rest of it flowed from there. That is when the Hon. the Chief Minister rose to his feet and made the misleading the House or Declaration of Interest point. He did not make it before he answered his formal reply. He made it after the first supplementary which related specifically, as I said earlier, to a Certificate of Fitness. And what is it that he said? On two occasions, Mr Speaker on two occasions he said, ‘I certainly was not aware that Hassans had been advising the Sunborn in relation to these particular issues’. How could he have been?

675 He may have been aware that Hassans was retained by the Sunborn, but not in relation to these particular issues, and this particular issue related to the Certificate of Fitness. He ends his intervention on 19th March in this manner, Mr Speaker, when he says very clearly the following:

685 ‘The issue of Hassans acting on behalf of the Sunborn has arisen in relation to the question of the Certificate of Fitness. I have absolutely no clue about Hassans acting in respect of the Certificate of Fitness and advising the [office] or anybody else as to whether a Certificate of Fitness was necessary in this particular case...’

The point is abundantly and absolutely clear, and therefore the premise of both the motion and indeed the Hon. the Minister for Financial Services’ recent intervention are completely and utterly wrong, erroneous and misconceived.

690

Mr Speaker: Any other hon. Member wish to speak on the motion?

The Hon. Mr Bossano.

695 Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker, the Leader of the Opposition has spoken about almost everything under the sun except the Sunborn. (Laughter) The distinguished backbencher was making a point, which was a legalistic point, I think, that it is not possible to accuse somebody of misleading us or misleading other people if the thing that he is intending to do is impossible because we all have the level of knowledge that is linked to the misleading. Therefore, if we all know that it is in the public domain that Hassans represents the Sunborn, then he cannot possibly be successful in misleading us and therefore it is not the case that we should be accusing him of attempting him to mislead.

Well, I do not suppose he was attempting to mislead anybody, because frankly it is not an issue that I think would worry many people, whether Hassans represent the Sunborn or not. (A Member: Hear, hear.) It would be very peculiar if they were not represented by Hassans as Hassans represents almost every successful business in Gibraltar and the Sunborn is a huge success. (A Member: Hear, hear.) (Laughter) Of course he gets a share of it no doubt. (Laughter) But he draws an analogy, Mr Speaker, between that and what he claims were the dreadful things that the old GSLP Administration used to do, of which he was such a proud admirer and follower. I am certainly not going to bring into the discussion his dad, who is still a close friend of mine, and I am of him.

But I have to tell him that his conversion to the other side of the fence is something that is almost incomprehensible for somebody who puts standards at such a high level and hypocrisy at such a low level, because one of the things that he said about his commitment to politics and his commitment to being in Parliament is that if such is his dedication to the people of Gibraltar that if he had to choose between losing the huge sums he gets from the successful Hassans and serving the people of Gibraltar in this House, he would have no doubt what he would do. I often wonder, Mr Speaker, how many lawyers we would have if we banned the profession from standing for election and they all had to give up their jobs. (Laughter) But I can tell him one thing, I do not really think I can believe his dedication to the cause.

He reminds me of one of the things that I encountered in my first occasion when I spoke after being elected in 1972, and I did not speak here because I was elected before the summer recess and there was a CPA Conference in Malawi. I went with the then Minister Horace Zammit and Paul Garbarino to Malawi as the CPA delegation from Gibraltar. We had His Highness, the Ngwazi, Dr Hastings Kamuzu Banda telling the Commonwealth of the great sacrifice that he had made by giving up his practice in Kentish Town in the National Health Service and coming back to defend his people. At the same time he was in the process of building his seventh palace in Malawi, something that I do not think he was getting in Kentish Town under the National Health Service. (Laughter)

Then I remembered how he told me when he came back to join the socialist family of the great sacrifice he was making when he was one of the top criminal lawyers in the Midlands and he was losing a lot of money by coming back here. But he was coming back here because the most important thing for him was to join the socialists to get rid of the dear old backbencher sitting there (Laughter) which he succeeded in doing. He succeeded in doing it in a peculiar way, an unexpected way and not the way we expected it to happen, but he did it. (Laughter) On top of that he has not had to lose money and so it is a win-win situation. He is actually better off than in the Midlands and he has achieved his target. (A Member: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks) (Interjection)

Hon. D A Feetham: [Inaudible]

Hon. J J Bossano: Of course I must say that I admire his skills in getting where he wants to be and he has done well, but of course there is another side, and that is the criticism of what was done by the GSLP before the Montegriffo exit, which allowed the entry of the distinguished backbencher. Gibraltar might have been deprived of 15 years of tyranny if we had not made that mistake (Laughter) but there you are. We get things wrong sometimes. (Laughter and interjections)

But of course there is something that I am prepared to stand up and defend when it comes to hypocrisy and double standards and that kind of thing, and that is, Mr Speaker, if the hon. Member, for example, as a politician is saying to people, 'Do not trust the Savings Bank', I would not expect him to be telling his clients, 'Put your money in the Savings Bank', because then he is being a hypocrite because he is saying one thing as a politician with one hat and doing something else with another hat.

I can tell him what I found completely unacceptable was that we had a situation where somebody like Peter Montegriffo would bring me a string of clients, which I was happy to receive and happy to work with, but then publicly the next day saying that people should not be bringing money to Gibraltar because Gibraltar was going down the tubes. Well, look, surely if you are a lawyer advising clients and you honestly believe it... or is it that you only believe it when you are behaving like a politician, but you do not believe it when you are behaving as a professional advising clients? If you are telling people that the economy is bankrupt, you are telling people that there is no money, you are telling people do not use the Savings Bank and you are telling people Credit Finance is a terrible thing, then you have to have a duty of due diligence with your clients and you must give them the advice that is consistent with the views that you claim to hold honestly politically.

Those of us who are not lawyers do not have those kinds of conflicts and we can afford to say the same thing to everybody. So I think there is a legitimate position to take. Certainly I have no problem with taking 760 it. You should stand by what you say and if you say one thing in one forum then you should say the same thing in other forums. Therefore, if he wants to know the reason for the Montegriffo exit, the reason was quite simple. Nobody said Montegriffo should go from this House, but what I said was that I am not prepared to have somebody lobbying me with customers when at the same time he is saying that Gibraltar is not a place in which people should be putting their money and the economy is not well run. (Interjection by Hon. D A Feetham) Now you understand it. Well, I can tell him that if he brings me a customer tomorrow which is contrary to what he is saying in this House, I will say to the customer, in front of him, 'You should not trust this guy as your lawyer because he is trying to get you to put money in something that he says is ruinous'. (Interjections)

Therefore I think because that is what happened and because that is what I am prepared to defend, I am 770 telling him and I am telling it publicly, I have no problem with it. And if that he thinks, is something that was wrong about the GSLP and he is wrong about it now. Well, look, whether it is the GSLP or not, it was me then and it is me now. (Laughter) You all know on that side of the House that the leopard does not change his spots. (Laughter) You have told me that often enough. (Laughter and banging on desks) (Interjection) All the leopards are the same as far as I know. I do not know of any leopard that changes his spots.
775 We are all the same, all leopards. (Laughter)

The reality, of course, is that when the hon. Member came back and made that big sacrifice, he was making it for a particular purpose, and as I have said he has achieved that purpose. Often he stands up here and says things where I get surprised that he seems to be welcoming the role that I am playing, but really today he has given the game away. He is not welcoming the role I am playing at all. He is not saying today 780 any of the things that he said a few days ago, that it is a good thing that I am there and it is a good thing I am in charge of the Savings Bank. Is it that he has suddenly lost his confidence in my ability to protect the investors in the Saving Bank? Well, I hope it is not, because frankly I would not take it very kindly if he was insinuating that with me in charge... I am in charge, it is my responsibility, and I am glad that the Chief Minister has decided to make it so officially.

The reality of it is that technically the Savings Bank does not exist, and he should know that, because in fact the Savings Bank as an institution is a creature of statute and when what he now calls 'his Government', but which was the other lot when he was with me – (Laughter and interjections) What he now calls 'his Government' were prepared to go further than we have done so far and even further than we had planned to go with the Savings Bank, because we had not at any stage actually gone as far as saying, as 790 was said by the previous Government, that their plans – I think it was in 2007 or it might have been earlier – were to actually go down the road of allowing the Savings Bank to have credit cards, to have current accounts with cheque books and to do all those sorts of things. It is in Hansard. I can fetch it if you want. (Laughter) It is in Hansard and I supported it. I supported it actually from the Opposition. I thought it was a jolly good thing that they were looking at doing those things.

Does the hon. Member for one moment think that any savings institution that wants to make profits and wants to expand and wants to grow can actually grow by keeping all the money in cash? Because if that is what he thinks then I hope he never gets into Government because the Savings Bank will really go down the tubes. Does he think that there is anything wrong with having a requirement, not that says everything is in cash, but says that everything is in cash or invested with a profile which matches the deposits which I 800 give him every month? Not what banks do everywhere in the world that they publish how they have got their money invested once a year and usually a year after the year when it happens. No, every month. Every month he sees the figures.

If he suddenly comes saying, 'Ah, yes, but you said that the money was in Gibraltar Investment Holdings and you only told us after the by-election because you did not want us to know before', well, I am 805 not telling him where it was before, but I can tell him it was in his possession before. I am not going to help him find out where it was, but all he needs to do, if he has got the time, is to go back and look at all the bits of paper that I have given him in the past and he will find it there before the by-election. So that theory has gone down the tubes.

So I have to tell the hon. Member that in fact one of the strengths, the competitive strengths that the Savings Bank has in appealing to savers and to depositors is precisely that the one thing we do not do is what would be done or what will be done by the Gibraltar International Bank. I do not know when the International Bank starts operating, which will be very soon hopefully. The hon. Member will think that it is necessary for transparency for the bank to come here every month, for the hon. Mr Isola to come here every month and tell him how much money in overdraft every single customer of the bank has and what 815 they are spending it on or how many mortgages there are. Or is it that it applies to the Savings Bank but not to the International Bank? Because if the principal is that if it is state owned, what you do is you put every single action that you take as a commercial entity in the public domain, then I do not think that even the Bank of England does that, never mind anybody else.

820 It is certainly not done, for example, by the Post Office Savings Bank in Singapore, which is a massive institution and which started life the same as we did, as a savings bank, and which one day I hope we will get as big as they are. Because we have got this clause in our legislation, the element of risk that is fundamental in the banking system, and which is known to be where the element of risk is, is that banks make money by borrowing short and lending long. So you put your money in the bank and if everybody in this room put their money in a bank tomorrow, they would, I suppose, think like the Leader of the 825 Opposition does, that the bank has got it all in a safe that if they come back tomorrow and they can get it out, which is what he thinks happens with banks. It does not happen like that. The banks actually lend money to other people, but they do not lend it to other people on the basis that they can only have it for 24 hours. They lend it to people on the basis that they may have it for five years. So if your money is there for 24 hours and they have given it to somebody else for five years, by definition, if everybody went for their 830 money the next day they would not be able to get it back because it was tied up, and that is what is known as a liquidity crisis. The clause which he finds so objectionable is the clause that protects the Savings Bank from a liquidity crisis, because if we have got money that is invested in the bank on call, we have got cash.

If there is money that is invested in the bank in one month, we have got it on one month. If there is money that is invested for five years, we put it in for five years. I have told him that before in answer to his 835 questions and I have given him the breakdown of the maturities. I have told him that the average maturities are designed to do that and it is monitored to do that. So what is clear is that reassuring him does not let him sleep at night peacefully like I would want him to be able to do. It does not matter for me because I do not sleep anyway, but he needs sleep. He is getting on a little bit and he needs his sleep. (Laughter) I am still the head of the youth section in the GSLP. (Laughter)

840 So if I thought that giving him these assurances and these clarifications would make him sleep at night, I would be happy to do it, but I know it does not. Regretfully it does not do that, because he then stays all night awake thinking of what next he can think of to trip us up, create problems for us and undermine the work that we are doing, which is so good for him, for his children and for the future of our country. I hope that one day he will stop doing that and then I would be able to congratulate him for stopping.

845 Thank you, Mr Speaker. (Banging on desks)

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, will he give way before he sits down?

850 Hon. J J Bossano: Yes, of course.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, if the Hon. Mr Isola had another opportunity to rise, no doubt he would deliver the same speech about smokescreens all over again, but perhaps the Hon. the Father of the House identified the need for a smokescreen of that sort. Mr Speaker, he has provoked me into getting up simply to make the following points, which I will make briefly because we have both made these points 855 before. He has made those before and I have made the one that could be made.

Mr Speaker, he cannot confuse when the Opposition, particularly on the issue of transparency and Government accountability, challenge what the Government is doing in the area that he has just been speaking about. It is not because we do not think a Government-owned bank can function like any other bank and it is not because we think that a bank that is owned by the Government has to blurt out all the 860 details about its customers business. No, Mr Speaker, and he sort of caricatures, as he has done just now at length, the Opposition's position as if it were that for the purposes of ridiculing it. Of course, if that were the Opposition's position it would be ridiculous, but that is not the Opposition's position and that is not the criticism that has been articulated. Therefore, Mr Speaker, he provokes me, even from my lowly position in the backbench (Laughter) to rise to my feet just to remind him that in all that he has just said, he has 865 overlooked two facts which lie at the core of everything that I have ever said in this House about the area that he has just given his talk about.

I believe the Opposition frontbench too, which is firstly because the funds that find their way through the commercial finance and through Gibraltar Investment Holdings and perhaps spent or invested or lent 870 wisely perhaps, are to the extent that they are put at risk, because all commercial ventures can fail, because they are funds that eventually have to be paid back to the Savings Bank and the depositors of the Savings Bank are by statute secured by a Government guarantee, therefore any money that goes bad, despite the brilliance of his management of it, any investment of the bank... of the commercial finance that goes bad has ultimately to be paid for if the CFC, Commercial Credit Finance cannot make it good, by the Government ultimately guarantee of the depositors money or its own from which it originated.

875 Therefore we think, they may disagree, but we think, that because that is a contingent financial liability of the Government only if it goes wrong, hence the word 'contingent', because it is a contingent financial liability of the Government the House that is here to hold the Governments to account financially is entitled 880 to know – not by virtue of any obligation to poke into the affairs of the bank’s customers, but by virtue of the Government’s contingent financial liability to ask the Government what it is allowing the money that he is ultimately the guarantee of to be invested so that we can assess the risk. That is point one.

885 Point two is that we are not asking about – at least I have never asked – about the business of an individual customer of either his bank or the International Bank when it comes up, except to the extent that the customer is a Government Agency or a Government Company or a Government Department or an entity for which the hon. Members are responsible to this House, then I do reserve the right in this House to ask questions about the customer and to poke my nose into the customer’s affairs, because the customer is not any old customer, it is the taxpayer. The taxpayer through the Government, the taxpayer through the Savings Bank, the taxpayer through a Government-owned company, and where the account holder – that is the customer – is of such a kind, I think wholly different rules apply to that customer’s right to privacy than applies to the other customers, of which I am hoping there will be many and profitable of both CFC and the Gibraltar International Bank when that gets off hopefully to a very successful start. Mr Speaker, the hon. Member does not have to agree with us on that or anything, but what he cannot do is mischaracterise, but what he cannot fairly do is mischaracterise our position by painting a picture of what we think, and what we say, and what we do not know and what we do not understand by reference to things that are not the things that we have said.

895 In my opinion – and I will sit down now – there is a whole difference between accountability and transparency on the one hand and the structure of a bank that I would have set up too if I was still on that side of the House. They are wholly different things and we are entitled, we believe, to this House’s rights to accountability and transparency in the appropriate cases without being said to be critical of one bank or the other. I am critical actually of neither.

Mr Speaker: Just one moment before the Hon. Minister rises.

In wanting to be as liberal as possible in interpreting the rules on debate, if the hon. Members read the motion carefully they will see that there is a limit about the extent to which a debate... within the debate on the Gibraltar Savings Bank and on the Gibraltar International Bank there is a limit about the relevance of these issues, which we have been going on for half an hour, to the rest of the motion.

905

I am being very, very liberal, but there is a limit to the extent that I am prepared, because this is a debate that you are going to have again in June and you should not be having it under this particular motion. I am very sorry. So unless the Hon. Mr Bossano has a very specific point that he is going to make, otherwise I will ask him to sit down and call upon the mover to reply.

910

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I had given way and so I have got to stand up before I sit down.

Mr Speaker: Yes, that is why I am saying that in your coming back I want you to be brief and to the point.

915

Hon. J J Bossano: Yes. Well, I accept what you are saying. You are absolutely correct in what you are saying, but given the fact that the entire 99% of the Leader of the Opposition’s contribution was about everything other than Hassans and the Sunborn, then what else can one do but take up the tantalising invitation to follow through with the avenues that he has opened up.

920

I am glad the hon. backbencher has raised the two issues for two reasons. One of things is that I can see that being on the backbench produces a sense of a necessity for fairness, which apparently being on the frontbench or on the Government benches does not do, but I am happy to see him wanting us to be fair. It is difficult for me to remember when in the 15 years I saw that happening (Laughter) but nevertheless I am happy that he wants us to be doing it now. It must be something to do with the new experience of being on the backbench.

925

The second thing is that there is in fact a contradiction between the two points that he has made because if the concern of the Opposition is about the contingent liability of what happens if the borrower has not paid, then the concern of the Opposition cannot be that the borrower is the Government, because if what they are saying is that Credit Finance is lending money to the Government, which is wrong, and then they say that what I am concerned about is the contingent liability and what happens if the borrower does not pay?

930

If the borrower does not pay... Who is the borrower? The Government. What happens if it does not pay? The Government has to pay. Wait a minute, did I get this right or did I get this wrong? The Government –

935

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: But that is if the Government is spending the money.

940 Hon. J J Bossano: I have not said we are spending the money. I am saying if their concern is that, then they should stop saying that their concern is the other because if their concern is that the money is being used by the Government then their first concern is obliterated, because if the Government does not pay, the Government has to pay and that is a contingent liability. Well, it is the same liability. It is not twice the liability, it is only once.

945 I am not saying that the money has been borrowed by the Government. I am saying they do and therefore by virtue of that concern they obliterate the other one. That is all I have got to say. (Laughter) Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: If no other hon. Member wishes to contribute to the debate, I will call upon the mover to reply.

950 The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, one could be forgiven for having forgotten what this motion was about (Laughter) but it has all been worth it just to see the hon. the Father of the House enjoy himself as much as he has. (Laughter) It is clear that the leopard cannot change his spots, thank goodness, and it is clear that the sheep do not stand a chance when he gets in the room.

955 It is also clear, Mr Speaker, or it has become abundantly clear this afternoon, that the hon. the backbencher feels he can still get up and clarify what it is that the Opposition is saying. Well, the times when he used to speak for the Opposition appear, unfortunately, to be past because at least we got some element of logic in what we heard when he was the one responsible for putting the arguments. But he has, of course, not lost one particular characteristic of the way that he deals with things, which is that he says things and when we seek to reply to them he quickly seeks to get up and say that we have mischaracterised what it is that we are replying to. Well, Mr Speaker, in all the time that I have been in this House that has become the way that he has dealt with every reply he has been given when it has been demonstrated to him that what he has said was wrong.

960 But, Mr Speaker, when the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition started to reply to my motion, I thought that ‘Monty Python’s Flying Circus’ had landed in this Parliament. He got up with the words ‘in for me.’ I expected him then to go on to say, ‘In for me. They have all got it in for me’, like the great sketch, because that is the only argument that he has put really, Mr Speaker. It is all about that we have got it in for him. We are trying to stop him from being able to practice law and we are trying to stop him from being able to put his arguments. He gets up on his white charger and says that he will be there for the people of Gibraltar in their service before he is going to be a lawyer in his law firm. Well, Mr Speaker, it just does not seem to me to be credible that this is what the debate should have become about.

970 Then he refers to the fact, I suppose in an attempt to try and tarnish us, but then he wraps himself up also in our colours, something that he constantly tries to do, this duality of what he represents... that now that the rainbow flag flies proudly over No.6 Convent Place, ah, but that is something that we also support. Well, Mr Speaker, it must be something that they now support, when he was referring to civil partnerships, because it certainly was not something that was supported by hon. Members when they were on this side of the House and that which the hon. Member, the Father of the House, reminded him was the Government he called ‘his Government’.

980 So when he was in ‘his Government’ they did not believe in civil partnerships or in the rainbow flag flying. Now that they are in Opposition they believe in all the things that they did not believe in when they had the power to do them in Government. That is the duality that we will see in the context of having to reply to him. He deployed in everything that he said. He said in particular that we brought this motion, not because he had misled the House at the last Question Time – the one that is relevant... the one that is current – but simply because we do not want to debate the Dr Giraldi motion. He said that we had done this to filibuster. Well, Mr Speaker, the facts are always better than the allegation. Let us look at the facts.

985 Opposition Members have spoken perhaps for 20 minutes... sorry, Government Members have spoken perhaps for 20 minutes, myself included up to now. Opposition Members, in particular the Leader of the Opposition has spoken for over an hour, and so, Mr Speaker, who is filibustering? I gave him the opportunity of simply saying, ‘Well, fair enough. I forgot Hassans represented the Sunborn’, and I would have got rid of the motion. I gave him that chance last time and I gave him that chance now again, but he wanted to get up and he wanted to make this defence. Well, Mr Speaker, where was the filibustering? It certainly was not on this side.

990 We gave him a way out, an exit, if the Giraldi motion is so important. Mr Speaker, where was the smokescreen if not in going off at a tangent and talking about issues, which he wants to bring up at every opportunity because he thinks that it earns him political points on the Savings Bank in borrowing and lending. Well, Mr Speaker, therein lies the smokescreen. So he says, ‘You are just doing this to filibuster’, and goes on to filibuster himself, although we had only been five minutes. He says, or they say, ‘It is a smokescreen, Mr Speaker’, and then they proceed amongst themselves to smoke all the cigarettes that Spanish commentators say all of Gibraltar must be smoking in order to create the smokescreen to stop us from being able to get to the substance of the motion. They say one thing and then they do another.

1000 He says that we are both partners of Hassans. Well, Mr Speaker, we clearly are. My declaration confirms that I am, and there is nothing wrong in that. I have a pecuniary interest. I have declared it, Mr Speaker. It is in the Register of Members Interests. There is no issue to be had there, Mr Speaker. He says that this motion is abusive. Well, Mr Speaker, if it is abusive, how is it that he has managed to spend 1005 45 minutes dealing with it, most of that time not dealing with issues that arose on the motion?

And then he says that we will only win because Members on this side are subject to the principle of collective responsibility and they will be whipped to vote in favour of the motion, whatever they think. Well, unless it is not abundantly clear to him already, Mr Speaker, Members on this side of the House are not going to have to be told how to vote because that is actually not the way that we do it and that is not the way that Cabinet Government works, Mr Speaker. What he is looking at is a Cabinet Government, Mr Speaker. It may be the way that Governments work elsewhere, where there are Members who are not in the Executive and they have to be whipped to vote in a particular way, but, Mr Speaker, he has watched too much ‘House of Cards’ – the BBC version and the Netflix version. He is thinking too much of these great congresses and these great parliaments.

1010 Mr Speaker, this is not about whipping Members of Parliament to vote in a particular way, this is an Executive of Members of a Cabinet, all of whom I would expect will always vote what they believe is the right thing to vote and not simply what a Chief Minister tells them to do. Those days, Mr Speaker, are over. They ended on the glorious morning of 9th December 2011 when the new dawn arrived, Mr Speaker, and people were free once more to make up their minds for themselves, even those who were in Government.

1020 I can tell him, Mr Speaker, from recollection that I remember the embarrassing moment when he was told by the Hon. the then Leader of the House now, the distinguished – as the Hon. Father of the House has called him – backbencher, when he was about to get up, ‘Shh, shut up. Sit down’. Now that might have been one of the particularly shameful Parliamentary moments that he had in mind when he referred to it, or what whipping was about. But I can confirm to him that Members on this side of the House are free to vote 1025 on this motion as they wish, Mr Speaker, and free to make up something called ‘their minds’ for themselves.

Mr Speaker, he came up with a particularly ridiculous example of when the Chief Minister of Gibraltar has somehow waived a privilege or not respected the privilege of something that has been put to him. ‘A solicitor’, he says, ‘comes into your room and gives you the benefit of the advice he is giving their clients...’ I assume in the context of a meeting with their clients, and you then say that publicly you have breached the privilege.

1030 Mr Speaker, this man, the Leader of the Opposition does not have a clue how a legal professional privilege arises and how it might be breached. How can someone say if you go and see the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom with your lawyer and your lawyer tells the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom what he is advising you, because you have allowed him to do so, the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom is not free to refer to that in public because you suddenly cover him with the cloak of privilege. Mr Speaker, I have not heard such nonsense, but frankly it discloses exactly how the hon. Member would like us to believe that the rules of conflict of interest are framed.

1040 He says, however, that we raise these points, not because they are of substance, but simply to try to damage him and to stop him from being able to do his job. He says that the GSLP has form in this respect. Well, Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Father of the House has explained the form clearly and in perfect logic and he gave the example, Mr Speaker, of Mr Montegriffo. He gave the example of the hon. the backbencher and Triay and Triay, all of the things which the Hon. the Father of the House has referred to and were happening at the time that he was a Member of the GSLP, and he says, ‘And now it is me, Mr Speaker. Now they have got it in for me’. And I again heard him say, ‘In for me, in for me. They have all got it in for me’. To try and wake myself up of the soporific feeling that was coming over me (Laughter) because, Mr Speaker, I noticed immediately that he had left one out.

1050 One of those partners of Hassans, who had had conflict thrown in their face and was required to leave the practice in order to be able to continue becoming a Member of this House, is me, Mr Speaker. I do not know why he did not refer to me. Is it that he has got it in for me, in for me, in for me? Or does he not recall, or maybe he does not really enjoy Parliament as much as I do and he does not read the old Hansards and he was not here so perhaps I cannot expect him to know. Does he not remember the number of times that the hon. the now much more docile, approachable and likeable backbencher (Laughter) used to put all these issues across the floor of the House and that I was required to leave my practice at Hassans, Mr Speaker, shortly after I was first elected?

Does he not remember, Mr Speaker, that Unite, the Union, at that time represented by a gentleman by the name of Raphael Benzaquen who is a member of his executive representing his own brother, Michael Feetham junior and Unite – brought a claim against me, Mr Speaker, trying to have me disbarred by a complaint to the Admissions and Disciplinary Tribunal because they said that I was politically behind 1060 something where Hassans, via his brother Nigel Feetham, had been involved advising on another matter? Does he not remember those things?

Is it that I am a black spot in his memory, Mr Speaker? A bit like Lady Macbeth's, 'Out, out, damn'd spot! Out'? Well this damn'd spot ain't going anywhere, Mr Speaker, and is going to be here to remind him of the way that they, when they were in Government, dealt with these issues – nowhere near what we have done, Mr Speaker – only say to him, 'Look, you have got something to declare'. Does the need to declare only have to arise when we are dealing with motions, Mr Speaker? Does it only have to arise when we are going to vote on a subject, Mr Speaker? The hon. Member is trying to rewrite the rules.

1070 The hon. Member needs to remember, in case he forgets, the cash for questions scandal in the United Kingdom. At Question Time, as much as at any other time, Members have to declare an interest if they have it, and if he does not want to declare interests and use the examples that he has used from Erskine May and the Rules of the House, is he telling the House that he will ask questions about things in which he has a pecuniary interest and not declare it? Because that, Mr Speaker, is the typical duality of putting one point, of pretending to be transparent, and yet saying, 'I am rewriting the rules in order to ensure that in the future I can ask questions about anything on which I have a pecuniary interest without having to disclose that'.

1075 He said, Mr Speaker, that either I was blissfully unaware of the plans of the Father of the House or something else. Well, Mr Speaker, do you know what I am blissfully aware? I am blissfully aware that after 16 years in Opposition the hon. the Father of the House is back in Government. I am blissfully aware that all those who wrote him off got it wrong and I am blissfully aware that he and I agree about at least one thing, that his influence in matters relating to the economy and public finances are absolutely in the interests of the public in Gibraltar. So will he now tell the public in Gibraltar to vote for Joe Bossano, the thing he has been telling them not to do for the past 10 years? Since he decided that he was not going to back him to get rid of the hon. now backbencher, he was actually going to have a Damascene conversion, and support the hon. now backbencher, who must to his clinical political eye looked more vulnerable than the hon. the Father of the House in order to be able to take over from him as Party Leader, something which he eventually did, although only as a result of a secret ballot not being allowed at that particular meeting of the Executive as the hon. Member sitting next to him has sometimes perhaps been thought to suggest.

1080 Well, Mr Speaker, certainly the way that he put his arguments might illustrate why it is that so often judges do not agree with him. He told me, Mr Speaker, that I am ignorant of Mr Bossano's secret plan for the economy. Well, Mr Speaker, again I remind him that we do not work in the way that what he now blissfully calls 'his Government' used to work. The 10 of us meet every Monday and we are all blissfully aware of everything else that the other is doing and of our not secret plans because we are the only political party, certainly at this election, but I believe in any election, that actually dares to tell the general public, when we ask them to give us their vote, how the GDP is going to grow, how we are going to lower their taxes and actually follow that plan to the letter in every Budget because, Mr Speaker, we have the benefit of the Hon. the Father of the House not having changed his spots and having demonstrated that he can do that in a number of successive elections. So, again, he can get up. He can say what he likes. He can call me ignorant if he likes, but that is the objective reality. Just go back to the manifesto, look at the pages on the economy and realise how we are following those.

1090 Mr Speaker, he talks about shameful episodes in Parliamentary history and I can think of a couple of those long before we were elected, Mr Speaker. But in fact, Mr Speaker, he just needs to get it into his head that the Government – his question – the Government neither directly nor indirectly is lending money to anyone. There is a company called Credit Finance Company Ltd and that company is the company that is lending money.

1100 Yes, it is true I said the Government is going to acquire the shares in Gibtelecom, and subsequently the shares in Gibtelecom were acquired not by the Government, but by the Gibraltar Savings Bank. But I thought, Mr Speaker, that at least out of professional courtesy he saw the interviews that I gave to GBC, either in direct democracy or otherwise, I forget exactly which, because at least Mr Speaker, I pay him the professional courtesy of listening to what he says in the broadcast media and not just here. He will have heard me say in the broadcast media that the financing and the manner in which we will acquire the shares is not yet determined. Mr Speaker; it is for that reason that subsequently the decision was made that the Gibraltar Savings Bank should acquire the shares in Gibtelecom for the reasons that have been ventilated and explained.

1110 Mr Speaker, the hon. Member did not want to come here to answer the succinct points made against him, he wanted to come here to raise the subject in debate that he constantly wants to raise about whether Credit Finance is a good thing or a bad thing and whether public debt is up or down – all of those things. We saw, Mr Speaker, how he quickly dealt with issues relating to the subject that we are debating, how he quickly avoided the substance of the complaint about whether these matters relate only to the Certificate of Fitness or whether it relates to the questions that were being put by him in relation to the Sunborn's loans etc. and therefore he wanted to move into a half-hour, I think it was, soliloquy on public finances and debt.

1120 What he did, Mr Speaker, in doing so is demonstrate to anybody who was listening that he had no answers to the substance of the argument. He had no answers to deal with the fact that the motion is short and clear.

Mr Speaker, the hon. the backbencher tried to come to his defence. He tried to say, ‘Well, look, put it this way. If something is in the public domain you no longer need to declare it when you are in the Parliament because you cannot mislead the Parliament by not declaring it, because the Parliament must have knowledge of it’, That is not what the rules are about, Mr Speaker. It is not what the rules require. 1125 (Interjection) The rules require that in Parliament...and the hon. Gentleman is going to suggest that I mischaracterised what he said and I am not going to give way because otherwise we are never going to finish, Mr Speaker. (Interjection) We are never going to finish, because as I told the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition, Hansard is there to demonstrate to all of us everything we have already said. So he may allow me to get on to say what I am going to say. (Interjection) Right.

The rules do not require simply that hon. Members disclose interest in matters which they have not already disclosed in the street or in the media, the rules require that Members disclose interests in this House, full stop, and that is where the hon. Member failed to disclose his interest, Mr Speaker.

So I am left, Mr Speaker, with one thing to say to the hon. the backbencher. As in the exchange he had with the hon. leopard, as we might start to call him, (Laughter) later on in relation to debt and public finances, his arguments, although flawed, at least sound good. There is logic to them and they try to go back to the point to obfuscate and smokescreen. At least, Mr Speaker, he had that ability. He had that ability to demonstrate that there was logic behind what he was saying, although skewed. That is, Mr Speaker, what so many supporters of his party miss and that is why they are haemorrhaging support.

1140 But, Mr Speaker, there was one more speaker – (Interjection) there was one more speaker (Interjection) on the other side. There was one more speaker and that was Mr Bossino, Mr Speaker. Mr Bossino at least spoke shortly to say that we were wasting our time on this subject and that we should move on to other matters. Mr Speaker, I give him that he spoke shortly on the matter. I believe I have replied shortly on issues which have taken the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition almost an hour to try to reply on.

1145 Mr Speaker, if this motion had no substance, why has it taken them an hour to try and wriggle off the hook that they made for themselves, Mr Speaker? If this motion had no substance, Mr Speaker, why did they not simply accept my invitation to move on? If this motion had no substance, no doubt I would be defeated because I do not whip my side, Mr Speaker. They can make up their minds for themselves. (Interjections) But, Mr Speaker, we will see –

1150 Mr Speaker: Order.

Hon. Chief Minister: - whether this motion has substance in two ways, Mr Speaker, in the result of the vote and in an analysis of just how long the hon. Member, like a tuna that is hooked and is trying desperately to get off, twisted and turned, twisted and turned, but managed only to get the hook in deeper.

I therefore, Mr Speaker, commend the terms of the motion to the House and seek the support of each of its Members.

1160 Mr Speaker: I now put the question in the terms of the motion proposed by the Hon. the Chief Minister. Those in favour? Members: Aye.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Mr Speaker, can the backbencher call for a poll?

1165 Mr Speaker: He can if he wants to. Whether we advance the matter any further remains to be seen, but you are entitled to, certainly.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: If I am entitled to, I would like to –

Mr Speaker: Very well.

1170 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: – as I want to say no, personally. (Laughter)

Mr Speaker: Very well. I will – (Interjections)

1175 Hon. Sir P R Caruana: [Inaudible]

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, if I might?

1180 Any Member is entitled to call for a poll at any time and the hon. the backbencher is entitled to do so and he has prompted me to think that I actually would like to say yes myself. So he has my full support in calling for the poll.

A division was called for and voting resulted as follows:

1190

Hon. Daniel Feetham –
'In Touch' magazine; misleading statements and arguments – Motion carried

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move the motion standing in my name, which reads as follows:

1195

'THIS HOUSE condemns the Leader of the Opposition for attempting to mislead the readers of the Gibraltar Federation of Small Businesses excellent magazine, 'In Touch', by the use of the following statements and arguments which are entirely false, namely:

that the Chief Minister compared Spain to North Korea at the United Nations; that the Chief Minister associated himself with the comments of Dennis Matthews at the United Nations that Spain was a terrorist state; that the Government had created a reef (which the Leader of the Opposition, in common with Spanish Partido Popular politicians describes as having laid 'concrete blocks') on environmental grounds when barely a few metres on it now plans a land reclamation next to the airport; and that the Government is misleading the public on BOTH public finances and the strength of the economy.

And notes that the Leader of the Opposition is clearly prepared to ignore information provided to him in this House or pervert it in order to serve his own agenda and ambition, whether or not that misuse of information is damaging to the public interest of Gibraltar.'

Well, Mr Speaker, hon. Members have dealt with our previous motion suggesting that we are filibustering to avoid the debate of the next motion. Let them support us in not having to do so in this case and let us have a prompt debate dealing with this matter.

1200

Mr Speaker, the Gibraltar Federation of Small Businesses has a magazine. It interviews local political personalities and business personalities and this month, or this season, because it is published by season, was the opportunity of the hon. Gentleman to have his say to Members.

1205

Mr Speaker, this is a magazine that goes to members of an important business organisation and therefore it is important that the information that we provide to those business men and women is correct information and it should be corrected if it is not correct, Mr Speaker. There are two statements in the interview that the hon. Gentleman gave which are clearly misleading, Mr Speaker – in fact, they are absolutely wrong.

The first, Mr Speaker, is the first of the comments referred to in my motion. He says, when dealing with me and Frontier restrictions and whether or not I might have been involved in the matter, the following:

‘Was it necessary to compare Spain to North Korea at the United Nations or associate yourself with the comments of Matthews that Spain was a terrorist state?’

1215 Mr Speaker, it does not seem to me that there is much room for doubt as to what it is that that sentence says. Have I ever compared Spain, or indeed Mr Margallo, etc, Spain, the Government of Spain to North 1220 Korea? I have, Mr Speaker. I did so in an interview during the course of August 2013. Was it the right thing to do? Well, Mr Speaker, clearly the hon. Gentleman does not think so, but I must tell him that if he was stopped by one lady down Main Street telling him that she was going to listen in – and I hope she is because it is important that Parliament be seen by as many in our community as possible – to tell him how much she appeared to sympathise with him on the subject of the motions, then I must have been stopped by thousands in August 2013 who told me that I was absolutely right to make that comparison.

1225 Was it at the United Nations, Mr Speaker? No, it was not. Mr Speaker, did I associate myself with the comments of Matthews – by whom I interpreted that the hon. Gentleman meant Dennis Matthews – that Spain was a terrorist state? Those comments were made at the United Nations. Mr Speaker, I did not associate myself with those comments. The hon. Gentleman asked me in this House whether I knew he was going to make those comments and I said I did not. I have not said anything in any interview which might remotely be suggested to support that I, in any way, am prepared to associate myself with a statement that Spain was a terrorist state. Therefore, Mr Speaker, those very damaging allegations are entirely deprecated. I do not accept that I said them and therefore certainly not of the North Korean issue at the United Nations or associate myself with Dennis Matthews’ comments that Spain was a terrorist state.

1230 Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman in the same answer goes on to say, asking himself this question:

‘Was it necessary for the Government to lay concrete blocks...’

1235 Mr Speaker, we call it a reef on this side of the House and for us it is a bit like Falklands and Malvinas. We do not think we have laid concrete blocks. We think we have created a reef, but in common with every Spanish politician that refers to the reef, the hon. Gentleman chooses to call these concrete blocks. Well, at least he does not say ‘spikes’, although they have spikes, but that is what the reef is about.

Anyway, he says:

1240 ‘Was it necessary for the Government to lay concrete blocks on environmental grounds when barely a few metres on it now plans a land reclamation next to the Airport?’

1245 Well, Mr Speaker, which reclamation is that? The reclamation planned next to the Airport is not something that we now plan. The reclamation next to the Airport is a plan that we inherited from hon. Members when they were in Government, a complex plan, Mr Speaker, that requires – as the hon. Gentleman will know – a lot of logistics to be in the right place and the rubble mountain and a lot of truck movements, and aeronautical studies and ensuring that things are done absolutely properly so that they do not have a transboundary effect. And the project, Mr Speaker, that when asked by hon. Members opposite, I believe specifically in respect of this project or reclamation generally, but I believe specifically about this project, I said we still believed was in the socio-economic interests of Gibraltar to ensure we were able to deliver when it might be logistically possible.

1250 Well, Mr Speaker, then it is not something that we are planning now – in other words, it is something that they were planning which we still plan to do. But we did not create a reef in an area which we are trying to protect environmentally to now create a reclamation – not that, Mr Speaker. Environmental protection and the creation of a reef and reclamations are things which cannot live side by side... in fact reclamations can sometimes create more marine life than they spoil, because the revetements are actually one of the things that create marine life.

1260 In fact, Mr Speaker, hon. Members might recall that recently we had to move a number of what most of us would call limpets – but have a detailed scientific name in Latin, which the Hon. the Minister for the Environment is not here to remind me of – in an area which is now considered to be of huge environmental importance, but which is actually a revetement to a reclamation created in the times of the GSLP. So he should not give readers the impression, Mr Speaker, that reclamations and environmental protection are things which are mutually exclusive. But, in any event, that is not something that we now plan.

1265 And, Mr Speaker, when he goes on to what are his Questions 7, 8 and 9, he suggests, Mr Speaker, that of course everything we are saying in relation to the economy is just not credible, is untrue and is not to be believed. Well, Mr Speaker, I actually do not think that he does Gibraltar anything other than a disservice when he does that. But Mr Speaker, that is a matter entirely for him, but our view on this side of the House is that what he said there, for all the reasons that have been ventilated on a number of occasions in relation to the debate and not least a few moments ago in the debate on whether he misled the House by failing to declare or failing to accept that he did not know that Hassans were instructed by the Sunborn... well, Mr Speaker, that is our position in relation to matters which relate to public finance and the economy.

1275 Mr Speaker, we do not believe that it is in the public interest of Gibraltar that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition, who holds an important post in Gibraltar... not a Constitutional Office, but an important post in Gibraltar – should be making statements which are misleading, for the reasons that I have set out.

Mr Speaker, I do not believe I have spoken for more than 10 minutes and therefore I trust that those who might wish to accuse me of filibustering will speak for less.

1280 Mr Speaker: I now propose the question in the terms of the motion moved by the Chief Minister. Does any hon. Member wish to reply?

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker. Yes.

Well, I am afraid, Mr Speaker, I am going to take considerably more than 10 minutes. I think that it is an important motion that the hon. Gentleman brings dealing with important issues.

1285 Mr Speaker, it must be the first time in the political history of this place that a Member of this House, let alone a Government, brings a motion that someone, a Member of the House, is misleading the public because of something that that person said in a magazine interview. Mr Speaker, it was not even my best, I have to say. It was not even my best interview, I admit that.

Mr Speaker, my Chairman, Mr Hammond, said to me when he read it:

1290 ‘A shame we had not finished’

– and I am quoting –

1295 ‘shame we had not finished developing our small business policies at the time...’

Because this interview, Mr Speaker, was given in November of last year; indeed you can actually see the poppy in my lapel. Can I have the magazine? You can actually see the poppy in my lapel. It was an interview that was done in November of last year and only published several weeks ago.

1300 And he said:

‘You know it reads like one of the Chief Minister’s interviews: nice photo, nice words, but rather scant on detail.’

1305 That is what my Chairman told me, and I said, Mr Speaker – (Interjection) No, no. Look, I am being as open and transparent as possible with this House, Mr Speaker, and I said, ‘I know. I do not like waffle or flimflam as much as Fabian does’... that is what I said to him, ‘but the last three answers in that interview on his handling of our relations with Spain and on his handling of the public finances of this community were absolutely excellent and I hope that people read those answers’. That was what I said to him. Mr Speaker, I want to thank the hon. Gentleman for giving me the opportunity of drawing the attention of 1310 the entire community to those three answers that I gave in the ‘In Touch’ magazine – no flimflam and no waffle in those answers, Mr Speaker. The problem with the hon. Gentleman in his handling of our affairs with Spain is that he has, and I am sorry to say, Mr Speaker, the propensity of engaging his mouth before he engages his brain, that is really the problem at the heart, the core problem that the hon. Gentleman has, and of saying one thing and then doing another and of being all things to all men.

1315 One day, Mr Speaker, he wants to be a worthy successor of the Father of the House, Mr Bossano, and be more hawkish than the largest eagle soaring the GSLP skies, Mr Speaker; indeed, trying very hard to soar in particular higher than the hon. the Father of the House and the next he is the champion of dialogue wanting to airbrush away everything that he has said. One day he is comparing Spain to North Korea and the next he is sending a missive to the former King of Spain congratulating him for his wonderful career just after he 1320 abdicated the Crown of Spain. Mr Speaker, I do not know whether that is symptomatic of the ideological tensions in his own Government that have been most evident in his handling of the fishing crisis or that it is a matter of personal chemistry. I have to say that to the hon. Gentleman, he just cannot help trying to be all things to all men, but he cannot expect to be all things to all men and not expect somebody not to pick up on it. Well, certainly whilst I am his political opponent and I am on this side of the House, as Leader of the 1325 Opposition, he cannot expect me not to pick up on it.

Every time, Mr Speaker, this is the reality and this is again at the heart of my criticism of the hon. Gentleman’s handling of our affairs with Spain. Every single time he opens his mouth on these issues, I sense a collective holding of breath by the community because people understand that the best way is always the calm, measured, intelligent way.

1330 Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman really is right. He did not say at the United Nations that... he did not compare at the United Nations Spain to North Korea, but, Mr Speaker, he compared Spain to North Korea in a BBC programme on UK national TV and also on Sky News, Mr Speaker; indeed there was more coverage – (Interjection) I will –

Hon. Chief Minister: Channel 4, Mr Speaker. (Laughter)

1335

Hon. D A Feetham: And BBC, Mr Speaker. I have gone back and done my research, because he is right. He did not say it at the United Nations and I am mistaken, but he said it on BBC Breakfast Radio. It was not Channel 4. It was the BBC Radio 4 'Today' programme. That is the channel in which he made his comments (Interjection) and he said it in an interview with Sky News... absolutely. His comments, Mr Speaker, were probably more widely reported because he made them on Sky News and the BBC than if he had made them in the United Nations, and that is the reality. I made a mistake. I accept that I made a mistake in saying that he made them at the United Nations.

1340

The problem, Mr Speaker, with the comment that he has defended in this House, is not offending Margallo or the rest of his far right brigade, Mr Speaker. The problem, as I have told him on many occasions, is alienating all those Spaniards who do not agree with Mr Margallo his policy of punishment towards Gibraltar or the campaign of slander against this community including the PSOE, but who both he and I – whoever is Chief Minister after the next election – hope to persuade to sit down with us in the trilateral talks across a table, Mr Speaker, because it was the PSOE too that came out roundly condemning the comment comparing Spain to North Korea.

1345

He cannot hope, Mr Speaker, to champion the cause of dialogue for which one needs to be a valid interlocutor, in the sense that people will want to sit down with him if he insults an entire nation, Mr Speaker, because that is what we are talking about, instead of rounding on the man or his party – a nation. I have, Mr Speaker, absolutely no hesitation in standing here today and saying that Mr Margallo has behaved towards Gibraltar like the worst kind of dictator, but I will not compare Spain, as a nation, to North Korea, nor will I tarnish everyone in Spain with the same brush. I will not do it.

1350

And, Mr Speaker, I did go back and I listened to his United Nations speech and let me give you an example of what I mean. He may not have said, compared Spain to North Korea in the United Nations, but this is what he said, and I quote:

1360

'The face of Spain that we see now is not very different than when the notorious General Franco was in power.'

Not the face of the PP Government. I would agree with him, that is the face of the PP Government. Not the face of Margallo, but the face of Spain, Mr Speaker, and that is the division between the hon. Gentleman and this side of the House.

1365

I have to say, Mr Speaker, that the hon. Gentleman should have the courage to stand up and defend his own words, as Mr Bossano has always had in fairness to him, the courage to defend his words when he utters them, Mr Speaker. He would not have stood here after comparing Spain to North Korea and want to draw the distinction between Spain and Margallo on the one hand and the PP. He has never drawn that distinction. It is a distinction that I draw now, and anticipating the point that I am about to make that he has sought to draw during the course of his own speech.

1370

Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman says that he did not associate himself with the sentiments expressed by Mr Matthews in his own speech at the United Nations. Mr Speaker, if a Chief Minister of Gibraltar travels to the United Nations with a self-determination group as part of one Gibraltar delegation, he cannot then be heard to utter the words, 'It was not me, Mr Speaker'. That is the reality.

1375

Mr Speaker, this is the problem with the hon. Gentleman being all things to all men and it is the most feeble of excuses to say that he had not seen – as he told me in this House a number of months ago – that he had not seen the speech beforehand. If he goes to an International Forum, representing Gibraltar, he is responsible for what is said in the name of Gibraltar from one of the members of a Gibraltar delegation, whether he likes it or not, Mr Speaker. That is the reality.

1380

Mr Speaker, as to the blocks, he now says, 'Well, the land reclamation project was a GSD project'. Well, Mr Speaker, he can scrap a GSD project if he wants to. He has done it before. The reality is that this is now as much his project as it was ours and the point that I made, rightly made in that interview, Mr Speaker, was that they have laid blocks on environmental grounds, and then a few metres further down next to the Airport they are also going ahead with the land reclamation. Mr Speaker, that is the simple point and it is also an accurate point.

1385

Mr Speaker, I will say this as well in relation to that, that the irony in relation to these blocks – and I will be saying something about this in a few moments... a bit more about this in a few moments – is that we have a situation where that reef has been laid by the Government or the blocks have been laid by the Government and you have Spanish fishermen coming into British Gibraltar Territorial Waters being photographed, habitually Mr Speaker, fishing in the area or on top of the area of the artificial reef, Mr Speaker. That is the absurdity of the current situation, but of course, Mr Speaker, he has opted to keep quiet about that.

1390

One of the parts of the interview which he has completely ignored, Mr Speaker, is and I quote something that I said:

1395 'What has been achieved by tearing up the 1999 Agreement which triggered off the current crisis when there is more fishing by Spanish fishermen than ever before?'

He has chosen to ignore that, Mr Speaker. Of course he has opted to keep quiet about that. The reality is that for all his championing of the rule of law in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters, the rule of law no longer applies in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters since his Government took Office in December 2011, Mr Speaker, and the decision to tear up the 1999 Agreement, without anything to take its place, Mr Speaker, amongst the calls from their activists of 'aqui no se pesca, aqui no se pesca.' was probably one of the most monumental errors that any Government has ever committed. It has been described, Mr Speaker, as a rookie error and I think that is a quite apposite description.

1405 Mr Speaker, I have told him before, the principal job of a Chief Minister is to keep the people of Gibraltar safe and secure. That doing away with the 1999 Agreement, without having anything in its place, created a huge sense of instability insecurity and uncertainty at the very beginning of his tenure as Chief Minister of this community, and for what, Mr Speaker? For zero gain, as I said in the course of my interview with the 'In Touch' magazine.

1410 Mr Speaker, the reality of the situation is that there is more fishing today than ever before. The reality of the situation is that it was his Government, for example, that instructed fishing experts –

Mr Speaker: Could I ask the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition to draw to a close this point about the 1999 Agreement because it is not in any of the paragraphs in the motion.

1415 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, it may not be –

Mr Speaker: Very loosely, one can say that it is related to the artificial reef, very loosely, and to that extent I am allowing the hon... and also, of course, it is a matter that he may have raised in the article –

1420 Hon. D A Feetham: In the interview, exactly.

Mr Speaker: – which I do not have with me, but the whole of the article is not germane to the motion. Does he get my point?

1425 It is fair enough to make a reference, but he cannot go on and on and on about the 1999 Agreement and the mistake which he alleges that the Government made. You have made the point, but you cannot labour the point.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I accept the point that the hon. Mr Speaker has made, but Mr Speaker I think it is germane and it is noteworthy that of all the points that I said in that interview, he chooses to ignore the very point in which his Government has come for most criticism, and that is in the handling of the fishing crisis and in the way that they went from no fishing to now more fishing than ever in the space of effectively three years.

1435 But I will wrap up, Mr Speaker. I think it was in my view, Mr Speaker, for zero gain. In my view, Mr Speaker, there has been a monumental mismanagement by the Government of this particular issue which is symptomatic, Mr Speaker, of some of the mismanagement there has been in relation to the wider issue of the handling of our relations with Spain.

1440 But turning, Mr Speaker, to the public finances, because that does form part of the motion very directly by the Chief Minister, Mr Speaker, what we are seeing is a complete abuse of the democratic process and the laws to ensure that Governments do not borrow in a manner that becomes unaffordable for this community, Mr Speaker. I have already – in the context on the debate about whether I lied or misled this House in relation to the previous motion – very clearly set out the hon. Gentleman's catalogues of refusals to answer questions and keep half the public debt of this community, some £400 million, behind a veil of secrecy.

1445 Of course the Government, Mr Speaker is misleading the people of Gibraltar on the public finances, as I said in that article, and that, Mr Speaker, in my respectful view to this House, is down to him personally, Mr Speaker.

1450 Mr Speaker, the reasons for the present situation lie, as I have told him before and I will repeat every single time that I have an opportunity to say so... the big lie at the last election where he continuously told the people of Gibraltar that the public finances of this community were in a ruinous state, that the GSD was addicted to debt, whilst promising everything to everyone, Mr Speaker.

1455 Because let us not forget that at the root of what we are seeing – in other words, the attempt to have half the public debt of this community behind that veil of secrecy through the use of Credit Finance Company Ltd – are the promises that he made at the last election: £750 million in capital projects; the freezing of rents, rates and electricity; the cutting of public debt by half and the donating of every single last penny of Government surpluses to Community Care, Mr Speaker. All those promises, Mr Speaker, and it was not possible to fund all those commitments by conventional means; it simply was not.

Mr Speaker, there are limited ways in which a Government can fund huge capital projects or recurrent expenditure: it can either borrow, it can either use its reserves or it can use its surplus income. But if you have a party led by a man, Mr Speaker, who is telling the nation, ‘Our borrowing is too high ergo we need to reduce it. Our reserves are too low’, as indeed he said many, many times in this House and outside it, ‘and I am going to donate every last single penny of Government surplus to Community Care’. Well, Mr Speaker, how an earth was he going to pay for it? Of course, that is the reason why we have a Credit Finance Company Ltd, because the Government would not have been able to fund the hundreds of millions of pounds on capital projects it promised and the huge increases in recurrent expenditure at the last election without it, Mr Speaker.

The implications for the public finances of this community are very serious indeed, because Parliament is unable to scrutinise what is effectively half the public debt of this community. The public debt is nearly £400 million net debt – a direct Government debt – and in addition, what we have is another £400 million of Government debt because the Government has to repay that money one day, and it is being used, Mr Speaker, it is being used importantly, for Government expenditure and Government projects and it is hiding that behind a veil of secrecy. And of course, Mr Speaker, not only does the Government guarantee all the deposits in the Gibraltar Savings Bank, but the hon. the backbencher himself has admitted – as I said in relation to the other motion... sorry the hon. the Father of the House (Laughter) that £347 million... Mr Speaker that is not a statement of intent, that I want him to retire to the backbenches. I assure him that really I feel safer with the hon. Gentleman on the front bench advising the hon. Gentleman about the public finances of Gibraltar than I do if he was not there.

But, Mr Speaker, £347 million by the Government, by Minister Bossano’s own admission, is being used in order to fund the expenditure requirements, the cash flow requirements of Government-owned companies, Mr Speaker, and the reality is that the Government could not have borrowed an extra £400 million directly – it could not. Why? Because the net debt is already nearly £400 million and, as we know, on the economy at the size of which it is today the Government would only have been able to spend out of monies that he has borrowed another £43 million. It would have been impossible, Mr Speaker, because there are laws that are in place to prevent Governments from borrowing in a manner that becomes unaffordable for this community and they could only have spent another £43 million, Mr Speaker. Hence why they have had to effectively transfer £400 million from the Gibraltar Savings Bank into Credit Finance Company Ltd and then used it in order to fund Government expenditure and Government projects because part of that money has actually flowed down to GJBS, which is currently engaged in about £200 million worth of Government projects, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker, the reality – and I would be remiss to the people of Gibraltar if I did not make the point very clearly, Mr Speaker – is that the Government does not have the money to pay for, directly, the Power Station, even on their estimate of the Power Station, which is £77 million. They just simply do not, that is the reality, hence why they needed to create this scheme through Credit Finance Company Ltd and transfer £400 million of savers’ money. That is the reality, Mr Speaker, and indeed the proof of the pudding is in the eating because the shares of the Slovenian company in Gibtelecom cost about £30 million, I think it was. The hon. the Father of the House will correct me if I am wrong, but I think it is about €37 million.

The fact that it is not the Government that is actually paying for those shares, but the Gibraltar Savings Bank, actually supports the point that I am making. The Government would not have been able – unless it wanted to really get within £10 million or less from the legal borrowing limits – to have paid for the purchase of those shares directly itself. This is what we are seeing, Mr Speaker, and this is unprecedented in the political history of Gibraltar. A Government that is willing to ride roughshod, Mr Speaker, over legal borrowing limits. An architecture which this Parliament has been introduced, very carefully introduced, in order to ensure that no Government borrows in a manner that becomes unaffordable to this community, and also then, Mr Speaker, keep it from the scrutiny of this House by then refusing – as I demonstrated in the other motion – by refusing to answer questions about the Sunborn and about loans provided by Credit Finance and about exactly how the money that has been placed in Credit Finance has actually been spent, Mr Speaker. For those reasons, I do not resile one word of what I have said, Mr Speaker, in relation to that part of the interview, in relation to the management of public finances and the economy.

Let me say this – just a final point, Mr Speaker – that it is all very well for the hon. Gentleman at Budget time to come to this House and say, ‘I have a £70 million surplus. The Government has a £70 million surplus’. Mr Speaker, it is complete nonsense. If the Government has just used £400 million from Credit Finance in order to pay for expenditure that the Government would have of its own pocket have had to pay, of course it is going to have £70 million of Government surplus because it is using the Gibraltar Savings Bank in order to effectively defer expenditure that is properly the Governments, Mr Speaker. Because if the Government had spent that £400 million, if the Government, for example, had paid £347 million to all those Government-owned companies, which the hon. the Father of the House admitted had been paid, if the Government had done so directly, it has £347 million less than it has now.

1520 So, Mr Speaker, he cannot crow about a £70 million Government surplus or whatever it is going to be the surplus – I have no doubt he is going to produce a substantial surplus at Budget time – because the reality is that the Government’s books, as a consequence of everything that he has done as Chief Minister of Gibraltar, as a consequence of that it really cannot be trusted, Mr Speaker. It cannot be trusted as a true reflection of the public finances of this community and indeed as to the state of the economy. (Banging on desks)

1525 Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to contribute to the motion?
The Hon. Mr Bossano.

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member opposite clearly likes to hear me, because he keeps on saying things that he knows I will not be able to resist.

1530 Obviously the hon. Member no longer thinks like he used to think when he was GSLP. (Laughter) So, although I thought he had made a mistake in the move that he made, I am now revising that opinion because I think he really does not belong, and maybe he never did ever belong with us.

1535 Look, if the hon. Member is worried about Spain being upset with North Korea comparisons, I do not think the GSLP would have been very worried about this... you never know who people like to be compared with or not. Suppose North Korea does not like being compared to Spain. I mean that is a much more dangerous proposition. (Laughter) They are a nuclear power. I have tried to find out what the feeling is like in North Korea, but I have not had any feedback so far.

1540 If there are now Spanish fishermen catching more fish than ever on our reefs, then why are they so upset that we put the reefs there and complaining that they are catching less? (Laughter) I could understand the level of contradiction and ignorance on fishing and on North Korea, but what I cannot understand is the same level being displayed on things on which he has raised questions before and been given answers before. I have got a dilemma, Mr Speaker, when I stand up to follow him, because I say to myself, well look, I have told him where he is getting his numbers wrong three or four times. Now he keeps on getting them wrong. There are two possibilities, either he is so ignorant of the subject matter that he cannot follow the helpful explanations that I give him or else he does not really care about the explanation and he is going to keep on saying the same things whatever explanations I give him. My dilemma is that if it is the second then it does not really matter because whatever the explanation he is still going to say the same thing, but if it is the first, I may be making a mistake in helping him because eventually he might get his act right and then he might become more difficult to contradict if he learnt to get the sums right.

1550 So I can tell him that certainly his comments in this article are not very enlightening. The hon. Member says, ‘Anyone who knows anything about economics knows that economic growth funded by borrowing is simply deferred taxation’. Cameron is going to an election this month, not very far away, precisely on the opposite proposition. The entire global economy is engaged in something called quantitative easing, on the basis that the engine for economic growth is banks printing money, which is effectively Government selling debt to central banks. He says, ‘Everybody that knows anything about economics knows the very opposite’ – not true. Nobody that knows anything about economics says such a nonsensical sentence as the one that he wrote in this article.

1560 The entire global business community does something which is called gearing, by which they invest more than they have and they make a profit because the result of borrowing and investing at a margin means that the equity holders get a better return. Without borrowing, we would be living like the Neanderthals in Gorham’s Cave. Does he not know that? It is true that in opposition the GSLP on occasions criticise the level of debt – yes, but it is also true that I never did, because in fact the learned backbencher would point to that distinction on more than one occasion and I always said the important thing is not how much you borrow; the important thing is how you use the money that you borrow, because if you use the money profitably, then you make money which allows you to service the debt, pay the loan and have money left for something else.

1570 So if you borrow £100 and you waste it, that is bad borrowing. If you borrow £1,000 and you make a lot of money, that is good borrowing. So the essence of the judgement on borrowing has to be, in my judgement, whether the money is going to result in the creation of growth. He is saying that borrowing is incapable of creating growth. Well, no, that is what borrowing should be for, precisely to create growth. What you do not do is borrow to pay for pay rises because then you can never escape that debt trap.

1575 It is true that there is a ceiling on the debt, but the ceiling on the debt, surely he must know, is a ceiling that was introduced by the previous Government, a ceiling which he used to criticise by the way, because he used to criticise it when it was £100 million. Yes, he criticised me for not agreeing with him and agreeing with the Hon. Mr Caruana in the debate of 2003.

Hon. D A Feetham: Will he give way and I will explain to him?

Hon. J J Bossano: Yes, I will give way, of course, I always give way.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am very grateful to the hon. the Father of the House for giving way in relation to this particular point.

The point that I made in 2003 was this, that the legal borrowing limit, and this is pre the new constitution, was £100 million. The then Government had borrowed over £80 million – in fact I think the budget was £78 million, but by the time of the General Election it was about £86 million. And the point that I was making there, and indeed is consistent with the point that I have always made on this particular issue, was that the then GSD Government had entered into a PFI arrangement in respect of the Hospital, which was off balance sheet, and then if you took into account that off balance sheet borrowing, it would take it over the £100 million.

Indeed, I think that I was right in relation to that. Not only was the point well made, but also the use of PFI arrangements, of which I was critical, and he and the hon. the backbencher were as one in relation to this particular point... now it is accepted that PFI arrangements should form part of the public debt. There has been a report in Parliament in the United Kingdom. So indeed my criticism of Credit Finance is exactly the same as I made of the hon. backbencher at the time. I do not like debt that is off balance sheet because it does not give a true reflection of what is the public debt of the community, and that is the point that I wished to make and I think you for allowing me to make it.

1595

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I think my memory of what he said is better than his memory of what he said (Interjections) but I will make a point of getting it and sending it to him in writing so that he will see that I am right. (Laughter) I know that he has criticised the PFIs, I know that, but on that debate on the radio he was not criticising the PFIs. On that debate over the radio where he was criticising the £100 million, which he said was due to mature and would have to be rolled over. (Interjection) Well, I will get it for him.

1600

The point is, Mr Speaker, that it is true that before he joined the dark side he used to criticise it, that is true, but he stopped criticising it and started doing it when he joined them because it did not end with the hospital, it carried on in other areas. I remember on one particular occasion, for example, when I noticed from the opposite benches a figure of £20 million, which did not seem to add up with the figures that had been provided to me on a big list of numbers – I have the advantage that I can home in to numbers, which many other people do not – and when I asked, ‘What is this?’, the Hon. Chief Minister said he could not remember and I found that odd. I mean, £20 million is not pocket money, in fact –

1605

Hon. D A Feetham: That is what I say about the Sunborn loans [Inaudible].

Hon. J J Bossano: Of course, I know you do that but the £20 million was money that he had borrowed but had forgotten to tell us anything about and he was going to do it to buy shares in a private company run by Mr Pardo to do the central thing – (Interjection) Midtown, I mean, and that was something that he did not object to. I did not object to it either, I just asked what it was for and they could not remember, and it took more Houses and more questions before the memory all came back and the amnesia disappeared.

Well, look, if the hon. Member wants to criticise the principle of the thing, he cannot criticise the principle of the thing because something is happening now with £100 million, which before happened with £10 million, because of course every year you will find that the volume of money gets bigger, simply because everything that we are doing in a growing economy is related to a growing economy. The hon. Member has never yet – since he started speaking on the level of debt – never yet talked about debt except in absolute terms. Talking about debt in absolute terms, if he cares to speak to his learned backbencher, is being an economic illiterate. We were constantly told, ‘You are an economic illiterate because you say the debt is £100 million. You must not say it is £100 million, you must say it is 10% of GDP or 5% of GDP and that is the only measure that counts’. I do not mind him using figures, but he belongs to a party that considers that to be evidence of illiteracy, unless of course now that he is leading it, the doctrine has changed, but in other areas it does not seem to have changed.

I must say that I tended to agree with him that when the questions that he answered in this article were printed and I read them – I do not read very much these days, but they sent it and I saw his picture on the front and thought maybe I can find out what he is up to – (Laughter) and what do I find? What measures does the GSD have in mind to help benefit the small business community? Ah! This is one of the areas, like so many areas, that we are taking soundings and consulting businesses as to what their concerns and requirements are, ergo – to use the new jargon that I have just heard from him and his predecessor... ergo I have not got a clue. (Interjection and laughter) I mean my Latin is a bit rusty since they stopped using it in church and they went into English. (Laughter)

1630

1640 We have taken a view that as a responsible Opposition we have an obligation to spell out our policies and ideas in any given areas. For this reason we have already announced many months that our policy ideas and important matters... Well, look, all the policy ideas that he started spelling is that he is going to go around asking people what they want. I was impressed last time and I responded to him when he said that it is not in Gibraltar's interest that political (Interjection) debate should be about an auction for votes by seeing who promises to do more. I agree entirely with him on that and therefore I was a bit disappointed because he seemed to be heading in that direction and I believe that he was right in what he said the last time and it is a philosophy that I agree with. I think we have to commit ourselves to doing the things that we think are needed and we believe we can afford to deliver. (Interjection)

1645 We may have different priorities – that is to say, one party may attach more importance to one thing and another party to another – and then the choice for the people is whether they want a particular direction or another direction. But if we all promise everything to everyone and then it is just a question of how much more we can do, the answer is that in the long run we will all live to regret it, and therefore I have to tell him that although I will not be correcting his figures on this occasion, I am afraid they are not right. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to speak on the motion?
I call upon the mover to reply.

1655 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the hon. Gentleman for now having accepted that this is an important motion that I bring, because a few minutes earlier, or at least three hours earlier, he said that the motions that I brought were just a waste of time designed to filibuster. So the duality, Mr Speaker, returns – one minute we are told one thing, the next we are told something else – but something quite dramatically different. One moment we are told something is worthless and the next moment we are told something is of huge value. So one moment it is black and one moment it is white. You would not really expect that, other from somebody who one moment was GSLP and the next moment is GSD. I reminded him, Mr Speaker, in my first Budget reply that he really does remind me of a soldier sometimes: left, right, left, right. We just do not know which side he may be on on a particular day.

1665 But, Mr Speaker, he says that this is the first time in the history of this Parliament that somebody has brought a motion about something in a magazine, as if to say about something outside of this House. Well, Mr Speaker, he must really have a short memory because in September 2011, the hon. the now backbencher, as Chief Minister at the time, as the Leader of the House, brought a motion not about a magazine, but about my Facebook page, Mr Speaker, and something that I had said there. (Interjection) He called that, Mr Speaker, magnificent exposition of the financial situation in which Gibraltar found itself at the time a 'grubby podcast', Mr Speaker – a grubby podcast.

1670 Mr Speaker, I must be a bit behind Mr Speaker, I must be a bit behind, because I always consider myself to be avant-garde, in terms of technology, and I have not brought a motion about something happening in on Tumblr. I have brought in about something happening in the old paper form of magazine. Perhaps I should have gone for the Issuu Issue version of the magazine online and quoted that in the motion and the hon. Member might not then have drawn this distinction, because this is not the first motion that is brought about something that has happened outside of this House or said by a Member of this House outside of this House, and he was here, Mr Speaker. I forget where he used to sit, Mr Speaker, to be told to be quiet when the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition wanted him to. (Interjection) I think it was in that region, but he must have been asleep at the time, Mr Speaker, because this is clearly not the first time that such a thing happens and therefore, Mr Speaker, he is wrong about that as well.

1680 But he accuses me, Mr Speaker, perhaps in an accusation as erroneous as all the others – and I note that he seems to be sleepy, but we are expecting him to speak on the next motion, Mr Speaker – that I engage mouth before brain. Well, Mr Speaker, I will let others be the judge of that, because I clearly cannot accept it. I would not do it if I accepted that. I would not do it if I knew I was doing it; but let us let others be the judge of one and not try to be judges of ourselves, for reasons that I will come along to in a moment in relation to certain of the other accusations that the hon. Gentleman makes.

1690 But he says that I engage mouth before brain. Is it that that was exactly what he was doing when 180 minutes ago he described the motions I bring as a waste of time, only to now describe one of them as actually a very important motion? Or is that what was happening when he was sitting here as a Member of the Government when a motion was brought about something happening in Facebook and he now says that this has never happened before?

1695 Mr Speaker, the hon. Member says things which are demonstrably untrue, as I have now seen he accepts about some of the things he said in 'In Touch', to such an extent that he gives credence to Bernard Shaw's statement, Mr Speaker, that politics is sometimes the paradise of charlatans. He says that people hold their breath when I am about to speak on the subject of Spain –

A Member: Collective breath.

1700 Hon. Chief Minister: That people hold their collective breath when I am about to speak on the subject of Spain because actually things are better handled calmly etc, as no doubt he would wish people to impute he suggests he would handle matters if he were ever in a position of authority to do so.

1705 Well, Mr Speaker, I know when people held their breaths that summer. People held their breaths that summer, Mr Speaker, when once again, like the erstwhile Ken Boon of the television series of the same name, he got on his white charger – I think he might have been in France on holiday that September or August, Mr Speaker – to come back to Gibraltar to help the Government in dealing with the aggression from the Spanish state. He went on television or radio and was reported in the Gibraltar Chronicle as saying, ‘Of course I will be prepared to remove the concrete blocks’. Gibraltar collectively took a deep breath and thought what sort of political animal is this, the like of which we have not seen before, who is prepared to bend his arm or allow his arm to be bent with the pressure that has been put to bear on our community? Today on this subject, tomorrow on another and on the third on the issue of sovereignty.

1710 He tuts, Mr Speaker, but the headline in the Chronicle was very clear and his words were not capable of another interpretation, to such an extent that he spent most of the next month trying to say that he meant something different.

1715 So if I have heard the sharp collective intake of breath once in this community, it was then. It was then, Mr Speaker. A sharp collective intake of breath demonstrating the concern that the man, who the party in Opposition were putting up to be Chief Minister might be of the ilk that one day he might have a position of responsibility and his arm may be as twistable as he demonstrated on that day it is on a subject as important as our defence of British Gibraltar Territorial Waters. Not quite, Mr Speaker, the negotiator that people will want to put in the chair that I have the privilege and honour of incumbing the will of the people of Gibraltar.

1720 Mr Speaker, he says that he accepts – and I commend him for it – that I did not say, as he said, to the magazine that I had compared North Korea to Spain at the United Nations. He says that it is worse, Mr Speaker. I was wrong in the magazine, but it is worse. ‘You did it on Sky News and the BBC’, and I say to him also on Channel 4, worse because it went around the world. Not worse, Mr Speaker, but well thought out, calmly delivered, designed to go around the world, and in that way what had always been a little local difficulty for the world that Spain could get away with, bullying us, setting up the queues... and when I say Spain, Mr Speaker, of course I do not mean my cousins in Los Barrios (A Member: Or La Línea) or La Línea.

1730 Mr Speaker, what we managed was that by artfully ensuring that we captured the imagination of the world’s media, Spain, its Partido Popular Government, and of course, Mr Margallo were exposed to the scrutiny of the world’s press that then saw what was happening here and we soon were able to use that as leverage. Are relations as they should be? No. Have we been able to cure the ill with whom Mr Margallo was obviously elected? No, Mr Speaker, but I challenge him to say that he would be enjoying a cosy relationship with Mr Margallo because there is only one way that he might be enjoying that cosy relationship.

1740 But by comparing Spain to North Korea, Mr Speaker, at that moment what we did was manage to get the world’s attention, because the world’s attention was not on us when we had queues of three and four hours, because that was just a little local difficulty in Gibraltar. The Hon. the Father of the House was ahead of him in reprimanding me for that, Mr Speaker, for that comparison, for that odious comparison as the Father of the House saw it, because given his socialist credentials he does not see that there is necessarily anything wrong with North Korea and I should not have been comparing the behaviour of Señor Margallo with them.

1745 The hon. Gentleman has been left with having to say, ‘But because you didn’t say the Government of Spain or Mr Margallo or the Partido Popular you tarnished the whole of Spain with that brush and you therefore annoyed everyone in Spain, even those who might be our erstwhile friends’. Mr Speaker, he has got it completely wrong, and the proof that he has got it completely wrong is that in international politics, in international diplomacy even, and politics and diplomacy are two different things and politicians are not diplomats... officials are diplomats. Politicians are politicians. One often might refer to a nation when representing the actions of its Government. Spain does it of us. We do it of Spain. Spain does it of the United Kingdom and the United Kingdom does it of Spain.

1750 The hon. the backbencher when he was addressing the United Nations on a number of occasions when I was proudly there with the Father of the House, would often say, ‘What Spain cannot do, what Spain cannot sustain...’ and he was not required to say ‘what the Government of the United Kingdom of Spain... what the political party that is today in Government in the kingdom of Spain’. Mr Speaker, in the United Nations you need to give a speech quickly, in eight minutes sometimes. It is not fair that we should only have eight minutes, but that is sometimes what we have and we cannot say, ‘The Government of the kingdom of Spain’ every time that we have to say it and neither do diplomats or politicians and everybody knows what 1760 is meant by it, but perhaps he is the only one who does not know. Perhaps he is the only one who thinks that I was comparing the Government of Spain that did the Trilateral Agreement, which we support, and the Córdoba Agreements, parts of which we support, with the Government that was setting up the seven hour queues. Everybody else knew that that is what we meant.

1765 In fact the hon. Gentleman, in throwing my words back at me, has made the point more eloquently, inadvertently of course, because I said, ‘The face of Spain that we see today is no different to that to which we saw in the 1950s and 1960s that is reminiscent of North Korea’. The face of Spain is not my cousin in Los Barrios, is not the magnificent Gemma Araujo in La Línea of the Socialist Party. Is not Señor Moratinos, because they were not the face of Spain in August 2013. Unfortunately we might all think – although who the Spanish people choose as their government is a matter entirely for them – the face of Spain is its Government, the Partido Popular Government. Mr Speaker, am I the only one who thinks that 1770 the comparison between Spain and North Korea was apposite?

Mr Speaker, the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Westminster Parliament when they were analysing the matter of Gibraltar – and they actually came here and took my evidence at the Garrison Library and they invited representations from third parties, although I note the hon. Gentleman did not bother to even ask them for the opportunity to address them – produced a table in their excellent Report, and the Foreign 1775 Affairs Committee of the Westminster Parliament often does ride in at just the right time to push the executive, the British Government, in the right direction. The hon. the backbencher had the benefit of that in 2002, 2003 and in the late 1990s, and I had the benefit of it in Gibraltar two years ago. The Foreign Affairs Committee included in their findings a table that set out the nations – the ambassadors of whom had most been called to the Foreign Office for a ticking off, i.e. a cup of tea – and in that table the Foreign 1780 Affairs Committee thought it was appropriate to include North Korea, Mr Speaker. Useful, Mr Speaker, in particular for one reason, because their ambassador had been called in twice less often than the Spanish ambassador being called in over Gibraltar.

Well, Mr Speaker, moreover, this is not the only time that Spain has been compared to North Korea. A Spanish magistrate, his name is Elpidio José Silva was recently being dealt with by the Spanish Supreme 1785 Court in Madrid and he said that the standards being applied to him in justice were reminiscent of North Korea. So at least that is one Spaniard who agrees with me, Mr Speaker. (Laughter) I follow the Spanish news and this was the lead on the Televisión Española news on one particular occasion. It is clear the hon. Gentleman does not.

But what annoyed Spanish public opinion about something I said at the United Nations was not the comparison with North Korea – and it is true I said something at the United Nations...not that because I did 1790 not say it at the United Nations – that led to my statements being deprecated not just by Partido Popular politicians, but also by Socialist Party politicians, and the hon. Gentleman should know what it is. I rely on him to know what it is, because he is the Leader of the Opposition and he could be in Government. That is what politics and democracy is about, but he needs to know these things. He is paying more attention to that than to some of the things that he is obviously paying attention to.

I was deprecated by politicians in Spain on both sides of the Partido Popular and Socialist Party divide for having told the Fourth Committee, I believe – not the Committee of 24, but I believe the Fourth 1800 Committee – that a Spanish Guardia Civil vessel had shot at a Gibraltarian jet skier a rubber bullet in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters. I stand by what I said. I have seen the video evidence. A complaint was made to the Royal Gibraltar Police. The Royal Gibraltar Police elevated that complaint to both the Government of Gibraltar and the Convent. The Convent and the Government of Gibraltar elevated that complaint to the Foreign Office and the Minister for Europe sought explanations in writing from his counterpart in Madrid. The explanation of course was eventually that it did not happen, despite the video 1805 evidence. That led to my being condemned by the Partido Popular politicians and Socialist Party politicians and by the union that represents the Guardia Civil.

If what the hon. Gentleman is telling the public in Gibraltar is that if a Gibraltarian is shot at in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters and there is video evidence of that, the complaint is elevated by the Royal 1810 Gibraltar Police to the Government of Gibraltar and the Convent, the Convent and the Government of Gibraltar elevate that complaint to the Foreign Office and the Minister for Europe and the Minister for Europe puts that complaint in writing – therefore also believing in it because we have all seen the video evidence – that the Chief Minister of Gibraltar should not reflect that at the United Nations when he goes to report to the Fourth Committee which is looking at the Article 173 Report made under the charter, which the colonising or administering power is making to the Fourth Committee, should not report that because it might annoy Spanish political representatives... in fact, all of whom I have been trying to curry favour with 1815 the union of the Guardia Civil, despite it being clear that it happened – then Mr Speaker, that is another piece of crucial evidence of what the hon. Gentleman might be like as a Chief Minister.

It is one thing to say that you do not poke your finger in peoples’ eyes just to annoy them, but it is quite another to say, when the heat of international public opinion is focused on Gibraltar, ‘I might remove the blocks’ – sharp intake of breath from the community. It is quite another, Mr Speaker, to say, ‘I don’t want

1820 to see Spanish politicians annoyed with us and therefore I would not say at the United Nations things that might annoy them'. Whether the Socialist Party is annoyed or the Partido Popular is annoyed, we have lots of friends in the Socialist Party, very few but some friends in the Partido Popular, but when things happen they must be elevated to the right level. Indeed, Mr Speaker, in the time that they were in office and in the time that we were in office, when the hon. the Father of the House returned to the United Nations, 1825 there have been occasions when we have had to say such things.

The hon. the backbencher has on occasion referred to Frontier queues in the time before the 2003 election of the Socialist Party in Madrid, when he had to deal with señor Matutes and after that with señor
 Piquet when he was reporting the conniving attempt by the then British Government and the Spanish Government to deal with the joint sovereignty issues. We annoyed everybody, Mr Speaker. In fact I daresay 1830 that I have not yet managed to annoy the British Government and the Spanish Government and even the Spanish opposition probably at the time as much as the hon. the backbencher managed to do in 2002-03 with the full support of everybody in this House and in the rest of Gibraltar when he was defeating, with the support of all of us, the joint sovereignty attempts by the United Kingdom Government.

But to have a Leader of the Opposition, who is seriously saying, 'You have got to mind your Ps and Qs at the United Nations, whatever it is that you may be reporting', is absolutely wrong. And in his mind, my comparison of North Korea and Spain and the report of what happened on that water, on that day, risking the life of that Gibraltarian when he was shot at with a rubber bullet by the Guardia Civil are all one. He is absolutely wrong to rule out the fact that you sometimes have to put yourself in political harm's way because your job is to defend Gibraltar and the Gibraltarians and to tell the UN what is happening, how it is 1840 happening and when it is happening.

But, Mr Speaker, that tangentially led him to say that he was going to comment about the Fishing Agreement, and he said, 'Now there is no rule of law in Gibraltar because of the way that the hon.
 Gentleman has dealt with the Fishing Agreement. Previously there was and now there isn't'. For all my talk of the rule of law, he said of me, the rule of law is now something which is no longer respected since I took 1845 over. Mr Speaker, we have had this debate on a number of occasions. To respect the rule of law one has to say that the law should be applied fairly and equally to all, without discrimination or distinction. We make laws in this Parliament. We do not enforce laws. The hon. Gentleman seems to think that if he is in Government, he is responsible for the enforcement of laws, and he has already on a number of occasions suggested what he might do in that respect. Well, Mr Speaker, another third piece of evidence of why 1850 people might want to think twice before ever giving him the responsibility of being Chief Minister.

Mr Speaker, what does drive a coach and horses through the rule of law is to have an agreement between the Government – in particular a Government which involves him, because he was a member of it for four years – that allows third parties, namely people from outside Gibraltar, to offend against a particular Act of this Parliament and allow that to happen by agreement – that is a real driving of a coach and horses through the rule of law. That, Mr Speaker, as I have often told the House, is what we interpret 1855 the 1999 Agreement to be, since the days that Joshua Gabay, more eloquently than I ever will be able to, put the argument in 1999 to the hon. then leader of the House. But let us have an objective assessment of the subject, Mr Speaker, of whether the rule of law is respected in Gibraltar since I took over or not, without regard to what was happening before. Let us just deal with his allegation that under me the rule of law is to 1860 be considered not being observed.

Well, Mr Speaker, as the House knows – and I was very humbled and privileged to accept – a citation came from London from the Minister for Europe to his Excellency the Governor proposing that I should be appointed Queens Counsel on the basis – and this is their citation, not mine – of my commitment to the observance of the rule of law. Mr Speaker, the proposal of the Minister for Europe was accepted by his 1865 Excellency the Governor, on behalf of Her Majesty the Queen, given that that is his role and the representation in Gibraltar, and by the Supreme Court of Gibraltar. If I had to choose who to be judged by, Mr Speaker, objectively, fairly and without any reason politically for wanting to propose the opposite, I would rather be judged by the Chief Justice in the Supreme Court, the Governor and the Minister for Europe than by him. Mr Speaker, I am now very proud indeed that the grandchild of the Attorney General's 1870 maid is now a Queens Counsel on the basis of that particular citation. Mr Speaker, but perhaps there is another opportunity... that is a reference, Mr Speaker, to the fact that my grandmother used to be a maid for the Attorney General in the 1930's and she is from Los Barrios, which is where my cousins, who were not so annoyed at my remarks at the United Nations, come from, just to explain it to him, Mr Speaker.

But to say that the whole community has seen the undoing of the Fishing Agreement without a replacement is something which enjoys universal condemnation and exposed me to criticism. Well, 1875 Mr Speaker, it exposed me to criticism from him constantly, because he has got very few arguments and he makes them all the time although none of them are valid. But, for example, it did not expose me to criticism from Louis Wink because when I met Louis Wink, who was then Commissioner of Police, the week after we were elected, not three months later when the Hon. Mr Cortes confirmed on Facebook that I had done, 1880 on behalf of the Government and in implementation of our manifesto commitment... when I told Louis

1885 Wink that the Government did not consider that he should be bound by the 1999 Fishing Agreement, Louis said to me in that usual earthy tone for which he is famous, ‘Mr Picardo, Chief Minister, thank goodness, I feel liberated at last. That Agreement was untenable. It stopped us from doing what we had to do. Now we are free to act in the way that we consider is appropriate. It should never have been done.’ So regardless of what his recollection might be, at least I have the comfort of knowing, Mr Speaker, that one of his executive members agreed with me at the time.

1890 Mr Speaker, the hon. Member then went on to talk about public debt and lack of transparency and said it is all my fault. I did not know whether to be heartened or concerned, Mr Speaker, because in speaking to the other motion, again the duality came in. Speaking to the other motion he said that it was the hon. the Father of the House who was running public finances and the economy and all the rest of it and therefore he was very happy with the fact that it was all in his hands, rather his hands than mine, and all the rest of it. In this motion he wanted to say the opposite. So the fact that he had said one thing and was now going to say the other was of course of absolutely no concern whatsoever. He said, ‘It is all your fault, Chief Minister. You are the one who is creating all this lack of transparency, all this failure to answer questions.’ Having 1895 also said that it is now the Father of the House who answers those questions because I have given him specific ministerial responsibility for the Savings Bank, which is where the money from Credit Finance flows. Then, Mr Speaker, he did one of his... to do a loose translation of a Spanish phrase ‘hizo una de las suya’ He said, ‘As I demonstrated in the earlier motion’. My recollection is that he lost the vote on the other motion. That actually the Father of the House got up and demonstrated everything he had said in relation to 1900 public finances and the economy was wrong and the demonstration was of not knowing what he was talking about and not that what he was talking about was correct. So how could it get worse, Mr Speaker? How could it all get worse? Well, it could get worse in one particular way. He did not just admit that what he had said in the context of the magazine he admitted was incorrect, for which I commend him, he then went on to say that in fact everything that is going to be said in the Estimates Book, soon to be published, is going to be a false picture, tarnishing not just me and the Father of the House – both of us, one of us or each of us...
 1905 I do not know in what particular mood he may be at the moment – but every civil servant in the Treasury who is involved, and the Financial Secretary, who as we all know is not a civil servant at the moment. Well, Mr Speaker, that is really quite extraordinary. It is quite extraordinary that he has given notice, Mr Speaker, in effect, that he will not believe what he reads in the Estimates Book. Mr Speaker, even if he were not to believe it, he has got the Estimates Book, he has got the balance sheet of Credit Finance, he has got where the investments of the Savings Bank are. Mr Speaker, he has got more information than we ever had. He has probably got more information than most people have, but he has put us on notice that he does not believe the estimates.

1915 Well, Mr Speaker, last year they were saved by the bell, because the hon. the backbencher came in just in time as they were considering either abstaining or not voting in favour of the budget. But in the time that has passed since that debate and will pass before the next debate – you never know there might even be an election between now and then – (Interjection) I challenge him (Laughter) given that he disagrees with how the money is going to be spent, given that he now says he will not believe the Estimates Book, to vote against the budget. To have the courage of his convictions, which he says he has, and when we debate on 1920 the Appropriation Bill to vote against the Appropriation Bill, but I know he will not do that because the duality will kick in and having the courage of your convictions will mean getting up, saying one thing and voting quite the other way. If it were anybody else it would surprise me, but it is his him.

Mr Speaker, then he said that I had gone around Gibraltar telling people that Gibraltar was bankrupt. Although he was here for the 2011-12 Budget debate on the Appropriation Bill for that year, he obviously 1925 did not hear what I had to say. The hon. the backbencher did and brought a self-serving and aggressive motion to try and deal with the important point I was making to try and obfuscate it a little bit, in terms much more aggressive (Interjections) than I am bringing motions, because it was a motion that said not just what the facts of the motion said, but it reached a conclusion that said that I was therefore unfit to govern. I said that this is a kangaroo court. I am being tried by a majority that is going to follow, because in those 1930 days, of course, this lot were whipped and they all had to vote with the head honcho – in this instance they will all vote their consciences, right? (Interjections) – and that I was unfit to govern.

I said the people of Gibraltar will decide who is fit to govern and, Mr Speaker, they were the judges of whether I was fit to govern or not. They returned a verdict that I was and I do not appreciate that they appear to be too angry with the work that I am doing, but they will have their opportunity to return a new 1935 verdict very shortly – you never know, perhaps even before the Budget – and therefore if I stand here in future it is only because motions brought by the hon. Members last time with the vitriol and what the hon. Gentleman commended to the Hon. Charles Bruzon as the essential element of politics, namely ‘mala leche’ are not the way we do things, because actually they really are not as relevant as the hon. Members obviously thought.

1940 But what I said during the course of that budget debate was by the measure applied in 1996 or 1995, which was the last Budget debate, by you, then Chief Minister, let us look at what the debt per capita is today and how it has grown. If it has grown so much and you were so concerned in 1995, should we not, by applying that measure, be equally concerned? In the same way as in my Budget speeches, some of which I would commend to the hon. Gentleman – in particular those I gave when I was in opposition and had more time to be inspired and to search through for some excellent comparisons – was social insurance, because I used to say to the hon. Gentleman that GSLP raised social insurance when it was in Government and we do not resile from the fact that that was appropriate at the time. You at the time criticised the increases in social insurance, and I hesitate to say ‘you’ – I am using that as shorthand. I believe it might have been Mr Vasquez who was on his front bench in Opposition before then – and you, the GSD in Opposition, used to call social insurance increases ‘taxation by the back door’.

A Member: [Inaudible]

Hon. Chief Minister: No, taxation by the back door or some similar description, which was not a tax on jobs. (Interjections) Right? Hidden taxation, I think. ‘Hidden taxation’ was the phrase, and I used to say to him that the GSLP used to put up social insurance and there is nothing wrong in doing so, but by your standards you are putting up this hidden taxation by x amount, sometimes more than inflation etc. The trick always was – I will just let the hon. Gentleman into it – the trick always was you put it up the year after the election and two years before. You do not put it up the year of the election and the year after the election, you put it up by more than you should have put it up for the two years before, something we have demonstrated we have not done.

But Mr Speaker, putting up social insurance contributions is something that sometimes has to happen, but what I was doing in taking the argument to the hon. Gentleman, as I was doing on debt, was saying by the measure you established. So if he wants to come back to me, and say, ‘Ah, but you said about debt and now you are doing...’, he needs to look at what I actually said about debt and what I said they would do, because another thing I said they would do was that if they were elected they would increase the debt quite considerably. Of course, it caught us all by surprise that the debt had been increased very very considerably and we only found out, having had the Estimates Book in April, estimating that there would be £480 million, I believe. We only found out, and I say ‘we’ because I mean Mr Azopardi, who was the leader of the PDP, myself and the rest of the community, on the night of the Leaders’ debate, when we were finally told by the hon. Gentleman, it had gone up to £520 million. And that is why I used to say, how are they going to fund their manifesto ‘D’ ‘E’ ‘B’ ‘T’ debt?

But, of course, the other argument available, Mr Speaker, is that one of the things the hon. Gentleman constantly says is that we are receiving a lot of money in the context of tobacco sales and that our revenue is up. Mr Speaker, either we are taking more debt or our revenue is up. He has got to try and be consistent in some way in the way that he deals with these things, but he has got to look at what I said before the election.

He says he criticised the PFI when he was the leader of the now defunct Labour Party, the one that merged with the GSD, but accepted the name of the GSD and that only one or two of its members should be in the executive. He said, ‘I do not like debt which is off balance sheets’, and nobody has dealt with that better than I saw the Father of the House deal with it a moment ago, because of course it was not just the PFI deal that related to the Hospital that hon. Members did a balance sheet, there was a lot more done on balance sheet or does he forget the £100 million hole that we found in companies when we were elected? That is in addition to the £520 million of debt that there was. Does he forget, Mr Speaker, or is it that he was, to take his phraseology, ‘blissfully unaware’ of the deals being done by the Government of which he was a member – i.e. between 2007 and 2011 on the Midtown and on the car parks? Mr Speaker, does he not know those things? Was he really a member of the Government or was he perhaps like the others who accompanied the now backbencher in his journey through Government – really no more than a decorative wallflower?

I have pursued the facts. I have reflected that this motion does not call for people to judge the Hon. Member to be fit or unfit for any purpose – that is a matter for the general public – but simply that the House should reflect and condemn the fact that the public have been misled and I will commend him for the fact that indeed he has accepted that some of the things that he has said in this magazine were wrong, although he has then tried to create one of those smokescreens which he is so adept at producing, but so unable to maintain, in trying to avoid the inevitable conclusion that the motion is correct and it should be supported.

Mr Speaker, I therefore commend the motion to the House, seek its support, and as the hon. the backbencher did earlier, seek that each Member be polled individually in respect of the vote.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question in the terms of the motion proposed –

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker can I, before you do, the word ‘prevent’ should be ‘pervert’ in the motion. I think that is –

2005 Mr Speaker: There is a typographical error in the motion. Instead of ‘prevent’ in the last paragraph it should be ‘pervert’.

I now put the question in terms of the motion proposed by the Chief Minister. Division is required.

2010 A division was called for and voting resulted as follows:

PRIVATE MEMBER’S MOTION

Report of the Dr Giraldi Home Inquiry –
To note the findings of the Report –
Motion carried/lost

Clerk: Private Member’s motion, the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, it is five past nine and somebody has just tweeted that – I thought it was quite amusing – we have gone from “Aqui no se pesca” to “aqui no se cena esta noche”

2020

Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move the motion standing in my name, which reads as follows:

‘This House:

Notes the findings of the Report of the Dr Giraldi Home Inquiry, produced by the Inquiry Chairman, the Rt. Hon Sir Jonathan Parker. The House particularly notes the following:

- 1. That all the allegations of abuse in the Dr Giraldi Home were properly investigated by the Social Services Agency as and when the allegations were made;*
- 2. That those allegations of a criminal nature were referred to and investigated, as appropriate, by the Royal Gibraltar Police;*
- 3. That there was no conspiracy by any Government Minister, or indeed anyone else, to prevent the allegations in the witness statements filed on behalf of Joanna Hernandez from being put into the public domain and/or becoming the subject of judicial investigation, whether by delaying or obstructing the hearing of the claim, or by stifling the claim by prolonging the proceedings unnecessarily, or by any other means;*
- 4. That the serious claims were untrue, grossly exaggerated or unsubstantiated by credible evidence;*
- 5. That staff at the Dr Giraldi Home were subjected to unfounded, offensive and regrettable criticism;*
- 6. This House is grateful to the Care Staff at the Dr Giraldi Home, who despite having been the victims of the most spurious allegations, stood steadfast in their resolve to provide the best possible care to residents and service users in very difficult circumstances.*

This House thanks and re-affirms its trust in the Royal Gibraltar Police, outgoing Attorney General Ricky Rhoda QC and the Social Services Agency.

This House resolves to repair the damage caused to the reputation and good standing of the Dr Giraldi Home, its staff, the Royal Gibraltar Police, the Social Services Agency and the Attorney General by informing, through a letter from the Leader of the House, the Spanish TV Channel Antena 3 and the producers of the Espejo Publico Programme, of the outcome of the Inquiry.'

Mr Speaker, this motion concerns one of the most disgraceful and sad episodes in Gibraltar politics. An episode that involved the systematic and merciless exploitation of allegations by Members opposite, which they were told on numerous occasions, Mr Speaker, both in this House and outside it, had been investigated by the Social Services Agency and the RGP and had been found to be without foundation.

2025 Some of the most serious allegations, which as they well knew had also been considered by her Majesty's Attorney General at the time, and again found to be unsupported by credible evidence. I know, Mr Speaker, that the Hon. Members opposite will say that at least they conducted a public inquiry, but the point is that the inquiry would not have been necessary had they chosen to accept the assurances of the Royal Gibraltar Police, the Social Services Agency, Her Majesty's Attorney General and the Chief Minister 2030 of the day that the allegations had been investigated and found to be without foundation.

The stark reality is that the Inquiry has been a cure for an illness that they themselves invented, Mr Speaker, because if it had not been for the manner in which they turned Mrs Joanna Hernandez into a cause célèbre, it would not have been necessary to spend over £3 million of taxpayers' money on it. The reason why the parties refused to accept the assurances of all those public authorities was because they 2035 wanted to exploit the allegations for their own narrow political ends with the intention of causing maximum damage to the Government of the day, without care or thought, Mr Speaker, about the collateral damage that it would and indeed did cause those institutions of state, such as the RGP, the office of Her Majesty's Attorney General and above all the real victims in this sad episode, the staff at the Dr Giraldi Home.

Mr Speaker, Members of staff that have stood steadfast and with great dignity in their resolve to provide the best possible care to residents and service users, whilst the Parties opposite continued with their systematic and calculated political campaign, both in Gibraltar and abroad against the Dr Giraldi Home. A word-of-mouth campaign. A campaign on social media in the press and on television, both here and in Spain, Mr Speaker. I do not understand for the life of me how the Chief Minister can in the future stand up 2040 in this House; indeed, I do not understand how he stood up in this House today in the context of the last motion that we have debated and with a straight face accuse anyone in the Opposition of doing Gibraltar down with our legitimate criticisms of the public debt or their handling of the fishing dispute, when they were responsible for turning Mrs Joanna Hernandez, one of their political activists, and her unfounded allegations into a cause célèbre both here and in Spain. Mr Speaker, I am going to demonstrate today just how orchestrated that campaign was.

On 26th April 2006, the Industrial Tribunal gave directions, Mr Speaker, for steps that needed to be taken in Mrs Hernandez's claim against the Social Services Agency. One of those directions was that witness statements be exchanged by 16th June 2006. At that Directions Hearing, Mrs Hernandez was represented by the hon. Gentleman opposite the Chief Minister, Mr Picardo, who continued to act for Mrs Hernandez at the time that witness statements, which formed the basis of the allegations, were being 2050 obtained, witness statements that were prepared, of all places, at GSLP headquarters. Not at Hassans, but at GSLP headquarters. I am not inventing that, Mr Speaker. It is admitted in a press release issued by the GSLP on 26th November 2009. It is in their press release. Those witness statements were then systematically leaked by someone – I do not know who and of course it must be a limited number of people, but it was leaked by someone – to the VOX newspaper and printed verbatim by that newspaper on a 2055 weekly basis, a newspaper openly supportive of the Parties opposite.

Mr Speaker, I have never come across, in my 22 years of being a lawyer and in the 15 years that I have been involved in politics, with a situation where all the witness statements produced in a particular case were leaked and printed systematically by a newspaper as part of an intensely orchestrated political campaign.

2060

Mr Speaker, it gives me no pleasure to read some of the headlines and parts of the articles printed by VOX, but I think it is important, Mr Speaker, that those listening to this debate appreciate the intensity of the campaign and the vileness of the allegations made against the carers of the Dr Giraldi Home to then appreciate the huge entirely manufactured cloud that these poor carers had to endure and the extent to which they were exonerated by the Report from the Rt. Hon. Sir Jonathan Parker.

2065

The first salvo came on 16th May 2008, issue 2775 of the VOX, under the front page headline, and I quote:

2070

'Crime is crime whatever Rhoda may say'

2075 The VOX then carried a story saying that, and I quote:

2080 'Written allegations by Agency staff, which were handed to Mrs Joanna Hernandez soon after she took up her post in the Dr Giraldi Home along with other allegations, which would have formed part of the Industrial Tribunal evidence which the Government attempted to suppress, paint a damaging picture of abuses in the Agency. Crime, however serious or trivial it may be, should not be merely brushed under the carpet because it would be politically embarrassing for action to be taken.'

2085 The article, Mr Speaker, was clearly intended to convey the imputation of criminal conduct in the allegations made against the carers at the Dr Giraldi Home, which were not, according to Ms Hernandez and indeed an Opposition press release contemporaneously issued at the same time, were not being investigated by the Police or Her Majesty's Attorney General because they were being suppressed by the Government of the day. Indeed, in that article, Mr Speaker, the evidence in support came from those leaked witness statements in the Joanna Hernandez tribunal case.

2090 On 21st August 2008, issue 2787, under the front page headline 'Agency covered up evidence of cruelty to child in care', the VOX carried an article, again from one of the witness statements, and stated:

'Protracted abuse of a child in care of the Social Services Agency over a five-year period was never investigated by the Agency, though a doctor found bite marks on his arms. He had suffered unexplained fractured leg and then been punished by having his head held inside a refrigerator.'

2095 I will come back to the allegation when we look at the conclusions of the report.

At page 12, under the headline 'Significant abuse allegations were ignored', the article then sets out the statement by the GSLP Liberal Opposition at the time, which referred to various allegations of abuse as:

2100 '... having his head pushed into a fridge, given cold showers whilst the child was screaming as a result of his condition. This is not in fact an isolated incident, but a reflection of the culture that persisted in the way the Agency has handled its responsibilities of those it is supposed to be protecting and caring for.'

2105 Not an allegation by Joanna Hernandez, an allegation by the hon. Members opposite when they were in Opposition.

On 4th September 2008 the VOX carried the front-page headline in capitals:

'DR GIRALDI HOME SEX ROMPS EXPOSED. CARERS URGED MOCK SEX ACTS FOR THEIR OWN AMUSEMENT AFFIDAVIT ALLEGES.'

2110 The article then goes on to say that:

'Workers at the Dr Giraldi Home encouraged those in their care to indulge in mock sexual activities for their own amusement.'

– again, Mr Speaker quoting from witness statements that had been leaked to that newspaper from the Joanna Hernandez case.

On 5th January 2009, the VOX carried the front page headline:

2115 'Locked in the Dr Giraldi Home. Boy forced'

– and I am using a more polite term for the word used by the VOX –

2120 'to [defecate] on floor. See page 20.'

At page 20, under the headline in capitals:

'GIRALDI HOME BOY WAS BULLIED BY SADISTIC CARERS BUT NO ACTION WAS TAKEN BY FELLOW CARERS'

2125 The article then says:

2130 'Details of an alleged regime of sadistic bullying of a young boy by two of the carers at the Dr Giraldi Home more than a decade ago are contained in documents which the Caruana Government has attempted to keep secret, which the Social Services Agency has declined to investigate and which the Attorney General has refused to act on.'

Again, Mr Speaker, the article preys in aid of witness statements that it said had been filed in the Joanna Hernandez case.

On 11th February 2009 the front page of the VOX carried in capitals the headline:

Then under page 3 it says, the headline:

2140 ‘The girl with the blistered buttocks. Giraldi Home carers sadistic and sexual pastimes disclosed in a dossier of shame.’

Then it says... an article referred to claims in respect of:

2145 ‘A young girl who was in the care of Social Services Agency was brutally abused by the staff at the Dr Giraldi Home are contained in a dossier prepared by whistle-blower Joanna Hernandez, which she intends to release to the media in Britain and Spain.’

The article then describes how a girl was tortured, according to them, by making her sit on a bidet with very hot water until she sustained severe burns on her buttocks.

And then it continues:

2150 ‘The dossier also contains a string of allegations of drug misuse, of overdoses being given and of drugs going missing.’

2155 Yet another headline, Mr Speaker, in the VOX newspaper, again from witness statements filed in the Joanna Hernandez tribunal case referred to allegations of sexual misconduct on a trip to Lourdes. The picture, Mr Speaker, was of systematic abuse of the worst possible kind, coupled with a cover-up by the then Gibraltar Government, the RGP and the Attorney General. It is a picture that they gave then too when they were in Opposition, Mr Speaker, and indeed, used it to their own political benefit unashamedly so for many years at that time.

2160 For example, Mr Speaker, on 29th October 2008, GSLP press statement 124/2008, the parties opposite said:

‘The reason why the Opposition continues to make public the shortcomings at the Dr Giraldi Home is because both the Social Services Agency and the Government have been involved in a cover-up exercise since the allegations came to light.’

2165 And accepting the veracity – it is not a question of the Joanna Hernandez making these allegations and the Opposition being at arm’s length from Joanna Hernandez, no, Mr Speaker – and accepting the veracity of the allegations made by Mrs Joanna Hernandez, it appears without question they then said:

2170 ‘Gibraltar owes a great debt of gratitude to the former manager of the home, Joanna Hernandez, for having had the courage to come forward and make public what was happening at the home behind closed doors.’

Unequivocal, unconditional – a statement, Mr Speaker.

And then to conclude the press statement also said this:

2175 ‘Nobody has yet taken political responsibility for what happened in the past when in other countries heads would have rolled for far less.’

2180 Well, Mr Speaker, what heads are going to roll now that we find that there was no basis for the allegations of either serious abuse or of any conspiracy or cover-up by the Authorities of the then GSD Government, Mr Speaker? In any other jurisdictions heads would have certainly rolled for far less.

2185 Talking about rolling of heads, what heads are going to roll, Mr Speaker, now that Members of the benches opposite have been found, Mr Speaker, to have spread unfounded allegations in the Spanish TV channel Antena 3, where as a consequence of those unfounded allegations the Dr Giraldi Home was described as the ‘house of horrors’. What heads are going to roll for the participation of Members of the benches opposite in that programme?

2190 Mr Speaker, Gibraltarian politicians participating in a programme in Spain denigrating our institutions – it cannot be described as anything else, Mr Speaker. It is simply not credible to suggest that they did not know that the Spanish TV channel would not be casting the worst possible light on Gibraltar and its institutions. If anyone on this side of the House, Mr Speaker, had done anything remotely resembling that, our reputations would have been burnt to an absolute cinder by the GSLP machinery – that is the reality.

2195 I hope – but I will not hold my breath having heard what he said earlier in reply to what I said on his motion – that never again do Members opposite preach about doing Gibraltar down with our own legitimate, internal criticism, because it is not criticism of Spain, they are here in Gibraltar, about the public debt and about anything else which are important issues of the day for this community. If we make the criticism, Mr Speaker, we make them here in Gibraltar. We do not go to Spanish TV channels doing our institutions down and doing our community down. That is something that they, to their eternal shame, did in relation to the Dr Giraldi Home. Not only, Mr Speaker, have heads not rolled, but we have not even had an apology from Members opposite for that shameful intervention in that programme, not even an apology, Mr Speaker, a sorry, an admission that they were wrong in doing so.

2200 Look, Mr Speaker, when the hon. Gentleman rightly said he had not made the North Korea comparison in the United Nations, I said, yes, I accept I made a mistake. He made it in the BBC programme and in Sky

News. Mr Speaker, it pales into insignificance if we are going to talk about comments doing Gibraltar down or comments misleading anybody, it pales into insignificance with the participation of Members of this House on a Spanish TV programme doing the institutions of this community, doing the carers of this community down, Mr Speaker, because that is what they did, and not a squeak of an apology, Mr Speaker, to this House for their participation in that programme.

Indeed, Mr Speaker, at a time when the Government is taking legal action against the ABC newspaper – rightly we have said – for the defamation of Gibraltar, it is incumbent on the Hon. the Chief Minister, the leader of this House to correct one of the biggest defamations ever to have been perpetrated against Gibraltar, its workers and its institutions, which was a defamation that was aided and abetted by the hon. Gentlemen opposite, Mr Speaker. At the very least he ought to do what I suggest in my motion, which is to write to the producers of the programme and inform them about the results of the investigation, correcting the record that they so cynically and incorrectly created in that programme those years ago.

Mr Speaker, I have set out how the allegations contained in the witness statements were leaked to, and published by, the VOX newspaper. This is what Sir Jonathan Parker had to say about those allegations, and I quote directly from the Report, Mr Speaker. I think it is important that this House has the recitation of exactly what Sir Jonathan Parker has found in his conclusions in the Report. A quote regarding the allegation, the alleged incident of sexual misconduct on the trip to Lourdes, and you may recall the headline in the VOX:

‘I am more than satisfied that no such incident in fact took place. As to the allegation that X and another carer “put Z’s head in a freezer and he shouted like an animal”, I find that no such incident occurred.’

As with the alleged “head in the freezer” incident, the evidence of X and Y in relation to resident Z being given cold showers insofar as it suggests that this was a form of punishment meted out to resident Z, is also based on an unfounded rumour.

As to Mrs Joanna Hernandez’ allegation that staff at the Home did not give priority to caring for residents, and the associated implication that service users were treated as “silly little children or adult imbeciles”, is a travesty of the truth and an insult to the efforts of dedicated members of staff.’

– an insult to the efforts of dedicated members of staff –

‘Her allegation that the Home was in “virtual chaos”, and that the entire culture at the Home was one of “institutionalised, historic malpractice”, are also rejected. Experienced carers, such as Sharon Berini and Sean Matto would not have allowed themselves to be associated with such a situation. Nor would they have allowed any sexual, physical, verbal or emotional abuse of service users to take place in the Home.

As to Joanna Hernandez’ allegation that Yvette del Agua pressurised Isabella Tosso and/or Marie Gomez into threatening her with losing her job and career, in oral evidence Yvette Del Agua described that allegation as “an outright lie”.

I accept Yvette Del Agua’s evidence and find the allegation to be wholly without foundation.

I accept Yvette Del Agua’s evidence that she took her ministerial responsibilities in relation to the Home extremely seriously and did all she could to discharge those responsibilities promptly and effectively.

I accept, without qualification, the evidence of Yvette del Agua, Jaime Netto and Sir Peter.

I find that there was no conspiracy by anyone in Government, or indeed anyone else, to prevent the allegations in the witness statements filed on behalf of Joanna Hernandez from being put into the public domain and/or becoming the subject of judicial investigation, whether by delaying or obstructing the hearing of the claim, or by stifling the claim by prolonging the proceedings unnecessarily, or by any other means.’

– and, Mr Speaker, I am still quoting from the conclusions.

Quote again:

‘Many of the allegations in the witness statements filed on behalf of Joanna Hernandez in the Industrial Tribunal in 2006 were untrue, grossly exaggerated or unsubstantiated by credible evidence.

In any event, allegations of serious misconduct or abuse were investigated by the management, the Social Services Agency and the relevant authorities (including the Royal Gibraltar Police) as the case may be. There was no conspiracy to prevent such allegations being investigated or being put into the public domain. The decisions taken by the relevant authorities (including the Royal Gibraltar Police) in relation to such allegations were justified.

To the extent that such allegations were established on the evidence, the incidents in question were largely historic and infrequent, and had been dealt with at the time by management at the Home, and the SSA.

I find that there is no factual basis for Joe Bossano’s suspicion that the Government’s motive in taking and pursuing the preliminary point was to prevent the allegations contained in the witness statements filed by Joanna Hernandez coming into the public domain...’

– Mr Speaker –

2270 'As to whether improper pressure was applied to the Transport and General Workers' Union in reaching its decision not to fund Joanna Hernandez' claim, no evidence has been presented to the Inquiry to support Joe Bossano's suspicion. I accordingly reject the suggestion that improper pressure was exerted on the TGWU in connection with its decision not to fund the Joanna Hernandez' claim in the Industrial Tribunal.

Accordingly, I find Joe Bossano's suspicion in relation to the conduct of the Industrial Tribunal proceedings /by the Government, Social Services Agency/ to be unfounded in every respect.'

2275 Pausing there, Mr Speaker, how on earth do the hon. Gentlemen opposite justify the call for heads to roll because of allegations made by Joanna Hernandez in 2009, and for no heads to roll now that everything that the hon. the Father of the House said was absolutely proved to be false to be wrong... to be false?

2280 Really, there is not a western democratic country in the world where something like this would have happened, where there would have been participation in a foreign TV programme, where there would have been a campaign of the intensity of this campaign. For those people to get it so badly wrong, to go to a Tribunal of Inquiry, to say there was a huge cover-up, and then for that Tribunal of Inquiry to find that there was no cover-up at all and that his evidence was not accepted in any respect, and still he remains a Government Minister, Mr Speaker, because this is the time for heads to roll – not in 2009, but now, Mr Speaker.

2285 'Accordingly I find Joe Bossano's'

– again I quote –

2290 'suspicions in relation to the conduct of Industrial Tribunal proceedings and the Government Social Services Agency to be unfounded in every respect.

2295 I also accept the evidence of Superintendent Acris that the RGP was never instructed by anyone not to investigate cases of abuse, or indeed any other type of case.

Lastly, I consider the decision of the Attorney General not to institute criminal proceedings against the three carers to have been fully justified – if not inevitable, given the quality of the available evidence.'

2300 There can be absolutely no doubt at all, Mr Speaker, that Sir Jonathan's findings are a complete vindication of the staff of the Dr Giraldi Home, which were vilified in those years of intense political campaign aided and abetted, Mr Speaker, both here in Gibraltar and in Spain by Members opposite; and indeed, I have to say, proudly, Mr Speaker, of my Government, the GSD Government at the time. (Banging on desks)

2305 Mr Speaker, I want to place on record my admiration for the dignified way in which my colleagues at the time, Yvette Del Agua in particular, but also including Jaime Netto, acted in the face of dreadful allegations of cover-ups of abuse, aided again and abetted by Members opposite.

2310 As parents of children, Mr Speaker, if nothing else – and indeed people who take their jobs very seriously as I know that my friend, Mr Netto and Yvette del Agua have always done – it could not have been easy for them to have served in a Government with that type of intense political campaign week in, week out, by the VOX newspaper by one of their activists, Mrs Joanna Hernandez, and by the parties opposite.

2315 There is nothing, Mr Speaker, in this motion that is untrue or unsupported by the conclusions of Sir Jonathan Parker and Mr Speaker, for all those reasons, I commend the motion to the House. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: I now propose the question in the terms of the motion moved by the Hon. D A Feetham. The Hon. Mr Bossano.

2320 Minister for Economic Development, Telecommunications & the GSB (Hon. J J Bossano): For the avoidance of doubt I am not about to either apologise or resign (Laughter) for the benefit of the Leader of the Opposition.

2325 Mr Speaker, what is taking place today here is indeed what the hon. Member is accusing us of having done. The Report, let me point out, states that no recommendations are required as to what should happen next from the Inquiry and that it is for the Government to take any action that it deems appropriate. In effect, there are two options open: one is to consider the issue of the allegations dealt with and leave matters there; or what the motion before the House in effect is asking, which is that that should not be so.

2330 What it is trying to do is to say that the Inquiry has concluded, that everything was almost perfect, that no-one did anything ever that should not have been done and that the previous GSD Government acted correctly at the time and were always right. And if the motion was not intended to do that, the speech in support of the motion has. I, for one, reject outright that this is the truth, but I agree with the view that perhaps things should not be left as they stand because I do not accept that following the evidence that has been uncovered in Government documents, on discovery of those documents by the Inquiry, such evidence inevitably gives rise to only one possible interpretation, namely the self-serving interpretation of the text brought to the House by the Member opposite. (A Member: Hear, hear)

2335 To use their terminology, the Opposition is now trying to milk this issue to gain political benefit from it. This has nothing to do with the carers, and even less does it have anything to do with the victims of the alleged abuse. The papers that have been produced for the Inquiry reveal that contrary to the public statements from the Government of how well everything was in the Home, when asked in parliament privately the reality was very different.

2340 If we start, Mr Speaker, by looking at what the hon. Member is so concerned about with Espejo Publico. He has today repeated what he has said before when I have told him it is not true. Nobody went to any programme in Spain. A Spanish journalist came to my office and asked me what did I think of the allegations that had been made, and this is what I answered – three lines – and this is what came out in the programme, “Yo le pregunto en parlamento, ‘Bueno, si todo es un montaje,’ as he claims, ‘Y todo es mentira, entonces por que no se permitio que se escuchara el caso el primer dia en el 2006? No lo han hecho y no lo aclaran.” And that is still the accusation against the hon. Members. If it was all false, if they had no problem with the witness statements, then why did they go to all the lengths that they did to prevent the hearing from taking place? Whatever the Chairman of the Inquiry may think or not think, that situation was created by them by not doing the correct thing, were not just us, but many other people were saying have an independent, open investigation and clear the issues. They refused to do it – (Interjection)

2350 And if he is worried about. Espejo Publico let me tell him that one of the carers – I do not know who it was – calling himself Mikey, wrote extensively on the area of that programme on the internet and called everybody else everything under the sun. Presumably he is exempt from any question of putting things in the Spanish media, although I am no longer permitted by the criteria of the Opposition to give an interview to a visiting Spanish journalist and tell him, not that there are allegations, not that there is evidence, but I keep on asking, ‘If you say that it is not true and if you say it is all a made-up job then why don’t you put your money where your mouth is and allow an open-ended Inquiry without having to wait for the tribunal to take place?’ Indeed, everything that they did was in the opposite direction.

2360 The Social Services Act requires the immediate investigation of allegations without delay. There is no evidence that the Board of the Social Services has ever had a report, a record of anything having been investigated ever. There was nothing there when we got in. The ministerial response to the issues that I have brought in the House in the past have been for the Member opposite, so highly praised by the Leader of the Opposition, to tell me that he had never heard of the issues that I was raising. Indeed, I remind the hon. Member of Question 857/2008. It was not about the Giraldi Home, but it is relevant to show the degree of involvement and knowledge of Ministers.

2365 When I pointed out to the hon. Member that there was an 11-year old child in the KGV, the reaction of the hon. Member was... it was after lunch, and I said to him, ‘So is it then that the concern that had been expressed while the child was in KGV to approaches being made to him by people who were really mentally ill’, which the child was not, ‘when he was having his eleventh birthday? Is that something that he does not know anything about?’ And what did the hon. Member say – this very concerned Minister who is on the top of the job? ‘I do not know what on earth the Leader of the Opposition is talking about, but look, it is not for me as Minister for Social Services to go every single day to see how the management of the KGV deal with it. I think it is absurd what the Leader of the Opposition has said.’

2375 Yvette del Agua then stepped in and said, ‘Can I just add something to that?’ I think she was asking my permission and so I said yes. ‘What the hon. Member is insinuating,’ she says, ‘is to my mind quite serious. He is only insinuating it, but it could lead to whoever is listening to believe that terrible things have happened to this child on his eleventh birthday while he was in the care of KGV. I suggest that the person who passed the information onto him write to the Chief Executive.’ And I told her, ‘Well, look, it is not my job to go telling people to write, and in any case when they do you bin the stuff that they send you’, which she said was not correct.

2380 I pointed out that every time somebody made an allegation, a complaint or an accusation, the result was that they were a disgruntled employee, a disaffected person, somebody that had lost their jobs or somebody that had a grudge. Everybody was wrong. But there was never anything that was going wrong in the wonderful service that put a 10-year-old child in a mental home with adults when there was written advice that the place was not suitable. When I said that, the hon. Member opposite, who is so caring – I am not sure whether he was already a philosopher by then, he might not have been... (Laughter) – he said, ‘I do not know what on earth the Leader of the Opposition must have had at lunchtime, but he seems to have gone absolutely bonkers in terms of the allegation’. Bonkers.

2390 All I will say is what on earth has happened to the Leader of the Opposition when he went for lunch today? Well, Mr Speaker, I told him that he could call me bonkers as many times as he wanted. He said that I was making all sorts of wild allegations, totally groundless, baseless, and he did not know for what particular reason. This is the kind of language we have heard from the Leader of the Opposition today. It did not require Parker to spark it, it was already there in 2008.

2395 I told him that he knew or should know what was going on, which he denied. Well, Mr Speaker, let me just refer to the exchanges that went on between Chris Wilson and McCutcheon about the child in the KG5, exchanges which Chris Wilson was saying he was briefing –

2400 Mr Speaker: May I ask the Hon. Minister to link up somehow the question of the KGV with the Dr Giraldi Home. I am sure he must be (Interjection) developing an argument... I hope he is developing an argument which will indicate the relevance of that to the Dr Giraldi Home.

Hon. J J Bossano: The report in the Spanish media to which the hon. Member refers in the motion talks about this particular case.

2405 Mr Speaker, the exchanges that took place, which were copied to the Minister, Yvette del Agua, and which were also brought to the attention of the Member opposite when he was telling me I was bonkers, told him exactly what I was making him aware of, that this child should not have been there, that this child had been put in a situation where he was at risk, that this child had been molested – and this was not allegations made by disgruntled employees. These were allegations made by the professionals in their employment. And when I brought it to the Member's attention, what did he do about it? Instead of saying, 2410 'Well, look if that is the information that you have got', which he had as well but seems to have forgotten about, 'then I will look into it'. No, what he did was... you know, if you do not like what you hear, you shoot the messenger; but, of course, what I had then and what I have now before me is what he knows is the truth.

August 2007:

2415 'There needs to be an immediate Government response to the situation. I appreciate your commitment to this matter with your Minister, but I fear a protracted period before appropriate decisions are taken.'

2420 I told him that the professionals in the Health Service had a problem that this child was sectioned when he was not mentally ill, that the assessment that had been made with him was one that he had a conduct disorder, which the psychologist said in lay member's terms meant that the child was naughty, and because he was naughty they stuck him in KGV for a month and the Agency was resisting him being released. The child was sending people messages saying, 'Help! Get me out of here!' and that, which was happening then, was the fault of the Agency, or the fault of the Hospital, or the fault of somebody, but nobody was prepared to take and assume political responsibility. 'Anywhere else in the world', the hon. Member says 2425 about people having to resign. Anywhere else in the world if you put an 11-year-old child and they find him naked with a mentally ill patient in the shower they are asked to resign.

In the United Kingdom, Mr Speaker, they are going back 40 years and 50 years and re-opening cases; but here, no. If you complain about something, if you say, 'I believe that this should be investigated', which 2430 is what happened, what happened was that some people were making allegations and other people were saying that the allegations should be investigated and be seen to be investigated and it should be open, transparent and independent. The issues that were there were allowed to grow and fester because the position of the Government was a position which can only be described as the Ministers responsible portraying the proverbial wisdom of the three apes that see no evil, hear no evil and speak no evil. But there 2435 was no wisdom in their case.

And that is not the only issue on which we see reflected the reality being one thing and what has been portrayed here today and throughout this period of time by the Government of saying, 'Sweep it under the carpet. There is nothing wrong. You are just making this for political advantage'. What political advantage 2440 can there be in wanting to get to the truth? What political advantage is there if instead of accusing you, Mr Speaker, I ask that the accusation should be investigated and demonstrated to be true or not? And it would have been possible to do it very simply, very cheaply and immediately had the tribunal been allowed to proceed, because then the persons making statements would have been in the tribunal subject to cross-examination and the truth, or otherwise, would have been cleared up.

2445 The people denying the allegations would have been subjected to cross-examination and then we would have known what was true, but that opportunity did not happen. It did not happen because the Government did not want it to happen and therefore the reality of it is that we have today a situation where the Members opposite feel that they can cry 'Victory!' because (a) of the time that has passed when nothing was investigated; and (b) because at the end of the day what we have is a Report that does not say what the hon. Member claims it says. The hon. Member has chosen to selectively present that Report in the way that suits 2450 his own political ends.

In dealing with the issues the tribunal has looked at a number of cases and when we look at those cases, the Inquiry may feel that the evidence that is available to them is not sufficient to persuade the Chairman

2455 who decides whose evidence he believes and who he does not believe. But what we have is a situation where this was not Joanna Hernandez being on a campaign and making allegations left, right and centre on her own. Or is it that the hon. Member opposite has forgotten that there was a letter before the period, which stated:

‘I was the former team leader in the Dr Giraldi Home until I resigned from the post in 2004.’

2460 This letter – I suppose it must be a disgruntled employee, because that is the definition of everybody that claims there is something wrong – was by Duncan Jones, BA Hons, MSC, Diploma in Law and Certificate in Management. This is not somebody who does not know what he is talking about. He was there in the Home and he says:

2465 ‘The Government is lying when they say that things were being investigated, because I left in disgust because I did not enter a care profession to set aside the rights and wellbeing of service users and others working in the care sector. My position was untenable and I resigned because full and proper investigation of serious allegations were prevented, thus placing both the staff and the service user at potential risk, that were being disregarded.’

2470 Was this drafted in the GSLP headquarters in 2004? There was no issue in 2004. This was the position that was inherited when there was a change that took place; and when that change took place, is it not the case that there was a letter from the Minister to the Chief Minister saying that after the resignation of some people the management in the Home was completely out of control and she was having to micro-manage all the time and run it in 2004 and 2005? And after Douglas Rodriguez, and she was saying, ‘We need to put somebody here’ and it was following that in 2005 there was an appointment of Joanna Hernandez that applied from within the Civil Service where she was working in the Education Department.

2475 So the position in 2004, according to the manager that was in 2004, was not what is being claimed today in this House, and the position by Yvette Del Agua in 2005 was that the position she had there was one that was out of control and she had to micro-manage, and the letter to do that is in the evidence before the tribunal. That is how we found out, because we do not have access to the letters that were going on before. So the tribunal evidence is not just producing things that suit them, it is also producing things that we would never have known but for the Inquiry. And now that we know them, we have to take stock of them, given that we have decided that this is not going to be something that is going to end with a tribunal because that is not what the hon. Members opposite are seeking. They are not asking us to say, ‘Well, look, let’s put this matter to bed.’ So they do not want to put it to bed. Well, look, I am game to carry on with this one – (Interjection). yes – and we will see where it ends.

2480 And of course the hon. Member knows that that was not the only individual working in the Home that expressed concerns because there was a Mr Harris who produced a witness statement for the tribunal – a witness statement which of course was not fabricated by anybody because it is in his own handwriting – and the witness statements of the other people willing to say things under oath. Because what the hon. Member is saying is that a number of people for no apparent reason wanted to go into a tribunal and commit perjury – that is what they wanted. Here we have got a situation where all these people, for no gain and no benefit, express concerns when there is nothing in it for them. Well, I do not know how you judge the credibility of one person or another, but I would say that the balance of probability would be a good yardstick. I would say that if someone has nothing to gain by saying that something is black and somebody has got a lot to lose, then you would expect the guy that has got a lot to lose to say that it is not black, that it is white.

2490 The people who put the statements put the statements in good faith. The concept of protecting people who whistleblow... in case the hon. Member is not familiar with the legislation that has been there in the UK since 1998 – is that whistleblowers are entitled to be protected even if they are mistaken, as long as they are doing it because they believe it to be true and it is reasonable to see from the circumstances that that belief is tenable. You do not punish a whistleblower because it happens to be the case that he thought there was something going wrong and asked for it to be investigated and then it turns out that it was not going wrong. That he was mistaken in a genuine belief. What a whistleblower has got no protection for is when it can be demonstrated that it is a deliberate misrepresentation because the person doing the whistleblowing has something to gain.

2500 The people who made the witness statements – all of which the hon. Member is saying are fabrications – were people who stood to gain nothing at all. Of course, the Harris letter actually makes an allegation, which refers to one of the cases before the tribunal and mentions that that person he witnessed – he does not say this is not third party. This is not hearsay. This man is saying, ‘I witnessed this particular child being treated in a way which was completely unacceptable.’ This is before the Agency. This is in the time of Milbury. This was in 1997 and so why should somebody come out and say this years after he has left if he was not telling the truth? What was in it for him? Why should he want to do this?

2515 Well, of course, the hon. Member is familiar with this case because that is the case which helped him and his brother close down the VOX, which they must have been wanting to do for a very long time given everything that he has read about the VOX. They must have been gunning for it and this gave them an opportunity. Of course, the VOX has supported every political party in Gibraltar, let us be clear. It has supported the Gibraltar Labour Party. He used to write anonymous articles in it when he was in my Executive – (Interjection) Well, let us put it this way, the circumstantial evidence is (Interjections) that 2520 there were articles that reflected debates in the Executive that appeared in the VOX under an anonymous name. They appeared when he joined the Executive and stopped appearing when he left. Now, I am not saying he was the one who did it. (Laughter) All I am saying is that the two periods coincided – just in case
I get accused of making false accusations. (Interjections)

2525 So at that time the VOX was not such a bad vehicle and of course for very many years – and I am sure the backbencher must remember that before he fell out with the late Mr Campello – I was the target of VOX's campaign for many, many years. (Chief Minister: Yes. Shame!) That is when they were getting adverts (Interjections) The reason, of course, why the hon. Member took action against the VOX was because of what Harris claimed and the VOX apparently published.

2530 Hon. D A Feetham: I did not take any action.

Hon. J J Bossano: No? Well, you were the Minister for Justice. (Interjections) Yes, of course, you were the Minister for Justice and I think there might have been a possibility that the hon. Member's brother, who dealt with the case, talked about it with his brother but not with the Minister for Justice. Okay. (Interjection) 2535 The statement says:

'I told MF that he should not treat Reuben like that...'

Because the VOX said MF is related to a Minister in the Government, the position was taken that it could only have been one person and that is what eventually the hon. Member opposite got, took...or rather the person that was named as MF, who might as well also have been Mikey in the 'Espejo' possibly – took action on the basis of this and Mr Harris was nearly polished off as a consequence of the papers that were 2540 served on him and he finished up in hospital. The VOX collapsed and the legal action that they threatened to take was sufficient to put them out of action and one of our institutions, which has been on many occasions in its long history either friend or foe of almost everybody that has been in this Parliament, ceased to exist.
That is also part of the history of what has been going on. So you see that the animosity towards the VOX is not driven by being on this pillar of height of purity and altruism, there are other factors involved. There are 2545 other interests and other connections.

There is another case which happened, Mr Speaker, in 2005 where the families of one inmate of the Home, a resident of the Home complained, but not to Joanna Hernandez because she was not there yet.
They complained to another one of the people there who put the complaint in writing and this complaint was the case of this child being made to stand up, holding books in his hands and being forced to have cold 2550 showers, and that complaint was not a fabricated complaint in the GSLP for the papers – no, none of that.
This complaint was put to the management of the Agency. It is on record and we have only found that out because there has been discovery in the Inquiry. So now we have got the papers that show that contrary to the picture that has been painted today there were things going on before anybody arrived there, and when the person who was recruited arrived there, the first case that came up was a case in December 2004 which 2555 is the case that the Police said they investigated in January 2005.

And when, in the course of the Inquiry when Commissioner Wink is asked about the investigation on one of the occasions he accepts that when he said publicly that the allegations had been fully investigated in 2005, what he was referring to was the allegation investigated in January 2005 of what had happened in 2004. But this was before the position arose in June 2005 when there were a number of allegations given to 2560 the manager, and what the manager did, which was so wrong, was that the Manager took it to the CEO and said, 'Look, I have got these allegations and my advice to you is that you should suspend the people and have it investigated.' That was not accusing anybody of being guilty of anything.

The Inquiry has been told, falsely, that she asked for them to be resigned. There is no evidence that she asked for anybody to be sacked. The Inquiry was told something that was not true – that she said they 2565 should be sacked, which was not true – and the evidence is in writing that that is not what was asked for.
What was asked for, and the position taken by Isabella Tosso on receiving that, was that the procedure that had been followed to obtain those statements was one that was incorrect and not in accordance with the rules of the Agency and that therefore she was not prepared to investigate it. She says in the letter that she sent that for this reason she was addressing the process and not the content.

2570 Well, maybe that is how they did things in the Agency, I do not know. I would have thought if somebody says, 'There is an allegation by a carer that another carer has treated a person in our Home badly’, and the manager says, ‘Ah yes, but I am not prepared to investigate this because the statement that you have brought me was not brought according to the procedure laid down and the person that you are complaining of was not told that there was going to be a complaint being made’.

2575 I do not know whether these procedures are the best way to go about it, but I would have thought that if somebody were to bring me a statement in which somebody is putting their name down and saying that somebody has done something at work that they should not be doing – in effect, whistleblowing – I would have said, ‘Well, look, you should not have allowed this to be done in this way, because that is not the correct procedure, but whether the procedure is right or wrong, now that the statement has been made we have to deal with it.’ That would seem to me a more rational way in which to... You do not say, ‘Well, look, somebody has been murdered in the room next door, but I did not do the right procedure when I opened the door as I did not knock’. So I have gone in and found the body and they say, ‘The body is there, but the procedure has not been followed and so we will leave the body there’. No, you deal with the situation that you find, even if the procedure is not the ideal procedure or the wrong procedure.

2585 Unless, of course, what you are saying, as has been said here and has been said previously, is that people were actually threatened to make statements. Well, look, this is in my judgement a nonsense. This is a complete nonsense. How can there be any credibility in the idea that you threaten somebody to make a statement and that what that statement is going to do is be put in the hands of the management, who are going to call in the threatened person and question them? What is to stop that threatened person saying, 2590 ‘No, what I have said is not true and somebody has forced me to do it’? What power can somebody have, the people that can threaten are right up at the very top – not somebody that is in middle management earning £20,000 a year. If it was a person at the top then you would be scared.

Look, I do not know whether the Ministers were fully aware of this or not, but I was told that this collection of statements was in fact copied to the Minister and was copied to the then Chief Minister, 2595 because when they were taken to the Union by the person who collected them, the Union advised that copies should be sent to the relevant Ministers so that they would know that this was happening. I do not know and I have not seen anything that shows that they were or they were not. I do not know whether that has been admitted or denied, but I would have thought that when the hon. Member talks about heads rolling and people standing, that the normal thing for a Minister to do is that if somebody tells you in your 2600 Department that something is going wrong, you check just in case it is true. I know that perhaps it is too much to ask because if a Member of the Opposition tells you across the floor of the Parliament that things are going wrong, you tell him that he must have got indigestion with what he had for lunch and that he is bonkers. If that is what they tell the Opposition then I do not know what they tell their employees.

So, of course, if the people who are politically answerable do not want to hear this or do not want other 2605 people to hear it, then there is some rationale in what otherwise appears to be an unexplainable resistance to looking into these things. It was only a long time after, in the many sessions we had in this House, when having first said – when the hon. Member opposite was Minister – having first said that it was not investigated because the procedure was wrong, having first said that and maintained that for a number of meetings they then changed. They said, ‘Notwithstanding that the procedure was wrong, it was 2610 investigated’. But was it investigated? What was investigated?

The statements in the Inquiry do not talk about anything being investigated. They talk about a team of social workers being sent to different flats to see what could be done to improve the management. They did not say that somebody came along and looked at each statement and checked whether there was any 2615 evidence to substantiate those allegations – that was not done and that is what an investigation means. That was not done because the evidence before the Inquiry produced by the people that were in the Department at the time, Isabella Tosso, told social workers, ‘Go to those flats and see what can be done to improve the way they are managing things in there’, which is fine. But, of course, there was not even a need to do that because if that was saying, ‘Go in there and see what needs to be proved as a result of the allegations’, then that is giving credence to the allegation. If the allegation was a complete fabrication, you do not need to 2620 send anybody in there to put things right.

So either there was no investigation because they looked at the allegations and they said, ‘Yes, this seems to me to be true. Something is wrong and I want to send the social workers there to put it right and forget doing anything else’ or in fact the exercise of going into those flats had nothing at all to do with the allegations that were made and the statements that were produced. It was something that was being done for 2625 management reasons, independent of those, and therefore when Parliament was told by the Member opposite that the investigation had taken place subsequently by the social workers, he was misleading the Parliament because it was not an investigation that took place, because an investigation means getting a piece of paper, looking at the allegations, calling people in and trying to get to the truth. Nobody was called in – neither the people who made the allegations nor the people against whom they were made.

2630 The June statements were provided to Isabella Tosso, as I have said, but of course Isabella Tosso herself, in the context of another case, has made very clear that she did not support a decision that was taken not to proceed with the disciplinary hearing. How is it that when it suits the Government the decision is taken at that level and when it does not suit the Government the management is then told what they need to do? Well, look, if the Government felt that they could go and tell Isabella Tosso what was best by telling her when not to proceed with disciplining people, then clearly they had the power to do something about it when initially this situation arose and deal with it. If in fact it is so simple and so straightforward that everything that was being said was being made up by the people who were working there... which I do not believe for the very simple reason, Mr Speaker, that they made the same accusation and the same claim about the subsequent statements made, which I know not to be true, because I happened to be the person that was involved in those witness statements and not, as the Leader of the Opposition has said, my friend and colleague, Fabian Picardo.

The statements in the GSLP, which he thinks is terrible in the office of a political party, that there were witness statements being taken... if it is a lawyer's office, it is alright, of course. How can we dare to go, us mere mortals who are no lawyers that we can actually take statements from people. Of course, the only difference is we do not pay. We do not get paid for the statements. We do these things free of charge and so there must be something wrong with us. But we can go to a lawyer's office and the guy there sits down and writes what you tell him and charges you £200 for an hour's work. That is perfectly alright and the legal system is very happy with that. Of course it is a closed shop. (Interjections and laughter) Of course you are happy. But what happens is that when people do not pay, then their clients are sent to people like me who do it for nothing because the reality of it is that the only reason why it finished in my hands was because the Union decided to stop paying, otherwise I would not have been involved at all.

So let us be clear that this was not an agenda driven by the GSLP in order to find something to attack the Government – as if there were not a thousand other things that we could attack the Government on. We did not pick this battleground. The battleground arose because the Government failed to do what they should have done and behaved as they should have done.

In the statements that have been made by the Report on the Inquiry, it is not the case, Mr Speaker, that it is as clear cut as the hon. Member would have us believe. It is clear cut about me, but I do not expect Chairman Parker, who is not Chairman Mao (Interjection) to say anything good about me, given that the last time we met was when the hon. Member, the backbencher, was trying to get rid of Schofield. He came to do a hatchet job and I was there on Schofield's side. (Laughter) I went to speak on behalf of – (Interjection) and the fact that Chief Justice Schofield on top of it, I suppose, to make matters even worse, on top of it actually said, 'We were right when the appeal of the tribunal was said... must have also helped Chairman Parker to see things in a particular light.' But we will see. This is not yet over.

One of the things that is almost incomprehensible is that we have got one particular case, which I am going to mention as an example, and I think it is 'T'. This is a lady in the Home who makes allegations of sexual abuse. This is a lady that Dr Galloway says is quite capable of being cogent and there is a letter saying that what she is capable of saying is something that you cannot say this person is suffering from a disability that makes it impossible for this person to express themselves. The psychologists employed by the hon. Member opposite produced reports of this lady. I brought that to his attention in one of my questions many years ago and he said he did not know anything about it. This was done in March 2005. This lady writes a witness statement to the Inquiry which almost repeats exactly what she said 10 years ago. The people mentioned in her statement are the same people that were mentioned 10 years ago. The Chairman concludes that he believes the denial of the people involved.

I am not in a position to say what happened or what did not happen because I do not know, but I am in a position, as much as anybody else, of reading what has been said and making my judgement of the judgement of the person that said it. And what the person who looked at this case said, 'Well, the psychological report supports the allegation.' That is true. The Attorney General said that he tended to believe that it was true, but that regrettably he had decided that he did not think it was possible to get a conviction and therefore there was no point in starting a case.

Dr Galloway says that this person knows what she is talking about. Anybody, even a layman, would think that for somebody to be saying that this happened to her 10 years later is because the trauma that happened to her is there and it is still, even though that person... and we all know that regrettably people with disabilities tend to age quicker than those who have not got them, and this lady is now 10 years older and therefore –but the evidence of the professionals is in support of what she says. But the conclusion is that...it is not even a question. He says he agrees with the decision of the Attorney General that they should not prosecute because the level of evidence is not sufficient to get a prosecution. But it goes further. He says he does not believe it happened.

He concludes that she may believe it happened, because she lives in a world which is unreal for the rest of us; but it is her real world. And the reason why he believes that is because having heard the evidence of the three persons who are alleged to have done this by this lady... we are not talking about hearsay. We are not talking about somebody saying, 'I was told so.' This is the victim saying, 'This is what happened to me.' It is the only victim who has actually put something in front of the tribunal inquiry – the only one. And then when the Chairman writes the Report, he says:

‘Having listened to the denial of the alleged perpetrators of this offence, I am convinced that it would not be in character for them to have done it.’

2695 I do not know what they teach lawyers nowadays or what they teach judges, but I would say that if you can listen to three total strangers for half an hour each and conclude that you know them so well that you can say it is impossible because of their character for them to have done this 10 years ago... well, look, you are in the wrong profession. You should be a psychiatrist if just by looking at somebody you can say what their character is and what they can do or what they are not likely to be doing. And that is the evidence 2700 upon which there is a conclusion that the three people who are alleged to have committed an offence did not commit it: that the psychologists have got it wrong, that the lady who claims she remembers it happening has got it wrong and that the Attorney General who said, ‘I believe her, I believe her, but I have not proceeded because I could not get a conviction’. Well, look, if you cannot get a conviction then there is no point in going to court if you are going to lose it, I understand that, but I do not think that it is enough to persuade me that because you have listened to somebody for half an hour and he has made a good 2705 impression on you, you think it is impossible for this guy to have a character that would do this.

Mr Speaker, the world is full of serial killers whose character would appear to be impeccable if you met them for half an hour. If it was possible to spot killers or conmen on sight, they would all be in jail, they would not be roaming. And that is the quality of the judgment that we have reflected.

2710 Well, okay, if we are going to go into a debate about this, if what you want is apologies, if what you want is... no, what you want then must be the truth. (Interjection) And this is, (Interjection) No, the truth according to you, that suits you? No: the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, whoever it suits.
Because nothing...

2715 Mr Speaker, we have nothing to gain or lose. We have stood by a principle that there are people saying things are wrong, and that those people have got a right – a right which no government should deny them – for them to be told, ‘Okay, I will give you the benefit of the doubt.’ You are saying it is wrong? Let us look into this and let us do it openly and let us do it transparently. If you do not do it, then you can only blame yourself if people think that you are not doing it because you have got something to hide.

2720 So, I am afraid that the hon. Member has made a serious mistake in bringing this here and in thinking that this is something where we are going to let him walk out of this Chamber, saying ‘We were right all the time and the other side have been wrong all the time.’

2725 Mr Speaker, if I gave you one final example of the quality of the assessments that have been made, one of the things that happened when Isabella Tosso disappeared was that they had somebody else coming in as manager, Iain McNeil, and in the stages of when the tribunal appeared to be finally going to happen, which it didn’t, given that there was supposed to be evidence – which of course did not exist – that the problem was lack of management skills and that was what created the dismissal, they produced a new witness statement made by Iain McNeil. They presented as evidence in the Industrial Tribunal the business plan for Dr Giraldi Residential Services, prepared by Iain McNeil and Sharon Berini in 2006, when it looked as if the tribunal was finally going to meet.

2730 This has also been given to Chairman Parker, and he is very impressed with it. He is so impressed that he says that it is the most wonderful piece – it is in the Report, the Members can read it – the most wonderful piece of... plan that he has ever seen; that it guarantees the future running of the home problem free, that he has never seen such expertise displayed.

2735 Well, when this was produced, I first noticed that the font of Dr Giraldi was different to the font of the rest of the document. Then when I looked at the back I read that this is crown copyrighted in the United Kingdom, and then I realised that this wonderful job is a download, copy/paste from the Department of Health, and that they have not even bothered to remove the references to all the things that exist in the UK which do not exist in Gibraltar.

2740 The quality or the ability to make judgements is reflected in that this is perceived by the Inquiry’s Report to be the most fantastic job produced by Iain McNeil and Sharon Berini. Sharon Berini, after this fantastic job, left one month later and Iain McNeil left two years later and nothing was done about the famous business plan.

2745 So the inquiry has not even bothered to do its homework in finding that this was produced for the tribunal and no further use was made of it. Therefore, if we are going to be looking in detail at this Report, then we are going to look at every full stop, comma, and paragraph.

Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: Does anybody else wish to contribute to the debate?

2750 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Usually the sides alternate, but if nobody else is going to speak on that side, then I am ready to speak.

In that case, I am quite happy to alternate with the hon. Member.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Mr Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Thanks, Mr Speaker.

2755 In my Budget address of 2008, I said that the last six months in particular – that is before the Budget – that the GSLP and the GLSP-friendly media outlet have conducted a relentless and scurrilous campaign primarily against my hon. friend, Mrs Yvette del Agua and by extension, to the GSD Government, by using the Dr Giraldi Home as a political tool.

2760 In that speech, I went on to state that such an orchestrated campaign by the then Opposition was nothing more than a political circus, which not only manipulated the facts, but also had the effects of tarnishing the reputation and good work of the staff at the home, and causing unnecessary anxiety to both the staff and the relatives of the residents of the home.

2765 Once again then, as I have done previously, and as I was to do again after that Budget session, I said categorically that the allegations made by the then Opposition had all been investigated by the then Social Services Agency, and that according to the circumstances of each case, members of the staff had either been dismissed, reprimanded within the disciplinary code of the then Social Services Agency, or such allegations dismissed because they were found to be untrue or unsupported by evidence.

2770 It is comforting to note the statement made by the Rt. Hon. Sir Jonathan Parker QC, where he did acknowledge that all allegations were investigated and action taken in one form or another, taking account of specific circumstances of each case. It is also comforting to note that Sir Jonathan accepted the evidence to the inquiry by Sir Peter Caruana QC. This is important because of the campaign by the GSLP and their friendly media outlets to portray the idea that he had used his political position as Chief Minister to suppress the allegations, or in giving instructions to the RGP or the Attorney General, as to how such institutions should deal with such allegations.

2775 The facts remain that Sir Jonathan did not find any shred of evidence to suggest that such interference by the then GSD Government had taken place. It is also comforting to hear that the right honourable judge said that he accepted, without qualification, the evidence of Yvette del Agua, Sir Peter Caruana and myself, something that contrasts vividly with his opinion of the credibility of the Hon. the Father of the House, the Hon. Joe Bossano, when he says that Mr Bossano's suspicions were 'unfounded in every respect'.

2780 The fact is that I was very clear back in 2008, and subsequently, that the whole campaign of untruth, distortions, and character assassinations by the GSLP and their friendly media outlets was designed as a political instrument to tarnish and smear the reputation of the staff of the Dr Giraldi Home, in the hope that this would serve them well at the 2011 general elections. It was a means towards an end, without any consideration for the staff and the reputation of the many hard-working employees. I clearly remember members of staff telling me as Minister that as a result of the incessant imputations by the GSLP friendly media outlets, they felt that they were being personally identified in their private time outside the homes. They felt badly let down by the comments of the Members of this House in the TV programme of 'Espejo Publico', which led the producer to describe the Dr Giraldi Home as 'the house of horrors'. This was a shameful and disgraceful episode by Members Opposite for which they have never apologised, despite the harm done to these employees, the residents of the home or their families.

2790 Today the Chief Minister is given the opportunity to apologise for the participation of his party in that programme. If he does not want to write to the producers of the programme, as the motion suggests, the least he could do is to apologise.

2795 In relation to Ms Hernandez, I will repeat what I have said on a number of occasions, and that is that I feel sorry for this lady. Any objective analysis of the Inquiry Report will demonstrate that this lady was not fit to be the manager of the home, and I will not go any further than that. I will say, nevertheless, that those who advised her from the GSLP/Liberal Party did not have her best interests at heart. Instead of providing the best possible counselling, she was used as a political pawn for partisan interests.

2800 Mr Speaker, given the outcome of the inquiry, which is a complete political fiasco for the GSLP/Liberal Party, some kind of pseudo defence will need to be invented in order to justify the unjustifiable new fact that the Leader of the House we have just seen trying to rewrite the inquiry itself. But in reference to the statement made by the Father of the House, what he has omitted to say, what the honourable judge did say, in volume 4, page 668, which says:

'However the Home has gradually improved during the period under review'

– that is between the year 2000 and 2005 –

'and especially after 2005/6 in terms of staffing, procedures, working practices and impact on care.'

2805 One valid comment that can be said about Social Services in general is that while increasing his budget well over the rate of inflation in real terms is important, something that is the track record of the GSD

Government, there is always room for improvement. I always accepted that, as Minister with responsibility for Social Services, but the fact remains that we invested heavily in this area.

2810 As far as expenditure is concerned for Social Services, the GSLP Government inherited the budget from the AACR Government in 1988 of £412,000. By the time they left office in 1996, the budget for Social Services stood at £1 million. This represents an increase in real terms, after adjusting for inflation, of 71.6%. As far as the GSD Government's track record shows, we inherited a budget of £1 million in 1996, and by the time we left office in 2011, it stood at £5,814,309. This represents an increase in real terms, after adjusting for inflation, of 321%.

2815 One of the ironies for me about the criticism by the Father of the House in our handling of Social Services was his own track record. After construction of the Dr Giraldi Home, under the auspices of the then GSLP Government, the building remained closed for two years because, in the words of the then Chief Minister, 'the Government could not afford to employ professionals' – and it is in Hansard.

2820 After two years in which the home was closed to vulnerable service users, it was then decided to open the home run by a Catholic charity on a shoestring budget. That only happened after much pressure from the families of the potential service users and their association – in other words, under the GSLP Government, run by the man who orchestrated the Dr Giraldi Home campaign – when we were in Government, the Dr Giraldi Home was not even run directly by Social Services, but rather by a church charity.

2825 This contrasts sharply with the decision we took when we were elected in 1996, when we took over responsibility directly for the home and kept it growing in staff and resources throughout the years we were in Government. It grew from a handful of staff under the GSLP Government to well over 50 by the time we left office. Included were six qualified nurses specialising in mental health and learning disabilities among other areas.

2830 I also take note of the comments by Sir Jonathan in relation to the secondment of Mr Carlos Banderas under my term of office, in which he is credited with further advancing the Home policies and procedures, and improving further the relationship between service users, staff and the family.

2835 Mr Speaker, using people as a means towards an end, regardless of the harm done to people, is not new. It has unfortunately a very long history in the annals of political life and history. Perhaps the first person to describe its usage in political philosophy was Niccolo Machiavelli in his famous book The Prince, written in the 16th century. Ever since then, we have come to apply the term 'dirty hand' to describe the use of campaigns designed to denigrate, mislead, distort, manipulate, torment, and to generally formulate smear campaigns on political opponents.

2840 With the passage of time, history will tell us that the Dr Giraldi Home Inquiry and the years of underhand tactics used by the then GSLP/Liberal Opposition, was indeed part of the dirty hand orchestrated campaign to undermine the GSD Government, even if it had the effect of tarnishing the morale and the staff of the Dr Giraldi Home, and causing untold cruelty to the staff in their professional and private lives. This type of politics which uses people as a means towards an end in general is wrong, but in a small community as Gibraltar it is even worse, (A Member: Hear, hear.) as the effects are more pernicious given our size and the fact that there is no hiding place for anyone. (Banging on desks)

2845 We cannot have a situation in which a political party devises a strategy to get into Government by using vulnerable people, by denigrating workers in the institutions that they are employed to serve, and not having regard for the misery and anguish done to such staff, service-users and their families.

2850 As a community, we need to move away from having another repetition of using workers for party political ends, as we saw the political and industrial unrest artificially provoked by the GSLP party in the then Kvaerner Shipyard, placing hundreds of workers in the unemployment lists in order to create financial problems for the GSD Government.

2855 Whilst I do not expect that the party in Government today, which is the party that caused so much damage to the morale of workers of the Dr Giraldi Home, the residents and the families, to apologise for the actions when in Opposition, I do believe that the motion in front of us does provide an opportunity to undo some of the damage done. We should all vote in favour and raise the standard of political behaviour for the future.

Thank you, Mr Speaker.

2860 Several Members: Hear, hear. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

2865 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, can I start first of all by congratulating the Hon. the Father of the House for what has been, in my view, one of the most passionate and masterful interventions I have seen him make since I was elected alongside him in 2003.

I have told him, although he does not take it as a compliment, for reasons I find a difficulty in fathoming, that his forensic analysis is worthy of one of the best lawyers at the bar. But he does not quite like those analogies.

2870 I am not the only one who makes such an analogy, as we will see in a few moments, Mr Speaker, and all of us who make it mean it in the positive. In fact, Mr Speaker, those who have seen me give an interview in relation to this matter of the Dr Giraldi Home will have seen that the Government was in fact ready to let matters lie and move on, but in fact hon. Members, it appears, want to simply use this matter to continue to stir and actually do exactly what Mr Netto has said should not done, in other words, use the allegations that 2875 have been made against vulnerable people in a way that is designed simply to gain them some political advantage.

So Mr Speaker, it may be that there is a lot more to be said about the allegations that were made, not by Joanna Hernandez or by Joe Bossano, but by the relatives, and indeed on one occasion one of the alleged victims themselves, of what might have been happening at the Dr Giraldi Home.

2880 Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition started the afternoon by talking about the Government wanting to bury a debate on the motion because we are having the sitting late in the month and because it may be late in the afternoon. In fact, what happens is that the Government has a very busy agenda. The Government has an extraordinarily ambitious manifesto, one that we are fulfilling. But of course civil servants are available until 3.30 and we need to be in the office working with those civil 2885 servants on matters which really advance our economy and the needs of our community. Coming here to debate motions, even our own, is not something that should take priority over the delivery of the manifesto that is in the interests of our community.

So we come here, Mr Speaker, once the civil servants who work during the day are finished for the day, and we can continue, because we want to, in this Parliament, to deal with these issues.

2890 But Mr Speaker, when he talks about, because we are coming late, wanting to bury the motion. He needs to be reminded that this is the latest the Parliament has ever sat while I have been Leader of the House, but it frequently sat until this time and later when the Hon. the now backbencher used to be Leader of the House. It only used to meet twice a year or three times – twice when there was an election; three when there was not – and it frequently sat very late indeed. I often hear –Hon. Members who have been 2895 here longer than most remind me – of the fact that Parliament used to sit so late.

So either sitting late is just an incidental matter which relates to the important timetable of Ministers or it is an attempt to bury debate, in which case he is now the leader of a party that has form on this matter, having sat later more often than any other previous Government.

2900 So it may be that what he is doing, in now decrying that, is simply once again demonstrating his duplicity and duality politically by saying one thing although he is leading the party that did the other – typical, Mr Speaker – or he is just repositioning his party, in other words converting the GSD into the GSLP, as he appears to be trying to do in so many other areas.

The fact is that we have no desire to bury this motion. We want everyone to hear what we have to say in respect of it. I want everyone to know what the Hon. the Father of the House has said. His forensic analysis 2905 has been absolutely superb. It has set out all of the reasons why there should be serious concern in this community about what happened at Giraldi.

In particular, I would like the community to know about the copy/paste job that was done on the business plan, and which he has demonstrated to us today was in fact therefore not a document worthy of being praised by anyone, unless of course you are of the school of those who copy the prefaces to manifestos word for word and simply change the name at the bottom. I cannot imagine who in the recesses of my memory I might recollect ever did that – ah yes, the now backbencher who did it at the time with a Liberal manifesto issued by Mr Paddy Ashdown in the campaign in the 1980s, which became his foreword in the early 1990s. A copy/paste job it was, Mr Speaker, so I want to thank the hon. gentleman for reminding us of that and giving us an opportunity to reflect on that.

2915 I want to declare, before I get into the meat of what I am going to say, that I was involved in these matters when I was a lawyer. I was involved in representing Joanna Hernandez on the instructions of Unite the Union. I also represented before then, also on the instructions of Unite the Union, those referred to in paragraph 4e of the executive summary, in part 4 of the Report. And in fact I was provided with a letter – which hon. Members will not have seen because the matter I am going to come onto was never dealt with – 2920 but a letter by Unite confirming that I could deal with the Joanna Hernandez matter, although I had dealt with the matter of the individuals referred to in paragraph 4e because they waived their conflict in this matter.

But I was also the subject of a complaint to the Admissions and Disciplinary Tribunal of the bar, brought on behalf of Michael Feetham, who I understand is related by blood to the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition, and Unite, represented by Mr Rafael Benzaquen, who was shortly with us in the Gallery but appears to have left, and an erstwhile member or current member of the Executive Committee of Members 2925 Opposite, in an attempt to seek that I should be disbarred.

It is important that I make those declarations because I am going to come onto matters which relate to that. The fact is that on 9th December 2011, people voted for a change of Government, and in doing those of us who were elected believe that we have an obligation to comply with the commitments that we gave the public in the General Election. Those commitments include, and if hon. Members read the inside page of our manifesto, not just the things contained in our manifesto, but also the things which were said in press releases during the course of the previous year.

In a press release – and this is just one of them – in a Press Release dated 11th February 2009, the policy of the Opposition – the GSLP/Liberal Opposition as it then was – was that we reiterated that a full independent inquiry into the allegations should take place. Our manifesto says that all our commitments are in this manifesto, or in some of the press releases that we have issued. It was therefore included, Mr Speaker, in the case we had laid before the public in the four years leading up to the general election, that there should an inquiry into the allegations made in respect of the Giraldi Home. We urged that they should have done it whilst they were in Government. Therefore in convening the inquiry I was giving effect to the will of the people who had chosen this particular party that had made those representations during the course of the lifetime of the previous Parliament.

Why did we do that? Let me just quickly in general terms try and summarise that.

These were not the sorts of allegations that hon. Members sometimes face us with. Hon. Members get up and say, ‘Well, I have been stopped in the street by a person who has told me...’ or ‘we have heard rumours that...’ If we were basing ourselves on that, hon. Members might have an argument for saying, ‘You are really blowing this out of all proportion.’ I mean, people can stop you in the street in Gibraltar, especially if you are politically responsible for something, and tell you just about anything that you would like to hear.

Certainly I have heard things about hon. Members Opposite that I have said to myself, even in my wildest imagination, of how dreadful Members Opposite can be to me across the floor of the House, I know that they would never venture not to care about children etc, because people just say things. But this is not people just saying things, Mr Speaker.

The situation in which the Hon. the Father of the House found himself was an invidious situation indeed. He found himself in possession not of notes, not of rumours, but of sworn witness statements, which, sworn witness statements, made allegations that abuse and misconduct etc had taken place.

In the United Kingdom now we are seeing a flurry of activity convening an inquiry into alleged child abuse based on things that have been said and documents that might have existed. There was going to be an inquiry into whether there was a dossier that alleged that there might have been child abuse by certain individuals in the past. Not that there is a dossier with sworn statements in it that makes the allegations, but that there is a rumour, there is a belief, there are allegations, that there were allegations in writing at some stage.

The Hon. the Father of the House finds himself actually with sworn statements making these allegations, and in that context he acts entirely properly in the way that he deals with this.

Mr Speaker, the hon. gentleman has said that we should apologise or we should seek to clarify to ‘Espejo Publico’ what has happened, and correct the defamation that he has said that they did on Gibraltar. We will come to what was said in ‘Espejo Publico’, and what defamations there were or were not.

But I am left with just one feeling in all of this, and that is that the way that hon. Members have phrased everything that they have said about the Dr Giraldi Home, they would only consider that the money in the Dr Giraldi Inquiry was well spent if there had been explicit findings of massive abuse, because the findings are not that there was nothing, as we will come to now, although the ones that we have been read by hon. Members are very selective, so I am going to read him some more.

But is it only that if the real abuse of the sort that one cannot even imagine or think about was found, then this would have been money well spent, otherwise its wasted money? Well, let us look in detail at what it is that the inquiry has found, and what it has found did happen.

Mr Speaker, what has not yet emerged, and given the speech that we heard from the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition, is that he is not just a mere bystander here. He is not just somebody who comes to this politically after the findings. It is not just that he was Minister for Justice whilst litigation was going on, dare I say it, in the courts for which he was tangentially responsible by his brother. But look, he can find himself in that situation, that is quite normal. There is nothing wrong with that, as long as he did not involve himself with it. If he did, then something else would have to be said, and perhaps we will come to that during the course of my intervention.

The speech that you have heard from the Leader of the Opposition today, critical as it is of Joanna Hernandez – probably in the most aggressive terms I have heard of a person who is not here to defend themselves being spoken of in this House – was uttered by her first lawyer. The person who was first instructed by Joanna Hernandez was not Fabian Picardo. It was Daniel Feetham.

And my instructions at the time were that he was very concerned to hear what had been put to him. He was going to take the case as far as he could, as usual with the hon. Member – the enthusiasm when one 2990 first meets him, 'We must go as far as we can to uncover all of this.' But then there was what lawyers call in Latin a novus actus interveniens. Something happened between him meeting Joanna Hernandez and being ready to take the case, and my becoming involved. Black turned to white. Night turned to day. The socialist turned to the Social Democrat, and the Labour Party was swallowed up whole.

2995 And the hon. Member, who had come to remove Peter Caruana from the post of Chief Minister of Gibraltar, forgot that he had come to bury Peter, not to praise him and ended up sitting alongside him in the executive of the GSD. And so he said to Joanna Hernandez, 'I may not be able to continue with this, because these now contain allegations against the Government, and I am now in the executive committee.' Well, Mr Speaker, if he had left it at that perhaps...

3000 But when Joanna Hernandez instructed somebody else, namely me, through Unite, who were prepared to fund him or me doing the case, because we were both at – dare we say it? – Hassans, Mr Speaker. The hon. Member refused to release the file. For quite a while he had to be cajoled and even written to, to release the file, not to another firm, but to another lawyer within the same firm!

Incredible, Mr Speaker – incredible then, but to have heard him speak the words he has spoken today, for Joanna Hernandez's first lawyer and confidant on these matters, to have got up and said the things he has said today, demonstrates once again the duplicity and the duality of the hon. Gentleman opposite.

3005 Mr Speaker, her knight in shining armour, as he then was, turned to rust. Her white knight turned to darkness, as we all know, and her faith in him, like the faith that so many others might have had in him, entirely dissipated.

He started by saying that members of staff at Dr Giraldi have stood steadfast over the years whilst the GSLP did this and that, and all the rest of it. He wanted to congratulate them all for having stood so steadfast. Does he know that there are only five members of the Dr Giraldi Home employed today who were employed at the time of the allegations? So, I do not know who it is that, as a cadre of staff, all stood steadfast – but I suppose when he then says how can we accuse them, from the Government to the Opposition, of doing Gibraltar down when they say the things that they do – that we should look at what we did in 'Espejo Publico', we should judge him by the same standard. I want to congratulate all the staff – probably 30, 40 or 50 of them, now just five – all the staff who have stood so steadfast.

3015 He calls Joanna Hernandez our 'political activist'. He talks about my having represented Joanna Hernandez at the directions hearing. Yes, for all the reasons that I told him. But listen to this: he calls her our political activist. She was his client before she was my client or saw Joe Bossano looking after her. He had the chance of having dealt with this matter.

3020 He says that I represented Joanna Hernandez at the directions hearing, but he did not bother to say to you: 'because I had been her lawyer first. I had given up the case and they had to prise the file from my fingers.' He says that her accusations were vile. But he does not say that the accusations were all of them related to him, and that he was ready to take the case, except that he made a political pirouette of the sort that Gibraltar does not often see. It was only that that determined that he would not.

3025 So much for things being vile. But maybe, Mr Speaker, it is because he forgot, and last time when we were having a debate which led to the motions, I invited him to say that he simply forgot. This time I do not think that he would want to accept that he forgot that he had represented Joanna Hernandez and that he was her first lawyer. But he has said so many things that he is capable of forgetting a lot of what he says, because he just says a lot – because of course, he says a lot, but it does not mean anything, Mr Speaker.

3030 In fact, one of the things that we are going to come to, especially when we look at what was said in Spain and what he would like to think was said in Spain, is that he is obviously forgetting things. This is about his selective amnesia.

3035 In fact, they do not like it when we remind them of the enchufes, of the £8 million that they buried in the hole that was the Theatre Royal, the £90 million airport, the Rosia Tanks, the defective works at Cumberland. They do not like to be reminded of that, but they like to remind us about the Dr Giraldi Home Inquiry. Well, we are delighted to be reminded about it, Mr Speaker.

3040 But maybe he is just suffering again from the same amnesia that made him forget that he was the lawyer for the Sunborn – the same amnesia that made him forget why he had originally come to Gibraltar, or the same amnesia that led him to say that the man he had come to remove was actually the greatest Gibraltarian of all time. There is so much amnesia in the gentleman opposite that I sometimes think I should serenade him with a verse of that great song from Andrew Lloyd Webber, 'Memory'.

3045 But the more that he goes on and the more he says, I actually think I should go onto another song in that musical, which is 'Bring In The Clowns'. Because what he has done today is not deal with the Dr Giraldi Home Inquiry and its findings. He has wanted to read an indictment of the VOX newspaper. He has wanted to talk about how the VOX newspaper said this or said that. Well, the VOX newspaper is no longer printed. They managed to do that by a combination of aggressive litigation in which his brothers and he were involved, and by withdrawing advertising. They brought the title, which had been until then the longest surviving title in Gibraltar's media history, to its knees, destroyed it, and now it is only a web publication.

3050 They say that we spread unfounded allegations in Spain in ‘Espejo Publico’; that Gibraltarian politicians, namely the Father of the House, became participants in Spain on TV programmes denigrating our institutions. I cannot actually think that the hon. gentleman has bothered to do his homework if he said that. He cannot have bothered to watch the YouTube video of ‘Espejo Publico’. You cannot ever accuse us of doing Gibraltar down, given what you did on ‘Espejo Publico’. We have not even had an apology for your shameful intervention.

3055 Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Father of the House took him to it. I am going to take him to a different part, which includes the part that the Hon. the Father of the House read. He either has not done his homework, or he realised after he put the motion that he just remembered that there was a programme called ‘Espejo Publico’, but had not checked what had been said on it before putting pen to paper. Maybe that is a case of pen engaging before brain.

3060 The interviewer from ‘Espejo Publico’ says something in the clip which the Hon. the Father of the House is going to be very angry at indeed, because he starts – and I am going to have to read in Spanish, Mr Speaker, but I will do a little bit of translating – he starts by saying this:

‘El abogado Joe Bossano’

– (Laughter) Spanish TV programmes never do their research on Gibraltar –

‘ex-Presidente de Gibraltar’ –

– (Laughter) do they not realise he is just president for life of the youth section of the GSLP? –

‘... ha tardado tres años en demostrar que Joanna Hernandez no fue despedida procedentemente. Como lider del partido laborista tambien ha intendado que se aclare lo que ocurre en este centro.’

3065 So they are talking about Dr Giraldi. They say it has taken him three years to demonstrate that she has been unfairly dismissed, and as the leader of the Socialist Party he is trying to show what happened in this place, the Dr Giraldi Home.

And then Joe Bassano says these dreadful words, which are the most disgraceful and vile defamation of an institution in Gibraltar that I have ever read, if I were to believe the hon. Gentleman’s description of them, and this Mr Speaker is what this House is being asked to resolve, to right and correct as a result of this disgraceful man’s disgraceful statements:

‘Yo le pregunto en el parlamento, bueno, si todo esto es un montaje y todo es mentira, entonces porque no se permitio que se escuchara el caso el primer dia, en el 2006? No lo ha hecho, no lo aclaran.’

3070 Mr Speaker, what Joe Bossano said is this:

‘I ask in the Parliament, well, if this is all a stitch up, a set up, and everything is a lie, then why did you not just allow the case to be heard on the first day in 2006? They have not done so, they do not clear it up.’

3075 That is the sum total of the vile and disgraceful defamation of a Gibraltar institution uttered by Joe Bossano, which the hon. Member has said we must now write to ‘Espejo Publico’ to correct (Hon. J J Bossano: In my office.) – and not in Spain, by the way, but in his office.

He then goes on, because the clip goes on:

‘El resto de la oposicion, el partido progresista democrata y los liberales también demandan esta investigación.’

‘The rest of the opposition, the PDP and the Liberals, also demand such an investigation.’

‘Nadie se atreve a asegurar en Gibraltar que las acusaciones sean ciertas, pero mientras no se aclaren los hechos siempre quedará sombra de la duda.’

‘Nobody in Gibraltar dares say that the allegations are true’

– neither was Joe Bossano saying that they were true, incidentally –

‘but until the facts are clarified, there will always be a shadow of a doubt.’

3080 Well, Mr Speaker, that was the policy of the GSLP in Gibraltar that there should be an investigation, and that until there was an investigation the allegations were being made and they could not simply be discarded.

There is an incredibly instructive set of paragraphs or exchanges where hon. Members might like to know that the interviewer is saying, ‘Actually we have had great difficulty getting people to speak on 3085 camera, because although they tell us on camera that these things might be happening and they have to be investigated, they will not come on camera because there is great fear.’ ‘Fear of what?’ says the lady in Madrid to the guy in Gibraltar. ‘Fear of the administration and taking on the administration.’

Well, Mr Speaker, if there is one thing people have been cured of on 9th December 2011, it is having fear of the administration because people now talk freely.

But the ‘Espejo Publico’ report went on, and it dealt with this issue:

‘Pero es tan grave el asunto, es decir que hay tanto miedo y tanto temor en Gibraltar que en principio hay que denunciar que un niño de diez años que entra allí por motivos emocionales le metan directamente en un centro psiquiatrico con diez años y que no los separen a los niños y los adultos allí.’

3090 Mr Speaker, essentially these people are saying that it is a very grave matter, to such an extent there is great fear in Gibraltar; people do not want to talk, but we have to say that one of the issues to look at is that a 10-year-old boy has been put in a mental home with older people.

Another defamation apparently, but not one uttered by Joe Bossano. As it turns out, entirely true.

3095 Now the hon. Gentleman and I do not rate each other as lawyers. That is fine. It is up to other people to rate us as lawyers, but he should know that a defamation is something which is uttered which is untrue – not something which is uttered and then found to be true. And so what we should not do is fall into the trap of putting pen to paper as quickly as the hon. Gentleman did in drafting the motion, to write to ‘Espejo Publico’, because we might find ourselves writing a letter that says, ‘Your report was true in respect of the 10-year-old boy.’ ‘Your report was true in respect of the 10-year-old-boy.’

3100 And if I were writing the letter, Mr Speaker, I would also say, ‘Your report was true about the fear that people felt in speaking out against the Government at the time.’

So the hon. Gentleman has to be a bit more careful with what he wishes for, otherwise he might just get that letter.

3105 Mr Speaker, nobody went on Spanish TV therefore. Spanish TV came to us. And what was said by the Hon. the Father of the House is actually entirely defensible, in the sense that it made no allegations against anybody, other than to ask why things were not being investigated.

But he says, you are now suing ABC, which we support. If you are suing ABC to put the record right, why don’t you get this letter out to ‘Espejo Publico’?

3110 What we have done is exactly what we promised to do, and exactly what Joe Bossano was talking about in ‘Espejo Publico’, which is to say that the allegations should be investigated, and being elected, we gave the opportunity to those making the allegations in the setting up of the inquiry, to come forward and say what they had to say. We never said that the allegations were true. We never said that these were our allegations. In fact, all we said is that the allegations are made and they must be properly and entirely investigated. And having done so, we can happily say that the silence has been broken and the Inquiry has been held.

3115 The allegations which were made, the hon. Gentleman said, were found to be totally unfounded. Well, they were only investigated as a result of the inquiry being called, so I assume if his case is that the allegations were unfounded, if that is what he is trying to persuade public opinion on, then he should be grateful for the Inquiry, because it is the only place in which the allegations have been properly ventilated, and what he says was his theory all along proved right according to his reading of the Inquiry findings.

3120 But Mr Speaker, let us look at the findings, because the hon. Gentleman has offended against the rule there would be if this were a tribunal of only reading selectively the bits that he thinks are convenient to his case. But what about all the other bits, Mr Speaker, that Chairman Parker determined in his conclusions.

Let me read to you from page 636:

‘The shortage of staff was serious and chronic problems, which added to the pressure on management and staff (including support workers).’

– this is his first finding.

Second finding:

‘Greater training of staff would have been beneficial.

During this period no “care plans” (in the sense of formal and comprehensive care plans which included input from social workers) were in place for service users.

Record-keeping and control of paperwork was not as efficiently carried out as it should have been. Missing paperwork was a real and continuing problem.’

3125 This is not in an office, Mr Speaker; this is in a place where children are in care – where adults are in care alongside some children.

‘The frequent changes in management personnel contributed to this problem, not only because such changes involved a degree of disruption to the smooth running of the Home but also because handovers between one Manager and the next were carried out in a relatively perfunctory manner, to the extent that they were carried out at all.’

‘What if one of your relatives were being looked after with this system in place?’

‘There were also continuing problems throughout this period in relation to the management of petty cash.’

– one of the allegations relates to petty cash.

‘Lack of control of medication was also a continuing problem during this period.’

Not in one’s home, but in a home run by the Government – lack of control of medication.

‘On one occasion, a resident was given a repeat dose by a carer coming on shift who did not know (and had not checked) whether the dose had already been given.’

And these people are in the care of the Government, Mr Speaker.

‘On other occasions, a resident was either under- or over-medicated. These incidents demonstrate that procedures in relation to the control of medication during this period could and should have been improved.’

3130 Some of the allegations related exactly to that:

‘The physical facilities at Bishop Healy (which was used by the Home as a temporary measure following flooding at the premises at Smith Dorrien Avenue) were inadequate.’

I did not hear him read those findings, Mr Speaker.

Joanna Hernandez’ efforts in this respect were supported by Sean Matto – Mr Speaker, they are talking there about the shortage of staff issue:

‘... in a contemporary report in which he described the effects of the shortage of staff’

– under them, the ‘great investors’, as Mr Netto described them – with greater numbers of staff a higher standard of care could have been provided.

‘as “at best unfair, and at worst abusive”.

Shortage of staff also resulted in members of staff becoming seriously overstretched...

Throughout this period there were continuing problems in relation to the control of medication, and in relation to lack of security.

I accept Joanna Hernandez’ evidence that she attempted to improve the physical activities at the Home, and that she introduced a number of improvements to the running of the Home (including arranging for regular group meetings with relatives of service users)’ 3135 Her first lawyer did not refer you to that, Mr Speaker. Let him leave it to me and I will.

On one occasion, says the Report:

‘Another resident was locked in his room in the dark. That was inexcusable conduct by the carer responsible, but the evidence is that such conduct was “stopped”.’

But it happened and that is what the allegations related to, Mr Speaker.

I did not hear Joanna Hernandez’s first lawyer read you that bit – or this bit, Mr Speaker:

‘In her evidence to the Inquiry, Simy Herbert alleged that members of staff used to speak disrespectfully to residents. I do not doubt that that may have happened on occasion, and clearly it should not have happened.’

All of the allegations in fact are slowly being made out; it is just a question of degree.

3140 And a lengthy section here, which is important because it goes to the crux of what happened:

‘Chris Wilson’s evidence in relation to the availability of Isabella Tosso was singularly unhelpful. He wholly failed to give that matter the importance it deserved, or to treat it with an appropriate degree of urgency.’

This relates to the Industrial Tribunal, Mr Speaker.

‘The fact that he made no effort himself to discover how to contact Isabella Tosso beyond making inquiries of some of his colleagues demonstrated a quite remarkable degree of passivity on his part...’

Marie Gomez told the Inquiry that she had not “seen or heard of Ms Tosso since 2007”. That is inconsistent with the fact that the latest in the series of emails referred to earlier was an email from Isabella Tosso to her dated 12 August 2008 in which Isabella Tosso described her as “my friend”, and signed off with kisses.’

– a curse of modern e-mail, Mr Speaker –

‘Asked whether she was aware at the time of the substantive hearing that the fact that Isabella Tosso would not be available to give evidence meant that the SSA would not be in a position to defend Joanna Hernandez’ claim, Marie Gomez said (in effect) that she was too busy with her work to think about anything else. (A Member: Shame.) I do not believe that answer.’

– that is what the Report says –

‘In the course of their email correspondence, Isabella Tosso gave Marie Gomez her office telephone number in the UK. Asked why she had not tried to contact Isabella Tosso on that number, Marie Gomez replied:
“To tell you the truth I did not even realise I had the office number. I probably scanned the email and just, you know, went on working. I was too busy.”
I do not believe that answer.’

– says Chairman Parker.

And goes on:

‘Marie Gomez went on to give a number of equally evasive answers to questions from counsel. They demonstrate beyond any doubt that during the period leading up to the substantive hearing on 9 April 2008 Marie Gomez not only knew how to contact Isabella Tosso but was in regular contact with her; and that they remained in contact thereafter. Her repeated attempts to disguise this obvious fact in her oral evidence cannot be attributed to a faulty recollection: her evidence on this aspect represented, for whatever reason, a deliberate attempt to mislead the Inquiry.’

3145 Joanna Hernandez’ first lawyer did not think he should read you that, Mr Speaker; he was only interested in laying into her, not reflecting what the reality of the Inquiry Report sets out.

And it goes on:

‘As to the unavailability of Isabella Tosso, there is no evidence that Chris Wilson’s passive attitude in relation to her unavailability represented a deliberate attempt on his part to prevent or delay discovery of her whereabouts. But I am satisfied that it was simple a case of slackness and inefficiency on his part.’

– the human resources manager of the place where some of us are putting our relatives to be looked after.

And, Mr Speaker, slightly better things:

‘Overall, the evidence presented to the Inquiry paints a healthy picture of the current state of affairs of the Home.

[...]

According to the evidence of Gina Llanelo, the perennial problem of staff shortages continued during that period.’

3150 When the hon. ‘Great Investor’, Mr Netto, was at the Social Services Agency investing more money than anybody had ever invested.

‘However, the problem has been addressed to the point where it is no longer so pressing.’

– not under him –

‘In consequence, the standard of care which the staff are able to offer service users is higher.’

Finally Mr Speaker, in Chairman Parker’s general conclusions, I do not know why the hon. Gentleman did not read you this first one:

‘There were some instances of mismanagement, misconduct and malpractice (including abuse) at the Home, but they were infrequent and at the lower end of the scale of seriousness.’

3155 But he says there were some instances of mismanagement, misconduct and malpractice including abuse. Can somebody explain to me if I was a relative of one of the people who was subject to mismanagement, subject to misconduct, subject to malpractice, or indeed subject to abuse, how anybody is going to persuade me that something is at the top or bottom of a scale of seriousness when I have entrusted one of my relatives to the care of the administration?

The second conclusion:

‘Many of the allegations in the witness statements filed on behalf of Joanna Hernandez in the Industrial Tribunal in 2006 ... were untrue, grossly exaggerated or unsubstantiated by credible evidence.’

3160 Well, that sounds a bit negative of Ms Hernandez, doesn't it? I think the hon. Gentleman did read that one. Her first lawyer did read that conclusion.

But read this forensically, Mr Speaker:

'Many of the allegations in the witness statements...'

Any lawyer who reads that realises that it does not say all. It does not say all, Mr Speaker.

3165 Mr Speaker, the third conclusion is in relation to that, as follows:

'To the extent that such allegations were established on evidence, the incidents in question were largely historic and infrequent.'

In other words, Joanna Hernandez' witness statement contains truths which are proved, but they happened some time ago and they did not happen too often.

Well, Mr Speaker, if it was one of my relatives, I do not care if he has been abused once or twice, 10 years ago or 20 years ago. He has been abused and I would not want to watch any of my relatives abused when he is in the care of the administration.

3170

But let us end on a positive note, Mr Speaker. Sir Jonathan Parker says this:

'On a positive note, however, I can report that the home is now in much better order and is better run than it has been at any time during the period which the Inquiry has had to investigate.'

Well, Mr Speaker, so much for there being nothing in the findings that support the decision that we should have carried out this Inquiry or that we were wrong once we were in Opposition to be pursuing it, because frankly, Mr Speaker, I think for all of the relatives of the people who made allegations, there is a lot in there to feel uneasy about – in other words, there is a lot in there which they have found to have rightly raised issues about.

But, the Hon. Gentleman in his hyperbole went on and said in no Western democracy could somebody get away with having said the things the Hon. the Father of the House said and still be a Minister. Well, Mr Speaker, in fact the hon. Gentleman was speaking on the basis of having sworn witness statements in his hand, he was acting entirely properly. But I have heard before in this House, this business of 'in no Western democracy'. As Hansard will show, it was said once before in a Budget, and I forget the exact year, but I think it was after 2007, when the hon. Gentleman, the now backbencher – in other words, the one who is now out of Government – said to the Hon. the Father of the House, 'In any other western democracy anybody who had lost four elections in a row would have to resign and leave the Parliament'.

3180

Mr Speaker, they used to call Bill Clinton the come-back kid and he has got nothing on the Hon. the Father of the House. Western democracy should take lessons from the way that Joe Bossano discharges his obligations to the people that he serves, namely the people of Gibraltar, whether as a Minister or as a Member of Opposition, pursuing doggedly many of the things which the Chairman of the Inquiry has actually found he was right to pursue, 'aided and abetted by Members opposite', said the hon. Gentleman trying to convert his diatribe into an indictment, because the language of aiding and abetting is the language of the criminal law used in indictments.

3185

Aided and abetted, Mr Speaker. Well, supported by his Party who adopted as a policy position that we should pursue this Inquiry. But does he include Unite, that for a period were actually involved in funding Joanna Hernandez' case? Does he include himself, her first lawyer, or are only those of us who remain – not have been in the past – those of us who remain Members of the GSLP Liberal Coalition to be tarnished as aiding and abetting when what we were in fact doing is supporting and ensuring that the light of day shone on those serious allegations, many of which have been found to be true?

3190

Mr Speaker, I think he gave a backhanded compliment to the 'GSLP political machinery', as he called it, talking about the intensity with which we pursue things and went on to say that as fathers of children we should not have wanted to be associated with the way that the GSLP pursued this matter, never mind the fact that the Inquiry, which he quotes actually finds that we were right about many of the things that we were pursuing – certainly that they should be investigated.

3200

But, Mr Speaker, let us look at the opposite of what he said and the hon. Gentleman does not do logic very well and that is why he sometimes does things which when they are exposed to logic can be demonstrated not to be exactly I think what he might have wanted to say. As fathers of children we should not have allowed this to happen. Well, actually, Mr Speaker, as fathers of children what all of us should want always done is that if there is the slightest shred of credible evidence, in particular sworn witness statements... not one, but many – we should all want them investigated quickly. We should not prevent investigations from being carried out.

3205

As fathers of children we should ensure that nobody again has to go through the political persecution that Joanna Hernandez has had to go through to have her allegations or rather the allegations made by others in support of her in the Industrial Tribunal properly investigated. As fathers of children, we are

3210

3215 receiving an example in the way that in another Western democracy in the United Kingdom... rumours of potential child abuse are being dealt with, let alone witness statements that dealt with child abuse.

3220 But, Mr Speaker, did it all end there or was there much more to this? Was there an attempt not to have this case heard, despite the witness statements? Was there an attempt to at the last minute say that the case was collapsing because Isabella Tosso could not come and that might not have been the reality? Was there in fact, Mr Speaker, actually much more going on here? Well, Mr Speaker, this did not just affect Joanna Hernandez. The VOX is no longer published today, as I told Members before. The VOX was the subject of a libel action by members of the hon. Member's family. I believe he was involved in that, despite being the Minister for Justice.

3225 Mr Speaker, I was the subject of a complaint to the Industrial Tribunal by members of the hon. Members family and I will tell him, Mr Speaker, because he likes to use the hyperbole: shameful and disgraceful. I have told him before, Mr Speaker, what was shameful and disgraceful is not that somebody asks him when he is talking about something that involves Hassans to simply declare his interest. What is shameful and disgraceful and what is pressure is to try and have somebody not declare an interest, but disbarred. To try and snooker them politically, to somehow try and avoid them becoming a political 3230 challenger, to somehow in that way make your way up the greasy pole that the hon. Gentleman makes politics in Gibraltar. To almost think of it as snakes and ladders and try and push your opponent over a precipice, Mr Speaker, which is exactly what the hon. Gentleman was doing when he was behind the attempt to have me disbarred in that way. And all of that, Mr Speaker, I might even forgive – I will certainly not forget, but I might even forgive.

3235 But what I will never forgive and I will not tire of reminding him of is that that complaint was not just a matter being dealt with, but it was a matter which they insisted should go to a case management hearing the day after my father died. Knowing that my Father had died, having been asked for an adjournment, they insisted with all of the venom with which they pursued Joanna Hernandez and me and VOX, that I should be there listening to the total poppycock that was coming out of their lawyer's mouth – namely Mr Rafael Benzaquen, now a member of their Executive, then receiving approximately a £250,000 a year for the work for which he had been paid £60,000 a year as a civil servant – instead of being with my family and my mother on such an important day. For that, Mr Speaker, I will never forgive them, Mr Speaker. That is disgraceful and that is shameful. And in Spanish, in the 'Espejo Publico' language, se le debía de caer la cara de verguenza, pero no la tiene Mr Speaker.

3245 But, Mr Speaker, let us look at what it is that we can conclude from what has been said today. What we conclude from what has been said today is that we should have actually together as a Parliament convened an Inquiry when the allegations first came to light, which was what the Opposition was asking that we should do in the questions put at the time and the debates that we had at the time. We should have allowed the Industrial Tribunal to go ahead and not wanting to do that or as an alternative, convened an inquiry.
3250 That is exactly what we did when we were elected.

Mr Speaker, we did not pick this battle, but we would never turn our backs on people who are making serious allegations of the sort that we were confronted with in sworn witness statements. So, Mr Speaker, there were no defamations to speak of. I have demonstrated to him that in the 'Espejo Publico' documentary, the words actually reflect some of the things that did happen, or simply what was happening 3255 – namely that we were not getting answers. There is no apology to be made, certainly not in the terms that the hon. Gentleman has suggested. But an apology should be made, Mr Speaker. He is right to suggest it and I am going to make it. I apologise, on behalf of Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar and on behalf of the people of Gibraltar, to all of the people who had the guts to make statements, in witness statements, sworn witness statements making allegations, which have subsequently been found to be true by the 3260 Inquiry, that those matters were not dealt with more expeditiously at the time, although we were not in Administration.

And given that, Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman's motion suggests a different sort of apology and suggests that there has been a defamation which has not happened, I am going to move an amendment to the motion, but before so doing I am just going to tell the House, Mr Speaker, that frankly I do not think 3265 anything Mr Netto said merits a reply or is worthy of a response because his philosophy has failed him again today as it always does. Mr Speaker, although I am not required to give notice in writing of an amendment to a motion, I am going to do so, because it is lengthy and I ask the hon. Clerk whether he wishes to distribute it to hon. Members opposite and to yourself.

Mr Speaker, I move that the motion be amended as follows –

3270 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I envisage that I will be making a point of order in relation to the amendment, because if the Hon. the Chief Minister is going to do with this motion what he did with the last one, I have gone back to Erskine May and it is not allowable in the rules, because in fact he does have to give notice and I am just foreshadowing that I may be making this particular point once I read his 3275 amendments, which he says are lengthy.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the practice of this House continuously has been – are therefore that overrides Erskine May – that any individual can make an amendment to the motion or can move an amendment to the motion and that they do so not even having to do it writing. I am doing it in writing today, Mr Speaker, and my amendment is as follows:

‘To delete every word after the words “This House:” and add the following text: ...’

3280 as has been the case on numerous occasions, in particular under the former Leader of the GSD and myself, and under the Father of the House.’

Hon. D A Feetham: I make a point of order now and refer the House to Erskine May because I had anticipated that this is a point... Well, Mr Speaker, I am making a point of order. I can make it after he reads it or before.

Mr Speaker: Let him read it and let him look at the Rules of the House in the meantime. The Rules of this House.

3290 It is Part 6, Motions, right? I can tell the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition why I am doing this. I think that there are people here who have been Members of this House for many years – the longest being Mr Bossano and myself and next, Sir Peter Caruana – and on many occasions – (Interjection) I want to check the Rules, but on many occasions a Member who has made a speech on a motion has stood up and at the end of his contribution given notice of his intention to amend the motion and the amendment has been circulated and considered. (Interjection by Hon. D A Feetham) And that has happened since I have been Speaker. It has happened during one debate since I have been Speaker and there was no problem.

A Member: And the rules make it clear, Mr Speaker.

Hon. Chief Minister: In fact it has happened since the Parliament was the Parliament.
3300 Mr Speaker, what the hon. Gentleman has to remember is that Erskine May is there to give us guidance where our Standing Orders do not otherwise provide and Standing Order 20 says the following, Mr Speaker, explicitly:

3305 ‘Motions not’ –

Mr Speaker: Will you allow me to read it?

Hon. Chief Minister: Motions not requiring notice –

3310 Mr Speaker: Allow me to read it. The motions which do not require notice:

‘A motion...’

3315 Amendments thereto... I think Hon. Members should look at Rule 21, subparagraph (3):

‘Any amendment to the motion which a Member wishes to propose in accordance with the provisions of Standing Orders 23 and 24 may be moved at any time after the question upon the motion has been proposed by the Speaker and before it has been put by the Speaker at the conclusion of the debate...’

3320 That I am sure, Rule 21(3) is the Rule by which the proceedings of this House have been conducted, certainly since 1972 by various Speakers on numerous occasions when there have been not just amendments, but amendments to amendments to amendments.

3325 As I say, I have been a Member here for 20 years, Mr Bossano has been longer and Mr Caruana has been here since 1991. Maybe at a certain time when it was not that common or it was less usual to have debates of the natures that we have had today, maybe that almost fell into desuetude, but I have no doubt in my mind that it is perfectly proper for a Member speaking on a motion at the end... at any time during his intervention, certainly before he sits down, to give notice of the motion and having circulated it, and then that motion is to be debated.

3330 And insofar as Erskine May is concerned, Erskine May does not constitute the House of the Gibraltar Parliament. Erskine May is the bible of parliamentary procedure by which parliaments that base themselves on the Westminster pattern, guide themselves by.

Having said that, I will allow the Leader of the Opposition to say whatever he wants to.

3335 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, thank you very much. Normally one hears the submission or the views of those making the point of order before making a decision on the point, although, Mr Speaker appears –

Mr Speaker: I am not giving you a decision. I am giving you guidance. I do not have to...

3340 The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition, by objecting to the amendment moved by the Chief Minister... whether it was possible. I understood perfectly well what he was getting at, and as I said, because the practice and the Rules are clear, I think I have given guidance.

Now, notwithstanding that, if he wishes to challenge or if he disagrees with what I am saying, I will allow him to do so by all means.

3345 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, yes, the difference is between an amendment to a motion, which is perfectly possible without notice – in other words one amends a motion, but the motion in essence remains substantively the same – and what he is doing, which is effectively substituting my motion for another motion, that is what – (Interjection) No, Mr Speaker.

3350 If what happens here is that there is another motion altogether, completely different to the one before the House now, he has to give notice, Mr Speaker, because what we are dealing with is a completely different motion – that is what we are dealing with. If we were dealing with an amendment of one paragraph then perhaps it would be different, but, Mr Speaker –

3355 Mr Speaker: That is not what has happened in this Parliament or in the House of Assembly. I regard Mr Bossano as an honourable person and he will corroborate. I am sure that it has happened to motions when he was Leader of the Opposition. He brought motions to the House, and either Sir Joshua Hassan, or I myself even or anybody would delete the whole of the motion, delete all the words after ‘this House’ and substitute by the following, without any prior notice being given – that happened during the course of the debate.

3360 I know what I am talking about. I know that I am supported by Hansards over all these years. I have a very, very good memory and in the 20 years that I was a Member, I have lived that situation on countless occasions.

Now, I would invite the hon. Member to continue but honestly –

3365 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am not going to... It is not my practice –

3370 Mr Speaker: You are mistaken, honestly you are mistaken. Check with your father who has been a Member of this House and has seen that happen. Check with your father. He will tell you that you are mistaken, check with other people, check with other previous Members who were here during the days of the House of Assembly, and they will tell you. Contemporaries of Mr Bossano and myself, you can meet them in the street, you can telephone them and they will tell you. The only pity is that we do not have alive at the moment, any of the Speakers like Major Robert Peliza and Alfredo Vasquez, who were involved when that happened. But I tell you, I know what I am talking about.

3375 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, during the course of this evening I have had my two brothers mentioned, my father and now the Speaker also mentions my father.

Mr Speaker: No, no, just a moment, please –

3380 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I be allowed to continue?

3385 Mr Speaker: I will allow you, but look I have not mentioned your father in a derogatory sense. I have mentioned him as someone with whom I shared many meetings here in the House whom I hold in very high regard and whom I consider an honourable person and a great friend of mine. So I am not saying anything derogatory about him. I think that you are going a little bit too far in misinterpreting what I am saying.

3390 We have been here since five o’clock. We have had three excellent debates. I am not being patronising – until now, until what has happened in the last 10 minutes, I want to commend all hon. Members who have taken part in three excellent debates with a lot of passion, with a lot of controversy but nothing unparliamentary has been said, and for that Members should be commended, (Interjection) because it is very easy... No, now we are having more controversy because it is not that I am making a ruling it is that I am telling you that you have misunderstood the Rules of this House and you do not seem to accept it. That is all.

3395 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, it is not that I do not seem to accept it; I have not been allowed to get in a word in edgeways, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: Well, I will allow you now as much time as you want.

3400 Hon. D A Feetham: Does Mr Speaker...Mr Speaker..., Mr Speaker look, Mr Speaker, I have looked at the rules indeed I am not going to mention who told me and alerted me to this, but Mr Speaker would be surprised if he is talking about authoritative people and people who have been Speakers, of the person who actually alerted me to this point. Mr Speaker, it is not something that I have invented and I have come here off my own back. I have actually been alerted to this particular point by somebody with experience of his job, Mr Speaker. I went back to Erskine May and I looked at the point and indeed, that is the procedure as I understand it.

3405 If what you are doing is effectively superseding one motion with another, fairness requires that there be notice of the motion. But look, Mr Speaker, to the extent that Mr Speaker is not with me, I have never, my practice has never been to push in court or otherwise, to push at closed doors. So what I am not going to do is push at a door that is clearly closed in my face, in terms of this particular point. And I do not want to delay the proceedings any more.

3410 If Mr Speaker thinks that the Hon. the Chief Minister can proceed with the amendment which is effectively without notice and doing away with my motion and introducing a completely new motion, at 5 to 12 – well, it was 10 minutes ago, so 20 to 12 in the evening – without any notice and that is fair and that is... Well that is fine, Mr Speaker. If Mr Speaker takes that view; I sit down and let him go ahead with the amendment to his motion.

3420 Mr Speaker: I am not discussing the fairness of the procedure or otherwise. What I am saying is that certainly in all the years that I have been a Member, in all the years that I have followed the proceedings of Parliament, when that has happened – and it has happened on numerous occasions – no-one has ever stood up in this House and questioned that procedure. No-one has stood up and questioned that the Speaker allowed that to happen.

Now the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition says that he has taken advice. Well look, I do not know who the advice comes from, possibly from a previous Speaker, but I am not going to make a judgement in disagreement of any previous Speaker. I am not going to do that because that I think would be wrong.

3425 I have the right as Speaker to make rulings and when rulings are made, when rulings are made, they become... that is the valid ruling, even if it were to go against what a previous Speaker may have ruled. That is the position. It happens in all Parliaments and it will continue to happen.

3430 Look, I do not particularly enjoy being... My personal preference would have been for the debate to be concluded because if an amendment is made to the motion, anybody else can now speak on the amendment and we might be here till midday. And as hon. Members will know, I do not particularly want to be here until midday on 2nd April. It is bad enough on April Fool's Day to have to be here until the present time. (Banging on desks)

3435 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, perhaps we can get on with it, Mr Speaker and allow the Hon. the Chief Minister to go ahead with his amendments.

3440 I can only do, Mr Speaker... and in my career as a lawyer in the 22 years that I have been in practice, I have always pursued an argument and a course of action that I believe to be the correct one. I believe that the correct course of action is not to allow an amendment that effectively substitutes one motion with another, because the Rules on Notice, Mr Speaker, are there precisely to allow for fairness, because what you are doing effectively is giving notice to the other side that you intend to bring a motion. I understand when there is an amendment to one paragraph, but substituting one motion with another without notice does not appear to me to be the right course of action.

3445 But I accept Mr Speaker's ruling and all we want to do now is to get on with the Hon. the Chief Minister's amendment and then with my reply to both the Father of the House and the Leader of the House.

3450 Mr Speaker: Let me say for the record, that my ruling is based on the practice of previous Speaker of this House of Assembly and of this Parliament. I am not departing from any... It is what I have seen done and that is what I have guided myself by. In my view, the greatest Speaker that this Parliament had was the Hon. Alfred Vasquez and during the 18 years that he was Speaker, that must have happened on umpteen occasions.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, just speaking on the Point of Order, it is very clear that Standing Order 20 envisages exactly this sort of thing happening, as every Chief Minister, as every Member who has wanted to move substantive amendments which have removed all of the text of a previous motion have done in the past. The Hon. the now backbencher has done it, the Hon. the Father of the House has done it, I 3455 dare say in your time you will have done it, as you have confirmed. The position is very clear. Standing Order 20 says that motions not requiring notice include the motion by way of amendments to another motion being debated in the Parliament.

3460 And, Mr Speaker, the reference further in clause 21 is of any amendment. So if the rules in the United Kingdom are different, then they are different, Mr Speaker. I do not know who to thank for allowing me to get on, because the hon. Gentleman seems to have forgiven me my life by saying let us allow the Chief Minister to get on. It seems that he has given up very quickly. He does not have the tenacity that he says he has, Mr Speaker, in my view but anyway I thank you or him or whoever it is that I should, for allowing me to continue with the procedure that has been pursued in this House since the first day it met as a City Council.

3465 Mr Speaker, this is fast becoming from "aqui no se cena" to "aqui se va a desayuna y nos vamos a comer los caracoles", if we carry on like this. (Laughter) But the hon. Gentleman has obviously become in fact very, very nervous indeed about the amendment I am about to move. And I can understand that because he does not like to be treated like everybody else has always been treated, he believes there should be a Feetham rule for everything. Well there is not, Mr Speaker, and I therefore move that we should delete every word after the words 'This House:' and add the following new text:

'This House:

WELCOMES that the Government has fulfilled its commitment to review and investigate allegations of abuse at the Dr Giraldi Home;

RECALLS that the terms of reference of the report, established under the Commissions of Inquiry Act by the Chief Minister were as follows:

1. To inquire into:

(a) allegations of mismanagement, misconduct and malpractice (including abuse) at the Dr Giraldi Home contained in witness statements intended to be relied on by Ms Joanna Hernandez in connection with her claim of unfair dismissal by the Social Services Agency; and

(b) the conduct of the relevant authorities and agencies in response to, or otherwise in relation to, such allegations.

2. To inquire into such other matters relating to the Dr Giraldi Home as the Chairman of the Inquiry shall, in his absolute discretion, consider appropriate.

3. To find the relevant facts.

4. To report on the above.

NOTES that the report has confirmed that there were instances of mismanagement, misconduct and malpractice (including abuse) at the Dr Giraldi Home, although in the judgement of the Chairman these were at a "lower level";

REGRETS the failure of the GSD administration to conduct an independent public inquiry into the allegations of deficiencies in the treatment of persons in the Dr Giraldi Home at a time when numerous individuals and organisations in Gibraltar including the then Opposition were asking for it;

CONSIDERS that the position of the present Government in having proceeded with the Inquiry was in the public interest and fully vindicated;

NOTES that the reasoning advanced by the previous GSD administration for their withdrawal of their defence of the case, namely that they were allegedly unable to locate their allegedly "star witness", Ms Isabella Tosso, previously the Chief Executive Officer of the then Social Services Agency (without whose evidence they said they could not proceed), have been demonstrated by the Inquiry to be entirely false, and which excuses THE HOUSE RESOLVES were blatantly hollow and designed to avoid a full hearing of the Industrial Tribunal case to ensure that the allegations made in the Witness Statements referred to in the terms of reference never saw the light of day;

NOTES that had the spurious and purely technical defence succeeded, the consequence would have been to greatly reduce the level of protection against unfair dismissal afforded to workers in Gibraltar since 1974;

CONDEMNS the previous GSD administration for their attempt to re-interpret employment legislation with spurious and technical arguments, notwithstanding the advice that there was virtually no prospect of success;

COMMENDS the Government for having commissioned the inquiry and publishing the report in full

AND NOW CALLS UPON the Government to go further and publish the transcripts of the hearing also in full on the Government's website.'

And I think, Mr Speaker there is a typographical error in the motion which should read, in the first 'NOTES' paragraph, just under paragraph 4:

3475 'NOTES that the report has confirmed that there were instances of mismanagement, misconduct and malpractice...'

and it should say there in brackets ‘(including abuse)’ which is what the Report says, including abuse, at the Dr Giraldi Home, which is exactly Mr Speaker, as you will note – and I am now speaking on the amendment – was the first conclusion of Chairman Parker, Mr Speaker, which I referred you to a few moments ago, but to which surprisingly Joanna Hernandez’ first lawyer had not referred you to which was this, where he said, Mr Speaker:

My general conclusions are as follows:

1. There were some instances of mismanagement, misconduct and malpractice (including abuse) at the Home...’

That is page 667 of the Inquiry Report, Mr Speaker, so we have been very faithful to the findings of the Rt. Hon. Sir Jonathan Parker QC, the Chairman of the Inquiry in drafting this motion. And we are therefore proposing to the House that it should adopt a motion, not in the shorthand terms that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition obviously wrote his, when he thought he remembered what the Espejo Publico report had contained, when he might have thought that it contained defamations when in fact it contained things which the Inquiry has demonstrated were true; when he might have thought of that Gibraltarian politicians went to Spain when in fact they did not go to Spain, they were interviewed here; when he might have thought that they said things which were defamatory, when all they said was exactly what they were saying here, namely that they had been seeking that the matters be dealt with and they could not understand why.

All of that, Mr Speaker, means that this motion actually properly and accurately reflects the position, and the self-serving motion which the hon. Member brought and has been pursuing for some time now, is simply designed to try and garner some public support for him and his party which is not otherwise really rallying in any way.

And so, Mr Speaker, speaking now on the amendment, I would commend the Bill as amended, to the House – (Interjections) sorry, I would commend the motion as amended to the House and will now allow others to speak on the amendment at your discretion.

Mr Speaker: The question which I am now required to propose is that the amendment be made – that this very lengthy amendment be made – and hon. Members may speak on the amendment.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: I have been provoked to rise to my feet again –

Hon. Chief Minister: You are so easily provoked.

Hon. Sir P R Caruana: Well...only by the truth and falsehoods.

Mr Speaker, look, it is not just because it is an ungodly hour of the day for the House, for you know 19 grown up men and women to be conducting proceedings of this sort, not just for that reason am I actually quite indifferent about the content of this particular amended motion.

I am also indifferent to it because the Government is going to use political majority to secure the passage of whatever it wants for political effect, they will all vote for it, and one thing is clear and everyone listening to this debate will know, is that the Government’s political majority does not define truth.

And because the Government’s political majority does not define truth, they have a pen, they have a piece of paper in blank, they have the majority of votes in this House and therefore they can write on the piece of paper entirely what they please and that is what reflects my level of interest in what is said on this piece of paper.

But having said that and recognising that in a sense that which I have described has always been so in the case of political majorities and political minorities, and recognising that in the past I have used political majorities to pass motions that I wanted passed and to defeat motions that I wanted defeated, I like to think that at least when I was amending motions, I may have been expressing value judgements and opinions and assessments with which my political opponents disagreed, but I have never consciously written on a piece of paper, to have it delivered by my political majority, a statement of fact which is self-evidently false.

Mr Speaker, the paragraph at the bottom of the first page, which the Hon. the Chief Minister describes as properly and accurately reflecting the position, is self-evidently false. It is as true as saying that the planet is a cube and not a sphere. But of course, they have the political majority to pass in this House a piece of paper that says that the planet is a cube if that is what they want to do, but no-one is going to believe that the planet is a cube, simply because they use their political majority to pass it.

Look, Mr Speaker, this House notes that the reasoning advanced by the previous GSD Administration for their withdrawal of their defence of the case, namely that they were allegedly unable to locate their allegedly star witness Ms Isabella Tosso, previously the Chief Executive Officer of the then Social Services Agency without whose evidence they said they could not proceed – and the next words of key – have been demonstrated by the Inquiry to be entirely false.

Mr Speaker, Mr Justice Parker has found, declared and stated, precisely the opposite of that on that very question. So far from the Inquiry having demonstrated that the reasoning advanced by the GSD Administration and its justification for the delays were false, he has found that they were true, that they accepted the reasons for it and they had nothing to do with delay. Now of course, the hon. Member can invent and fabricate this statement of fact and get his allegedly independent thinkers, who are not subject to any whipping, all coincidentally to come to the same conclusion that Lord Justice Parker said the opposite of what he said.

He can do that, but he should not delude himself into thinking that he can re-write the findings of Lord Justice Parker on this point. Look, Mr Speaker, the hon. Member, I am sure, when he wrote this paragraph, he may have had in mind the finding of Lord Justice Parker about the lady whose name I now forget about having the e-mails with the loves and kisses at the bottom, and he may have in mind when he wrote this paragraph, the fact that there was an employee in the authority who, contrary to what the Government knew or thought, was actually incapable of being in contact with her.

But the hon. Member is not entitled to attribute that knowledge of that e-mail address and that contactability to the GSD previous administration. Still less to use that misattribution of whatever may or may not have been known to Ms Gomez to me, to then reverse what Lord Justice Parker has in black and white said on this very issue.

Now, Mr Speaker, I am now going to sit down and I will wait here politely until this House votes on this motion – but with the statement that if this House passes this amended motion in these terms, it will be noting something which hon. Members know is not true. It is not true that Lord Justice Parker found this.

Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to speak on the amendment?

The Hon. Mr Bossano.

Hon. J J Bossano: I will address the point that has been made by the hon. the backbencher in due course in what I am going to be saying.

Can I just say, before I start on what I had planned to say, Mr Speaker, that when he started philosophy, the hon. Member opposite clearly did not study Machiavelli because I assumed if he had read anything, he read The Prince because it is the only one that is translated into English really, and not the whole of the works, which I did. And I can tell him that nothing that he attributes to Machiavelli was ever said by Machiavelli in Il Principe or in any other of his writings.

The essence of the concept of being Machiavellian which has entered into the English language, was because Machiavelli advised the employer that he had who was the Prince of the particular independent republic where he lived, that as an approach to dealing with people who had been his enemies, that if you have a wounded enemy you either convert him into a friend or you finish him off.

Now that might appeal to some people or it might not! I can think of at least one person in this room that I think it would appeal to, and it is on me (Laughter) who used to polish off enemies and never leave them alive to come back another day! (Laughter) But I am not going to amend the motion to include that. (Laughter and interjections)

So to get back to the amendment, I am speaking in fact on the part of the amendment that deals with the condemnation of the administration for their attempts to reinterpret employment legislation, which of course is not factually in doubt. I mean they did attempt to reinterpret it and whether one should congratulate them or condemn them is what I am going to see if I can persuade Members opposite of.

First I think I owe to the Leader of the Opposition, Mr Speaker, a need to express my gratitude to him because he has given me, by bringing the motion in the first place, the opportunity to put in the public domain and on the record of the Parliament, the issues that I would have been able to air had the hearing of the Industrial Tribunal had proceeded or if I had had the opportunity of addressing this issue in full before the Inquiry.

As has been mentioned, the original termination of employment or the indication of the termination of employment of the manager of the home was contested by the Leader of the Opposition. Yes, the Leader of the Opposition challenged that decision as the lawyer of Joanna Hernandez and the letter –

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is he now speaking on the amendment or is he now responding to me on my – ?

Hon. J J Bossano: No, no, I am speaking on the condemnation of the decision to attempt to reinterpret employment legislation and in order to go through the wrongful actions of the previous administration, I have to start by explaining the sequence of events which start with him. That is to say when he started off in October 2005 he was opposing the dismissal and saying it was unfair, even independent of any consideration of this esoteric invention that came along later of the 53-week year, to which I will address myself later on.

Originally what the hon. Member opposite, the Leader of the Opposition was arguing was that in fact the termination was procedurally wrong and unfair, irrespective of anything else and he argued, in fact 3600 something that Mark Isola was also arguing when he took over the case in the advice he was giving the Government.

We start off with a situation where the hon. Member was involved initially in October and the position that he took up to the point when the Chief Executive Officer, on 24th October, wrote a letter saying:

3605 ‘Probation and confirmation of appointment.
I am writing to inform you that your performance in your position as a manager of the Dr Giraldi Home has been reviewed and it is the conclusion of the Social Services Agency’

– not my conclusion; the Agency’s conclusion –

3610 ‘that you have failed to meet the required standard.’

3615 Not true! Not true because in fact what the Government said subsequently was that she was a star witness because she took the decision on her own and without consulting anybody else. Now I do not know whether that was legitimate for her to do but she claimed that it was not her decision. She claimed in writing to the person concerned, ‘it is the conclusion of the Social Services Agency’ and that suggests it is the conclusion of more than one. Indeed it suggests that it would have been something that had gone up to the Minister and up to the board level of the Agency. Because we are being told that we cannot hold the Government responsible for what Marie Gomez does. Well look, Isabella Tosso holds the Social Services Agency responsible for what she did.

3620 But of course, at the time, the position of the hon. Member was to reject this. He said:

3625 ‘It is clear that Ms Hernandez has been treated unfairly in the procedure followed for her dismissal given the timing of the letters and the lack of reasons supplied.
Given the circumstances, we have come to form the view that this unfair treatment towards Ms Hernandez has come about because of the investigations that Ms Hernandez has been carrying out into aspects of running the Dr Giraldi Home and the complaints made against senior members of the staff. It appears that the Agency has chosen, instead of dealing with the problems voiced by Ms Hernandez, to avoid matters and turn them against her. This victimisation is clearly unwarranted, given that Ms Hernandez was merely dealing with numerous complaints raised by staff under her management.’

3630 Excuse me, Mr Speaker, is this signed Joe Bossano? No, it is signed Danny Feetham. (Laughter) I cannot believe this. Should I condemn the Member opposite?

Hon. Chief Minister: No, publish it, publish it!

3635 Hon. J J Bossano: Do I say this is hypocrisy and double standards? Is he guilty when he does it or innocent; and I am guilty when I do it three years after him? (A Member: Shame!) This is the letter signed by the hon. Member on 14th November 2005, and he says that he has come to the conclusion that the reason why Ms Hernandez is being victimised is for whistle blowing on the complaints of all the members of the staff! (Banging on desks) But wait a minute, did she not fabricate these things? (Interjection)

3640 Well I agree with him, he is right. He was right then but he is wrong now, because I was saying that then and I am saying it today, and that is the difference. He is no longer GSLP so he does not say the same things two years later.

3645 When he said that, he was defending exactly the same thing that we have been defending all the time. And if indeed he believed what he was saying when he signed it and he believed that the Agency had chosen instead of dealing with the problems voiced by Ms Hernandez to avoid matters and turn them against her, then in fact he must believe as we do, that this was a case of victimisation for whistle blowing.

3650 Unfortunately, at the time, the victimisation of an individual for whistle blowing was not included in Gibraltar, although it had been in the United Kingdom since 1998, as an area which required no minimum level of service. If this had happened in the United Kingdom, the case would have been heard immediately, because under the United Kingdom, if you are exercising what is a duty which is to report what you genuinely believe to be wrongdoing, you cannot get sacked because it is less than 52 weeks or 53 weeks or any other number of weeks. You can have been working one hour and you are protected against unfair dismissal.

3655 But unfortunately the GSD in 2005 had not attempted to bring the laws of Gibraltar up to the standard of the United Kingdom of 1998, which they should have done when they came in after 1996. So instead of being a progressive administration that protected workers that were whistle blowing, they took advantage of the fact that they were a regressive administration and, as he clearly pointed out to them, they went on to victimise Ms Hernandez and to compound the felony – (Interjection) Mr Speaker, to compound the felony by first of all, the first argument as I tried to explain to Chairman – not now – Parker, I tried to explain this to the Chairman but you will not find it there.

3660 The first argument which was put, which was at the time when the case was transferred from my colleague to me, which was the first time by the way, that I met this lady and he had known her for any more years than I had, and held her in high regard. I was only given the responsibility for handling this for a very simple reason, which was the reason that I explained to the Tribunal when I said I had reason to believe that pressure had been put on the Union.

Mr Speaker, following this exchange, there was a letter signed by my colleague informing the Union that he had now received the files from the hon. Member opposite, and that was four days after this on 29th November. And the Union had a policy in place where before they gave legal support they had to have an evaluation which required that the lawyer was able to recommend that the case should proceed on the basis that he considered that there was more than a 50/50 chance of winning it.

The evaluation done by Hassans came back saying the chance of winning it is over 70% and the Union, having first said you have to do the evaluation, then said we cannot finance it because the evaluation has been too expensive. Well look, it is totally insane if the policy were that first of all you require that somebody does an evaluation, if the evaluation comes out under 50% you do not get the support of the Union, and if it comes out over 50% you do not get the support of the Union because the evaluation has been too expensive. Well then, you would not get the support of the Union ever.

But of course you get it all the time, because this is the one and only case when it has happened, never before and never since. So we start from the very beginning with singularities as if we were in outer space. (Laughter) A singular attempt to silence somebody, a singular interpretation of the support from the Union and the indications from the Union were that continuing to provide finance to defend this case would mean that it would be seen as a hostile act by the administration. So in fact the regime at the time was similar to the one of our neighbour, where if you are nice to the Gibraltarians, then that is seen as a hostile act by the Junta in Madrid. Therefore the Junta in No. 6 Convent Place behaved in the same way and they said, 'If you support somebody that is going to go against me, then we will bear that in mind.'

Of course, I could not produce the evidence because if the evidence that is required to convince the inquiry is that somebody has got to admit to that, then it will never be possible to produce the evidence. But I can tell the House what kind of evidence there is, and the kind of evidence there is, is that having said they could not continue to support her, they called me up and asked me to take on the case for free. I took on the case at the request of the Union, not at the request of Joanna Hernandez who did not know me and I did not know her. It was the Union that sent her to me and said, 'Look, we cannot do it because this is going to affect us in our relationship with the Government, if we are financing a case against the Government which is controversial. Therefore, can you take it on?'

In the past, I have normally taken on cases given to me by the Union, not because the Union said they would not finance it, but because the lawyer had said to the Union, it did not stand more than a 50/50% chance of winning – and I won them all, even though it was less than 50%. So when the Union said if it is a lost case, send it to Joe Bossano and if it is not a lost case, will let some lawyer make money. That was really what it amounted to – ok. (A Member: Esta bien eso.) Yes, well... I suppose (Laughter)

So from that time on, Mr Speaker, I want to take the House through the sequence of events which justifies the condemnation in the amendment of the way this was handled by the Government. Having started with the Tribunal, the first thing that happened was that the Attorney General's Chambers contested the case on the grounds of jurisdiction. That is to say they sent a letter back to the Tribunal saying there is no jurisdiction to hear this case because it does not meet the requirement. And they argued initially – I cannot understand how they did but they did argue initially – the absurd proposition that the requirements of the law were not being met because notice had been given in October and therefore the termination of the contract was on the day that the notice was given and not on the day the notice expired. So they argued initially that the employment had lasted 11 months.

The law is absolutely clear. The law says in the Employment Act of Gibraltar, that the termination of employment happens on the date the notice expires, not on the date the notice is given. And on that basis, that argument was shot down at the first hurdle.

The next step therefore was, that the Attorney General's Chambers were told to hand over the case to a private lawyer and it was initially – I have just found out as a result of the Inquiry – being offered to Mr Dumas and then because he was not available, it was offered to Mark Isola. And Mark Isola was asked to find another reason for challenging the jurisdiction because the original reason did not work. And he came up with this concept that there was case law in the United Kingdom to justify what was being done. Well this is a disgraceful attempt by the GSD Government which no trade unionist sitting in their ranks should be able to defend or live with.

Here we have a situation where the Government of Gibraltar that has been in power since 1996 turns round and says to its lawyer, 'Find me a reason for stopping the hearing', and the lawyer has got a job to do which is a tough job. He said, 'Look, this is going to be very difficult, the chances of getting away with this are minimal,' That is in the correspondence and this goes all the way to the Chief Minister who was the one insisting on it.

He came up with some ridiculous argument that it was something to do with a Gregorian calendar and that there used to be lunar calendars before and not afterwards. All this was done in public because the 3725 arguments were so ridiculous that I made the point of ringing everybody up in the press to come and listen to this. This was a real circus. (Laughter) Then he produces one case, Pearson in Scotland and Pearson in Scotland had ruled by a majority of two to one, that somebody was not able to meet the test of jurisdiction at the time when Scotland had a requirement for 26 weeks.

3730 The argument of Mr Isola was because of this case in Scotland that did not meet the 26 weeks, we should apply that to the 52 weeks. But the case in Scotland was that they were trying to argue that the week should count whether it was seven days or just one day. In fact, in the Pearson case, which was from the 1970s, the argument of the claimant was that although he had worked 25 weeks and two days, the two days which were a part week, should count as a full week and that was lost because it did not meet the six weeks. It had nothing to do with starting on Sunday or finishing on Saturday. It was about whether on a consecutive basis, there were enough days to say it was 26 multiplied by 7 and the answer was, it was not.

3735 This is then converted into an argument that in the United Kingdom there is a definition of ‘week’ and a definition of ‘year’ and a definition of ‘month’ but in Gibraltar there is not. So the Government of Gibraltar comes along and says, ‘We have got a problem because the law was changed in 1974 in the UK’ and I say, ‘What law?’ Well they cannot produce what law. They say, ‘Well look, there are plenty of examples in the UK’. I said, ‘Cite them.’ They can only cite Pearson in Scotland.

3740 I said, ‘Well look, in Gibraltar we have had this law since 1974. (Interjection by Hon. D A Feetham) Mr Speaker, it was your law.

Hon. Chief Minister: I am not surprised – you have realised what you have let yourself in for.

3745 Hon. J J Bossano: It was your law and when you brought it to the House following a question that I put to you, you said in the House in 1974, that you were going to protect people against unfair dismissal if they worked two years, which was what had been done initially in the United Kingdom and you argued with me, that – I do not know whether you remember it, but I do? (Interjection) You do, good! Then you told me that although you were doing it for two years, when I tried to persuade you not to do it for two years and to do it for one, you said, okay look, what we will do is, we will put in two years and if in 12 months’ time you come back and you demonstrate that there has not been an avalanche of complaints which has choked the system, then I agree that we will amend the law and reduce it to one year. That is precisely what happened and in 1975 you reduced it to one year.

3750 That is to say you said in Parliament, ‘I am going to make it one year’ but the regulation that came out published by the draftsman, did not say one year; it said 52 weeks. And the regulation in 1974 did not say two years; it said 104 weeks. And now we have somebody coming along 13 years later, saying that the law was unclear. Well wait a minute, the law that everybody has been abiding by for 30 years, unclear? So I said let us go back to the Hansard, let us find what was the intention of Parliament.

3760 Was it the intention of Parliament that you were protected if you worked one year and the year happened to be 53 weeks long? Well then, that would never happen. There are no years. There are leap years which have got one more day, but there is never a year that has got 53 weeks.

3765 However, if 1st January is a Sunday and 31st December is a Saturday, then that year counts because that is a year of 52 weeks beginning on Sunday and ending on Saturday. It is that level of absurdity that was used which the Chairman of the Tribunal said, ‘Well look, I have never had this before, there is no evidence that anybody has argued this before, but fine, I do not think this is fair and I am ruling that it should not be used.’

3770 And what does the Government do? The Government says ‘We are going to appeal to the Supreme Court.’ Now the Supreme Court at the time still had Chief Justice Schofield. They had not bundled him off yet, so I suppose that helped to introduce some common sense into the appeal. I was not able to go to the appeal because you have to be a lawyer to be able to do that. (Laughter) Yes. My colleague Gilbert was the one that took the case to the appeal and although he went very well prepared, in fact the Chief Justice said to him, ‘You do not even need to say anything to convince me. This is so ridiculous an argument that I am telling you now I am throwing it out.’ (A Member: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks)

3775 And all that we need to say, how could anybody with any background of defending workers argue that there could be a system where you get a letter that says, ‘You are here for one year’s probation’, you start on Monday, I then sack you in the 52nd week and I am telling you that although it is a year, it is not 52 weeks because I commenced your contract on the Monday and in order for you to have 52 weeks, I should have commenced your contract on a Sunday?

3780 And they do this to an employee that was already in the public sector in the Education Department on the Friday! So she finishes on the Friday and she is sacked on the Monday and she started work on the Sunday and that is the basis of the Government’s argument for saying there is no jurisdiction and they filed this case in the Tribunal, in the Supreme Court and in the Appeal Court. And this is not a plot to stop the Tribunal hearing. No, this is – they tell the Tribunal, the Inquiry – to clear up the confusion that there might be about what the law says.

3785 So the Chairman says to me, ‘Well would you agree that it is necessary to clear up the uncertainty about what the law means?’ Well there is no uncertainty. I mean the law is clear, it has been clear for years. They then produced as an argument, that they have consulted a QC in the United Kingdom and the QC in the United Kingdom has told them it is not impossible to win. Well of course it is not impossible to win. It would be a miracle if you won, and miracles presumably sometimes happen, or the guy has fallen asleep and has not heard the arguments and gives the wrong decision. So it is not impossible to win but it is highly unlikely. But if there is doubt that needs to be cleared up, then the Government may want to test it so that the law is clear for the future.

3790 Well of course, the guy that is giving the advice, the QC in the United Kingdom, a Mr Barr. (Interjection) Yes, Mr Barr – I do not know who he is – says, ‘If the Government feels there is a need not to win the case, not to stop the allegations, not to stop... if the reason for wanting to do it is that there is uncertainty about the meaning of the law, then although in all probability what the result will be is that it is 52 weeks made up of seven consecutive days, which is how everybody has been doing it since the year dot, if you think there is uncertainty and you want to be clear of the uncertainty, then by all means.’

3795 The only justification that the QC gave, according to the evidence in the Inquiry – which I did not know before – was that he justified it as a very long shot, but justified by the need to clear uncertainty. And then, when Chairman Parker said to me, ‘After hearing this, do you change your mind?’ I said, ‘No, I do not change my mind. I am more convinced now than before I heard it.’ Because if the QC has been told the reason we want to go ahead is to clear uncertainty, then the QC has been misled in the brief that he has had from the Government, because no uncertainty has ever existed and because the lawyer they contracted, Mark Isola, was constantly telling them, ‘You are going to lose this. You are going to lose this, stop wasting money. Either let’s reach an agreement and settle, let’s offer a settlement, or let us have the hearing.’

3800 Now having delayed the system by doing this, allegedly not for any deliberate motive, just I suppose because the former Chief Minister told the court ‘Why did you do it? – ‘Oh well, because I just felt like having another shot, you know what I mean? Just for kicks with the Taxpayer’s money.’ (Laughter) Well I can tell the hon. Member that when he had the first kick, which was going to the Appeal Court here, I took the matter to the Union and here I have got, in February 2007, the letter written by the District Officer, Charlie Sisarello, to Fergus Whitty, the Head of the Legal Services in the UK:

3815 ‘Thank you for your letter and helpful advice. We have no doubt,’ says the Union, ‘that the Government’s lawyers are wrong and that they know it.’

This is not the Tupamaros in the GSLP. This is Charlie Sisarello, highly regarded by the Government at least at some point. He was sent to Coventry for a number of years and then they brought him back into the fold.

3820 So the Union says we have no doubt that the Government’s lawyers are wrong and they know it. So it is not that they had doubts, they know they are wrong and they are deliberately stopping the Tribunal from taking place.

3825 The legal firm, the Union says, is the legal practice of the father-in-law of the Chief Minister, Mr Caruana. Horrendous language mentioning the father-in-law. I mean do not mention fathers or cousins or brothers. (Laughter)

‘They have been instructed by the Government to appeal. The case was originally in the hands of the Attorney General and was briefed out to Triay & Triay, and we believe this to have been a political decision.

3830 The law in Gibraltar does not require one year’s continuous employment but 52 weeks. The argument used by Triay in the Tribunal was that whereas the law in Gibraltar gives the definition of a year and a month which is the same as in the UK, it does not define a week.

3835 He argued that in 1974 UK employment law defined a week – not true – as a seven day period from Sunday until Saturday – not true. And that by virtue of this definition the 52 weeks of continuous employment had to be counted commencing on Sundays and ending on Saturdays. This means that someone whose contract of employment started on a Monday would not count the first week and if the employment terminated on Friday would not count the last week, so the guy has got to do 54 weeks in order to have 52.

3840 ‘Joe Bossano won the argument in the tribunal for one of our members but cannot appear before the Supreme Court.’

– it is not because I am persona non grata; it is because I have to have a legal qualification – ‘and if we do not contest the appeal it could be lost.’

3845 The fear was that the appeal uncontested might be lost and there would be serious consequences, not just for this individual but for the entire workforce and that is why the amendment condemns the Government, and that is why all the nasty things that the mover of the motion said he should now be saying about the decision to delay and the decision to attempt to re-interpret the law of Gibraltar from the way you

3850 introduced it, Mr Speaker, from the way that every single lawyer has operated it for 35 years and from the way that the hon. Member opposite was advising Joanna Hernandez of her rights when he was her lawyer. So how can he defend the opposite of the advice he gave her when he ceased to be her lawyer?

The Union told the Head Office:

3855 'We believe the whole strategy is to try to delay the case being heard until after the General Elections.'

3860 Is there political motivation here? Is this a conspiracy? The Chairman of the Tribunal says there is no evidence. Would this constitute evidence? Well no, if he does not believe me, why should he believe Charlie Sisarello? If they called Charlie Sisarello back from retirement would he still say what he said when he signed this? I do not know, but I can tell the hon. Member one thing: I did not make this up. The Union says:

'Our member was employed in the Civil Service for over five years, finished work on Saturday and started to work on Monday in the Giraldi Home. The appointment was subject to one year probation', 3865 and the Union had a pending claim for continuity of employment, given that the Social Services Agency is part of the Government public service and half of the staff are civil servants. The Union had a claim for continuity, even on that ground alone. What are you talking about, one year and 52 weeks? This is year six.

3870 'Our member received reports of cases of abuse of the persons in care and reported this to the Chief Executive and copies of the reports were sent to the Minister.'

The Union is saying all this.

3875 'The act of whistle blowing we believe was the real reason why it was claimed that she had failed to meet the standard required in the probation year.'

3880 So now the Union agrees with the Leader of the Opposition and with me, because that is what I was saying then and this is what I am saying now, and I am being castigated for saying what he subscribed to and the Union subscribed to.

'Well over a year ago her employment was terminated from November 2005 and we are still fighting to have the case heard', says the Union.

3885 'We have a long list of witnesses with sworn statements...'

Were those the ones you fabricated, or did I fabricate them, or did the Union not know they were fabricated?

3890 '... long list of witnesses with sworn statements both as to the high standard of our member's performance and as to the complaints of abuse of disabled children and others within the service.'

3895 The approach to the Government or the lawyers that you suggest... because the Head Office said 'Why don't you try and talk to the employer to see if we can find a settlement rather than fight it in court and having to go to an appeal and spend a lot of money?'

3900 'The approach to the Government or the lawyers that you suggest is pointless, since the Government is willing to spend whatever it takes to prevent the facts coming out. I will send you the transcripts of the argument used in the Tribunal as soon as they are available', so that they would frame it as a unique event in legal history, dealing with the Gregorian calendar and the 54-week year.

3905 'I enclose the ruling made by the Chairman and the notes taken by Joe Bossano of the statements made by the lawyers. Local lawyers are confident that the application can be won and presumably should be able to get costs awarded but we need the appeal.'

3910 The Union needed the appeal not just because it was grossly unfair, what they were doing to the member, but because it meant that what the Government was prepared to do, as their lawyer Mark Isola told them in the documents that are now public, was take the risk that if they won, which was considered to be highly unlikely, if they won, immediately after winning they would then have to come back and legislate to make sure that they did not deprive everybody else coming after this particular case from their rights to unfair dismissal.

3915 So here we have got evidence that there is no fabrication, evidence that there are real statements, evidence that it is not a GSLP... or is it that we had the T&G in our pocket in 2007? The year 2007 was driven by the 2007 election date, that is why there was this importance.

The Supreme Court ruled in favour and we were awarded costs and therefore as far as the Union was concerned that is what happened.

3920 When the Government said that they were now going to go one step further and take it to the Court of Appeal, the Union at that stage said, ‘Look, Head Office thinks that...’, given that their own analysis was that the Government is willing to go to the House of Lords if need be and spend whatever it takes to stop it happening, the Union was told they would call it a day.

3930 ‘It is with much regret that we have learned that the Social Services Agency will not be renewing the contract of Joanna Hernandez as current manager of the Giraldi Home. The families of the users of the home have therefore decided to show their support and condemn the decision not to renew her contract. We find her a very dedicated professional and qualified person and are very concerned that this is the fourth manager in a row of the Dr Giraldi Home that has been replaced in as many years.’

3935 This wonderful house that the hon. Member opposite, Mr Netto, has told us of the quality of the place – well look, they sacked managers every year. They brought one manager in and he lasted one year and then he went. Four years, four managers and it was always the fault of the manager; never the fault of the Minister.

‘We believe that they had inherent problems within the service and these problems have caused the loss of several professional dedicated members of staff over the last few years. With this in mind we wish to publicly voice a call for an independent inspection into the local residential services by the Care Standards Commission from the UK.’

3940 This is at the beginning, when the hon. Member opposite was representing her, before anybody in the GSLP had called for anything. Before the termination had taken place, the Government – because this is the Government... This letter is to the Government. Did the Government say, ‘Well look, let us take a step back.’ After all, these are the parents asking us now. This is not the Opposition, the Opposition was not involved. Why not go to the Care Standards Commission in the UK or is it that you only go to UK to download their stuff, copy/paste it and claim it is yours? That is the degree to which you are interested in the UK.

3950 Well, I can tell you, Mr Speaker that in terms of what has been done, the evidence before us is that there is justification for what the amendment says. Because the other element that has been mentioned which is the element of the access of the Government to Isabella Tosso is something that I can also demolish. Not only is there a situation where in October 2007, the letter from Isabella Tosso to Marie Gomez was ‘my dear, dear friend, I am writing this – no wonder you have been feeling as you have.’ This was because Marie Gomez here was saying what a rough time she was having with Wilson who had been put in charge.

3955 And, she says, ‘I cannot wait to see you on Saturday, when I can give you the hug that I am sending you now.’ On Saturday in Cadiz. She was supposed to be in New Zealand! That is what they told me in the Tribunal, ‘We cannot get hold of Isabella Tosso because she has told her she may not be in Europe at all, she may be in New Zealand and we think she is in New Zealand.’

3960 But look, wait a minute, your manager – the one that replaced her in the Tribunal, the person that was going to be giving the evidence, their second star witness... They decided the star witness could not be found because she was supposed to be in New Zealand, but she was in fact in Cadiz, was going to be replaced by Marie Gomez and Marie Gomez was going to be delivering the devastating blow that would prove that all the witness statements were all false, that here we had a lot of people who were all going to be committing perjury and that the manager was useless.

3965 And Marie Gomez forgot to tell anybody until these e-mails appeared in the Tribunal, forgot to tell anybody that she was going to go to Cadiz to meet Isabella Tosso, and Mark Isola was telling me in the Tribunal that she was in New Zealand.

3970 Well, there was a postponement while we waited for her to come back from New Zealand and eventually, after the postponement, the next step was to argue that she could not be contacted and when they said that she could not be contacted, they said it would carry on first with the new manager and then they changed their mind and they said Marie Gomez would be delivering the case for the Government.

3975 The day we sat down – because we actually sat down to start – and the day Marie Gomez was supposed to make the opening speech to meet the burden of proof, Mr Isola told the Chairman that the Government had decided that the burden of proof could not be met by the contribution of Marie Gomez and that instead what they were doing was saying they could not produce the evidence that would show that the dismissal had been fair. I said I wanted to carry on and the Chairman said I could not. I said, ‘But I know where she is, I can tell you where she is, all you need to do is Google Isabella Tosso, and since there is a register of workers in the United Kingdom – because I have done it – they will tell you her telephone number and her number.’

3980 Now look, I may not have, Mr Speaker, evidence that could win a conviction in a court of law. Courts of laws are mysterious places that I do not understand, and the guys that wear wigs and sit in them I understand even less. But I can tell the Members Opposite that if they genuinely believed what they said at the beginning, I hope that they have stopped believing it by now.

3985 And let me tell the hon. Member one final thing. At the beginning of the saga, when the letter was sent telling her ‘your contract may not be renewed’ in September, the letter from Isabella Tosso said, ‘Your contract may not be renewed.’ The Tribunal was told that the letter had said, ‘Your contract will not be renewed.’ That was a lie. It said may and may means if you improve the performance, it may not happen.

But it was worse than that. It was worse than that because the letter said, ‘I have consulted the Labour Inspectors and they have told me I can go ahead and not renew your contract.’

3990 And when I got this, because I asked for discovery, and the evidence from the correspondence between the lawyer and the agency shows – and the hon. Member opposite, Mr Netto was the recipient of some of this correspondence – shows that the advice that he was getting was, that you are going to lose this because on procedural grounds you have lost it, as indeed the Leader of the Opposition had identified on day one, and even if it is not on procedural grounds, you are on very sticky ground, you had better find a way of solving this.

3995 Well look, there are two options that they chose not to do for which there is no explanation. They chose not to attempt to reach an agreed reconciliation, no attempt was made to do that and secondly no attempt was made to say, ‘Well look, if you are genuine in your concern, let’s have the investigation in a way that is transparent and the people can be satisfied. But what happened, from the beginning, from the beginning, there are lies because when I get into the picture and I get that letter saying the Labour Inspector had been consulted, I knew they were lying. I knew they were lying because I had been dealing with these things all my life.

4000 Labour Inspectors do not give advice to employers on how to sack people. Labour Inspectors listen to the people who are sacked and advise them.

4005 So I insisted on the evidence and eventually when all the appeals had been exhausted, which was three years after the termination of employment, Mark Isola accepted that I had a right to discovery and sent a letter to the Director, Ernesto Gracia and he said:

4010 ‘We have been instructed by the Agency to write to you inquiring as to whether any of the Labour Inspectors at the Employment Service has any recollection of Isabella Tosso, the Chief Executive, making an inquiry or otherwise in September 2005 concerning a member of our staff, one Joanna Hernandez and in particular, whether you have any record of it.’

The answer is no. The Labour Department writes back and says no:

4015 ‘I can confirm that none of the Labour Inspectors has any recollection of ever having spoken to Isabella Tosso, the Chief Executive.’

From the beginning they were lying and they have been lying throughout – and it is not just me that says it, it is the Union that says it and it is the parents of the users that say it.

4020 Therefore, Mr Speaker, I commend the amendment to the House because what it says is accurate. (A Member: Hear, hear.) and if Chairman Parker says there is no foundation in my thinking, there is a conspiracy to prevent the truth coming out or to prevent the proper protection being given to workers, and if any Government goes to the lengths of putting at risk the protection that has been there for 30 years for 20,000 people for the sake of one case, look there is something there that does not make sense.

4025 There is an absence of logic in this that does not make sense and I have to say well, if somebody is saying that there is no foundation in anything that I am saying, here is the foundation and I will be judged by the electorate, by the people who put me in this House and not by the Chairman of an Inquiry.

A Member: Hear, hear. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: Order!

4030 Does any other hon. Member wish to speak on the amendment?

Then I will call upon the Chief Minister to reply, if he wishes to do so.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, thank you very much.

4035 I do have to deal, I think – despite the late hour – with the issue that the hon. the backbencher raised. He is not here to hear me respond, but he raised an issue before he left.

Mr Speaker, the hon. the backbencher talked about us simply using our political majority to pass a motion that did not reflect reality. Mr Speaker, for all the reasons that the Hon. the Father of the House has demonstrated that is not what the amendment reflects. But there is one particular aspect of that which I want to deal with specifically because the Hon. Mr Caruana has referred us to the words ‘have been 4040 demonstrated by the inquiry to be entirely false’, and followed up with saying, ‘but Sir Jonathan Parker did not find that, Sir Jonathan Parker did not say that, so you are going to make the motion say something that you are saying the Inquiry found, which Sir Jonathan Parker did not say.’

4045 Of course, Mr Speaker, that is why the motion does not say ‘as demonstrated by the finding of Sir Jonathan Parker’. It says ‘as demonstrated by the Inquiry.’ Because, Mr Speaker, and he was absolutely right when he said that this is what I would refer him to, the evidence of Marie Gomez as it is headed – part of the evidence of Marie Gomez on pages 656 to 657 – deals with this issue and the Inquiry makes a finding that Ms Gomez was misleading in the answers that she gave about that subject and she was in fact in touch with Isabella Tosso. The Hon. the Father of the House has gone through that in greater detail than I need to go through the rest of the House with that, because he showed us the business of her being said to be in 4050 New Zealand, but actually being in Cadiz etc, which demonstrates just how lacking in candour the Government was in the way that it was dealing with this matter.

But the important thing is that the motion specifically does not say ‘the finding of Chairman Parker’, but it actually says, ‘been demonstrated by the Inquiry to be entirely false’. And there was a reason for that because in that way the motion is absolutely right. Not because we are going to say that the planet is a cube, when it is a circle or a sphere, but because, Mr Speaker, this is a Rubik’s Cube that the hon. the 4055 backbencher is responsible for having muddled up and we are ensuring that each of the colours will show only on one face.

Mr Speaker, the only other person to speak on the amendment was the Father of the House. I have to tell him, although he does not like to hear positive things about him, he would rather hear something negative so he can come back and attack, that is him all over, but he has demonstrated tonight in the speech that he has given now why it is such an honour and a privilege to serve with him, Mr Speaker. He has been able not to just extract from the findings of the Inquiry and the documents before the Inquiry, the facts which are salient and which are important that the public should understand, but even more important than that, in a way that even the most uninitiated will understand, he has demonstrated the duality and the duplicity for which the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition is becoming known. And he has demolished, at the same time as he has completely dismantled, all the reasoning behind the original motion and in that way, lent credence to the need to move the amendment in the way that it is drafted, because he has shown, what I sometimes say, in a way that is going to be instructive to whoever wants to understand how to demolish a political 4060 opponent.

4070 He has demonstrated that the hon. Gentleman opposite flip-flops from one position to another, but he made the cardinal mistake, Mr Speaker, of putting a motion dealing with a matter that Joe Bossano was dealing with, which is totally contrary to a letter that he signed 10 years ago. And, Mr Speaker, I dare say it is that amnesia again. He wrote the motion Mr Speaker, forgetting that actually he had written the letter. And Joe Bossano, Mr Speaker, was more than just masterful. I think he has demonstrated that whether he likes it or not, he has more than just the qualities to be admitted as a member of the Bar in Gibraltar, (Several Members: Hear, hear!) (Banging on desks) not as a junior, (Interjection and laughter) (A Member: Hear hear.) not as a junior counsellor, Mr Speaker, not even as a QC, but as the Hon. Mr Netto said of Mr Caruana a few moments ago, as a QC QC. (Laughter and banging on desks) Because his speech this afternoon, this evening, tonight, Mr Speaker, has been a veritable tour de force, Mr Speaker – a veritable tour de force that will be read by future generations of Gibraltarians as an example of logic and how to pursue a duplicitous opponent and demonstrate just how his duplicity has affected the attempt to mislead the House that we have seen with this motion.

Mr Speaker, there is one point that I think the hon. Gentleman has not mentioned which came to me as he said that in fact the hon. Gentleman Opposite, the Leader of the Opposition, had known Joanna Hernandez for much longer than the Father of the House, when she is now described as a GSLP activist, that our machinery would have done anything to protect. Well, Mr Speaker, I remembered that it is not just that the hon. Member was her first lawyer, something which he did not want to remind us of, but he had signed that letter which in fact accorded with the theory of the case that was subsequently advanced by all, which he did not want to remind us of, but that he says she is a GSLP activist. Joanna Hernandez, the GSLP 4085 activist.

But I think it is also important to remind the House, Mr Speaker, because the hon. Gentleman has not done so, that in the 2003 General Election campaign, the hon. Member’s Labour banner did not hang from Water Gardens, Mr Speaker; it hung from the Bahia Bar that belongs to the Joanna Hernandez family and she was then a Daniel Feetham activist, a Labour Party activist – the one he could not take with him when he did the deal with the GSD, Mr Speaker! So much for being honest about the statements that one makes!
4095

And, Mr Speaker, therefore his credibility is in tatters and metaphorically, politically naked before us, having cut of all his robes with his own pen with which he signed the letter in 2005, Mr Speaker, it is absolutely right that the House should – not because we have a Government majority, but because having heard the arguments so eloquently put by the Father of the House – should support the amendment to the 4100 motion.

4105 But, Mr Speaker, if he thought that we wanted to bury the debate on this motion, as he has said before, the fact is that having heard what he has heard from the Father of the House, he must be hoping that we were able to bury the debate on the motion and not see how he has been buried by the logic of the Father of the House because we would have wanted everybody in Gibraltar who is going to make up their minds about how they are going to vote, to hear the demolition that has occurred tonight, and from what I am seeing on social media, Mr Speaker, they have.

4110 So we were right to adjourn until now, because people have been able to tune in, they have been able to watch and they have been able to understand the difficult issues, clearly and simply explained by the Father of the House, and I am minded, Mr Speaker, once the House approves this motion – and I do commend it for approval in the amended terms – although I will not move an amendment to the amendment now, because of the late hour, the Government, Mr Speaker, I commit will not just publish and ensure that it is published widely the text of the amendment motion, we will also publish Mr Feetham’s original letter of advice with it, together with the transcripts of the hearing so that people can see evidence demonstrated – that word he likes so much – of his duplicity simply by comparing his first letter on the subject to Joanna Hernandez with the motion that he moved today.

4115 I commend the motion in the amended terms to the House. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: I now put the amendment. Those in favour?

4120 Hon. Chief Minister: May I call a division, Mr Speaker, of the amendment?

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I have to respond to the original – 4125 Mr Speaker: I will explain, we are going to vote on the amendment and then I will explain clearly what the position is. Is a division required?

Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Speaker, in particular because a person has spoken on this amendment and then left, and I want that referred to in the Minutes.

4130 Mr Speaker: Very well.

A division was called for and voting resulted as follows:

The Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond

Mr Speaker: There are three Members absent. The amendment is carried by 9 votes to 5.

I will explain what the position is now. This is now the amended motion before the House. On the Government side, the Hon. Mr Bossano cannot speak on it, neither can the Hon. the Chief Minister. All the other Ministers can speak on this amended motion if they so wish.

4135 On the Opposition side, the Hon. Sir Peter Caruana, who is not here at the moment, he cannot speak on it. Neither can the Hon. Mr Netto speak on it because he has spoken on the motion and this is now the motion before the House.

In any case, at the end of it all, whether any other Members take part in the debate or not, the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition is able to exercise his right to reply.

4140 So do any other Members wish to speak on this, which is now the amended motion before the House? If not, I will call upon the original mover of the motion, the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition to reply.

The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

4145 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, talk about smokescreens, contradictions and duality when we have just been treated, Mr Speaker, over the course of, I make it four hours (Mr Speaker: Correct.) (Laughter) Yes, thank you, Mr Speaker thank you.

Mr Speaker: Four hours and ten minutes.

4150 Hon. D A Feetham: Four hours and ten minutes of the largest smokescreen, contradiction and duality that this Parliament has ever witnessed in the two speeches by the Hon. the Leader of the House and the Father of the House.

Mr Speaker, before I look at those smokescreens, those contradictions and that duality, multiple duality in the speeches delivered by the Hon. the Chief Minister and the Father of the House, let me deal with what are very substantial inaccuracies, Mr Speaker, and misrepresentations, made to this House. In particular by the Hon. the Leader of the House and the Chief Minister Mr Picardo, about my role in the Hernandez case and indeed why it was that I stopped acting for Ms Hernandez.

4160 He made a number of comments and the first one was 'he stopped acting for Ms Hernandez because he did the merger with the GSD and that was the reason and what he did was left, right, left, right and effectively flip flopped and ditched Ms Hernandez because of the merger.' Well, Mr Speaker let me read from an interview that Ms Hernandez gave to the Panorama Newspaper on 13th February 2009 – not my words, Ms Hernandez' words.

She said this:

4165 'At the end of a year and two days, I was dismissed and Mr Feetham offered to take the case to the Industrial Tribunal'.

That is what she says.

4170 'But I felt it would be problematical for him since he was the chairman of the executive committee of the party in Government.'

So it was Ms Hernandez, not me – not me, Mr Speaker; Ms Hernandez – who had turned round to me and said, 'I do not feel comfortable with you taking the case because you are the chairman of the party in Government.'

4175 Mr Speaker, my professional duties, which I take extremely seriously, to my clients oblige me to put the interest of my clients before any political interest, Mr Speaker and there is absolutely no question, had I been continuing to act for Ms Hernandez that I would have continued to act for her, Mr Speaker.

4180 Now, Mr Speaker, just turning at this stage – and I will come back to other misrepresentations made by the hon. Gentleman – but the hon. the Chief Minister has to accept responsibility for the accuracy of the statements that he makes before this House. What he cannot say is he ditched Ms Hernandez because he did the merger, when Ms Hernandez herself, in an interview says quite the opposite. I did not; I wanted to take the case forward.

4185 But, Mr Speaker, the Hon. Mr Bossano, just tying it in with this before I go on to consider other misrepresentations made by the Leader of the House, he said that I had been right from day one. Well actually I was right from day one in relation to Ms Hernandez' case. Because the position that I took from day one was that the right procedure had not been taken in relation to her dismissal and that was... Well, he is divulging the advice that I provided and no doubt he has consent from Ms Hernandez for disclosing privilege in that regard, that is what he has done, so I accept that is the position. That is absolutely right. That was my position from the very beginning and indeed that proved to be the correct position right at the very end, Mr Speaker.

4190 And indeed, the hon. Gentleman may not know this, but probably Mr Bossano does know this, that the reason why Ms Hernandez was ultimately successful was actually because of the tactics that I deployed in this particular case in the beginning. (Interjection) Absolutely, absolutely and let me explain why! (Interjections) Let me explain why –

4195 Mr Speaker: Order!

4200 Hon. D A Feetham: Let me explain why, Mr Speaker, let me explain why. Because in fact the tactics deployed from the very beginning were to delay, delay until after she had served 12 months in the employment of the agency which is precisely what happened, Mr Speaker. So actually, it was because of the tactics that I deployed in the case that Ms Hernandez ultimately won.

Now, Mr Speaker, there is a huge distinction, a huge distinction, between a lawyer that is defending her client and effectively defends her client to the best of their ability and on instructions, does x, y and z, and a political campaign that was mounted by the hon. Gentleman opposite Mr Speaker, that is the difference.

4205 I do not condemn either Mr Picardo, the Hon. the Chief Minister. I do not condemn the Father of the House for representing Ms Hernandez. What I condemn them for, Mr Speaker, is for actually using this particular case as a crusade for political purposes in order to undermine the Social Services Agency, in order to undermine the Dr Giraldi Home and in order to undermine the Government of the day. That is something that I would never have done because I refuse to cross that line between acting for somebody and giving legal advice and legal representation, and effectively using that individual as a political pawn which is what has happened in this particular case, Mr Speaker.

And that is the point that I made and therefore to the extent that he thinks in his own mind, in his own Walter Mitty mind, Mr Speaker, that some letter that I wrote in October of 2005 is some knockout blow, he is completely and utterly mistaken, because I was acting as a lawyer, Mr Speaker. The problem here is that they have transgressed the boundaries between legal representation and making a political pawn and a political tool out of this particular case and indeed out of Ms Hernandez.

But returning to the misrepresentations made by the Hon. the Chief Minister during the course of his own intervention. Mr Speaker, he said that I had made a complaint to the Bar Council in order to get him disbarred. Mr Speaker, what world does he live in? Where is the evidence of any complaint that I have made against the hon. Gentleman to the Bar Council or the Admissions and Disciplinary Committee to get him disbarred? Neither have I made a complaint against him, either the day before his father died and I am really sorry about that, or indeed have I represented anybody in the making of that complaint, Mr Speaker.

But look, yes, my brother made a complaint against the hon. Gentleman. He made a complaint against the hon. Gentleman because at a time when Hassans was acting against the VOX newspaper, the editor of the VOX at the time came out during the course of those defamation proceedings saying that the hon. Gentleman had provided advice to the VOX newspaper, and he was a partner of Hassans.

In other words, Mr Speaker, my brother was being represented in defamation proceedings against the VOX by Hassans and the hon. Gentleman who was a partner in Hassans was advising the VOX newspaper, the defendants in that same case. So talk about conflicts of interest and talk about acting against the interest of your client, Mr Speaker! (Interjections)

Mr Speaker, and he has the audacity to refer to a letter that I wrote acting in my capacity as a lawyer, Mr Speaker, when he was providing advice to the defendants, to the opponents –

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, a Point of Order.

Mr Speaker, the Point of Order is very simple. He has said I was providing advice. Mr Speaker, that is not the case, the complaint was made –

Hon. D A Feetham: That is not a Point of Order.

Hon. Chief Minister: Yes it is, Mr Speaker, because it relates to facts which the hon. Gentleman is asserting. I did not provide the advice. The Admissions and Disciplinary Committee dismissed the complaint – (Interjection by the Hon. D A Feetham) Yes it did, you had better check your records – dismissed the complaint, Mr Speaker, and he therefore needs to make himself responsible for what he is saying in this House.

The way that he is describing everything is entirely untrue, Mr Speaker, and if necessary I will move a motion to the effect that he has misled the House again. He has to make himself responsible for what he is saying in this House. He has to look at what I said and defend what I said and not what he says I said, and go back and look up those files, because I have today, Mr Speaker, and what he is saying is untrue.

Mr Speaker: I am sorry, but that is not a Point of Order.

Hon. Chief Minister: I have gone on, but the original Point of Order, Mr Speaker, is that it is wrong for him to say that I was representing those people contrary to my obligations, and in fact the complaint that was made was dismissed. I have then gone on, but that is the Point of Order.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, the reality of the situation was that my brother took proceedings against... and he has brought my brother into this session today, not me. He is the one who has mentioned my brother and he has brought him in. He is not here to defend himself so I have to correct – (Interjections) I have to, Mr Speaker, I have to correct, I have to correct, I have to correct the record which he wrongly set.

Mr Speaker, my brother took proceedings in defamation against the VOX newspaper and the Editor of the VOX newspaper in writing said, that the hon. Member opposite, the Chief Minister had advised him as Editor of the VOX. That was the evidence that was provided in the content of the defamation action, Mr Speaker. He can bring whatever motion he wants to bring, Mr Speaker – that is what happened, Mr Speaker.

And let me tell him another thing, that the reason why that complaint by my brother to the Admissions and Disciplinary Committee was dismissed – I think it was withdrawn – is because my brother actually extended the hand of friendship, the hand of friendship that he has spat on today, Mr Speaker, during the course of his intervention and withdrew it, Mr Speaker. He withdrew the complaint against the hon. Gentleman because quite frankly he was a partner of Hassans, my brother Nigel was a partner of Hassans and everybody wanted to move on. He extended the hand of friendship and Mr Speaker, he has spat upon it today, Mr Speaker.

But what I will not allow, Mr Speaker, is for him to misrepresent the record.

But, Mr Speaker, let me return to the smokescreens, contradictions and duality. And look, I have also received a text from my brother Nigel, relating to interceptions of communications, but I am not going to go there. (Interjection) I really don't. No, because I do not. I don't. I don't want to go there but I am going to proceed to talk about smokescreens, contradictions and dualities, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Father of the House said what political advantage could there be in wanting to get to the truth by conducting an Inquiry? That is what he said. And then, Mr Speaker, in the same speech, he took almost an hour, Mr Speaker, mocking and making a mockery of the very Inquiry he sought and indeed orchestrated! He says we wanted to get to the truth, Mr Speaker, that is why we conducted the inquiry and then when the Inquiry produces results that they are not happy with, he then spends an hour making an absolute mockery of the Inquiry that they themselves instigated.

4280

Mr Speaker, and making too a mockery of Sir Jonathan Parker, who they have during the course of tonight, both the Father of the House and indeed the Hon. the Chief Minister who has followed the lead of the Father of the House, referred to him really disrespectfully, as Chairman Mao and Chairman Parker. Mr Speaker, they appointed Jonathan Parker, one of the most eminent lawyers of his time, and I have to say that I was thoroughly disgusted with the way that they have sought to denigrate an eminent judge, Mr Speaker, and also an eminent judge in the conduct of an Inquiry that they themselves instigated.

4285

And Mr Speaker, when the Hon. the Father of the House was speaking in response to my motion, I had made a note to ask the Chief Minister to apologise on behalf of the Father of the House, for the comments that he had made about Sir Jonathan Parker and indeed about the Inquiry itself. Because really what he was saying is yes, there was this Inquiry but really it was either a biased inquiry or it did not do its job properly, it has come to a wrong conclusion, it did not listen to me and it should have listened to me and it should have concluded that it was all a big conspiracy on the part of the GSD Government.

4290

Mr Speaker, I was going to ask him to apologise on behalf of the Father of the House, but the Hon. the Chief Minister started his intervention by saying, 'I want to congratulate the Father of the House, on his passionate and masterful intervention. His forensic analysis was superb.' So, Mr Speaker, here we have the Chief Minister of Gibraltar, who calls an Inquiry, who asks Sir Jonathan Parker to head that Inquiry and then, during the course of this Parliamentary debate, proceeds to absolutely trash Sir Jonathan Parker's conclusions and Sir Jonathan's conduct of the Inquiry.

4295

Well, Mr Speaker, I have to say that if there is any contradiction and duality, it is in the conduct of the hon. Gentlemen and the way that they have sought to proceed today. And let me remind, Mr Speaker, and the Hon. the Leader of the House, what he actually said when the Report was first published – and we will then see, Mr Speaker, who is contradicting himself and where the duality lies, Mr Speaker.

4300

When the Report was received he said this:

4305

'I am very grateful to the Rt. Hon. Sir Jonathan Parker for this exhaustive and comprehensive report into the various allegations of malpractice at the Dr Giraldi Home which concerned the Government greatly and which led to the establishment by me of this Inquiry.'

4310

So he is congratulating Sir Jonathan Parker for the exhaustive and comprehensive report. He then says:

4315

'In the very short time available to me since I received the Report, I have noted with satisfaction that the Report concludes that any instances of mismanagement, misconduct and malpractice at the home were infrequent and at the lower end of the scale of what this type of behaviour. That was the issue that most concerned my Government.'

So going from appointing Sir Jonathan Parker, from congratulating Sir Jonathan Parker for his very exhaustive and comprehensive report and from saying he is really glad that all those nasty allegations of misconduct, all the ones that I outlined in my intervention of sexual abuse and all the rest of it, the torture etc, so glad that none of that, that none of that was proved, unfounded and he was also glad that really what was found was true, or found by the Tribunal, was malpractice at the lower end of the scale.

Well, Mr Speaker, that certainly does not justify the systematic trashing of this Report that has taken place over three or four hours by the Members opposite. In particular, the Father of the House, but of course now, aided and abetted – a phrase that he does not like me to use but that is precisely what has happened – by the Hon. the Leader of the House and Chief Minister.

4325

Mr Speaker, talking about dualities, the Hon. the Father of the House said that 'If a Spanish journalist comes here, I do not have to go there', he says. 'I did not go; I did not go to Spain to give an interview on a Spanish TV programme. The Spanish producers of the programme came to me.'

4330

Mr Speaker, I do not know what kind of a defence he was setting up but even he in his warped reality of what is damaging to Gibraltar or is not damaging to Gibraltar would have realised, Mr Speaker, that any interview that he gave here in Gibraltar was going to be shown in a programme in Spain. Or did he really think, Mr Speaker, that the producers of the Espejo Publico were going to come to Gibraltar to interview the hon. Gentleman but then not air his comments in a programme in Spain, Mr Speaker? What a poor excuse! What a poor excuse!

4335 But, Mr Speaker, he then in defence of the comments that he made in the Espejo Publico, he said, ‘Well actually what the Espejo Publico was saying was absolutely true.’ That is what he said, repeated by the Hon. the Chief Minister. The Espejo Publico said that there was fear of the administration, that there was fear of the GSD and therefore that is why these allegations were not... people were not coming out with these allegations publicly.

4340 And he also said that the allegations... certainly one of the allegations was true, but indeed in his comment that there was a cover up here in Gibraltar, Mr Speaker, what he is doing or does he not realise that what he is doing, is giving vent to the allegations? He is giving credibility to the allegations, Mr Speaker.

4345 So what has happened is that instead of apologising for comments that he has made to the Espejo Publico which were not true, Mr Speaker, because the Inquiry has found that the allegations were unfounded, what he has done, yet again, Mr Speaker, is give vent to those allegations, give credibility to those allegations, by actually saying, well, the allegations were true and there was a climate of fear in Gibraltar and that is why people did not want to come out publicly and say so, but he was brave enough to say so.

4350 Well, Mr Speaker, it is a shameful episode. It is a shameful episode for him, Mr Speaker – he who fancies himself, Mr Speaker, as a defender of Gibraltar and a defender of Gibraltar against anything that is Spanish. For him in particular to have given an interview on Spanish television – because that is what it was, an interview on Spanish television – effectively denigrating staff and the institution that is the Dr Giraldi Home was shameful to say the least, Mr Speaker.

4355 But, Mr Speaker, –

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I want to raise a Point of Order.

4360 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I hope that Mr Speaker is alert that these Points of Order do not turn into replies.

Hon. J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member opposite has accused me of saying something to the guy that came to interview me which is not what I said. I have read the sentence and the sentence says ‘If the Government says that these are all made up, why doesn’t he go ahead and do the investigation?’

4365 The only thing I said to the Spanish interviewer is, this is what I have asked them in Parliament. That is all I have said. I have not said the allegations are true and I have not accused anybody of anything, and I have read it to him.

4370 Mr Speaker: Let me make one thing clear to hon. Members. To rise on a Point of Order, to correct, to answer something that has been said, that is not a Point of Order. (Interjection by Hon. J J Bossano) That is not a Point of Order.

There is a rule about clarification which hon. Members should look at, but that is not a Point of Order. There has been no transgression of the Standing Orders by anything that the Leader of the Opposition has said.

4375 Now, what the Hon. Mr Bossano is trying to do is to reply to what... Well look, (Interjection) he can ask, the Leader of the Opposition would he give way, and that is the correct procedure.

4380 Hon. J J Bossano: No, no, no. No, I am rising on a Point of Order because the hon. Member opposite has attributed words to me which I have not uttered, in the knowledge that I have already given him the text, the transcript. I have read out to him what I have said and he is quoting me as saying something that is not true. That is a Point of Order because Members are supposed to be able to prove that what they are saying is true and he cannot, because I have got the transcript and he has not.

4385 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I have sat here very patiently listening to a lot of allegations being thrown my way, a lot of points being thrown my way, and I have sat here very patiently –

Mr Speaker: May I quote the Rule. I direct the attention of hon. Members to Rule 45(8):

4390 ‘A member who has spoken to a question proposed to the Parliament may again be heard, if the Speaker so permits, to explain some part of his speech which has been misunderstood; but when so speaking he shall not introduce any new matter.’

Some part which has been misunderstood.

Other than that, the correct procedure is to ask the person holding the floor to give way.

4395 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I have not misunderstood what he has said. I have not misunderstood what he has said at all. Mr Speaker, he tries to re-characterise and to re-describe to his own benefit, what he said in that programme. But, Mr Speaker, he has just now proved it. He has said that what he said was if the allegation is not true, why doesn't the Government investigate it?

4400 Mr Speaker, but does he not realise that by saying 'If the allegation is not true why doesn't the Government investigate it?', then he is actually giving vent to the allegations, he is adding credibility to the allegations, Mr Speaker? (Interjection) Of course you are, Mr Speaker. If the hon. Gentleman says... and look, you know I have to say that one of the biggest respects that I have always held him in high esteem on this if nothing else, that he has always stood up and said, 'This is what I said, this is what I meant', and he has not cared.

4405 But Mr Speaker, now what he is doing is he is ducking and diving, ducking and diving Mr Speaker, with the best of lawyers! Ducking and diving with the best of us, Mr Speaker, because really what he is reminding me of is a young lawyer in front of a tribunal where the judge says, 'Well hang on a minute, but you have not said, you have said this,' and he says, 'Well no, because of this and that and the other.'

4410 Mr Speaker, he says if the allegation is not true, why doesn't the Government investigate it? Well look, what he is really saying to everybody that cares to listen to the programme is: 'I think that the allegations are true and that is why the Government is not investigating it.'

Mr Speaker, that is the reality, and that is the point that I make and it is a perfectly legitimate point for me to make, Mr Speaker. That is my interpretation of what he has said.

Now, Mr Speaker –

4415 Mr Speaker: No, the actual text goes much further, of course, than what the Leader of the Opposition has said.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes.

4420 Mr Speaker: The actual text in Spanish – shall I read it out? Would he like me to read it out in English, I will translate?

Hon. D A Feetham: No, I do not.

4425 Mr Speaker: Well it goes further than what the Leader of the Opposition has said just now. The point that Mr Bossano read out goes further than what he... you are paraphrasing it. You are paraphrasing it.

4430 Hon. D A Feetham: No, Mr Speaker. I have just repeated back his paraphrasing of that. He has stood up, in fact he has agreed with me across the floor of the House. His paraphrasing, he said yes that is what I said. What he has said is in paraphrase – this is what he said – if the allegation is not true, why doesn't the Government investigate it? That is what he has said, Mr Speaker.

4435 And what I am saying is, absolutely, that is exactly how I understood it! That is giving vent to the allegations. Why, because really what he is saying is, 'I believe those allegations are true. What is happening here is that the Government is seeking to hide, to suppress truthful allegations.' That is a reasonable interpretation to his words, Mr Speaker. And what I am saying is that he is ducking and diving with the best of lawyers, Mr Speaker – the breed that he holds in such low esteem.

4440 But, Mr Speaker, he then also said, 'Well, have an independent investigation, put your money where your mouth is and investigate.' But does he understand, Mr Speaker, and have I not been able to take him to the relevant passages from the report of Sir Jonathan Parker, that says precisely that? He accepts that we did, or the GSD Government and the Social Services Agency did actually investigate these allegations. The ones that were serious were investigated. The RGP investigated the allegations and the Attorney General also, Mr Speaker, concluded at least on some of the more serious allegations that there was no case to answer, Mr Speaker.

4445 Now, the problem here, the problem here is not that we refused to go to an independent or launch into an independent inquiry. The problem here is that the Gentlemen opposite were not prepared to accept the word of the Social Services Agency that said that they had investigated the allegations, the words of the Royal Gibraltar Police that said that they had investigated the allegations and the word of the Attorney General, not to speak of the backbencher when he was Chief Minister of Gibraltar, Mr Speaker. Of course there was an investigation and Sir Jonathan Parker, Mr Speaker, accepts that there was an investigation.

Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Father of the House also said that this was Joanna Hernandez on her own. This was Joanna Hernandez on her own against everybody else. Well actually no, it was not Joanna Hernandez on her own; it was Joanna Hernandez with Members Opposite, Mr Speaker, in the political campaign and the intense political campaign that I described during the course of my intervention.

4455 Mr Speaker, then he spoke about whistle blowers, Mr Speaker, and whistle blowers' legislation. Well, Mr Speaker, talking about whistle blowers and heeding the calls of whistle blowers, where is the investigation about the 35 trainees against Joanna Hernandez, which was an investigation – ?

Mr Speaker: That is new material. You are introducing new material now you are not allowed to do so when you exercise your right to reply.

4460

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, he then also said that Joanna Hernandez was not here to defend herself. Well, Mr Speaker, neither have been the individuals that he has spoken about, including members of my family today, two members of my family – in fact three members of my family. Two brothers and a father that have been mentioned here today and –

4465

Mr Speaker: May I ask the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition from a personal point of view, is he still sore about what I said about his father?

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am not responding to the Hon. Speaker.

4470

Mr Speaker: You are responding to me because I was the one –

Hon. D A Feetham: No, no, I am responding to them.

4475

Mr Speaker: No, no they did not.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, they did! They did, Mr Speaker, they mentioned my father.

Mr Speaker: Well, okay fine.

4480

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am not sore! Mr Speaker, believe me that I have, after many years of being in politics, the hide the thickness of a rhinoceros, Mr Speaker. (Laughter) I have to say that, I have to say that. Partly – it has to be said, Mr Speaker, during my early years – not now that I can defend myself in this House – partly the political beatings that the Hon. the Father of the House gave me all those years ago that has made me develop a very thick skin – nothing to do with Mr Speaker.

4485

What we have is a situation where they – and this is the hypocrisy, the contradictions and duality, Mr Speaker – on the one hand, they say that Joanna Hernandez is not here to defend herself but of course my father, whom they mentioned, the Hon. the Chief Minister mentioned him from a sedentary position, well he is here to defend himself. My brother Nigel, oh he is here to defend himself. My brother Michael, oh he is here to defend himself. Well, Mr Speaker, let us have an element of consistency Mr Speaker. Of consistency.

4490

There is another point that I was very surprised that the hon. Gentleman made, Mr Speaker, because he even went as far as mentioning one of the service users by name – (A Member: Yes.) by name, Mr Speaker, in this House. My understanding of the Rules of the House, Mr Speaker, is that one should not mention people by name who are not here in this House. (A Member: Yes.) Well he has not only mentioned – (Interjection) Well, Mr Speaker, Joanna Hernandez is part of the motion. What does a service user – (Laughter) What does a service user, Mr Speaker, have to do with this? How on earth does he justify, Mr Speaker, a resident of the Dr Giraldi Home being mentioned by name during the course of his own intervention?

4495

I did not stand up and raise a Point of Order, nobody cut the Hon. the Father of the House short, but I thought it was absolutely scandalous that he should do so.

4500

Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Father of the House also mentions that my brother Nigel and my brother Michael that they closed down the VOX. Oh my God, that is so terrible – terrible, that beacon of democracy! The VOX being closed down by the two Feetham brothers. Well, Mr Speaker, what he does not tell this House is that my brother Michael had to sue the VOX for defamation and that there is an order of the court, an order of the Supreme Court – and I hope that he accepts that and that we do not have criticisms of the Supreme Court in exactly the same way as we have had criticisms of Sir Jonathan Parker and his report – there is an order of the court actually holding the VOX and certain individuals guilty of defamation, Mr Speaker.

4505

Well look, if they have been guilty of defamation, is the hon. Gentleman entitled, Mr Speaker, after there has been a case in the Supreme Court of which an individual, who is not here to defend himself, has been found to be defamed, is he entitled, Mr Speaker, to then go behind the order of defamation and say ‘Oh, because this is a witness statement and that and that and the other.’ Nobody intervened, nobody said ‘Well hang on a minute, I think that you are out of order.’ No, nobody intervened, but Mr Speaker, he was out of order. He was out of order because I have certainly never come across a situation Mr Speaker, where a private citizen takes a newspaper and certain other individuals, making allegations to court, there is an order of the Supreme Court in favour of the claimant, saying yes you have been defamed, and the hon. Members of Parliament come to this House and basically start using parliamentary privilege, Mr Speaker, parliamentary privilege, to try and raise again the allegations which a court has found to be defamatory.

4520 Well, let him make those allegations outside this House, Mr Speaker, and let us see what actions my brothers take against him, Mr Speaker. Well he can do it, but do not do it, do not do it, because it is cowardly, Mr Speaker.

Hon. Chief Minister: A Point of Order Mr Speaker.

4525

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, it is now, it's the third one.

Hon. Chief Minister: Yes. Alleged. It is in breach of the Rules of the House to challenge somebody to 4530 say something outside the House, because it is a breach of the privileges to challenge somebody to say something outside of the House.

Mr Speaker: The Chief Minister is correct, and I can vouch for that because that precisely happened to me when I was sitting there and the Hon. Speaker, Major Robert Peliza ruled in my favour, exactly the same. You cannot challenge a Member to... It is a breach of privilege to challenge a Member to say 4535 something outside. There is a ruling from Mr Speaker Peliza in that respect.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, of course if there is a ruling about challenging the hon. Gentleman making the same allegations cloaked in parliamentary privilege outside this House where he is not going to be cloaked by parliamentary privilege, look he is not defaming me. It is not me that is being defamed, Mr 4540 Speaker. If there is a ruling, well I accept that there is a ruling.

Mr Speaker, but the point that I am making is in a different way and it is this. That I do not think it is right for a Member of Parliament, but again I will sit down and allow Mr Speaker, if he thinks otherwise, I will allow Mr Speaker to intervene again in relation to this. I do not think, Mr Speaker – 4545 Mr Speaker: You can express a view, but not challenge him.

Hon. D A Feetham: I do not believe that it is right for a Member of this Parliament to go behind a defamatory judgement, a finding of the court, in this House seeking to undermine, seeking to undermine 4550 that order of the court, when if you cloaked in parliamentary privilege, well knowing that if he made the allegation outside, he would not be cloaked by parliamentary privilege and he would be subject to a defamation action.

Because, Mr Speaker, the reality of the situation is this, let us be clear, that if an allegation that has already been determined by the court is repeated outside this House, it is defamatory, Mr Speaker. That is 4555 the point that I am making.

Mr Speaker: Yes, but the point is this. We are not outside this House. We are within this House and here hon. Members are protected, they can say whatever they want and they cannot be sued for defamation.
Their freedom of speech is protected, okay? So hon. Members here can say whatever they want.

4560 Outside it is another matter, but you cannot challenge a Member of Parliament to repeat outside something that he has said here in the House, challenge him in order that he can then be sued for defamation or whatever.

It is a Parliamentary position of privilege going back to the foundation and the battle for Parliament against King Charles I, going back therefore to – what century are we talking about? – the 17th century.
That is a sacred right of all hon. Members.

4565

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, for Mr Speaker to compare – I have to say, he has intervened now a number of times in this debate – but for Mr Speaker to compare a Member of the House coming to this House and repeating an allegation that has already been determined by the Supreme Court...

4570 May I be allowed, Mr Speaker, without interruption from Mr Speaker? I will sit down if Mr Speaker wants me to –

Mr Speaker: No, carry on.

Hon. D A Feetham: Thank you very much, Mr Speaker.

4575 For a Member of Parliament to come to this House and effectively abuse a privilege by repeating allegations that have already been determined by a court, in the Supreme Court, I do not think is right, nor is it – Hang on a minute, Mr Speaker, may I please finish?

If you want I can sit down.

Mr Speaker: Go on, go on.

4580

Hon. D A Feetham: Ok, may I? I just have not finished the point, Mr Speaker! I have not finished the point. Nor is it comparable, nor is it comparable in the most imaginative mind, Mr Speaker, to defending privilege in Charles I's time, Mr Speaker – it just cannot be the same. It cannot be the same.

4585

If a lowly carer, Mr Speaker, has to sue a newspaper for defamation and gets an order against a newspaper and those making allegations – an order of the court – that he has been defamed, it cannot be right, Mr Speaker for then somebody an MP cloaked in parliamentary privilege to come to this House and repeat those allegations. It just cannot Mr Speaker, and no quoting of Rules are going to move me from that.

4590

But of course, your ruling, Mr Speaker stands. I accept it but I have to say that I do not agree with the logic in the least, Mr Speaker.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, may I –

Mr Speaker: No, I am now going to speak.

The hon. Member or any hon. Member has a perfect right to say that that is not right. That in his view it is not right for another Member to abuse, if you like, the right of privilege in the terms in which has happened this evening in respect of that court ruling of defamation against his brother. That is perfectly clearly understood.

4600

Now, however, I can tell the hon. Member that when I was the Leader of the Opposition (Hon D A Feetham: I accepted that.) someone from outside Parliament... I received a letter from a member of the legal profession, representing the Transport and General Workers' Union, challenging me to say outside the House what I had said here. I showed the letter to the then Speaker, who hit the roof and who made a ruling in that respect. It was an abuse of contempt of the right to privilege.

4605

So I am not going to stop the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition from saying that he does not agree that it is right for Mr Bossano to have said what he has – fine. Fine, he is perfectly entitled to say that. Okay, perfectly entitled.

4610

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, it is a completely different situation and I understand... No Mr Speaker, I am on my feet and I am not giving way. Mr Speaker, I am not giving way. (Interjection) Mr Speaker –

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, a Point of Order is supposed to be heard.

4615

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, my intervention has been peppered by interventions, Mr Speaker, in fairness from the Speaker's Chair in good faith, I accept that and also from the other side.

Hon. Chief Minister: On a Point of Order, Mr Speaker.

4620

Mr Speaker: I would like to see whether anybody in Gibraltar could sit in this Chair as I have done, since five o'clock and conduct the proceedings of the House better than I have done. For the first two motions I had no problem at all, I did not have to intervene. I have only had to intervene when matters have got hot under the collar in the last hour, and then I have had to intervene because all hon. Members have been going too far in breaking the rules of debate. Otherwise I would not intervene.

4625

Now it is two o'clock in the morning, I think we are all tired, we are all very, very tired and it is very difficult. Hon. Members have an advantage over me, they can go inside and out whenever they want, they can switch off completely and not pay any attention to what is going on. I have to be here listening to every word paying very close attention and that is the difficult job which any Speaker has, and in particular here in the present circumstances, okay?

4630

So, I am not infallible. I may make mistakes but what I am is impartial. I try to be fair to both sides and I only intervene if I think I have to – otherwise I do not.

4635

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, rising on behalf of this side of the House, dealing with the Point of Order which the hon. Gentleman has been dealing with, with you, Mr Speaker, we entirely accept that the rationale of not being able to challenge somebody to repeat something outside the House, the instance which you referred to, is exactly because – and this is what the Rule is about – people have sometimes obtained rulings outside the House – I am not commenting on the current issue – rulings or statements or they have obtained judgements because of, for example, higher economic power than the person who may have said something and the Parliament is the place where that person's representative can come and make the statement if they still believe it to be true and defend the truth of that statement. That is what the Rule is all about.

4640

Therefore, Mr Speaker, we entirely agree with your ruling and would ask the hon. Member to please, in order to ensure that the debate can continue in the way that you have indicated the earlier debates were held, to stick to the issues in the motion so that we can vote on the motion and hear the Parliament's will in respect of the motion.

4645

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, there is a huge, huge distinction, Mr Speaker between – and I have to say because I think there is an important point of principle here – there is a huge distinction between the example that Mr Speaker gave which is somebody from the Transport and General Workers' Union writing to a Member saying 'Repeat that allegation outside' and the situation that I am addressing myself to, which is: there is a court case, there is a judgement and then somebody, a Member of Parliament then effectively wants to go behind that judgement and undermining it by repeating here what he could not say outside because the matter has been determined. I believe that is abusive of the privileges of this House. Not because...

4650

And look very often, Mr Speaker, I may say something in this House in the course of discharging my role as the Leader of the Opposition, or he may something in this House in the course of discharging his role as a Minister, that technically, if it is said outside, may be defamatory and I accept that and that is why privilege is there, in order to encourage open debate.

4655

But what the Rules are not there and what privilege is not there in order to do, is to allow somebody to just simply say, 'Well there is a defamatory judgment in favour of somebody, there is a witness statement that has been withdrawn as being false and it has been withdrawn, but what I am going to do is I am going to come to this House and I am still going to read from that witness statement and I am still going to try to undermine that judgment.'

4660

Mr Speaker, that with respect is an abuse of the proceedings of this House and the Rule in relation to privilege, Mr Speaker.

4665

Look, Mr Speaker, I do not intend to prolong these proceedings much further. If I have, Mr Speaker, been harsh in any words that I have spoken to Mr Speaker, I do not believe that I have, it is just that I feel strongly about this particular point, that Mr Speaker has genuinely looked at it from the perspective that in fact is the wrong perspective. If I challenged him to repeat it outside, I was not challenging him to repeat it outside, but if I was I accept your ruling.

4670

My point was a completely different one, Mr Speaker and it is about the abuse of Members of this House of Parliamentary privilege. It is a privilege, Mr Speaker. It should not be abused, Mr Speaker, it should not be abused.

Mr Speaker: I will now put the motion. Is a division required?

4675

Hon. Chief Minister: To a division, yes please.

Mr Speaker: We have voted on the amendment. Now what is before the House is a substantive amended motion. (Interjection) It is the amended motion which is now before the House.

A division was called for and voting resulted as follows:

ADJOURNMENT

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

4685

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, conscious of the late hour and the acrimony of the debate towards the end, but conscious also of the important issues that have been debated during the course of the afternoon, I now invite the House to adjourn sine die as we commence the period known as Holy Week and wish all Members the best for this period which will involve some holiday time and which will involve the House not sitting this month as has been agreed in other years.

4690

I now move that the House do now adjourn sine die.

Mr Speaker: I now propose the question which is that the House do now adjourn sine die.

I now put the question, which is that this House do now adjourn sine die. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

4695

The House will now adjourn sine die.

The House adjourned at 2.10 a.m.

Questions for Oral Answer

HEALTH, THE ENVIRONMENT, ENERGY AND CLIMATE CHANGE

Q292/2015
Care Agency –
Elderly citizens waiting for beds

Acting Clerk: We begin with Question 292/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health state how many elderly citizens are presently occupying a bed at St. Bernard’s Hospital, the new mental health facility and the John Cochrane Unit, who are waiting for a Care Agency bed, broken down by wards?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the information requested is on the table that I now hand to the hon. Member.

Answer to Question No. 292 of 2015

Patients Awaiting Elderly Residential Services

St Bernard’s Hospital & Ocean Views	Number of Applicants to the Care Agency	Remarks
Captain Murchison Ward	26	Applicants captured are at different stages of the application process but will all require long-term care outside SBH.
Victoria Mackintosh Ward	27
John Mackintosh Ward	4
Sunshine Ward	14
Dawn Ward	2
Horizon Ward	2

In addition to this, may I say that as Cochrane Ward is actually part of Elderly Residential Services, formerly the Care Agency, residents there are not waiting to move and therefore have not been included in the table.

May I also point out, because it is the first time we have referred to Ocean Views, that Sunshine Ward, Dawn Ward and Horizon Ward are all three in Ocean Views. I do not think that is specified; I just wanted to clarify that.

Q293/2015
Care Agency –
Elderly citizens waiting for beds

Acting Clerk: Question 293. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Did I understand 292 or 293? 293 yes. (Mr Speaker: Correct.) (Interruption by iPad call ringing) I beg your pardon.

Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health provide the figures of people suffering – (Interruption by iPad call) Yes, that’s my mum – Who knows what she wants!

Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health provide the figure of people suffering from Alzheimer’s and dementia by showing a breakdown of those occupying a bed in St. Bernard’s Hospital, John Cochrane Ward, Mount Alvernia and in the community by stating the degree – that is whether mild, medium or acute – of the person’s condition?

55 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Yes, Mr Speaker. Once again, the information is on the table that I now hand over.

This is a snapshot, Mr Speaker, as at December 2014. Note that the figures are constantly changing as patients move between wards, sadly pass away, are newly diagnosed etc, and the severity is also temporary as patients deteriorate – it may not be severe today, but it could be in a month or so – so there has to be some flexibility in interpreting these figures.

65 A new update of this information is due in June. We normally do this on a six-monthly basis but I clearly do not have the June figures at the moment.

Q294/2015
Alzheimer and Dementia facility –
Staffing requirements and cost

Acting Clerk: Question 294/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

70 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Elderly state whether he has received from the Care Agency the request for staffing needs for the new Alzheimer and Dementia facility at the former RNH site; and if so, please provide the breakdown in relation to grades and specialist professionals needed and what the extra cost will be?

75 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, a workforce plan – there is a misprint there in the prepared answer – a workforce plan has now been prepared by Elderly Residential Services senior management and a final assessment is being made to identify what staff will be deployed.

80

Acting Clerk: Question 295.

Hon. J J Netto: A quick question, if I may, Mr Speaker.
I take on board what the Minister has said – that they have received a management report as to this effect. Can the Minister perhaps then enlighten us as to when he thinks he will be in a position to know at the end of the day what the Government thinks will be the grades and specialist professionals that would be needed, by when and what the cost might be? Does he have an appreciation of by when?

85

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, we have had a workforce plan prepared by senior management, as I said. We have had an independent assessment of that work and we are now fine-tuning that. It is our intention to be able to open what we know now as ‘Block B’ – we have not revealed the official name yet – within the next few months. Certainly the intention is to do this during the course of the summer. And clearly, we are now working very very hard and I expect to have the final analysis of the workforce that we will be deploying within the next couple of weeks.

95

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, if I may ask another supplementary question in relation to this, the Hon. the Minister just said that the intention is to be able to open Block B, which is the one specified for this, in a couple of months’ time, certainly before the end of summer. Does the Minister envisage a situation where existing staff, currently working perhaps in Mount Alvernia or some other places, might be part of the transfer, if you like, to the new facilities, or whether we are talking about whatever staff is going to be in Block B is going to be over and above the existing numbers of grades at the moment?

100

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, that is the analysis that we are undertaking at the moment. Clearly, the new facility cannot be completely covered by the existing staff, although we have been training up care workers and so on well in advance in order to have them qualified and ready, but there will possibly be some overlap possibly with the senior management teams. So this is the fine-tuning that we are doing at the moment, to actually have a plan in place when deployment is carried out in a few months’ time.

105

Hon. J J Netto: And finally, Mr Speaker, does the Minister envisage a situation where there will be a number of specialised nurses dealing with this particular situation and perhaps some consultants, a specialist in this field, being employed for the new facilities?

110

115 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: The skills mix is part of this analysis. There will be carers and there will be nursing. There is no requirement in our assessment for a full-time consultant, but clearly medical cover will be provided.

Remember, this is an elderly residential home. The severity of the Alzheimer's and dementia will vary and clearly will probably deteriorate as the years go by. But at this point in time, in analysing the residents that we are expecting to take into that facility, it is not envisaged we would need a full-time consultant, but clearly we will provide the medical cover that will be required for the level of care that the residents need.

120 Hon. J J Netto: Can I ask just one final one, Mr Speaker: is the Minister confident, given that he has set himself a timetable to open Block B in only a couple of weeks' time, to be able to go through the whole recruitment process and have the staff in place for the opening?

125 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker. I said we would open in a few months, not in a few weeks. We will have the full workforce plan, including the migration plan, ready in a few weeks.

Q295/2015

Patients with a debilitating disease – Numbers by type and dependency level

Acting Clerk: Question 295/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

130 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health state the number of patients with a debilitating disease, broken down by type and dependency level?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

135 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, in view of the large number of diseases that can be considered debilitating and the fact that the hon. Member has not specified where the patients may be, I would request that he be more specific as to the information he requires.

140 Mr Speaker, if I may just add, in preparing this information I am aware there was a similar Question asked some time ago by the Hon. Mrs Ellul-Hammond, but there was some more specific information requested regarding where they were, and we had more of an idea of the detail. This was very generic and, short of going through all the notes of all the patients, I thought it would be helpful, and I am happy to do that by exchange of correspondence, if he specifies where exactly those patients are and whether he has any particular condition in mind, and then we will be very happy to supply that information. It was a little bit difficult to be so wide.

145 Hon. J J Netto: Yes, Mr Speaker, it has been a standard sort of question in the past, both by my hon. Friend Isobel Ellul-Hammond and myself, even before she took over Social Services and even in the period when I was Minister for Social Services. But we are talking about a number of, I think, about four or five debilitating diseases. If I can manage to get the categories I can easily get in touch with the secretary and I am sure the information will be given.

Q296/2015

Gibraltar Health Authority – Health and Safety reports 2014 and 2015

Acting Clerk: Question 296/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

155 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health provide Parliament with copies of the Health and Safety reports conducted for the GHA during 2014 and 2015?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

160 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I now hand over to the hon. Member the list of Health and Safety reports that are completed. However, as I have said before when asked previously, these are internal working documents, so copies will not be provided.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I am not quite sure what is actually coming round in terms of providing information, so what is actually coming round?

165 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, as I think I mentioned, it is a list of those H&S reports that have been completed, but the reports are not there. It is a list of those that have been done.

Hon. J J Netto: And could the actual Minister say why he feels that Parliament should not have that information, then?

170

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have said this before: these are internal working documents and they are, as I have said in this House before, the sort of internal working documents that I do not believe will be handed over.

175 Hon. J J Netto: So the Hon. Minister basically is saying that he does not believe that internal documents of the GHA should not be provided to this Chamber – Parliament, where exactly... (Interjection) In other words, what the Minister is basically saying is, 'We don't want Parliament to be able to check what the Minister'... Not the Minister, because the Minister does not, at the end of the day, write the report; it is done by members of staff, but what the Minister is saying is, 'We are not going to allow the 180 Opposition to be able to know what the reports say, in case they want to raise any particular issue about them.' That is what the Minister is saying, isn't it?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker, not at all. If the hon. Member has any concern about any of the specifics of the list that I have provided – and I have told him all the Departments that have been assessed;
185 it is a fairly lengthy list... If he has any specific concerns or specific questions, then I would be happy to consider answering them, but handing over a large amount of documents with such day-to-day information I do not think would be helpful.

Personal Statement
by the Hon. Isobel Ellul-Hammond

190 Mr Speaker: I think it is an appropriate moment, now that we are apparently concluding questions on health, to give the Hon. Isobel Ellul-Hammond an opportunity to make a personal statement, given that she has relinquished that responsibility.

Hon. Mrs I M Ellul-Hammond: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

195 I thought it would be appropriate to make a Statement to the hon. Members of Parliament, seeing that the news was announced via the media and I believe it is only right that it is recorded in Hansard.

Mr Speaker, it is not given to everyone to be able to work for one's community and make a difference. It is this which was the motivating factor in my deciding to become involved in politics. For many years before, I have been involved in one way or another in voluntary and charitable work, culminating in setting up what has proved to be a source of practical help and comfort to many in Gibraltar, and that is the charity Breast Cancer Support Gibraltar.

200 Working from the Opposition benches these last four years has not given me the opportunity to work creatively for the community as I thought I could and would have wanted. Instead, and true to the tradition of Opposition politics, my role has been that of questioning and scrutinising the work of Government. Important and vital as this is for the proper management of democracy, I want to be more directly and positively involved with the community, the people and their needs, to be proactive and not reactive to the creative work of others.

205 I recently spent some months away from politics battling for my health, the third time in my adult life that this has been the case. Inevitably, during such enforced pauses from the inexorable flow of life one is given the rare luxury of reassessing one's life and refocusing on what is important and what is not. Unlike for so many during such times, it has also given me the strength not to be defeated and to face life, which is precious, with renewed energy. Every difficult episode in life brings with it opportunity and I came to the conclusion that I again wanted to spend my time working directly and creatively for the good of our community.

210 I started looking for such an opportunity but found few openings. I then saw in February, as if by providence, the post of Cancer Services Co-ordinator advertised by the GHA. I made enquiries and applied. After attending an interview I was offered the post. The work involved could not have been better crafted for me had they tried.

215 As from 7th April, therefore, I relinquished my portfolio responsibilities for Health, Social Services and Civil Contingencies and went into the backbench of Parliament. Additionally, I have stated that I will not be putting my name forward for consideration in the GSD line-up for the next General Election. My desire, however, for the few months remaining of this Parliament is not to resign and put Gibraltar to the expense, administrative and logistical organisation of a by-election, especially so close to a General Election where this will obviously be necessary. I have therefore been given the opportunity by the Leader of the House not to resign as a Member of Parliament, but to instead go into the backbench, relinquishing my portfolio responsibilities until the General Election is called.

220 I have started my new position as Cancer Services Co-ordinator in a designate capacity where I am presently fact-finding and introducing myself to health professionals in order to familiarise myself with the cancer services Gibraltar offers. This ensures I will be ready to start immediately in this exciting new role once I am no longer a Member of Parliament. As Gibraltar's first Cancer Services Co-ordinator, I will be reviewing Gibraltar's cancer services and providing a holistic cancer strategy for Gibraltar, which includes enhanced communication between all cancer service providers and an improvement in the patient experience. This is a challenge I am very much looking forward to and it is, in many respects, a continuation of the work I started with my friends back in 2007 as a founder of Breast Cancer Support Gibraltar.

225 Statistically, I am a one in eight of women who have been affected by breast cancer, a one in two to three people affected by cancer generally. Ten of my friends have died from secondary breast cancer, five of whom were 50 years of age or younger. Another similar number of my friends have died from other cancers, all young, under retirement age. Their memory helps to motivate me.

230 Creating a GHA bespoke Gibraltar cancer strategy means a new dedicated focus on cancer with the ultimate aim of raising more awareness, dispelling fears and taboos, encouraging preventative medicine and healthier lifestyles, increasing the early detection of cancer, helping to introduce new treatments to Gibraltar, and ultimately improving cancer outcomes and reducing mortality.

235 It has been a privilege and an honour to have served the community as a Member of Parliament. It is now time for me to move on and pursue my vision and vocation on how, at this moment in my life, I can best serve the people of Gibraltar.

240 Thank you all very much. (Banging on desks)

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, if I may, on behalf of the Government and, I hope, the whole House, thank the hon. Lady for the Statement she has made.

250 She has been well known for her charitable work for many years, long before she was a Member of this House, and when she has been here she has been a huge asset to this place, although of course I always thought she sat on the wrong side!

255 In the time that she has been here, Mr Speaker, we have crossed swords passionately on issues that concerned each of us, but never to the extent that we might cross the road to avoid each other as a result of it, and I am very pleased that she was able to bring to the debates in this House her good humour and her temperance, and perhaps taught all the rest of us a lesson in that regard.

Mr Speaker, Parliament will be the poorer for the loss of Mrs Ellul-Hammond and the GHA will be the richer, which means that the community will continue to enjoy the benefit of her service and I very much look forward to working with her on the Government side.

260 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, first of all, let me associate myself with the words of the Leader of the House.

265 No-one understands better than I do – and I say that with all the humility in the world, but nobody understands better than I do – what an event in your life... what impact it can have not only for yourself but also for your family, and how it can cause you to reassess your life; because I had an event, similar to the one that the hon. Lady had last year, in 2010. That I decided to continue in politics and I took a different decision does not mean that the hon. Lady's decision in any way, shape or form is wrong, and indeed the Opposition's loss is Gibraltar's gain and certainly the GHA's gain, because as the hon. Lady has said in her Statement, she can now, as a consequence of taking up this role, work positively for Gibraltar and for the GHA in progressing the Government – not only this Government but perhaps the future Government's agenda in relation to the fight against cancer, which is such a scourge on society.

270 Certainly she leaves the Opposition with all the best wishes of the Opposition and my own personally. We have been supportive of the decision that she has taken, which I know is a decision that she has not taken easily or a decision that she has not taken lightly, because I know that she would have very much liked to have seen this term out until the next General Election, but it is not an opportunity that she could have, for all the reasons that the hon. Lady has outlined in her own Statement, that she could turn her back on at this stage.

As I said, she leaves with all the best wishes and the support of the Opposition. (Banging on desks)

280 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker – could I?

Mr Speaker: May I associate... Okay, the Hon. the Minister for Health.

285 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): If I may, Mr Speaker, I feel that, having been at the opposite end, on the opposite side of the Hon. Mrs Ellul-Hammond over the last three and a bit years, I feel that I should say a few words here.

Not being as seasoned a politician as many others in this Chamber, I was never quite comfortable in being at cross-swords with an old friend, so I take comfort that that is not going to happen any longer.

290 Mr Speaker, I closely followed her illness, not just as a friend but as Minister for Health, so I know what she went through. We used to joke at the time, because of course the hon. Member replaced me on the Board of the GHA back in 2007, and we often did comment, even when we were opposing each other in this House, how good it would have been for us to have shared the Board and to have worked together, because I well know all her ideas and what she wants to do, and she knows mine.

295 Therefore, not only as Minister for Health but also as Chairman of the GHA, all I can say is to reiterate what has been said already and that the contribution that the hon. Member will make to the Health Service will be profound. I am very much looking forward to working with her, not just for the next few months but at least for another four years.

Thank you, Mr Speaker. (Banging on desks)

300 Mr Speaker: May I associate myself personally with everything that has been said about the hon. Lady and also add that, although we shall have the pleasure of continuing to see her until the next General Election whilst she remains a Member of Parliament, she can rest assured that she has the best wishes of the staff of Parliament. (Banging on desks)

Q297/2015
Government printers –
Double-sided printing

Acting Clerk: Question 297/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

305 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government state if in all Government Departments, Authorities and Agencies there are printers that have the facility for double-sided printing?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

310 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the Government policy introduced when this Government took office is that all printing is to be double-sided whenever possible. In line with our green procurement policy, as printers are replaced they are replaced with modern units which are networked and print double-sided as a default setting.

315 Hon. J J Netto: So basically it is an ongoing process: as soon as a printer needs replacing it will be replaced by the facility of a double-sided printer.

Can I take the opportunity – and perhaps this is something that the Department of the Environment is actually doing itself... whether they are actually getting in touch with Government Departments, Authorities and Agencies in terms of creating awareness and ensuring that civil servants and Government employees are encouraged to use double-sided printers?

320 And perhaps one final supplementary: whether the officials in the Department of the Environment can actually encourage the Minister that when he delivers his Budget speech this time it will be on double-sided paper and not on single-sided paper?

325 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, not only that but also recycled, as it has been since I took office.

Mr Speaker, it is a process that is ongoing. Already many – and I hesitate to say ‘most’ because I do not have the specific figures; many – of the photocopiers are already able and do it double-sided. I can say that the Health Authority does virtually all of its printing now double-sided and has saved a lot on energy and on paper. The Government Departments are encouraged to do so. There have been seminars and, I believe, circulars urging the Departments to do so.

330 I might even go one better, depending on how well the technology is working: perhaps my Budget speech will be read from an iPad and there will be no paper at all, but I will not commit to that totally because it is more difficult to write notes, and so on, on an i-Pad than on a script.

Q298/2015
Licences for fishing with long lines –
Number issued

Acting Clerk: Question 298/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

335 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state how many licences have been issued since January of this year to vessels and their owners for the purpose of fishing with long lines, broken down by nationality and stating whether such vessels are owned by individual persons or commercial entities?

340 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Dolphins –
Contamination of water in Strait of Gibraltar and Gulf of Cadiz

Acting Clerk: Question 306/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

390 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment say if the Department of the Environment is aware of the report made by the Spanish Conservation Association of Studies and Information of Cetaceans, whereby it concludes that tests carried out to dolphins in the Strait of Gibraltar and the Gulf of Cadiz observed high levels of flame-retardant chemicals defined as polybrominated diphenyl ethers or (PBDEs) restricted under the Stockholm 2004 Convention; and if so, provide Parliament 395 with a statement to this effect and any measure introduced or planned in order to curtail such affliction to dolphins within British Gibraltar Territorial Waters?

Q307/2015
Marine currents –
Survey off south-west of Gibraltar

400 Acting Clerk: Question 307/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if the test on marine currents, alluded to by the Minister back in February of this year, off the south-west of Gibraltar has now ended; and if so, provide a statement as to the result of such a survey?

405

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes):
410 Mr Speaker, since January this year 252 Class A, fishing with long lines, licences have been issued. All licences have been issued to local residents: 251 are British and one is Portuguese. No commercial entity has been issued with a licence.

To the Department's knowledge, the long lines which have been deployed and that have been checked whilst conducting patrols in BGTW have been from licensed individuals.

415 Incursions by Spanish fishermen into BGTW were: January 2015, 15; February, 14; March, 24; and April, 13.

Since the commencement of the legislation the Department of the Environment, through its Environmental Protection and Enforcement team, patrols BGTW on a daily basis with various patrols being conducted every day. During these patrols, any vessels believed to be fishing tuna are approached. The tuna season officially commences in mid-June and to date the Department has not encountered any vessels attempting to fish tuna whilst on patrol.

There have been zero tonnes of bluefin tuna caught and registered in Gibraltar since the legislation was enacted. The season does not open until 15th June.

There have been various questions which have been answered by Mr Karmenu Vella in relation to Gibraltar's fishing of bluefin tuna. The hon. Member has not specified which question he is referring to, but I will answer the latest one, which I believe may be the one he is referring to.

425

The rules of the Common Fisheries Policy do not apply to Gibraltar. Therefore Gibraltar is not bound by the EU application of ICCAT through EU law. As a result, Gibraltar is free to legislate and control the fishing of tuna in BGTW as it has done and local fishermen can legally fish tuna in BGTW. This is recognised by the Commission.

430

Furthermore, the hon. Member has asked for a statement and I would say this: in his reply, Mr Vella makes a very important distinction by addressing the position under both the EU Common Fisheries Policy and EU environmental laws. As the hon. Member may know, BGTW are not EU waters as far as the Common Fisheries Policy is concerned, but they are EU waters as far as EU environmental laws are concerned. It seems to us, therefore, that the EU Commissioner is acknowledging that only EU environmental laws apply in BGTW. If BGTW were Spanish waters, the Common Fisheries Policy would also apply. This therefore is tacit recognition of our jurisdiction over our waters.

435

The information for part (a) of Question 304 is provided in the schedule which I am shortly going to hand over.

In relation to the fish tagging programme, a total of 23 fish have been tagged so far. All tags have been placed on the white sea bream. The tagging programme will be expanded this year to include bluefin tuna.

In addition to the extensive list of measures that have been implemented already, as I previously communicated to this House, the following recommendations of the Fishing Report have also been implemented:

(1) The Marine Protection Regulations 2015 and the Tuna Preservation Regulations were published in October last year. They are set to regulate a myriad of activities that take place in our waters, such as fishing, diving, scientific research, anchoring and dolphin tour operators. Some of the key measures included in the Regulations include the introduction of fishing licensing requirements, minimum fish sizes and the creation of no-anchoring zones, as well as the creation of marine conservation zones. These measures are directly relevant to some of the recommendations of the Fishing Report.

445

(2) The Environmental Protection and Research Unit has been expanded with three new officers and the acquisition of marine assets, including two vessels – the Darwin and the Storm Petrel. This unit is assisting the Department with its fisheries management duties.

450

(3) A Fishing Working Group has been created. The working group serves as a platform to discuss relevant issues, such as sustainable fishing activities in BGTW.

455

(4) The full extent of British Gibraltar Territorial Waters has been diagnosed as a Marine Nature Area.

(5) A research programme on the nursery functions of BGTW is currently underway as part of the wider marine surveillance monitoring programme. The recent deployment of an underwater camera forms a critical element of this new initiative.

(6) A seagrass and fan mussel restoration project has commenced.

(7) Continuation of the artificial reef programme with the deployment of the Sun Swale by GONHS.

Mr Speaker, in answer to Question 306, yes, the Department of the Environment is aware of the report made by the Spanish Conservation Association of Studies and Information of Cetaceans. The Department of the Environment is presently working on a marine biota monitoring programme, which involves the analysis of both fish and mussel samples taken throughout Gibraltar's coastline. The parameters that will be analysed and measured include metals, organotin and other contaminants and pollutants, including polybrominated diphenyl ethers. I say this, Mr Speaker, because the dolphins will have acquired these substances from the food and therefore we cannot sample dolphins but we can sample the fish which presumably they are eating.

In answer to Question 307, this work is expected to commence in summer this year. Two previous surveys have been carried out, one from January to March 2013 and another from February to April 2014.

470

Hon. J J Netto: Just in case I have got my figures wrong, at the beginning of his answer I think he said that 252 licenses had been issued to locals. Is that correct?

475

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: To residents.

Hon. J J Netto: To residents, right. So no licence has been issued to any non-resident?

480

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, if he looks at the annexe, the schedule I provided, he will see that the figures are not exactly the same, because the table has got from a particular time period and the actual specific answer on Class A is current, so that is why there is about 20 or so difference. But if he sees ‘Temporary’ – temporary are the licenses issued to non-residents and therefore he will see that under permits B2, C2 and F2 there have been temporary permits, and it is the temporary permits that are for non-residents. So any permit that does not say ‘temporary’ will be for residents of Gibraltar, regardless of nationality, and when it says ‘temporary’, they will be for non-residents. That might assist.

485

Hon. J J Netto: It does help a little bit.

Can the Minister say whether there have been any licences issued to Spaniards who are resident in Spain?

490

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, not to my knowledge. When he asks this it may be that he is aware of some instance, in which case I do not know, but it is not... A temporary licence will have been issued perhaps to somebody resident in Spain, but not a non-temporary licence. So the answer is yes, if it is a temporary license; no, if it is one of the other standard licences. Maybe that is where the confusion is. There could be somebody resident in Spain with a temporary licence, and the law provides for that.

495

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, moving slightly on, the Minister also mentioned the number of incursions in relation to fishing with long lines, but can the Minister – perhaps he said it, actually, but I missed it – specify whether such incursions were, in some cases, by Spanish fishermen into our waters?

500

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, I did say incursions by Spanish fishermen.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, can the hon. Gentleman clarify – or confirm, because that is my understanding – that when he talks about incursions by Spanish fishermen in his answer – 15 in January; 14 in February; March, 24; and April, 13 – that that is, in the main we are talking about incursions of Spanish fishermen fishing with nets in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters, not long lines? That is what we are talking about?

505

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I believe that is the case. In my raw data, unless I am missing anything, we are talking about nets and rakes combined.

510

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, that is what I thought, because it would be highly unlikely... There would be the odd one, I suppose. You could have incursions of Spanish fishermen fishing with long lines, but the incursions are fishing with nets or rakes, as the hon. Gentleman has just explained.

515

Does he agree with me that these incursions actually damage very substantially the Government’s efforts to preserve marine life in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, any nature reserve anywhere in the world will be subjected to some abuse of its natural assets; the common word used is ‘poaching and, clearly, any poaching will affect the environment. Therefore, if he asks me as a purist, clearly I would rather that these things did not occur. However, Mr Speaker, what I can say is two things: one is the excellent work that the Department of the Environment has been doing to actually enhance the marine life in Gibraltar – for example, by reef creation and the initiatives on sea grasses which I mentioned earlier; and also the fact that the figures that we have reflect a marked decrease in the overall number of such incursions in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters. So I think that the long-term strategy, which is the improvement of the biodiversity and the stocks of marine life in Gibraltar, is actually being very successfully achieved despite these setbacks.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman uses a very curious turn of phrase – and it is two very curious turns of phrase: one, he said that any nature reserve is going to be subjected to abuse – almost justifying the abuse; and then he says ‘as a purist’, almost drawing a distinction between ‘Well, look, as a purist, you know I cannot condone this, but maybe it could be condoned.’

Well look, the question that I asked is – and I would appreciate a straight answer to the question – are the incursions by Spanish fishermen in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters, to use nets, which are illegal in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters, is that substantially damaging the Government’s efforts in relation to marine preservation?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I was in no way implying, even implying, justifying anything. I was making a statement of fact. Any nature reserve anywhere in the world is subjected to this sort of thing. As to whether or not I am a purist, well, that is for others to judge.

Mr Speaker, I repeat what I have said before. Perhaps it would be easier if I got a straight question, if he does not like my non-straight answers. If any natural resource which is exploited, whether legally or illegally, is reduced, that is again a statement of fact and I have repeated that clearly it would be better for an increase in stocks if there was no fishing whatsoever by anybody, but that is not going to happen because that is not realistic.

You see, Mr Speaker, we are talking about sustainability, we are talking about sustainability, and therefore we have to aspire by enhancement of the marine habitat in order to improve stocks and biodiversity and by whatever action we are taking now, which is clearly showing some success because, as I said before, the number of fishing incursions is substantially reduced. The aim of this exercise is long term and I am absolutely convinced that in the medium to long term our stocks will improve tremendously.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, obviously I have asked the wrong question. I have asked the wrong question, as I asked the wrong question on the public finances, as I asked the wrong question on LNG – nothing to do with the answers that the hon. Members opposite provide me. It is always Daniel Feetham that ask the wrong question. But, Mr Speaker, he still has not answered my wrong question, because my wrong question was: do all these incursions damage the Government’s environmental project for preserving fish stocks? ‘Substantially damage’ is the phrase that I have used. Now, I would have thought that that was capable of a straight answer by the hon. Gentleman – or is the hon. Gentleman becoming more of a politician than the hon. Gentleman would care to admit?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, it is an interesting point, because just as the hon. Member opposite was asking me whether I had become too much of a politician... Can there be too much of a politician? You are better to answer that. I was thinking just the very opposite, because as a politician I could answer whatever, but as a scientist my genuine answer is that I do not know whether these incursions are having a negative effect because I do not know the length of net deployed, the length of time, the amount of fish, the species, the habitat. So the answer is I do not know, but what I do know is certainly much less effect than the excessive fishing that was carried out when the Fishing Agreement was in force. (Banging on desks)

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I have to say that I am absolutely astonished – the word that the Hon. the Chief Minister likes to use in his press releases directed at the Opposition; astonished, absolutely astonished – that the hon. Gentleman, three years, or nearly four years now into their term in office, but three years since he plunged Gibraltar into a crisis with his now infamous declaration on Facebook, that he can stand there and he can say, ‘I am not able to say what the effects of all these incursions and the use of illegal nets are in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters because I don’t have enough data; I don’t know how many long lines are being used, I don’t know this, I don’t know that.’ And yet, Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman has spent, or the Government has spent millions of pounds in new assets, in new cameras, in new this, in new that. Isn’t that an absolute indictment, Mr Speaker of the Government’s abject failure to protect marine life in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters? And not only that, in order to give him the benefit so that he can answer it, an abject failure in keeping to their promises, and his in particular, to the people of Gibraltar of not allowing this activity in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters, Mr Speaker?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Absolutely not, Mr Speaker. We are making tremendous progress in marine conservation, more progress than has ever been made in the history of Gibraltar, and he knows it. (Banging on desks)

As I have said before, the statistics show a tremendous decrease in incursions. The monitoring unit that we have is carrying out a lot of surveying and a lot of activity and I can assure you, Mr Speaker, that the protection of marine life in Gibraltar waters has never been better carried out from the point of view of the areas that I can control. And, Mr Speaker, I can tell you that, as I have said before, history will tell in the future quite how much progress has been made in the last three years for the protection of our marine resources.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I have to say we differ on that. If the hon. Gentleman cannot even tell me, cannot even tell me what the impact... whether there is any substantial damage being done to marine life as a consequence of all these incursions and the use of illegal nets in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters, I am afraid that he is not mastering this particular brief and he is not on top of this particular situation as he likes to project that he is on top of this situation.

But Mr Speaker, does the hon. Gentleman not feel at least a sense of shame that on the one day in the Gibraltar Chronicle there are photographs of new equipment introduced in the area of the reef, photographing marine life and statements from the hon. Gentleman saying, 'Look at this reef, teeming with marine life!' and then the next day there are three Spanish fishermen photographed with long nets in the same area where the photographs were made? Isn't there a cause for a sense of shame and an indictment of the Government's policy in this area?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, no shame at all, but determination, Mr Speaker. (A Member: Hear, hear.) Mr Speaker. If they caught fish there, it is clearly as a response to the success of our initiative, which was criticised by Spain for having nothing to do about conservation and all to do with politics and reclamation. So if that is the case, that is the case. No shame at all, Mr Speaker: determination. These issues have to be tackled.

And of course, Mr Speaker, nets catch fish. I am not going to deny that, but I cannot tell him exactly what the impact is without the data. And clearly, as I said before, I would rather it did not happen. The strategy is there; I am absolutely determined this is going to be resolved. And I think the attitude that certainly my Department is taking is thorough and totally responsible, and time, Mr Speaker will prove that.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, now I have heard it all! He pats himself on the back for the success of laying the reef – his initiative – attracting new fish to the area so that the Spanish fishermen can fish in the area of the reef! I really thought that I had heard it all in this Parliament, but today I have heard it all: the hon. Gentleman patting himself on the back for creating an environment where more fish are attracted to British Gibraltar Territorial Waters so that Spanish fishermen can haul them, using their illegal nets, from British Gibraltar Territorial Waters!

Well, Mr Speaker, can he answer at the very least this: what is his Government going to do in order to prevent the illegal use of nets in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters, which was their promise to the people of Gibraltar at the last election?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member opposite has a problem. I think it is maybe because he is a politician. He transforms a statement of facts into an opinion. I have said if they took a lot of fish it means that the reef is successful. I did not say, 'Good lad, John, you've given them fish!' I said if they took more fish, it is the reef that... I have not said I am glad they took them, I am not saying I supported it; I am making a statement of fact. He does it time and time again. A statement of fact... I don't know, maybe it is because he is a politician.

I can tell you one thing, Mr Speaker. He is saying about hauling fish after a successful reef operation. The Members opposite used to allow them to haul fish without reefs and actually encouraged them to haul fish by making an agreement for them to come! This is what is absolutely

That is it. I have nothing further to say, other than to say absolutely determined. Our strategy is working and time will prove that our strategy will deliver what we set out to deliver.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, if this were a question of scoring goals, I'm afraid that it would be 5-0 by now to the Opposition on this particular issue.

Mr Speaker, he has not answered the question. What is he going to do, or what is his Government going to do in order to make good on a manifesto promise to the people of Gibraltar to end illegal fishing in 640 British Gibraltar Territorial Waters? He must have, or his Government must have had a strategy, his party must have had a strategy in place when they made that promise, and I just want to know when that is likely to take place and what is the strategy.

645 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, if I may be allowed to rise to reply to the Hon. the Shadow Member for Pilchards, Haddock and Sardines, (Laughter) it is absolutely clear to people who are looking at this match dispassionately that the hat-tricks are being scored by this side of the House and not the other. It will be absolutely clear to anybody who reads the Hansards a thousand years from now, when I hope there will be people geeky enough to do so, that those who consented to Spanish fishermen coming into British Gibraltar Territorial Waters to fish with impunity are the Members opposite when they were in 650 Government and when they entered into the Fishing Agreement.

What we have done to stop this activity is to put the control of this back in the hands of those who should have the control; namely the Royal Gibraltar Police, who do an excellent job at sea, in particular in prioritising what they should deal with. What we will not do is to give the Police instruction on what to do either one way or the other, as was the case under the Fishing Agreement that hon. Members have 655 defended.

I dare say that there is a lesson for us here, because if there had been a vote on the Fishing Agreement perhaps later in the time that the GSD were in office, we, the Opposition, might have won it. Because given that Mr Netto tells us, in dealing with progressive politics, that on the GSD they can all vote their consciences all the time and that is the reason why progressive politics did not prosper – because there are 660 some who might not have supported progressive politics on the other side – there might have been some, perhaps after 2003, perhaps after 2007, who might not have supported the Fishing Agreement, although it continued in place despite the fact that they were part of the Government.

What have we done, Mr Speaker? We have undone an agreement that was an abomination and which drove a coach and horses through the rule of law. Commissioner Vella – ironically, named after probably 665 the only Gibraltar family who also at some stage have fished with nets – actually clarifies the position in his answer very well indeed. By reflecting the fact that Gibraltar fishermen cannot sail into Spanish waters to fish, because those are European Common Fishery Policy waters, he recognises that these are British waters and anybody who comes to fish here has to fish in keeping with such regulations as there may be in place in respect of these waters – the regulations that now supplement the Nature Protection Act, which Mr Cortes has been responsible for as Minister, having been responsible for the Act as a Member of 670 GOHMS when that Act first came about under the first GSLP Liberal administration.

So we proudly can reflect on the fact that we did the Nature Protection Act when we were in Government the first time, we proudly can reflect on the fact that we have done the regulations while we were in Government the second time, and we proudly can reflect that we undid the agreement that even the 675 Foreign Affairs Commission said was contrary to the rule of law. Those are the things that we have done.

We have done many other things, Mr Speaker, in respect of many other areas, and it may be that, in respect of those areas where we have created offences, today somebody may be committing such an offence – because the Police may not be there to see it; the Police may be dealing with other more important matters – but nobody says, ‘What is our Government going to do about children riding their bicycles in 680 pedestrianised areas?’

And so, Mr Speaker, we healthily leave matters of enforcement to people outside of this place entirely. We do not tell them what to do to enforce; we do not tell them not to enforce either, as they did under the abomination that was the agreement that we rightly undid.

685 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, the only abomination, as far as I can see, was the promise made at the last election by the hon. Gentlemen opposite to put an end to illegal fishing by nets in British Gibraltar Territorial Waters. If the position today – and it cannot be any different today than it was then – is it is not our role and there is nothing that we can do because the Police are the ones who have to enforce and if they are not enforcing it is the Police’s fault, that must have been the position then and they should 690 never have made the promise to the people of Gibraltar that they did. So is the Chief Minister of Gibraltar or the Minister for Environment ready to at least offer an apology to the people of Gibraltar for making a promise that they could not keep at the last election?

695 Mr Speaker: This is the last supplementary that I am allowing on the question of the manifesto commitment of the GSLP and the Spanish fishermen. It is a matter on which there have been exchanges in the House ad nauseam in the past. No doubt between now and the General Election there will be many more, but that is all we are having today.

700 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, may I be allowed –

Mr Speaker: Yes, I will allow the Hon. Mr Netto, of course, to come back; but that is then the end of the matter on what the Government should or should not have done about these incursions.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, thank you.

705 My hon. friend, the Minister for Health and the Environment, is a scientist and he sees things logically and therefore spotted what it was that the Hon. the Shadow Minister for Pilchards, Haddock and Sardines is trying to do. What he is trying to do is to say that we have said something and attack the thing not that we say but that he would rather we had said. So he says, 'So it's the Police's fault, according to you.' No, Mr Speaker, it is not the Police's fault. He would love me to say that, wouldn't he! He would run up, perhaps with one of his new executive members on the back of his moped or Audi, and stand outside the 710 New Mole police station with another leaflet, perhaps also with a photograph that does not represent reality on the front, and say, 'Picardo said it's your fault! Picardo said it's your fault! Vote for me! Vote for me! Vote for me!' Because that is what it is all about. You see, Mr Speaker, the hon. Member is not interested in the wellbeing of the waters or the marine life, perhaps not even interested in the rule of law; what he is 715 interested in is votes, gaining votes somehow, and in order to do so he has to conject that the Chief Minister has said that something is the Police's fault, when in fact, when either the Police or the geek a thousand years from now go back to Hansard, what they will see that I have said is that the Police do an excellent job in our waters of prioritising what they need to deal with. There are drug traffickers in our water, there are people traffickers in our water, there are people in danger in our water, there are people doing small 720 illegalities in our water and there are people fishing illegally in our water, and the Police have to deal with all that. Today, they can thankfully deal with it with equipment bought and provided to them for those purposes by the Government, because they are now adequately resourced and they no longer have to rely on ribs that they confiscate from drug traffickers and which are dangerous for them to use. But no doubt, given where the debate is going on public finances, the reality is that the hon. Members opposite would have said, 'You should not have spent the £4 million in buying the Police adequate assets for the water; you should 725 have continued to allow them to go at risk in ribs confiscated from drug traffickers.' That must be the position of the Members opposite because they do not want us to spend any money.

So we are not blaming the Police; we are saying it is the Police's responsibility. And I am saying that not just about fishing in BGTW. I am saying that about people riding their bicycles in Main Street. I am 730 talking about any aspect of our corpus juris which requires somebody to comply with a rule which they break and which is an offence. That is a matter for the Police or the relevant enforcement provisions.

Do we in this House need to do anything to give them more power? No, they already have the power.

Do we need to do anything to bolster what are offences? No, the offences are already properly set out.

Do we need to resource them better? No.

735 Are we saying it is their fault? No, it is not their fault. Nobody is saying that.

What have we done? We have undone an agreement that was an abomination.

What does he need to tweet about? He needs to tweet his mea culpa for forming part of a Government that allowed an agreement that was an abomination, and not tweet 'Picardo blames the Police', because if 740 he tweets the latter he is lying on Twitter, which is not an offence but it would be if he were to say it in this House, as he has.

He said to me during the course of our exchanges during the last Parliament that he was very much looking forward to debating with me on television, unconstrained by the rules of Parliamentary debate. I do not know why. It must be because he wants to be able to lie, but in Parliament he is constrained by those 745 rules.

What are we going to do, Mr Speaker, in relation to this issue which he is now so concerned about? I did not see him raise a Private Member's Motion, I did not see him issue a press release, I did not see him utter a word about the substantially much greater illegal fishing that used to go on in BGTW before the election. Well, we are going to continue to do the excellent work that John Cortes has done and support it as 750 a Government.

Let him be clear about this when he next has an opportunity to speak on the subject: if what he is saying is that he cares not one jot and that he would still go back to the old Fishing Agreement – which used to be his position, although he has already changed that, I know, on a number of occasions; but as I never know where he stands, I have to put to him what his position used to be – but that we said we would do one thing and by his measure it is not yet complete and he is only just measuring our achievement, not reflecting his 755 own commitment... Well, let him be clear about that: namely, that he would go back to the Fishing Agreement because he thinks it was an abomination to do away with it – although I think it was itself an abomination – and that he would nonetheless measure us because he is there to oppose what he says is our commitment and how we have fulfilled it. That is something completely different. That is, as the Hon. Mr Cortes says, pure politics for politicians. It is not science, it is not protecting the environment, it is not 760 looking after fish, it is not looking after the marine environment in any way. But that, Mr Speaker, I guess is what he is here for, politics; not really to look after anything that matters to the people of Gibraltar.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Mr Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

765 In relation to the answer the Hon. the Minister for the Environment gave to Question 303 – that is the Question in relation to Mr Karmenu Vella on the fishing of bluefin tuna – the Minister stated that Gibraltar is not bound by the EU application of ICCAT through EU law. Then he went on to say that, as a result, Gibraltar is free to legislate and control the fishing of tuna in British Gibraltar Territorial Water, as he has done, and local fishermen can legally fish tuna in British Gibraltar Territorial Water. This is recognised by 770 the Commission. That is part of the answer that the Hon. Minister gave.

I took the trouble of getting into the European website, more in particular the Commission dealing with these matter, and looking at some of the questions that have been earmarked to the Commissioner himself. I have got a very short paragraph here, in which the first part seems to give some credence to what the Minister has said, which is what I quoted, but the second part seems to be in conflict with what he has said.
775 If I may, Mr Speaker, with your indulgence – it is a very short paragraph. The Commissioner said... I quote:

‘In his answer to a recent written question (E-008639/14), European Commissioner Karmenu Vella admitted that the common fisheries policy and the rules on the protection and conservation of Bluefin tuna were not applicable to Gibraltar. Gibraltar has declared a total allowable catch for Bluefin tuna that — by completely disregarding the guidelines adopted by the EU and by the International Commission for the Conservation of Atlantic Tunas (ICCAT) — could pose a threat to the very survival of the species.’

That does not seem to tally quite well –

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, on a point of order – and I think that the hon. Gentleman might find that the answer is going to be provided to him in a moment – that is not the answer that Commissioner Vella gave. That is not the answer; that is the question he was answering. What the hon. Member has just read out is the question that was put by Fernando Maura Barandiarán of the Alde Group, who is the – (Interjection by Hon. J J Netto) No. Questions in the European Parliament are set out with a preface and then particular questions. So the Spanish UPD politician wrote that as his interpretation of the earlier answer with his question as number 1 to follow. That is not what Commissioner Vella said.

If I may just give the hon. Member this example: it is as if you imputed to me what the hon. Gentleman has just said. In other words: ‘In the earlier session of the House, the Chief Minister blamed the Police for... whatever. Can you now confirm that you now no longer blame the Police?’ Right? The first part that he is reading is not Commissioner Vella’s words. It is the preface to the question. Both the preface and the question are written by the Spanish UPD politician.

If he goes to europarl.europa.eu and he finds that question, that question comes with a clicker which says ‘Answer’. If he presses ‘Answer’ he then gets the answer from Commissioner Vella, which is the one which clearly says those are European waters and they cannot do those things in European waters – but not any reference to BGTW. If I can just ask him to look back at that in detail, he may then accept that that is not in any way language which should be imputed to the Commission. It is simply the language of the questioning Spanish MEP.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Hon. Chief Minister for that clarification, but given that he obviously does have the answer available to him, because he has probably got it in front of him, can he perhaps tell us whether, in relation to the comments made by the Commissioner himself, he is quite content that Gibraltar has not disregarded the guidelines adopted by the EU in this matter?
795

Hon. Chief Minister: Absolutely, Mr Speaker. Does the hon. Gentleman have the answer?

Hon. J J Netto: No.

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, the answer is publicly available and it has been reported in the Gibraltar Chronicle, so I do not have to give it to him; but, for the purposes of the debate, let’s read it.

Mr Speaker, the answer says this, and this is the answer of the Commission, not the question from the MEP:

‘1. As stated in the reply to Question E-008639/2014 pursuant to the provisions of Article 28 of the Act of Accession of the UK, the rules of the common fisheries policy are not applicable to Gibraltar. EU environmental law is, however, applicable to Gibraltar and the Commission can fully play its role as Guardian of the Treaties in this area.2. As the rules of the common fisheries policy are not applicable to Gibraltar, access to Union water by Gibraltar registered fishing vessels would presuppose the conclusion of an international fisheries agreement between the Union and the United Kingdom in respect of Gibraltar. No such international agreement has been concluded to date. Consequently, Gibraltar-registered fishing vessels cannot enter Union waters in order to fish there any possible Bluefin tuna quotas of theirs. Such activities would be illegal incursions into Union waters, in respect of which the Member States must take preventive and, as appropriate, repressive action in accordance with relevant Union provisions pertaining to fisheries control such as Regulation (EC) No 1224/2009(1).’

805 That is absolutely correct. That is the position in law and in international law as the Government of Gibraltar and the Government of the United Kingdom understand it to be.

Q308/2015
Seagulls –
Numbers culled

Acting Clerk: Question 308/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state the number of seagulls culled throughout Gibraltar for 2014, and 2015 so far?

810

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this Question together with Question 309.

Q309/2015
Upper Rock Nature Reserve –
Number of feral cats and seagulls culled

815 Acting Clerk: Question 309/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state how many feral cats and seagulls have been culled in the Upper Rock Nature Reserve during 2014 and 2015, broken down by months?

820

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, no cats have been culled by the Department of the Environment in the Upper Rock sector of the Nature Reserve in 2014 or 2015.

825

Seagulls culled in 2014: January, 157; February, 253; March, 280; April, zero; May, 321; June, 687; July, 329; August, 7; September, zero; October, 116; November, 275; December, 192. In 2015: January, 265; February, 238; March, 586; April, 705; and in the first week of May, 319. The majority of these have been within the Upper Rock sector of the Nature Reserve.

830

Hon. J J Netto: May I just simply ask if the hon. Minister would be kind enough to make available to me a photocopy of the answer given just now?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes.

Q310/2015
Partridges imported from Morocco –
Numbers

835 Acting Clerk: Question 310/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state the number of partridges imported from Morocco, the number that remain alive after the release, and whether there has been any chicks born since then?

840

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes):
845 Mr Speaker, as the hon. Member might be aware, the Barbary Partridge is a very secretive species. Due to the nature of much of the terrain within the Nature Reserve, it is difficult or impossible to provide an accurate figure for the number of pairs that remain alive or chicks born. Even where nests might be accessible, methods of locating these effectively are intrusive and likely to result in excessive disturbance.

850 Having said this, I can confirm that a total of 270 birds were imported from Morocco. Although it is not possible to accurately state how many birds are still alive after the initial release, the ongoing surveillance monitoring programme has revealed that the partridges have successfully acclimatised to their new environment. The monitoring has also proved that the reintroduced birds are successfully pairing up and showing signs of courting behaviour with their resident counterparts. I can also confirm that the birds held in captivity as part of the reintroduction programme have lain over 80 eggs with 22 chicks having hatched at the time of drafting the reply. These numbers are expected to increase during the coming weeks as the partridges continue to lay eggs and more birds are released into the wild. Judging by the success of the birds held in captivity, together with field observations made by local experts, there is a very high probability that wild chicks have been born since the programme commenced.

Macaques –
Numbers

860 Acting Clerk: Question 311/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state what was the population of the Macaques for 2014 and for the months of 2015?

865 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes):
Mr Speaker, I will answer this Question together with Questions 312 to 316.

Q312/2015
Macaques –
Birth rate

Acting Clerk: Question 312/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

870 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment say what has been the birth rate of Macaques for the last 10 years, broken down by year?

Q313/2015
Macaques – Exportation

Acting Clerk: Question 313/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

875 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment say if it is envisaged that the Government will be exporting further Macaques during the course of this year?

Q314/2015
Macaques –
Injuries resulting from attacks

Acting Clerk: Question 314/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

880 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to Question 650/2014, can the Minister for the Environment provide the figures, since October 2014 to date, for the number of attacks by Macaques to persons who have had scratches, antibiotics prescribed, sutures, and admitted to hospital, if any, broken down by months?

Q315/2015
Macaques –
Illegal enticing or feeding

885 Acting Clerk: Question 315/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

890 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to Question 202/2015, can the Minister for the Environment say how many individuals have been fined or cautioned for the illegal enticing or feeding of Macaques contrary to the legislation, either inside or outside the Upper Rock Nature Reserve, stating where, the nationality, the amount imposed, which entity imposed the fine, and whether some cases are waiting to be heard in the Court, during the financial year 2014-15?

Q316/2015
Gibraltar Macaques Management Plan –
Provision to Parliament

Acting Clerk: Question 316/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

895 Hon. J J Netto: Can the Minister for the Environment provide Parliament with a copy of the Gibraltar Macaques Management Plan?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

900 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, populations of Macaques at the start of 2014 and 2015, which is when we tally the numbers: 2014, 196; 2015, 158. This is at the 1st January.

Regarding the number of Macaques born: in the year 2004-05, 31; 2005-06, 37; 2006-07, 34; 2007-08, 28; 2008-09, 27; 2009-10, 27; 2010-11, 29; 2011-12, 21; 2012-13, 36; 2013-14, 29; and 2014-15, 29.

905 At the moment, it is not envisaged that we will be exporting any further packs this year, although we continue to explore possibilities.

910 It would not be correct to consider all the incidents as the result of attacks, as some at least will have been reactions to provocation, albeit some of these may have been innocent. The information requested is in the schedule which I now hand over. In fact, I have two schedules, so we might as well hand over both of them at the same time.

Answer to Question No.314/2015

October 2014	14
November 2014	3
December 2014	3
January 2015	1

A detailed breakdown is being extracted from the patients' records.

Answer to Question No. 315/2015

DATE	NATIONALITY	AREA	AREA	ACTION	BY WHOM
14/5/14	Spanish Junior	Inside	Outside St.Michael's Cave	Caution	EPO 2
16/7/14	Moroccan Male	Inside	Apes' Den	Caution	EPO 2
1/9/14	British Male	Inside	Apes' Den	Caution	EPO 2
21/9/14	Philippine Male	Outside	Outside Trafalgar Cemetery	Caution	EPO 2
26/9/14	British Male	Inside	Apes' Den	Caution	EPO 2
7/11/14	British Male	Inside	Outside Mount Alvernia	Caution	EPO 2
12/2/14	Spanish Junior	Outside	Outside John Mack. Hall – Main Street	£500 fine revoked	EPO 2

I would like to add that at the time of drafting the reply I had not yet had comeback on the classes of bites and so on, because they have to be extracted from records. I now have an e-mail, which has come in very recently, and although the figures do not quite tally – they are one or two out, as often happens when you first look through – in order to assist, scratches and minor have been 22, requiring antibiotics have been 915 four, requiring sutures have been two, and there have been no admissions. That is fresh information that I received since the answer was drafted.

The information regarding Question 315 I have similarly handed over. The Barbary Macaque Plan is currently being reviewed by the Department and will be published during the course of the spring. It is imminent. 920

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I am not quite sure whether he has answered the last Question, which was 316. That is the one talking about the Gibraltar Macaque Management Plan.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, I said that the Barbary Macaque Plan is currently being reviewed by the Department of the Environment and will be published this spring, and I added it is imminent. 925

Hon. J J Netto: That is almost an identical answer given, what, six months ago, something like that. What has happened, given that you are basically saying the same thing as you said six months ago? 930

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: What has happened is that the Department is extremely busy, they are at full throttle with many initiatives, and the actual final version of the Macaque Plan, although we are working along many of the recommendations, has not actually been published – but, as I say, publication is imminent. 935

Hon J J Netto: That again, Mr Speaker, was exactly word for word what he answered six months ago – that the Department is extremely busy, but surely... We have been talking about this for the last... at least two years, probably three years we have been talking about this, and every time I ask the question, Minister, it is imminent. Surely it cannot be imminent when you first started saying this two or three years ago. 940

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Clearly it was not imminent. That is fact again. I am not justifying it: it is fact. It now is in a position where it is being reviewed by the Department.

The fact that it is not yet published does not mean, as I just said, that the aspects of it are not being carried out. For example, one of the things that the draft plan says is that exportation will be the preferred way of reduction, the question of water supplies and this, that and the other, and a lot of these things have been carried out. That piece of paper has not yet been published, and it will be published shortly. The only difference between now and perhaps my previous answer last time is that the Department of the Environment is now even busier than it was at the time, because we are driving the environmental agenda extremely fast and extremely hard. 945

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, we have heard all those excuses many times before. Can the Minister therefore say what he means by 'imminent'? Does he mean in the next few days, in the next six months? When is it going to be? 950

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Before the next election. 955

Hon. J J Netto: Therefore, what the Minister is saying, given that he has just uttered the words that the Chief Minister has whispered to him... what he really means is that he does not want the Opposition to have a look at the report before the elections.

960

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Not at all, Mr Speaker, not at all. (Interjection) Absolutely. I do not see why that comes into play. It will be ready as soon as it is ready. It will be before the next election, I am committed to that, but I would like it to be ready very, very soon. It is almost there.

965

I apologise to the officers of the Department of the Environment, who are probably watching this now, if they feel that they are being unduly criticised by the Member opposite, because I have absolute full respect for all the work that they are doing when they are not actually doing the Barbary Macaque Plan, because they are working extremely hard.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, is the former team the problem once again?

970

A Member: What?

Mr Speaker: Next question.

975

A Member: The former team.

Hon. S. M Figueras: Mr Speaker, could the Minister say whether the alleged instances of provocation are excluded from the figures in his answer to Question 314?

980

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: They are not.

Hon. S M Figueras: They are not, thank you.

985

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker, what I said is... The question said how many attacks. An attack implies an aggressive action initiated by the attacker, and what I am saying is that in many cases, even though it is not realised by the person that he is provoking it, it is actually provoked. The figures that I have given are all the data available from the A&E Department of St. Bernard's Hospital, no matter who provoked or did not provoke.

990

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, it is entirely unnecessary to be provoked for an attack to take place; it can happen entirely in a situation where there has been no provocation whatsoever.

995

He refers to exportation as one of the initiatives that the... and this is a subject that is close to my heart, because I dealt with it for some time when I first joined this motley crew of men and women in this House. He talks about exportation being one of the initiatives that the Government has pursued as a result of this Barbary Macaque Management Plan – one of the many, I expect, given the length of time it has taken to prepare – but surely the Minister cannot say that exportation is an initiative that only came up on the radar for the Government when the plan... So in that case, Mr Speaker, could the Minister – helpfully, for Members on this side of the House, I think – give us an example of one or two initiatives that had not, previous to December 2011, been embarked upon that the plan has actually brought to light and encouraged the Government to pursue?

1000

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I was not implying that it was not something that had been done before; I was just giving it as an example. What I was trying to put across is that the fact that I cannot hand him over a copy of the plan does not mean that there is no planning, that there is no strategy. That is what I am saying: that we are not awaiting the plan before we start acting and we have acted on things which include that and include other things that will have been policy beforehand, and it will include new things which may be new policy. It is very hard for me to distinguish between the two because, as the hon. Members opposite know, I had some involvement in the past, but what I can tell him is that the plan will incorporate the current activities and will have other initiatives, which include things that are new – increased presence on the sites, increased personnel available to deal with Macaques in urban areas, the presence on the Upper Rock site of environmental security, which has again started, so there are many other things. You will get it as soon as the officials have been able to finalise it. Perhaps they are formatting; I do not know.

1005

1015

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, just by way of clarification and confirmation, if he may, in relation to the timing of the publication of the plan, did he not say in his first answer that it would be ready by this spring?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, within the spring.

1020 Hon. S M Figueras: Within the spring, so we are talking about before 21st June?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, the astronomical spring, I think, starts on 21st June. (A Member: Ends.) Ends, sorry. No, that was a slip. It ends on 21st June.

Q317/2015
Upper Rock Management Plan –
Publication and provision to Parliament

Mr Speaker: Next question.

1025

Acting Clerk: Question 317/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

1030 Hon. J J Netto: Given the latest answer by the Minister for the Environment, in which he stated that by spring of this year he will publish the Upper Rock Management Plan, can he confirm that this has now happened; and if so, provide Parliament with a copy?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

1035 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, what I can say is that when you hear my answer, you will know that I have already answered all the supplementaries in the last one.

The Nature Reserve Management Plan is work in progress but will be ready this spring.

1040 Hon. J J Netto: Therefore before 21st June?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, as I said before, I have already answered the supplementaries – two in one go, it's not bad going.

Q318/2015
Botanic Gardens – Maintenance

Acting Clerk: Question 318/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

1045 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the answer to Question 735/2014 – that was in December – can the Minister for the Environment state what maintenance has taken place in order to replace the broken seats within the Botanic Gardens and how many potholes have been filled since then?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

1050

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, benches are maintained and repaired regularly as and when repairs are necessary. These were recently reviewed and currently all benches in the Alameda Gardens are in a fit state. In addition, new picnic benches have recently been added.

1055 Potholes and smaller cracks and cavities on the pathways within the Botanic Gardens are reviewed and repaired with tarmac on a regular basis.

Hon. J J Netto: So is the Minister for the Environment confident that there are no large numbers of potholes in the pathways of the gardens?

1060

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have not said that. I said that they are repaired on a regular basis and it is an ongoing programme. I know, probably better than most, what problems there can be, because they are generally produced by the enlargement of roots, particular after the first rains, and therefore this is an ongoing work, which is ongoing and will probably never be completed because you repair a pothole and another one opens. What I cannot tell you is how many there are at any given time.

1065

Q319/2015
Nature Conservancy Council –
Publication of minutes to website

Acting Clerk: Question 319/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

1070 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if he is willing to publish the minutes of the Nature Conservancy Council either on a dedicated website of its own or on the Government website, as is the case with their colleagues in the UK by the Joint Nature Conservancy Committee; and if so, provide Parliament with copies of such?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

1075 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, as I have already stated in this House, advice from the Nature Conservancy Council is received as required and not necessarily during meetings.

The Nature Conservancy Council is an independent statutory body which regulates itself and is not obliged to publish minutes of its meetings.

1080 As the Member opposite is presumably aware, the JNCC in the UK is a completely different type of body than the Gibraltar NCC, being a large organisation with a management structure, employees, researchers etc. The GNCC is a committee of five scientists who are honorary appointees. In any case, as the standing orders of the JNCC in the UK clearly state, matters at meetings can be ruled confidential if they fulfil a number of criteria, and these matters and documents are not published. One such criterion, Mr Speaker, is under section 3.5 of annex A of JNCC's standing orders, constituting advice given in confidence to the UK Government or devolved administrations.

1090 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, if I may ask a supplementary question, I take on board that some matters raised in UK might be of a confidential nature, but as he is well aware, it is as simple as getting a computer, an iPad, or whatever, and you can get into the website in the UK and anyone around the world can actually look at the minutes of meetings they have had, with the exception obviously of the issues that are confidential.

1095 Given the level of transparency in the UK for people who are passionate about this matter, surely the Minister must recognise that there are also people in Gibraltar who are also passionate about this matter and they would like to see these being readily available on a website for people to look into it. Why is it so difficult for the Minister to say... if the current legislation doesn't allow us to do this, why can the Government not amend the existing legislation in order for this to take place?

1100 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the Members opposite have a lot of new-found passions. If the Member opposite had this passion, I do not know why he never once convened a meeting of the NCC when he or his successors were Ministers for the Environment and I was a member of the NCC. Nobody ever asked me anything. Having said that, now that this is a body which regulates itself perhaps he could write to the Secretary of the NCC and ask them if and why they may or may not wish to publish anything which is publishable.

1105 But I made the clear distinction between the NCC in Gibraltar and in the United Kingdom, because the JNCC in the United Kingdom, being a large organisation, in its minutes will have a lot of action, a lot of activity which is not constituting advice given in confidence of the UK or devolved administrations, whereas the Gibraltar NCC is almost exclusively constituted in order to give advice in confidence to the Government of Gibraltar. Therefore, we are not comparing like with like; we are comparing one small aspect of the JNCC's work, which is confidential in UK, which is the only aspect that is done in the Gibraltar NCC and therefore is similarly confidential in Gibraltar.

1115 Hon. J J Netto: I think it is quite nonsensical for the Minister opposite to say that in the short period of time in which I was Minister for the Environment I did not convene the Nature Conservancy Council. He contradicts himself because, as he has said on previous occasions, the Minister does not chair the meetings as such, but it is also true to say that, in the short period in which I was Minister, I actually asked civil servants to provide information for people in the community in order to be able to develop policies by the GSD Government at the time. So it is not true, Mr Speaker.

1120 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, that is not the question and it is also not an accurate reflection of what happened in the days of the GSD, and I know it as a fact.

Q320/2015
Sewage treatment plant –
Failure to provide

Acting Clerk: Question 320/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

1125 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if the UK Government has now been referred to the courts by the European Commission due to the failure of the Gibraltar Government to provide a sewage treatment plant, as highlighted by the local press; and if not, what assurances have been given to the Commission of an early start in the provision of such a facility?

1130 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this Question together with Questions 321 and 324.

Q321/2015
Sewage treatment plant –
Progress

Acting Clerk: Question 321/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

1135 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to Question 740/2014 – that is December – can the Minister for the Environment state what progress has been made to the sewerage system as alluded to by the hon. Minister in his reply, what further works are envisaged during this year, and by when does the Minister expect the works for the new sewage treatment plant to begin?

Q322/2015
Municipal Waste Treatment Plant –
Target date for completion

1140 Acting Clerk: Question 322/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

1145 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to Question 744/2014 – that is December – can the Minister for the Environment state if the target date for concluding the works for the Municipal Waste Treatment Plant is late 2015, as alluded to by the hon. Minister; and if not, please update Parliament with development in this area?

Q323/2015
Gamasur –
Violation of environmental laws

Acting Clerk: Question 323/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

1150 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to Question 23/2015, can the Minister for the Environment state whether officials from his Department have now contacted officials of either the Ayuntamiento de los Barrios or from la Junta de Andalucía Consejería de Residuos y Calidad del Suelo in order to determine if the company Gamasur has violated any European environmental laws, given the fact that Gibraltar uses such facility to dispose of some material containing dangerous substances?

Q324/2015
Waste treatment facility –
Update

Acting Clerk: Question 324/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

1155

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to Question 24/2015, can the Minister for the Environment state if the tender process for the installation of a waste treatment facility has now concluded, and can the Minister say when will work start, whether the plant will produce all the by-products stated in the Gibraltar Waste Management Plan, page 78, as stated in my question, and what will be the total cost of the project?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the Commission has stated that it will refer the UK Government to the European Court for multiple failures to provide sewage treatment plants across the UK and Gibraltar. The Commission has been informed that we are currently going through a European tender process and the Commission is being updated accordingly by the EUID. Final dates have not been specified, but progress reports are sent on a quarterly basis. I should point out that the hon. Member had complete opportunity to deal with this matter when he was Minister for the Environment, but did not.

Works to the sewerage system are ongoing and we have seen the completion of a number of projects, which include flood-alleviation schemes at Wellington Front and Chatham Counterguard, the repair of a stormwater drain collapse at Europort Avenue, desilting and CCTV camera surveys of the main sewer along Rosia Road, desilting of the foul sewer along Main Street from the junction with Bell Lane up to King Street, and the relaying of storm water culverts along Bayside Road.

1175

Further works envisaged for the year include repairs to a foul sewer collapse by the Sundial Roundabout, desilting of stormwater culverts at Fish Market Road, desilting and CCTV camera surveys of the main sewer from Line Wall Road south to Rosia Road north, desilting and camera surveys of the foul sewer along Devil's Tower Road, and completion of the Eastside sewage pumping station.

1180

In relation to the new sewage treatment plant, we expect these works to commence when the financial and technical negotiations are finalised.

The Environmental Agency has not yet contacted the Ayuntamiento or the Junta, although informal contact has been made with the Spanish authorities. The Junta de Andalucia authorises the notification document (TFS) and accompanying dossier prior to any consent to the movement of any waste. They are also at liberty to cancel the TFS should the receiving plant or site not comply with their waste or environmental legislation at any time. This has not occurred and indeed the Junta has publicly stated that the plant is in order and that the waste from Gibraltar is duly authorised.

The waste treatment tender has not yet concluded and the tender submissions are in the process of being reviewed. I can therefore not comment on the details of the tender submissions, as the process is in motion. Once a preferred bidder is chosen or the tender awarded, I will be able to inform this House of timescales. What I can say is that it is the intention to award the tender this side of August.

1190

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, in relation to the sewage treatment plant, the Minister said that the tender process is still ongoing – I think those were the words that he used, or words to that effect. In this particular scenario, given the interest given by the European Commission in this process, has the Government provided the Commission with some kind of a timeline or timescale as to when such a tender process will be finalised, when work approximately is likely to start, when the plant or works for the plant will be completed? Has this been provided to the Commission?

1195

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, as I said, the reports are updated on a quarterly basis. I am not absolutely familiar with exactly the detail that has been given – I can check – but they are updated on a quarterly basis and they know that we are proceeding with the tender. This is a complex tender and an important one, and therefore it is important that discussions should be very thorough. But as I say, they are updated on a quarterly basis. The actual detail of the brief is not something that I have available here and now.

1200

1205

Hon. J J Netto: Fine. I take on board that particular answer, but perhaps even the Chief Minister himself might be able to help here in the sense of telling us whether it is likely that the actual work is likely to start during the course at least of this year. Otherwise, the tender process would have been finished and allocated and then work is likely... Is that a likely scenario, or perhaps work will start in 2016?

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, in a project like this, what I have learnt in the time I have that I have been in office – and perhaps hon. Members, from the time that they were in office, may also take the same view – is that work, in terms of the actual building of a thing, is sometimes the shortest of the periods involved. Work – in terms of once you award the contract, the tenderer going off and making the final design, doing all of the things that they need to do before they break ground – sometimes is the longest part of the project. So one may be told delivery is 18 months – of those 18 months, sometimes it is seven months on site actually constructing and building and a lot of the time doing a lot of the preparatory professional work.

I think I could venture to say that it is likely that we will have an award, if the tender process is completed in a way that is in keeping with the tenders that have been submitted etc. He needs to know, of course, that we are not yet at the stage of involvement there; it is still with procurement and with the technical assessment people. This is a very, very technical scientific tender, looking at the type of sewage that we have and calorific content and all the issues the hon. Gentleman will be aware of from his time in the Ministry of the Environment. It is likely that there will be a tender award given where we are, or a tender decision – let me put it that way; a tender decision – before the end of the year, yes, and that tender decision will either lead to work starting at a professional level or, if necessary, retender. With these very technical tenders, sometimes what you get is not what you asked for. I understand that we have got one or two, that are the ones being assessed, that do do what the tender says on the tin, but it maybe that there are different issues that arise in that technical exchange. I know this because I have been involved in previous tenders where you think that the tender is about to be awarded and what you have is a tender decision, which says, ‘Right, okay, we have spoken to all of you, you are all indicating that you need to do something else in order to be able to deliver the most cost-effective and best solution, so now we have to, because of European rules, retender with different criteria to start again.’ It is a much quicker second tender. That may not be anywhere near where we are here, but what I am explaining to him – which is what I think he is seeking from us – is that the process that will be determined will be the tender process, one way or the other, and that then there will either be work starting or retendering happening.

Hon. J J Netto: I am grateful, Mr Speaker, for that information.

Is it likely to envisage a situation whereby whoever is awarded the tender, having run its own course, would be a private company providing the services to the Government of Gibraltar – in other words, for the sewage treatment plant? We are not envisaging, are we, a situation where in any particular way it is going to be run by the public sector, because at the end of the day no water treatment scenario... even that is on the private sector. So it will be a private company doing the works, providing the service, for which obviously they will have to get some sort of money from the Government for those particular services. Is that a fair explanation?

Hon. Chief Minister: That is what we have tendered for.

Hon. J J Netto: One final one on the other one, on the municipal waste, because I recall the Minister saying that he is hoping to be in a position that the tender process will be finalised by August. Is that correct?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: This side of August.

Hon. J J Netto: This side of August. Perhaps I missed out on the other part of this information in relation to my Question as to the by-product that the Municipal Waste Treatment Plant might be able to provide. Are those four options – I think there were four options – still there in the pipeline?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, the exact details would depend on the successful tenderer, which we are hoping we will be able to declare before August.

Q325/2015
Carbon dioxide emission –
Annual per capita amounts

Acting Clerk: Question 325/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

1265

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment please provide the amount of CO₂ per capita produced in Gibraltar during the last three years, broken down by years and by the different sectors which contributed to the total?

1270 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this Question together with Question 326.

Q326/2015
Carbon dioxide emission –
Comparison with other British Overseas Territories

Acting Clerk: Question 326/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

1275

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment please provide from his Department a comparative chart to show how Gibraltar compares in the production of CO₂ per capita against all the other British Overseas Territories?

1280

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, on a per capita basis Gibraltar's CO₂ emissions equate to just over 9.5 tonnes per person. This figure can be found in the report 'A City-Level Greenhouse Gas Inventory for Gibraltar 2013', which was published in March this year and is available online on the Government's website and contains this figure in addition to breakdowns by sector. The report sets out, for the first time ever, a detailed inventory of greenhouse gases for Gibraltar, providing an accurate understanding and picture of the major sources, activities and contributors.

The Gibraltar Electricity Authority has also provided figures, and these are for power generation, whereas greenhouse emissions will include other factors such as transport and so on; but for power generation the GEA has provided figures which show a considerable reduction in the total amount of carbon-dioxide emitted from power generation. The figures show a decrease from 181,182 tonnes or six tonnes per capita in 2013 to 141,936 tonnes or 4.7 tonnes per capita in 2014, which equates to a reduction of 24%.

1290

We do not have any comparative information to show how Gibraltar compares in the production of CO₂ per capita against all the other British Overseas Territories, although the value of such comparisons would be questionable, given the very nature of the UK OT's. South Georgia, the Chagos Archipelago and the British Antarctic Territory, which have virtually no human population, will clearly have much less CO₂ emission per capita. The exercise would therefore be valueless.

1295

Hon. J J Netto: Valueless maybe on the particular example that the hon. Minister has just cited, but not necessarily valueless if you compare it to the other Overseas Territories. That was not a particular question, but it was a point I wanted to make.

Q327/2015
Europa Point football stadium –
Environmental impact assessment

Acting Clerk: Question 327/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

1305

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if an environmental impact assessment has been carried out or is likely to be carried out to assess the impact on the environment that could take place with the proposal to have a football stadium at the Europa Point location; and if so, provide Parliament with a copy?

1310

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

1315 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the planning application for the stadium at Europa Point is an EIA application, requiring an environmental impact assessment. The Town Planner issued his scoping decision on 31st March 2014. This sets the scope of the EIA. To date, no environmental statement has been submitted to the Development and Planning Commission.

1320 Hon. J J Netto: Is it likely that one will be submitted before a decision is taken?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: One will have to be submitted before a decision is taken. A decision cannot be taken without the environmental impact assessment.

1325 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, as the hon. Member is aware, this is something which the Environmental Safety Group has been advocating for some time now on the need to produce these before a final decision is taken. Does the Minister agree with the Environmental Safety Group, or not?

1330 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the Minister agrees with a lot of the Environmental Safety Group's views; that will come as no surprise. Specifically, he is asking about the need for an EIA before a decision is taken. Well, that is part of the planning process. The Town Planner has issued a ruling on the need for an EIA, and therefore it cannot proceed without it.

Hon. J J Netto: Sorry, when was the ruling by the Town Planner issued?

1335 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: The Town Planner issued a scoping opinion on 31st March 2014.

Hon. J J Netto: And what progress have we had since then?

1340 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: The developer, on every occasion, is the one who has to prepare the EIA and submit it, and to date this has not happened.

1345 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, just a general point, because I am not sure whether there are crossed wires here. I am interested, really, in a more general point of principle. He has said that an EIA is required – and I think that he looked toward the Deputy Chief Minister and the Deputy Chief Minister confirmed – before planning permission can be granted on projects of this nature. Can he confirm that is the case? Because there is a difference between an EIA being required and then the scoping opinion issued by the Town Planner.

1350 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Let me just try and get this right. There are some types of development that require an EIA by law and there are others that require an EIA if the Town Planner so decides. In any case, with this one I think it was the Town Planner's decision that it should have an EIA and therefore he then issued his scoping opinion, which says 'this is the scope of parameters and of conditions and variables that the EIA has to consider', and that was issued on 31st March 2014, as I think I said. Therefore, this cannot progress until that EIA is in and considered. I look to the Deputy Chief Minister, who is nodding his head, to confirm my understanding.

Hon. J J Netto: Having said that, the fact remains that since the Town Planner actually made those comments quite a lot of time has elapsed. Can the Minister say where we are in the production of the EIA?

1360 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker. The developer is now tasked with having to produce it and they have to engage somebody to do it, they have to look at and consult with the stakeholders and so on and so forth, but it is their call; it is not the Government's call. So I genuinely have no idea where that is. I just do not know.

1365 Hon. J J Netto: So basically what the Minister is saying is that until such a time as the report is done the application cannot proceed. Is that correct?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, that is correct.

Q328/2015
Plastic carrier bags–
European Parliament target for reduction in use

1370 Acting Clerk: Question 328/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, given the recent European Parliament decision to curtail the use of plastic carriers by 80% by 2025, can the Minister for the Environment state what plans does the Government have to achieve this target or to obtain such a target before the 2025 deadline, given the negative environmental impact to marine biodiversity?
1375

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes):
1380 Mr Speaker, the recent European Parliament decision to reduce the use of plastic bags has been incorporated into the Packaging and Packaging Waste Directive 94/62/EC. This Directive does not apply to Gibraltar; however, the hon. Member may recall the Chief Minister's announcement in relation to the Budget measures in 2014, when it was announced that single-use plastic bags would pay a 5% import duty per bag and plastic bags made from recyclable material would attract a 12% import duty on the value of this particular commodity. We were therefore ahead of the game in this respect and I have no doubt the hon.
1385 Gentleman will want to congratulate this forward-thinking Government for that. Again, it is something he could have easily done but did not do in 16 years in Government.

Government is dedicated to reducing the negative environmental impacts to marine biodiversity and also has plans to monitor marine litter, which includes the monitoring of plastics.

1390

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, although the Minister does say that such a directive does not apply to Gibraltar – although I am not quite sure why this should not be the case, but assuming that is the case – I presume that the Minister, or the Government rather, notwithstanding the fact that it does not apply to Gibraltar, would wish to be in a position that, come 2025, it would curtail the use of plastic carrier bags by 80%. That is a noble goal, regardless of whether it applies to Gibraltar or not, from an environmental point of view. Having said that, is there a commitment to achieve that by 2025?
1395

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, it is indeed a noble goal, one to which I subscribe and one which is certainly on my agenda. As I say, it is not obligatory. There could be a number of reasons. This is the legal advice I have been given: it could be that it is to do with either the Customs Union or something like that, which does not apply to Gibraltar, and there are bits of legislation like that.
1400

We have taken steps to reduce the use of plastic and we will continue to do so. Micro-plastics in the marine environment are very dangerous and we are probably eating a lot of them every time we eat fish, so this is something that clearly is an aim that I will subscribe to.

Q329/2015
Western Beach –
Water pollution

1405 Acting Clerk: Question 329/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if the problems with water pollution at Western Beach have now ended, and provide Parliament with an update on this matter?

1410 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes):
Mr Speaker, the problems of water pollution at Western Beach continue. The latest position from the Commission was stated by, once again, by Mr Karmenu Vella on behalf of the European Commission in a written answer on 5th May 2015, a couple of short weeks ago, in which he confirms that:
1415

‘The Commission is aware of the possible pollution situation of the bathing site [at Western Beach]....’

He stated:

‘The origin of such pollution is the diversion of a storm drain in the municipality of La Línea de la Concepción, discharging sewage near that beach.

The Commission formally contacted the Spanish authorities, to gather further information on the situation.’

Mr Speaker, the Government welcomes the fact that after the submissions that it and, notably, the ESG have made to the Commission, the Commission has finally confirmed that the problem with the pollution at Western Beach originates in Spain and not Gibraltar. The Government will continue to pursue the matter through the Commission until it is resolved.

1420

Hon. J J Netto: So basically what we have is a situation where the Commission is now aware of where the source of the problem lies, which is obviously the drains in La Línea de la Concepción. Having said that, it has taken us, what, three years for the European Commissioner, or the Commission itself, to find what we have been saying since the GSD was in Government, because that is what the GSD Government was saying all along from the beginning.

1425

I take note of the fact that the Minister is saying that the Commissioner himself is asking pertinent or relevant questions to the Spanish authorities in this regard. However, it has to come to a point sometime where the Commission, beyond seeking an explanation as to the problem that emanates in La Línea, has to force the Spanish authorities – whoever the Spanish authority is: at the municipal level, Junta de Andalucía level or national level – to put the matter right, that it cannot continue to be the case. Is the Government aware of what the European Commission procedure is in this matter to try and bring this to an end, given the longstanding nature of the problem?

1430

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I think this is one on which we agree. Obviously, the Government of Gibraltar does not set the Commission’s agenda. The Government of Gibraltar has supported the ESG in its representations certainly from the time that I became Minister for the Environment. It has taken a long time – these things, sadly, seem to – but I think what is significant is that for the first time, and very recently, the Commission has clearly stated that the origin of the sewage is from La Línea. There have been indications informally that, because of our sewage outlet in Europa Point, people who do not know Gibraltar and do not know how the water moves were almost trying to suggest that it was our fault, but clearly this has now stated... it says that they have formally contacted the Spanish authorities to gather information. I do not know what kind of timeframe that will take, but certainly we will use all our resources in Brussels and elsewhere to try and extract a rapid resolution of this, now that finally the European Commission has accepted that it is most clearly La Línea’s fault, which is something that we have been saying all along on both sides of this House.

1435

1445

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, given that there is now talk of an entente cordiale between Gibraltar and La Línea and good relations between the mayor of La Línea and No. 6 Convent Place and the twinning of both cities, has there been an effort – I know that the Chief Minister is not here, but the Deputy Chief Minister is – to deal with this at a political level and to raise it with the Alcadesa de La Línea? At the end of the day, one would have thought that it is within her power and her gift to divert this particular sewer or pipe somewhere else so it does not affect the Gibraltar beaches. But I will be corrected if I am wrong.

1450

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, I would be happy to help. This was discussed as the first item on the agenda in the first meeting we had with the mayor of La Línea after coming into Government. The issue for her was that this was not her competence, it was the competence of the regional government in Andalucía and that she had no funding and no money for this kind of thing because it was outside her powers.

1455

So it has taken all this time to establish the responsibility and Spain has now finally accepted that they are responsible for the pollution. I went to a meeting in Brussels two years ago, where we were told by the Commission that their information from Spain was that the issue had been resolved, when clearly it had not been resolved. As a result of those meetings and the work done by the Department of the Environment and by Michael Llamas in the EUID, finally Spain has admitted that it is their problem and that it is up to them to resolve it.

Hon. D A Feetham: Hadn’t this pipe been laid by the municipality, Council, in Spain, in La Línea, and they are the ones who have actually laid it, under the previous mayor of La Línea? Could they not effectively reverse that and do what they were doing before? I would have thought that yes, okay, I can understand that there may be an issue of competences, but if they laid the pipe then they can divert it.

1470 If it is a question of funds, I do not know whether there is a possibility of doing anything in relation to that, but if it is just a question of funds then perhaps, in order to avoid the pollution, the Gibraltar Government could provide some... I do not know. What I am trying to find here is whether politically it has been possible to make any kind of representations to the alcadesa of La Línea in order to get her to deal with the problem herself.

1475

Hon. Dr J J Garcia: Mr Speaker, the answer is yes, the Government approached the mayor of La Línea and the mayor of La Línea did put pressure, using her own internal channels in Spain, to get the issue resolved. In the final analysis it was not only a question of funding but a question of competences. Although it happened under the previous administration in La Línea, the previous municipal administration, this was not of their doing or of their direct competence. That is the information that we have.

1480

Hon. J J Netto: But is it not the case – and I take on board what the Deputy Chief Minister has said – that the problem started, as rightly said, with the previous municipal PP government when they were doing the yacht marina complex, which is called ‘Alcaidesa’ down here? That is when the sewage drainage part was diverted, so to speak, and it was done within the competence of the municipality. I think the problem lies probably in that the municipality, with all the good will in the world, simply has not got the money, as they have not got the money for many other things in La Línea. I am not quite sure that it falls as a matter for competence in the Junta de Andalucía. It is a municipal issue but, regrettably, they have not got the funds. At the end of the day, the beachgoers, either on Western Beach, our side, or on the Spanish side, what they want to have is good-quality water so they can go on the beach. That is from the human point of view, but the reality of the matter is that... I do not know what the size of the problem, in terms of money, is to put it right, but the municipality simply has not got the money – because it has not got the money for many other things, let alone paying its own employees.

1485

Hon. Dr J J Garcia: Mr Speaker, let me say that there is nobody... I was a regular beachgoer to Western Beach, so there is nobody more interested in finding a solution to this for personal reasons, quite aside from all the other considerations, than myself.

Our understanding is that it is two-fold: first of all, an issue of funding – the funds need to come from somewhere else; and secondly that it is not a direct competence of the municipal authorities. That is information which we were given.

1500

The issue is there was a complaint placed to the European Commission by the ESG – and Sir Graham Watson at the time – and that complaint has taken all of these years to come to fruition, and finally, due to pressure that we have been exerting, as has the UK, the Commission considered it and they have finally got Spain to accept responsibility. Now it is a question of getting Spain to actually carry out the works.

Q333/2015
Solar panels –
Installations during 2014-15

1550 Acting Clerk: Question 333/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment please state how many solar panels have been installed during the financial year 2014-15, stating the building and the amount of energy harnessed, and could the Hon. Minister say the name of the contractor who did the works?

1555

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this Question with Questions 334 to 338.

Q334/2015
Wind turbines –
Update

1560 Acting Clerk: Question 334/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment say if all the necessary assessments to investigate the possibility of installing wind turbines in both onshore and offshore have now taken place, and provide Parliament with an updated statement on this matter?

Q335/2015
Eco Wave Power Ltd –
Status of works

1565 Acting Clerk: Question 335/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to Question 734/2014 – that is December – can the Minister for the Environment say if works have now concluded by the company Eco Wave Power Ltd, and where are we in relation to receiving energy into our grid from such a plant?

Q336/2015
Renewable energy –
Amount produced

1570 Acting Clerk: Question 336/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state the amount of energy that has been produced by renewable energy sources, both in kilowatts and as a percentage of the total amount of energy produced in Gibraltar, during the financial year 2014-15, stating the location or locations, the type of renewable energy obtained and the amount of money saved as a result of the introduction of such renewable energy source?

1575

Q337/2015
Electricity grid –
Connections from renewable energy equipment

Acting Clerk: Question 337/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

1580 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state if our electricity grid has facilities to enable connections from renewable energy equipment; and if so, specify for which type of renewable equipment this is now incorporated and for which ones it is not available?

Q338/2015
Electricity grid –
Connections from renewable energy equipment

1585 Acting Clerk: Question 338/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment provide Parliament with a copy of the National Energy Efficiency Action Plan, as stated to original Written Question 179/2014?

1590 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will now provide a breakdown of the solar panels installed and the energy harnessed per location.

1595 Tercentenary Sports Hall: four flat and four evacuated tube panels have been installed as from 2014. This forms a solar thermal system for four 300 litre boilers. In 2014 these panels generated 6,507kWh of energy. In 2015 so far, up to 30th April, they have generated 1,445kWh. These panels were installed by Deselec/Helios Ltd.

1600 Tangier View: six flat and six evacuated tube panels installed from 2014. A solar thermal system for twelve 200 litre boilers. In 2014 they generated 83,338kWh. In 2015, up to 31st March, they generated 6,120kWh. The panels were installed by Deselec/Helios Ltd.

Sir William Jackson Grove Estate: seventy-two 250W PV panels installed as from 2014. They generated 16,593kWh of energy up until September 2014. The Department of the Environment is awaiting data for the ensuing months. These panels were installed by Cocoon Ltd.

1605 GASA, as we know it: in 2014 these panels generated 85,218kWh of energy and were installed by Green Resources Investments Ltd.

This is the first time we have had this in Gibraltar, by the way, Mr Speaker.

The Department has carried out some preliminary wind studies onshore and is currently considering the suitability of models to extrapolate the data obtained so far to offshore locations.

1610 The Department of the Environment and the GEA are working closely with Eco Wave Power on this project. The project is progressing. I cannot give a date as to when we will be receiving power from this technology, but what I can say is that every effort possible is being made to ensure that the project will be up and running within the next six months. They were here, talking to contractors and so on, just a couple of weeks ago.

1615 The total amount of energy produced by renewable sources in kilowatts is as follows – and this is where I am asked for the cost saving: the swimming pool's energy generated by solar photovoltaic, 95,994kWh, a saving of £11,999.25; street lighting and bus stops, solar photovoltaic, 17,473kWh, a saving of £2,935.41; Sir William Jackson Grove solar photovoltaic, 17,867kWh, a saving of £2,233.38.

1620 For the financial year 2014-15 the total renewable electricity was 131,334kWh, corresponding into 0.061% of the total energy generated in Gibraltar and representing a saving of £27,454, including a reduction in the fuel bill for the pool.

Notwithstanding the above, not all energy produced from renewable sources results in electricity generation.

1625 As I have stated above, solar thermal installations are operating at the pool site – about 20% of the roof space – Tangier Views and the Tercentary Hall. So these will not generate power that you can measure in the grid but will obviously be savings. These solar thermal installations also contribute significantly to the reduction of electricity demand of these premises where they are installed, but do not figure in the percentage.

1630 The Government is at present working on future solar photovoltaic installations, totalling around 10MW of energy, which would constitute a significant percentage of Gibraltar's peak power demand. Peak demand for winter 2014-15 was about 35MWs.

1635 Although the Gibraltar Electricity Authority constantly strives to have a highly flexible electricity grid for incorporating renewable energy generation equipment, not all geographical locations in Gibraltar have the same resilience in terms of grid connectivity. Where this is not the case, the GEA advises as to what, if any, improvements or network upgrades are required to be able to evacuate generated power to the grid at these points, as happened at the swimming pool. It is not a matter of what type of renewable energy equipment can be connected to Gibraltar's electricity grid, but of the particular effects that the different types of renewably generated power might have on the security and integrity of our existing supply network, also whether this is generated at low or high voltage and the size of the renewable energy installation in relation to our conventional plants. At present, the GASA photovoltaic solar installation generates power into Gibraltar's electricity grid.

1640 Finally, a copy of the plan requested will be sent to the hon. Member electronically, if not today – if my PA has gone home – certainly tomorrow morning.

1645 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for all the information given, but given that there are so many figures in all those questions, would he be kind enough to provide me with a copy?

1650 Mr Speaker: At long last the hon. Member has succeeded in obtaining a plan from the Government. I do not know how... [Inaudible] he has made... [Inaudible]

Hon. J J Netto: Well, I don't want to say it too loudly because there are more Questions on the Order Paper! I will have a look at this and maybe I will be coming back later, Mr Speaker.

1655 Acting Clerk: Question 339/2015.

Mr Speaker: Do you want to come back?

1660 Hon. J J Netto: As I said, Mr Speaker, I will certainly have a look at it and I might or might not be coming back later. I am sure you will be most graceful to allow me –

Mr Speaker: We have to do it today.

Hon. J J Netto: Oh, I see. Well, we will see.

1665 Mr Speaker: It is alright, we will move on to other Questions, another Minister, and I will allow the hon. Member –

Hon. J J Netto: Very grateful, Mr Speaker. Very graceful.

1670 Mr Speaker: So, Question 339.

Hon. J J Netto: Question 339, okay.
Mr Speaker, further to Written Question 98/2014 –

1675 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I wanted to ask a supplementary on these Questions that have just been answered.

Mr Speaker: I will allow you as well.

1680 A Member: Is he asking a supplementary now?

Hon. J J Netto: No, I was going to leave it until later. Do you want to do it now?

A Member: I could have done it now quite happily.

1685 Hon. D A Feetham: A supplementary. Mr Speaker, it may well be the way that the question has been formulated, but I just want to see whether the Minister can clarify this. When we talk about the contractor that has done the works, DesElec and Helios Limited, these are not the people who were awarded the tender 1690 – or were they the people who were awarded the tender? So it is a tender for the supply, effectively, and installation of these units, and these are the people?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, they are the successful tenderers; yes, DesElec.

Q339/2015
Environmental park –
Identification and progress

Acting Clerk: Question 339/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

1695 Hon. J J Netto: Further to Written Question 98/2014, can the Minister for the Environment say if an environmental park has now been identified; and if so, what progress has been made to commence operations?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

1700 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the Department is currently finalising its work on the environmental park. However, because the project involves private and public sector players, it would be improper to reveal further details at this point in time. We hope to be making an announcement on this in the near future.

1705 Hon. J J Netto: In the ‘near future’, meaning it is not going to happen in the next three months, then: is that a fair comment?

1710 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, I believe, from my Head of Department, that we are making quite rapid progress on this one, so I may be able to surprise the hon. Member on this.

Q340/2015
Climate change forum –
Meeting dates and discussion topics

Acting Clerk: Question 340/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

1715 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment say on how many occasions has the Climate Change Forum met during the financial year 2014-15, providing the dates and subjects discussed?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this Question together with Question 341.

Q341/2015
Gibraltar Climate Change Programme –
Provision to Parliament

1720 Acting Clerk: Question 341/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

1725 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to Question 737/2014 – that is December – can the Minister for the Environment provide Parliament with a copy of the Gibraltar Climate Change Programme?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

1730 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the Climate Change Forum did not meet during the Financial Year 2014-15. It is scheduled to meet on 30th June to receive a report from the Climate Change Taskforce, which met six times during the financial year in question.

The Gibraltar Climate Change Programme will be ready for publication following that meeting, during late summer this year. The Department is currently undergoing a data verification process.

Q342/2015

Official Journal of the European Union – Tenders forwarded on environmental projects

1735 Acting Clerk: Question 342/2015/. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment say if there are currently any tenders that have been forwarded to the Official Journal of the European Union on environmental projects, or likely to be sent in the following 60 days; and if so, say what projects or services they are for and provide a summary of each project?

1740 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

1745 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, other than the two that we have already discussed – the urban water and the waste treatment plant... I just want to make that clear. I am assuming that, because we have already discussed those, we are aware that those went to European tender and are not included in my answer. Other than those, there are currently no tenders that have been forwarded to the Official Journal of the European Union on environmental projects or likely to be sent in the following 60 days.

Q343/2015

Revised Environmental Action Management Plan – Update

1750 Acting Clerk: Question 343/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to Question 742/2014 – that is December – can the Minister state if the review alluded to by him has now taken place, and provide Parliament with a statement as to the content of the review and any updating, if any, of the Environmental Action Management Plan?

1755 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

1760 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the review is nearly complete and we will be publishing the revised plan before the end of the summer. There is going to be a bumper crop of plans from my Department in the next few months.

Q344/2015

Department of the Environment Annual Reports 2013 and 2014 –
Provision to Parliament

Acting Clerk: Question 344/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

1765 Hon. J J Netto: Yes, Mr Speaker, a bumper number of reports, thanks to my Questions. Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment provide Parliament with copies of the Department of Environment Annual Reports for 2013 and 2014?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes):
Mr Speaker, I do not know whether the Member opposite genuinely thinks that the only reason my 1770 Department does reports is because he asks Questions.

Anyway, Mr Speaker, the 2013 Annual Report will be published on the Department's website within the next two weeks – and has been formatted, by the way – and can be downloaded from there. The 2014 report is currently being prepared and will be published when ready, later on in the year. Clearly, there has to be 1775 some time lag between the end of the year and the publication.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, what has been the delay for the 2013 report?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the 2013 report has been done in a completely different style to previous ones. It has been completely revamped, with more information published and more accessibility. It 1780 is more user friendly – I am avoiding the use of the word 'format', clearly – and is now probably awaiting my foreword, which is clearly the last thing that is written (Interjection) and clearly will be a source of inspiration to many, including Members opposite.

1785

Q345/2015

New power station and LNG facility –
Health and safety and environmental reports

Acting Clerk: Question 345/2015. The Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government provide Parliament with copies of all health and safety and environmental reports available to the Government in relation to the new power station and the 1790 LNG facility?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes):
1795 Mr Speaker, I will answer this Question together with Question 349.

Acting Clerk: Question 346/2015.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, with 349 – we are skipping a couple, if I may.

Q345/2015

Proposed LNG installation – Publication of reports on safety and viability

1800 Acting Clerk: Question 349/2015. The Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Government please state whether it is committed to publishing any reports on the safety and viability of the proposed energy installation; and if so, when do they expect them to be published?
1805

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment and Energy.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes):
Mr Speaker, the Government will provide Parliament with copies of all health and safety and environmental 1810 reports available to the Government in relation to the new power station and the LNG facility once these are complete. It is not until the exact design and technology are finalised that these will be precise and therefore relevant and accurate.

Government is committed to publishing the report on the safety and viability of the proposed LNG installation.

1815 The Government has already clearly explained that its assessments are generic. They point out what should not be done and what can be done, but safety assessments are site and technology specific. Not until the location, design and technology are finalised will the health and safety measures to be incorporated be precise and therefor relevant and accurate. Any reports prepared before that are really no more than mere speculation and of no scientific or probative value.

1820

Hon. D A Feetham: So, Mr Speaker, just so that I have this clear in my own mind, none of this has actually been completed, so what he is really saying is there is absolutely no point in instructing experts at this stage because none of the preparatory work, so to speak, has been completed and therefore it is not possible to instruct experts at this stage. Is that what he is saying?

1825

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I am saying that it is not a question of engaging experts, but it would not be correct to publish anything at this stage because we are not at the stage where this is yet publishable.

1830

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I understand there is a distinction. If he has not understood my question, I will repeat it, but there is a distinction. I quite understand that if you do not have a complete report you do not want to publish an incomplete report. That, I do understand; it is perfectly logical to me. But what I thought that he was saying is, 'Look we have these generic reports. We really have not, at the moment, made a decision on some of the recommendations that have been made there and therefore any report that is published now or that is completed now in the absence of having that information is going to be worthless because really you have got to determine that information before. Ergo, ergo there is no point in instructing experts now, because that preparatory work has not taken place.' Is that the position?

1835

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: No, because the experts will be involved in developing that technology and in developing those plans. Therefore, whoever is developing these plans – and we know that there are people doing it at the moment – will engage experts and will refer to experts so that, as they develop the plans, they can make sure that they are absolutely squeaky clean from the health and safety point of view. That is what I am saying. We do not have to wait for one thing to finish for the other to start; things can happen in parallel.

1845

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, but that is what I mean. Is the Hon. the Minister for the Environment suggesting that, though the development of those plans has not been completed at the present moment... and that what has happened is those development plans have not been completed, but in parallel with that the Government has instructed safety experts to report on the safety implications, but the reality is that those instructions cannot even be finalised because those development plans have not been completed? I just want to understand this.

1855

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the position is exactly the same as was the case in relation to, for example, the tunnel project, which we found ourselves in litigation on at the time that we took over. When a project starts, very often plans are being developed as the project progresses. The tunnel project was exactly that sort of project: there was no scheme; there was no plan for a tunnel. The plans were being developed as the tunnel was being created. So when the litigation starts there are diaphragm walls, but there is no plan as to how sand is going to be extracted, how you are going to create a tunnel, how you are going to top it etc. Now there is a plan for the tunnel.

1860

In relation to the power station, the LNG storage aspects are subject to proposals for different – for economic, safety and other reasons – proposals as to how the LNG storage could be done. All of them, we are satisfied, would be safe to operate. Some may be either 'safer' or more economically advantageous, or both, i.e. safer and more economically advantageous. We are satisfied that all of them could progress within the margins of safety and risk which are proved in western European Union countries. Therefore, any suggestion to the contrary is not one that we accept. When we determine which of the storage options we go for we will then be able to crystallise both location and method of storage and have a specific plan which deals with that completed about that option. At the moment, what we are satisfied we have is that within the types of storage facilities and the potential areas for storage we have confirmation that it is entirely safe to do any of the projects, but one may be cheaper or even safer than others, in assessment terms, because when you are looking at safety you have to accept a measure of risk. If you are not prepared to accept a measure of risk, book yourself into an institution and don't come out – don't fly, don't drive a car, don't go on a bus and don't cross the road. But within the margins of risk which are acceptable to those of us who have been to a school within 400 metres of an airport and several petrol stations, and those who generally in the European Union do these things, all of the proposals are potentially acceptable and within all of the accepted margins of risk.

1870

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am not going to get into an exchange with the hon. Gentleman –

1880 Mr Speaker: No, I will not allow you. I will not allow you to have more of that acrimonious debate that you have been having outside this Parliament on the question of the LNG facility. I will not allow you, other than with a substantive motion. Is that clear? So keep these exchanges within the narrow parameters of questions and answers.

1885 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker. I do not understand who Mr Speaker is making that particular point to, bearing in mind that I prefixed my question that I do not intend to have an exchange about the safety aspects of the LNG with the Hon. the Chief Minister. I just want to understand where the Government is at with its reports. That is where I want to get to.

1890 Mr Speaker, does the Hon. the Chief Minister not recognise that there is a distinction between what he has said and what the Hon. the Minister for the Environment has said? I quite understand that the Government may have three proposals that are three concrete proposals from operators saying ‘this is what we intend to do’ in relation to the site, for example, very adjacent to the power station, in relation to the site adjacent to the sullage plant in relation the site on the Detached Mole. And then you might want to have further safety reports. I do not agree with the Hon. the Chief Minister that you can make a determination at this stage just simply from looking at those proposals in the absence of having an expert report – that you can say that this is entirely safe, as the Hon. the Chief Minister has said.

1895 But there is a distinction. He is saying there are those concrete proposals. What the Hon. the Minister for the Environment... I just want to understand – I genuinely do – what the position is. The Hon. the Minister for the Environment has said the plans are work in progress, there is a development in relation to this, really no expert report could possibly be produced in these conditions because we really do not know what the final version of this particular product – that is my understanding – is going to be on any of these three sites, because it is still a work in progress. That is slightly different to what the Chief Minister has said, which is that we have these proposals, we are entirely satisfied it is safe and really the Government needs to look at the question of cost. I just want to understand which one it is.

1900 Hon. Chief Minister: It is both, Mr Speaker, because we have not said anything which is mutually exclusive. What we have said is that there are different proposals being put for the locations he has mentioned. They may or may not be those locations.

1910 The issue is do you even consider a location before at least having an indication that it could be done there? Otherwise, you are wasting your time. If somebody says, ‘I am going to put an LNG power plant in the garage of the hospital, next to a Bunsen burner, then you say, ‘Well, is this possible? The garage of the hospital would be a place where it is out of the way, but is this safe? Is this within the margins?’ They say, ‘No, this is not within the margins, therefore do not even consider the proposal that has been put to you there.’ If somebody puts a proposal for further... In fact, if somebody tells you, ‘We are looking at putting a proposal,’ what you do is you say, ‘Is that something which is viable?’ and what we are saying to him is we are satisfied that all of the proposals are viable on safety terms. Now, is one more viable than another? On many different criteria we will then judge which is the most viable, but we would not for one moment even consider one which did not tick the safety box – and we are satisfied they all tick the safety box.

1915 Now, do we have a detailed 15-volume report telling us ‘It is safe enough for you to consider this proposal; please go on to consider it in detail’? No, we do not, because that 15-volume – to say a figure – report will not be done until we have gone further down the road of determining, on all the objective criteria, which of the locations, methods etc we will progress further down the road of. That is the perfectly normal way of doing business in every single part of the Government’s way of doing things now, before and in the past and, as far as I know, the way that every business conducts its operations.

1920 If what you are saying is before even considering a proposal you need to have a safety case in 15 volumes, I am afraid that is not the way that business works. Are we satisfied that when we get to the 15-volume stage these locations will be able to deal with all the concerns that health and safety professionals raise? Yes we are, from the preliminary advice that we have. Is that the prudent way of proceeding? Absolutely it is. And would we do anything that might somehow otherwise put the safety of this community or any part of it, in particular residential areas, at risk? The answer, Mr Speaker, written large, is NO, we would not do anything to put any part of the geography of Gibraltar or any person in Gibraltar at any risk, none of them, let alone people who are residential tenants in an area. So whether it is location A, B or C, method 1, 2 or 3, we are satisfied now that we can go on to consider them and then choose one to be the one to take forward to detail, knowing that all of the safety criteria are going to be satisfied.

1930 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I am afraid that the answer that he has given me is riddled with inconsistencies.

1935 First of all he says that what the Government is waiting for is as to whether this is possible on the economics – that is the first thing that he has said to me; but in the next breath he says to me it is entirely viable on safety grounds. So what we have is a Government that has taken a decision to locate a power

1940 station, powered by LNG, at the North Mole, which it knows needs to be supplied by LNG stored somewhere, and in order to make that viable those tanks presumably have got to be fairly large tanks, otherwise he is going to have bowsers coming in from the Frontier or ships having to come in to supply that power station virtually every week, which is the problem that the Government has; and yet the Government took the decision to go out to tender without doing its homework about whether it is possible economically. I would ask the Hon. the Chief Minister to comment on that.

1945 Secondly, when he says ‘I am entirely certain this is viable on safety grounds’ – indeed, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment in a recent TV debate said that it was 100% safe – what reports has the hon. Gentleman obtained on behalf of his Government to give him that assurance that to proceed with a project of this nature it is entirely safe? Because, really, what he is saying is ‘The project has not been completed, there are details of the project that really need to be finalised, but we are entirely satisfied that it is safe.’
 1950 What I am saying to him is that he is not an expert, I am not an expert; I am taking my own advice and I cannot believe that the hon. Gentleman could possibly have formulated that view without having some report, an assessment from an expert, actually telling him that it is entirely safe and entirely viable on safety grounds, as he has maintained in this House.

1955 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, nothing I have said would lead anybody who is truly objective to say that I have said anything which is riddled with inconsistency. We have been consistent on this issue from the word go. We take this issue very seriously. We do not do politics on this issue, Mr Speaker, so there are no inconsistencies here; there is just a very clear position from a Government that is being open, honest, transparent and seeking to do the best for our community for the next 30 years plus. That is all that you are seeing here; no inconsistencies whatsoever on the side of the Government.

1960 I do not think it is possible for objective observers to say the same thing about Members opposite. He has said that I have wondered whether this is possible on the economics. I have said no such thing, Mr Speaker. In my previous answer, what I said was that one of the criteria upon which the potential locations or the potential methods would then be judged, to be whittled down, was inter alia the economics, so one 1965 may be more economically advantageous than another. That does not mean that the other is not economically viable. One finds that words are put in one’s mouth, even when one is hardly able to articulate things when one has got such a sore throat, but never mind. But that is not what I said.

1970 What is economically most advantageous is definitely what we are looking at, and there may be a small spread between options or there may be a large spread between options and the community would expect us to be looking at what is economically most advantageous and balancing that if there were any safety consequences for the saving, which in my view, from everything we have seen to date, there are not.

1975 The hon. Gentleman goes on to say ‘the problem the Government has...’ Mr Speaker, I will tell him something for nothing: the Government has no problems, zero, in particular on this issue. We are working very consistently in probably the most efficient and collegiate inter-ministerial team we have on power, involving Ministers in place now, Ministers who have been in place before, the experts at the Gibraltar Electricity Authority, the experts of those making the proposals to us, the experts from the Health and Safety Executive in the UK who are advising those in the Gibraltar Electricity Authority, and we are doing an excellent job of determining, not for us, Mr Speaker, but for the whole of the community – forget who is in government after the next election, forget who is in government for the next 28, 30 years; for the 1980 community, Mr Speaker – to get that right, and it is their obligation to test whether we are getting it right. It is not anywhere near their list of what they should be doing for this community to simply scare people into thinking that our option is not the best one. What we have to do, Mr Speaker, is get the best option for our community, so we have no problems whatsoever.

1985 And then he says that we have got to where we have got now without doing our homework. Well, Mr Speaker –

Mr Speaker: I am now going to bring this matter to order because the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition and the Chief Minister are doing what they very often do in this House, and I am not going to allow it.

1990 We have two very simple Questions: a Question on whether the Government will provide Parliament with copies of the health and safety report. Well, will the Government provide Parliament with that? Not about the issues of safety and so on and whether this has been done or not: when those reports are ready, will the Government provide them?

1995 The other Question: is the Government committed to publishing any reports on the safety and viability of the proposed LNG facility? Is it committed to publishing it, not to the merits of those reports. And now the Hon. the Chief Minister and the Leader of the Opposition... They always do this. They get involved in exchanges, it becomes a debate, and the rest of us here are just spectators. That is not fair, it is contrary to the rules and I am not going to allow it again.

2000 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I could not agree with you more in some of what you have said.

Mr Speaker: Well, if you agree with me then try to restrain yourself.

2005 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, what I must say on behalf of the Government – although you are absolutely right in the attitude that you take – is that I am afraid you need to take it with both of us, not just with one of us, because if somebody accuses me of having done something without doing my homework I believe I am entitled to reply. It is absolutely right of you to have suggested that that should not have been said, but with respect, now it has been said I think it is appropriate that the Government should be able to reply. I leave it to you, Mr Speaker. He has said I have done something without doing my 2010 homework. Am I able to reply or not?

Mr Speaker: Let me explain one thing. Perhaps what happens is that I have the advantage of the main answers and I see that they are specific and to the point. The Opposition listen to the answer. They may grasp all of it, or 75% or 80%. They may miss a point or other. I am able to home in and see what I have before me and what I know that the Minister has said. And then the matter becomes widened completely. Many other aspects are introduced in the exchanges and we end up, as usual, with a debate.

2015 Questions that are specific and to the point, and which it is right and proper that they should be asked here in Parliament and that that information should be sought and those assurances should be given with respect to certain reports, perfectly proper – but let us not widen all that into the merit of the responsibilities which the Government has or may not have in respect of the general safety of the community. That is a matter that they have been dealing with for weeks outside this Parliament; there is no need to repeat it.

Hon. Chief Minister: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

2025 Well, in that case, all I will do is to reassure the community that when the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has said that the Government has done something without doing its homework, he is wrong and that is not true. When he tries to challenge that we have said that things are viable on safety grounds and 100% safe, he is wrong to challenge it. When he wants to challenge that we are entirely satisfied that this is safe, he is wrong to challenge it also. And when he says he is taking his own advice, that is a matter entirely for him and he can take it if he wishes or not, but the Government would not be acting if it was not satisfied that the advice, that we will be able to show in writing to the community, is that this is exactly the right sort of project for our future.

Mr Speaker: The original Question came from... [Inaudible]

2035 Hon. J J Netto: Actually, Mr Speaker, I have not got any further supplementary question on these Questions, but what I do want is, once we move on to the next Question, to actually go back to the Questions that were bundled together – and that is in relation to Question 337 – but once we move on.

Questions 334 to 338 – Further supplementary questions

2040 Acting Clerk: Question 346 –

Hon. J J Netto: Would it be a prudent moment to go back?

Mr Speaker: Yes, certainly.

2045 Hon. J J Netto: In his answer to Question 337 – that is the question that deals with the ability to incorporate renewable energy equipment into the grid – the hon. Minister said in his answer, he said not all geographical locations in Gibraltar have the same resilience in terms of grid connectivity. Then he went further and said where this is not the case, the Gibraltar Electricity Authority advises us as to what any improvements/network upgrades are required to be able to evacuate generated power to the grid at these 2050 points.

Now, could I ask one supplementary question in relation to this answer, and that is: what improvements to the network, if he has got the answer available to him there, have been given by the Gibraltar Electricity Authority in order to improve the ability to connect this new equipment into the grid.

If he does not have the information, of course he may be able to give it to me at another time.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Yes, Mr Speaker, I do not have the technical information as to whether you have got to put some kind of equipment in the way or whatever, and that I will ask and I am sure I can get it.

2060 But I can say for lower voltage it is much easier and in fact the GASA swimming pool is supplying low voltage and that needed, I believe, relatively minor adjustments that my hon. friend, Mr Linares was Minister for electricity generation at the time.

2065 Also I can say that for the Eco Wave project on the east side, the initial pilot project which I think is 500 kWh is also relatively low and that will be absorbable, for want of a better word, into the grid in that area. For the bigger ones of 10MW, although it will not all be on one site, the GEA is looking, and would be able to amend the network in order to be able to absorb it.

But the technical details, I am afraid I do not have them available, but I am sure that I can request them and obtain them.

2070 Hon. J J Netto: Just one further supplementary in relation to what the hon. Member has just said. I think he is drawing a line on the 10MW, where the problem may lie – in other words, if it is low voltage it can be integrated into the grid, but perhaps beyond that it is a problem. Obviously though, it would depend – just to try and give an example – but if any private resident, as opposed to being a public building, were to try and incorporate some photovoltaic panels in his roof or whatever it is, would that particular private individual – I am using this as a hypothetical example – be able to connect into the grid or would that also depend on the level of voltage that would generate?

2080 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: I think, Mr Speaker, that would generally depend on the location. My hon. friend who was looking at that, at the time that he was Minister for Utilities, has confirmed that would depend... That would normally be low voltage and therefore it is easier to assimilate. Therefore it is not impossible but I believe it depends on the location and possibly on how new the installation in that area is. But I would need to have confirmation on that.

2085 Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, just to assist, for example the GASA is very near Waterport and there you can see where the electricity that was produced there can easily be taken to Waterport where they have the whole distribution network.

Q346-348/2015

Air quality –

Monitoring nitrogen dioxide levels

Acting Clerk: Question 346, the Hon. D A Feetham.

2090 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, can the Government please explain why it has not installed an air monitoring station in the vicinity of the temporary generators and the Waterport power station?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

2095 Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 347 and 348.

Acting Clerk: Question 347, the Hon. D A Feetham.

2100 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, is the Government satisfied with the levels of nitrogen dioxide in the 27 nitrogen diffusion monitoring sites in Gibraltar?

Acting Clerk: Question 348, the Hon. D A Feetham.

2105 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, why have the graphs and tables published on the Air Quality website for Rosia Road, Witham's Road and Bleak House nitrogen diffusion monitoring sites on various dates this year, shown values in excess of 200 micrograms per cubic metre of air, only to be changed within hours to show values significantly below that?

2110 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change.

Minister for Health, the Environment, Energy and Climate Change (Hon. Dr J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the air monitoring stations presently located in Rosia Road, Witham's Road and Bleak House were installed following recommendations from the Environmental Agency's air quality consultants AEA – Ricardo and in line with criteria set out in Annexe III, IV and V of Directive 2008/50/EC. This decision was made by the previous administration, so the questioner should really ask the question of himself.

The Directive requires one sampling point per 250,000 population for urban/suburban areas – Rosia Road – and one sampling point for rural areas – Bleak House – backgrounds per 50,000 km².

Gibraltar has two urban stations and one rural background station. Gibraltar therefore complies with and exceeds the requirement of the Directive.

In answer to Question 347 which refers to whether the Government is satisfied with the levels of nitrogen dioxide in the 27 monitoring sites, the answer is certainly not, sir.

In answer to the last question, when these latest high levels were recorded, the Environmental Agency investigated the possible causes. On not finding any obvious source for the high levels, the Agency's Air Quality Consultants in the UK were immediately contacted. They confirmed that the scaling factor on the analysers used in the data management were not correct. They proceeded to fix the problem, which resulted in the real levels recorded and subsequently displayed on the Air Quality website.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, before I move to supplementaries, the hon. Gentleman has not answered the question, 'Can the Government please explain why it has not installed an air monitoring station in the facility of the temporary generators and the Waterport Power Station?'.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I think I have. I have explained at length the fact that this was a decision taken by the previous administration on advice. They defended that, in fact publicly by way of at least one press release and that this satisfies the requirements of the EU Directive. So I think I did answer that question.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, I am afraid that I had not understood the answer.

Mr Speaker, just dealing with that aspect of it, before I turn to Questions 347 and 348, is he satisfied – because at the end of the day we all strive to do better than the previous Administration and the hon. Gentleman and his Government crow from the highest perches how much better they have done in four years than we did in 16! (Interjections and banging on desks) Yes, Mr Speaker!

Mr Speaker, is he satisfied to just follow the lead and not have air monitoring stations in the vicinity of Waterport power station and the temporary generators, which we think actually now, are responsible – we will come to that in a moment – for the high levels of nitrogen dioxide that we are seeing in various places in Gibraltar, indeed in the majority of these monitoring stations – and that we are committed to doing should we be elected into Government?

So is he satisfied that it is the right course of action to just simply point to what we did and say, 'We're content to follow the lead of the GSD when they were in Government' and not install a monitoring station in this area?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, again, clearly the Members opposite, in the face of this wonderful new dawn of good environmental governance, are being converted. We have heard a number of Members opposite having their moments of conversion today.

Mr Speaker, I am not totally against the idea of an extra air quality monitoring and it is something our Department is considering. But one cannot just spend the money – and this runs in the region of several tens of thousand pounds – which then the Members opposite could accuse us of overspending, clearly. Then there is the recurring cost.

This is a decision like every other decision we take when we consider expenditure that we have to measure very, very carefully. We have to look at the value of having an air quality monitoring system being introduced now. Because clearly we have nothing prior to that to compare it to and we only have the future to look at and clearly the future with a state-of-the-art energy powered power station in the North Mole, we know that the air quality is going to substantially be improved. Therefore we know what that is going to read and in any case we do have the diffusion monitors, which are not as accurate – I think we will all agree – as the air quality monitoring.

I am not rejecting it totally; it is something that my officials are closely studying as to whether there is a logic in doing so and in going to the considerable expense.

Clearly there is another alternative, Mr Speaker. As the South District power stations themselves are due... in fact, two of them are now closed completely and will completely stop operating with the new power station – then the purpose of having, certainly the Witham's Road one there, was to monitor emissions from those power stations so it might be more economical to actually, when the new power station is built and those have completely stopped, to move that one to a northern location to have a more balanced view.

2175 So that is the kind of initiative and the kind of discussion that we are currently having within the Department to have a responsible solution which is also cost effective and does not throw Taxpayers' money away.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, let me congratulate the hon. Gentleman on one of the most political answers that I have heard in this session today from the non-politician!

2180 I need to come back to – because I am going to ask supplementaries on the others – but I am going to come back to this question of the air monitoring station in the vicinity of Waterport Terraces, for reasons that will become apparent during the course of the questions that I am going to be asking the hon. Gentleman.

2185 The hon. Gentleman is obviously aware, is he not – I am asking him formally – that there is an average upper limit of 40 micrograms of nitrogen dioxide per cubic metre imposed by the EU under EU Directives?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, there are a number of upper limits and the upper limits for Gibraltar have been failed in the past.

2190 Yes I am aware of the limits. There is also allowance for a couple of instances of higher, up to 200 on one or two occasions and that has only been failed once in 2009. So yes I am aware.

2195 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, but I am not asking about the 200 limit. I am aware that under EU law the exceedance of the 200 limit can only be exceeded 18 times. I am asking about the 40, which is the annual average. Does he agree with me that there is an upper limit of 40 micrograms of nitrogen dioxide per cubic metre of air imposed by EU law as an annual mean average?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, and which has been failed through the years due to the old fashioned power generation system that we have been suffering from. Yes.

2200 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, and Mr Speaker, does he agree with me that in fact in 2014 there has been a failure of, or there has been an excess – the limit has been exceeded I should say – that 40 figure has been exceeded in 25 out of the 27 monitoring stations throughout Gibraltar? Is he aware of that?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Absolutely, Mr Speaker, which is what I said in my answer, that I was certainly not happy with that situation.

2205 But perhaps he could get to the point rather than ask me these questions one by one, so that I can provide him with a reasoned answer, rather than just in this sporadic manner. I do not really know what the hon. Member is trying to get at.

2210 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, does he accept that, for example, in 2014, which is what I am focusing on, the 40 microgram limit was exceeded, as I said, on 25 occasions; that in five stations there were readings between 40 and 49; in 12 stations, there were reading between 50 and 59; and in eight stations, there were readings between 60 and 69? Does he therefore not agree with me that these are very, very high levels indeed of pollutants that the population of Gibraltar is being exposed to, according to these particular readings?

2215 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I do not know whether the hon. Member opposite, before I answer, would like to postulate what the reasons for those high readings may be. Before I actually tell him, he may have an idea; I am interested in what he is getting at. He has not quite told me. Because you see, by knowing what he is getting at, I will be able to provide an answer which is going to be more relevant, as I said before, rather than these point by point.

2225 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am just trying to lay the ground work of what it is that we agree with. Now we agree that the limit is 40. We agree that in 25 out of 27 stations that annual upper limit has been exceeded. We agree with the values that I have given the hon. Gentleman and we agree, I suppose, that this is exposing the population of Gibraltar to harmful pollutants.

Just can you just confirm that we agree on all those, please?

2230 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): What is happening here is that we are seeing a cross-examination. It is a typical tactic, Mr Speaker, it is very simple – (Interjection) Yes, and you say, Mr Speaker, you say do you agree to A, do you agree to agree to B, (Interjection) do you agree to D, (Interjection) do you agree to

B, do you agree to O, do you agree to Y and then when you have said you agree to all that, they say ‘You have agreed you are a bad boy.’

2235 Mr Speaker, it is a very easy cross examination tactic. It does not serve our community to get to the bottom of these issues, which the Hon. Minister knows about and is ready to talk about if he is put a sensible question rather than a simple attempt to try and catch somebody out for cheap political ends, rather than to get something done for the environment.

2240 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, perhaps I could ask the question for him. Does he want to ask me (Interjection) No, I cannot. That is the problem, not being in a court of law I do not get a chance.

Hon. D A Feetham: You do! Mr Speaker, it is a perfectly legitimate question to ask: are you aware that there is this limit? It is perfectly legitimate to ask: are you aware that in 25 out of 27 stations it has been exceeded? (Interjection) It is perfectly legitimate to ask whether the Government accepts that it is exposing the population to very high levels of pollutants. They are perfectly acceptable questions.

2245 Now that is where we agree and I will come to some political point that no doubt of course I am going to be making in due course.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, the answer is yes, but the Member opposite has conveniently not stated for example, that the exceedances were much higher in, for example, 2009 and 2011.

2250 Several Members: Hear, hear.

Hon. D A Feetham: Well actually, this time the hon. Gentleman... I have all the figures and I do not agree with the hon. Gentleman in relation to that.

2255 But let me read him, Mr Speaker – of course, this is the political point, there are others that I am going to be making or questions that I am going to be asking, but this is a political question and I accept it.

2260 I want to read from an extract of his speech during the Budget and he said, he talked about targets published with heavy fines of millions if not met, and he said not only will these actions reduce our carbon footprint but they will also lead to a significant improvement of our air quality. He says we are certainly moving in the right direction, the total removal of the three existing power generating stations continue to be a top priority for this Government as we have seen. The commissioning of – and I am going to come back to this – the temporary turbines located at the North Mole just six months ago, especially when fitting silencers and scrubbers is complete, will mean not just resilience in power supply but much less overall noise and pollution.

2265 Then he said this: already the reading of nitrogen dioxide in the South District monitoring stations have shown significant reductions in levels detected. Mr Speaker, we are serious when we say we will revolutionise the environment for our people. The worst thing, Mr Speaker, that it has been so easy to do – that is what he said. Where was the Government in 2011?

2270 Well, I ask him, where is the Government now with these very abnormally high levels of pollution that our population is having to breathe in?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: I would like to thank the Leader of the Opposition, who I know is a Manchester United supporter and they did not do too well at home the other day, for really attacking me – (Interjection) as am I! (Interjection) – for hitting me in my home turf, Mr Speaker.

2275 Mr Speaker, I am afraid that the Leader of the Opposition’s analysis of the situation is incorrect. He has chosen to go to the 27 diffusion tubes which have, in themselves, a 20% margin of error and are not even recognised – (Interjection) no, 20% is 20%. They are not even recognised by the EU when you submit your information for their purposes. They are just a guideline. The ones that count are the ones in the monitoring station.

2280 Mr Speaker, I have readings from some of these diffusion tubes here and I can tell him, that at the time of the writing of that speech, the figures were in fact lower – not only there, but also in the continuous monitoring stations at Rosia and Witham’s Road.

2285 But, Mr Speaker, of the 27 stations that he has chosen to take a sample of, he chose 2014 as a sample. And what happened at the beginning of April or mid-April 2014? Their decrepit, old, useless, out-of-date power station blew up! (Laughter and banging on desks)

And then, because of that, Mr Speaker, we had no choice but to start up the South District again, because we wanted to stop having power cuts! (Several Members: Hear, hear.) We had no choice but to put in the skid generators and what happened? Surprise, surprise! Levels started to pick up for a while, Mr Speaker. That is the reason for those higher readings, Mr Speaker. (Interjection)

2290 But what happened subsequent to that? Well, Mr Speaker, he has chosen 2014. We are already almost midway through 2015 when I can clearly show from the graphs that, following the closure of the OESCO plant in February and following the closure of the GMES plant in April, the readings have started to go down considerably again, Mr Speaker. (Banging on desks) Maybe he hasn't got those figures.

2295 And more important, Mr Speaker, the graphs that show the air quality system – there are two. One is Rosia and the other one is Witham's. Rosia was low, then it picked up and then, Mr Speaker – I wish I had PowerPoint, I honestly do! (Laughter) And now it is continuously dropping and it is now almost at the same level as it was in 2012.

2300 But the one that picks up pollution from the power station, Mr Speaker, the one at Witham's Road, is actually continuously decreasing till 2012 and is now at its lowest level since the records I have started in 2008. So we are getting it right, Mr Speaker. (Banging on desks) Moreover, Mr Speaker, if you look at the daily oscillations (Interjection) because these plants are now shut down at night, you can see that at night in those different monitoring points, the readings go down to practically zero.

2305 So what is happening? You have some pollution in the day, it goes down to zero at night, clearly it is not power generation, clearly because the plants are all off; it is something else. Mr Speaker, the contribution to that is largely coming from traffic. Traffic we are tackling in a sustainable plan which is going to deal with that. So we have in fact almost totally extracted the power generation element from those graphs. (Interjections)

2310 Moreover, Mr Speaker, if we remove traffic – as I gave some figures before, Mr. Speaker – and we go only to the figures provided by the GEA which I said in a previous answer, where carbon emissions from power generation dropped 24% from 2013 to 2014, well carbon emission is directly proportional to nitrogen dioxide emission.

2315 Therefore, carbon emission went down, nitrogen dioxide from power generation also went down, so therefore something else is happening, Mr Speaker. Levels are lower and the levels that are there are not due to power generation, which he is trying to throw in my face; it is due to traffic and I am glad to say that we now have a plan to deal with that.

So, Mr Speaker, I am sorry, he may be a good lawyer; he may even be a good politician – that is not for me to say – but clearly a scientist he is not. (Banging on desks and applause)

2320 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am afraid it does not stick with me, Mr Speaker, because I have got all the figures. (Interjection) I have all the figures, Mr Speaker. I have all these wonderful graphs from all these stations that the GSD was responsible for installing and clearly, Mr Speaker, there is a peak in 2011 probably attributable, Mr Speaker, to the explosion at the sullage plant but actually the trend is upwards. Of course the trend is upwards! The trend is upwards from 2008 all the way to 2014. The trend is upwards and we will see whether at the end of 2015, because we are taking mean averages for the year, we will see whether 2015 turns out as he says to be a lower year. But the trend is upwards; it is not lower.

2325 But let us explore why, Mr Speaker. Mr Speaker, during the course of his intervention during the Budget, what he said and I will repeat it, is that the commissioning of the temporary turbines located in the North Mole just six months ago, especially when the fitting of silencers and scrubbers is complete, will mean not just resilient power supply but much less overall pollution. That is what he said then, and indeed, 2330 in 2013 as a consequence, I accept of those temporary turbines, there was a substantial reduction in pollution, because from 2012 it went down 2013 and it has spiked again. And the spike occurs, Mr Speaker, and I am asking him to confirm, in June, July, August of 2014 I think it is and it is as a consequence of, it is the month after the Sparks generators were installed in Gibraltar.

2335 Now, do the Sparks generators include scrubbers, as indeed the temporary turbines that are now not being used, as he indicated in his Budget speech? Do they include scrubbers to ensure that the emissions are cleaner emissions into the atmosphere?

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, they do not at this point in time – (Hon. D A Feetham: Ah!) No, no, a nada!

2340 Mr Speaker, but because – (Interjection by Hon. D A Feetham) No, no but because they are new, Mr Speaker, they are much cleaner than the old GMES and the old OESCO power stations which every time they were switched on they billowed smoke, I could see it from my office and everybody complained. (Interjection) Mr Speaker, before he carries on trying to teach me about my subject, he cannot deny the fact that if the emission of carbon has gone down by 24%, therefore in direct proportion to that, the emission of 2345 nitrogen dioxide has scientifically got to come down and he has got to look elsewhere for the source of that nitrogen dioxide.

2350 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, I do not know about the correlation between carbon dioxide and nitrogen. (Interjections) No, I am looking at the figures, the previous answers that were provided in Parliament, and I note from his speech that when the temporary turbines were introduced, he justified them on the basis of resilience in power supply and then a downturn in pollution.

2355 That downturn in pollution happened, Mr Speaker, but of course, the resilience in power supply did not. Because out of the 83 power cuts that happened in 2012, 2013, 2014, half of that was due to a failure in those temporary turbines because that is the answer that was provided – I will give him the question which was 618/2014.

2360 What has happened here, Mr Speaker, and this is what I am putting to him, is that they bring these temporary turbines; that brings pollution down but it does not deal with the resilience point, because half the total power cuts are due to the temporary turbines. He is then forced to bring in temporary generators. Those temporary generators in fairness have dealt with the power resilience, because there have not been any power cuts since those were installed, but then all of a sudden there is a shoot up in pollution in Gibraltar. And I am suggesting to him that is too much of a coincidence to ignore, Mr Speaker.

2365 And again, although he is going to ask me who are the experts who are advising me, he will appreciate that I am no expert and I do have people who are also providing me with information and suggesting possible explanations for this and this appears to be the most likely.

Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, he is totally incorrect. Pure speculation – science does not work like that.

2370 Mr Speaker, I go back to the 24% reduction in emission of carbon, which is directly proportional to the amount of fuel consumed, which is directly proportional to the amount of nitrogen dioxide consumed. Therefore carbon dioxide and nitrogen dioxide are directly proportional.

2375 If we are using less fuel, we are producing less nitrogen dioxide, we have to look at another source and because at night in Witham's and in Rosia, I think it was Rosia, it goes down to virtually zero when there is no traffic, it is highly likely that traffic is the main source of the pollution that he is trying to attribute somewhere else.

A Member: Hear, hear.

2380 Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, is it not the case that the Government does not want to install an air quality monitoring station at Waterport Terraces because of the readings that would provide them and this would put the debate completely to rest?

2385 Hon. Dr J E Cortes: Absolute nonsense, Mr Speaker. That is probably the reason why they did not want one in the north district because they knew the mess their power station was in because they should have shut it down years before.

A Member: Hear, hear. (Banging on desks)

2390 Hon. D A Feetham: And, Mr Speaker, is it not the case that actually, had they continued with the power station that we had planned, that would have been built by now and what we are seeing is the population of Gibraltar having to choose between power cuts, as we had with the temporary generators, or increased pollution as a consequence of what we are seeing now? That is the cost to the people of Gibraltar.

Mr Speaker: That is the end of the question. There are two questions –

2395 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, with respect to that particular question which has been put, although you stopped him at the end of it, can I simply, for the sake of the record, say that the answer is no.

Procedural

2400 Acting Clerk: Question 290, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Sorry, Mr Speaker, I think that is a convenient moment for us to adjourn this evening until – 2405 Mr Speaker: You want to adjourn. There are only two questions to Mr Linares, just two.

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, I am afraid that I am already half an hour late for something because Mr Cortes will not be here tomorrow and that is why we have had to sit through until now. So if the hon. Minister is here tomorrow, Mr Reyes is here tomorrow, I would ask that the House do now adjourn until 10.15 tomorrow morning.

2410

Mr Speaker: The House will now adjourn until 10.15 tomorrow morning.

The House adjourned at 7.05 p.m.

Questions for Oral Answer

SPORTS, CULTURE AND YOUTH

Q290/2015

Heritage sites –

Works carried out and cost

Mr Speaker: Question 290/2015, the Hon. Mr Reyes to the Minister for Sports, Culture and Youth.

Acting Clerk: Meeting of Parliament, Thursday 21st May, 2015.

We continue with Oral Questions. Question 290/2015, the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, sir, can the Minister for Heritage provide details of all works, together with a breakdown of respective cost, undertaken at any heritage-related site since the answer provided to Question 189/2015; as well as stating by whom these works were carried out?

10

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture and Youth.

Minister for Sports, Culture and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, there have been no further works undertaken at any heritage-related site since my answer to Question 189/2015.

Q291/2015

Indoor swimming pools –

Lifeguard manning levels

Acting Clerk: Question 291/2015, the Hon. E J Reyes.

15

Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Sports and Leisure provide details of the lifeguards manning levels provided at the indoor swimming pools?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Sports, Culture and Youth.

20

Minister for Sports, Culture and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the manning levels of lifeguards in the indoor swimming pools has not changed since the Hon. Members were in office. The GSLA have managed the indoor pools since May 2006, but the staff were not managed until 1st June 2012.

25

Now the GSLA manage both the pools and the employees. The current manning levels are three lifeguards and two pool managers, who are qualified lifeguards on alternate shifts and are on site at any time from 7.00 a.m. to 5.00 p.m. to care for the public use.

During closed sessions after 5.00 p.m. where the allocation holders are required to supply their own lifeguards, the GSLA also provide a pool manager and a lifeguard on site. Government is working with the GSLA and union on reviewing the manning levels in question.

30 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Speaker, just for the sake of clarity, when the summer bathing season comes along and the outdoor facilities are open on site, are then additional manning levels provided for that or do these three guards and two managers also expected to double up during the summer months and cater for the outdoor facilities?

35 Hon. S E Linares: No, Mr Speaker. The bathing pavilion is managed by the GTB – the Tourist Board; therefore, they will employ lifeguards similarly as they employ lifeguards for beaches. The question was about the pool itself, the two pools, and that is the manning of the pools, but obviously when the bathing pavilion opens, the GTB then employ extra lifeguards to man the outside.

40 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, that does help, Mr Speaker.

One further thing, perhaps the Minister is aware, the manager's level, which we were content with and so on, having those managers, were they not special because they are also capable of doubling up with lifeguard facilities should the situation unfortunately require? What about the managerial facilities for outside? If the Minister is aware, would those be undertaken by the two managers catering for the indoor 45 pools or is there a separate manager as well in addition to the Tourist Board lifeguards that are provided for the outdoor facilities?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the situation is that the GTB will employ a supervisor of sorts to man the bathing pavilion outside. There might be instances where the lifeguards outside might be helping or 50 working in conjunction with lifeguards inside, but it is two separate groups – that means the permanent ones that are in the pool and then the seasonal ones that are outside, and that includes the management.

BUSINESS AND EMPLOYMENT

Q275/2015

Industrial tribunal hearings – Details of venue

Acting Clerk: Question 275/2015, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Minister for Employment please confirm what the position is in relation to 55 the venue for industrial tribunal hearings?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, industrial tribunal hearings
60 may be held at one or two venues: a board room at the John Mackintosh Hall at 308 Main Street and a board room at the main offices of the Department of Employment at 75 New Harbours. Both venues are available on request.

Hon. D J Bossino: I have spoken to the Minister about this question and I cannot say that it is the best 65 drafted question I have produced, but he understood it and I am grateful for that.

The reason why I ask the question is because I heard at one point that the venue had reverted to the ETB premises, and as a practitioner in this field, and he also was a petitioner in this field, I can tell him that having the venue at the John Mackintosh Hall is highly convenient. So I am wondering whether... but he says in essence there is flexibility as to where the hearings are held. Mr Speaker, does the Government have 70 any plans in relation to a permanent fixture as far as the venue is concerned in relation to this?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, in order to clarify to the hon. Gentleman, the change, in effect, was to relocate the Secretariat from Town Range to the offices of the Employment and Training Board. What that meant is that the Secretariat now has what I think are better equipped offices. The offices at Town Range
75 were liable to damp. They were very poor in terms of size and did not have regular consistent access to the internet and we thought that it was best to fit them out and equip them with proper and effective working offices. The flip to that was that whereas the chairpersons always had the tribunal hearings at the John Mackintosh Hall, chairpersons can still continue to have hearings at the John Mackintosh Hall should that be their preferred venue, but that they can also now elect to have hearings heard in a board room of the ETB
80 especially dedicated for that purpose. As I say, the reason for the change in venue was not so much for the hearing venue, but rather for the Secretariat so that they could have properly functioning offices where they could discharge their functions.

In terms of whether there will be a particular set venue for the industrial tribunal, I am sure you will be pleased to know that part of the reform will be to locate a conveniently situated place, in town preferably, where there will be more than just one room for industrial tribunal hearings. Preferably there will be two such rooms and also a permanent fixture for the Secretariat.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, may I commend this course of action to the hon. Gentleman and I think he knows that I was Minister for Justice for four years and this was something that I looked into in quite a lot of detail, and that is to consolidate all the tribunals and relocate all the tribunals into the Central Police Station. The Central Police Station is an ideal location, particularly for the industrial tribunal because of course it was built at a time when there were Magistrates' Courts located in the same venue as a police station. So there is a wonderful Victorian room in the Central Police Station that was used for Magistrates' hearings. That is an ideal venue, not only for the industrial tribunal, but also for consolidation should, of course, that be the policy of the Government, but I am commending that to the Government as an appropriate course of action of locating everything there, all the tribunals there, and that gives you the space and also the facilities in order to have the hearings of the industrial tribunal.

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition for the suggestions. Just so that he is aware, in my discussions with the Bar Council and the other organisations that have provided to me written proposals, no one has, as yet, suggested his proposal insofar as discussions have centred on the location for industrial tribunal hearings. There have been different alternatives proposed, but not that one, but now that he does raise it, it is something that I will certainly take into consideration and will discuss with the relevant Ministers as the industrial tribunal reforms progress.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, because I am aware that the Government has now asked for expressions of interest in relation to the Central Police Station – that has been advertised in the press recently. But that is a wonderful building with a lot of heritage value and to retain that in the public service in something related to the justice system I think would be an appropriate use for that particular building. That is what I am commending and I hope that the hon. Gentleman takes that on board and perhaps can discuss it with his colleagues when they next meet in Cabinet.

Hon. D J Bossino: Is he able to shed any light, Mr Speaker, as to the venues that he is looking at?

Hon. N F Costa: Well, Mr Speaker, the Bar Council in particular was divided as to whether the existing Court building... there is one particular court room which is not always in use, which is the Coroner's Court room and whether that could usefully serve as an industrial tribunal hearing venue. The meeting was split in that some thought that the formality of a court room would perhaps defeat the purpose of an industrial tribunal hearing and others were more inclined in locating a suitably resourced and sized office space which could serve to have two industrial tribunal hearing rooms and also offices for the Secretariat. But the hon. Gentleman now proposes to me a third alternative which will also be looked into.

Q276/2015
UK Employment Tribunal –
Information

Acting Clerk: Question 276/2015, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Thank you.
Can the Minister for Employment provide more detail as to the information he was able to obtain following his visit to the UK Employment Tribunal?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, I set out the main areas of discussion as follows.

I had the pleasure of meeting with the Hon. Mr Justice Langstaff, President of the Employment Appeals Tribunal and Julia Johnson, the Registrar of the EAT. My legal counsel and I met with them at the EAT's main offices at Fleetbank House in London. Our meeting lasted over two hours, during which we received a 135 tour through the five court rooms and seven employment judges' chambers at Fleetbank House. We were also fortunate to see the EAT's back office where the EAT's 26 staff members co-ordinate and administer each of the appeals.

During the London visit we also met with Judge Potter, the Regional Employment Judge for Central London, at her office at Victoria Street. During each of these meetings we were able to hear invaluable
140 first-hand accounts of the processes behind both the UK Employment Tribunal and the Employment Appeal Tribunal. Another area of interest was the type of cases typically heard before the ET and how this had evolved over time with the enactment of new employment-related legislation.

We had a brief discussion on the UK's introduction of fees for both ET and EAT cases, although this was limited as we indicated that we had taken a policy decision not to introduce fees within our industrial 145 tribunal reform process.

We also entertained a detailed discussion on procedures, practicalities and results pertaining to the introduction of mandatory conciliation provided through ACAS.

The President was also able to provide us with an outline as to the judiciary set up that ranged from full-time judges to part-time judges and recorders. This led to a discussion on judicial training and the issue of 150 practice directions to facilitate both judges and the parties in dispute as well as their lawyers.

The training systems in place were also described so we were able to appreciate the process behind the judicial training that each judge needs to undergo before they are able to preside over a case. This was supplemented with information relating to existing judges continued professional development once they have received their judicial training.

155 Judge Potter was kind enough to introduce me to Employment Judge, Philip Rostant, who is the Employment Tribunal's Director of Training and co-ordinates the training for employment judges in the United Kingdom. I have recently corresponded with Mr Rostant and I look forward to obtaining advice and guidance as we implement our reforms.

The judges also explained the Employment Law Appeals Advice Scheme (ELAAS) which is staffed by 160 experienced employment solicitors one day a week for the benefit of the parties in dispute. Each of the judges was also able to provide some guidance on their target timetables for hearing cases and how often these targets are met.

Hon. D J Bossino: I am very grateful for the very full and accurate response by the Minister to my 165 question. I would ask him whether he has reached any conclusions as a result of that visit in relation to what could be fed into our system, because clearly the system in the UK is in many different respects – I am sure he would have appreciated when he went there – a different beast to what we have here. One of the things is, for example, you have permanent judicial staff, which at this stage here we do not, with, in effect, volunteer chairmen and chairwomen. But is there anything which he thinks he can bring in to the reforms 170 that he is intending to introduce in Gibraltar?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, yes. In the first place I think it is safe to say, even at this stage, that the industrial tribunal reform will be based primarily – although, of course, with due alternations – on the employment tribunal rules.

175 As the hon. Gentleman knows, because he practices employment law, one of the issues that currently face chairpersons is whether they do have certain powers, and I do not intend to create this into a legal debate, but certainly he knows that some chairpersons are happy to strike out cases and other chairpersons think that within the current rules there is no such power, and therefore you may very well have a case where a chairperson would be quite robust and strike out a case and another chairperson may not feel quite 180 comfortable to do that. Therefore, I think the first port of call for the Government introducing the reforms is to ensure there is consistently in decision making so that the most important part of the reform will be to make sure that the rules are simple rules that all chairpersons will be able to understand and where the powers of chairpersons are clearly spelt out. So in a sense that would be the easiest part of the reform because thankfully we do have an existing rule system in the UK which we think will very much be 185 adaptable to our domestic jurisprudence. In any case, as the hon. Gentleman knows, employment tribunal cases very much have highly persuasive value and so it makes perfect sense that the rules reflect the UK system.

The policy decisions, I think, will come insofar as – and he has already pointed out that that is probably where they will come in – whether we have a full-time chairperson or a panel of part-time chairpersons or 190 we continue with the existing set up where there is a list and essentially each case is allocated to the next chairperson on that list, and that is where the discussion is currently being held with... you are right – the union, the GGCA, the Bar Council and individual practitioners.

Another important area of policy is also whether conciliation should be mandatory or not, and there is very much at this point consensus among all of the parties that have submitted working proposals to the 195 Government that there should be mandatory conciliation before a case comes to the industrial tribunal.

200 Interestingly, I am sure he will be interested to learn that the Bar Council is one of the parties that is most in favour of conciliation at the beginning to be conducted without lawyers so that it would be mandatory conciliation and the parties would be present without the lawyers and the conciliator. The question then becomes: by what criteria do we obtain the conciliator? A proposal to put to us is that the list of chairpersons would act as chairpersons and conciliators so that a chairperson who has chosen to be a conciliator in the case will therefore not be able to be a chairperson and vice versa.

205 Then the question in the case that an applicant or a respondent, who is being vexatious and reasonable, should they be liable to pay costs? Again, there seems to be consensus among the proponents of the reforms that for persons who do bring cases, who are clearly vexatious and frivolous, and for employers who clearly defend cases where it is clearly the case that the employee has been unfairly dismissed, both parties in those cases should be able to be liable for costs. So whereas there may not be a strict rule, as in the Supreme Court, that costs follow the event, chairpersons should have clearly set out, in the rules that I mentioned at the beginning, the ability for them to slap the offending party, as it were, with costs.

210 So, as I say, the main questions of policy would be costs in what circumstances. Chairpersons: do we have them full time, part time or from the existing list?

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for that reply again.

215 He mentions the proponents of the reforms. Who is he thinking about when he says that, because he has mentioned in the context of his reply, and I think on at least a couple of occasions, the Bar Council? But presumably – and I think he may have said so in previous replies – he will also be consulting the relevant unions as well. (Interjection) Yes, I am grateful.

220 Hon. N F Costa: The persons who are bodies that have written to the Government so far have been Unite the Union, the GGCA, the Bar Council, and there have also been individuals who would rather remain private, but it is not just the usual persons. And, of course, I forgot the Chamber of Commerce. They also wrote to me a quite significant document as well, but apart from those four bodies there have also been individual lawyers who feel quite strongly about this reform and have also written to me in quite significant detail with their views.

225 Hon. D J Bossino: And a usual question from the Opposition: does he have an idea as to when he thinks he will be in a position to publish the revised rules?

A Member: Soon! (Laughter)

230 Hon. N F Costa: Yes, Mr Speaker. I am prompted and I was going to say that they shall be introduced soon. But taking all factors into account, and so long as we can introduce the reform, lock, stock and barrel by way of subsidiary legislation, as opposed to making amendments to the primary legislation – and I think we can do it by just repealing the existing industrial tribunal rules and introducing fresh new rules – we should be able to do so before August.

235 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, just one more, please, if I may?

240 Mr Speaker: Yes.

245 Hon. D A Feetham: The hon. Gentleman mentioned the question of costs and that is a seismic change because potentially the question of costs really affects whether people take proceedings or they do not take proceedings. At the moment the worker is not exposed to a cost order and therefore is more likely to take proceedings in than a situation where that worker is exposed to cost. Does he intend to make this retrospective in nature or will it only apply prospectively to new cases issued after the regulations? Will there be any kind of publication of those regulations so that the general public can see them and that there might be some participation from the general public as well in relation to what is – if there is a change in the question of costs – quite a seismic change in the culture of the industrial tribunal?

250 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman knows, because I was able to say so on the last occasion where the Hon. Mr Bossino asked me on these issues, that the Government have taken the policy decision from the outset that it would not be introducing fees. Instinctively we all feel – 255 Hon. D A Feetham: I am talking about adverse costs.

Hon. N F Costa: Yes, and I am getting there.

Instinctively we feel that to introduce fees before starting a case would be to limit access to justice to the very people that we would say need it of course, because a person who has been unfairly dismissed and is out of a job would not be able to afford, for example, £15,000 to take a case.

260 The hon. Gentleman asks me specifically about the question of costs at the end of a case and therefore whether it may be possible that a claimant may decide not to bring a case if he is worried about costs; whereas the detail of that will be embedded in the rules, from my instructions to Council the way that I see costs working are in the following cases.

265 In the event that the chairperson comes to the view that the claimant's case is either frivolous or vexatious or unreasonable – in other words, they really are quite high standards – then the chairperson would have the discretion in which to award costs and that is why I explained to the Hon. Mr Bossino that unlike in the civil procedure rules, it will not be the case that a successful party will automatically be awarded costs. It will be in cases where the chairman would have at some point in the proceedings made it clear to one of the parties that clearly there is either no case to defend, because there clearly was an unfair dismissal, or on the other hand the chairperson would have indicated at some point to the claimant that the dismissal was fair.

270 In other words, given that the Government is not introducing fees, which is why I started with that explanation, we do not want costs to then be seen as a bar to access justice. Therefore, because the rules would be based almost predominantly on the costs section on the UK rules, it is the reason why, as I said to my hon. Friend as well, there would be clear common law on when chairpersons will be awarding costs. They will only be awarding costs when the case is clearly won, where either the claimant is acting in a way which would be considered unreasonable or the respondent employer is defending that claim, while clearly he should just accept that he acted unfairly.

280 And, if I may finish the answer to the question to the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition, although I have not yet decided, I think that the Bar Council and another body were suggesting that even in cases where costs may be awarded, there should be a limit of up to, say, a cap of £20,000. So that may well be also part of the rules.

285 Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, Mr Speaker, I think the Hon. my learned colleague here I think would like to know on the very.... Yes.

Hon. N F Costa: Sorry.

To answer a question put to me which I did not answer, the rules will be prospective, not retrospective.

290 Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, I think the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition I think alights on a very pertinent point, and indeed there are many areas in employment law already – I stand to be corrected, but I think that is correct – where cases are brought in the Supreme Court. I think in fact the legislation which was moved by his Government in relation to bullying at work is one of them, where costs in those cases will follow the events because you are under the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court.

295 But I think that that threshold which he is talking about is – and this is the question – I think already there in legislation, is it not? I think that sort of high test which needs to be satisfied is already present in the current legislation. What I am not too sure about – I have not looked at it in some time – is whether indeed it is in the primary legislation or the secondary legislation.

300 And if I could just ask a further question, which he may not have answered in the point made by my learned friend, the Leader of the Opposition, whether we will be given or not given... the public and indeed the Opposition therefore will be given an opportunity, should the changes have to come through secondary legislation, to have a say in relation to those particular provisions?

305 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman is correct in saying that there already exists a test as to when the chairperson can award costs and the wording does, if I recall correctly, refer to 'frivolous' and 'vexatious'. But the point I think that the hon. Gentleman is trying to make is that whereas that test may exist, costs are assessed – again, if I recall correctly – by the Magistrates' Court standards, which means that even in cases where either the claimant or the respondent had been outrageous in either the prosecution or the defence of the claim, the awards of the costs are so low as to really have no real meaning. So even if the test that is employed in the reform remains the same as currently exists in the existing the rules, the fact that we would raise costs from whatever paltry amount it is by Magistrates' Court standards to, say, £20,000, therein will lie the real deterrent effect either way, because £20,000 or £30,000 or whatever figure we reach, obviously the point of the cost is to make sure that people think twice before prosecuting or defending a claim which is hopeless.

315 The drafts of the rules, once prepared, will be sent to the bodies that have written to us. The hon. Gentleman knows that I have sent to him the Office of Fair Trading Bill and that we spent quite a lot of time discussing the terms under clauses in that Act. So he knows me very well and he knows that I will be forwarding to him drafts so that he has the opportunity to provide his views on the draft once it is ready.

Q277/2015
Sunborn hotel –
New restaurant; job vacancies

Acting Clerk: Question 277/2015, the Hon. D J Bossino.

320

Hon. D J Bossino: Thank you.

Can the Minister for Employment confirm how many jobs will be provided for Gibraltarians at the Sunborn hotel in the restaurant it is reportedly opening in May this year?

325

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, it is not possible to say how many jobs will be provided for Gibraltarians, or any other nationalities, at La Sala restaurant, or for any other employer.

330

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, can he explain why it is not possible? The reason why I ask this question is because a statement was issued – it certainly appeared in the Chronicle on 15th April. He may be aware of the article – and he nods – where the opening paragraph of the article states as follows:

‘The Sunborn hotel will offer between 50 and 70 jobs for locals in a “destination” 160-seat restaurant...’

335

It goes on, and I will not give them free advertising, but the question is why is it not possible to provide the information which I am seeking?

340

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the reason why it is not possible to provide the information on the question that he asked is simply this, that when an employer notifies the ETB of a vacancy, it simply notifies the vacancy by way of a job description; it does not say that for a vacancy a specific nationality is being sought.

345

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in relation to this new venture – and I have asked his predecessor, Mr Bossano, questions in relation to this and specifically in relation to the Sunborn, and I suspect the answer is going to come back very similar – are moves being made by the Government to encourage the owners of this particular restaurant to employ trainees through its Future Job Strategy Scheme? I do not think he handles that himself as I think it is still handled by his predecessor, but could he enlighten us as to whether moves are being made to encourage that particular private sector employer to provide training to trainees through their own FJS scheme?

350

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, I cannot comment on the way of proceeding by the Hon. Minister Bossano, but I can certainly tell him what the ETB is doing in respect of encouraging this employer and indeed all other employers to take on residents.

355

There were 50 vacancies opened for La Sala and the moment they were notified of vacancies, what the Employment Training Board does is compiles a list of people that would be suitable for the different vacancies that open – for instance, there are vacancies for a cleaner, waiter, daytime supervisor, bar back, bar tender. So the employment officers immediately sit and start to compile lists of people that are registered with us as unemployed and who could be suitable for one of these vacancies. Then the Employment Service becomes responsible for arranging interviews with any particular employer – in this case we are talking about La Sala, but of any employer – and then, of course, we hope that that employer takes them on.

Q279/2015
Factory inspectors –
Predominance of inspections in construction industry

Mr Speaker: Question 279.

Acting Clerk: Question 279/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

380 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, has the Minister for Health & Safety an explanation as to why the factory inspectors have an almost exclusive predominance of inspections of the construction industry group every month of every year?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

385

Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, the focus of inspection on the construction industry by the Health & Safety inspectorate is due to the high number of construction projects.

390 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, that is almost a verbatim answer given to me about 18 months ago by the Hon. Mr Bossano when he actually had the responsibility for Health & Safety – (Interjection) But the fact is that that particular answer then or now is not borne out – (Interjections) by that particular statement now or even 18 months ago is not borne out by the figures produced by the factory inspectors themselves all the way through since the commencement of this term of office.

395 Even if we look at the first four months of the year – January, February, March and April – we can see that that cannot be the reason why 95% or 98% of the time of the factory inspectors should be concerned only and exclusively with the construction industry as such at the expense of other industry groups. Because if you were to look at those particular four months of the year in relation to just, say, improvement notices, well there has been no improvement notices in the construction industry. There have been two – which I will come back to in the next question here – about prohibition notices. So therefore there was not even as a result of all those inspections a need to put so many improvement notices.

400 Also, in relation to occupational reportable accidents as well, if you look at the figures, despite all those amount of inspections, it just does not tally at all. The only sensible and logical explanation, which is one that I have said to various Government Ministers for this, is that the factory inspectors themselves are coming, from their own background and their own experience, from the construction industry and they tend to have this predominance to inspect only the construction industry. Of course there are construction sites that need to be monitored and I am not suggesting now that they should not do it. Of course they should continue to do it and of course they should continue to do it in other industries, like the ship building industry, which also happens to have a higher incidence of accidents as well.

410 But what is not right, and what is required from a policy point of view is to have a more balanced, accurate number of monitoring and inspection throughout the entire industry group and not just the construction industry group. Unfortunately – and I welcome very much the fact that the hon. Member opposite is the new Minister for Health & Safety, and this is the question – this really needs to be looked into. The Minister needs to look at the figures and obviously have a new policy, which is far fairer to all the industry groups.

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, if the hon. Gentleman will recall, because he does ask me this in a further question, I have told him that it is my view, as Minister, that there should be a more balanced approach to the inspections carried out by the Health & Safety Inspectorate. I have also told him that in that endeavour, I am seeking to resource better the Health & Safety Inspectorate and also arrive at a policy document, which is a policy document that the Health & Safety Inspectorate is working on, along with Unite the Union and the Health & Safety Committee.

420

As the hon. Gentleman will be aware, Health & Safety in legislation is quite significant. What the hon. Gentleman should bear in mind is that the Health & Safety legislation in Gibraltar is being complied with and it is being complied with by the Health & Safety Inspectorate. What the Government seeks to do is better equip the Health & Safety Inspectorate and come to a policy statement, which is not required under the law, but a policy statement nonetheless, which does take into account the points that the hon. Gentleman does raise with me, which he did raise with me and with which I agree, except that I have only been conducting this job since December.

425

430 I have already held two meetings of this Health & Safety Committee, which is represented by Unite the Union and also members of other Government Departments, and whereas we have already looked at two drafts – two policy document drafts that we are looking at – it will not be the sort of thing that can be done in night follows day; it will have to be a bit in slower order, and that will happen in due course. But I am not yet in a position where I am able to give him a concluded and finalised policy document, but he should rest easy in knowing that the process of better resourcing the Health & Safety Inspectorate is actually happening as I stand. We are looking at filling in the vacancy of principal health & safety officer, which if it is taken by one of the health & safety inspectors would mean that a Health & Safety Inspector vacancy will arise.

435

440 So it is a work in progress and we will arrive at the point where the hon. Gentleman, I hope, will be satisfied that the Government does as much as it can do, but what he should know definitely at this point is that as we are trying to better our game as it were, we are satisfied that the legislation, the factories legislation is being adhered to be the Health & Safety Inspectorate.

Q280/2015
Health & Safety –
Correct 2012 figures on Government website

Mr Speaker: Next question.

445 Acting Clerk: Question 280/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health & Safety request that someone correct the true historical figures in the Government website in relation to the Health & Safety for 2012, as in the tables shown it has the 2013 figures, something which, of course, is reproduced once again in 2013?

450

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business & Employment.

Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, the historical figures in relation to Health & Safety for 2012 have now been updated by the Statistics Office, which is the Government Department responsible for the accurate and correct posting of statistical data.

455

I now hand over to the hon. Gentleman the information that he requested.

I have once again, Mr Speaker, impressed on my Ministry staff that the information has to be posted and available for the hon. Gentleman before the deadline when he poses his questions, and I am assured – although I did assure him at the last session –once again that by the next session of Parliament he will certainly have the uploaded information in good time for his questions.

Q281/2015
Health & Safety –
Statistics for April 2015

460 Mr Speaker: Question 281.

Acting Clerk: Question 281/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

465 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health & Safety please provide the Health & Safety statistics for the month of April 2015, as these were not available in the Government website at the time of submitting questions to Parliament? Obviously he has already acknowledged that and even provided me the information.

470 I have to say that subsequent to actually putting the questions to Parliament, I saw it on the website and so I did print it out. Therefore I have had some time now to have a look at it, Mr Speaker, and, if possible, there are some supplementary questions that I would like to ask – although before doing that, perhaps the Minister would want to say something.

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

475 Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, I now hand over to the hon. Gentleman the information requested.

Mr Speaker: This is not a very lengthy schedule. We can move on and then the Hon. Member can come back.

480 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker –

Mr Speaker: You have it. Did you say you have it?

485 Hon J J Netto: I have it from yesterday, which I printed out, and so there are a number of issues there which I would like further information from the Minister, if possible at all.

The first supplementary question I would like to ask is on the table, and that is HS2 on occupational reportable accidents, so he can have that in front of him. I notice that there are two major accidents that happened in the month of April: one in the air transport-related industry group and the other one in the construction industry. Given that we are talking about major accidents, I would not be bothering him on minor accidents, but as these are major accidents, does the Minister have in front of him some kind of details as to the nature of those major accidents?

495 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, unfortunately I do not. If the hon. Gentleman wants to ask me details about them, he can either write to me or he can ask me again at the next session of Parliament where I will come armed with that information.

Also, just to add, Mr Speaker, that the hon. Gentleman will have seen that the information was actually uploaded on the day that he filed the question, which of course was no good to him. Again, just to impress that the information will be uploaded before he asks questions next time.

500 Hon J J Netto: That is fine, Mr Speaker. If he has not got the information in front of him then I will write to him and I am sure I will get an answer.

Moving on to another supplementary question, Mr Speaker, that is the table HS3, the one on enforcement activities, I notice that there was a prohibition notice being served in the construction industry. In the next table which is HS5, that provides the reasons why the factory inspector does issue either a prohibition notice or improvement notice. In this case, when we look at the prohibition notice being issued in April, it says:

‘The company failed to provide cdm notification of project, asbestos survey, risk assessment, method statement, health & safety plan.’

510 Could I ask in the circumstances of the short statement made there, whether the Minister is aware that such copies had not been produced and that the actual company did start works, notwithstanding the fact that they had not produced these items there to the factory inspector? Is that a correct statement to make?

515 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman knows that if he were to ask me questions before Parliament, I always come ready to answer his questions. But without notice on what it is that he is going to pick from, given the amount of information in these sheets, I do not come prepared for every single eventuality. So the hon. Gentleman can either, once again, write to me, or if he wants to ask me orally in Parliament, as of course is his right, then he can do so and I will come so prepared.

520 Hon J J Netto: Mr Speaker, the questions are –

Mr Speaker: The problem is that you have asked Question 281. There is a schedule attached to that question which is the information apparently that you were seeking, but now you seem to be asking from various other sources which you have, which nobody else and which I certainly have not got here in front of me, and it is very confusing.

525 Hon. J J Netto: I am afraid it is not from any other schedule that I have available because the information I have is information that is on the website, and that the Minister has.

All I am trying to do is to try and dig a bit deeper from the actual information there for me to be able to have a proper knowledge of what is going on.

530 Mr Speaker: But your question is about the statistics for the month of April 2015.

Hon. J J Netto: Yes, and the supplementaries as well. Am I not allowed to ask supplementary questions?

535 Mr Speaker: Let's see if we can make progress. Carry on.

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman knows that when he gives me notice of a question, I do not only just come prepared literally with the question that he asks, but I come as prepared laterally and as much as I can.

540 Given that the Health & Safety Inspectorate website does contain so many statistics and he could literally pick any statistic out of many pages and ask me specific details on any one of them, it is not, I think... not fair, but it would be very hard for me to be able to guess on any particular session which one statistic from many pages of statistics he will choose to concentrate.

545 Now, the hon. Gentleman is absolutely right to be able to ask me any question he sees fit on any of those statistics and I will be delighted to come to this House fully prepared to answer them – but without notice, I am afraid he does expect me –

Mr Speaker: Such a question must be put on the Order Paper.

550 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, that is not what he is saying. The Hon. Minister is actually being very reasonable about it. What he is saying is the Hon. Shadow Minister is perfectly entitled to ask the supplementary that he is asking, because it arises out of the question (Interjection) and unfortunately, because of the volume of the information that I have provided in the original Answer, it is not possible for me to come prepared to deal with every eventuality. The Hon. the Minister has offered either to answer that supplementary if it is put in the next Order Paper, for the next session, or alternatively, if the Hon. Shadow Minister writes to him and he will provide the information.

555 I think that ought to be acceptable to Mr Netto. But it is not right to say that it is an out of order supplementary, because it is not an out of order supplementary.

560 Mr Speaker: No, I never said it was out of order. I have said precisely what you have said, that one alternative is to put it on the Order Paper for the next meeting of Parliament. That is what I said... [Inaudible]

Q282/2015
Accidents at work during 2012-14 –
Number of working days lost

Acting Clerk: Question 282/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

565 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health & Safety provide the number of working days lost through accidents at work during 2012, 2013 and 2014, broken down by months, sex, industry group and cost?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, the information requested on lost time by accidents has never been held by the Health & Safety Inspectorate.

575 Hon. J J Netto: In actual fact, Mr Speaker, that is not correct. Let me just inform him that when the GSD got into Government in May 1996 and I was the Minister for Health & Safety, amongst other responsibilities, we started producing an annual report and it has to be said that that annual report subsequent to the second term of office of the GSD did not continue to be produced. But if he actually goes through the annual report during the period upon which I was the Minister responsible for Health & Safety, within the statistics produced for the annual report it did provide the numbers of hours and days lost as a result of accidents at work.

585 Further to this, I can tell you that the reason that the factory inspectors were able to collate the information was because they had, then, an excellent working relationship with the Department of Social Security, and in fact it was the Civil Service in the Social Security that were continuously passing information to the factory inspectors, who then looked at information and put it in the annual report. So it has been done, although it has to be said it is a practice that was not followed once I left my first term of office.

So could I then put it in the form of a question, which is: can I ask the Minister to have a word with his staff to check that what I am saying is correct, that the information can be made available by restoring perhaps that historical link between the factory inspectors and the Social Security Department?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, if I have understood the hon. Gentleman correctly, he says to me that this report ceased to be built when he stopped being the Minister for Health & Safety. (Interjections)

A Member: In his first term.

595

Hon. J J Netto: Will you give way?

Hon. N F Costa: Yes, of course.

600

Hon. J J Netto: My understanding is we got into Government in May 1996 and soon after that, whether it was the first year, the second year or that term of office, we started publishing annual reports for Health & Safety. Within the statistics there was information about the numbers of days lost as a result of accidents at work. Now how the factory inspectors managed to get the information was by having a very close working relationship with the Civil Service in the Department of Social Security.

605

My understanding is that after the first term of office, I moved on to other responsibilities and for whatever reason, I do not know why, the annual report ceased to be published in subsequent years. So obviously the information was not provided any more. Now I am asking the question because time has moved on.

610

What I would like to see, which is consistent with a lot of places, particularly in Europe and elsewhere, is to have available this kind of information which will be good for everyone, not just for us, but for employers, for trade unions, for statisticians, who specialise in looking to see whether there is a tendency of accidents in a particular industry and for what reasons, and that requests further policy decisions which apply in this particular area. So my question is if it has not been done, could the Minister have a word with his staff to see whether that historical relationship with the Social Security Department can be restored for the purposes of producing this kind of statistic? That is my supplementary question.

615

Hon. N F Costa: So, Mr Speaker, in other words, the hon. Gentleman did know that these figures were not being produced, because by his own admission they ceased to be produced as from 2000, but yet he asks me whether I am keeping them. A lesser charitable mind would think that he was being cheeky, but I am not less charitable in mind (A Member: Cheeky!) and therefore will actually think that the question is asked in a bona fide way, even though it is clearly the case that he knew that those figures had not been produced since 2000.

620

Given that we are in the process of correcting each other, let me tell him that he was never the Minister for Health & Safety, because I have got the Gazette since 1996 and we were the first Government to have a Minister for Health & Safety. (Laughter and banging on desks)

625

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, there is nothing cheeky at all about this. (Laughter) I think I have been very reasonable. This is information that was being provided for some years between 1996 and 2000. It subsequently stopped from being used, for whatever reasons. I have a perfectly legitimate responsibility –

630

Mr Speaker: Will you please ask the question.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, the question is: will he be able to go and try and restore that relationship with his Social Security Department – yes or no?

635

Hon. N F Costa: Well, Mr Speaker, I have no idea whether I could restore something which I never knew existed or how it worked, but if I were to stick strictly to the question that he asks me, as to whether we know the time that is lost by accidents, actually I do find the underlying question a useful one and it is something that I have intended to raise with the Hon. Minister Joe Bossano to see whether that is something that we could do.

640

Q283/2015
Health & Safety Inspectorate –
Codes of Practice

Acting Clerk: Question 283/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health & Safety say how many Codes of Practice in Health & Safety have been created during the term of office of this Government; and, if so, inform Parliament of the subject matter and provide Parliament with a copy of such?
645

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, I am informed that the Codes of Practice created by the Health & Safety Inspectorate are the same as those created previously, which are that the Health & Safety Inspectorate do not create Codes of Practice.
650

Government has, however, already formed a working group with Unite the Union to accelerate work in this respect. Draft policies have already been developed and are now in the process of being finalised before being published. This is anticipated to be during the latter half of this year.

Q284/2015
Future Job Strategy –
Health & Safety courses for trainees

Acting Clerk: Question 284/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.
655

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Employment and Health & Safety state the names of courses on Health & Safety to Future Job Strategy trainees during this Government term of office, other than the Introduction to Health & Safety in Construction Sites, stating the name of the training provider in each case, the type of training provided and the cost of providing such training?
660

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, Future Job Strategy trainees often work outside Government sites with third party entities. When they work on Government property, the Health & Safety training provided would depend on the type of work that they do. The questioner would therefore need to be more specific for a meaningful answer to be possible.
665

Hon. J J Netto: Can I deduce in some kind of sensible way that perhaps there is not any information available in his Department in relation to any particular type of training, other than, of course, the introduction to health and safety in construction sites which is being delivered by the factory inspectors when trainees are seconded to another employer which does not happen to be in the public sector? Is that a correct statement?
670

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, let me remind him of a similar question/answer session that occurred in May and June 2013 where the Hon. Mr Netto asks the same question to my colleague, Minister Bossano. In effect, once again the Minister Bossano replies that:
675

‘The employment training company does not undertake any work itself; its employees are placed with training providers who give them the health and safety training as they give the rest of the staff in the same work environment.’

In June 2013, in a further question by the hon. Gentleman on the same topic, Minister Bossano explains to the hon. Gentleman that:
680

‘Training providers are not required to report to the employment service the nature of the health and safety training that they give to their employees.’

Hon. J J Netto: But do I take it that when the trainees are seconded out to an employer in the private sector neither the employer who is accepting the trainee nor the trainee itself fills in some kind of documentation as to the details of what he is doing, what sort of training had been provided... employer and that information is then not forwarded to the Department of Employment to be able to look at which particular employers do provide excellent types of training in certain fields but other employers do not provide any training at all? I mean that information is not being fed either way – is that a correct assessment?
685

690

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the answers that I have provided to the hon. Gentleman are the answers that I have just read out to him from previous sessions of Parliament and the Answer that I gave him today. I am answering this Question given that the hon. Minister Bossano is away from Gibraltar. The Question relates specifically as to the training provided to future job strategy trainees and therefore, given that it is not my area of responsibility, I cannot be more specific than the answers that I have given him already.
695

Hon. D J Bossino: Can I ask the Minister a general point that I really want to get off my chest and it is this: why is it that he is not responsible for training, because I think his formal title includes the word ‘skills’ and I would have thought that would have included training?
700

Can he provide an explanation as to why it is that the Hon. Mr Bossano has kept that responsibility and he has not taken over that as a result of the reshuffle? Something, I might add, that I would have warmly welcomed, as he knows from comments that I made in the press.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, who the hon. Gentleman might warmly welcome to look after a portfolio or does not look after a portfolio is unfortunately, at the moment at least, not an issue of great constitutional importance, but who I warmly welcome should be dealing with a particular portfolio is what the Constitution determines should see the light of day.
705

Therefore, I determine that Economic Development and Training were better portfolio partners than Employment and Training, and for that reason, at the time of the reshuffle I decided that we should marry those two portfolios together.
710

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, of course the Hon. Chief Minister is absolutely right in what he has just said, but the point really related to... I did not appreciate, in fact, that Training also forms, formally, part of the Hon. Mr Bossano’s responsibilities, but the point related to the fact that the Hon. the Chief Minister has assigned responsibilities in relation to skills to the hon. Minister who is now answering the questions and I would ask the hon. Minister to explain to this House what responsibilities would go under that particular word ‘skills’ if Training is being handled by the Hon. Mr Bossano?
715

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I think it is me who should answer because – (Interjection) But I decided what job he should do, right? The reasoning is this, Mr Speaker, that training is about getting people into the role of an economically active member of the job market, and then development of skills is about moving within the job market.
720

I do not know whether that is something the hon. Member can see a distinction in; so getting people in as economically active actors – training – and then developing them – skills honing. That is really the type of spin that the hon. Gentleman is dealing with – the turning of already active economic actors into more efficient economic actors, to enable people to promote and develop themselves and aspire to more. That is really what the area of Employment is going to be looking at, as opposed to the area of Training.
725

Hon. D J Bossino: I am not quite sure I follow.
730

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker, my colleague, Mr Bossino, says, ‘I am not sure that I follow,’ and I am not sure that anybody has followed that. I mean ‘spin’ probably is the operative word. The reality here is that the Hon. the Chief Minister has probably not wanted to denude Mr Bossano of Training because that would have caused an explosion in the Government ranks from here to Madrid. That is the reality.
735

But what I am interested in, Mr Speaker, is how does the hon. Gentleman’s Department – and I am talking about the Minister for Employment – actually keep track of whether our youngsters are being properly trained or they are not being properly trained?

Hon J J Netto: Exactly. That is the point.
740

Hon. D A Feetham: Because, on the one hand, effectively, you have training responsibility of another Department and, on the other, in answer to questions by Mr Netto, there appears to be no monitoring by the hon. Gentleman’s Department of whether people were being properly trained or they are not being properly trained – whether they are obtaining the skills necessary to equip them for the future or not – and I just ask the hon. Gentleman to perhaps explain that.
745

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Hon. Leader of the Opposition is superb, excellent –

Mr Speaker: May I warn the Chief Minister that I am not going to allow a debate on training?

750

Hon. Chief Minister: Thank you very much, Mr Speaker... superb, excellent, brilliant, not at politics but at writing fiction – at writing the fiction that puts him in my mind at the time of a reshuffle and determines that I do or do not do things because I am going to cause or not cause explosions. As if that mattered to the primus inter pares when he is deciding who should be doing what. As if that mattered when you are reshuffling a Cabinet!

755

But, look, given that he has never had and is unlikely ever to have the opportunity to reshuffle anything other than a deck of cards, he may only ever be left in the position of writing the fiction of such narrative for what might be a very interesting novel on how he sees politics.

But, of course, Mr Speaker, on this side of the House when we are in Government what we do is very collegiate, it is very open, it involves a lot of exchange of information and meetings every Monday where we all talk about the issues that we are dealing with together. It is called Cabinet Government, Mr Speaker – collective responsibility. It is actually a lot of fun.

760

You can go to the office on a Monday morning and look forward to meeting your colleagues and the work you are going to do together and the experiences you are going to share; and what has gone right and what has gone wrong and how we are going to fix it, Mr Speaker. And that is how we all, not monitor but exchange with each other progress in all particular areas of policy. That is why we have been able to deliver so much of what they used to call ‘an impossible to deliver manifesto’.

765

That is how one Minister knows what is happening with the other. Because it is not just that the Minister for Employment might want to know what is happening with training. He seems to suggest that if the Minister for Employment is not the Minister also for Training then he cannot monitor what is happening. Well, Mr Speaker, the Minister for Social Services deals with cases that sometimes require the input of the Department of Health and, short of giving John Cortes even more responsibility, it would be impossible unless they had a very good and open relationship for them to know what is happening in one or the other and Joe Bossano and Neil Costa have an excellent relationship, as have all the 10 Ministers sitting around this table when we sit round the Cabinet table.

770

That is how we know what is happening. That is how we monitor, not with explosions of either tanks full of diesel that people want to pretend are LNG (Laughter) or the motions, but real collegiate Cabinet Government. I know that he cannot imagine what that might be like but, believe me, it works.

780

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker –

Mr Speaker: This is the last supplementary I am allowing.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker –

785

Mr Speaker: Provided of course it is relevant. If it is not relevant I will move on.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, of course it is relevant. Of course it is relevant. Mr Speaker, it is going to be relevant but may I say before I ask my question... it is called ‘actually I am the father of my party and be careful with me or you will get the political bullet!’ That is what it is called!

790

Mr Speaker, he has not answered the question and perhaps he may allow the Minister for Employment to answer what is an important question. How does his Department monitor a situation in terms of ensuring that those trainees that are out there supposedly getting trained and being equipped with the skills of tomorrow are actually being equipped, because there is nothing that the hon. Gentleman has said that has alleviated any concerns that we may have as to the acquisition (Interjection) of those skills and indeed, as I am told, he has not even answered the question, but I am giving him the opportunity. (Interjection and laughter)

795

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am going to rise to deal with the first part of the hon. Gentleman’s question and I am going to do so without having to point to the hon. Minister for Employment and shush him down and tell him to, ‘Just shut up!’ as – I simply recall every time I see him opposite me – was the way he was so humiliatingly put down by Sir Peter Caruana who was the Chief Minister at the time here. (Interjection) Yes.

800

Unfortunately, Mr Speaker, (Interjections and laughter) there is not a video because at that time they would not allow cameras into the House. Second – unfortunately, Mr Speaker, it is indelibly forever recorded in my mind because to have seen a Minister for Justice subjected to such humiliation is something that any parliamentarian will forever remember.

805

810 But, without having to do that, Mr Speaker, I rise only... and perhaps it is not even recorded in the Hansard, because of course this was done with the microphones off. This was an embarrassment for all those who were here to see... but, anyway, those of us who were here and he knows it, Mr Speaker, or he is in such absolute denial that he had better go and see someone about it.

815 But, Mr Speaker, without having to do any of that, I rise to say that the hon. Gentleman has started his question with a preface that is really quite beneath even his parliamentary style. He has attempted to interpret somebody's accent in a way that is obviously designed to be derogatory. He has attempted to pronounce the English language in a way which is incorrect, which is clearly designed to be derogatory, and, Mr Speaker, he does that of a man who has the most fabulous track record of service to this community since the year that I and some Members opposite were born. I would say, Mr Speaker, that we advance the needs of this community much better in this House when we avoid that unnecessary deprecation of each other and we concentrate on the issues that matter.

820 But for the rest of it, Mr Speaker, instead of shushing him and telling him to shut up, as was the case on the other side when they were here, what I will say is that I will be very pleased to see my Minister arise and give the answer, which would simply be to reflect again what I have told him before about Cabinet Government and how we all work constantly together. So arise, Neil Costa.

Q285-287/2015

Health and Safety policy –

New committees, review of the Inspectorate team, updated inspection plan

825 Mr Speaker: Question 285.

Acting Clerk: Question 285/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Notice how the Chief Minister never answered the Question before?

830 Anyway, can the Minister for Health and Safety state if new Health and Safety Committees have now emerged in Government Department authorities and agencies and Government-owned companies, other than the existing one of the GHA during the term of office of the present Government and, if so, please state where and when?

835 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

The Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, I will answer this Question together with Questions 286 and 287.

840 Acting Clerk: Question 286/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

845 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health and Safety please state if any review or reviews of the Health and Safety Inspectorate team, the current legislation, its policies and procedures have been carried out since December 2011, insofar as it applies to private sector and Government organisations and, if so, provide Parliament with a copy of the review or reviews?

Acting Clerk: Question 287/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

850 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to Question 5/2015, can the Minister for Health and Safety provide an update to the plan alluded by himself in relation to the need to have a more balanced approach to inspections across all industry groups, and in terms of infrastructure and human resources that may be required as a result of such a plan?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

855 The Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, at present the Government is looking at introducing a comprehensive health and safety policy with a statement of intent which, although not compulsory by virtue of our domestic legislation, is a move towards best practice and one which will give uniformity to health and safety within the Government Departments by way of a structure of committees, representatives, councils and co-ordinators.

860 This will, in due course, extend to authorities, agencies and Government-owned companies. A review of the health and safety strategy, staff complement and resources is currently being undertaken. It is critical to note that health and safety policies and procedures are in line with the provisions of the law and that current legislation satisfies health and safety requirements.

Q288/2015

Institute of Occupational Safety and Health UK – Sudden branch closure

Acting Clerk: Question 288/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

865

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, is the Minister for Health and Safety aware of the sudden and unilateral way in which IOSH UK has taken a decision to remove the local branch from its associate membership and whether the hon. Member will use his good office to assist the local branch and regain the link to IOSH UK, given the benefits accrued to professionals, trade unionists and employers alike, from such a membership?

870

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

The Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, I am aware that the Gibraltar associate branch of the Institute of Occupational Safety and Health, IOSH, has been closed. I understand this to be an irreversible decision taken by the head office of IOSH in the United Kingdom.

875

The closure of the Gibraltar branch is obviously a blow after the hard work of the local branch. The Health and Safety Inspectorate advise me that the closure does in no way affect the day-to-day running of the Health and Safety Inspectorate. Nevertheless, I am informed that the national members of IOSH will be seeking membership of the International Institute of Risk Safety Management, IIRSM, which is another accredited UK professional body on health and safety.

880

In seeking membership of the IIRSM, the national members of IOSH will of course enjoy the full support of Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar.

885

Hon. J J Netto: Well, obviously a pity in relation that it is a decision which they are not prepared to reconsider, given, as the Minister has quite rightly says, the effort being made by the local branch. It is regrettable but there we are.

I take note of the fact that the local branch is now looking at alternative bodies to be able to enjoy the kind of support that they used to have in the past with IOSH UK. We just hope that that proceeds as well as possible and that all professionals in the field and trade unionists and employers alike can be able to benefit as it did before. So I would just like to wish the Minister and the local professionals here in Gibraltar success in their endeavours because it is not only good for them but it is good for everyone in Gibraltar.

Thank you.

895

Hon. N F Costa: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Q289/2015

Refurbishment of sub-post offices –
Update and plan for reopening

Acting Clerk: Question 289/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

900

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister with responsibility for the Post Office state if there are two community sub-post offices closed and, if so, state the period in which such offices to the public have been closed and when is the intention of having them reopened?

905

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

The Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, the two district post offices were closed for refurbishment on 10th November of last year. No decision has yet been taken on when they will reopen.

910 Hon. J J Netto: Given the fact that the refurbishment started in November, is that refurbishment still going on or has it finished? What is the current situation?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, as the hon. Gentleman will know, the district post offices were closed as a result of health and safety notices and therefore there was a redistribution of the staff within it and the refurbishment is ongoing.

915 The reason why the sub-offices are not yet opened is because I am in consultation with the Minister Bossano, as Minister for the Gibraltar Savings Bank, and we are trying to identify what services... and how best to provide those services.

920 So instead of just providing the usual services that you would expect at the post offices, we are very much in discussions as to what else we could provide, so that, for instance, there could be the Gibraltar Savings Bank normal savings account, which is the normal blue book... what kind of Gibraltar Savings Bank services will be offered from the sub-post office and also the services that the Post Office can provide but we are looking at infrastructure in terms of software, because given that these are convenient places, locations, for different parts of our community, it does very much make sense to be able to provide not just what has been traditionally provided but, for instance, payment of other Government utilities – in other words, to avoid people having to come down to Main Street if they can do their business from Glacis or from the south.

930 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, indeed, it does make sense – what the Minister is actually saying. Perhaps I could try to encourage him to have that conversation extended to the Department of Social Security, in the sense that although it is true that some pensioners do go and obtain their pensions from the sub-offices of the Post Office, others do not. It is more of a cultural thing and they actually queue outside the offices of the Social Security. Perhaps there is an element there where people can be encouraged further to obtain their pensions, not from the Social Security building because it actually creates a situation where there are many other queues for many other benefits and perhaps we could try to encourage them to move them to the Post Office sub-offices; that would be welcome too. So I am grateful for that answer.

940 Hon. N F Costa: Yes, Mr Speaker, I would like to actually say that there is synchronicity on this side of the House because the supplementary note does, in fact, say exactly that – that we should also be looking at the payment of old age pensions and benefits. So he is right in pointing that out.

Q278/2015 continued – Business Nurturing Scheme

Mr Speaker: We move on to questions to the hon. Minister for Tourism.

Mr Bossino, a question? I understand the hon. Member wishes to ask some supplementaries arising specifically from Question... what was the number of the Question?

945 Hon. D J Bossino: The Question was to the Minister for Small Business and so it was... It was Question 278/2015.

Mr Speaker: Question 278/2015. These are supplementaries arising from Question 278/2015.

950 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the House will recall that the hon. Minister handed over a three-page document – not a schedule, a three-page document – setting out in substantial detail... I am trying to locate it at the moment – how the £25,000 loan which is going to be issued by the Government to help start-up businesses is going to be dealt with I am grateful for that and it managed to deal with some of my supplementaries, but not all.

955 Mr Speaker, who will be the paying party? Which entity would actually make the payment? Is it the Gibraltar Government or is it some other Government company? If he could answer that question first.

Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, successful applicants will, as he has correctly pointed out, receive a loan of up to a maximum amount of £25,000. Payments will be done through, as I understand it at this stage, the Treasury.

960

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, there is some concern... and there is a reference to the paper he has passed on to me... deals with that point to a certain extent when, for example, it says:

‘The loan documentation will take the form of a non-negotiable loan agreement. The loan agreement will set out conditions pertaining to the loan and the consequences of default.’

965 One of the concerns which has been raised in the UK – I had a word with the Minister briefly before starting today – is the rate of default that there is in the UK in relation to what they call start-up loans.

There was an article two weeks ago in the Sunday Times on this, where it said, for example, that the start-up loan scheme which had begun three years ago in the UK had lent a total of £150 million – which actually in the scheme of the UK does not seem an awful lot of money – but there had been more than 970 £50 million-worth of default. So therefore there is now a debate as to whether that is a proper expenditure of taxpayers’ money.

In that context, can he provide more specifics as to what the consequences of default would be and also, as a subsidiary question, whether the board dealing with this matter will be considering requiring collateral and security to be provided in order to ensure that in the event of a default that payment is made and the 975 Government does not lose out?

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the loan documentation is being prepared by my ministry, by John Paul Fa who is the council to the ministry for Business and Employment, but the loan documentation will be approved by the Financial Secretary’s office, in other words, by the Treasury.

980 As he knows, because I have said so in a press conference, the interest that it will attract will be only of 2%, which of course is a much lower rate of interest than were you to obtain a loan from a high street bank which could be 6% or more. Therefore the very point of the start-up business loan is precisely to award finances to start-up businesses that may not be able to obtain finance in the high street bank for the very simple reason that they have no background and therefore no way for a bank to check whether or not they 985 would be able to pay in the future.

But the hon. Gentleman can take comfort of a few things. In the first place there will be a loan documentation that will have to be signed by both parties and therefore such default will be able to be pursued in the courts. Secondly, the committee that will be deciding these applications will be the Gibraltar Federation of Small Businesses, the Gibraltar Chamber of Commerce and an official from my ministry.

990 As the hon. Gentleman will also know from the information that I have given to him, the criteria by which the loan will be granted or not depends on various points; for instance, evidence of demand, innovation, sustainability and risk, value for money, creation of jobs, e-commerce, touristic reputational value, environmental and health impact.

So this committee of experienced business persons, by way of representation of the Chamber and of the 995 GFSB, will take into account these criteria and, importantly, a business plan.

The way that it works will be as follows: an application will be submitted, the application will have to be accompanied by a detailed business plan, which of course will have to provide all the relevant financial information. Because the board sits in private, the applicant will not be concerned that their financial information will be distributed to a wider audience, which tends to be sometimes problems with trade 1000 licensing applications which we have discussed before. The application will be scored. If it is over 50 points then the committee will call that applicant in and will ask that applicant a series of questions. If the application then scores over 60 points out of 100 then they will be given a loan. The loan does not necessarily have to be of £25,000; indeed, it could be of any amount. There is no minimum criterion set but there is a maximum which is £25,000.

1005 Although the decision was taken that the repayment would be of equal monthly instalments, there is no penalty if the applicant were to repay the loan much sooner than anticipated. So it will not always be the case that the loan will be expected to live the term of the five years; it may live less. But in cases where, for instance, there is default, which is the case that the hon. Gentleman brings me to alight... In the case of default the committee will have to decide whether or not to take actions in the court. We will not be 1010 requiring, Mr Speaker, any security on the loan. We will not.

Hon. D J Bossino: In fact, he alights on a point which has featured in the debates that I was referring to in my first supplementary as to... it begs the question, if commercial banks... if the potential start-up has not managed to secure the financing through a commercial bank it begs the question why should the risk 1015 then fall on the taxpayer?

I can understand that in Gibraltar there may be different nuances to that, in that you hear many complaints... In fact, I only had it this morning from somebody who has started up a very successful small business in Gibraltar, where he said that when he started off it was just absolutely impossible to obtain financing. In fact, he welcomed the initiative taken by the Government as a result.

1020 But I think the reason why that happens in Gibraltar is because decisions are taken in head office or whatever it is and I was wondering whether in the context of the setting up of GIB... well, you are going to have a local bank where hopefully there will be local people taking decisions, presumably, in relation to loan financing and whether they will have a better feel as to the proposals which are being made to them and they will be taking decisions locally – how that is going to work with this particular initiative?

1025 I see the Minister for Financial Services is here and maybe he can assist in relation to that. I just wanted to explore that point a bit further.

Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman hits the nail on the head when he says that financing has been almost impossible to come by, so even a business person with the best idea in the world in Gibraltar may not have been able to obtain financing precisely because decisions as to small business loans are not taken here; they are taken in the Isle of Man or wherever the headquarters of a particular bank sits.

1030 Therefore this fund – which it has to be said, Mr Speaker, is only a quarter of a million pounds; we are not talking here of a £5 million fund – is a defined amount which, say every single applicant defaults and no-one pays, the taxpayer would be losing a quarter of a million pounds. Obviously the view of the Government is that that will certainly not happen.

1035 But let's say that it does happen and we are looking at a total loss in one year of £250,000, the reason why this Government thought that the GBNS was critical was because in some cases small businesses at first may not have the idea that a normal brick and mortar high street bank may think is a good idea and we discuss this by phone once.

1040 For example, an app. Apps today, for example... and we spoke about the app of Uber, which is a taxi app, and other car-sharing apps which are now making billions of pounds, may not have initially attracted any money from a traditional bank on the basis that that sort of app would not have been something that they thought would attract any money or make any money.

1045 The reason why the committee is established by representatives of small businesses is because they are best placed to decide whether an idea, that may not necessarily be the idea that a brick and mortar bank may think is a good idea, like, for example, a clothes shop or a supermarket or any other traditional business... they may think that that business idea which is innovative would, in fact, be a sustainable business.

1050 So that is one part of the answer and the other part of the answer is the one that he gave himself in the question, which is that unfortunately in the current climate of financing and credit it would be very hard indeed for a truly small business with an idea that does not fit necessarily within what is comfortable, traditional territory for a bank, may get that financing.

1055 But, as I said, he should take great comfort from the fact that before the amount is given, the committee members would have scrutinised the business plan of the applicant and, should it want to, the committee can impose further conditions. In other words, if, for whatever reason, they think that the idea is great but may have some difficulty as to the ability to repay, it may well be that the committee requires a guarantor.

1060 So whereas there would be a standard, non-negotiable loan document, the committee will definitely not want an innovative, great idea to go by merely because there is some risk to the innovative idea and they may well decide to ask for a guarantee.

Hon. D J Bossino: I have got one final supplementary, if I may.

1065 He talks about the potential maximum exposure to the Government of a quarter of a million pounds. Now, the way I took the assignment of that £250,000, which is going to presumably form part of the next Appropriation Bill for the next financial year, is that it is in the context of a pilot scheme. So is it the intention to be attributing more funds to this should the scheme be a success?

1070 Hon. N F Costa: Mr Speaker, the short answer is yes. Like with every pilot scheme the Government rolls out, the first year will certainly be the touchstone by which we will measure its success or otherwise. Depending on how this year goes then the Government will either decide to continue with the GBNS or not, but I cannot, at this stage, tell him whether there will be a GBNS next year, given that the first applications are still being processed.

Q350-353/2015 –
Questions withdrawn

Acting Clerk: Question 350/2015, the Hon. D J Bossino.

1075 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I think it is fair to say the entirety of my questions to the hon. Minister for Tourism is all statistical in nature. When I filed those questions, I think the hon. Minister – she and I have discussed this – would readily admit that the information was not available on the web. All that information is now available on the web and I do not propose to formally pose the questions and I propose, indeed, to withdraw them.

1080 Mr Speaker: You wish to withdraw them?

Hon. D J Bossino: So if I could go through them, Mr Speaker? (Mr Speaker: Yes.)
We are now on Question 350/2015; it would be Question 351, 352 and 353 – all the questions to the Minister for Tourism.

1085 Mr Speaker: They were all to be answered together.

Hon. D J Bossino: Okay.

1090 Mr Speaker: So Question 354?

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, to Question 353 inclusive. (Interjections)

Discrimination of women in the workplace –
Survey update

Acting Clerk: Question 361/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

1215

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Government state if they have carried out during their term of office any survey to determine if there is any discrimination against women at the place of work, public and private sector, in relation to obtaining less income for work of the same grade profession as male colleagues?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

1220 Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services & Housing (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, this exercise is ongoing.

Hon. J J Netto: Could I perhaps ask a supplementary?

1225 I take on board what the Minister said – that the exercise is ongoing. Is it an exercise that has been conducted by the Statistics Department or by your own ministry? I mean could perhaps the Minister provide Parliament some information about what the exercise consists of and who is doing it?

Hon. S J Sacramento: By both, Mr Speaker.

1230 Hon. J J Netto: Obviously the exercise covers both the public sector and the private sector – is that a fair...? Yes.

Hon. S J Sacramento: It does, Mr Speaker.

1235 Hon. J J Netto: And the always, eternal question – does the Minister know by more or less when this exercise might be finished? I mean I do not even know when it started but does she expect this to be perhaps during the course of this year?

1240 Hon. S J Sacramento: It is ongoing, Mr Speaker, and of course we aim to finish as soon as we can but it is an exercise that is being done by the Department that is undertaking other exercises; so as soon as we can.

1250 Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services & Housing (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, this is being considered.

1255 Hon. J J Netto: I take on board obviously that this has been considered for some time because I am referring to a previous question. I think it was in a time when my colleague, Mrs Ellul-Hammond, actually asked that question.

So it has been considered probably for 12 months perhaps, or around that time. Is it likely, therefore, that a decision is likely to be taken soon?

1260 Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, the improvement of our services is something that is always ongoing, regardless of the service, so this is something that will be considered when the whole package of this particular service is under review, as we must continuously self-review and self-assess. So this is something that we would consider for the future.

1265 Hon. J J Netto: But is it the desire of the Government, or perhaps the Minister herself, to have a transfer of the facility to another place? Is that something, a goal, that either herself or the Government has embarked upon?

Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, by logic, if a facility is to be transferred from a present location then it means that it will be relocated, so I have already answered the question.

Q363/2015
Dr Giraldi Home facility –
Investigation of staff member

1270 Acting Clerk: Question 363/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to the Question 658/2014 – that is November of last year – can the Minister for Social Services state if the investigation into a member of staff at the Dr Giraldi Home has now concluded and, if so, specify what the outcome to the investigation has been?

1275 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services & Housing (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, as already stated in my answer to Question 658/2014, disciplinary proceedings conducted by the Care Agency are confidential matters.

1280 The outcome of the disciplinary hearing is therefore a matter that is subject to confidentiality and as such it would be wholly improper of me to breach the duty of confidentiality owed to the employee.

1285 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I can understand what the Minister is actually saying but this is an incident – or an alleged incident, so to speak – where a particular employee during normal working hours, with a patient of the Dr Giraldi Home, actually went through the Spanish border and when stopped by a Guardia Civil... if she had anything to declare, she said ‘no’ and then was found to have a carton of cigarettes in her bag.

1290 That is a matter of public interest. I can understand the hon. Minister saying that the disciplinary case itself is a matter of confidentiality, but it is a matter of public interest to know whether an employee of the Dr Giraldi Home in such circumstances as has been alleged has been investigated.

All I want to know is whether the hearing has now been completed and a decision taken. That is it.

1295 Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, while I can confirm that disciplinary procedures were invoked and the investigation and the whole procedure has been finalised –

Mr Speaker: I am having difficulty in hearing the hon. Lady.

1300 Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, while I can confirm that disciplinary procedures were invoked and the investigation and the whole procedure has been finalised, I cannot go into further detail of the investigation for the reasons that I have set down because of a duty to the staff; because the premise is that it is an allegation and not an assertion, as the hon. Member has put it and has phrased it.

I also remind the hon. Member, Mr Speaker, that we went through all of this and the reasons as to why it was inappropriate to discuss this on the last occasion that he asked this question, in Question 658.

1305 Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Q364/2015
Juveniles with challenging behaviour–
Details of any requiring specialised care services

Acting Clerk: Question 364/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

1310 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, does the Care Agency senior manager know if any juvenile in Gibraltar whose challenging behaviour is such that he or she may warrant further specialised care over and above the existing services being provided at the moment in Gibraltar; and, if so, would the Minister for Social Services provide a breakdown showing the number of juveniles, their age and sex, and a short description of their medical/social condition, even if the latter part of the question is provided on a confidential basis?

1315 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services & Housing (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, no.

1320 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, I take note that the hon. Lady has said ‘no’, but I recall that in the last couple of weeks there was, I think, an article in the Gibraltar Chronicle by the Red Cross – was it the Red Cross? – where it did actually say that there were a number of juveniles that, in accordance with them, required specialised care over and above that being provided in Gibraltar.

Can the hon. Lady confirm that this is the case and whether there is a disparity of opinion between what our professionals in her own ministerial Department think and what this association is stating?

1325 Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I do not recall any article by the Red Cross. Indeed, I would be surprised why the Red Cross would be writing in relation to children. But anyway, Mr Speaker, this is the advice of the professionals who are employed in the Care Agency; and I am here to account for the Care Agency and the opinion of professionals, and not any articles which may appear in the press.

That is the answer that I have been provided.

1330 Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Q365/2015

Care Agency’s residential homes – Acts of violence

Acting Clerk: Question 365/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

1335 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state if there has been any recordable acts of violence in any of the Care Agency’s residential homes as from January 2012 to date, on a monthly basis?

If so, could the hon. Lady provide a breakdown showing the dates of the incidents or incident, whether the incident was between children or between children and staff, and whether, as a result of the incident, medical attention was required either at the home or in the Hospital, and for what purposes?

1340 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

1345 Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services & Housing (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, since January 2012 there have been a further 24 incidents. I now hand the hon. Member a table stating the requested information, purely on a confidential basis because this relates to children and I feel very strongly about disclosure of information in relation to children.

Q366/2015

Bullying and harassment in the Care Agency – Details and disciplinary measures

Acting Clerk: Question 366/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

1350 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state if there have been any acts of bullying and harassment in the Care Agency during the financial year 2014-15 and, if so, can a breakdown be provided showing the number of occasions by month and type – that is verbal, non-verbal, physical or corporate bullying etc – and whether informal or formal disciplinary measures have been instigated?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

1355 Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services & Housing (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, there have been none.

Q367/2015

Children’s services – Unallocated referrals

Acting Clerk: Question 367/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

1360 Hon. J J Netto: Can the Minister for Social Services state if there have been any unallocated referrals of children waiting for a service during the financial year 2014-15 and, if so, provide a breakdown of the level of risk to any such children?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

1365 Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services & Housing (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, unlike when I took office, there are now no unallocated referrals.

Q368/2015
Care Agency –
Juveniles in Education, Training, Employment status

Acting Clerk: Question 368/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

1370 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state how many juveniles in the care of the Care Agency are in Education, Training, Employment status or with no placements of the above, indicating the period upon which he/she has been in such position and the sex of the juvenile?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

1375 Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services & Housing (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, before I answer the question, I would like to remind the Hon. Member that the children who are in care are children and not juveniles, because juveniles has an association of criminal proceedings and criminal convictions, and children in care are children and not juveniles.

1380 Now insofar as a substantive answer, Mr Speaker, I will continue the position that I have taken in the past in that I cannot disclose information that relates to children if it means that they can be easily identified. As ever, I am happy to provide this information in confidence to the Hon. Member.

Hon. J J Netto: Yes, indeed, she has provided information in confidence before. So is she passing the information now?

1385 Hon. S J Sacramento: I am happy to discuss this information behind the Speaker's chair, Mr Speaker.

Q369/2015
Looked-after children –
Waiting time for Courts documents

Acting Clerk: Question 369/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

1390 Hon J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state what is the average waiting time for forwarding all necessary Courts documents for looked-after children, as reflected in their care plans – that is Care Agency, Education, Health, etc, and if there are unacceptable delays in providing such documents?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

1395 Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services & Housing (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, in care proceedings Social Services submit documents to the Court in accordance to the timetable set down by the Court. Now, Mr Speaker, deadlines are met and there are no delays – again, I want to add, unlike the position when the Hon. Member was Minister with responsibility for Social Services. (Banging on desks)

Q370/2501
Social Services –
Training Programme of the Care Agency

Acting Clerk: Question 370/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

1400

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services please provide the 2015 Training Programme of the Care Agency?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

1405

Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services & Housing (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, as stated, when the same question was put to me in Written Question 92/2012, this is an internal document, not a public one. As such, I will not make a copy available. I do agree to show the Hon. Member a copy in confidence.

1410

Acting Clerk: Question 371 –

Hon. J J Netto: Yes, I would certainly like to have a copy, even if it is in confidence.

Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I said that he could see a copy, not have a copy.

1415

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, we are talking about what is a fairly large document. It is not reasonable or possible for someone to have some kind of a mind that can look at the whole document and be able to absorb it – that is quite unreasonable on the part of the lady. Could I ask her to reflect on that and perhaps provide me with a copy, even if it is in confidence, although I do not believe that it is unreasonable what I am asking for?

1420

Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I have given this consideration in the same way that I gave it consideration when I answered this question in 2012 and no further requests have been made since then, I have to note.

1425

Mr Speaker, this is an internal policy document. It is a substantive document and I just cannot be micro-managed by the Opposition. The Opposition had its opportunity to devise any training plans when they were in Government and this is a training plan that we have devised now. It is an internal document. It is a policy document. Our policies and our strategies are clear from where we are going and that is the reason behind the decision that I have taken.

1430

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, my intention is not to micro-manage what the Department does. I think it is a fair comment to say that the role of the Opposition here in Parliament (Interjection) – I do not know whether Mr Linares wants me to give way for him to stand up and make a comment because he seems to be butting in every so often. He needs to relax and calm down a bit. (Interjections)

1435

I am not trying to micro-manage at all what the lady is doing, but the role of the Opposition is precisely to be able to cross examine what the Government is doing, its policies, and that includes training. (Interjections) I think it is quite a legitimate and reasonable thing for me to be appraised of what the training programme is, because if the Opposition were to think there is not the adequate training either wholly or partly or a particular issue, then the role of the Opposition should be able to stand up and say, 'Look why don't you consider x instead of y' or things of that kind. (Interjection by Hon. S E Linares)

1440

Does the Hon. Mr Linares want me to give way?

Minister for Sports, Culture, Heritage and Youth (Hon. S E Linares): Yes, Mr Speaker.

He has just said that he does not want to micro-manage and he has just stated exactly the micro-management that he intends to do.

1445

Hon. J J Netto: Obviously I disagree with such a statement, Mr Speaker.

Looking at the training programme and seeing what training is going to be provided across the board on a very wide Department is not micro-managing; it is actually looking at what the Government policy for training is and whether the Opposition simply agrees with it or does not agree with it. That is not micro-managing. Obviously I am failing in trying to be reasonable. I am failing to try and get the hon. Lady to provide a copy to the Opposition. I am not going to succeed and so I am not going to waste Parliament time any further.

1455 Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I was going to say that he can rest assured that this is a document that is provided by the Training Team, by professionals. If he wants to know what Government policy it is, Government policy is to provide excellent training – training that did not exist in the past – and not only standardised training for all the care workers who had never ever had training, but professional development training for everybody, which is done through the Training Team, but in consultation with all 1460 the heads of the Department. So if he is concerned about policy, I will tell him right now categorically that it is a hundred times better than the training policy that he used to devise. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: Hon. Members are now beginning to debate, so we will move on to the next question.

Q371/2015
Social Services –
Agency workers in the Care Agency

Acting Clerk: Question 371/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

1465 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state how many Agency workers are working in the Care Agency, broken down by grade, establishment and duration regardless of short-term contracts?

1470 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services & Housing (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, there are 18 individuals in the Care Agency establishment engaged through an agency: seven in administration, nine carers, two nurses and a driver.

1475 Mr Speaker: Did she say 18 or 19?

Hon. S J Sacramento: Nineteen.

Mr Speaker: I heard 18.

1480 Hon. S J Sacramento: No, 19.

Mr Speaker: The draft answer that I have says 19.

1485 Hon. S J Sacramento: Oh, I apologise. Mine says 19. Let me see... seven, nine, two and one is 19. I apologise for that, Mr Speaker. Of these, 11 have worked for under a year and eight for under two years.

Q372/2015
Social Services –
Life planning for disabled persons programme

Acting Clerk: Question 372/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

1490 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state what generalised features the programme of life planning for disabled persons have, what the costs, if any, are and when was it implemented?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

1495 Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services & Housing (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 373.

Q373/2015
Social Services –
Disability Action Plan

Acting Clerk: Question 373/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

1500 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state what generalised features and objectives the Disability Action Plan contains, what the cost involved is and when was it introduced?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

1505 Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services & Housing (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the Disability Action Plan which will outline a holistic approach to life planning for people with disabilities will contain the following features: education; employment; income; health and wellbeing; choice and control; inclusive communities.

1510 Under each heading there will be consultation with the stakeholders to ascertain the different needs and at this stage the cost cannot be quantified. Although the plan has not formally been introduced as a document, this does not mean that work has not been done in different strategies that will form part of the plan as it is developed.

Q374/2015
Social Services –
Consultation on rights of disabled persons, UN Convention

Acting Clerk: Question 374/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

1515 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Social Services state if the consultation in relation to the draft legislation to ratify the UN Convention on the rights of disabled persons has now taken place, and whether the Government is now in a position to take such legislation to Parliament?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

1520 Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services & Housing (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the consultation process is not complete; however, we are very close to finalising it so that legislation can be brought to Parliament as soon as possible.

1525 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, given that the consultation is not yet complete, and given the fact that this was a manifesto commitment, which said something along the lines that it would be done within a year of being in office, can the Minister provide some assurances that such legislation will be brought to Parliament before Parliament at least is dissolved and a call for a new election?

Hon. S J Sacramento: Yes, absolutely, Mr Speaker.

1530 I can also reassure him that not only will it will be done in this term of office, but it will not take us 16 years to do. (Laughter)

Q375/2015
South District Citizen's Club –
Services provided; attendance after reallocation

Acting Clerk: Question 375/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

1535 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to Written Question No. 268 of 2014, can the Minister for Social Services provide an update in relation to the services provided to the senior members of the former South District Citizen's Club and to those that attended the Governor's Parade Building, and whether attendance have been maintained to the levels prior to the reallocation to the Waterport Terraces building?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services and Housing.

1540

Minister for Tourism, Equality, Social Services & Housing (Hon. S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, there is no update to provide. The question was clearly answered in my answer to Written Question 268 of 2014.

1545

Hon. J J Netto: While I welcome there is no update to provide, but there is a part of the question there which obviously is beyond what the question was back in 2014, which the hon. Lady has not answered, and that is whether the levels of people attending now to Waterport Terraces building is more or less the same, or better, or worse than it was before.

Could she answer that part of the question?

1550

Hon. S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, he either does not understand or he does not know how to phrase his questions to communicate what he intends to ask.

1555

The question is very clear. The question asks what the consequences are of opening the Waterport Terraces Day Centre. The answer in my previous question was that all the previous day centres have been absorbed into one day centre and so by logic anybody with understanding of the English language would know that that means that people who attend one day centre are transferred to the other. He knows, because I have said in previous questions that there was more than one day centre and he will know because he was the Minister for Social Service... no, as I recall, his title was Minister for Social Affairs.

1560

He knows that they were all absorbed into one day centre and so the only logical conclusion is that if everybody is absorbed means that they go. If people who may have attended one day centre were transferred to the new day centre a year ago, it may have been that they have passed away. So if they have passed away they are not there.

But, Mr Speaker, I do not know how else you tell somebody that when you move something from A to B, you move them from A to B and they are all there.

TRANSPORT, TRAFFIC AND TECHNICAL SERVICES

Q376/2015

Gibraltar Bus Company –

Details of monies owing from Big Publications Ltd

1565

Acting Clerk: Question 376/2015, the Hon. S M Figueras.

1570

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport provide this House, further to his answer to a similar question in March this year, details of the monies owing to the Gibraltar Bus Company by Big Publications Ltd as result of the sale of advertising by the latter before the termination of the arrangement between the parties in September last year?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

1575

Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, a detailed examination of the books of accounts and supporting documentation of Big Publications Ltd has been carried out a report on the findings and observations has been presented to the Directors of the Gibraltar Bus Company Ltd for their consideration.

The Report has now been shared with the Directors of Big Publications who are reconciling it with their own accounts in order to confirm or dispute the amounts due.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, this is a matter that we have been talking about now since some point during the summer last year where it came to light that big publications had been paying as good as no revenue to the Government through the Gibraltar Bus Company for the advertising that it had sold on the buses – a practice that I appreciate from seeing the buses going around the city is no longer the practice. He told me in March that the accounts were being reviewed and that if I were to ask him the question, he would give me the details in this session. That is what I have done, Mr Speaker.

We are talking about something that for the first time in September last year we were told by the Hon. Neil Costa, who had carriage of that portfolio at the time, that they had requested the accounts and that they were going to make sure that there was a review of audited accounts to ensure that the amounts outstanding or due to the Government would be paid in due course. Now, Mr Speaker, we find ourselves once more in another session of Parliament with the Minister telling me that the accounts have been prepared, the accounts have been reviewed they have been passed on to one to the other, and now it is a matter of reconciling.

1595 Mr Speaker, is the Minister not able to tell this House how much the Bus Company is owing... from the Bus Company's or certainly from a review of the audited accounts – to the Gibraltar Bus Company and therefore the Gibraltar Government subject to – and I will concede that point – any review or reconciliation that needs to be carried out with the directors of that company?

1600 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, of course it would be possible to give that figure to the hon. Gentleman, but it is not that we are suggesting that the information will not be given, it is that we are in a process where the Government has now put to that company what we say is due. We are expecting either an agreement or a different reconciliation which will produce a higher or lower figure. I do not suppose the company will say the figure is higher, but that is the possibility.

1605 Can I just say to him that there is no attempt here not to give the information and can he give us 30 days, because I think that by the time we come back to the next Parliament he will be able to have all the details and that the issue may have been resolved and the details of that resolution be made available to him and to the general public as a result?

1610 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, I am happy to wait 30 days, because we have the meeting next month. I am happy to do that because clearly if the information is not available or is not going to be given us today then it is just not going to happen.

1615 I am not suggesting that the information is not such that wants to be shared by the Government. What I am suggesting, Mr Speaker, is that it is an issue which I suspect might when eventually the information becomes public, cause embarrassment to the Government, because I think it is a point that I will be making when the information is made available that this could be tens or hundreds of thousands of pounds. We do not know how much the revenue is. We only have the benchmark of the previous contract to go by at this stage.

1620 I suppose my frustration, Mr Speaker, at this stage is the delay in the process involving one company over a matter of nine months. Therefore, I would ask the Chief Minister to confirm – and I know he has already indicated it – whether he is convinced that the matter will certainly be resolved to the point that there will be a figure made available to this House at that stage. That will be my last supplementary.

1625 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the answer is yes, and that is why I have invited him to ask the question in 30 days. I do believe there will be a figure available. But, what is more, Mr Speaker, I do not believe that any of what he has said is going to be turn out to be true. If I thought that there was something which was going to be embarrassing to the Government and I thought that it was in any way possible not to disclose it, I would not be inviting him to ask the question.

1630 If I thought there was something that was going to be embarrassing to the Government which we were going to have to reveal, Mr Speaker, look the logical, political step today is to reveal that this month not next month closer to the election, because by effluxion of time, next month is closer to the election than this time. So I neither think there was anything embarrassing for the Government, nor do I think that there is therefore any need to avoid providing it. I am therefore happy to encourage him to seek it, because I am very confident – subject to something else happening, which does make it possible – that we will be able to give the figures next month, closer to the election, and therefore in a way that will enhance the Government's standing in the community and not diminish it.

Q377/2015
Fixed speed cameras –
Deployment

Acting Clerk: Question 377/2015, the Hon. S M Figueras.

1640 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport say when he expects fixed speed cameras to be deployed in Gibraltar?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, considerable work is being undertaken to enable the deployment of fixed speed cameras. I expect to be in a position to update the House further during the course of the Budget debate.

1645

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Hon. Minister provide some details of what this considerable work has entailed so far?

1650

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the speed cameras are very sophisticated pieces of equipment that need to be set up correctly – in fact if there is any error in the setting up of the cameras by way of painting lines on the ground, if there is any error in that respect, then the evidence put before the court will be null and void. It will not be acceptable.

1655

The camera will give a speed limit, a digital speed indicator, which is very accurate, but there is also certain amounts of lines which need to be painted on the ground correctly. It is to be sure that the camera has not failed in any way. The camera will take two pictures in quick succession, as I am told by the technical team; hence you will see the distance travelled in that given time, giving us a very accurate back-up of whether the camera has in fact given us the right speed.

1660

So all these things have to be studied correctly and we cannot just go out there and paint lines. The locations, even within a specific road, have to be correct. So there is a lot of ground work that needs to be carried out before we actually say we move on.

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, with the Chair's indulgence I am going to ask a series of short supplementaries, which I think lend themselves to being answered together by the Hon. Minister, if the chair should...? Thank you.

1665

Mr Speaker, can the Minister tell this House whether the specific speed cameras have now been chosen, whether they have been ordered, and importantly, whether on ordering these speed cameras – if that in fact is the case – these are not installed by the specialist provider of this very special, very sophisticated equipment, rather than being installed by the technical team present here in Gibraltar?

1670

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the equipment is actually already procured and is actually in Gibraltar waiting to be installed. (A Member: Hear, hear.) So, as I said, it is just a question of time now before they are on our roads.

1675

As to the second part of the supplementary, the technical team in the UK which will be responsible for installing the equipment for us require a certain amount of data to be provided. So there is a liaison between our team and their team and that is what I was referring to earlier.

Hon. S M Figueras: And finally, I think, Mr Speaker, what sort of data is it that the specialist team in the UK requires to assess before coming out and painting the lines on the road and setting up the camera?

1680

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the specifics I am not aware of. I am not a technical person myself with regards to this project. I can find out what is required and come back to him. (Interjection) So, Mr Speaker, as I say, I am not a technical person in this respect and so I am not exactly sure what data is required. But, as I said, what was going to happen initially, the thoughts of the Department were that this would be able to be done locally and so they have actually gone down that step. The truth is that it is not as easy as painting lines in certain locations. The data has to be correct and we are working with the company in the UK before they come over to finally set up the speed camera system.

1685

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, with your indulgence just one more very quick supplementary. Can the Hon. Minister say whether the community can expect to see fixed speed cameras deployed on our roads before, say, the end of September?

1690

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I expect that they will be in position well before that, but I would not want to risk giving him a date, because everything is taken when we ask for a date. If we succumb to giving a date, then we are actually held to a date and there are many factors and many reasons why projects and things cannot be completed by a certain date, which are beyond and above our control. So it is very difficult to give certain dates, but it is the Government's intention to have these systems operational as soon as possible. We have already started this operation, as you well know. We have these speed limit indicators, which are the first step of that process. It is informing people of the speeds that they are currently driving in Gibraltar to make them aware so they can reduce their speed. So it is Government's intention and we are very keen to see this project off the ground and up and running.

Q378/2015

Draft Sustainable Traffic Transport and Parking plan – Suggestions by the public

Acting Clerk: Question 378/2015, the Hon. S M Figueras.

1705 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Transport provide a list of all initiatives suggested by members of the public during the consultation – the second consultation, or it could have been the third or fourth – following the publication of the draft Sustainable Traffic Transport and Parking plan detailing, in respect of each suggestion, whether the recommendation is being accepted or rejected and the reasons for such acceptance or rejection?

1710 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

1715 Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, in response to the consultation exercise on the draft Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan (STTPP) summary document, a database of all responses received is currently being developed. The database will set out the issues and suggestions raised by members of the public and how these have been considered and addressed as part of the work to complete the final version of the STTPP document.

A summary of the consultation responses will also be included with the final STTPP as an appendix. It is expected that this document will be completed in the following months.

1720 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, the Hon. Minister comes to this House month after month, and on the same issue tells us that things are happening, but actually he does not tell us what precisely is going on and how it is that all this consultation and the involvement of the public, all of which is good, none of which is being criticised, perhaps beyond the extent of at some point you need to know when to stop – (Laughter) We all know it is good and we know that the public is contributing and that there are many ideas and many suggestions and all these are being taken on board, and God knows they must be significant because it takes 1725 its time to get processed.

I ask the question, Mr Speaker, and the answer that the Hon. Minister gives is that the information is being processed. Well, Mr Speaker, what pray tell is the purpose of attending this House, filing questions giving the notice that we do, to then arrive at the session without the information having been processed within that timeframe to be provided to us in this House? I understand that there are processes involved in 1730 dealing with all this information, but, Mr Speaker, I do not think it is unreasonable of me or anyone else on this side of the House to expect that a certain amount of information at the very least could be provided.

1735 Mr Speaker, I will draw your attention to the example of a question that I asked last year of the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister in relation to applications for licences for construction and, as I recall, it was in relation to tobacco licences. It was a comprehensive amount of information that was provided to me within the five days' notice that I had given. I fail to understand, Mr Speaker, and I would ask the Minister to reflect on what I have said and to commit to providing me with the information, in correspondence when I request it, within the next week or two Mr Speaker, because surely what is the purpose of the Parliament if not?

1740 Mr Speaker: You have asked the question. We will move on.

Hon. S M Figueras: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

1745 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, first and foremost, I am extremely glad that the opposition thinks that seeking the advice of the public is something very good (Banging on desks) and I think we agree to that, and this is our policy (Interjections) and our intention is to continue down the route in most things that we do.

1750 The Hon. Member... what he is expecting from us is for us to get all the information that has been collated from the persons giving us their views or their complaints or their opinions and, just because he has asked the question, give him that part of the document because that will become part of the document itself. So I do not see why we should hand the hon. Gentleman part of the document before it is ready to go out to public.

1755 Just to get an idea of what people are saying, for example, one comment which has come up on a number of occasions is the lack of pedestrian safety, as we mentioned many times in Parliament, around the Trafalgar Interchange area. People want some consideration to be given to pedestrians to cross the road at Ragged Staff, and this is something which in fact we are not waiting for the document to be finished; this is something which is so clearly blatant and should have been so clear to the Opposition when they set up the Trafalgar Interchange that we are going to go ahead with it, but – (Interjection)

Mr Speaker, the important thing –

1760

Chief Minister (Hon F R Picardo): ‘Shut up and sit down!’ It was expressed in that... [Inaudible] ‘Daniel, shut up and sit down!’...

1765

Hon. P J Balban: Anyway the Government has invested a lot of time on a project which is going to be an excellent project. It will change the way that we look at traffic in the future. I mean we have progressed a long way. This is such a thorough document that it has taken its time compared to what we were presented with during the Opposition’s term of office, which was just a few sheets of paper, and that was the traffic plan.

1770

The document you have seen already which is that glossy part of the plan is already an insight as to what the document itself will present, but more than that, it will be a volume of information including the statistics and research information which will not interest everyone. So the document is extremely thorough. You will see when you actually receive a copy, when it is out, the reasons why it has taken its time. These things will not be rushed. It is our intention... This was a key – (Interjections) (Mr Speaker: Order!) Rushed to make sure that things are done correctly... This is what we are doing and you will see when the document is ready, I am sure you will praise us for it just like you were praising us on a number of issues regarding this aspect.

1775

Hon. S M Figueras: You see, Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the hon. Minister for acknowledging that I will praise where praise is due, because I do not have an issue doing that, you see, because I am on this side of the House and not that one. I do not have a problem praising the Minister or any other Ministers for work done well. I have no issue with that, Mr Speaker.

1780

What I do not accept, Mr Speaker –

Mr Speaker: Ask the question.

1785

Hon. S M Figueras: I will ask a question, Mr Speaker, but I do need to preface it by saying just a couple of things, if the Chair will indulge me the opportunity?

Mr Speaker, I do not agree with the hon. Minister saying they are moving fast to deal with some of the issues highlighted in the draft plan. They have taken four months to start working on a pedestrian crossing at Ragged Staff. That, frankly, is hardly lightning speed and that, Mr Speaker, turned into a roundabout and the eradication of 30 parking spaces outside St Joseph’s School is the sum total of all activities by this Government in the context of traffic!

1790

Mr Speaker: I really fail to see –

1795

Hon. S M Figueras: Sorry, yes, the question.

Mr Speaker: – what all that has to do with the question that the Member put on the Order Paper.

1800

Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, Mr Speaker, then the question that I would ask is –

Mr Speaker: You are introducing new material, you are debating. Please, ask short, simple questions and try and get answers, which is the purpose of Question Time.

Hon. S M Figueras: Yes, Mr Speaker.

I would ask him two things. I would ask him to look at the question again, which asks, ‘Could the Minister for Transport provide a list of all initiatives suggested by members of the public during the consultation conducted following the publication of the draft plan, detailing in respect of each whether the recommendation has been accepted or rejected, and the reasons for such acceptance or rejection?’

1810

I am not asking, Mr Speaker, for the details, statistical analysis, reports, findings and everything else that they may be creating for this final draft of the plan; I am asking just for that information.

Secondly, Mr Speaker, I will ask the hon. Minister whether he does not feel compelled by the fact that the question is asked in this House to provide that information when he is asked to provide it.

1815

A Member: [Inaudible]... the original question that he is asking... [Inaudible] (Interjections)

Mr Speaker: I hope the Minister will not repeat the whole answer to the whole of that question, because it is not a supplementary, it is the same question being asked again, which I think establishes some sort of – (Interjections) It is establishing some sort of a precedent.

1820 Hon. S M Figueras: With respect, Mr Speaker, I had sought to clarify what the question was seeking, which is not what the answer dealt with. (Interjections)

1825 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer already given. (Several Members: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks)

Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, yes, and in respect of the question of whether he feels compelled or not to provide the information requested properly in this House by a Member of it, would he say whether he feels compelled to provide the information or not because he has failed on this occasion, as on so many others, to do so?

1830 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Government gives a huge amount of information and publishes more information than has ever been published by any Government in the history of Gibraltar.

On this particular occasion the hon. Member has given a full answer; he has indicated when more information is going to be available.

1835 Mr Speaker, we are implementing a traffic plan. Already people can see the differences on our roads. The hon. Gentleman is even not negative about it. All that is happening is he is going to have to wait a bit longer for information. Can I ask him to vent his frustrations elsewhere and not in this House in relation to questions?

1840 Hon. S M Figueras: Mr Speaker, with all due respect to the Chief Minister, this is the place to vent frustrations in relation to traffic policy, is it not? (Several Members: Hear, hear.) (Banging on desks)

Q379/2015

Government vehicles – Non-polluting engines

Mr Speaker: Question 379.

1845 Acting Clerk: Question 379/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state how many vehicles – (Interjections) Should I start again? (Interjections)

1850 Mr Speaker: I am going to ask that the temperature of the air conditioning be lowered. It might help hon. Members! (A Member: Hear, hear.) (Laughter)

1855 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Environment state how many vehicles of the Government fleet of vehicles have now been purchased since the arrival of the present Government which are powered by non-polluting engines, stating the type and to which Department such vehicle has gone to, the year in which it was purchased and what percentage this represents from the total fleet of Government vehicles?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

1860 Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, no other vehicle powered by a non-polluting engine has been bought other than the G1 since the above-mentioned questions were asked.

1865 All vehicles that have been bought since then have either 100% petrol or 100% diesel internal combustion engines, or a hybrid petrol or hybrid diesel combination of an electric motor with an internal combustion engine and therefore do not have non-polluting engines.

Q380/2015
Transshipment of LNG –
Safety requirements

Acting Clerk: Question 380/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

1870 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for the Port provide Parliament with all the safety requirements asked by officials of the Government for the recent transshipment of LNG in the Bay of Gibraltar with the consequent information provided by the owners of the gas carriers?

Acting Clerk: Answer, the hon. the Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services.

1875 Minister for Transport, Traffic and Technical Services (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, any STS transfer, including that of LNG, in Gibraltar has to comply with all relevant IMO maritime conventions as well as our own stringent vetting procedures.

1880 Operations were organised by a locally-licensed STS organiser and followed a rigorous pre-transfer vetting procedure by the Bunkering Superintendent, which included an extensive safety checklist. The Bunkering Superintendent, during a physical inspection, then reviewed the completed safety checklist with the person in overall advisory control and cargo officer of the supplying vessel, to ensure that all safety precautions were being adhered to.

1885 The STS organiser also provided mooring plans, a risk assessment and a GPA-approved person in overall advisory control. The owners and managers of the vessels involved in the STS operations were Accelerate Energy and Fendercare Marine UK Ltd, and confirmation was provided by each entity that they were satisfied that all procedures and requirements had been met before the operation was finally approved by the GPA's Bunkering Superintendent.

1890 Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, the hon. Minister did say as part of his answer that there was a risk assessment being carried out – that was part of the answer provided. Can the Minister provide Parliament with copies of the risk assessment?

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, no, that is not possible. These are commercial in nature.

Q382/2015

Health and safety in schools –
Provision of 2014/2015 reports

Acting Clerk: Question 382/2015, the Hon. J J Netto.

Hon. J J Netto: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Education please provide Parliament with copies of all health and safety reports prepared during 2014 and 2015 in relation to all schools?
1905

Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Education and Justice.

1910 Minister for Education and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, health and safety reports are prepared by schools and submitted to the Department of Education almost on a daily basis as part of the repairs and maintenance schedules. Issues relating to health and safety will be identified as such and prioritised by the Department of Education.

These are internal documents issued by all the schools as part of the internal mechanisms developed by the Department of Education. It is not intended to make these working documents public, nor, I am advised, has it ever been the practice of any administration to make such documents public.

CHIEF MINISTER

Q389/2015

Money lending licences – Details of current licensees

1915 Acting Clerk: Question 389/2015, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Chief Minister please state how many money lending licences are currently in issue, with details of the name of the licensee, date of issue and expiry?

1920 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I am very pleased to say the hon. Gentleman and I have discussed this question and the answer I am about to give a few moments ago.

1925 The details requested, Mr Speaker, are not in the public domain but I am prepared to provide these details on a strictly confidential basis if the hon. Member agrees. There are 16 money lending licences currently in issue.

1930 Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful to the Chief Minister for at least making the number public – the amount public – and I am willing to accept that that information on a confidential basis... although I fail to understand why it is, in fact. He says it is not publicly available and that may be true but, indeed, when entities are granted licences you just need to go... Money lending? I am not too sure.

For example, under the financial services regime you have listed the entities which have received the various licences or indeed even trade licences, you need to actually have it in your premises. So it is just odd that this should be subject to confidentiality. Maybe he can give me some information as to why that is the case?

1935 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the fact is that this is a very old Act and it pre-dates both of us being around on this earth, let alone actually, I think, even being in this Parliament.

1940 The fact is that there is no reason at first blush why this information should not be public, but there are a number of licensees. In the time available I have not had an opportunity of asking that an exercise be done of speaking to the licensees and asking them whether they have any difficulty in their licence being made public.

1945 The people who make up this list, in some occasions, have actually set up shop and have shop fronts where they say that they are moneylenders and they probably have their licence exhibited in their premises. Therefore, in principle, those are likely to say they have no difficulty, but I do not want to provide something publicly that has never been provided before, without everybody who is on the list having been told.

1950 So if he will bear with me I will give him this information on the basis that I have said and happily look into whether this should be something that can be provided publicly in the future in this House or even perhaps on a register which is maintained on a website. For some reason this is still done by the Ministry for Finance, not by any other entity, but it is something that, at first blush, I agree with him – there is no reason why it should not be made public.

But, given the finite number of licensees, I think it is appropriate to have a conversation with each of them which is not controlled by the Government and ensure that publication is not going to affect anybody's business in any adverse way.

1955 Even if one of them were to say, 'Well, look, we really wouldn't like the thing published,' we may then have to take a decision to do it anyway, but I think it is something to consider in slower order.

EDUCATION & JUSTICE

Supply teachers and staff –
Details and reasons for contracts –

Acting Clerk: Question –

1960 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, is it a convenient time for me to place a supplementary question to the Minister for Education in respect of the schedule he gave me for Question 3 –

Mr Speaker: I am a bit lost. I really do not know which is the next –

1965 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, when the Minister answered my Question 381 he passed round a schedule and, following an established practice which I think both sides of the House have agreed to, you carried on with the next question. I am asking is it now a convenient moment when I may ask the Minister for Education my supplementary?

1970 Mr Speaker: [Inaudible]... question.

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, can I refer the Minister for Education to the schedule he gave me? I hope I can explain myself.

1975 On the first columns, Mr Speaker, it says, ‘Number of supply teachers at each school.’ Then it says ‘(1) Governor’s Meadow First School, (2) Governor’s Meadow First School, (3) Governor’s Meadow First School, (4) Governor’s Meadow First School.’ Is that a simple chronological number, saying that there are four different teachers or is it a total of 10 teachers because one plus two plus three plus four is 10?

The same applies when you look at all the other schools. Perhaps the nomenclature for the column is incorrect. Can I have that first clarification?

1980 Minister for Education and Justice (Hon. G H Licudi): Mr Speaker, it is, as I understand it, the same nomenclature that has been used when the question was previously asked, which I believe was back in January. But it is simply a chronological statement: teacher number 1, teacher number 2, teacher number 3, teacher number 4. That is all that it means.

1985 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, I thought so. I needed you to clarify that.

Then, Mr Speaker, at the bottom of that page, the last 17, where it says the school will vary and it is to cover short-term absences and not fixed... less than three months is a period – one takes it to be for the term.

1990 Because the school is not fixed and so on, this logically says that it will vary on a day-to-day basis according to just short-term absences and so on, am I correct in assuming that these teachers have to report daily to the Department of Education from where they are deployed and, hypothetically, if there are not 17 teachers who are suffering from bad headaches or influenza or whatever that day, what happens to that teacher? Is she then dismissed for the day or are they usefully employed as an additional support in some other school?

1995 In other words, are those 17 guaranteed that every day they will have some duties to do or is it that they turn up ad hoc and will be told, ‘Yes, today you are needed’ or ‘No, go elsewhere and have a coffee because your employment is not necessary today’? Is the Minister aware of that situation?

2000 Hon. G H Licudi: Yes, Mr Speaker, and the position is exactly the same as it was when the hon. Member was at the Department of Education. Teachers do not attend on a daily basis and, in fact, the answer says ‘not fixed’ because it is less than three months.

2005 The hon. Member will recall that we gave a commitment that whenever there was a need for somebody to be engaged for at least three months they would be given a fixed-term contract, rather than an ad hoc casual arrangement like the hon. Members used to have with the supply teachers, with no employment rights, no pension, no security of tenure. We changed all that when we came into office. That is why you now have estimated lengths of contracts of seven months, 11 months, four months etc.

2010 Where the need is for less than three months because a teacher might be ill with the flu for a week, then there is a supply list and, as the hon. Member knows, there is somebody in charge – of the Department of Education – of assessing the needs of particular schools or all the schools almost on a daily basis, and calling up teachers who are on the list and who do not have fixed-term contracts because they have not been engaged for at least three months, and then asking them whether they can go to a particular school to cover that absence.

2015 It is all to cover short-term absences of a few days, a week, a couple of weeks. The list shows the number of people who were actually engaged. This is not a list of supply teachers, this is a list of supply teachers who were engaged, because the question was, ‘How many are currently engaged?’ So this is the list of those who were currently engaged, doing work as supply workers – some on fixed-term contracts, some without fixed-term contracts but just covering absences on that particular day. So this is not just a supply list, this is a list of persons who were actually engaged on the day that the list was compiled.

2020 Therefore these teachers would have been told, ‘You are needed in Bayside for a week,’ or ‘You are needed in Sacred Heart to cover this particular short-term absence,’ to the extent that there is a greater list without particular needs on a particular or couple of weeks or a month... Then those teachers will not be sent to any school where there is no need, they will simply wait to be called and to be allocated work on an ad hoc basis.

2025 As the hon. Member will see – and a stark difference to the position that the hon. Members used to have – the vast majority of the teachers... in fact we have 44 teachers currently – when I say currently I mean on the day this was prepared – with a fixed-term contract. On the supply list – not just on the supply list called on an ad hoc basis, but with fixed-term contracts of varying months – and then an extra number... an extra 17, as it was on that particular day, who were called to cover short-term absences without a fixed-term contract because those short-term absences were expected to be for less than three months.

2030 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, it does clarify. However, Mr Speaker, those 17 there – not fixed because they are less than three months and so on – in that list it could include teachers who are retired and are now coming back to help to cover the demand for short-term supply. So not all of them are necessarily looking towards obtaining a longer-term contract. They are just those teachers who, because of their vocation and so on, do not mind being called up occasionally and... said, ‘Look, someone has had to go to the doctor. He has been given a medical certificate for the next five days,’ and they are called in.

2035 Especially, Mr Speaker, the Minister might be aware when you get to secondary school levels and so on where what you require is more specialist, it is not just a question of sending a teacher, but if, hypothetically, someone is absent who normally teaches an examination class in French then there would be absolutely no point in sending me to that classroom to cover because I do not even know enough words in French to string up a sentence. So it is in many ways subject related.

2040 If he does not have the information it does not matter. Just, should next I pose a similar question then perhaps the Minister could look into that possibility, because not all those then are necessarily looking for employment.

2045 I take note that the Minister said this is like a snapshot taken on a particular day. If that is the case, perhaps somewhere in the answer it should say, ‘This is as of this day,’ or ‘as at that week or term.’ It does help the situation. Otherwise when one looks back on the records, having asked this in the summer term, I could easily interpret in a few months’ time that this is a situation that reflected the whole term, rather than just to a particular day.

2050 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, there is no question of the hon. Member being able to look back and thinking that this reflects the position of the whole term. I just said that the question is, ‘How many are currently engaged?’ The hon. Member will know when he posed the question, when the answer was given and therefore ‘currently’ means within that window, not over a whole term. There is no other possible interpretation of the word ‘currently’.

2055 As regards the hon. Member’s question as to whether this could include retired teachers, the answer is, yes, it can include supply teachers. My understanding is that generally teachers when they retire, they retire and they do not generally want to go on the supply list. I can think of one or two that have been doing some work after their retirement, but that is really a minority.

2060 The hon. Member will find that the very vast majority of those on the supply list are teachers who are qualified and looking for permanent employment rather than retired teachers – although there is the odd occasion when a retired teacher will come in to fill in a particular gap and, as the hon. Member has said, there might be a specialist that is required on a particular occasion who cannot be found on the supply list and then a retired teacher might come in to cover that very short gap that might be needed.

DEPUTY CHIEF MINISTER

Q398/2015

European Parliament and European Commission – Update from Deputy Chief Minister

2065 Acting Clerk: Question 398/2015, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Deputy Chief Minister provide details of what issues were discussed at his recent European Parliament and European Commission meetings to include who he met at those meetings?

2070 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Yes, Mr Speaker, my last visit to Brussels was from 13th to 16th April. The main subjects for discussion during the visits were civil aviation, taxation and border delays. I met with Commissioner Dimitris Avramopoulos who is responsible for migration and border management. I also met with 12 MEPs from six different political groups.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, can he provide more details? He mentions those topic areas – for example, one of them, which is really very relevant, would be the matter of civil aviation and certainly the problems at the border. In fact the press release issued by the Government referred to taxation, aviation and freedom of movement.

2080 Can he give more particulars in relation to what precise issues were discussed under those broad headings?

Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, yes, in relation to civil aviation the discussion was obviously to do with the attempts to exclude Gibraltar from the application of EU civil aviation legislation. So many of the meetings with MEPs centred on... or many of the MEPs were vice-presidents on the Transport Committee or the spokesmen of political groups on the Transport Committee who we felt needed to be briefed from the Gibraltar perspective.

2090 In relation to freedom of movement, obviously this was the ongoing Commission investigation into the border and this was mainly discussed with the Commissioner himself but also with several Members of the European Parliament as well.

The third issue was taxation. The hon. Member may be aware of the new Tax Committee which the European Parliament set up following the Luxembourg leaks scandal. That was the issue that was discussed in relation to taxation.

CHIEF MINISTER

Q399/2015

Civil Service – Development of training programme

2095 Acting Clerk: Question 399/2015, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Chief Minister provide details of the training programme which he claims is being developed for the Civil Service?

2100 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar has recognised the need to develop its employees so that they are fully-equipped to deliver a satisfactory service both now and in the future. A training and development section has been created within the Human Resources Department to identify and cater for the appropriate training and development of staff, in order to ensure that public servants have the necessary knowledge, skills and behaviours to meet both their and their public service objectives both in the short and the long term.

2110 Links have been established Civil Service Learning – that is a proper name, the Civil Service Learning – in the United Kingdom and together with the Human Resources Department will be providing training workshops and seminars. These will range from inductions in customer care to more in-depth management and leadership courses and other courses that may be oriented towards specific skills required within certain areas of the service. This will assist in ensuring that an enhanced and specialised service is provided to our service users and the general public.

2115 Additionally, we are pursuing exchanges of the Civil Service Organisations of other overseas territories, the United Kingdom and the EU service training bodies.

So, Mr Speaker, as the Hon. Member will see from this answer, this is not just a ‘claim’ as his question states, but a reality which has been warmly welcomed by the public sector. I have no doubt the private sector will welcome these initiatives also.

2120 All in all this demonstrates our commitment to provide opportunities for meaningful training and career development within the public sector as a whole. I am very happy to be offering these opportunities and trust that we will enjoy the support of the whole House in doing so.

Hon. D J Bossino: I did not use that word ‘claim’ in a negative way, but of course it had to be the Chief Minister who picked on it and had to make a comment in relation to it.

2125 All the information which he has provided to us just now, basically is that the end product in terms of the training programme? The reason why I ask this is because he is quoted in the press as saying that this is only the tip of the iceberg of the programme that is being developed by the Chief Secretary. So is there more to come by way of development which is presumably being undertaken by the Chief Secretary?

2130 Hon. Chief Minister: Indeed, Mr Speaker, this answer has been prepared by the Chief Secretary and there is much more to come. For example, when I am telling him that we are now working with Civil Service Learning and that is an organisation – there is an organisation called ‘Civil Service Learning’ in the United Kingdom – we are working with them and therefore tapping into everything that they offer to the United Kingdom Civil Service, which is now also available to the overseas territories. Other overseas territories have some things which we may be able to learn from and there is now contact between the overseas territories on what it is that we can do.

2135 The exchanges which will start will be starting. They will continue. So this is the beginning of what I hope will be something that endures over many different administrations of whatever partisan complexion they may be.

Q400/2015

New advisory council for strategic economic goals – Details

2140 Acting Clerk: Question 400/2015, the Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can the Chief Minister provide details relating to the new advisory council for strategic economic goals to include who will participate in the main and subcommittees?

2145 Acting Clerk: Answer, the Hon the Chief Minister.

2150 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, Government Press Release 268 of 2015 sets out the thinking behind the establishment of Gibraltar 2025 in partnership. More details of who will participate in the main and subcommittees will be announced when the Government has completed the process of approaching relevant individuals. The process has begun, but is not yet complete.

Q383-388/2015 and Q390-93/2015 – Written answers provided 2155 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, at that stage without waiting for the adjournment, I should inform the House that Questions 383-388/2015 and Questions 390-93/2015 are to be answered by Minister Bossano, who, as we know, is not in the Caribbean, but in South America, in Nicaragua, dealing with the issue of the UN seminar which he traditionally deals with; therefore he will not be able to provide the answers during this session of Parliament. Under Standing Order 16 the answer can be provided either in writing all the next meeting of the House of the election of the questioner.

I have the written answers with all the information ready to pass.

2160 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I would ask that Mr Speaker rules on this particular point because it is an important point of principle. Mr Speaker, before I get to it, let me just say that the Opposition has attempted to be as reasonable as it possibly can in relation to this. I have agreed that some of my questions can be answered in writing, Mr Bossino has agreed that his questions can be answered in writing, and indeed, Mr Reyes has also agreed that his questions can be answered in writing.

2165 However, there are six questions, and indeed I can whittle it down to five questions in relation to Gibraltar Investment Holdings Ltd and when the Gibraltar Savings Bank provided loans to that company, which is highly relevant to my speech during the Budget, and therefore I require that Mr Bossano answer them orally. The reason why I say ‘require’, Mr Speaker, is because the Rules cannot, in my respectful submission, be interpreted in the manner that the Chief Minister wants them to be interpreted, which is – and it amounts to this – that any Government can really take the view, because of the absence of a particular Minister in this House, to effectively choose not to answer a particular question orally, have that question answered in writing or alternatively been adjourned to the next session of the House, and that could be highly relevant to the questioner, because of course it is highly relevant to me here because I need the information for preparation for my Budget speech.

2170 The Rules... and I do not think that is what the Rules actually provide and I have never come across a situation where the Government says, ‘We are not answering this question orally. You can either have it in writing or alternatively you can wait’, simply because the Minister is not here to answer questions.

The relevant provision is 16(2), and it says:

‘If any question remains unanswered when the Parliament adjourns on the last day of a meeting, a written answer shall be sent to Members who put the question.’

2180 What this means is that when it says, ‘if any question remains unanswered’, what that is getting at is a situation where, for example, the information is not available – not because the Minister is not here to answer questions. There are nine other Government Ministers who could answer or alternatively it could be adjourned to next week or in two weeks’ time. It is if the information is not available.

2185 I know when he talks about ‘Parliament adjourns’, it is an adjournment sine die, and what I would urge on, Mr Speaker, is to rule that no, we have to come back in two weeks’ time when Mr Bossano is here so that he can answer these six questions, otherwise we are in a situation where, Mr Speaker, for example, in theory, in a month’s time – and of course the information is important for me today – Mr Bossano or the Government could come back to this House and say, ‘Under Rule 16(2) we are now going to provide you the information because Mr Bossano is no longer here again and you can either have it in writing or alternatively the next session of the House’. It is just a device, Mr Speaker, to delay answering a question orally or to prevent a question to be answered orally.

2190 I do not think that this is what this is designed to do. This is designed for a situation either where, for example, it cannot be answered because... and that is what I have in mind, a situation where the Government does not have the information available, and of course in that kind of situation, if the Government does not have the information, at the end of the session of parliament it cannot answer. So what happens then? It says, ‘Right, look, you can either have it in writing in due course or alternatively you can adjourn until next time round and have it in a month’s time’, but not a situation such as this where we are here, I have posed the question and Mr Bossano is not here. Indeed, some of these questions are questions really that are... if they are all the public finances, they all should be capable of being answered by the Chief Minister, who is the Minister with responsibility for the public finances of Gibraltar, and to expect to come back in a month’s time when I need the questions for my Budget speech, I do not believe is reasonable, nor do I believe that it is a reasonable interpretation of these Rules.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, may I answer those points?

2205 Mr Speaker: Yes.

2210 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, most of these questions actually relate not just to the public finances of Gibraltar, but actually to the ministerial responsibility of Mr Bossano – namely the Savings Bank and what has the Savings Bank invested in, etc... the debate that we have every month, Mr Speaker. We have the debate every month, Mr Speaker. We give the information every month, Mr Speaker. In fact, there have been 34 meetings of this Parliament now since the Election – 34.

2215 At this stage, Mr Speaker, in the parliamentary cycle, under the previous Administration of which the hon. Member was a Member, we might have had nine meetings, and on the morning of the Budget... on the morning of the Budget, we might receive some of the information which we are then expected to reply to; but that is not the situation that we have perpetuated.

Mr Speaker, I might be told sometimes that we were going to be dealing with the Budget a week before the Budget came on. At the beginning of this session, I have indicated to hon. Members when the Budget will be. There is one more Question Time to go before the next Budget session and indeed, 72 hours between that Question Time and the Budget.

2220 So if the hon Member were to say to me that he does not want the information in writing, but he wants it at the next meeting of the House, he would still have it 72 hours before he needs to write his speech. But I am not telling him, Mr Speaker, that we are not going to provide him with information. I am telling him I have got the information to provide in writing and ready to hand it over to him. If he wants the information as much as he says he wants it, it is available and we will let him have it in writing, Mr Speaker. That is the most reasonable way to deal with this issue.

2225 If what he wants, Mr Speaker, is to have a debate about the subject, then of course he wants somebody to read him the answers so that he can then engage in what he thinks is his masterly style of then purporting to cross examine and, he says, gets to the bottom of things which there is no bottom to getting on to. But anyway, Mr Speaker, the information that he says he needs is available and is going to be provided to him in writing.

2230 This morning, at the end of Question Time, the Government intends to deal with one Bill and adjourn the House sine die, Mr Speaker. That is what we are going to do and he can have the answers in writing because in my view the reading of Standing Order 16 could not be clearer. The hon. Gentleman says that the provision of Rule 16(2) which says:

2235 ‘If any question remains unanswered when the Parliament adjourns...’

– means, Mr Speaker, because he says so... means when the Government does not have the information and then they can reply to it in writing at any time. Well, Mr Speaker, if the Government does not have the information, the Government may not have the information in order to be able to reply in writing; there is no question of there being a choice.

2240 Mr Speaker, my submission – not my imperative view, because I do not seek to impose views on anyone, as the Hon. Member tells it in the way that he postulates his submission – is that that Rule does not mean that, Mr Speaker. It simply means, for example, that where a Member is not present, the answer can be given. If we were trying to avoid giving the information, I would simply have got up here, Mr Speaker, and said, as I could have, ‘It has not been possible in the time available to provide the information’ or ‘in the absence of Mr Bossano it has not been possible to collate the information. We will provide it when we can’ or ‘because Mr Bossano is not here, we will answer at the next meeting’; but that is not what I am saying, Mr Speaker.

2250 I am saying I have the information and I can pass it in writing because Mr Bossano is not available here to answer the questions which the Government considers he should answer. That is all, Mr Speaker, and I ask that you rule that therefore the Government is at liberty to either provide the answers to these questions in writing or that the Member can then seek to go to the next meeting. Of course, Mr Speaker, at the next meeting he can ask the questions again. So if I were advising him – which I would not do because he would disregard what I say to him... perhaps not a bad thing because I would give him good advice and I do not want him to act in keeping with good advice. I want him to continue acting the way that he is acting.

2255 I would say to him, ‘Take the information in writing now for this month and next month ask the question again, because we will give you the information again’. All that 72 hours before you create a speech which I shall look forward to demolishing on the Thursday after you deliver it.

2260 Hon. D A Feetham: May I come back?

Mr Speaker: May I be given an opportunity to give some guidance –

2265 Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, of course.

Mr Speaker: – and express my own views which I think maybe appropriate.

2270 This is an unusual situation; it is not something that happens very often. If it were to happen very often in that Ministers were to absent themselves from meetings of the House and therefore fail to answer questions, then one would deprecate the practice; but it is very unusual. It is of course for the Government to decide who answers questions, and it may not always be appropriate that another Minister should answer questions because they may be of a highly technical nature and supplementaries may arise which that other Minister might not be able to deal with.

2275 In the past, as I say, I can never remember in all the years when I was in Government that Ministers were ever absent when there was a meeting of the House, but then, in those days it is also fair to say that the House was not meeting for 10 months of the year – virtually every month as we do. Then, five or six meetings a year were held and every attempt was made to hold those meetings on occasions when they might not clash with commitments which Ministers could have outside Gibraltar; but that is not the situation now. The situation now, the reality is that Ministers are very often away. It is a practice that has developed over the years because of the demands of Government and the demands of the situation in Gibraltar require that that should be the case.

2280

The Hon. Mr Feetham did not read the proviso to Rule 16(2). There is a proviso there, and essentially the proviso is that if the hon. questioner does not want a written answer, he can say, within three days of the adjournment, 'Now, look, I want a question to be postponed to the next meeting of Parliament.' He has explained the problem. He needs this information because he needs it for –

2285

Hon. D A Feetham: A supplementary, sir.

Mr Speaker: It is supplementary information that he needs for the Budget (Interjections).

The question could be asked again. I understand that the next meeting of the House will be on 17th – that would give him five days with the weekend in between. If he feels that that is not sufficient, that he does not have enough time if he is provided with that information then, if he feels that that is the case, there is an alternative. The alternative is that he could accept the written answers and having seen what the written answers are, I could suggest that he could then write to the Government with a series of supplementaries requiring whatever other further information he requires, over and above what is given in the written answer. He could pursue that in writing and that might be a reasonable compromise that might meet the problem.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, Mr Speaker.

But of course Mr Speaker ignores the history of the way that Government has been answering questions about Credit Finance and Gibraltar Investment Holdings Ltd, and if Mr Speaker thinks that I am here standing up making a point for the sake of making it, I am afraid that he is sadly mistaken. I am making –

2300

Mr Speaker: Have I said anything – (Interjections) In what I have said, will the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition indicate what it is that I have said that could give him that impression that he is just standing up to make a fuss? Have I said anything that gives that impression to him? That I am not being respectful of his concerns?

2305

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker, my concern had derived from the fact that the Government has answered questions in relation to Credit Finance and Gibraltar Investment Holdings in a particular way. I have not seen these answers, but at every single opportunity and at every single stage where I have asked questions, there have always been prevarications, obstacles, the refusal to answer supplementaries, and I suspect that is going to be the position in relation to these questions. So therefore I want to ask supplementaries in relation to these questions, because these are a very important series of questions.

2310

Now, Mr Speaker, with respect – (Interjection) No, I am on my feet!

2315

Hon. Chief Minister: I am asking you to give way.

Hon. D A Feetham: No, I am not going to give way as you have not given way on numerous occasions where I have asked you to give way. (Interjection) No, you established a long time ago –

2320

Mr Speaker: Order. Order!

If the hon. Members will not subscribe to the instructions that I give, I am prepared to take further steps if the [Inaudible]

May I add one further thing? Of course, in respect of when the House meets, the Speaker has no control over that situation. The Speaker does not call meetings of the House; that is for the Leader of the House to do so.

Hon. D A Feetham: Indeed, Mr Speaker.

But, Mr Speaker, what we are dealing with is questions about the public finances of Gibraltar – that is what we are dealing with. They are questions... Mr Speaker, the Chief Minister says he has the answers. He could very easily give us his answers orally. If I have supplementaries and he cannot answer those supplementaries for whatever reasons, he can say, 'I do not have the information' or 'I cannot answer those supplementaries'. I mean there are other ways of proceeding.

2330

I just think that relying on a Rule which is highly, highly unusual – I have never come across it, certainly since I have been in Parliament and Mr Speaker says that he has not come across it – where a Government says, 'Yes, okay. There has been an oral question that has been posed for answer, but I am afraid that the Minister is not here and so we will either give it to you in writing or alternatively you can adjourn to the next month and get it answered the next month'. I think that establishes a dangerous precedent and what I am saying is that this Rule does not allow that, because effectively, when it says, 'If any question remains unanswered', for the Hon. the Chief Minister to be right, the interpretation of this is 'If the Government does not want to answer any questions when parliament adjourn'. That is what he is inviting you to basically hold.

2335

2340

If the Government does not want to answer any question orally and the parliament then gets adjourned, then it has got to be in writing or it goes to the next month. I do not believe that that is a reasonable interpretation of these Rules –

2345

Mr Speaker: May I say –

Hon. D A Feetham: – and I am asking Mr Speaker to give a ruling on this so that we all know where we stand in the future.

2350

Mr Speaker: I think it would be a totally different situation if a Minister was present in Gibraltar and able to attend the meeting of the House and the Government were to refuse to answer that question –

2355

Hon. D A Feetham: Well, Mr Speaker –

Mr Speaker: That would be clearly wrong.

Hon. D A Feetham: Will you give way?

2360

Hon. D A Feetham: The Rules cannot vary in accordance with circumstances. The Rules have an interpretation and what I am saying is that it cannot be in the gift of the Government to refuse to answer the questions, whether it is for –

2365

Mr Speaker: Okay. Let me then make a ruling on the question of when a question remains unanswered. Why might a question remain unanswered? It can remain unanswered because the Minister is not here and the Government considers that they want that particular Minister to deal with the matter; or it remains unanswered because the questioner, the person who has put down the question on the Order Paper, is not here to ask the question.

2370

Those are the only two situations in which, according to the Rules, a question might not be answered. (Interjections) The Rules certainly do not provide for the Government to refuse to answer a question – that would be contrary to the Rules. (Interjections)

2375

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, a lot has been said which I think I need to reply to, although you have ruled and the Government of course accept your ruling. But the Hon. Member needs to understand there is no question of the Government accepting that we answered with prevarication, that we put obstacles and that I do not want to deal with these issues.

2380

Mr Speaker, the Hon. Member and I are fresh out of a television debate on the public finances, less than 3½ weeks ago. He said he was very much looking forward to having that debate unconstrained by the Rules of parliamentary debates – i.e. able to do things which we are not able to do in this parliament. Well, I would rather have debates constrained by rules, in particular rules that require one to tell the truth, but anyway...

2385

Is there a dangerous precedent, Mr Speaker? A dangerous precedent would be set if, as you rightly say, Mr Bossano were in Gibraltar and we decided not to answer; but Joe Bossano is in Nicaragua defending Gibraltar's interests in the United Nations seminar. He is not on holiday on a cruise.

Mr Reyes exempted himself from a meeting of the Parliament because he was on a cruise – so be it (Interjections) as it is a matter entirely for him. But the Minister is on important Government business in the national interest.

2390

Mr Speaker, the interpretation of the Rule which the Hon. Member wants to give is a totally self-serving one. Let us be very clear, Mr Speaker. I can get up as Leader of the House whenever I want, halfway through questions. I can get up and say, 'I now move to adjourn the House sine die', and then there is no debate and no ruling, and answers are sent in writing or the question can be put at the next parliament (Interjections) and I have the majority of votes in this House and the House adjourns sine die. (Interjection)

Therefore, Mr Speaker, the interpretation of the Rules is not one that changes or that requires ruling, it is an explicitly clear one, which the Hon. Member wants to try and twist to his advantage, and I am very grateful, Mr Speaker, for your ruling because that accords to the Government's – 2400 Mr Speaker: Can I say that I have no doubt that the word ‘adjourns’ here... if any question remains unanswered when the Parliament adjourns on the last day of a meeting is an adjournment sine die, because otherwise it would not happen on the last day of a meeting. Because if today the Chief Minister were to adjourn the House to 15th June, then on 15th June it is the same meeting and that would be the last day of the meeting. Therefore what the Rule is saying is if that happens, then a written answer shall be sent to the Member who put the question, unless under the proviso he requests in writing that it should be left to a subsequent meeting. That is what the Rule says and that is clear-cut.

Questions for Written Answer

2405 Acting Clerk: Answers to Written Questions, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to table the answers to Written Questions W37/2015 to W72/2015 inclusive.

Order of the Day

BILLS

FIRST AND SECOND READING

Social Security (Insurance) (Amendment) Bill – First Reading approved

2410 Acting Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Social Security (Insurance) Act; and for connected purposes.
The Hon. the Minister for Business and Employment.

2415 Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Social Security (Insurance) Act, and for connected purposes, be read a first time.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Social Security (Insurance) Act, and for connected purposes, be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

2420 Acting Clerk: The Social Security (Insurance) (Amendment) Act 2015.

Social Security (Insurance) (Amendment) Bill 2015 – Second Reading approved

2425 Minister for Business and Employment (Hon. N F Costa): Mr Speaker, I beg to move that the Bill for the Social Security (Insurance) (Amendment) Act 2015 be read a second time.

2430 Mr Speaker, the Bill amends the Social Security (Insurance) Act and the Social Insurance (Benefits) Regulations. The Bill introduces changes to Social Security legislation in order to allow for a maternity grant to be claimed on the basis of the social insurance record of a child’s father. The current position is that the mother of the child can only claim from her own, her husband’s or her civil partner’s contributions, to the detriment therefore of unmarried couples where the mother has insufficient insurance contributions.

This measure has been proposed as a result of assurances made by the Hon. the Chief Minister in his budget speech of June of last year, that common law relationships be recognised for benefit purposes. For this reason, the Bill has retrospective effect and should be deemed to have come into operation on 30th June of last year.

2435 I will now move, Mr Speaker, to particular clauses of the Bill.

Clause 2(2) amends the principal Act by deleting section 2(4)(d) which states that an illegitimate child shall not be treated as being issue of the child's father. The effect of this, albeit minimal in practice, is that death grants will now be payable in respect of illegitimate children. This amendment was necessary in the context of the other key provisions being introduced.

2440 Clause 2(3) allows a woman to claim a maternity grant on the basis of contributions of the child's father. Subclause (3) also states that a woman shall not be entitled to a maternity grant twice by virtue of her own insurance and that of her husband, civil partner or child's biological father.

2445 Clause 2(4) amends section 27 of the principal Act. Section 27 deals with instances where an employer has failed or neglected to pay any contributions that under the principal Act he is liable to pay on behalf of any employed person, and by reason thereof that person has lost in whole or in part any maternity grant she would have been entitled to.

Clause 2(4)(a)(i) amends section 27(2) so that when the employed person is a man, the child's mother in addition to the man's wife, civil partner, widow or surviving civil partner, will have the same right to recover in respect of a maternity grant lost, as a result of failure or neglect by the employer.

2450 Clause 2(4)(a)(ii) corrects an error with respect to maternity allowance in section 27(2) as maternity allowance, as opposed to maternity grant, can only be claimed on the mother's social insurance contributions in accordance with section 11(a) of the principal Act, not through a husband, civil partner etc, who is in employment.

2455 Clause 2(4)(b) amends section 27(4) so that the child's mother can also bring proceedings within the time stipulated therein.

Clause 2(5) amends section 41(2) of the principal Act to allow for the identity of a child's father to be ascertained or proved on presenting a requisition in writing to the custodian of the register relating to the registration of births, marriages, civil partnerships and death.

2460 Clause 2(6) amends paragraph 1(2)(b) of schedule 3 of the principal Act to redefine the expression 'relevant time' so that it includes the child's father as a relevant person within said definition. The paragraph has also been re-worded in the interest of clarity with no effect on its substance.

Clause 3 introduces a consequential amendment and various savings provisions.

2465 Clause 3(1) makes a consequential amendment to regulation 9 of the Social Insurance (Benefits) Regulations by limiting maternity grants claimed during pre-confinement to cases where the mother has claimed on her insurance contributions or on those of her husband or civil partner. Here, the child's biological father has intentionally been omitted as there are concerns over potential abuse and fraud.

2470 Under regulation EC883 of 2004, foreigners working in a member state are entitled to receive benefits on behalf of the family members abroad, as long as they meet the contributions requirements for that benefit. An agreement with Morocco is also in place which establishes the same practice with that country. The reality of the situation, therefore, is that in cases of pre-confinement where the mother is abroad and seeking a maternity grant on the basis of the contributions of the child's biological father, there is potential for abuse due to there being no way to verify that the man named on the maternity grant claim form is actually the child's father.

2475 The Department of Social Security could require mothers to send a birth certificate to verify the identity of the father once the child has been born, but the Department is concerned that regarding women claiming from abroad, the mother may not bother sending the birth certificate once she has received her pre-confinement payment. Therefore, a pregnant woman abroad could lie on the maternity grant claim form about the identity of the father and evade prosecution by staying in that country of residence; therefore, the Department of Social Security would have no way of verifying the authenticity of such claims. The effect of this clause is that women in this category will just simply have to wait until confinement to claim the benefit – in other words, they will still be eligible for the benefit just after birth.

2485 Clause 3(2) and subclause (3) makes saving for women to receive an additional benefit if during the period of 30th June of last year and the date of publication of the Amendment Act they received a reduced maternity grant as a result of not satisfying the relevant contribution conditions and the child's father did satisfy those contributions. Additional benefit must not amount to more than the differences between the reduced grant already received under the prescribed amount set out in the principal Act.

2490 Clause 3(4) is also a savings provision stating that notwithstanding the prescribed time for claiming a maternity grant, set out in paragraph 1(b) of schedule 2 of the Social Insurance (Claims and Payments) Regulations, which is six months, if between 30th June of last year and the date of publication of the Amendment Act a woman received a reduced grant due to not satisfying the relevant contributions conditions and she wishes to claim the additional benefit, or a woman was confined and wishes to claim a maternity grant on the basis of the contributions of the child's biological father, the prescribed time for claiming shall be the period of 12 months beginning with the date of confinement. Mr Speaker, this is to give women enough time to claim the benefits as the six-month prescribed period for claiming may have already elapsed in some cases by the time this legislation comes into force.

2495 Mr Speaker, as you know I shall be moving an amendment to the Bill as regards clause 3(4) so that the 12-month period stipulated therein is extended to 18 months, to give women who meet the conditions more time to claim as the effect of having a 12-month period is that someone who was confined in July of last year, just after the Chief Minister's speech, would only have a month and a half to claim this benefit.

2500 I now commend this Bill to the House. (Banging on desks)

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any Hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

2505 I will now put the question which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Social Security (Insurance) Act and for connected purposes, be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Acting Clerk: The Social Security (Insurance) (Amendment) Act 2015.
