Foreword

In exercise of the powers conferred on it by section 3(1) of the Census Act, HM Government of Gibraltar appointed me as Commissioner to take the Census of Gibraltar as specified in the Census Order, 2022.

The Order stated “The Census shall be in respect of all persons deemed to be usually resident, a short-term resident or a visitor in Gibraltar on Monday 14th November 2022.”

The arrangements were made in pursuance of the Order and the Census was taken on the appointed date and the results are contained in this Report, which I have the honour to submit in accordance with Section 5 of the Census Act.

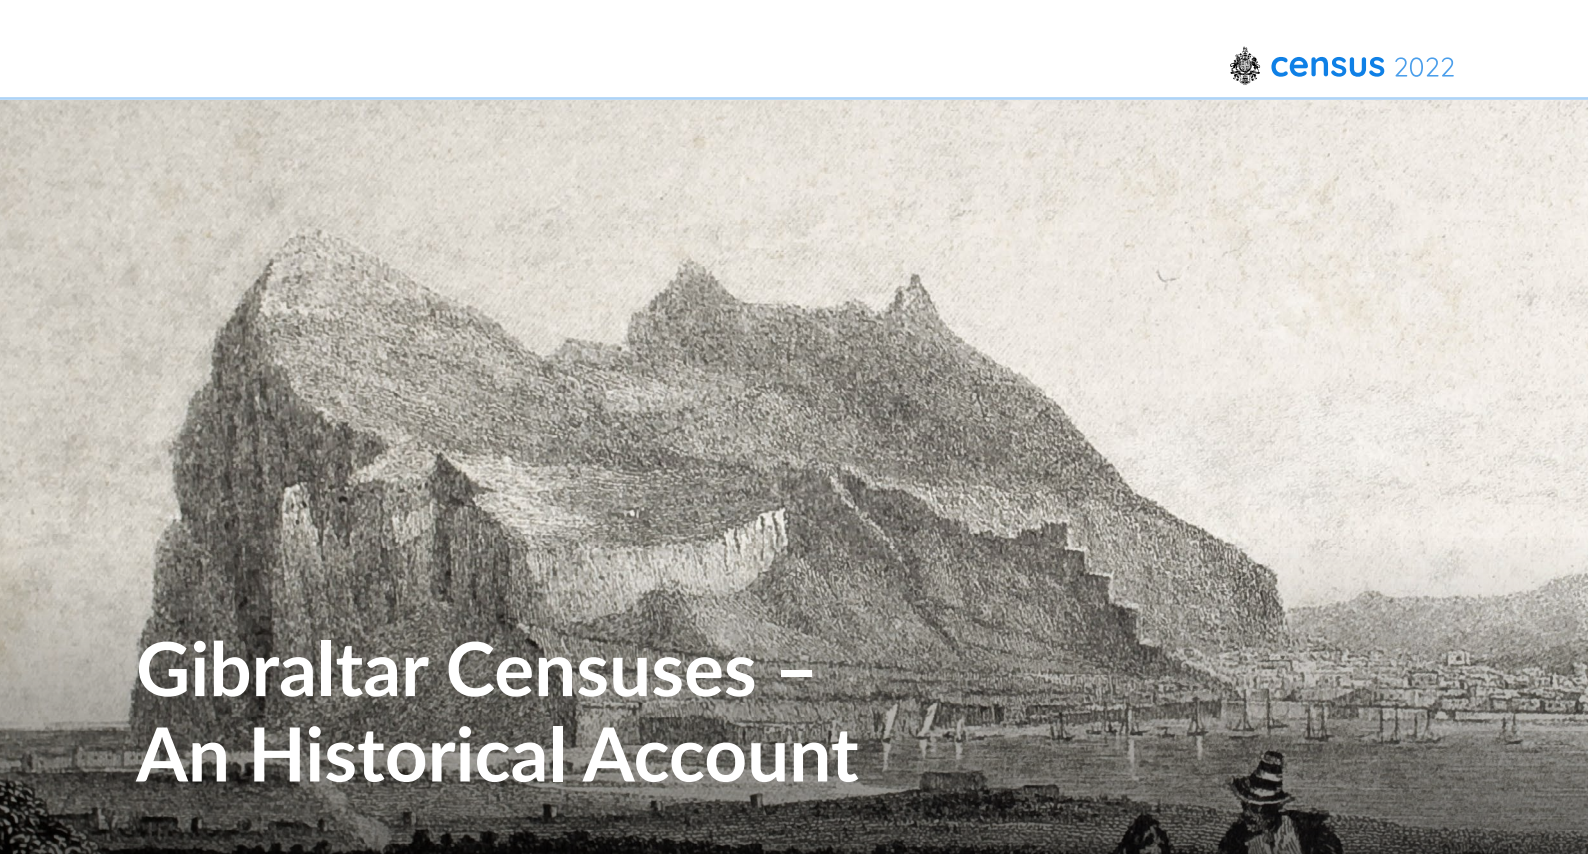

I would like to record my appreciation to the Senior Census Officers, particularly Joelle Bonitch and Kathryn Hooper for their tireless efforts and unwavering commitment to the success of the Census. In addition, I would like to extend my gratitude to Gina Yusifredo for her effective management of the enumeration of Establishments. I also wish to thank the Census Officers at the Statistics Office and Census Enumerators for their hard work and efficient manner in which they carried out their duties, as well as the Director of Postal Services and his staff at the Royal Gibraltar Post Office for the professional and timely delivery and collection of letters and Census Forms.

I would also like to express my gratitude to Piranha Designs Gibraltar for their invaluable support and ingenuity throughout the entire exercise, without which the online Census would not have been possible. I am also grateful to the Press Office team for their outstanding efforts in publicising the Census. Finally, I would like to thank Richard J M Garcia MBE, retired Chief Secretary of HM Government of Gibraltar and historian, author of books on Gibraltar social history and philately, for his fascinating historical account of Gibraltar censuses.

Lastly, I wish to acknowledge the co-operation of members of the public in responding to the Census.

C I Kelly-Federico

Gibraltar Censuses – An Historical Account

The Eighteenth Century

Censuses give a fascinating insight into aspects of Gibraltar's history. The details recorded afford glimpses of how Gibraltar's population arrived in Gibraltar and how it grew and developed.

A number of lists were drawn up in the early 18th century for a variety of purposes: the Spaniards who remained in Gibraltar after its capture by Britain in 1704; the rents payable to the Governor of Gibraltar in 1712; the number of able-bodied men capable of bearing arms in 1725 and so on. However, the earliest Census of the whole civilian population to have survived is that of 1753, four years after the creation of a civilian administration of Gibraltar under the newly-appointed Civil Secretary. The results then were: British 414; Genoese 597; Jews 572; Spaniards 185, and Portuguese 25. The total civilian population numbered 1,793.

By 1767, the Census classified the population into three categories: British Protestants; Roman Catholics; and Jews. That was to remain the standard classification for the rest of the 18th century. The 1767 figures cover the civil inhabitants "within the walls or out at Landport". The Landport was the gate facing the isthmus joining Gibraltar to the Spanish hinterland. The total civilian population was then 2,710: 467 Protestants, 1,460 Roman Catholics and 783 Jews.

Ten years later, in 1777, the Census became more complex. Not only were entries listed under the three religious categories, the population was now divided into "Natives" and "Not Natives". The total figure was then 3,201 of whom 506 were Protestant (all of "British Blood"), 1,832 Roman Catholics (all except 13 of whom were of "Alien Blood") and 863 Jews (all of "Alien Blood"). 1,334 of the inhabitants were natives.

The original 1777 list has survived. It was taken at General Boyd's command in February. Perhaps the most interesting category is that of the Roman Catholic inhabitants, as it lists the country of birth of each person, as follows:

English and Irish	13
Minorkeens*	62
Natives	845
Genoese and Savoyards	672
Portugueze*	93
Spaniards	134
French	13

* These are the spellings of the original list.

The 1777 Census contains an alphabetical listing of all the inhabitants by religion – first British and Protestants, second Roman Catholics and third Jews. The information recorded per person was the surname, first name, age, country of birth (and hence the nationality of the person), occupation, years in the Garrison of Gibraltar and remarks. The Scots today would probably object to the description of their country as recorded in 1777: North Britain. This was the result of the rebellions in the North that resulted in the elimination of the name Scotland from all official documents.

Some of the occupations recorded are quaint: there was one oysterman, there were mantua makers, hucksters, sutlers, patrons (i.e. boat skippers), soil carriers (i.e. persons who removed human and animal waste), lamplighters, lime burners and a "Teacher of the Italian". The remarks column shows that the Census was updated as a record of the population of Gibraltar after the Great Siege of 1779 - 1783, when it was necessary to know how many people of those who left during the Siege had returned. Thus, there are snippets of information such as "Dead", "gone and returned", "Kill'd by a shell", "Deserted during siege to the Enemy", "Tak'n Pris'r by the Span'ds", "order'd away", "flogg'd out for a rape".

Perhaps one of the most fascinating details is the commencement of the list of the Jewish inhabitants of 1777. It reads:

Aboab Isaac	65 born:	Tetuan	Merchant	57yrs in Gibraltar
Aboab Hannah	50 born:	Gibraltar	Wife
Aboab Simha	28 born:	Tetuan	Wife	15yrs in Gibraltar

This detail shows the ambiguity surrounding the implementation in Gibraltar of the Treaty of Utrecht of 1713, which granted Gibraltar to Great Britain in perpetuity. The Treaty provided that there should be no Jews in Gibraltar. Therefore, the English law which forbids bigamy was not applied to the Jews, as they technically were not in Gibraltar.

The next count recorded was in 1787. The population had then increased by 185 to 3,386, of whom 512 were British Protestants, 2,098 were Roman Catholic and 776 were Jews. Within four years, however, there was a sharp drop in the population. Civil Secretary John Raleigh issued the following Notice, dated 8 February 1791, in both English and Spanish:

The Governor thinking it proper that a correct list of the present Inhabitants and Residents in the garrison shall be immediately made out; Therefore the Inhab'ts and residentiaries of every country and class are hereby required to send into this Office forthwith the names and numbers of each house, family and habitation, including children, servants, tenants, undertenants and lodgers, distinguishing their age, place of nativity and occupation, term of residence and by what Governor or Commander in Chief's permission each foreigner came here.

The Governor likewise requires the number of Mules, Burros, Horses, Cows, Goats and Sheep at this time in the inhabitant's possession: These returns may be dropt into the letter Box address'd to the Secretary, and the Governor hopes there will be no omission.

In addition, at the time, supplementary lists were also made. Examples are the list of Inhabitants Houses of 1778, which was drawn up for the purpose of levying rates on properties for scavenging and cleansing, and the list of Garrison Seamen of 1792.

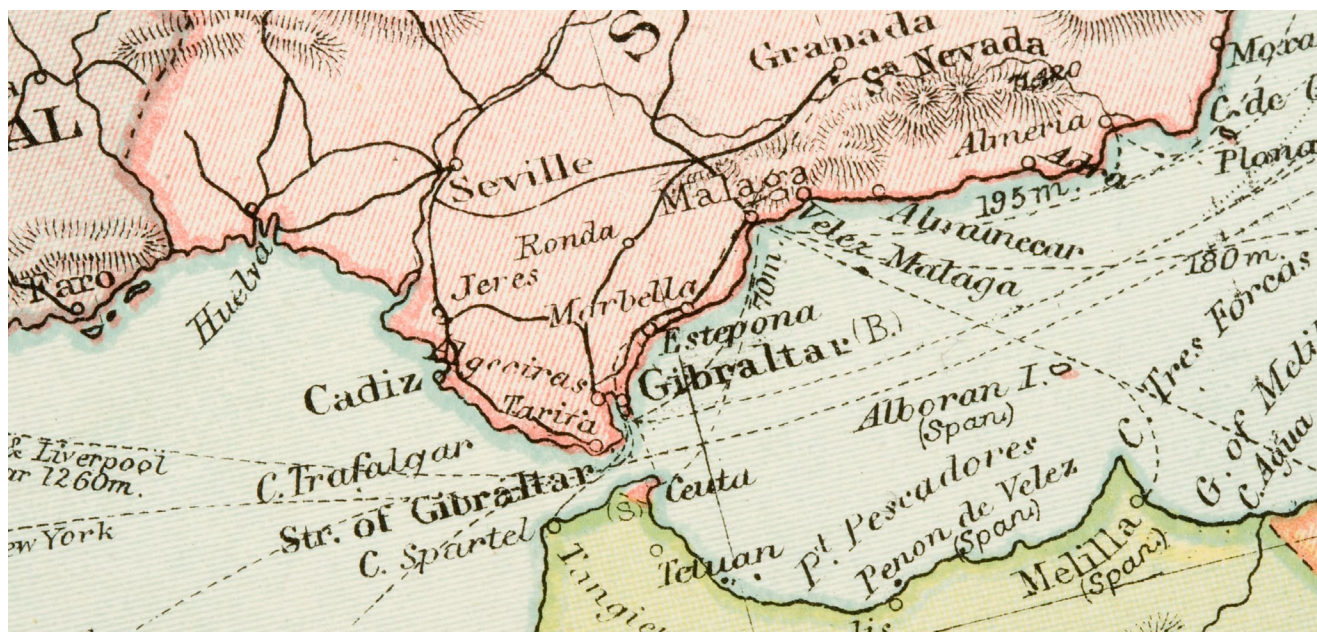

The Nineteenth Century

Following the 1803 Yellow Fever epidemic, Gibraltar was divided into Police Districts and registers were kept of the inhabitants of each district. These registers recorded all arrivals and departures. The information contained in the police counts supplements that of each periodic Census.

The earliest 19th century Census that has survived is that of 1814. It reveals a trebling of the population to 10,136. The main reason for this was that during the Napoleonic wars, Gibraltar was the only port open in Europe for the passage of British goods to other European countries. This attracted a large merchant and trading population, despite the dangers of epidemic diseases.

That the 1814 population was largely composed of recent arrivals is indicated by the breakdown of the figures: only 1,191 inhabitants were of British birth or origin and only 1,851 were native Catholics of alien origin. The great majority of the recent arrivals came from Genoa.

The early 19th century saw several other sudden decreases in population due to epidemics. Thus, there is a note in the Civil Secretary's book, "in 1828 the Garrison became overcrowded and was devastated by a 'fearful epidemic' ". It was Yellow Fever once again. Nevertheless, the police count for 1829 indicated a total civil population of 16,394.

The 1834 Census was based on the Police Districts. The Census Commissioner was then the Police Magistrate, and he was empowered to appoint five Assistants or Enumerators. The count of the population was no longer a complete alphabetical list by religion, but a listing by the areas where people lived.

The modern Census dates from 1868, when The Census of the Population Ordinance, 1868 was enacted. This laid down the basis for the decennial Census. Census Reports, beginning with that for the 1871 Census, were now printed for easy access.

The 1878 Census records that “Aliens” were allowed into Gibraltar on 1st and 2nd class permits and with Fishermen’s Badges. Up to 1,840 fishermen of the Genoese fleet would be based at Catalan Bay at this time, for the duration of the fishing season. There was then no road leading to Catalan Bay and no easy access other than by sea. The companies of fishermen would erect temporary shelters on the beach for the duration of their stay, or they would live in caves. Gradually, some fishermen stayed on even after the season ended. By 1878, a permanent village had been established at Catalan Bay.

One of the tables no longer present in the 1878 Report is that covering the number of convicts. This is because the Convict Establishment was disbanded in 1875, 30 years after its foundation: convicts were no longer sent out to Gibraltar from the United Kingdom. The Establishment was 552 strong in 1871. At its peak, it numbered about 900. Convict labour was used to build part of the present Line Wall, the white stone sea wall that was built close to or on top of the older Spanish and Moorish sea walls. Some of the convicts were released after their term in Gibraltar, others were sent to Australia.

The 1878 population tables divide the civil population into four districts: the Town; the Rock; the South; and North Front and Catalan Bay. These enumeration areas were later to increase in number.

In 1891, for the first time, the Census covered the Port and Harbour, including the people living on board the stationary craft in the Bay such as hulks, pontoons and lighters. They numbered 759 out of a civil population of 19,100. The Military population was then 5,896.

At this time, it was the Registrar of Births who acted as Census Commissioner, a situation that remained unchanged until the 1951 Census. In his 1891 Report, Registrar James C Gordon informed the Colonial Secretary (previously the Civil Secretary):

“ As compared with the Decennial Census taken in 1881, the increase of the civil population of the town is 719, which is even more than could reasonably have been expected when it is considered that overcrowding has existed for many years and that building space is very limited. On the other hand stagnation in trade has lately caused emigration to the states of South America to some extent, and numbers of native families have, within the last few years, taken up their residence in the neighbouring town of La Linea on account of its less expensive house rent and the want of accommodation here.

This, together with the severe limiting of residence permits, helps to explain why the population did not increase appreciably between 1871 and 1931.

Some of the occupations listed in the 1891 Census shed light on Gibraltar's way of life. There were still 29 Goatherds (as opposed to 49 in 1871) and 4 Livery Stable Keepers. Merchants were listed as:

Furniture	15
Indian Goods	3
Matting	2
Gloves	1
Dealers in Crockery	9
Moorish Curiosities	8
Boots and Shoes	3
Wines, Spirits and Beer	45

There were also 8 Car Proprietors (i.e. horse-drawn cabs) and 8 Soda Water Manufacturers.

The 1891 Census reveals the extent of overcrowding at the time. For example, there were 37 households where 7 people lived in a single room, and 88 where 7 people lived in 2 rooms. There were also 58 households where 6 people lived in a single room, and 118 where 6 people lived in 2 rooms. The Enumerators for this Census were the three Sanitary Inspectors.

The Twentieth Century

The British Government required a Census of the British Empire on or near the 2nd April 1911. The Gibraltar Census questionnaire was altered slightly to conform with the requirements of this Census and information was now sought on houses, religion and education, which had not been required for the 1901 Census.

In 1921, the Enumerators were no longer the Sanitary Inspectors: the police performed this task for the first time. It was a logical move: given that the police had been keeping records of the population in the town for many years. There were then 27 Police Districts in the Town and 11 in the South District. They formed four Wards. North Front and Catalan Bay then formed a fifth Ward.

The 1931 Census recorded, for the first time, two separate listings in respect of employment: one was an industry classification and the other an occupational classification. One key factor - which was noted in the covering Report - was that the 6,000 daily frontier workers coming into Gibraltar from Spain did not figure in any of the tables.

No Census was taken in 1941, because of the Second World War. A large proportion of the civil population, estimated at about 16,700 non-combatants, was evacuated to the United Kingdom, Madeira, Jamaica and Tangier. This included all women, children and the elderly. Although the majority of the evacuees returned to Gibraltar, about 1,000 persons preferred to settle permanently abroad. The repatriation lasted from April 1944 to early 1951. This increased the importance of the 1951 Census in order to establish the exact population following the upheavals caused by the war.

The Registrar of Births was no longer the Census Commissioner. In 1951, it was the Director of Labour and Social Security; in 1961, it was the Chief Assistant Secretary. In 1970, 1981 and 1991, the Census Commissioner was Mr Harry Fell, initially on secondment from the Overseas Development Administration. In 2001, the Census Commissioner was Mr Trevor Evans who had recently retired from the post of Census Manager at the Northern Ireland Statistics and Research Agency. Mr Reginald Chichon, who had recently retired from his position as Chief Statistician at the Statistics Office, HM Government of Gibraltar, served as Census Commissioner in 2012. The number of Enumeration Areas (EAs) increased from 16 Civil Districts in 1951, to 20 in 1961, to 64 in 1970 and 1981 and 68 in 1991. In 2001, a slight alteration was made to the demarcation of EAs, reducing the number to 67. In 2012, three additional EAs were added, increasing the total to 70. The enumerators also changed. In 1951, the Police performed this task. In 1961, it was 13 police officers and the Government Rent Collectors. Since 1970, the enumerators were drawn from the Civil Service.

The 1970 Census was a year early. The reason for this was the Spanish Government's closure of the Land Frontier between Gibraltar and Spain on 9 June 1969, with the consequent sudden withdrawal of the Spanish labour force of 4,666 men who had previously entered Gibraltar daily to work. They constituted over one-third of Gibraltar's work force. Gibraltar was then finally and totally cut-off from Spain, on 26 June, with the suspension of the direct ferry link from Algeciras and the Spanish Government's refusal to allow a British ferry to ply the route.

An additional new factor, since the 1961 Census, was that approximately 800 persons previously living in the Spanish hinterland moved into Gibraltar in 1965 as a result of increasing Spanish restrictions against Gibraltar. The 1970 Census provided some much-needed information on Gibraltar's population, manpower and employment (including those with second jobs).

With the 1981 Census, the original time rhythm was restored in line with the traditional decennial pattern for conducting censuses.

The frontier between Spain and Gibraltar was partially opened by Spain in December 1982 and the full opening followed in February 1985. It was important to measure the impacts of the open frontier. They were recorded in the 1991 Census.

The ten-year time gap, which had been re-established since 1981, was broken once more when the planned 2011 Census was deferred to 2012. There were two main reasons for this. Firstly, in early 2011, it was decided that future censuses should follow the model used in many European countries, such as Denmark.

That is, that the relevant census information would be obtained from a number of administrative sources which already held that information on behalf of Government within their computerised systems. It was subsequently decided that this approach would be further and more effectively explored in relation to future censuses. Secondly, a population decennial snapshot is a comprehensive and costly exercise. Consequently, every effort must be made to ensure that the results remain valid and relevant for as long as possible. Given that new housing at Mid-Harbour Estate was expected to become available towards the end of 2011, with subsequent knock-on effects in terms of further population movement, much of the data would have been outdated somewhat prematurely by the time it was available and published.

2022 Census of Gibraltar

1.0 The Census defined

The 2022 Census of Gibraltar can be defined as the process of collecting, compiling and publishing demographic, economic and social data in respect of all persons deemed to be usually-resident for Census purposes as at 14 November 2022.

A Census is simply a statistical survey that aims to cover a complete count of the population rather than a sample or cross-section of that population. This is the largest and most complex statistical exercise carried out in Gibraltar and usually takes place once every ten years. What makes the Census different from other statistical surveys is that everyone is asked the same questions at the same time, unlike a sample survey that covers only a percentage of the population. The Census legally obliges everyone to complete, or be included in, the Census Form as opposed to voluntary participation. The Census is therefore the most comprehensive source of information about the population.

2.0 Regulations

The taking of a Census is governed by the provisions of the Census Act 1951, which allows HM Government of Gibraltar, by order from time to time, to direct that a census shall be taken for Gibraltar. On 27 October 2022, an Order was made under Section 2 of the Census Act requiring a Census to be taken of all persons deemed to be usually resident, a short-term resident or a visitor for Census purposes as at 14 November 2022.

Census Act (2022 Census) Order 2022

The Census Order specifies the following:

1. The date of the Census.
2. Persons in respect of whom the Census shall be taken.
3. Persons by whom the Census shall be taken.
4. Particulars to be stated in returns.

Census Act (2022 Census) Regulations 2022

The Census Regulations was published on the 27th October 2022 and sets out the arrangements that will be made to carry out the Census. These include:

1. Enumeration Areas.
2. Appointment of persons in connection with the Census.
3. Duties of Enumerators, Senior Census Officers and Census Officers.

3.0 What the Census is for

The main purpose of the Census is to provide important information on the entire population. This information is used extensively across the public and private sectors and has many important uses including:

- Provides a sound basis for accurate comparisons in respect of the changes which have taken place over the time period.
- Provides information that will be useful to both HM Government of Gibraltar and other organisations in formulating policies, in targeting resources more effectively and in planning for future housing, education, health, transport, employment and other needs.
- Improves the quality of information collected from other data sources such as administrative systems, address registers and sample surveys.
- Informs and supports research.

That is why it is important for everyone to be counted in the Census.

4.0 Confidentiality

Data security carries the highest priority for the Census. Confidentiality is vital to public confidence in the integrity of the Census.

All persons working with the Census sign an undertaking in accordance with the Census Act (2022 Census) Regulations 2022, to protect the privacy of information. It is a criminal offence to disclose personal Census data.

The information provided on the Census questionnaire is protected by strict legal confidentiality provisions of the Census Act 1951 and the Data Protection Act 2004. All information given is treated in the strictest confidence.

The Government Statistics Office holds and processes personal data in accordance with the Gibraltar General Data Protection Regulation (Gibraltar GDPR) and the Data Protection Act 2004.

Data is collected from the Census questionnaire under the statutory objective to promote and safeguard the production of official statistics that serve the public good. The personal data provided on Census questionnaires will only ever be used for statistical purposes. Statistics are anonymised before publication, so no personal details are released. Furthermore, the statistics are published in a manner that protects the identification of any particular person, as required by the law.

Names and addresses are retained purely for Census purposes and are removed from the data used for tabulation - they are not accessible to anyone requesting Census data.

Once the results of the Census are published and the exercise has concluded, the information obtained from the Census questionnaires is transferred to the Government Archivist, who keeps the Census records secure for 100 years before they are made available to the public.

Further information can be found in the Privacy Notice. (Appendix 4)

5.0 The Timing of the Census

The planned 2021 Census was postponed until 2022, ten years after the 2012 Census. This was due to the challenges posed by the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic and the potential impacts on Census operational plans due to the imposed limitations on mobility and personal contact in 2021, which could affect the accuracy of the count. It was subsequently decided to take the Census on 14 November 2022, which represented the most appropriate time to avoid school holidays, summer and mid-term holidays and religious festivities.

6.0 Planning and Organisation

As part of the early stages of planning for the 2022 Census, preparatory work on the list of addresses, which would form the basis from which the Census would be taken, began in early 2022. The addresses were gathered from two sources:

- (a) The 2012 Census Addresses List.
- (b) The 2022 Rates Domestic Address List provided by Land Property Services Limited (LPS).

To maximise response and avoid undercounts, an accurate and full address list is essential, which requires a lot of meticulous work given that the sources are not entirely consistent in how specific addresses are classified. The 2012 Census Addresses list, updated on the evidence of what Enumerators found at the time when delivering the Forms, constituted the basis for the new list. This was complemented and updated from the information available in the 2022 Rates Domestic Address List.

New Enumeration Maps were drawn up based on the revised addresses list, for use by the Enumerators and Census Office staff.

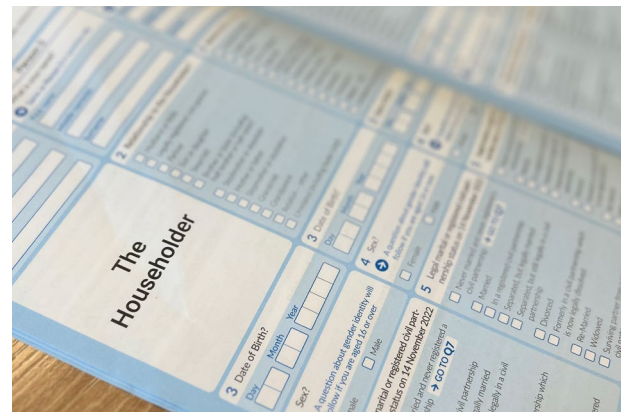

6.1 Census Questions

Census data users were approached in July 2022 principally within Government organisations, with a view to ascertaining specific requirements in respect of which new topics and questions could be included in the 2022 Census. The Census Team considered and evaluated these suggestions in line with the following selection criteria:

- (a) How significant the question is both individually and when cross-tabulated with other questions.
- (b) Whether the data is already available from other Government sources.
- (c) Whether the information can be collected in a manner that eliminates complex coding and input issues for a significant proportion of participants.
- (d) The potential value of the data to be collected, predominantly to the Government.
- (e) Whether the question imposes a significant burden on the form-filler.
- (f) Whether the question is likely to cause controversy with form-fillers and negatively impact the overall response.
- (g) The need to avoid the Census Form from becoming too complex and time-consuming for the form-filler as this could result in a low response rate.
- (h) Questions should be appropriate for a compulsory census.

While space limitations prevented us from including all proposed questions in the final questionnaire, I am grateful to all the organisations that participated and would like to extend my gratitude for their involvement.

A total of forty-eight questions were included in the 2022 Census Form, compared to forty-three questions in the 2012 Census and twenty-six questions in 2001, although, as then, persons were not required to answer all the questions included just those of relevance to them. The 2022 Census Form represented the most comprehensive and inclusive one ever designed in Gibraltar.

The following new questions were recommended for inclusion in the 2022 Census Questionnaire, with the majority of them primarily based on the UK's 2021 Census:

Part A

Household questions:

H1. “Who usually lives here?” This clarifies who should be included as usually resident.

H4. Visitors. This question was introduced to identify those visitors staying in second homes and on holiday.

H8. “Does your household own or rent this accommodation?” Question on the tenure of accommodation and where relevant, type of landlord will supply vital inputs for decision-making and planning to meet future housing needs.

Part B

Individual questions:

Q6. Marriage or registered civil partnership will identify same sex and opposite sex marriage or civil partnership, providing further data on adults by legal partnership status.

Q9. “If you were not born in Gibraltar, when did you most recently arrive to live here?” Migration question will produce useful information to understand trends in migration and the impact of different types of migrants on the economy and society.

Q10. “How long do you intend to stay in Gibraltar?” Migration question will offer useful information on short-term international migration for population estimates.

Q12. “What is your main language?” Response options: “English” and “Other” (including British Sign Language) to collect data on the specific language. This question will offer valuable information not otherwise available and help to improve access to services.

Q15. “Do you have any of the following, which has lasted, or are expected to last, at least 12 months or more?” This question was sourced from the 2022 Scottish Census and will provide comprehensive data on long-term health conditions and disabilities for the first time, helping to drive resource allocation and the provision of services.

For persons aged 16 and over:

Q19. (Voluntary question) Sexual orientation. The results will provide better quality data on the LGB+ community to influence Government policy, advocates and researchers working on LGB+ issues.

Q20. (Voluntary question) Gender identity. A more inclusive gender question was asked of people aged 16 or over. Data on the transgender population is still limited and therefore this question will provide better quality data to inform decision-making and policy development. There is also a need among respondents for the Sex question to be more inclusive.

Q33. “Do you work from home?” The question was included to better understand this important element of the employment situation, which is a new work/lifestyle change, especially after the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic.

While we sought to maintain continuity of questions and consistency of definitions, some minor changes were made to the 2012 Census, as follows:

Household Question

- (a) The number of rooms available. There had always been two questions to understand overcrowding and inform decision-making regarding housing needs strategy. Two questions were deemed unnecessary to provide information on under or over occupancy as this can be calculated from the number of bedrooms. This also serves to minimise response burden.

Individual Questions

- (b) Mortgage question. This was included as an additional response to H8.
- (c) Retired person’s length of time in an occupation. This question was excluded due to poor quality response in 2012.
- (d) Unemployment benefit. This question was excluded as the information is available from administrative records.

- (e) Registration at the Department of Employment. This question was excluded as the information is available from administrative records.
- (f) State other qualified occupational skills. This question was excluded due to poor quality response in 2012.
- (g) Employment status length of time question was excluded due to its limited relevance in 2012.

The following changes to the 2012 Census question wording and/or response options were recommended:

Part A

Household questions:

H6. Type of accommodation. Additional response options: “Detached house”, “Semi-detached house”, and “Duplex” were included. This is the first time that detailed information on the type of dwelling was collected.

H10. Included the following note “Include any company cars or vans available for private use, only by this household”.

Part B

Individual questions:

Q2. “Relationship to the Householder”. Additional response option: “Legally registered civil partner”.

Q4. “Sex”. Included the following note: “A question about gender identity will follow if you are aged 16 or over.” The guidance note for Q4 on Sex advised people to use the sex recorded on one of their legal documents.

Q5. “Legal marital or registered civil partnership status”. Changed the question and added extra response options to account for registered civil partnerships: “Never married and never registered a civil partnership”, “In a registered civil partnership”, “Separated, but legally married”, “Separated, but still legally in a civil partnership”, “Formerly in a civil partnership which is now legally dissolved”, “Surviving partner from a registered civil partnership”.

Q7. “Nationality”. Additional response option: “Other, please specify”, to collect specific data on nationality. This will provide a record of all nationalities at the time of the Census. “Gibraltarian” response option was also changed to “British Gibraltarian” as complaints as to this categorisation were received in 2012 from members of the public.

Q8. “Country of birth”. Additional response option: “Other write in”, to collect data on the specific country. This will provide a record of all countries of birth and provide a useful insight on the changes in migration.

Q16. Changed the question wording to include “physical or mental health”.

Q17. Included the following note: “Exclude anything you do as part of your paid employment” and included extra response options: “Yes, 9 hours a week or less”, “Yes, 10 to 19 hours a week”, “Yes, 20 to 34 hours a week”, “Yes, 35 to 49 hours a week”. To provide more data on unpaid care.

Q23. Additional response option: “Other” to cover all persons not in paid employment.

Q27. Changed the question wording to “Are you actively looking for any kind of paid work?”

Q28. Changed the question wording to “In your main job, what is your employment status?”

Q34. Travel to work. Additional response options: “Work mainly at or from home”, “Driving a car or van”, “Passenger in a car or van”, “PLEV (Personal light electric vehicle, e.g. electric scooter)” and “Other”. These take into account the changes in the mode of travel to work and the new work/lifestyle change, especially after the coronavirus (Covid-19) pandemic.

A net total of five more questions were included in 2022 compared to the 2012 Census.

6.2 Methodology

Continuing with the Government’s commitment to offering online solutions for citizens and following the methodology used successfully by a number of countries including the UK, it was decided to move away from the traditional paper exercise in favour of a primarily online census, using new technologies to improve the efficiency of data collection and processing operations. Paper questionnaires were, however made available to a select cohort of the population who could be digitally challenged and struggle to submit an online response. Paper Forms were also provided to anyone who requested them. For the first time, Postal Workers of the Royal Gibraltar Post Office, a duty previously undertaken by Enumerators, delivered letters, information leaflets and Census Forms. A prepaid envelope was provided to households completing paper Forms. Enumerator’s duties included following up non-responding households and encourage participation in the Census. The aim was to deliver better quality, increase response and speed up data collection and processing. This was an unprecedented event in Gibraltar.

For convenience in the distribution of letters and Census Forms, all persons in Gibraltar were classified under the following groups:

1 Members of households living in houses and flats as specified in Schedule 1 of the Census Act (2022 Census) Regulations 2022 in respect of EAs 1 to 70. This Group received a “Letter to Householders” (Appendix 2) with an online access code, representing 77% of all households.

2 Senior citizens aged 70 and over, living in houses and flats as specified in Schedule 1 of the Census Act (2022 Census) Regulations 2022 in respect of EAs 1 to 70. This Group received a Census Form in addition to a “Letter to Householders” with an online access code, representing 23% of all households.

3 Servicemen in the Royal Gibraltar Regiment living in quarters or barracks.

4 Residents living in institutions such as hostels, hospitals, prison, marinas, churches and care homes.

Two Senior Census Officers were responsible for the administration and organisation of the enumeration of households included under Groups 1 and 2, which accounted for the majority of the population. In accordance with the Census Act (2022 Census) Regulations 2022, Gibraltar was divided into seventy EAs. To ensure data integrity and comparability with past censuses, the 2012 Census EA boundaries were retained. Some EAs were subdivided into smaller units solely for enumeration purposes.

The Royal Gibraltar Regiment agreed to accept responsibility for the enumeration of Group 3 and the Census Forms were delivered and returned as agreed.

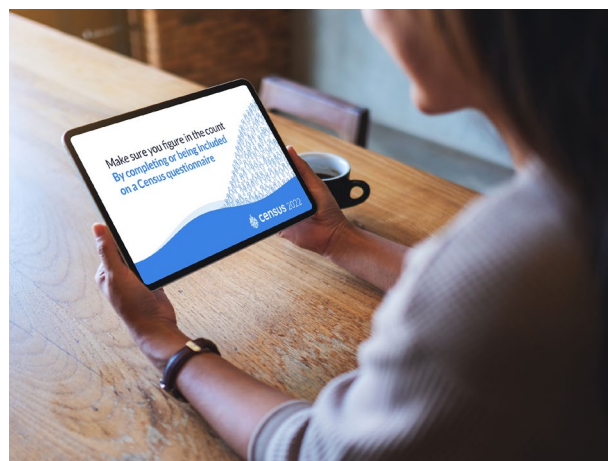

A Senior Census Officer was appointed to conduct the enumeration of Group 4. This Group provided unique challenges due to the diversity of the institutions involved, hence the importance of acquiring the support and cooperation of the establishment’s managers. I am delighted to record my gratitude to them for their assistance in providing the information requested. Care had to be taken with regard to persons in hospitals, prison or care homes to ensure that they were not included in their families’ household Forms in order to avoid any potential double-counting.

EA 90 covered UK-based civilians and their families and EA 100 covered the families of UK-British Service personnel. The Ministry of Defence provided head-count information for EAs 90 and 100, which is sufficient for Census purposes as these persons do not constitute part of the usually-resident population base of Gibraltar (Figure 1 refers).

The Census Enumerators were recruited from the public sector and were trained in the duties of the delivery and collection of the Census Forms and on the use of the interactive online Census Form. Enumerators played an essential role in encouraging online participation in the Census and providing assistance to householders in completing the Form. Special emphasis was placed on the confidentiality aspects of the exercise, which was critical to public trust in the integrity of the Census. All the Census Enumerators and Senior Census Officers signed the Statutory Declaration stating that they had read and understood the provisions of Section 6 of the Census Act. This Section forbids the disclosure or communication of the contents of any Census Form to any person other than to the Census Commissioner and Senior Census Officers. This Declaration was signed in the presence of a Justice of the Peace on 8 November, before the commencement of their duties.

In the months preceding Census day, the online and paper Census Forms, as well as the “Letter to Householders”, “Census Information Leaflet” (Appendices 1, 2 and 3 respectively refer) and Official Notices were completed. The printing, stationery and IT requirements were met and the legislative framework was put in place. Arrangements were made with the Director of Postal Services to collect and deliver the Letters and Census Forms, and a free phone number was established to encourage participation.

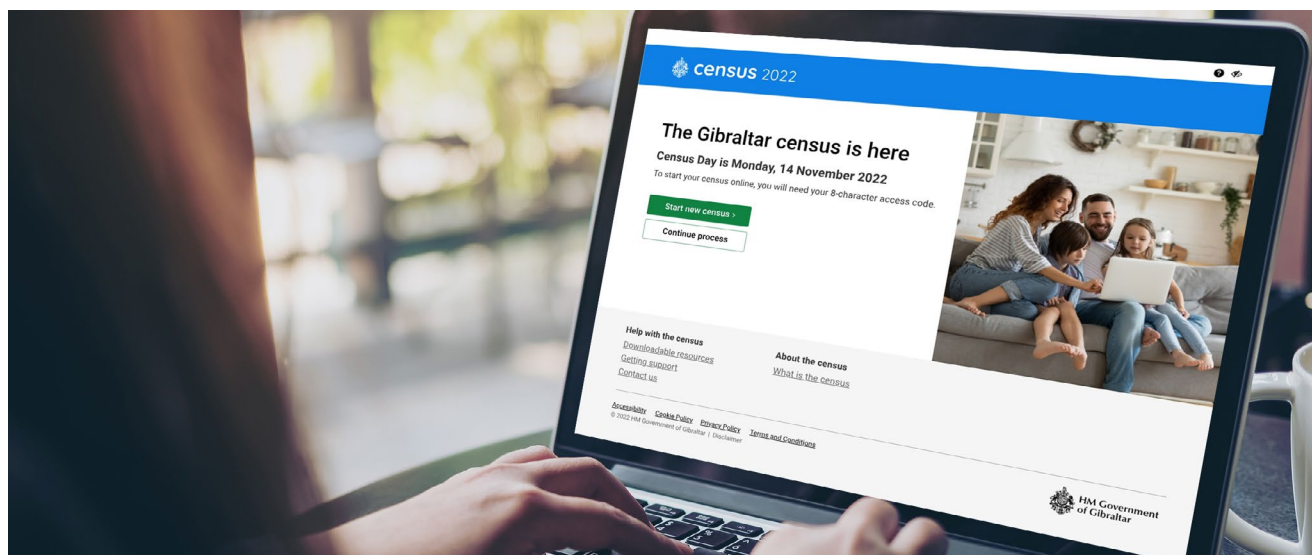

The Census publicity and marketing campaign was launched on 1 November 2022, with the aim of informing the public about the 2022 Census of Gibraltar and their legal obligation to complete a Census Form. Official Notices, posters and videos were disseminated via social media, YouTube, GBC Radio and Television, and the local press. In addition, the Census Commissioner was interviewed on the objective of the 2022 Census and how it would be conducted.

The delivery of the “Letter to Householders”, “Census Information Leaflet” and Census Forms began on 8 November 2022. Following that, publicity notices were issued in the media and press informing the public that they should contact the Census Office if they had not received a “Letter to Householders” or Form by Census Day, 14 November 2022. The online Census Form went live on Census Day.

Enumerators were provided with a list of addresses in their allocated EA, identifying the households that had not completed a Census Form during Census week. Their duties began on 21 November 2022, with instructions to visit all non-responding households and return all completed Census Forms and Memorandum Booklets by 6 December 2022. A number of “No Contacts” had to be followed up via mail, email and in person. Many of these were the result of householders’ absence from Gibraltar during the Census period, the property being vacant or the Enumerator failing to make contact with the householder.

From Census Day to 2 December 2022, the Census Office was open from 8:00 to 20:00 to provide assistance over the phone, by email and in person. The Census website also included a help page that provided online assistance. The marketing campaign continued throughout December, encouraging all households to take part in the Census.

On Census Day, the online Census Form went live, and data was automatically collected. Postal Workers collected and delivered the majority of paper Forms. Despite a reduction in the volume of paper Forms compared to previous censuses, the number of queries increased as a result of IT issues with the online Form on Census Day and subsequent days. An industrial dispute involving HM Government's Information Technology and Logistics Department prior to and during the Census data collection phase was notably detrimental. Furthermore, discrepancies emerged from householders using different Household Access Codes, as well as inconsistencies between the LPS list of addresses and those used by some householders, complicating the reconciliation of addresses with the Unique Property Reference Number (UPRN) to facilitate Census data mapping and hampering the follow-up of non-responding households.

The processing phase also presented a challenge in ensuring that the data collected through all of the different response channels matched for later statistical processes and analysis. The processing of paper Forms commenced in March 2023 and was completed in July 2023. Many steps were taken thereafter to ensure that Census results are of the highest quality and value to the Government and other users of Census data. An additional phase of data cleaning and validation followed which revealed that some questions on the Census Forms had been incorrectly answered and the information provided, or lack thereof, required clarification. Omissions and queries were partly resolved via phone and email, as householders were asked to provide their contact details on the Census Form. Furthermore, to improve the quality and coverage of the Census, administrative data from official records was accessed where possible, to correct inconsistencies and missing information, and imputation methods were used to replace missing data to minimise the risk of error or non-response bias. This methodology was also used to address the non-responding households. Finally, there was an increased incidence of duplication with some householders completing both paper and online Forms, or persons counted in more than one location with different responses on each Form. These challenges have had a direct impact on the time taken to complete each phase of the exercise.

The last phase involved consolidating and standardising responses collected, including statistical coding using standardised coding frames, such as the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) and the Standard Occupational Classification (SOC).

The preliminary draft Census tables were produced in the first half of 2025.

7.0 Census Definitions and Notes

7.1 Usually-resident

A usual resident of Gibraltar, for census purposes, is anyone who, on 14 November 2022:

- (a) was in Gibraltar and had stayed or intended to stay in Gibraltar for a period of 12 months or more, or;
- (b) has a permanent Gibraltar address but is outside Gibraltar and intends to be outside Gibraltar for less than 12 months.

7.2 Short-term resident

A short-term resident, for census purposes, is anyone born in a country or territory outside Gibraltar who, on 14 November 2022 was in Gibraltar and had stayed or intended to stay in Gibraltar for a period of 3 months or more but less than 12 months.

7.3 The difference between a boarder, a lodger and a visitor

A boarder: lives at the same address as the household, shares cooking facilities etc., has been or will be in Gibraltar for a period of 3 months or more and should thus be included in the household Form.

A lodger: lives (rents) at the same address as the household, does not share facilities, has been or will be in Gibraltar for a period of 3 months or more and would therefore need to complete a separate Form.

A visitor: is anyone who is resident in a country or territory outside Gibraltar and on the 14 November 2022 was in Gibraltar and had stayed or intended to stay in Gibraltar for a period of less than 3 months. A visitor should only be included in the head-count.

7.4 The treatment of the Services for census purposes

The following criteria, which have traditionally been applied, continued to be applied:

- UK-British military personnel are excluded completely from the Census count.
- The families of UK-British military personnel were included as “persons present” on Census Day, but do not form part of the “usually-resident” count.
- Members of the Royal Gibraltar Regiment and their families are included as “usually- resident”.

7.5 How a de facto census differs from a de jure census

A “de jure” census tallies people according to their regular or legal residence, whereas a “de facto” census allocates them to the place where enumerated - normally where they spend the night of the day enumerated. In a de jure census count, all persons normally resident in the area are counted including permanent residents who are temporarily away but excluding temporary residents and visitors. This is in contrast to a de facto census that counts people present in the area including temporary residents and visitors but excluding permanent residents who are away. The Gibraltar census is a de jure census.

7.6 Gibraltarians living in Spain

Gibraltarians living, or having a second home, in Spain and who have a permanent or official address in Gibraltar, are included in the Census count. Anyone receiving a Census Form should be included in the count. Such persons would fall within a “de jure” census count, as they are Gibraltarian, have a legal residence, enter Gibraltar frequently to work, are registered locally for income tax purposes etc. These individuals have also formed part of the 1991, 2001 and 2012 Census count and would also fall under the “usually-resident” definition.

7.7 Nationality - who is included as “Gibraltarian”

Census data categorises the usually-resident population into six nationality groups: Gibraltarian, Other British, Moroccan, Spanish, Other EU, and Other. It is important to clarify who is classified as “Gibraltarian” as established with effect from the 2001 Census. By way of example, consider a family of four (husband, wife, son, and daughter). The husband is British, born in the United Kingdom and holding a valid British passport. Until the 1991 Census, his nationality was coded as “Other British”. His wife, born in Gibraltar and a descendant of a male person (father or grandfather) who is entitled to be registered, or is registered, as a Gibraltarian. The wife could have stated her nationality on the Census Form as “Other British” through marriage or as “Gibraltarian” under the Gibraltarian Status Act. Both would have been correct, and in the 1991 Census, “Gibraltarian” was coded since the individual would have been entitled to that status. The children, one born in the United Kingdom and one in Gibraltar, would have had the same nationality as their father, unless entitled to be registered as “Gibraltarian”. Prior to and including the 1991 Census, a resident born in Gibraltar was accepted as “Gibraltarian” if stated on the Census Form and there was no reason to question it.

Since the 2001 Census, the Gibraltarian population has been classified based on an individual's entitlement to Gibraltarian status, regardless of registration status. The reason for this change in definition was that in 1999, the Gibraltarian Status Act was changed making more people eligible for Gibraltarian status. As a result, Gibraltarian women's descendants and husbands with British nationality were entitled immediately to register as Gibraltarians.

In addition, persons who had naturalised and lived in Gibraltar for 25 years were able to register as Gibraltarians. Furthermore, in 2014, the Gibraltarian Status Act was amended lowering the residence requirements for British Citizens to apply for Gibraltarian Status. The length of residence criteria was lowered from 25 years to 10 years. This significant change meant that British Nationals, have since that date, acquired an eligibility to apply for Gibraltarian Status under these discretionary provisions. Once a person has registered as a Gibraltarian, his/her wife/husband or civil partner, as well as the person's children become eligible to register as Gibraltarians under the entitlement provisions of the Gibraltarian Status Act. The nationality question was carefully coded and recorded in accordance with the latest Gibraltarian Status Act using the information provided in the Census Form.

7.8 Economically active

Economically active population is known as the labour force by the International Labour Organization (ILO), “is the sum of the number of persons employed and the number of persons unemployed”. The unemployed comprise all persons of working age who were not in paid employment at the time of the 2022 Census and were actively looking for paid work.

7.9 Hybrid working

A hybrid working arrangement combines both remote and on-site work.

7.10 Dependent child

A dependent child is a person aged 0 to 15 years or a person aged 16 to 18 years who is in full-time education and lives in a family with their parent, parents, grandparent or grandparents.

7.11 Cohabiting couple family

A cohabiting couple family is defined as two people of any sex who are living together as a couple, with or without their children, but who are not resident with a married or civil partner. Children included in the cohabiting couple family may belong to both members of the couple or only one.

7.12 Disability

To identify disability, the 2022 Census asked 2 questions - “Do you have any of the following (health conditions) which has lasted, or are expected to last, at least 12 months or more?” and “Are your day-to-day activities limited because of a physical or mental health problem or disability, lasting or expected to last, 12 months or more?”. At least one condition had to be reported, as well as their day-to-day activities limited a lot or limited a little.

7.13 Unpaid care

Help or support provided by a person to family members, friends, neighbours or others because of long-term physical or mental ill health or disability, or problems related to old age. This does not include any activities that are a part of paid employment and excludes persons in permanent care institutions.

7.14 Co-ownership

The householder shares the ownership of the property with the Government or other landlord.

7.15 Gender identity

Gender identity refers to a person’s sense of their own gender, whether male, female or another category. This may or may not be the same as their sex registered at birth. Due to the low number of other gender identities recorded in the Census, three categories were used to classify people according to the responses to the gender identity question: “Gender identity same as sex registered at birth”, “Other gender identities” and “Not answered”.

7.16 Sexual orientation

A person's identity in relation to the gender or genders to which they are sexually, emotionally and romantically attracted. Five categories were used to classify people according to the responses to the sexual orientation question: "Straight or Heterosexual", "Gay or Lesbian", Bisexual", "All other sexual orientations" and "Not answered".

7.17 Why it is necessary to ask for the name of respondents

The Government Statistics Office holds and processes data in accordance with the Gibraltar General Data Protection Regulation (Gibraltar GDPR) and the Data Protection Act 2004. The names and other personal data provided on Census forms will only ever be used for statistical purposes. Names and addresses are retained purely for Census purposes and are removed from the data used for tabulation. They are not accessible to anyone requesting Census data. Requiring respondents to include their names is useful, not only for the completeness of the exercise, but also for historical and research purposes. Published information will be only in aggregate form and no individual person nor household will be identified as per the provisions of the Census and Data Protection legislation.

Once the results of the Census are published and the exercise has concluded, the information obtained from the Census questionnaires is transferred to the Government Archivist, who keeps the Census records secure for 100 years before they are made available to the public.

8.0 CENSUS ANALYSIS

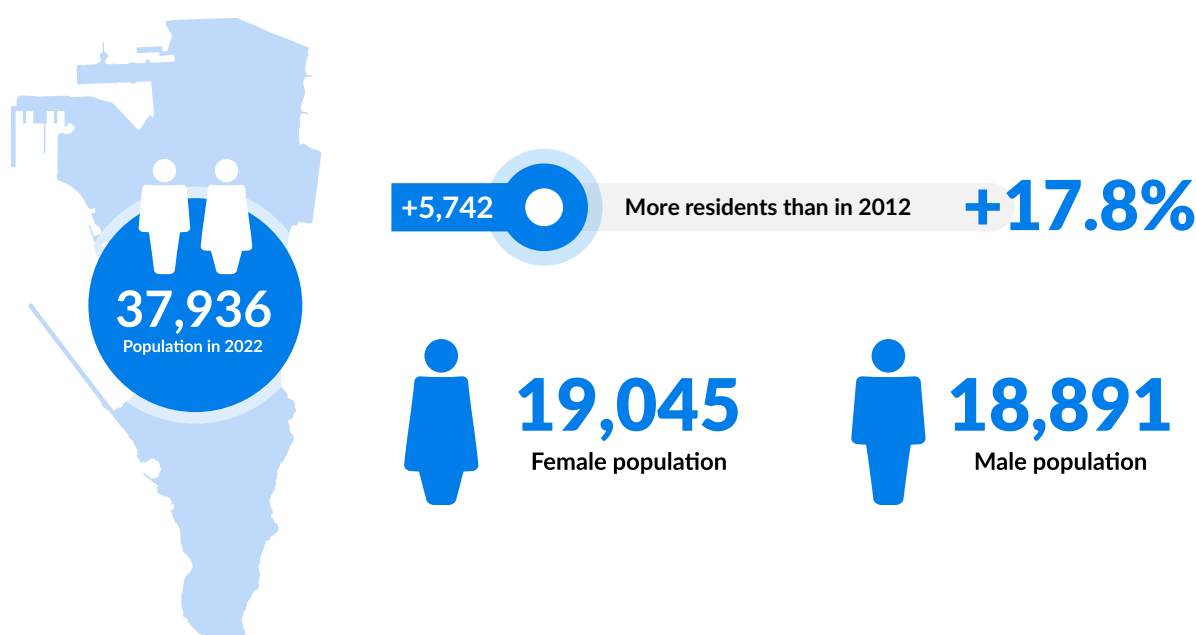

8.1 Population

Since the 1961 Census, and up to and including the 1991 Census, the definition of the “Usually-Resident” population of Gibraltar had, for reasons of continuity and comparison, remained unchanged. To this effect, the “UK and Other British” category included the UK-based MOD civilians and their families even though these were essentially temporary residents of Gibraltar. In 2001, this approach was changed and the Census definition for the “UK and Other British” category excluded UK-based MOD civilians and their families. Instead, as temporary residents, they were classified under “Persons present in Gibraltar on Census night” together with “Families of UK Servicemen”. This approach provided consistency with the way in which the families of UK servicemen, who are also regarded as temporary residents, have been classified for population count purposes.

The families of UK servicemen are not permanent residents whose educational, health and other public needs are the responsibility of HM Government of Gibraltar. The same principle has, and continues to apply, to UK-based MOD civilians and their families. These persons were thus enumerated on a head-count basis only from information provided by the MOD.

For the 2022 Census, as has been the practice since 1970, “Persons Present in Gibraltar on Census Night” includes usually-resident civilians, the families of UK British Servicemen, UK-based MOD civilians and their families and visitors. In 2022, short-term residents were enumerated for the first time and included on a head-count basis. In previous censuses, these residents would have been counted as visitors. Visitors were also counted on a head-count basis, with the assistance of the managers of the relevant institutions. The figures for UK-British Servicemen are excluded completely from the Census count.

On Census Day, 14 November 2022 the usually-resident population of Gibraltar was recorded as 37,936, representing +5,742 (+17.8%) more residents than in 2012. This is the largest population ever recorded in a census in Gibraltar. The female population accounted for 50.2% (19,045) of the overall population in Gibraltar in 2022 and the male population represented 49.8% (18,891). Since the 2012 Census, the female population grew by +2,912 (+18.0%) and the male population grew by +2,830 (+17.6%) over the period.

Percentage of the Usually-Resident Population by Nationality, 1970 - 2022

Note:

Moroccan in 1970 includes Other Nationalities.

Figures 1 and 2 show a breakdown of the population in Gibraltar by nationality as at 14 November 2022. The number of persons counted as Gibraltarian reached a record high with a total of 29,072, rising by +14.3% since 2012. The Gibraltarian sub-population constituted 76.6% of the usually-resident population in 2022, compared to 79.0% in 2012, with the highest percentage being 83.2% in 2001.

The increase of +3,628 Gibraltarians is due to an increase in net Gibraltarian births, together with a number of residents gaining naturalisation entitlement over the same period. Furthermore, in 2014, the Gibraltarian Status Act was amended lowering the residence requirements for British Citizens to apply for Gibraltarian Status. The length of residence criteria was lowered from 25 years to 10 years. This significant change meant that British nationals, have since that date, acquired an eligibility to apply for Gibraltarian Status under these discretionary provisions. Once a person has registered as a Gibraltarian, his/her wife/husband or civil partner, as well as the person's children become eligible to register as Gibraltarians under the entitlement provisions of the Gibraltarian Status Act. This change will have contributed to the increase in the number of Gibraltarians over the decade to 2022.

The number of Moroccan residents decreased again, by -51.7% (-270) over the decade, similar to the -45.7% and -46.6% decreases recorded in the 2012 and 2001 censuses respectively. Once again, this drop can be partly attributed to the inherent difficulties of enumerating the Moroccan sub-population, as well as the increased number of Moroccans acquiring British citizenship through naturalisation over the decade.

The UK and Other British sub-population experienced a marked increase over the period, with a rise of +29.7% (+1,262). The increase has resulted in the UK and Other British sub-population constituting 14.5% of the usually-resident population, compared with 13.2% in 2012.

The Other Nationalities category, witnessed the fastest percentage growth over the decade, with a +56.7% increase (+1,122), of which +822 were EU nationals and +300 Other nationalities. As a proportion of the population, EU residents accounted for 6.0% in 2022 up from 4.5% in 2012. The Other nationality group represented 2.2% of the population, up from 1.6% in 2012.

The increase in UK and Other British and Other Nationalities sub-populations reflects the record growth in resident employment levels in Gibraltar that increased by +12.6% over the same period according to the Employment Survey Report 2022 published by HM Government of Gibraltar, as well as the impact of the UK's withdrawal from the European Union ("Brexit") resulting in positive net migration.

For the first time, the Census recorded detailed nationalities, totalling 92. The tables in this Report contain information on the various topics by detailed nationality.

In 2022, data was collected on short-term residents that totalled 183. A short-term resident, for census purposes, is anyone born in a country or territory outside Gibraltar who, on 14 November 2022 was in Gibraltar and had stayed or intended to stay in Gibraltar for a period of 3 months or more but less than 12 months. In previous censuses, these residents would have been counted as visitors.

The 2022 Census count for visitors was 1,057 and including short-term residents was 1,240, up by +251(+25.4%) compared to 2012. The number of visitors staying in houses and flats was 402, of which 186 people stayed at their second address. The balance of 655 visitors stayed mainly in hotels and marinas.

The population has been growing steadily over the past fifty-two years, increasing by +53.8% (+13,264) from 1970 to 2022. 43% of this growth has been between 2012 to 2022. Over the fifty-two year period, the largest increase in the usually-resident population relates to persons aged 80 and over, rising by +423.3% (+1,435).

The population has grown on average by some +562 (+1.6%) a year between 2012 and 2022, accounted for by an increase in net births but also as a result of the economic growth and the subsequent increase in employment opportunities and the substantial influx of labour from overseas.

The largest population increase from 2012 to 2022 was the 15 to 64 age group, that grew by +3,237, up by 15.3%, however, as a proportion of the total population it has decreased from 65.6% to 64.2% over the period. It is significant to note that the older age group “65+” recorded the largest percentage increase over the decade, up by +36.4% (+1,910). The slowest growth was recorded in the under 15 age group, increasing by +10.2% (+595) over the period.

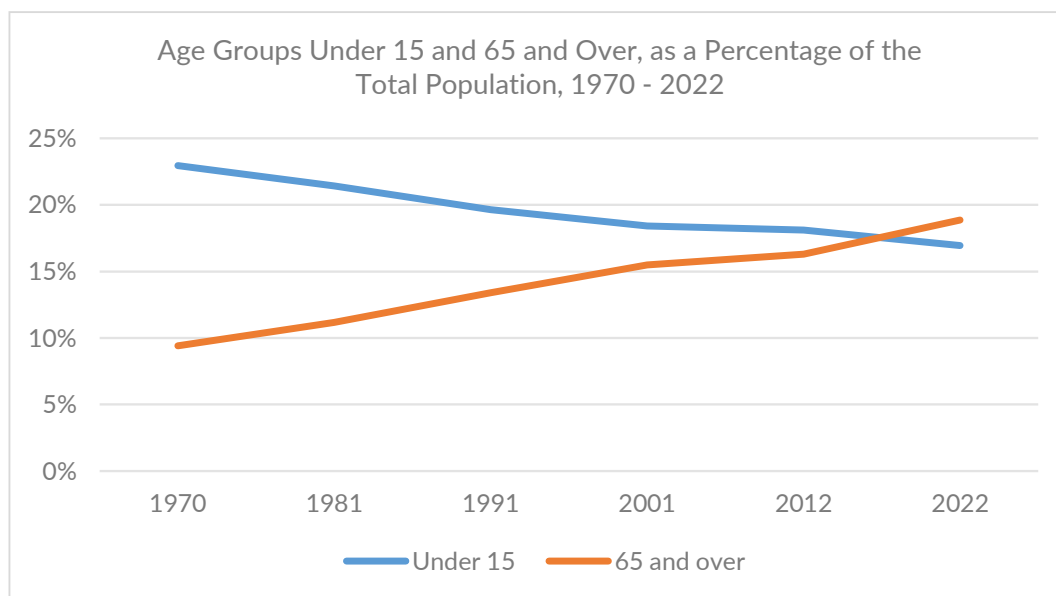

There are now more people aged 65 and over than people under 15.

The proportion of the population aged 65 years and over increased to 18.9% in 2022, up from 16.3% in 2012. Although there were more people in the under 15 age group compared to 2012, as a proportion of the population, it continued the downward trend, as Figures 4 and 6 show, with the under 15 age group falling to 16.9% from 18.1% in 2012. Gibraltar's population is ageing, as indeed so many other countries, with implications for pensions, benefits and Government services.

8.1.3 Migration

The 2022 Census included more questions on migration than in previous censuses, revealing information about people who have migrated to Gibraltar, including the year of arrival, length of residence, their age of arrival and more detailed information on the country of birth.

Figure 7

Percentage of the Population by Country of Birth, 1970 - 2022

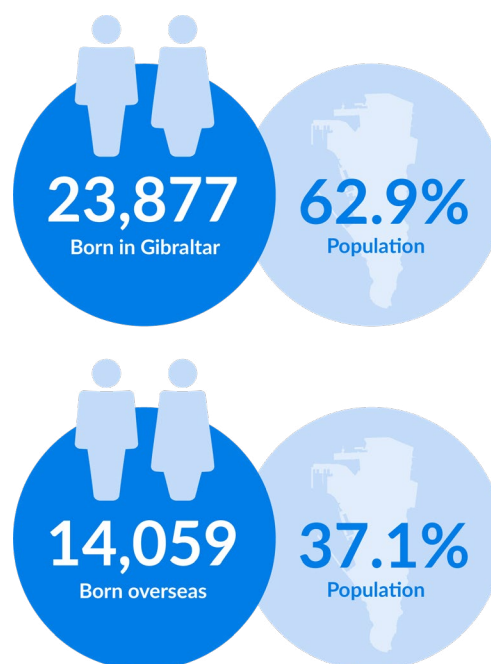

Note:

Includes Moroccans and Other Nationalities in 1970.

Excludes 30 residents not stated in 1970.

According to the Census, 23,877 residents said they were born in Gibraltar. This represented 62.9% of the population. The figure has risen from 21,593 in 2012, up by +2,284 (+10.6%). In relative terms to the total population, however, there has been a reported decline of -4.1 percentage points since the 2012 Census, which at the time represented 67.1% of the population. A total of 14,059 of all usual residents in Gibraltar were born overseas, accounting for 37.1% of the population. The figure has risen from 10,601 in 2012, up by +3,458 (+32.6%), which at the time represented 32.9% of the population.

The most common country of birth of people born outside Gibraltar was the UK, accounting for almost half of people born overseas (6,704). The second most common country of birth was Spain (2,237) and combined with Other EU (1,587) accounted for 27.2% of people born overseas. "Other" countries constituted 15.5% (2,178) of people born overseas. There were 1,353 people born in Morocco, accounting for 9.6% of people born overseas.

Country of birth of people born outside of Gibraltar

Since 2012, the greatest increase in usual residents born outside Gibraltar came from the UK, with a rise of +1,268 (+23.3%), followed by "Other" +823 (+60.7%) and "Other EU" +716 (+82.2%). In 2022, the largest shares of the "Other EU" group were residents born in Portugal (12.5%) Germany (12.4%) and Ireland (12.2%). Residents born in India (17.3%), Israel (9.7%) and the Philippines (7.9%) represented the largest shares of the "Other" group. Historical comparisons are not possible because a detailed breakdown of countries was not collected in 2012. It is worth noting that, while the number of Moroccan nationals decreased in 2022, owing in part to naturalisation as British citizens, the number of residents born in Morocco increased from 954 in 2012 (3.0% of the population) to 1,353 in 2022 (3.6% of the population), an increase of +41.8% over the same period.

Over half of the people born overseas had been living in Gibraltar for 10 or more years (8,098), while 16% arrived between 5 and 9 years ago (2,285) and almost 1 in 4 (3,376) arrived less than 5 years ago, with 1 in 2 in the 25 to 49 age group. This is largely due to people moving to Gibraltar to work.

8.1.4 Religion

Figures 8 and 9 provide a comparative breakdown of the population by religion over the past six Censuses.

Percentage of the Population by Religion, 1970 - 2022

In absolute terms, Roman Catholicism continues to be the largest religion in Gibraltar in 2022. In relative terms to the total population, however, there has been a reported decline of -8.6 percentage points since the 2012 Census, from 72.1% in 2012 to 63.5% in 2022. The next largest religions were “Church of England”, (6.7%) and “Muslim” (5.0%). The number of persons who stated “No Religion” increased from the 2012 Census by +133% (+3,050), accounting for 14.1% of the population compared to 7.1% in 2012 and 2.9% in 2001.

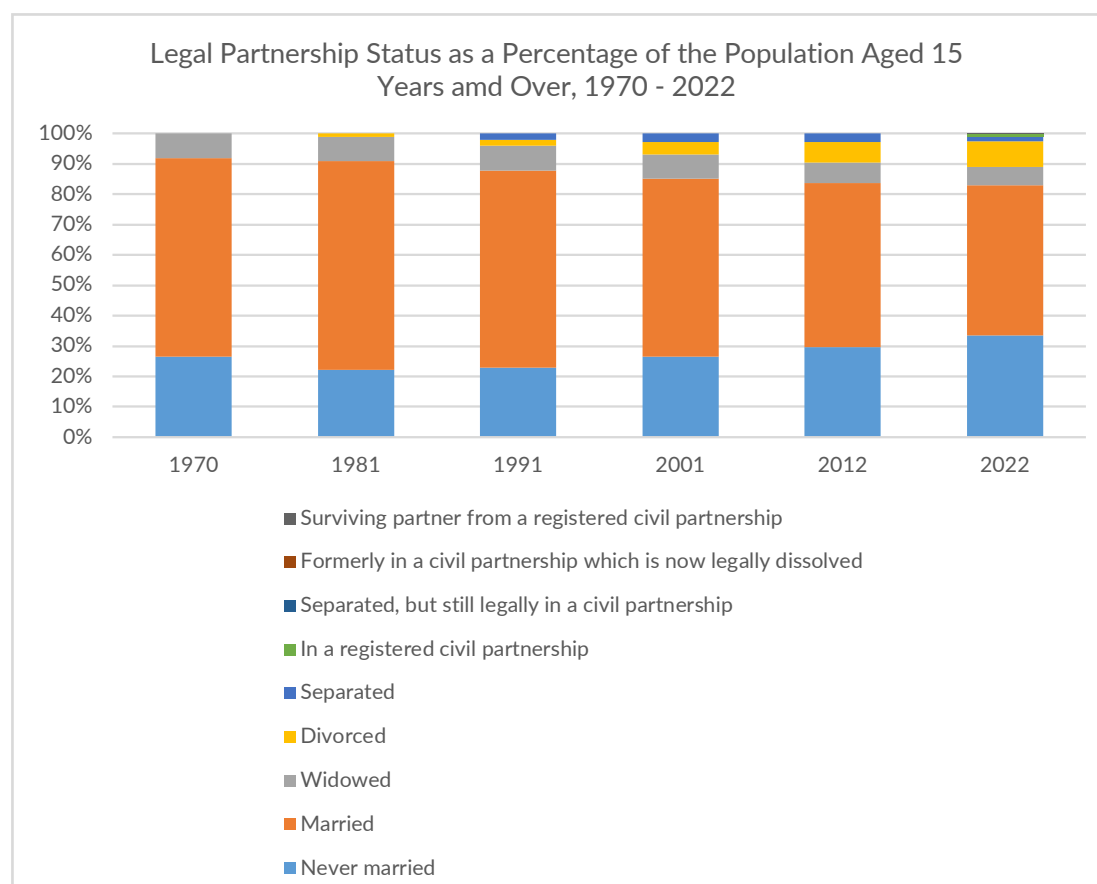

8.1.5 Legal Partnership

The question on legal partnership, previously known as marital status, was extended in the 2022 Census to include registered civil partnerships and a new question on opposite and same sex marriage or civil partnerships was introduced.

Figure 10

Legal Partnership Status as a Percentage of the Population Aged 15 Years and Over, 1970 - 2022

Notes:

Widowed or divorced in 1970.

Married includes Re-married.

Data on civil partnerships is only available in 2022.

According to the Census, 15,546 people reported they were married in 2022, of which 0.7% (114) were same sex marriages and 99.3% (15,432) opposite sex marriages. Compared to 2012, the number of married adults increased by +9.2% (+1,307) in 2022, although as a proportion of adults aged 15 and over, there was a decrease of -4.7 percentage points over the period, from 54.0% to 49.3%.

167 people said they were in a registered civil partnership, of which 33.5% (56) were same sex and 66.5% (111) were opposite sex civil partnerships. 2,678 people said they were divorced, increasing by +49.0% (+881) from 1,797 in 2012.

There is a greater proportion of adults aged 15 years and over who have never married or formed a civil partnership than in 2012, increasing by +35.5% from 7,806 to 10,577 (5,783 males and 4,794 females) in 2022. The largest increase in persons who have never married is in the 25 to 49 years age group, up by +59.3 (+1,943) in 2022 compared to 2012.

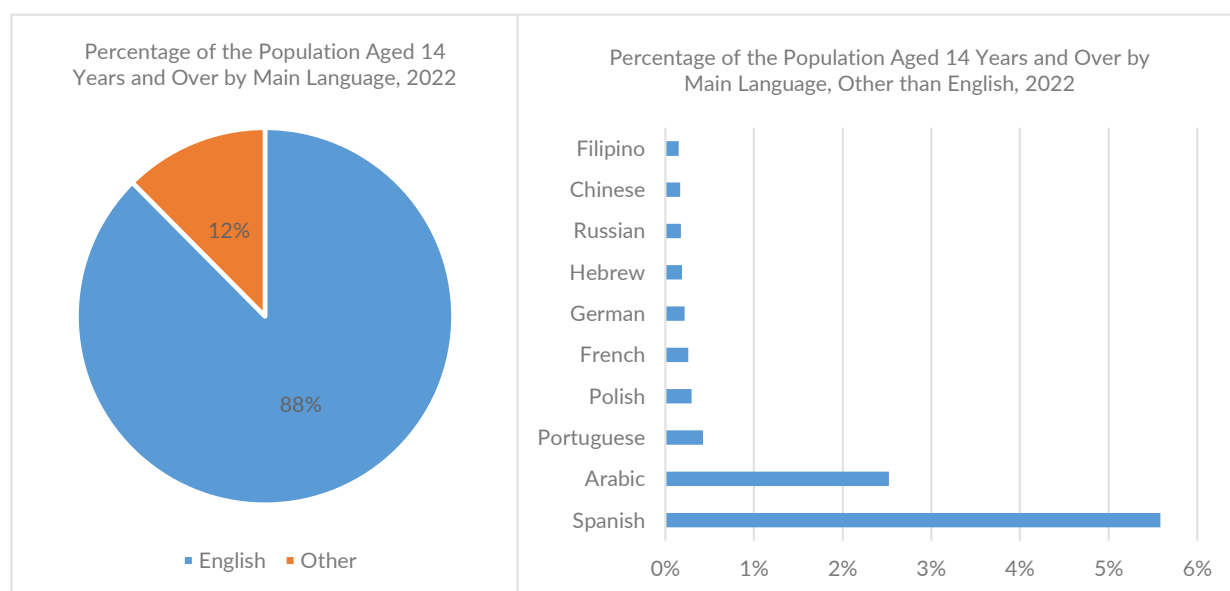

8.1.6 Main Language

An additional question on language was introduced in the 2022 Census, asking “What is your main language” (including British Sign Language).

Figure 11

Percentage of the Population Aged 14 Years and Over by Main Language, 2022

According to the 2022 Census, of the population aged 14 years and over, the main language spoken was English (87.6%), the second most common language was Spanish (5.6%), followed by Arabic (2.5%). The Census showed that in addition to spoken languages, British Sign Language (BSL) was the main language of 0.01% of the population aged 14 years and over.

8.1.7 Fluency in English

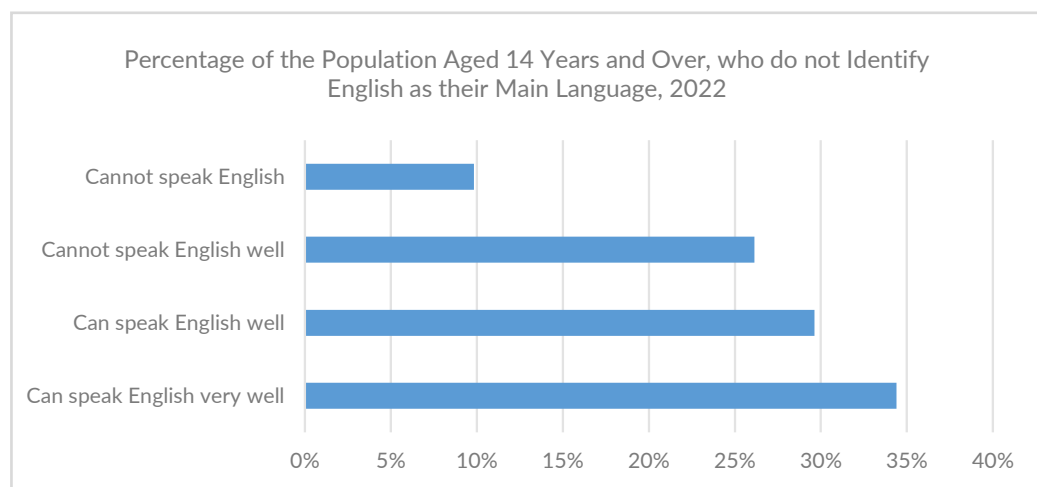

People who did not report English as a main language were asked to report how well they could speak English. Although the data is based on information provided by respondents, it provides a good estimate of fluency levels in Gibraltar in 2022.

People who did not report English as a main language, accounted for 3,974, (12.4% of the population aged 14 years and over), including 4 people who use British Sign Language.

The following analysis excludes British Sign Language users. Figure 12 shows that 64.0% of the population aged 14 years and over, who do not identify English as their main language, consider themselves fluent in English in 2022, and 9.8% cannot speak English.

8.1.8 Qualifications

The most common highest level of qualification was at Level 4 (for example, Higher National Certificate, Higher National Diploma, Bachelor's degree, post-graduate and professional qualifications). 32.4% of the usually resident population aged 16 years and over reported their highest qualification at Level 4.

Appendix 7 can be referred to for qualification levels.

Excludes 243 females and 126 males not stated

According to the Census, there has been a large increase in the number of people aged 16 years and over with Level 4 qualifications. One in three adults in Gibraltar (10,083) had Level 4 qualifications up by +5,291 (+110.4%) since 2012. The proportion of females aged 16 and over with Level 4 qualifications increased from 16.9% (2,219) in 2012 to 30.5% (4,790) in 2022, rising by +2,571 (+115.9%) over the period. The proportion of males aged 16 and over with Level 4 qualifications increased from 20.0% (2,573) in 2012 to 34.4% (5,293) in 2022, rising by +2,720 (+105.7%).

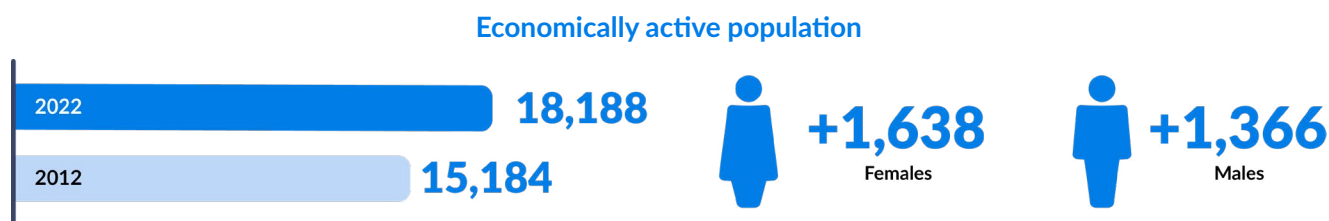

The proportion of Gibraltarian females aged 16 and over with Level 4 qualifications increased from 15.4% (1,609) in 2012 to 26.6% (3,192) in 2022, rising by +1,583 (+98.4%) over the period. The proportion of Gibraltarian males aged 16 and over with Level 4 qualifications increased from 18.8% (1,856) in 2012 to 31.1% (3,537) in 2022, increasing by +1,681 (90.6%).

In 2022, 22.8%, (7,089) of the 16 and over population reported having no qualifications, (3,194 male, 3,895 female), this is down from 31.8%, 8,262 in 2012.

8.2 Economic Activity and Employment

8.2.1 Economic Activity

The economically active population of Gibraltar includes all persons aged 15 years and over living in Gibraltar who were either in full-time or part-time paid employment or who were unemployed at the time of the 2022 Census and actively looking for paid work.

Results from the 2022 Census show that the economically active population was 18,188 (47.9% of the usually-resident population) compared to 15,184 in 2012 (47.2% of the resident population) - an increase of +3,004 (+19.8%), of which +1,638 were females and +1,366 were males.

Of the economically active population, 17,378 were in employment (7,960 females and 9,418 males), compared to 14,238 in 2012 - an increase of +3,140 (+22.1%) (+1,717 females and +1,423 males). There were 15,681 employees, compared to 12,822 in 2012, up by +22.3% (+2,859). 1,697 persons were self-employed, increasing by +450 (+36.1%) since 2012. 810 persons were unemployed (488 males and 322 females) and looking for paid work, decreasing by -14.4% (-136) compared to 2012.

Economic activity varies greatly with age. Figure 15 shows the activity rates for specific age groups, calculated by dividing the number of economically active individuals by the total number of people in that age group.

Figure 15

Percentage of the Population Economically Active by Age Group and Sex, 1970 - 2022

1991	62.3	57.4	97.2	59.4	78.0	27.9
2001	44.8	40.9	92.5	68.4	67.1	34.8
2012	46.4	40.9	92.1	77.1	60.4	36.2
2022	41.3	34.7	92.6	82.5	62.8	43.5

The figures show that the percentage of economically active males and females aged 15-24 have decreased by -5.1 and -6.2 percentage points respectively from 2012 to 2022. However, the number of students pursuing higher education continues to increase. According to the Department of Education, there were 910 students studying abroad in November 2022, up from 765 in 2012 and a further 154 usually-resident full-time students at the University of Gibraltar, totalling 1,064, representing a 39.1% (+299) rise over the period.

According to the 2022 Census, male and female economic activity rates in the 25-54 and 55-64 age groups have continued to increase. Female activity rates witnessed the largest growth, rising by +5.4 (25-54 age group) and +7.3 (55-64 age group) percentage points since 2012. Male economic activity rates in both age groups rose more slowly by +0.5 (25-54 age group) and +2.4 (55-64 age group) percentage points over the same period.

Total	38.9	6.9	45.8

Note:

The Total includes 13 employed persons not stated (6 Gibraltarians, 1 Other British, 1 Moroccan, 3 Spanish, 2 Other EU)

The Census reveals that, while 45.8% of the population as a whole was employed, this rate is lower for “Gibraltarian” (43.6%) due to their different age structure. The “All Other Nationalities” category, has a higher employment rate (53.1%). This percentage rises to 58.7% for “Other”, 55.4% for “Other EU” and 53.0% for “Other British” residents. These figures reflect the high level of labour immigration in Gibraltar.

8.2.3 Full-time Employment

According to the Census, 73.0% of persons in full-time employment at the time of the 2022 Census were Gibraltarian, 16.3% Other British, 4.5% Other EU, 3.1% Other, 2.6% Spanish and 0.5% Moroccan.

Full-time employment increased by +23.1% (+2,768) in 2022, (+1,583 females and +1,185 males) compared with 2012. Gibraltarians accounted for the largest increase in full-time employment between 2012 and 2022, with a rise of +1,577 (+17.1%), (+938 females and +639 males). Followed by Other British, with an increase of +673 (+38.9%) (+315 females and +358 males) over the period. The Other nationality category witnessed the greatest percentage growth in full-time employment, rising by +110.6% (+269), followed by Other EU +80.5% (+294) over the same period.

Full-time employees rising

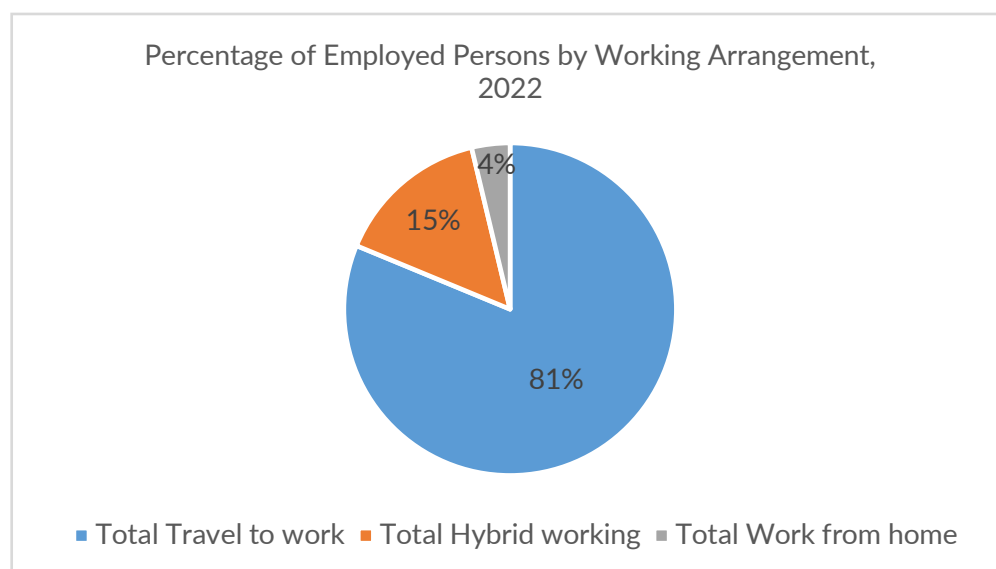

The most significant area of growth in full-time employees over the decade was recorded in the Education industry, with full-time employment rising by +78.1% (+507) compared to 2012 levels. The Other Services industry saw large gains in full-time employees, increasing by +58.8% (+731), since 2012, reflecting the increased number of employment opportunities within the Gaming industry over the ten-year period. Employment within the Health and Social Work industry grew by +38.1% (+404), since 2012. It should be borne in mind that the employment statistics shown in this Report are in respect of usually-resident persons and, as such, exclude frontier workers who commute daily to work in Gibraltar and who constituted close to half of Gibraltar's work force (14,150 frontier workers) according to the Employment Survey Report 2022, published by HM Government of Gibraltar.

8.2.4 Working Arrangement

The coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic increased the remote working trend for businesses and employees all around the world. Gibraltar is largely a service economy and has a high level of internet access, which makes it easier to switch to remote work. For the first time, the Census asked if people in paid employment worked from home, to better understand this important element of the employment situation, which is a new work/lifestyle change.

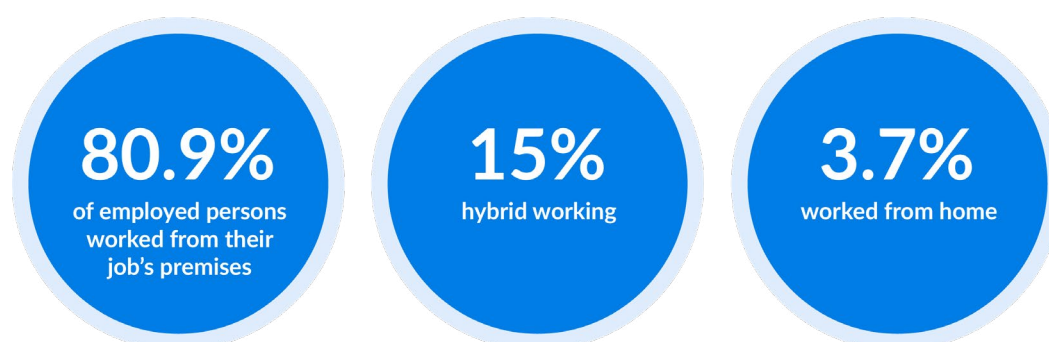

Figure 20

Percentage of Employed Persons by Working Arrangement, 2022

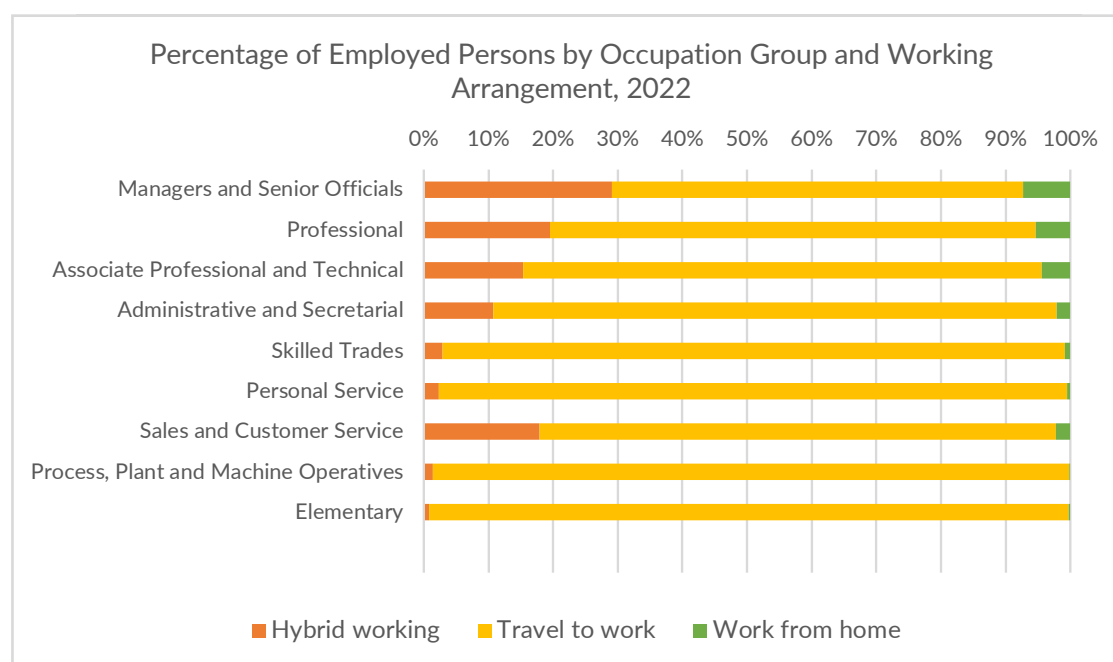

Note:

Excludes 0.5% of employed persons who did not state their working arrangement.

According to the 2022 Census, 80.9% (14,052) of employed persons worked from their job's premises, 15.0% (2,600) were hybrid working, working from home and at their place of work, and 3.7% (645) worked from home full-time. The working arrangements of hybrid workers took many forms. The most common number of days working from home was 1 to 4 days per month (5.4% of employed persons), followed by 1 to 2 days per week (4.6% of employed persons).

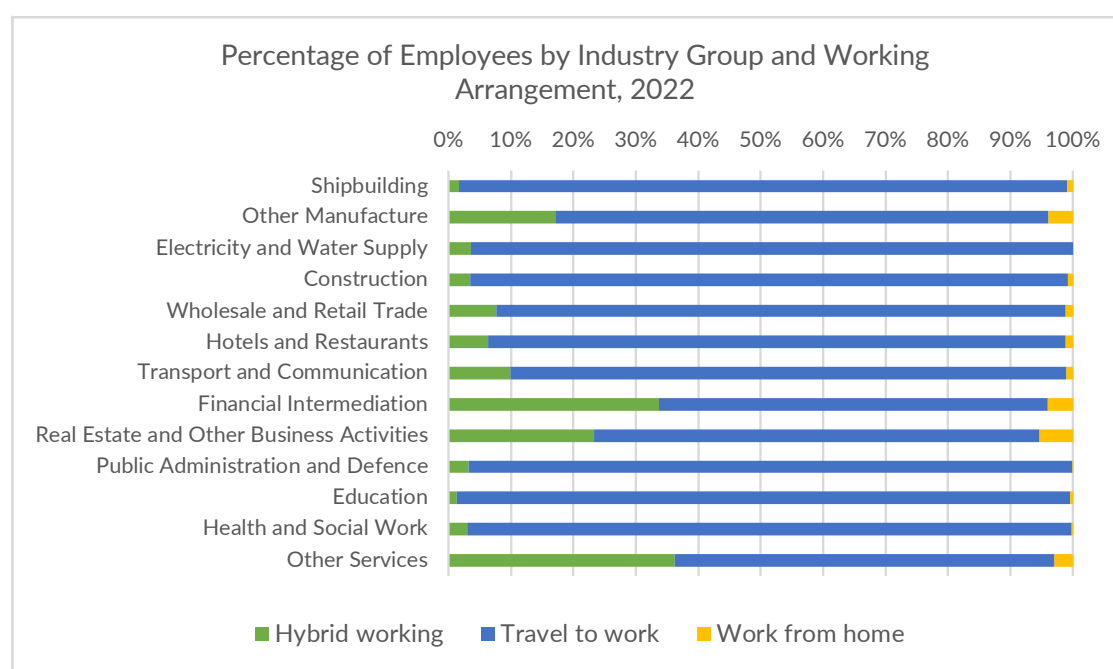

Figure 21
Percentage of Employed Persons by Occupation Group and Working Arrangement, 2022

Notes:

For Occupational Classification - see Appendix 5.

Excludes 123 employed persons not stated.

Close to a third (29.1%) of those in more senior occupations “Managers and Senior Officials” followed a hybrid working model, compared with 15.0% of all workers. That compared with just 0.8% of people in “Elementary” occupations and 1.3% of people working in “Process, Plant and Machine Operatives”. “Managers and Senior Officials” and workers in “Professional” occupations were also more likely to work from home compared to other occupations, as they may be more likely to be able to perform desk-based work remotely.

The working arrangements of each nationality group differed significantly. Hybrid working was more common among “Other” (34.3%) and “Other EU” (32.3%) nationals. Moroccan nationals were less likely to follow a hybrid working model (3.6%). 2.1% of Gibraltarians worked from home and 11.0% were hybrid workers. One in four British nationals were hybrid workers and 8.4% worked from home. “Other EU” nationals were more likely to work from home (12.1%) compared to other nationals.

Figure 22 shows the working arrangements of employees within each Industry Group. Hybrid working was more common within the “Other Services” industry 36.3%, closely followed by the “Financial Intermediation” industry (33.7%). Working from home was more common within the “Real Estate and Other Business Activities” (5.3%) and the “Financial Intermediation” industry (4.0%).

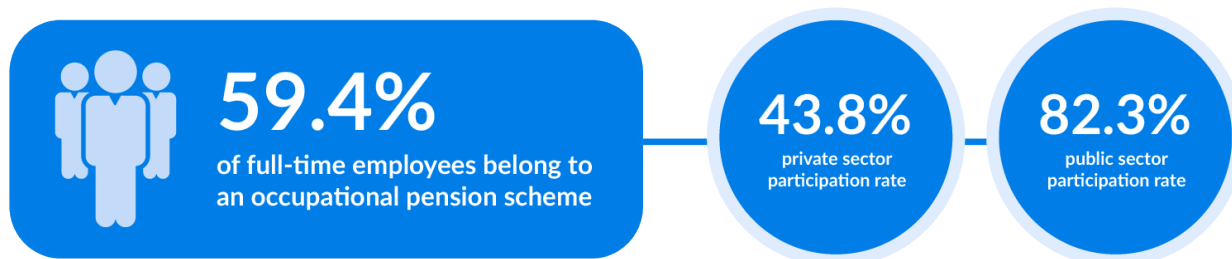

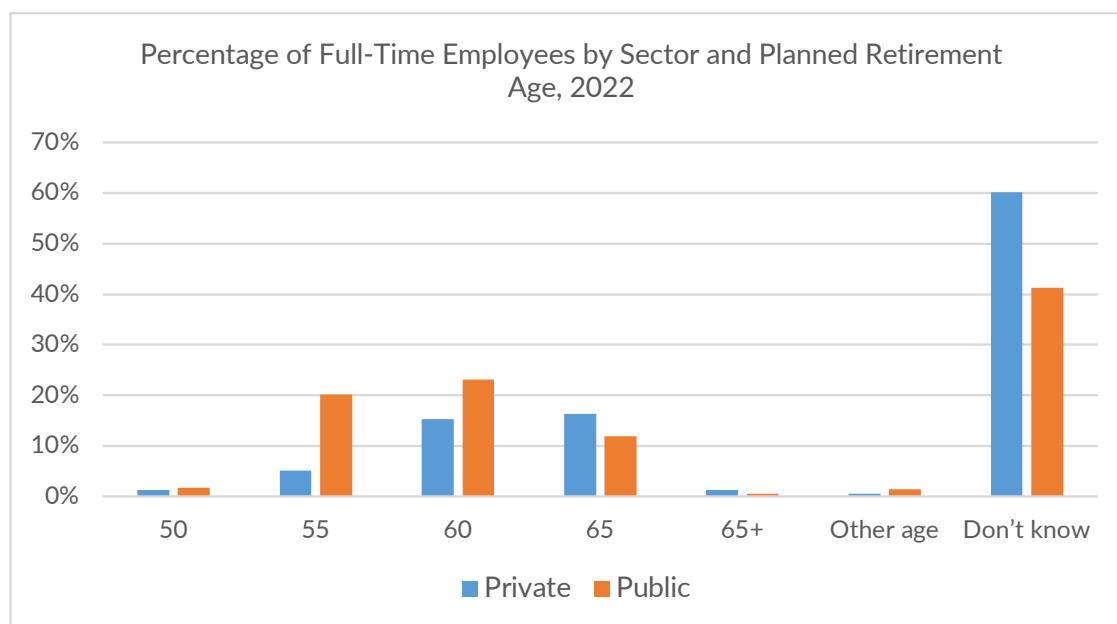

Figure 24 shows that 59.4% of full-time employees belong to an occupational pension scheme, an increase from 2012, when it stood at 53.6%. There continues to be a significant difference in the participation rate of full-time employees in the private and public sectors. The private sector participation rate increased by +5.6 percentage points over the period to 43.8% and the public sector rose by +7.3 percentage points to 82.3% in 2022.

The participation rate of Gibraltar full-time employees increased in 2022 to 64.2%, compared to 59.2% in 2012.

8.2.6 Planned Retirement Age

Figure 25

Percentage of Full-Time Employees by Sector and Planned Retirement Age, 2022

Note:

'Don't know' includes 32 not stated.

Figure 25 shows that at the time of the 2022 Census 60.1% and 41.2% of full-time employees in the private and public sectors respectively did not know at what age they would retire; this compares to 61.2% and 40.8% in 2012. Only a small percentage, 1.3% in the private sector and 1.7% in the public sector, planned to retire at 50. The public sector had a higher percentage of employees planning to retire at age 55 (20.1%) than in the private sector (5.0%). Of those with a planned retirement age, the private sector's largest proportion of full-time employees planned to retire at 65 (16.3%), while the public sector's largest share planned to retire at 60 (23.1%).

8.2.7 Method of Travel to Work

The 2022 Census included additional response options to the method of travel to work question, including "Work mainly at or from home", "Driving a car or van", "Passenger in a car or van", "PLEV (Personal light electric vehicle, e.g. electric scooter)" and "Other". This takes into account changes in the mode of travel to work and the new work/lifestyle change, especially after the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic. Tables 131 to 133 show employed persons by method of travel to work by area, nationality, age and sex.

In 2022, 3.7% (645) of all usual residents aged 15 years and over in employment reported that they worked mainly from home. 16,733 (96.3%) people gave a method other than "work mainly at or from home".

The following analysis excludes those persons working mainly at or from home.

Other includes 190 (1.1%) employed persons "Not Stated" and 197 (1.2%) persons travelling by "Other" methods in 2022.

Working mainly from home is excluded from this analysis.

According to the 2022 Census, almost half the persons in employment travelled to work on foot (8,111) and 1 in 4 travelled to work by motorcycle (4,338). 2,361 (14.1%) drove a car or van to work and 272 (1.6%) travelled as a passenger in a car or van.

The 2022 Census reveals that with the exception of those travelling by car or van that dropped significantly (-24.2%), all other modes of transport increased compared with 2012, as shown in Figure 26. The increases reflect the larger number of persons in employment in 2022 compared with other Census years. In absolute terms, persons travelling on foot witnessed the largest increase compared to 2012, rising by +2,104 (+35.0%) and the largest percentage increase was in respect of persons travelling by bicycle that grew significantly by +79.0% (+143) over the period.

Figure 27 shows the method of travel to work in proportion to the persons identified within each category. This shows that, in relative terms, a significantly greater number of persons have travelled to work on foot, increasing from 42.7% in 2012 to 48.5% in 2022. Those travelling by bicycle has also increased, from 1.3% to 1.9% over the decade. The percentage of persons travelling to work by car decreased significantly, from 24.7% in 2012 to 15.7% in 2022. The percentage of persons travelling by motorcycle also fell marginally from 26.1% to 25.9% over the same period.

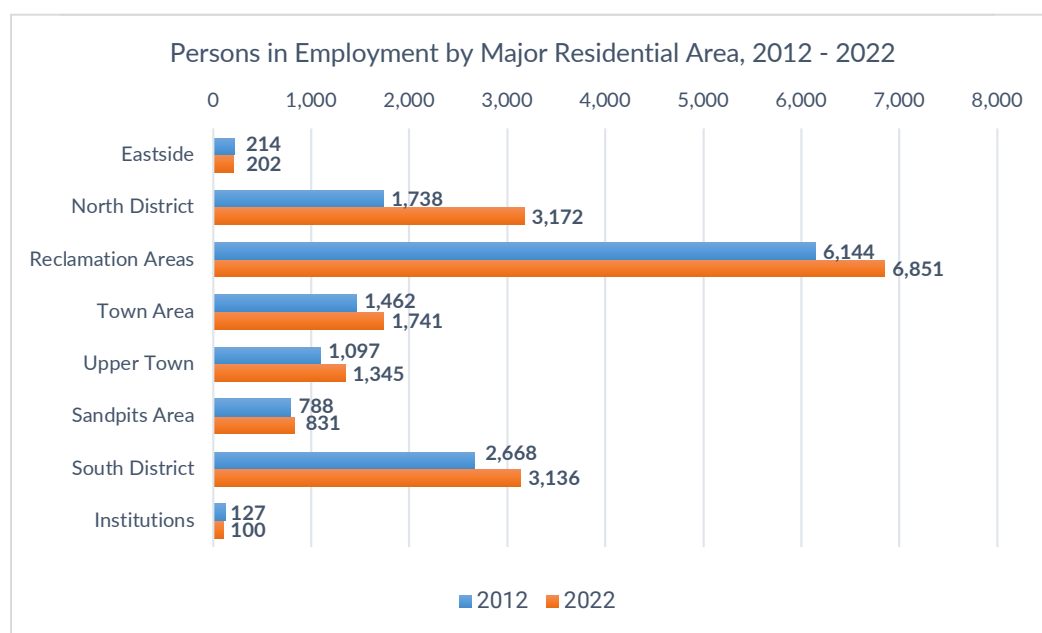

The method of travel to work will be partly determined on where usual residents in employment live and the availability of a parking space for their vehicle. Presumably, if the place of work is some distance from home an individual is likely to drive, ride a motorcycle or bicycle or take the bus. Figure 28 shows the number of employed persons by Major Residential Area and Figure 29 shows the percentage of person's method of travel to work within each Major Residential Area.

8.3 Health, Disability and Unpaid Care

8.3.1 General Health

The Census asked “How is your health in general?”. This data reflects people’s own opinions in describing their overall health on a five-point scale, from very good to very bad.

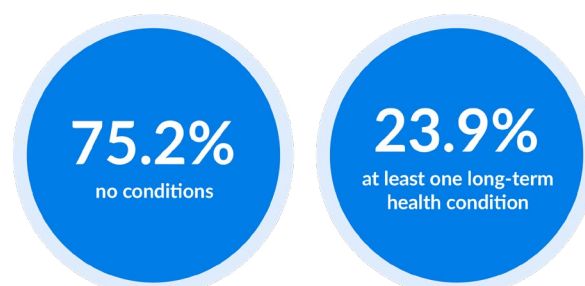

It should be noted that health information was not collected from 373 persons (243 females and 130 males) living in institutions, mainly in care establishments. They are categorised as “Not Stated” in the health tables, as they were in the 2012 Census. In 2022 a total of 33,485 people (16,906 males, 16,579 females) said their health was good or very good, representing 88.3% of the resident population, a marginal increase from 2012, when it stood at 88.2%. A total of 796 people (349 males, 447 females) said their health was bad or very bad, accounting for 2.1% of the resident population. This is a decrease compared with 2012, when it stood at 2.5% of the resident population.

8.3.2 Long-term Health Conditions

For the first time, the Census asked if people had a health condition, which had lasted or was expected to last, at least 12 months or more. A list of conditions was provided, along with descriptions and people were asked to tick all that applied. It is important to note that Census data on health conditions is self-reported and that a person may be included in more than one health condition. As with the general health question, caution should be exercised when interpreting the data because health information was not collected from 373 persons living in institutions, mainly care establishments. They are categorised as “Not Stated” in the health tables. This question was added in 2022, thus there is no comparative data for 2012.

According to the Census, 75.2% of the resident population reported no conditions, 23.9% reported at least one long-term health condition and 1.0% were not stated.

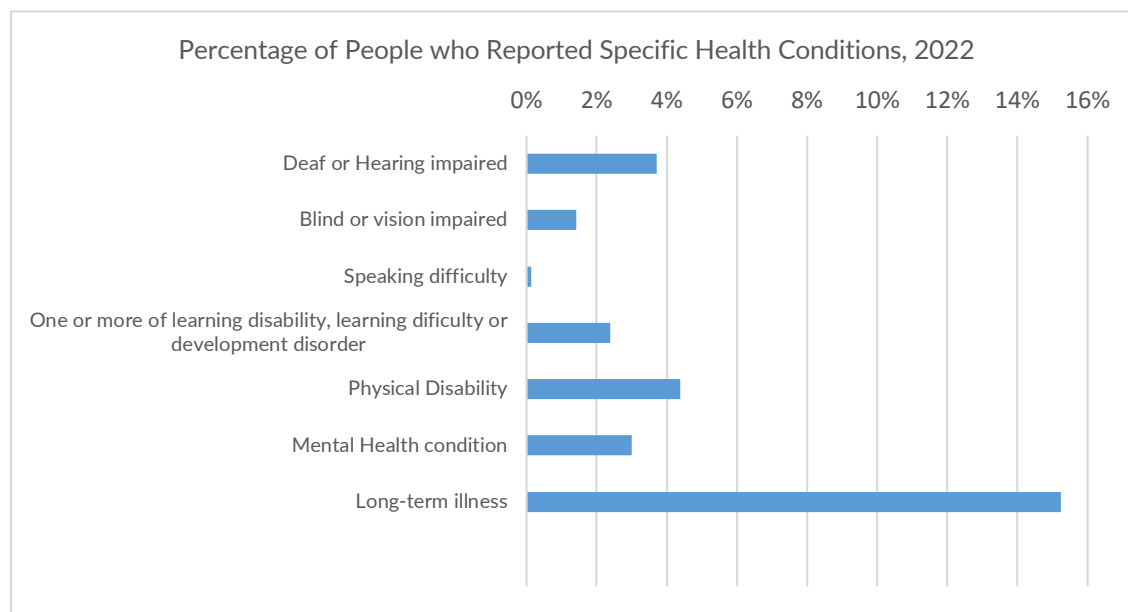

The following analysis excludes 373 persons residing in institutions.

The most common reported condition was long-term illness, disease or condition 5,722 (15.2%). This was described on the Census form as a condition, not in one of the other categories, that you may have for life, which may be managed with treatment or medication. The second most common condition reported in the Census was physical disability 1,649 (4.4%).

Figure 30

Percentage of People who Reported Specific Health Conditions, 2022

Notes:

Category order matches the 2022 Census Form.

A person may be included in more than one health condition.

The "One or more of learning disability, learning difficulty or development disorder" category is a combined measure that counts everyone who ticked one or more of those three boxes.

The "Other condition" category was combined with the "Long-term illness, disease or condition" category and labelled 'Long-term illness'.

This question was added in 2022 so there is no comparable data for 2012.

Excludes 243 females and 130 males not stated living in institutions.

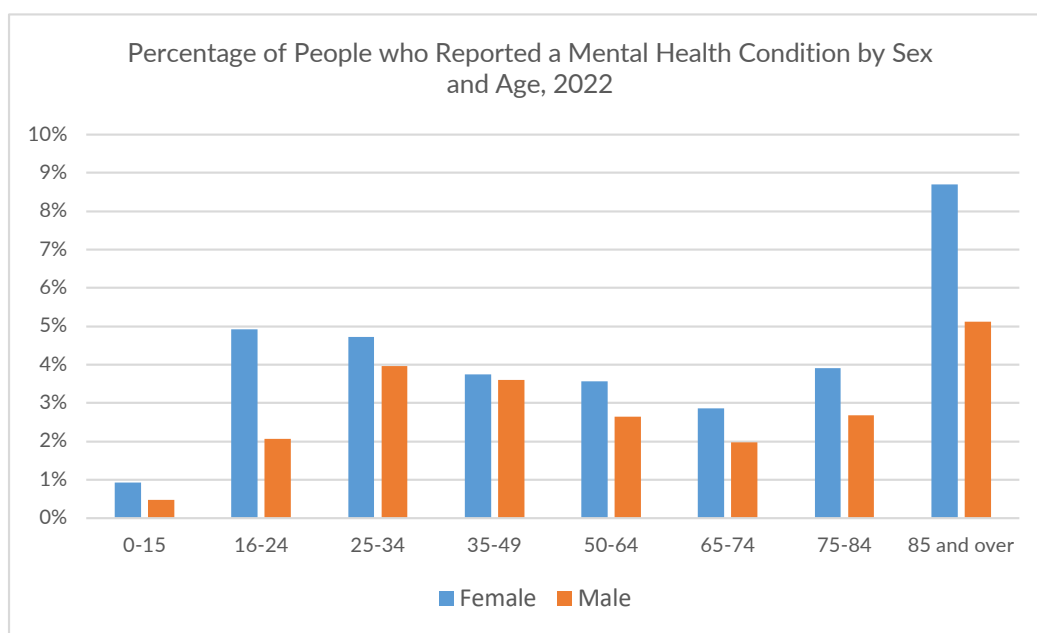

The question included learning disability, learning difficulty and development disorder as separate categories. For the purposes of this Report, those three categories have been combined, with the combined measure counting everyone who ticked one or more of the three boxes. The percentage of people reporting a learning disability, learning difficulty or developmental disorder was 2.4% (896), with children aged 0 to 15 accounting 44.5% (399) of the total reported within this combined measure.

The Census asked people if they had a mental health condition, which had lasted or was expected to last more than twelve months. The question described this as a condition that affects your emotional, physical and mental wellbeing. In 2022, 1,126 (3.0%) people reported that they had a mental health condition.

Figure 31

Percentage of People who Reported a Mental Health Condition by Sex and Age, 2022

Notes:

Excludes 243 females and 130 males not stated living in institutions.

This question was added in 2022 so there is no comparable data for 2012.

Figure 31 shows the percentage of people who reported a mental health condition for specific age groups, calculated by dividing the number of individuals reporting a mental health condition by the total number of people in that age group, excluding people living in institutions. The Census found that a higher percentage of females reported a mental health condition across all age groups in 2022. The biggest difference was among 85 and over and 16 to 24 year olds.

8.3.3 Activity-Limiting Long-Term Health Problem or Disability

The Census asked people if their day-to-day activities were limited because of a physical or mental health problem or disability, which had lasted or was expected to last more than twelve months. Census data on activity-limiting health problems or disabilities is self-reported and as with the general health and specific health question, caution should be exercised when interpreting the data because health information was not collected from 373 persons living in institutions, mainly care establishments. They are categorised as “Not Stated” in the health tables.

The following analysis excludes 373 persons residing in institutions.

To identify disability, the 2022 Census asked 2 questions - “Do you have any of the following (health conditions) which has lasted, or are expected to last, at least 12 months or more?” and “Are your day-to-day activities limited because of a physical or mental health problem or disability, lasting or expected to last, 12 months or more?”. At least one condition had to be reported, as well as their day-to-day activities limited a lot or limited a little. The data compiled on activity-limiting health problem or disability in 2012 did not include this condition and thus is not directly comparable.

There were 4,001 (10.7%) people in 2022 who reported a health problem or disability that limited their day-to-day activities a little 2,761 (7.4%) or a lot 1,240 (3.3%).

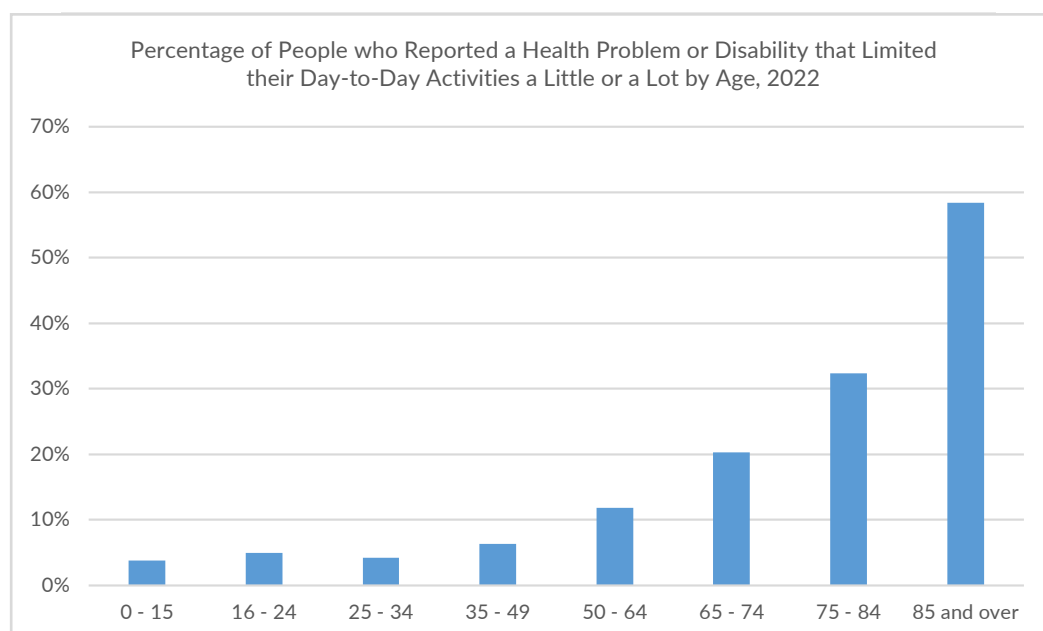

People in 2022 who reported a health problem or disability that limited their day-to-day activities

Figure 32 shows the percentage of people who reported a health problem or disability that limited their day-to-day activities a little or a lot for specific age groups, calculated by dividing the number of individuals with an activity-limiting health problem or disability by the total number of people in that age group, excluding people living in institutions.

Figure 32

Percentage of People who Reported a Health Problem or Disability that Limited their Day-to-Day Activities a Little or a Lot by Age, 2022

Note:

Excludes 243 females and 130 males not stated living in institutions.

The figures show how the percentage of people reporting an activity-limiting health problem or disability increases with age as older people are more likely to have a health problem or disability that limits their activities than younger people. The percentage of people reporting no activity-limiting health or disability was 89.3% (33,562). Of these, 28,511 (75.9%) people reported their activities were not limited and they did not have a long-term health problem or disability and 5,051 (13.4%) people reported at least one condition that was not activity limiting.

8.3.4 Provision of Unpaid Care

The Census asked people if they looked after or gave any help or support to, anyone because of either: long-term physical or mental ill-health/disability or problems related to old age. As with the previous health questions, there were 373 “Not Stated” responses relating to persons living in institutions, although most persons were in care and therefore would not provide unpaid care themselves.

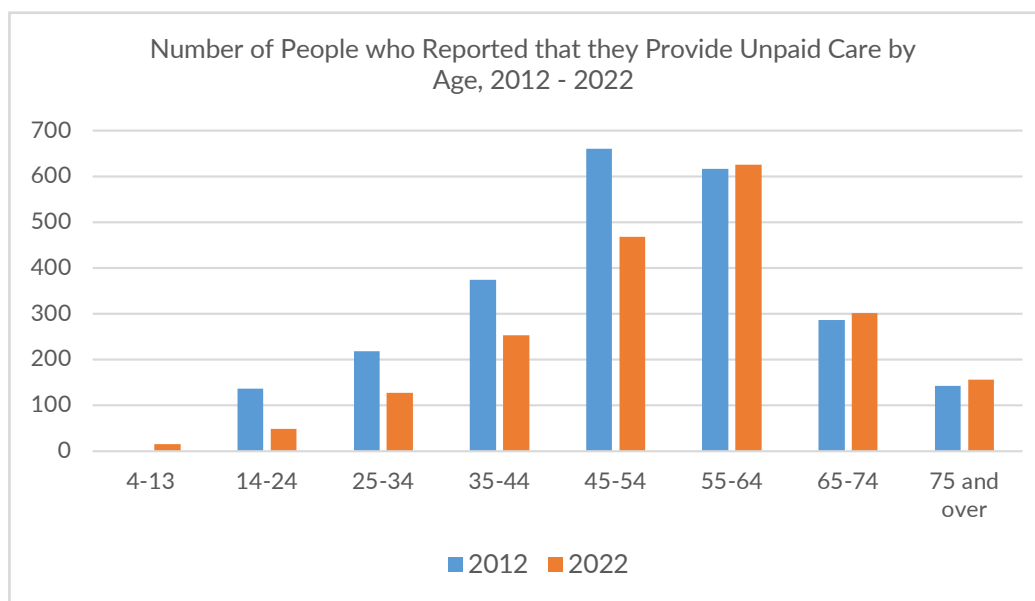

The Census shows that there were 1,998 people providing unpaid care, accounting for 5.5% of the resident population, aged 4 years and over. Of these, 39.9% of unpaid carers spent 9 hours a week or less providing support and another 29.8% spent 50 or more hours per week providing support. Compared to 2012, there were fewer people providing 1 to 19 hours a week of unpaid care, down by -30.0% (-470). There was an increase of +7.2% (+40) more people providing 50 or more hours a week unpaid care compared to 2012.

Number of People who Reported that they Provide Unpaid Care by Age, 2012 - 2022

Note:

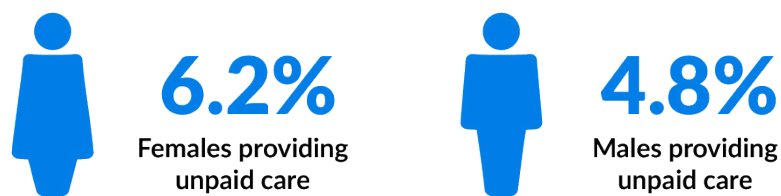

In 2022 unpaid care provided by children aged 4-13 is included. This is not available in 2012.

Excludes 243 females and 130 males not stated living in institutions.

There were decreases across all age groups between 14-24 and 45-54, while the number of unpaid carers in the older age groups increased slightly in 2022 compared with 2012. In absolute terms, the largest decrease in unpaid care provided was in the 45 to 54 age group, down by -192 (-29.1%) over the period. In 2022, 0.4% of people aged 4 to 13 were providing unpaid care.

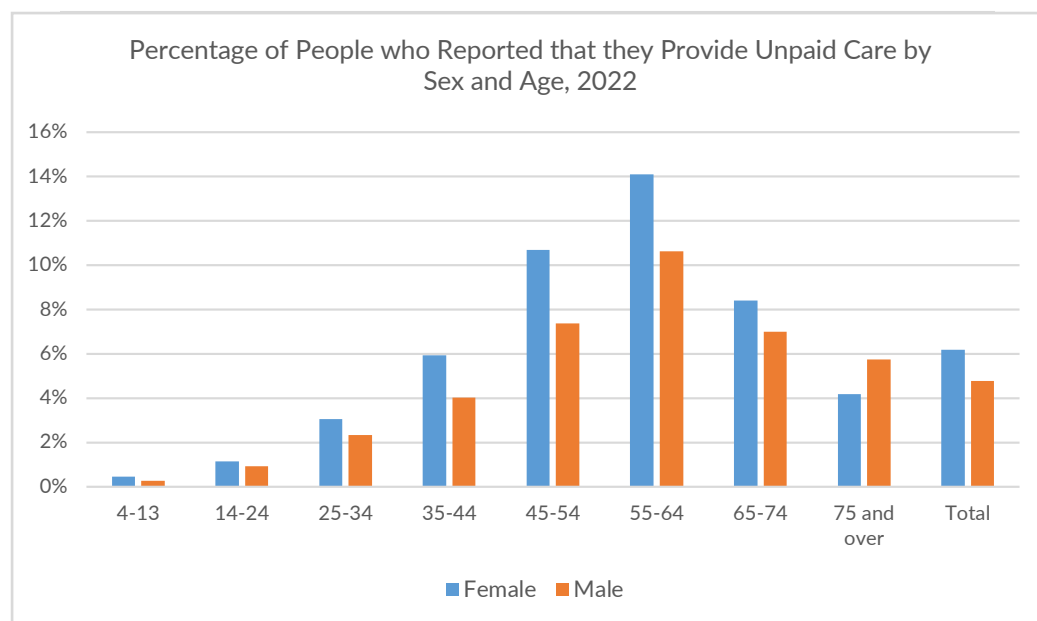

Of the 1,998 persons providing unpaid care, a higher percentage were females (56.9%) than males (43.1%). The largest share of unpaid carers (31.3%) were aged 55 to 64 (356 females and 269 males), followed by persons aged 45 to 54 (23.4%) (282 females and 186 males). The people in these age groups are likely to have parents in the oldest age groups that are most likely to have a health problem or disability that limits their day-to-day activities.

Figure 34 shows the percentage of people who provided unpaid care for specific age groups by sex, calculated by dividing the number of individuals providing unpaid care by the total number of people in that age group.

The percentage of people providing unpaid care was higher in females than males; 6.2% of females provided unpaid care compared with 4.8% of males. The figures show that a higher percentage of females were unpaid carers across most age groups with the exception of those aged 75 and over.

8.4 Housing and Household Composition

The 2022 Census included a new question on accommodation type and more detailed responses to provide vital inputs for decision-making to address future housing needs, as well as greater insight into the structure of the housing market.

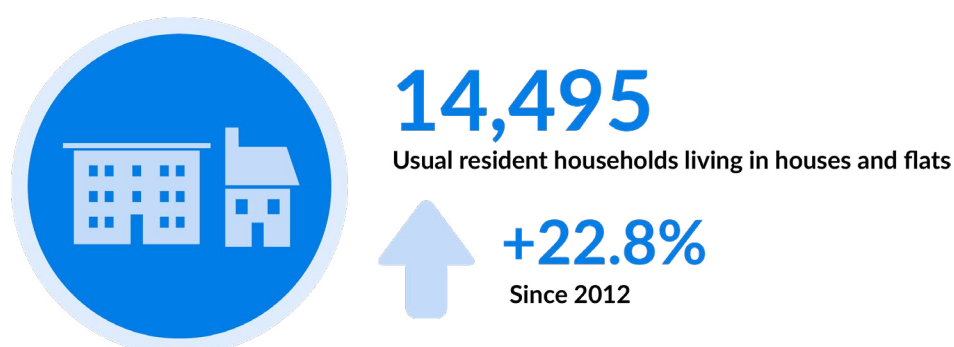

In addition to the four main housing tenures: Owner-Occupied, Co-Ownership, Government-Rented and Private-Rented categories, sub-categories have been added to the Owner-Occupied and Private-Rented tenures. Owner-Occupied tenure has two sub-categories: households who own their home outright and households who have a mortgage. Employer-Rented households are identified separately to Private-Rented for further information on this sector of the housing market. Previous censuses included the number of rooms, although this was changed to the number of bedrooms in 2022 that is more straightforward to answer and the response is of better quality. Housing tables in this Report provide details on usual resident households and show the distribution of households by type of accommodation, tenure, number of bedrooms and persons per household, as well as by area and various demographic and socioeconomic characteristics. This information is not available for housing units with no usual residents.

The housing data tabulated includes householders living in houses and flats but excludes the families of UK servicemen and UK-based MOD civilians who are housed in MOD quarters.

8.4.1 Housing

The following analysis is on usual resident households living in houses and flats.

The total number of households enumerated in 2022 was 14,495, an increase of +2,696 (+22.8%) since 2012, when 11,799 households were enumerated. The largest proportion of households lived in flats 91.7% (13,299).

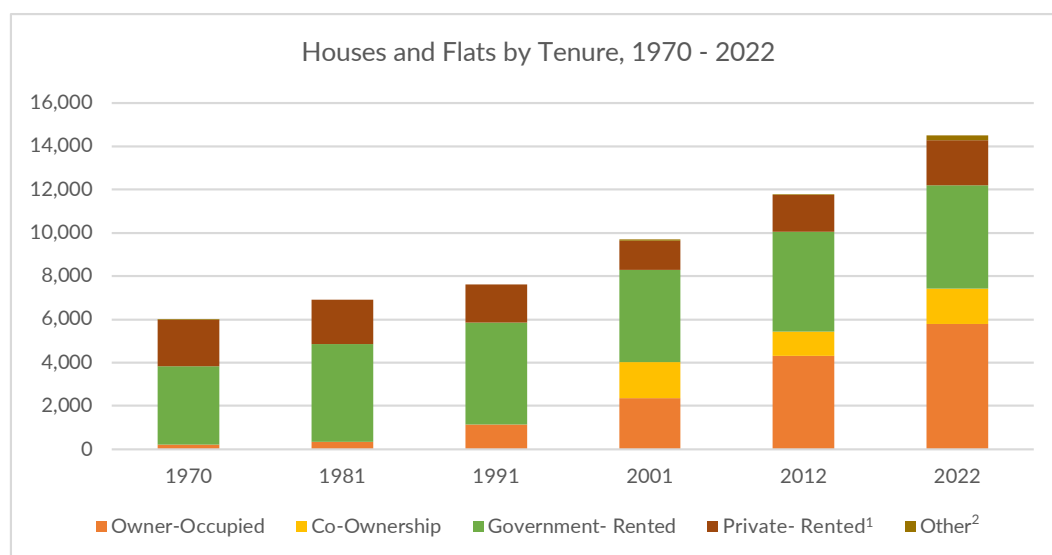

8.4.2 Houses and Flats by Tenure

Between 1970 and 2022, the number of households has more than doubled, increasing by +140.1%, (+8,458). During this period, there have been significant changes in housing by type of tenure, shown in Figures 35 and 36. In 1970, practically the entire population lived in rented accommodation (95.5%), with the largest share living in Government-Rented housing (60.1%) and 35.4% in Private-Rented housing. Only 3.5% of all households owned their own property fifty years ago. The housing market began to shift in 1991, with a marked increase in the number of households owning their own homes and a decline in the rental sector. The introduction of the Government Co-Ownership schemes recorded in the 2001 Census, resulted in the largest drop in the rental market as a share of all households, while Owner-Occupied households continued to increase.

For the first time in 2022, there were more households owning their own property 5,787 (39.9% of all households) than living in Government-Rented flats 4,798 (33.1% of all households). The decline in Co-Ownership in 2012, due to the shift to full ownership, was reversed in 2022, indicating an increase in the housing stock since the 2012 Census; it now represents 11.2% of all households, an increase from 9.7% in 2012. The number of households in Private-Rented accommodation rose to 2,069, accounting for 14.3% of total households, a marginal decrease from 14.5% in 2012.

Notes:

¹"Private-Rented" includes Employer-Rented in 2022.

²"Other" excludes households living permanently on boats and institutions and in 2022 includes rent-free.

The largest growth in households by tenure since 2012, has been in respect of Owner-Occupied households, that increased by +1,478 (+34.3%) over the decade. 58.9% (3,407) of all Owner-Occupied households owned their own homes outright, and 41.1% (2,380) were owned with a mortgage. This is the first time this type of tenure was included on the Census Form, as the question in 2012 related to householders with a mortgage in respect of a property either in or outside Gibraltar and is therefore not directly comparable.

8.4.3 Houses and Flats by Major Residential Area

Figure 38 shows that there was growth in housing accommodation in every Major Residential Area over the ten-year period.

For description of Major Residential Areas - see Appendix 9.

The North District witnessed the most significant growth in the number of households over the period, with an increase of +961 (+56.0%), surpassing the South District in terms of the number of households, representing 18.5% of total households in 2022, up from 14.5% in 2012. The Reclamation Areas grew by +932 (+18.9%) and the South District +303 (+15.2%) over the same period.

Total	11,799	14,495	+2,696	+22.8

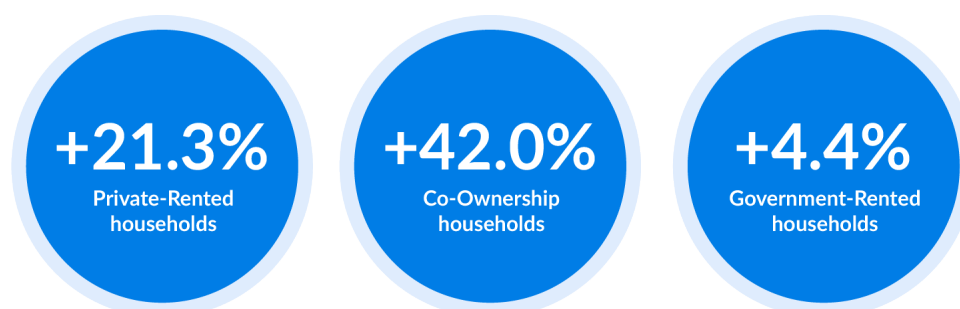

Notes:

Excludes institutions and boats.

For description of Major Residential Areas - see Appendix 9.

All Major Residential Areas witnessed an increase in Owner-Occupied households; however, the Reclamation Areas +566 (+28.3%), South District +379 (+34.6%) and North District +241 (+82.5%) experienced the most significant increases in the number of these households. The rise in the South District is partly attributable to the increase in the number of available housing units for purchase, due largely to the transfer of MOD properties to HM Government of Gibraltar. The completion of a number of housing developments in the North District including a new affordable residential development resulted in the second highest percentage growth in Owner-Occupied households over the decade, following the Upper Town, which witnessed a growth of +98.6% (+141) Owner-Occupied households due to the redevelopment of dwellings in that area over the period.

The Census showed an increase in Private-Rented households in 2022 compared to 2012, rising by +21.3% (+363) to 2,069, of which 96.2% (1,991) were Private-Rented and 3.8% (78) Employer-Rented. This is the first time Employer-Rented was included in the Census Form as a separate category and therefore historical comparisons are not possible. The increase in total Private-Rented households, including Employer-Rented, over the decade were largely concentrated in the North District, rising by +176 (+77.5%), followed by the Town Area, increasing by +175 (+25.2%).

The Co-Ownership category increased by +42.0% (+481) households over the period, mainly in the North District, (+450) and in the Reclamation Areas (+120).

There was a rise in the number of Government-Rented households over the period by +4.4% (+201) mainly due to the provision of new Government residential flats for the elderly.

When comparing the Major Residential Areas by tenure profile, Private-Renting is more prevalent in the Town Area (42.0%), Reclamation Areas (20.0%) and North District (19.5%). Owner-Occupation rates were highest in the Reclamation Areas (44.4%) and South District (25.5%) than in any other area. Co-ownership rates were highest in the Reclamation Areas (64.5%) and North District (28.4%).

8.4.4 Population by Major Residential Area

For description of Major Residential Areas - see Appendix 9.

Between 2012 to 2022, the population increased in the majority of areas, with only the Eastside witnessing a marginal decline (-29). The area with the largest population growth rate over the decade was the North District, increasing by +53.7% (+2,290), followed by the Reclamation Areas +11.5% (+1,539) and the South District with a growth rate of +16.6% (+944).

8.4.5 Household Size and Composition

The demographic structure of Gibraltar's households has shifted significantly in recent decades. Overcrowding has decreased since 1970, when 14.9% of households had 6 or more people living under one roof compared to only 3.0% in 2022. The "Average Household Size" continues to decrease as Figure 40 shows.

Average Size of Household

Figure 40

Average Household Size, 1970 - 2022

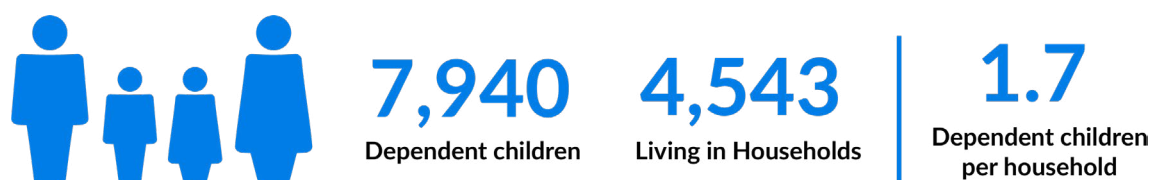

Year	Average Household Size
1970	4.1
1981	3.8
1991	3.2
2001	2.8
2012	2.7
2022	2.6

In 1970, the average number of people per household was 4.1 compared to 2.6 in 2022, down from 2.7 in 2012. The highest average household size by tenure in 2022, were Owner-Occupied with a mortgage or loan with 3.2 persons, followed by Co-Ownership households with 2.7 persons, while Rent-Free households had the smallest with 2.1 persons followed by Private-Rented and Owner-Occupied households with 2.4 persons. Government-Rented average household size was 2.5 persons.

8.4.6 Household and Family Composition

The household composition tables in this Report reveal information about the family composition of the household. According to the Census, in 2022 there were 1,711 couple households with no children or other persons, accounting for 11.8% of all households. The highest proportion of couples with no children or other persons owned their own property outright (31.4%). 1,990 households had one dependent child and 2,553 households had two or more dependent children, accounting for 13.7% and 17.6% of all households respectively.

In 2022, there were 7,940 dependent children living in 4,543 households, an average of 1.7 dependent children per household. The largest share of households with dependent children owned their own homes with a mortgage (30.6%), followed by Government-Rented (30.4%) and 13.7% Co-Owned their accommodation. The Reclamation Areas (37.2%), South District (20.9%) and North District (20.0%) had the highest percentages of households with dependent children.

By family composition, over half of the households with dependent children were married or civil partnered couple families (57.6%), 11.1% were cohabiting couple families, 14.8% were lone parent families (female) and 2.6% were lone parent families (male). 13.9% were other family types.

8.4.7 Ageing and Older People Living in a Permanent Care Institution

The Census reveals that there were 7,155 people aged 65 years and over in 2022 and of these 258 persons were living in a permanent care institution, compared to 208 in 2012, increasing by +50 (+24.0%) over the period. The proportion of the usual resident population aged 65 years and over living in a permanent care institution decreased from 4.0% in 2012 to 3.6% in 2022, while the total usual resident population in this age group rose by +36.4% over the same period. This means that the proportion of the older population residing in an institution has decreased over time. This decrease may be explained by the provision of domiciliary care services and home support by the Government's Care Agency, enabling elderly residents to remain living as independently as possible within their own homes. When interpreting the data, it is important to keep in mind that the 2022 Census was conducted just after the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic, which may have affected the number of residents in institutions at the time.

8.4.8 Number of Cars, Motorcycles and Parking Spaces

The traditional question on possession of cars, motorcycles and owning or renting parking spaces/garages was included in the 2022 Census Form.

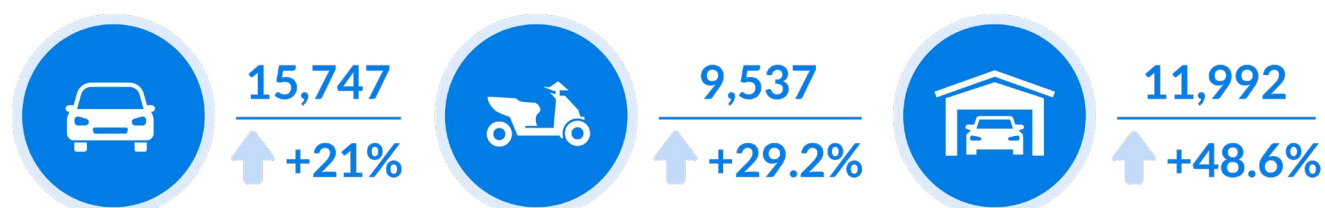

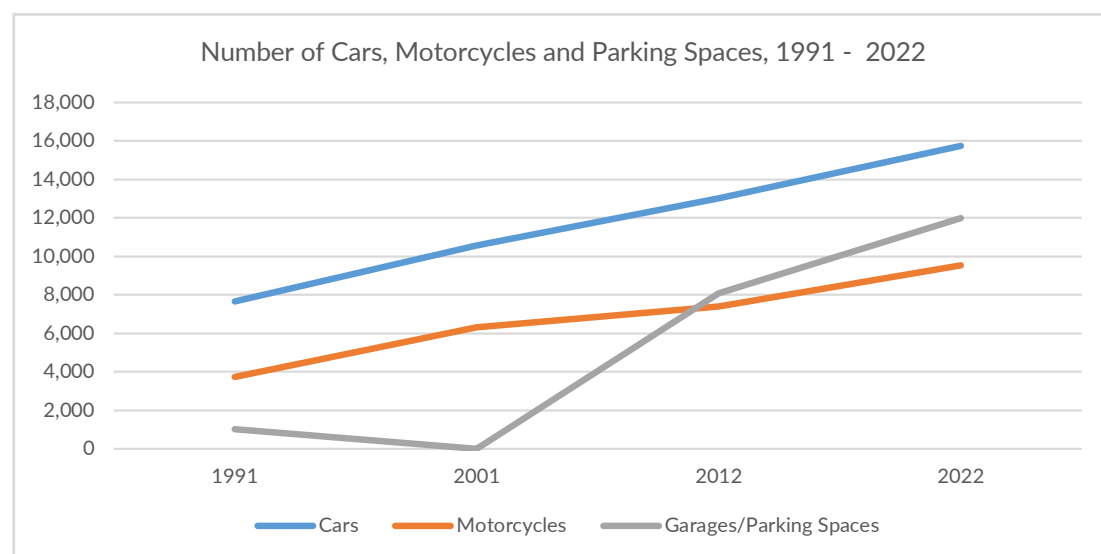

Figure 41

Notes:

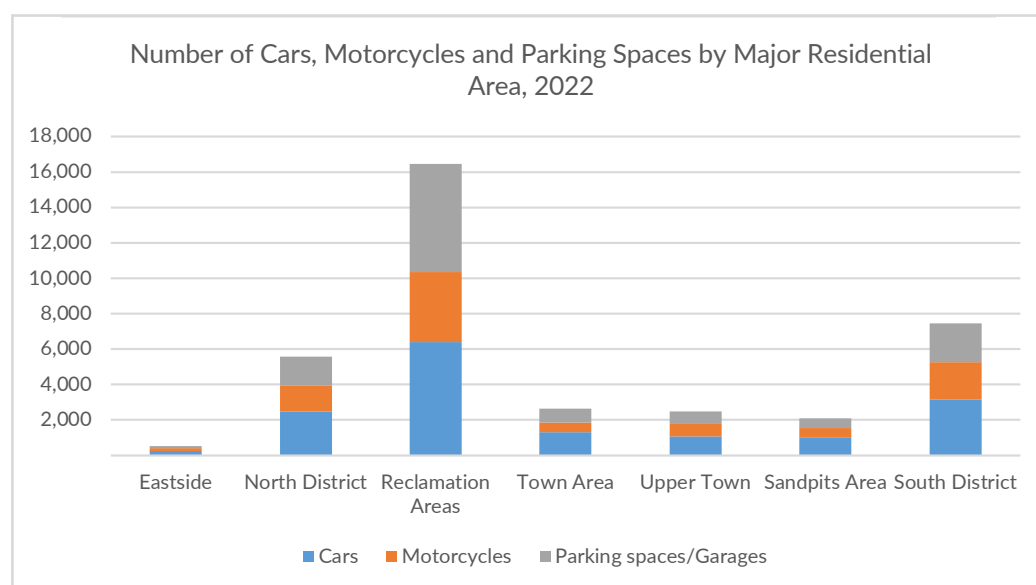

No question on garages and parking spaces was included as part of the 2001 Census.

Cars includes Vans in 2022.

Figure 41 shows that the number of cars in Gibraltar has increased by +2,737 (+21.0%) over the decade to 15,747 in 2022, although part of this increase is accounted for by the inclusion of vans. In terms of the average number of cars/vans per household, this has decreased from 1.10 in 2012 to 1.09 in 2022. The number of motorcycles has risen by +2,153 (+29.2%) over the decade, to 9,537 in 2022. In terms of the number of motorcycles per household, this has increased from 0.63 in 2012 to 0.66 in 2022. The number of parking spaces including garages taken up by Gibraltar households grew significantly over the decade, by +48.6% (+3,921). This would imply that around 76% of the cars in Gibraltar are privately-parked compared with some 13% in 1991 and 62% in 2012.

The largest increase in the number of cars over the decade was experienced in the Reclamation Areas +18.1% (+980) and the greatest percentage increase over the period was witnessed in the North District, with a rise of +61.2% (+951) cars. The Reclamation Areas also experienced the largest increase in the number of motorcycles over the period, increasing by +824 (+26.2%), and the North District witnessed the highest percentage increase, up by +80.0% (+641) in 2022 compared with 2012. There was a significant increase in the number of garages/parking spaces owned or rented by households throughout Gibraltar over the ten-year period. The largest increases were in the Reclamation Areas +1,437 (+30.8%), North District +983 (+153.6%) and South District +565 (+34.9%).

8.5 Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity

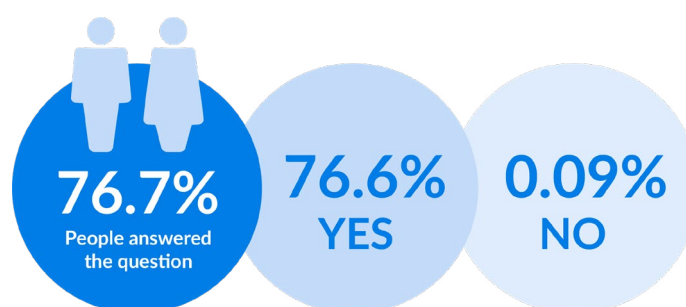

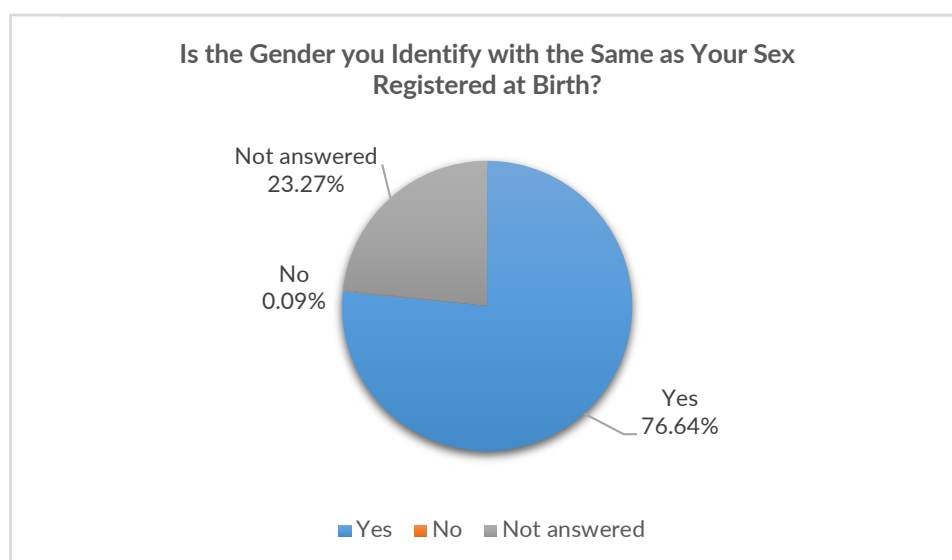

The 2022 Census asked the same question on sex although a new note was introduced to advise individuals to use the sex recorded on one of their legal documents. Two new questions, one on gender identity and another on sexual orientation were included for the first time. The questions were voluntary and only asked of people aged 16 and over. Tables 236 to 257 in this Report provide statistical information on gender identity and sexual orientation, by demographic, migration, social, employment, health and area.

8.5.1 Gender Identity

Gender identity classifies people according to the responses to the gender identity question. The question asked “Is the gender you identify with the same as your sex registered at birth?”

Figure 44

Is the Gender you Identify with the Same as Your Sex Registered at Birth?

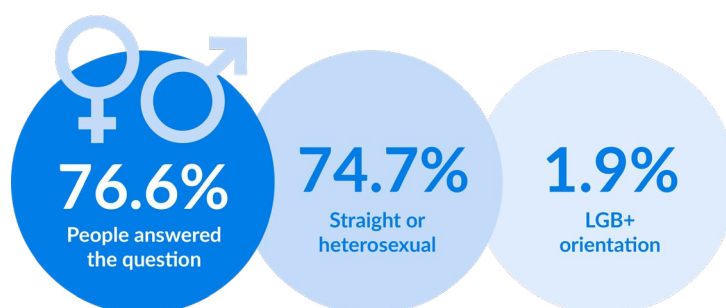

In total, 23,848 people answered the question, representing 76.7% of the resident population aged 16 years and over. 23,820 (76.6%) responded “Yes” showing that their gender identity was the same as their sex registered at birth. 28 (0.09%) answered “No” showing that their gender identity was different from their sex registered at birth. The remaining 7,231 (23.3%) did not answer the question.

Figure 45 shows responses by sex to the gender identity question, including those people who did not answer the question.

8.5.2 Sexual Orientation

In total, 23,818 people answered the question, representing 76.6% of the resident population aged 16 years and over. 23,221 (74.7%) identified as straight or heterosexual and 597 (1.9%) identified with an LGB+ orientation ("Gay or Lesbian", "Bisexual" or "Other sexual orientation"). The remaining 7,261 (23.4%) did not answer the question.

8.6 Mortality and Life Expectancy

In small populations with a low number of deaths per year, crude mortality rates are typically calculated based on the average number of deaths over a number of years. The crude mortality rate in this Report from 2013 to 2022 has been calculated by dividing the number of deaths each year by the civilian population figure for each year, which includes families of UK Servicemen and UK-based MOD civilians and their families, and multiplying this by one thousand to provide the number of deaths per thousand of population.

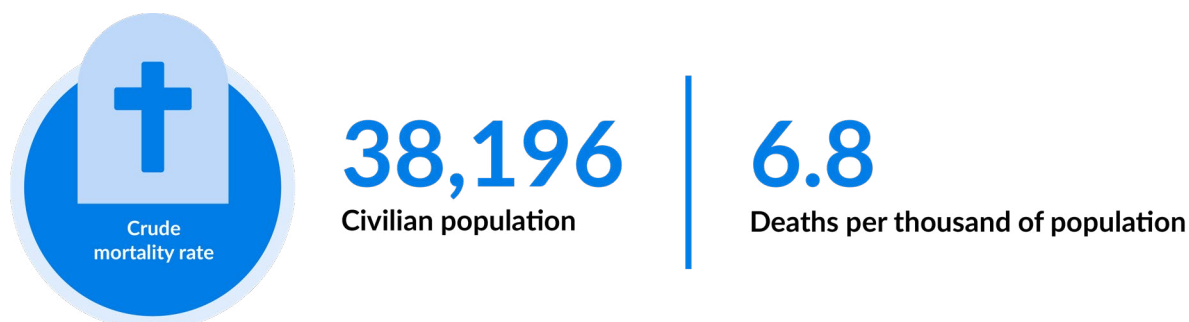

Figure 48
Mortality Rate per Thousand Population, 2013 - 2022

Year	Male	Female	Total	Civilian Population	Deaths per Thousand of Population
2013	118	112	230	33,067	7.0
2014	114	134	248	33,573	7.4
2015	112	123	235	34,095	6.9
2016	138	111	249	34,633	7.2
2017	134	144	278	35,187	7.9
2018	139	156	295	35,757	8.3
2019	125	129	254	36,343	7.0
2020	149	112	261	36,944	7.1
2021	162	166	328	37,562	8.7
2022	131	129	260	38,196	6.8

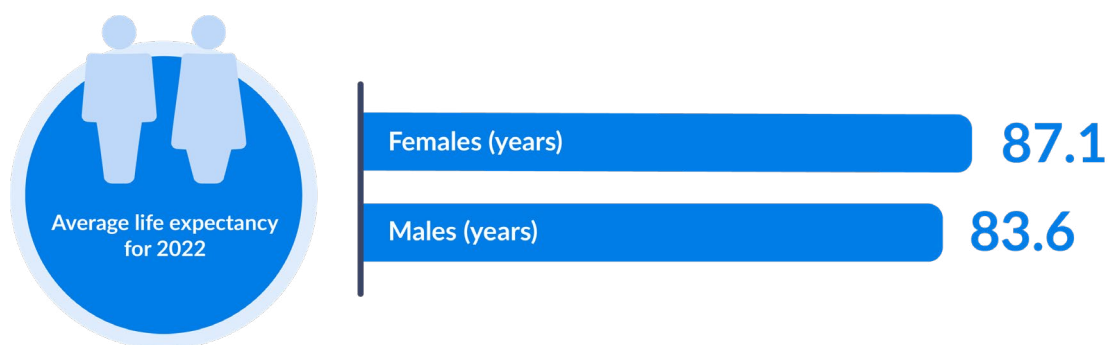

The civilian population estimates for 2013 to 2021 have been re-estimated using interpolation from the 2012 and 2022 Census population figures. Once the 2012 Census results were available, the reported population statistics for 2002 to 2011 were adjusted similarly. This results in smoothing out the annual population growth over the period.

2012	80.9	85.6
2022	83.6	87.1

The expectation of life at birth for both males and females has increased once again when compared to those of the previous Census. The average life expectancy for 2022 is estimated at 83.6 years for males and 87.1 years for females. These rates are among the highest in the world. Although life expectancy over the period 1970 to 2022 has increased by +15.0 years (+21.9%) for males and +14.6 years (+20.1%) for females, improvements over the last decade have slowed for females. It is important to note that the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic caused the number of deaths to rise between 2020 and 2022 that will have an impact on the life expectancy figures over the past decade. Over the period 2012 to 2022, life expectancy has increased by +2.7 years (+3.3%) for males and +1.5 years for females (+1.8%). The difference between female and male life expectancy is estimated at 3.5 years, compared to 4.7 years in 2012.

8.7 Accuracy

Every effort was made to try to ensure that all persons were included in the Census. However, there will always be some individuals who, for various reasons, would not be included. The 2022 Census achieved the same high standards of accuracy and coverage as previous Censuses taken in Gibraltar.

Despite our best efforts and rigorous verification of the online and paper Census responses, it is inevitable that some errors will occur. However, I am confident that the number of such unscheduled errors has been extremely low, especially given the large volume of data collected, processed, consolidated, standardised, coded and analysed in the preparation of this Report.

Information Leaflet

What is the Census?

The Census is a survey that usually takes place every 10 years and aims to give us a complete picture of all the people and households in Gibraltar on Census Day. Nothing else provides as much detail about us and the society we live in.

Why do you have to take part?

Your answers to Census questions provides important information to help government and other organisations, including businesses and charities, understand the services we all need and to help plan and fund services more effectively, in areas such as education, housing, healthcare, employment and public transport.

You must complete the census by law. Persons who refuse to give information or wilfully give false information could be liable, on conviction, to a fine. Some questions are labelled as being voluntary – it is not an offence if you do not answer these.

When to complete your Census questionnaire?

The 2022 Census of Gibraltar will take place on MONDAY 14 NOVEMBER 2022.
All households should complete the Census questionnaire on Census Day: Monday 14th November 2022 or as soon as possible after.

Who should complete the Census questionnaire?

The Householder is responsible for ensuring that the Census questionnaire is completed and returned.

The Householder is the person who lives, or is present, at this address who:

- owns/rents (or jointly owns/rents) the accommodation; and/or
- is responsible (or jointly responsible) for paying the household bills and expenses

A Household is:

- one person living alone; or
- a group of people (not necessarily related) living at the same address who share cooking facilities and share a living room or sitting room or dining area

If there is more than one Household at this address, contact us to request one or more additional Household Access Codes or paper questionnaires.

How to complete the Census questionnaire?

Every Household will receive a letter from the Census Office before Census Day, including a website link and unique Household Access Code to access the Census questionnaire online. Some households will receive a paper questionnaire.

Online questionnaire:

You can complete the Census online using your smart phone, tablet or computer.

- Go to www.census.gibraltar.gov.gi or scan the QR code.
- Select 'Start a new Census' and enter your unique Household Access Code, shown on your letter. Keep this code safe. The code is for everyone living in your household. If you have lost your Household Access Code, contact us as soon as possible, and we will assist you.
- Answer the questions and submit when complete.
- If you are unable to complete the online questionnaire, please go to www.census.gibraltar.gov.gi/help for assistance or contact the Census Office.

Paper questionnaire:

- If you have received a paper questionnaire, there will be Explanatory Notes on how to complete the Census on pages 2 and 3. Answer the questions and sign the Declaration on the front page. Then return the completed questionnaire using the prepaid envelope provided or send to FREEPOST, Census 2022, Gibraltar for the return to be sent back by post.
- All Households are encouraged to complete the online questionnaire. However, should you be unable to, and have not received a paper questionnaire, please contact the Census Office.

Who should be included on the Census Questionnaire?

- All persons who usually live in this Household who, on 14 November 2022 are in Gibraltar and have stayed, or intend to stay, in Gibraltar for 12 months or more. Including any person who is temporarily absent for less than 12 months.
- All persons who usually live outside Gibraltar, who have stayed, or intend to stay, in Gibraltar for 3 months or more, should also be included in the Census questionnaire at their usual Gibraltar address.
- Visitors should only be included in Household questions H4 and H5 and excluded from Individual questions in Part B of the Census questionnaire. A visitor is any person who usually lives outside Gibraltar and is staying in Gibraltar on 14 November 2022 for less than 3 months.

Confidentiality

The information provided on the Census questionnaire is protected by the provisions of the Census Act and the Data Protection Act, and is only used for statistical purposes. Privacy Notice

This privacy notice aims to provide you with information on what personal data we collect about you, what we do with that information and why we do it, who we share it with, and how we protect your privacy.

The Government Statistics Office holds and processes personal data in accordance with the Gibraltar General Data Protection Regulation (Gibraltar GDPR) and the Data Protection Act 2004. The information you provide on the Census questionnaire is protected by the provisions of the Census Act 1951 and the Data Protection Act 2004.

It is important that you read this privacy notice so that you are fully aware of why and how we are using your personal data.

This privacy notice was last updated on 25th October 2022 and is created for the purposes of the 2022 Census of Gibraltar. It is a live document and will be kept under review and updated as required, until the completion of the exercise.

1. Why and how we use your information

The taking of a Census is governed by the provisions of the Census Act 1951 which allows HM Government of Gibraltar, by order from time to time, to take a Census for Gibraltar. This usually occurs every 10 years. The details of the 2022 Census are provided in the Census Act (2022 Census) Order 2022 and Census Act (2022 Census) Regulations 2022.

In accordance with the Census Act 1951 and the Census Act (2022 Census) Order 2022 taking part in the Census is compulsory. Persons who refuse to give information or wilfully give false information could be liable, on conviction, to a fine. Some questions are labelled as being voluntary, it is not an offence if you do not answer these.

We collect information from your questionnaire under our statutory objective to promote and safeguard the production of official statistics that serve the public good. The personal data you provide on your Census questionnaire will only ever be used for statistical purposes. No personal details will be released nor will people be identified within the statistics published.

The Census takes place usually every 10 years and is carried out by the Government Statistics Office under the instruction of the Census Commissioner. It is the largest and most complex statistical exercise in Gibraltar and aims to provide a complete picture of the population, rather than a sample or cross-section of the population.

Your answers to the Census questions provides important information on the entire population, enabling Government and other organisations to make data driven decisions. The statistics obtained from the Census helps Government allocate funds, decide future policy and plan important services in areas such as:

2. Housing
3. Employment
4. Transport

Two questions have been introduced in the 2022 Census questionnaire which are clearly marked as voluntary and only for those who are aged 16 and over. These voluntary questions relate to sexual orientation and gender identity. Data on these questions will only be collected should individuals decide to answer it. It is not an offence if you do not answer these.

A number of questions will not require a response from the under 16 age group, therefore reducing the amount of personal data collected about children. Based on their date of birth, those who complete online will be routed past these questions. Those who complete a paper questionnaire will be guided on the responses they are required to complete by following the instructions within the questionnaire.

The information to be collected in the Census questionnaire is deemed to serve the public good, providing important information on the entire population. Respondents are required to include their full names including any middle names is useful for the completeness of the exercise, to ensure persons are only counted once and used to direct any queries to the right person if there is a need to check for missing information. Names are not accessible to anyone requesting Census data.

3. Who can access the information?

In accordance with the Census Act (2022 Census) Regulations 2022, everyone working with Census information must sign an undertaking before a Justice of the Peace that they will protect the privacy of information. After the completion of the Census, the information gathered from the Census questionnaires is transferred to the Government Archivist who keeps the Census records secure for 100 years, before they are made available to the public.

Records from 1921 are now available, and can be found on the Gibraltar National Archives website <https://www.nationalarchives.gi/Default.aspx>.
